Two cases :

Guilty verdicts upheld

Verdicts in a robbery and a drug case on appeal from Floyd County Circuit Court have been upheld by the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Attorneys for Ronnie Hall, 32, of Galveston filed an appeal in October on grounds that Judge Hollie Conley erred in not admonishing the jury to Hall's admission of a prior felony. The appeal said the jury should have been admonished that Hall's admission could only be considered as it might affect his credibility as a witness.

The appeal court's opinion upheld the judge's actions saying that Hall did not request such an admonition. The court ruling said that the defense attorney, as a matter of trial strategy, should make as little of the previous felony conviction as possible.

"It may be decided that the admonition would only serve to emphasize the conviction, and hence no admonition may be requested," the opinion said.

Hall was convicted on first degree armed robbery by a Floyd County jury on January 23, 1989 and sentenced to a 15-year prison term.

In the court's other opinion, counsel for Delmas May, 37, of Gilbert, West Virginia, appealed his conviction of trafficking in marijuana because the judge allowed a garbage bag full of marijuana to be introduced as evidence.

The appeal said that the marijuana taken from the vehicle May was driving at the time of his arrest was illegal because officers did not have a search warrant.

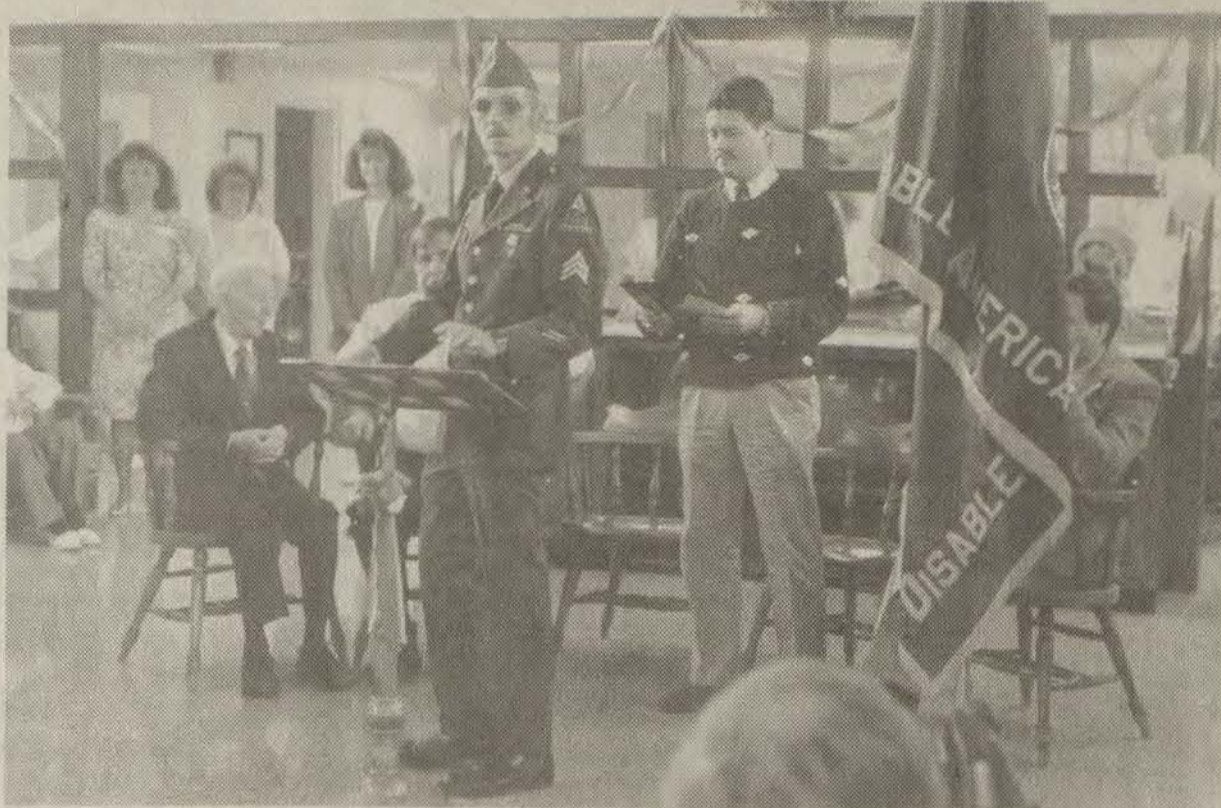

Court of Appeals judges ruled that the marijuana was seized legally because "police may search an automobile and the containers within it where they have probable cause to believe contraband or evidence is contained."

May was indicted in November 1989 and convicted by a Floyd County jury October 1, 1990 on the drug charge. He was sentenced to a three-year prison term and fined $5,000.

Sanders to join Head Start event

Dr. Penney Sanders, head of the state's Office of Education Accountability, will be the guest speaker at the dedication ceremonies for Floyd County's Head Start outdoor learning environment center Friday, November 15.

Sanders will be at the center, located on South Lake Drive in Prestonsburg, at 10 a.m. She will join Head Start director Janie Smith and other Floyd County school officials to dedicate the playground facility.

Wells named administrator

by Sara Hopson
Contributing Writer

Though insurance, Haz-mat equipment quotes, and conservation fund applications were the scheduled topics on the agenda, a 40-minute executive session headed Monday night's two hour city council meeting culminating in the hiring of Mark A. Wells as the new city administrator.

Wells, currently serving as finance officer for the City of Prestonsburg, will now assume the duties of City Administrator, a position performed over the past few months by Mayor Ann Latta. The position of finance officer will be left vacant for now.

Latta said that her 14-16 hour workday did not allow her to continue executing the duties of city administrator and mayor, and prompted her decision. Latta said that she assumed the duties of city administrator on a temporary basis, adding that "she might get divorced if someone else doesn't take over the responsibilities of this position."

Before council entered into executive session, Tom Lafferty, an agent for Rivercity Insurance, proposed two options concerning the upgrading and additional coverage of the city's existing liability and property insurance policy. Option I proposed quote of $84,900 was passed over for the Option II quote of $103,960, with an umbrella deletion making the city's total cost of coverage $95,348.

Lafferty told council that although the premium was higher, the new policy provided for Public Official Acts and contained higher limits than the previous one. Lafferty also said that the new policy was not an attempt to try and extract extra monies from the city.

"The new policy increases the city's liability and property insurance and raises the policy price by approximately $38,000 and lets local taxes stay within the county," Lafferty added.

The council also approved the hiring of Sgt. Sue Blackburn as full-time D.A.R.E. officer. The grant amount of $20,936 would be supplemented with $6,700 in matching funds from the city. Mayor Latta noted that Blackburn's acceptance of this position would open a vacancy for an additional police officer. Latta said that Blackburn can add additional courses to the current D.A.R.E. program.

In other discussions Monday, councilman William O. Goebel expressed concern over the exclusion of Randy Burchett as architect for the proposed construction of the Kentucky Opry Center for Performing Arts. After the qualifications and costs were presented by David Gardner and discussed by council, Latta reminded Goebel that council had previously approved to enter into negotiations with the firm of Sherman, Carter, and Barnhart/Peter George and Associates. Goebel made a motion that Burchett's firm be used "whenever possible" during the construction. After a motion was approved to enter into contract with both firms, and notice to proceed was

Bingo, fatality cases to be heard by jury

The Floyd County Grand Jury will meet November 18-20 and is expected to hear evidence concerning a bingo game at Prestonsburg High School and a fatal traffic accident involving a Kentucky State Police trooper.

Commonwealth Attorney Jerry Patton said in September that information concerning a bingo game operated by the Prestonsburg Academic Athletic Association is expected to be brought before the grand jury by a KSP special investigator.

Patton also said that a traffic accident involving KSP trooper John Blanton that resulted in the death of a Prestonsburg woman is also expected to be brought before the grand jury.

The grand jury will meet at the Floyd County Courthouse and walk-ins requesting to go before the grand jury may appear on November 18 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., and must register on the sheet located on the door to the grand jury room. Walk-ins will be called in the order in which their names appear.

For those desiring an appointment to appear and in order to avoid waiting in line call (606) 886-1604 to be scheduled for a specific time on November 19 and 20.

CSX derails tourist plan

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

Plans for a bicentennial train excursion through Eastern Kentucky have been derailed, at least temporarily, members of a regional Chamber of Commerce learned Tuesday.

Clyde Blevins, executive director for the Paintsville-Johnson County Chamber, told regional chamber members gathered in Prestonsburg Tuesday that the project had received a "flat no" from CSX Transportation, the rail company which operates the tracks targeted for the tourism project.

Blevins told representatives from Floyd, Pike, Johnson and Boyd chambers that CSX had denied use of its track for the June, 1992, project because it presented possible conflicts with the rail company's "contractual commitments."

The regional chamber had asked the rail company to conduct a feasibility study on the excursion, but CSX rejected the project without doing the review.

Visibly depressed by the project's scrapping, regional chamber members agreed Tuesday to pursue the tourism idea and to contact state officials for their input and assistance in reviving the excursion plan.

"I never like to be told 'no'," Floyd County Chamber executive Director Keith Akers said Tuesday. "I think we ought to look into it some more."

As proposed, the tourism excursion would have coincided with the celebration this June of Kentucky's 200th birthday. The 30-car train would wind through Boyd, Lawrence, Johnson, Floyd and Pike counties before entering Virginia through the Breaks of the Mountains. Two trips were tentatively scheduled, one for June 6 and another for June 7, and stops were planned for rail stations in each county along the 110-mile course.

Reviving the project won't be easy, regional chamber members agreed Tuesday, but possible alternates might be offered. Blevins agreed to contact the offices of Governor-elect Breton Jones and Lt. Governor-elect Paul Patton for their input on the project. An update is expected during the group's December 17 meeting in Pikeville.

Narrow escape

Jack Howard received minor injuries Monday afternoon when his Ford Escort veered off the road and struck a tractor trailer parked beside U.S. 23 near Holiday Inn. The truck, driven by Ron Elliott with Spartan Construction Company, developed wheelbearing failure and was left beside the roadway while the driver sought assistance. Howard's car struck a triangular emergency marker behind the truck, struck the rear of the semi and traveled 72 feet before stopping. Howard was treated at Highlands Regional Hospital and released. Investigating the accident were David Watkins, Kentucky State Police trooper, and Linzie Hunt, chief Floyd County deputy. (photo Janice Shepherd)

Major renovation in progress :

Ampitheater gets fresh look

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

Though the silvery voices of the Jenny Wiley Theatre cast are silent for the winter, a symphony of whirs, bangs, and rattles is reverberating through the amphitheater while renovations are underway.

Next summer's audience will be in for a pleasant surprise, said Tedi Vaughan, general manager of the theatre. The most noticeable change, Vaughan said, will be the theatre's new "sleek, contemporary look." Wires will be buried underground; the new lighting and sound systems, temporarily installed this past summer, will be permanently installed. This will give the theatre a "clean look," said Vaughan.

Other improvements include a wall separating the concession stand from the audience, new roofs on the buildings and a new spot for the orchestra. The orchestra, now located to the left of the stage on a separate pad, will have a three foot wall in front of it to buffer the sound.

One of the most notable changes will be the stage which will be restored to its original design. The new concrete stage will have a rubberized mat, and the wings will be about two feet higher so audiences won't be distracted by what's going on backstage. Vaughan hopes to "pull the intimacy of the theatre" down to the former stage area by moving seats

Rake hike okayed for county utility

The Public Service Commission granted East Kentucky Utilities, Inc., a purchased gas adjustment October 31, to reflect a $68,212 increase in wholesale costs from its supplier.

The average annual increase per residential customer is $75.64, effective November 1.

down front, if board members approve.

Behind the scenes, a new drainage system will solve the theatre's biggest problem, flooding. In the past, heavy rainfall caused a deluge of water plunging down the mountain-side to flood the theatre. Water came up to the fifth row of seats, said Vaughan. The water went under the stage and saturated the boards, destroying them.

To hold back the runoff, construction workers have removed 55 loads of dirt from the area to build a concrete retaining wall. Two drainage pipes will also be installed beneath the stage to handle the excessive water runoff.

Another improvement to the theatre's buildings is the installation of central heating and air conditioning. The new heating system will keep down the mildew on costumes

Jenny Wiley Health Care Center :

Facility fight is almost over

By Tony Fyffe
Paintsville Herald Editor

A two-year legal battle to close a Johnson County health care facility has apparently ended with a Franklin Circuit Court judge upholding a decision by the Commission for Health Economics Control.

But the immediate closure of Jenny Wiley Health Care Center at Hager Hill has apparently been stalled by another judge.

In a ruling entered October 18, Judge William Graham agreed that Jenny Wiley Health Care failed to comply with state regulations governing long-term care facilities.

The Commission for Health Economics Control issued Jenny Wiley Health Care a preliminary closure order in June 1989 after two inspections uncovered numerous violations. The facility answered the charges during two hearings, and the commission later issued a final closure order.

Jenny Wiley Health Care appealed the case to Franklin Circuit Court, claiming the commission did not find a "substantial failure" by the facility to comply with state regulations.

In his ruling, Graham said the violations were "numerous and serious." Among the commission's findings, he noted, were allegations that Jenny Wiley was "admitting residents...whose health care needs exceeded the capabilities of the facility."

"As a result of this the commission found that there were numerous fights between residents who were inadequately supervised and one resident was admitted with a seizure disorder who had subsequently had ten documented seizures, most of which were never reported to a physician," Graham said.

Graham said the commission also found that many residents left the facility without the knowledge of staff members and were missing "from periods of time ranging from four hours to three days."

"A review of the record clearly demonstrates a reasonable basis for the commission's conclusion that Jenny Wiley was a facility out of compliance with many administrative regulatory requirements," Graham said. "While it is true that the commission failed to use the magic words 'substantial failure,' the words of its order make manifest that (it) found, in fact, and reasonable so, a substantial failure...to comply with regulatory requirements."

With that, Graham affirmed the commission's closure order. But the exact date of closure is unclear as a result of action last week by another Franklin Circuit Court judge.

Judge Joyce Albro denied a motion by the Cabinet for Human Resources for a temporary restraining order enjoining the facility from further operation. The cabinet claimed the residents of Jenny Wiley "will suffer irreparable injury, loss or damage due to the continued provision of inadequate care and services and sub-par conditions" at the facility.

Jenny Wiley Health Care is owned by Davidson's of Pikeville, Inc., which also owns Paintsville Health Care Center. The company has filed for bankruptcy.

Digest of Motor Laws

Want to know if Ohio has a safety belt law, or if you can turn right in red in Vermont? Just in time for holiday travel, the Blue Grass AAA Foundation for Safety has donated a book to area libraries that can answer traffic law questions for drivers planning out-of-state trips. Copies of the AAA Digest of Motor Laws were given to public libraries in central and eastern Kentucky by the Foundation. The Foundation earlier donated 500 copies of the book to the Kentucky State Police. "This is an information source many drivers will find useful in planning trips," said Lilla S. Mason, Executive Secretary for the Blue Grass AAA Foundation for Safety.

approved on the design concept portion of the contracts, Goebel's motion was granted.

Council also accepted bids from Lab Safety Supply and Rick Washburn Safety Systems, for a monitoring device, to purchase equipment for the regional Haz-mat Response team with bids totaling $11,116.00. The five-county Haz-mat Response team, which will be stationed in Prestonsburg, is required by law to have adequate protection in emergency situations where hazardous materials are involved.

Certificate's of Appreciation were also awarded to the Prestonsburg Fire Department for their dedication and prompt response to the forest fires that have plagued much of the Eastern Kentucky area in the past few weeks. Latta presented fire chief Tom Blackburn with certificates from House Speaker Don Blandford and State Representative Greg Stumbo and also from the council in recognition of their efforts. In other action, council:

- Voted to replace a fireman's personal radio that was destroyed while performing fire-fighting duties;
- Endorsed approval to apply for a $4.2 million loan through the Big Sandy ADD board allowing for expansion of the city's existing water treatment facility;
- Approved a motion to proceed with plans to procure funding for the Riverfront Park through Land and Water Conservation grants;
- Issued a proclamation to recognize November 21st as Wallace Wilkinson day; and
- Approved a motion to allow a roadblock for the Adams Middle School cheerleaders on November 16th.

Councilman Charles Hale was absent from Monday's meeting.

which has caused them to rot. Replacement costs of the costumes currently in storage is estimated to be $150,000, Vaughan said. The lobby and restrooms will also have central heat and air conditioning. Because the new heating system will keep water pipes from freezing, water will be accessible in the theatre buildings during the winter.

"Originally, the buildings were not built for winter use," said Vaughan, "but now it takes at least one person year 'round to get ready for the summer."

