Second judge eyed for Floyd

David man accused:

Abuse is charged in arrest

by Tess A. Whitmer
Assistant Editor

A 20-year-old David man has been arrested and charged with several violations involving boys, ages 10, 12 and 13.

According to court records, Brian Nelson has been charged with three felonies and a misdemeanor. Whether there is enough evidence to bring him to trial will be decided by the grand jury in June.

Nelson has been accused of two counts of unlawful imprisonment in the first degree, when he "unlawfully restrained two children, age 10 and 11, under circumstances which exposed the children to a risk of serious physical injury," according to court records.

Records allege that he held "a young juvenile and placed a knife to his throat." Nelson has also been accused of committing the offense of criminal abuse in the first degree, when he "caused cruel punishment to two juveniles, ages 12 and 10 years old."

The misdemeanor charge occurred when Nelson allegedly distributed obscene material to a minor and let the 13-year-old boy watch an X-rated movie with him. On the same charge, he is also cited for indecent exposure when he "intentionally exposed private parts of his body" to the juvenile; and unlawful transaction with a minor in the third degree, when he allegedly had "sexual contact" with said juvenile.

According to court records, the above acts occurred between September and December of 1990 and the warrants for Nelson's arrest were sworn on May 17 of this year. Nelson has been released on two property bonds, one for $6,000 and the other for $40,000. The grand jury meets on June 3, 4 and 5.

Pot grows behind school

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Acting on an anonymous tip, the Floyd County Sheriff's Department found and destroyed 203 marijuana plants Thursday afternoon behind Allen Central High School at Eastern.

Deputies Ricky Thornsberry and William Howell found the marijuana growing in a wooded area behind the school. Thornsberry said it appeared that the plants were being bedded to be transplanted later. Deputies also found a garden hoe near the marijuana patch.

"Either the person growing them was very inexperienced or it was to be transplanted later," Thornsberry said.

Deputies also discovered an area beneath the high school gym littered with plastic baggies believed to have contained marijuana. Officers found approximately 20 baggies in various locations beneath the gym.

Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson said he would write a letter to superinten-a second circuit court judge to serve in Floyd County.

Presently, Circuit Court Judge Hollie Conley has the seventh highest caseload in the state. According to County Attorney Jim Hammond, approximately one-third of the non-domestic civil cases are referred to another circuit due to the overwhelming case load.

Judge Conley doesn't favor the proposal of a second judge.

"They need to redistrict instead of adding a second judge," he said. "If there was an equal caseload among judges, we wouldn't need another judge."

Conley feels redistricting would solve the problem and save the taxpayers the expense of another judge.

Hammond pointed out that Floyd County's was the first circuit in the state of Kentucky to have a special Domestic Relation Commissioner assigned to its circuit because of the heavy caseload.

The order for the commissioner to assist the circuit judge came from the supreme court in 1981. In 1990, formal rules were established to provide for such an assist from the commissioner, according to Hammond.

Hammond said that he has worked on the addition of another circuit judge since 1988 and suggested it should have been added in 1976 when the new court systems were set up.

"We need to look at the demand in the future, not only today," Hammond said. "Since the circuit judge is an elected position, the voters have a right to have their cases heard by the judge they put into office, not one in another circuit."

Dorm dedication

The Carl D. Perkins Job Corp Center in Prestonsburg attracted a large crowd Friday, May 17 for its dedication and ribbon cutting ceremony for its new female dormitory. The dormitory was dedicated to Verna Perkins, wife of the late Carl D. Perkins and mother of Congressman Chris Perkins. Verna Perkins and the congressman were both on hand for the ceremony which was followed by a tour of the building. The Cullinary Arts class provided a continental breakfast buffet and the Job Corps Choir sang "Stand by Me" and "We are the World" for the guests. (photo by Tess Whitmer)

Arch G. Mainoux Jr., executive vice-president of Kentucky Health Care Access Foundation of Lexington, and Clyde C. Prince, chairman of world community service of the Indiana Rotary, presented a variety of used medical equipment and furnishings to the Christian Appalachian Project (CAP) for distribution to area clinics.

The equipment was collected by Rotary International of Southern Indiana, District #6580. The equipment was designated for use in Appalachia and was presented last week to Foundation president Lt. Gov. Brereton C. Jones. The Foundation then contacted Father Ralph Beiting of CAP, who aided in locating several tax exempt Eastern Kentucky organizations which needed the equipment.

The equipment will be donated to Big Sandy Health Care Inc., which operates the Mud Creek Clinic at Grethel and the Magoffin County Clinic in Salyersville; and Mountain Comprehensive Health Corporation of Whitesburg, which currently operates seven clinics and intends to open a new women's clinic in the near future. CAP is supplying the warehouse for storing the equipment and will handle distribution. The equipment is valued at approximately $500,000.

Beiting acknowledged Atlas Van Lines for donating a 48' tractor trailer for transporting the equipment and the gasoline for the trailer. In addition, Beiting said that the members of the Job Corps and the work detail of the Floyd County Jail have been of great help.

"The city and county officials have been very helpful in arranging help from the prisoners. Those men that I've spoken to feel good about helping. It gives them something worthwhile to do while they are serving their time," Beiting said.

Marriage comes first, councilman resigns

by Dena Johnson
Wheelwright Correspondent

Wheelwright city councilman Jerry Keith Tackett resigned Thursday, May 17 at the council's regular meeting.

Tackett said his recent marriage made it impossible for him to fulfill his duties to the city.

The council said a new council member would be sworn in at the June meeting, but the councilman was not named.

In other business, the council agreed to pay city policeman Charles Harmon's utility expenses. JoAnn Johnson, who was appointed the new utility commissioner just before the measure was approved, recommended the council pay Harmon's expenses.

Harmon also inquired about making arrests outside the city limits. Council told Harmon he could not make arrests outside the city limits and that they were responsible for his actions.

Harmon presented a police activity report to the council spanning April 18 to May 16. Harmon reported: 17 arrests; 28 citations; 75 complaints; opened three criminal cases; performed 14 special details; made 97 traffic stops; gave 60 verbal warnings; recovered one possible stolen vehicle, now impounded; and completed 40 hours of criminal justice training.

In other business, the council:

- agreed to take action next month concerning a problem of people outside the city bringing trash into the city;
- will start cleaning foundations of burned houses to prevent injuries to children playing around them;
- heard complaints about people parking in the streets while visiting others;
- denied a request to hire an assistant for Ricky Little, who cuts grass

Board calls special meeting

A special meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education has been called for Wednesday, May 29, beginning at 10 a.m. at Allen Central High School at Eastern.

The purpose of the meeting will be to continue a tour of the county schools and to hear a report on the Left Beaver High School water supply from Roger Recktenwald of the Big Sandy Area Development District. The meeting is open to the public.

Roadblock this weekend

The Left Beaver Rescue Squad and Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual Memorial Day Roadblock beginning Friday (today) at the fire station at Price. The roadblock will continue Saturday at the intersection of Rt. 80 and KY 122 at Martin and at other locations throughout the county.

"This is our biggest fund raiser of the year," said captain Chuck Hall. "We've held a roadblock on Memorial Day weekend for over 25 years. This is how we get the majority of our funds for the year."

Hall said the squad has 30 members and serves mainly the Left Beaver area, but has assisted other emergency services throughout Floyd County. The department has started a junior firefighters membership that lets volunteers under the age 18 perform duties at the fire department.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer may contact fire chief Derek Thacker at 377-6746 or captain Hall at 285-9278 or 886-6711.

911 meeting planned

A meeting to explain the emergency 911 system for Floyd County will be held Friday, May 24 from 6-8 p.m. at the Jenny Wiley Convention Center in Prestonsburg.

Jack Sharp will conduct a seminar on the emergency assistance service. All fire department and emergency personnel are urged to attend. The meeting is open to the public.

More polling places announced

The polling place for the 32nd precinct of Little Mud was printed incorrectly in Wednesday's paper. Those living in Little Mud can vote at Liken's Grocery.

Also, the two polling places that were undetermined at the time of printing have been released. Branham's Creek residents will vote at Russell Clark's building and Garret/Rock Fork voters can pull the lever at Frank Martin's service station.

Kitten's Got (Too Many) Claws

Smoky, a cat owned by Gorman Brown of John's Branch at Langley, has no trouble getting traction since it was born with an extra set of paws on its front legs. Brown found the stray cat while on the job at Prater Creek. Brown said, "It wouldn't let anybody pet it at first, but it just took to me." The cat is otherwise normal and has had a litter of kittens. Innovative teaching honored

Thornsberry honored as outstanding teacher

Earlis Lee Thornsberry, a Floyd County native, has been honored as one of Kentucky's ten outstanding teachers in Ashland Oil's Teacher Achievement Awards Program.

Thornsberry, a graduate of Wheelwright High School, is employed as a teacher at Hazard High School. A biology teacher, he works in the classroom to stimulate critical thinking through creative and challenging activities. He pursues his own interest in biology through nature photography in such exotic places as the Amazon River and the Galapagos Islands of South America.

In 1988, Thornsberry was chosen Kentucky's Outstanding Science Teacher by the Kentucky Science Teacher's Association. He currently is serving on the Kentucky Science Teacher Association's board of directors. He is the son of Dona Thornsberry of Norton, Virginia, and the late Landell Thornsberry.

