Speaking of and for Floyd County

USPS-2027-0000
Volume LXV, No. 50 50¢Board's choice for school chief gets state vetoby Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The Floyd County Board of Education's choice for superintendent of schools was vetoed by Education Commissioner Thomas Boysen Tuesday and Boysen's pick is scheduled to be interviewed Thursday.

Commissioner Boysen rejected William Zitterkopf, a Nebraska educator, that the board chose at their June 16 meeting saying he lacked the experience necessary to run a school system the size of Floyd County.

Boysen, instead, asked the board to consider Steven Towler, former superintendent of the Hardin County School System.

Interim superintendent Eldon Smith tried to reach Towler by phone during the meeting but was unsuccessful. The board adjourned the meeting until 6 p.m. Thursday to interview Towler if he be in attendance.

Towler was one of the 104 applicants seeking the superintendency in Floyd County, but he was not among the final five candidates selected by a screening committee.

In a letter to the board, Boysen said he felt that Zitterkopf lacked the "depth, breadth and length of experience" to take control of the Floyd County system.

Boysen said he felt the board had overlooked Towler who he described as "an outstanding" candidate.

Zitterkopf, however, said he would accept Boysen's decision, but that he did not agree with him.

"I disagree with the commissioner, especially with the tone that I lack the depth, breadth and length of experience," Zitterkopf said Tuesday. "I have varied experience in all areas of schools. I do want to thank the people of Floyd County, the board and the screening committee for their confidence in me. I'll just take it from here."

Board members felt somewhat disappointed with Boysen's decision.

"I feel let down that Zitterkopf didn't pan out," chairman Ray "Shag" Campbell said. "I'm disappointed, but those people went out to Nebraska and talked to the people."

Campbell added that Towler was a recommendation from Dr. Ken Scott, with the Kentucky School Boards Association that the board hired to further investigate the candidates.

Board member Tommy Boyd said he thought Zitterkopf should be given a chance.

"How's anyone going to get any experience if he don't get a chance," Boyd said. "I'm a little disappointed because he impressed me when he was up here for the interviews."

Screening committee chairman Carol Stumbo said she was not "hung up" on the final five candidates and hoped the best person would be chosen for the job and the community be allowed to meet with the candidate.

Property negotiations between Eastern Kentucky Racing Inc. owner Clyde Woods and Prestonsburg businessman Jack Absher and Pike County coal operator Hobart Potter may signal a new chapter in the continuing saga of intertrack wagering at Kentucky Downs.

Ched Jennings, attorney for Eastern Kentucky Racing, confirmed Tuesday earlier reports that Woods had commissioned studies of property jointly owned by Absher and Potter.

The property, approximately 35 acres of flat land created by the construction of Route 3, is located in Floyd County near the Johnson County line.

Although the city of Prestonsburg annexed the originally planned site for the track at Watergap earlier this year so that the track would be within city limits, Mayor Ann Latta said Tuesday that city officials "have no problem" with Woods' apparent decision to locate the track elsewhere.

"As long as it benefits Floyd County, we're happy," Latta said. "The property that they're looking at now does seem a little better suited for the project. This way we won't have to move a mountain."

Absher cautioned that any plans to locate the track at the newly proposed site are still tentative, pending further study. He said that he and Potter were scheduled to meet today, Wednesday, with Woods and Floyd Big Sandy Health Care, Inc. took no action Monday in the removal of its chairman, currently suspended part-time Floyd County deputy Larry Newsome.

Newsome, 45, was indicted last week on federal drug trafficking charges. He allegedly illegally distributed 261 tablets of the Schedule III and IV drugs Darvocet, Xanax, Darvocet and Tylenol with codeine.

Although Big Sandy Health Care operates the Mud Creek Clinic in Floyd County and the Magoffin Clinic in Salyersville, its director Jim Stewart said Monday that Newsome did not acquire any of the drugs mentioned in the indictment at either of the clinics. He added that most of the drugs Newsome is accused of improperly distributing are not available at those facilities.

Stewart cited the absence of Big Sandy Health Care's attorney William Francis, Jr. as the reason that the board took no action against Newsome, and said that Newsome had requested to maintain his position as chairman until his term expires in November.

Newsome entered a not guilty plea last Wednesday. If found guilty at his trial in U.S. District Court in Pikeville on August 28, Newsome could be sentenced to up to five years in prison and fined $250,000 on each count.

A Floyd County man has pleaded guilty to lesser charges after being accused of sexually abusing a minor.

Bryan Nelson, 23, of Middlecreek, pleaded guilty last Thursday in Floyd District Court to one count of first degree criminal abuse and two counts of first degree unlawful imprisonment.

The first degree criminal abuse charge was lessened to second degree criminal abuse, a class D felony.

Each of the charges brought against Nelson carry a maximum sentence of five years in prison, although Nelson's attorney requested that he be sentenced to no more than two years per charge.

Nelson will be sentenced on Friday, July 10.

Agency suspends critical counselorby Scott Perry
Times Editor

An outspoken critic of the administration at Mountain Comprehensive Care Center has been suspended from his job as a mental health counselor in Martin County.

John Burgess was notified of his suspension June 19, the day after he was accused of disrupting a Mountain Comp board meeting in Prestonsburg. City police were called to that meeting by board chairman Phillip Damron, but Burgess was not charged.

Burgess was notified June 19 by Mountain Comp executive director that he had been suspended from his job pending an investigation into allegations Burgess had violated agency policy; had provided false information concerning the agency and staff members; had failed to abide by agency policies and procedures; had damaged the agency's business reputation; and that he was insubordinate and failed to follow instructions.

Burgess claims he has been suspended because of his criticism of the agency and his efforts to promote representation on the Mountain Comp board from Martin County. He claims his efforts to have Martin Countians named to the five-county agency's board have been ignored by the Mountain Comp administration and the board.

Burgess said he attended the June 18 meeting of the Mountain Comp board at the request of the board chairman and to provide details of his accusations against the agency's administration but he was not allowed to speak on the issue.

The police were called to the scene, board chairman Phillip Damron said Tuesday, when Burgess refused to follow agenda guidelines and wait until the public comment session of the meeting to speak.

Damron said there was "no con-

Counties eye pact to keep landfillby Susan Allen

Officials from five counties, including Floyd, are considering entering into an interlocal agreement to operate the Floyd County landfill.

County judge-executives from Knott, Morgan, Martin, Johnson and Floyd counties met Tuesday morning in the Floyd County Courthouse Annex to discuss their options concerning the disposal of solid waste because Floyd County will close its landfill by June 30.

Floyd Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo told officials, however, that an application has been made to construct a temporary three-year landfill at the location and it should be ready to accept garbage by July 1.

What would such an agreement mean to Floyd County?

Judge-Executive Stumbo said that he "hoped" monthly rate increases would not be passed on to Floyd County residents and that any increase needed to offset the costs of a temporary and permanent facility would be passed on to other counties.

In Johnson County, for example, Judge-Executive Gail Gillem said that the counties participating in the arrangement would have to agree to a long term commitment to use Floyd County's landfill. That commitment could double or triple monthly household garbage rates in Johnson County, Gillem said.

Johnson County just this year implemented universal garbage collection.

"If everybody plays and everybody pays, we could be looking at only small increases," Gillem said.

Gillem, along with the other judge-executives, said that if the percentage of participants in the collection program could be increased to 100 percent, the total cost per household could be held down.

"The people have learned to accept the fact that the garbage will be picked up, but they've not accepted

Cousin turns on cousins in theft case

Bobbie Roberts, charged on March 14 with theft by unlawful taking, pleaded guilty Tuesday to assisting in an apparent shoplifting spree through Prestonsburg to obtain wedding apparel for his cousin, Jeannie Jacobs Fouts.

Fouts and her sister Betty Thomas were also arrested and charged with theft. Prestonsburg police found approximately $1,500 worth of stolen merchandise in Roberts' vehicle, including a wedding dress and veil. The shoplifting spree has gained national attention, and members of the wedding party have appeared on the Phil Donahue show.

At the time of his arrest, Roberts claimed he was simply taking his cousins shopping.

Tuesday, Roberts insisted he had stolen nothing, but agreed to plead guilty to misdemeanor charges in exchange for a 90-day probated sentence and his testimony. The plea was offered by Assistant County Attorney Robert Bishop.

Roberts said Fouts and Thomas lied about his involvement and he feared their testimony would be too much for him to overcome.

"They may be my first cousins, but them lying on me like that, I'll put them away," said Roberts. "I'll tell everything I know; I'll put them behind the jail."

Roberts, 25, of Topmost, also said he witnessed Dan Fouts, the bridegroom, take several pairs of pants from a store. Fouts said he reported the theft to the police, but that Dan Fouts was not charged.

Roberts said Jeannie Jacobs took the blame for her bridegroom and that "they was trying to get me back for turning him in."

Study predicts county population will declineby Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

A recent study conducted by researchers at the University of Louisville shows that Floyd, Harlan and Pike counties are among 71 Kentucky counties that will experience a mild decline in population during the next decade.

The "How Many Kentuckians" study, based on information contained in the first state population baseline projections from the 1990 nationwide census, indicates that the state of Kentucky will lose .2 percent of its population this decade, .9 percent by the year 2010, and 1.6 percent by the year 2020. These figures are based on the assumption that demographic trends of the 1980s will continue.

According to census reports, Floyd County currently has a population of 43,586. The University of Louisville study predicts that Floyd County's population will drop to 38,807 by the year 2000, 34,488 by 2010 and 31,744 by the year 2020.

Pike County's current population of 72,583 is expected to drop to 63,086 by the year 2000, 55,952 by 2010 and 49,869 by 2020.

Researchers at the University of Louisville included in their report another data series, allowing for moderate growth because of reduced outmigration, as a guide for planners and policy-makers who may need to plan for that contingency.

Although those figures are slightly more optimistic, showing Kentucky's population growing from 3,685,296 in 1990 to 3,927,504 by 2020, population figures for Floyd and Pike counties still show mild decline. According to those adjusted figures, Floyd County's population by 2010 would be 41,746 and Pike County's would be 67,365.

Three disability issues become laws

Despite the drying up of revenues, opportunities and services for Kentuckians with disabilities are beginning to flourish in a new climate of awareness and concern.

Three major bills—for Supported Living, for Civil Rights and for Birth Defect Registry—were initiated by the Kentucky Disabilities Coalition and shepherded through to victory by a more caring and supportive administration and legislature. All three were signed by Governor Brereton Jones in April, and should markedly improve the lives of many citizens.

House Bill 447, sponsored by Representatives Louis Mack (D-Lexington) and Bob Heleringer (R-Louisville), establishes a state Supported Living Council and, after two years, Regional Supported Living Councils, to set standards, develop and monitor a Supported Living program for Kentuckians with disabilities, in collaboration with officials in the Cabinet for Human Resources. The 10-member councils will be made up of people with disabilities, family members and care providers.

Supported Living will allow family, friends, neighbors and professionals to provide highly individualized services to people with disabilities so that they can choose where they live, become an active part of the community, improve everyday-living skills, and begin to make choices and control their own lives.

House Bill 372, sponsored by Rep. Mark Farrow (D-Stamping Ground), establishes a Birth Defect Registry to identify conditions early, so that families can find and use needed services in time to improve, or even prevent serious problems. A Birth Defects Registry will also help the Kentucky Department of Health find out which conditions are prevalent and where, in order to bring services where they are needed and reduce problems.

Senate Bill 210, sponsored by Sen. Joe Meyer (D-Covington), gives the 640,000 Kentuckians with disabilities access to the same right as their fellow citizens by bringing Kentucky into compliance with the federal Americans with Disabilities Act.

The Kentucky Disabilities Coalition (formerly Kentucky Coalition for People with Handicaps) represent 75 consumer, professional and family groups, with a combined membership of 10,000, sharing the common goal of a better life for Kentuckians with disabilities.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Finally, a presidential campaign issue that doesn't concern the vice president's ability to spell potato or whether or not Bill Clinton is the father of Murphy Brown's baby.

Clinton released his economic proposals Sunday, offering a welcome respite from the all-too-typical tripe which, for some God-only-knows reason, has idiots like Arsenio Hall as a key player in the political process.

