Architect's accusations called "comical" :

Who's to blame for what is argued

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Allegations that improperly placed construction materials on the site of the Left Beaver High School caused an eight-month delay in progress was called "comical" by representatives of the company that oversees construction on that project.

Those allegations and claims that the site contractor and project architect James Ellis were punished for voicing complaints about the construction manager of the project were raised at Tuesday's Floyd County Board of Education meeting.

Ellis appeared before the board of education Tuesday to respond to questions raised at December's board meeting by board member Dr. Mary Hall and superintendent Ron Hager about delays in construction of the high school.

At the December meeting, Hager and Hall claimed Ellis was not performing his contractual duties relating to the project and that excessive architectural changes have delayed construction. Hall also claimed Ellis had not visited the school site to inspect construction since January 1990.

In response to those claims, Ellis presented a September 1990 letter to the Floyd County Board of Education Tuesday from Triple B president Gary Branham, site contractor, that said "personnel from Martin Engineering & Construction began moving roof joist materials" on the site that prevented his company from finishing the site work.

"I am of the opinion that this was in direct conflict with our progress for completion and completely without merit," Branham's letter said.

Beth Rowe, office manager for Martin Engineering, said Thursday that the company was unaware of the letter and said that any conflict concerning the placement of materials should have been resolved at the job site.

"This is the first time we've ever heard of that," Rowe said. "All coordination was taken up on the job site between our superintendent and their

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Controversy concerning the Left Beaver High School project is not new, questions and concerns about the site were raised by the architect, construction manager and the public as early as 1987.

Once the site for the new school was announced in 1987, referred to as the Mitchell site, heated discussions took place between residents in the Wheelwright and McDowell areas; between residents and the architect, James Ellis; and between the architect and the local and state school board.

The site of the school has been in dispute since the word go and was recently brought up during a state conference about school construction, said Floyd County board member Eddie Billips.

Billips attended a Kentucky School Board Association School Facilities Conference in Louisville, October 28-29. Billips said School Facilities Construction Commission director Woody Barwick and Mike Luscher, director of facilities management for the state Department of Education, indirectly referred to the site during the conference.

"Mr. Barwick and Mr. Luscher told the audience that they had a school site in Eastern Kentucky that they didn't approve of and couldn't get rid of," Billips said Thursday. "I later asked them, in front of a small group of people, which site they were referring to. They told me the Left Beaver site."

Ellis wrote a letter dated October 5, 1988, to then board chairman James D. Adams, Luscher, superintendent Ron Hager and deputy superintendent with the state education department Arnold Guess, citing eight significant problems with the site.

- Problems noted were:
- inadequate sight lines from the highway and property which could pose a safety hazard to school buses;
 - the steep access road would create maintenance and safety problems because of water freezing on the road;
 - should a slide occur because of slippery rock fill, which it is susceptible to do, the public highway would be blocked and the facility would be stranded and unreachable by motor vehicle;
 - limited parking would require

For nontraditional students :

Center launches aid project

by Dodie Webb
Staff Writer

Morehead State University is establishing a local scholarship program that might well contribute to the lives of many Floyd Countians.

President C. Nelson Grote announced Wednesday at the Prestonsburg MSU extended campus that Morehead State University is developing the program for area "part-time, nontraditional students" who would like to attend the college locally.

Part-time, nontraditional student refers to persons age 25 or older who usually attend classes on a part-time basis and are typically working people with families and full-time jobs who typically cannot leave their homes for full-time status at a college or university.

Beginning in the fall 1992 semester, $10,000 in scholarship funds will be earmarked for these area "location-bound" students.

Dr. Grote also challenged area individuals, agencies, and private institutions to match the university's funds saying, that for every dollar donated toward equaling the amount,

MSU would match the contribution up to an additional $10,000. Potentially, the scholarship fund could amount to $30,000.

Most often, the nontraditional students have been overlooked for educational funding by state and federal financial aid programs, Grote said Wednesday.

"It is evident by the rapid growth of the Big Sandy Extended Campus Center that there is tremendous demand for the university to offer upper division classes to the area's location-bound students," Grote said. "This is an incentive for students to enter the mainstream of education to improve their lives and career oppor-

City man surrenders in shooting

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A 46-year-old Prestonsburg man was charged with first degree wanton endangerment after he allegedly fired two shots at a man at Jenny Wiley Village in Prestonsburg Wednesday evening.

Ernest "Bucky" Collins turned himself into the Floyd County Sheriff's Department Wednesday evening for allegedly shooting at James "Whig" Pennington after the two men had argued in the village parking lot, said Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson.

Pennington was not injured, but one bullet struck a parked vehicle, said deputy Lloyd Powers. The shooting incident was reported to the sheriff's department at approximately 5:50 p.m. Wednesday, but officers Linzie Hunt, Powers and Roy Compton did not make it to the scene immediately because Collins had already turned himself into the sheriff's office, said Powers.

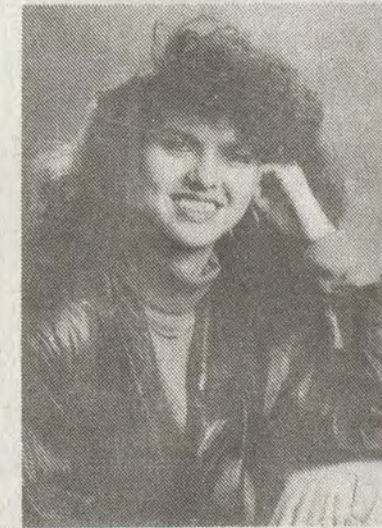

Collins reportedly had argued with Pennington and Mike Jarrell of Slick Rock, Collins allegedly fired two rounds from a .25 caliber automatic pistol.

Thompson said county deputies responded to the call in the Prestonsburg city limits because of the seriousness of the report.

"We will respond to any call within city limits depending on the type of call or if the city police ask us for assistance," Thompson said.

Prestonsburg police declined to release details of the incident Thursday pending further investigation.

Collins was released from the Floyd County Jail Thursday.

Carter inks recording contract

Country music stars are shining bright on a Harold youth. Kimberly Carter, 17, recently signed a recording contract with American Records of Tokyo, Japan.

Her single, "Rocking at the Dance Hall," will be released throughout the United States on February 17. The album's release date is March 23 in Japan. The album has been recorded with producer Mick Lloyd, who has produced recordings by Johnny Lee, Slim Whitman, and the late Lew DeWitt of the Statler Brothers.

Carter, a Betsy Layne High School senior, performed before a sold-out crowd in the Paxton Theatre, Hillsboro, Ohio, last summer.

Her music career is managed by her father, Keith Carter, president of KRC Productions at Harold. The contract was negotiated through her former management firm, 5 Star Productions, Inc. in Nashville, Tennessee.

Service Continues

PIKEVILLE- Despite Greyhound Lines' departure, passenger bus service is still available in the Big Sandy region, via a project developed by the Big Sandy Area Development District.

Sandy Valley Transportation, a non-profit subsidiary of the Big Sandy ADD, operates the 90-mile Pikeville to Ashland route five days a week, with stops in Prestonsburg, Paintsville, Louisa and Ashland.

Residents will have about two months to sign up for garbage service before enforcement of the new ordinance begins.

Conviction tossed

SALYERSVILLE- The U.S. Court of Appeals has overturned the conviction of a Salyersville pharmacist who had been found guilty of illegally distributing controlled substances without proper medical authorization.

The court said the prosecution had improperly mentioned that pharmacist Garry Jenkins had been placed in a pretrial diversion program to settle an unrelated case.

Jenkins had been convicted in 1990 on 105 counts. The appellate court ordered a new trial.

Youth dies in fire

PIKEVILLE- A four-year-old Pike County youth died Monday following a fire at his home near Hardy.

superintendent. I believe if there should have been any conflict of interest there with materials being placed anywhere, Mr. Branham's superintendent would (have) informed the hoisting (contractor), the CM superintendent, also. That's all coordinated."

Alan Stumbo, representing Martin Engineering, said Triple B did not stop work after the joists were placed on the site and said an eight-month delay because of that incident was "comical."

Stumbo said the project "is on schedule" because actual construction did not start until April 1991 and the building should be ready for occupancy by August 1992.

Martin Engineering representatives have maintained their company has not caused any delays on the project.

Ellis told the board that, in his opinion, the construction would not be complete until the 1993-94 school year.

The architect told the board he felt his company had been "slandered" by Hall and Hager's remarks during the January meeting.

"We view superintendent Hager's statement to be a malicious attempt to disintegrate the reputation of our firm in a thinly-veiled attempt to conceal the actual source and motivation for construction hold-up," Ellis said in a prepared statement. "We believe that his blatantly false and malicious statements are an intentional attempt to punish our firm for exposing what we believe are lucrative improprieties in the construction of the Left Beaver High project."

Ellis also gave the board a list of on-site inspections made by his company during the last year which showed 40 visits during 1991.

Attempts by Hager to move the discussion into closed session at Tuesday's meeting were thwarted by the board's attorney, Cliff Latta, Ellis' attorney, Phillip Damron and board member Eddie Billips.

Hager read an opinion from the Kentucky School Board Association's attorney, Brian Fogle, that said since Triple B had filed a lawsuit against the board concerning their site preparation contract, the matter should be discussed in private.

Latta said he disagreed with KSBA's attorney and felt the issue did not meet the requirements for a closed session under Kentucky's Open Meetings Law.