Thornsberry received an engraved glass apple and a cash award of $2,500 at the third annual awards ceremony which was held May 7 at the Holiday Inn in Frankfort. Presenting awards to Kentucky's top teachers were Kentucky Commissioner of Education Dr. Tom Boysen; David Allen, president of the Kentucky Education Association (KEA); and Robert C. Owen, representing Ashland Oil.

"The teacher achievement winners reflect the spirit of excellent teaching that the Kentucky Education Reform Act seeks," said Boysen. "Working in partnership with companies like Ashland Oil allows us the opportunity to recognize the superior work of outstanding educators. Nominations for these awards remind us that we are blessed with many fine teachers who are dedicated to changing the course of educational history in Kentucky. Hopefully, in the not so distant future, exemplary work will permeate the classrooms of every school in Kentucky."

Dan Lacy, vice president of corporate communications for Ashland Oil, said: "As Kentucky faces the challenge of education reform and growth, one of the most important tributes we can make to quality education is to recognize outstanding, dedicated teachers."

Councilman Larry Mullins did not attend the meeting. The next scheduled meeting of the council is Thursday, June 21 at 7 p.m. The meeting is open to the public.

Blair to serve in Congress classroom

Chris Blair, grandson of Billy and Marjorie Blair, of Weeksbury, has been selected to represent Hillcrest High School, Simpsonville, South Carolina, in the 1991 Congressional Classroom.

He was selected by a teacher committee based on his leadership and scholastic ability. He will serve a week in Washington, D.C., and will shadow Mrs. Liz Patterson, South Carolina's representative from the 4th District.

He will have the opportunity to see the back-stage happenings in the nation's lawmaking process. He will be in Washington from June 9 thru June 13. This educational opportunity was made possible by the University of South Carolina at Spartanburg.

Floyd Tech student state champ

Billy J. Hall, Jr., a student at Floyd County Technical High School, has won the state competitions for Principles of Technology. Hall won the honor at the state competitions of the Vocational and Industrial Clubs of America held recently at Fort Mitchell, Kentucky.

Hall is a full-time junior attending Floyd County Technical High School in Machine Technology. Hall received a gold metal indicating first place, a certificate of attendance, and an electronic multimeter for testing circuitry for his winning demonstration of mechanical rate. Also attending the conference from Floyd Tech was Derrick Owsley, a senior, as representative of the VICA membership at the school.

Hall will represent Kentucky as the first ever Principles of Technology winner. At the national competitions for Skills Olympics, to be held in June of this year at the fairgrounds in Louisville, he will compete for the honor of national winner in the contest, and could possibly go to Amsterdam, Holland, for the world competitions. Hall's parent high school is J.H. Allen Central High School. The student plans to continue his education at Floyd County Technical High School next year, and then go to college. Congratulations to Mr. Billy J. Hall, of Wayland, Kentucky, father of the successful student.

As the first state champ in Principles of Technology, Billy represents the commitment to quality and excellence for which the originators of Floyd Tech have striven. Assistance from the state, the Floyd County Board of Education, administrators, members of local industry and the Cabinet for Workforce Development have all contributed to the far-reaching reputation that Floyd County Technical High School has earned. Hall is just one of the student winners that has used the all-day program to achieve his educational goals.

The telethon is a 21-hour program which airs from Disneyland and Walt Disney World. The telethon will be broadcast in Kentucky by WLEX-TV, Channel 18, in Lexington and WYMT-TV, Channel 57, in Hazard. The telethon features more than 100 recording, movie, television and sports personalities. The honorary chairman of the telethon in Kentucky is former UK coach Joe B. Hall.

Last year's telethon raised $233,000.

Teams to watch for vote fraud May 28

Teams from the Kentucky Attorney General's Office and the Kentucky State Police will be out in force watching for vote fraud during the May 28 primary election. According to Deputy Attorney General Brent Caldwell and KSP Commissioner Michael Troop, teams will be in every area of the state looking for illegal activity.

To maximize the deterrent effect, the exact number of teams and where they will be heading on election day will not be disclosed.

Both Caldwell and Troop emphasize that with the passage of a revised law during the 1991 special session of the General Assembly, buying and selling votes remains a felony in Kentucky.

The Attorney General's Office has conducted statewide election fraud efforts during each of the six statewide elections held since the election reform laws took effect in July 1988.

In addition to the statewide teams, citizens who suspect any voter fraud can contact the Attorney General's Office toll-free at 1-800-328-VOTE or the Kentucky State Police toll-free at 1-800-222-5555.

Among the election law violations state officials will be watching for on May 28 are buying or selling a vote;

voting more than once, voting when not entitled to do so or voting in another person's name; unauthorized possession of absentee ballots; bribery/attempted bribery of election officials or voters; electioneering within 500 feet of a polling place and preventing authorized challengers of poll-watchers from being present at the polls or from witnessing the counting of ballots.

Attorney General Fred Cowan says that his office's election fraud effort is being carried out without his personal involvement due to his own candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Lt. Governor in the primary.

Area students to participate in medical, dental program

Two Floyd County High School seniors were selected from 160 applicants to participate in a state program designed to assist students from areas with too few doctors or dentists in their pursuit of a career in medicine or dentistry.

Bethany Dawn Horn and Mamata Gopal Majmundar, both of Martin, will attend a Professional Education Preparation Program (PEP) workshop this summer. Horn will attend a 6-week PEP workshop at the University of Kentucky, and Majmundar will attend a 5-week PEP workshop at the University of Louisville.

According to Larry Fowler, with the Kentucky Council on Higher Education, which coordinates the program, all of the instruction is designed to improve the participating students' chances of doing well in their premedical or pre-dental college studies.

The students will be getting advanced college-prep instruction in mathematics, chemistry, study skills improvement, and problem solving. They will also attend classes to improve reading and writing skills.

Horn, who says she plans to attend the University of Kentucky next fall, will graduate from Allen Central High School. She is the 17-year-old daughter of Janet and George Horn.

Majmundar plans to attend the University of Louisville this fall. She will graduate from Prestonsburg High School. She is the 17-year-old daughter of Drs. Gopal and Mina Majmundar.

Approximately 90 outstanding Kentucky graduates were selected to participate in the summer program.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

Editorial:

The envelopes, please

by Scott Perry

After some soul-searching and head-scratching, we have decided to jump down from our fence and offer our recommendations in the races for governor.

We will qualify our selections by noting that our picks are based on narrow criteria. Specifically, we'll propose the candidates from the Democrat and Republican tickets which we think will best serve the interests of Eastern Kentucky.

While that approach may appear somewhat self-indulgent, we don't particularly care.

Here goes...

For the Democrats, we recommend Brereton Jones. Jones has repeatedly stressed his support for education reform and we believe he is committed to preserving the landmark legislation passed during the 1990 session of Kentucky's General Assembly.

Jones was the first candidate from either party to endorse a plan to return a larger share of coal severance taxes to coal-producing and coal-impacted counties and we believe he will make good on his commitment to help revitalize Eastern Kentucky's struggling economy.

Jones has also proposed the establishment of a branch office of the state's Cabinet for Economic Development in Eastern Kentucky, an idea we have pushed for nearly a decade. A major stumbling block for development in our part of the state has always been our isolation from available governmental resources. Jones' proposal would go a long way toward removing that obstacle.

Finally, we think Brereton Jones will run a clean government, free of the embarrassing influence of special interest groups. That's important to Eastern Kentucky because it will allow us to compete with the rest of the state on the basis of need rather than greed.

Jones has the right stuff.

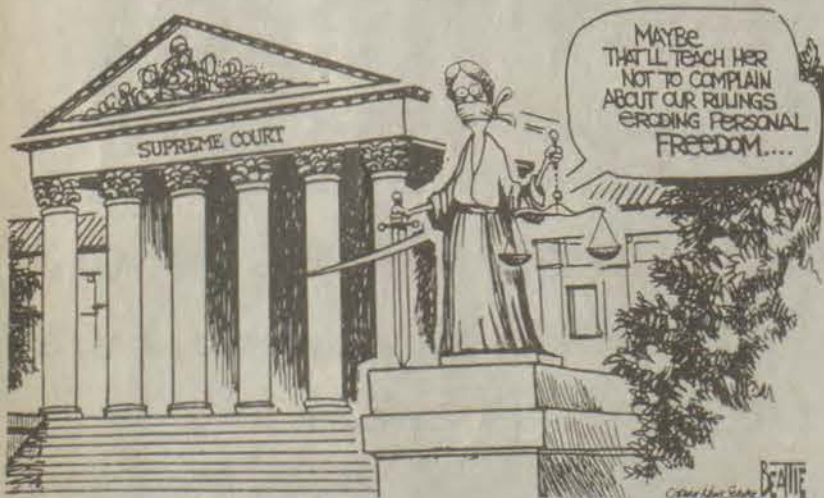

Now for the GOP, a much more difficult decision because, quite honestly, it's been a long time since Republicans have had a choice in the primary.

We've changed our minds at least four times in this race but, at last, we have settled on Larry Forgy. Forgy has the edge, we think, by virtue of his knowledge of the issues that are important to Eastern Kentucky. His opponent, Larry Hopkins, has not demonstrated to our satisfaction that he has a grasp on those concerns or has any plans to address them.

Forgy also endorses plans to return more coal severance taxes to coal counties and he says he will cut taxes while leaving education reform legislation intact.

If Forgy can reduce the tax burden without damaging education reform and without ignoring other critical needs, who would complain? If he can't cut taxes without hurting progress, the General Assembly will most certainly block his path anyway.