Improvements are also bringing the theatre's electrical systems up to code, making the theatre more energy efficient. For instance, the dimmer will be replaced, said Bobby Spivey with M & M Electric of Danville. The old dimmer weighed approximately two tons, Spivey said, but the new one is "all circuitry." Spivey and Anthony Kelly, also an employee of M & M Electric, hope to have the new electrical system in operation by the new theatre season.

The theatre received $500,000 for the renovations which are expected to be completed by the 1992 season. Funding for the project was obtained from interest on the revenue for the convention center, Vaughan said. However, an additional $1.3 million is needed to complete all the renovations that are needed at the theatre, said Vaughan. She expressed hope that the state will provide additional funding to paint the theatre before its opening on June 19.

Vaughan expressed her appreciation to Representative Greg Stumbo for making the improvements possible and to Leon Russell, park manager, for making the project run smoothly.

Other discussion during Tuesday's hour-long meeting produced a subcommittee, comprised of county tourism directors, created for the purpose of developing a strategic tourism plan for the region. That tourism plan will encompass development of the Kentucky Opry, a 15-county "Heritage Trail," and further promotion along Route 23, dubbed by the group as "The Highway of the Stars."

Once that tourism strategy is proposed, individual county chambers may be asked to help implement programs.

Letters

Editor:

It seems the letter I wrote last week which was published in The Times has been mistakenly interpreted by the Knott County Rescue Squad, a member of which called me to complain.

The incident I referred to as "first-hand experience" with the Knott County Rescue Squad was a fatal accident some fourteen or fifteen years ago, long before 911. The accident occurred on a dangerous curve just below and within sight of my house. Two of the persons involved were not only relatives, but close friends of my husband and myself. There was one fatality (a passenger in the speeding car which hit our friends head on) and Mrs. J.T. Spillman, the driver of the second car, was seriously injured and later died as a result of the injuries received that day. I called the Knott County Rescue Squad because I knew they were closer to us, and they came immediately, rendered first-aid, and were extremely kind, efficient, courteous, and considerate. However, we were told they could not transport anyone to the hospital, which we understood was because the accident happened in Floyd County instead of Knott County. I have checked with both of my grown sons who were present on the day of the accident and were adults then also, and they both told me it was their impression from what was said by the Rescue Squad team that this accident was out of their jurisdiction, meaning (we thought) out of Knott County. We had then to attempt to get an ambulance and it was several hours before we were successful.

The Knott County Rescue Squad member who called me last evening informed me that the Rescue Squad can never transport anyone to the hospital whether it is from Knott County or some other county. They can only give first aid. As I mentioned above, the team that answered my call that day was in every way first-rate. However, I do feel they need to be able to explain to persons nearest to the injured at the scene of an accident that they are not permitted to transport anyone to the hospital because of limitations of their vehicle and not because it is out of their county. So, Knott County Rescue Squad, if I offended you, I apologize. You did a really fine job that day as far as your regulations allowed you, but you need some kind of hook-up with an ambulance service when you see that it is needed.

Editor:

The bottom ash from Medisin's incinerators has been classified as hazardous by the Kentucky EPA. The ash is being transported to an out of state landfill constructed for hazardous waste in Indiana. What this means is that Medisin's incinerators are creating hazardous waste. You have the same hazardous waste from the fly ash as the bottom ash. The hazardous particles will carry as far as the air flow with the public breathing these particles of hazardous waste each day. The health problems are devastating; some short term and some long term. Those with a low immune system, children and the elderly are more susceptible to the poisons emitted from Medisin's incinerators. The Kentucky EPA has found the soil contaminated in the vicinity of Medisin's incinerators, but not at a toxic level to kill the people living close by; this is not this year, but then you have to take into consideration those people with a low immune system, children, and the elderly. The poisons may get them this year. Medisin, Inc. is still shipping their hazardous bottom ash, and doing business under HRMC's I.D. number even though they are for a profit commercial incinerators. The public can get reports, records, etc. on Medisin, Inc. by writing Ky. Open Records Act. Ky. Revised Statutes, Chapter 61.870-61.884 (Describes the information you are seeking.)

Editor:

Why is the courthouse trying to make about five thousand Floyd County residents back up and pay their 1983 property taxes again, with interest?

Isn't it obvious that was the year sheriff Hale and clerk C. Ollie Robinson was in office and both are dead now? No witness is living now.

Who or how many young and elderly people keep up with their receipts for eight years? I have heard the clerks at the clerk's office tell the public, 'if you cannot come up with a receipt, you will have to pay up.'

This situation bothers me, real bad, it hurts me deeply seeing the public jumped on that way. Floyd Countians have a hard enough time, let alone paying the same tax twice.

There is one loop hole the County Court Clerk's office use throughout the state of Kentucky, and that is they can take your tax bill out of the file and type up another. Just like the original bill, but they leave the bill unpaid and place it back in the file.

I am not accusing anyone of doing that, but I am showing you how you could be cheated.

Something is going to have to be done to protect the taxpayers. Write your representatives to get a law passed to protect all Kentuckians and ask for an investigation.

Dear Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to thank the Forestry Department for answering my call for help when the fire was very close to our Caney Bible Chapel. They came and helped the men of the Caney Bible Chapel and friends that came to help.

I pray that God will bless them for coming.

Thanks a lot.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

A state task force has recommended that disciplinary actions against Kentucky lawyers continue to be conducted behind closed doors.

That's certainly no surprise, particularly when you discover that 13 members of the 17-member task force are lawyers.

Here's one to beat that...

The chairman of the task force, who just happens to be a lawyer, wouldn't even publicly discuss the task force's recommendations, saying they were confidential.

Let's see if we have this straight.

Disciplinary actions against lawyers are judged by lawyers behind closed doors and, when that lack of openness is criticized, a task force made up primarily of lawyers arrives at some conclusions and recommendations which lawyers say should remain confidential.

We'd urge the General Assembly to review this closed-door policy if it weren't for the fact that so many of our state legislators are, well, you-know-whats.

Washington, including reports on unpaid restaurant tabs, rubber checks and a particularly nasty confirmation hearing, has turned up the heat on the issue of Congressional reform.

Here are some interesting statistics that reformers say support the call for change:

-Congressional staff has grown from 2,000 to 12,000 since 1947.

-The number of congressional committees and subcommittees has grown from 38 in 1947 to 301 today.

-The average length of a bill has gone from four pages to 20 pages in the past 20 years.

-Only three percent of all bills introduced are enacted.

-The Senate spends 25 percent of its time calling the roll.

Despite these and other ridiculous tidbits, members of Congress are routinely re-elected an overwhelming majority of the time.

Where do you think reform should begin?

Before you answer that question, take a look at a more interesting statistic.

Forty-eight percent of those surveyed by a national magazine recently said they thought oatmeal was made from wheat.

Maybe Congress really is representative of the American public.

Speaking of reform, there are those who want to get the devil out of athletics.

Specifically, these moralists want schools to drop their nicknames and mascots should those items be associated with devils, demons or other such evil creatures because they don't send the right message to the young and impressionable.

Obviously, the forces of darkness can unfairly affect the outcome of sporting events, too.

Just look where the Duke Blue Devils finished last year.

Other Voices

By David M. Maxfield Smithsonian News Service

You've got a big problem on your hands. The paper you're reading will soon join the nation's huge annual heap of trash—by one recent count, 160 million tons of rubbish annually. That's more than one-half ton per person, enough to pave a highway 24 lanes wide, from Boston to Los Angeles, one foot deep in trash.

Paper products weigh in at a staggering 36 percent of all so-called "municipal solid waste" tossed out either at home or by businesses and public institutions. By contrast, trashed plastic, environmental enemy number one to some, is virtually "lite" matter at 7 percent of total refuse, also about the same percentage each for discarded glass, metals, textiles, wood and food wastes.

To many critics, "throw-away society" is now a far more appropriate appellation for the nation than "America the Beautiful." According to a recent report by Congress's Office of Technology Assessment, the mountain of American garbage dumped in landfills, incinerated or recycled is rising steadily, by about 1 percent per year. Not even counted in the statistical pile are the cans, buttons, plastic ware, whole bags of garbage, appliances, abandoned autos and other debris strewn about roads and countryside.

Recycling may be the great hope for the future, but at present only about 10 percent of U.S. waste has a second life, with the recovery rate for plastic goods still in its infancy.

And then there's the larger issue. "The waste in our trash cans can really be considered a metaphor for global environmental problems facing us in the next 10 to 20 years, which are really going to determine the course of life on Earth," asserts Judith Gradwohl, a Smithsonian biologist. Her comment was made at a recent National Museum of American History symposium on the mounting solid waste problem.

If much of America's garbage is out of mind when out of sight, it is seldom gone for good. Take that newspaper published when the nation said it liked Ike. University of Arizona archaeologist William L. Rathje, whose career path has led to our trash dumps, reports finding papers in a Phoenix landfill "dating back to 1952 that looked so fresh you might read one over breakfast."

Paper takes up about 55 percent of landfill space with newspapers accounting for 10 to 18 percent of the amount. "We all sit around and talk about how terrible it is that plastics don't biodegrade. Well, in landfills paper doesn't biodegrade," Rathje told the Smithsonian symposium.

Public debate at the Smithsonian and elsewhere on this emerging national issue—one with possibilities for personal action, unlike say, oil spill prevention—is the result of "common problems facing communities" everywhere, says the recent OTA report. Costs, environmental risks and opposition to all types of waste facilities are escalating just as the garbage pile itself mounts.

The Environmental Protection Agency estimates that 80 percent of existing legal landfills—the most used disposal method—will close within 20 years. New York and New Jersey have already run out of space. Today, capacity is declining because of three linked trends. Some states and local governments are closing down landfills that do not meet environmental standards. Siting new landfills is tough, due to the NIMBY ("Not in My Backyard") factor, and older fills are reaching capacity. Unlike years past, "the problem is that old landfills are not being replaced," Rathje says.

As urban garbage is shipped to other communities—a practice facing legal challenges—the federal government is re-examining its role in the solid waste arena. That at attention had "lapsed during the 1980s, mainly because the nation focused instead on hazardous waste," according to the OTA report.

"For the most part, manufacturers haven't designed products with disposal in mind," Howard Levenson, an OTA senior analyst, noted at the symposium. But change is coming, he said, as businesses consider the toxicity and recyclability of products. Someday "we may actually see environmental concerns become a major advertising focus."

As policy makers gear up, most Americans still seem to give trash little thought, probably because it is routinely and efficiently picked up at the door. Even concerned Americans are inconsistent. "They want it all," Ruth Lampi, founder of the national Coalition for Recyclable Waste, said. "They want to protect the environment, but they also want the convenience of disposable products and packaging."

"Are all of these disposable products necessary?" she asked, singling out disposable diapers, one product that alone has come to represent 1 to 2 percent of all waste. "What about the age-old reusable diaper?"

Everyone focused on the waste problem agrees that there is a need for much more solid information. Even such basic data as the amount of garbage being generated is hazy. "Different studies report widely different rates, and use different definitions," the OTA report states. Says Rathje: "The lack of reliable information and the persistence of misinformation constitute the real garbage crisis."

So what's a consumer to do—say, when faced with the choice of a plastic or paper bag at the market? "This is the one big environmental decision everyone gets to make," said Steve Lubar, engineering and industry curator at the Smithsonian's National Museum of American History. "The longer the line is at the grocery store, the more time you can spend thinking about this. But like so many environmental issues, it's not an easy decision."

Surprisingly, perhaps, some environmentalists opt for the plastic—except along coastal areas where it can foul marine life—because it is lighter than paper and causes less pollution per pound. And no trees are destroyed. But the real solution here, they say, is to simply carry an expandable mesh bag that can be used for years.

On a broader plane, debate exists about whether a true "crisis" exists at Stumbo's honor keeps paying off :

Students share award

Wheelwright High School teacher Carol Stumbo earned an IBM computer system and software for her school as part of her national honor as one of the 1991 Christa McAuliffe Educators.

Stumbo, who received the award in January, was one of five teachers across the nation honored this year, and the only Kentuckian to receive the award.

"I received this award in part because I used technology to teach students about their immediate communities through 'Mantrip,'" Stumbo said. "The computer and software that IBM has donated will now give my students access to the world beyond Eastern Kentucky, and teach them the relationship skills critical to their success. This equipment is invaluable to me as an educator."

The donation by IBM is part of the Christa McAuliffe Educator Award Program which honors teachers who exemplify teacher/astronaut Christa McAuliffe's traits of excellence and exploration in teaching. McAuliffe was a passenger on the space shuttle Challenger that exploded shortly after takeoff in January 1986. McAuliffe was slated to be the first teacher in space. Stumbo was recognized partly for her use of desktop publishing computer technology to develop stories for "Mantrip" Magazine, an annual publication that chronicles the lives of Eastern Kentucky communities.

The high school received an IBM P/S 2 model 70 personal computer with color monitor and an IBM Proprinter III printer. The school also received many types of software, including: DOS 4.0, Microsoft Works, Express Publisher, Excelsior Gradebook, Linkway 2.0 and PSInet.

"Carol has demonstrated to the most profound skeptics that computers are a very important learning tool," said Gary Frazier, assistant superintendent for instruction. "She is not afraid to be innovative, to try new things and use new tools to open new worlds for her students."

"Carol Stumbo is an individual who has fused this important learning tool into her curriculum," said Kirk DeCamp, IBM marketing manager. "She is committed to giving her students the tools they need to be successful."

Stumbo was presented the equipment at Tuesday's board of education meeting.

Floyd County Blood Program

In the month of October, 165 people from R & S Trucking, Branham & Baker Coal, Elkhorn Coal, Mountain Manor Nursing Home, and the Floyd County community volunteered to donate blood at the Prestonsburg Donor Center located at the Municipal building on North Lake Drive in Prestonsburg. Contributing to the success of the drives were Mike Langefeld, Paul Litz, Marilyn Isaac, and Linda Everage, who served as drive coordinators. The Floyd County Blood Program is greatly aided by the community support of these groups.

If you would like to learn more about the Floyd County Blood Program or become a blood donor, please call Georgia Sanders at 886-1557 or the Central Kentucky Blood Center at 1-800-432-9528.

Break-ins probed

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A rash of thefts and break-ins continues in Floyd County with sheriff's deputies investigating two break-ins that occurred Monday night.

Thieves broke into Auxier Elementary at approximately 10:30 p.m. Monday by breaking down the doors of the gym, said chief deputy Linzie Hunt. It was unknown Tuesday what had been stolen from school and an inventory was taken Tuesday.

Another break-in at midnight Monday happened at Keith Stapleton's Auto Parts and Wrecker Service near Woods Grocery at Allen.

Hunt said approximately $1,200 to $1,500 worth of tools, batteries and auto accessories were taken from the store. Hunt said a description of an auto in the area was given to officials.

Deputies Ed Rickman and Hunt are continuing the investigation of the auto parts store theft and deputies Homer Neeley and Denver Ousley are investigating the break-in at Auxier Elementary.

Hunt said Tuesday that five people have been arrested in connection with a four-county theft ring and the sheriff's office has outstanding warrants for three others believed to be involved in the ring.

Ronnie Spradlin, Alvin "Tiger" Branham, Harold Brown Jr., Donald Tilley, Billy Hall and a juvenile have been arrested in connection with the department's investigation, Hunt said.

Hunt urges anyone with any information concerning the break-ins or the theft ring to contact sheriff's department at 886-6711.

Airport board cancels meet

A meeting Tuesday of new members of the Paintsville-Prestonsburg Airport Commission was cancelled as the result of court action last week in Johnson County.

Appointments to the new board have been challenged in a lawsuit filed by Paintsville attorney C.K. Belhasen, and board actions have been put on hold pending a decision on the validity of those appointments.

Belhasen claims in his suit that new board appointees Ted Nairn, Sam Isbell, Dr. David White, Scott Perry, J.K. Wells and Mike Schmitt were made by Mayors Ann Latta, of Prestonsburg, and John Preston, of Paintsville, without approval from their respective city councils.

The mayors have contended that no such approval is required.

No new meeting date has been set by the new board.

REBELS AND LADY REBS IN BETWIXT...

A rock and hard place. With the construction going on at Allen Central on the new gym floor, a place to practice and practice time is becoming a hard thing for coach Johnny Martin and Lady Rebels coach Bonita Compton to find.

Martin stated that his team practiced two days last week as the Rebels have been trying to practice at the Maytown gym when the grade school is not using it.

"I almost ask them to wait until next year to put the new floor down," said Coach Martin. "We may have to postpone our opening game with Magoffin County. I don't see the floor being down any sooner than that."

"It will be after Christmas before we will be able to play ball in Allen Central's gym," commented Coach Compton. The work has been progressing slowly and has left the two teams searching for a place to practice.

