Employees vow to continue strike:

Board seeks legal mandate

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

Legal avenues will be taken to end a four-day strike by school employees called after the board of educaworkers as part of the Teamsters

An injunction will be sought to put striking Floyd County classified school employees back to work and the go ahead was given Wednesday to hire replacement workers.

The Floyd County Board of Education voted Wednesday to hire F.C. Bryan of Mount Sterling to seek an injunction against striking workers in an effort to get employees off picket lines and back into the schools.

The board also voted to cancel classes Thursday and Friday because of the financial loss to the school

A heated exchange developed between board member Eddie Billips and superintendent Ron Hager at Wednesday's meeting after Billips accused Hager of gross malfeasance because buses did not run and classes were held Wednesday.

"No," Hager said.

Billips asked transportation director Earl D. Ousley why bus drivers were told not to report to work Wednesday.

"Bus drivers who were making their routes had received threats." Ousley said. "So for safety reasons we asked drivers not to report. We had a lot of threats called in."

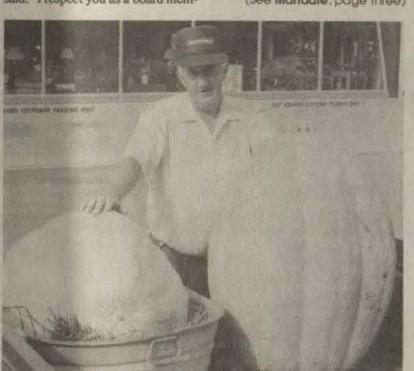

Student attendance dropped to approximately 50 percent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday resulting in a loss of over $200,000 to the school system next year. The local district receives state funding of $16.50 per student for average daily attendance.

Candidates for governor pledge support:

East Kentucky Corporation aims for economical diversification

by Terry Spears News Express Editor

Candidates for governor of Kentucky-one through a proxy-promised support for efforts to diversify the economy of Eastern Kentucky Thursday at a meeting of the East Kentucky Corporation, a group formed to create jobs in the region.

One candidate said he will establish an economic development office in Eastern Kentucky; a representative of the other said a system of locks and dams would be of great benefit to the region. The remarks were made during the annual meeting of the group's board of directors at Jenny Wiley State Park in Prestonsburg.

Democrat nominee, said he "intends to have our administration put a foit has not been focused on in modern times."

Jones said he was the first candidate for governor to talk about returning 50 percent of the coal severance tax to the coal counties. He said that was only one part of his plan for Sandy and Kentucky rivers in Eastthe mountains, however.

Another component would be to open an East Kentucky Economic Development office, whose director would report straight to the governor each month on progress made in developing jobs in the region.

"My goal is to be, not only the best governor this common wealth has had, but when I'm finished, to have people say 'He stood up for the mountains. He stood up for the people who needed it," Jones said.

Jones said he has caught himself referring to Eastern Kentucky as "us," the line, but it is a man-made line, not mountains. I would say that my rearing in West Virginia was much more similar to Eastern Kentucky than if I had been born in Detroit and reared in Western Kentucky," said Jones, referring to his opponent's (Republican Congressman Larry Hopkins) upbringing.

Jones attacked Hopkins' voting record in Congress on matters affecting Eastern Kentucky. Jones said US 23 on two occasions; consistently voted against funding for the Appalachian Regional Commission; and Lt. Governor Brereton Jones, the recently did not vote on a proposal to extend unemployment benefits.

"Opinions die; the record lives cus on Eastern Kentucky in a manner forever," Jones said, quoting the late A.B. "Happy" Chandler.

Pikeville attorney Will T. Scott spoke for Congressman Hopkins, who was invited but was unable to attend. Scott proposed that a system of locks and dams be constructed on the Big em Kentucky as a means of solving several problems-including future economic development.

Scott said that Hopkins supports and said that everybody knows he is the plan, but will not promise to from West Virginia. "I grew up across commit state money to it at present. "It is a viable plan...on a federal baa God-made line. God made the sis," said Scott, who said Hopkins may consider some kind of federalstate partnership in the future. "The funds are there (on the federal level). It's just a matter of who gets what.

Scott told the economic development corporation that "he (Hopkins) is committed to helping you build a more viable and diversified economy in Eastern Kentucky.'

Scott said that coal will be a factor in the Eastern Kentucky economy for Hopkins voted against funding for several years, and that "we can't continue to run 65-ton semis on our roads. We can't tear them up as soon as we build them."

Scott said that the locks and dams proposal, which he first advanced while running against 7th District Congressman Chris Perkins in 1990, would solve the region's water problems, as well as transportation needs.

Scott said that the proposal "is a bridge" that can help Eastern Kentucky get through the tough times, and put it in a position for future

Schools searched for bombs

by Janice Shepherd Staff Writer

Three Floyd County schools were evacuated Wednesday while area emergency organizations searched for hidden bombs.

Allen Central, Duff and McDowell schools received bomb threats from unidentified callers, but at McDowell, the phone threat was made by an older sounding male, said Kentucky State Police Trooper David Watkins.

"It is unusual for three schools to receive bomb threats (in one day)," said Floyd County acting superintendent Pete Grigsby. "The usual trend is one school at a time.

When we have disruptions (the classified employee strike) in school, certain individuals take advantage.

"In the past, it's (persons making bomb threats) been students themselves trying to get out of school," said Grigsby, who warned that those making the calls "should take precautionary measures" because previous callers have been caught due to

Floydteacher sues board, principal

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

A Floyd County teacher filed a federal lawsuit September 11 against the board of education, superintendent Ron Hager and Adams Middle School principal Thomas Tackett.

Gwen Hammonds, a former eighth grade teacher at Adams Middle School, alleged she was transferred to Martin Elementary this school year because she criticized various policies and procedures enacted by the board of education.

