Governor endorses Wheelwright prison

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Riding on the coattails of an endorsement by Governor Brereton Jones, Wheelwright City Commissioners forged ahead in an effort to locate a new prison in their community.

Commissioners met for over an hour in closed session at a special called meeting Monday to proceed with land acquisition for the mountaintop site.

Governor Jones announced Friday that the state should contract for another privately operated prison and that prison should be built in Wheelwright.

An unnamed land owner has agreed to donate the property and city attorney Greg Isaac was directed to proceed with acquiring the site.

In an effort to keep the prison project "free of politics," commissioners named a five-member advisory committee to oversee the development of the prison project. The committee is comprised of "ordinary" citizens, commissioner Luther Johnson said.

Committee members are Roy Harlow, A.J. Thomsbury, Judith Hutton, Dennis Holbrook and Alfred Rhea.

Isaac said the group will devise an incentive package to offer to prospective developers and keep the commission abreast of the project. The commission has agreed to follow the advice of the committee.

Commissioners said Wheelwright was "prepared to compete" with any other area of the state wanting the prison project.

Mayor Kenneth Johnson made a motion to send a letter of appreciation to Governor Jones, Senator Benny Ray Bailey and State Representative Greg Stumbo for their efforts to locate the project in Wheelwright.

Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson, who has spearheaded the effort for a prison in Wheelwright, joined commissioners in the closed session.

Thompson said Monday, after Jones' announcement, that locating the prison in Wheelwright would improve their economic base and offer jobs to the "most depressed" area in the state. Thompson cautioned that it was not "a done deal."

"It's real close," Thompson said. "But, it's not final."

Thompson took commissioners Johnson, Lowell Parker and mayor Johnson to the proposed two-level site Monday.

Two are cited in shooting

by Mike Rosenberg
Contributing Writer

Two Floyd County men are being lodged in the Floyd County jail following a Monday night shooting that sent another Floyd County man to the University of Kentucky Medical Center.

Edwin Jackie Hall Jr., 26, and Rodney B. Blackburn, 30, both of Endicott have been charged with first degree assault for the shooting of Charles Edward Stephens, 25, of Endicott.

Stephens was shot in the left shoulder with a small caliber handgun following an alleged altercation with Hall and Blackburn at about 11:30 p.m. Monday night. Hall and Blackburn were taken into custody at 1:20 a.m. Tuesday morning. The two were arraigned and bond was set at $20,000.

Stephens was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center and transferred to UK. He was listed in fair condition Tuesday.

The incident is still under investigation by KSP detective Lee Weddington, assisted by Sgt. Jeff Blanton, Trooper Scott Hopkins and the Floyd County Sheriff's Department.

Floyd County Sheriff deputies Linzie Hunt, Lloyd Powers, Don Johnson, Dwayne Jarrell and Danny McCoy responded to the incident.

Rowland quits to campaign full time

Floyd County will have a new assistant County Attorney next month.

Dan Rowland, the current assistant County Attorney, turned in his letter of resignation on Monday.

In the letter to County Attorney Jim Hammond, Rowland said he was resigning to "protect [the office of County Attorney] from ugly politics, and to protect the integrity of the judicial system for all of the citizens of Floyd County."

Annexation called 'illegal'

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

About 30 Bull Creek residents met Saturday morning to discuss the city of Prestonsburg's annexation of an area in their community and whether or not to become their own municipality.

Dickie Hall, the apparent leader of the Bull Creek group, told those attending the meeting that the city's move to annex the nightclub Center Stage was "illegal," according to the attorney general's office.

City attorney Larry Brown disputed that accusation Tuesday, saying that he had talked last week with Tom Emerson, who deals with municipal matters in the attorney general's office, and Emerson was unaware of any violations by the city.

Emerson could not be reached Tuesday for comment.

The thrust of Saturday's meeting was to "keep Prestonsburg out" until the citizens decided if they wanted to incorporate as their own city or to remain unincorporated.

Ed Kuss joined Hall in speaking to the group and told the residents that if a city was formed in Bull Creek enough revenue could be generated to operate their own town from businesses in the area.

"Then, we control our own destiny," Kuss said. "If we incorporate we could have a population as large or possibly larger than Prestonsburg."

Kuss told the group that if they decided to become a city, there were grants available to construct sewer systems, fund volunteer fire departments and other city services.

Most residents didn't appear to be in favor of becoming incorporated, but instead, wanted to remain as they are, although some feared the area may be annexed into the city one day.

Hall said that the people of Bull Creek could fight to overturn the city's annexation of Center Stage and the strip of Route 3 that was incorporated.

"We can get the annexation overturned," Hall said. "We'll do whatever it takes if you are willing to help."

Brown said that in his opinion, the annexation could not be overturned because no one's property was being taken into the city against their will.

Brown said the Prestonsburg City Council would amend the annexation ordinance at Monday's meeting to include property owners who have requested their property be made part of the city.

The council will meet Monday, March 23 at 6 p.m. at city hall. The meetings are open to the public.

After meeting with Berkheimer :

Students end protest vigil

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Classes resumed Tuesday at Wheelwright High School when suspended principal Lewis "Spike" Berkheimer met privately with students and urged them to return to the classroom.

The media was not invited to listen to sit in on Berkheimer's meeting with the students.

All but 12 students walked out of their classrooms Thursday and only eight remained Tuesday in a show of support for Berkheimer, who was suspended March 11 after being charged March 9 with two counts of first degree sexual abuse. The charges stemmed from allegations made by a 15-year-old student and were of a "touching" nature.

Students resumed their show of support Tuesday afternoon by launching a letter writing campaign to the Floyd County Times.

Berkheimer's attorney, John David Caudill, said Tuesday that his client wanted students to return to class in order to continue their education.

"Mr. Berkheimer was genuinely concerned with the students getting back in class," Caudill said. "His reasons are that education is the more important issue than anything else that is going on; that it's getting toward the end of the school year and some seniors may want to attend college classes this summer and the longer they stay out could interfere with that; and that Wheelwright High School was in bad shape and things were beginning to turn around and he wanted that turnaround to continue."

Caudill said his client appreciated all the support shown by the students and that support would be "justified."

"My client is absolutely, positively innocent," Caudill said.

Wheelwright basketball coach Jack Pack said Tuesday that students returned to classes after Berkheimer met privately with them for about 20 minutes.

"Everything's gone smoothly," Pack said. "It's back to normal, as much as normal can be until this is resolved."

Bride-to-be is charged :

Cops spoil 'shopping' spree

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

"Till theft do us part.

The wedding of Jeannie Jacobs, 18, of Topmost, to Danny Wayne Fouts of Dema was delayed by seven hours Saturday because the bride was lodged in the Floyd County Jail after an apparent shoplifting spree through Prestonsburg.

Prestonsburg Police officers detained eight Knott County residents around noon Saturday after receiving a report of shoplifting at Food City. When police officers arrived at the scene, one of the suspects, Betty J. Thomas (sister of the bride) made a dash for freedom, heading for the construction site of new U.S. 23 near Food City. Officer Anthony Castle chased her for about one mile over the rough terrain before he captured the alleged shoplifter.

Officer Herman Morris approached the suspects' vehicle and discovered merchandise from six Prestonsburg stores — Martin's Department Store, Food City, Artleys, Bridal Boutique, Wal-Mart and Shoe Show — allegedly stolen during the wedding theft-spree. Approximately $1,500 worth of stolen merchandise was found in the car, including a wedding dress and veil; suits, shirts and ties for the groom and his groomsmen; apparel for the flower girl; two cameras and ten boxes of film.

Three members of the entourage were arrested. The bride, Jacobs, was charged with theft by unlawful taking of a wedding dress valued at $499 from the Bridal Boutique in Prestonsburg, and theft by unlawful taking of merchandise from Artley's.

Thomas was charged with theft by unlawful taking under $100 from Bridal Boutique and theft by unlawful taking over $100 from Wal-Mart (a felony charge).

Also arrested was Bobby R. Roberts, a relative, who was charged with two counts of theft by unlawful taking and disorderly conduct. Roberts was allegedly driving the get-away vehicle.

Roberts, 25, of Topmost, was indicted by a Knott County Grand Jury in January on 25 counts of wanton endangerment in the first degree when he allegedly engaged in a paper wad fight while driving a school bus, allegedly resulting in a bus accident at Pinetop on October 24, 1991.

The arrest of the three did not stop the wedding ceremony, though. The father of the bride posted bail for his daughters and the wedding was held around 10 p.m. Saturday at the Topmost Baptist Church.

The incident is being investigated by officers Castle and Morris and Prestonsburg Police detective Jeff Stumbo.

Wheelwright High School students returned to class Tuesday after former principal Lewis "Spike" Berkhlmer met privately with them. Radio network takes shape

by Mike Rosenberg
Contributing Writer

Prestonsburg's radio airwaves will soon have a different sound.

Two of the city's radio stations, WKKZ (105.5 FM) and WPRT (960 AM), have entered into a lease-management agreement with East Kentucky Broadcasting (EKB), a Pikeville-based company owned by Walter E. May. In addition, May bought WKYK (1270 AM) in Louisa and entered into lease-management agreements with WLSI (900 AM) in Pikeville and WRAU (103.1 FM) and WBPA (1460 AM) in Elkhorn City.

May already owns WPKE (1240 AM) and WDHR (93.1 FM) in Pikeville.

Under the agreement, the stations sold all their available air time to May's company. May's company will provide programming and sales services for the stations. Except for the Louisa station, EKB stations will still be owned and operated by current owners and management.

Federal Communications Commission (FCC) regulations prohibit one person from owning competing stations in the same market, but leasing air time is permitted.

Financial problems nationwide created the lease-management agreements, where stations pool their resources in order to survive. About 200 such agreements now exist. These agreements are allowable under FCC regulations and do not require FCC notification or approval.

Jeff Meek, owner of WKKZ and WPRT, cited the "economic downturn" as the main reason for selling his airtime. "There's going to be a new 20,000 watt station in Paintsville and new stations in Harold and Virgie. With so many stations and cable TV advertising all going after limited advertising dollars, it's a case of survival."

Meek believes the new broadcasting cooperative is a positive move.

"We'll be able to do some things we've always wanted to do but never had the resources for," he said. "We'll be on the air for 24 hours. That's something we couldn't do before."

The EKB stations will broadcast common signals originating in May's studios in Pikeville. There will still be local programming, according to Meek.

"We'll still have offices in Prestonsburg," he said. "We can put in programming that we feel is necessary to the local audience. We will still be airing ball games and other forms of local programming."

Meek said that most loss in personnel at the station would come from the part time employees.

"Most of the full time employees will be absorbed into the new company. The part time people will be interviewed for any available part-time positions," he said.

The format of the EKB stations has not been completely decided. WDHR's format will remain the same. The AM stations will all broadcast the WPKE signal. The other FM stations will have the same format.

Not all transactions in May's formation of EKB have gone as easily as in Prestonsburg. In Pikeville, Stuart Adams, 25 percent stockholder in Cumberland Publishing Company, the company that owns WLSI, sued Gary Justice, president of the company and secretary/treasurer Karen Justice in Pike Circuit Court for not acting in the best interest of the company in allowing May to lease the air time.

Adams claims the agreement with May would "render the corporation unable to service its debt obligations and would force...Cumberland Publishing Company Inc. into insolvency and bankruptcy," Adams claims the lease, which grants the air time to

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County Sheriff's deputies confiscated over five gallons of moonshine Saturday night from a home at Tinker Fork in Floyd County.

Deputy Larry Newsome said the seizure and the arrest of Mertie Beverly, 54, were the result of a two-week investigation into the illegal sale and transportation of untaxed whiskey.

Newsome said Beverly was suspected of transporting the illegal whiskey from Quicksand in Knott County and selling it in Floyd County. Six deputies executed a search warrant on the home of Rosie Belcher at approximately 9 p.m. Saturday. The moonshine was found in the home, in the pump house and in Beverly's vehicle. Newsome said the moonshine was valued at $350.

Deputies also confiscated a pistol, a fifth of Early Times whiskey, and a pair of nunchuks, a weapon used in martial arts.

Beverly was lodged in the Floyd County Jail and charged with the unlicensed manufacture, sale, storage, purchase and transportation of alcoholic beverages and alcohol intoxication. He was released Sunday on a $5,000 surety bond.

Deputies Larry Newsome, Danny Newsome, Lloyd Powers, Randy Powers, Roy Compton and Chester Newsome participated in the raid.

May at a rate of $5,000 per month for five years, gives the company "inadequate consideration." May has the option to buy the station at the end of the five years.

Adams asked the court to appoint a receiver to seize control of the business affairs of the corporation, set aside the agreement with May and liquidate all assets.

A civil suit represents only one side of an issue.

Management agreements such as EKB are somewhat controversial. Last November, Congressman John Dingell (D-Mich.) introduced a bill to control and regulate the agreements. If passed, the bill would require the FCC to prohibit stations from selling more than 25 percent of their air time. The agreements would have to be filed with the FCC and made public record. The bill's passage is doubtful, but it is likely the FCC will require reporting of the agreements.

Berkhlmer was initially charged March 6 by Kentucky State Police detective Lynn Cross with two misdemeanor counts of third degree sexual abuse. Those charges were upgraded to the two felony counts March 9. Berkhlmer turned himself over to authorities both times.

A background check revealed

Berkhlmer pleaded guilty in June 1976 in Meigs County, Ohio to contributing to the unruliness of a minor for encouraging the 17-year-old to runaway from home. He served five months in a workhouse in Cincinnati.

He is scheduled to be arraigned in Floyd County District Court on April 1.

House approves plan to up returns of coal tax revenues

In a move to benefit coal-producing counties, the Kentucky House of Representatives overwhelmingly passed a bill last Friday to return more coal severance tax money to coal counties to create jobs.

House Bill 543 passed the House with a 98-0 vote. The bill now goes to the Senate, where a slightly different version of the legislation was approved by a vote of 37-0. The House added a clause to allow money returned to coal counties to be spent on training workers.

Currently, the coal severance tax stands at 4.5 percent of the value of the coal mined—generating about $200 million in revenue.

Twelve percent of the tax revenue—about $24 million—goes back to the 36 coal-producing counties, including Floyd County, and a small part goes to 61 "coal-impact" counties and cities where coal is hauled on local roads.

Under the provisions of House Bill 543, the return rate would increase to 15 percent in 1993 and 18 percent in 1994. The rate is scheduled to reach 50 percent in 1996.

The additional money would benefit coal-producing counties, not coal-impact counties, by going into a fund for job-creation projects and economic development. The money would not be used for general operations such as magistrates' salaries.

Each of the 36 coal-producing counties would receive a share of the money. One-third of the additional money would be set aside for multi-county projects, which could include areas bordered by coal-producing Auxier Volunteer firefighters battled a car fire Monday evening but were unable to stop the fire from destroying the vehicle.

A Chevy Monte Carlo belonging to Herman Wells of Paintsville ignited around 1:35 p.m. on Ford's Gap, said Howard Ferguson, captain of the unit. Firefighters suspect the fire started from electrical wiring.

Three Auxier firefighters responded. Ferguson said that there were only a limited number of volunteer firefighters available because most of the firefighters were at their places of employment.

There is an effort being made to bring Industry to Floyd County, but for this to be made a reality, we the people have to realize that we need motels, restaurants, movie houses and family recreation centers; without these things, factories will not locate here in Floyd County, they will go other places. We have a unique opportunity at this time. We have 8 weeks of racing coming to our county and the off track betting year around; with this, people will be traveling to our county and spending money during these 8 weeks.

What this track means to us as Floyd Countians is the other 44 weeks of the year we will have a facility that will attract conventions, boat shows, concerts, area basketball tournaments, giving adequate parking and the right atmosphere for many activities. When we have our regional tournaments at the present time the highways are full of cars along the highway, this is dangerous, parking in this manner. We, as people, of Floyd County like and enjoy entertainment of good moral character and we can have this with your help and support.

There are many nice restaurants that we can have in Floyd County, if we the people of Floyd County unite together, restaurant chains that are good family restaurants that require liquor by the drink to locate. It is very important for Center Stage to have the liquor by the drink license given to him by Judge John M. Stumbo, and the magistrates at the meeting, March 20, 1992. The county of Floyd County can do this, the property of Center Stage does not have to be located in the City of Prestonsburg to get a liquor by the drink license. Please call your magistrate and Judge Stumbo to give your opinion. Remember we are not talking honky tonks but good decent places of food and entertainment.

The future of Floyd County lies in your hands. Will the Future be controlled by the Fathers of Floyd County or will it be controlled by City of Prestonsburg.

It seems that it is rather unfair that our children have to leave home to find jobs. Why can't we make jobs for our people and our people can live at home in Eastern Kentucky.

Please, Judge John M. Stumbo and the magistrates—You have the power to turn Floyd County around. KRS 242.185 gives you the Law.

The lower level, which is called the slate dump, will be utilized for parking and the upper level will be developed into a 10-acre site for the prison structure.

"If someone wanted to try to escape, there's no place to go," Thompson said. "This is an ideal location for a prison."

Commissioners agreed with that assumption and said the city would support the project wholeheartedly.

Jones reportedly said he compromised with the House on the issue of double-bunking inmates in order to locate the prison in Wheelwright.

"Part of the reason I agreed to do that was with the understanding that all those jobs would be Kentucky jobs and that it would be located in Wheelwright, which is an area that needs jobs dramatically," Jones said Friday.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

A whole bunch of congressmen are scurrying around in the wake of the "rubber check" scandal, claiming they did nothing wrong when they wrote hundreds of worthless checks on their private House bank accounts.

Yeah, right.
The bouncing checks, say the innocent, were covered by future deposits. No checks were returned.

Wonder why our bank doesn't offer the same friendly service?

Sure would be nice to be able to make the house payment without any money; not having to worry about the check being returned; and to be able to cover the overdraft whenever funds became available.

In the real world that's called "kiting."

It's also called "illegal."
Some congressmen are claiming they were never advised of their overdrafts.

Sure, and as long as we have checks in our checkbooks, we've got money in the bank.

Oh, almost forgot, the check bouncers also say no tax money was involved in the scandal.

Just out of curiosity, who is it that pays their salaries?

Congressman Chris Perkins was identified as one of the worst abusers of the House check writing privileges, writing more than $565,000 in rubber checks over a period of 39 months.

A congressman's salary is about $125,000 per year.

If we apply simple mathematics to those figures, it figures to take about 4.5 years worth of salary to cover the overdrafts.

Toss in one more important figure....congressional terms are for just two years....and it appears that somebody may have been betting, as they say in poker circles, on the come.

Forget your cares, come on, be happy....

While there is certainly enough bad news coming down the pike to ruin anybody's day... what with congressional scandals, charges against local school officials and the like... there is still call for jubilation.

The Cats are back.
We won't bore you with the details.

Just suffice it to say, in words borrowed from Mark Twain, that "the news of our death has been greatly exaggerated..."

Go Blue!

The state House of Representatives voted 98-0 Friday to hike the share of revenues from coal severance taxes that is returned to coal producing counties.

That's a strong signal that legislators are beginning to understand the economic plight of the coalfields.

While the three percent increase in 1993 and another three percent in 1994 is far from the fifty-fifty split sought by coalfield movers and shakers, the proposal is a step in the right direction.

Additional revenues from the new formula will be earmarked solely for use in economic development...like purchasing and preparing industrial sites.

The availability of usable land has been a major stumbling block in the development of our area. More precisely, the availability of affordable land has been a major stumbling block.

With coal tax revenues to be available soon for land purchase, half the problem is licked.

Then we can concentrate on recruitment.

If all the pieces fall into place, the turn of the century could also be the point when the worm turns for Eastern Kentucky.

This November, Kentucky voters will likely have the opportunity to approve an amendment to the state constitution allowing the next governor to serve two consecutive terms.

Lt. Governor Paul Patton, an Eastern Kentuckian, could very well be the first beneficiary of succession. If Patton is successful (and if he doesn't get above his raisin'), we could see eight years of political prosperity.

There are still a lot of "ifs" ahead. The first will be decided next fall.