Forgy is intelligent and in touch with our needs. He's the right choice for the GOP.

On May 18, Paintsville High School held their second annual "Project Prom". Once again, the event was a huge success.

Without the help of teachers, parents and friends, as well as donations of money and contribution of prizes, this could not have been possible. We especially thank the merchants and professional people of Martin, Johnson, Floyd, Lawrence and Pike Counties.

As the two-year anniversary of my nearly fatal accident approaches, I begin to think about how lucky I am that there are still people like Mrs. Sandra Howard — a person who got involved and helped a total stranger in a life or death situation.

Mrs. Sandra Howard came upon my lifeless body moments after a fully loaded diesel collided with the Blazer I was driving.

Mrs. Howard administered CPR to revive me. She kept me alive until the ambulance arrived to rush me to the hospital.

I thank God I'm alive today and am able to write this letter showing my deepest gratitude to Mrs. Howard for giving me a second chance at life.

Speak Your Piece

First Amendment Rights guarantee freedom of speech. Well, they're supposed to. But, it appears some would have you believe that doesn't apply in Floyd County.

Citizens have the right to question any public servant about funds spent, decisions made and their reasoning behind making these decisions. Citizens have the right to receive honest, accurate answers to their questions.

Citizens are not expected to be ridiculed, embarrassed and perhaps lied to when asking where and to whom their money is going.

The right to ask goes hand-in-hand with the right to also look.

State and federal law provide citizens the right to inspect any public record that a public agency has in its possession, provided that the request is not unreasonable; involves thousands and thousands of documents; or that records are determined not to be public under the law.

Some public agencies in Floyd County appear to make it as difficult as humanly possible for peunder the law.

Payroll records, reimbursements, bid documents, travel expenses and a host of other documents are considered public records according to law.

If inspection of public records is denied, a letter must be submitted to the person making the request and the state's attorney general's office stating why access was denied. Citizens have the right to appeal the denial through the attorney general. Inspection of documents can be made during normal business hours of that public agency.

It's your right to know, if you're interested. It's the public official's duty to allow you to inspect the public documents. It's your duty to complain to the attorney general if a public agency denies access to records without proper justification in accordance with state law.

Whose government is it and whose money is being spent?

Who's Watching What?

The questions concerning security services being paid for by the Floyd County Board of Education—if security service is actually being provided, where's the performance bonds, and why weren't the services bid—are indeed legitimate concerns.

When spending over $100,000 a year for security service the board of education members should demand an explanation why proper documentation is not on file. Board members should ask how this happened and why it is continuing.

When the issue was brought up for discussion at this month's board meeting by a concerned citizen, no board member asked for an explanation.

Shouldn't a $100,000 expenditure, without proper documentation, be questioned?

A First

When Floyd County Board of Education member Eddie Billips met with teachers last week to explain his views on rescinding part of the teachers' strike agreement, most agreed it was the first time a board member ever met one-on-one with teachers. The meeting was about more than the agreement.

Teachers who attended had the opportunity to voice their concerns about the system, complain about the system and discuss the future of education in Floyd County.

Questions that couldn't be answered were written down with assurances that answers would be sought.

Billips answered teachers honestly that if he had arrived in time at the May 10 special meeting he would have voted with the rest of the board. He told the teachers he would face them and answer their questions about why he would have voted with the majority. He did that. He didn't dodge the issue or say he would have voted against the majority. It would have probably been easier if he had.

That's why it's confusing that Billips is being singled out for his comments about the situation. His comments to the teachers at their meeting has become an issue. He is being asked why he has not demanded this or not demanded that. He is being asked why he's not doing more to improve education in Floyd County.

All are legitimate questions, but Billips has only one vote on the board. He cannot demand anything. He cannot change anything himself, he must have two other votes on the board before anything can be changed.

When Billips was elected as a board member most expected things to change overnight. Citizens expected him to be able to make dramatic and sweeping changes in the county's education system immediately.

Look close and you will see how much things have changed since January—there's more public debate and debate between board members that anyone can remember. Issues are actually being discussed now, rather than just voted on.

But all of it is not the doings of one person. It is the majority of the board that must make the proper decisions and head this district in the proper direction.

It is important to question decisions and the procedures that are followed.

It is also important to question all the board members. One person is one vote. Nothing more, nothing less.

That leaves four other members. Ask them, too.

3 Big Reasons

To Vote For

Dr. Floyd G. Poore

He is the only Democratic candidate who will

1 2 3

Reduce the state budget.

Do you believe the state government runs at 100 per cent of efficiency? Neither does Dr. Poore. He believes it is possible to reduce state expenditures without significantly harming state services. So he will reduce the budgets of all state agencies and cabinets, except Education, by $1 in every $20. It can be done!

Cut taxes.

Dr. Poore has listed six specific taxes he will cut and he has told us exactly where he will get the money to finance these tax cuts. It can be done!

Reduce the cost of health insurance.

Dr. Poore is a family physician. He knows how health care systems should work, and he believes the cost of health insurance in Kentucky is outrageous. Dr. Poore believes that if Blue Cross of Kentucky can make a profit of $59 million and Humana a profit of $309 million in a single year, then it is possible to reduce the cost of health insurance. It can be done!

Dr. Floyd G. Poore

He'll put money in your pocket instead of taking it away!

Paid for by Paul J. Braham, Floyd County Chairman for the Campaign to Elect Floyd G. Poore.

HRMC volunteers are honored at appreciation reception

An expression of appreciation

During a recent awards reception, Clarence Traum, HRMC's president and CEO, and Kathy Allen, director of Volunteer Services, expressed their appreciation to HRMC's volunteers for all their volunteer hours to Highlands.

Highlands Regional celebrated National Volunteer Month April 2 by honoring volunteers at their first appreciation social. Auxiliaries, adult and teen volunteers, and guests attended the social. Clarence Traum, president and CEO, also attended and expressed his gratitude for all the hours volunteers contribute to Highlands.

Gladys Allen, Auxiliary president, and Kathy K. Allen, director of Volunteer Services, awarded the Auxiliaries hourly pins and the adult and teen volunteers received appreciation certificates. Hors d'oeuvres were provided by the Food Service Department and everyone enjoyed the opportunity to better acquaint themselves with each other.

Highlands volunteers provided over 6,000 volunteer hours to the hospital during 1990, and with the expansion of the program the hospital expects that number to increase dramatically over the next few years.

Allen stated that the volunteers can be placed throughout many hospital departments. Volunteers are situated in areas they feel most comfortable. Desires, talents and ambitions are considered before volunteer assignments are determined. For example, if a teen is interested in pursuing a nursing career, every effort is made to place him/her on a nursing floor. The same would hold true for a retired person; if he/she previously worked in retail, we would try to place them in the gift shop.

To receive more information on volunteering at Highlands, contact Kathy K. Allen, Director of Volunteer Services at 886-8511 or 789-6548 extension 105.

Kentucky assessment program aids Floyd County hospitals

The first year of Kentucky's assessment plan on hospitals participating in the state Medicaid program has transformed $69.5 million in assessments into $167.5 million in matching Medicaid funds.

Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson and the 1990 legislature created the Hospital Indigent Care Program (HICAP), authorizing collection of a one percent assessment on 109 participating hospitals' annual operating costs.

In the 1991 special legislative session, the assessment level was raised to five percent. The levy is used to match federal Medicaid dollars, and the return — which ranges from 100-300 percent — is repaid to hospitals on a quarterly basis.

Assessments and benefits for the first half of the 1990-91 fiscal year totaled $10.5 million and $33 million, respectively. Comparative figures for the last six months of the fiscal year — figures which reflected the changes made during the 1991 special legislative session — rose to $59 million for assessments and $134.5 million in benefits repaid.

Local hospitals performed well. Highlands Regional Medical Center had an assessment of $617,920 and a return of $2,272,371. McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital had a return of $517,046 on an assessment of $165,881 and Our Lady of the Way Hospital had an assessment and return of $154,308 and $907,519, respectively.

"This program is making a significant impact on the traditional losses for indigent care costs absorbed by Kentucky hospitals," said Commissioner Roy Butler of the state Department for Medicaid Services.

"Hospitals with a disproportionate low-income patient load are the major beneficiaries of HICAP," said Butler. "In most cases, these are small rural hospitals with Medicaid-eligible patient loads as high as 40 percent."

The lowest total dollar return was to the McLean County General Hospital — $95,287, almost tripling its assessment of $32,284. The largest return was to the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington — $13,491,037 from an assessment of $3,758,316.

Only state and private psychiatric hospitals are excluded from HICAP. Medicaid is a federal-state assistance program that pays for medical care for people with low incomes. For every Medicaid dollar, the federal government matches state money at a ratio of 72-to-28 cents.

Student awarded "Dean's Award" for Fall semester study

A Floyd County resident is among 179 students at Eastern Kentucky University to receive the Dean's Award for fall semester study.

Receiving the award was Marina Lynn Allen, of David, a senior education major.

To be given the Dean's Award, students must have achieved Dean's List honors at ECU for three semesters.

"The award is a lapel pin, and it's presented to students by the dean of their academic college," said Jill Allgier, ECU registrar.

"Achieving the Dean's List three times is a very significant honor." The Award was established at ECU in the fall of 1984 by then-registrar Donald Smith to recognize students who had consistently earned academic honors.