The suit claimed that "Thomas Tackett in his position as principal of the middle school, engaged in verbal abuse and chastisement" of Hammonds because of her membership in the Floyd County Education Association. The suit said Tackett had openly stated his opposition to the

by Tess A. Whitmer Assistant Editor

An anonymous tip Friday morning, September 13, led Prestonsburg Police officials to an area where an alleged drug transaction was being conducted. Police confiscated a bag of marijuana and obtained a warrant for the arrest of a Prestonsburg man.

According to Detective Jeff Stumbo, an informant told police that an unusual amount of traffic had been seen in West Prestonsburg and he, the informant, suspected drug transactions were being conducted near the local post office.

After observing the suspected area for three hours, Stumbo said enough information was gathered to get a search warrant for a pickup truck registered to Dwayne Marcum which was parked outside of 103 West Prestonsburg.

With the assistance of assistant police chief Roy Roberts and patrolman Anthony Castle, Stumbo searched the vehicle and found a 10ounce bag of marijuana under the spare tire in the bed of the truck.

Marcum was not charged. Through several interviews police determined he was not in the vicinity of the truck during the time of the suspected drug transactions and he had loaned the truck to a relative.

Police are seeking an adult male, whose name they would not release

Economic development in any area hinges in part on education and community input and support to make the effort successful.

Members of the Floyd County Development Authority heard at meeting Wednesday Prestonsburg Community College president Deborah Floyd's ideas on making the college a magnet to draw potential developers to the Big Sandy

"Any company wanting to locate in an area looks at the quality of education in an area. "I feel the college can do a better job preparing our students for employment if we serve the individual needs of a student," Floyd said. "We want to know where our students are, in areas such as the right classes that fit their needs succeed.

Floyd explained that she wanted to begin an open testing and assessment center and a career development center to assist PCC students in choosing their careers.

"We want to be partners in economical development," Floyd told the group. "I believe education happens in and out of the classroom. I challenge all of you, along with the community, to work for better opportunities for all of us."

The 15 percent jump in enrollment at PCC this year was credited to more students wanting to attend college closer to home and the smaller class size, Floyd said. She took members of the authority on a tour of the campus.

Contractors to face legal action

Staff Writer

State Department of Education officials have recommended the Floyd County Board of Education puruse legal action against a school construction contractor because of structural problems with the facility.

Mike Luscher, director of the state's buildings and grounds department, sent a letter to the board of education in August requesting they take immediate action to correct the structural problems at Adams Middle

"It is imperative that school funds of both the Kentucky School Facilitites Construction Commission and the Floyd County Board of Education not be misspent by the acceptance of a damaged facility," Luscher's letter said. "Continued inaction to resolve the issue will most likely cause additional settlement and damage to the building and its structural components. The board must be made aware that school revenues bonds were sold on this project and that the bondholders expect the building to be completed in accordance with the original contract documents but also maintained in such a manner as to not reduce the value of the building upon which they hold the

Floyd superintendent Ron Hager told the board if the settling problems at the school have not been corrected by September 20, the board should turn the issue over to the bonding company and enter into litigation.

Cracks in northwest corner of the building that caused floors to buckle and walls to crack were discovered earlier this year. The board instructed architect Randall Burchett to correct the problems last spring.

Hager also recommended the board take legal action against Lexington Fire Protection because the company has not finished its contract on time at Duff Elementary.

Booster pumps to Duff's fire suppression system were supposed to have been installed by the company before classes began this year. The school is required to have a fire truck on the premises in order to boost the sprinkler system in case of a fire. Inadequate water pressure at the site has forced the board to pay approximately $200 a week for a fire truck to be on campus.

Letters

Dear Editor,

In early August while visiting my aunt in Prestonsburg who was caring for her terminally ill sister, I had occasion to personally see the work being performed by the Hospice of Big Sandy.

In a world where if you are ill on Friday night you usually have to wait until after 9 a.m. on Monday to receive care, or use a hospital emergency room; when we needed help even though this particular case had not been officially turned over to them, we had the privilege of receiving a call from one of their staff, Sister Margaret, who came on Saturday afternoon and assisted us at that time. Her care of the patient and consolation to the family were really wonderful. She was with us again on Monday, too, when the patient passed

I will long sing their praises and you are indeed fortunate to have this service for the families in your area. Sincerely,

Larry Hopkins relative to the issue of abortion, I was uncertain as to which of these candidates I would support. However, after reading their views, I can no longer support my friend, Brereton Jones, because of his policy favoring abortion.

Since reading that comparison, I have questioned Larry Hopkins extensively. He has assured me in writing that, in fulfillment of his duties as United States Congressman, representing the 6th district of Kentucky, he will "go to Washington to sustain the President's veto" in response to the House's vote on the appropriations bill that would block enforcement of the ban on abortion counseling at federal funded family planning clinics. He further stated "I will work hard to make sure Brereton Jones' abortion on demand policy is made illegal, and I'll take the fight to him on this issue during the campaign."

Having confirmed that Congressman Hopkins has for 20 year consistently voted for the life of the unborn, and since I determined some time back that I could never vote for a candidate who was not clearly committed to insuring the sanctity of life for the unborn, I am now firmly in support of Larry Hopkins for Governor of the State of Kentucky.