We are seniors here at Wheelwright High School and the past week we have done something that we have probably never even considered doing before. We stood up for what we believe in and we stood by not only our principal but our friend. Here at Wheelwright we have the reputation of not getting along with one another but when it comes to standing by someone in a time of need, we never leave their side. We don't go out and express our thoughts as one. We go as a group and a family. We proved this, when the 218 students walked out Thursday, March 12 to support our principal; we stand up for what we believe in and we do it as a group. Regardless of everyone else's opinion in our opinion, he is a very special man. He has done so much for us here at this school. Through the years, he has been the only one that even acted as if he cared. He proved to us that he wasn't here for the job, or the money. He is here to help us and guide us through. He not only cares about the school as a whole, but he cares about us in general. It's not a group thing with him. He loves each and everyone of us as one.

House Bill 540, which would gut the state's environmental regulatory process, is expected to sail through the state House. Its primary supporters—the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, industry officials, and 14 House leaders—believe that a clean environment is tough on business. Business is the most important issue to these people.

The community of Dayhoit does not have a Chamber of Commerce. It does have a zillion lethal chemicals in its drinking water. The business people responsible for this pollution do not live in Dayhoit.

LWD, Inc. is a hazardous-waste incineration facility located in Calvert City. It is supposed to turn hazardous waste into harmless sluff. What it and the Calvert City Industrial Complex really does is produce 75 percent of the toxic waste in the Tennessee Valley.

Marshall County, home to LWD, Inc., once had a cancer rate 61 percent higher than the national average before state and federal environmental agencies cracked down. Many of the cancer victims were children. Representatives Donald Blandford and Greg Stumbo—and the other co-sponsors of HB 540—do not live in Calvert City.

Blandford and Stumbo think that, while we citizens are safe enough, environmental regulations hurt business. They are afraid that if HB 540 doesn't pass, the Chamber of Commerce and industry folks may decide to cut costs—like eliminating their generous campaign contributions.

We as students of Wheelwright High School feel that the accusations that are brought forth against Mr. Berkheimer are false. We have been in school for seven months and we feel that he has been a very good principal and a friend to each and every one of his students and faculty members.

When the students walked out, they walked out to support Mr. Berkheimer. The public thought that the students weren't sincere with their actions, but as Wheelwright has done all year long, we proved them wrong again. Before Mr. Berkheimer, things might have been done wrong and W.H.S. wouldn't have been a class act with their show of support for our principal, but in the seven months he has been at our school, everything was classy. Mr. Berkheimer is a class act in whatever he does.

As a child I had many moral values instilled in me, some of those being: I was always taught to stand up in what I believed in. I was also taught to finish what I start, and if something was worth believing in, it was worth fighting for.

Mr. Berkheimer is someone I believe and his cause is one worth fighting for. He is a kind, polite man who has never said anything out of the way to anyone. He has done some excellent things for this school.

He really cares about the school and what happens to the students. By walking out we did nothing wrong. We were simply standing up for what we felt was right and what we believed in. The Constitution gives us the right to do what we did. And we did so in a very organized and mature way. We, the students, organized the whole thing ourselves. We called all the reporters and we made the signs and we made it clear how we felt.

It was said that all we wanted to do was get out of class but if this were true, we would have left and gone home instead of staying out in the cold. We wanted something very important. We wanted to show our support for our principal and let our voices be heard for once.

He gives a lot of pride to school and we felt it was time to give something back.

I am one of the many students at Wheelwright High School who realizes the situation at hand. I would like to say that our student body stands behind Mr. Berkheimer 100 percent. Remarks have been made that the student body just did this to get out of school. This is definitely not the truth. The first day the students walked out, school was called off at 9 o'clock that morning. We, the student body, stayed here until 2 o'clock that afternoon. After being told that we had to make up the days of school that we missed, we still continued to show our support and respect for this man who came to Wheelwright High School and changed it for the better.

It is said that a person is innocent until proven guilty. One of our students was asked, "Don't you think this young lady is also innocent until proven guilty?" My response to that is yes. I feel she has the same rights as anyone else. No one is trying to deny her that right. I do feel the students think their principal is very much innocent of the crime he has been accused of. We all love him and I can personally say that he has shown me the utmost respect that anyone could ask for.

I will continue to stand behind Mr. Berkheimer until a court gives a final verdict. I feel it won't matter much what the court says. The damage is done and no one can change it now. I know the pain and suffering that he is going through and no matter what happens, that pain will always be there. This is all one big mistake that should have never happened to a man as nice and kind as Mr. Berkheimer.

In the past week the students at Wheelwright have experienced the loss of a great principal, Lewis "Spike" Berkheimer. Berkheimer was arrested March 6 for the sexual abuse of a 15-year-old student at Wheelwright.

Mr. Berkheimer began the 1991-92 school year without the friendships that he has now — he earned that. We, the students, accepted this man with welcome arms, and, now, he is being torn away from us. Berkheimer is not only a principal, but he is also a teacher, a teacher of facts, opinions, and friendships.

Thursday, March 12, the students at WHS walked out of their classrooms onto the bus ramp of the school in support of Principal Berkheimer. As a student, I feel that we all have learned that if we speak up and let our thoughts be known, then, there will be an outcome — whether good or bad.

We are proud of what we have done, and in a sense, we have accomplished something good.

I am a student at Wheelwright High School. And I am proud to say that I am behind my principal 100 percent, no matter what is told about him because I believe in him and my school. Also, no matter what happens I will always be proud of where I'm from, who I am, and who my principal is.

Editor:

I am a senior at Wheelwright High School and by now I am sure that you are acquainted with the situation concerning our principal Lewis Berkhemier and the sexual conduct charges brought against him. The vast majority of the students are behind Mr. Berkhemier one hundred percent. We believe in his innocence and this is why we staged our two-day walkout. We feel an unjust charge has been laid on him and we hope that our support will help to bring him back where he belongs, with us.

Upon the request of the students, Mr. Berkhemier asked permission to come and talk with us. This morning we all assembled in our school auditorium to hear what he had to say. His conversation was emotional and moving. He answered all of our questions and showed his appreciation for the support that we are giving him. He assured us that he would return to his position as soon as all of the problems have been solved. He also asked that we return to our classes and resume the educational process.

We have returned to classes and we will continue to stay, but our fight for Mr. Berkhemier has not ceased. We will continue to show our support and we will be there on April 1st when his trial begins. Hopefully, soon after this date the heart and soul of Wheelwright High School will again be seated behind his office desk.

Editor:

Being a student at Wheelwright High School I feel that the issue of Mr. Lewis Berkheimer is false. I think that he is innocent. He is a respectful, caring, and understanding person.

When I walked out of the classroom Thursday, I walked out for one reason and one reason only. I walked out only because I believe that Mr. Lewis "Spike" Berkheimer is innocent. I didn't do it to get out of class or say I was a part of this. I did it because I care and because I was standing up for what I believe.

One thing I can't understand is that they are saying that he is innocent until proven guilty. Then why isn't he here with us today as a principal. He has not been proven guilty but they are treating him like he has been.

Again, I think that Mr. Berkheimer is innocent. I want him to be here with his students where he belongs. He loves his students and we love him dearly. We want him back.

Editor:

Lewis Berkheimer is not guilty until proven so in a court of law. We, as the student body of Wheelwright High School know in our hearts that this man is innocent because he cares too much about the major task that has been given to him as principal of Wheelwright High.

Lewis Berkheimer has given Wheelwright High a lot of class because he is a class act and apparently rubbed off on Wheelwright. We used to have the worst reputation in Floyd County, and he has showed us the way to earn respect and to be a class act in the eastern part of the state.

When we walked out Thursday and Monday, we were not out there just to be out of class, we were out there to support a man's right that he is innocent until proven otherwise.

The majority of the student body believes in Mr. Berkheimer, and we will stand behind him till the end.

Billy Ray

Editor:

I feel like the situation with our principal, Lewis Berkheimer has been blown way out of proportion. He is a kind and very understanding man and would have no cause to have committed such a serious crime. I know I cannot speak for each individual in Wheelwright High School because we have a few that don't have feelings one way or the other about it.

And then there are a couple of students that want to see what the outcome of the situation will be before they will say which side they're on.

I wish that everyone could get the chance to meet this man just to see how special he really is. You can tell by the actions we took during the walkout that he has made an impression on us that we will never take advantage of. It was a good impression.

I think Mr. Berkheimer has been put through enough. Mr. Berkheimer came up to the school and talked to us and I think if it would have been me, I couldn't have faced the kids again not knowing which one believed in me and which one didn't. He had a lot of courage and he must really love us just like he said today in the assembly that was held in the auditorium. I wish Mr. Berkheimer all the luck in the world and I will be there on April 1 when he walks into the courtroom and so will all the other students who back him 100 percent.

Vo-ed budget cuts protested

Proposed budget cuts already approved by the Kentucky House would be "devastating" to the office that oversees Mayo State and other area vocational schools, officials said Monday, and residents are being asked to contact their legislators in an effort to restore the funding.

"I believe there are games being played in this state," said Bronelle Skaggs, executive director of Kentucky Tech-Region Eleven, which administers vocational schools in Johnson, Floyd, Martin and Pike counties.

Skaggs and other local leaders held a town meeting Monday night at Mayo to protest cuts in vocational education. The cuts are included in the state's biennium budget that was passed by the House last Tuesday. They would delete half the funding for vo-ed offices in each of the state's 14 vocational regions.

The reduction would be "devastating to our staff, to our community and to our region," Skaggs said.

If the cuts are approved by the entire legislature, there are "rumors that many of us would be laid off as of June 30, 1992," he said.

Region Eleven has an annual budget of $6 million, Skaggs said, and employs 130 full-time and about 25 part-time people.

"We're talking about people's jobs; we're talking about people's lives; we're talking about people's children," he said.

Another rumor, Skaggs said, is that regional vocational offices would be reduced to four, meaning Region Eleven would be "controlled from Ashland or Winchester or Hazard or someplace."

Skaggs' concerns were echoed by other officials.

Banker O.T. Dorton said Rep.

AAA road atlases, materials available

Here's one for a geography whizz: Where in the world can you get free atlases for your elementary school and borrow a computer program to teach map reading skills? Answer: Blue Grass AAA Foundation for Safety.

"The atlases and Electronic Navigator are the Blue Grass AAA Foundation for Safety's way of helping our children become more geographically literate," said Lilla S. Mason, executive secretary for the Foundation. To receive an atlas or for more information on Electronic Navigator, contact the Foundation at 1 (800) 432-0996 (in Lexington call 233-1111).

Hubert Collins and Sen. David LeMaster have introduced resolutions in their respective chambers to restore the funding. Dorton said the two lawmakers "were encouraged" that they would pass.

Bob Conley, city finance officer for Paintsville, said he was in Frankfort on Monday and stopped by the Kentucky Department of Education. Because the budget bill is not education legislation, he said, education officials will probably not lobby to restore the funding.

Conley said the region's "best hope is to work through Lt. Gov. Paul Patton because he knows the importance of vocational education to Eastern Kentuckians."

Patton is a former Pike County judge-executive.

Clyde Blevins, executive director of the Paintsville-Johnson County Chamber of Commerce, denied another rumor that the funding cut would affect financing of Mayo's new advanced technology center.

"We were worried about it," he said, "but this has nothing to do with it."

Blevins, Skaggs and others were scheduled to go to Frankfort Tuesday morning to attend the meeting of the Senate Appropriations and Revenue Committee. A car pool was supposed to be provided for other citizens who wanted to make the trip.

They also encouraged residents to call or fax a message to Collins, LeMaster and other state officials to express their opposition to the funding cut. Collins and LeMaster can be reached at 1-800-372-7181.

"It's time for us to rise up," Skaggs said. "Let's burn the phones off the hook."

Besides Mayo in Paintsville, Region Eleven has three vocational schools in Pike County and one each in Martin and Floyd counties.

Attention Students!

Festival of F.A.C.E.S.

Annual History Essay Community Contest

Rules and Regulations

The Festival of F.A.C.E.S. seeks to recognize students for good historic research and writing skills. The annual History Essay Community Contests are perhaps our most important individual contests. Winners receive cash prizes:

- 1st Place, $75.00
- 2nd Place, $50.00
- 3rd Place, $25.00
- Honorable Mention, Ribbon

It is important that research papers be the best work that students can produce—and that the rules be followed very closely.

Rules:

- #1: The essay must be related to Kentucky History
- #2: There is a maximum word limit by grade levels.

| Category | Grades     | Limit       |
|----------|------------|-------------|
| 1        | 4, 5, 6    | 1,500 words |
| 2        | 7, 8, 9    | 2,000 words |
| 3        | 10, 11, 12 | 2,500 words |

#3: All papers must contain a statement by the student that he did the actual research and writing of the paper.

#4: The student must include title page with title, student's name, student's home address and phone number, school, grade, date and number of words, or use the official Entry Form.

#5: Bibliography—only one encyclopedia may be used.

Category

- 1—Minimum of 3 sources
- 2—Minimum of 4 sources
- 3—Minimum of 5 sources

#6: Covers with artwork related to essays are encouraged. The art work doesn't have to be done by the student doing the essay. Artwork is optional and will not be graded.

Winning Strategies!

- #1: Emphasize Kentucky History
- #2: Use local research materials, court records, oral history, interviews and other resources in preparing your paper.

Bentley, Lawson wed

Beth Simpson Meade of Allen announces the marriage of her sister Marcia Bentley formerly of McDowell, now of Donnelsville, Ohio, to Danie Dalton also of Donnelsville, Ohio on March 7 at Briar Creek Baptist Church in Williamsburg.

Mrs. Dalton is the daughter of Minnie Faye Lawson of Allen and Carl Bentley of McDowell. She is a 1976 graduate of McDowell High School and a licensed cosmetologist.

Mr. Dalton is the son of Hilda Dalton of Donnelsville and the late Junior Dalton. He is a 1971 graduate of Tecumseh High School and is employed as a supervisor for Clark County Utilities.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton reside in Donnelsville, Ohio.

Parson, Williams

Barlowe and Shirley Parsons of Printer announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter Melinda to Terry Williams, son of Barbara Leedy of Johns Creek and Lawrence Williams of Kimber.

She is the granddaughter of Oliver and Myrtle Hall and Maudie Collins of Printer. She is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and Kentucky College of Business. She presently works at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin as assistant public relations and billing secretary.

The couple will exchange vows on Saturday, March 28, at noon at the Mouth of Mud Church of Christ at Harold. Luke Newell will perform the ceremony. A reception will immediately follow at the Betsy Layne Senior Citizens Building near the fire department.

Nominations for MSU's Distinguished Teacher Award being accepted

MSU's Committee on Teaching is soliciting information from MSU faculty, staff, students, alumni and the general public.

The award, established in 1964 by the MSU Alumni Association, has been given annually to recognize a faculty member who excels as a classroom teacher.

The primary criteria is that the recipient exemplify the highest ideals of teaching and scholarship.

The deadline for submission of nominations will be Monday, March 30, at 4:30 p.m., according to Dr. Brent Rogers, MSU associate professor of agriculture and committee chair. He stressed that nominations must be in his hands by 4:30 p.m. on that day.

Nominations shall include name, address and telephone number(s) of the person making the nomination along with a one-page letter detailing how the nominee meets the criteria.

"Any full-time, tenured faculty member whose primary assignment is teaching is eligible to be nominated," Dr. Rogers said. A detailed list of the criteria may be obtained from the chair by stopping by his office in 313 Reed Hall or by calling him at (606) 783-2660. Nominations may be sent to Dr. Rogers at Morehead State University, UPO 702, Morehead, KY 40351-1689.

WE'RE THREE YEARS OLD!

On March 1, 1989, the opening of the Special Care Nursery at Pikeville Methodist Hospital made Neonatal Intensive Care (NICU) easily accessible to the Big Sandy ADD region of Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties. A pediatrician specializing in high risk infant care, a well-trained staff of nurses, therapists, and volunteers, and the latest technology and equipment have provided the best medical treatment available anywhere to Eastern Kentucky newborns.

In the past three years, a total of 500 infants with a wide range of problems have been cared for. The Methodist Neonatal Transport Team brought 120 of those infants from nearby hospitals for specialized NICU care. Infants from the Big Sandy area, from seven other Kentucky counties, and from Virginia and West Virginia have been treated here, receiving the care they need while staying close enough to home for their families to visit. Though an Intensive Care Unit, we have liberal visitation policies which allow parents and grandparents to visit with their infant throughout the baby's hospital stay.

In the NICU, we not only treat medical problems but also begin at once to encourage the infant's motor and mental development. Therapists work with the baby in the nursery and advise parents of any special care their infant may require after discharge. All parents of NICU infants are trained in Infant CPR.

Growth and Expansion Continue

Exciting developments are occurring as we continue to grow and expand our services. We now have a specially equipped ambulance devoted exclusively to neonatal transportation. It is completely outfitted with instruments and equipment for newborns. Some of the funds allowing us to purchase this unit were donated by the Kiwanas Clubs of the Big Sandy region. It has been on the road at least once a week since bringing it into service.

Hearing tests are now being done on all newborns in the NICU and on all high risk infants in the regular nursery. Previously, babies needing hearing testing had to go to Lexington, Huntington, or Louisville. Pikeville Methodist is the only hospital in our area to offer this special service. Thanks to dedicated hospital volunteers who administer the test, it is the only hospital in the state to offer the testing completely free; even the services of the audiologist who interprets the results are donated.

Another unique service is the follow-up exams. All NICU babies are seen in the new Developmental Clinic at six months and again at one year for free developmental evaluations. This allows us to evaluate the effectiveness of the NICU program as well as the progress the child is making.

Our People Make it Special

But the most "special" part of the Special Care Nursery is the people who provide the care. The entire staff from ambulance drivers to doctors, nurses, therapists and volunteers truly care about each child who comes into the unit. We are all looking forward to seeing "our" babies again at the three year anniversary party on March 21st at the Landmark Inn. An invitation is extended to everyone to join us from 1 to 4 at the Mark II. Another example of "Special care for your special newborn - because babies deserve the best beginning."

Taking the plunge

Carlos Little of Martin was injured early Saturday morning when his car left Highway 1428, severed a utility pole and plunged approximately 50 feet down an embankment. The vehicle stopped within four feet of the Big Sandy. Portions of Prestonsburg were without electricity for about five hours due to the accident. The incident is being investigated by the Prestonsburg Police Department. Drugs were found in the vehicle. (photo by Janice Shepherd)

HRMC Pharmacy urges medication safety during Poison Prevention Week, Mar. 15-21

National poison prevention week is March 15th through 21st. In 1992 it is estimated that 125,000 children (about one in one hundred) under the age of 5, will be victims of accidental poisoning. The Pharmacy at Highlands Regional Medical Center urges you to protect your children and prevent tragedy.

Tom McIntire, Director of Highlands Pharmacy and Chairman of the Kentucky Society of Hospital Pharmacists, stated, "The most important measure parents can take to reduce the risk of poisoning is to keep prescription medications in a locked cabinet out of the sight and reach of small children. Secondly, when parents give medicine to their children they should never refer to the medicine as candy. Grandparents also should remember to see that medications are put away in locked cabinets before grandchildren come to visit."

Other important safety measures include - clean out your medicine cabinet on a regular basis; keep only those medicines you are currently taking; never transfer medications from one container to another without a child-proof lid; be sure that all medicines are correctly labeled, and read the label before using; always turn the light on when giving or taking medicine, store medicines separately from other household products; and insist on safety packaging for all prescription medications.

Highlands Pharmacy strongly recommends that during Poison Prevention Week, you review the storage of all medicines (including aspirin) in your home, even if you don't have small children. Friends, who do have small children may visit you and an accidental poisoning could be tragic. It is important to remember too that children will eat or drink almost anything.

If you believe your child (or any other individual) has been poisoned, the most critical step is to start proper treatment immediately. Contact either your pharmacist, physician or nearest emergency room as soon as possible.

Highlands' Pharmacy department operates a poison center from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. seven days a week, and Highlands Emergency Room is physician staffed 24 hours a day seven days a week. If it is necessary for you to go to the emergency room, call ahead, and be sure to take the container of the suspected poison with you to the ER.

During Poison Prevention Week Highlands Pharmacy is giving out free information on poison awareness in children, medication safety for senior citizens, and medical emergency brochures.

Please don't wait till an accident occurs, take proper prevention measures to "poison proof" your home now!