For the award, students need three Dean's List semesters, but not necessarily three consecutive semesters.

In Memory of my late husband

ELDER ROBERT HUNTER

Who passed away January 28, 1990 and whose birthday is today, May 24

In tears I saw you shrinking and watched you fade away,
My heart was broken, I wanted you to stay.
God saw the road was getting rough, the hill was harder to climb,
So He closed your eyes and whispered, "peace be thine."
But you didn't go alone, part of me went with you that Sunday morn
God called you away.

Sadly missed by your wife,
Hazel Hunter

Mayor and City Council City of Wheelwright

We have examined the component unit financial statements of the City of Wheelwright, Kentucky, oversight unit as of and for the year ended June 30, 1990, as listed in the table of contents. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The financial statements referred to above include only the financial activities of the oversight unit. Financial activities of other component units that form the reporting entity are not included.

The City has not maintained an adequate record of its general fixed assets and, accordingly, the general purpose financial statements referred to above do not include financial statements of the General Fixed Assets Group of Accounts, which should be included to conform to generally accepted accounting principles.

In our opinion, except that the omission of the financial statements described above results in an incomplete presentation, the component unit financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of the City of Wheelwright, Kentucky, at June 30, 1990, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles which have been applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Our examination was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the component unit financial statements taken as a whole. The combining, individual fund and individual account group financial statements and schedules listed in the table of contents are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the component unit financial statements of the City of Wheelwright, Kentucky. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the examination of the general purpose financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the component unit financial statements taken as a whole.

Solitaire

by Mike Rosenberg

Solitaire's Triumphant Return

Well, here I am again. Another summer with the Floyd County Times. Got some new faces around here but the editorial department still has enough old standbys to allow me to recognize the place.

Tess Whitmer's back from the land of sand. Susan Allen's trying to discover the meaning of life. Ed Taylor's ready to forcibly remove Eric Davis' earring and take over as manager of the Reds. Janice Shepherd's not been seen for days — she's buried under tons of mail. Scott Perry continues to indoctrinate me on the joys of being a Republican. I still don't understand what he's talking about. Throw in the composing and advertising staff (both of which are convinced that they're the heart and soul of the paper) and that's a whale of a summer job.

WE WIN!

I realize that it's been a month and a half since the end of the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament and that it's dredging up a lot of pain for those UNLV fans around here who took great pleasure in rubbing salt in my Duke blue wounds, but I just want to say: Duke v. UNLV. 79-77. Duke v. Kansas. 72-65. Duke wins. 'Nuff said.

Now, what do I do next year when Duke plays UK in the finals?

People are People (so why should it be...)

Speaking of my home away from home, I've just finished my junior year and I've come to a few realizations. Dukies are stereotyped throughout North Carolina as a bunch of uptight rich kids from New Jersey. Unfortunately for "normal" students like myself, that's a pretty fair assessment in many other cases. Money and status (like belonging to the "right" fraternity) still play a large role in many Duke students' lives.

Since I'm not blessed with any old money, I find myself watching these overgrown teenagers going through their socialite's waltz. A lot of the stuff they do seems really superficial and I wonder just how they'll respond when faced with questions deeper than whose BMW they'll take to the Grateful Dead show.

Don't get me wrong, I'm glad to be at Duke and to have the opportunity to receive an education there. I just wish that people were a little more honest and straightforward. I guess growing up in Eastern Kentucky has spoiled me. Honesty and a dedication to values are ingrained from childhood in almost everyone that I've ever met here. I'm relieved I got that part of my life education before I headed to Durham.

Loose Ends

So, I'm glad to be home and I'm looking forward to renewing my acquaintances. I'd like to belatedly wish my long-time friend Dave Stanford a happy 21st and I'd like to congratulate my father, John Rosenberg, on winning the 1991 Kutak-Dodds prize for legal excellence.

Until next week, 'Ryche 'n' Roll.

Later days.

CHURCH UNDER THE OPEN SKY

The Memorial Day weekend is almost here. That means it is time for the annual outdoor church services in the head of Frasure's Creek. Many former community members who have left the area always make it back home for these services. As we make plans to attend the services again this year, I am reminded of last year meetings.

It was somewhat like a homecoming. There were many of the cousins that I had not seen in many years. (Or at least all not together). Then there was the church services under the open sky with the threat of rain any minute. The rain passed over and the day became bright and cheerful. The week prior to the services the junior class had finished reading Thornton Wilder's Our Town, and I was reminded of this speech in the play as I listened to church services: "Now there are some things we all know, but we don't take them out and look at 'em very often. We all know something is eternal. And it ain't houses and it ain't names, and it ain't earth, and it ain't even the stars... Everybody knows in their bones that something is eternal, and that something has something to do with human beings."

Church always leaves me with the idea of eternity, but being out in the open space of God's creation made the impression stronger. As the ministers were preaching and everyone was singing, we could hear God's other creatures making their own kind of music. I was reminded of another quote. This time from the great English poet Robert Browning and his Pippa Passes. (Anyone who knew and loved Miss June Buchanan is familiar with Robert Browning—especially Pippa Passes, but I leave the story of June and the Purpose Road for another time). The quote from the poem goes like this:

*God's in his heaven—

As I sat there, I was reminded of those who had gone on since our meeting the previous year. There was Junior Osborne who was buried not far from the stands. His little family was there still mourning his passing. It just made one wonder who will be the missing one or ones next year. We all knew there would be at least one who would not be with us when another year had rolled around.

Another year has come and gone. We have read Our Town again, and it was just as good as it has been in the past. Some people who were with us last year won't be with us this year because they have gone on to meet their Maker. Ted Frasure had been to every meeting that I had attended. He won't be there this year or at least not in body. I suppose he will be there spiritually. There will be bonding taking place that should have been done years ago. Some "I love you's" will be said that need to be said so badly. We have come to realize that just loving someone isn't enough. Each of us need to hear those simple words: "I love you." If you need to say those words to someone, go ahead and do it before it is too late.

After church services are over, we all sit down and eat a big meal and reminisce about "the good old days." There is one thing I don't understand: How can my memory of the well-behaved, brilliant child that I was be so radically different from other people's memories. To hear them tell it, I was right up there with Attila the Hun.

I come away from these meetings with a sense that, in a small way, I know and understand better the person I am. Perhaps Thomas Wolfe was wrong. You can go home again—even if it is just for one day of the year.

Soapbox

Shew, it's over. Last Saturday must have been one of longest days in history. At least that's how my head felt when I finally got to lay it down on my pillow at 11:30 p.m.

I must say it was worth it. The weather held out and the Festival of FACES was a success. The parade that the Prestonsburg Jaycees sponsored was the biggest to date. There were more floats and other participants to round it out. The only disappointment was the lack of bands. After all, what's a parade without a kicker band performing.

From what I hear, though, the bands don't get that much support within the school system and therefore are lacking participants. I find that extremely sad.

I was in band when I was in high school and there were over 200 other members. We performed different shows for every home game, competition and parade. We were required to attend these events or else we got kicked out. But, nobody ever missed one because they were such an adrenalin rush.

The band was probably the most fun I had in high school. All my friends were in it and we got to travel all over the place, even to Canada for the Grape Festival and to the Silverdome for a Detroit Tigers game.

Yes sir, band was a blast. I'd recommend it to anyone for some good clean fun and a chance to experience high school like no one else. I sure hope the schools start to concentrate on recruitment and support for their musical talent. I know there is a lot of it in the mountains of Kentucky. That can be proved simply by asking Billie Jean Osborne.

I must congratulate Billie Jean for the outstanding performance she orchestrated for the Kentucky Opry. Wow, what a group.

When I listened to them Saturday night, my heart was doing flip-flops. I had no idea what to expect from them. I wasn't real keen on going to the concert, because country music and bluegrass just aren't my thing. But, since the Jaycees had volunteered to do the seating for the concert, I decided I might as well stay and listen. I wasn't sorry.

The members of the Kentucky Opry sure can perform. They not only played good music, but their little verbal repertoire was entertaining as well. Their fun was contagious. I couldn't help but feel happy while watching them.

Geez, I'm hooked. Now I'm liking country music and bluegrass, the next thing you know I'll be eating soupbeans and cornbread. Nah, it will never happen.

I'd just like to add a big thank you to the Jaycees for all the hard work they did in organizing and lining up the parade, working the strawberry daiquiri booth and seating at the concert.

Like joining the band, joining the Jaycees was one of the best moves I've ever made. These people know how to enjoy life and give back to their community. I couldn't ask for a better group of friends, or a better club. Thanks for being there Jaycees.

FOR WOMEN ONLY

If you're a man, don't read any further. But if you're a woman with a son or daughter who participates in an organized summer baseball league, read on.

From the first of April until mid-July, these youngsters begin practicing and playing baseball, abetted by mothers who never receive credit for anything except for their attendance at the child's conception and birth.

The only participation expected of mothers during this period is washing uniforms, chauffeuring children to and from practice, manning the concessions, and seeing that the children have water in their dugouts. That's where our involvement ends.

I didn't realize what a problem this presented until last week when I spoke with several other mothers, and they told me about how baseball affected their lives.

"Where are you going to spend your vacation this summer?" I asked one mother.

"Probably in a van behind right field," she coolly replied. "If it doesn't quit raining, and we don't have to keep making up games we might have enough time to visit my mother."

"That sounds like a nice trip. Where does your mother live?"

"Van Lear, but I haven't seen her since the first practice. You'll have to excuse me, the boys need water."