The Rebels will open their season (excluding the Magoffin County game) against McDowell on the road and then will host Prestonsburg (providing all is ready). Coach Martin has a valued point — he doesn't want to open with two conference losses. But no place to practice has hurt his team. The Lady Rebels have been using the Wayland gym when available.

Many Rebel fans and coach alike, and this writer also, are wondering why did the board wait so long to let out bids on the floor? Why wasn't work started earlier? Why couldn't it have started in August or September? have started in August or September?

However, regardless how long the Rebels and Lady Rebels have to wait, I understand the gym with its new floor is going to be great.

SPEAKING OF GYMS...

I was at the Wayland gym Monday afternoon to take some pictures of the Allen Central girl's team and I was amazed how well the old high school gym looked. It looks better than a lot of high school gyms today. Whoever is responsible for the care of the place has done a great job. It looks great!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISHES TO...

Layne Bailey of the Wheelwright Trojans. Layne will be 18 years old this Friday. Don't forget to register Layne. From the Wheelwright Lady Trojans basketball team comes a birthday wish to Mrs. Doris Osborne who will be "???" this coming Monday.

Have someone in athletics that you want to wish a happy birthday? Give us a call and we will print it right here.

ENJOYED TRIP TO ALICE LLOYD COLLEGE...

I saw a good college basketball game Saturday afternoon at Alice Lloyd College. The Eagles certainly have a good basketball team this year. Coach Jim Stepp has done a great job of recruiting some good local players out of the 15th Region. The people in Floyd County would be proud of the play of Henry Webb at the Eagles nest.

Coach John Mills will have a top notched girl's program the next few years as he also has recruited some top players. Brenda Hamilton has been out with a broken foot but was expected to return last night (Tuesday) against Pikeville College. Lori Bryant is another Floyd Countain on the Lady Eagles team. Katina Preece, Linda Slone and Terry Harmon from Sheldon Clark also play for the Lady Eagles.

They have a beautiful campus at Pippa Passes. It's a fine school, and the players like it there.

SEVERAL PANORAMAS COMING UP...

Basketball will not officially begin until the first of the month for most schools, but there are several area panorama's taking place starting this week. The McDowell girls panorama begins this Saturday at 11 a.m. at the McDowell gym. Six games involving four of our five high school teams will be played.

On November 22, Betsy Layne will play in the Johnson Central panorama. Allen Central will also host their own panorama on November 22.

The season gets underway for the McDowell Daredevils this Friday when they play in the Oneida Invitational. The McDowell girls play June Buchanan this Friday night.

Basketball time is here. Wow! Until Friday, be good sports at all the games you attend and just be good sports no matter where you are.

Mason County Ends Blackcat Season, 38-30

Big. The offensive line, big. The defensive line, big. Backfield, big. That is about the best way to describe Mason County coach Ben Pumphrey's "youngins" after they ended the season, winning streak and playoff hopes of the Prestonsburg Blackcats Friday night at Prestonsburg with a 38-30 loss.

It was a heartbreaking loss of a team that had put it all together after the first four games of the season. Riding a six game winning streak, the Cats came into Friday night's game an eight-point favorite over the number four seed Royals. Mason County used their running game very effectively as they went to their big fullback Gary Greene (6'0", 230) time after time. The big fullback just had his way against the Blackcats' defensive line as he rushed for 163 yards on 31 carries. Greene scored four touchdowns and ran three conversions to help the Royals advance in the playoffs this Friday night.

The damage came early in the second half with Prestonsburg holding a 22-14 halftime lead. After Mason County scored twice in the opening minutes of the third quarter to take a 30-22 lead, Prestonsburg tied the game at 30-30 on a 2-yard plunge by Blackcat quarterback Aaron Tucker on a keeper. Tucker also ran the conversion to tie the game.

Prestonsburg held off a Mason County drive and took over the football on their own 40 yard line with 8:58 on the clock in the fourth quarter. The Blackcats marched to the Royals 30 yard line. On a fourth-and-seven play from the 30, Tucker tried to hit John Thomas Clark with a pass, but the ball was picked off by William Stewart and returned to the Mason County 49 yard line. However, the Royals were faced with very poor field position when they were assessed double penalties and the ball moved back to the Mason County 19 yard line. The Royals' zeal wasn't dampened with the penalties as they moved the ball back to their own 48 yard line, facing a third-and-five situation with 2:26 remaining in the game. Galen Thomas took a hand off from Royals quarterback Chad McDowell, and on a sweep around left end, Thomas ran 52 yards for what turned out to be the game winning touchdown. John Marshall scored the two-point conversion for a 38-30 game.

Tucker tried to move the Blackcats downfield for a score with 2:11 on the clock, but two sacks for big losses killed the drive. Mason County took over the football on downs and just let the clock run out.

It was the inability of Prestonsburg to move the ball on the ground that hurt the Blackcats offensively. Prestonsburg's two backs — Dwayne Garza and John Goble — had very little running room against the big defensive line of Mason County. The Cats totaled just 64 yards, unofficially, on the ground on 32 carries. Garza had 38 yards with 13 rushes.

However, Tucker had no problem throwing against the Royals second (See Prestonsburg, B 5)

Tripped up at line of scrimmage!

Dwayne Garza (28) of Prestonsburg is caught at the line of scrimmage by a Mason County defender in playoff action at Prestonsburg Friday night. The Blackcats ended their season after the 38-30 loss to the Royals. Prestonsburg finished 6-5 on the year and had won six straight games until their loss to Mason County. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Webb, Pollard Lead ALC Eagles Past Knoxville Bulldogs, 86-77

The Knoxville Bulldogs gave the Alice Lloyd Eagles a scare Saturday afternoon as they erased a 17-point halftime deficit and took a 68-65 lead midway of the second half on homecoming day at the Pippa Passes college in Knott County.

Henry Webb and Bobby Pollard combined for 43 points to lead the Eagles to an 86-77 win over the visitors from Tennessee and sent the large crowd home happy with the Eagles second win of the season against no losses. Webb led all scorers with 27 points and Pollard added 16. Pollard scored 14 of his 16 points in the first half.

The Eagles built their 17-point halftime lead behind the three-point shooting of Webb, who had 17 at the half. But the Eagles opened the second half as cold as they were hot in the first.

"We came out ice cold the second half," explained Eagle coach Jim Stepp. "And Knoxville came out a little more aggressive the second half than what they showed in the first half."

After Russell Clark hit a trey to start the second half for Alice Lloyd, Knoxville went on a 12-2 tear to cut the margin to seven points, 54-47. The Eagles only scored four points in the first six minutes of the second half. Todd Johnson ended the drought for Alice Lloyd with a basket at the 13:48 mark giving the Eagles a 56-47 lead.

Jamel Love's basket made it 56-

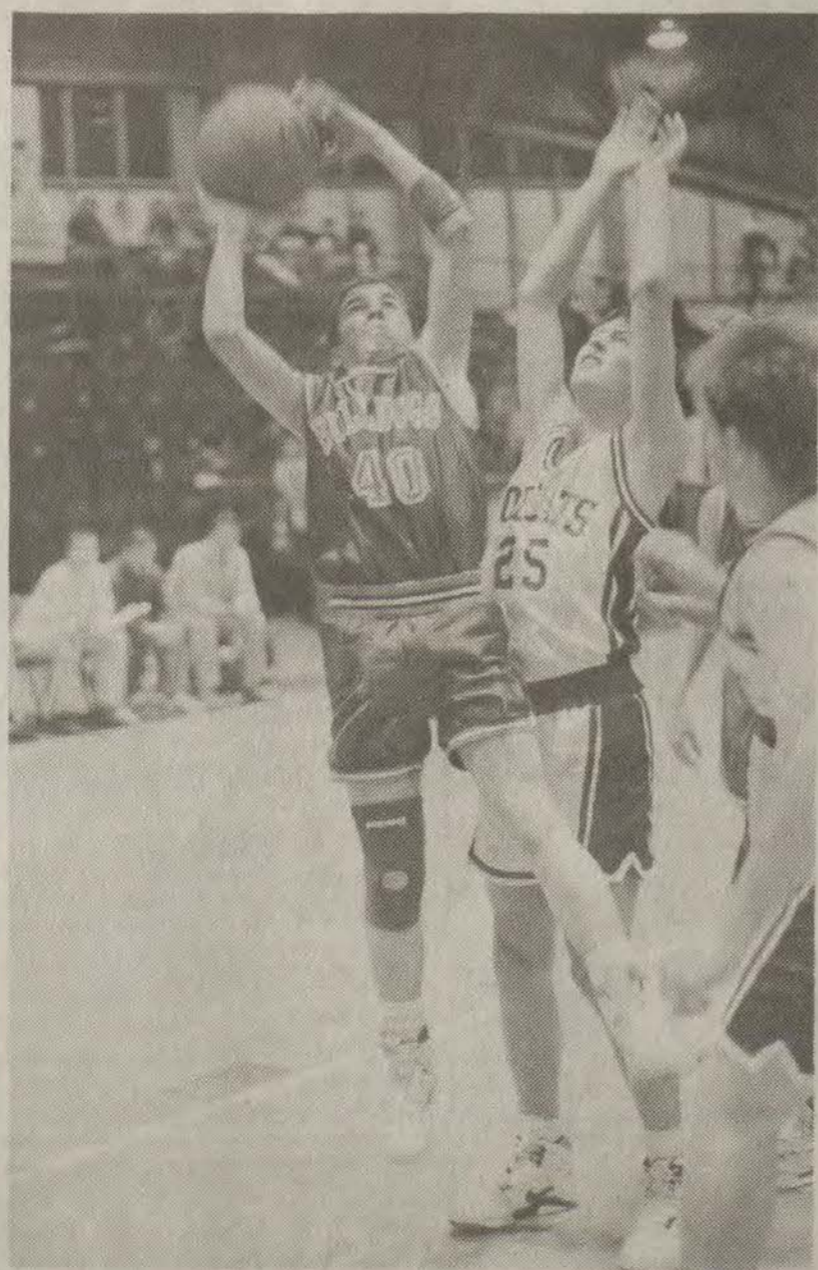

49 and then Webb hit a three-pointer to move the lead back to ten, 59-49. The Bulldogs cut the lead down to four points, 61-57, when Pollard scored his only two points in the second half.

"Bobby had a good game for us, especially in the first half," commented Stepp. "He sort of cooled off in the second half."

Baskets by Ernest Young, Aaron Alasry and Paul Huff tied the game at 63-all. A goal-tending call against the Bulldogs on a shot by Eddie May gave the Eagles the lead back at 65-63.

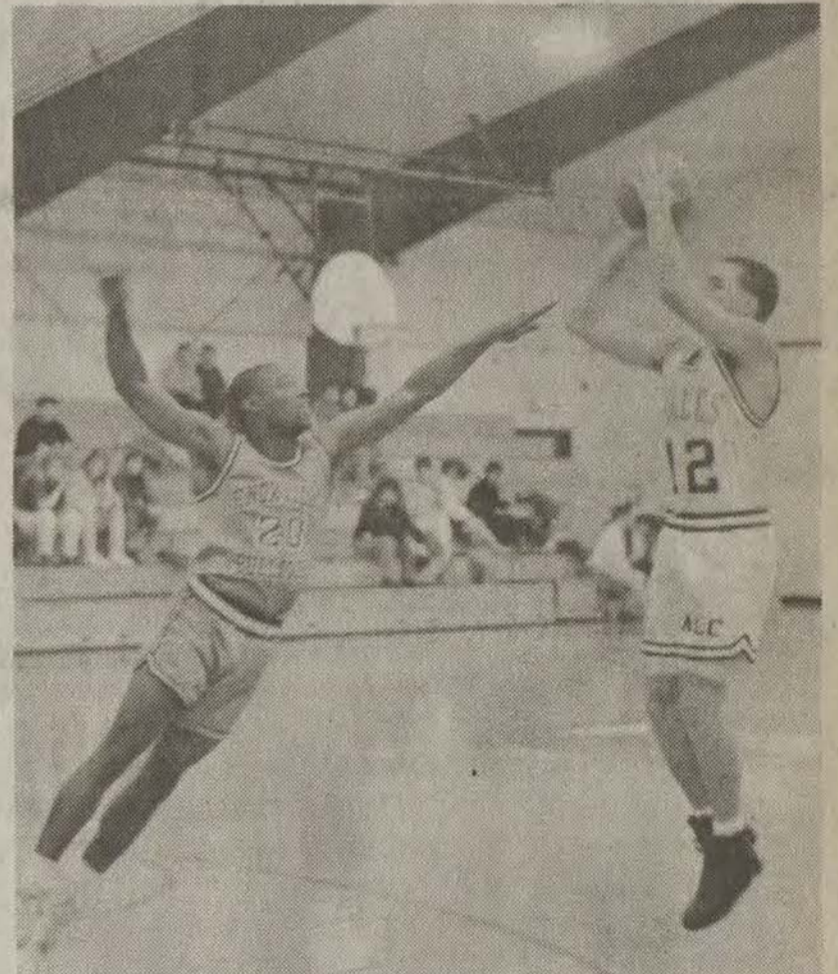

Maurice Hart hit a lay up with 6:57 remaining to tie the game for only the third time. Steve Williams' three-pointer at the 5:55 mark gave Knoxville their first lead 68-65. The lead was short lived as Webb drilled a trey to tie the game at 68-all. Clark hit a trey at the 4:44 mark and then repeated the performance with 4:07 showing to put the Eagles on top 74-68. Alice Lloyd hit 10 of 11 free throws in the final 1:48 of the game, outscoring Knoxville 14-4 to nail down the win.

Open for two!

Duff's Todd Bingham (40) found himself open under the basket as he scored two of his 13 points against Betsy Layne Monday night at Betsy Layne. The Bulldogs put on a fourth quarter rally and defeated the Bobcats 44-41. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Three-pointer!

Henry Webb (12) hit one of his six three-pointers over the outstretched hand of Knoxville's Bobby Crawford (20). The Eagles won their second game of the season against no losses behind Webb's 27 points. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Duff Places Three In Double Figures In 44-41 Win Over Betsy Layne

Cold shooting. Turnovers. Pressure defense. Those are the words used to describe the comeback of the Duff Bulldogs Monday night at Betsy Layne in grade school basketball. The cold shooting and turnovers belong to the elementary Bobcats, while the pressure defense goes to Duff in their 44-41 win over Ernie Tackett's ball club.

With five minutes left in the game the Bobcats held a safe 36-26 lead. The lead came as the Bobcats began overloading one side of the floor leaving Willie Meade with the ball and taking his man one-on-one to drive to the basket. The call worked as Meade beat his man on several drives to give Betsy Layne the lead. However, the Bobcats forgot what had gotten them the lead and abandoned the play.

In the meantime, Duff picked up the intensity on defense more and put full court pressure on the ball, while Cecil Maggard's hustle resulted in several steals. The end result was a basket on the other end of the floor.

With 2:49 left in the game, Duff outscored Betsy Layne 15-4 to overtake the Bobcats and post the win.

Matt Crawford grabbed an offensive rebound and stuck in back in the basket and was fouled on the play. Crawford hit the free throw and that was the start of the Duff comeback attempt. Meade's free throw gave Betsy Layne a 37-29 advantage. Kyle Turner connected on two tosses from the charity stripe and Brad Allen completed a three-point play to cut the lead to three, 37-34. Betsy Layne turned the ball over on three consecutive possessions. Duff took their first lead since they led 10-9 after the first quarter. Turner put the Bulldogs ahead with a shot off the base line to make it a 38-37 game.

Two free throws by Meade reclaimed the lead for Betsy Layne by one point, 39-38. Duff took the lead for good when Ephraim O'Quinn grabbed an errant shot and put it back in the basket for a 40-39 game. The Bulldogs added to the lead as Betsy Layne continued to have trouble handling the basketball. Turner hit a shot underneath after Anthony Kizer misfired on two free throws.

Crawford's two free throws gave Duff their biggest lead of the game at five points, 44-39. Meade hit a basket just before the buzzer for the final 44-41 count.

The game was close throughout the first half with Duff leading at the first stop, 10-9 and Betsy Layne going to the locker room with a two point, 17-15 advantage. The Bobcats opened the third period with six unanswered points on two baskets by Kizer and a field goal by Wesley Frazier. Betsy Layne maintained an eight point lead through the third period until they led by 10 early in the fourth quarter.

Duff placed three players in double figures with Crawford tossing in 15. Todd Bingham added 13 points for the Bulldogs while Brad Allen finished with 11. Kyle Turner scored six.

Meade took game scoring honors with 16 points in the Bobcat loss. Kizer, who was on the front end of the Bobcats running game, tallied 13 points with Frazier getting six.