PCC's Phi Theta Kappa Chapter claims all major state awards

At the regional Phi Theta Kappa conference held in London, Kentucky, Prestonsburg Community College's Alpha Nu Zeta chapter members claimed all major awards. They won the Chapter Service Award; the president, Linda Smith, won the Outstanding Officer Award; the sponsor, Hassan Saffari, won the Horizon Award; they won the Distinguished Chapter Award, and they became the first chapter in the region to be given the Five Star Chapter Award. Phi Theta Kappa is the two-year college version of Phi Beta Kappa.

Medicare workshop to be held

A seminar to be held by Consolidated Health Systems will help to dispel the confusion about the federal Medicare program. The Medicare Education Workshop will take place on March 27, 1992 at Floyd County Public Library's community room from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. The free seminar is open to all Medicare beneficiaries, their spouses and those who care for them, and is offered as a public service through Consolidated Health Systems.

At the Medicare Education Workshop, George P. Archer, claims counselor will answer commonly asked questions such as: What does Medicare cover? What is Medicare assignment?; How does one apply for Medicare benefits?; and, What is Medicare Supplemental Insurance?

Those wishing to get their Medicare questions answered are encouraged to attend Consolidated Health Systems' Medicare Education Workshop. A limited number of individual counseling sessions will be available after the workshop. For more information or to make a reservation, call 886-9558.

Lake levels to be raised early

Due to abnormally dry conditions, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers—Huntington District is raising 16 of its 31 lakes located in Kentucky, West Virginia, Ohio, and Virginia in March. Under the normal conditions the Corps begins to raise its lakes to summer pool on April 1.

In Kentucky, if there is sufficient rainfall—Dewey, Fishtrap and Grayson Lakes will be raised early.

Corps lakes have a primary purpose of flood control and are lowered in the fall to provide added storage for potential winter and spring flooding. They are then raised to summer pool for recreation, water quality, and—in some cases—water supply.

In addition to the three Kentucky lakes, the Huntington District plans to raise four lakes in Ohio, seven in West Virginia and two in Virginia.

Fireman killed in fire is honored

A 29-year-old volunteer firefighter, killed in the line of duty, was honored Saturday (March 7) with a certificate of valor from the state.

State Fire Marshall Dennis Decker presented the first-of-its-kind award to Stephen Edward Bryant's widow, Mary. Also present were the couple's children, 11-year-old Jonathan and 2-year-old Stephen Jefferson, and Bryant's mother, Betty Stanley.

Bryant was killed in a fire at the Mouthcard Hardware June 23, 1991, while two other Feds Creek Volunteer Fire Department personnel were injured.

In October 1991, 29-year-old Jeffery Mullins, who had apparently leased the property for the building, was indicted by a Pike County Grand Jury on three counts of first degree arson.

During Saturday's ceremony, Lieutenant Governor Paul Patton said Pike County has the best rural fire department system in the state. He added that the loss of a life was "one sacrifice we had hoped would never have to be paid."

Bicentennial calendars being sent to Kentucky classrooms

Students throughout the Commonwealth will soon receive a gift for the state's 200th Birthday. The Kentucky Bicentennial Commission and the Werline Studio announced this week that 25,000 calendars, based on a series of paintings by James D. Werline, are now being shipped to every public school in Kentucky.

At no cost to schools, the calendars depict twelve of Kentucky's most historically significant sites, according to Commission Chairperson David K. Karem. "We wanted to tell students 'the Celebration is here,' but it was important that we send that message in an educational format," he said. Each month features a different landmark and a brief description of each.

Born in Maysville, Werline developed the watercolor paintings as a tribute to Kentucky's Bicentennial. "It was a way to share my talents with my roots," said Werline. The sites portrayed range from Danville's "McDowell House," built 1786, to "Whitehaven," built 1866 in Paducah by Edward Anderson. "From the Federal-Style 'My Old Kentucky Home' to Gideon Shryock's Greek-Revival 'Old State Capitol,' I wanted to salute Kentucky's proud diversity," said Werline.

According to Karem, the project will support other programs developed during the celebration. "Beginning with the 'Our Kentucky' curriculum, we have strived to re-introduce Kentucky into the classroom," he said. Course materials were unveiled in 1991 and comprise the only curriculum devoted to the study of Kentucky at the high school level.

For details concerning these and other Bicentennial programs, contact the Kentucky Bicentennial Commission, 502/564-5833. For a complete catalog of Werline prints, call Werline Art Studio, 513/753-8007, or the Festival Gallery, 502/581-1992.

Community Calendar

Editor's Note: As a service to the many clubs and committees that meet in our community, the Floyd County Times' Community Calendar will host meeting and public service announcements.

Disciplining children without a paddle

The Catholic Social Services Bureau Outreach Offices will present Disciplining Children Without A Paddle on Saturday, March 20, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., at St. Martha Church on Route 3, Prestonsburg.

This workshop is an opportunity to look at how and why we discipline children. Participants will be introduced to existing community resources available to help them discipline better.

For more information, call Gwen Hall at 874-9170.

Educational Seminar

A Spring Educational Seminar sponsored by The Kentucky Society of Radiologic Technologists and The Appalachian Regional Society of Radiologic Technologists will be held at Jenny Wiley State Park in Prestonsburg on April 17, 18, and 19.

ADA Seminar

An Americans with Disabilities Act Seminar will be held at the Convention Center, Jenny Wiley State Park, on March 24, from 1 to 2 p.m.. The ADA is a very broad Act with many specifics for businesses. Please try to attend this seminar. RSVP to the Chamber if you will attend, at 886-1341.

Musical workshop

The office of CE/CS at Prestonsburg Community College will offer a workshop for church organists on creative hymn playing for the workshop service.

Each organist is invited to bring any material of his/her own to share with the others. The workshop will be held on March 28 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Paintsville. The seminar is free.

Sexual Inequality/Explanation Workshop

The office of CE/CS at Prestonsburg Community College will offer a workshop entitled Sexual Inequality/Explanation and Solution — Evidence of Sexual Inequality for both male and females, why it exists and what can be done about it.

The workshop will be held on Saturdays March 21 and March 28 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in room Johnson 119. The instructor is James Gyldevand. The workshop is free. The public is invited to attend.

Local student named to Centre dean's list

Martie Lafferty of Prestonsburg has been named to the fall dean's list at Centre College.

Lafferty, a senior, is a psychology major at Centre. A graduate of Prestonsburg High School, she is the daughter of Jerry and Anita Lafferty of Prestonsburg.

Centre issues two dean's lists each academic year, one based on grades during the fall term and the other based on the grades of the winter and spring terms combined. The dean's list is limited to those students whose grade point average over the appropriate period is 3.60 or higher.

Founded in 1819, Centre is among the oldest liberal arts colleges in the nation.

Printer student initiated

Tammy Meade, left, Printer senior and daughter of Walter Meade, has been inducted into Morehead State University's Phi Alpha Delta, an international pre-law fraternity. At the recent initiation ceremonies, she was presented a certificate of membership by Melissa Goodman, Virgie senior and chapter president. Membership in the organization is open to all pre-law majors and students interested in attending law school. (MSU photo by Eric Shindelbower)

New program at UK promotes success in difficult math classes

Calculus has caused more than a few bangeroo-type headaches on college campuses.

Many students view it as the most dangerous of obstacles in their pursuit of a degree, as a confusing and perplexing form of mathematics that, by itself, is capable of derailing their plans for careers in such fields as engineering and computer science.

But Michael Freeman, a math professor at the University of Kentucky, has formulated an Excedrin-like answer to the pain of calculus.

It's a program called MathExcel and Freeman will be in Floyd County March 18 to explain the program. He will be at the Prestonsburg, Allen Central and Betsy Layne High Schools. Students who participate are required to spend more time studying than those who aren't in the program, but MathExcel students are averaging almost a full grade-point better and they actually seem to enjoy it.

"I didn't have calculus in high school," says Todd Caldwell, a freshman electrical engineering major who graduated in 1991 from McDowell High School in Floyd County.

"I was a little concerned about calculus when I came here," he confides, "but MathExcel is my lifeline. It has saved my grade and I think I can move ahead with a little more confidence now."

And that's the purpose of the program, which is based, in part, on the nationally recognized success of two others — the Professional Development Program at the University of California at Berkeley and the Emerging Scholars Program at the University of Texas at Austin.

"We've seen many good students struggle to get a C or a D in calculus, and many others fail or withdraw," observes Freeman, who instituted the MathExcel program at UK in the fall semester of 1990.

"These difficulties often lead to a loss of confidence and a decision to fall back on some major not requiring calculus," he says. "Disappointments like this can be personal tragedies."

Here's how MathExcel can help prevent those kinds of tragedies from occurring:

—Students selected for the program (after filling out an application form during their senior year of high school, and meeting with Freeman) attend regular calculus lectures during their freshman year at UK.

—In addition to the lectures, MathExcel students gather in groups three times a week to study together in a relaxed and informal atmosphere, led by graduate teaching assistants who are aided by top undergraduates.

—In return for their extra time, students are compensated with two credit hours on a pass-fail basis, plus the regular four credit hours earned by all calculus students who successfully complete the course.

In a recent group study session, freshman Robyn Williams, a 1991 graduate of Floyd County's Allen Central High School, was asked by graduate teaching assistant Pat Ward to explain a particular law of calculus.

Williams, a chemical engineering major, strode confidently to the blackboard and began sketching what appeared to be fairly complicated calculus functions.

As she chalked equations on the board, Williams explained what she was doing. She seemed so at ease with her understanding of the problem — and so relaxed in front of the class — that she could have convinced most observers that she was an actual calculus teacher, which she was for that particular moment.

"Aren't you forgetting something?" Ward asked Williams.

"Just a moment," she replied with a smile. "I'm not through. I'm getting to that."

And she proceeded to complete the problem, as well as answer all questions from her classmates. Afterwards, the class gave her a round of applause.

Ward then distributed a few new problems to the class. Students circled their desks in groups of threes, and began working on the problems together, while Ward roamed the room offering help and support.

"I've gotten the most out of this class of any I'm taking," says David Billups, a freshman physics major and a 1991 graduate of Richmond's Madison Central High School. "Up until now, most of my classes have been a kind of mass production system. But this one's different."

"There's interplay between the students, and with the instructors and assistants. And there's competition, too, but it's a friendly kind of competition where you want to be the first to solve a problem, but you also want to help other people and receive help when you need it. I think it's a great program."

There's no disagreement from Shelbie Deibel, a sophomore math education major from Crestwood, who is an undergraduate assistant in the group study sessions this year.

During the 1990-91 year, she was a student in MathExcel, and admits she was "afraid that everyone would be smarter than I was. Instead, everyone was like me. We were all struggling toward one goal, to pass calculus."

"I had taken calculus in high school, and made two D's on my report card. Calculus intimidated me. Without the help of MathExcel, I would not have made an A last semester. Not only did I make an A, I also made a lot of good friends who gave me a lot of help, and who I still go out with."

The record of MathExcel's success speaks for itself, and Freeman offers these figures as proof:

—MathExcel students averaged a final grade of B minus last semester, while the other sections averaged a C. And MathExcel students entered UK with an average score of 26 on the math portion of their entrance examinations. That average is the same as what all other freshman calculus students bring to UK.

—MathExcel students made more than twice as many A's and less than half as many D's and F's as students in other sections.

The numbers are fair, Freeman says, because all students — including those in MathExcel — take the same tests, do the same homework and are graded by the same standards.

The program is funded and supported by UK's math department, and by the offices of Louis Swift, dean of undergraduate studies Richard Edwards, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences; and Robert Hemenway, chancellor of the Lexington campus.

Freeman says the program is not for everyone. Of the 530 students taking freshman calculus, only 52 are in MathExcel.

"The qualities we look for are math aptitude in high school and motivation," he explains. "And motivation is crucial. MathExcel students have a wide range of capability, everything from nearly perfect math scores (on their entrance exams) to risky scores."

Application forms are available in most Kentucky high schools, and Freeman plans to visit plenty of others this spring, many in eastern Kentucky.

Most of this year's MathExcel students, in fact, are from schools not in one of the state's metropolitan areas. Of the 52 students enrolled, 38 are from small high schools. Thirty-one are women and 14 are minority students. There have been no dropouts.

"I think of it as an honors program," Freeman says. "But it doesn't honor just raw talent. That quality is used in combination with many other abilities and skills and motivations to ensure success. And while we're pleased with MathExcel's success so far, the success of our students pleases us even more."

EKU offers degree completion program for paramedics

Beginning this fall, Eastern Kentucky University will offer an associate degree completion program for certified paramedics.

"Eastern's paramedic program has always been associate degree-oriented with an option for a certificate," said Jeffrey Grunow, chairman of the Department of Medical Services Technology, "but, in ten or twelve years only three people completed a certificate. Historically, the thinking has been, if you have to get 44 hours for a certificate, why not 20 more for an associate degree?"

Around the state, however, since EKU has the only associate degree paramedic program in Kentucky, there are many certified paramedics without associate degrees.

"There became a need to consider what to do with these paramedics when they want to go on and get their associate degree," Grunow said. "I think an associate degree is absolutely needed and very advantageous for students to have in a young profession that's growing."

"A degree," Grunow added, "rounds out one's emergency medical care knowledge, and enhances it with courses in anatomy, physiology and the humanities."

Also, two four-credit hour "bridge" courses in advanced pre-hospital theory, EMC 380 and EMC 382, bring paramedics the latest in knowledge in a relatively new and ever-changing field.

"By taking these bridge courses, it not only brings them up to date, but it also channels them into advanced pre-hospital thinking," Grunow said. "Many paramedics have been taught protocol. At Eastern we like to teach paramedics the thought behind the process, and that's what these courses do."

The two "bridge" courses will be offered one night each week, for the convenience of long-distance commuters.

Credit for an existing Kentucky paramedic certificate will be awarded upon successful completion of all degree requirements; credit may also be earned through equivalency examinations in some courses. Selected transfer credit will be allowed.

Prospective students should call EKU's Department of Medical Services Technology at 606-622-1028 to make an appointment with an adviser to discuss degree completion eligibility.

EKU's Emergency Medical Care Program was the first paramedic program in the nation to be accredited by the Committee on Allied Health Education and the Accreditation of the American Medical Association. Eastern's College of Allied Health and Nursing educates more professionals in allied health and nursing at the undergraduate level than any other university in Kentucky.

Eastern Kentucky University is a comprehensive, regional University serving more than 16,500 students on its 350-acre Richmond campus, throughout its 22-county extended service region and beyond.

Local resident is member of top squad

Morehead State University's varsity cheerleaders took top honors in cheerleading competition at the OVC tournament in Lexington last weekend (March 6-8).

They were judged "in game" on projection, crowd appeal, difficulty in technique and overall performance, according to Myron Doan, assistant dean of students and squad adviser.

Taking second place honors was the squad from Middle Tennessee State University with Eastern Kentucky University coming in third. The awards were presented preceding the EKU/Tennessee Tech game on Saturday evening.

Members of the 1991-92 squad include Michele Fannin of Van Lear, a senior at MSU.

The MSU squad has been invited to compete for the national title in Division I at the College Cheerleading Championships competition in San Antonio, Texas, in April. This is the fifth consecutive year that the squad will vie for the title they won in 1988 and 1991.

Bill would change state's volunteer fire department system

House Bill 365 that would make needed changes to the state's volunteer fire department system was one of the main topics at Wednesday's Pike County Firefighters Association meeting.

Cost for workers compensation is presently deducted from the Volunteer Aid Fund. It has so dramatically increased (from $306,000 in 1986 to $2,775,000 in 1992) that each department would receive only an estimated $250 in aid in 1992 rather than approximately $4,000 in past years.

With House Bill 365, workers compensation would be a separate budget item and would not affect volunteer fire department aid.

Other provisions of the bill would assist in training of volunteers.

Pike Association President Randy Courtney is urging everyone to call the state legislature toll-free 1-800-372-7181 and leave messages for all state representatives to pass House Bill 365.

In other action: Courtney announced that Wayne T. Rutherford has become the group's first associate member with a $25 donation. Rutherford is a Democratic candidate for the Pike County Judge/Executive's office. Anyone interested in supporting the firefighters organization by becoming an associate member can contact Courtney at the Pikeville Fire Department, 437-5125.

Committees were formed for the annual Pikeville Fire School, scheduled for July 25-26. Classes will be decided on before the association's next meeting April 8th at 7 p.m. in the Feds Creek Volunteer Fire Department.

A legal dispute with three fire departments in a fundraising effort has apparently been settled. Representatives of the Greasy Creek, Kimper, and Marrowbone departments were allegedly collecting donations saying the money was for Pike County firefighters. Some people who gave apparently thought they were contributing to this association. Courtney says County Attorney Keith Hall has instructed the three departments to fully disclose who they are representing.

Doctoral program is coming soon to off-campus centers

The University of Kentucky and Morehead State University will take their joint doctoral program in educational administration into Eastern Kentucky next fall by distance learning techniques.

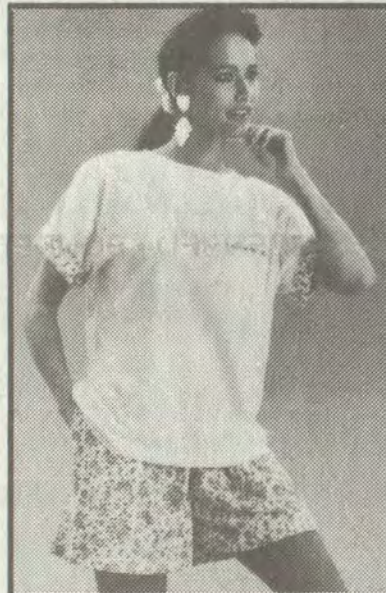

Beginning in August, coursework will be available at UK's extended campus graduate program site at Ashland Community College.

An informational meeting with graduate students in the Big Sandy area, who are interested in pursuing the Doctor of Education degree with specialization in educational administration, will be held Tuesday, March 17, at Prestonsburg Community College in Room J-132 of the Johnson Administration Building. Students may stop by from 5:30 to 8 p.m. and find out more about the program.

A program representative also will be on the MSU campus Thursday, March 5, in 503 Ginger Hall and at Ashland Community College on Monday, March 9, in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Learning Resource Center. The hours for those sessions will also be from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Dr. Edgar L. Sagan, coordinator, UK Office of Extended-Campus Graduate Program, at (606) 257-2411 or Dr. Marc Glasser, dean of MSU's Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs, locally at (606) 783-2039.

Local religious community featured in national documentary

A group of nuns, who are presenting a new face of the Catholic Church in Eastern Kentucky, are featured in a national documentary on home missions across the United States.

The five Benedictine Sisters, who live at the Mount Tabor Monastery in Martin, talk about their apostolate in the monastery and the community in "Mission America," an eight-part series produced by the Catholic Church Extension Society.

Unlike strictly contemplative communities, these Benedictine Sisters divide their time between prayer and active service. They reach out in the community by helping runaway children, the sick and the mentally retarded.

Their work overcomes stereotypes, the documentary shows, as the Catholic nuns emphasize the commonalities they share with Appalachians, particularly their belief in God.

"Talk about 'missions' and most Americans think about those overseas. But we have many mission territories right within our own border," said Very Reverend Edward J. Slattery, president of the Extension Society and the documentary's narrator.

"The Benedictine Sisters are doing just as missionaries have done for centuries—bringing assurances of God's love and hope for a brighter future," Father Slattery said.

"In an area that is largely non-Catholic, the sisters are caring for others and spreading the peaceful example of their prayerful lives."

The Extension Society is a national organization founded in 1905 to raise funds for needy parishes in rural and impoverished areas of the U.S. It sponsored the documentary series to show the hidden missions that most Americans never see, Father Slattery said.

"Mission America" also is available for home or group viewing. For more information about the series or a free loan to schools, churches and other groups, write to: "Mission America," The Catholic Church Extension Society, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Room R, Chicago, IL 60601.

Regional church music festivals set

First Baptist Church, Prestonsburg, will host regional music festivals sponsored by Kentucky Baptist Convention Church Music Department. A Youth Music Festival, an Adult Music Festival and a Children's Music Festival are set for April 24. Ron Sholar, First Baptist Church, Hazard, will direct the festivals. For registration or details call James Martin Cordell, director, Church Music Department, (502) 245-4101.

