Penny Pajel repeats as champion

Third time's a charm?

Penelope (Penny) Pajel has represented McDowell Elementary School for the last three years in the Floyd County Spelling Bee competition and again, as last year, is the Floyd County champion.

The 15-school, county-wide competition was held on Friday, February 7 at the Adams Middle School and according to Penny, was "tougher" than the previous two years.

Penny, the eighth-grade daughter of Dr. Percival and Mrs. Concepcion Pajel of McDowell, triumphed after approximately four hours by spelling correctly the words "tutorial" and "elastic."

"I think everybody studied and prepared for it more this year," Penny said. "I studied the fourth and fifth grade books, but we went beyond into the sixth grade speller. I feel really proud of myself that I was able to win again."

Penny's win was hard-fought against runner-up Monica Majmundar, sixth grade daughter of Dr. Gopal and Mrs. Mina Majmundar of Martin. Monica

"The governor was impressed with the project when we showed him the golf course model and detailed the plans," Stumbo said, "but I had no idea he would mention it specifically in his budget address."

Plans for the golf course originated in the 1990 session of Kentucky's General Assembly when Stumbo successfully secured $2.5 million to expand Jenny Wiley's existing ninehole course to an 18-hole layout.

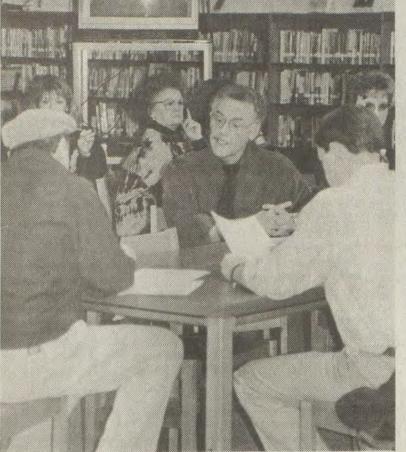

A more ambitious effort followed, however, and a feasibility study was commissioned on the possibilities of constructing a completely new course. Plans for that course were unveiled in November, 1991. The new course is targeted for construction on 500 acres of a stripmined mountaintop adjacent to Jenny Wiley State Park property. The cost of the 6,673 yard layout has been

Witnesses say in taped interview:

Man meant kill sheriff

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

A Floyd County man who allegedly pulled the trigger of an empty shotgun aimed at Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson was trying to kill him, according to witnesses in the house at the time of the January 25 incident.

Sheriff Thompson was answering a domestic dispute at the home of Greg Little at Water Gap January 25, who was later charged with attempted murder for allegedly firing a shotgun pointed at Thompson. Little was arrested and charged with attempted murder, fourth degree assault, first degree wanton endangerment and two counts of terroristic threatening.

Taped statements made by witnesses to the incident were released by Thompson Monday in response to an article in Monday's Lexington-Herald Leader. The article included statements made by the accused, Greg Little, who said he was "shucking" the shotgun to make sure it was empty. The article also reported the FBI was investigating a complaint made by Little that he was repeatedly hit in the groin area with a flashlight by the sheriff.

The Times was allowed to hear two taped statements Monday made by Little's wife, Regina, and Vella Garrett that were made approximately two hours after the incident. The two Reynolds admitted Tuesday that women were in the house at the time

Both women said Little came back into the house after "snapping" the unloaded gun at Thompson and was hunting for the shells for his gun.

"What have you done with my shells," Garrett said Little told them. "Then he raised the gun like he was going to hit me with it. He didn't know the gun was empty. If you had

Homecoming set for one of the last returning vets

A homecoming is planned for Buford Inmon, one of Floyd County's last "Saudi soldiers" returning home on leave.

Inmon, who stayed in Saudi Arabia to assist with the closing of military bases and was then rotated back to his former base in Germany, will be given a sheriff's escort from Salyersville into Prestonsburg today, Wednesday. He will then be escorted through Martin, Thursday around 2:30

A welcome home celebration will be held Saturday from 2-5 p.m. in the AmVets building at Martin. The celebration is open to the public, but his mother, Jo Inmon of Prestonsburg, especially urges all those children or adults who wrote letters to him, to please attend.

Council voices support for racing project:

City nears end of pay rate impasse

By Dodie Webb Staff Writer.

The Prestonsburg City Council apparently is closer to resolving a salary dispute between city employees that has been at issue for most of the last two years.

In a business-as-usual meeting Monday night, Mayor Ann Latta and the city council presented a proposal that could possibly settle the on-going salary dispute with the city's firefighters, who contend that their rate of pay and actual pay should be more equal to that of the city police.

The proposal, designed and developed by the city's personnel committee during a special February 6 meeting, is one step in a "good faith effort to attempt to close the gaps" in the salary dispute, according to councilman George P. Archer's report of the special meeting.

The results (taken from the proposal report prepared by Archer) are as follows:

After figures are run to see actual cost and how they, as well as other department figures fit the plan budget, the following will be proposed...

The fire department should go to a 40-hour work week; four additional firefighters should be hired; built-in overtime should be eliminated and current annual salaries should be divided over a (yearlong) period to start and (council) hopes are high that determine a new higher hourly wage.

After the system is revamped, the proposal continues, fine tuning could breaking the budget.

The proposal also said that a "dollar for dollar/penny for penny guarantee was not then, or (is not) now, possible."

The firefighters present at the chief. committee meeting said that the plan was fair, and Archer, chairman of the personnel committee, took the statement as a vote of confidence.

"We want to be fair," Archer said Monday, adding that the proposal is a the situation will be settled soon. In other business, council:

Wayland bridge repairs needed

A bridge located in Wayland has been an on-going concern of the city council and Mayor Hobert Webb for some time, because of a crushed guard rail and the consistant pile-up of garbage and brush beneath the structure, however, short-falls in the city's budget have prevented the needed repair work. Efforts by the Wayland city council to eliminate the problems continue, but solutions to the problem have not as yet materialized, Webb said during the February council meeting. Councilman Curtis Tufts, whose home is located near the structure, examined the bridge's condition recently following the council meeting. (Photo by Dodie Webb)

Jones' proposal to return more coal tax dollars

by Scott Perry Times Editor

Something is better than nothing, especially when nothing is expected.

Given the state of the state's finances, nothing was exactly what many expected of a proposal to up the return of coal severance taxes to coal counties during the first year or two of Governor Brereton Jones' fouryear term.

But in his budget address last Thursday, Jones proposed to increase the take-home on coal severance taxes from 12 to 15 percent next year and then to 18 percent in fiscal 1994.

Under his plan, coal counties would continue to receive unrestricted use of the 12 percent return while additional funds would be pooled to underwrite specific economic development projects.

An estimated $6 million would go into that pool next year and another $13 million would be added in fiscal

While Jones' proposal is a far cry from the 50 percent return he pledged during his campaign, the governor has indicated that he is still committed to fulfilling that promise by the end of his term.

told that details of the probe would not be made available to the FCEA. OEA investigators Phil Austin and Steve Yater were in Prestonsburg Tuesday, but declined comment on Reynold's accusations.

Dr. Penney Sanders said Monday, however, that the investigation was not complete in Floyd County.

Under state law, investigations of alleged criminal activities are not open to public scrutiny until final disposition of the case.

Reynolds said Tuesday that the FCEA had decided to "take two courses of action" in connection with the OEA probe, including an official Open Records request for the conclusions of the local investigation. Reynolds said state legislators would also be contacted "about the concerns that we have regarding the investigation in Floyd County and the implications it has for the future of the reform act here in Kentucky."

Reynolds said the FCEA would meet Thursday with legislative leaders in Frankfort to present the group's concerns.

Floyd County Coroner Roger freshly taped. Nelson held an inquest last Thursday to let a six-member jury determine the cause of death of Delmer Castle, 38, who died December 7 at a Knott County mine.

Nelson told the jurors that an autopsy failed to determine the cause of death and the issue to be decided was whether Castle died from a heart attack or by electrocution. Nelson told the jury their verdict would be sealed for two weeks.

The verdict, however, was released Thursday afternoon after the jury ruled Castle died of a heart attack that was work related.

Castle was a loader operator at the Knott/Floyd Coal Company near Jones Fork in Knott County. Castle was found by co-workers lying outside his loader clutching his chest, apparently in severe pain. He was taken to McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital and was pronounced dead on arrival.

Debate centered on whether or not Castle could have come in contact with a 480-volt power line that provided the energy to operate the loader. Most witnesses testified that Castle could not have come in contact with

Co-workers and company vice president Gary Johnson testified Castle was a hard worker and had been ill prior to his death.

State Mines and Minerals inspector Tracy Stumbo testified that the mine death scene matched witnesses' account of Castle's death. Stumbo said when inspectors revisited the scene the following Monday, he noticed a section of a power cable was Eastern Kentucky may have had a glimpse last week of the silver lining on the dark clouds that have become the state's fiscal outlook as Governor Brereton Jones outyears.

The good news:

 Jones proposes to increase the share of coal taxes returned to coal counties by three percent next year and another three percent the next. The extra cut will be pooled for economic development.

 The governor proposes to float a $100 million bond issue to upgrade state parks, specifically mentioning the construction of a new golf course at Jenny Wiley

 Jones plans to build regional economic development offices in Eastern and Western Kentucky to help promote job development in those areas.

Editor:

We're writing you this letter concerning a very serious problem, not just here in Floyd County but world-

The problem is pet over-population and it's becoming more and more enough homes for all of them. prevalent every day.