CHILD HEALTH DAY 1991

Children are our most valuable resource. Unfortunately, accidents and injuries claim thousands of young lives each year and leave many more disabled. Most accidents are not random acts of fate, but rather are predictable and preventable. With this in mind, the National Safety Council reminds America that October 7 is Child Health Day. Take time to change your environment, improve your knowledge and change behaviors to eliminate senseless hazards from your child's life, as well as your

HOROSCOPE

September 22 through September 28

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)

This is a great time to look at your life and see what you would like to change. You'll feel like doing a little cleaning. Clear out those closets.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)

This is a positive time for love relationships. It is imperative you keep an open mind when dealing with certain business situations. An idea isn't as crazy as you think.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)

Don't get on a soapbox within social circles. Ranting and raving will get you nowhere; tactful comments to the right people at the right time will make the difference.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)

You will feel the urge to spend every dime you ever made, but it's an urge you definitely need to curb. Saving money should be your No. 1 priority. You'll be glad you did.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19) Work-related problems will have you feeling low, but remember the situation you are in is only temporary. Things will be looking better soon. Co-workers appreciate you.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18) You may find yourself in a familiar situation with unfamiliar people to deal with. Watch your words carefully, especially when speaking to those who are sensitive.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)

You have an important decision to make, and it isn't going to be easy. Instincts are on target; you may not choose the easiest path to follow, but it is the right one.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

A business opportunity will come your way this week. Only you can decide what is right for you, so don't waste your time asking for other people's advice.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

You will see someone close to you in a different light, and it will help you make an important decision. Try not to keep secrets from loved ones. It will work against you.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

Don't be pressured into making a permanent decision for which you may not be ready. You may have to say "no" to those who usually wouldn't hear of it.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

Your temper could get the best of you and cause problems at work and at home. It's time to be a little more open-minded.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)

You'll hit a few rough spots, but for the most part, the week will run smoothly for you. Romantic partners may surprise you with a thoughtful phrase or gift.

VIDEO BIJOU

Jones, Alexander make 'Hope' one not to miss

By Steven Alan McGaw

Bravo to James Earl Jones for last month's Emmy wins for ABC's Gabriel's Fire and Heatwave on TNT. Jones was nominated twice before for the honor; once for East Side/West Side (1964) and once for last year's By Early Light. Dawn's Gabriel's Fire has been revamped and renamed for fall. Titled Pros & Cons and co-starring Richard Crenna, the show premieres Thursday, Sept. 26.

The Great White Hope (1970)

On Broadway, The Great White Hope was James Earl Jones' big break. His portrayal of black boxing champion Jack Jefferson won widespread acclaim, as did Jane Alexander's performance as his white mistress.

When the time came for a film version, both were asked to repeat their stage roles, even though neither was a known quantity in film. (It was, in fact, Alexander's first movie role.)

Martin Ritt (Hud, Norma Rae) was selected to direct the film, and he gathered a fine supporting cast, including Lou Gilbert, Chester Morris, Hal Holbrook and Beah Richards

Jones' performance received near-unanimous praise and he won an Oscar nomination. Interestingly, the actor himself doesn't feel he was that great in the film, or any of his early movies. In 1989, Jones said he felt he was just then learning how to act for the camera. We should all learn so much.

Mom-to-be Katey Sagal gets maternal TV-movie role

Expectant mother Katey Sagal, who plays Peggy Bundy on Fox's Married. With Children, will make her TV-movie debut playing a troubled mom for NBC. Alan Rachins (L.A. Law) and Charlotte Ross (Days of Our Lives) will co-star with Sagal in A Violation of Trust, the story of a parent struggling to believe her teenage daughter is innocent of murdering a schoolmate. The movie is slated for telecast this season.

MacCaulay Culkin (Home Alone) is currently featured on the cover of Disney's newest kids' publication Disney Adventures. In the September issue, the youthful actor talks about his friendship with superstar Michael Jackson, saying, "He's my best friend. We talk on the phone all the time, about three times a day." Culkin is also excited about Jackson's new waterballoon-launching fort. armed with squirt guns, ditches, water hoses and launchers that shoot balloons up to 60 yards.

The 10-year-old is due to star in the sequel to Home Alone, for which he'll be payed a whopping $4.5 million - enough to purchase his own personal amusement park if he likes.

Peter Strauss (Rich Man. Poor Man) and Eric Roberts (Runaway Train) will star in a new CBS telefilm reminiscent of Victor Hugo's Les Miserables. In Fugitive Among Us, a policeman (Strauss) engages in the obsessive pursuit of an escaped convict (Roberts), only to discover the man is innocent. The film, being directed by Michael Uno (Without Warning: The James Brady Story), will begin production later this Lenin's visage isn't being obliterated from the Eastern Bloc entirely. The father of Soviet communism is appearing on a dollar bill as part of a Soviet bank's "New Times, new people, new ad campaign, services" reports Advertising Age. A two-page color ad, complete with the dollar, shows a young businessman in a hurry and a wristwatch with perestroika written on it. It is designed to appeal to the growing number of Soviet yuppies. About 100,000 red dollars will be printed and given out at the bank.

Coca-Cola USA and Walt Disney Studios are launching an entertainment coup that will transform the softdrink aisle into a movietheater turnstile. The "Ticket to Entertainment" promotion offers consumers a chance to win one of 5 million tickets to uncoming films from Touchstone and Hollywood Pictures, divisions of Disney. Specially marked containers of Coca-Cola Classic, diet Coke and Sprite could contain tickets and a free soft-drink coupon redeemable at most theaters across the country. Movies ticket-holders have a chance to see include True Identity, Ernest Scared Stupid, Deceived and Paradise.

Free prostate cancer exams at Our Lady of Bellefonte

Our Lady of Bellefonte Hospital and area urologists will offer free prostate cancer exams during Prostate Cancer Awareness Week, September 22-29. The screenings will be given September 24 and 26 in the OLBH Wellness and Rehabilitation Center on the Bellefonte Campus.

The exams are offered from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday, September 24 by Dr. Stephen Edge and Dr. Randolph Hunter. Thursday, September 26 the exams will be performed 12:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. by Dr. E. Unnikrishnan.