Registration is $10.00 per choir and $3.00 per soloist. Choirs are to select two songs, are responsible for their own accompanist and are not required to wear robes. Soloists are responsible for their own accompanist. Vocal soloists must sing at least two stanzas of a hymn or sing a solo suitable for use in worship. Instrumental soloists must play one solo selection suitable for use in worship. Song leading must include two stanzas of a hymn from The Baptist Hymnal.

Keyboard and vocal ensemble festivals will not be held in conjunction with these festivals. They will be available at another time.

Payments halted pending probe of United Way

The United Way of Eastern Kentucky has announced it is withholding payment of dues to the United Way of America, pending the investigation of former president, William Aramony. If the alleged allegations against Aramony are found to be true, then this deviates from the purpose of United Way of Eastern Kentucky.

Butch Bradley of Floyd County, a board member of The United Way of Eastern Kentucky commented "This is simply not what our United Way is all about; in fact, we've been streamlining our operation through staff reduction to ensure our donors contributions are directed to human needs, not in administrative overhead."

Only a very small percentage, one percent in fact of the total raised from our local chapter goes to The United Way of America for dues. Virtually all of the money raised is kept in this area and distributed to those in need by responsible people.

Following the investigation, the United Way of Eastern Kentucky will decide whether to forward its' annual dues to The United Way of America.

Blackcats, Bobcats fall in regional

Tucker scores 24 but Blackcats fall 71-56 to Belfry in regional

Junior Aaron Tucker played his best game of the basketball season and the bad part is that it was his last game of the season as the Prestonsburg Blackcats fell victim to tournament favorite Belfry Friday night in the opening game of the 46th boys' regional basketball tournament at Allen Central High School. It could have been the best game of the junior's three-year career as a Blackcat.

Tucker took charge of the Blackcats offense as Prestonsburg played the top regionally ranked Pirates close through three and a half quarters of play. Prestonsburg trailed by seven, 42-45, with just over seven minutes remaining in the final period. Belfry then went on a 16-5 tear for a 68-50 lead with less than three minutes left in the game. Belfry's trapping defense and full court press caused some costly turnovers and poor shot selection by Prestonsburg.

Senior starting guard John Thomas Clark had to set on the Blackcat bench in his street clothes after suffering an injury in the district finals.

"I may have to have a cast put on it Tuesday," said Prestonsburg's leading scorer.

But the absence of Clark was the problem for Prestonsburg and they could not take care of the basketball down the stretch. Missing also was the scoring effort of Prestonsburg's 6'8" center Chris Burke. Burke looked like he was ready to take up some of the scoring slack created by the absence of Clark when he picked up five very quick first period points. But that was the sum total of Burke's output for the game as he was missing in action. Burke completed a three point play to draw Prestonsburg to within three points, 6-3, of Belfry after the Pirates staked themselves an early 6-0 lead. Burke again scored at the 4:03 mark of the first period to make it a 11-7 game. Belfry led at the end of the first quarter, 17-12.

J.J. Hylton stole the ball for Belfry and went solo to give Belfry an early 19-12 lead. But Prestonsburg fought back and scored the next seven points to tie the game at 19-19. Cory Reitz connected on two free throws and later hit a three-pointer that tied the game at the 6:09 mark. Eric Fitzer had two free throws sandwiched between Reitz scoring.

After Belfry reclaimed a 21-19 lead, baskets by Fitzer and Tucker gave Prestonsburg the lead at 23-21. Hylton hit a jumper for the Pirates and when Chris Phillips was going for a layup, Reitz was called for an intentional foul on Phillips. Phillips hit the two free throws and Hylton followed with a jumper to give Belfry the lead at 27-23.

James Derossett had two charity tosses and Fitzer canned two with 54 seconds remaining in the first half to narrow the lead to one, 28-27. After a basket by Hylton for a 30-27 game, Tucker slipped in the middle for a jumper in the lane and later hit a basket with three-seconds on the clock to give Prestonsburg the lead at the half, 31-30.

The two teams exchanged baskets in the first three minutes of the third quarter as the score was tied at 33, 35 and 36. Prestonsburg had problems handling the basketball late in the third period and Belfry rolled out to a 45-39 lead as Belfry was getting two and three shots at the basket. The Pirates held a 50-43 lead after three quarters.

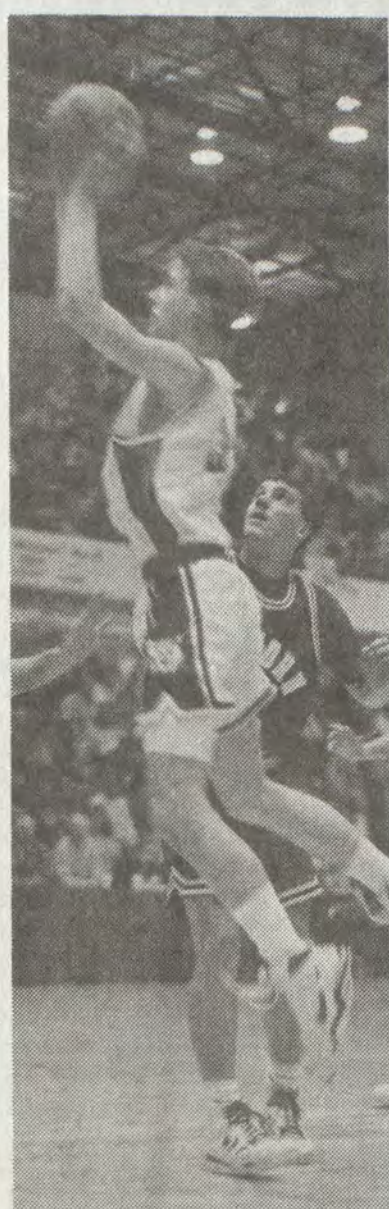

Hylton had a big game for the Pirates tossing in 32 points. Shawn Hager and Steven Staton each finished with 11 points.

Tucker led the Blackcats with 24 points and Fitzer scored 14. Cory Reitz had nine points with Burke finishing with five. James Derossett added four.

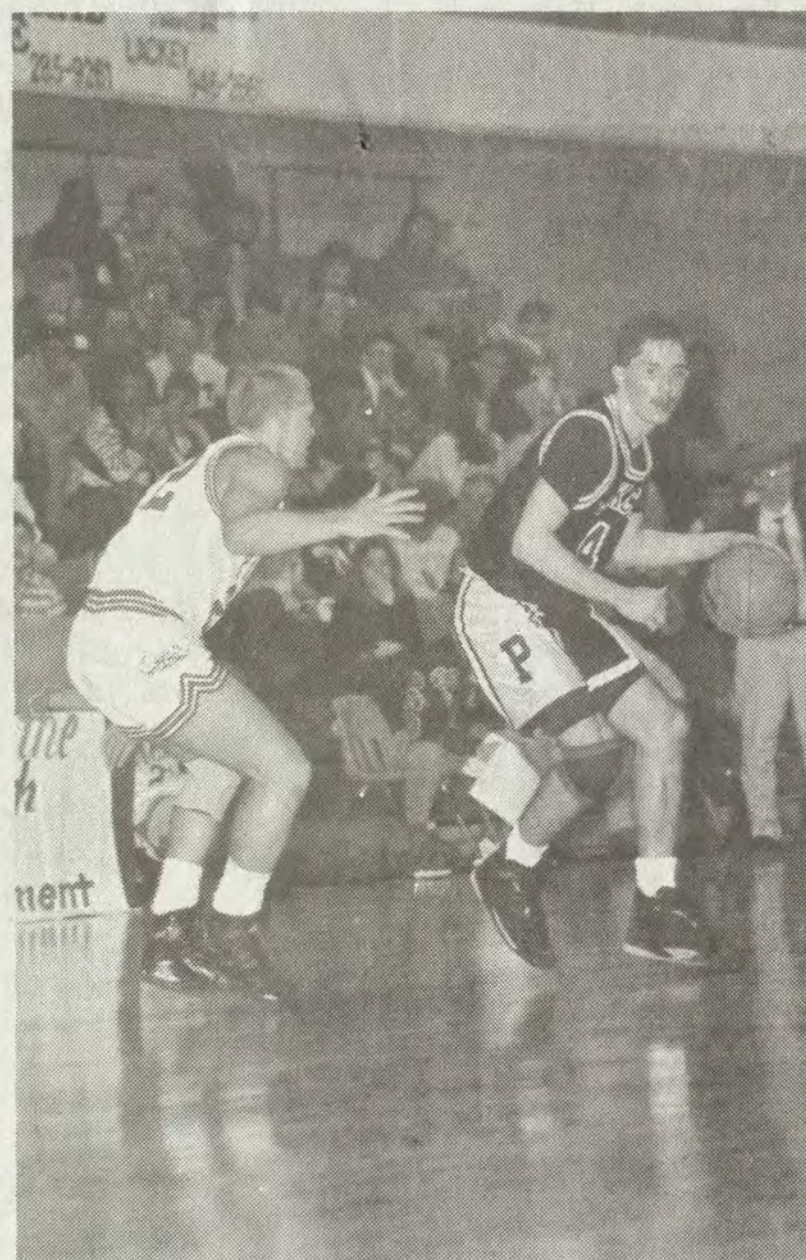

Prestonsburg ends their season at 13-13.

Elkhorn City eases past Bobcats in 74-57 regional win at Central

The Elkhorn City Cougars ended any thoughts the Betsy Layne Bobcats might have entertained as being the Cinderella team in this year's 15th Regional boys' basketball tournament held at the J. E. Campbell Arena at Allen Central.

Sophomore Todd Conley tossed in 22 points and Mike Fraley added 18 as the Cougars eased past a determined Bobcat squad 74-57 in a game that was much closer than the final score would indicate.

Betsy Layne was considered the tournament's Cinderella team but the slipper just didn't fit the Bobcats in closing out their season. Betsy Layne was surprised winner of the 58th District basketball tournament and was playing very good basketball going into the regional meet.

Elkhorn went on a 8-0 run late in the third quarter to take a 45-39 lead with 38 seconds remaining in the stanza and never was headed by the Bobcats.

Betsy Layne found themselves down by nine points, 31-22, early in the period but mounted a comeback behind the scoring of senior Jody Coleman. Coleman had nine of his 12 points in the third quarter. Brian Hunter moved underneath for a basket with 5:45 showing on the clock and Barry Hall followed with his only three-pointer to make it a four point, 31-27 game. After Fraley scored for Elkhorn, Coleman scored seven consecutive points to tie the game at 33-33 with 3:31 on the clock. Larry Puckett gave the lead back to the Cougars with two free throws but Hall tied the game 35-35 on a short jumper. Betsy Layne took their first lead since the first quarter, 37-35, on another close-in basket by Hall. Betsy Layne also led 39-37 on Shawn Wallen's layup.

Puckett tied the game at 39-39 on a basket underneath and he was fouled on the shot. Puckett converted the three-point play and gave a 40-39 lead to Elkhorn. A three pointer by Conley and Fraley's basket underneath gave the Cougars an 8-0 run and a 45-39 lead. Wallen connected on two free throws with no time left in the period to cut the margin to four points, 45-41.

Elkhorn looked as if they were in control as they scored the first five points of the final quarter to assume a 50-41 lead. But Betsy Layne still had some fight left in them and went on a 7-2 run to narrow the deficit to four, 52-48.

The Bobcats stayed within four points of the Cougars throughout the period until Elkhorn went on an 11-0 run for a 72-55 lead. Justin Hall came off the Cougars bench and led the assault with 10 points in the fourth period alone. Hall finished with 17 points in the game.

Betsy Layne came out smoking in the first quarter as they scored the first five points of the contest to take a 5-0 lead. A three-pointer by Conley and a Conley field goal tied the game at 5-5. The score was tied at seven and nine before Hall's basket followed by field goals from Fraley and Puckett made it a 13-9 game. Jason Akers put-back basket made it a 13-11 game at the end of the first quarter. Betsy Layne tied the game at 15-15 on back-to-back layups by Wallen. The Cougars scored the next eight points to go ahead 23-15 and led at the half 29-20.

Hall led Betsy Layne in scoring with 13 points in an off night for the senior guard. Coleman and Wallen both tossed in 12 points each to close out their basketball career at Betsy Layne. Sophomore Brian Hunter added eight points and Akers finished with five.

Brett Salyers scored eight points for Elkhorn City and Puckett added seven.

Howell, Moore and Wiley are named to All-Regional

On the local scene, the girls' basketball season is history. The girls' 15th Regional basketball tournament ended last week with the Sheldon Clark Lady Cardinals winning second consecutive regional championship.

We wish the Lady Cards and their fine coach Robin Harmon the best of luck in this week's state tournament that gets underway today.

Betsy Layne and tournament director Alan Osborne were perfect hosts. The Betsy Layne gym looked great with the uplifting it received. The floor and all the area looked fantastic.

It was a very enthusiastic crowd that gathered at the local gym and the tournament drew large crowds each night. The coaches put on a good show for us as the tournament progressed. As usual, we had our technical fouls called by some misunderstanding referee who has forgotten that most coaches are just trying to keep their job and the meager salary they draw.

I really enjoy my good friend Bobby Spears of Shelby Valley. Bobby had a very good team this year and was upset by Johnson Central in the first round. I really felt for him. I wanted to see him win.

Then there is Elkhorn City's B.J.

Elswick, who seems to have taught Randy McCoy everything he knows on how to work the referees. B.J. is a great person and I love to sit around and talk with him. He is calling it quits after this season. We will miss him next year.

I think a person who has done a great job of coaching a girl's program and doesn't get the credit she deserves is Allen Central's Bonita Compton. Compton has only guided her team to three straight regional appearances by winning three consecutive district titles. A lot of coaches would like to have accomplished that in their years of coaching.

Robin Harmon just keeps turning out the winning teams. Consistently strong in talent and fundamentals, one has to wonder how long can the dynasty go on. Robin is certainly a credit to the coaching profession.

A good friend of mine, Jimmy Hopkins, deserves a lot of credit for what he had accomplished in the short time at McDowell. Hopkins has proven, and we have said it for a long time, he can coach at the high school level also. He did a great job with the Lady Daredevils — watch out Floyd County next year.

Keys "keys" Shelby Valley win over powerful Sheldon Clark

It was disaster for Sheldon Clark's Kevin Fields and a banner night for Bobby Keys of Shelby Valley as the two teams met in the second round of the boys 15th Regional basketball tournament at Allen Central Friday night.

Keys scorched the nets for 33 points to lead the Wildcats to a 85-76 win over highly regarded Sheldon Clark. Sheldon Clark had hopes of being the spoiler of Belfry's regional championship hopes. Belfry has won the coveted title two years running and is a clear favorite to repeat.

Sheldon Clark took a 49-47 lead on a three-pointer by Brad Tiller with less than three minutes remaining in the period. But Shelby Valley came back with seven unanswered points to lead at the end of the third quarter, 54-49. Matt Baker hit a basket underneath and free throws by Kent Trivette and Nathan Burger gave the Wildcats a 52-49 advantage. Burger then beat the buzzer for the 54-49 lead.

Burger, a former Osborne Elementary player, came off the bench and sparked the Wildcats in the second half. Burger scored 13 of his 21 points in the second half.

Shelby Valley extended their lead to nine points, 58-49, at the start of the final quarter. Burger hit two free throws and Keys scored on a layup. Shelby Valley took their biggest lead of 10 points, 69-59, late in the fourth period when Burger made a steal and scored on the layup.

Sheldon Clark cut the margin to six points, 71-65, on a basket by Bobby Hale. Six points was the closest the Cardinals would get.

Sheldon Clark held a first quarter 17-14 lead after Shelby Valley jumped out 6-2. Keys scored the first six points in the game for the Wildcats. Shawn Hale, who finished with eight points, took the ball to the basket and hit back to back buckets to tie the game at 6-6. The Cardinals went on top 9-6 on a three point play by John Slone who led Sheldon Clark with 27 points.

Slone has been a force for the Cardinals lately but got little help from his teammates. Double figure scorer Kevin Fields managed only seven points in the game and was held scoreless in the first half by the Wildcats defense. Fields did not score his first point until he hit the front end of a two shot foul with 5:47 to go in the third period. He managed only one field goal in the game.

Back to back field goals by Jamie Roberts gave the lead back to Shelby Valley at 10-9. The two teams exchanged field goals until Tiller's basket gave the Cards the lead at the first stop.

The Wildcats fell behind by seven points, 23-16, early in the second period as Tiller and Slone hit six straight free throws. Shelby Valley then went on a 8-2 run that netted them the lead at 26-25. The lead exchanged hands three times until the Wildcats went on top 34-33 on a basket by Jeremy Johnson just before half time.

Matt Baker had 11 points for Shelby Valley and Johnson added 10.

Slone's 27 led Sheldon Clark. Brad Tiller closed with 13 points and Max Hale had 12 points.

Belfry holds off late Pikeville charge to post 82-71 regional win

The Belfry Pirates and Pikeville Panthers met in the semifinals of the boys 15th Regional basketball tournament. The two schools held grudges against one another—evidenced by the signs around the gym reminding Belfry of Pikeville's 41-7 win over the Pirates in football. It was a similarly physical game on the hardwood. However, the Belfry Pirates took one more step toward capturing their third consecutive regional championship and a return engagement in the state Sweet Sixteen by posting a 82-71 win over the Pikeville Panthers Monday night at Allen Central High School.

The win wasn't as easy as the final score may indicate. The Pirates had their hands full until the final three minutes when the Pikeville players started fouling out. Belfry also lost three players to fouls.

Belfry held a nine point advantage, 47-38, before Pikeville rallied in the third quarter. The inside scoring of Murray Garvin fueled the Pikeville charge. Garvin, who had been held in check for most of the night, exploded for nine points in the run. The 12-2 run by Pikeville narrowed the deficit to one point after three quarters, 49-48.

Garvin spent most of his time around the perimeter until the third quarter. The Panthers were able to get the ball down low to the 6'4" forward and he picked up some easy baskets. His moves inside created some foul difficulty for Belfry.

Leading 52-51, Pikeville saw Belfry's Shawn Hager take charge in the final period as he scored seven straight points to give the Pirates a 59-54 lead with 4:42 on the clock. Four consecutive free throws by J.J. Hylton and Stevin Staton gave Belfry a 10 point lead, 70-60, as the clock was running against the Panthers. Belfry extended their lead to 13 points on a three-point play by Hylton. By then, Kevin Lockhart had fouled out for Pikeville with Joey Pinson and Jason Browning departing for Belfry. Garvin picked up his fifth personal foul and the senior headed to the bench after playing his final game for the Panthers. Staton followed Garvin as the fouls piled up.

Belfry led 17-15 at the end of the first quarter and went to the locker room holding a seven point advantage, 38-31.

Floyd County Babe Ruth to meet Saturday at Allen Park

Floyd County Babe Ruth director Harold Case announced that the county Babe Ruth League will hold sign-ups for all 13-year-olds in the county who want to play baseball this summer.

The sign-up period will be conducted this Saturday from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. at the Convention Center at Stumbo Park in Allen.

All 13 year olds who want to play in the Prep League must sign up at this time. No try outs will be held, only sign ups.

After falling behind 6-0 early in the first period, Pikeville rallied to take a 12-8 lead on three-point baskets by Kevin Lockhart and Tyrone Mullins. Keith Lockhart hit a jumper to complete the 8-0 run.

The Pirates opened up a 13 point advantage in the middle of the second quarter on two free throws and a basket by Hylton. Pikeville cut the margin to eight and trailed by seven

MCA team stays perfect with win over Shelby Valley

The Mountain Christian Academy AAU basketball team kept their record unspotted with a 43-27 over previously undefeated Shelby Valley in AAU play at the MCA gym over the weekend. The victory ran the MCA record to 8-0 on the season which is good for first place in the Pike County League. Shelby Valley drops to 7-1.

Fred Gray tossed in 11 points to lead a balanced scoring attack for the Falcons of MCA.

"Fred played an outstanding game for us," said coach Johnny Mayo. "It was his best game of the season."

Justin Paige added nine points in the win and Matthew Mayo scored six points while dishing out 13 assists. Paige scored his points after coming off the bench against Shelby Valley.

"We still have a lot of rough edges," said Mayo in assessing his team. "We do play good defense and pass the ball well, but we don't rebound very good despite the height we have. We're big, quick and strong but just can't rebound very good."

MCA led 12-8 after the first quarter and was ahead by nine points, 21-12 at the half. It was in the second half that the MCA squad put away Shelby Valley by outscoring them 21-10.

