State to expand school probe

Boysen to ask Floyd Board to suspend search for superintendent

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County's search for a new superintendent could be put on hold pending an in-depth investigation into the school system by the state Department of Education.

Board chairman Ray "Shag" Campbell said Thursday that a decision to suspend the district's search is expected today (Friday) after he polls the other board members.

"I can't make a statement on that until I poll the other board members," Campbell said. "I did talk to Dave Thomas (deputy commissioner), but I haven't talked to the board."

Education department spokesman Jim Parks said Thursday that Campbell had talked with Thomas and agreed with the recommendation to suspend the search. Parks said Campbell told Thomas he would make that recommendation to the board of education.

Commissioner of Education Dr. Thomas Boysen announced the probe into the school system Thursday during a news conference in Frankfort. The state's Office of Education Accountability (OEA) is also conducting an independent investigation into the district and will "work in partnership" with the state, Boysen said.

The decision to conduct the investigation came after Tuesday's board meeting when interim superintendent Eldon Smith announced the 1992-93 hirings, Parks said. He added that "a lot of information" from Smith, Floyd citizens and the OEA prompted Boysen to further investigate the school system.

Board member Eddie Billips was skeptical after the Thursday announcement and took a "wait and see" stance.

"I'm taken aback by the action taken," Billips said. "But it sounds like Dr. Boysen is now fulfilling statements he made in early 1991, that Floyd County could be an example. It's good to hear but, after all, three or four Department of Education administrations have come into Floyd County in the last 13 years and left with no apparent action. We'll have to wait and see how serious Dr. Boysen is about education reform, especially in Floyd County."

Parks said the department's request that the board delay their search for a new superintendent was to "let all candidates for the position know what the situation in Floyd County is before they decide if they want the job."

State officials will look into all the district's major management systems including school construction management, personnel management, financial management and instructional management, Parks said.

The probe could result in the removal of school officials and the loss of jobs for school employees, he added.

"Non-performing employees could be fired and school officials could be ousted," Boysen said in a press release. "Working against tight deadlines, Mr. Smith took the best action that could be taken... Because he had to comply with the deadline, he lacked sufficient time to root out specific cases of non-performance or mismanagement. More serious consequences might result from the broader investigation."

Thomas and members of his staff are formulating a plan for a comprehensive assessment of the district's

"Kentucky Downs is ready. The people of Eastern Kentucky are ready. Even the horses are ready," Clyde Woods said as he pointed out the numerous murals and posters depicting horses that adorn the walls of his establishment. "The only ones who aren't ready are the racing commission and the attorney general."

Woods seemed understandably dismayed as he lamented the newly-formed racing commission's decision not to allow intertrack wagering at his club.

"The (now-defunct) thoroughbred and harness racing commissions gave me a contract saying that I could hold intertrack wagering until 1993, when we would have (Kentucky Downs) built. Now the whole thing's just in limbo."

Woods' problem stems from the fact that the old Thoroughbred Racing Commission and Harness Racing Commission combined to form a new agency, which includes eight of the former thoroughbred racing commissioners and three of the former harness racing commissioners. The new agency has decided that since the track isn't actually built yet, there couldn't actually be intertrack wagering, so any betting done at Center Stage would be considered illegal gambling.

The commission has asked Kentucky's attorney general to issue an official opinion on the matter.

Woods will be meeting with the new racing commission next Tuesday, May 5 and on Thursday, May 14, in order to resolve any disputes.

"You know, it's a shame that those people up there in Frankfort and Lexington won't let Eastern Kentuckians have anything," Woods said. "(Kentucky Downs) won't just benefit me. It'll benefit just about everybody in the area, motels, restaurants, businesses, everybody."

Woods added that, prior to the new racing commission's suspension of wagering at Center Stage, he had spoken to officials of Motorcross International about conducting a motorcycle race at Kentucky Downs. Woods said that the planned event would have brought approximately 200,000 visitors to the region.

Woods said that although the suspension of wagering at his club had somewhat altered his plans for this Saturday's running of the Kentucky Derby, Center Stage will still celebrate in grand style.

"Maybe this'll show 'em," Woods said, "that we can still get along just fine without 'em."

The racing commission's only official comment on the subject is that they will be meeting with Woods on Tuesday in order to resolve all differences.

Druggist says he's "fed up"

Allen Pharmacy, on U.S. 23 at Allen, was vandalized and robbed early Thursday morning in what appears to be another in a long series of pharmacy robberies.

At approximately 2:30 a.m. on Thursday, April 30, an unknown number of burglars smashed the pharmacy's front windows with cinder blocks, disabled the alarm system and cut the phone lines, before stealing approximately $500 in cash and merchandise. They also pried open a fire-proof safe and stole several hundred dollars worth of "schedule-2" drugs, which include such powerful prescription drugs as percodan, valium and thorazine.

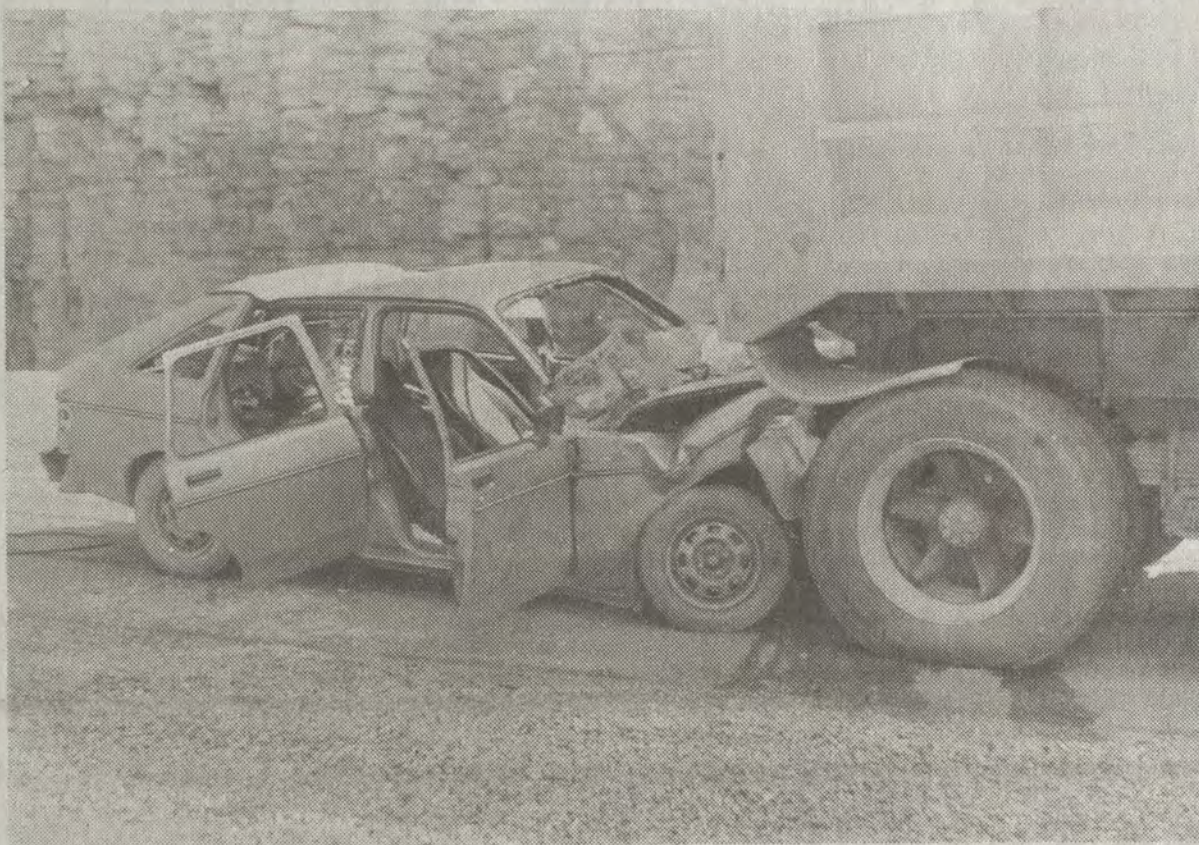

"I'm just fed up," said Gary Preece, owner and operator of the pharmacy. "This is the second time I've been robbed in the last thirty days. The last time, they just drove a truck through the wall."