The Floyd County Animal Shelter receives several phone calls daily from people wanting to know if we can take their unwanted animals. These animals were either dumped on them by someone or they are the result of senseless breeding of their own dogs or cats. Some people actually let their pets have babies just so their kids can experience birth.

What if their kids have to experience some of the terrible conditions that these babies end up in when they come through our door. Maybe, after reading this letter they will realize what this type of thinking results in.

Picture in your mind a box of cute little puppies, Oh, how sweet. Well there's nothing cute or sweet about some idiot setting out a box of puppies on a blacktop highway in nearly 100° weather and the blacktop getting so hot that it melted into the bottom of the box and stuck to the puppies little feet and burned them.

Now picture a little kitten searching for food on a garbage dump until a lady stops, picks up the kitten and brings it to us, happy ending, right? Not if you can picture this little kitten with no skin on its feet or tail because maggots have eaten away the skin that once covered those parts and now the bones are fully exposed. We have had animals brought in so badly abused or neglected that they trust no one. But eventually they trust us because we show them more love and attention than their owners ever

Dogs have come in with their eyes gouged out, or their backs, legs or hips broken or crushed. Some have had acid or scalding hot water poured on them, burned, cut or shot full of buckshot because they were looking for food in someones trash can.

In cases like these almost nothing can save them, therefore putting them to sleep is the only answer. Sick or injured animals aren't the only ones put to sleep, sadly, perfectly healthy animals are euthanized because of pet overpopulation.

Tragic cases like these would be almost unheard of, if all responsible pet owners had their pet spayed or neutered. This routine and inexpensive surgery can save thousands of lives by preventing millions of new

The following statistics were provided by the Humane Society of the United State of America. In six short years, one female dog and its offspring can be the source of 67,000 puppies. in seven years, one female cat and its young can produce 420,000

Every day more than 12,000 dogs, cats, puppies, and kittens are left in animal shelters around the country, sadly, nearly 8,000,000 of those have to be euthanized because there aren't

If people let their pets run loose upspayed or unneutered they will breed and give birth year after year, because, unlike people, animals don't know any better. But you do. We can help reduce this problem but only with your help and cooperation and if you truly are concerned about this problem then you'll make the decision to have your pet spayed or neu-

This poem is dedicated to one of our favorite teachers, Mrs. Blackburn, at Allen Elementary School, who has been sick.

There is a person we all know And we've all come to love A gentle, warm, and loving soul Sent down from God above.

She's taught us all so very much Of culture, art, and poise She's really meant the world To all us girls and boys.

As for disappointing her We all have done our part So this goes out to you, Mrs. B To you, straight from the heart.

You've always been there for us Whatever we might need Perfection is a flower And you its only seed.

We couldn't go on without you We need you here beside us We need you in all you wisdom To be here and to guide us.

It's hard to love a teacher And bestow in them your trust But loving you, Mrs. Blackburn Comes so easy to all of us.

We want you to be proud And we think it's time you knew God has blessed us with a gift: That gift was knowing you.

We love you, Mrs. Blackburn.

VISITING WITH THE COM-MONWEALTH

The 102nd Congress reconvened in Washington this week, with several important issues already being considered. Although I am anxious to tackle crucial issues such as health care and the economy, I have just completed what is traditionally my favorite time of year-the period between sessions when I travel across the state. I have spent the past several weeks traveling from one end of Kentucky to the other, talking with business leaders, students and civic organizations about their concerns.

During the past few weeks, I have met with business leaders in Ashland, Hawesville, Owensboro, Henderson, Morganfield, Louisville, Lexington, Georgetown, Radcliff, Paducah, Owingsville, Grayson, Somerset, Campbellsville and Richmond to discuss their concerns about the economy. In these meetings, I encouraged those in Kentucky's business community to be upbeat about the economy. Not only was I able to sit down and talk with many of Kentucky's business leaders, I also visited several Kentucky plants and talked with employees. I truly enjoyed all of these meetings, and came back to Washington with new insight into the concerns of both employers and employees across the Commonwealth.

I also visited twelve Kentucky schools during January and talked with students of all ages about issues which concern them. During the course of these meetings, I was flooded with questions about the economy, health care, the federal deficit, foreign aid, and my role as a U.S. Senator. It was truly refreshing to see our young people taking such an interest in current affairs, and in even the most complicated national and international issues. Since 1989, 1 have visited more than 200 schools in the state, and look forward to meeting with students during upcoming trips across Kentucky.

My recent trip across the state also included several meetings with state and local officials. While in Frankfort, I talked with city officials about the Frankfort Flood Control Project, and also met with newly-inaugurated state leaders. In addition, I addressed the Republican members of the state legislature about my opposition to a Democratic campaign finance reform plan. In Hardin County, I talked with Ft. Knox officials about their concerns regarding the military base there. In western Kentucky, I met with about 60 members of the Paducah Association of Life Underwriters to discuss my views about health care

The special significance of February 12 is generally ignored in our day. Lincoln's birthday has been absorbed by an empty holiday known as President's Day. That is rather unfortunate because it denigrates the contribution made by Lincoln and it elevates all former presidents to a lofty status that few deserve.

Increasingly, one hears the complaint that it is impossible to better one's position in society. A multitude of of excuses are given for quitting the fight and resigning oneself to insignificance. I can think of no circumstance less promising than being born in a small log house to a family of frontier farmers. The Lincoln family was not poor in relation to their neighbors, but neither were truly a self-educated man who rose to prominence by using native intelligence and industry.

Lincoln's life was not without difficulty. His mother died when he was a boy. He was alienated from his father during most of his adult life. Two of his four sons died at a young age. His extremely emotional wife was sometimes given to wild shopping sprees. He twice failed to win election to the U.S. Senate. Lincoln was also subject to periods of mental depression. Fortunately, he was able to overcome his difficulties and continue his political career.

When Lincoln was inaugurated as president in 1861, few believed that he could effectively lead a nation torn by internal dissent. The secession of the states of the Deep South was already a reality. Having only two years of national political experience to draw upon, Lincoln frequently broke with tradition and did what he thought best.

Lincoln's major objective was the preservation of the Union. He believed that by preserving it, he was preserving the best model for a liberal democracy that the world had ever known. In order to achieve his goal, he greatly increased the powers of the federal government, approved the temporary suppression of some civil liberties, and put an end to the American system of slavery. Few saw greatness in Lincoln prior to his elevation to the presidency. Fewer still praised him while he was in office. Yet within a decade after his death, no one could deny his accom-

But if the goals we set are worthy, we have a personal responsibility to see them through. There are things worth struggling for. It is still possible to achieve a better way of life. Our national problems pale when compared with the dark sin of slavery or the specter of disunion. Lincoln's birthday should be a celebration of Lincoln's spirit of determination, a spirit that infected an entire people. He was an ordinary man who inspired ordinary people to do extraordinary things. In the process, he saved a nation. We can certainly use a bit of that spirit in our own day.

Good and Bad in the President's Budget Proposal

For several days now, I have been carefully going through the budget proposal President Bush sent to Congress - all 1,700 pages of it to see how it will affect southeastern Kentucky.

Much of what I am finding is good. But the massive budget document does contain some disappointments, and I will fight to get them changed.

First, and above all, I am pleased that the President agreed in both his budget and State of the Union address to a 13-week extension in unemployment benefits.

This is good news for the laid off miners and other workers in the Fifth Congressional District who have lost jobs through no fault of their own. Our people need help, and they need it now. So the added benefits will keep them going a while longer as we work to replace the jobs they lost.

I am also encouraged by the 27 percent increase proposed for the Head Start children's program, one of the most successful federal programs in recent decades. Spending on Head Start would increase by $600

There are other noteworthy increases to benefit our people: a $2.2 billion increase in spending to educate disadvantaged children, $1 billion more for veterans' health care, a $412 million increase for child nutrition programs including school breakfasts and lunches, and an increase of $240 million in the program to feed women, infants and children, to name

I am also pleased that the President wants to put $500 million more into clean coal technology, so that we can have stable and expanded markets for one of the four most abundant Kentucky resources. That can only help to put more of our people back to work.

The decision to speed up work on highways, bridges and other planned federal projects should also put more people back to work, and his economic growth package - including a $5,000 tax credit for first time home buyers, a tax credit for families with young children, and the 15 percent investment tax allowance I've been supporting to encourage mining companies, businesses and industries to expand — are positive steps.

Still, I don't agree with all of the President's recommendations.

For example, as usual, his budget doesn't include money for continued work on our flood projects at Harlan and Barbourville. This is nothing new; the administration budget has never funded these programs. I have had to insert money for these as the budgets went through Congress. Last year, for example, I was able to get $15 million for the diversion tunnels at Harlan and $5.6 million for the floodwall and levee at Barbourville.

I will also fight to fully fund the Appalachian Regional Commission, support the Rural Abandoned Mine Land Program and continue funding of emergency programs in the Office of Surface Mining. We depend on these highly successful reclamation programs in Kentucky, and I will not stand idly by while they are eliminated or rendered ineffective.

We have to remember, though, that the President's budget is only a proposal. As the old saying goes: The President proposes, the Congress

Industry awards presented to local underwriters

Underwriters recently honored outstanding life and health insurance agents with the following industry awards: The National Quality Award, The National Sale Achievement Award, and the Health Insurance Quality Award in a ceremony held recently at the Holiday Inn in Hazard.