The prostate cancer screenings are part of a nation-wide effort coordinated by the Prostate Cancer Education Council to educate and screen thousands of men across the United States. Last year over 150,000 men 40 and over were screened at 750 participating medical centers. This year, there will be more than 1,000 participating sites, and the goal is to screen more than 200,000 men over

Prostate cancer is the most common form of cancer in men over 55. It is estimated that this year, more than 122,000 men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer, and 32,000 will die from the disease. Among white males one in 11 will get prostate cancer in his lifetime; among black males, one in nine. In spite of these sobering statistics, of the men screened last year, only 25 percent had a previous exam within the last 12 months. Fewer than half of the men who have ever had a physical report having had a prostate exam included.

To find out more about screening in this area, men can call (606) 836-2311 or (800) 641-8822.

Meet Morehead night slated for Pikeville

Morehead State University representatives will host an information night in Pikeville on Tuesday, October 1, to inform prospective students and their parents of the opportunities available on the campus.

The "Meet Morehead State" program will begin at 7 p.m. at the andmark Inn.

"Because it may be inconvenient for students to visit the campus, we want to provide information at a location that is accessible to them," said Sandra Barker, admissions counselor. "This is a perfect opportunity to talk with a variety of persons current students and faculty - and ask specific questions about the programs MSU offers and career possibilities available in various fields."

The evening's activities will follow an informal format beginning with registration and a videotape of campus life. Information about admissions, academic programs, student life, scholarships campus housing and athletics will be provided.

MSU officials are including a special session on student financial aid and paying for college, Barker

To the Floyd County Board & Citizens of Floyd County

The classified employees would like to thank Mr. Tommy Boyd for his past and continuing support.

Life used to be much simpler. In the past, if one classified employee stood up against unfair treatment, poor working conditions or miserable wages, he/she wasn't rehired. If a teacher spoke out, he/she was transferred. If a citizen stood up, his/her family was not employed or his/her school was ignored. This school board must really long for the good old days.

But the good old days are over.

Citizens have stood up. Teachers have stood up. The classified employees have decided enough is enough. Now they are willing to stand up.

Classified employees are not slaves and are not the property of the school board. When the teachers have problems, the school board negotiates settlements with the organization of the teachers' choice. When the classified people have problems, the board hires lawyers to threaten and fire them.

The classifed employees didn't want to go on strike. They had no other choice. When a board member tells them he has too many important things to think about to be considering their problems, what choice is there? When another board member agrees you need representation but won't allow you to choose that representation, what choice is there? When the chairman talks to you before his election and refuses to acknowledge you after his election, what choice is there? When Federal Labor laws don't cover you, what choice is there?

The board has offered some employees significant raises to come back to work. They have attempted to put hastily trained, unqualified drivers in the buses to transport the children. They have tried to turn the parents against the employees by threatening to count students absent even though transportation was unavailable. However, that idea fell through when parents showed up at the special board meeting Wednesday night to protest this action. Hopefully, the board will insure that retaliation is not placed on the backs of the students.

The stranglehold on classified employees is the last tie to the bad, good old days! If the citizens, parents, and other employees stand with them, the classified employees will finally free the school.

I ask the board to give me any reasons they had for ignoring the employees request for representation by Teamsters Local 783. I had hoped to eliminate politics, power or greed as the reason. Unfortunately, no other reason was given. The school board finally stood up, and walked out.

Now they have something in common with the classified employees.

There will be a meeting of the classified employees Saturday, September 21, at 1:00 p.m. at the Stumbo Park in Allen, Kentucky. Any concerned citizen, parent, other employees or senior members are invited to join us.

AND THINGS by Beth Jones

THE STOCK SALE: A SHOPPING EXPERIENCE

I think one of the best ways to spend a Saturday is to go to the stock sale. Really, now, where else can a person buy anything from baseball cards to boots, trade or buy guns and dogs, and buy freshly-made pork rinds? What a place!

The stock sale I am referring to is located near Paintsville Lake in Johnson County. There are stalls that sell livestock, produce, shoes, clothes, purses, cassettes, stereo equipment, and tools. There's no assortment of goods like that at Wal-Mart.

The prices at these booths are very affordable. There are several stalls selling the same goods, so there is competition for business. It's really great watching the people try to "wheel-n-deal" for your business. It makes the purchase a little more interesting.

I also noticed the wide assortment of people that come to the stock sale. There are people from many different walks of life. Farmer-types, business people, teens, housewives, and the elderly can all be found at the sale. I think this is probably because there's such a wide assortment of things to buy.

On my last two visits to the stock sale, (the past two Saturdays), I bought two sweatshirts, a baseball hat (for my brother), and two cassettes (original copies). All this cost me a grand total of forty-one dollars. I don't know of another place where one can buy sweatshirts for eleven dollars each. They are good quality, stylish sweats. Most of all, though, I love saving money. Doesn't that make everything better?

My relatives from Ohio love go to the Paintsville stock sale. They especially enjoy looking at the handmade quilts and the antiques. They don't have anything like the stock sale where they

This past Saturday, a man on the highway flagged down my best friend's dad. The man was from West Virginia and asked my friend's dad for directions to the stock sale. He had been looking for it all morning and no one had given him the right directions. I thought it was amazing for someone to come that far to see what was for sale,

If you have never been to the stock sale, it is a great way to spend a Saturday. There are so many things to look at. I'm almost positive that everyone will find something that they will like. Good luck and happy shopping.

PEOPLE, PLACES Mountain Voices—by Willie Elliott—

IS THIS THE END?

In a recent issue of the Floyd County Times, sports editor, Eddie Taylor, made reference to the consolidation of McDowell and Wheelwright High Schools. Eddie suggested that memorabilia be collected from these schools. Eddie must have been reading my mind for one of the projects that I had planned this year was to produce a booklet that would describe some of the history of our school. Most of us are not convinced that this will be the last year for our schools, but the word we keep getting from the superintendent and construction manager is that the new school will be ready next year. I suppose it behooves us to complete the project this year just in case.