Preece said he had also been robbed five other times in the last two years, and estimates his combined losses at approximately $20,000-$25,000.

Trooper Lee Weddington of the Pikeville post of the Kentucky State Police investigated Thursday's robbery. Although Weddington was unavailable for comment, Preece said that "(Weddington) concluded from the evidence that (the burglars) were in the building for at least an hour."

"That really says something that

East Point suit seeks damages :

There's no place like home, but in which county is it?

from The Paintsville Herald

An East Point couple is seeking $200,000 in a lawsuit filed against Johnson County Court Clerk Larry Ward, the Johnson County Board of Elections and its members, claiming they have been denied their right to vote.

The outcome of the suit, filed April 13 in U.S. District Court in Pikeville by Bill and Malta Arms, could resolve a question that has been debated for nearly a decade: whether the couple lives in Johnson or Floyd County.

The Arms were indicted in Johnson County in December 1990 for wrongful registration. The indictment claimed they are residents of Floyd County and that they illegally voted in Johnson County's East Point precinct in the November 1990 election. The charges, sought by the local election board, were later dismissed by Johnson Circuit Judge James A. Knight.

The charges were "malicious and without reasonable or probable cause" and injured the Arms' "good name and reputation," said the suit, filed on the Arms' behalf by Pikeville attorney Kathryn Burke.

The complaint also claims the Arms were denied their right to vote in the 1991 primary and general elections "by reason of challenges made to them by persons at the precinct, all of which was done at the direct and with the approval" of the election board. The challenges "had no basis in law or fact," it says, and the election board is involved in a "conspiracy to interfere with their civil rights" even though the Arms' names were "properly listed on the voter list."

Work on gym is stalled

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The Floyd County Board of Education approved payments for a major renovation of the Betsy Layne High School gym Tuesday even though that project was rejected for funding by the state Department of Education.

The payments approved to the project's architect, Paul Hoffman, however, have been put on hold until the project is approved by the state Department of Facilities Management.

The two payments were $21,400 for professional services and a $5,000 pre-construction payment.

Board chairman Ray "Shag" Campbell said Thursday that the payments were approved because the invoices had been submitted prior to the board meeting and already placed on the agenda. Campbell said he thought the board was aware the project had been rejected.

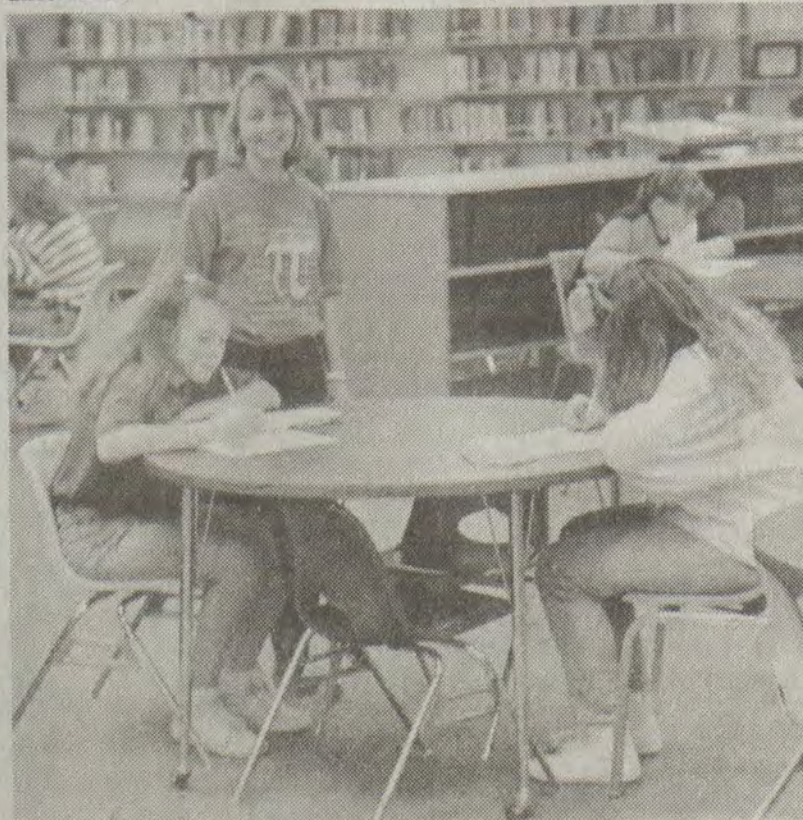

"Paul Hoffman told me about a week and a half ago that the project had been rejected," Campbell said. "I thought everybody knew. It was too late to get it off the agenda."

Interim superintendent Eldon Smith said Thursday that the project was "under review" and he would have more information about the issue today (Friday).

Questions about the payments and the project were raised after Tuesday's meeting by board member Eddie Billips. Billips indicated that he was upset because the payments were authorized without the board's attorney or the board reviewing the contract.

"Math Day" is rescued

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

April is National Math Month. To celebrate, students from Maytown, Osborne, Duff and Martin elementary schools won prizes, played games, and competed against each other in written examinations and quick-recall events at Allen Central High School's 8th Math Day gala yesterday.

Joyce Watson, who has taught at Allen Central for the last 17 years, founded the event in 1985, before any other school in the region even had an academic team. Watson said yesterday that she began the program both because she felt that it was important for schools to put more emphasis on mathematics, and because she felt that the students who excel at academics didn't receive nearly the amount of recognition that they deserved.

"In the future, economics will determine what kind of jobs these kids will get," Watson said. "Technology has a tremendous effect on the economy, and mathematics play a significant role on technology.... I also wanted them to see another facet to math, to see that they could have fun with it."

Watson added that she was saddened by the fact that athletics still receive so much more recognition than academics.

"I think these kids, the ones who want to learn, deserve everything we can give them," she said.

In the past, Watson and ACHS teachers Charlotte Moore and Pam Frasure had conducted fund-raising projects in order to finance the event. Watson had also earned an Eisenhower grant from Morehead State University, and last year won a educational equity insurance grant from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This year, however, the teachers had been unable to lead fund-raisers, and the grant money had all been used up. Watson feared that the school would be unable to hold a 1992 Math Day. Unable, that is, until two Floyd County businesses donated the needed funds.

Amos Gibson, president of Mountain Right of Way and Cheryl Gibson, owner of the Garrett Quick Stop, donated $200 each, as well as the t-shirts and trophies awarded to the participating students. (Math Day) has become something of a tradition around here," Watson said. "The kids really look forward to it. So, they asked us not to drop (the event), and gave us the money to sponsor it."

"I think it's really significant for two Eastern Kentucky businesses to sponsor an academic event like this," Watson said.

and cost of a school construction project, indicated it would cost $1,850,000 to renovate the high school gym.

Michael L. Luscher, director of facilities management for the state, wrote a letter dated April 10 to then superintendent Ron Hager rejecting the plan.

"It would appear that the scope of this project exceeds the definition of minor renovation and meets the definition of major renovation," Luscher's letter said. "However, the scope of this project as submitted appears to go far beyond our original discussions."

The board voted at their February meeting to employ Hoffman and construction manager Sam Martin to oversee the project.