The National Quality Award, presented to five members, was established in 1944 by the National Association of Life underwriters and the Life Insurance Marketing Research Association. To qualify, a professional engaged in life underwriting must have sold a stipulated number of life insurance policies over a thirteen month period, of which 90 percent are still in force. The award honors dedicated agents who persist in offering products that meet their clients long term insurance needs.

The following are recipients of the National Quality Award: Curtis Bridgemen, Karen Marcum, Darrell Preston, Terry Preston and Paul

The National Sales Achievement Award was received by 14 members of the BSALU. NALU sponsors this award to recognize life underwriters who are responsible for the protection of a large number of individuals and families through the sale of life insurance. Slone escapes blaze as fire engulfs home

by Janice Shepherd Staff Writer

An Estill man barely escaped the inferno of his home Sunday evening when he was awakened by a burning throw rug beside the bed where he was sleeping.

The blaze came from the kitchen into the area where South Slone had fallen asleep, said Doug Harvey, captain of the Wayland Volunteer Fire Department. Slone dashed from the home and was uninjured, Harvey

A neighbor spotted the fire and called the fire department around 12:45 p.m. Firefighters, who were on the scene within minutes after the call, found the house totally engulfed in flames and a structure located about 20 feet away seriously threatened by the blaze. Thirteen firefighters used two pumper trucks for the next two hours to save the nearby structure. Slone's home, which he rented from James Craft, was destroyed by the east Floyd County Volunteer Fire Department.

The fire was blazing when neighbors spotted it and doused the flames with buckets of water and water hoses. When firefighters arrived on the scene, Gullett said, neighbors had it have to get our lines (hose) down," said Gullett.

The fire destroyed one wall, causing approximately $1,000 to $2,000 worth of damage to the home where Rosa Lee Blocker lived alone, Gullett said.

Wheelwright firefighters also responded to the call, but also found the fire extinguished when they arrived.

A fire in Prestonsburg Monday was brought under control almost at its inception. Carl Smith, manager, and Roger Ward, field technician of Cash Register, Inc. (CRI), smelled smoke around 1:45 p.m. and called the Prestonsburg Fire Department.

A search of the premises revealed that a ceiling furnace had flashed out on boards. Firefighters quickly extinguished the fire.

Aileen Simons, currently a stu-7th grade. She was married at the age of 13 and had 5 children by the age of 21. She has had careers as a waitress,

"I always wanted to go back to school, but I couldn't afford to give up employment, " says Aileen .

An automobile accident changed her life. She was no longer able to work in an art studio; a back injury prohibited commercial art. Since she was becoming more depressed by the day, her daughter and a friend encouraged her to come to PCC and work on her GED. Mrs. Thomas Carroll, her instructor, decided that her level of self-taught knowledge was high enough for her to take the GED test. She passed the test and went on to score a 17 on the ACT.

After entering college courses, Aileen found that "the teachers at dent at Prestonsburg Community PCC encourage you to learn and to College, dropped out of school in the stay in school. When Dr. Barnette's wife praised my poetry, I was hooked."

Her grandfather, Morrell Slone, was poet and a chairmaker for Mrs. Alice Lloyd. She is also very proud of her great aunt, Verna Mae Slone, author of What My Heart Wants To Tell, and agrees with Verna Mae that the mountain people are the best.

Thompson refuted Little's account of the incident that appeared in the newspaper story.

"I don't like to try my cases in the press, but this article has forced me to do so," Thompson said Monday. "I think there's something wrong with the system when we arrest a felon convicted of a sex crime in Michigan who held two women at gunpoint and and then the sheriff's department is being tried by an article in the Lexington-Herald that reads like one out of the National Enquirer. We end up having to defend ourselves instead of being able to be glad that we helped these women and have gotten another criminal out of Floyd County. I will prove my innocence and his guilt.'

Monday's article also said that Little was advised by State Police Major Gary Rose to contact the FBI concerning the incident. Little also claimed that Rose was his first cousin.

On Monday, Rose called Little's statements "false" and denied that he had told Little to contact the FBI.

"I am no relation to that man," Rose said. "He called me at my home and told me he had left a message with the FBI and wanted me to put them in contact with each other. I told him if he left a message, the FBI would be contacting him."

Little was released from Highlands Regional Medical Center Thursday after he was admitted and treated for a groin injury.

Sheriff's deputies discover illegal drugs in David home

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

Floyd County sheriff's deputies arrested four men Sunday night when they discovered a small quantity of drugs while attempting to serve an arrest warrant.

Bill Tom Shepherd, 40, and Billy Shepherd, 18, of Open Fork near David, Michael Crum, 18, of Martin and a 17-year-old juvenile were arrested by deputies at the home of Bill Tom Shepherd.

Officers were answering a complaint Sunday made by a neighbor who said someone was trying to steal his lawn mower. Deputies had been trying to locate Billy Shepherd to serve a warrant for theft by unlawful taking and was informed that Billy Shepherd was at Bill Shepherd's resi-

When officers arrived, Bill Shepherd told deputies Billy Shepherd was not at his residence, according to the sheriff's department. Billy Shepherd and the juvenile were found hiding in the back bedroom of the home and arrested. A search warrant was obtained for the residence on the initial charge against Billy Shepherd. Officers discovered approximately 60 pills laying on a table and approximately four ounces of marijuana under a mattress in another bedroom. Two rabbit skins were found on a table outside the residence.

Bill Tom Shepherd was charged with possession of marijuana, less than eight ounces; trafficking in a Schedule I narcotic; possession of drug paraphernalia and hunting out of season. Billy Shepherd was charged with theft by unlawful taking and fourth degree assault. Crum was charged with two counts of theft by unlawful taking and attempting to remove the serial number from a firearm. The three men remained lodged in the Floyd County Jail Tuesday. Studies find many are unaware of Social Security benefits for those under 62

There is more to Social Security than benefits for persons over 62 years-of-age. Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group has been researching the Social Security system and the benefits it provides since 1972. One finding is that, of the 50 million persons now collecting benefits, more than 15 million are under 62 and, surprisingly, the average age is only about 30.

Robert L. Berko, consumer writer and executive director of the Center, says the organization has been publishing and updating a complete list of available benefits (and how to qualify for them) for the past 18 years. The Guide offers consumers of all ages an awareness of the benefits they are entitled to under the latest laws The 12th update (a complete revision) is now available.

The book contains a form to get a copy of your Social Security account showing all credits to your account and an estimate of the amount you will get upon retirement or disability. Workers must check their Social Security accounts frequently since any errors more than three years old will not be corrected. Often, the study found, workers have had too much deducted from their wages and were as a retirement benefits, purchase of due a refund. In other cases, employers had not sent the correct amount to be credited to accounts. If you have records of the amount earnings and deductions, you will be credited with that money and the employer's share whether or not he ever sent the money

UK SENIORS TO BRING GAME TO PRESTONSBURG

All area Kentucky Wildcatfans will get a chance to see the three Eastern Kentucky players who play for the Cats. John Pelphrey, Richie Farmer and Deron Feldhaus, along with point guard Sean Woods will bring their act to the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse just after the conclusion of the NCAA tournament. No date has been set as of yet but the game will be played on a Saturday night.

Opposition for the UK seniors will include the likes of Jim Lemaster, Kyle Macy, Roger Harden, Louie Damper, Jack Givens and other former UK players. More on this later.

DISTRICT FANS IN TIZZY OVER TOURNAMENT SITE

Ask most of the fans in the 58th District and they will tell you that holding the 58th District tournament at McDowell is not a good idea. I am constantly asked by fans either by phone or at games if the tournament really is going to be held at McDowell. "What's the latest that you have heard" is the question being asked now.

If you think the tournament is not on the minds of the fans around here, you had better think twice. And many are concerned that it is even being considered to be held at McDowell.

The latest simply is that no decision has been made, yet. And according to those in charge a decision probably will not come until the conference schedule has been completed which will be Tuesday, February 18.

Some fans are talking of staying home and listening to the games on the radio rather than fight for a parking space and a seat. Said one radio announcer, maybe the radio crew will not be there either.

My good buddy, Jackie Osborne, a McDowell fan says, "Let them stay home if they want to, as long as we can get our fans in the gym." Now, Jackie.

Unsafe roads to the gym and other problems are fueling the boycottidea. Otherfans don't want to have to chance having to stand up during the tournament. Yet others say that the bands will take up most of the room. But I say to all of you who are concerned. Don't get so uptight about it until you find out where it might be. No one knows yet.

Says Tommy Pack, head girl's coach at Wheelwright: "If I'm coaching there and I want to have a chance to win the tournament and the home court advantage. then I would hold it at McDow-

Says brother Jackie, Wheelwright Trojan coach: "I'm afraid they may move it to Betsy Layne which means if Betsy Layne finishes fifth and us first, we will have to play Betsy Layne on their home court. I would rather play Betsy Layne at McDowell than have them to hold it at Betsy Layne.'

Says others, "We have four lane roads that lead to Prestonsburg, Allen Central and Betsy Layne that are much safer than traveling up Left Beaver."

More voices being heard say that "you can't see the game for so many cheerleaders along the base lines." Whoa, now!