Billips told the board he had spoken with Phil Austin, an investigator for the state's Office of Education Accountability, earlier Tuesday and Austin said it was not a matter to be discussed in secret.

Damron, who also represents Branham, was not allowed to address the board during the Left Beaver discussion.

After Ellis' response to the board, Damron called a press conference outside the board meeting to offer his views on problems surrounding the Left Beaver project.

Damron began his discussion by reading from a certificate of appreciation presented to Ellis from superintendent Hager. The document commended Ellis for his work in the Left Beaver project.

Damron charged that only the construction manager could delay the project and a conspiracy to discredit Ellis existed in Floyd, Pike and Martin counties because he raised questions about costs and delays on school construction projects.

"Pike County and Martin County's situations are identical to Floyd County," Damron said. "You have the same common denominator, the construction manager, in all three projects. You can read your own conclusions into it."

When asked about OEA's review of the school district, which includes looking into school construction projects, Damron said he felt the office needed more authority.

"OEA hasn't got enough teeth to bite with," Damron said. "I have a lot of respect for that office, but they have no subpoena power."

Damron would not say if he planned legal action against the Floyd County board because of Ellis' claims he had been slandered, but said, "I'm a lawyer. I'm always planning some type of action."

The board took no formal action on Ellis' response to questions, but Billips said Ellis had raised some legitimate questions and the board should review the situation.

persons to "hike" up the steep access road;

- development of the hillside site would require climbing 50 steps from the parking lot;
- the proposed site for the athletic field would be inadequate to accommodate bleacher space;
- no water supply had been confirmed for the site; and
- because a large portion of the total budget would be spent on excavation, the physical education facility would lack locker rooms or shower facilities.

Ellis' letter also said the site presented "so many problems that wisdom and prudence dictate abandoning it." Ellis said one of the most desirable sites was located approximately one half mile from the Mitchell site.

Martin Engineering and Construction representatives have agreed with Ellis' concerns about the site.

After the October conference, Billips said he didn't understand how the state could approve the site and then condemn it.

"How could Barwick and Luscher recommend this site and publicly berate us in a roomful of people later during a statewide conference?" Billips said. "Why didn't they, after this letter, throw up a red flag and look at these problems?"

"These problems, and I admit we have problems, could not and cannot continue without the help of the people in Frankfort," Billips said. "They were so quick to approve this site even with all these problems. How can they let this continue? Barwick, Luscher, John Brock and Guess knew about these site problems. Barwick and Luscher told me that even John Brock said it was a terrible site for a school."

During site selection for the Left Beaver project 13 sites were analyzed and the Mitchell site was ranked 10th.

Public debate in 1987 between residents of McDowell and Wheelwright centered on the distance of the new school from the schools that were being consolidated.

The school board voted to acquire the Mitchell site in 1987 on the recommendation of Arnold Guess with the state Department of Education.

tunities."

A flexible qualification criteria for scholarship funding is being drafted by a financial aid and scholarship committee at Morehead. More information and scholarship applications should be available at the Prestonsburg extended campus by mid-spring, Grote said Wednesday.

"Morehead State intends to do its share to make sure that students who want to improve their educational status are able to do so," Grote added.

The announcement was made following an organizational meeting of the center's advisory committee, which was formed to represent to MSU the needs of students in the five-county region.

Advisory committee appointments were made Wednesday and announced by Grote.

Gary Frazier, Floyd County board of education curriculum vice-superintendent and a 1968 graduate of MSU, was named to chair the Big Sandy Extended Campus Center Advisory Committee. Appointed as vice-chair was Bronelle Skaggs, regional executive director of Kentucky Tech. Region 11 housed at Mayo State Vocational School in Paintsville, Big Sandy ECC director Dr. Roland Burns was appointed to serve as committee secretary.

Frazier expressed his pride at being chosen to chair the 15-member committee and assist in matching the funds for the proposed scholarship.

"If we can get it up to $30,000, we could possibly serve the needs of dozens of students (at the extended campus) per year," Frazier said.

In 1989, the Council on Higher Education (CHE) designated the Prestonsburg regional site as an extended campus center. With CHE approval, MSU is authorized to offer at least 75 percent of the upper division coursework leading to specific bachelor degrees at the extended campus center.

Through its Big Sandy ECC, MSU offers programs in elementary education, accounting, management, and nursing as well as six graduate programs in education.

Downtown Businesses." Council members were asked to read the draft, which was drawn up by Henry Mayo, manager of the Main Street Program, and were asked to attend a special meeting on Thursday, January 16 at 7 p.m. in the municipal building to discuss the proposal.

The proposal is part of a plan to revitalize the downtown area. It is envisioned, in the draft, that downtown Prestonsburg will offer a mix of retail shops, restaurants, and professional offices in a setting more appealing to individuals and families than that of the malls and large discount stores; moreover, a traditional small-town main street atmosphere. It is not the intent of the city to compete with the larger industrial chains, according to the proposal.

Representatives from Floyd County Arts, Inc., Brenda Crouch, president, and Charlotte McFall, secretary-treasurer, presented their goals and "plan of action" to the council Monday.

Crouch requested the city's help in reopening the Arts Expo which had been located in the old Dollar Store building during the holiday season.

Crouch explained that Frank Fitzpatrick was re-donating the building to the group rent-free from April through June, but had asked the crafters for an additional six-month commitment to remain in the building.

Crouch and McFall explained that the Floyd County Arts (association) was faced with funding the remaining six months rent of $500 per month, nine months in utilities payments, and nine months worth of liability insurance should they reopen. The Prestonsburg Industrial Authority had pledged to help and some of the funding could come from the crafters by way of booth rentals, but funding for the utilities and insurance is still needed.

Mayor Latta commended the group for the work they had done on the building and for the success of the Expo through November and December.

A recommendation was made for the Prestonsburg Economic Development Committee to look at the proposal and work with the Floyd County Arts to find a way to help the organization reopen in April.

Also Monday, council:
-approved use of the municipal parking lot by the regional office of the Kentucky Council on Child Abuse for a day-long public awareness event on April 4 regarding the prevention of child abuse.

-approved that regular council meetings be held on the second and fourth Mondays of each month at 6 p.m. (the same as last year).

-tabled the second reading of Ordinance 17-91 regarding flood damage because a correction needed to be made in the wording of the document.

-rescheduled to Wednesday, January 15 at 5 p.m. a meeting of the city Revenue and Finance Committee to discuss delinquent taxes and business licensing.

-commended the work done on the new bridge leading to the ballfields at Archer Park and suggested closure of the old bridge to automobile traffic.

It was suggested also that the old bridge remain open to pedestrians.

-adjourned to executive session, which was closed to the public, to discuss personnel matters.

The mayor and all council members, including new-comers George P. Archer and Gorman Collins Sr., were present for Monday's meeting.

Perkins explains Black Lung Bill at Black Lung Association meeting

On Saturday, January 11, 1992, Congressman Chris Perkins spoke at a meeting of the East Kentucky Black Lung Association at Betsy Layne. Congressman Perkins told the group of 70 former miners, their spouses and friends, about a bill he had been pushing to reform the Federal Black Lung Program.

Perkins said that presently only 3 out of 100 new claims are approved. The reform bill, which Perkins introduced, along with Congressman Austin Murphy of Pennsylvania, would make it easier for miners to collect black lung benefits. It would reduce the amount of evidence the miner is required to produce to prove disability, and it would limit the amount of evidence that could be introduced by the coal company opposing the claim. The bill would also automatically reopen approximately 200,000 claims filed before 1980, when strict regulations were used by the Department of Labor.

Perkins said that he has the votes to get the bill out of the Education and Labor Committee, but, given the weak economy, federal budget problems, and high cost of the bill, he does not have enough support to pass the bill in the full House of Representatives. Perkins also noted that most members of Congress do not have coal mines in their district, and they don't see the problems caused by black lung.

Perkins said he is committed to fight for the bill as it now stands. However he acknowledged that compromise may be necessary in order to accomplish something this term. One suggestion Perkins has heard is to drop all claims made before 1991 from the legislation. Perkins said "I'm trying everything I know to see if we can get something the administration can live with. I'm not going to fight and get nothing out of it."

The National Black Lung Association has scheduled a meeting in Prestonsburg for Saturday, January 25, at 11 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg.

Floyd miner discharged, files lawsuit

A Floyd County coal miner has filed a lawsuit with the Federal Mine Safety & Health Review Commission in Washington, D.C., alleging that he was unlawfully discharged by Kiah Creek Mining Company of Pikeville on August 13, 1991, for safety-related reasons.

The miner, Sherrill Steven Reid of McDowell, worked as a continuous miner operator at Kiah Creek's No. 1 mine located near Etty in Pike County. The lawsuit, which was filed on January 14th, alleges that Reid was discharged by his section foreman for not mining enough coal and for working too slowly during pillar extraction work. The miner contends, however, that he cut the coal pillars as deep as he safely could and worked as quickly as he safely could in light of hazardous roof conditions at the mine face.

Reid is represented in this case by Tony Oppgaard, an attorney with the Mine Safety Project of the Appalachian Research & Defense Fund of Kentucky. Claims made in the filing of a lawsuit present only one side of the case.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank our magistrate, Jackie Edford Owens, for his continuous efforts to keep our road in good condition.

We've lived in the same area for the past 24 years and he has made more effort in keeping our road in good driving condition than any other past magistrates.

Thanks once again Jackie!