Betsy Layne connected on five of 13 free throws while Duff hit 13 of 25. The Bulldogs improve over the .500 mark with a 4-3 record. Betsy Layne's record was not reported.

"Here I am, throw it to me!"

Henry Webb (12) of Alice Lloyd College posted against Aaron Alasry (22) of Knoxville College in basketball action at ALC Saturday afternoon. Webb scored 27 points to lead the Eagles over the Bulldogs 86-77

Eagles

Alice Lloyd broke a 4-4 tie and was never headed until the second half. Pollard looked unstoppable in the first half as the big forward found himself constantly open for the short jumper inside the paint. The Eagles outscored Knoxville 15-2 to open up a surprising 19-6 lead over the Bulldogs. Webb scored nine points in the run hitting two three-pointers.

The Eagles largest lead came at the 3:38 mark of the first half when they took a 21 point lead, 45-24 on Webb's fourth trey of the half. Webb had only two two-point baskets in the game but connected on six three-pointers. He hit five of seven free throws to finish with 27 points. Webb is averaging 25.5 points per game.

Pollard finished with his 16 points and Shelby Valley's Mitch Harris scored 12. Harris, a freshman, had one three-pointer in the game and was seven of eight from the charity stripe. Russell Clark hit double figures with 11 points before fouling out with 3:26 remaining in the game. Todd Johnson was the fourth double figure scorer for Alice Lloyd with 10 points. Johnson was a perfect six of six from the free throw stripe.

Hart led Knoxville in scoring with 17 points. Love finished with 15 and Young scored 14. Paul Huff tossed in 11.

The Eagles pulled down 31 rebounds to Knoxville's 40. Webb had seven boards while Pollard gathered in six rebounds. In the assist department, Johnson dished off nine and Webb had four. Alice Lloyd had 15 turnovers, while Knoxville was guilty of 17.

Alice Lloyd hit 27 of 60 from the field and was 21 of 29 from the free throw line. The Eagles connected on 10 of 25 three-point attempts.

Alice Lloyd (2-0) faced Pikeville last night (Tuesday) and will host Bluefield this Saturday at home in a 4 p.m. start.

Martin Follows Jenkins' 21 Points In 57-37 Win Over Maytown

Two sectional rivalries met at the Martin gym Monday night as Martin and Maytown met on the court in grade school basketball. The Purple Flashes got 21 points from center Thomas Jenkins and C.K. Dingsu added 12 points en route to a 57-37 win over the Wildcats.

It was a free throw shooting contest by any means as both teams struggled big time at the charity stripe. Maytown shot 36 percent at the foul line, while Martin was one point better at 37 percent. Neither team is known for its free throw shooting ability anyway.

Martin grabbed a 10-3 first quarter lead and never looked back, although Maytown did make a fourth quarter run in the second half cutting the lead to single digits at nine points. However, Martin put on a run and moved the lead back into double digits.

Maytown got nine points from three players — Todd Howard, Jason Shannon and Levi Wells to lead the Wildcats in scoring. Chad Martin tossed in six and Estill Stumbo scored four.

Kevin Robinson was the third Martin player to hit double figures with 10 points. Beau Tackett finished with seven as did Adam Coleman, who played a good game.

Martin had different leaders in each of the four quarters. Tackett scored six first quarter points to spark Martin. Then, in the second period, it was Dingsu's play as he scored six points. Jenkins was the leader in the third period, scoring 12 of his 21 points. Robinson and Dingsu took charge in the fourth, scoring six each.

Like Martin, Maytown had their leaders also with Jason Shannon hitting seven points off the bench in the second quarter. Chad Martin scored five points in the third period for Maytown, and Howard tossed in seven fourth quarter points.

MAYTOWN 3 10 11 13 (37): Stumbo, 2 0-0 4; Martin, 2 2-2 6; Howard, 4 1-2 9; Shannon, 4 1-5 9; Wells, 4 1-3 9 at MARTIN 10 12 17 18 (57): Robinson, 4 2-10; Tackett, 3 1-5 7; Jenkins, 10 1-7 21; Coleman, 3 1-3 7; Dingsu, 5 2-2 12

Duff's Brad Allen (42) and Willie Meade (23) of Betsy Layne went after a loose ball in grade school basketball play Monday night at Betsy Layne. Meade led all scorers with 16 points and all tossed in 11 points to help lead the Bulldogs to a 44-41 win. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Martin Defeats Adams For Second Time, 42-27

Thomas Jenkins scored 18 points and Kevin Robinson tossed in 13 to help the Martin Purple Flash record their second win over the Adams Blackcats with a 42-27 road win.

Martin established an early lead with a big first quarter. The Purple Flash held a 13-4 first quarter lead on the strength of Robinson's outside shooting. Bennett Allen put Adams in front with two free throws for a 2-0 game. Jenkins tied the game with a basket underneath and Adams reclaimed their final lead at 4-2 on a bucket by William Marsillett. Robinson hit a jumper from the outside to tie the game at 4-4 and then the Purple Flash went on a 9-0 run to lead at the first stop.

Field goals by Jenkins and Robinson at the onset of the second quarter extended the lead to 13 points, 17-4. Joey Stanley scored two baskets for the Blackcats' sandwich between with a field goal by Jenkins to make it a 19-8 game. Adams scored the final four points of the quarter to stay within 11, 23-12 at the half.

Marsillett connected on two free throws, Stanley and Hicks got back to back baskets at the start of the third period to cut the Martin lead to five, 23-18. But the Flashes tightened up their defense and scored the final seven points of the third quarter to take a 30-18 lead into the final stanza.

A 10-4 run by Martin early in the fourth quarter put the Flashes up by 18 points, 40-22. Adams scored five unanswered points to make it 40-27 and C.K. Dingus scored the final basket for the final 42-27 count.

Marsillett scored eight points to lead the Blackcats. Stanley finished with six. Hicks scored four and Allen had three. Brett James tossed in two.

Adam Coleman had three points for Martin, while Beau Tackett, Dingus, Chris McKinney and Wade Damron each scored two points.

In the "B" team game, Adams had an easy time with the younger Flashes as they posted a 36-15 win. Jason Blackburn led the Adams charge with eight points. Wes Samons and Gavin Hale each scored six points for the winners. Jeremy Caudill and Wesley McGuire tossed in four each. Jon Morris, Andy Jarvis, Jason Pack and Brian Fitzpatrick each had two points.

Nick Samons scored six points to lead Martin. Brandon Slone and Desmond Spencer each had four points. John Barker tossed in a free throw.

Martin goes to 9-0 on the season. ****

East Kentucky Cheerleading Competition, December 7

Millard High School will be the site of this year's East Kentucky Cheerleading competition on Saturday, December 7. Registration will be held from 8:30 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. with the competition scheduled to start at 10 a.m.

Competition will take place in two areas: cheer ($5 per girl registration fee) and Dance/Pom routine ($2.50 per girl registration fee). Squads may enter one or both events. There will also be an individual cheer event for those squad members who want to perform solo ($2.50 per girl registration).

There will be four divisions in this year's competition. Division I will be for the Pee Wee squads in kindergarten, first, second, third and fourth grades. Division II, Little League (Elementary) squad members in fifth and sixth grades.

Division III will include junior high squads which have any member or members in the seventh, eighth or ninth grades, must compete in Division III. Division IV includes all varsity squads (boys, girls and junior varsity).

Competition will be under the direction of Beta Sigma Phi, Epsilon Iota Sorority. For further information or any questions contact Rhonda Potter at 432-1115 or Debbie Lawson at 432-4051.

Allen Falls To Auxier

The Auxier Hornets continued to roll as they recorded their fifth consecutive victory of the season to run their record to 5-3 on the season. The Hornets lost their first three games of the year, but haven't lost since. Even in the losses, the Hornets were never out of the game and had chances to win.

Steve Adkins scored 27 points as he continued to play with consistency. Shawn Hall added 14 points and Ervin Osborne tossed in 13. Mike Collins led Allen with 14 points and Tony Craft scored eight.

The Hornets established the early tempo, held an 18-7 first quarter lead and extended that to 42-17 at the half.

"We just ran the ball," said Hornet mentor Ashland Gearheart of his team's win. "We used our fast break and got some easy baskets."

Allen mounted a comeback in the fourth quarter, outscoring Auxier 22-9 but the rally fell short.

Chad Spurlock scored six points for the Eagles. Billy Mitchell added five points.

The Hornets will return to the hardwood tonight as they host the Betsy Layne Bobcats. Allen will entertain Duff also tonight.

dary. Tucker had 17 completions on 22 attempts for 234 yards passing.

Holding a 22-14 halftime advantage, Mason County picked up the intensity a notch at the start of the third period and marched 56 yards for a touchdown as Greene scored on a 17 yard run and then added the two-point conversion to tie the game 22-22. The Royals were aided in the drive by a 15 yard face mask penalty against Prestonsburg.

On the first play from scrimmage for Prestonsburg, after taking the kickoff from Mason County and the ball on the Blackcats' 42 yard line, Tucker was hit and fumbled the football with Mason County recovering on the Prestonsburg 35. The Royals took the lead at 30-22 on a 17 yard run by Greene and a two-point conversion.

Mason County forced Prestonsburg deep into their own territory with an excellent kick off. The Cats took the football on their own 17 yard line, but some pinpoint passing by Tucker brought the Blackcats out to excellent field position. Goble picked up 4 yards on a carry; Tucker hit Clark with an 8-yard pass and then found James Derossett up the middle for a 16-yard gainer. After Garza picked up 8 yards on back-to-back carries, Tucker connected with Derossett for an 18 yard completion, placing the football on Mason County's 43 yard line. On a fourth-and-two situation, Garza picked up the first down for Prestonsburg, placing the ball on the Royals' 14 yard line. Tucker hit wide end, Jason Crisp, with a 12 yard pass to the Mason County 2 yard line where Tucker scored on a keeper, and he then added the two point conversion to tie the game at 30-30 with 55 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

Prestonsburg scored on their first possession of the game on a 6 yard keeper by Tucker. Clark kicked the extra point to give Prestonsburg a 7-0 lead.

It didn't take Mason County long to retaliate when they marched 58 yards on a drive that ended when Greene scored on a 27 yard jaunt. The two-point conversion was good and Mason County owned an 8-6 lead.

The Blackcats made it 15-8 after Tucker connected with Clark for a 33 yard touchdown pass and Tucker's pass to Garza completed the two-point conversion.

With 9:08 remaining in the second quarter, a 1-yard run by Greene moved the Royals to within one point, 15-14 after the conversion play failed. Prestonsburg scored with 40 seconds left in the half on a 5-yard completion from Tucker to Clark. Clark added the PAT for a 22-14 game.

Prestonsburg totaled 298 yards on offense with 234 yards passing. Derossett had nine receptions for 120 yards. Clark caught four tosses for 59 yards. Josh Hyden had one reception good for 23 yards. Tucker was intercepted once.

Defensively for Prestonsburg, Todd Clark had an excellent outing with 14 solo hits and four assists.

Ronnie Goodman, likewise, had a good defensive game with 10 tackles and two assists. Brad Wells and Derossett each had six solo hits with Derossett getting seven assists. Wells had three assists. Brian Horne and John Clark had three tackles. Horn had three assists, and Clark one. Kyle Fitzpatrick had one tackle but helped out with eight assists.

Mason County had a total offense of 313 yards — all on the ground — as they attempted one pass during the entire game. Greene ran for 163 yards, and Thomas finished with 64 yards on five carries.

Prestonsburg finishes the season with a 6-5 record and Mason County goes on to play Fleming County this Friday night in the second round of the playoffs. The Royals improved to 7-4 on the year.

Layne Scores 17 To Lead Adams Past Martin, 27-20

Crystal Layne tossed in 17 points to lead the Adams Lady Blackcats to a 27-20 win over the Lady Flashes of Martin in grade school basketball.

The game was close all the way until the fourth quarter when Adams, behind the scoring of Layne, rolled out to a 10 point deficit, 25-15, and then held off a late Martin charge in the closing minutes.

Adams was up by one point, 15-14, after three quarters of play. Heather Collins's basket at the start of the fourth period was followed by Layne's two points and another basket by Collins, to make it a 21-14 game.

After a free throw by Kim Robinson for Martin, Layne connected on back-to-back baskets to make it a 25-15 game. Martin then went to the foul line where they were ice cold. The Lady Flashes misfired on seven of 10 attempts down the stretch.

Adams jumped out to a 2-0 lead on Jeanna Fannin's basket and the Lady Cats led at the end of the first quarter 6-4. Layne hit her first shot of the second quarter for an 8-4 score, but Martin scored the final four points in the second stanza to tie the game at half time 8-8. Both teams struggled in the second period.

Layne opened the third period with a field goal, after missing two free throws earlier, to give Adams a 10-8 lead. Amanda Samons tied the game with a bucket underneath. Layne's free throw gave Adams the lead for good at 11-10. Layne hit a field goal and it was 13-10. Martin had the chance to take the lead into the fourth quarter but missed two free throws as they trailed 15-14 at the end of three.

Layne's 17 led Adams. Heather Collins tossed in six. Misty Price and Fannin finished with two points each.

Martin was led by Samons six points. Kim Robinson scored five and Jennie Parsons added four. Brandy Samons had one point and Jeanna Hall two.

A Message

from

George P. Archer

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of you who went to the polls and voted last Tuesday, and if you cast a vote for me, I can only thank you for your confidence in me. Over the next two years I'll do my best to represent you and your family on council. Yes, I will be working for a special interest group; THE PEOPLE OF PRESTONSBURG.

I would like to thank all the family and friends who helped encourage me and help get my message of the shared dream to you the voters. I would especially like to thank my wife, Sandi, my children, Joel and Jasmine, my father and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Lafferty, and my sister and her husband, Marthan and Phil Damron, and my brother, Dr. Raleigh Archer and his family, who all were there to help guide me and give me advice on this MY first campaign. I love them very much. Also, to all the aunts and uncles and cousins who helped and believed in the reasons for running, I thank you publicly. To all the friends who helped in the door-to-door work in the final days, it couldn't have been done without you.

I'd like to say as I did many times in the campaign, if we as a community and the city officials will work TOGETHER, sharing a common dream and vision, these coming days can be the start of new growth and a future for OUR HOMETOWN that we can ALL work on and look on with pride.

In closing, I would like to dedicate this win to my late father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. George P. Archer. His are shoes I will not be able to fill, but the path and course he set out for us as a community, I intend to try to follow with the same integrity and honesty he did, for it is what they would have wanted. Thank you all very much.

Sincerely
George Preston Archer

Hylton top player...

Coaches' Poll Picks Belfry As 15th Region's Top Team

In a recent poll of 15th Region coaches, conducted by WSIP radio in Paintsville along with the Ashland Daily Independent, the Belfry Pirates were once again rated the region's top team. The Pirates will be looking for their third consecutive regional championship and a return to Kentucky's Sweet Sixteen. Belfry received 12 first-place votes out of the region coaches polled.

Sheldon Clark, expected to be a strong contender this year, received five first-place votes, good for second place in the region. Elkhorn City, Paintsville and Shelby Valley round out the region's top five teams.

Belfry will be returning J.J. Hylton, Shawn Hager and Jim Dotson to a team that was eliminated by Greenup County in the first round of the Sweet Sixteen at Rupp Arena. Hylton, considered by many to be the region's top player, receiving 80 points from the coaches' poll, will be one of the top players in the state of Kentucky. Hager will return at point guard for the Pirates, and Dotson will play the post position. However, the Pirates may find it hard to repeat a third time with the loss of Tim Kinser and Mark Williamson.

The Pirates will find themselves hard pressed to repeat from the likes of Roger Harless's Sheldon Clark Cardinals. The Cardinals will be returning junior guard John D. Slone and senior Max Hale.

Elkhorn City (third in the poll) will look to sensation Todd Conley to help them win a regional title. The Cougars almost upended the Pirates in the region finals last season at Belfry. Also returning for the Cougars will be Mike Fraley.

Paintsville will be a team to contend with this year as they received 34 points for fourth place. Transfer student Brian Pinson will join forces with already seasoned Brad Tiller in the Tiger's line up. Dwayne McKenzie along with Walt Preston return with "jumping jack" Kaito Banguidi in the post.

Shelby Valley was hit by graduation last year, losing Chad Bowling and Mitch Harris, but the Wildcats will not be without talent as Jeremy Johnson returns along with Bobby Keyes (6' 5"), who transferred from Mullins High School two years ago.

Add to all that one of the premier coaches in the 15th Region — Bobby Osborne — and you can see why Shelby Valley was ranked so high.