If the tournament were to start tomorrow, McDowell would face Allen Central. McDowell doesn't necessarily want to face Allen Central on their home floor, so Prestonsburg could be the site of the tournament. But if it comes around to McDowell facing Prestonsburg (depending on how the conference finishes after Tuesday night), the tournament could be played at Allen Central. But I don't think I would count on that

According to McDowell coach Johnny Ray Turner, if the tournament were to be held at McDowell, split sessions could very well

The district tournament affords each team a new start and a new goal as the tournament approaches.

If some of the district teams are to be successful in this year's tournament, then certain players will have to continue or step forward and be the key to their team's success story.

With the district so open this year, no one can really carry a clear cut favorite's role. The number one team could just as easily be upset by the number five team as anyone else. Let's take a look at some of the Mike Allen has been playing great lately and must keep up his intensity level. In fact, the 6' 7" center should be able to crank it up a notch.

Bear watching for Allen Central is new point guard freshman Jeremy Hall. Hall has started the last three games for Allen Central after holding down a spot on the bench earlier in the season. Hall has perhaps, along with the improved play of Carl Watkins, been the reason for the Rebels playing better basketball. He has

Taylor sinks 10 consecutive free throws that "sink" Blackcats 66-60

Just how important is hitting your free throws in a basketball game? Coaches will tell you that it could mean the difference in losing or winning a ball game.

At the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse Friday night, Jason A. Taylor hit 10 consecutive foul shots within one minute to propel the Johns Creek Bearcats to a 66-60 non-conference win over the Prestonsburg Blackcats to spoil the Blackcats homecoming festivities. In fact, Johns Creek did not score a free throw in the final three minutes of the game. The last basket for the Bearcats came at the 3:09 mark when Chad Lyons hit a jumper in the lane. The final 12 points of the period were at the charity stripe.

Johns Creek was quick and their passing sharp, as they rolled out to a 50-40 lead early in the fourth quarter. Mental mistakes were costly for Prestonsburg as the Bearcats took advantage of some defensive breakdowns on the part of the Blackcats.

Prestonsburg regrouped after trailing by 10 points and were put on a run of their own. Cory Reitz hit three of five free throws to make it a 50-42 game. Jason Crisp was hit hard behind the three point circle and nailed two of three free throws. Aaron Tucker went to the charity stripe with 3:54 remaining and connected on two free throws and John Clark completed the rally with a circus layup, after stealing the ball, to close the margin to two points, 50-48. Lyons' jumper broke the dry spell for Eugene Lyons' ballclub. Lyons scored again and Taylor hit the first of his 10 straight free throws to pull the Bearcats back out front by eight, 56-48.

Tucker went to the basket for two points and the junior forward was fouled. Tucker completed the threepoint play, staying within five of Johns Creek, 56-51. Taylor and Clark exchanged two free throws each to keep the lead at five points. Taylor, with 1:09 remaining, again hit two free throws for a 60-53 game.

Clark drilled a three-pointer with 56 seconds remaining in the contest to make it a four point margin, 60-56. Twenty-two seconds later Joe Whitt hit a short jumper to close within two points, 60-58. After Taylor and Clark exchanged two free throws each to keep the margin at two, Prestonsburg (See Blackcats, B 3)

Rebels watch 12-point lead evaporate in loss to Pikeville be the answer. The girls would play on Monday and Tuesday nights with the boys playing Wednesday and Thursday nights. Semifinals would be played on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon with the championship games played Saturday night.

Right now, no one knows what is going to happen and everyone will remain in the dark until later next week - maybe. Someone suggested playing it at the Adams Middle School. Now come on! What will the people at Allen say.

Jeff Meek of WXKZ said that it would benefit our local teams if the tournament was held at Allen Central since the 15th Regional tournament will be held there. "That would give our teams some extra time in getting used to the new floor," he said. He has a point. Our teams are going to need all the advantage they can get.

I don't know where it will be held, but this I do know, it will be one of the best district tournaments we have had since the 1989-90 season. I am certainly looking forward to it. We should see some good basketball and I hope that everyone will get behind their team and support them all the way. After it is over, whoever wins, all Floyd County fans will support the four teams that advance on to regional

"I feel, if this team realizes they need to take care of the basketball and cut down on their unforced turnovers, we could be a good ball club," stated Turner."

While Matt Johnson was held to three points in the game, he was a work horse on the boards and again on defense. Johnson had six rebounds in the game and made six steals. He also passed for six assists.

"Matt's the type of player he doesn't care who does the scoring," said Turner of his standout forward. "Matt is another hard worker when he plays."

Cook, in scoring 16 points, also had six assists, all coming the second half when he did not score. Hopkins had four steals on defense to go with his 10 points.

"I'm really pleased with the way Doug has been playing," said Turner of his two guard. "This is a good ball team and we have a good group of players. Practice is fun again. The games are fun once again. We have 12 players who want to play. Everybody is concerned about one another. We have good chemistry on the team

Stanley finished with seven points for McDowell. Alan Joe Moore tossed in four. Both Chris Hamilton and Ryan Hamilton scored two each.

Shane Stines led the Pirates with 12 points. Phipps added 11 and Craft had nine.

McDowell (13-13) will host the Prestonsburg Blackcats Friday night in a big conference shoot out. The "Devil's Den" will be a hot place Friday night and it will probably be standing room only. Prestonsburg is currently 4-2 in the conference with McDowell running at 3-3. A McDowell victory would put the Daredevils in a tie for second place. A Prestonsburg victory would assure them of no less than second place and keep them close to the front-running Wheelwright Trojans and a showdown scheduled for February 18 at. Prestonsburg.

Reed still out...

Drastic second quarter finds Lady Blackcats with loss to Sheldon Clark would rather just forget how they performed in the second period of their game with Sheldon Clark Saturday night. Prestonsburg could only score two points in the period as they saw the Lady Cardinals roll to a 58-42 win in the non-conference outing. The hot shooting Jeannie Kirk tossed in 19 points and Jackie Harless added 10 points to lead the top regionally ranked Lady Card team.

The second quarter really was a mystery for both ballclubs. Prestonsburg, which has a ton of talent, managed only the two points that 6' 1" center Melissa Bailey scored. But had it not been for the free throw shooting of the Lady Cards, they would have been in the same situation. The only field goal Sheldon Clark could manage was a basket by Kirk. However, Sheldon Clark shot eight free throws in the period and connected on all eight that gave them a 31-16 halftime lead.

Despite having their scoring woes in the second quarter, Prestonsburg was very much in the game as they trailed 37-19 early in the third period. A 9-0 spurt by coach Bridget Clay's ballclub cut the lead down to nine points, 37-28. Stephanie Music, who

The Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats had 10 points for Prestonsburg, hit a three-pointer, her second of the game, and Bailey scored on back-to-back baskets followed by Music's basket that made it a 37-28 game. Prestonsburg trailed by 10 points, 40-30, going into the final period.

Sheldon Clark managed to pull out to a commanding 52-36 lead before winning by the final 58-42

Bailey topped Prestonsburg in scoring with 18 points with Music adding 10. Carolyn Reffitt tossed in eight points hitting two three-point-

Prestonsburg played their second game without starting two guard Amy Reed, who is out with an ankle injury. Raquel Cain and Christy Little had four and two points respectively.

Stephanie Blackburn scored eight or Sheldon Clark and Mandy Horn had five.

Prestonsburg (11-6) will try to strengthen their hold on second place in the Floyd County conference when they face the on-coming McDowell Lady Daredevils Friday night at McDowell. Both teams, along with Betsy Layne, are currently tied for second place in the conference with turned the ball over and fouled Keith Hatfield with 23 seconds remaining. Hatfield missed the free throw with Prestonsburg rebounding the ball. But again, the Blackcats could not convert the possession into points. Taylor, with seven seconds showing, hit his ninth and tenth free throws to give Johns Creek a four point cushion with just seven seconds on the clock. Shawn Thacker scored the final two points on two charity tosses.

Prestonsburg grabbed an early 2-0 lead when Prestonsburg's 6' 8" center, Chris Burke, found an open lane to the basket and slam-dunked the ball to the roar of the large crowd on hand for the homecoming game. After Lyons tied the game with a post-up basket, Prestonsburg ran off six unanswered points to take a 8-2 lead. Clark hit back-to-back baskets and Burke scored on a short jumper. Clark's three-pointer made it 11-2 with less than three minutes remain-

Johns Creek ran off the next six points on two baskets by Doug Blackburn and a field goal by Dale Riggs to pull to within three, 11-8. Joe Whitt hita base line jumper for Prestonsburg and Shannon Ratliff scored before the horn. Prestonsburg held a 13-10 first quarter lead.

Opening second quarter baskets by Thacker and Taylor erased the three-point deficit and gave Johns Creek their first lead of the game at 14-13. However, the lead was shortlived as Prestonsburg got a trey from Clark and a basket by Jason Crisp to take a 18-14 advantage.

Johns Creek tied the game at 20-20 on a basket by Lyons and again it was tied at 22-22. Chris Gannon gave the Bearcats a short 24-22 lead before Crisp took a pass from Aaron Tucker for an easy basket down low. Two three-pointers and two field goals in a 10-1 run for Johns Creek gave the Bearcats the lead at the half, 34-25.

Prestonsburg fell behind by eight points, 42-34, in the third period only to rally to within one point, 42-39, with 2:44 showing on the clock. The Bearcats ran off the final five points of the quarter for a 48-39 third quarter lead.