As I watched her carry 14 cups of ice to the dugout, I overheard another mother talking to her daughter.

"Why did you wear that outfit to the game? I haven't even washed it yet."

"Why didn't you wash it when you washed Leonard's uniform?"

"Because I had to soak his uniform overnight in a special solution," she said, wiping the sweat from her brow. "Then I had to air dry it and press the sleeves with a cool iron. After that I had to block it out. I was going to get around to the rest of the laundry sometime this week."

"Leonard always comes first!" the daughter cried as she turned and walked away dejectedly.

I sympathized with the woman. It's hard enough to perform everyday household duties when you've got a child playing baseball, but having other children during this period that also need attention has to present problems.

"What's for supper?" I heard a man yell to his wife during the fourth inning of play.

"I'll stop and pick up something," she answered. "I won't have time to cook. It's already 5:30."

"Why didn't you fix it before you came?" he asked.

"Because I just came from work, that's why," she replied, angrily. "Besides that, I had to take Armando to his practice, and run Hermalee to her gymnastics class. I'm pooped."

"You've got to get organized, woman," he yelled over the crowd. "I worked today, too."

I quickly turned my head and walked away so I couldn't be called in as a witness if need warranted, grateful that I only had one child to wag back and forth to the field. Walking back to my seat, I was stopped by another mother who looked as if she had been tagged out after a run down between second and third.

"What's wrong, Alice?" I asked.

"They're not letting my son play," she answered, pitifully.

"What team does he play on?"

"Oh, I don't know, but he wears a red uniform. I brought him over, but then I had to go back home and wash a load of clothes, fix supper, and write out bills. Then I stopped by the hospital a second to see my father in ICU. I hurried back so I could work the concession."

"How long did that take?"

"About two hours, I suppose," she said with a dazed look on her face.

"That team finished playing thirty minutes ago."

"Then where is he now?"

"There," I said pointing to a child with mud caked cleats and the filthy uniform I had ever seen. "He must have gotten in the game after all."

Finally seated in my chair, I watched as my son turned his back to the crowd to arrange his protective cup that, as far as I'm concerned, is a male apparatus used to prevent brain damage, and watched him make his approach to the batters box. That's when my husband tapped me on the shoulder and asked what we were having for supper.

It's probably a good thing Congress passed the Brady Bill.

15th Regional :

Prestonsburg "Slides" Past Belfry 4-3 To Advance To Semis At Pikeville

There are many ways to win ball games. A last inning home run. A timely base hit with the winning run in scoring position. An error. But a head first slide at first base with the winning run at second?

That is exactly what took place at the W.C. Hambley Athletic Complex Wednesday night as the Prestonsburg Blackcats squeaked out a 4-3 win over the Belfry Pirates in the first round of the 15th Regional High School Baseball Tournament.

In the bottom of the sixth, with the score tied 3-3 and with two out, Jason Crisp reached on an error on Pirates' shortstop Mark Williams. Aaron Tucker then hit a slow bouncer to second base for what looked like the final out of the inning. Not so. Tucker slid head first into first base slightly ahead of the throw and was called safe. Crisp advanced to third and never stopped as he thought Tucker was going to be called out. While Pirate first baseman Scottie Blackburn was giving the umpire a look of disbelief, Crisp trotted home with the winning run. Belfry went out in the top of the seventh without a lot of noise, although they did manage a base hit.

The Pirates took a 1-0 lead behind the pitching of Shawn Hager whose off speed pitches had the Blackcats swinging wildly. In the Pirates' second, Kevin Varney drew a one out walk from Blackcat starter Aaron Tucker. Varney stole second and third and came home on an error on catcher Kevin Hall.

Prestonsburg knotted the score at 1-1 in their half of the third. Jason Storey drilled a Hager curve ball to right center for a one out base hit. John Clark beat out an infield hit to the third baseman. The ball was thrown wildly to first for an error and Storey scored.

Tucker began to tire in the fourth inning and Belfry took a 3-1 lead with two in the frame. Tucker got the first two batters in the inning when Williams grounded back the mound and Blackburn flied out to center. Chris Phillips got a two out hit and stole second and scored on Varney's double. Varney went to third and looked to be nailed but third baseman Scott Stephens dropped the ball. Varney scored on Dale Oliver's RBI single.

Prestonsburg tied the game at 3-3

Allen Central Rebels Find Pikeville Tough In 12-4 Regional Loss; Errors Hurt

It wasn't a good game on the field for the Allen Central Rebels in Tuesday night's first round of the 15th Regional High School Baseball Tournament at the W.C. Hambley Athletic Complex. Allen Central committed seven errors enroute to a 12-4 loss at the hands of the Pikeville Panthers.

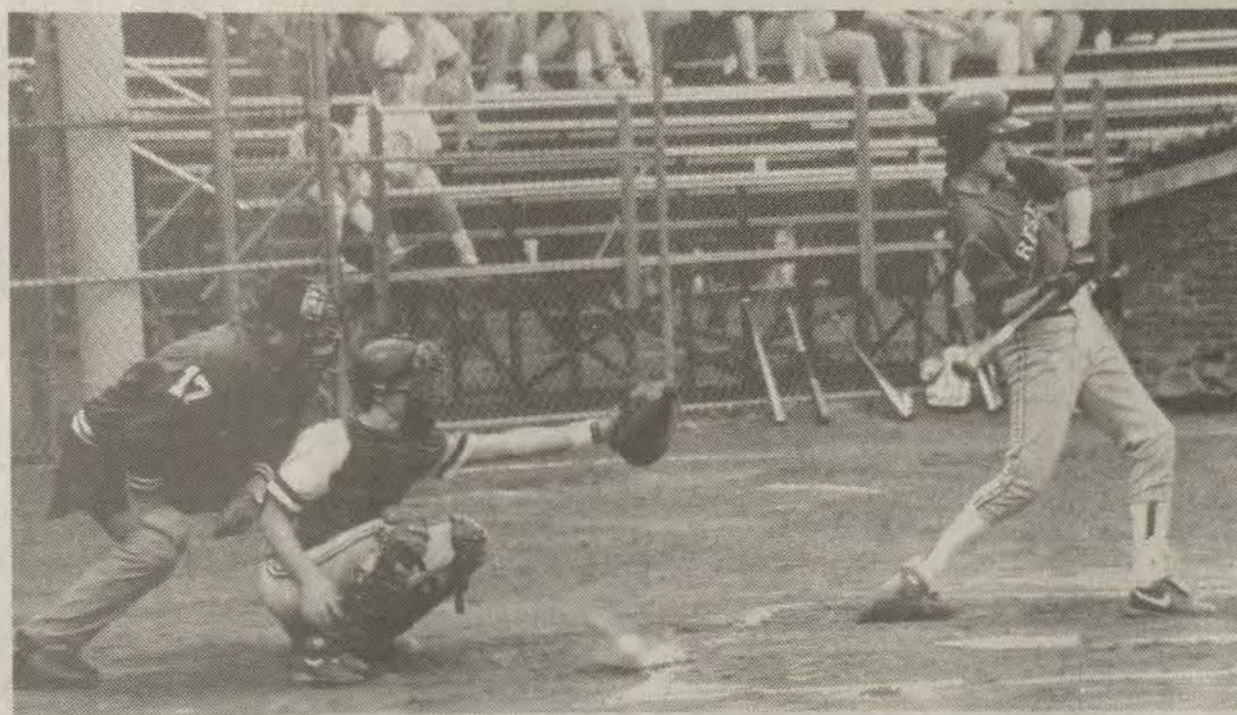

It was especially difficult for shortstop Stewart Hall, shortstop for the Rebels. Hall, normally is sure handed at shortstop, was guilty of four of the seven errors. Hall had two of the three Rebel errors in the first inning that saw Pikeville come back from an early 2-0 deficit to tie the game at 2-2. Five of the 12 runs scored by Pikeville were unearned. The mistakes by Hall are highly uncharacteristic of his play.

Pikeville, a strong favorite to take the tournament, scored five times in the bottom of the second inning to take a 4-2 lead, a lead they never relinquished. Rebel starter Robbie Sexton, who felt the pressure of the first inning mistakes, lost sight of the strike zone and issued back-to-back one out walks to Chris Ward and Lee Jones. Shortstop Jess Baird rocketed a shot to right center that plated Ward and Jones. Matt Adkins reached on Hall's third error of the game. J.P. Blair sent both runners home with a long triple to right field. Blair scored the fifth run of the inning on a base hit by Bobby Casto.

Allen Central made it a 7-4 game with two runs in the top of the third. With one out, B.J. Aldrich reached on an error at second for Pikeville and Chuck Laferty walked. After Phillip Ritchie fanned, Jason Martin hit a long drive over the head of the right fielder, scoring Aldrich and Laferty.

The Rebels took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on two two out walks to Stevie Robinson and Aldrich. Laferty then planted the ball over the head of the Panther's centerfielder for a two-run double. After the third inning, Pikeville starter J.P. Blair allowed Allen Central only one hit the rest of the way — a one out single by Hall in the fourth inning.

Robbie Sexton started for the Rebels, working but an inning and a third. Sexton struggled in the second when Pikeville scored four runs.

"Watch It Stewart!"