Heading the top 10 region teams is the McDowell Daredevils with 10 points. A sixth place ranking for the Daredevils may be a bit low for a team with as much talent as they return. Dale Hinkle returns for his senior year with coach Johnny Ray Turner's team. Doug Hopkins, Matt Johnson, Barry Hall and transfer student Chuck Lafferty will give the Daredevils a solid starting five, as well as one of the strongest benches in the region. Returning Mike Dudleson (who set out most of last year) will also return to the Daredevils' bench.

Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Allen Central and Johns Creek get the last four place positions. Pikeville will return Murray Garvin to play the inside for Coach Howard Wallen's ballclub. The Panthers also experienced a big loss last year with the graduation of Chris Smith, Lee Jones and Jesse Baird. But returning along with Garvin will be the Lockheart boys — Kevin and Keith. J.P. Blair will return to the Panthers, also.

Prestonsburg, the eighth place team in the region will pin all their hopes on the play of 6' 8" Chris Burke. Burke played this past summer with the Kentucky Junior All-Stars and will be geared to be a solid inside player for the Blackcats. Aaron Tucker, John Thomas Clark and one of the top three-point shooters in the region, Jason Crisp, will try and help the Blackcats repeat what they did in 1989, win a region championship.

Coach Johnny Martin's Allen Central Rebels has the ninth place spot. The Rebels will be a Runnin Rebel team again. Stewart Hall will bring his shooting touch back for the Rebs along with Todd Lucas the designated three-point shooter for Coach Martin's team. Jeremy Clark and "Snake" Patton will contribute to the success of this Allen Central team.

Rounding out the coaches top 10 is Johnson Creek. The Bearcats have a dandy in Simon Ratliff. Ratliff is not the only one who will be returning for the Bearcats. Senior Bill West (6' 5") will be making his moves inside once again for second year coach Eugene Lyons. Doug Blackburn and Chris Gannon also return this year.

As said earlier, Hylton heads the top 10 players list. Todd Conley (Elkhorn City), Murray Garvin (Pikeville), Max Hale (Sheldon Clark), and Shawn Hager (Belfry) round out the top five.

Brian Pinson (Paintsville), Jeremy Johnson (Shelby Valley) make up the sixth and seventh positions. Elkhorn City's Mike Fraley and Shannon Keene (Feds Creek) tied for eighth. Wheelwright's Harold Johnson and John D. Slone of Sheldon Clark finished in a tie for 10th place.

Other players receiving votes (in no special order) were Chris Burke (Prestonsburg); Simon Ratliff (Johns Creek); Dale Hinkle (McDowell); Brad Tiller (Paintsville); Kevin Fields (Sheldon Clark); Jim Dotson (Belfry); Jamie McPeak (Mullins); Coy Scarlett (Mullins); Robbie O'Bryan (Johnson Central); Shane Moore (Johnson Central).

FINDING AND CATCHING SUSPENDED BASS

Suspended bass — those fish hovering somewhere between the surface and the bottom — have long been considered among the most difficult of all to catch by both professional and amateur anglers alike.

The problem is lure presentation. Suspended bass do not move far to hit a lure, so any offering has to be pulled right in front of them to generate a strike. To do this, most fishermen try for a horizontal presentation, such as casting and retrieving, trolling or drifting a lure through the fish.

Not bass tournament pro Guido Hibdon. This Missouri-based angler uses a vertical presentation that allows his lure to fall through the school of fish.

"The advantage of this presentation is that while I may not show my lure to as many fish, I know for certain that somewhere along its fall it will go right through them where they'll have the opportunity to strike," explains the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff angler.

Although he employs a vertical type presentation, Hibdon does not use a common jigging spoon, nor does he work his lure straight down the side of the boat.

Instead, he uses a large plastic worm and casts it to the bass he's located. Then he simply lets the worm settle on a slack line.

"I use a big plastic worm and rig it with a very light slip sinker so it sinks slowly," says the Johnson pro. "You don't work the worm at all. You just let it sink, and the bass hit it as it falls."

"I've tried many types of other lures, even smaller plastic grubs, but I've had my best success on the large plastic worms."

Hibdon notes that in late summer and early autumn before bass have moved shallow into creeks and coves, they often suspend 10 to 12 feet down over long, deep points and ridges where the water may be as deep as 50 feet. This is especially true in clear-water lakes.

The fish also suspend in deep flooded timber where they are extremely difficult to pinpoint because of the trees. When the fish are in one open water, they readily appear on depthfinders.

"Even through it's easy to see these fish on depthfinders," cautions Hibdon, "anglers misidentify them as baitfish, crappie, or catfish. If they seem to be relating to some type of specific structure or depth change, they're probably bass."

"Some anglers use crankbaits on these fish because they often hold in relatively shallow water," he continues, "but crankbaits may not stay in the strike zone long enough."

"That's why I began using the vertical presentation of just letting my lure fall through the fish. Somewhere along that fall I know it's going through the strike zone."

Line watching is important in this technique, says Hibdon, because the strikes aren't always easy to detect on the slack line. It's also important, he adds, to use a very light sinker so the falling worm appears completely natural.

WHY THE PROS USE OLDER FIBERGLASS RODS

If you've looked in any tournament bass pro's boat lately, you'll usually see several of the very latest high tech graphite fishing rods — along with one or two much older fiberglass rods.

"With topwater lures and crankbaits, fiberglass actually increases your hook ups," explains Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff angler Larry Nixon.

"It may be hard to understand, but the newest graphite and boron rods actually react too fast when a bass hits a treble hook lure. With these types of lures, it's important to let the fish have the lure a moment longer before setting the hook, but most of us still have a tendency to set the hook too fast."

"The older fiberglass rods react more slowly when we put pressure on them, and as a result, we get more hook ups."

"We're talking split seconds here," continues Nixon, "but those split seconds are what catch the bass."

The trend back toward fiberglass rods for these types of lures began seven to eight years ago among professional anglers, explains the Evinrude pro, but only recently have more casual anglers started to switch. The reason, he thinks, has been because the overall concept is difficult to understand.

"It is hard to visualize," admits Nixon, winner of more than $1 million in tournament prize money, but it's true. Graphite rods flex easily when a bass hits a lure, but then they react and straighten faster when we set the hook.

"The answer is not changing to a more limber graphite rod, either," he continues, "although this is what many have done. A limber rod may not be the right action to properly cast or work the lure, so you don't really improve anything."

"A glass rod, however, can be stiffer and have the right action to work a topwater lure or crankbait, but it will still be slower to recover from a strike than graphite."

The trend to fiberglass has been strong enough among the tournament pros that several major manufacturing firms now offer fiberglass topwater and crankbait rods. Others have combined graphite and fiberglass in the same rod.

"What you want," says Nixon, "is a fairly soft action glass rod that pretty well bends throughout its length, not just at the tip. The reason is because you want the entire rod to play the fish, not just the tip."

The fiberglass rods are used only with diving crankbaits and topwater lures, which typically have smaller treble hooks, as opposed to a larger single hook in a worm or jig.

"With crankbaits, especially," says Nixon, "we found we were actually taking the lure away from the bass when we felt a strike. At best, we were barely hooking the bass with one barb of the rear treble hook."

"The same was true with topwater plugs. You have to let the bass have the lure before you can set the hook, so rather than try to slow down our reflexes on hook setting, we slowed down the fishing rods."

Handling Highway Emergencies

The best way to handle an emergency situation on the road is to avoid it. That is true whether you are in a race car, driving at 200 mph, or in a passenger car, driving at 35 mph.

Many problems can be avoided simply by taking the most commonsense precaution — slowing down. But, just as on a racetrack, there are times when dangerous situations cannot be avoided.

When confronted with a highway emergency, the most important thing to remember is not to panic. Don't yank the steering wheel, slam on the brakes or make major corrections in the direction of the car. Overreacting and overcorrecting can be more dangerous than the initial problem.

Let's look at some specific emergency situations and how to handle them.

- In heavy rain, cars tend to hydroplane — that is, skid across the top of the water, losing contact with the road's surface. What you, as the driver, can do if this happens is slow down, keep your car going as straight as possible and look down the road to determine if you are heading for areas of heavy water. Puddles of water will grab at your tires and pull the car in deeper, so it is best to avoid them. Unlike racetracks, which tend to be flat, public roads are crowned at the center to help with drainage. Therefore, during or after a downpour, the deepest water is going to be toward the side of the road. One way to avoid trouble is to stay to the left of your lane as much as possible and avoid the deepest water.

- Tires can deflate suddenly if a foreign object becomes imbedded in the rubber. When a front tire deflates, the car will pull to the side of the flat. A rear-tire failure will make the car fishtail. In either case, slow down as gradually as possible and try to keep the car in a straight line. Don't jam on the brakes.

- Skidding, whether it is on snow, ice or any other slippery surface, can be very frightening. But that too can be handled if you don't overreact. The key to skid control is to always turn the wheel in the direction you are heading. Driving-school instructors tell students that their eyes should always look where they want the car to go.

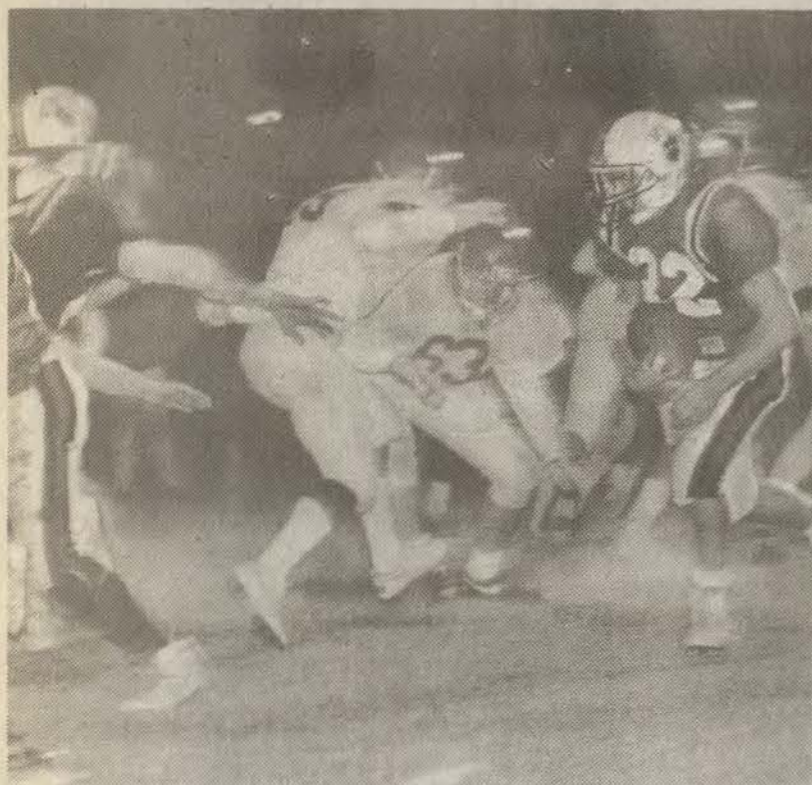

Of course, another important aspect in avoiding emergency situations is to keep your car in good condition. Visual checks of your tires, belts and hoses can keep dramatic problems from arising.

The other key is not to drive faster than conditions warrant and to avoid situations that are obviously dangerous. Caution in a car is just good common sense. ■

Kentucky's Deer Gun Season Opens

Kentucky's deer gun season is November 9-18 this year, and should again prove to be another record setting year of success for the state's 210,000 whitetail hunters.

According to John Phillips, deer program coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR), over 540,000 whitetails now populate the commonwealth. Just five years ago, the statewide deer herd was estimated at 200,000 animals.

The staggering increase in deer numbers and hunting opportunities is a direct result of sound harvest guidelines set by the KDFWR commission each year. This season, Phillips predicts that about 88,000 deer will be taken and reported to a deer check station. In 1986, the harvest was recorded at approximately 40,000.

The 1991-92 season limit is two deer, as it has been for several years. However this year, hunters may harvest only one antlered deer each. When hunters purchase the $17.50 deer permit, they will find that one of two tags can only be used for an antlerless deer. Regardless of what equipment hunters use to take deer, (bow, crossbow or firearms) the yellow tag of the deer permit may only be used to tag antlerless deer.

"Limiting all hunters to one buck this year was necessary to help maintain the overall quality of deer available," said Phillips.

"Reducing the buck harvest allows more bucks to grow older, attain a larger body size and develop bigger antlers — something many hunters prefer. And, along the same lines, increasing the doe harvest helps keep deer numbers under control. This, in turn, reduces agricultural damage, the likelihood of disease and starvation and other unfavorable situations that occur from overpopulation. Keeping deer populations at a level that the land can support also lessens competition for food and living space and contributes to better health of the deer herd," remarked the biologist.

With the exception of the one buck limit for this season, there are few other changes in deer hunting laws from last year. Hunters must be sure they know what zone they are hunting in and how the two tags included in the deer permit may be used in that zone. Permission must also be obtained from landowners by those who want to hunt on private property.

Remember that deer hunters must wear hunter orange color on the head, chest and back while hunting during the Nov. 9-18 portion of the deer season. And lastly, hunters should also note that although any legal deer hunting equipment may be used Nov. 9-18, regardless of what equipment is chosen, during this period hunters must follow the tag restrictions in effect for the general gun season. These restrictions are listed on page 5 of the 1991-92 Kentucky Deer Hunting Guide, a free booklet that provides complete deer season information. The current deer guide is available where licenses are sold and from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. For more information on deer season contact: KDFWR Information Division, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601; phone (502) 564-4336.

Corps Offers Tips On Boating And Cold Water Safety

The combination of a warm fall day, the love for the outdoors, and often a boat, lures many people each year to the nation's lakes, rivers and streams for many desired types of late season outdoor recreation.

These outdoor enthusiasts come to fish and hunt on public fishing and hunting areas. They come to raft on white water rafting streams and some come just for the beauty of the outdoors. No matter what the reason, all these people have one thing in common, the dangers of cold water exposure.

The Corps of Engineering at Paintsville Lake promotes and encourages cold water safety whether at home on your farm pond, rafting a stream or visiting Paintsville Lake.

The Corps urges all cold weather enthusiasts to practice the following safety tips when participating in cold water sports.

1. Make a float plan. Tell someone where you are going, how long you will be gone and when you expect to return.
2. Utilize the buddy system. Take someone with you.
3. Dress properly - use multiple layers of appropriate thin clothing for trapping body heat.
4. Always wear a life jacket when around water. It won't work if you don't wear it.
5. Don't horseplay when on board a boat.
6. Remember, water chills 25 times faster than air.
7. By November the water temperature of a typical Corps lake may be as low as 55 degrees.

8. Remember that hypothermia is the sudden loss of body heat that can occur when immersed in cold water. Know how to prevent it.

9. Use your common sense and don't mix alcoholic beverages with water sports.

The list is endless, but one thing is for sure, water safety is no accident, so let's be careful out there.

For additional information, contact the Resource Manager at Paintsville Lake, Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 606-297-6312.

"TOYS AREN'T WHAT THEY USED TO BE"

I've been looking through the Christmas "wish books" in search of the perfect gift from my younger brother (age 7). I have found that toys have changed since I was a child. I have also found that there are many toys for adults in these books. So many new toys have developed, I couldn't possibly name them all.

When I was a kid, dolls were dolls. They didn't walk, crawl or have hair that changes color. Dolls now, however, do all the things I mentioned, and many other things, as well. Two of the "new generation" dolls really caught my eye. One is called Suzi Snapshot. This doll moves and poses as you take her picture with the included "camera". Isn't that what all four-year-olds need, a modeling doll? What ever happened to Raggedy Ann?

The other doll that caught my attention is called, "Baby Alive". This doll can be fed, she can actually eat food mixed included with her. "Where does all that food go?" you might ask. "Baby Alive" dirties her diaper. Isn't that special? We didn't have realistic dolls like that when I was a youngster.

How about a nice turbo-injected Porsche 911 for you 3-8 year old children? Yes, I am serious. This "car" has the ability to go six miles-per-hour. I don't know about you, but I would feel a little uneasy letting a four or five year old "drive" around my house in a motorized vehicle. Oh, I forgot, this Porsche is available for the low, low price of $399, so every parent can afford it.

How would your kid like a baseball personally autographed by Nolan Ryan? Older kids would probably like it. I'd love it and so would many other adults. These balls are being sold for $39.95, and I am sure they will be very valuable in years to come. But, is this a gift for small children to receive? What can they do with it? They certainly can't pass it around the old diamond. Of course, the children will appreciate it as they get older, but I don't think it's a very practical gift. It is an adult present.

The Christmas books also offer Barbie dolls for the "adult collector". There are two Barbies that wear dresses designed by Bob Mackie. Another Barbie is made of porcelain. These dolls vary in price from $150-$200. In my opinion, these dolls don't belong in a children's "wish book". They bother me. Barbie dolls should be cheap, unbreakable, and plastic. They should wear sun dresses and nurse uniforms, not beaded evening dresses.