Clark led all scorers with 25 points, hitting three three-pointers in the game. The scoring for Prestonsburg fell off drastically after that as Burke tossed in nine points; Tucker added

It was a balanced scoring ledger for the Bearcats in running their overall record to 12-7 on the season. Taylor led Johns Creek with 18 points hitting 10 of 10 from the charity stripe. Taylor is the floor leader for the Bearcats and very quick. Lyons finished with 13 points before fouling out. Chris Gannon netted 12 points

There is no doubt about it, Harold Johnson will have to be the catalyst for the Trojans. Coach Jackie Pack has stated the Trojans are not a one have trouble convincing 58th District basketball fans that as goes Johnson so goes the Trojans.

Wheelwright has the best point guard in the district in Layne Bailey.

Lucas hit a three-pointer with 33 seconds left in overtime to pull within six points, but Lockhart scored two baskets on layups and Blair's free throw sealed the win for Pikeville.

Hunter, who has been anything but short of being sensational of late, has been a work horse on the boards. Jason Newsome and Jason Akers are very important in the middle for Betsy Layne.

MCDOWELL DAREDEVILS

Very strong inside. No doubt one of the stronger inside games in the 15th Region. Dale Hinkle and Matt Johnson are two very strong inside players who are hard to contain. Both must play up to expectations during the tournament. Neither can afford a let down anywhere along the line.

Prestonsburg JVs find Johns Creek too quick in 56-44 loss

Johns Creek's quickness and speed was just a little too much for the Prestonsburg junior varsity squad as they dropped a 56-44 decision to the junior Bearcats Friday night at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse.

Barrell Ratliff scored 20 points and Vance Bowman added 13 to lead Johns Creek in scoring.

Thomas Ratliff led Prestonsburg with 13 points with Chad Caldwell and Martin Newberry each scoring eight points.

A late third quarter run by Johns Creek spelled defeat for Prestonsburg. Holding a 33-26 lead, the junior Bearcats ran off 11 straight points to race to a 44-26 lead with 1:35 remaining in the quarter. Prestonsburg scored the final five points of the period to stay within 13 points, 44-31. Ratliff hit a jumper and David Gearheart completed a three point play for the Blackcats.

However, a fast fourth period start for Johns Creek helped them to a 49-31 advantage. Down 51-33, Prestonsburg did rally late in the final quarter to pull to within 11 points, 52-41. Jason Spurlock hit a three-pointer and Ryan Ortega sank two free throws to make it a 51-38 game. After Darrell Ratliff connected on the back end of a free throw for Johns Creek, Miike Goble hit a basket and a free throws to cut the lead to 11 points. A basket by Jason K. Taylor and a Stacy Bevins free throw gave Johns Creek a 55-41 lead. Thomas Ratliff was fouled behind the three-point circle and hit three free throws for the Blackcats.

Prestonsburg led twice in the ball game with both coming in the first period. Trailing 7-2, Prestonsburg scored six unanswered points to take a 8-7 lead. Caldwell scored underneath and back-to-back field goals by Newberry gave Prestonsburg the lead

Johns Creek reclaimed the lead on a basket by Keith Hatfield and Prestonsburg took their second lead at 10-9 on a basket by Caldwell. Johns Creek led at the first stop 14-

The Bearcats built a 10 point lead in the second period, 30-20, but two free throws by Thomas Ratliff cut the margin to eight at the half.

Prestonsburg hit 11 of 21 free throw attempts. Johns Creek was nine of 18 from the charity stripe.

Morgan County avenges earlier loss with win over Prestonsburg

It was a thriller! But a big disappointment also for the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats after they dropped a heart breaking 57-53 overtime loss to Morgan County at Morgan County Monday night. The loss dropped Prestonsburg to 11-7 on the season and it was their third consecutive loss as they continue to play without starting guard Amy Reed. Reed is expected to return to the starting lineup against McDowell Friday night.

Raquel Cain led all scorers with 16 points and Stephanie Music tossed in 12. Music had two three-pointers in the game. Carolyn Reffitt scored 11 points with two treys also.

Leigh Ann Kelly led Morgan County with 13 points and Kim Lang scored 11. Melissa Whitt added 10

But it was the heroics of Jodi Gillespie who caused the Lady Blackcats problems. With time running out and the Lady Blackcats seemingly in control, Gillespie hurled a desperation shot with Reffitt in her face and the ball found the goal and swished through to tie the game at 52-52 and send the game into overtime. During a time out and leading 52-49, the instructions went out not to let Gillespie get the trey. But things don't always work out the way they are planned.

Prestonsburg had taken a three point lead on two free throws by Keri Merion with just five seconds left.

The Lady Blackcats looked sharp at the out set of the game rolling out to a 18-10 first quarter lead behind the scoring of Music. Music scored seven first quarter points with Cain also tossing in seven points in the first period.

With the score tied at 8-8, Cain completed a three-point play and Music hit two free throws for a 13-8 lead. Following a turnover by Morgan County Music drilled a threepointer and Cain followed with a basket to make it a 18-8 game. Lang scored before the quarter ended for the 18-10 score.

Trailing 24-20 mid ways of the second quarter, Morgan County caught fire when Prestonsburg went cold and ran off 10 straight points to take a 30-24 lead. Cain hit a threepointer for Prestonsburg and then connected on one of two free throws to make it a two point game. Melissa Bailey scored underneath to tie the game at 30-30 at the half.

The lead exchanged hands five times in the third period with Prestonsburg coming out with a 42-41 lead.

Morgan County grabbed the lead at the start of the period but two free throws by Cain and one from Reffitt gave Prestonsburg a 33-32 lead. Kelly sank a jumper to give the lead back to Morgan County but Music counter with a basket as Prestonsburg went on top 35-34. Morgan County scored five unanswered points for a 39-35 advnatate. The lead became one on Reffitt's trey. Lang lay up put Morgan County up by three, 41-38 but back to back baskets by Reffitt and Merion gave the Lady Blackcats their 42-41 lead. Prestonsburg led through all of the fourth period by three points until Gillespie drilled her game tying three-In the overtime, Whitt hit a basket underneath to give the lead to Morgan County 54-52. Reffitt hit one of two free throws for Prestonsburg for their only point in the extra period.

Morgan County got a basket from Carrie O'Conner to seal the game. Bailey finished with nine points for Prestonsburg. Merion added five. Prestonsburg (11-7) will host Pikeville Thursday night and then travel to McDowell for conference basketball against the Lady Daredevils who are currently tied with Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne for second place in the Floyd County conference.

Allen, Little lead Wheelwright Lady Trojans past Johns Creek 47-44

It was a long time coming. Not Lady Trojan turnover. since the first game of the season had the Wheelwright Lady Trojans won a basketball game. The Lady Trojans defeated Mullins in their season opener and then dropped the next 13 games before Monday night's 47-44 win over the Lady Bearcats of Johns Creek.

"It's been a long time," said Lady Trojans first-year coach Tommy Pack. "We've had a lot of problems this season and been hit with a lot of injuries, but it's good to win another

Senior guard Becky Allen led the Wheelwright attack with 15 points and hit 12 of 12 from the free throw line. Allen also pulled down five rebounds in the game for the Lady

Senior forward Stephanie Little tossed in 14 points and had eight rebounds in the contest.

It was at the free throw line that the game was won for Wheelwright. The Lady Trojans hit 25 of 27 free throw attempts, connected on 19 consecutive attempts in the second half and was 13 of 15 in the fourth period. Allen was six of six in the final stanza.

"That is something we haven't done well this year," said Pack of his team's free throw shooting, "hit our free throws. If we had been able to hit our free throws at McDowell (Saturday) we would have won that one."

The game got off to a slow start as both clubs looked disorganized in the early going. In fact, the score was only 4-2 in favor of Johns Creek after the first quarter. The tempo picked up some in the second stanza with the score deadlocked at 14-14 at the half.

In the third quarter, Little scored the first four points for Wheelwright to give them a 18-14 lead. Wheelwright had problems getting the ball down low to Little in the first half against the Lady Bearcats 2-3 zone. But a change on offense for the Lady Trojans helped Allen feed the ball into Little for two post-up baskets. Stephanie McCray grabbed an offensive rebound and put it back in for a 18-16 game. Rhonda Thornsbury hit two free throws, to start the string in the second half, and McCray answered with a basket to keep the game at two points, 20-18.

Wheelwright went on a 10-4 run to take an eight point, 30-22 lead into the final period. Allen hit a leaner just ahead of the buzzer to end the period.

Allen's two free throws to begin the fourth quarter gave Wheelwright a 10 point lead at 32-22. A free throw from Kim Williamson and a basket by McCray cut the lead to seven after Wheelwright had turned the ball over. A turn around jumper in the lane by Thornsbury and two more charity tosses by Allen ran the margin to 11 points, 36-25.

But the Lady Trojans could not stand prosperity and turned the ball over on four consecutive possessions allowing Johns Creek to go on a 7-0 run to climb back into the contest at 36-32.

Little's two free throws made it 38-32 but back-to-back baskets from Heather Helvey and Pam Pinson cut the lead back to two, 38-36.

With 36 seconds left in the game, Krystal Isaac hit two free throws to give Wheelwright a 44-40 lead. But the Lady Bearcarts were not ready to concede the game and tied the game at 44-44 on two free throws by Pam Pinson with 19 seconds showing on the clock. Pinson was fouled after a

Johnson, who threw the ball away, made amends for the miscue by connecting on two free throws, 18 in a row in the half, to give Wheelwright a 46-44 lead with 15 seconds remaining. With nine seconds remaining, Robin Pinson, on a move to the basket, was called for a charging foul giving the ball back over to Wheelwright. Little was fouled with eight seconds showing and hit the first of the bonus but missed the second to snap the consecutive string at 19. Wheelwright held on to win 47-44.