Scottie Thacker led the visitors with six points while Chad Damron tossed in five, as did Corey Robinson.

Jonathan Lawson had five points for MCA and Darren Newsome scored three. Mike Gross had two points with Ryan Hall scoring one.

at the half. Garvin led all scorers with 29 points and J.P. Blair added 18. Hylton's 26 points was high for Belfry and Hager tossed in 19 as Belfry moved into the finals of the 15th Regional tournament that was played Tuesday evening.

Pikeville attempted 22 free throws, connecting on 13. Belfry was 22 of 30 from the charity stripe.

The regional game could be the final game for Panther coach Howard Wallen as he had been thinking about leaving coaching. Wallen said earlier in the year that a decision would not come until after the season.

15TH REGIONAL TOURNAMENT SHOWCASES GREAT PLAYERS

The forty-six 15th Regional basketball tournament has certainly showcased some great basketball players. Some are sure to catch the eye of NAIA college coaches. While I don't personally feel that we have any players in the region who are major college material, I do believe that we have good solid players who could play on the NAIA level.

The semifinals of the tournament brought no real surprises, although the Shelby Valley victory over Elkhorn City was considered an upset.

Shelby Valley came on strong in the latter part of the season and proved that the teams with the best records don't always win. The Wildcats came into the event with a even 15-15 record and only Betsy Layne was worse.

Todd Conley seemed to think that he had to be a one man team in trying to bring his team back from a 10 deficit they faced against the Wildcats. Conley is a young man with a lot of talent but somehow he just seems to think that every game lies on his shoulders. He was guilty of forcing some shots during the entire game and his shot selection wasn't all that great.

I'm not being critical of the young man but I feel that had he been more team oriented, perhaps the Cougars could have played better against Shelby Valley.

Mike Fraley is one of the top players in the region, though he was all but forgotten in the Cougars offense. Mike did score 10 points before fouling out.

Jeremy Johnson, just a junior, was certainly impressive in the regional tournament. Johnson never seemed to panic at anytime and was one of the reasons the Wildcats faced Belfry in the championship game.

J.J. Hylton of Belfry may be the one player who could be Division I material. But yet he doesn't seem to have the hustle needed to play big time college basketball. Hylton is a tremendous shooter but seems to lack that determination to be the leader.

Murray Garvin. Played real hard in the tournament before being eliminated Monday night. Garvin is a very good basketball player and also a senior.

I have heard many positive comments on the way the tournament has been going at Allen Central. I know that principal Jody Sword and his staff have worked hard to make it a successful tournament. Many folks whom I have talked to or commented about the tournament feel that it should be held at Allen Central every year because of the "outstanding facilities" that they have. Of course, that wouldn't be fair to the other schools, but it certainly should tell the committee that decides these things that Allen Central shouldn't be overlooked as a tournament host in any distant future.

The tournament has brought in large crowds each night and the fans in attendance headed home to catch the replay on Channel 5 (WPRG) and also to get their VCRs cranking. The local television people, P.D. Gearheart, Adam Gearheart, Dr. Don Bevins and Bill Bevins did a great job all season long.

"Well, with basketball season coming to a close, you won't have a lot to do for awhile" people have commented to me. But they forget that baseball season is just around the corner and we cover it just as hard as basketball. The only difference is that you get home earlier with baseball.

I look forward to the sights and sounds of the roundball season — high school as well as Little League. I just love baseball. Go Reds!

In two weeks I will be taking my annual trip to the Junior Pro regionals in Richmond and then later to the state tournament in Bowling Green and, if our local teams do well, on to the nationals.

Still a lot of sports to cover. Hey, it's even time for the track and field meets to begin and it is always enjoyable to follow Dewey Jamerson's squad around.

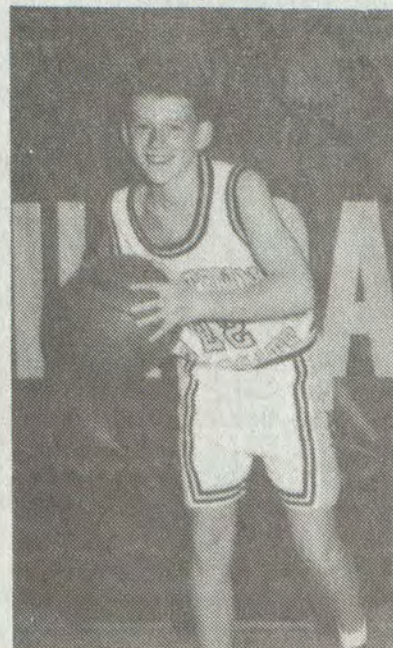

While on the subject of baseball, I still need the high school schedules of McDowell, Wheelwright and Prestonsburg. If we do not have your schedules, we can't know when you are playing.

WQHY radio station has tentative plans to air some high school games this spring. I think there are a lot of fans who can't make it to the games that would love to turn on their radios and catch a high school game.

"Well, until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

NCAA Championship VIP tickets available for Southeast Regional at Rupp Arena

Lexington mayor Scotty Baesler announced the details of a special VIP ticket package for the NCAA Championship, Southeast Regional Tournament to be held in Lexington's Rupp Arena March 27 through March 29. Monies raised from ticket package sales will go toward funding the activities and expenses associated Wins free throw trophy!

Todd Howard of Maytown recently won the individual free throw trophy in the Richmond Invitational Junior Pro basketball tournament. Howard hit 20 of 20 attempts to win the award.

Scholarship student!
Brad Hall, the 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hall of Weeksbury, won the WYMT Mountain Basketball Classic Scholarship on January 25. Brad was nominated by Wheelwright High School Scholarship Committee. Hall received a $1,000 scholarship to the college of his choice. Choosing one of 16 select colleges will double the award.

All-Regional

It was a busy time for the law enforcement officers as they patrolled the arena. No problems flared up and everyone seemed to enjoy the tournament.

A great big thank you to local television station WPRG-TV, Channel Five for all the coverage of the girls' tournament. It was the first time girls' basketball has been covered in such a manner. And there was a big response to the games as fans around the area were talking about seeing this or that game on television.

Dr. Don Bevins, P.D. Gearheart, Adam Gearheart, Bill Bevins and all the others did a great job of covering the games and they deserve our acknowledgement of such.

was named after the final game. Named to the team were Jenny Wiley and Staci Moore of Allen Central and Shelby Howell of McDowell;

The ladies in the hospitality room did a great job and for that all the media are very thankful. It was great!

My all-hospitality room team consisted of Jackie Osborne, captain; Jimmy Hopkins, Veri Newsome, Rick Bentley, Terry Spears, Tommy Boyd, Mr. Johnson, co-captain; Bill Newsome; Doug Hopkins and Joe Back. This team certainly loved the hospitality room.

The bands did a great job in supporting their teams. The rule of not playing while the ball is alive was respected by all band directors and everything went really well.

Well, locally, the sneakers can be put away until this fall when it will once again be time to start basketball practice on October 15. I'm sure that a lot of fans are tired by having to attend so many games lately but come October they will be ready for the bouncing of the round ball. It's been a great year!

with the Urban County Government's hosting the tournament.

The cost for the ticket package is $475 and includes the following:

- Two tickets mid-court, lower level section of Rupp Arena to NCAA Southeast Regional Championship Basketball games on Friday, March 27 and Sunday, March 29.
- Free VIP parking during basketball games in special section of Rupp Arena Parking lot.

- Hospitality room before, during and following basketball games on Friday and Sunday. Complimentary refreshments available in the President's room located on the concourse of Rupp Arena.
- Invitation for two to Welcome Reception, Hyatt Regency, Lexington, Thursday, March 26. Participating teams, coaches and visiting dignitaries have been invited.

- Invitation for two to Night at the Races Party, The Red Mile Clubhouse, Saturday, March 28. Gifts (including TVs, VCRs, CD recorders etc.) worth more than $2000 available to purchase at auction following races with your "play" money winnings.

In addition, the package includes one chance in a drawing for a trip to the Final Four in Minneapolis, Minn.

To purchase this special ticket package send money order, cash or cashier's check, made payable to 1992 NCAA Host Committee and main to: 1992 NCAA Host Committee, c/o 200 East Main Street, Lexington, KY 40507. For information call 606-258-3026.

Allen Central T&F squad to begin March 21

The Allen Central Rebels 1992 high school track and field competition will get underway on March 31 at Pikeville's Bob Amos park when several area schools will meet at 4:30 p.m.

Allen Central coach Dewey Jamerson is looking forward to the new season as several veterans return for Allen Central.

"Kenny Crum will be back for his senior year and will throw in the shot put," said Jamerson. "We should have more girls out this year in competition."

Jamerson said that his club will be taking part in the Pikeville meets every Tuesday and Thursday of each week.

"We will miss April 23 and April 30," he explained. "We have other meets then that we want to take part in and don't want to compete so close together."

Jamerson said that his track and field team will be traveling to Harrodsburg on April 25 to take part in the Heart of the Blue Grass track and field meet. On May 2 Allen Central will travel to Danville for an FCA meet.

Shane Stumbo, Jason Samons and Todd Howard also will be returning for Jamerson this spring. Others include Levi Wells, who will be throwing in the discus again this season, Shawn Bailey and Shawn Robinson also return and will compete in the discus division.

"All three are throwing over 100 feet already," Jamerson stated. "Levi is just a seventh grader and will be a good one."

Jamerson commented that he has over forty kids out for track and field this year.

"Jessica Wade will be back this year and she is going to be a strong runner," said the Rebel coach. "New girls out this year will be Jenny Wiley and Krystal Floyd. Missy Goble will return from last year. So we should have a good turnout for the girls.

"Kevin Patton, who played football for me, will come out for the first time," said Jamerson. "Kevin will probably run in the 100 meters and mile run."

Sports Channel (Ohio) names Daniels as director

SportsChannel (Ohio) recently announced that David Daniels has been named to the newly created position of Director of Affiliate Sales and Marketing. Daniels will be principally responsible for acquisition of SportsChannel affiliates as well as the marketing of the service, including advertising, promotion and public relations.

Daniels (28), a native of Boston Massachusetts, comes to SportsChannel from New England Sports Network (NESN) in Boston, Massachusetts where he was Affiliate Marketing Manager from 1988-1991. While at NESN, he was responsible for the design and execution of strategies to maximize subscriptions and acquire nonaffiliated cable systems. Additionally, he planned and scheduled all NESN marketplace advertising and was a CTAM New England chapter board member.

Prior to NESN, Daniels worked for Polaroid Corporation from 1986-1988 as a Marketing Manager where he implemented marketing, advertising and sales strategies for all consumer products and was responsible for national accounts. From 1985-1986 he was employed at Perdue Farms Inc. as a Sales Representative. With Perdue, Daniels created new territories for new product divisions which included developing distribution systems, advertising and promotional strategies.

In 1985, Daniels earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Stonchill College of North Easton Massachusetts while majoring in Political Theory and minoring in Philosophy.

SportsChannel features the best of Ohio's regional sporting events including Cleveland Cavaliers basketball, Cleveland Indians baseball, NHL, Mid-American Conference basketball and football, Mid-Continent Conference basketball, Ohio State athletics, Notre Dame athletics and CCHA hockey. SportsChannel is currently available for distribution by pay television operators in Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Western New York, West Virginia and part of Kentucky.

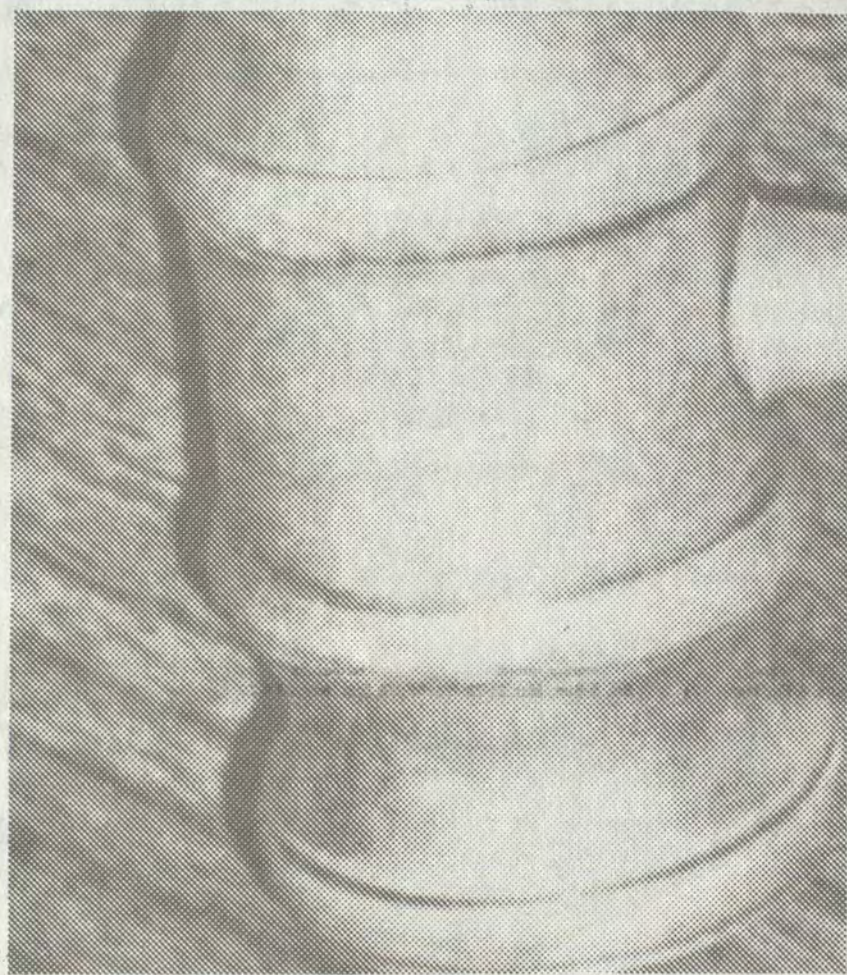

SportsChannel is part of the SportsChannel Regional Network, which has additional regional sports services in New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Florida, New England, San Francisco, Cincinnati and Philadelphia, and which is affiliated with the SportsChannel America Network.

Garvin leads Pikeville past Paintsville, 79-69, in overtime

Two of regions best!

Wesley Ellis (44) of Paintsville posts up against Pikeville's Murray Garvin (20) as the two teams met in the first round of the 15th Region boys' basketball tournament at Allen Central. Ellis had 27 points in the game but Garvin tossed in 35 to lead the Panthers to a 79-69 overtime win. (photo by Ed Taylor)

The old saying, "it's hard to beat a team three times in one season" held true in one aspect of the game between the Paintsville Tigers and Howard Wallen's Pikeville Panthers Friday night in the opening round of the boys' 15th Region basketball tournament at Allen Central. Although the Panthers posted a 79-69 win over Bill Mike Runyon's ballclub, they had to go into overtime to do so. It was the third meeting between the two clubs with Pikeville winning both earlier games.

Pikeville's outstanding performer Murray Garvin poured in 35 points as the Panthers advanced on in regional play. Garvin had two three-pointers in the game and was 12 of 19 from the charity stripe.

The game was tied at 66-66 after regulation play but Pikeville took control in the extra three-minute period in posting the win. Garvin completed a three-point play the old fashioned way after being fouled by Shawn Fugate with 2:42 left in the extra stanza to give Pikeville a 69-66 advantage. Paintsville struggled against the pressure defense of Pikeville and the Panthers ran off five unanswered points before Jon Holbrook drilled a three-point basket to narrow the margin to five points, 74-69. Paintsville kept putting the Panthers on the free throw line in the closing minute of the overtime but Pikeville was unable to convert the charity tosses. But equally, Paintsville was unable to take advantage of the cool shooting Panthers and failed to cut the margin in losing by 10 points. Paintsville only scored three points in the extra period as they went cold from the floor.

Paintsville led by three, 14-11, after the first period of play. It was the strong play of Wesley Ellis that gave the Tigers the early advantage. Ellis scored eight of his team's 14 first quarter points. Ellis scored the last six points of the period for the Tigers to give them a 14-8 lead before Garvin drilled a three-pointer to end the period.

Paintsville the lead back at 58-57.

The lead exchanged hands three times before Paintsville tied it at 62-62 on Pikeville win on top 63-62 before Paintsville took a 64-63 advantage on two Ellis' two free throws. Two free throws by Todd Smith gave Pikeville the lead at 65-64 but Ellis hit two charity tosses with 31 seconds left to send Paintsville out to a 66-65 lead. With 12 seconds on the clock, Kiato Bangudi fouled Garvin. Garvin hit the first of two to tie the game at 66-66. Garvin misfired on the second attempt. In a battle for the ball, a jump ball situation occurred giving Pikeville the basketball on alternative possession. The Panthers missed the game winning shot and overtime occurred.

Ellis led Paintsville in scoring with 28 points. Pinson finished his high school career with 15 points and Walt Preston, who played a good floor game for the Tigers, finished with eight.

Kevin Lockhart had 18 points for Pikeville and Blair tossed in 13.

It has been a busy basketball season!

WPRG-TV, Channel 5 out of Harold had a very busy basketball season. The local television channel has delayed telecasting a game almost every night since the basketball season started. The local channel set a new precedent by carrying the just completed girl's 15th Regional basketball tournament. Adam Gearheart, left, stood next to Bill Bevins during tournament action at Allen Central. The cameraman is Dr. Don Bevins. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Spring Runs Just Around The Corner

There are few other states in the nation that offer the quality fishing diversity found in Kentucky. This month, opportunities for a number of different game fish species really become good as the spring spawning runs begin.

If you're like most anglers and really getting the itch to test the waters, chances are good that you won't have to travel far to find a good place to satisfy the early fishing urge.

Two "cousin" species are normally the first to provide a start to the spring fishing season. Sauger and walleye begin their spawning migration in late March in a number of different rivers.

Sauger are most abundant in the Ohio and Kentucky rivers, and can be consistently taken below locks and dams on minnows and jigs, or combinations. The Kentucky Lake tailwaters is also a good area to connect with sauger.

The sauger's larger cousin, the walleye, starts making the move upstream to spawn when water temperatures reach the lower 50s. Quality fishing opportunities exist for walleye in the headwaters of the Cumberland River and the Nolin River. This species can also be found in the river systems that form Paintsville and Laurel River lakes.

Walleye can be found just below riffles in these streams and are often caught on both artificial and live bait. Low-light periods are usually best for walleye action since walleye are quite sensitive to light. Nighttime can sometimes be best when fishing for spawning walleye. Fishing in deeper pools just below shallow water areas with minnow-type crankbaits or jigs can produce well during daylight trips. Later in early May, walleye will start returning to main lakes and can be picked up along muddy, clay banks along river channels.

A favorite experience for many fishermen is taking part in the spring white bass runs that occur at many reservoirs and in several rivers throughout the state. White bass head upstream in big schools in late March and early April to reproduce and at times, can be caught cast after cast after cast. Good runs happen in the Dix River above Herrington Lake, in tributaries along Kentucky and Barkley lakes and in the Cumberland and Green rivers.

Good tactics to try include casting small spinners, popeye jigs rigged under bobbers, or live minnows. At times in Herrington Lake, hybrid striped bass may also move into the creeks along with white bass. Although the hybrids have never been documented spawning, they do exhibit the same habits and upstream movement going through the motions, if you will. This can concentrate, and make the hybrids easier to locate and catch. Depending on the strength of the white bass runs, both bank and boat fishing can be very good.

One other species which starts becoming active in late March is the muskellunge. Muskellunge, called muskie for short, move into the shallow water areas on Cave Run and Green River lakes looking for food early in the season. Large spinnerbaits and crankbaits are a favorite target of these superb fighters when dropped into woody cover along creek banks.

Anglers who plan to try muskie should remember to bring along a dip net. Muskie have very large and sharp teeth, and grow quite large. Therefore a net helps immensely in getting the fish in the boat.

If it's fishing action you're interested in as the days begin to warm up, there's plenty around to enjoy. And to make sure you're up-to-date on all the size and creel limits and other information you'll need, remember to pick up a copy of the 1992 Kentucky Fishing Digest. This publication is available from the Ky. Dept. of Fish and Wildlife Resources, #1

Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601; phone (502) 564-4336 or from license outlets. Other pamphlets on muskie, sauger and walleye are also available upon request.