One good source of information for our project will be the school news papers that were published over the years. When I started teaching journalism at McDowell High School, I inherited the school papers back to the 40's Most of these newspapers had been done under the direction of Francis Turner and Violet T. Moore. And these fine ladies had saved cop-

The first papers were somewhat generic in that there were no name for the papers. Then someone (and we would love to know who) came up with the title Fur Beaver Gazette. The paper was done under that title for several years before someone changed it to The Tattler. (Again someone out there is yelling, "That was me that named it that.") The paper went by that name until someone (namely, me) had little enough sense to let the name be changed to Devil's Account.

These papers will be very helpful in our project, but we would like for people who attended McDowell High School to help us with other materials. If someone has a photo, we would be glad to copy it. We would like stories about the school prior to George L. Moore's reign as principal. Photos of the old gym would be helpful. Just stories that happened at the school could be included. In fact we would love to hear from everybody who has the fondness that we do for our school.

For example I can remember when

Mrs. Miller. (They even let me go a couple of times, but I'm not talking). Surely your parents would understand by now. If not, you will just have to be grounded. What about some of our leaders? Senator Bailey, some of your stories might be cen-

Soapbox

As I write this I am gazing out my office window at a wet, cold and gloomy Thursday morning. Perfect for the prelude into Fall. Yes folks, Monday is the first day of Fall finally. I Tess Whitmer love this weather. All summer long I have suffered through without air conditioning at my home. Most of the time it wasn't so bad. If I sat very still, turned on the ceiling fan and the table top fan on high and pointed it at my face, I was okay. If things got really bad I'd go sit in my car for a while and run the air on "max"

The problem came when I had to move around, such as cleaning. I've never been a real fan of housework, but it makes it that much worse when you sweat profusely while cleaning out the junk that has accumulated at the bottom of the closet.

So cooler weather is finally here, and I am grateful. Of course, along with the beautiful changes of colors we are destined to experience here in the hills, comes the sniffles and head colds. A small price to pay, however, to get to wear long pants again and not have to worry about a tan.

I must admit, dressing for work this summer has not been easy. Even if it was 90 degrees outside, the Times' offices would have temperatures hoovering just above freezing. I can only figure two reasons for this: they have air conditioning and want everyone to know it, or the boss is trying to keep everyone from falling asleep.

So I'd shiver at work and sweat at home, what a wonderful life. I can't wait to dig out the sweaters and put away the t-shirts and shorts. Of course this means rooting around in the bottom of closets again, but it will be worth it this

People ask me if I miss the winters I had in Ohio. The answer is undeniably, YES! I miss them terribly. I miss wearing a t-shirt, a turtleneck and a pullover sweater all at once. I miss big, bulky winter coats and sleigh riding. I miss the snow that gathers on the sidewalks until someone shovels it away. Here you just have to wait until 10 or 11 a.m. when it will melt.

I remember the first year that I was down here and it snowed. I looked out my window before leaving for work and saw the snow on the ground. I was so excited. I went straight to the closet and took out my ski jacket and proudly donned the red coat with the fox fur trim around the hood.

When I stopped at a station for gas the attendant asked me if I was preparing for the glacier to melt. I gave him my most indignant look and said, "No, this is my winter coat and snow means it's winter.'

"Not around here it don't little girl," he laughed.

A few hours later I discovered he was right and I slunk out of the office with my treasured "winter" coat under my arm and hid it in my car, never to see the light of day again. Until Christmas, that is, when I went home to Ohio, then out came the little red coat.

I remember asking my brothers and sisters to go sledding or out to build a snowman or something winter-like. They looked at me as if I was from another planet and whined, "but, it's cold and wet out there, Tess.'

"I know, that's why I want to go out," I exclaimed.

I finally convinced my youngest brother and sister to go out and build a snowman with me, after I agreed to call it a snow person. I put on my pretty, red coat and my matching red mittens and scarf (I never wear a hat because I look stupid in them, however, I have been seen in earmuffs now and then) and headed for the door.

My mother said, "Tess, don't forget your boots." Boy did that bring back a flood of memories.

I suddenly remembered I didn't bring my boots — there were too far back in the closet to get to - so I had to go out in my sneakers, just like when I was a kid and thought boots were big and ugly, and just like when I was a kid I ended up with a cold because of my vanity.

Some people never learn I guess.

Johnson's creativity does not stop at making wreaths. He is constantly challenging his imagination to produce unique and eye-pleasing pieces. Doing some yard work, he looks at the wheelbarrow he is pushing, studies it and then goes into his workshop to design a grapevine wheelbarrow.

Johnson also uses his time in the woods squirrel hunting and deer hunting to gather ideas for his craft. In so doing, he has discovered that the sap formation from locust trees provides an unique decoration for flower arrangements inside the grapevine baskets.

"I just look for things I think will look pretty to decorate with," Johnson said. "There are all sorts of pretty, dried things out there you can use."

When Johnson first started, he

To remedy this, he uses a piece of wood on the bottom which he attaches using grapevine pegs.

Johnson's skill is all self taught. He became interested in grapevine sculpture after he saw a wreath at his sister's house. He and his brother-inlaw went into the woods and gathered some vines, made some wreaths and tried to sell them.

"We made about enough to pay the gas bill," he laughed. Johnson confesses he is not doing much better now, but he enjoys working with his hands and being outdoors. Plus, it is something to keep him busy since he has been laid off from the coal mines.

Johnson jokingly says he is a pretty good artist but a lousy salesman, so he has handed that chore over to someone else. The 43-year-old craftsman has worked out a partnership (of

IF I HAD A HAMMER AND A SICKLE

In lieu of the events that have occurred in Russia, I can no longer be branded a Communist when I write that I'm sorry Gorbachev has been ousted as their political leader. Aside from the fact that he was instrumental in opening up trade relations and establishing detente' with America, I was thrilled I could actually pronounce and spell his (and his wife's)

Don't get me wrong, Boris Yeltsin is also easy to spell, it's just more difficult for me to recognize him in a crowd because he has no distinguishing marks.