"These girls play hard everytime they take to the floor," said Pack. "We have only five high school kids playing and three eighth graders. It's hard for five kids to go out there and play 32 minutes of consistent basketball. When they hit the floor, they give everything they've got."

Thornsbury finished with eight

McDowell lets one get away . as M.C. Napier wins 53-46

Ever heard the story about the one turned the ball over 21 times in the that got away? Well, McDowell coach Jimmy Hopkins can tell you about one that got away - basketball style.

The M.C. Napier Lady Navajos came from behind and handed the Lady Daredevils a 53-46 loss in a non-conference matchup at McDowell Monday night.

Gadsbury tossed in 17 points to lead the Lady Navajos and Paula Sidham added 10 points.

Keri Newsome and Michelle Hall each scored nine points to lead McDowell in scoring.

"Overall we played good basketball," said Hopkins of his team's bid against Napier, ranked fourth in the tough 14th Region. "But at times we played poorly."

McDowell had a three point lead with just over four minutes remaining. But the inability of the Lady Daredevils to get the ball up the floor against the Lady Navajos' press proved costly. McDowell turned the ball over on four consecutive possessions, and Napier capitalized on all four mistakes and scored eight unanswered points to take a five point

"I told my team to be patient on offense," stated Hopkins, "but we just couldn't get the ball up the floor. We just let this one get away from us. It just slipped away.

"Hall (Michelle) fouled for us," explained the McDowell mentor, "and that hurt us in handling the basketball."

Nikki Mullins had eight points for McDowell and pulled in eight rebounds. Stacy Shepherd came off the bench and contributed six points and had two rebounds. Susan Stephens, also off the McDowell bench, scored five points and had two rebounds.

"We just need to do better and get better," Hopkins said. "We played hard against Napier, and it's just a matter of time that we get things together.

"Kristi (Mullins) had an off night for us and we need to get more scoring out of Shelby (Howell). Her shots just haven't been falling for her and Ihope things straighten out before tournament time.

McDowell only had five assists in the game, mainly because of so many turnovers. The Lady Daredevils

"Most of our turnovers were forced passes," said Hopkins. "Also we didn't rebound as well as we had been in other games and that was a factor." McDowell had been collecting around 40 rebounds a game but could only claim 27 against Napier. Hall had six boards for McDowell with Debbie Fannin gathering in two. Howell had three.

McDowell led at the first stop, 13-11 but trailed by four, 28-24, at the half. The fourth quarter proved to be the downfall for the Lady Daredevils in turning the ball over.

McDowell (7-10) will host Prestonsburg Friday night at the E.P. Grigsby Jr. Fieldhouse.

LADY EAGLES POUNDS BEREA

All-American Katrina Short tossed in 34 points and pulled down 10 rebounds to lead the Lady Eagles of Alice Lloyd to a one-sided 89-60 win over the Lady Mountaineers of Berea.

Alice Lloyd took control of the game early only to see Berea come racing back to cut the lead at halftime to five, 36-31. It was all Alice Lloyd in the second half.

ALICE LLOYD MAKES IT TWO STRAIGHT ON THE ROAD

The Lady Eagles won their second straight game on their road trip as they posted an 86-70 win over the Kentucky Christian women's basketball team last Tuesday night. It was an uphill climb for Alice Lloyd as they shot a cool 25 percent in the first half but came back strong in the second part of the game.

Katrina Short tossed in a game high 35 points and Brenda Hamilton (Betsy Layne) added 16 points.

WINNERS OF FLOYD COUNTY CHEERLEADING COMPETITION

Coleman scores 22 as Betsy Layne surprises Sheldon Clark, 77-67

You know it is getting close to to give the Bobcats a 10 point lead. tournament time. Some teams are just starting to peak while others perhaps peaked too early. Whatever the case, in the Betsy Layne/Sheldon Clark game Friday night, it was the Bobcats surprising the highly favored Cardinals 77-67 in a non-conference, but big, regional matchup at the D. W. Howard Fieldhouse.

Jody Coleman had the hot hand for Betsy Layne scoring 22 points to lead the Bobcats. Brian Hunter continues to play excellent basketball tossing in 16 points and Jonathan Tackett adding 11.

Game scoring honors, however, went to Sheldon Clark's Kevin Fields with 27. John Slone netted 14 with Shawn Hale tossing in 13 points. Fields hit four three-pointers in the game while the Cardinals had a total of seven treys.

Coleman was hot from the field for Betsy Layne connecting on seven of nine field goal attempts. Coleman also pulled down five rebounds in the contest. Hunter was a shade better making five of six attempts from the floor. Hunter had a big night on the boards hauling in 12 caroms. Jason Akers led the Bobcats in rebounds

Coach Junior Newsome's Bobcats had to hold off the Cardinals in a late third quarter surge. Betsy Layne went on top with their biggest lead of the game, 12 points, at 45-33 with 3:40 left in the third period on a threepoint basket by Tackett. A 10-3 run by Sheldon Clark cut the lead down to four points, 45-41 with 2:12 remaining. Coleman's trey with 40 seconds on the clock extended the Betsy Layne lead back to seven, 50-43, before Sheldon Clark scored the final four points of the stanza to trail 50-47 after three quarters.

Cold shooting from the free throw line for the Cardinals allowed Betsy Layne to pull back out by 10 points scored on a layup to start the fourth quarter and, after Brock Ward missed two free throws, Coleman scored another layup and was fouled with 7:14 left. Coleman converted the charity toss for an eight point, 55-47, game. Fields missed two missed free throws, a rarity, and with the possession Tackett drilled a six-foot jumper Slone's jumper made it an eight point game, 57-49. After Shawn Wallen missed two charity tosses, Slone scored on a layup with 5:28 to go in the game to make it a six point margin. But that was as close as the Cardinals could come as Betsy Layne got a three point play from Coleman and two free throws by Wallen to seal the upset.

The only time that Sheldon Clark led in the game was in the first quarter when they jumped out to a 9-4 lead on three three-pointers. Shawn Hale hit the first trey that gave Sheldon Clark a 3-2 lead. Fields hit his first threepointer and after two free throws by Coleman, Brad Tiller scored from the three-point circle with 3:40 left in the first quarter.

Betsy Layne then went on a 10-0 run and assumed a 14-9 lead. Hunter scored five consecutive points to tie the game at 9-9. Coleman scored underneath and Akers completed a three-point play. Max Hale's free throw and a three-pointer by Fields narrow the lead to one, 14-13 at the first stop.

Back-to-back layups from Coleman and Barry Hall gave Betsy Layne an early second quarter lead of five points, 18-13. The lead went to nine, 26-17, on a basket underneath by Hall. With 22 seconds remaining in the second period, Hunter's layup made it a 10 point game, 30-20, before Fields scored on a three-pointer and a shot jumper at the horn. Betsy Layne led at the half 30-25.

BetsyLayne (7-13) will be at Allen Central Friday night for conference action. A Betsy Layne win would tie the two teams for fourth place in the conference. An Allen Central victory would assure the Rebels of a fourth place finish. Saturday night, Betsy Layne will entertain the "hot" Johns Creek Bearcats. In the junior varsity game, Chris Potter poured in 21 points and Richard Lyons added 17 as the junior Bobcats defeated Sheldon Clark 64-58 to run their overall record to 4-3. Jason Pinson scored 19 and Scott Davis 14 to lead the junior Cardinals.

Henry Webb tossed in 26 points and Bobby Pollard added 24 points as the Alice Lloyd Eagles stunned early in the final period. Coleman NAIA, 16th ranked Virginia Intermont 98-87 at the Grady Nutt Athletic Complex at Pippa Passes.

> The Eagles raced to a 15 point lead early in the game as the stunned Cobras looked to regroup. Virginia Intermont fought back in the second half and cut the Eagles lead to two points, 44-42

Alice Lloyd had good penetration in the second half and was able to score inside the Cobras' defense. Scott Keen led the Cobras with 29 points.

Alice Lloyd improved to 14-8 on the season and will host Transylvania College tomorrow (Thursday) evening, February 13.

It was an eighth grader who led Shelby Valley as Brandi Baker tossed in a game high 26 points. Baker, who does most of her scoring down in the block area, hit eight of 14 free throw attempts as she continued to impress 15th Regional fans.

It was a game that Betsy Layne was never in despite a good outing by Dee Dee Martin. Martin scored 20 points to lead the Lady Cats and also pulled in a remarkable 15 rebounds. Martin also came up with three steals in the game on defense.

The game was only tied once and that came in the first quarter when it was knotted at 2-2. That came on a layup by Martin after Shelby Valley had taken a 2-0 lead on Christy Stewart's basket.

Martin kept the Betsy Layne team close through the first three minutes highlight the Alice Lloyd Eagles of the game but Shelby Valley slowly opened up a huge lead, leading 26-9 at the end of the first quarter. Lady Daredevils tie for second place in conference with win over Wheelwright

The Lady Daredevils of McDowell blew a 20 point lead and had to hang on to defeat the Wheelwright Lady Trojans 51-45 in conference basketball action Saturday at Michelle Hall tossed in 13 points she will put them down." and Debbie Fannin added 10 to lead the Lady Daredevils to their third conference win. The victory ties McDowell with Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne for second place in the conference standings. The second place team gets a first round bye in the district tournament.