Clinton's proposals even make some economic sense:

He proposes the creation of a Rebuild America Fund with $20 billion in federal dollars to invest in the areas of transportation, communications and environmental technology;

He proposes higher taxes for people earning more than $200,000 per year, a millionaire's surtax and an alternative minimum tax;

He proposes education, training and childcare for welfare recipients for up to two years after which they must take a job or perform community service;

He proposes increased funding for Head Start and giving parents a choice of public schools for their children while also allowing college students to borrow for their educations, repaying those loans with post-college earnings or through community service;

He proposes health care cost controls and universal coverage with businesses required to cover employees and public programs taking care of the rest;

He proposes reducing the deficit by half over four years, with the biggest spending cuts coming from defense;

He proposes higher Medicaid costs for those with income of more than $125,000 per year; and

He proposes ethics reform restricting the influences of special interest lobbyists.

Will Clinton's economic program get as much publicity as his ability to play the saxophone?

Only your late-night talk show host knows for sure.

Our copy of the June edition of the Interim Legislative Record, published by the state's Legislative Research Commission (LRC), must have been missing some pages.

The Record, which offers info on legislation proposed or working its way through the General Assembly also gives some news summarizing the Frankfort goings-on.

The June edition offers a recap of the '92 session noting "The overriding story of the 1992 session was Kentucky's slow-growing economy."

What about the FBI swoop during the session's closing days and the allegations of influence peddling and bribery?

Not a word to be found.

Lost in the shuffle? Not likely. The LRC membership includes all the legislators who make up the General Assembly leadership.

Creative editing, no doubt.

The Magoffin County Fiscal Court ought to start charging admission to its monthly meetings if the last one is a sign of things to come.

At last count, about 20 people were involved in a melee at that meeting after a court magistrate and a county physician exchanged words and then punches.

Instead of circulating meeting agendas, the court ought to put out fight cards, sell popcorn and bargain TV rights.

No, not creak, croak. That's because our son's pet frog has vanished or, at the least, escaped.

We suspect our mischievous Siamese twins, Betty and Veronica, may have abetted the terrarium break but neither will submit to a polygraph.

Despite a room-to-room frog hunt, the suspect, described as being about two inches tall with a green, wart-like complexion, remains at large.

The purpose of this letter is in support of Paul Hunt Thompson and his department for the excellent job he has done in this county for all citizens, young and old alike.

I personally know for a fact that he is the one to go to when you want the correct answers to questions about drugs and other things that are destroying our young people and their families in this county.

I've been in the position for years to talk and listen to young people about drugs and alcohol usage as well as the effect it has had on them and their friends.

I've never asked Paul Hunt to be anyplace to help or answer questions that he has not been there doing more than what I asked of him and his department.

Anyone who cannot see a difference in this county as far as drugs of our children, have never read the front page of The Floyd County Times or listened to the news on WYMT-TV.

Please give this man the credit he deserves.

The problem with this county for too long has been the do-gooders that are also the do-nothings except to criticize the people who are trying to do what is best for the young people of Floyd County.

On June 18, I attended a board meeting of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center. I had submitted a list of grievances at the last board meeting a month ago. As of this date I had heard nothing whatsoever in reply.

I attended this meeting in hope of finally getting an answer to my list of eight grievances. When the board members arrived, my concerns were the first thing on the agenda.

Mr. Damron informed me that my services had been adequate and that my case was to be closed.

Out of eight grievances given to the board, this was an answer to only one of them. When I tried to speak, Mr. Damron, in a very discourteous and rude voice, told me the "SUBJECT IS CLOSED!!!" and refused to let me speak.

I felt insulted and belittled by the lack of respect shown to me. After all, all I wanted to know was how they come to their decision and if they would recommend another facility for the services.

I realize Mr. Damron and the board were angry with me because of a previous letter I had submitted to the paper. However, as professional people involved in the mental health business, I felt they should have behaved in a more professional manner.

It seemed they were more concerned with getting rid of the problem than in solving it. Their attitude seems to be one of "ignore it and it will go away," showing closed minds and lack of interest and care.

As a Vietnam Veteran who had relied on MCCC for medication and counseling for several years, I now feel total contempt for this agency. I would urge all other Vietnam Veterans to reconsider and take their services elsewhere before MCCC turns its back on them as it has turned its back on me.

And in closing, Mr. Damron, I would like to thank you for showing me and the other clients exactly where we stand concerning MCCC.

SOCIAL SECURITY EARNINGS RECORDS—GETTING WHAT YOU DESERVE

An Opinion
by Martha A. McSteen
President
The National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare

Have you ever checked your Social Security earnings record? If not, you may want to make a note to do so. It could mean more money in your pocket down the road.

Few people know that between 1978 and 1984, more than $58 billion in wages were not credited to the Social Security records of an estimated 9 million working Americans and beneficiaries. Additional errors between 1984 and 1988 raised the total to about $68 billion.

These errors are important because how much workers earn and how long they work are key factors in determining the amount of Social Security benefits they receive. Inaccurate records mean a possible loss of benefits.

The findings came from a General Accounting Office report that prompted the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare to sue the Social Security Administration and the Internal Revenue Service to correct those records and implement proper procedures to make sure they don't recur.

Finally, after a four-year battle, the fight is over. The lawsuit has been settled. The Social Security Administration and IRS have agreed to implement procedures that will go a long way towards ensuring accurate and timely crediting of employee wages. Equally important, the government also agreed to make it easier for present and past workers to correct incorrect records and apply for any retroactive payments. For example, the agency also will accept a claim if the government has a record of a person's earnings in the year immediately before or after the year in question, and the claimed earnings are consistent with the worker's earnings history.

Currently, correcting an earnings error can be difficult because it requires all kinds of paperwork and records that may be difficult or impossible to obtain.

I strongly urge all working Americans and Social Security beneficiaries to call or visit their Social Security office every few years to request a Personal Earnings and Benefits Estimate Statement and check their earnings record.

A little effort now could save you a lot of unnecessary headaches in the future.

THE AMIL PROGRAM: A VICTORY FOR ALL OF US

Common sense and the interest of Eastern Kentucky won out when a House subcommittee refused to abandon a federal emergency program that helps people threatened by hazards related to surface mines.

I can't help but take personal pleasure in the action this past week by the House Subcommittee on Interior Appropriations because I've been fighting hard to preserve this program.

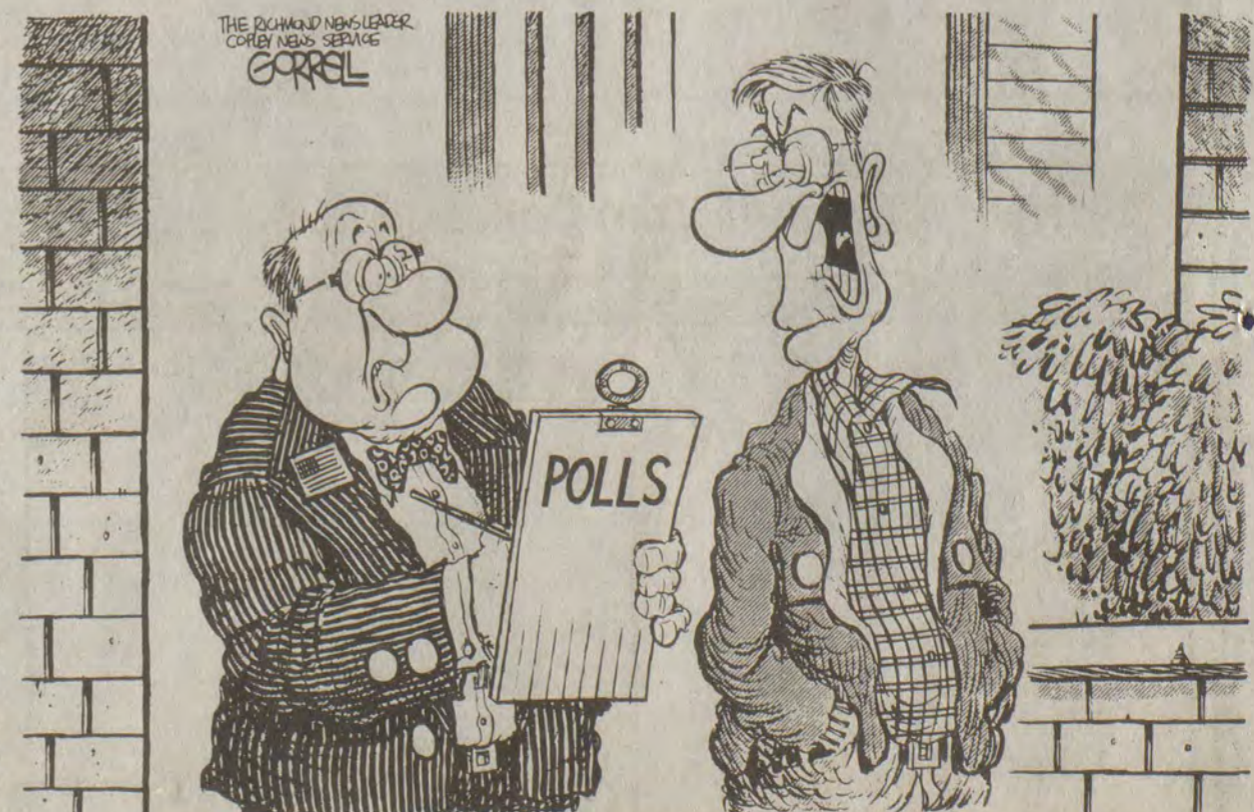

But it's not my victory, alone. It's a victory for all of us in Eastern Kentucky.

The emergency program was created in 1977 to provide an immediate response to mining-related slides, subsidence, coal refuse fires or other incidents that threaten people and their homes.

The Administration proposed that states take the program over from the federal Office of Surface Mining as a way to save money.

Without the ability to move quickly on emergency repairs and without the federal emergency program, Kentucky and other states would be left without the emergency relief they need.

That's why the rejection of this proposal was so important to our people. That's why I've fought so hard to keep the federal program intact. That's also why we can all breathe a collective sigh of relief today.

KBT thanks delegation for support

Kentuckians for Better Transportation was in Washington recently to thank members of the Kentucky Congressional Delegation for their support of the Surface Transportation Act of 1991.

KBT President Jack Fish said Kentucky's share of federal highway and transit funds rises dramatically with the new act. Over the past five years Kentucky's highway apportionments have averaged $176 million per year. Under the new act Kentucky's normal apportionment will average $280 million annually—more than $100 million more per year. He noted that Kentucky's return on revenues sent to Washington rises from 79 cents on the dollar to 94 cents.

Fish noted KBT had supported a continuation of an Interstate construction category and said the bill recognizes the need for more Interstate-type highways through provisions for high priority corridors on the National Highway System. While most of the corridors that affect Kentucky are only partially funded there are a number of them that will be extremely beneficial to the state. These include:

I-66, TransAmerica Highway (feasibility study); I-73/I-74 that would run along Kentucky's eastern border from Cincinnati to I-77 near Bluefield, W. Va.; and,

I-69 from Indianapolis to Memphis, via Henderson and the Purchase Parkway.

Noting that there are those in the Congress who continue to urge higher taxes on motor fuels for the purpose of balancing the General Fund budget, Fish expressed KBT's appreciation to the delegation for their continuing opposition to diversion of user fees. He said if there are increases in user fees there is ample evidence the fuels are needed in the highway program.

In regard to the proposed I-66, the delegation was asked to support funding of preliminary engineering for the highway (assuming positive recommendations from the feasibility study) in the FY '94 budget. Fish said this should be in the range of $30 million to get the project started.

KBT is a broad-based transportation alliance that includes in its membership industry, businesses, chambers of commerce, local governments, and providers and users of transportation.

Fly-In

Books and more books

PCC selected for national leadership development project

At a recent meeting in Washington, D.C. Prestonsburg Community College's chapter of Phi Theta Kappa received international honors. Hassan Saffari received the International Giles Advisor Award and Linda Smith received the International Chapter President Award. The local PCC Chapter also received the highest chapter honor, the Five Star Chapter. President Deborah Floyd was named Kentucky's Presidential Ambassador to Phi Theta Kappa.

Mississippi's Governor Kirk Froidice, the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society announced at a press conference June 16 in Jackson, Mississippi that Prestonsburg Community College has been selected as the only site in Kentucky to participate in a new national Leadership Development Program. Funded by 1.8 million dollar grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, and led by the Phi Theta Kappa International Office, this program targets community college students and adult community members who aspire to leadership roles.

The program addresses one of America's most critical problems: the education and advancement of tomorrow's leaders today. The major aspect of the program includes the offering of a leadership development course.

Two Prestonsburg Community College faculty have been selected as project faculty, to receive specialized training, and to teach the leadership courses. Dr. William J. Loftus, Assistant Professor of Psychology, and Laura Lynn Weddle, Assistant Professor of Nursing, will travel to Mississippi to work with the project staff colleagues from 50 other colleges on this National Leadership Development Program. Beginning January, 1993, they will teach the leadership courses at Prestonsburg Community College. These courses will initiate the first year of a three-year pilot project designed to result in various leadership programs for students and the community. PCC's Academic Dean, Robert R. Allen, and PCC's President, Deborah L. Floyd will serve as the project administrators for curriculum planning.