Bite the bullet

by Scott Perry

About one-third of the projected $300 million state revenue shortfall could be recovered by freezing the salaries of state government employees, including teachers, according to Jones administration officials.

Another $100 million could be recovered by cutting salaries five percent.

The first proposal, which basically cancels a routine five percent pay hike, sounds reasonable given the economic state of the state.

In the real world, outside government, employee salaries are generally tied to the prosperity of their employers. A company that is going broke doesn't normally give its workers a pay hike.

State government employees should be treated no differently. Their employer is struggling, taxpayers are struggling, and they should take their bite out of the bullet, too.

Part two of the proposal, a wage roll back of five percent, provokes mixed feelings.

Teachers have waited a long while to get decent salaries. Asking them to take a cut would be a step in the wrong direction.

There is reason to believe, however, that Kentucky has too many people on the state payroll and reason to believe there is room for economy.

We don't want to see anyone put out of work, but salaries should not take priority over programs.

Implement the salary freeze.

Trim the payroll fat.

Hope that better days are ahead.

Legislative Perspective

Rep. Gregory D. Stumbo

with Rep. Gregory D. Stumbo

While anticipating the difficulties of a severe budget shortage with emotions less than eager, members of the 1992 House of Representatives are looking forward to 2 smoother session fine-tuned with cooperation from Kentucky's new Gov. Brereton Jones. Most legislative leaders in pre-session meetings with Governor Jones have experienced a sense of willingness to maintain an open dialogue on important issues confronting state policymakers.

This new found cooperative spirit comes none too soon in the face of the budget crisis, understanding that it will be difficult enough to set spending priorities when everyone gets along. The last thing Kentucky needs this year is a "Battle of the Budget."

And, it will be through this cooperation that the sanctity of the 1990 Education Reform Act will be protected. I think that the Governor and lawmakers will hold firm in their belief that there be no substantive tampering with KERA.

Besides education funding, legislators will be making decisions on whether to permit corporal punishment in public schools, confirmation of four state school board slots, and whether public dollars are appropriate for private school aid.

We can also anticipate consideration of several other issues, for example, the return of additional severance tax dollars to coal producing counties. The Governor has told me that he has not yet given up on his commitment regarding an increased return of the severance tax money but that it might occur the second year of the biennium. And, only a portion of the original fifty percent proposed may be committed.

A proposal for adequate health care for the estimated 700,000 Kentuckians who do not have medical insurance is being discussed. Legislation that would impose a tax on health-care providers, limit medical bills and roll back insurance premiums may be introduced. The Governor has a substantial background in health care planning and will play an active role in scrutinizing any legislation introduced in this area.

The quality of the Commonwealth's rivers and lakes may be the dominant environmental issue. Even so, the Governor is supporting a "container deposit" bill. Of course, I have supported this concept for years as it is a mechanism to clear up the berms of East Kentucky.

I encourage you to maintain an interest in issues that are being addressed during the 1992 General Assembly. You can check on the status of any bill being considered by calling 1-800-382-2455. Committee meeting schedules can be obtained by calling 1-800-633-9650 and to leave a message for me you can call 1-800-372-7181. Let me know if you are interested in a specific bill.

If you plan to attend a session of the General Assembly, please contact me so that I can assist you in obtaining a pass to the House gallery.

Report to Kentucky

by Senator Wendell Ford

KENTUCKY FARED WELL IN FIRST SESSION OF 102ND CONGRESS

In this week's Report to Kentucky, I would like to take the opportunity to look back over the first session of the 102nd Congress and revisit what I feel are some of the important decisions and initiatives that will greatly benefit the Commonwealth.

Space limitations prevent me from listing every item I would like, but nonetheless I want to touch on a few highlights of the past year in Congress:

A major piece of legislation passed by Congress that will have an immediate impact on Kentucky is the massive six-year highway authorization bill. Under this bill, Kentucky will receive about $1.7 billion over the next six years, an average of approximately $287 million per year. This authorization, which is approximately double the amount in the previous highway bill, will complete construction of the Cumberland Gap Tunnel, begin construction of the Maysville Bridge among numerous other road construction projects.

We were able to extend an additional 13 weeks of unemployment benefits to Kentuckians who, through no fault of their own, had found themselves out of work and exhausted their benefits. In addition to securing the additional 13 weeks, we were also able to shape a bill that will cover those workers who had exhausted their benefits on or before March 1, 1991 by allowing them to "reach back" for claims.

A proposed decision by the Tennessee Valley Authority to continue burning western-Kentucky coal at their Paradise and Cumberland plants averted what could have been an economic disaster to our state, especially the western region. As a member of the Senate Energy Committee, I will continue to take a keen interest in this and other moves to save mining jobs and prevent economic catastrophe from coming to our Kentucky coalfields.

Our state will also benefit from legislation to halt regulations issued by the Health Care Financing Administration that would have cost Kentucky's Medicaid program over $500 million this year. Under an agreement I was able to reach with the Administration, our state will have until July 1, 1993 to come into compliance without jeopardizing the health and well-being of 225,000 low-income and uninsured citizens.

We were able to turn around an ill-advised Administration proposal to cut funding for the Appalachian Regional Commission by almost $70 million and instead increase its funding by $20 million to $190 million for this fiscal year.

These are by no means every accomplishment our state made in this past session and as I stated earlier, space limitations keep me from listing everything I would like.

Our goal in the second session must be to build upon our successes in 1991.

Legislative Perspective

Rep. Russell Bentley

The old adage that if it weren't for bad news, there would be no news at all is certainly holding true in Frankfort, where intense discussions about the budget are continuing.

We convened the 1992 session of the General Assembly last week amid dire forecasts that there just would not be enough money to meet Kentucky's needs for the next two years.

Obviously, our state has been struck broadside by the national recession. Unemployment in Kentucky has also risen, according to the most recent figures. The result is that we just aren't taking in as much money as we expected.

And there are certain expenses we must find a way to meet: for Medicaid, health-care and education, to name a few.

It has become clear that our budget forecasts for the next two years were, while conservative, still much too optimistic. The Jones administration is talking of saving money wherever possible, even to the extent that layoffs of state employees and wage freezes are being considered.

One more thing is clear to me: Neither the General Assembly nor the people of Kentucky will permit another tax increase. We must live within our means and reduce costs where practical. That, as I see it, is our mission during the 1992 session.

This week, Gov. Jones will deliver his State of the Commonwealth address and we'll have a better idea where we stand. And Education Commissioner Thomas Boyson is scheduled to address us about the continuing implementation of the Education Reform Act of 1990.

I believe that protecting the gains made in our system of public education just two years ago must be one of the priorities of this session. And I'll do whatever I can, within our financial limits, to see that there is adequate money for these new programs.

One other issue figures to occupy a prominent position in our deliberations — campaign finance reform.

Kentucky, despite its relatively small population, has the fifth highest election cost per capita in the nation. Much too much money is being spent on winning political office in our state, $20 million last year alone. I expect reductions in the maximum contribution levels, overall spending limits and greater reporting requirements to be discussed very seriously in the coming weeks.

You can have an influential role in these discussions by using several tools we have in place for your participation in the legislative process. I encourage you to use these toll-free telephone lines:

The Calendar Line: For a daily schedule of committee meetings, call 1-800-633-9650.

Legislator Message Line: To leave a message for your legislator, call 1-800-372-7181.

The Bill-Status Line: To check the progress of a specific bill call 1-800-382-2455.

I look forward to hearing from you as we begin our three months of legislative activity.

Hunting for respect

One of the things I enjoy about being a ranger at Dewey Lake is that I get to be out in the woods a lot during the fall and winter. The farther I get away from civilization, the better I like it. But what really spoils an otherwise beautiful day, is the trash I have to look at when I'm out there. I would think that most hunters feel the same way I do. They would rather look at deer and squirrels rather than paper, cans, and bottles.

Now for the most part I have a lot of respect for hunters. Everyone I run into seems to like the woods as much as I do. They all tell me how much they enjoy being out there. But what I can't figure is, if they like it so much, then why do they keep leaving all their trash behind? Do they have any respect at all for the environment? A true hunter should really respect the outdoors. Well, this place must have a shortage of true hunters because if they did respect the outdoors, they wouldn't keep on trashing up the environment that is home for the animals they are hunting.

What you say? It's not me leaving my Vienna sausage cans and beer cans out there. It must be someone else. And all my buddies that hunt in the same place I do, it can't be them.

Well then, who is doing it? I have walked a lot of ridgelines and bad roads and somebody is out there throwing down the cans, the bottles, and the wrappers, and it ain't people out for a Sunday stroll. No, like it or not it's hunters, and they are littering the homes of the animals they are hunting. So what does a few cans here and there hurt anyway? Well who is going to pick up those cans? The answer is nobody. The trash is going to be there for ever and ever. And the piles of cans and bottles are going to get deeper and deeper over the years. And if someone says "so what" to the trash in the woods, then they probably don't really care that the streams and lakes are getting more polluted from garbage, sewage, and mine runoff. You just can't play favorites when it comes to this environment game. It doesn't work to say I care about the critters but I don't care about what I leave laying around the woods. It all adds up to this. What is going to be left for the kids when they get old enough to hunt?