McDowell held a 22 point lead with four minutes to go in the game when coach Jimmy Hopkins began running in his bench. With less than two minutes remaining, the Lady Trojans had narrowed the margin to 10 points.

"I put in three new girls when we had the 22 point lead and when they cut the lead to 10, I had to put my regular players back in the game,' explained McDowell head coach Jimmy Hopkins.

It was the long three-point shooting of Becky Allen that brought the Lady Trojans back into the game. Allen hit five three-pointers in scoring 19 points.

"Becky always scores the three-pointers against us," stated Hopkins. "Of all the players who play against McDowell, she is the most consistent in shooting the three-pointers. I told our girls that if they don't guard her that without pressure on her -

It was a questionable fourth quarter for McDowell as Wheelwright outscored them 15-7 after trailing 44-30 at the end of the third period. McDowell held a 13 point, 29-16 lead at the half.

Shelby Howell had nine points for the winners and Keri Newsome added seven. Kristi Mullins and Susan Stephens each scored six points. Kristi Mullins had eight rebounds in the game, something Hopkins says he expects even of his guards. Hall led the rebound parade with 11 and Howell had eight. Nikki Mullins and Newsome each had four boards. Stacy Shepherd hauled down three.

COMING THIS MONTH TO A NEWSSTAND NEAR YOU!

The Best is getting Better!

—The Floyd County Times—

"WHAT'S THIS WORLD COMING TO?"

Something has happened this week that has me totally shocked. There are allegations that the New Kids on the Block may not have sung all the tracks on their albums. Oh my! What has the world come to? What else could possibly happen? My life is coming to an end! NOT.

Who really cares of the New Kids voices came from the five little punks or from two overthe-hill producers? I don't, I guess this is because the group disgusts me. I believe the only people who really enjoy them are little girls under the age of thirteen. It's really sweet, isn't it? I don't think so. I'm, sorry to be so harsh on the little chaps, but I can't help it. They're just so syrupy sweet, it's nauseat-

I put the New Kids on the Block in the same category that I put Bob Saget in. The name may not ring a bell, but he's that annoying man that ruins America's Funniest Home Videos. Does anybody think

I only wonder how his poor wife copes with someone so seemingly overbearing. Bless her heart. Don't you think he appears as if he's trying too hard? Maybe he just needs someone (me, for example) to just slap him around three or four times and say, "Get over it, will ya, Bob! Get a grip!"

I don't think they ever pick then funniest videos on that show. It seems to me that the producers are warped some way (of course, that's not surprising, considering they were the ones that hired Bob Saget in the first place). The videos I like best never even make it into the three the audience votes

You know, they should just make me the host of the show. I think that would be a fine idea. I know all of you, my faithful readers, were thinking the same thing. Boy, I could stir things up a little, anyway.

In case you haven't figured it out yet, I enjoy power. It makes me happy. I like to be in control of the situation; I also like to make changes. For instance, if I were in control of Prestonsburg Community College, I would increase the number of parking spaces. I think most of the student body would agree with me that it is very DIFFICULT to find a place to park. This lack of parking facilities causes students to be late for class, to park in inappropriate places, and get a nice fluorescent orange warning directly in the center of the driver's side windshield. If any PCC officials are reading, don't you realize that those stickers obstruct one's view when he is attempting to drive? We really don't want to park illegally, but we have no choice. We need more parking spaces. Incidentally, I think Bob Looney would enjoy seeing his name in this paper, and since I'm writing about the college, here it is - Bob Looney.

I imagine I've bashed enough people in this column, (with the exception of Bob Looney) so I'll wrap it up and try to calm down. 'Til next week, don't be afraid to express your opinion loudly. What could happen? If I ever find out, I'll let you know about it. See ya.

This week our entry for Out of

This particular day she told the story of Moses leading the children of Israel out of Egypt. When I was in the fourth grade, the lovely, blue-eyed object of my affection was in the fifth... which meant she was in another room. Breaking the cycle of abuse

Violence in dating relationships Handholding and blushes. Gentle caresses, soft glances. Moonlight walks downflower-scented pathways. Laughter, tenderness, joy. Sweet words whispered in the ear. This, we want to believe, is the nature of the dating relationship.

In reality, you may have a very difficult relationship with the person you are dating. Your dating partner may be emotionally, sexually or physically abusive. You may be afraid of your partner. You may think that a good relationship is your responsibility more than your partner's. You may not even know you have a right not to be beaten. You may be afraid that no one else would want you.

Perhaps your partner seems so mild-mannered that others wouldn't believe he could be violent. He or she may mistreat you only, which makes you think there's something wrong with you. You may be afraid to tell anyone. You just want the violence to end. Otherwise, everything's all right

TYPES OF DATING VIO-

One-fourth to one-half of all dating relationships in this country involve violence. In its most benign form, it shows up in jealousy, possessiveness, controlling behavior and verbal put-downs. In its more extreme forms, it may involve pushing, slapping, excessive tickling, pulling hair, hitting, threatening behavior with a weapon, and rape. Young women sometimes misinterpret possessiveness and jealousy as a show of love. Such behavior is actually a red flag signaling a problem relationship.

EMOTIONAL AND VERBAL

In addition to the clearly physical or sexual abuse, dating relationships can involve verbal or emotional abuse. Many young men and women use name calling, ridiculing, threats, constant criticism, controlling, belittling and other chronic behavior to frighten their partner or destroy selfesteem. Both men and women have experienced long-term effects from this type of abuse. Verbal abuse, like physical abuse, is rooted in the low self-esteem of the abusive partner. It also is rooted in the helplessness, guilt and confusion of the person who allows herself to be treated this way. Submitting to such violence in the name of love is futile and selfdestructive.

DATE RAPE

Men and women may have very different expectations about what their date means. The woman may view it in friendly or romantic terms. The man may expect that it will result in a sexual experience. At times the opposite is true.

The rapist may use the assault to feel powerful and in control. He may use only enough force to gain control and get his date to do what he wants. He may not be openly violent. Beprove. Sometimes the victim is not even sure she has been raped. Instead of reacting angrily, she may feel confused and guilty about the assault. But rape by a friend or acquaintance is still rape. It is a punishable

Women should be comfortable telling a date what their limits are, and men should learn to accept no. Men should not be pushed into physical intimacy against their wishes, either. Dating partners need to respect each other's preferences.

WHY ABUSE HAPPENS

When one or both of the partners have not learned positive, peaceful ways of solving problems, emotions such as fear, jealousy and anger can trigger heated arguments. Abusive behavior learned from their families and media images of violence play a

These problems seldom start in the dating relationship. They are rooted in the way the people learned to relate to others during childhood. Children need to learn fun, caring and non-violent ways of treating each other. Negative behavior patterns from childhood can carry right into adult relationships.

LENCE TO COME

Learn to recognize the warning signs that someone could be violent. The potential for problems exists if your dating partner:

· Was abused as a child. In that early family life, the mother may have been abused by the father.

· Loses his temper more often than is appropriate. He often expresses cause of this, date rape is hard to anger in violent ways such as hitting a wall or furniture.

> · Has already revealed violent attitudes or actions toward others. · Drinks too much or abuses other

· Is unusually possessive. He or she wants to know where you are, who you are with and what you are doing all the time.

May have very strict traditional ideas about the roles of men and women in relationships.

· May be easy going, gentle and loving most of the time, and promises never to hit or abuse again.

WHAT IF VIOLENCE HAP-PENS OR THREATENS?

*Think first of your physical safety. Get away from the violent person as quickly as you can.

*Reach out for help. Contact family members, friends, police, counselors or a spouse abuse center (you don't have to be married to get help there).

*Remember that you cannot change another person's violent behavior. Giving in to demands, trying to please, pacifying, giving one more chance — nothing along such lines has a lasting effect.

*Remember also that violence SIGNALS OF POSSIBLE VIO- does not just go away. Once started, it usually keeps happening and gets worse. It becomes a cycle of abuse, but you can break the cycle by refusing to be a victim.

MARRIAGE MYTH

Women who marry their abusive boyfriends and men who marry their abusive girlfriends are usually surprised to discover that the violence doesn't stop. Many people believe the myth that once the marriage license is signed, all such problems

Don't you believe it! Nothing that deep-seated goes away without lots of hard work. We all need to learn to communicate, to be good to each other, to trust and respect each other. We need to know how to fight fairly without violence. It takes commitment, insight and willpower for the violent partner(s) to change. Often it cannot be done without professional

Dating violence doesn't have to happen. If you are alert to early signs of abusive behavior, you can make positive changes. Don't help another person mistreat you by cooperating in his unhealthy behavior. If you are mistreating the person you are dating, be brave enough to reach out for help. You can learn better ways of

If you are a woman in a dating relationship, communicate your feelings. Know your limits and express them clearly. Don't send signals with your behavior that are different from what you mean. Say no when you want to say no.

It's your life. You deserve to be loved, to be happy, to be safe from violence, ridicule, threats and abuse. Love doesn't have to hurt. The cycle of abuse can be broken.

Shrine hospital urges families to "Buckle Up" the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children urge families to recognize this year's Child Passenger Safety Awareness Week, which will be held from February 9-15, 1992.