No program of this scope or magnitude has ever been available to more Americans at the community and grass roots level. "This program has been designed to provide rich insight into leadership through special skills modules and multi-cultural readings from the humanities that will unleash the leadership potential of America's communities. This course offered through the nation's two-year colleges will ensure the ready accessibility of this program to not only community college students but adult community members aspiring to leadership roles or already in them," said Rod Risley, Executive Director of Phi Theta Kappa and PCC's recent commencement speaker.

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation was established in 1930 to "help people help themselves." This private grant-making foundation provides seed money to organizations and institutions that have identified problems aimed at solutions. According to PCC President Deborah L. Floyd, "We are thrilled to have been selected to serve in a lead capacity with this project. Empowering our students and community with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes to make a difference is an important priority of Prestonsburg Community College."

Approximately 50 colleges representing over 30 states and U.S. territories have been selected to participate in this Leadership Development Program. Prestonsburg Community College is the only Kentucky college selected.

Struggle in the mountains

by Carolyn Traum

The Unquiet Earth by Denise Giardina of Whitesburg, formerly of David.

This is a moving and brilliant novel, which spans the 1930's through the 1980's in the coal fields of West Virginia and Kentucky.

The book looks at the people's struggle to maintain their lives against the brutal forces of oppression, neglect, poverty, and disaster.

The main characters are passionate Dillon Freeman and his more conventional cousin Rachel Honaker. Best friends as children, as they grow older they realize, and are torn apart by their forbidden love for each other. Rachel consigns herself to a loveless marriage and careful avoidance of Dillon. He in turn enlists to fight in World War II and, upon his return, against the big time coal company and the dark shadow of destruction it casts across Blackberry Creek.

Rachel's daughter, Jackie, as a journalist, fights against injustice by exposing American Coal's methodical destruction of the community. Like her mother, Jackie falls passionately in love with a young man with whom a conventional relationship is not possible.

Denise Giardina creates, with brutal honesty and painful insight, a carefully woven narrative tapestry and a generational saga that builds to a climax as shattering as any recent American fiction.

Editor's Note: Denise Giardina will be at the Bookworm on Wednesday, June 24, from 12:30 until 2 p.m. to autograph copies of The Unquiet Earth.

I TOLD YOU SO

The Cincinnati Reds continue their slide and by the All-Star break the Reds will be fortunate to be holding second place.

The Atlanta Braves' pitching staff put the hurt on the Red machine and the anemic bats of Barry Larkin, Paul O'Neil, Chris Sabo and a host of others failed to add to the 4 1/2 cushion they had built. What happened? A number of things.

- The Reds were very impatient at the plate. The Atlanta pitchers didn't have to work too hard because the Reds were hitting the first or second pitch. Braves pitchers stayed ahead in the count and did not have to pitch from behind because the Reds batters failed to be patient.

- Lack of aggressiveness at the plate. Billy Hatcher and Glenn Braggs (two good minor league players) like their pitches out of the strike zone. Braggs likes his in the dirt and Hatcher above the head.

- Poor decision on the part of manager Lou Piniella on who to play and when to play them. Why was Bill Doran on the bench for the most part of the four game series? Why play sub par players like Hatcher and Braggs when you have better on the bench? O'Neil continues to struggle against any kind of pitching — not just left-handers.

One thing fans can not fault was the starting pitching of the Reds in the four game set. True, the Braves pitching was a tad better than the Reds but that was only because of the terrible bats of the Reds. Outside the performance by Tim Belcher in the opening game, the Reds pitching was great. When you get beat 3-2, 2-1 and 2-0 you can not fault your pitching.

In order for the Reds to win anything this year, Larkin, O'Neil, Sabo and Doran are going have to produce some offensive numbers. Larkin's largest ever contract has him playing his worst baseball. Fans keep expecting him to snap out of his offensive doldrums but it may be too late. O'Neil is a robust 2 for his last 44 at bats. WOW!

Watch out Lou, the Braves will be in town this weekend and the San Diego Padres are nipping at your heels.

HOW TO THROW HELMETS, WATER COOLERS DEPARTMENT....

If you want to know the right technique in tossing a helmet or water cooler, just keep watching the pros.

Cincinnati Reds pitcher Tim Belcher did a great job of throwing the water cooler after being removed from the game last Thursday. Now, if he had thrown the baseball like he did the water cooler he might have finished the game.

When it comes to tossing batting helmets, no one does it better than Paul O'Neil. O'Neil has the art down pat but he should after striking out so much.

DONE SOMEBODY WRONG DEPARTMENT....

Done wrong were the college basketball players of America! The Olympics were taken away from them and handed over to a bunch of cry baby millionaires who could care less if the USA brings home the gold or not.

Professional basketball players should not be playing the games in Barcelona, Spain, but the game should be left with the collegians.

How many young men have there been who dreamed of one day playing for their country in the Olympics? Now, if they don't make it to the pros, their chances become zero.

Bluegrass State Games good competition

While the 1992 Bluegrass State Games is in full swing in Lexington July 24-26, one former Games competitor will be going for the gold for the USA at the summer Olympics.

Lexington super swimmer Megan Kleine will be competing in the 100-meter breast stroke at the Olympics in Barcelona, Spain.

"Right now I'm more excited than nervous," says the 17 year old, who will be a senior at Henry Clay High School this fall.

Kleine, who has been swimming since fourth grade, has participated in numerous swimming competitions over the years, including the Bluegrass State Games.

In 1987 she won three gold medals and a bronze at the Games. "It was exciting getting those medals," recalls Kleine. "It was good experience."

Kleine encourages young people — whatever their sport interest might be — to compete. "Any type of competition is good, especially the Bluegrass State Games," she says.

At the Olympics Kleine will swim the 100-meter breast stroke, the event she considers her best.

"I've always dreamed of the Olympics but I thought '96 would be my best shot. But I'm glad to go early."

Besides the physical benefits to swimming, Kleine says it helps a person in many other ways.

"It teaches a lot of discipline. It takes up a lot of time and I've learned to manage my time. It also teaches dedication and determination."

For the past few months Kleine has been extremely busy training, preparing for the trip and answering many questions from the news media. "It's a busy time, but an exciting time," she says.

In addition to being a superb swimmer, Kleine is an excellent student. (See Bluegrass, B 2)

P-burg Cubs clinch title

It has been a good year for the Prestonsburg Cubs and the season was climaxed by a clinching 2-0 win over a very tough Prestonsburg Reds team. The Reds have been the only team in the Prestonsburg Senior League to hand the Cubs their only two losses. Earlier this past week, the Reds posted a 9-6 win over Cecil Lester's ballclub.

But it wasn't to be this past Saturday as the two ballclubs hooked up in a good old-fashioned pitcher's battle between Jeremy Osborne and Jerry Lafferty.

Lafferty tossed a two-hitter in picking up the win. Osborne, who did not pitch bad at all, suffered the loss for the Reds. Lafferty struck out four batters and walked only one. Osborne had no strike outs but he was equally in control with only two walks.

"We played some good baseball," said Cubs manager Cecil Lester. "I believe it was the best game of the year for us."

While Lafferty was only allowing two hits, Osborne scattered four hits for the Cubs. The Cubs scored all the runs they needed in the first inning on a lead-off walk to James Jarrell. Jarrell stole second and scored on Jason Hackworth's RBI double.

Mike Roberts sacrificed Hackworth to third base where he scored the second run on an error at first base. Lester rolled a pitch to first that found it's way through the legs of the Reds first sacker.

Jason Spencer collected a one-out single for the Reds in the top of the first inning, stole second and third but was left stranded after Lafferty got Jeremy Osborne and Larry Morris to pop to short.

The Cubs threatened in the bottom of the inning on a lead-off base hit by Mike Kelly. Kelly was balked to second but was cut down when he attempted to steal third. With two out, Jason Pack walked and James Jarrell doubled. Pack tried to score all the way from first base and was nailed at the plate for the third out.

The Reds had a runner on third base but was unable to score in the third inning. Spencer walked with two outs, stole second and third but was left at the third when Jeremy Osborne popped out to third base.

The Cubs went out in order in the

Lester hurls, bats Cubs to win over Tigers

It was a lustrous performance by Lester. William Lester that is. Lester took to the mound for the Prestonsburg Cubs senior league team and tossed a three-hitter, but he was the man from the plate also. The Cubs pitcher collected two hits and drove in four runs to lead the Cubs to a 9-5 win over a determined Prestonsburg Tiger team.

Lester received credit for the win in the route-going performance. Although he did not strike out anyone, Lester had the Tigers hitting the ball on the ground where the defense of the Cubs took charge. Lester issued five walks in the five inning game.

Also starring from the plate was Jerry Lafferty and Mike Roberts with three hits each. Lafferty had two runs batted in.

The Cubs scored four runs in the third inning to break open a close 5-4 game. In the inning, Jason Pack walked and James Jarrell was safe on a catcher's error before Jason Hackworth popped out to short. Mike Roberts reached losing pitcher Ryan Ortega with a base hit that loaded the bases. Lafferty then delivered a single scoring Pack and Jarrell. Lester followed suit with a two-run single bringing in Roberts and Lafferty. Aaron Bond ended the inning by grounding into a 6-4-3 double play.

The Tigers jumped out in front 2-0 in the first inning when Lester struggled in the early going. Chris Hicks and Ortega came in to score for the Tigers.

The Cubs responded with five in their half of the first on back-to-back walks to Jarrell and Hackworth off starting pitcher William Harris. After Harris issued the walks, coach Robert Damron sent Harris to short and brought on Ortega. Roberts greeted the hard throwing Ortega with a base hit. Roberts hit scored Jarrell. (See Lester, B 4)

McCloud ends Bartum's winning streak

by Billie Trimble

Scott McCloud of Stambaugh has ran second to Bat Bartrum of Martin all season in the Super Street Division at 201 Speedway, but that all came to an end this past Saturday night when McCloud took the lead early and fought off Bartrum to the end of the race.

Bartrum let McCloud know he was in pursuit with occasional bumps to the rear of McCloud's car. But McCloud never folded, crossing the finish line just inches ahead of the Double XX car of Bartrum's.

Mike Osborne of Paintsville went home with third place while Cornelius Hall ran fourth. Warmie Allen placed fifth and sixth place went to Lenzie Butcher.

John Trimble of Stambaugh took a wild ride in the Super Bomber division when Tommy Curtis of Sitka got caught in the loose dirt on the back stretch, came down into Trimble's quarter panel and sent him flying, literally air-borne, over the third turn guardrail only to end up nose-first over the hill.

Trimble's car was straight up in the air when track officials reached him and pulled him from the car. Trimble was not hurt in the accident and he did finish the race. Curtis had to pull into the pits after the accident due to the fact he bent his steering wheel together trying to prevent the accident. Curtis was not injured in the mishap either. This left the Bomber feature open to George Meade, who crossed the line for first place, followed closely by Ted Blevins.

Jim Lemaster of Salyersville crossed the line for third place while Don Jarrell placed fourth. Fifth and sixth place went to David Blevins and Scotty Ratliff respectively.

Another winning streak was stopped Saturday night when Buck Lemaster, also of Salyersville, took an early lead to win over Ronnie Cole. Cole was unable to make up the difference after starting in the rear of the pack. Cole did, however, cross the line behind Lemaster for second position. Clyde Fitch went home with third place and Leslie Combs of Tutor

Key placed fourth. Tommy Fletcher was fifth and Fred Roberts went home with sixth place.

Paintsville's Gary Combs of Paintsville claimed the flag in the Claim Feature while Roger Brown came in second. Tim Lemaster rolled in at the third position while fourth place went to Charles Burke. Chris Fitzpatrick and Garland Mills rounded out the evening with fifth and sixth place finishes.

The winners of the three claim consolation races were the following:

•Consolation 1: Bobby Hammond,

Terry Muncy, Kevin Baker, Phillip King, Chester Wallen and Steve Wright.

Prestonsburg Rangers edge Giants 8-6 as season closes

The Prestonsburg Little League closed out their regular season baseball scheduled this past Friday night with the Prestonsburg Rangers edging a good Prestonsburg Giants team 8-6.

The Rangers finished the season with a 9-5 record after getting off to a slow start. The Giants finished with their best year in the past three years with a 5-9 mark. Last year the Giants won only two games.