Laferty came on in relief with one out in the bottom of the second and went one inning before he was relieved by Jason Martin. Sexton took the loss for Allen Central, striking out no one and walking three. He allowed seven runs on two hits. Laferty walked three in his one inning of work, giving up two runs on three hits. Martin issued one base on balls and two runs on two hits. Blair was relieved by Jess Baird in the top of the sixth with no one out. Baird fanned two batters while walking four.

Allen Astros Take First Place With 7-0 Shutout Of Cubs

Brandon Castle scattered five hits and John Ortega hit a two-run home run to lead the Allen Astros to a 7-0 victory over the Mud Creek Cubs and claim first place in the Harold-Allen-Prater Little League.

The Cubs and Astros had been tied for first place with identical 9-1 records after the Cubs defeated the Allen team earlier in the season. This was the third meeting between the two teams. Allen won the first game — a season opening victory back on April 16. The Cubs got some revenge with a victory on April 30 to tie the Astros for first place.

Billy Mitchell shined for the Astros in the field as he had five put outs, robbing the Cubs of several hits with his defensive play. Mitchell pulled off an unassisted double play in the third inning.

Castle went the distance for the Astros. He was in total control of his pitches. Castle did not walk a batter and struck out nine.

Lance Jones, who won the last meeting, suffered the loss for the Cubs. He fanned nine batters while giving up for base on balls.

Sammy Nelson continued to hit the ball well with a fourth inning run producing double. Eddie Rowe doubled in the fifth for Allen, picking up a run batted in. Jason Roberts chipped in with a sixth inning two bagger. Ortega and Wesley Sammons each had three hits in the game, while for the Cubs, Derrick Stanley and Lance Jones each picked up two hits.

Allen improves to 10-1 while the Cubs fall to 9-2.

The Astros will face the Dodgers on Monday at 5:30 p.m. and the Cubs will go up against the Dodgers this Saturday at 11 a.m.

Moore Stops Garrett Cubs With No-Hitter

Some good news and bad news for the Drift Giants. The good news was the 8-0 no-hitter Chris Moore tossed in the Beaver Creek Little League Tuesday night. The bad news was that Giants catcher Eric Cook broke his arm in the first inning of the game in an attempt to steal second. Cook had a RBI on his first inning hit. Drift collected seven hits in the game.

The no-hitter was the second of the year for Moore and the strikeout total continues to mount for the hard throwing righthander. Moore fanned 16 of the 20 batters he faced. Moore walked four batters.

D. Shepherd was the losing pitcher for the Cubs, experiencing some wildness in walking nine batters. Shepherd struck out nine also.

Jason Woods had a first inning home run for the Giants as they scored four times. Woods collected three hits in the game in three plate appearances. John Stumbo picked up a fourth inning triple for the Drift team. Stumbo had two hits in the contest. Cook had a RBI on his first inning hit. Drift collected seven hits in the game.

The Giants will face the Drift Astros at the Minnie Park today at 5:30 p.m.

Hager To Begin Karate Classes At Archer Park

Need lessons in self-defense? Want to how to defend yourself? Do you just enjoy the martial arts? A new Karate class is coming to Prestonsburg starting May 27 at the Archer Park gymnasium. Sam Hager, first degree black belt, will begin teaching the oldest form of martial arts, Shao'lin.

"Karate is a good form of aerobic exercise," Hager said. "The classes will also include a self-defense class. That will be good for women who want to protect themselves. The self-defense class comes when new students are trying out for the white belt."

The white belt, according to Hager, is the first belt a new student can earn. Then comes yellow, blue, green, three degrees of the brown and black. Hager said that it takes a long time to obtain the black. "It takes about three months in between each belt," said Hager. "We will review each student after three months and then I will give them a pretest and if they do well then Sin The, from Lexington, will give the final test."

Hager said that enrollment in the new classes is unlimited but, if the group gets beyond 30, more days may be required to handle the group. Hager will teach the classes on Monday evenings at the Archer Park gym from 6-8 p.m. There is no age limit on the classes and women are welcome to participate. Cost for the classes is $25 per month per student. For more information, contact Sam Hager at 886-8272.

CHRIS ALTMAN'S COLUMN RETURNS

Be sure to read Chris Altman's column in today's sports section. Altman is one of the finest outdoor writers I have read. He is very knowledgeable of the subjects he covers from fishing, hunting to different fishing lures. Chris is currently working on his first book and has been unable to furnish articles to the newspapers as he would like. I'm sure the book that Altman is writing will be a good one.

TOURNAMENT TIME CHANGE TO SUIT RADIO

The 15th Regional High School Baseball Tournament was set to start each day at 5:30 p.m. The set time was voted on by the coaches involved in the tournament. The games were scheduled to begin on Tuesday. When Tuesday rolled around, the starting time was changed from 5:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. to accommodate the radio crew.

By the time the first game was over and the second game underway, it was after 8 p.m. closer to 8:30 p.m. Quitting time is around 11 p.m. Getting home is later than that for the two teams that must play the last game. That is awful late for a group of students who have school the next day to be playing baseball. The time should have been left alone and the radio stations left to do the best they could. I appreciate the stations that covered the games. I really do. I think it was great. But to change the time for their convenience was wrong on the part of tournament officials. The players should have been the ones taken into consideration. But it seems that anything that has to do with athletics the student/players are the last to be considered.

I personally think the good folks at Pikeville High School have done a marvelous job of hosting this tournament. But that is not new. They do a first class job every year in any tournament they host. They have been very accommodating. But 6 p.m. is too late to start the first game of a double-header of baseball on a school night.

SPEAKING OF RADIO

The Paintsville and Johnson Central games were covered by WSIP-FM out of Paintsville. WDHR-FM covered the Pike County schools. But there was not one from Floyd County to cover Allen Central or Prestonsburg in the regional tournament. Why? Lack of advertisement? Lack of interest? The interest is certainly there. I am sure that the advertisers could be found if the stations would have chosen to cover the games. We had the largest crowd at a district tournament this year than any year that I have covered it. That was good to see. Fan interest in high school baseball has certainly increased the past two years. With the coming of some new fields in Floyd County I expect the interest will be even greater. Radio could play a big part in making it a much followed sport, especially for those who can not make the games personally. Even the regular season crowds were better.

I think we have three of the finest radio stations in the area. I consider each and everyone of them my personal friends. (After this, who knows). One station is under contract to cover the Cincinnati Reds games. I understand that. But what of the other two? As of this writing, Prestonsburg is in the semifinals of the tournament and has a good chance to go farther. I just think they and all of the other teams deserve the coverage.

Until Wednesday, be good sports.

MEET DOUG HENSLEY, YOUR FISH AND WILDLIFE COMMISSIONER

The most powerful faction of Kentucky's outdoor sporting arena is the Fish and Wildlife Commission. This nine-member agency, composed of one representative from each of the nine geographical districts, is the governing body that decides which proposed regulations and regulation changes will be considered for passage into Kentucky state law.

The members of the Fish and Wildlife Commission are appointed by the governor from a list of nominees. Actually, a public vote held in each district derives a list of the top five vote recipients, and that list of nominees is passed on to the governor. For each district, the governor will then appoint one commissioner from that list of five. Fish and Wildlife Commissioners serve a four year non-paid term. In other words, our Fish and Wildlife Commissioners receive no money for their voluntary public service.

The Commissioner for the Seventh District, which includes Pike, Floyd, Perry, Lawrence, Johnson, Magoffin, Knott, Letcher, Leslie, Breathitt and Martin counties is Doug Hensley.

Hensley, a 44 year old native of Hazard, operates a Marathon Oil distributorship in that area. That is his vocation. His avocations are hunting, fishing and working for the betterment of those same outdoor opportunities for the sportsmen of Kentucky's Seventh District.

Hensley became interested in the conservation of Kentucky's fish and wildlife resources in the early 1970's, and later served as the president of the Perry County Fish and Game Club and as the President of the Seventh District Wildlife Federation. He began attending the state Fish and Wildlife Commission meetings in 1979. "Over the next few years, I grew very disappointed in the way the sportsmen of Eastern Kentucky were represented," Hensley says. "I thought that I could make a difference, so I became involved in the Commission." He was appointed to the Seventh District Commissioner's office in 1983, and has served his constituents admirably ever since.

When Hensley became Commissioner of the Seventh District back in 1983, there were just two populations of turkeys in Eastern Kentucky. Through his efforts, every county in our area now has a growing turkey population, and continued stocking efforts are still underway.

Doug Hensley initiated a deer stocking program that has resulted in an explosion of whitetails in the mountains. So far, more than 2500 deer have been stocked in Eastern Kentucky, and 1000 more are slated for near-future release.

He also initiated a series of youth hunts on our wildlife management areas in an effort to increase the hunting opportunities for our children. "Our children are the life-blood of our conservation efforts," says Hensley, "and I firmly believe that the best way to introduce them to the outdoors and maintain their interest is to get them outside and help them to be successful in their hunting and fishing."

Doug Hensley was instrumental in passing the 15-inch size limit on bass in our Eastern Kentucky lakes. "That was a tough call to make," he says, "and some anglers probably were not happy with it. But I researched the matter in depth, sought the advice of our fisheries biologists, and talked with fishermen throughout the mountains. Most of them thought that by saving our 12 to 15 inch fish, which are really our brood stock and our most efficient spawners, we would help the overall bass population. In the end, I felt that it was the right thing to do, and I believe it will ultimately improve the overall quality of bass fishing in our lakes."