Last of all, Nintendo offers a Monopoly game pak. What ever happened to the tradition board games? I just think it would be the same, buying Boardwalk on a television screen. Half the fun of the game is setting it up and deciding who will be the banker. I guess I just don't believe in video board games.

Well, I've been through these books from cover to cover. I still don't have any idea what I should buy Christopher. I still have a few weeks until Christmas, so all hope is not lost...yet. However, I am open to suggestions. "Til next week.

PROFESSIONAL HELP

Most of us rely on different people and agencies to help us keep our springs wound and our world turning. By the way of the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker, we have many good things we couldn't always provide for ourselves.

Also important are the medical professional who help to keep us propped up and patched up, and the cosmetologists who do they can to help us look alive.

I've spent enough time with both of these to have picked up a few stories about them.

One was from Hal Harlow who, with his wife Irene, has moved to Richmond. But for several years he lived in Betsy Layne and worked for the Kentucky Power Company in Pikeville.

Hal told me about meeting his doctor, Ballard Cassady, on the street one day. He said, "Hi, Doc. How am I?"

"You're fine," Dr. Cassady told him, "and that will be ten dollars."

Then there was the story about another physician who had spent more time and effort with a patient who was critically ill. After some uncertainties, the man recovered; but he kept disregarding the bills for his medical care.

Finally, the doctor sent a statement with the following notation:

"Just send us half what you were willing to pay when you thought you were dying."

THE BEAUTICIAN

Speaking of professionals, Thelma Clark has a beauty shop at Harold; and with some of us needing more help all the time, she stays pretty busy.

Thelma and I spent enough time together to make a lot of small talk. She is a country music fan and especially enjoys a personal appearance concert.

Not long ago one of her favorite musicians was doing a show in the area, and she arranged her schedule to quit work early so she'd have time to get ready for it. She'd gone to some effort in advance to get a ticket for a good seat, then she did her own hair and nails and dressed to look her best.

"Did you enjoy the show?" I asked.

"No," she said, "I really didn't. The star wore an old hat and checked shirt and looked as if he'd just come in from working in the garden."

"He probably worked at having that look," I suggested. "But did it bother you?"

"It sure did. I couldn't enjoy his singing for thinking I'd spent more time getting ready for his show than he did."

COMPARISON

Here it is November already and some of us are thinking of the big bird we'll be cooking later this month.

Looking at the calendar reminded me of a conversation I overheard between two pretty girls at Jerry's Restaurant.

One said, "In some ways Thanksgiving is like a bad date. You're always glad the turkey's gone."

Whitaker exhibition open at PCC

Recent art works by local artist Tom J. Whitaker will be on display at the Prestonsburg Community College Gallery November 18-December 3. A reception with the artist present will be held Thursday, November 21 from 5:30-8:00 p.m.

"Support for the arts has really soared over the last few years in Appalachia. I remember having a showing of my work and the only people there were Bob McAninch and Leo Weddle. The psychologist Weddle analyzed the art and McAninch ate the food. I appreciated their presence, but if only they had left I could have gone home. Really, I appreciate all who have supported local artists," says Whitaker.

For the past 18 years Tom J. Whitaker has been Professor of Art at Prestonsburg Community College. Tom received a Bachelor's degree in art at Eastern Kentucky University and a Masters degree from Morehead State University. Whitaker's work has been represented in numerous shows and galleries, and most recently in "Images of the Mountains," sponsored by Appalshop and the Andy Warhol Foundation.

Whitaker has been a major influence on Eastern Kentucky's perception of art. In his classes at the college and in the workshops he presents around the state, Tom stresses the importance of being one's self, rather than relying on public opinion. "Do your own thing," proclaims Whitaker with a sly grin, and he follows his advice by producing highly individual art works.

Genuineness is a must for Tom when he is choosing the subject of his artwork. He enjoys painting scenes that reflect the character of mountain people—the worn but sturdy old houses, the rugged and knowing charm of a rural farm couple, the rooster crowing or the briar growing at the wellbox. All of these scenes have come from his prolific palate and brush.

"Art is a never ending search where the process is just as important as the finished product," admonishes

Whitaker. "The most important thing is the ability to see; many people go through life and never take the time to observe the beauty of nature close-hand."

Whitaker also has other talents that give groups and organizations a special delight. He is a talented singer and entertainer. He can satisfy your requests not only with a guitar or mandolin, but also with his original compositions. He will often punctuate his verses with a rebel yell as he urges one and all to join in on the chorus. Whitaker brings to his singing, as he does his art, a cunning sense of humor and knowledge of human nature.

Tom's gallery is a cross between an abandoned warehouse and an art museum. It is organized chaos at the old service station that serves as a studio. On the walls hang many original watercolors and sketches. Staring back at the viewer is a Hampshire hog or the careworn face of an elderly person, and many colorful landscapes. In the floor or stacked in the corner are the materials he uses in framing. Books on every conceivable subject are stacked and piled about in every nook and cranny.

Tom J. Whitaker is a native of Punchedon Creek, in Magoffin County. Tom grew up among the sights and sounds of rural Eastern Kentucky and feels his childhood experiences have enriched his art.

If you visit the Parkway Gallery about ten miles from Prestonsburg, you may find the proprietor, Tom J. Whitaker, but it is likely you will encounter a sign stating, "Gone to the bushes to paint," for at no time is Whitaker happier than when he is by a moss covered tree, or in the middle of a briar patch.

Tom Whitaker is a two-sided coin. At times he is the stereotypical artist who moves easily in elite social circles, but don't be misled by his smooth manners and winning charm. At other times, Tom is the artist from whom springs art that expresses the soul of the common man. Whitaker's strength lies in the simplicity of his subjects and his sensitive treatment of everyday life in Appalachia.

Who is this bohemian or saint that Kentucky poet Al Stewart called America's Greatest Appalachian Artist? Come and see.

PCC professors tried and true teaching methods result in award

Long before the Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990, Leo Weddle, professor of sociology and psychology in social sciences and related technologies at Prestonsburg Community College, found what worked in the classroom.

"Teachers don't give students enough of an opportunity to allow natural creativity to come out," Weddle said. He sees himself as a facilitator, encouraging students in his sociology and psychology classes to be creative.

"My teaching methods haven't changed very much over the years," Weddle said. "I have always used a student-centered, problem-based approach."

His technique made him one of UK's 1990-91 Great Teachers. The UK National Alumni Association selects up to six instructors each year as Great Teachers. Five were chosen last year based on student nominations and screening by the association.

Great Teachers receive a $750 award in recognition of their outstanding contributions to undergraduate education.

His nominators said his class in Modern Social Problems is "extremely innovative and offers the students an opportunity to be very creative as they learn about the problems of the modern world."

He divides the class into eight groups, with each one studying a different social problem such as child

ISN'T MODERN-DAY SCIENCE WONDERFUL?

Scientists with the U.S. Department of Agriculture have now come up with a way to keep our jelly from soaking into our light bread when we make peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. This new invention looks like a piece of plastic wrap. You simply put it between you bread and the jelly. Since it's made from stuff found in coconut oil and lobster shells, you can eat it.

Of course, this bit of good news come about 40 years too late to do me any good. There was a time, though, when peanut butter and jelly sandwiches were definitely a part of my daily fare. I honestly can't say that jelly soaking into my bread was a problem. Maybe I ate too fast.

Anyway, this new edible shield that these guys have come up with, no doubt would also have been beneficial for some of those other delicacies we consumed when I was a kid growing up in Muddy Branch and found that someone else had just eaten the last slice of bologna or taken a case knife to the last bit of peanut butter left in the jar. Not that there was anything wrong with just plain jelly. We never ran out of that because mom canned her own. On the other hand, it wasn't much fun to eat peanut butter by itself because it'd always stick to the roof of your mouth and "yu cane calk pwain."

Just for variety's sake, though, we would try other things that would've put this new invention to the test. For example, mayonnaise sandwiches. I ate a ton of those. And mustard sandwiches. How long 'sit been since you've had a good mustard sandwich? And catsup. Catsup made a super sandwich. On occasion, I've even been known to have mixed all three together.

As I recall, however, my little brother Joe deserved the prize for being the most creative sandwich maker. He'd mix all three with cold, mashed-up soup beans.

No doubt this new invention will revolutionize sandwich eating by making it less messy. I'll bet it doesn't make them taste any better, though, than the ones we ate.

As is the case, in most instances, for every good thing scientists come up with, there's a bad one to go with it. One thing that makes me aggravated as all get out, is this thing called the "Music Video". Whoever invented that ought to be put in the hall of shame.

The music video has taken every bit of the fun out of country music. It used to be that I could listen to a good ole country song and let the little screen inside my head play out the scene. I could imagine the look on the face of the heart-broken prisoner that Merle Haggard was singing about in "Mama Tried". I could picture for myself the wild chase and shoot-out that Marty Robbins sang about in "El Paso". I could see my own father coming home from the mines in his black clothes when Loretta Lynn sang "They Don't Make 'em Like My Daddy Anymore".

Now, though, thanks to TV and the music video, all I can see when I hear a country song is what the producer of the video wants me to see. More often than not, all that consists of is a hodgepodge of images, relating to nothing or nobody, and flashing from black and white to color so quickly that I can't make a lick of sense out of it.

It may be the "in thing", but I liked my own images better.

MOM'S PRAYERS ARE BEING ANSWERED!

I think I've written before in this column about my mother's wishes for my children to make my life as complicated as I made hers. And what I'd like to know is, does this mean as my children grow older, it gets worse? If so, I want my mother to take those wishes back right now. I've paid my dues, Mom, honestly.

by Kim Frasure

Just last weekend my oldest had this "Let me see how much trouble I can cause attitude." Boy, how I longed for Monday to come.

It all started with a spray bottle I used to water plants. Somehow, my youngest daughter's comforter was dripping water on their bedroom carpet. I'm here to tell you, it was soaking wet, top to bottom.

What's going on, I shrieked? Those oh-so famous looks came my way — you parents know them. My daughter has this way of looking at me as though I've totally lost all my marbles. So, I say "Don't you look at me that way!"—and then I hear "What way?" I asked you a question. What, she whines. Oh, that whining drives me nuts. "We were just playing," she says. Don't you know better? I asked her. Don't you know this bed-spread is not to be soaking wet?

Then I get those oh-so dreaded, shrugging shoulders. Give me a break, I'm thinking. So, I turn and leave the room.

A friend called and I sat and talked a good 45 minutes to her before I heard noise in my bedroom. Oh no, I'll talk to you later. I have to check this out, I told her.

As I opened my bedroom door, my daughter looked as though she's been caught in the most unforgiving of all crimes.

Her eyes were covered with my brand new, brown Elizabeth Arden eye shadow. Her lips up to her nose in my brand new tube of lipstick, and there she stood in my mother's white summer (dry clean only!) dress, my black and white heels, and nylons I'd bought that very day.

I proceeded to grab my newly permed hair, and as my fingers were caught in the curls I was screaming from pain and disgust.

My daughter begins to laugh hysterically as she tells me, "You look so funny mom." Oh child, if you only knew how close you were. OUT! OUT! OUT! I pointed her out of my room.

She then decided to stay out of trouble, so she went outside.

Thank you, thank you, I sigh.

I finally pulled myself together and my fingers from my hair, and began to wash dishes.

I opened up the blinds on the kitchen window, only to see my daughter on top of my car.

With suds on hands, I reach for the door in pure rage which she hears. By the time I got the door opened, she was in the car and telling me she was headed for Myrtle Beach. Well, have a safe trip I wished her and stomped back to finish the dishes.

Later, I decided we'd run to the store for snacks and pop. Children in the car, I put the key in the ignition, and my radio burst my ear drums, the windshield wipers were on full blast, the emergency lights flashing, and even though it was 35 degrees my air conditioner was on high. I smiled and turned everything off. Counted to 75 — 10 was no good — and said to my daughter, you will be spending tomorrow night with Mamaw.

Oh boy! she shouted. The minute I walked back in the door, I headed for my phone and called my mother. Mom? Yes, she said. Tell me if I did these things, okay?

I preceded to tell her things I've just told you guys, and she in turn was laughing and going, "Oh Kim, if you could only re-

Mrs. Homes says she is thankful for the kindness and interest shown on her behalf during her illness at her home here, and at the Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Her daughters, Elizabeth of Simpsonville, and Jo Ann of Las Vegas, and her son, Gordon Fox Homes of Louisville, keep in close touch with her, and join in asking that other writes their mother.

Mrs. Homes says she will probably make her home there. She is already being missed here.

Local Church Women to Meet at First Baptist Church

Miss Kaye Hale, newly-elected president of the local church women, announces that this group will meet Friday, November 15 in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial). The meeting will begin at 10:30 a.m. All women from churches throughout the area are cordially invited to come and participate in this organization, which meets every-other-month.

East Point Homemakers Meet

The East Point Homemakers met Tuesday, November 5, in Fellowship Hall of the First Church of God. The meeting was called to order by President Lollie Landsdell. The devotions were given by Elsie Leake. Lorena Horne read the minutes of the last meeting, gave the financial report, and the roll call.

The president, and Francis Pitts, Floyd County Home Economist, presented the lesson on "Holiday Decorations." Many beautiful decorations were displayed.

Once again, pecans were on sale, with profits from these to be used for making donations to the Ovarian Cancer Drive. Each member present donated $1.00 to be used for the local food pantry, to benefit the poor and needy. Members paid their 1991-92 dues.

Delicious refreshments were enjoyed by Mary Nell Bingham, Betsy Baldrige, Priscilla Hager, Dorothy Harris, Lorena Horne, Elsie Leake, Armita Snively, Lollie Lansdell, and Francis Pitts.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, December 3. This will be a Christmas salad luncheon, and all members are being asked to bring their favorite salads.

Family Members, Houseguests of Mrs. Betty Archer Davis.

Family members of Mrs. Betty Archer Davis and the late Ray Davis surprised her with a visit at her home here recently. They included: John Davis of the United States Navy in Washington, Stephen Davis of the United States Navy of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Polly Davis Hatch of Salt Lake City, Utah, Mrs. Julie Terry, her husband Scott Terry, and their son Tyler of Fort Campbell, Mrs. Mary Younce, her husband Ricky Younce, and their three children, Christy, James, and Angie of Pikeville, and Eddie, Betsy, and Pete Collins of Cow Creek.

This surprise family get together was thoroughly enjoyed by all members in attendance.

While here, they also spent some time visiting with other relatives and friends.

Hanging of the Greens Tickets Available at First Methodist

The Rev. Wayne Sparks, pastor of the First United Methodist Church here, has announced that tickets for the annual Hanging of the Greens Christmas program are now available at the church office. He adds that "there are 250 tickets for each performance—Sunday, December 1, and Monday, December 2." and that "these tickets are free."

Rev. Sparks also announces that "Breakfast for Santa" will be held on Saturday, December 7, and tickets are available from the church's Friendship Circle, the United Methodist Men, the United Methodist Woman, and the church office. He adds that "these tickets are $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for children."

Returns Home Following Visit Here

Mrs. Grace Evelyn Martin Ryan of Louisville has returned to her home, following three weeks spent as the houseguest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, and visiting with other relatives and friends here.

Big Sandy Retired Teachers to Meet at May Lodge

Miss Ethel Fetterly, president, and Mrs. Norma S. Stepp, liaison person for the Big Sandy Retired Teachers' Association, announce that there will be a luncheon meeting for this group, at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, on Friday, November 22, with registration and a coffee beginning at 9:30 a.m. They ask that all retired teachers of this organization, which is composed of Magoffin, Johnson, Lawrence, Martin, Pike, and Floyd Counties, please attend this event.

Officers for the 1991-92 year include: Miss Ethel Fetterly, Magoffin County president; Mrs. Denese Ambergue, Floyd County, president-elect; Mrs. Edith Hall, Lawrence County, vice-president; and Mrs. Delphia Hicks, Floyd County, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Norma S. Stepp serves as liaison person, and Mrs. Docia B. Woods as publicity chairperson for the six counties.

A program will be presented by the Johnson County group, and many matters of importance to retired teachers will be discussed. Retired teachers, please be there!!!

The Dale Badgetts Guest and Friends of Prestonsburg

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Badgett and son Samuel Joseph, of Atlanta, Texas, visited with Mrs. Frankie Best and Mr. and Mrs. John Rodebaugh recently. Mr. and Mrs. Badgett were formerly employed as volunteers for the Christian Appalachian Project at Martin.