The Italy-shaped grape stain on Gorbachev's forehead, which was the object of numerous comic's jokes, virtually endeared me to this man once considered among the Power Elite of Marxism.

Growing up, I was a short, fat, cross-eyed, crooked tooth kid who was subjected to verbal assaults from

Anyone who has a physical defect can attest to the fact that these conditions sometimes cause others to overlook other's finer qualities.

My aunt, blind since birth, often remarks that people not only consider her blind, they also think she's deaf. "Some people shout, 'How are you?" she says. "I just scream back,

'I'm fine." I also have a friend who wears an elevated shoe to compensate for a leg defect resulting from a car accident. 'Nobody notices unless I take my shoes off," my friend commented. "And when I do, some people ask why I never took the polio vaccine."

I suppose it's only human nature for some people to feel superior to those who are different from themselves, but I often wonder how this theory evolved.

When other children taunted me some members of my peer group. for wearing glasses, I compensated

I think they probably developed the ability to hone in on other's misfortunes after hearing adults make statements such as "Don't make for of that little fat, cross-eyed girl in your class. She can't help what she looks like." Until that statement was uttered, I'm sure my unusual looks would not have been as noticeable.

More than likely, Gorbachev probably experienced the same type of ridicule as a child.

"Did you spill grape juice on yourself this morning, Mikail?" was probably a question asked by many of his classmates upon seeing his birthmark. Or maybe his teacher would just say, "Wash your forehead and get back to work!" I'd even surmise that many people thought his mother must have craved grapes when she was carrying him. And since fruit is scarce in Russia, she was never able to satisfy her urge.

Happily, Gorbachev's mother must have realized the stigma her young son would carry, so she had the good sense and compassion to give him a name that could be easily spelled and pronounced universally. This is the same reason I believe his birthmark contributed to his charisma. A person who can overcome past ghosts and still come out on top deserves to be recognized for his ef-

Temporary home is available to art group

by Janice Shepherd

A Main Street project in Prestonsburg which will benefit the Floyd County Arts group topped the agenda at the Floyd County Arts meeting Thursday, September 12, at the Chamber of Commerce.

The art group has temporarily found a home, said Brenda Lee Crouch, chairman. The old Dollar General Store building will be available from now until December for the group to set up booths and displays — just in time for Christmas shopping, Crouch said. The landlord, Frank Fitzpatrick, donated the use of the building rent free until December when the group has an option to lease it at half the normal rental price, Crouch explained. The City of Prestonsburg will pay the utilities as long as the group uses the building, said Crouch.

During the event, area artists may purchase booth space, full or partial, to sell their wares, and this money will go into the Floyd County Arts' coffers. "Booth space won't be limited to Floyd County Arts," said Crouch, who explained that the event will be open to craftspersons outside the county and state.

The group will also work with Main Street Director Henry Lewis Mayo, who will schedule entertainment during the event. Area churches will be invited to participate through church bazaars and gospel music.

Floyd County Arts also plans to hold a student art exhibit. Mack Martin, a member of the art group and a high school art teacher, will

Small loans are important at First Guaranty National Bank

Most big banks can't be bothered with small loans. But at First Guaranty National Bank, even the smallest loans are important. We know small loans can meet big needs.

With a small loan from First Guaranty National Bank, you can meet needs as they come rather than wait for more budgetconvenient timing.

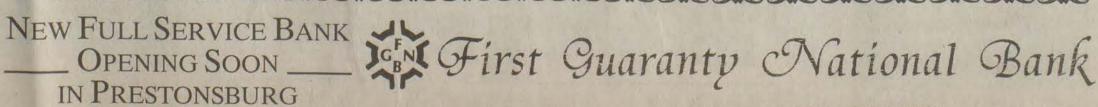

The quality of service at First Guaranty National Bank is not measured by the number of zeros attached to the requests. It is measured by our commitment to establish a lasting relationship with each customer.

NEW EASTERN QUARTERBACK CLUB...

The newly organized Eastern Quarterback Club is putting together a football program that will be offered at each Allen Central home game. The program will have pictures of the team, cheerleaders, majorettes and senior football players plus some other interesting items. Be sure to pick up a copy at the next game

STRIKE...STRIKE...STRIKE... Strikes in athletics belong only in baseball. However, the current busdrivers' strike in Floyd County certainly has hampered the sporting events county wide. Football teams need transportation to out of county games and while most students are staying home from school, they are not being allowed to practice football. That being the case it has forced the cancellation of the Shelby Valley/Betsy Layne game and rightfully so.

With the dismissal of school all elementary athletics will automatically be canceled and there goes the grade school season down the drain. Athletics in Floyd County doesn't look too bright right now. And who is it that is on the short end of the strike - the students. No one considers them in any decisions. It is really a disgusting situation.

RIGHT BEAVER GRADE SCHOOL BASKETBALL CLASSIC...

Could very well be put on hold. The Classic is scheduled to be played starting Monday evening at Maytown and concluded next Saturday. However, the cancellation of school could sound the postponement of the Classic. If school is resumed Monday, then the Classic will go on as scheduled as of now

It certainly has been a confused week around the county. Answers are needed but no one has the answers. Any decision that needs to be made has to come from the county principals. School policy has always been that if there is no school the grade schools don't participate and on the high school level the decision is in the hand of the school principals who can't make a decision until they confer with others in the school administration. So, finding answers to several questions hasn't been easy this week. I certainly hope things improve next week. I'm too old to keep confused too long. Let's get things back to normal around the county and get on with school and all the other scheduled activities. It will make it so much easier for

I STAND CORRECTED... Martin's very own Roy Ratliff called me as I was about to leave my office Wednesday evening just to tell me that Ed Bailey hailed from Strawberry Plains, Tennessee, and not Strawberry Plains, North Carolina. He's right, Bailey was from Tennessee. Roy said that he remembers the old '55 Reds but had forgotten about Walt Dropo playing first base for the Reds. We tried to figure out some of the players that played third base for Birdie Tebbetts Reds. Tony Keathley followed them about as close as anyone but where's Tony? Can anyone out there remember who played third base for the Reds in the early and mid '50's? Call and let me know.