The Rangers plated two runs in the top of the fourth and scored an insurance run in the top of the sixth to win their ninth game.

In the fourth, Powers drew a lead-off walk from losing pitcher Ryan Hardee, who started for the Giants. With one out, Stumbo drilled a gap-ger to right center for a triple, scoring Powers to snap a 5-5 tie. Stumbo later scored on a wild pitch.

Tussey dented the plate in the top of the sixth for the Rangers to make it an 8-5 game. Tussey opened the inning with a base hit and scored on Stumbo's third hit of the game, an RBI single.

Two runs crossed the plate for the Rangers in the first inning when Stumbo led off the game with a base hit and he stole second. May singled home Stumbo, who later scored on a passed ball.

The Giants tied the game with two runs of their own in the bottom of the first. The Giants got a lead-off single from Hardee, who came all the way around on three Ranger errors. Mark Sossbee singled and John White walked to put runners at first and third. White stole second with Ed Prater drawing a walk to load the bases. Hurd then forced home White when he walked with the bases loaded.

A three-run second for the Giants gave them a 5-2 lead. McGuire singled and Hardee was nailed with a pitch. White then scored McGuire with a double and Hardee came home on Sossbee's RBI single. Prater collected a two-bagger scoring White.

Stumbo doubled to start the Rangers third inning as they scored three times to tie the game at 5-5. May tripled him home and May scored on Ousley's one out single. Ousley stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch.

Hardee scored the final run for the Giants in the sixth inning after walking, stealing second and third.

Hardee had three hits for the Giants and Sossbee had two.

Ousley was the winning pitcher in relief of May who started. May worked the first three innings for the Rangers with Ousley coming on for the final three frames. May allowed five runs on six hits while striking out four and walking three. Ousley worked the final three with six strike outs and one walk. He gave up one run on just one hit.

Hardee suffered the loss for the Giants. Hardee went the distance with nine strike outs and three walks. He gave up eight runs on nine hits.

The Rangers had 10 stolen bases while the Giants stole seven bases.

The Wayland-Lackey-Garrett Yankees ran their record to a perfect 10-0 with a 14-2 win over the Martin Expos in the Floyd County Babe Ruth League played at Stumbo Park Monday evening.

Brad Allen took the mound for the Yankees and took charge of the game as he allowed only two hits in going the distance. Allen struck out six batters and gave four walks.

Kevin Robinson suffered the loss for the Expos. Robinson, a 13 year old, had three strike outs while giving up five base on balls.

The Yankees scored 10 times in the first inning off Robinson. Josh Hansford had a bases-loaded double to drive in two runs. Kevin Allen singled, Todd Bingham doubled and a walk to Allen loaded the bags for Hansford.

Jeremy or Jason?

Jeremy Osborne is the real one and he collected a base hit on this time at bat in the first inning to drive in two runs to help the Prestonsburg Reds post a 9-6 win over the front running Prestonsburg Cubs. Jeremy's twin brother is Jason Osborne. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Prestonsburg Reds topple Cubs, 9-6

Jason Spencer was a hard problem for the Prestonsburg Cubs to solve as the two teams met last week in the Prestonsburg Senior League. Spencer wasn't giving the Cubs anything good to hit in the early going as this team posted a 9-6 win over Cecil Lester's ballclub for only their second loss of the season. Both defeats have come at the hand of the Reds.

Spencer picked up 10 strike outs in the game and walked only six. He scattered seven hits in giving up the six runs.

Hard throwing Jason Burke was just as big of a mischief as he had trouble finding the strike zone in the first three innings. Burke did come back and record 12 strike outs but that was after the Reds had built a 6-1 lead. Burke walked an uncharacteristic 10 batters.

The Reds had their running game going led by Clint Shutts' six stolen bases. Shutts had walked three times and scored three runs. Jeremy Osborne and Spencer each had three stolen bases. Osborne drove in three runs and collected two hits. Larry Morris had a first inning double when the Reds scored twice.

Shutts led off the game with a walk off Burke, stole second, third and scored on a base hit by Spencer. Spencer stole second but his attempt to steal third met with failure as he was thrown out. Morris then doubled and stole third where he scored on a base hit by Brad Bailey for a 2-0 Reds lead.

Spencer was throwing B.B.'s in the first two innings as the Cubs could not make contact. The Reds went on top 4-0 with two more runs in the second inning on a walk to Shutts and two stolen bases. Spencer walked and stole second only to come in and score along with Shutts on a base hit by Jeremy Osborne. Burke then fanned the next three batters to end the inning.

Burke scored the first run for the Cubs when he walked to lead off the third inning. Burke advanced to second and third on errors and later scored. Spencer got the next three batters on strikes.

It was 6-1 after the top half of the fourth inning when the Reds plated two runs after the first two were out. Burke got the first two batters on strike outs but walked Spencer. Spencer stole second and advanced to third on a wild pitch. Jeremy Osborne singled Spencer home. Osborne scored later in the inning on a wild pitch.

Jason Osborne gave the Reds a 7-1 lead when he scored in the top of the fifth. The Cubs came back in their half of the fifth with two runs on a base hit by Burke, a stolen base, a walk to Jerry Lafferty and a two-run double by Mike Roberts.

An unearned run scored for the Reds in the top of the sixth when Shutts crossed home plate after two stolen bases. Shutts scored when Spencer was called safe on an error. Shepherd's base hit in the Cubs' half of the sixth scored Mike Kelly, who had walked. Shepherd had two stolen bases and scored on an error to make it a 8-5 game.

The Reds added an extra run in the seventh on a walk to Jason Osborne, a stolen base and wild pitch. Osborne scored on a passed ball.

Roberts singled to lead off the Cubs half of the seventh and scored on a base hit by Aaron Bond. The Cubs could not rally in going down to their second defeat.

The Reds improved to 9-3 on the season and the Cubs fell to 9-2.

Castle, Kidd power HAP Cubs past Garrett 37-7

It looks more like a football score but it was a baseball game in the Floyd County Babe Ruth 13-year old league this past Sunday. The Harold-Allen-Prater Cubs pounded the Garrett Braves pitching for 21 hits while scoring 37 runs to post a 37-7 win in a game that was called after the fourth inning.

It was the hot bats of Brandon Castle and Brad Kidd that powered the Cubs to their seventh win of the season against only one defeat. Castle homered twice in the game and Kidd had a home run the fourth inning.

Wesley Collins picked up the win for the Cubs going the full four. Collins allowed seven runs on just three hits. He fanned eight Braves batters while walking six. Collins hit two hitters. Donnie Owens was the losing pitcher for the Braves.

Castle's first home run came in the Cubs' second inning when he blasted a grand slam home run and his team scored 13 runs to take a 21-6 lead. The Cubs collected six hits in the second inning as 17 batters marched to the plate. Brent Tackett cleared the bases with a bases loaded triple in the second. Kidd had a run producing double also in the second inning.

Castle hammered his second round tripper of the game in the fourth when 12 runs crossed the plate for the Cubs. Castle's home run scored Tackett ahead of him after Tackett doubled scoring Craig Hamilton.

Kidd's slam came in the fourth with the bases loaded that completed the scoring in the fourth. Castle, Collins and Chris Holbrook scored ahead of Kidd.

Castle had six RBIs in the game in collecting four hits in four plate appearances. Castle also had four stolen bases for the Cubs. Collins stole six bases and scored five runs with two hits including his double.

Kidd collected seven runs batted in with three hits. He also scored six times. Brad Kimbler had four hits with a double and three runs scored. Brent Tackett scored four runs with three hits in four attempts. Tackett had two doubles and a triple.

After HAP took an 8-0 lead in the first the Braves scored six times for an 8-6 score. Collins walked Tim Bellamy and Cory Heintzelman to open the inning. Collins got Derrick Conley on strikes before Brandon Hicks singled home Bellamy. Collins then walked Donnie Owens before hitting Phillip Slone with a pitch to load the bases. Jason Bentley struck out but Heintzelman and Hicks scored on Brady Scott's two-run single. Mike Sexton walked and Bellamy, batting for the second time in the inning, singled home Owens and Slone. Scott scored when Heintzelman was plunked with a pitch with the bases loaded. Conley grounded to short to end the inning.

The Braves loaded the bases against Collins in the second inning on two errors at second and short off the bats of Hicks and Owens. Slone walked to fill the bags but Collins then struck out the next three hitters to end the threat. Collins also fanned the side in the fourth inning.

Lester

Lafferty then singled. Lester drilled a liner down the left field line scoring both Roberts and Lafferty. Aaron Bond scored an unearned run when Mike Kelly reached on an error at shortstop.

Jason Blackburn and Blake Price scored in the top of the second for the Tigers for a 5-4 game. Blackburn and Price walked to start the inning. Chad McKinney popped out to Lester on the mound before he walked the next three batters forcing in Blackburn and Price.

The Tigers scored their final run in the top of the fourth on a RBI single by Ortega scoring Harris, who reached on an error.

Ortega, Joey Stanley and Price had the only three hits for the Tigers. Roberts, Lafferty and Lester had all eight hits for the Cubs.

Ortega got the loss for the Tigers in going four innings. Ortega had two strikeouts and he issued no walks. The Tigers had three errors and the Cubs played errorless baseball.

The win improved the Cubs to 10-2 while the Tigers remained winless.

Yankees struggle but hand Garrett Rangers 11-7 loss

The front running Wayland-Lackey-Garrett Yankees struggled but held on to hand the Garrett Rangers a 11-7 loss in Babe Ruth baseball action last Monday at the Stumbo Park.

Mike Baldrige came on in relief of Brad Allen in the fourth inning to pick up the win. Allen started on the mound for the Yankees but ran into some difficulty in the fourth when Baldrige was summoned in. Allen had two strikes out and he walked four. Baldrige came on when the Rangers scored five times to tie the game at 5-5. Baldrige recorded five strike outs and he did not walk a batter.

Roy John Martin got the start for the Rangers and was impressive in the first two innings until the Yankees scored five times off him in the third. Martin was making a rare start for Garrett. Martin struck out two batters and walked six.

The Yankees mounted a threat against Martin in the first inning on a walk to Kevin Allen leading off. Allen stole second just before Martin struck out Todd Bingham. Martin got Brad Allen to fly out to centerfield before walking Josh Handsford. Allen and Handsford pulled off a double steal but were left stranded when Martin got Donovan Hall on strikes.

A threat loomed again in the second inning for the Yankees but Martin put the fire out without any damage. After walking John Moore to start the second, Martin gave up a base hit to Donnie Combs. Both runners advanced on a passed ball. Martin induced Tim Bellamy to ground to third with the runners holding. Baldrige popped out and Kevin Allen hit a fly ball to centerfield.

Martin was not so fortunate in the third as the Yankees took a 5-0 lead. With one out, Allen was hit by a pitch from Martin. Hansford singled to centerfield and Hall was safe on an error at shortstop to load the bases. Allen and Handsford came on to score on Moore's two-run single. Hall moved to third base and later scored on a passed ball. Moore scored on an overthrow from the catcher to third base. Combs reached on an error and he later scored on a run down play.

Garrett struck for five runs in the top of the fourth to tie the game at 5-5. Larry Hunter started the inning with a base hit and Martin was hit by a pitch. Both runners moved up a base on a wild pitch by Allen. Allen loaded the bases with a walk to Barry Combs. Aaron Jackson got one of his two doubles in the game scoring two runs. Jeremy Hall came into the game as a pinch hitter batting for Shepherd and singled in Combs.

After the hit by Hall, Baldrige came on to relieve Allen. He got Potter on strikes but Caudill reached on a throwing error from third base moving Hall to third base. Hall scored on a sacrifice fly to tie the game at 5-5.

The Yankees got a base hit from Allen in the bottom of the fourth but was unable to score. The Rangers went out in order in the fifth but the Yankees made good their fifth and scored four times for a 9-5 game. Moore's one-out base hit set up the first run. Moore stole second and moved to third on a passed ball. Donnie Combs collected his second hit of the game with an RBI single scoring Moore. Bellamy walked but Baldrige's fly ball was caught for the second out. Combs and Bellamy pulled off a double steal and Bellamy scored on Allen's base hit. Martin walked Bingham to load the bases and two runs scored on Allen's base hit. Hansford singled but Bingham was out at the plate trying to score.

Jackson doubled for the second time in the game when he had a one-out two bagger in the sixth inning. Jackson came on to score on Potter's base hit.

Donovan Hall walked for the Yankees in the bottom of the sixth and he scored on a ground ball by Combs. Brandon Hicks came on to pinch hit in the inning and tripled. Hicks scored on a passed ball.