Hunters argue that it is their born right to hunt and to be in the outdoors. I totally agree with that. They do have the right to hunt. But so do their kids. Well, will the next generation have anywhere left to hunt? Landowners are getting tired of letting people hunt on their land and later finding the place all trashed out. So they close their land off to everybody. Well something can be done about it, and it's not too late. It's time to show a little respect for the hunting areas. If your buddy leaves a memory of himself (like a can or bottle) on the ground, make him pick it up, or pick it up yourself, before leaving. If you don't, the next guy that comes along has to look at your trash, so you messed up his hunting experience, and if the next guy happens to be the landowner he might just say "I'm sick of this, so nobody gets to hunt here" and starts putting up No Trespassing signs. It's real simple. Take out what you take in, and maybe even take out what someone else left behind. Hunters need to set an example for everyone else to follow. They need to show everyone that they really do care about the woods. Their children's rights depend on it.

Sexton family to play at Appalshop

Appalachian Dust, a music group founded by Phil and Debbie Sexton, will perform traditional mountain and gospel music at the Appalshop on Saturday, January 25, at 8 p.m.

Phil and Debbie Sexton (Blackey, Kentucky) are son and daughter-in-law to Lee Sexton (Ulvah, Kentucky), and also play with Lee and Marion Sumner as the Lee Sexton Band. They founded the group Appalachian Dust to explore the musical heritage of the mountains in traditional and gospel music.

In their group Phil plays the banjo, which he learned from his father, Debbie plays the guitar, and they both sing vocals. Lee says he is pleased with Phil's banjo skill and supportive of the couple's expansion into their own music. Joining the Sextons in Appalachian Dust are Bobby Asher playing bass, and Danny Huff on dobro and mandolin.

Tickets for the January 25 concert are $4 and will be sold at the door. The Appalshop is located on Madison Street in downtown Whitesburg. For more information call (606) 633-0108.

Service honors Martin Luther King Jr.

On Tuesday, January 21, Pikeville College will sponsor a special chapel service in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The service has become a tradition at the college over the past several years, and has brought several outstanding speakers to campus for the event.

The speaker this year will be the Rev. Otis Turner, director of racial and ethnic policy for the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church (USA) in Louisville.

Rev. Turner has many years of experience both as an African-American pastor and a theologian involved in issues of ministry and social policy. No stranger to college campuses, he is a former supervisor of the Federal Trio programs.

This special chapel service will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday in Christman Auditorium in the Armington Science-Learning Center, with special music provided by Jerry Waddell.

For information about the non-denominational service, contact College Chaplain Robert Davis at (606) 437-3418.

Basketball teams form at Lancer Baptist Church

Exciting things are happening for the youth at Lancer Baptist Church.

Currently, the youth at the church are involved in basketball. They learn the rules of the game and learn the rules of good sportsmanship.

Each Sunday, the youth meet at the church for prayer and choir practice. Then they grab their sneakers and head for the gym at the National Guard Armory for practice and a game.

Because there are enough youth participating to form two basketball teams, the youth compete against each other. Each team has its own coach, also. Youths aged 12 through 20 may participate, and Mary Franklin, youth sponsor, urges Floyd County youth to become part of the excitement.

Last month, during the Christmas season, youth spent a rewarding five hours visiting various groups in the county.

First, they traveled to the Indian Hills high rise to present their nativity program. While there, they distributed bags of cheer to the residents.

Next, the youth presented their program and distributed their bags of goodies to those being housed at the Floyd County Detention Center. The youth were treated to a party by the center.

Continuing their day of goodwill, the youth next presented their program at Highlands Regional Medical Center. They distributed toys, donated by Adams Middle School's toy drive, to children there.

The last stopping place was the nursing home on Auxier Road. Again, they presented their program and distributed stuffed animals to residents.

The youth were exhausted by the time their day had ended, Franklin said, but they felt wonderful.

"When you give of yourself, what gift is greater," she said.

Pinned

Dr. Deborah L. Floyd, seated left in photo, and Robert R. Allen, right, listen as Wanda Bailey presented the graduation speech.

PCC holds pinning ceremony

Tears flowed and candles sputtered as Prestonsburg Community College held its emotion-laden Pinning Ceremony for the Fall Nursing Class on Thursday, December 19. Twenty-one graduates of the nursing program received their RN pins from Clara Garrett, Co-Coordinator of the Prestonsburg Community College Nursing Program.

Dr. Deborah L. Floyd, President of PCC, began the ceremony with a welcoming speech, but most of the program was conducted by the students themselves with Jenny Bottoms, Co-Coordinator of the PCC nursing program, serving as moderator. Wanda Bailey was chosen as the class representative to give the graduation speech and Tina Bengel, a PCC student just entering the nursing program, sang two emotional songs while nursing graduates and their families sobbed with pride. When the Nightingale Pledge was recited by Sharon Burchett, the entire audience was moved.

Safety With Kerosene Heaters

During the winter months, homeowners look for economical ways to cut their rising heat bills. Many people will use kerosene-fueled portable heaters to provide extra heat.

While kerosene heaters are useful by providing heat to a small area, they may be associated with potential hazards. The State Trial Lawyers Association wants everyone to have a safe and warm winter, and offers these safety tips.

When purchasing a kerosene heater, look for improved guards or grills that reduce the risk of accidental contact burns. Buy heaters that have a manual shut-off device which allows for quick shut-off during emergency situations such as high flaming. Also, look for heaters that have a positive wick-stop mechanism which prevents the wick from being retracted to a hazardously low setting. Purchase a heater that has been tested and certified by a nationally recognized testing laboratory.

Before using a kerosene heater, a good practice is to read aloud the instructions and warning labels to all household members. When using the heater, always keep a door or window open to allow adequate ventilation. Never place the heater less than three feet from combustible materials, or use the heater where flammable vapors like gasoline or paints are present.

Set the wick height according to the manufacturer's directions. It is especially important not to turn the wick below the manufacturer's recommended setting. If the room temperature becomes too hot, either turn off the heater or allow increased ventilation. The amount of heat produced is not regulated by lowering the wick. A partial glow in the burner usually means the wick setting is too low, which poses a fire hazard and increases the discharge of toxic gases. Always make sure the chimney is seated properly on the wick assembly to avoid fire hazards.

If flare-up (uncontrolled flaming) occurs, do not attempt to move the heater. If possible, activate the manual shut-off switch. Do not attempt to extinguish the fire with water or blankets. In most instances, the safest procedure is to leave the area immediately and call the fire department.

Finally, only use I-K grade kerosene. NEVER USE GASOLINE. Even small amounts of gasoline or other volatile fuels mixed with kerosene can increase the risk of a fire. Store your kerosene in a clearly marked container - not in a gasoline can.

Barnett selected to attend Young Leaders Conference

Clinton Barnett, 18, of Lexington, grandson of Clyde and Margie Hogsd of Martin, Johnnie "B" Stephen of Martin and Carmel Osborne of Florida, has been selected to attend The National Young Leaders Conference from January 21 to 26, 1992 in Washington, D.C. Having demonstrated academic achievement, leadership and citizenship, Barnett will be among 350 outstanding high school students from across the nation at the conference sponsored by the congressional Youth Leadership council.

The theme of the National Young Leaders Conference is The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today. Throughout the six-day conference, Barnett will meet with key leaders and newsmakers from the three branches of government, the media and the diplomatic corps.

Highlights of the conference will include welcoming remarks from a member of Congress on the floor of the United States House of Representatives and a panel discussion led by prominent journalists at the National Press Club. Students will also visit foreign embassies and receive a policy briefing from senior State Department officials.

Barnett will meet with Representative Larry J. Hopkins, Senator Wendell H. Ford, and Senator A. Mitchell McConnell, or designated members of their staffs to discuss important issues of personal concern to Barnett. Culminating the National Young Leaders Conference will be a four-hour Mock Congress on gun control during which scholars assume the roles of United States Representatives by debating, lobbying, and voting on proposed handgun legislation.

Founded in 1985, the Council is a non-profit, non-partisan educational organization committed to recognizing outstanding youth like Barnett and providing them with a "hands-on" — civic learning experience in the nation's capital. Over 375 Members of the United States Congress join in the commitment to educational excellence as members of the Council's Honorary Congressional board of Advisors.

"I firmly believe that by touching one life, the National Young Leaders Conference enriches thousands more," said John Hines, Council Executive Director. "Scholars return to their schools and communities charged with the lifelong duty of leading all Americans to better understand their rights and responsibilities in our participatory democracy."

Financing a college education with federal assistance

The federal government allocated some $18.4 billion for student financial assistance for the current academic year and will set aside a similar amount for the 1992-93 school year. To take advantage of this available funding, the Kentucky Society of CPAs recommends that interested students complete financial aid applications as soon as possible. With more than 13.6 million U.S. citizens continuing their education beyond high school, demand for federal grants and loans is likely to be great.

Although the student aid application deadline is May 1, 1992, students must often meet earlier deadlines set by schools in order to receive certain types of funds. What's more, the government may run out of funds long before the deadline arrives.

Investing the time and energy now to learn about available loans and the loan application process may help you obtain the financial assistance you need.

STAFFORD LOANS

The largest number of student loans are Stafford Loans (formerly Guaranteed Student Loans). These loans are made by a lender, such as a bank, credit union, or savings and loan association. Repayment of the loan, however, is guaranteed by the federal government. You must begin to pay the loan back six months after you graduate or withdraw from school.

Interest rates on Stafford Loans are generally low. To help the federal government reduce the cost of subsidizing these low interest loans, there is generally an "origination fee" of 5 percent. This is deducted proportionately from each loan disbursement made to you.