PIRATES, PANTHERS AT OR NEAR THE TOP...

The Pikeville Panthers are the number one rated football team in Class A play according to the Kentucky Associated Press polls. The Panthers are a perfect 3-0 and a good choice to return the state Class A title to Pike County again.

The Belfry Pirates holds the number two spot in triple-A only behind Warren Central. The Pirates are a young football team but very talented. Coach Phillip Haywood has his team near the top in the polls and many will tell you they feel that Belfry is the number one 3-A team.

Prediction: Look Prestonsburg to be one of the top state 2-A schools in the next two years. This team is loaded with very young talent that are very impressive on the grid iron.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports even to the bus drivers!

Wheelwright Junior Varsity Lose At Johns Creek 38-0

At the Johns Creek football field Monday evening Johns Creek's junior varsity jumped out to an 8-0 lead enroute to an easy 38-0 win over the visiting Wheelwright Trojans.

The junior Bearcats scored the only touchdown they needed in the first quarter. Johns Creek took over the football, after the Trojans were forced to punt, on their own 48 yard line. Johns Creek marched 52 yards on nine plays as quarterback Jason K. Taylor, facing a fourth-and-three situation, raced in from 14 yards out for the touchdown. Taylor hit Robert Collins with the conversion pass to make it 8-0.

In the second period, with 3:18 remaining, Taylor completed a pass to Hamilton Harris from 39 yards out for the second TD for the Bearcats. The conversion run failed. Very late in the period with 56 seconds remaining, Stacey Bevins carried the football into the end zone and Taylor passed to Harris for the conversion as the first half ended with the Bearcats on top 22-0.

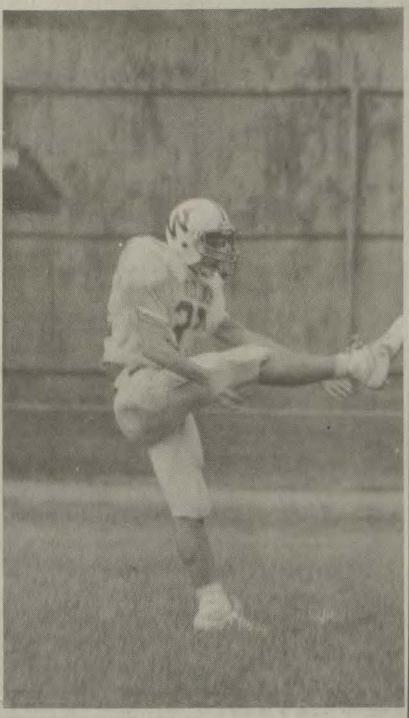

Trojan quarterback Justin Ray was injured in the second period and was carried to the sidelines. Arnold Adams, a running back, got his first chance to call the signals for the junior Trojans.

Neither team could score in the third quarter. In the fourth period, it was still all Johns Creek as Hamilton Harris showed what he could do at the quarterback slot. Harris connected up with Taylor on a 4 yard pass play for a touchdown. Harris, on a keeper, ran the conversion play. Johns Creek added their final score in the fourth period when Collins galloped 58 yards for a touchdown and Jerry Thacker ran the extra points.

The closest the Trojans came to scoring was early in the third quarter when they moved the football to the Johns Creek 8-yard line. The drive ended when the Trojans fumbled the

Fans Hoping For '77 Repeat As Trojans Host Pikeville Tonight

The Wheelwright Trojan fans are hoping for a repeat of the 1977 football season when their team traveled to Pike County to upset a strong Pikeville team. If the upset doesn't come then the Trojan fans will not panic for their team has already had a better season than they have experienced for some time.

"The Phelps game had me all nervous," said the father of John Caudill. "I just couldn't stand it when they (Phelps) got down on the 3 yard line and almost scored."

So it has been for the Trojan faithful as their very young Wheelwright Trojans have given them something to cheer about early in the season. But cheering tonight might be hard to do as the Trojans will face one of the top Class A teams in the state of Kentucky. The game, originally scheduled to be played at Pikeville, has been change and will take place at Brackett Field in Wheelwright. The game will get underway at 8 p.m.

"We'll just have to go to their place next year," said Donnie Daniels of the change. The game is an important District game and cancelling it would have created some problems.

"We want to play the game," said Wheelwright Principal Skip Berkheimer, "Donnie and the players want to play it. Even though we are playing a tough team we still want to win or lose on the football field."

The game came under consideration to be postponed until September 30 when the two teams could get together in a rescheduled game. But that would have put the game on a Monday night. The school bus drivers strike has forced the change in scheduling and Pikeville administrators agreed to make the trip to Wheelwright. Pikeville, considered by many to be the best single A school in the state, is very talented from top to bottom. J.J. Bailey is as good as they come when carrying the football. Bailey had 10 carries in a limited role Friday night against Allen Central in piling up 230 yards rushing. Bailey is them run over us so we will have to quick and a strong runner.