Garrett scored their final run in the top of the seventh on a one-out double by Joseph Risner who went to third on an error. Risner scored on Martin's base hit.

The win improved the Yankees to 9-0.

third and it was a one, two, three inning for the Reds in the fourth.

Lester singled leading off the fourth for the Reds but was erased at second base on a fielder's choice. Kelly grounded to short and with Lawson on base, Jason Roberts ground to Spencer at short. Spencer stepped on second to force Lawson.

The Reds put their lead off man on against Lafferty in the fifth inning but Jon Morris went out to left, Daniels and Clint Shuts fanned to end the game.

The win improved the Cubs final season record to 11-2 and the Reds fell to 10-4.

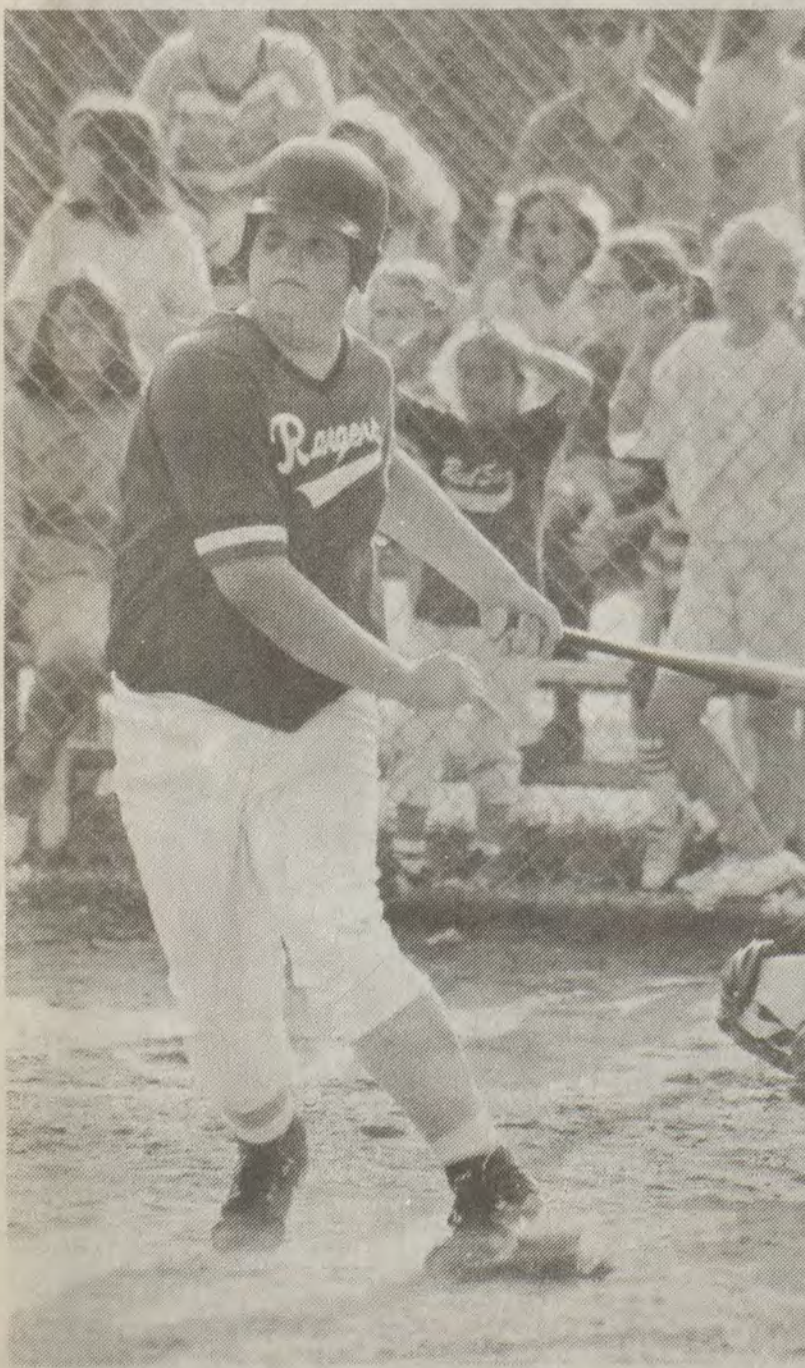

The senior league will now concentrate on naming an all-star team that will play in the district all-star tournament in July. Lester will coach the 14-15-year olds while Bobby Spencer, Reds' coach, will lead the 13-year old all-stars.

Lester said that the best 14-15 year all-star team that can be assembled from the league will be chosen.

"One thing you can't have enough of is good pitching," said the Cubs coach. "We will hold try-outs for the 14 and 15-year olds in the league and we will take the best."

Combs scatters three hits as WLG defeats Garrett 9-2

Donnie Combs struck out seven batters and yielded two hits as the Wayland-Lackey-Garrett Yankees defeated a good Garrett Ranger team 9-2 last Saturday at Archer Park.

Combs went the distance for the Yankees who won for the eighth time this season without a loss. Combs had three walks in the game.

Jeremy Hall, who was impressive himself, was the losing pitcher in working the first four innings. Hall gave up three runs in the first inning to the Yankees but was tough the next three. Hall left in the fifth with no one out when Angus Caudill came on to pitch.

Hall gave up a lead-off walk to Kevin Allen to start the fifth and Allen stole second. It was then that Caudill came on in relief with Hall moving to shortstop. Allen took third on a passed ball. After Todd Bingham walked, Brad Allen drilled a single that scored Kevin Allen. Josh Handsford doubled home Bingham and Brad Allen, who had advanced to second. After taking third, Handsford scored on a passed ball.

Kevin Allen doubled home Mike Baldrige in the sixth inning and Allen came in to score on a base hit by Brad Allen. Allen made the third out when he tried to steal third base.

Garrett avoided a shutout when they pushed across two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning. Matt Crawford singled to start the inning and Jy Shepherd walked. A left fielder's error allowed Crawford to score and Shepherd scored the second run of the inning.

The Yankees took a 3-0 lead in the first on consecutive walks to Kevin Allen and Bingham. Josh Handsford drew a one-out walk to load the bases for the Yankees. Allen came in to score on a passed ball and Bingham ditto the same. Handsford scored on John Moore's double.

Garrett put two runners on base in the third inning when Crawford and Hall singled. But both runners were left on base as Roy John Martin flied out to center.

The game was called after six innings because of darkness. The lights at Stumbo Park have been out for several weeks.

The Yankees collected seven hits in the game while committing two errors. Garrett had but the three hits and they had three errors.

For Your Eyes Only

by Marcus S. Minix, FNAO

WHEN SHOULD MY CHILD'S EYES BE EXAMINED?

Regular eye exams are recommended to ensure that both eyes remain healthy. A child's eyes should be examined shortly after birth, at 6 months and again before the age of 4 or 5, before starting school. Too often a child's eye health is overlooked because the child fails to complain.

A red eye, pain in the eye, or abnormal pupil size are symptoms which require immediate attention.

Children do not have to be able to read to have their eyes examined. By flashing light in the child's eye, the eye doctor observes its reflection from the back of the eye to determine the need for eyeglasses. This test is called retinoscopy. Retinoscopy is performed in some offices by computer.

There are various ways the child enters the eye doctor's office from the health care system. The medical doctor at delivery may observe physical defects at birth, such as cataracts, or irregularities of the eyelids, cornea, or retina; pediatrician or county health departments may observe crossed-eyes; or, schools may perform visual screening tests after the child has learned to read.

Proper overall development of your child may be directly related to good vision. At play, good vision develops eye-hand coordination. During study, good vision keeps eyes from becoming tired easily thus developing proper study habits.

Don't take your child's eye health for granted. Although some parents feel inadequate upon learning that their child needs to wear eyeglasses, a second opinion may dispel those fears. If a lazy eye is not detected and corrected early in the child's life, the parent will certainly feel inadequate upon the child maturing with an eye that is unable to see.

Those families who have a history of vision problems or eye diseases must pay more attention to their children's eye health.

Home tests are not a substitute for a professional eye examination. However, squinting may be a sign of nearsightedness. Holding reading material close may be a sign of farsightedness. Headaches may indicate astigmatism. Routine exams are necessary because a child's vision may change rapidly during growth.

Only an eye examination by an eye doctor can insure proper development of your child and prevent loss of vision upon maturity. Have your child's eyes examined shortly after birth, at 6 months, at age 4 or 5, and immediately whenever redness appears or unusual habits appear.

A Look At Sports

Creek Little League will start their tournament next week just before the All-Star tournament begins in early July. The Prestonsburg Little League has completed their season. The Wheelwright Little League will finish this week.

Then will begin the process of selecting an all-star team from each league that will take part in the upcoming and always exciting Little League All-Star tournament, usually held in Paintsville.

Last season, Wilburn Samons guided the HAP All-Stars to the district title. Selecting an all-star squad is not easy. Usually the coach of the top team in the league coaches their respective all-star team and the selection of a team must come from all the players in the league.

Naturally, the league wants to field the best 14 players that they have. But, there will be some player left off the team and some parent will not understand why. A team needs pitching. So a coach wants all the good pitchers he can get. Good hitting and defense is the key. A kid may be a good hitter but not able to play defense. Or, he may be a good defensive player and not a solid hitter.

However, the selection process will be a difficult one for all those coaches who must go through the weeding out time. Some leagues have what they call "tryouts" and the team will be selected from those players. Others will require a certain number of players from each team with the top team in the league having the most. While others will require that at least one player from each team be part of the special squad.

I personally believe that the best 14 players from the league should be the ones named even if the 14 players come from one, two or three teams. Every all-star team is in the tournament to go as far as they can. Parents need to be understanding and coaches must be careful not to show partiality.

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports especially around all-star time.

Twins handle Maytown Mets 13-4

J.P. Skeens and Derrick Newsome each collected four hits to lead the Betsy Layne Twins to a 13-4 win over the Maytown Mets in the Floyd County Babe Ruth League this week. Skeens was four for five from the plate grounding out in the second inning. Newsome's four hits included a first inning triple and a double in the second inning. He picked up four runs batted in for the evening. Each player scored four times in the contest.

Toby Newsome had two hits as did Brandon Castle. Castle had two RBIs with a fourth inning base hit.

James Osborne and Brian Conn had two hits each as the Mets only had five hits in the game. Caudill had the only hit.

Betsy Layne scored twice in the first and second innings to take a 4-2 lead. The Twins led 2-0 after the first half of the first only to see the Mets tie the game at 2-2.

In the Twins first, Skeens led off with a base hit and scored when Newsome tripled. Newsome scored to make it a 2-0 game on Toby Newsome's RBI single. Greg Hunter walked but was left stranded.

A one-out base hit by Osborne with Jimmy Shepherd on base via an error, allowed Conn to drive in both runners with a base hit and tie the game.

Betsy Layne took a 4-2 lead with two in the second. Marcus Hamilton led off with a single. Derrick Newsome doubled with two out scoring Hamilton. Newsome scored on a base hit by Toby Newsome his second RBI of the game.

The Mets went out in order in their half of the second inning as Betsy Layne scored a single run in the third for a 5-2 game. A one-out base hit by Castle started the inning. Castle scored on Willie Meade's run producing double. Meade was left on base.

Caudill drove in Cecil Maggard, who had singled leading off, in the fourth inning with a base hit for the Mets. The Twins led 5-3.

Three runs scored for the Twins in the fourth as Castle drove in two runs with a base hit. Greg Hunter picked up an RBI with a single scoring Skeens, who opened the inning with a single. Derrick Newsome walked and scored on Castle's base hit. Hunter also came around to score on the single.

The Twins score two more runs in the fifth inning RBI singles by Skeens and Derrick Newsome. Toby Newsome picked up his third and fourth RBIs with a double that scored both runners. Hunter also had a hit in the inning.

It was 13-4 with three runs in the sixth for the Twins. Again, it was Skeens and Derrick Newsome doing the damage. Skeens singled home Shana Clark, who had walked. Tackett reached on a base hit after Clark walked. He and Skeens scored on Derrick Newsome's base hit. Derrick Newsome scored on Toby Newsome's third hit of the game with two out. It was the fifth RBI for the Twins hitter. Newsome then was called out for removing his helmet while on base.

Brian Conn had two runs batted in to go with his two hits. Osborne had one RBI and Caudill picked up one.

Betsy Layne collected 16 hits in the game while Maytown had only five.

Rick Roberts places 14th in Mall Run

It was a crowded course at Ashland last Saturday for the second running of the Ashland Mall 5K Run. Four-time Boston Marathon winner, Bill Rogers, established a new course record when he posted a time of 15:20 to take first place in the run.