Board attorney Cliff Latta asked that he be allowed to review the contracts before the board approved them. Latta said earlier this week he had not yet seen those contracts.

operations, Parks said. He did not know the time-frame for the investigation nor how long the state would ask the board to delay a decision on hiring a new superintendent. The investigation team will begin their work in Floyd County once the plan is completed.

H.M. Snodgrass, associate commissioner of assistance and intervention services, will oversee the state's investigation. The team will be led by Sandy Gubser, director of management assistance programs.

Smith was appointed by the State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education April 10 following the suspension of former superintendent Ron Hager on charges of misconduct in office and neglect of duty.

Hager did not attend the suspension hearing in Frankfort on April 10. A three-member panel will conduct a hearing May 11 to hear evidence to determine if Hager should be removed from office.

they felt that comfortable, that they could take that much time about it," Preece said.

Preece also said that he had been in contact with several other pharmacy owners in Floyd, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties who had also been victims of burglaries, all with the same method of operations.

Mike Lusk, owner/operator of Betsy Layne pharmacy, said that someone had broken open the windows of his store with cinder blocks twice within the last month and a half, but that the burglar alarm had both times scared-off the assailant or assailants.

"I guess I've been really lucky so far," Lusk said. "So far, the windows have been broken a few times, but no one's actually gotten into the store."

Lusk said that he had heard about other pharmacy break-ins, however, most frequently at John's Creek in Pike County, and Martin in Floyd County.

"It's the same every time," Preece said. "They cut the alarm wires, and then smash open the windows with two four-inch cinder blocks. Then they pry open the safe and take whatever drugs and cash they can."

They also never leave fingerprints. "(Trooper Weddington) said that they had a couple of leads, but nothing they can really go on right now," Preece said.

Preece may have them this time though. He had in his possession a crowbar that he believes the burglars left behind. Preece said that the police had not yet dusted the crowbar for fingerprints.

Preece urged all pharmacy owners to be on the lookout.

"I don't think any of us are safe until these guys are caught," Preece said.

In Wednesday's edition of the Times, it was stated that Prestonsburg Community College would be co-hosting a dinner for the eight finalists selected by the search committee for a new Floyd County superintendent May 8 and that PCC president Dr. Deborah Floyd would be serving as a candidate host. PCC is not co-hosting the dinner and Dr. Floyd is not a host for a candidate.

Dr. Floyd did say that she agreed to extend a welcome to all eight candidates during the dinner.

Suit

In addition to $100,000 in compensatory damages, $100,000 in punitive damages and a trial by jury, the Arms are seeking their right to vote in "all municipal, city, county, state and federal elections that may be held and to vote in the East Point precinct of Johnson County." They "have reason to believe, based on prior activity, and upon information and belief, that they will be denied the right to vote" in this year's May and November elections, the suit claims.

The complaint asks that the election board be enjoined from denying the Arms the right to vote.

Election board members named individually are Ward, Sheriff Gay Cyrus, Debbie Daniels and James Coleman.

A lawsuit represents only one side of an issue.

Several weeks back, an incident occurred at Job Corps where some young persons resorted to violence and charges were made against a staff person. All indications are that Job Corps had cooperated fully in the investigation. Much press was given to that event. When, shortly thereafter, two young women were injured in a brawl and many young Job Corps residents were in deep trouble. News articles in your paper inferred that something was wrong with an administration that allowed such events to happen.

During the same week, a local ballgame in Paintsville erupted into a brawl. The game was called. Nearly weekly, there are bodily injuries received by students in our high schools as a result of assaults by others. Where are the accusations against our high school administrations which allow such mayhem? Why are these events not routinely reported? Regularly we see local school children receiving awards in your pages. Where's the reporting on Job Corps' monthly awards day and frequent graduations? Job Corps students are part of our community.

Occasionally, I have heard a Job Corps employee spread rumors about the "rigors" of working with Job Corps students, displaying his or her prejudice against "color" or "youth" as a red badge of courage. Most of the 96 employees of Job Corps are gratified to work with the young people who come to them for training.

What amazes me is our communal blindness to this jewel in our midst. Job Corps has been a steady major employer for over 12 years in our community and it provides a range of services to youth ages 16 thru 21—a range of services that simply staggers the imagination. Through one of those services, vocational training, Job Corps provides volunteer services on a regular basis to help beautify and restore public properties in our area. Rarely, you report a few of their generous contributions to our local scene. It would seem that those Job Corps students who contribute to our community's well begin have two ways now to attract your attention. They may sweat their way into your pages with their labor, or they may blow the whistle on themselves and give you a juicy, if biased, storyline.

Job Corps' trademark is community service and an open-door policy regarding its operation. The center's administration had welcomed a suggestion that community volunteers come onto the Job Corps campus on a regular basis to get to know the students and the Job Corps program better. Given the low number of actual disruptions which occur in the course of the month, there, we would do well to learn from them the methods they use for student discipline and find ways to adapt it to our own school systems.

To recap, I would pose a question: Is it prejudice or fear of local response that prevents your paper from reporting Job Corps problems and successes with the same emphasis and frequency as you report on our other school systems' failures and achievements?

I'm in the seventh grade at Adams Middle School. My name is Sarah Vickers. My class and I have been studying about the environment and how we must deal with critical issues of pollution.

We were wondering why we don't have recycling centers for things such as plastics, boxes and newspapers.

Here in Eastern Kentucky we don't want to be known for our abundance of trash, but rather, for our beauty and cleanliness.

Other Voices

by Anthony Little

Wheelwright High School
Earlier this year, Greg Stumbo complained about environmental laws being too restrictive. He was talking about an incident in which a coal mining operation was fined for allowing rocks and mud to spill over onto a nearby road. I find myself wondering why this man who has been given the opportunity to help so many would instead side with people who are damaging these same people. Part of what Mr. Stumbo was attacking was the environmental laws that govern coal mining in Eastern Kentucky.

I have a different view of these laws. They were made for the sole purpose of trying to save our environment. All too often, they are easily circumvented as officials turn a blind eye to the problems and violations. These laws should be vigorously upheld at every juncture. How else will we have any chance of saving some part of this world.

We have already damaged the ecosystem of the Earth in our early days when our minds had not caught up with our sciences. In the early 20th century, few people even dreamed that chemicals like DDT and carbon monoxide could cause such destruction. They were merely used because they were convenient and the people of the time simply did not know better.

We have no such excuse. Scientists have proven to us little facts like DDT's lifespan as a chemical toxin or carbon monoxide's interesting effects on the ozone layer. We now have no choice but to impose limits, in the form of laws, on ourselves. We also have the duty to enforce these laws against anyone who worships the dollar more than their planet.

The problem we face is a simple question. Who can we look toward for help? Our leaders have often shown themselves to lean toward the companies that are destroying our Earth. This is easily demonstrated by the recent actions in our neighboring county, Pike County. There not one, but two, "soil treatment" plants were scheduled to be built and operated. These plants have the potential, with one accident, to turn a large portion of our beloved hills into a wasteland that may never recover.

These plants were ready to begin construction when a concerned group of citizens rallied together to stop them. There were many people in government who tried to stop them. These officials saw only the potential money that the plants might bring. They failed to realize the potential for disaster that went along with these profits.

Herein lies the answer to my question. For people to get things done, we are going to have to take the responsibilities upon ourselves. We must keep an eternal vigilance against anyone who would do our land harm. This motivation should be easy to muster, with the pride and determination that is a part of every man, woman, and child than lives in Floyd County.

The most ironic thing about this situation is the fact that "conserving" is in fact an easy process. In some cases, it is also a profitable one. Empty cans, which for years decorated our hillsides in a baneful display can now be recycled at a center in Prestonsburg. Several local gas stations have sign that proclaim them as oil-recyclers. This means that used oil can be turned in there to be given back to the company and made into new, useful products. This one act alone could prevent immeasurable harm as the oil would normally be dumped to destroy wildlife and pollute the wells we drink from.