Annie Allen Circle in Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Annie Allen Circle WMU of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) was held at the apartment of Mrs. Lillia Mae Price, which has been added to the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Evans, with Mrs. Price and Mrs. Evans serving as co-hostesses, on Monday evening, November 4.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Eva Collins, president, with Mrs. Sarah Laven leading in prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Docia Woods, and Mrs. Rebecca Rasmick, treasurer, gave the financial report. It was decided to pay Eva Collins for food sent to Mr. and Mrs. Evans following the death of Mr. Evans' brother, and to pay Mrs. Roberta Sloan for food prepared for the Baptist BSU members at Prestonsburg Community College.

The president appointed Mesdames Patsy Evans, Ruby Lampert, and Roberta Sloan to select a gift for Mrs. Dolly Pettrey, a long time faithful member of this organization, who is presently a patient at the Mountain Manor Nursing Home.

It was decided to make a donation to the Lottie Moon Fund, and a goal of $1200.00 was set for the Foreign Missions goal, with $50.00 to be donated by this group.

Mrs. Lucy C. Regan, who works with the Baptist Children's Homes in its effort to provide money for the home, and gifts for the children there, reminded the members present that this is "Children's Home Month."

Mrs. Faye Patton led the program, entitled "Through the Window," which stressed baptist missionary work in Columbia. She asked special prayer for Jeni Hester, missionary there.

Mrs. Maman Leslie read the list of names of baptist missionaries observing birthdays during the month of November, and Mrs. Lucy Regan led in prayer for them.

Mrs. Roberta Sloan volunteered to be hostess for the Christmas dinner at her home again this year, (with the exact date to be announced). Each member is being asked to bring a covered dish and also a gift marked "man" or "woman."

Prayer was asked for Mrs. Bill (Dolly) Pettrey, Mrs. Edna Mann (Ruby Lamping's mother), and Mrs. Ida Tanner (Freda Bunche's mother) who have been ill.

Delicious refreshments of chicken salad, pumpkin cake, coffee, and soft drinks were served to Mesdames Eva Collins, Julia Curtis, Docia Woods, Rebecca Rasmick, Myrtle Allen, Faye Patton, Sarah Laven, Ruby Garrett, Lucy Regan, Ora Bussey, Roberta Sloan, Ruby Lamping, Vivian Fraley, and Maman Leslie, and the hostesses, Mesdames Lillia Mae Price and Patsy Evans and John Evans.

The next meeting will be the Christmas dinner.

United Methodist Woman Hold Regular Meeting

The United Methodist Women held their regular monthly meeting Monday evening, November 4, at the Multi-purpose Room of the church. Mrs. Helen Neeley, president, conducted the meeting, and Mrs. Geneva Carter led the pledge service for missions, with other members of the organization participating. Mrs. Geneva Carter was accompanied by Mrs. Kathryn Frazier at the piano as she led the group in a number of hymns, as members submitted pledges.

Minutes of the October meeting were read by Mrs. Roslyn Burchett and the financial report was given by Mrs. Geneva Carter.

Mesdames Edna Carol Greenwade and Dorothy Wells served pumpkin cake, coffee, and soft drinks to those in attendance, including: Helen Neeley, Dorothy Harris, Roslyn Burchett, Geneva Carter, Mabel Allen, Ann Alley, Gladys Blackburn, Lee Boswell, Clara Bradbury, Mildred Branham, Mable Brown, Vera Ford, Katryn Frazier, Rose Glenn, Vivian Hale, Alice Harris, Phyllis Herrick, Nancy Howard, Virginia Jeffries, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Charlotte McFall, Sylvia Purdy, Elizabeth Ramey, Fannie Runnels, Dorothy Stover, Jane Wallace, Nancy Webb, Bess West, Hope Whitten, and Dot Marshall.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party presented by the Methodist Friendship Circle, on Monday evening, December 2, at this same location. Each member is being asked to bring gifts and/or money for the Methodist Children's Home at Versailles.

Miriam Rebekah Lodge #31 Meets in Regular Session

A regular meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge #31 was held on November 5, with the Noble Grand, Mrs. Loretta Akers presiding. Those on the sick list were recorded, and will be remembered in prayer.

A report on the Lamplighters of the lodge, who visited the Mountain Manor Nursing Home on November 3, was made by Mesdames Myrtle Allen and Maman Leslie.

The altar was draped in memory of Fred Roberts, past Grand Master, I.O.O.F., and James Main, past Sovereign Master, I.O.O.F., who recently passed away.

The following officers who were not present during the last meeting were installed: Jewell Bays, chaplain; Billie Gayle Murdock, left supporter to the vice grand; and Susie Clifton, outside guardian.

A Thanksgiving dinner was planned for November 19, at 6 p.m. All member are invited to attend and to bring their favorite food.

The secretary reported that the Bensen fruit cakes had arrived. Anyone wishing to purchase one or more of these may contact a member or call 886-2620.

Present for this meeting were: Loretta Akers, Claudine Johns, Maman Leslie, Lorena Wallen, Paulina Owens, Rebecca Bingham, Jewell Bays, Hope Whitten, Billie Gayle Murdock, Susie Clifton, Thelma Hebnor, Jean Hickman, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Myrtle Allen, and Dorothy Osborne.

The next regular meeting will be November 19, at which time the Thanksgiving dinner will be served at 6 p.m.

GFWC/KFWC Prestonsburg Woman's Club Has Dr. Bader as Speaker

The GFWC/KFWC Prestonsburg Woman's Club executive committee met at the club's Arts and Crafts House at Archer Park, on Thursday evening, November 7, at 7 p.m., with Mrs. Garnett Fairchild, president, presiding. Matters to be brought before the club at its general meeting at 7:30 that evening were discussed. The group made plans for the annual Christmas party, for which they will serve as hostesses. Present were Garnett Fairchild, Earlene Nelson, Judy Burchell, Elizabeth Ramey, Sue Martin, and Burietta Gearhart (who substituted for Docia Woods).

The regular meeting which followed was conducted by President Garnett Fairchild, who welcomed those in attendance, and led the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag. Mrs. Lucy C. Regan presented the devotions on "Giving Thanks," basing her discussion on Psalms. She ended her devotions with prayer.

Mrs. Sue Martin read the minutes of the October meeting, and Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, (substituting for Mrs. Helen Wells), gave the financial report. The president reported on the Seventh District KFWC Woman's Club Meeting which she, Burietta Gearhart, Joyce Allen, Mabel Brown, and Nancy Martin attended recently at May Lodge. She added that Joyce Short Allen was the recipient of a blue ribbon for her entry of a painting during that time. Miss Burietta Gearhart, chairperson of International Affairs, introduced Dr. Bader, a surgeon at the Highland Regional Medical Center, who spoke on "Customs and Religions." The speaker, a native of India, his wife, and their three children came to Prestonsburg in 1976.

During the outbreak of the Desert Storm conflict, he and his family went to Kuwait for a visit with friends. Two days after their arrival there, that country was invaded by the Iraq Army. For six weeks this family stayed hidden at the home of their friends, with one of their only means of communication being "The Voice of America."

Then, due to an arrangement between the United States and Iraq governments, the entire family—except Dr. Bader, were allowed to leave, as were their hosts. Dr. Bader wandered from place-to-place in search of friends.

Although he had been forced to throw away his passport, he had memorized the information on it that was necessary for him to finally get to Baghdad and from there he went by plane to Jordan, where he called the American Embassy, and identified himself. Personnel from the Embassy rescued him and two days later he arrived at the Kennedy Airport in New York and from there rejoined his family here.

Dr. Bader, who is a Muslim, gave a colorful discussion on the Islamic religion. Some of the main ideas which he expressed were: "The word Islam is an Arabic word meaning submission to the will of God; Muslim is a follower of Islam; Allah (God) is beyond our perception—there is nothing whatsoever comparable to Him; He is just and all-knowing; we're not all evil, nor all good, but we're responsible."

The speaker added that the Muslims give 2 1/2 percent of their wealth left over at the end of the year to the poor and needy, fast once each year, and go to Mecca once in a lifetime.

Besides these and other interesting points presented by Dr. Bader, he also answered many questions asked by the enthusiastic audience.

On behalf of the club, Miss Gearhart presented the speaker with a gift.

Following the program, Mrs. Maxine Bierman, chairperson of the club's Arts and Crafts committee, said that the sale of ceramics Christmas trees had been a very successful one. This group meets at the Club House on Monday nights at 7 p.m. and on Tuesday mornings at 10, each week.

Hostesses for this event were Mesdames Eve May, chairman; Myrtle Allen, Nan Arnett, Orella McGuire, Lois George, Roslyn Burchett, and Kathryn Poe. Refreshments of two kinds of cake, and spiced tea was served to Dr. Bader, guest, and these members: Garnett Fairchild, Judy Burchell, Earlene Nelson, Elizabeth Ramey, Sue Martin, Sarah Goble, Mabel Donahoe, Lucy Regan, Judy Johnson, Maxine Bierman, Dorothy Osborne, Maman Leslie, Fannie Rannels, Alice Harris, Curly Hill, Phyllis Herrick, Betty Porter, Lillian Baldrige, Linda McGuire, and Burietta Gearhart.

The Christmas party will be on Thursday, December 5 at 7:30 p.m. with members of the executive board as hostesses. The devotional leader will be Jane Wallace, and the program leader will be Kathy Lowe.

By M. L. Harmon

Tonight I am going to try something different, I just got up from the table and stacked the dishes; so I shall see if I can finish one manuscript without feeding my face.
Soon be Turkey time!!!!

FLANK STEAK SUKIYAKI

1 lb. flank steak
1 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. chopped fresh ginger
1/2 tsp. beef-flavored bouillon granules
1/4 tsp. crushed red peppers
2 tbsp. dry sherry
1/4 c. soy sauce
1/2 c. water
2 tsp. vegetable oil
3/4 c. thinly sliced onion
1/2 c. diagonally sliced celery
1/3 c. bamboo shoots
1/3 c. diagonally sliced onion (green)
1/3 c. sliced water chestnuts
1/3 c. sliced fresh mushrooms
2 c. torn fresh spinach
1 c. fresh bean sprouts
2 1/2 c. hot cooked rice
Trim fat from steak, and partially freeze. Slice diagonally across grain into thin strips, set aside. Combine sugar and the next 6 ingredients in a small saucepan. Cook over medium heat until sugar dissolves, stirring often; remove from heat.
Add oil to preheated wok; heat oil to about 325°, add meat and cook until meat just browns. Remove from wok; add onion, celery, and half of sauce mixture to wok; cook 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Add bamboo shoots and water chestnuts, cook 3 minutes stirring constantly. Add green onions, mushrooms, spinach, and bean sprouts; cook 1 to 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add meat and remaining sauce; cook until thoroughly heated. Serve immediately over hot cooked rice. Yield 5 servings.

SPICY SPAGHETTI

1/2 lb. ground beef
1/2 lb. ground pork
1 medium onion, chopped
2 tbsp. dry bread crumbs
1/4 c. chopped fresh parsley
1/4 c. milk
1 tsp. seasoned salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. olive oil
1 (28-oz.) can whole tomatoes, cut up, undrained
1 (6-oz.) can tomato paste
1 bay leaf
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. sugar
1/2 tsp. fennel seed, crushed
1/2 tsp. basil leaves
1/4 tsp. thyme leaves
1/4 tsp. marjoram leaves
1/2 tsp. oregano leaves
1/8 tsp. crushed red pepper
1 (1-lb.) package spaghetti, uncooked
grated Parmesan cheese
In medium bowl combine first 8 ingredients; mix well. Shape into 8 to 12 meatballs. Heat oil in Dutch oven. Add meatballs; brown evenly. Add remaining ingredients, EXCEPT spaghetti and Parmesan cheese. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered until meatballs are cooked through and flavors are blended, about 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Prepare spaghetti according to package directions; drain. Serve with meatballs and sauce. Top with Parmesan cheese, if desired. Refrigerate any leftovers.

CHEWY COCONUT RAISIN BARS

1 stick butter, or margarine
1/2 c. confectioners sugar
1 c. plus 2 tbsp. all-purpose flour
2 2/3 c. (7-oz.) flake coconut
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 c. firmly packed brown sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
2/3 c. raisins
1/2 c. semi-sweet chocolate chips
Beat butter until light and fluffy. Gradually beat in confectioners sugar. Stir in 1 cup flour and 2/3 cup of coconut. Press into ungreased 9-inch square pan and bake at 350° for 20 minutes, or until golden brown.
Beat eggs and vanilla. Gradually beat in brown sugar. Stir in 2 tablespoons flour and baking powder. Stir in raisins and 1 cup of coconut. Pour over crust in pan and bake 30 minutes longer. Sprinkle with chips. Cover with foil 2 to 3 minutes, until chips soften. Carefully spread to frost. Sprinkle with remaining coconut. Cool and cut into bars. Garnish with additional raisins. Makes 25 bars.

CHOCOLATE-MINT PARFAITS

1/4 c. butter
1 1/2 c. chocolate wafer crumbs (about 30 wafers)
1 (10-oz.) pkg. large marshmallows
1/4 c. milk
1/4 c. green creme de menthe
1 c. whipping cream, whipped
Garnishes; sweetened whipped cream
chocolate wafer crumbs
Place butter in microwave-safe bowl; microwave at HIGH 55 seconds or until melted. Stir in chocolate wafer crumbs, mixing well. Set aside.
Combine marshmallows and milk in a microwave-safe bowl. Microwave at HIGH 1 1/2 to 2 minutes, or until marshmallows melt, stirring with a wire whisk at 30-second intervals. Cool until slightly thickened. Fold in creme de menthe and whipped cream.
Spoon alternate layers of crumb mixture and marshmallow mixture into chilled parfait glasses. Garnish, if desired. Yield 6 servings.

ASPARAGUS WITH CURRY SAUCE

1/2 c. mayonnaise
2 to 3 tsp. curry powder
1 1/2 tsp. lemon juice
1 lb. fresh asparagus spears or 2 (10-oz.) pkgs. frozen asparagus
2 tbsp. capers
Combine first 3 ingredients; cover and chill. Snap off tough ends of asparagus; remove scales with knife. Cook asparagus, covered, in a small amount of boiling water 6 to 8 minutes or until crisp-tender; drain.

Arrange spears on a serving platter; top with curry sauce, and sprinkle with capers.

TURNIP GREENS

2 lb. fresh turnip greens
5 slices bacon
4 c. water
1 tbsp. white vinegar
1/2 tsp. red pepper flakes
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
Wash greens, thoroughly, drain. Tear into bite size pieces. Combine greens, bacon, and water in a Dutch oven, and bring to a boil. Cover, reduce heat, and simmer 30 minutes. Add vinegar, pepper flakes, salt, and pepper. Cover and cook an additional hour. Remove bacon slices before serving. Yield 6 servings.

MARINATED STEAK

1 (1 1/2-lb.) flank steak
2/3 c. burgundy wine
1 tbsp. soy sauce
1/8 tsp. pepper
1/8 tsp. oregano
1/8 tsp. marjoram leaves
vegetable cooking spray
Trim fat from flank steak, and place in a large shallow dish. Combine next 5 ingredients; pour over steak. Cover and marinate 8 hours in refrigerator, turning steak occasionally.
Remove steak from marinade; pat each side dry with paper towel. Place steak on a rack coated with cooking spray; place rack in a broiler pan. Broil 4 inches from heat 5 to 6 minutes, on each side to desired degree of doneness.

To serve, thinly slice steak diagonally across grain.

BEEF FAJITAS

1 flank steak (1-lb.)
1/4 c. chopped cilantro
1/8 tsp. pepper
1/8 tsp. red pepper
1 large clove garlic, minced
1/3 c. lime juice
2 (6-oz.) cans cocktail vegetable juice
vegetable cooking spray
1 c. sweet red pepper strips
1 c. green pepper strips
3/4 c. sliced red onions
8 flour tortillas
3/4 c. diced tomatoes
3/4 c. commercial salsa
Trim fat from steak. Slice diagonally across grain into thin strips. Place in a shallow dish. Combine cilantro and next 5 ingredients; stir well, and pour over meat. Toss gently; cover and marinate in refrigerator 4 hours.
Remove meat from marinade. Place meat on rack covered with cooking spray; place rack in a broiler pan. Broil 2-inches from heat 3 minutes; turn meat, and broil an additional 1 minute. Remove from oven and keep warm.
Coat a non-stick with cooking spray; place over medium heat until hot. Add red and green peppers and onion; saute until crisp-tender. Combine vegetables and meat strips, and keep warm.
Seal tortillas in aluminum foil, and bake at 325° for 15 minutes. Place 1/4 cup meat mixture and 1 tablespoon tomatoes on each tortilla, and wrap. Serve with salsa.