Wheelwright, Pikeville Game Site Change To Brackett Field

Friday, September 20, 1991 B1

The Wheelwright/Pikeville football game that was originally scheduled to be played tonight at Pikeville has been changed to take place at the Wheelwright football field (Brackett Field). The change comes in light of the school bus drivers strike. Pikeville agreed to change the site with Wheelwright going to Pikeville next year. The game is a district game and will be played tonight at 8 p.m. at Wheelwright.

perfect 14 for 14 in the passing department against the Rebels has to keep any defense against Pikeville

Wheelwright, who has been in all three games they have played in this season, will be pressed to stop the Panthers on the ground and in the air. The Trojans have been a good defensive team (with the exceptions of the first quarter against Johns Creek). Marty Tackett, Eddie Shelton, Ryan Johnson, Chuck Hutton and Justin Ray lead the Trojans on the defensive side of the football.

The secondary of Arnold Adams, Steven Shelton and Mutu Oden will have to be quick to cover the Panthers receivers. Murray Garvin has to be one of the best in single A. Murray had seven receptions against Allen Central for 111 yards. Garvin hauled down two passes for touchdowns.

Trojan coach Donnie Daniels knows what lies ahead for his young team and hopes none of the players gets hurt in the contest.

"I just want us to play good against Pikeville," said Daniels, "and we don't want anyone to get hurt. We will play a lot of man-to-man and put eight on the ball on every down.

'We're too small of a team to let come off the ball quick and hard."

It Has Been A Typical Season For Belfry As Haywood's Pirates Invade Tonight

his team rolling early and stands at 3-0 on the season after an impressive 36-0 setback of Breathitt County last Friday night.

The Pirates come into the city tonight as one of the top triple-A schools in the state, in spite of not being rated in the polls. It is a very young Belfry team that has played with a lot of heart in the first three games of the season.

Senior tightend Randy Martin (6-0, 226) leads the Pirates on offense and he is the leading receiver for the Pirates. Senior Shawn Hager (5-10, 163), who did not take a snap last year at quarterback, will call the signals tonight against Prestonsburg.

The Blackcats are still smarting from the 23-19 loss to Whitesburg last Friday and will be looking for that first victory of the '91 season. The Cats are 0-3 in three starts but showed a lot of improvement against Whitesburg. A break down in the secondary for the Blackcats could make them suspect in tonight's game even though the Pirates are more of a mix it up with the pass. When you look at the stats from the Pirates game against Breathitt County last week you can easily see that Belfry is definitely a balanced team. Belfry carried the football 36 times for 277 yards rushing. The ground game was engineered by the running of Kevin Varney (94 yards) and Chris Phillips (80 yards). Belfry got 70 yards through the air in a two-for-three night from Hager.

and the Pirates can play it.

Prestonsburg, on the other hand, struggled big time in games one and two but, showed they are a talented ball club that can also put some points on the board, in game three. The Blackcats hadn't scored this season until Garza's second quarter touchdown. Prestonsburg's defense held the ground game of Whitesburg well running team but have been known to but there was a let down in the corner's

The duo of Garza and John Goble accounted for the Blackcats 212 yards rushing against Whitesburg. If the Cats can ever regulate their passing game with the running style of Goble and Garza they could be very competitive. Tucker can throw the football but has had problems connecting with John Clark and Jason Crisp at the end slot.

A win here for Prestonsburg is a must for the sake of building confidence in a team that is rich in football tradition. The Blackcats want momentum to change and an outing like at Whitesburg,, plus some better down field coverage, and it could be a good game. Both teams are young and moral victories don't count now.

Shelby Valley/ Betsy Layne Football Game Canceled: To Be Rescheduled

The Betsy Layne High School Athletic Director Junior Newsome announced that the scheduled football game between Shelby Valley and Betsy Layne for tonight has been postponed and the game will be rescheduled if it has any bearing on final district standings.

I also think the bus drivers need to be represented by the union, as a union member they will have job security and better working conditions that means more safety for our kids.

For example: If the driver thinks that his bus is unsafe to drive, he won't be afraid to refuse to drive it until it is fixed, afraid that he or she will be fired, it's not that easy to fire a union member.

With job security and better working conditions the drivers will be happier and better satisfied, a person that is happy with his job does a better job and that means more safety for our kids, I'm sure every parent in the county wants our kids to be as safe as possible.

Defending Champ Returns To Bank One Senior Golf Classic

All eyes will be on a down home "old country boy" at next week's Bank One Senior Golf Classic.

Rives McBee, the 52-year-old Texan who is finally getting a tasty slice of Senior Tour pie, will be back to defend his back-to-back wins at Lexington's Senior Classic.

McBee won the tournament in 1989 and 1990, making him the first two-time winner in the event's eight year history. McBee shot an impressive 66-67-68 on the new Kearney Hill Links to capture the third Senior PGA TOUR event of his career.

The win was not only historical for the Lexington tourney but was somewhat of a milestone in McBee's personal history.

"Winning in Lexington last year was the tournament that gave me confidence," McBee said. "That let me know that I was good enough to belong out here. And that confidence carried over into this year too."

The win helped McBee move into the top 10 in the Vantage Cup individual competition and pushed him into the top ten moneymakers on the Senior Tour. His combined career earnings are now at more than $900,000, the lion's share of which

"To walk into a locker room and have Arnold Palmer call you 'Mr. Moneybags' is unbelievable," said McBee last year.

This year McBee hasn't done that well moneywise. So far he has earned a little over $107,000 on the circuit ranking him 43rd in earnings for the

With the exception of the 1966 Open, McBee hopped "rabbit" style around the Tour playing tournaments where he could qualify. The lack of wins and his strong commitment to his family pulled him home to Irving, Texas, where he took a job as club professional.

At the suggestion of Chi Chi Rodriguez, McBee gave the Senior Tour a try. After three unsuccessful attempts at Monday's qualifying, he was about to give up. His wife urged him to persist and he did.

He then qualified for the next five straight weeks. His fifth put him on the road to winning the Bank One Senior Golf Classic for the first time.

"The first win here really took the pressure off me," Rives said. "Being exempt has been a real relief." The victory also set history with