What we need in Eastern Kentucky is unity. Many people have to come together for the sole purpose of saving our mountains. Their reward would be returned every day as they look out over our beautiful landscape. Our lands could use new plants. What we do not need is soil plants that could destroy us. How about a paper-recycling plant here instead? This would definitely save us a long trip to Lexington or Ashland to help our environment. Also, this plant would provide the same jobs and money that the soil treatment plants would. It would also provide us with something that no other polluting plant could. A clear conscience.

The joke's on you . . .

by Scott Perry

Faced with a unique opportunity to make fundamental change in the way the Floyd County school system is managed, the state's appointed guardian of education reform took the bull by the horns Tuesday evening and did absolutely nothing.

Nothing.

Interim superintendent Eldon Smith, presumably with the blessings of state Education Commissioner Thomas Boysen, shrugged off the chance to restructure the administration of the Floyd County school in favor of everybody's old favorite...the status quo.

Not a single face was changed in the school system's central office by Smith, which raises one particularly important question.

What in the Hell was the reasoning behind the removal of superintendent Ronald Hager before the deadline on hiring school personnel?

Why go through the motions of firing Hager if his replacement is going to make the same decisions? What a waste.

Floyd Countians aren't really all that surprised.

They've seen the state fall off its white horse before.

State Education Commissioner Thomas Boysen has proven with this fiasco that he intends to provide nothing more than lip service to real education reform.

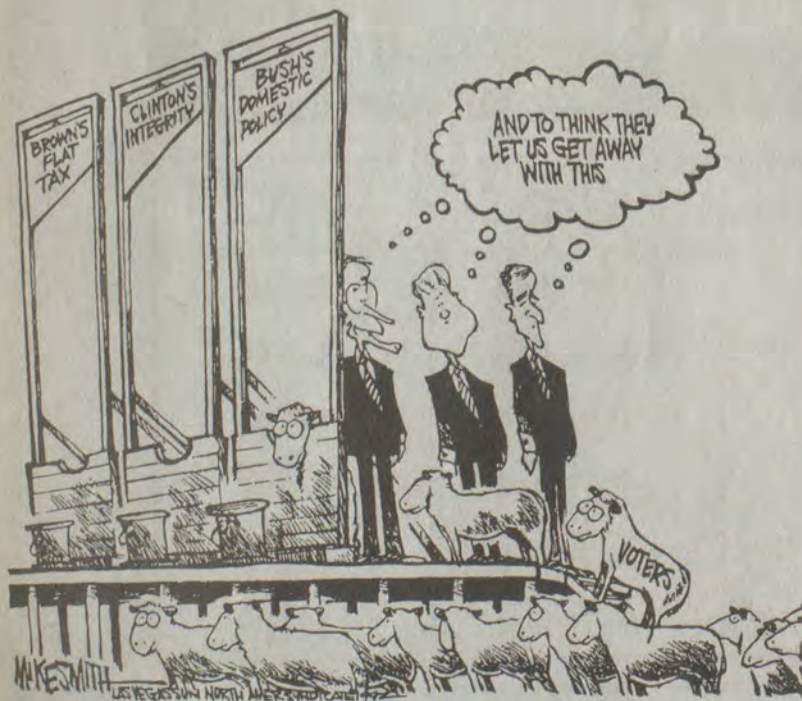

As far as we're concerned, he can keep his lips zipped from now on.

Education reform.

What a joke.

How come nobody's laughing?

Because the joke's on you.

"WEIGHTBUSTERS," a comprehensive weight management program, is a 12-week program for the health conscious person, which emphasizes the importance of nutritious diet, physical activity, behavior modification and stress management techniques. Instructors for the program include Deborah C. Patton, M.A., R.D., presently serving as food service director at Our Lady of The Way Hospital; Lynn Weddle, R.N., M.S.N., assistant professor of nursing, Prestonsburg Community College; and Carla M. ## Professor presents paper

Thomas M. Orf, a member of the Prestonsburg Community College Social Science Faculty, presented a paper on April 19 at the Association of American Geographers Conference held in San Diego, California.

The paper, entitled "Mental Imagery: Rural Vs. Urban Locational Perceptions," presents the finding that strong perceptual differences exist in a given state based on a person's rural or urban base.

According to Orf, mental imagery and perception have always played an important role in locational preference. People tend to have biased images about specific cultural landscapes without first hand knowledge, with their only contact being from books, the media, and/or information given by other people.

This paper suggests that peoples' images are based more on what is assumed than what is known, both positively and negatively. The author attempted to show that there are strong perceptual differences in the images of two states based on biased judgments.

College students in central West Virginia and Washington, D.C., only 200 miles apart, were asked to rate states that they considered positive and negative in relation to whether or not they would like to live there. Results showed a strong difference in perception of given areas depending upon the subjects' rural or urban base. Even though such findings are not absolute, patterns can be identified demonstrating that differences exist between rural and urban perception.

Replenishing the Earth

Spring welcomes several new trees on the Prestonsburg Community College campus. They are the first of a total of 62 new trees given to the college by English instructors Dr. Robert Perry and Dr. William Barnette in celebration of Earth Day. Biology teacher Dr. John Shiber, as well as several students from Dr. Perry's class, helped plant the first trees to arrive. Ten pine saplings have been planted around the radio tower. Two larger birch trees have been planted along the sidewalk between the library and the Pike building. Perry and Barnette also hoped to focus student attention on the problem of global warming, caused by the depletion of earth's ozone layer and the deforestation of the planet's surface. Floyd County Adult Learning Center taking part in KET Pilot Project

The David School in Floyd County is one of the seven adult learning centers in the state participating in a pilot project based on KET's newest adult education series, Math Basics.

Math Basics was developed in response to the growing problem of "innumeracy" in Kentucky and in the nation according to Sid Webb, former KET executive deputy director for enterprise who is now serving as a consultant on KET's instructional productions and was the executive producer of Math Basics.

"The problem of innumeracy is just as critical as that of illiteracy," said Webb. "Like the illiterate who is able to say the ABCs but cannot make sense of the letters when they are arranged into words, the innumerate may know how to count but be completely in the dark when it comes to making sense of the numbers used in context."

Math Basics is the latest result of a long-time partnership between KET and adult learners and educators. The KET/GED series is now being used in 48 states and has helped more than 1 million Americans earn their GEDs, giving KET national recognition as a leader in instructional programs for adults.

"Through years of listening to students and teachers, talking with employers, and looking at GED test scores, we realized that many adults were having difficulty with very simple math," said KET executive director Virginia G. Fox.

The series follows the standards for math instruction developed by the National Council for the Teachers of Mathematics. By focusing on "real-life" applications of math like shopping, balancing a checkbook, cooking, and determining how long a trip will take, the lessons help adults relate better to math and get over the math anxiety that many have harbored since grade school.

Math Basics, which will air every Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. on KET, is intended to be used in adult education classrooms. Currently, in addition to Floyd County, adult education centers in Owensboro, Hopkinsville, Ashland, Louisville, Pendleton County, and the Kentucky National Guard in Frankfort are taking part in the pilot project to determine the best use for Math Basics in the classroom. For information about enrolling in Math Basics, students can call (800)538-4433.

Community Issues Gathering to be held

On Tuesday, May 5, the Appalachian Civic Leadership Project, Big Sandy Area Development District, and the Martin County Fiscal Court are joining together to host a COMMUNITY ISSUES GATHERING on the topic of solid waste. This first of a kind discussion of the sensitive issue has been scheduled in response to the kind invitation of County Judge Executive John B. Callahan to assist Martin County in looking at the long range implications of America's growing mountain of solid waste.