Shelby Valley surprises Elkhorn City Cougars 69-60 in 15th Regional upset

Betsy Layne Homecoming Queen

Miss Tanya Harris of Betsy Layne was crowned Homecoming Queen 1991-92 at Betsy Layne High School before a large crowd. Harris was crowned by last year's queen, Carla Hall. Harris was escorted by Jody Coleman.

Jeremy Johnson tossed in a game-high 25 points to lead the Shelby Valley Wildcats to a stunning 69-60 upset of the Elkhorn City Cougars in semifinal action of the boys 15th Regional basketball tournament at Allen Central High School Monday night.

It was a game of contrasting styles as the Wildcats ran their half-court offense—getting baskets underneath from Bobby Keys and outside with Johnson hitting the jumper. Elkhorn, on the other hand, had their offense geared one way—toward sophomore sensation Todd Conley. Conley was not able to carry the load as the Cougars fell to the Wildcats who advance to the tournament finals against defending champion Belfry.

Conley finished the game as the Cougars leading scorer with 19 points. However, the 6'4" forward (guard and center) hit only seven of 28 field goal attempts. Conley seemed to force some shots. He had several "air balls" and seemed to be pressing on offense. Conley fouled out with 1:33 remaining in the game.

The two teams played on even terms in the first half with the score tied 14-14 at the first stop and again at 26-26 when they went to the locker room at half time.

Shelby Valley led by four points, 31-27, early in the third quarter only to have the Cougars raced back to take a 34-32 lead on a jumper by Conley. With the score tied at 38, Larry Puckett took a rebound and drove the length of the court to score on a layup to give Elkhorn a 40-38 third quarter lead.

Conley picked up his fourth personal foul with only eight seconds into the final period. Coach Randy McCoy elected to leave his leading scorer in the game. A three-point basket by Johnson gave Shelby Valley the lead at 41-40. The Wildcats took the lead for good on a Johnson lay up with 6:16 remaining in the game.

Elkhorn City, and Conley in particular, began to force some shots from the three-point circle. Shelby Valley took advantage of the cold-shooting Cougars to race to a 57-47 lead with just 3:01 on the clock. Coach McCoy called a time out to try to inspire his ball club. Chad Justice hit two free throws and scored on a lay-in to give the Wildcats their biggest lead at 13 points, 61-49 with 2:32 remaining in the game. Time ran out on the Cougars, who had hopes of facing the Belfry Pirates in the championship game.

Beside's Johnson's 25 points, Justice finished with 15 and Keys added 13. Keys didn't get involved in the Wildcats offense until the second half.

Conley scored 19 points to lead Elkhorn City. Puckett netted 17 points and Mike Fraley had 10.

Basketball camp at Transy

Young basketball players from across the state—and from other states—will sharpen their basketball skills at Don Lane's 1992 Transylvania University Basketball Camp this summer on the University's campus in Lexington.

The camp offers seven sessions for boys and girls between the ages of seven and 18. Lane, head coach at Transy for 17 years, and his staff of high school and college coaches provide individual attention to the campers, who are grouped according to age, size, and experience. High school teams may elect to attend the camp as a group.

Tuition is $195 for resident campers, $170 for commuters and $80 for seven to 12 year olds, who attend a special half day camp.

Following are the 1992 camp dates:

- June 8-12 Boys, 9-14 yrs.
- June 15-19 Girls, 12-18 yrs.
- June 22-26 Boys, 13-18 yrs.
- June 29/July Boys & girls, 7-12 yrs.
- July 6-10 Boys, 13-18 yrs.
- July 13-17 Boys, 9-14 yrs.
- July 20-24 Girls, 9-18 yrs.

Last year, nearly 1800 campers represented 110 teams, 20 states and three foreign countries.

For more information, contact Coach Lane, Transylvania University, Lexington, KY 40508, or call 606/233-8270.

Sportschannel announces 1992 Reds Schedule

An April 12 matchup with the Houston Astros in Houston leads off SportsChannel's Cincinnati Reds schedule in 1992. Thirty-five regular season contests including 15 home and 20 away games, in addition to three spring training contests round out the major league slate.

"We are very pleased to offer Reds baseball on SportsChannel again this year," said James R. Ballard, Vice President and General Manager of SportsChannelOhio. "With their newly acquired talent, SportsChannel subscribers will see very competitive and entertaining baseball all summer."

Gordie Coleman and Steve LeMar are behind the microphones for the third consecutive season. Once again, SportsChannel will round out its coverage of Reds baseball with its pregame show "Reds Roundup".

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS by Beth Jones

"THE SEXIEST MAN IN ..."

Just last week, I saw that People magazine named Nick Nolte the "Sexiest Man Alive." Okay, who gave them the right? Who does this choosing? And why didn't I get to vote? To all these questions, I answer with a resounding, "I don't know."

That magazine really surprises me every year. Once, the "Sexiest Man Alive" was Mel Gibson. I can live with that. Then again, once it was Sean Connery. I think I could find someone a bit sexier than he is. (Incidentally, if a guy is voted "Sexiest Man Alive", then shouldn't he have the distinction until he dies? I think so but each year the magazine announces a new one. I don't think that is right. Hey, what about "Sexiest Man Dead?" Just kidding!)

What if our humble little newspaper put out an edition similar to that of People magazine? Of course, we couldn't have just one man, there are far too many fine men around here to narrow it down to just one. We could have "Sexiest Man in Left Beaver Creek," or perhaps "Cutest Man in Big Mud." How about "Top Hunk in Hen Pen" or "Prettiest (pronounced purty-est) Man in Turkey Creek?" I could go on and on. What an edition of the Times that would make. I think it would be VERY interesting, don't you?

I just had another thought. I wonder if there is a guy on the committee who chooses "Sexiest Man Alive?" Hmmm.

It's really a shame that there's no "Sexy Woman". I guess publishers are afraid to print something like that. There would probably be all kinds of feminist groups running around with signs and protesting. I'm sure some folks would say a "Sexy Woman" issue would be sexual discrimination or harassment or something. Don't get me wrong, I believe those things exist and I believe women's rights should be protected like everyone else's, but sometimes these groups get out of hand.

Well, I think I'll end this in hopes that I haven't offended anyone. Of course, I might have done it already, but hey, I can't please everyone.

'Til next week, I'll be in search of the "Manliest Man in the town of McDowell."

Close enough

James Stratton of Prestonsburg has retired from a twenty-three year teaching career, having taught in both the Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg high schools.

He has many memories of his years in education, both as student and teacher, and has a wealth of stories about some favorite people.

One of these favorites was Betsy Layne school principal D. W. Howard who could get your attention with some delightful story. He made learning a pleasant experience and there are as many anecdotes about him as there are people who knew him.

One of the stories James hear him tell was about a young lady who lived at Mousie, Kentucky, and who went for a visit in Detroit. When she got ready to return home she went to the bus station to buy a ticket.

She'd been impressed by the northern accent of her friends and was a bit influenced by it. When asked about her destination she didn't want to say she was going to Mousie, so she gave it a different accent and pronounced it Moo-say.

"Oh, Moosay, Ky.?" asked the agent.

After a bit he looked up and said, "I don't see a bus station for your town on my chart. The closest thing I can find is Mousie."

"That's all right," she told him. "That's close and I'll just go there."

Bless him anyway

Little Lindsey Barnett is the three-year-old daughter of Melody and Jerry Barnett. She has an older brother, Ryan, and they live in Morehead.

A few days ago Lindsey came to visit her grandparents, Jewel and Dean Conn, at Harold. She has five cousins — all boys — who live here too. The two nearest her age are also cousins to each other. Their names are Brett Gibson and Kyle Potter, and sometimes Lindsey gets them mixed up.

When they sat down to dinner on her first evening here, young Brett also ate with them and Lindsey asked if she could say the prayer.

They were glad to let her, and she thanked God for the food. Then she asked, "God, bless Nana and Granddaddy...and bless Kyle..."

Then, not sure of herself, she paused, looked up at Brett and whispered, "Your name is Kyle, isn't it?"

Our distant readers

Between doing this column and running to and fro with a part time job and picking up grandchildren at school, I don't get around to personal correspondence much anymore.

I truly appreciate hearing from our readers, especially the recent letter from Sarah Lavens and Nell Montgomery who had known the dear Aunt Lillie I wrote about.

Sarah and her husband, Russell, live at Allen — and Nell in Missouri — but they are spending the winter months in Florida. We wish for them beautiful weather and hope it gives them some pleasure to know they're missing some cold says here.

Also from Allen and now living in Lehigh Acres, Florida, are Mary and Cecil Graham May. Cecil has recently undergone open heart surgery, for the second time, and we've been tracking his progress through many friends.

We understand they also read their "home paper" — and all of us here are wishing a speedy recovery for him.

Kim's Korner

The hills are alive with the sound of hoof beats?

After reading the Sunday paper, I began to weigh the pro's and con's of Floyd County getting a harness race track. I have to tell you, I only came up with one con, and that is my inability to choose the winning horse.

by Kim Frasure

Floyd County has needed an attraction of this kind for a long time now. I can't imagine anyone not wanting the track in our county. The possibilities that could come along with the track are endless. I've been told my imagination is wild, so let's see how it is.

Once the track is open and Floyd County is buzzing with tourists, TGIF's will begin building their restaurant three doors down. The spouse would prefer Hooters but this is my imagination, so forget him.

The Marriott will catch wind of the megabucks Holiday Inn, and the Jenny Wiley lodge are loading up on and will want in on the catch. Goose Creek Symphony will be the opening attraction on the big day with none other than The Kentucky Opry opening for Goose Creek. Meanwhile, record producers from far and wide will be seated in the 1,000 seat auditorium, waiting eagerly to sign the multi-talented Eastern Kentuckians. Madonna take a back seat, Shawn is on his way. The imagination runs on, but in all sincerity, the jobs and possibilities this can bring to our county are wonderful. This is one Floyd Countian waiting eagerly to see more opportunity and revenue generated at home. Go Clyde, Go!

Part II

The Times, they are changin'

The times are definitely changing, and how to better become aware of such a fact than to have an eleven-year-old daughter. Often are the times, my girls are subjects in this column. And regardless of what Scott Perry thinks, many of you have commented how well you relate to the stories shared about them. We are now going through the "I want to wear make-up" stage and mom is so uncool for not obliging. How many of you mothers have heard "everybody else is?" I swore I would never say to a child of my own those dreaded words my mother use to say to me. For example: If so and so jumped off Meade Hill would you? Well, Allen has no Meade Hill, but I catch myself saying, "If so and so jumped off a bridge would you?"

The way my daughter's eyes roll back in her head makes me want to jump and run to phone an ambulance. One day she's going to roll them so far back they'll stay forever. And I tell you, I do believe if she "shews" me one more time, I know I will jump to my feet, grab both sides of my hair, and let out the most unbelievable scream she's ever heard. All I have to do is say her name and I hear "shew!" Followed by "what?" "Sometimes I believe I'd rather hear yes, mommie dearest, than a "shew" or a "what." I thought I was doing good not so long ago and decided to surprise her with a new pair of jeans. Instead, I got "shew, those are dorky" Dorky? Generic, she explained.

Generics, I asked. What is this generic word I hear every time you don't like something? Exactly, she said. Generic means I don't like them. "Shew, mom she continued, just let me wear blush. "Blush is generic Asheville." I said, "I don't like it, not on you anyway."

'Till next week. "Shew," stay way from dorky generics.

Breaking the cycle of abuse

(Information for this series was provided by the Floyd County Extension Service.)

Transform Addictive Work Patterns

Hard work is invigorating. It's good for the body, mind and spirit. Not only is hard work healthy for the individual, it nourishes society as well.

As with most areas of life, however, we need to keep work in balance. Many of us put in too many hours on the job. Work dominates our lives. Our health, our relationships with family and friends, and our other interests in life suffer. Unfortunately, society often applauds the pain of workaholicism.

Men and women who grew up in troubled families—for example, a family in which there was emotional or sexual abuse, or alcoholism—these individuals are particularly prone to work addiction.

CORE CHARACTERISTICS

Three underlying characteristics are common in work addiction:

- We fill our time with work as a way to avoid areas of our lives that need attention and healing.
- We try to use achievement at work to make up for deep down feelings of inadequacy and low self-esteem.
- We go overboard seeking the recognition of those around us and neglect the promptings of our own inner guidance.

HOW HEALTHY ARE YOUR WORK HABITS?

Negative Work Patterns. If you answer yes to one or more of the following six statements, you may be involved in negative work patterns.

1. Long work hours take their toll on my family, my friendships and my personal life.
2. I underestimate the time it takes to complete projects and wind up overcommitting myself.

3. I feel rushed, tense and pressured.
4. I try to do two or three things at once.
5. Even when involved in other activities, I think about work-related issues and problems.
6. When things happen at work that don't seem right to me, I hesitate to speak up about them.

Positive Work Patterns. Here are six more statements. If you answer yes to one or more of these, congratulations! You've developed positive work patterns.

1. I see work as a chance to serve others and enjoy doing my best.
2. I devote time to a variety of interests outside my work.
3. I view problems as challenges and opportunities for growth.
4. I take good care of my health—eating nutritiously, exercising regularly and resting as needed.
5. I stay inwardly calm, even when outwardly busy.
6. I make it a point to follow my inner sense of what is best.

AN INDIVIDUAL MATTER

When does work become unhealthy, compulsive or addictive? What distinguishes a workaholic from a peak performer? A lot depends on the individual and his or her values and life circumstances. For example, a woman executive with grown children may be able to devote more hours to work than a father with young children who need his time and attention.

Peak performers love their work. Inspired from within, they are passionate and enthusiastic. In contrast, workaholics lack genuine enthusiasm. They are out of touch with their feelings. Driven by a need to impress, they fail to experience the alikeness that comes from following one's inner guidance.

Those addicted to work also may have an unhealthy need to control, take themselves too seriously, and find it difficult to relax and have fun. They often give too much attention to pleasing superiors, lie instead of telling the truth, and have difficulties with intimate relationships.

If work dominates your life and you don't like it, if it drains your energy, if it throws your lifestyle out of balance, you're involved in abusive work patterns.

To get free of unwanted work habits, take a friendly but honest look at yourself. And have improvements you need to make such as managing your time better, adopting a new outlook or becoming more creative? It's also important to notice patterns at your work place that may be encouraging you to work in unhealthy ways.

TRAITS OF AN ADDICTIVE ORGANIZATION

In an unhealthy organization things may seem OK at first glance. A closer look however, reveals signs of dysfunction. For example, members of the organization may see things going wrong, yet not speak up. Instead of talking directly to those involved, they gripe privately to others.

In addictive organizations, people avoid conflict or deal with it indirectly. Management is inappropriately controlling, sends conflicting messages, and holds unrealistic expectations. When you point out symptoms like the ones we are describing, management usually ignores or denies them.

Dishonesty and withholding of information breed confusion. Authority and tradition squelch dialogue and risk taking. Stress levels and competition among co-workers are unnecessarily high. Team spirit, cooperation and coordination are far from optimal. Quality productivity suffers and, without question, creativity is stifled.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

Like individuals, all organizations fall somewhere on a continuum from very unhealthy (dysfunctional) to very healthy (performing at peak). Although an organization may not have a lot of unhealthy traits, there usually is room for improvement.

Examine each of the above "traits of an addictive organization." Consider how to avoid that pitfall, as well as ways to create its opposite.

INDIVIDUAL & ORGANIZATIONAL WELL-BEING

Here are five simple, yet powerful guidelines to encourage healthy, productive work habits and to promote organizational excellence.

• Communicate directly, honestly, kindly. Speak up! Share what you are thinking and feeling. Risk being spontaneous. Differences of opinion are not only inevitable, they are healthy and lead to innovation and positive change.

• Focus your efforts. Don't scatter your energies too thinly. Do less better. Prioritize. Do away with non-essentials. Learn when to say no. As much as possible, give full attention to one task at a time.

• Balance your lifestyle. Dedicate yourself to balancing work, family, and your personal needs and interests. Enjoy yourself. Eat nutritiously and exercise vigorously. Make sure you schedule regular periods for personal quiet time.

ARE TAX PAYERS BEING FLEECED?

Every time I hit a pothole, I find myself asking that same ole question: Where do our tax dollars go?

Well, now I know (at least partially) where some of our federal taxes have gone.

Since you're a tax payer, too, you may as well know that at least some of it has been spent on research proving that 8.5 percent of all male sheep are gay. That's right, gay...as in homosexual.

Please don't call the funny farm. I'm not losing it. I'm merely relating some facts I read in a recent Parade Magazine "Intelligence Report." In case you missed it, the article stated that since 1988, the Department of Agriculture has been spending tax dollars experimenting with the sexual preference of sheep at the United States Sheep Experiment Station in Debois, Idaho.

The one that Bo Peep lost, but, thank goodness, did come home wagging its tail behind him.

As limited as my knowledge is, though, being a tax payer I'm compelled to question spending four years' worth of my (and your) money on gay sheep. I mean, even if the farmer knows what percent aren't worth the money, how are earth is he going to know which ram is a ram's ram until he buys him and turns him loose in the barnyard? How is he going to know the genuine article from a member of the "dud stud phenomenon"? (Their term, not mine.)

Maybe this could ignite yet another tax-supported experiment. Perhaps we could observe the rams' private lives from afar after having set up sort of a stereo system that plays music throughout the flock. It might be interesting to see what the rams do when we play the Platter "big hit" "Only Ewe." (A most appropriate selection since the lead singer for the group during the 1950's was a fellow named Buck Ram. Honest.) Or maybe we could play Debbie Boone's.

No dollar amounts were given, but I'd think it would have to be an expensive deal. I mean, how much would you charge somebody to spy on sheep for four years?

Anyway, the story said that the study was simply based on economics...that it's not fair for a farmer to pay as high as $4000 for a ram who's not interested in ewes. Somehow it doesn't seem fair, either, for me to buy a brand-new, steel-belted radial only to have it attacked and eaten by a foot-deep pothole.

Now, being raised in a coal camp, not on a farm, the only livestock I was ever around was an occasional milk cow or a plow horse or two. Of course, I did go to school and I did know what a sheep was. It was just that I didn't see very many. I knew that they were raised for wool, meat, leather, and catgut to string tennis rackets, but, mostly my knowledge of the animal was associated to nursery rhymes.

Like one that Mary took to school one day (which was against the rule), the black one that had (yes sir, yes sir) three bags full, and "Ewe Light Up My Life." Even then though, it would probably be difficult to tell when the rams were serious or when they were just trying to...pull the wool over our eyes.

Wonder what's next? Will the USDA someday decide to spend our money on gay rooster? To see if ole Rojo is more interested in chancleer than he is in some cute chick?

Or cattle? Will we ever have to fund a project to see if Ferdinand is truly worthy of his hire?

Seriously, shouldn't somebody important...somebody in a position to really do something (besides write a piddly little column) check into stuff like this?

I'm afraid if they don't we poor taxpayers will not only continue trying to dodge life's pot holes, but we'll also end up fleeced and looking like mutton heads.

And that's no bull.

Which Would You Choose?

Would you pick woodlands teeming with wildlife over handy kitchen appliances? What about lifesaving medical equipment in place of a stand of ancient maple trees?

Fortunately, we don't have to choose between Nature and electricity. Especially when we get SMART. SMART—Saving Money And Resources Together—is a series of ideas, programs, and activities designed to conserve energy and natural resources while saving you money. After all, energy efficiency and environmental consciousness begin at home.

What We're Doing For Our House.

Squeezing the most energy out of a ton of coal is a mark of generating efficiency. It's measured in heat rates. Last year alone, American Electric Power companies saved their customers the cost of 3 million tons of coal by operating generating plants with the most efficient heat rate in the nation among multi-plant electric utilities.

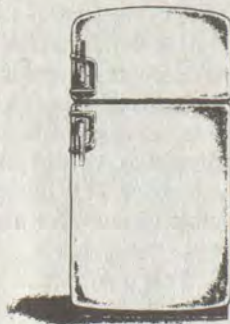

These savings have totaled 60 million tons over the past 30 years. That represents a lot of money and resources. We've created camping and wetlands areas, ponds and fishing sites, and donated acreage for animal preserves for rare and endangered species—all from land reclaimed through efficient mining practices.