He worked for the early black-powder deer season, and was responsible for the Canadian Goose project initiated by Cypress Coal Company. That project created a native flock of Canadian geese in Eastern Kentucky, and will eventually bring the sport of goose hunting to our mountains.

As Seventh District Fish and Wildlife Commissioner, Hensley listens to the hunters and the fishermen of Eastern Kentucky, and relies on professional advice and guidance of our area biologists to help him make informed decisions regarding the welfare of those outdoor pursuits that we hold so dear. "In my opinion, Fish and Wildlife Commissioners are nothing more than representatives or advocates for the sportsmen in Kentucky. I try to meet the needs and wants of our hunters and fishermen. My obligation is to the responsible management and promotion of our wildlife resources. I am not an expert on the scientific side of hunting and fishing, so I rely a great deal on the information give to me by biologists."

Within the nine-member Fish and Wildlife Commission, Doug Hensley is known as a mover and a shaker, a man who is not afraid to fight to get things accomplished. As fishermen and hunters, we are lucky to have such a man representing us. Traditionally, Eastern Kentucky has been regarded as something of a stepchild by the rest of the state, but in the realm of our Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, that has changed in the past eight years due to Hensley's efforts.

A firm believer in getting children involved in the outdoors, Doug Hensley is now working on a state program that will provide conservation activities and studies for high school students. "With our conservation camps, we have a pretty good start on educating our children about wildlife and conservation. But as the youngsters get a bit older, much of their attention is focused on football or basketball or girls or boys," Hensley says. "I have laid the groundwork for high school programs that will help to keep our children involved in conservation, hunting and fishing, and I'd like to help that program become a statewide reality."

Hensley, would like to see his deer stocking project through to completion, and to continue working on his long term turkey restoration program.

"In Eastern Kentucky, our coal people are vital to fish and wildlife because they control so much of the land. I have worked closely with them to develop coalfields reclamation programs that create habitat for a variety of wildlife," Hensley says. "I am now trying to develop a plan that will provide incentives for coal companies that reclaim their lands to meet our needs and then lease those lands to the Department of Fish and Wildlife for use as state-operated wildlife management areas. Eventually, this will provide more wildlife in our mountains and more hunting areas as well. We have already established a native population of reproducing Canadian geese, and I think we can accomplish a lot more through this program, but it is going to take some time."

Additionally, Hensley adamantly believes that anglers in Eastern Kentucky need more lakes and reservoirs in which to fish. "Our lakes are overburdened. They are small when compared to reservoirs across the state, and they simply receive too much fishing pressure. It is difficult to provide a quality fishery under these conditions, so I feel that we need to expand our fishing opportunities. And if we could clean up our streams we could have some of the finest stream fishing in the state, if not the country. We must continue to work on our litter and trash problem."

The Seventh District Fish and Wildlife Commissioner's seat will be voted upon in just a few days. On election day, Tuesday, May 28, at 7:30 p.m., a public election will be held in the Knott County Central High School on Highway 160. The purpose of this election is to select the top nominees for the Seventh District Fish and Wildlife Commissioners seat. That list, along with the official tally of votes, will then be sent to the governor for his final appointment.

If you believe, as I do, that Doug Hensley has served the sportsmen of Eastern Kentucky very well, and would like to continue his representation for another four years, I strongly urge you to attend the meeting in Knott County and cast your vote for Mr. Hensley. His seat is being contested, and I believe we need to show our support and appreciation for his efforts on our behalf.

If you cannot attend the meeting, I urge you to write a letter to the governor stating your support for Doug Hensley as Seventh District Fish and Wildlife Commissioner. That address is: The Honorable Wallace G. Wilkinson, Governor, State Capital Building, Frankfort, KY 40601.

Bearcats Spot Central Three Runs But Rally For 5-3 Win

In the first round of the 15th Regional High School Baseball Tournament, the Johns Creek Bearcats (23-4) spotted the Golden Eagles of Johnson Central (22-20) a 3-0 first inning lead but rallied to post a 5-3 win over Mitchell Johnson and the Eagles. The loss ended the Eagles' season and their hopes of a state tournament trip.

Johns Creek scored a single run in the bottom of the fourth inning without the benefit of a base hit to take a 4-3 lead after erasing a 3-0 deficit earlier. Jason K. Taylor walked to lead off the Bearcats' fourth. After Kyle Weddington fanned, Taylor stole second base and moved to third on a passed ball. Kyle Weddington swung at a third strike, but the ball eluded Jeff Williams. Williams fired the ball to first to get Weddington but Taylor came in to plate the go-ahead run.

The Golden Eagles scored three times in the first when Larry Staumbaugh reached on a catcher's error. Staumbaugh struck out, but Jerry Ison dropped the ball and Staumbaugh was safe at first. Williams went out second to first with Staumbaugh advancing. Johnson singled home Staumbaugh with Johnson going to second base on the throw to the plate. Johnson later scored on Tony Jennings RBI single.

The Bearcats tied the game with three in the third. Justice doubled to lead off the inning and Johnson lost Jason A. Taylor on a 3-2 pitch for a walk. After Johnson's wild pitch moved Justice to third, Taylor stole second base. Both runners scored on Ison's two-run single. Ison went to second on the throw home and then stole third, from where he came in to score on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Doug Blackburn.

Johns Creek added an insurance run in their half of fifth. With one out, Ison singled sharply to right and went to second on a wild pitch. After Johns Creek loaded the bases on Johnson, Chris Gannon's ground ball to second was misplayed, allowing Ison to score.

Johnson seemed to struggle in the late innings with his pitches going consistently low, accounting for several wild pitches.

Tommy Chamberlain, who seemed to get stronger as the game went on, was the winning pitcher for the Bearcats. Chamberlain fanned eight batters while walking five. He allowed three earned runs on four hits in the complete game.

Mitchell Johnson, who came into the game as the ace of the Eagles pitching staff with a 7-3 record, suffered the loss. Johnson pitched five innings, allowing five runs on five hits. He fanned six and walked an uncharacteristic five. Staumbaugh pitched the sixth inning for Johnson Central.

Johnson Central stranded five runners while Johns Creek left six runners on base. The Eagles committed two errors and Johns Creek one.

Lady Topper Basketball Camps Are Gearing Up At WKU

Preparations are in full swing for the 1991 Paul Sanderford Lady Topper Basketball Camps, taking place this summer on the Western University campus.

For the ninth consecutive year, Sanderford and a host of talented coaches and players will conduct the Lady Topper Basketball Camps, bringing some of the finest instruction available in women's basketball to WKU's Diddle Arena.

A shooting camp is the first of three specialized camps scheduled, with the three-day concentrated session set for June 21-23. The cost is just $100 per camper, and is available to girls age nine through high school seniors.

The popular individual camp is set for June 23-27, and is for girls age 10 through high school senior. The cost for this camp is $225, and any camper signing up for both the individual and shooting camps will receive a special discounted rate of just $300. The price includes instruction, lodging, meals and a camp tee-shirt.

A team camp will be held June 30-July 4 and is geared to junior varsity and varsity teams.

For more information, please contact the Lady Topper Basketball Office at 502-745-2133.

WKU'S KELLY SMITH CHOSEN TO NCAA COMMITTEE

Former Western Kentucky University student/athlete Kelly Smith has been selected to serve on the NCAA Student Advisory Committee.

Smith, who was a senior on this year's 29-3 Lady Topper basketball team, was one of only 16 students chosen from across the nation to serve on this prestigious committee. The London, Kentucky native received her Bachelor's degree in Biology from WKU this spring and will enter the University of Kentucky's School of Pharmacy in the fall.

"I'm very excited to have been chosen," Smith said. "I'm looking forward to sharing ideas with the NCAA from a student/athlete perspective and having the opportunity to help shape the future NCAA policy."

The Student Advisory Committee is made up of male and female student/athletes from sophomores to post-graduate students, representing geographical regions as well as NCAA Divisions (I, II, and III). Smith's two-year term begins in September.

"How was that coach?"

John Clark stood on third base after advancing on a two-base error at third base for the Belfry Pirates. Clark came on in relief of Aaron Tucker in the sixth inning and got the 4-3 win for the Blackcats. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

Prestonsburg coach Russell Shepherd elected to bring in the "flame throwing" righthander John Clark. Clark induced Jimmy Coleman to bounce back to the pitcher's box and he ran to first base to make the put out himself.

Clark got the win for Prestonsburg in working just an inning and a third. Clark had no strike outs and walked no one. He gave up one hit. Tucker went the first 5 2/3 innings with one strikeout and he walked five. Tucker gave up all three runs on five hits.

Hager was the losing pitcher for Belfry as he went the distance. Hager had two strike outs and he did not walk anyone. He gave up all four runs on six hits. Three of the runs were earned.

Belfry had three runs on six hits and committed three errors. The Pirates stranded seven runners. Prestonsburg collected six hits in scoring four times. The Blackcats left three runners on base and committed two errors.

Belfry completes their season with a 9-14 record while Prestonsburg improves to 23-13.

Jordan Wins Week At Cubs Training Camp; Remembers Reds Of Old

"I just clip the entry form off of my Gatorade drink and mailed it in," said Paul Jordan from Lebanon and editor of Coal Camp Kids, Coming Up Hard, and Making It. "Then, about three weeks later, I got this letter in the mail saying 'Congratulations, you are a winner for a week at the Chicago Cubs training camp'."

Jordan is a avid Cincinnati Reds fan and told the likes of Andre Dawson, Ryne Sandberg and Rick Sutcliffe that he was a Reds fan but when they were not playing the Reds, he was for them. "They said that was alright," said Jordan.