Van Lear's Rick Roberts placed 14th overall with a 17:21. Roberts placed third in the 35 to 39 age group.

Rogers is also a veteran runner in the New York marathon and was a qualifier for the 1976 Olympic time trials. Rogers broke the old course record of 15:50.

Marvin McFaddin came in 63rd overall with 20 minutes flat. He was first in the 60 and over age group. Garry McKenzie placed 107th at 22:08 with Kennis Deboard posting a time of 23:27 for 137th place.

Roberts and others from the area will run in the Ironton Twilight 5K run this Saturday in Ironton. Roberts placed sixth in the race last year. Then it will be in Paintsville for the running of the July 4th Moonlight Mile Run.

Cook's 4 RBIs sends Reds past Braves 18-6

Mercy, mercy, mercy! That is what the Garrett Braves 13-year-old Babe Ruth team needed after the McMar Reds posted an 18-6 "mercy rule" win this past Sunday afternoon at the Stumbo Park.

Earl Cook drove in four runs and Beau Tackett hammered a third inning home run to lead the Reds attack. Cook had two hits in the game which included a third inning triple. Cook singled home two runs in the fourth inning and got his first RBI in the first on a ground ball to short.

Tackett had just the one hit a third inning inside the park home run. Tackett walked twice in the game as the lead-off batter and he scored three times.

Justin Hopkins picked up the win for the Reds going the first 2 2/3 innings of the five inning affair. Hopkins allowed four runs while scattering three hits. He walked seven and struck out two.

Kevin Robinson came in with two out in the third and went the final 2 1/3 innings. Robinson gave up two runs on two hits. He struck out six and walked four. He hit one batter.

McMar scored nine runs in the first inning to jump on top 9-0 after Hopkins got the Braves out with only one hit in the first inning. Back-to-back walks to Tackett and Chris Moore set the stage for Robinson. Tackett stole second and third with Moore swiping second. Robinson then delivered a base hit that scored both runners. Hopkins singled with one out and Robinson, who had stolen second and third, came home.

Jason Woods walked to load the bases for the Reds and Brandon Hicks hit Shane Hamilton with a pitch to score Thomas Jenkins from third base. Shannon Slone kept the scoring going with a double that scored two runs. Tackett and Moore, batting for the second time in the inning, drew walks that scored another run. Both runners stole second and third consecutively and scored on an error.

The Braves put two runners on base in the second inning on a base hit by Donnie Owens and a walk to Jason Bentley but Brady Scott hit into a double play to end the inning.

One run scored in the Reds half of the second when Cook reached on an error, stole second, third and scored on Jason Woods' base hit.

Garrett got on the scoreboard in the third inning when they scored four times for a 10-4 game. Control problems set in for Hopkins as he issued walks to the first three batters. Nathan Sexton, who drew the first walk, was called out at the plate when he tried to score on a wild pitch. Cook retrieved the ball and tossed to Hopkins for the out. Hicks then drilled a Hopkins fastball for a base hit scoring one run. Hopkins got Phillip Slone on strikes before walking Owens and Jason Bentley forcing home two runs. Hicks scored on a walk to Scott. Robinson then came in to relieve Hopkins. Robinson proceeded to pick off Scott at first base to end the inning.

Tackett accounted for the only run for the Reds in the third inning when he hit his home run.

Garrett scored twice in the fourth inning to make it an 11-6 game. Derrick Conley, who walked leading off, scored an unearned run on a catcher's error after stealing second base. Tim Bellamy singled and scored on a base hit by Slone. Robinson fanned Owens to end the inning.

McMar scored five runs in the fourth to move in front 16-6. The Reds had three hits in the inning. Woods led off the inning with a base hit. Hamilton walked. Both runners stole second and third. Hicks then walked Shannon Slone to load the bases. After Hicks retired the next two batters Robinson was safe on an error with Woods and Hamilton scoring. Jenkins singled and Cook followed with a two run single.

The final two runs scored for the Reds in the fifth when they made it an 18-6 game on a double by Slone, his second, that scored Woods, and a base hit by Brent Ousley.

Hicks suffered the loss for the Braves going the five innings. Hicks had nine walks in the game and he struck out four. He allowed 18 runs on 12 hits.

Jenny Wiley AARP holds dinner-meeting

The regular monthly dinner-meeting of the Jenny Wiley AARP was held Friday evening, June 19, at 5:30, at the Highlands Regional Medical Center, with dinner served in the cafeteria there.

The meeting was called to order by President Gladys Allen. Orville Cooley led the group in prayer, and in the Pledge of Allegiance to the American flag. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Shirley Callihan, secretary, and James E. Goble, treasurer, presented the financial report.

Scott Richardson, director of a non-profit area transportation organization, presented the program. He said this organization, which covers Floyd, Johnson, Pike, Magoffin, and Martin counties, helps persons who have no other means of transportation; that it began as a result of medical needs, taking patients to hospitals and to doctors. He added that eight vans are now being used in this program, with five more having been ordered. Richardson said that 1800 persons used this program during the past year, and "If riders can't pay, they aren't 'turned down.'"

His discussion was well received by the group.

Several on the sick list were noted and cards were signed to be mailed to them. The noble grand asked that they also be remembered in prayer.

The Rebekah Lamplighters received an invitation from the Mountain Manor Nursing Home to attend a Volunteer Banquet, on June 22, at 6:30 p.m.

The noble grand stated that the assembly president, Von Stringer, of Somerset, will make her official visit with this lodge on July 7. Dinner will be served at 6 p.m. All members are urged to attend, and each of them is asked to bring a dish of her favorite food.

Loretta Akers, the noble grand, was presented with a Rebekah jacket, which had been sent to her from the International Rebekah Assembly, and the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I.O.O.F. for obtaining six new members during this past year, (a part of the program for for 1991-92).

At the close of the meeting, members gathered at the altar and repeated the creed, led by Jean Hickman. The members then proceeded to leave the lodge hall and as they descended the second floor hallway, they were greeted with a hall full of smoke. They asked the members still in the lodge room to "Please hurry!" The noble grand called the Prestonsburg Fire Department, and the group was instructed to, "Leave the building immediately!"

They did! The fire trucks arrived, and after about 1 1/2 to 2 hours, members arrived home. Little damage was done to the second floor, or to the ground floor, where the C and R Office Supply Store is located.

Present at this meeting were Loretta Akers, Violetta Wright, Maman Leslie, Susie Clifton, Jean Hickman, Rebecca Bingham, Delcie Gayheart, Paulena Owens, and Mabel Jean LeMaster.

The next regular meeting will be July 7, at 6 p.m., at the IOOF Hall.

They had lunch at the Rhododendron Lodge before returning home.

BSRT holds quarterly luncheon-meeting on Thursday

Members of the Big Sandy Retired Teachers' Association, which consists of Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin, and Lawrence Counties, held their regular quarterly luncheon-meeting, on Thursday, June 18., at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. Preceding the meeting, donuts, coffee and juice were served.

Miss Ethel Fetterly, president, welcomed those in attendance, expressed her thanks to Mrs. Norma Stepp, liaison person for BSRT for making arrangements for this event, and recognized those attending for the first time. Mrs. Delphia Hicks, secretary-treasurer, gave her reports, and called the roll by counties.

The nominating committee presented the following list of officers for the year 1992-93, from these counties: Danese Amburgey, Floyd County, president; Edith Hall, Lawrence, president-elect; Lola Doan, Pike, first vice president, and Delphia Hicks, Floyd, secretary-treasurer. These officers will be installed during the KRTA's annual workshop here, in September.

The president recognized the loss of J. G. Stepp, the husband of Mrs. Norma S. Stepp, past president of this organization, and read a poem in his memory. Mrs. Stepp expressed her thanks.

Miss Ruby Akers, past president of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association, gave a report on the picnic which was held by his group at Stumbo Park, when Judge John M. Stumbo proclaimed June 11 as "Floyd County Retired Teachers' Day."

Miss Akers also reported on some of the outstanding changes in the FCRT by-laws made recently by the executive board, including:

- Upon the death of a member of the FCRT, the teacher's name is to be added to the plaque in the Josie D. Harkins one-room school, at Jenny Wiley State Park.

- When an FCRT member becomes incapable physically and/or mentally, of attending meetings, this teacher shall (upon the discretion of the executive board), become an honorary member.

Other reports were heard from Glenn McDowell, Russell Boyd, June Rice, Imogene Salyer, Charles Spears, Lenora Gullett McClellan, Georgia Muncey, Chalmer Frazier, and others.

Mrs. Danese Amburgey, program chairman, announced that the Martin County retired teachers were in charge of the day's program, which was presented by Wanda Chaffins, of that county, who teaches music in the Bowling Green schools. Miss Chaffins, the daughter of retired teachers, read passages from Psalms, and from the Baptist Western Recorder, told of the significance of religion in her life, and presented some of her favorite songs on the piano.

Reducing dietary fat in one simple step

Fat. When anyone talks about eating for better health, or to lose weight, fat is the one subject that will always come up.

And with good reason. Research from American Institute for Cancer Research, National Institutes of Health, the American Heart Association and others has linked high fat diets and higher rates of heart disease and certain cancers.

And when it comes to losing weight, cutting back on dietary fat is the fastest and easiest way to shed the pounds without going on a near-starvation diet. That's because fat in food contains more than twice the number of calories as equal portion of carbohydrates or protein.

People think cutting out that excessive fat has to be difficult. But you may find it's easier than you think. The dietary recommendations of health organizations like the American Institute for Cancer Research are that we should cut our daily fat intake from 37 percent of calories to 30 percent or less.

That means that if you're eating about 2,000 calories every day, and currently get the average of 37 percent of those calories from fat, you're eating about 82 grams of fat each day. To cut back to 30 percent of calories from fat, you'd have to reduce your fat intake to 67 grams per day, or 15 less grams of fat daily.

That might seem like a lot, but you may be surprised how just one small change can get you to your goal. For example, a fancy ice cream bar from a premium brand like Haagen Dazs or Dove can add from 22 to 28 grams of fat. Just a half cup of some of the exotic flavored ice creams is worth 15 grams of fat itself.

That doesn't mean you have to give up ice cream treats. If you can't live without the high fat, premium versions, limit the amount you have and balance it with other low fat food choices. Or substitute one of the newer "lite" or fat free "ice creams" now available, most of which are actually ice milk.

Reducing dietary fat...

There are a number of other ways you can cut those fifteen grams of fat, and none of them are difficult. Most of the substitutions on the following list will cut out 15 grams or more of fat with just that one change. Combine a couple of these each day and you'll be making a strong step in the lowfat direction.

- instead of batter-coated, fried chicken breast with the skin, choose a skinless chicken breast that's been broiled

- instead of ordering a couple of slices of pizza with double cheese, pepperoni and sausage, have yours with vegetable toppings like mushrooms, onions, green peppers

- instead of snacking on a one ounce bag of mixed nuts, have some pretzels

- instead of buying tuna packed in oil, and preparing it with regular mayonnaise, choose tuna packed in water and prepare it with lite or the new fat free mayonnaise, or plain, lowfat yogurt.

- instead of drinking two glasses of whole milk each day, have two glasses of skim milk

- instead of a cheese or fruit Danish pastry for that mid-morning snack, have a bagel or English muffin, and top it with jelly instead of cream cheese

- instead of a slice of pecan pie for dessert, have a slice of lemon meringue pie

- instead of a candy bar with almonds for an afternoon snack, have an apple

- instead of a McDLT at McDonalds or some other burger at a fast food place, have two regular hamburgers (better yet, have the chicken salad with a lite dressing and cut out more than 30 grams of fat)

- instead of the fast food restaurant breaded chicken sandwich, have the grilled chicken sandwich, and no mayonnaise or other creamy toppings

Cutting back on fat doesn't have to be difficult, but it does require paying a little more attention to the foods you choose. The thing to keep in mind is that healthier eating doesn't have to make drastic changes in your diet. Just one or two small changes can get you right on the path to a healthier diet.

To learn more about the role of fat in your diet, get a free copy of the booklet, "All About Fat and Cancer Risk," by sending a stamped (52 cents postage), self-addressed, business size envelope to the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. FC, Washington, D.C. 20069.

MODERN MAC 'N' CHEESE

1 tablespoon margarine
1 tablespoon real mayonnaise
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1/4 cup flour
2 cups skim milk
1 cup low-fat Cheddar cheese

2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese, grated

1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
1/2 cup toasted wheat germ
2 cups macaroni, cooked and drained

3 tablespoons cornflake crumbs
Yield: 4 servings
Prep time: 20 minutes
Baking: 30 minutes

Heat oven to 375 degrees Fahrenheit. Have macaroni cooking in boiling, salted water, according to package directions.