PLUS AND SLS LOANS

Like Stafford Loans, PLUS Loans and Supplemental Loans for Students (SLS) are made by a lender. However, interest rates are usually higher. Despite the higher interest rates, don't underestimate the value of these loans. PLUS enables parents to borrow up to $4,000 per year, to a total of $20,000 for each child who is a dependent student and is enrolled in a college or university at least half-time.

SLS enables graduate and independent undergraduate students to borrow the same amounts, and like PLUS loans, comes with variable interest rates. Generally, PLUS and SLS borrowers must begin repaying both principal and interest within 60 days after the last loan disbursement.

PELL GRANTS

A Pell Grant is an award to help undergraduates pay for their education. Unlike loans, these grants do not have to be repaid. The maximum award for the 1991-92 academic year is $2,400. The amount of the grant depends on a number of different factors, including the cost of tuition at the school, whether the student is enrolled full-time or part-time, and whether the student attends school for a full academic year.

CAMPUS-BASED PROGRAMS

Additional financial assistance is usually available through programs administered by schools. These include a Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG) for undergraduates with exceptional financial needs; low-interest Perkins Loans, made available to both graduate and undergraduate students through a school's financial aid office; and the College Work Study Program which provides jobs for undergraduate and graduate students who need financial aid.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Aid from most of the federal student financial aid programs, except for PLUS and SLS loans, is awarded on the basis of financial need. You are also required to be a U.S. citizen with a high school diploma or General Education Development Certificate. If you do not have either of these certificates, you must take a test designed to measure your ability to benefit from the education you are seeking.

Grades are also a factor in determining your eligibility. You must demonstrate that you are making satisfactory academic progress, which in most cases means maintaining at least a "C" average.

HOW TO APPLY

You can obtain a federal financial aid form from your high school guidance counselor or a college financial aid office. The following forms should be available:

- * "Application for Federal and State Student Aid" (AFSSA)
- * "Singlefile Form"
- * "Family Financial Statement" (FFS)
- * "Financial Aid Form" (FAF)

The forms needed to apply for federal financial aid are free. However, if you also want to apply for non-federal aid, you may have to pay a fee.

Generally, it takes four weeks for your application to be processed, at which time you will receive a Student Aid Report (SAR). The SAR will contain the information you gave on your application, plus numbers that tell you about your eligibility for specific federal aid programs. Don't be surprised if you are asked to verify the information reported on your application.

SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES

If you feel you have special circumstances that might affect your eligibility for financial assistance, the Kentucky State Society of CPAs recommends that you speak to your financial aid administrator. After considering the specific circumstances, the administrator may change a student's dependency status or even reduce the amount you and your family are expected to contribute to your education.

Regional service center to be in Morehead

The Department of Education's Regional Service Center for north-eastern Kentucky will be located on the campus of Morehead State University, commissioner of Education Thomas C. Boysen announced recently.

In December Boysen selected the FIVECO Area Development District in Ashland as the location of the center to serve the following counties: Bracken, Robertson, Bath, Mason, Fleming, Menifee, Morgan, Johnson, Martin, Lawrence, Elliott, Rowan, Lewis, Carter, Greenup and Boyd.

After reconsideration, Boysen said Morehead was chosen because it was more cost effective and because Morehead had made a substantial commitment to education reform.

Smile Awhile — by Sarah Hopson

IN THE HEAT OF THE NIGHT

Rarely a day goes by that someone doesn't ask me where I get the ideas I write about in this column: The following story is an example:

This past Saturday, a friend of ours from Manila (the one located in Johnson County) rang our doorbell and announced that he had left a friend for our dog, Butch, in our backyard. I suppose Butch overheard the conversation because within seconds, he was scratching to get out the back door and visit his "friend," an auburn colored female companion named Sable. Sable was no stranger to Butch. She had visited him once last summer and from his vulgar display of elation, he was glad she was back.

After fixing them a snack, I left Sable tied to the swingset and went back into the house to do some work. Twenty minutes later, I heard noises coming from the back so I went to investigate. Looking out the window,

I noticed Sable was gone and Butch was howling in agony. Terrified that I had allowed something to happen to a visitor, I ran out the door and saw Sable running around the yard. After 10 minutes of chasing her, I managed to lasso her and drag her into the house where I tied her securely to the refrigerator door. When I got her calmed down, I went back to my work and waited for Jimmie to come home and rectify the problem.

Five minutes later, Butch came running into the room and begged me to follow him into the kitchen. There, sitting smugly in front of the open freezer door was Sable, eating the last of the ice cream sandwiches. How was I to know that by tying her to the door, she would pull it open and help herself to the contents? After all, she was a guest! When Jimmie got home, he fixed Sable a place to sleep outside and locked the gate.

At 11 o'clock that night, as we prepared for bed, Butch wanted to come in the house. When I got up to let him in, I noticed Sable had entwined herself around the swingset so I went outside and untangled her rope. That's when Butch decided that he was going to stay with her. I told them good night and went back to bed.

At 11:23, Butch began scratching on the outside bedroom door. I again got out of bed and let him back in. At approximately 11:45, Butch asked to be let out again. I started to refuse, but Sable was howling in the back yard. Once more, I got up and let him out. Awakened again at 1:15, I let Butch in and for the second time that night, put on my coat and shoes and untangled Sable from the swingset. Without boring you to death with details, this scene was repeated at frequent intervals until 6:31 a.m. the following morning. If I thought J.R. and his friends had kept us up all night on occasion, Butch's friends were a heck of a lot worse.

At this point, you're probably asking yourselves why I allow a mere dog to control my life. It's all right to ask. Jimmie asks me the same question on a daily basis. It's a long story, but in the beginning, Butch was not a house dog. He only became a house dog when, in our absence, a severe thunder storm prompted him to gnaw the window pane slats from our doors. Because of this, I let him in the house whenever it rains. One particular rainy night, he wanted out "after" the storm and attempted to let himself out by chewing through the blinds. His escapades were so costly that I trained him to let us know when he wanted in or out. I thought it was an ingenious idea, but this time it backfired.

Sable left the following afternoon, but she might be back. It was obvious to everyone — even the grandchildren — that she and Butch got along well together because they kept asking, "What is Butch doing to that dog, PoPo?"

Like Jimmie says, "I might be exasperating to live with, but it's certainly never boring."

It'll let you know how it turns out in three months.

PCC's Circle of Love project made Christmas brighter

Christmas was a little happier for 230 people thanks to the Circle of Love project sponsored by PCC's Phi Theta Kappa club. Social service agencies in Floyd, Johnson, Martin, and Pike Counties and various citizens organizations submitted the names of needy people wishing to be "adopted" for Christmas. No one was disappointed. The recipients ranged in age from 2 months to 62 years, and the total number of gifts was 287. Most adoptions were made by PCC faculty and staff, but Highlands Regional staff members adopted 24. Other assistance came from the PCC Foundation Board, which donated $250.00; Sears and Wal-Mart also assisted.

Local students visit PCC zoology lab

On Friday, December 13th, from 9-10 a.m., Dr. John Shiber, Professor of Biology at Prestonsburg Community College, once again opened up the zoology laboratory in the New Science Building to Prestonsburg Elementary School students. Mrs. Deborah Derossett's third grade class (numbering about 24 students) and four of their parents enjoyed a "hands-on" tour of the facility, where they were allowed, under supervision, to look through the microscopes at various tiny organisms, such as the common flea, head lice, ticks, mites, pillbugs and sowbugs.

A great many preserved specimens, representing most phyla of the animal kingdom, were on display, from sponges (Phylum Porifera), corals and jellyfish (Cnidarians), to roundworms (Nematoda), marine and earth worms (Annelida), clams, oysters, octopus (Mollusca), sea urchins, sand dollars, starfish (Echinodermata), and sharks, bony fish, snakes, birds, frogs, turtles, and embryos of mammals (Chordata=Vertebrates). In addition, taxidermy specimens of squirrels, a mink, a raccoon, and an immense wild turkey were on display for the children and parents to enjoy.

Assisted by Tommy Cantrell, a student taking his animal biology course, Dr. Shiber talked to the students about the different specimens regarding their physical characteristics, where they can be found, and, when applicable, how they affect human life.

The children thoroughly enjoyed learning about these creatures. Dr. Shiber said, "I am a great advocate of educational exchange for the benefit of our young people and I encourage other teachers in the area, elementary and secondary alike, to make an appointment to visit the zoology laboratory at PCC with their students."

Because of the New Science Building, Prestonsburg Community College is unique among even four year colleges in the fact that it has separate laboratory facilities for botany, zoology, and microbiology.

Later the same day, Dr. Shiber's wife, Elaine, contributed some of her time to present a short program at Prestonsburg Elementary School for four of the second grade classes, in which she talked a little about life in France and the way that French children celebrate Christmas. The children were allowed to ask many questions and had fun counting in French. They even learned a few French songs and, most importantly, learned to say "Merry Christmas" in French: "Joyeux Noel".

Assisted by Tommy Cantrell, a student taking his animal biology course, Dr. Shiber talked to the students about the different specimens

Floyd County Grade School Tournament To Continue Tonight

Floyd County Grade School tournament director Rick Hancock has released an updated schedule for the continuation of the tournament at Maytown. Hancock said that if school resumes today (Friday) the grade school tournament's second session will be played tonight beginning at 6 p.m. The third and fourth sessions would be played Saturday beginning at noon and then again at 5 p.m.