Judge Callahan invited Eileen Lewandowski, the Prestonsburg Community College coordinator of the Appalachian Civic Leadership Project, to assist Martin County in its study of solid waste. Eileen has been working with Larry Preece, Martin County Solid Waste Coordinator; Ron Hustedde, a University of Kentucky Extension Sociologist working at the Appalachian Center with the Appalachian Civic Leadership Project; Myron Evans, Martin County's University of Kentucky Agricultural Extension Agent; and Bob Lewandowski, from Big Sandy Area Development District, in planning this event.

A special invitation has been extended to local residents belonging to Kentuckians for the Commonwealth and those who served on Brushy Fork Leadership Project last year. The Community Issues Gathering is open to the public. All who attend are asked to participate in the discussion and to follow the rules for participation established in the opening meeting. Refreshments will be provided by the Martin County University of Kentucky Extension Office.

Community Issues Gatherings are an innovative approach to the discussion of controversial public issues. The approach to discussion, which was developed by the Appalachian Civic Leadership Project in 1990, is similar to the National Issues Forums spearheaded by the Kettering Foundation as a nationwide system of public discussions on vital concerns.

Community Issues Gatherings are non-confrontational discussions in which the participants explore all possible solutions and approaches to the resolution of problems existing in their communities.

Lewandowski indicates that the moderators of Community Issues Gatherings are trained in conducting discussions in such a way as to encourage the exploration of all viewpoints without rancor. Participants are encouraged to consider why we might agree with those who present viewpoints different from our own. After consideration of three or four diverse positions which can reasonably be defended, participants assess what position, combination of the suggested positions, or newly discovered option might be the best solution for the local area meetings and sent to the local press.

All who have been trained in moderating the community issues gatherings in our local area have been personally invited to join the discussion on April 5. They include the local commonwealth fellows: Miriam Silman and David Gardner of Pikeville, Shirley Thompson of Prestonsburg, Terry Spears of Pikeville, and Beverly May from Harold. Other locally trained moderators include members of the Prestonsburg Community College faculty and the University of Kentucky Extension Agents.

The roles of moderator (after the introductory phase of the discussion) and of the scribe (who takes notes on a large, clearly visible flip chart) will be rotated between Hustedde, Ms. Lewandowski, and those who have previously trained to moderate community issues gatherings.

The Appalachian Civic Leadership Project has been actively functioning in eastern Kentucky since the summer of 1990. The project involves several components: the Community Issues Gatherings held in our Appalachian communities; a Student Leadership Project centered around a study of our heritage and service to our communities (which is taught at the five community colleges in Appalachian counties: Prestonsburg Community College, Ashland Community College, Hazard Community College, Southeast Community College, and Somerset College, along with Berea College and the University of Kentucky); and The Commonwealth Fellowship Program, which is a two year fellowship training program for budding community leaders from our Appalachian Counties, and Berea College's Brushy Fork Institute. Funded by the Kellogg Foundation Rural Initiative, this program hopes to encourage public talk in Appalachian Kentucky.

Persons interested in learning more about the Community Issues Gatherings and/or the Appalachian Civic Leadership Project may call Eileen Lewandowski at P.C.C., 886-3863, ext. 404.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Believe and Be Saved

"He who believes and is baptized will be saved; but he who does not will be condemned."

— Mark 16:16

Belief and salvation are among the most important foundations of Christian faith. Few were given the blessing of seeing Jesus and witnessing His miracles or hearing His preachments. Yet His church has endured for 2,000 years because believers have had faith in His words and the teachings of His disciples after His crucifixion. And after His resurrection, He appeared to them again and set forth the premise that belief and baptism will lead to salvation. That was in keeping with His earlier admonition, "Know the truth, and the truth will make you free." Simple words, yet so filled with promise.

Cerebrovascular disease and stroke

Cerebrovascular disease refers to disease of the arteries which carry blood through the neck to your brain, eyes and face. In normal circulation, blood travels up the carotid arteries on each side of the neck to the brain. The carotid artery divides into two branches, the internal and the external. The internal carotid artery delivers blood to the brain and the external artery supplies blood to the face. As we age, a disease called atherosclerosis can affect the normal circulation of blood through the carotid arteries.

Atherosclerosis, also called "hardening of the arteries," can contribute directly to a stroke. It is a slow, progressive disease that may have its beginnings in early life. In atherosclerosis, much like rust in a pipe, the inner walls of the arteries are made thick and irregular by deposits of fatty substances such as cholesterol. The internal channel of the arteries becomes narrowed and the blood supply to the brain, eyes and face is reduced. When this happens, a clot is likely to form, depriving the brain and other organs of blood. The results could be a stroke.

Stroke afflicts an estimated 1.8 million Americans. Each year over 250,000 people die from stroke. During a stroke many of the nerve cells in the brain die. Because nerve cells control movements, a part of the body may become paralyzed. If the right side of the brain is affected, the left side of the body is likely to be paralyzed. If the left side of the brain is affected, the right side of the body is likely to be paralyzed. A person who has suffered a stroke may also have trouble speaking or understanding speech, reading, writing or remembering. Personality changes may also occur.

The effects of a stroke may be slight or severe, temporary or permanent. A person can suffer a stroke and completely recover within a few days. The severity of the problem depends on the extent and location of brain cell damage and how effectively the body can compensate and restore a blood supply to injured areas of the brain.

Two major conditions can keep the blood supply from reaching the brain, causing a stroke. The first occurs when the blood flowing through an artery to an area of the brain is blocked by a clot. Most often a clot forms in the artery at the site of the blockage. But, sometimes a clot breaks off from an artery somewhere else in the body and travels through the larger blood vessels until it becomes wedged in a smaller artery in the brain.

The other condition that interferes with the flow of blood to the brain is bleeding or hemorrhage, also known as cerebral hemorrhage. It occurs when a diseased blood vessel bursts in the brain, flooding the tissue with blood. Cells nourished by the artery are then deprived of blood and cannot function. Cerebral hemorrhage may also occur as the result of a head injury or when a blood-filled pouch, called an aneurysm, bursts in the brain.

Fortunately, vascular surgeons now have sophisticated methods of diagnosis and medical and surgical treatment which can reduce the risk of stroke.

Q: I work outdoors year round. I have heard people say getting a lot of sun can cause skin cancer. What should I do?

A: Protect your self by using sun screen with a sun protection factor of at least 15 (SPF-15). Also, wear a hat with a wide brim and keep your body covered. Remember to be extra careful from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., especially during the summer. This is when the sun's rays can be the most harmful to your skin.

If you are taking a prescription drug, your skin might be more sensitive to the sun. Check with your doctor to see if this is true for you.

Q: My father has stomach cancer. His doctors say that there aren't any treatments left that can help him. We have heard about a doctor in Mexico who says he has a treatment that can cure all cancers. How can we tell if this treatment is of value?

A: Watch out for people who claim to have a treatment that cures all cancers. They use patient testimonials, not scientific information, to "sell" their treatment. They may claim that their treatment does not have side effects. Quacks do not share the results of their treatments with other doctors.

New cancer treatments should be tested in scientific clinical studies. Patients in clinical studies receive either a standard treatment or a new treatment. Doctors and scientists compare the progress of these patients to see which treatment is better. Then, the information is shared with other doctors.

If you would like to learn about clinical studies for your father, call 1-800-4-CANCER.

YOUR HEALTH

I am going to enlist the help of my readers to solve a problem that has been disturbing me, and that I have been writing about recently. That problem is the unfortunate inadequacy of communication between doctors and patients. In this, the third article on the subject, I want to present a letter that was sent to me by a reader in Illinois.