For sauce, melt margarine with mayonnaise in a medium saucepan. Stir in onion; saute gently until tender. Stir in flour; heat until mixture is bubbly, stirring constantly. Gradually whisk in milk and heat until boiling, stirring constantly. Stir in cheeses, hot pepper sauce and wheat germ; mix well. Stir in cooked macaroni.

Turn mixture into a 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle top with cornflake crumbs. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until heated through.

HEALTH NUT BROWN RICE

1/3 cup each sliced almonds and sunflower kernels

1 tablespoon sesame seeds
1/3 cup carrots, shredded

1/4 teaspoon red pepper flakes
1 tablespoon margarine

3 cups brown rice, cooked (in chicken broth, if desired)

2 tablespoons fresh parsley, snipped

Yield: 6 servings
Prep time: 15 minutes, if rice is already cooked

Cook almonds, sunflower kernels, sesame seeds, carrots and pepper flakes in margarine in a large skillet over medium-high heat until almonds are lightly browned. Add rice and parsley; stir until thoroughly heated.

WHISTLIN' DIXIE WHITE CHILI

1 1/2 cups onion, coarsely chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon olive oil

1 (4-ounce) can chopped mild green chilies

1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
1/2 teaspoon dried oregano

1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper (or hot sauce, to taste)

1/2 teaspoon salt (or to taste)

1 cup reduced-sodium chicken broth

1 (16-ounce) can black-eyed peas, rinsed, drained, divided (or 2 cups drained navy beans)

1 (16-ounce) can white hominy, drained

2 cups cooked turkey, cut into 1/2-inch cubes

1/4 cup fresh cilantro or fresh parsley, coarsely chopped

1/2 cup reduced-fat Monterey Jack cheese, shredded

Yield: 4 servings
Prep time: 40 minutes

In a three-quart saucepan, over medium-high heat, saute onions and garlic in olive oil about 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Add chilies, cumin, oregano, cayenne (or hot sauce) and salt. Cook 1 minute.

Stir in chicken broth, half the black-eyed peas, hominy and turkey. Mash the remaining black-eyed peas and stir into ingredients in pan.

Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, 20 to 25 minutes or until slightly thickened. Stir in cilantro (which is an acquired taste; substitute parsley if cilantro's not available at the supermarket, or if you don't care for its taste, which some call soapy).

Taste and adjust seasoning, adding more cayenne or hot sauce and salt to taste.

To serve, ladle into bowls and top with 2 tablespoons shredded Jack cheese, and more parsley or cilantro, if desired.

Menu suggestion: Serve with cornbread and a relish dish of celery sticks, green pepper strips, cucumber sticks and black olives.

Variations: Substitute canned black beans for navy beans for black-and-white chili. Saute a roasted, seeded jalapeno pepper with the onion, if desired. Handle any fresh chili with rubber gloves and don't touch your face or eyes.

BANANA CREAM PIE (Low-Fat Version)

3 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

2 tablespoons sugar
3 bananas, sliced into 1/4-inch slices

1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt

2 cups slim milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites

1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
2 tablespoons sugar

To make meringue shell combine egg whites, vanilla and cream of tartar in mixing bowl and beat with electric beater until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar and continue beating to stiff peak stage. Spoon meringue evenly over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Bake in 300 degree oven for about 45 minutes, or until shell is dry and lightly browned. Cool thoroughly; then arrange sliced bananas on bottom of shell.

Prepare filling by combining sugar, cornstarch and salt in medium saucepan. Gradually stir in milk and cook over medium heat until mixture boils, stirring constantly. Add vanilla and cool for another minute or two, until pudding thickens. Cool slightly, then pour over bananas in pie shell.

Prepare meringue by beating the egg whites, vanilla and cream of tartar with an electric beater until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar and beat until stiff peaks form. Spread meringue in swirling fashion over hot pie filling, making certain to cover all filling, sealing to edge of pasty. Bake in 350 degree oven for about 12 minutes, or until meringue is lightly golden. Cool. Chill well before serving. Serves 8.

New Recommendations for Adding Whole Milk

For example, the American Academy of Pediatrics now recommends that when an infant is at least six months of age and consumes 1/3 of calories from supplemental foods, whole milk may be introduced into the diet. While it was previously thought that infants are unable to digest cow's milk in infancy, studies indicate that most infants tolerate milk well and benefit from the density of nutrients and energy derived from milk, which promote growth and brain development.

may be one of those 10 million, check with your local Social Security office. You have nothing to lose, and, potentially, a great deal to gain.

NEW FLU SHOTS FOR THIS FALL:

The flu vaccine for this year's expected flu season will protect against three of the major flu types, including the one known as Type A-H3N2, which accounted for 80 percent of the flu cases so many of us sniffled through this past winter. This strain has been exceptionally hard on older folks. In some cases, it has proved fatal.

Please, while this is fresh in your mind, take a pencil, turn to October on your calendar and write: CHECK DOCTOR FOR FLU SHOT. This is vital. Last year, the flu outbreak started in October, a month earlier than expected, and reached epidemic levels from December to February. Since it takes several weeks for the vaccine to become effective, it's wise to have the shots as soon as the health authorities announce the vaccine's availability.

Check with your doctor, your senior center, or your local Health Department for information on (1) whether you can have the shots (in some rare instances, the shots may affect an existing medical condition, or cause allergic reactions) and (2) where you can obtain the shots either at very low cost or free.

MAIL CALL: From Marcia in Brooklyn: "My grandmother was brutally beaten and then robbed by a man who showed a utility company card (we later learned it was a forgery) and got into her apartment to check, as he said, her electrical wiring. Her experience rallied the tenants. They all decided that from now on, no stranger will be allowed in anyone's apartment until the superintendent is called to accompany that person."

HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW about your Social Security benefits? Are you sure you're getting all you're entitled to? There are times when mistakes are made during the working years, resulting in benefits that may be too low, often because all the earned wages weren't made part of the Social Security accounts record. (A recent report shows that some 10 million people may have been short changed in assessing their benefits because of errors made either by their employers or the government.)

A new agreement requires that the government accept a person's claim that he or she earned a certain amount of money for which no government records exist under the following conditions: IF there is no evidence to contradict that claim; IF the government has a record of the person's earnings from the employer in the year just before or right after the year in question, and IF the claimed earnings are consistent with the earlier and later wages.

WEATHERIZING A HOME

The federal government recommends house-tightening measures to reduce the amount of energy required to heat and cool a home. However, some weatherizing practices reduce the air-exchange rate. To guard against a buildup of indoor pollutants, residents should be alert to signs of inadequate air flow, including stuffy air, moisture condensation on cold surfaces or mold and mildew growth.

FDA says:

Food hazards caused by human error

Ask any political or public relations or marketing expert and you'll find they agree that perception is far more important than fact in most public issues.

The motivating factor is almost all things is not what is true, but what people believe to be true.

Farmers who specialize in meat or milk for the human food chain need to be aware that there is a growing concern in the marketplace about drug residues in food.

A majority of respondents in a recent marketing poll said they felt residues were a serious health hazard, most of the rest said they were somewhat a hazard and only a few said they were no hazard at all.

Though statistically Americans have never been safer nor healthier, it is consumer perceptions that influence behavior, and consumer behavior that influence public policy.

Because of these perceptions, increasingly more attention is being paid to the levels of drug residues in food animals, both at slaughter and in milk and eggs.

Federal inspections are becoming more and more stringent and wider in scope, and efforts to reduce residue to acceptable levels or to eliminate it totally are quite serious.

What is at stake for farmers is quite simple. With increasing cooperation and communication between agencies at federal, state and local levels, it will become increasingly difficult and perhaps impossible for individuals with a history of producing meat, milk or eggs with residues in violation of acceptable levels to find a market to accept their product.

FDA inquiries indicate that the vast majority of problems are caused by human error, either failure to observe proper withdrawal time, failure to follow directions, use of unapproved products, faulty sanitation, failure to keep records.

At the same time, drugs are often necessary to maintain health of food animals and in fact to protect the public health as well as the producer's source of income.

Kentucky veterinarians are making an increased effort this year to assist farmers in prevention of drug residue problems.

Through continuing education at the Mid-America conference and other sources, Kentucky food animal veterinarians are as up-to-date as the latest regulations on drug residues, and able to help farmers figure out the source of problems or potential problems and how to correct them.

If you have been cited for illegal residues, or think you might have a problem on the way, the person to consult is your veterinarian. He or she is not only trained in medicine, but in pharmacology as well and is quite competent to explain to you the ways in which you can continue to use drugs and the things to avoid.

As public behavior patterns demand increased regulation, your veterinarian is working to develop even more efficient ways to maintain the health and productivity of your herd.

Don't be afraid to ask for help. The intricacies of proper drug use are complicated, not many producers understand them without help. And your veterinarian is your friend, he or she will help you, not make the problem worse.

Geranium genesis

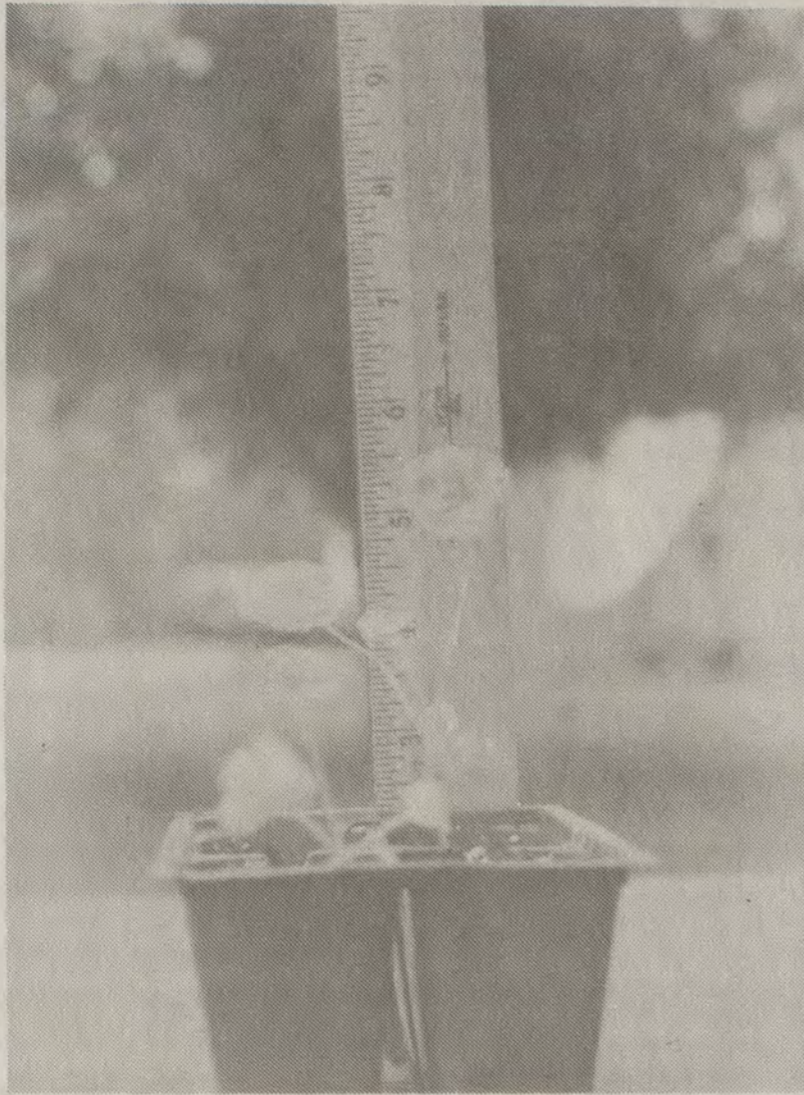

Not all science projects give the expected results. Such was the case when Dr. John Shiber, a biologist at PCC, and a few Johnson County elementary students attempted some basic seed-germination experiments in the PCC lab last March.

Even though many of the different seeds germinated, they grew slowly and rather poorly, with thin, fragile stems and deficient foliage. Once they are transplanted outside, Dr. Shiber hopes that the seedlings will revive.

There was, however, one highly interesting, uncommon, and rewarding outcome of these experiments: the germination of five geranium (Pelargonium species) seeds out of the fifteen which Dr. Shiber had collected and saved from his geranium plants of last summer. Growing geraniums from seeds is very rare.

Geraniums are usually propagated, both commercially and individually, by stem-cuttings, or 'splits,' as Dr. Shiber calls them, from an existing plant which are then rooted and separately planted. Not only would few people think of growing geraniums from seed, but few have seen geranium seeds or even know they exist.