The semifinals of the tournament is scheduled for Monday evening at 6 p.m. for the upper bracket and Tuesday evening for the lower bracket. The championship rounds will take place on Wednesday night, January 22, for the girls only. The boys championship match will be played on Thursday, January 23, at 6:30 p.m.

"The split championship rounds are to accommodate the coaches in taking their teams out to eat and in the awarding of trophies," said Hancock. "But also it gives us split championship nights and we can better handle the crowd."

The Maytown gym had been limited, by the fire marshal, to only 300 people in the first session, but with the extra exit door opened the crowd number has been raised to 500.

"We feel 500 will handle all who come to the sessions, except for the semifinals," said Hancock. "We may have a problem there. It will depend on the teams in the semifinals."

Maytown, as the host school, wanted to avoid the problem that they are experiencing with the size of the crowd by holding the tournament in the Allen Central gym. But, according to Hancock, the officials at Allen Central required a payment of $100 per night plus $100 per night for custodian clean up. Also, the school would have to pay an electrician $100 per night for his presence in case of problems. That amounts to $300 per night expenses.

"We just couldn't afford to hold the tournament there," said Hancock. "We could have cleaned the gym up ourselves and saved that money. I thought the school property belonged to the board and we should be able to use it at no cost."

According to E.P. Grigsby Jr., Assistant Superintendent, there should have been no charge for the use of the Allen Central gym.

"It is school board property and Maytown should have been permitted to use the facilities there," said Grigsby, "but maybe pay the janitors for cleaning it up."

Hancock said that if there was no school today (Friday), then sessions two and three will be played Saturday at the Maytown gym and the other changes will be announced later.

The second session will involve the Adams Middle School and Prater Creek girls. Their game will start at 6 p.m. tonight, if all goes as scheduled. In the second game tonight, Stumbo Mustangs will face the Bulldogs of Duff at 7:30 p.m.

Saturday's third session will have the Martin girls going against Melvin in the noon game and the Adams Middle School playing McDowell in the 1:30 game. In the evening session on Saturday, the Stumbo girls will be matched up with Allen in the 5 p.m.

game and Martin boys will take on Betsy Layne in the 7:30 p.m. game.

Trophies to be presented after the championship games include the winners and runners-up trophies. Each player on the winners and runner-up teams will receive individual awards. There will be a 12 team All-

Tournament team named. A team and individual free throw trophy will also be presented. First, second and third place cheerleaders will receive a trophy, also. A Coach-of-the-Year plaque will be awarded in the girls and boys division.

Trojans, Lady Rebels Win Big Conference Games

Trojans Hold Off Betsy Layne 70-67

It looked scary for the Wheelwright Trojans Tuesday night at home against the Betsy Layne Bobcats. The Trojans had to hold on in the closing minutes of the final period to secure their fifth consecutive win overall and their third conference game with a 70-67 squeaker against Junior Newsome's young ball club.

Poor shot selection in the final minutes of the game for Wheelwright saw the Bobcats clawing their way back into the game and almost pulling off the upset.

Harold Johnson poured in 29 points and hauled down 12 rebounds to lead the Trojans to their ninth win of the season against only four defeats. This is the best start for a Trojan team in several years. The 3-0 conference mark keeps the Trojans atop the Floyd County Conference, something they are not accustomed to. Mike Newsome, who many feel is the difference in this year's team, tossed in 14 points and had 10 rebounds with three block shots. Newsome is more aggressive on the boards and in playing the middle. He moves much better without the ball than a year ago. John Hall, who nailed three three-pointers, netted 12 points and hit two of his three treys when the Bobcats were making a run at the Trojans.

Jonathan Tackett scored 17 points to lead Betsy Layne in scoring. Brian Hunter and Jody Coleman each scored 15 points with Shawn Wallen finishing with 11 points. Wallen had two three-pointers and Chuck Laferty, off the bench, had one trey.

With 2:05 remaining in the third period, Betsy Layne was clinging to a 44-43 lead on two free throws by Tackett. Jimmy Helton slipped inside the lane and hit a short jumper to give Wheelwright the lead and Hall hit a three-pointer to run the margin to four points, 48-44. Newsome pulled down an offensive rebound and put it back to give the Trojans a six point, 50-44 third quarter lead.

Newsome pulled down one of his own missed shots, slipped across the lane and laid it back in to give Wheelwright a 52-44 lead. After back-to-back baskets by Tackett and Brian Hunter cut the lead to four, Wheelwright ran off the next seven points

Lady Rebels Win Over Prestonsburg

When the Allen Central Lady Rebels and the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats met on the hardwood at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse in a very important Floyd County Conference game, a high scoring affair from the two teams was expected.

As it turned out, both teams resembled elementary teams in a very half and the scores proved it. It was 8-3 after the first quarter and 15-14 at the half. Not big numbers for a high school game. However, the Lady Rebels took one step closer to a conference title with a 50-48 squeaker over Prestonsburg that ran their conference record to 4-0.

After a time out, the Lady Cats applied the pressure full court on the Lady Rebels and it was whole new ball game

The game was important to both teams but more so to Prestonsburg who had already suffered a conference loss earlier. Also the game was on Prestonsburg's home floor where it is imperative to win home games and a conference title. Three of Allen Central's conference wins have come on the road, putting them in the driver's seat.

Stanley's 17 Points Give Betsy Layne 60-39 Conference Win Over Lady Trojans

The Betsy Layne Lady Cats pretty much had things their way at Wheelwright Tuesday night as they posted a 60-39 win over the Lady Trojans of Wheelwright.

Ashla Stanley tossed in a game high 17 points to lead the Lady Cats to win number five against four losses.

The Lady Bobcats improved to 2-1 in conference play. Misty Clark added 13 points in the Betsy Layne win with Dee Dee Martin netting six points.

Stephanie Little led Wheelwright with 14 points, and Sheena Collins scored seven.

Betsy Layne jumped to a quick

10-0 lead until Little's basket broke the string. Clark came out smoking with two quick baskets for a 4-0 lead. Martin hit a turn around in the lane before Misty Johnson's baseline jumper made it 8-0. Clark's layup completed the 10-0 run.

Wheelwright had problems holding on to the basketball in the opening quarter as they had four consecutive turnovers. Betsy Layne scored six straight points on three baskets by Stanley for an 18-4 lead. Collins' free throw and a basket by Little made it 18-7 at the first stop.

Betsy Layne took a 17 point lead to the locker room at the half on the strength of shooting by Clark and Martin. Martin had four points in the period with Clark hitting a three-pointer and a free throw.

Martin's basket with 5:15 remaining in the third period gave Betsy Layne a 41-22 lead. Two baskets by Little and Collins' two free throws cut the margin back to 13 points, 41-28.

Betsy Layne's biggest lead was at 20 when Kristy Osborne hit a three-pointer to make it a 50-30 game at the start of the fourth period.

Wheelwright had problems holding on to the basketball in the opening quarter as they had four consecutive turnovers.

Lady Cat Melena Gearheart To Have Surgery To day

Betsy Layne Lady Bobcat freshman Melena Gearheart is scheduled to undergo surgery today at Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington for injuries she suffered last Sunday in an automobile accident. The surgery is to correct injuries to the spine area.

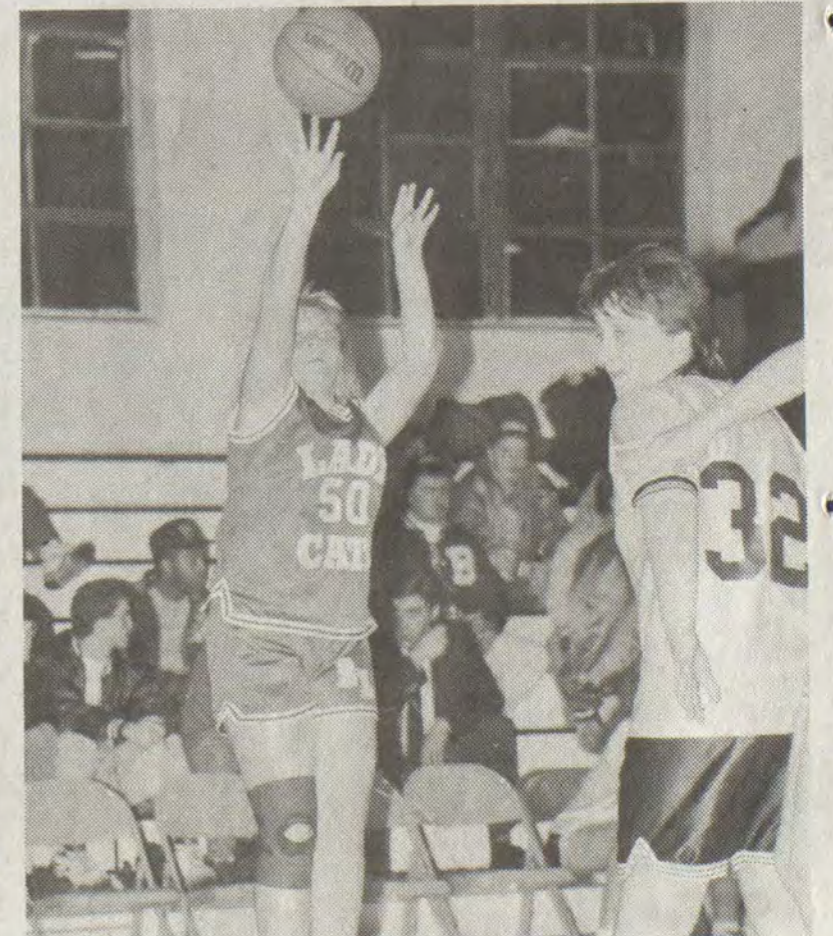

"The doctors said that, if our team makes it to the state tournament, I would be ready to play by then," said Gearheart from her hospital bed Thursday. "But I will be ready to play this summer and next year."