He wrote, "My doctor has prescribed for me the drug, Donnatal. Would you please tell me what it is, and what it contains? Mainly, I need to know what possible side effects I can expect from this pill."

I wonder how my readers react to this situation: A patient, seeking a general examination, makes an appointment with a doctor, spends an hour or more in his office, is given a prescription and walks out of the doctor's office in a state of total medical ignorance.

I am not pinpointing the blame on either the patient or the doctor. Rather, I am emphasizing that communication between them is deficient. This can only be remedied by a mature inspection of the process. Only in this way can good health be established and maintained.

I wonder how many readers can honestly inspect their own communication pattern with their doctors and not realize that in some ways it is inadequate.

CAN BELCHER SUE REDS FOR NONSUPPORT?

Tim Belcher continues to be a hard luck pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds. He hasn't been getting much offensive support from the Reds in going 1-3 early in the season.

Belcher was to be the answer to the Reds starting pitchers' woes, but it seems this year the Reds are just not putting any runs on the scoreboard for any of their pitchers. The lifeless bats of the Reds are due to explode sometime, but I sure hope it happens before the All-Star classic in July.

The reason the Reds are at the top or close to the top is the fact that the rest of the National League West isn't playing that great of baseball, either. They are all beating up on each other and now that they are playing the East, they can't beat the East teams.

Last year, the Reds took the first game of the season from the Pittsburgh Pirates and then lost the next ten to them before finally winning two toward season's end. Will the same thing repeat itself this year. The Reds won Tuesday night but lost Wednesday evening.

The Dodgers continue to struggle defensively and offensively (it couldn't happen to a nicer bunch). How Tom Lasorda and company can plan a National League pennant around a make shift infield such as he has is beyond me. The Dodgers' outfield is strong in Eric Davis, Daryl Strawberry and Brett Butler, but their infield is made up of has-beens or never-will-be's — Kal Daniels at first, Juan Samuel at second and Lenny Harris at third. Offerman, at short, is a good one but he is still making the errors.

Houston is the surprise team of the NL West. But the Astros are just a matter of time team. It's just a matter of time before they hold up the rest of the league.

The Braves' front line pitching didn't get off to such a great start but you will never be able to convince the Chicago Cubs of that. The Braves have thrown three shutouts at the Cubs and are on the up swing. Watch out NL West!

When the Reds get their team healthy again (six weeks away), they will either be a very strong contender or out of the race. I hope the latter isn't the thing.

UMPIRES — TAKING THE RAP!

It hasn't been a good season for high school baseball umpires. They certainly have come under the protest of coaches and fans alike. The men in blue have been verbally abused from the fans more this season than anytime I can remember. There are a lot of complaints from the coaches, also.

But umpiring, like refereeing, goes without its thanks. No one appreciates the efforts of the umpires in the region and I, for one, think our umpiring crew is much stronger than in the past. It is very difficult to call the game and be accurate all the time. There are just too many close plays that take split second calling. The umpires have a much better view of many of the bang-bang calls than the folks in the stands or a coach on the other side of the field.

Last Saturday, one of the county coaches was rejected from the game and the game eventually called because of a disagreement between the two. Things like this only leads to a misrepresentation to the kids as to the real purpose of the game. It's for fun! However, I can see how a coach can get bent out of shape over a call, but nothing like what is being told that happened last Saturday.

We now have an umpires association in the region that assigns the umpires. Perhaps, if feasible, the local umpires here in Floyd County should be assigned games in Pike, Johnson, Martin or Magoffin counties. That way, there would not be that added pressure of calling a game of a coach that might happen to be a friend.

I really believe we have some good umpires in our region now — some very capable umpires. I think back a few years ago, and shutter to think what we had. But, fans and coaches, we are fortunate to have some good baseball officials. Really!

Oh well, until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports, even if the ump gets under your skin.

Allen Central gets double-firsts in Pikeville track meet

If you see Allen Central track and field coach Dewey Jamerson smiling a lot these days, he has reasons for it. His track and field team got a school first on three occasions. The school won double-firsts at the Pikeville meet at Bob Amos Park Tuesday, a first. The girls placed first in the meet, also a first. The boys placed first in the boys' events, a first. That created a double-first, which is another school first.

The girls scored a school record high 112 points to take first place in the meet out of six teams present. The boys totaled 130 points. "It was the first time that the girls have placed first," said the Allen Central coach. "The girls have scored more points in the last three meets than they scored all last year."

Allen Central has caught the eye of other coaches in the way the program has been built. Coach Jamerson, along with Coach Forest Hughes, has dipped down into the grade school system here in Floyd County and encouraged young runners to come out and take part. The encouragement has paid off and now the two coaches are also encouraged.

"It used to be here at Allen Central that we didn't have enough kids to fill in some of the races at the meets last year," explained Jamerson. "Now, we have to cut people. The girl's program has really grown and more are interested in coming out."

One girl runner who has certainly impressed others is junior Jessica Wade. Wade continued to mount up the victories as she placed first in the women's 800, 1600 and 3200 meters races. Wade posted a 2:45.99 in the 800 meters and had a recorded time of 6:09.55 in the mile run. In the 3200 meters Wade came in at 13:55.20. Lisa Aldbaugh is another who has been impressive in the 800 meters. Aldbaugh finished third but shows a lot of promise for future years.

"I see Lisa coming along and being the next Jessica Wade," said Jamerson. "When Jessica graduates, I believe Lisa will be a top runner like Jessica."

A state contender!

with a 1:18.25. Rachel Hunter, who is returning to the Allen Central team after a three-year layoff ran the 400 meter run and posted a 1:28.96.

The women's 800 meters relay team of Wiley, Aldbaugh, Isaac and Nikki Queen outran the rest of the field to take first place with a time of

2:08.00. In the 3200 relays, Misty Goble, Wade, Lisa Stumbo and Aldbaugh posted a 12:10.08 for second place. Wade took the stick on the first two laps and opened up a good lead for the Allen Central relay team. But the Fleming-Neon runner captured the lead on the fifth lap against Lisa Stumbo and placed first.

The relay team of Misty Goble, Wiley, Isaac and Queen placed second in the women's 400 relays. The team posted a time of 1:03.09 record in the women's discus with a toss of 51-feet, a new school record. Patricia Davis also competed with a throw of 31-feet. Collins and Davis also threw the shotput.

In the women's 100 hurdles, Pam Goble came in second with a 22:78

The Allen Central men captured some first place finishes also. Chris Yates placed first in the men's 400 meter run. Yates had a time of 56:44. Mike Allen ran a 1:01.59 and Adam Wright scored a time of 1:02.45.

Jason Samons had a recorded time of 12:47 in the men's 100 meter. Kevin Patton ran a 12:54 and Trevor Fitch raced to a time of 13:54.

Fitch had a 28:11 in the men's 200 meter with Brad Blackburn posting a time of 28:70. Dave Gilliam finished with a time of 30:48.

Yates placed first again in the men's 800 meters with a 2:20.13. Kenny Scarberry ran a 2:33.65 for sixth place. Phillip Anderson, who has been hurt, posted a 2:38.58 and Pal Johnsen was close behind with a 2:44.45. Joey Williams on had a time of 2:40.13 and Kevin Stumbo recorded a 2:56.75. John Goble came in at 3:03.72.

Anderson picked up the pace some in the men's 1600 meter run with a time of 5:24.08 good for second place. Todd Howard, a sixth grader, ran a 5:37.75 for fourth place. Kenneth Bradley and Rondal Stewart each had times of 6:04.95 with Kevin Stumbo and Estill Stumbo posting same times of 6:00.63. Josh Flannery came in at 6:52.00.