Jordan is a former worker in Governor Bert Combs administration and also a former writer for the Associated Press. Jordan remembers the old Cincinnati Redlegs of the '30s. "Paul Derringer was my favorite pitcher back in the '30s," explained Jordan. "I remember the back-to-back no-hitters of Vandemer's. I have been following the Reds for the last 55 years."

"I remember when they used to have the excursions to old Crosley Field. I never did get to take one though. I didn't have the money to go on. And I can just see myself straining my ear next to the radio trying to listen to the Reds game above all the static."

Jordan, who graduated from the University of Kentucky, did not get to see his first major league game until the early '50s.

Jordan sees a different Cincinnati Reds team and thinks the players are a little more greedy today compare to the bygone years. "It's a different breed of ball players today," he said. "They are more greedy than the early years."

Jordan thinks that Reds majority owner Marge Schott is "a pretty good old gal."

"I sat behind her at a ball game once and she's alright," he said, "and I believe she had the betterment of the game at heart. She has come under some unwarranted criticism."

Jordan remembers the day they let Ray Knight go and how upset he became with the Reds ownership. "I sat down and wrote them a letter about it," said Jordan. "I was really upset. I asked them if someone was smoking weed up there."

Jordan doesn't think that Todd Benzinger will be with the Reds for long with his little antics of late. Jordan likes new manager Lou Piniella and thinks that "he is a tough nut."

"Lou's a good manager, a take charge guy. He lets them know who is the boss there and I like him."

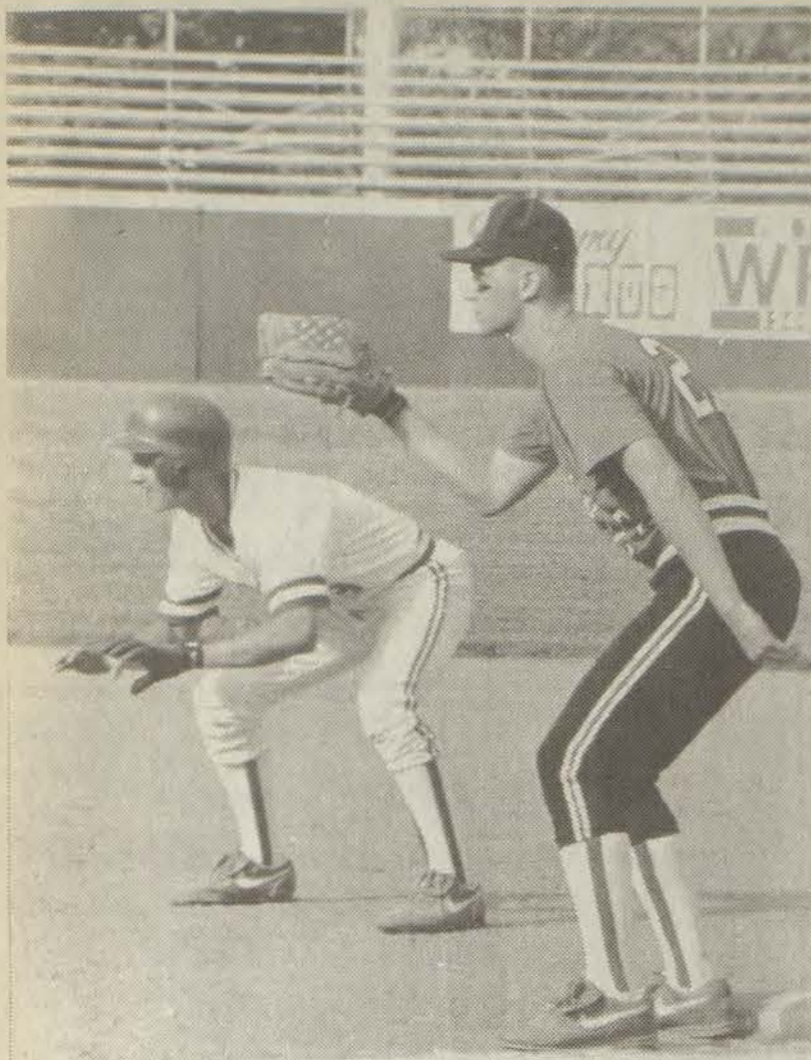

When the Reds and the Pirates were in the playoffs last year, Jordan was in Germany visiting his son. "I got to wondering how the playoffs were going and I finally found an English paper over there that told to the Reds winning the playoffs. When they got in the World Series, I could not find out anything of how the series went. So, I ended up calling my wife, 6,000 miles away and I asked be elected for his days as a player." The Reds letting Ron Oester go was a sore spot with Jordan also. "I think because he was local boy they should have kept him. He would have made them an good utility man and got them a base hit when they needed it."

"Marge Schott is a good old gal. She's alright. She has come under some unwarranted criticism."

Jordan is a University of Kentucky nut just as everyone else and that is another story for another time.

Jenkins Hurls One-Hitter As Martin Downs Stars, 33-2

Thomas Jenkins gave the McDowell Stars but one hit in hurling his third complete game in the Beaver Creek Little League and improving his record to 3-0 on the year as the Martin Braves posted a one-sided 33-2 win in a make up game at Martin.

It was the heavy bat of Beau Tackett that led the Braves offense against the Stars. Tackett had eight RBIs in the game with two triples and two doubles. The hot hitting Brave tripled in both the fourth and fifth innings, driving in two runs with each hit. He doubled in the first for two RBIs and drove in a single run in the third with his second double.

It was big evening at the plate for young Desmond Spencer as he collected a triple and double in picking up five runs batted in. Spencer came to the plate twice in the Braves 15 run fifth and tripled the first time up, scoring three runs. He doubled in two more runs the same inning in his second time at bat.

Gordon Maynard tripled with the bases loaded for the Braves in their six run third. Rusty Hall tripled in the fourth for the Braves and drove in a run. Jenkins, in going the distance for the third time, fanned 11 batters and issued four walks. Jenkins helped his own cause with a first inning double in a 2-4 outing. Chris Comette was not cheated with his swings at the plate as he hammered two doubles, one in the first and another in the fifth. Comett had three runs batted in. Phillip Holbrook had two doubles and two RBIs. Jesse Hall had a RBI double for the Braves in the fifth inning.

The Braves improve to 5-2 on the season in collecting 16 hits. Martin will face the Martin Blue Jays today at 5:30 p.m. at the Martin Park. McDowell does not play until next Wednesday.

The Rebels close out their season with a 14-12 record while Pikeville improves to 23-12.

Matt LeBlanc and Joe Bologna (from left) play Vinnie and Charlie Verducci, a working-class father and son headed for the Top of the Heap, Sundays on Fox.

Gettin' to the 'top' of the TV comedy heap

Fox spin-off rides on coattails of hit

By Amy Schmidt

Top of the Heap or bottom of the barrel? Well, perhaps Fox's new comedy about a wanna-be-rich father and son falls somewhere in the middle.

Top of the Heap is the first series for multi-talented Joe Bologna since starring in NBC's short-lived comedy Rags to Riches in 1987. On Rags to Riches, Bologna played a millionaire bachelor, but in Top of the Heap, he portrays a blue-collar scheming father.

Bologna's co-star Matt LeBlanc is a relative newcomer. LeBlanc went from construction work to star material when, on a whim, he hopped a train to New York City to try his hand at modeling and acting. ("My parents said, 'Are you crazy? What the hell's the matter with you? You can't be an actor,'" confides LeBlanc.)

On Top of the Heap, LeBlanc plays Vinnie Verducci, an ex-boxer naive to his matchmaking father Charlie's efforts to pair him with a host of wealthy airhead women. Also co-starring is Rita Moreno as the manager of the country club that serves as the breeding ground for Charlie and Vinnie's worst-laid plans.

The new comedy is created by the producers of the lewd but hilarious Foxcom Married...With Children. The unrefined Bundys are, in fact, "friends" of the Verduccis and make occasional guest appearances.

Married...With Children, the Sunday night lead-in for Bologna and LeBlanc's show, is definitely funnier and more clever. But who knows? Maybe with a little rewriting and fine tuning, Top of the Heap — like Charlie and Vinnie — will get there.

'Nuts' raises questions that linger a while

By Steven Alan McGaw

Nuts (1987) This dark, provocative film never found the audience it deserved, probably because of the grim subject matter. Be advised; this movie is no walk in the park. (Well, maybe a really dangerous park.) If, however, you're looking for a film featuring an intelligent, thought-provoking story, sensitive direction and fine performances, give it a try.

Barbra Streisand is electrifying as the main character, a foul-mouthed, difficult, sometime-prostitute (she's in it mostly for the kicks), accused of murdering a john. Richard Dreyfuss plays her agitated legal aid defense attorney who must try to prove his client is competent to stand trial, running counter to the state's opinion and the testimony of her mother and stepfather, played with hypnotic conviction by Maureen Stapleton and Karl Malden. James Whitmore is a powerful, restrained presence as the judge who tries to sort out this mess.

The story is fascinating on a surface level, but even more engaging for the troubling questions it raises about how "we" determine what is, or isn't, sane. Is Streisand, because she's profane and disagreeable, because she chooses to turn tricks when she doesn't have to, "nuts"? If you like movies with longer intellectual staying power than the time it takes to change the channel, take a good look at Nuts.