At a time when there is concern about depletion of our nation's forest resources, we manage 56,000 acres of prime woodlands that have been officially designated tree farms. Much of this acreage is also reclaimed mining property.

What We're Doing For Your House.

Several AEP operating companies have initiated various SMART pilot programs aimed at helping customers save energy, conserve resources and lower their electric bills. These projects involve providing no-cost energy audits for customers who reside in all-electric homes; distributing water heater wraps and low-flow shower heads; and donating insulation and weatherization services for low-income customers. We're trying to establish which energy efficiency programs are most effective and acceptable to our customers. Here are some other exciting SMART ideas being tested:

AEP's TranstexT® Advanced Energy Management System enables customers to alter their use of electric energy in order to utilize cheaper rates through a sophisticated computerized program.

Some AEP operating companies are saving customers' money and resources by recycling their older, working second refrigerators. The refrigerators are picked up free of charge and disposed of in an environmentally safe manner.

We've also invested in a SMART program to design and develop high-efficiency electronic light bulbs which offer great savings potential.

Let's Get Smart Together.

You can begin by filling out the coupon below and mailing it to us. We'll send you our new booklet "SMART ENERGY SAVING TIPS" and additional information on obtaining your own SMART PAC. ## Annie Allen Circle of First Baptist Church meets

Members of the Annie Allen Circle of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) met Tuesday evening, March 10, at the home of Mrs. Maman Leslie, on Arnold Avenue. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Eva Collins, president, and was opened with prayer by Mrs. Patsy Evans. The minutes of the February meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, treasurer, gave the financial report.

The program was presented by Mrs. Faye Patton, who read an article entitled, "The Window of My Home," which was about Sylvia Workman and her husband, Baptist missionaries in a small midwestern town, where there was much gambling and no church. In this article, Sylvia asked the Baptist women to pray that God would make it possible for them to get a lot for the purpose of building a church.

Names of Baptist missionaries observing birthdays during the month of March were read by Mrs. Maman Leslie and Mrs. Patsy Evans led in prayer for them.

Delicious refreshments, consisting of salads, sandwiches, cake, nuts, coffee, and soft drinks were served by the hostess, Mrs. Leslie, with other members assisting in the serving.

Present for this meeting were Mesdames Eva Collins, Rebecca Rasnick, Lucy C. Regan, Roberta Sloan, Myrtle Allen, Annabelle Maggard, Ada Meade, Faye Patton, Patsy Evans and the hostess, Mrs. Leslie.

The next meeting will be Monday evening, April 6, at 7 o'clock, with the location and hostesses to be announced at a later date.

cluding the date of the Homemakers Camp, which is scheduled for June 10, 11, and 12, at Ruck (on the site of the old 4-H Club grounds).

The president appointed her nominating committee to select officers and committee chairpersons for the year, 1992-93, as follows: Mesdames Eva Collins, Docia B. Woods, and Jane Wallace.

Mrs. Shirley Callihan presented the lesson on "Clothing for Comfort," with Mrs. Mary Sue Moore illustrating the topic with slides. Mrs. Callihan distributed pamphlets entitled "Silver Threads for the Golden Years," which she emphasized in her discussion.

Hostesses for this meeting were Hope Whitten, Anne Alley, and Docia Woods, who were assisted by Mesdames Jane Wallace and Dorothy Stover in serving (buffet style) a variety of sandwiches, cake, potato chips, lemonade, and soft drinks to May Sue Moore, Gypsy Jones, Shirley Callihan, Roberta Sloan, Julia Curtis, Myrtle Allen, Lucy C. Regan, Maman G. Leslie, Fannie Runnels, Alice Harris, Dorothy Osborne, Margaret McGrew, Virginia Jeffries, and Eva Collins.

The next meeting will be at the same location, on Tuesday, April 14, at 1 p.m., with Mesdames Myrtle Allen, Shirley Callihan, and Mildred Branham as hostesses, and the title of the lesson will be "Health Update."

Mrs. Donahoe has guests

Mrs. Mabel Donahoe has had as her houseguests recently her son, Patrick Donahoe, of Lexington, and her bother, Tom Rogers, of Winchester.

Attend spiritual retreat

Attending the United Methodist Womens Spiritual Retreat at the Pikeville United Methodist Church on Saturday, March 14 were Mesdames Fannie Runnels, Rose Glenn and Helen Neeley. Methodist Churches throughout the Ashland District were represented. The theme for discussion was "Each Day a New Beginning."

Vacationing in Caribbean

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hackney are currently in St. Lucia, enjoying the beach and the splendor of the islands.

Recommitments made at First Baptist

According to the Rev. Michael Taylor, pastor of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial), beside welcoming of four new members during the recent revival services held at this church by the Rev. Lincoln Bingham of Louisville, several recommitments were made during and since that time.

Hicks spend vacation in Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Hicks have returned to their Middle Creek home, after spending seven weeks vacationing in Florida. En route there, they met Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hackworth in Chattanooga, Tennessee for a short visit. Mr. and Mrs. Hackworth were en route to their home in Southamp-ton, Mass., from a vacation spent in Florida and Mexico.

While in Florida the Hicks' visited with friends and family members including Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Helton of Wildwood; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hall of North Fort Myers; Mr. and Mrs. Hargus Hicks of Dade City; Mr. and Mrs. Emzy Cornette of Hudson; Mr. and Mrs. George Jung and Family of Oldmire; Mr. Wayne Johnson of Lady Lake; and Mr. and Mrs. Rebel Hackworth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meredith, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kinsley, all of Aripeka.

Mrs. Douglas Perry observes birthday

Mrs. Douglas (Davidson) Perry quietly observed her 93rd birthday at the Mountain Manor Nursing Home recently. Mrs. Perry, who, with her late husband, Roy Perry, for many years owned and operated Perry's Grocery Store, on Court Street, here is the last member of the Davidson family, on First Avenue. She has a host of relatives and friends who wish her the very best.

First birthday

Elizabeth Marie Spradlin celebrated her first birthday March 16. She is the daughter of Joel and Lissy Spradlin of Grethel. She has one sister Ashley Nicole Spradlin. Her grandparents are James Spradlin of Boldman and the late Nora Beatrice Spradlin and Kennis Evans of Grethel and the late Top-sie Evans.

Adah Chapter No. 24 Order of the Easter Star, met on March 9, at 7 p.m., for its regular stated meeting, at the Masonic Lodge Hall. The worthy matron, Mrs. Nell Hebner, presided. Regular business was discussed. An initiation date was set for April 27th. Money-making projects were discussed. Prayer for those on the sick list was requested. A memorial services was conducted in loving memory of our departed sisters, Thelma Jones and Josephine Fields.

Following the meeting, everyone enjoyed refreshments. The door prize was awarded to Mrs. Patsy Evans.

The worthy matron, Mrs. Hebner, was pleased to have present for this meeting, the worthy patron, Ron Hebner; Billie Murdock, Jewell Bays, Maman Leslie, Mabel Jean Lemaster, Roberta Sloan, Lorena Wallen, Patsy Evans, Lillie Mae Price, Paulina Owens, Shelby Willis, and Donald Willis.

The next meeting will be on March 23, at 7 p.m. at the Lodge Hall.

Allen baby recuperating at home of his parents

Taber Allen, baby son of Kelli and Stephen Allen, is recuperating at home following a few days as a patient at the Pikeville Methodist hospital. With him during his hospitalization were his maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Winston Ford Jr. and maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Vera Ford.

Baby Taber was recently christened at the Community United Methodist Church here. Family members and close friends witnessing his christening were his maternal grandparents, his maternal great-grandmother, his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary June Allen, his paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Jewell Allen, his aunt, Mrs. Kathy Fitzpatrick, and a family friend, Doug DeRossett. Taber's parents were welcomed as members on that day.

Announcements

• Mrs. Kaye Hale Ross, president of the Local Church Women, announced that this group will meet on Saturday, March 21, at 10:30 a.m., at the First United Methodist Church, and she urges all members and prospective members to attend. It is added that the change in the dates of meeting (from Fridays to Saturdays) has been made for the purpose of women who work on Fridays having the opportunity to attend.

• Mrs. Gladys Allen, president of the Jenny Wiley Chapter AARP, would like for members and persons who would like to become members, to attend the dinner-meeting, at the Highlands Regional Medical Center's dining room, on Friday evening, March 20, beginning at 5:30. An interesting program will follow the dinner.

• Mrs. Mabel Jean LeMaster, president of the Prestonsburg Kiwanians, reminds members of the luncheon-meeting to be held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, on Thursday, March 26, at 12:30 p.m., and urges them to plan to attend. A program of interest to the group will be presented at that time.

Visits Georgia

Pearl Green and Loretta Stephens recently returned from their trip to Georgia where they visited Vonda and Paul Banks and her sister Rita and her son, "Bubby".

Skating party

Shauna Marie Case celebrated her eighth birthday on February 29 at the Archer Park skating rink. She received many nice gifts from family and friends. She is the daughter of Wesley and Lynn Case of Martin. Her grandparents are Birchle Case and the late Andrew Case and Bill and Darlene Hughes of Martin.

Brooke Meredith Meade, the daughter of Russell and Christy Meade is celebrating her first St. Patrick's Day.

FOOD LASTS LONGER IN COOLER REFRIGERATORS

The temperature inside the refrigerator might be why the food is spoiling faster than expected.

"The refrigerator temperature should be maintained at 34 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit. Many home refrigerators are above 40 degrees and some are above 45 degrees Fahrenheit," says Joe O'Leary, extension food technologist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Higher temperatures cause food to spoil and to become unsafe much more easily, O'Leary says.

Although lower settings will mean longer shelf life, the setting should not be so low that the food is partially frozen.

Make sure foods are not crowded in the refrigerator so cold air can circulate freely. Fresh meat and poultry should be loosely wrapped in wax paper with sufficient space between packages, O'Leary said.

"Leftover cooked meats or meat dishes should be covered or wrapped and refrigerated immediately after the meal," according to O'Leary.

MEATBALLS IN RED PEPPER SAUCE

Preparation time: 45 minutes
Cooking time: 12 minutes
1 pound ground beef (80 percent lean)

Red Pepper Sauce*
3 tablespoons dried bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 cloves garlic, minced
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground red pepper

Prepare Red Pepper Sauce. Combine ground beef, bread crumbs, egg, parsley, garlic, salt and ground red pepper; mix lightly but thoroughly. Shape meat mixture into 35 one-inch meatballs and place on roasting or jelly roll pan. Bake in 350°F (moderate) oven 12 minutes. Remove meatballs from oven; drain on absorbent paper. Stir meatballs into Red Pepper Sauce. Serve hot. Yield: 35 meatballs.

RED PEPPER SAUCE

Preparation time: 25 minutes
Cooking time: 15 minutes
1 small onion, finely chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1/2 cup single-strength beef broth
1 jar (7 ounces) roasted red peppers, drained and chopped
1/2 cup dry white wine
1 tablespoon tomato paste
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves

Cook and stir onion and garlic in oil in large frying pan over medium heat 2 to 3 minutes. Combine cornstarch and beef broth; add to frying pan with red peppers, wine, tomato paste and thyme. Cook over low heat 10 to 12 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve Red Pepper Sauce with meatballs. Yield: 1 1/2 cups.

Nutrient data per meatball: 39 calories; 3 g protein; 2 g fat; 1 g carbohydrate; 0.4 mg iron (2% U.S. RDA); 75 mg sodium; 14 mg cholesterol.

SPICY BEEF EMPANADAS

Preparation time: 1 hour
Cooking time: 15 minutes
1 pound lean ground beef (80 percent)

1 small onion, finely chopped
3 large cloves garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon crushed red pepper pods
1 teaspoon olive oil
1/4 cup tomato sauce
3 tablespoons chopped raisins
2 tablespoons toasted chopped almonds

3/4 teaspoon ground cumin
1 package (15 ounces) refrigerated pie crust

Preheat oven to 350°F. Brown ground beef in large frying pan, just until no longer pink, breaking up large pieces; pour off drippings. Remove beef from frying pan and reserve. Cook and stir onion, garlic and red pepper in oil in same frying pan over medium heat 2 to 3 minutes. Remove frying pan from heat; stir in reserved ground beef, tomato sauce, raisins, almonds and cumin. Roll out pastry, one sheet at a time, on a lightly floured surface to about 1/16-inch thickness. Cut into 3-inch circles; place about 1 rounded teaspoon of filling in the center of each circle. Fold in half; press edges together with tines of fork. Repeat procedure with remaining pastry and meat mixture. (Reroll pastry scraps if necessary). Place empanadas about 1 inch apart on ungreased baking sheets.

Bake in preheated oven 15 minutes or until golden brown. Yield: 50 to 60 appetizers.

Note: Recipe may be prepared ahead and frozen. To reheat, bake in preheated 350°F oven 10 minutes.

Nutrient data per appetizer: 62 calories; 2 g protein; 4 g fat; 5 g carbohydrate; 0.2 mg iron (1% U.S. RDA); 62 mg sodium; 5 mg cholesterol

MINI-BEEF, ARTICHOKE AND RED PEPPER KABOBS

Preparation time: 1 hour
1 pound deli roast beef, sliced 1/8 inch thick

6 tablespoons olive oil
1/4 cup each finely chopped parsley and balsamic vinegar*
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon each ground red pepper and dried thyme leaves
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1 jar (7 ounces) roasted red peppers, drained
2 cans (14 ounces each) quartered artichoke hearts, drained

Combine olive oil, parsley, vinegar, garlic, red pepper, thyme and sugar. Place deli roast beef slices in utility dish; add 1/4 cup dressing, turning to coat. Cut roasted peppers into 1/2-inch pieces. Place peppers and artichokes in bowl; add remaining dressing, stirring highly to coat. Remove beef slices from dressing (one at a time); roll tightly from wide end. Slice into 3/4-inch pinwheels. To assemble appetizers, alternately thread one beef pinwheel, one piece of pepper and one artichoke on each of sixty 3-inch cocktail picks. Serve immediately or cover and refrigerate until serving time. Yield: approximately 60 appetizers.

* One-fourth cup red wine vinegar may be substituted for balsamic vinegar.

Nutrient data per appetizer: 33 calories; 2 g protein; 2 g fat; 1 g carbohydrate; 0.3 mg iron (2% U.S. RDA); 10 mg sodium; 6 mg cholesterol.

BROCCOLI CHEESE POTATO TOPPER

1 can (11 oz.) Campbell's condensed Cheddar cheese soup
2 tbsp. sour cream
1/2 tsp. Dijon-style mustard
1 cup cooked broccoli flowerets
4 hot baked potatoes, split

1. Conventional: In 1/2-qt. saucepan over medium heat, stir soup, sour cream and mustard. Heat through, stirring occasionally. Stir in broccoli; heat through.

Or microwave: In 1-qt. microwave-safe casserole, stir well soup, sour cream and mustard. Microwave, uncovered, on HIGH 2 1/2 min. or until sauce is smooth, stirring halfway through heating. Stir in broccoli; microwave 1 min. more or until hot.

2. Spoon over potatoes. Makes 1 1/2 cups or 4 servings.

BLACK RASPBERRY PIE

Crust
2 c. all-purpose flour
1 to 1 1/2 tsp. salt
3/4 c. Crisco Shortening
5 to 9 tbsp. water

Filling
4 c. black raspberries, (fresh or thawed)
1 1/4 to 1 1/3 c. sugar
1/4 c. cornstarch
2 to 3 tbsp. butter or margarine
Dash salt

Heat oven to 350°F. For crust, combine flour and salt in medium bowl. Cut in Crisco using pastry blender (or 2 knives) until all flour is blended in to form pea-size chunks. Sprinkle with water, one tbsp. at a time. Toss lightly with fork until dough will form a ball. Press dough between hands to form two 5 to 6-in. "pancakes." Flour rolling surface and rolling pin lightly. Roll dough for bottom crust into circle. Trim one inch larger than upside-down 9-in. pie plate. Loosen dough carefully. Transfer to pie plate. Press to fit. For filling, combine raspberries, sugar, cornstarch, butter and salt. Toss gently. Spoon into unbaked pie shell. Moisten pastry edge with water. Roll top crust same as bottom. Lift onto filled pie. Trim both crusts 1/2 in. beyond edge of pie plate. Fold edges under. Flute. Cut slits in top crust for escape of steam. Bake at 350°F. for one hour or until filling in center is bubbly and crust is golden brown. Cool to room temp. before serving.

Tip: Try with red raspberries if black raspberries are unavailable.

GREEN BEAN BAKE

1 can (10 3/4 ounces)
Campbell's condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon soy sauce
Dash pepper
4 cups cooked green beans
1 can (2.8 ounces) French fried onions

In 1 1/2-quart casserole, combine soup, milk, soy sauce and pepper. Stir in green beans and 1/2 of the onions.

Bake at 350°F. for 25 minutes or until hot; stir. Top with remaining onions. Bake 5 minutes more. Makes about 4 1/2 cups or 6 servings.

Microwave:

In 1 1/2-quart microwave-safe casserole, stir soup until smooth. Add milk, soy sauce and pepper; stir until well blended. Stir in beans and 1/2 of the onions. Cover with lid; microwave on HIGH 7 minutes or until hot and bubbling, stirring once during cooking. Sprinkle with remaining onions. Microwave, uncovered, on HIGH 1 minute.

TIP: Buy 1 package (16 to 20 ounces) frozen green beans, 2 packages (9 to 10 ounces each) frozen green beans, 2 cans (about 16 ounces each) cut green beans or about 1 1/2 pounds fresh green beans for this recipe.

The Supplement Most of Us Never Notice

As a nation of food label readers, many of us now take note of what foods include added nutrients. However, one addition that few even notice is iodine in salt, probably because it's "always" been there, says Mary Helen Gunkler, registered dietitian and staff nutritionist for Total cereal.

Iodine was first added to table salt in the 1920s to help prevent goiter in Americans. This condition is evidenced by a swelling of the thyroid gland and can be a result of inadequate iodine intake. Iodine is essential in the body for normal function of the thyroid gland.

Prior to the 1920s, goiter was most common among people who lived in the plains states as well as the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River areas. This was attributed to the fact that these areas have very low levels of iodine in the soil. Therefore, produce grown in these regions contained little, if any, iodine.

Iodine was added to salt because salt was a product that most people used regularly. As a result, iodine deficiency problems decreased sharply.

Other factors have also contributed to the dramatic decline in iodine deficiencies. For example, our country's food distribution system is now national in scope. Therefore, people who live in iodine-deficient areas are more likely to have access to foods grown in iodine-rich areas. Also, more people are eating seafood, which is a rich source of iodine. In addition, iodine is used in dough conditioners, so it is found in trace amounts in bread.

Gunkler notes that about 50 percent of the salt sold in supermarkets today is iodized. But even people on low-sodium diets probably are getting enough iodine due to the other changes in our food supply system.

Why see the veterinarian?

It's time to visit the veterinarian for the first time, and you're wondering what to do and sometimes why do it at all.

Here's some things to think about. From your pet's viewpoint, it's easier on your pet to prevent a disease than to treat it. Some diseases cannot be treated but can be prevented (rabies, for example) and all diseases, in varying degrees, rob the animal of strength and vitality and to that degree interfere with healing.

From your viewpoint, it's much less expensive to prevent a disease than it is to cure it, especially if you consider the other animals (and sometimes people) who may become infected from your pet's illness.

What diseases can be prevented by vaccination?

For dogs, the list routinely includes rabies, distemper, parvovirus, leptospirosis, canine hepatitis, canine parainfluenza, corona virus and bordetella (kennel cough).

For cats, routine protection is offered against feline leukemia, feline distemper, rabies, feline calici virus and feline herpes virus.

What you should take with you includes, first of all, a leash for your dog or puppy and a cat carrier or harness and leash for your cat or kitten.

You're going to be in a waiting room in which there are other animals as well as yours. If all are under control, no problem. But you don't need much imagination to figure out what happens if none are under control.

Take along a fecal sample, also known as a stool sample, no more than 24 hours old. It will be used to test for worms and other intestinal parasites.

Try to remember any unusual behavior on the part of your pet in the past few days. A cat straining to urinate, for example, might indicate the beginning of urinary problems for your cat—much easier to treat at this stage than once the urinary tract is blocked.

If your pet is showing signs of illness, having kept a temperature record might be of help. Normal for a dog or a cat is between 101 and 102.5 degrees Fahrenheit.