Gearheart suffered the injury when she was riding in a truck on Little Mud with some friends. The truck flipped and Gearheart was injured. None of the other passengers, though, suffered injuries.

Melena is the daughter of Walter and Sharon Gearheart of Harold. She played on the Lady Cats basketball team this season and misses playing the game that she loves.

Anyone wishing to send a card to Melena at Central Baptist may do so my mailing their get well cards to Central Baptist Hospital, 1740 Nicholasville Road, Lexington, KY 40503. She would love to hear from you.

Good Ball Movement Helps Sheldon Clark To Subdue Cold Shooting Allen Central, 70-38

They don't look like a 17th ranked state team when they take the floor, but all doubt is erased after watching the Sheldon Lady Cardinals, defending champions of the 15th Region, handle the Lady Rebels of Allen Central on an off night of shooting for the Lady Rebs.

It had to be the worst shooting night for coach Bonita Compton's ball club — normally a good outside shooting ball club. The Lady Cards shut down the outside shooting of Staci Moore, who the Lady Rebels look toward for their three-point shooting. Not only was the outside shooting slowed, but the inside game was intimidated by the taller Sheldon Clark middle. Allen Central had to play without their starting center Veronica McKinney, who is nursing a foot injury.

Sheldon Clark placed three players in double figures, led by Jennie Kirk's 27 points. The hot shooting guard burned the nets all night long against the pulled-in Allen Central defense. Kirk hit three three-pointers and had several assist also. Cindy Horn, in the middle for Sheldon Clark, had a good outing with 16 points and Jackie Harless added 12 points.

Jenny Yates was the Lady Rebels' top scorer with 12 points and Jenny Wiley tossed in 10. Angela Bailey scored six points with Moore and freshman Marsha Brown getting five each. Brown is also another solid outside threat but was harnessed as well. Brown, up the game with Sheldon Clark, hit 11 of 19 three-point attempts this season — perhaps a state record.

"I sent the information into the state," said Coach Compton. "I haven't heard anything from them as of yet."

Central came out with fire in their eyes as they scored the first six points of the game on fast breaks. Yates scored two layups and Wiley hit a short jumper off the left side to make it 6-0 Allen Central. But from that time on the fire went out as the state's 17th ranked Lady Cardinals tied the game with 6:01 to go in the first quarter and after a basket by Bailey to give Allen Central an 8-6 lead, it was all Sheldon Clark. A three-pointer by Kirk gave the Lady Cards their first lead at 9-8 and they never looked back, rolling out to a 20-10 first quarter lead.

Sheldon Clark had very good ball movement, moving the ball around the perimeter for the open shot. The middle opened up and it was Horn inside.

Sheldon Clark held a 32-13 halftime lead as the Lady Rebs could only manage three free throws in the second period. The patience of Sheldon Clark picked the defense of Allen Central apart.

Central came out with fire in their eyes as they scored the first six points of the game on fast breaks.

The lead went to 25 points, 50-25, at the end of the third quarter. Allen Central had 18 turnovers in the game to Sheldon Clark's 9.

Wiley played a strong third quarter for Allen Central as she posted down the block and hit the short turnaround jumper. Wiley scored eight of her 10 points in the third.

Allen Central (3-4) travels to Betsy Layne tonight to face a young but good Betsy Layne Lady Bobcat team. The Lady Cats have already put one county power team in their lair when they handed Prestonsburg an overtime loss. Next week, Allen Central will be playing in the Kentucky All "A" Classic at Elkhorn City.

Sheldon Clark improved to 10-3 on the season.

Every man, deep down, is a fisherman.

Allen Central, McDowell, Wheelwright To Play In Kentucky All "A" Classic Next Week

The Allen Central Lady Rebels, Wheelwright Lady Trojans and McDowell Lady Daredevils will take a break from the grind of their regular basketball schedule and participate in next week's Kentucky All "A" Classic regional tournament to be held at Elkhorn City starting Monday night. Eleven teams will be present for the prestigious tournament.

Elkhorn City will meet Paintsville in the opening game of the tournament in a 5:30 p.m. start. In the second game of the tournament, McDowell will face county rival Wheelwright in a 7 p.m. contest. In the final game of the evening, Johns Creek will play Phelps at approximately 8:30 p.m.

The tournament continues on Tuesday night when Allen Central faces the Elkhorn City/Paintsville winner at 6:30 p.m. Feds Creek will take on the winner of the McDowell/Wheelwright game in an 8 p.m. game.

Tournament play will get underway Wednesday night at 6:30 p.m. when Pikeville faces Millard and at 8 p.m. Mullins will take on the Johns Creek/Phelps winner.

The semifinals will take place Thursday, January 23, with the finals scheduled for Saturday evening at 8 p.m.

The winner of the sectional title will play in the state tournament at Eastern Kentucky University at Richmond on February 6 against the winner of region eleven or ten winner.

Lady Rebels

light and dark, life and death, there was a vast difference in the way the two teams played in the second half. The game was the type expected from the start.

Allen Central built a 12 point advantage in the third period as they came out smoking. The Lady Rebels ran off the first eight points while coach Bonita Compton was cheering them along on the sidelines. When it was over, the rally included a 15-2 run that netted them the 12 point lead, 29-17. Prestonsburg turned the ball over three times and the Lady Rebs converted all three turnovers. One was a three-point basket by sophomore Marsha Brown.

Prestonsburg had their moment also in the third quarter as they put on a drive themselves. After a time out, the Lady Cats applied the pressure full court on the Lady Rebels and it was whole new ball game. Prestonsburg took Allen Central completely out of their offense and climbed back into the game cutting the 12 point deficit to one, 36-35, as the third quarter ended. Down six points, 33-27, Keri Merion and Carolyn Reffitt nailed three-pointers Merion. Angela Bailey tied the game with a charity toss at the 4:19 mark.

After an exchange of walking violations, Wiley missed two free throws but Moore grabbed the second missed shot and hit a short jumper for a 44-42 advantage. But it was the hot shooting of Reffitt that kept the Lady Cats ahead on a long three-pointer and a 45-44 game.

With 1:20 showing on the scoreboard, Prestonsburg was whistled for a traveling violation. Moore was fouled and hit both tosses to give Allen Central a 46-45 lead.

Following a Prestonsburg time out, Merion went to the free throw line where she missed on the bonus attempt. Moore grabbed the rebound and on the trip up court was fouled. Moore hit both free throws for a 48-45 game. With 14 seconds remaining, Reed made it one point with two free throws. Two seconds came off the clock and Wiley was put on the line for Allen Central where she canned both tosses to make it 50-47. Six seconds left, Reed attempted a three-pointer and was fouled on a mental breakdown by a Lady Reb player. Reed was awarded three free throws and a chance to tie the game.

However, Reed misfired on the first one and hit only the second as Allen Central rebounded the ball and held on for their fourth conference win.

Wiley and Moore led the Lady Rebels in scoring with 15 points each. Jenny Yates finished with eight and Angela Bailey seven. Reed had 14 points to lead Prestonsburg. Reffitt, who hit three three-pointers, finished with 11. Melissa Bailey, who was double teamed during the game, managed six points but was nothing for seven at the free throw line. Cain and Music each had six points. Merion scored five with one three pointer.

Allen Central plays tonight at Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg will travel to Wheelwright.

Ratliff's 26 Points Keeps Prestonsburg Frosh Perfect In 69-59 Win Over Rebels

Thomas Ratliff tossed in 26 points, including four three-pointers, to lead the Prestonsburg freshman team to their fifth consecutive win of the season as they defeated the Allen Central Rebels 69-59 Wednesday night at Prestonsburg. The game was a preliminary to the Allen Central/Prestonsburg girls game. Ryan Ortega had a good outing for the Blackcats adding 17 points in the win.

Jeremy Hall had 21 points to lead Allen Central. Byron Gearheart tossed in 17 points.

Prestonsburg built a 20-point advantage, 51-31, midway of the third period as the Blackcats put together their running game and fine tuned their defense after the first half. Toby Robinson hit a jumper and Ratliff's free throw followed by Larry Morris' basket ran the Prestonsburg's lead to 13 points, 41-28. After a free throw by Blackburn for Allen Central and Hall's field goal, Prestonsburg ran off the next 10 points for a 20 point lead. Jason Burke hit an off side jumper and Ortega buried a three-pointer to get the spurt underway. Ratliff added a free throw and field goal to make it 49-31.

Allen Central did not quit but came back and cut the margin to nine points as time was running out in the final period. Clint Shuts gave Prestonsburg a 55-36 lead with a basket to start the fourth quarter. But the Rebels outscored Prestonsburg 12-4 to get back in the game. Gearheart hit a jumper and then added two free throws for a 55-40 game. After

T. Tom Slone scored on a layup, Blackburn's free throw and two charity tosses by Gearheart made it a 57-43 game. Conn scored on a layup and then connected on the back end of a two shot foul for a 57-46 game. Stumbo then hit a lay up and was fouled. Stumbo missed the free throw but the Rebels were within striking distance at 57-48.