"The plants are weak, but they just might make it and even produce flowers by the summer's end," Dr. Shiber said.

Rare growth

The germination of geranium seeds is rare, but in Dr. John Shiber's lab, five geraniums prove that it can happen. Pictured is a 6-7 week old geranium plant.

ASCS reminds foreign investors to report US agricultural land

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service reminds all foreign owners of U.S. agricultural land to report their holdings, acquisitions, dispositions, leases of 10 years or more, and land use changes within 90 days. The Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act Report is required by law and those who fail to report or who are late in reporting face possible penalties.

ASCS offices are responsible for keeping track of how much agricultural land is owned or controlled by foreign individuals or interests. Foreign investors have reported owning about 12.4 million acres of agricultural land in the United States.

An Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act Report must be filed when a single foreign individual, organization or government holds a direct or indirect interest of 10% or more; when a group of foreign investors acting in concert hold an aggregate interest of 10% of more; or when a group of foreign individuals, organizations or governments not acting in concert hold an aggregate of 50% interest or more in agricultural land.

Agricultural land is any tract of more than 10 acres now in agricultural, forestry or timber production. This includes land in agricultural use when purchased, as well as land later converted to agricultural use. Interest means any right, title, or legal share of ownership in agricultural land, such as partnerships, trusts, estates, or shares in a corporation that owns agricultural land.

Foreign investors who own or have an interest in 10 acres or less do not have to report unless annual proceeds from the sale of the farm, forestry or timber products exceed $1,000.

Prestonsburg youth chosen as alternate

Nineteen Kentucky high school seniors and a graduate student has been chosen to receive scholarship grants that could be worth $43,000 from the Kentucky Farm Bureau Education Foundation.

The winners, plus 17 alternates were selected from more than 450 applicants. This is the 40th year that the Farm Bureau foundation has distributed college aid money to Kentucky students.

Jody Wallen, of Prestonsburg, was chosen as an alternate.

As an alternate, Wallen may become eligible for portions of the scholarships if the winners fail to retain eligibility.

FOOD FROM THE DEEP

by Dr. John G. Shiber
Biological Science
PCC

Shrimp cocktail, anyone? How about some nice, deep-fried shrimp? Or, shrimp scampi? These are only a few ways in which Americans serve that delicious food from the deep ... shrimp.

In Japan, certain species of shrimp are highly revered and are used to prepare their traditional dish called "tempura." In Spain, shrimp are eaten either boiled (just enough to be able to peel off the shell), as we do with lobster in New England, or fried on a salted and oiled hot plate ("plancha") and served with lots of fresh lemon juice. In the Middle East, shrimp is barbecued (a la "shish-kabab") and served with rice. Yes, it seems people all around the world like shrimp. And why not? Shrimp is not only delicious, but being very high in protein, low in fat, and easily digested, it is also very nutritious...and quite costly! Shrimp, therefore, form the most profitable segment of the fishing industry, not only here in the United States, but in South America and Asia, as well.

Not far from Kentucky, in the waters off Beaufort, North Carolina, moving southward along the Atlantic coast and into the Gulf of Mexico, commercial shrimp thrive in abundance. They are called "Penaeid" shrimp (of the taxonomic family "Penaeidae") — the most primitive (ancestral) of the decapod crustaceans, and among the most delicious to eat. Of the approximately 220 species worldwide, most of those which are caught with trawling nets in our South Atlantic coastal waters are the pink, white, and brown penaeid shrimps. These, plus many other commercially important penaeid species, can also be found in Mediterranean coastal waters, the Persian/Arabian Gulf, and off the coasts of South America, Australia, and Asia. In fact, about one half of the penaeid shrimp caught annually in the world are from the Indo-West Pacific Faunal Area (an area which extends from the coasts of Africa and Southeast Asia, all the way eastward into the tropical western Pacific Ocean, as far north as Hawaii.)

Besides being economically profitable for man, penaeid shrimp are also quite interesting invertebrates! Typically, they live on the deep ocean floor or amidst sea grasses, algae, coral, and rocks in shallower water. Hence, they are called "bottom-dwellers." As mentioned, they are decapod crustaceans. Decapod is a Greek word meaning ten-footed, and true to the name, the penaeid shrimp have five pairs of thoracic, or front legs.

These long legs are their walking appendages which enable them to move around on the ocean bottom. Their abdominal legs are called pleopods, or swimmerets, which are used for swimming at various depths. In areas where the ocean bottom is soft (sandy to muddy) some species of penaeids also use their pleopods for beating shallow holes into the sand in which they then burrow. At the terminal end of the shrimp abdomen are the uropods, also referred to as the tail-fan. This is particularly useful when the shrimp needs extra power to swim away, often backwards, from predators or other dangers.

The main body of the penaeid shrimp is segmented and has a thin flexible, hard covering called the exoskeleton. In females, the edible, meaty tail portion (abdomen) contains much of the ovaries, while most other internal organs (of both sexes) are located in the head and thorax, or mid-body region called the cephalothorax. The two antennae which are attached to the head are often more than twice the length of the animal.

Penaeids are able to elude predators by changing their coloring to blend in with their surroundings. They are active at night, scavenging for their food, which consists of both plant and animal material. The larger penaeids may even attack and eat other, smaller shrimp. By day, species of the nearby South Atlantic either lie motionless on the water surface, or bury themselves in the soft sand on the ocean floor. If they are disturbed, they flip their tail section forward very rapidly and, from the pressure of the water against the tail, are propelled backwards.

Courtship and mating rituals of penaeids vary according to the species. An interesting example is the shrimp species Penaeus japonicus. As with males of many other decapod species, P. japonicus males prefer to mate with a female which has shed its exoskeleton (molted). So, he chooses a female which is on the verge of doing so and then follows her about until she has molted. He then grabs her and aligns her abdomen against his. In this position, they swim together for a few minutes, during which time the male deposits a spermatophore (a membranous packet of sperm) on the female. Then the two shrimp separate. The female may or may not repeat this with several other males until spawning, which is the time when she lays her eggs. The eggs of the female will be fertilized by the sperm as they are laid. In this same species, the eggs are released directly on the water and sink to the ocean bottom where they develop. In other species, the eggs are carried by some of the swimmerets on the female's abdomen for a time until they reach a certain point in their development when they can be released. In all species of penaeids, it takes about one year for them to reach sexual maturity. Shortly after mating and spawning, the adult individuals usually die.

The abundance of penaeid shrimp in a particular area is due to the fact that each mature female releases anywhere from three hundred thousand to one million fertilized eggs into the water during spawning, which occurs at various depths, depending upon the species of shrimp and the time of year. The shrimp industry is very lucrative not only because of this abundance, but also because nearly 100 percent of the annual catch can be processed for food (frozen, canned, fresh or dried). What little wastage results is ground down into meal.

Success of any country's shrimp industry, however, can be greatly impaired by a high incidence of predation on eggs and larvae of shrimp, or by sudden changes in their environment which often shock their normal processes or even kill them.

Their normal life processes can be disturbed by various pollutants entering their natural habitat. In some parts of the world, fishermen exploded dynamite underwater to increase their fish catches, which can kill millions of shrimp, especially those in young, developing states, the larvae, which abound in coastal waters. (This type of environmental shock also has a bad effect on all forms of sea life: plants, animals, and even swimming Homo sapiens, such as you and me!)

If adequate conservation and preservation control is established and enforced worldwide, both economic and anesthetic rewards derived from shrimp and other food from the deep, can continue to be shared and enjoyed by everyone — and maybe, eventually, at a lower cost.

JUNE FULLER

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Save rain checks for a sale day

Dear June — The A&P in Clio, Mich., advertised Fuji blank videotapes on sale for $1.99. The advertisement listed three types of Fuji tapes and their regular prices, which varied from $2.99 to $3.99.

A&P also offered double coupons, up to $1, the day I went shopping. I had two Fuji coupons, each worth $1 off the purchase of two blank tapes.

When I got to the store, they had run out of tapes, so I asked for a rain check. The clerk made out the rain check with the $1.99 sale price, but before he handed it to me, he said he made a mistake. He crossed out the $1.99 and filled in $2.99.

I told him the price was $1.99 in the advertisement. He looked at the ad and replied "It must be a misprint." I took the rain check, but I wasn't happy about it. What do you think? — Kay Scribner, Clio, Mich.

Dear Kay—Supermarket cashiers often have to interpret the terms of an advertisement or a coupon and make a fast decision. They are under pressure to keep their line moving.

Because of time, pressure and sometimes lack of experience, these decisions may be wrong. When this happens, a shopper should politely ask for the checkout process to stop and request that a front-end supervisor or store manager be called. You have a right to a second opinion.

In the situation you describe, if the cashier's interpretation of the Fuji tape ad was incorrect, a supervisor would have quickly straightened this out. So next time, don't just walk out of the store mad.

Rain checks are a valuable part of smart shopping, but many shoppers pay little attention to the opportunities they offer. Whenever a supermarket runs out of an advertised item on your shopping list, you should ask for a rain check. The rain check gives you the right to buy that item at the low advertised price at a later date. Most supermarkets issue their rain checks with an expiration date, which gives you several weeks to make your purchase. Store managers are usually cooperative in extending the dates if you have not found the item during that period.

The smart-shopping objective for using rain checks is to always use a manufacturer's cents-off coupon in conjunction with the sale price. That "double play," as we call it, will save you 50 percent or more off the regular price.

The rain check gives you extra time to find the coupon for the same product, and a friend with a big coupon file may be happy to give you a coupon for that item.

I advise coupon clippers to have a special place at the front of their coupon file for rain checks. Once you receive a rain check, you do not want to forget about it.

This week's Smart Shopper is Louise Demchak of Philipsburg, Pa.: "Our BI-LO grocery store recently advertised the 24-ounce Mrs. Butterworth's syrup at $2.48, regularly $2.73. Their flyer also contained a store coupon offering $1 off the syrup. In my coupon file, I found a $1 Mrs. Butterworth's coupon. This brought the final price for my syrup down to just 48 cents."

Would you pay 48 cents for a name-brand syrup that regularly sells for $2.73? Of course you would, if you're a syrup-user. This is what my kind of smart shopping is all about. Anyone can do it. When you do, write in care of this newspaper and tell me about it.

UNITED WAY OF EASTERN KENTUCKY WANTS YOU TO KNOW:

We are very concerned the reports this year may cause you to question your United Way's relationship with United Way of America.

United Way of America is not our corporate headquarters and does not set policy for the United Way of Eastern Kentucky. Neither does the United Way of Kentucky based in Louisville.

William Aramony, the former president of United Way of America, is no longer on the payroll, nor is he receiving severance pay.

Even before the Aramony situation arose, the United Way of Eastern Kentucky was cutting its administrative cost to assure your dollars were spent toward human care needs.

Make no mistake--your dollars are staying in the mountain counties we serve: Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike.

JUNE 22-28, 1992

CARPENTER ANT AWARENESS WEEK.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, MILDRED!

June 27th is the birthday of Mildred J. Hill, a schoolteacher born in Kentucky in 1859. Almost no one knows of Ms. Hill, but everybody knows the melody she composed, first published in 1893 in Song Stories for the Sunday School. The lyrics were written by Patty Smith Hill, the composer's younger sister, and the song, entitled "Good Morning to All," was intended to be sung in school classrooms. The song's popularity did not blossom until the lyrics were amended in 1924 to include a stanza beginning "Happy Birthday to You." "Happy Birthday to You" is now believed to be the world's most often-sung song, celebrating a birthday every minute of the day.

A good song is none the worse for being sung twice.

PEASCODS

- 1 1/2 pounds baby green sugar peas in pods
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon mace
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 tablespoons dry sherry
- 2 tablespoons vinegar

Clean and rinse pods. Bring water, butter, salt, and mace to boil. Add peas, cover, and reduce heat to medium. Cook 6-8 minutes, or until peas are tender-crisp, stirring once or twice. Beat egg yolk with sherry and vinegar. Reduce heat to low and slowly pour egg mixture into peas in a thin stream, stirring constantly. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

EARTHWISE

Trees need carbon dioxide (CO₂) and produce oxygen, people need oxygen and produce CO₂ — we were meant to coexist in balance. But between the 1950s and 1980, the Earth's forested area was reduced by 25%. Trees shading your home can lower the temperature by 10° and reduce energy demand by 10-50%. To find out how to plant your tree, or for more information on global deforestation, contact the American Forestry Association's Global ReLeaf Program, P.O. Box 2000, Washington, D.C. 20013.