It might also be helpful if you have monitored the animal's pulse rate and respiratory rate.

There may be other things your particular veterinarian wants you to monitor. If so, he or she will tell you.

The more observant the owner is, the better job the veterinarian can do.

Once you have made your initial visit, ask your veterinarian what he or she would like for you to monitor and keep records of, and to bring to the next examination.

Your veterinarian will be glad to coach you in correct home care for your pet, both routine care and nursing care when it is needed.

The most successful and satisfying relationships between people and pets and veterinarians come when each communicates with the others to provide a healing atmosphere.

Don't be afraid to ask your veterinarian what you can do to be a better client.

JUST WHAT THE SOIL DOCTOR ORDERED

"It's such a change, and it works so well that some farmers are having trouble believing it's for real."

These are the words of Lloyd Murdock, a University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service soils specialist, who is describing a new tractor-driven device called a "Soil Doctor" that continuously measures the nitrogen levels of soil as a tractor is driven over the ground. This device, which Murdock doesn't hesitate to call "revolutionary," gives farmers a double bonus: it allows them to know exactly how much nitrogen they need at each part of their field and they don't have to spend money on expensive fertilizer they don't need.

Here's how it works. The device itself is attached to the top of a metal bar that fits across the back of the tractor, behind the wheels. Two of the eight "knives," which hang down from the bar and slice five to six inches under the soil, have holes in them; and sensing equipment is connected to these holes. Completing this detection system, a computer in the cab of the tractor registers nitrogen levels, makes the needed adjustments, and directs the proper amount of the chemical down through holes in the two knives.

"The machine was tested on the farms of some of our farm participants for the first time two years ago," says Murdock, who works out of an office in Princeton, Kentucky. "We did a second year of testing last summer on a farm in Logan County, and the tests show the system is doing what it was designed to do." Murdock says that a third year of tests is planned.

The machine was invented just three years ago by Texan John Colburn. The Soil Doctor is expensive, costing around $11,000. But one farmer estimated that he saved 40 pounds per acre by using it. With nitrogen savings of approximately $8 per acre, a farmer who plants 1,000 acres of corn may be able to pay for the machine in a few years, Murdock says.

In addition to saving money over the long haul, farmers who enlist a Soil Doctor will also save time, he adds. "Right now," Murdock says, "it's common practice to take soil samples by hand. These samples have to be sent off to a lab for analysis, and it takes a while of course for the results to come back from the lab. When they do come back, farmers need to make adjustments, and that takes time too." In contrast, the machine samples, analyzes, and adjusts nitrogen levels in one pass over a field.

"This approach may take some time to catch on," Murdock admits—"it's such a dramatic departure from the past."

Termite swarming season is just around the corner

Each year, termites do more damage to personal property than fires, tornadoes, lightning, and hurricanes combined, according to Les Curry, manager of the Middlesboro service Center of Terminix International.

"Most people carry insurance to help recover from other disasters, but it's almost impossible to get insurance against termites," says Curry. "Termites cause over $500 million in damage to homes in the U.S. every year. And termites can be found around the year in almost every state, as well as in Mexico and parts of Canada."

ANY WOOD LOOKS GOOD TO TERMITES

Any building is a target for termites, even structures built with slab, basement, or crawl space foundations, according to Curry. "Termites will even invade buildings with steel framing and masonry walls to feed on the wooden door and window frames, or cabinets and shelving inside the building," Curry explains. "Termites also feed on wood and paper products like books and cardboard boxes."

NOT TO BE CONFUSED

"Sometimes people confuse termites with carpenter ants," Curry says. "Carpenter ants have elbowed antennae and a thick waist. Both may have two pairs of wings, but a carpenter ant's wings are different sizes and shapes, while a termite's wings are all the same shape and size."

Although carpenter ants can cause damage to homes too, they do not feed on wood, Curry explains. "Carpenter ant damage comes from nest building. Termites actually eat the wood."

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Early detection is essential to minimizing termite damage. "You may notice winged termites leaving the nest to swarm and find new homes, usually during the spring and fall," he says.

"Sometimes you can see wings that have been dropped. And, there may be 'mud' tunnels running from soil outside to the wood of the home."

Besides careful inspections performed frequently, homeowners should also remove scraps of wood from the crawl space area, according to Curry. "Wood should not contact the soil anywhere around your house," he adds.

IF YOU NEED PROFESSIONAL HELP

Since termite infestation can already be well established by the time the first signs are noticed, it may be necessary to call in a professional.

If you do seek professional help, Curry recommends that you follow these simple guidelines when choosing a termite control company.

- Be sure the company you contact is reputable and reliable. (If you have doubts, call the Better Business Bureau.)

- Many firms offer free inspections. Ask about this service when you call.
- Get more than one estimate and compare services.
- Read the guarantee carefully.

Choose Your Weapon

February is National Heart Month

Heart disease is the leading cause of death in eastern Kentucky. It's also the leading cause of disability, pain, loss of income, back breaking health care costs and a heartbreaking toll on people and families. The real tragedy is that many of these can be avoided through prevention, early detection and early treatment.

Your best weapon is knowing what to do and acting on it. The free Heart Test on the right is a good way to start. So is a visit with your doctor to check your blood pressure, cholesterol, triglycerides and other factors. Then learn to recognize the early warning signs of heart attack:

- ♥ Recurring pain or tightening in the chest which occurs with exertion, but eases with rest. Often mistaken for heartburn or gas.
- ♥ Pain, pressure, fullness or squeezing in the chest for two minutes or more. This may radiate to neck, shoulders, arms, jaw or teeth. Often mistaken for indigestion.
- ♥ Shortness of breath, sweating, dizziness, nausea, vomiting and anxiety.

Not all signs occur at the same time in every heart attack, but if they do, don't delay, call your doctor or an Emergency Medical Service immediately. Minutes count.

This weapon is FREE!

It can help reduce your risk of heart disease.

Are you at risk for heart disease? The Heart Test can help you find out. It can tell you what risks you face and, most important, what you can do to reduce controllable heart risk factors. In other words, it may help save your life.

The Heart Test has been featured on ABC-TV's "20/20" and PBS-TV's "OK Heart." Now you can take it yourself. Simply complete this confidential questionnaire as accurately and honestly as possible and return it to us.

We'll analyze your answers and send you a personalized report that will tell you how you can change your lifestyle to increase your chances of remaining healthy and active as you reduce your risk of heart disease.

You, your doctor and the heart team at Highlands, working together, have a better chance of preventing or reducing the severity of a heart problem.

Fight Heart Disease

Stress Testing closely watches the heart when it is pushed to peak performance on an exercise machine. This can help doctors tell the kind and severity of a possible problem.

Echocardiography uses sound waves to create moving pictures of the heart in action and to measure its blood flow. By seeing valves and muscles at work, problems can be detected and measured.

Cardiac catheterization permits doctors to look at the tiny blood vessels that feed the heart muscle. Blockages in these vessels send a warning—heart attack! But we now have new ways to break up blockages before they kill.

Monitored exercise is prescribed for certain high risk or post-heart attack people to improve conditioning of body muscles, breathing, blood vessels and heart, enabling them to work harder and withstand exertion. Good physical condition helps lower risks.

Don't worry about weight gain during pregnancy

Many women worry about gaining too much weight during pregnancy, many others about gaining too little. "If you're concerned," advises Lindsay H. Allen, Ph.D., "the best thing to do is relax and stop worrying about how much weight you gain."

Dieting to control weight during pregnancy is not a good idea. "It could harm both the expectant mother and her fetus. And contrary to what some women may have heard, dieting won't make delivery or post-pregnancy weight loss any easier," Allen says.

As a faculty member in the Department of Nutritional Sciences at the University of Connecticut, Allen concentrates her research efforts on the nutritional requirements of pregnant women. "We've found that a range of weight gain among pregnant women is quite natural."

Noting the importance of eating foods with high nutrient content, Allen says, "They're better for meeting the extra nutritional demands of pregnancy without eating lots more food. That means avoiding food with nothing but empty calories."

She believes that a good diet can provide all the nutrients pregnant women need, except iron. "I don't think pregnant women should just pop vitamins to take care of their nutritional needs. Instead of supplements, I'd much rather see them eating normal, natural foods to get these nutrients," Allen says.

Relying on supplements for these vital nutrients could be dangerous. "Women could accidentally create imbalances that adversely impact the amounts of other nutrients in their bodies," Allen cautions.

"So my advice to pregnant women is to eat a variety of foods from the basic food groups in moderation and let your weight take care of itself."

"Dairy products are foods that pregnant women should eat more of, not just for calcium, but more importantly because they provide so many other beneficial nutrients like riboflavin and vitamins A and D," Allen says.

Many women do not meet the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances (U.S.RDA) for such essential nutrients as calcium. The calcium RDA is 1,200 mg per day for pregnant women, or four glasses of milk per day. Women determined to maintain their weight during pregnancy are not likely to meet that amount.

Although many women think breast feeding will hasten weight gain, Allen believes that is another misconception. "It's very healthy, very normal for breast-feeding women to eat a lot more food," she says. "They have to eat more to produce breast milk. Once they finish breast feeding, though, the weight comes off very quickly."

Eating isn't the only cause of weight gain during pregnancy. "Women should realize that major hormonal changes in their bodies account for much of their weight gain. And that's entirely out of their control," Allen emphasizes.

Johnson-Allen wed February 28

Jeanice Johnson, daughter of Milton and Verna Johnson of Price, and Brent Allen, son of Volney and Joyce Allen of Maytown, were married at the First Baptist Church in McDowell by the Rev. Eddie Miller. The bride is a graduate of Wheelwright High School and Morehead State University. She is an elementary teacher for the Floyd County Board of Education.

The groom is a graduate of Maytown High School and Morehead State University. He is the director of pupil personnel for the Floyd County Board of Education.

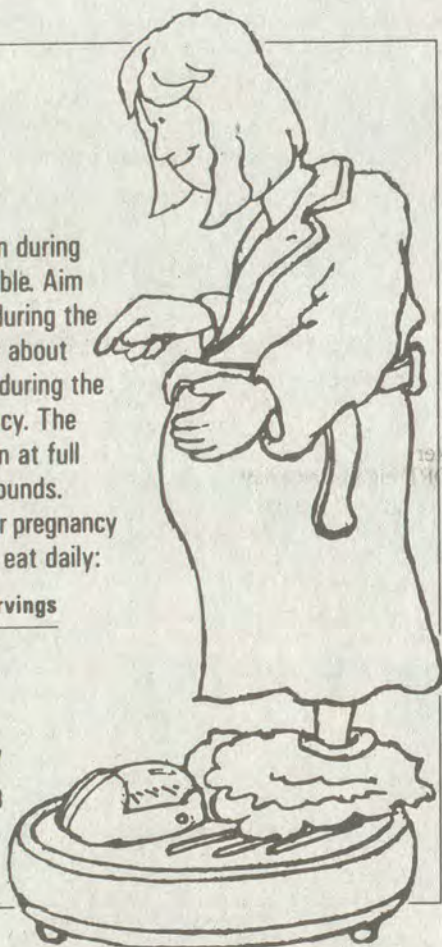

The couple is now residing at Eastern.

Eating for Two

Gradual weight gain during pregnancy is desirable. Aim for 2 to 5 pounds during the first 3 months, and about one pound a week during the rest of the pregnancy. The average weight gain at full term is 25 to 35 pounds.

If you started your pregnancy at average weight, eat daily:

| Food Group            | Servings |
|-----------------------|----------|
| Milk Group            | 4        |
| Meat Group            | 3        |
| Fruit-Vegetable Group | 6-7      |
| Grain Group           | 7-8      |

Jean Harlow and Clark Gable appeared together in six movies during the 1930s. The first movie was, ironically, titled The Secret Six.

Helpful Tips

CLEANING JEWELRY—When I cleaned my jewelry, I accidentally dropped a small piece and it went down the drain. To keep this from happening again, I now rinse the small pieces in a tea strainer. It works great! Donna V., Olathe, Kan.

KNITTING TIP—While knitting, I use two different colored, same-sized needles. One color is for even rows, and the other is for odd. This way, I know at a glance which row I am on. Susan M., Stonington, Conn.

CURTAIN RODS—I was fed up with my old wooden closet rods. Nothing would slide across them.

My friend suggested covering them with the plastic sleeves available for shower rods. It cost less than $2, and my hangers now slide smoothly. Minnie G., Camden, N.J.

BELT HOLDER—I hung a towel rack in the inside of my closet door to hang beads and chains on. I also hung drapery hooks on the rack so I can hang belts, too, and by hanging a plastic six-pack cover to a drapery hook, I have six holes for scarves. Jeannette L., Staten Island, N.Y.

HANDY ADDRESS BOOK—For easier access to my address book, I color-coded it. I wrote all of my friends names with a blue pen, my family's in green, and emergency numbers, such as police and the fire department, in red. This makes searching for a number a snap. Marian F., Omaha, Neb.

GFWC/KFWC Drift Woman's Club

The GFWC/KFWC Drift Woman's Club met at the Left Beaver Fire Station #2 on February 17, at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Doris Lawson, president presiding. Mrs. Celia Little gave the devotion followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag.

Mrs. Celia Little, secretary read the minutes of the January meeting. Mrs. Jerri Turner, treasurer, gave the financial report.

The president read an invitation from the Kentucky Federation and the Frankfort woman's club to spend Legislative Day in Frankfort on March 3, and to tour the historic Vest Linsey house which had been restored.

The president appointed the nominating committee to select officers for the 1992-93 club year. There were Mrs. Geraldine Ward, Miss Ruby Akers, and Mrs. Kathryn Youmans.

The Inter Club dinners will be April 20th.

Miss Ruby Akers, conservation chairman, introduced Mr. Jeff Brown, district conservationist. He showed a very informative videotape that will help viewers to become familiar with conservation practices, he emphasized that both water quality and environmental concerns needed everyone's close attention. Education is the need to be stressed early. The Floyd County Soil Conservation Service office is there to help and there is a lot of good technology available.

Mrs. Geraldine Ward served refreshments for the hostess Mrs. Cheryl Hall to Mr. Jeff Brown and son Nathaniel, Mrs. Doris Lawson, Mrs. Cecelia Little, Miss Ruby Akers, Mrs. Jerri Turner, Mrs. Karen Slone, and Mrs. Eleanor Brown.

The March 16 meeting will be in charge of the "Arts and Crafts Committee" and hostess will be Mrs. Celia Little and devotion leader Mrs. Karen Slone.

Rent increase yields no deduction

Q: My landlord raised my rent because his property taxes went up. An accountant friend says that I can't deduct the excess rent because the property taxes are not mine. My landlord says to go ahead and deduct. Who is right?—M.R., Naples, Fla.

A: You're going to put me right in the middle? If your landlord increases your rent in the form of a tax surcharge because of increased real-estate taxes, you cannot deduct the increase as taxes.

Unfortunately, he just increased your rent. Generally, you can deduct property taxes only if you are the property owner.

Q: Recently, my husband and I were divorced. Our house is the only equity we have. When the house is sold, the divorce agreement states that I will receive half the proceeds of the sale, less any closing costs. Until such time, I am to receive a monthly payment from my "ex," which is to be deducted from my share of the sale proceeds.

"Ding-dong" claims this monthly amount is alimony and that it's taxable to me now. Please settle this difference once and for all.—M.L., Tucson, Ariz.

A: Property settlements, whether

THE TAX ADVISER

paid in a lump-sum or in periodic payments, are not considered alimony and are therefore not taxable.

Q: Are life insurance premiums deductible?—J.K., Nashville, Tenn.

A: Health and dental insurance premiums as well as Medicare premiums are all deductible on Schedule A subject to the 7.5 percent floor limitations. Life and replacement-of-loss earnings insurance premiums are not deductible.

Q: Can we deduct the cost of moving new furniture that we purchased along the route to our new home? I was moving from one job to another. I sold our old furniture prior to our move and purchased new furniture to replace the old along the way. I paid all the shipping costs.—

J.C., Houston

A: You cannot deduct the cost of moving furniture you buy on the way to your new home even if all the other moving expenses are deductible. However, on your next move, moving this new furniture will become a deduction for you.

Q: Do I still have to file for an extension of time to file my income tax return? We always have filed an extension. You mentioned several months ago that the IRS has deleted this requirement, but I just read that I am still required to file. What's what?—J.B., Duluth, Minn.

A: Plans for an automated extension process that were to be implemented for the current tax season were put on hold by the Internal Revenue Service.

Many taxpayers and tax practitioners had concerns about its applicability. The proposal would have eliminated the use of Form 4868, Application for Automatic Extension of Time to File U.S. Individual Income Tax Return.

However, taxpayers seeking an extension beyond April 15 must still file Form 4868. Form 4868 gives you an extension of time through Aug. 15, 1992.

Martin Druther's becomes Dairy Queen

When this Martin restaurant located on Highway 80 opened last Monday morning, it might have seemed to some like any other day. Customers were greeted by the same smiling faces and were served their usual breakfast fare. But there was one major difference. Overnight, all signage for Druther's had been removed and new "Dairy Queen" signs were installed, thus completing the restaurant's conversion to a "Dairy Queen"/"Brazier" restaurant.

In September of 1990, Druther's Systems, Inc., the Louisville-based franchiser of Druther's restaurants, entered into an agreement with International Dairy Queen, Inc., the Minneapolis-based franchiser of "Dairy Queen" restaurants, to become a territorial operator of "Dairy Queen" restaurants. This agreement empowers Druther's to grant "Dairy Queen" franchises to itself and to its existing franchisees.

Although the name has changed, the people involved in the operations of the restaurant have not. Curt Stamper will continue to head the local operations of the restaurant as general manager.

In terms of menu changes, the popular Druther's breakfast menu will still be available every morning of the week. In addition, the "Dairy Queen"/"Brazier" menu will bring many new favorites such as "DQ Homestyle" burgers, hot dogs, steak finger baskets, chicken strip baskets, and a variety of specialty sandwiches.

Of course, the world famous "Dairy Queen" soft serve treats will be available including "Blizzard" Flavor Treats, Banana Splits, "Peanut Buster" Parfaits, cones, sundaes, shakes and malts.

Advance Auto Parts to open

Advance Auto Parts will open its #231 store at 650 North Lake Drive in Prestonsburg, Kentucky. A "ribbon" of $10 bills will be cut and donated to the Floyd County Rescue Squad at 10:00 a.m. on March 20 and will mark the official opening of the store.

City Administrator Mark Wells and John Davis, store manager, will share the scissors and present the $200 ribbon to Harry Adams, representative of the Floyd County Rescue Squad.

"Advance Auto Parts has a long association with rescue squads," Garnett Smith, Advance president, said. "Arthur Taubman, who founded our company in 1932, was involved in the establishment of the first rescue squad in Roanoke, Virginia. We hope to work closely with these groups in all areas where we have outlets. We think they provide an invaluable service."

The newest Advance store will be managed by John Davis. The store's hours will be from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Sundays. The telephone number is (606) 886-3594.

Advance Auto Parts is the largest automotive chain in the southeast and among the fastest growing in the nation. Currently the company has stores in Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, West Virginia, and Georgia.

Social Security News

By Jim Kelly, Social Security District Director

Low-income families can't benefit from tax refund program

Social Security pays survivors benefits to approximately 245,000 widowed mothers and fathers with at least one child under the age of 16. For a widowed parent with two children in this age group, the average monthly benefit last year was just over $1,200, or about $14,500 for the year. But for a number of families receiving survivors benefits, the amounts were considerably less.

When their earned income also is low, these families may benefit from a special tax provision—the Earned Income Credit (EIC). The credit is based on earned income and is available to low-income families who have at least one child living at home. While all tax credits are applied directly against any tax owed, the EIC is the only one under federal tax law that is "refundable." That means if income levels are so low that no taxes are owed, taxpayers could still qualify for a refund of up to $2,020.

Most working families with earnings between $6,000 and $13,000 qualify for a credit of at least $1,000 per family. The maximum basic credit is $1,235 for a family with two or more children. A new supplement provides up to $357 more for a child born in 1991, and up to a maximum of $428 to help buy health insurance that covers a qualifying child or children.

The credit decreases as income rises above $11,249. It is eliminated when income exceeds $21,250.

For more information about the Earned Income Credit provisions, call the toll-free IRS number: 1-800-829-1040.