Prestonsburg pulled their lead back out by 13 points, 64-51, on a basket by Ortega. Allen Central cut the margin back to nine points again, 66-57, but could get no closer.

Prestonsburg led at the end of the first quarter 13-11 and went to the locker room with a 35-28 lead.

Prestonsburg built a 20-point advantage, 51-31, midway of the third period as the Blackcats put together their running game and fine tuned their defense after the first half.

Allen Central scored the first six points of the game on baskets by Conn, Hall and Gearheart. The Blackcats came back with seven unanswered points to take a 7-6 lead. Ortega had two baskets and Ratliff one. Ortega hit a three-pointer to give Prestonsburg the lead. Gearheart scored for Allen Central but was offset by field goals from Ratliff and Ortega for an 11-8 game. Allen Central tied the game on a three point play by Gearheart but a basket by Ortega gave Prestonsburg the 13-11 lead.

The Rebels grabbed the lead in the second quarter at 21-17, after trailing 17-14, on a 6-0 run. Hall hit a jumper, Gearheart a layup and Stumbo drilled a three-pointer for the lead. Back-to-back three-pointers by Ratliff gave Prestonsburg the lead for good at 26-22.

Robinson finished with seven points for Prestonsburg and Larry Morris scored six. Jason Burke added five and T. Tom Slone four. Shuts scored two points.

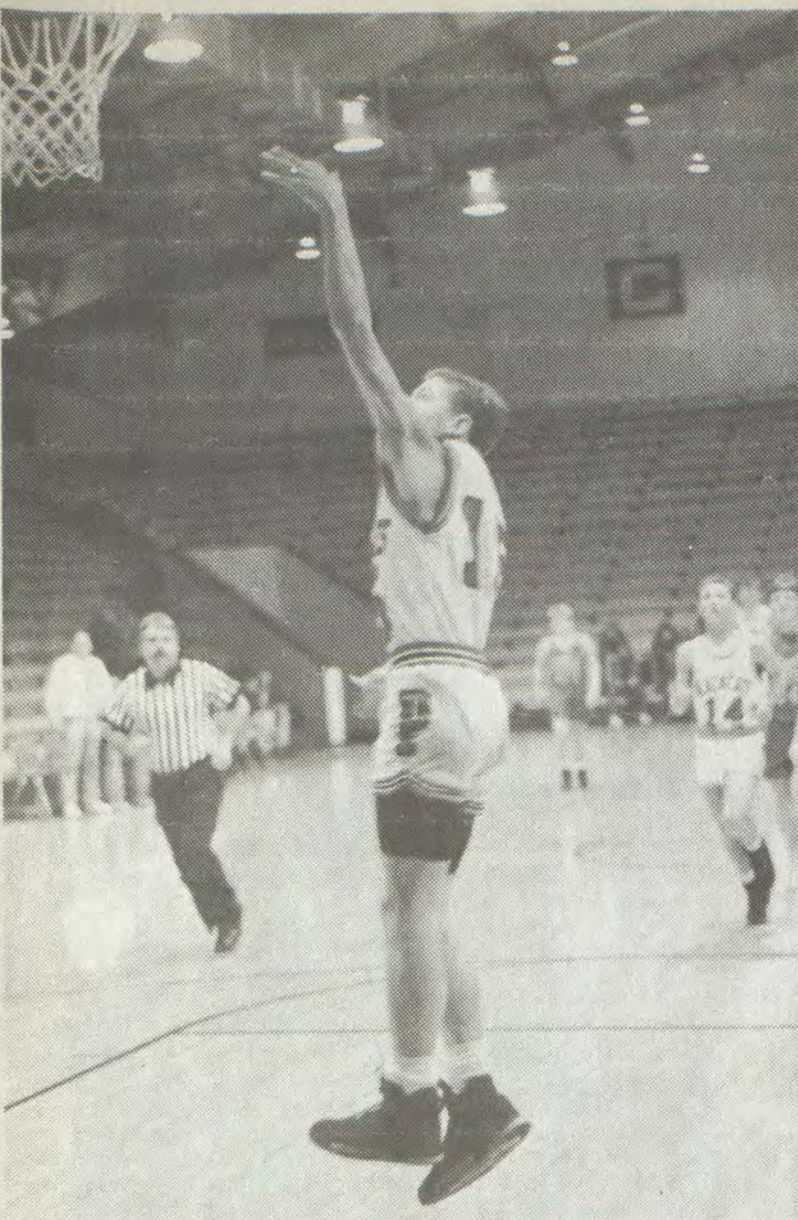

Brad Blackburn had seven points for the Rebels and Stumbo finished with eight. Conn scored five.

Trojans

for their biggest lead of the evening, 59-48. Helton connected on the back end of a two-shot foul and Newsome hit the front of a two-shot foul before Hall drilled another three-pointer. Two free throws by Helton completed the run after Betsy Layne had turned the ball over.

The Bobcats began their comeback on a basket by Tackett on a nice feed from Coleman. Taking a Wheelwright missed shot, Tackett drove down the court and into heavy traffic, where he hit a short jumper and was fouled by Newsome. Tackett completed the three-point play to make it a 59-53 game. Wallen had a chance to cut deeper into the lead but misfired on the front of a bonus shot. Johnson hit a spinning jumper in the middle to send the Trojans back up by eight, 61-53. With 3:21 remaining, Betsy Layne committed a turnover against Wheelwright's press, and Layne Bailey was fouled and sank both free throws to give Wheelwright, what seemed like a safe lead, a 63-53 advantage.

Hunter connected on two free throws for Betsy Layne with 3:03 remaining in the game. Johnson kept the lead at 10 points with two charity free throws. Jason Akers grabbed a rebound for the Bobcats and stuck it back in to cut the lead to eight 65-57. Wheelwright turned the ball over against Betsy Layne press and Hunter was fouled and finished off the two free throws for a six point game. Wheelwright again could not stand prosperity and turned the ball over to the Bobcats again with Wheelwright coach Jackie Pack calling for a time out to settle his squad down. After the time out, Coleman hit a short baseline jumper for a 65-61 game as the fans got back into the game.

With :52 showing on the scoreboard clock, Hall hit the front end of a two shot foul and Bailey followed with two charity tosses for a 68-61 Betsy Layne lead. But the Bobcats refused to go away. Hunter scored underneath off a feed from Tackett. After Bailey missed on a free throw attempt, Wallen hit the first of two to make it 68-64. On the second attempt, Wallen missed but Hunter grabbed the rebound where he was fouled by Hall, his fifth personal, with 13 seconds remaining. Hunter, like Wallen, hit the first of two and missed the second for a 68-65 game as the Wheelwright crowd became nervous.

With 11 seconds remaining, Mike Newsome toed the foul line and missed on a bonus shot and Tackett rebounded the ball, went the length of the court and hit a jumper to cut the lead to one, 68-67, with three seconds showing. On the in-bound play, Johnson was fouled with no time running off the clock. Johnson hit both ends of the free throws to make it 70-67. Tackett attempted a three-pointer from midcourt that hit the rafters as the horn sounded.

Betsy Layne jumped out quick in the first period as they led 12-7 on the shooting of Tackett and Coleman. Each scored six points in the first quarter to take an 18-13 lead.

In the second stanza, things changed as the Bobcats saw the Trojans chip away at the five point lead to tie the game on three-point play by Newsome. Johnson took a pass on a fast break and gave Wheelwright the lead at 27-25 as the Trojans were on top 32-27 at the half.

Hall finished with 12 points for Wheelwright and Helton added seven. Layne Bailey only scored four points on four free throws, but played an excellent floor game at point guard picking up several key assists.

Wheelwright (9-4) will host Prestonsburg (4-5) tonight for their fourth conference game at home. The Trojans will then play the remaining four on the road beginning Tuesday night at McDowell.

Betsy Layne (4-8) will host the Allen Central Rebels (3-4) tonight at the D.W. Howard Fieldhouse in an important conference game for both teams.

REUNION NIGHT AT MCDOWELL HIGH SCHOOL

February 21 has been designated Reunion Night at McDowell High School. All former graduates and coaches will be recognized during the basketball game between McDowell and Greenup County, as well as all seniors.

FOUR JR. VARSITY BLACKCATS NAMED JV ALL CONFERENCE

Four Prestonsburg Blackcat junior varsity football players were named to the All-Conference team of the Junior Varsity All-Conference League. Named were Jody Cornette, sophomore running back; Thomas Ratliff, freshman quarterback; Larry Morris, freshman linebacker; and Seth Elliott, freshman offensive lineman.

The conference was formed with the purpose of improving the quality of play in younger players. One of the efforts to accomplish this task was the forming of the junior varsity conference which would allow the players to focus on a common goal just as the varsity teams focus on the district championships.

The newly formed conference consisted of six teams last year but plans to expand to two or three sub-districts this coming season with 14 to 15 teams competing. Each of these sub-districts will have a championship team and then the champions will play each other for the overall conference championship.

Last year's conference champion was Hazard High School with a tie for the runner-up spot between Prestonsburg and Leslie County. Each team had 4-2 records.

These general purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the City of Martin, Kentucky's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these general purpose financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the general purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the general purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the general purpose financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the City of Martin, Kentucky as of June 30, 1991, and the results of its operations and changes in financial position of its proprietary funds for the year then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.