Cabbage Patch

By Neil Harmon

A very short time ago scented geraniums were a new thing, but to date they have become almost as common place as the regular old stand-by geraniums. Another favorite of mine. I would hate to have to really decide just which flower is my favorite. I love almost any kind, even some weed blooms are beautiful, to me.

Scented geraniums are grown primarily for their fragrant foliage, but they reward indoor gardeners with small flowers in delicate shades of pink, white and salmon. There are a wide range of different fragrances to choose from, including rose, lemon, apple, peppermint, nutmeg, ginger, orange, almond and pine, to name a few.

These geraniums do fine in an all-purpose soil such as one recommended for calendulas. Good drainage is a must, as the plants are prone to mildew. Give them bright light with at least four hours of direct sun a day, when possible. They love warm temperatures of 68 to 70 degrees F, with a 5 to 10 degree drop at night, but they can tolerate cooler temperatures as well. Let the soil dry between waterings.

These flowers do better when they are potbound, so we don't have to be in a hurry to repot in a larger container as we do with the regular geranium. Try to keep your scented plants in a four or six inch pot. When they are in active growth you can side dress them once a month with a little compost and rock powder.
Pinch back the plants often to keep them bushy and to encourage blooms. The cuttings can be used in cut flower arrangements and rootings for new plants. They will only bloom when days are long—in spring, summer and early fall. They will live for two to three years, after that they tend to loose their vigor. If you have started new plants from the tip cuttings you can keep a steady supply on hand. You can easily become over stocked with new plants if you aren't careful.

Scented geraniums are best used as an ingredient in potpourris and sachets. Dry the leaves on a screen, then mix with colorful flower petals, a fixative such as powdered orrisroot, and any spice you like and have in your kitchen cabinet—mace, cloves, nutmeg, and cinnamon to name a few. Store the potpourri in a covered jar. When the jar is opened, or some of the potpourri is removed, the mellow fragrance will drift through the room, and be more pleasant than the harsh, over-riding scent of some that are on the market now.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Allen Grimm

Don Johnson of Prestonsburg announces the marriage of his daughter, Donata Sue, to Gregory Allen Grimm. The ceremony was held at the Lighthouse Pentecostal Church in Warsaw, Indiana, on September 28, with the Rev. Don Gibson performing the ceremony. May God bless their marriage and give them years of happiness together. The couple now resides in Warsaw, Indiana.

abuse, abortion, solid waste, AIDS and the homeless.

The groups research the problems and present programs on the topics. The presentations often are elaborate and creative ones such as mock trials and video presentations. Also, field trips enhance the students' understanding of the issues, Weddle said.

Weddle says he presents problems to the students, and lets them solve them. "They're going to make mistakes, but those often are important positive learning experiences," he said.

"I believe that the most effective learning takes place when the students are given guidance and direction, but are encouraged to find answers on their own."

Weddle and his wife, Laura, were the first couple hired to teach in the UK community college system. She teaches communication at PCC.

Weddle began his community college career at Somerset Community College, which he and Laura helped start. They have taught at PCC since 1966, just two years after the community college opened. Before joining the community college system, Weddle was dean of students at Campbellsville College.

A native of Somerset, Weddle came to PCC as a psychology professor, but, when a need arose for a sociology professor, he returned to school for a master of arts degree in sociology. He also has a master's degree in educational administration from UK.

Their children have followed in their footsteps. Their daughter, Lynn, is a psychiatric nurse on the nursing faculty at PCC, and their son Jeff is working on his doctorate in English and is a graduate teaching assistant at Ole Miss.

The 62-year-old Weddle said he and Laura plan to retire in two years and travel around the world. In the meantime, he's still excited about what he says he was born to do: teach.

I have always enjoyed coming to work, and have always been really excited about teaching. At this point in my life, I am doing what I want to do," he said.

"With every new batch of students that comes in, I keep getting younger."

SSGT Huff is named top recruiter

SSGT Mark Huff, the USAF recruiter assigned to Pikeville was recently honored and cited as the top enlisted recruiter for the quarter of the 3534 USAF recruiting squadron. This squadron covers portions of a four state area where he competed with more than thirty other recruiters for this award.

Additionally, he was cited as having the top advertising and promotion program in the squadron, and also inducted into the Cavalier Club. SSGT Huff is a former resident of Hodgenville, Kentucky. He is the son of the late Chief Master Sergeant Logan Huff and Millie Taylor Huff of Hodgenville.

SSGT Huff now lives with his wife, Laura, and two children Andrew and Becky in Regina, Kentucky.

Homemakers News

Grethel Homemakers

On November 5 the Grethel Homemakers met at the Grethel Baptist Church Annex. The meeting was called to order by President Arietta Hall and devotions were led by Marjorie Givens on the subject, "Thanksgiving", based on the scripture, I Thessalonians 5:18. Prayer by Wanda Frasure.

Roll call was made by each Homemaker's favorite cookie recipe.

Annual dues were paid and Shirley Hamilton gave the financial report.

The lesson, "Christmas Hand-crafts", was taught by our Floyd County Extension agent, Francis Pitts, and she displayed many Christmas gifts, ornaments, and decorations. Lesson brochures and recipes were distributed to the group.

Some of the Homemakers displayed their Svedish embroidery and decorations.

Mrs. Pitts announced that the Christmas ornament sale would be Wednesday, December 4, from 10 a.m. - noon at the Courthouse Annex and all ornaments would be $1.00 each.

The next meeting will be the Christmas Nibble Party on December 3 at 6:30 p.m. Each Homemaker is to bring Christmas food to share with other Homemakers.

Homemakers present were: Barbara C. Newsome, Arietta Hall, Shirley Hamilton, Wanda Frasure, Marjorie Givens, Francis Pitts, and Eileen Martin, secretary.

Floyd County Homemakers

Floyd County Homemakers are continuing their regular November schedule

- Wheelwright Night-Thursday, November 14 at 6:30 p.m. Faye Moore and Yvonne Bryant will be hostess.

- The Middle Creek Homemakers will meet Monday, November 18 at 12:30 p.m. They will have a covered dish luncheon.

- The South Prestonsburg Homemakers will meet on Monday, November 18 at the home of Verna Tackett.

- The Cow Creek Homemakers will meet on Tuesday, November 19 at 1:00 p.m. The hostess will be Mary Zemo and Menzie Hill.

- The Betsy Layne Homemakers will meet on Tuesday, November 19 at 7 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center. The meeting is one week early for November only.

- The Harold Homemakers will meet on Wednesday, November 20 at 10 a.m. Hostesses will be Sylvia Allen and Elizabeth Little.

- The Maytown Homemakers will meet Thursday, November 21 at 7 p.m. in the meeting room at the old post office building.

- The Wayland-Garrett Homemakers will meet on Monday, November 28 at 10:30 a.m. at the Senior Citizens Center.

- The Prater Creek Homemakers will meet on Monday, November 25 at 7 p.m. Toda Tackett, Belle Jones and Pauline Akers will be hostesses.

Floyd County Homemakers are continuing their pecan sales during November with the profits going toward the U. K. Ovarian Cancer Research Fund. Contact any homemaker or call the Extension Office at 886-2668 for more information.

Homemakers dues are also due this month. They are $2.00 for each member and should be paid at the November meeting or mailed to Box 111, Prestonsburg, Ky 41653-0111. Anyone wishing to become a Homemaker Member-at-Large may do so by contacting the County Extension Office at 886-2668. Member-at-Large dues are also $2.00. Gift certificates for both are also available.

CORPS CLOSE AREAS FOR SEASON

Now that summer is over and winter is fast approaching, visitation at Dewey Lake has slowed down. The Corps of Engineers has closed some areas and reduced the hours of others. Picnic Hollow Area has been closed to the public since October 1. Both shoreline campgrounds along the lake, and German Bridge Campgrounds are closed for the winter.

The Downstream Recreation Area will be open to the public all winter, with the restrooms opened 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. The Corps of Engineers office at Dewey Lake is open Monday through Friday, from 7:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Call the office at 886-6709 or 789-4521 if you have questions. For 24 hour, recorded information on lake levels, fishing, rainfall, trout stocking and current events at Dewey Lake, call 886-6398.

Fairchild is recognized by cancer conference for voluntary contributions

Garnett Fairchild, longtime member of the Big Sandy District Cancer Council, was recognized for her voluntary contributions to cancer control at a statewide cancer conference on October 26 in Lexington. Fairchild was one of the original members of the District Cancer Council when it was founded in 1976; the Council is a voluntary advisory group for the Kentucky Cancer Program. Fairchild also helped organize the hospice program in the Big Sandy area and now is a member of the Board of Hospice of Big Sandy. She is a breast cancer survivor and active volunteer with the American Cancer Society Reach to Recovery Program.

Dr. William B. Cook, chairman of the Big Sandy District Cancer Council, also participated in the cancer conference, "Community Cancer Control in the 1990's." Cook and Fairchild met with members of Kentucky Cancer Program District Cancer Councils and health professionals from across the state to discuss ways to help women overcome difficulties regarding mammograms and Pap tests. The focus of the conference was on improving screening for breast and cervical cancer.

Free Kentucky Opry Concert to be held November 16

By Beth Jones

Unless you've been under a rock for the past year, you've probably heard of the Kentucky Opry. How would you like to see them...for free? On Saturday, November 16, the Opry will be performing at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse. To receive your complimentary tickets to the concert, just stop by Music-Carter-Hughes or Carter-Hughes Toyota. The tickets will be available Monday, November 11.

You may ask, "Why would Estill Carter and Paul Hughes buy all the tickets and given them away for free?" Estill Carter said, "The number one reason is because we're just awfully high on the Kentucky Opry and we thought everyone should have the opportunity to see them." The concert also coincides with the move of Carter-Hughes Toyota and the addition of a Cadillac-Pontiac-Oldsmobile dealership.

The Opry sold out several of their weekly shows at the Amphitheater this summer. The Kentucky Opry/Travis Tritt concert was sold out as well, so it has been hard for everyone to get tickets to see them. For tickets to this concert, however, you can just stop by either of the dealerships this week between the hours of 8-6.

When you stop to get tickets, be sure to register for the prizes to be given away. Many free services jobs will be given away. At the concert, two grand prizes will be awarded. One is a $500 savings bond and the other is a "Wildcat Weekend." The weekend consists of two lower arena tickets to a U.K. basketball game, a free room for one night at the Hyatt Regency, dinner on Saturday, and breakfast on Sunday.

The Kentucky Opry troupe is a group of the most talented musicians in the state. The show is energetic, fun-filled, family entertainment. If you miss this show, you are missing a great evening of music. Don't be one of the few who have never seen the Kentucky Opry. Pick up your tickets at Music-Carter-Hughes or Carter-Hughes Toyota anytime this week.

Fight Lung Disease—Give to Christmas Seals

The American Lung Association of Kentucky—the Christmas Seal People®—has launched its annual fund-raising campaign with the mailing of Christmas Seals® to more than a half-million households in Kentucky. The Christmas Seal® Campaign, which began in 1907, is the nation's largest non-profit direct mail operation and the Lung Association's most important fund raising activity.

Lung disease, including lung cancer, is the third leading cause of death in the United States. H. Mac Vandiviere, MD, President of American Lung Association of Kentucky, announced. The Lexington-based physician also said Kentuckians are especially at risk with lung disease, mainly as a result of an extraordinarily high incidence of cigarette smoking. Kentucky leads the nation in per capita deaths attributable to smoking and more adult Kentuckians are smokers on a per capita basis than smokers from any other state.

This year's wreath seals were designed by Franklin Mint artist David Webster specially for ALA. Ninety percent of the funds raised by the Christmas Seal® Campaign remains in Kentucky, Dr. Vandiviere noted.

The American Lung Association is dedicated to the fight against lung disease. Along with its medical section, the American Thoracic Society, the association provides programs of education, community service, advocacy and research. Its activities are supported by donations to Christmas Seals® and by other voluntary contributions. Founded in 1904 to fight tuberculosis, the American Lung Association is the oldest nationwide voluntary health agency in the United States.

Persons interested in more information about ALA/KY are asked to call toll free 1-800-366-LUNG.

Kentucky industry reaches new high

An influx of new manufacturing firms throughout Kentucky boosted the number of manufacturing plants to an all-time state high, according to the recently published 1992 Kentucky Manufacturers Register.

The increase followed a four-year trend that raised Kentucky's total to 4,607 manufacturing plants, the register reports. Kentucky became home to 397 new companies while losing 242 to closings, mergers and out-of-state relocation, for a net gain of 155 firms.

"Kentucky manufacturing community has been growing steadily during the last several years," said Howard S. Dubin, president of Manufacturers' News, Inc., which publishes the register annually. "This year's increase is a further reflection of that growth."

Despite the overall increase, Kentucky's leading industrial city experienced a net decrease of companies. Louisville, with 1,056 firms, lost 70 while it gained 60. Almost one-fourth of all Kentucky manufacturers reside in Louisville.

Lexington, Kentucky's second largest industrial city with 287 companies, trailed Louisville by 769 firms. Lexington showed a net increase of eight firms, having gained 24 and lost 16. Third-ranked Bowling Green, with 104 firms, gained 12 and lost six, for a net increase of six firms. Owensboro remained fourth with 96 firms. Throughout the year, Owensboro gained five firms and lost two, for a net increase of three. Rounding out the top five is Florence with 85 plants. Florence experienced a net decrease of one firm, having gained five and lost six.

Non-electrical Machinery became Kentucky's new industrial leader with 649 firms, accounting for 14 percent of the statewide total. Printing and Publishing fell to second place with 632 firms, while Lumber and Wood Products ranked third with 448 firms. Metal Fabricating came in fourth with 416 and Stone, Glass and Concrete finished fifth with 392 plants.

The 392-page, six-section register contains detailed profiles of plants located in 421 Kentucky cities. Each profile provides up to 30 facts, including address, phone and FAX numbers, products manufactured, area of distribution, annual sales, year established and model and language of in-house computer. Names, titles and duties of 10,951 top executives also are provided.

All 4,607 Kentucky manufacturers are cross-referenced alphabetically, geographically, by product, by S.I.C. number and by parent company. A sixth section contains a county breakdown for the entire state along with city, county and industry growth pattern charts. The register also includes county, zip code and area code maps.

Manufacturers' News, Inc., Evanston, Illinois, has been gathering and publishing manufacturing information since 1912. Along with the Kentucky Register, the company publishes industrial information for 16 other states. The casebound 1992 Kentucky Manufacturers Register is available for $58 from Manufacturers' News, Inc., 1633 Central St., Evanston, Illinois, 60201, 708-864-7000.

Birth announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Worland, Jr. of Edgewood, announces the birth of their daughter, Katherine Ruth Worland, born on October 23 at Christ Hospital in Cincinnati. The baby is the granddaughter of Ruth Worland and the late Edward Worland of Prestonsburg.

Celebrates Birthday

Austin Michael Healy has his first birthday August 1. He is the son of Tim and Angela Healy of Lincoln Park, Michigan. Austin is the grandson of Jacqueline Copeland and Prentice Howell, the great-grandson of Mrs. Birdie Justice of Harold and Mr. and Mrs. Tan Howell of Banner.

member." What, Mom, what? Well there was this time in 4th grade when you, Katie Jo, and Rita Gail were at our house. I woke up in the middle of the night, headed for the bathroom, placed my hand on the door knob and it was covered with shaving cream. No, I said. "Oh, but yes, she told me in that firm motherly voice of hers. As were all the mirrors in the house, all of them covered in shaving cream."

I don't remember that mom, I swore. Well I do, she said. Anyway, Mom, will you keep the girls tonight? If you don't, I think I will lose my marbles, I pleaded.

Sure, she said, bring them down. Motherhood, ain't it wonderful? Yes, it sure is, and thank the good Lord for Mamaws.

Till next week, hide the shaving cream.

Real estate agents produce satisfied buyers/sellers, study shows

Nearly eight out of ten Americans consumers believe real estate agents can show buyers a better selection of homes than they can find on their own, according to preliminary results of an independent survey of the general public released recently.

"There is no doubt that use of a real estate agent makes the home buying process flow more evenly and quickly for buyers and sellers alike," said NAR President Harley E. Rouda, a Realtor from Columbus, Ohio.

The preliminary findings, released by the National Association of Realtors, note that 78 percent of the general public believe real estate agents offer them a broader selection of housing alternatives than they would otherwise find. Seventy four percent agree that using a real estate agent saves time, and 70 percent agree that real estate agents make buying or selling a home much easier.

ior vice president for communications and information services. "For example, 74 percent of survey respondents state that their personal contact with a real estate agent was a positive experience."

The National Association of Realtors, "The Voice for Real Estate," is the nation's largest trade association, representing nearly 800,000 members involved in all aspects of the real estate industry.