The theme, "Buckle Up for Love," is designed to encourage parents and others to protect their children in child safety seats and safety belts by using them correctly. The goal of 1992's awareness week is to increase use of these protection devices. "When used correctly, child safety seats are extremely reliable in preventing deaths and injuries to young passengers," said Gene Bracewell, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children.

Parents can help reduce the number of deaths caused by such accidents by buckling in their loved one every time they drive. 6 tbsp. cold water

Cut lard into flour and salt until particles are the size of peas. Add cold water slowly, just until all the flour is moistened. Gather dough together and divide into three equal pieces. Roll each piece into a ball. Roll dough out, one ball at a time, using a cookie cutter or a 4-inch glass cut out dough. Fill mini-muffin tins with dough, fitting it into cups and making a crimped or a pinched edge around the top of each. This is enough dough to fill 3 muffin tins, containing a dozen cups each.

FILLING

5 tbsp. flour 314 c. sugar 314 c. water 1 tbsp. butter

1 c.fresh blueberries, washed and

1/2 tsp. cinnamon

Mix flour and sugar together in a saucepan. Add water and bring slowly to a boil. Add the butter and boil gently, stirring constantly for 2 minutes. Add the blueberries and return to a boil. Gently cook and stir for 3-4 minutes, until liquid begins to thicken. Remove from heat and allow to stand 10 minutes, until cool enough to handle. Add 1/2 tsp. almond flavoring and stir well.

BUTTER CRUMBS

1/2 c. softened butter 1/2 c. brown sugar 1 c. flour

Cream butter and brown sugar together. Add flour, a little at a time to make crumbs. To assemble mini-pies; fill each little pastry cup with blueberry filling almost to the top, (about 1-1 1/2 tbsp.). Top with butter crumbs. Bake at 450° 15-20 minutes until the edges of the pastry is golden. Check crumbs. If the crumbs are not golden and crisp, slip under the broiler just to toast them. Watch very carefully as the butter burns fast.

eart disease is the leading cause of death in eastern Kentucky. It's also the leading cause of disability, pain, loss of income, back breaking health care costs and a heartbreaking toll on people and families. The real tragedy is that many of these can be avoided through prevention, early detection and early treatment. Your best weapon is knowing what to do and acting on it. The free Heart Test on the right is a good way to start. So is a visit with your doctor to check your blood pressure, cholesterol, triglycerides and other factors. Then learn to recognize the early warning signs of heart attack:

- Recurring pain or tightening in the chest which occurs with exertion, but eases with rest. Often mistaken for heartburn or gas.
- Pain, pressure, fullness or squeezing in the chest for two minutes or more. This may radiate to neck, shoulders, arms, jaw or teeth. Often mistaken for indigestion.
- Shortness of breath, sweating, dizziness, nausea, vomiting and anxiety.

Not all signs occur at the same time in every heart attack, but if they do, don't delay, call your doctor or an Emergency Medical Service immediately. Minutes count.

Cardiac catheterization permits doctors to look at the tiny blood vessels that feed the heart muscle. Blockages in these vessels send a warning-heart attack! But we now have new ways to break up blockages before they kill.

Monitored exercise is prescribed for certain high risk or post-heart attack people to improve conditioning of body muscles, breathing, blood vessels and heart, enabling them to work harder and withstand exertion. Good physical condition helps lower risks.

Meat surplus, cheaper produce causes food prices to tumble

Bulging supplies of meat and some unexpected relief from high winter vegetable prices caused Kentucky's food index to tumble 3.6 percent in December, according to Kentucky Farm Bureau.

A marketbasket of 40 items cost Kentucky shoppers $67.56 last month, down $2.49 from the $70.05 November mark and the lowest level since February 1989. In Salyersville, that marketbasket tallied $63.17.

For Kentucky consumers, it was a good ending for the year. Sharply lower prices on steaks, most port items and fresh produce meant that food bills had dropped an average of 7 percent during 1991.

In December, a pork price plunge of 9.6 percent led the slide. Beef prices declined 3.7 percent and poultry/eggs were 3.8 percent lower, reflecting a market glut of all meat types.

Fruits and vegetables posted a 5.6 percent cost drop, as an unseasonable cold snap in California farm country killed out much of a major whitefly infestation, saving many vegetable crops that had been forecast to be ruined by the insects.

Rounding out the Farm Bureau survey, dairy prices dropped by a few pennies, amounting to a .3 of 1 percent decline, while grain foods bucked the overall trend, rising 2.8 percent.

A few items purchased in the survey and average prices listed were the following goods: ground beef, $1.52lb; T-bone steak, $4.55lb; sliced bacon, $1.56lb; whole fryers, $1.81lb; Grade A eggs, large, .89 cents per dozen; whole milk, $2.23 gallon; white bread, .85 cents per pound; and potato chips, $1.30 per 8 ounce twin pack.

Cabbage Patch

I have been researching on a new idea for me, sprouting your garden seeds before planting. The main reason for this is to save time and not have to replant where the old type planting don't sprout.

Sown seeds directly in the garden face a wide variety of obstacles, before they germinate. Heavy rains can wash them out of their rows. Hot weather after a rain can bring on soil-crusting problems, which doom many a seed planted for the fall garden. The longer a seed lays in the ground, the greater the chance of falling prey to disease, fungus or insects.

Most of us are used to the need to presoak slow-germinating vegetable seeds such as parsley and okra, to speed sprouting. In planting presprouted seeds, we are only taking the pre-soaking method one step further.

If your seeds are allowed to sprout before being planted, we are assured that each seed planted is viable. This can save time and money, since extra seeds need not be planted to make up for losses to poor germination. This method allows for wider spacing in the rows and eliminates the time-consuming thinning later on.

Pregerminated seeds are less demanding for the fall gardens than the transplants, we normally set out. They do not need to be hardened off and are adapted to your particular garden conditions from the very beginning. So they have all the strengths of field grown plants, but with much less waiting.

If you own a seed sprouter as used in making your own bean sprouts, it can be used to sprout your seed for the garden. A wet paper towel on the bottom of a flat dish or cookie sheet will work as well. Spread the seed evenly in a single layer, and cover container with plastic wrap to hold in moisture. Seed can be spread on damp paper towels which is then loosely rolled up jelly-roll fashion and placed in a plastic bag.

When roots are about 1/8-inch long hold the paper towel under the tap and gentle flush off seeds with tepid water into a strainer. Be careful to not

Ten free white flowering dogwood trees will be given to each person who joins the National Arbor Day Foundation during February 1992.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit foundation's Trees for America campaign.

"The white flowering dogwoods will add year-round beauty to your home and neighborhood," John Rosenow, the foundation's executive director, said. "Dogwoods have showy spring flowers, scarlet autumn foliage, and red berries which attract songbirds all winter."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between March 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Plan strategy to win in job market competitive labor market can be compared to a successful battle plan the key elements to winning are strategy, organization, aggressiveness and persistence.

"At the very outset, you've got to know yourself and your career goals before you can plan your strategy to reach those goals," said Greg Kring, job service branch manager for the Kentucky Department for Employment Services.

"Compile a list of your interests, job skills, education and experience and use that data to decide what jobs best suit you. This information is valuable for completing applications, writing a resume and interviewing.

"Your local employment services office is a good place to start gathering information about jobs and assessing your abilities," Kring said. "A DES career counselor can help you decide what kind of work will best match your abilities and inter-

DES offices offer resources such as the "Occupational Outlook Handbook," which lists the skills and abilities, work duties and qualifications for each job. Other materials related to the job search are available.

Career counselors also can give job aptitude and interest tests to paint a realistic picture of a job seeker's career options, Kring said.

Once you know what jobs you're Prestonsburg and Salyersville offices looking for, the counselors can match of the Department for Employment your skills and interests with their job openings and provide job leads.

> Another job search method is networking. "One of the most effective ways to discover job openings is to develop a network of contacts," Kring said. "Let former co-workers, friends, relatives or business associations know you're looking for a job

Finding the right job in today"s and encourage them to let other people

"Most jobs aren't advertised; they're filled within or by word of mouth. Employers are likely to hire people recommended by current employees."

Cold calls are a good way to get an employer's attention, Kring said. This involves directly contacting the person who hires for a job and asking for an interview. If there aren't any available positions, try to meet with the person who would be your supervisor to talk about future openings, he

Some other job information sources are newspaper ads, college/ trade school placement offices, company publications, journals and professional or trade association newsletters, union and apprenticeship programs, private employment agencies, phone books and libraries.

Before you hit the pavement, write a concise, neat resume highlighting your skills and abilities, work history, achievements and career goals. It should represent you to the employer and help you land an interview, he said.

Creek. Priced at $69,500.

Resumes should be accompanied by a short cover letter to introduce yourself to a potential employer. "When writing the letter your perspective, should be what does the employer need. Then tell the employer how you can meet his needs and ask for an interview," Kring said.

Having a list of references is important, but Kring suggest including a good reference letter with your resume. Before you leave a job, ask your employer to write one for you or contact a former employer for one.

"If you have a reference letter, the employer doesn't have to go to the trouble of contacting references - it's there and it's immediate," he said.

Other job tips include making a list of possible employers. Keep records of the ones you've contacted, the people you talked to and notes about results. Follow up leads immediately and always be prepared with a resume in case you discover a lead.

"Remember: don't take rejection personally because no one can really know you from one job contact or a resume," Kring said. "Just try to evaluate-yourself and then learn from your mistakes for the next time."