Howard finished fourth in the men's grueling 3200 meter run. Howard had a time of 13:02.40 to finish ahead of Shawn Amburgey who placed fifth in the event. Ambur-

Clark collects 3 hits...

Tucker drives in 3 runs, Damron goes distance in 11-2 Blackcat win over Hazard Bulldogs

It has been a good season thus far for the Prestonsburg Blackcat's high school baseball team. The Blackcats are currently 18-4 on the season with two weeks remaining. Prestonsburg won their 18th game Wednesday evening at Archer Park when they posted an 11-2 win over highly regarded Hazard.

One of the reasons for the success (and there are others) of this year's Blackcat team is the consistent play of junior Aaron Tucker. Although there are other Blackcats having a good year, Tucker has been a picture of consistency all season on the field and at the plate.

The Blackcat catcher collected two hits against Hazard — both doubles — and drove in three runs in showing leadership at the plate. On the field, he cut down two would-be base stealers that set the tone for Hazard running the bases.

John Thomas Clark, also having a great senior year, collected three hits — two doubles — and two RBIs. He scored three runs against Hazard.

Another Blackcat making the most of a successful season is pitcher Sean Damron. Damron was impressive in the 11-2 win over the Bulldogs in going the distance while scattering six Hazard hits, limiting the Bulldogs to just two runs — which were unearned. He struck out seven batters and gave up only one walk. He also shined at the plate with two hits, scoring two runs.

The hard throwing righthander had a shutout going until the fifth inning when Hazard scored twice. Both runs came as a result of errors. Steele grounded to Clark at short and the ball was misplayed by the usual sure handed shortstop. After Dunn went out to centerfield, Grigsby's grounder to Ronnie Goodman at second was mishandled allowing Steele to score. Grigsby scored on Chapman's base hit.

Hazard put runners on base in each of the first two innings but failed to score. Whitt lead off the game with a base hit but was nailed at second when Tucker's throw was waiting on him.

In the second, Steele collected a one-out single, but again, a Tucker throw let the Bulldogs know that there would be no base stealing today.

In fact, runners for Hazard were scarce throughout the game as they left two runners stranded. Damron retired the first seven — counting the two nailed at second — before Henderson walked in the third. After that, Damron retired the next five until the Clark error in the fifth inning.

Hazard got a two-out double from Steele, who had two hits in the game, but the runner was left stranded when Dunn popped out to third to end the inning. The Bulldogs went down in order in the bottom of the seventh.

Prestonsburg scored all the runs they needed in the second inning after missing a scoring opportunity in the first. Freshman Thomas Ratliff singled as the first four batters in the inning collected base hits. Anthony Howell, designated hitter, singled behind Ratliff, and James Derossett sent both runners home with a double. Derossett scored on Jason Crisp's base hit. Crisp eventually came home on a catcher's error.

Prestonsburg continued to score by the three's as they pushed across three in the third inning. A walk to Clark and a stolen base allowed Clark to score on Damron's base hit. Tucker was safe on an error at shortstop when his ground ball was misplayed. Damron and Tucker rode home on Ratliff's base hit.

Two runs were scored for Prestonsburg in the fourth frame on Clark's one-out single, a base hit by Damron, his second, and Tucker's two-run double.

Scott Stephens drew a one-out walk from Dunn and advanced on Brandon Lowe's base hit. Clark then got his second two-bagger of the game that scored both Stephens and Lowe.

Newsome homers in Betsy Layne's 12-4 win over Wheelwright

The Betsy Layne Bobcats won their fourth consecutive game after snapping a five game losing streak in the Panther Classic last weekend at Pikeville. The Bobcats posted a 12-4 win over the Wheelwright Trojans that saw Trojan coach Jackie Pack watching from the side lines. Pack received a one game suspension for being ejected in last Saturday's game at Prestonsburg after a run in with umpire Jerome Greathouse. Keith Smallwood took the reigns of the ball club in Pack's absence.

Shawn Newsome drilled a solo home run for Betsy Layne in the fourth inning and Bud Kidd picked up the win with some relief help from Barry Clark.

Kidd worked the first five innings giving up three earned runs on six hits. Kidd struck out two and walked seven as he struggled with his control. He also hit one batter — Jimmy Helton.

Clark, in relief, entered the game in the top of the sixth with two runners on base and no one out. He worked 1 2/3 innings throwing 43 pitches, yielding one run on two hits. Clark walked one and had four strike outs.

Kevin Johnson, going the first 5 1/3 innings, suffered the loss for Wheelwright. He threw 73 pitches and gave up seven runs on ten hits. Johnson walked no batters and had no strike outs.

Helton came on in relief of Johnson in the bottom of the sixth with one out. He worked 1 1/3 innings and threw 46 pitches. He walked two and had no strike outs while giving up five runs on four hits.

The Wheelwright infield was a little shaky on defense behind Johnson and Helton. The Trojans committed eight errors in the game.

Jody Johnson collected three hits for Wheelwright in the losing cause. He had three singles.

Layne Bailey continued to sting the ball with two base hits.

Derrick Newsome carried the heavy bat for Betsy Layne collecting three hits. Newsome had two singles and a run scoring triple in Betsy Layne's five-run sixth inning.

Catcher Barry Hall shook the slump that has plagued him for the past three weeks. He banged out three hits in the game and collected three RBIs.

The Bobcats put the game in the win column with four runs in the fifth inning and five in the sixth. The big blow being Newsome's triple that scored Shawn Newsome, who had walked. Newsome scored on Chris Potter's ground ball to third base, but Potter was not credited with an RBI because of an error on the play.

Barry Hall walked and Potter came in to score on Clark's base hit.

In the Betsy Layne fourth, Derrick Newsome led off with a base hit, stole second and moved to third on a wild pitch. Newsome scored on Potter's RBI single. Potter then stole second and scored on Kidd's base hit. Kidd moved to second on Hall's base hit and then stole third base. Bobcat coach Junior Newsome put the squeeze play on and Clark laid a bunt down the third base line scoring Kidd. Clark was safe at first with the ball sailing into right field moving Hall to third base where he scored on Shawn Newsome's sacrifice fly ball.

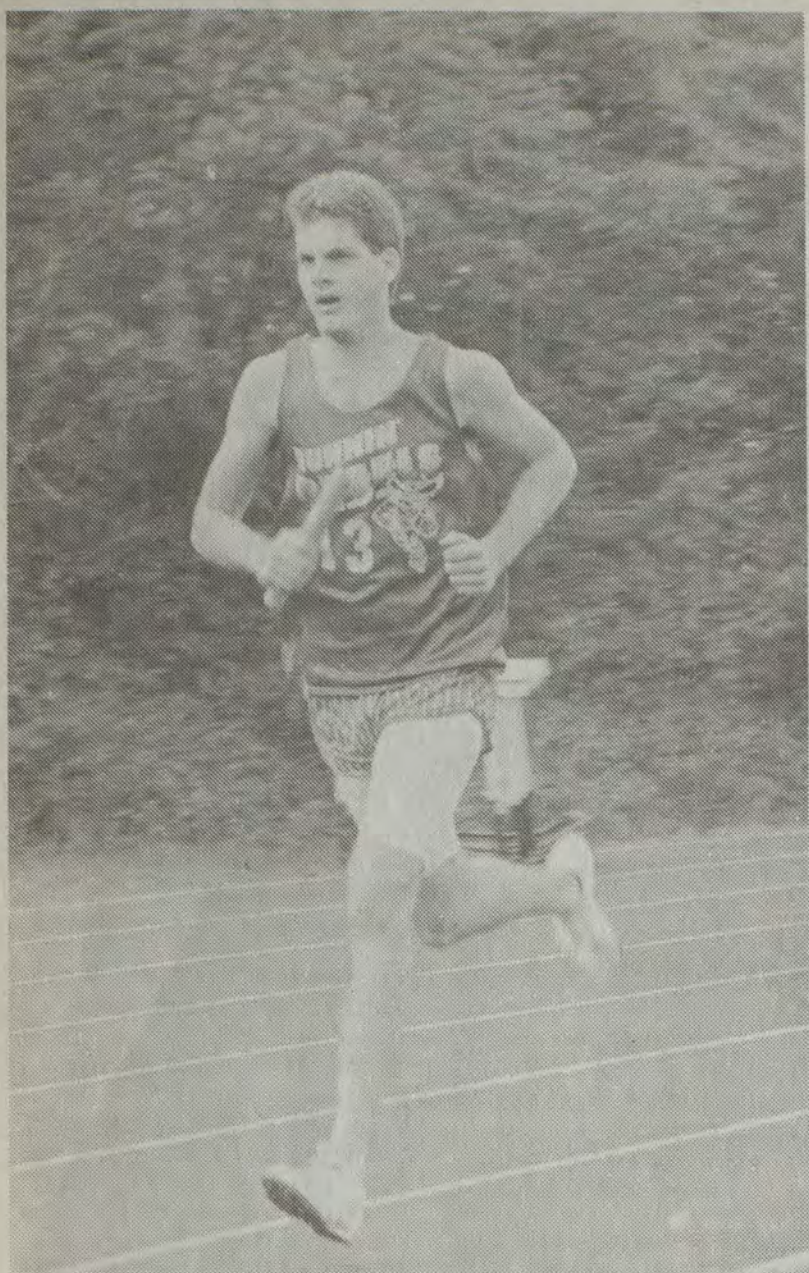

Betsy Layne took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Derrick Newsome singled leading off the game and was advanced to second on a sacrifice by Potter. Newsome scored on Clark's base hit.

It was 2-0 after three innings when Betsy Layne plated a run in the third. Kidd got a two-out double and scored on Hall's run scoring single. The Bobcats struck for another run in the fourth on Shawn Newsome's home run to make it 3-0.

Wheelwright scored in the top of the fifth for a 3-1 game when Helton was hit by a pitch. Bailey singled and Mickey Johnson laid down a bunt, but the throw went to third to nail Helton. Bailey stole third and scored on Jody Johnson's single.

Sexton holds off Pikeville as Rebels show they are for real

Allen Central is a young baseball team but they sure don't play like they are an inexperienced squad. Coach Anthony Moore's Rebels served notice that they are for real and a solid contender for a regional championship this season.

The Rebels posted a 9-7 win over Dave Thomas' Pikeville Panthers Wednesday night to run their record to 10-3 on the season. Pikeville, along with Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg and Johns Creek are considered top favorites to win this year's regional. Allen Central owns victories over three of the four contenders. They have yet to play Johns Creek.

Robbie Sexton picked up the win for Allen Central to run his personal record to 3-0 on the year. The hard throwing right hander went the distance for the Rebels and did experience some wildness at times in walking seven batters. His strike total was a low four, but he got the big out when he needed it, especially in the Panthers' half of the sixth inning.

Sexton gave up seven runs on six hits.

The Rebels scored four times in the top of the fifth to take a 9-5 lead. Errors paced the way for the Rebels to score as leftfielder Mickey Lawson misplayed a base hit by Toby Vance that allowed Jason Martin, who had walked leading off the fifth, to score. Vance moved to second on the error and then to third on a base hit by Sexton. Vance scored on a sacrifice fly by Jeff Hicks. Frank Martin was plunked by a pitch and eventually scored the fourth run of the inning.

Pikeville struck for two runs in the bottom of the sixth against Sexton. Sexton was guilty of an error on a ball hit by Jason McCoy with one out. Nathan Elswick doubled sending McCoy to third base where he scored on Matt Adkins' base hit with Elswick stopping at third. Elswick scored when Bob Casto bounced back to the pitcher and on the throw to first, Elswick came home. Sexton got Ryan Johnson to bounce to second for the final out in the inning.

Pikeville put a runner on in the bottom of the seventh when Lawson drew a one out walk from Sexton. But the Rebel righthander got Dan Estep on strikes and McCoy on a fly ball to left to end the game.

Allen Central took a 3-0 lead in their three-run second when they sent eight men to the plate. With one out, Sexton was safe on an error on second baseman Ryan Johnson. Hicks walked and Martin loaded the bases on a base on balls. Kevin Allen drilled a single scoring Sexton and Hicks and moving Martin to third base. Martin scored the third run on a passed ball.

Pikeville came back with two in their half of the second. Johnson led off with a double and moved to third on a passed ball. Johnson scored when Justin Harris grounded to shortstop. Lawson walked on four pitches and Sexton then got Estep on strikes for the second out. But an error by third baseman Vance off the bat of McCoy scored Lawson. Elswick lined hard to second to end the threat.

After the Rebels went out in order in the third, Pikeville took a 4-3 lead with two runs in the bottom of the inning.

J.P. Blair's one out double got the inning underway for Pikeville and Casto walked. Johnson grounded to short where they caught Blair in a rundown and tagged out the pitcher for the second out. Harris singled to load the bases full of Panthers. Casto scored when Sexton issued a bases loaded walk to Lawson and Johnson scored the got ahead run on a wild pitch.

The Rebels reclaimed the lead at 5-4 on Stewart Hall's RBI double and Phillip Ritchie's run producing single in the top of the fourth. All the scoring came with two out.

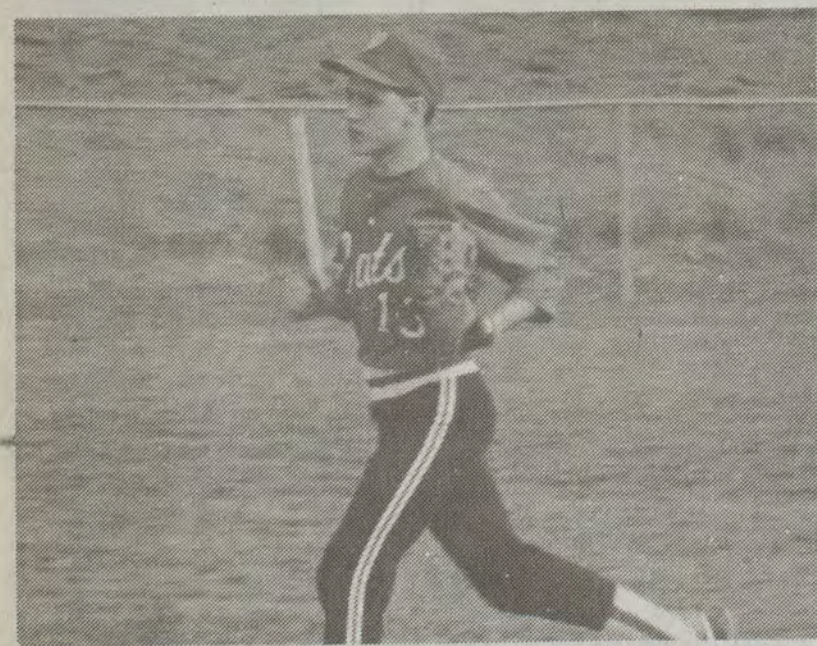

Blair is the losing pitcher going the distance for Pikeville. Blair only recorded one strike out in the contest while walking eight. Blair yielded six hits in the game.

Allen Central (11-3) will be at Prestonsburg tonight for a district game. The Rebels will play Betsy Layne at Allen tomorrow at noon.

Clark dented the plate on Tucker's second double of the contest.

James Derossett had a good outing with two hits and two RBIs, which included a double.

Dunn suffered the setback working six innings. He struck out three and walked four, giving up 11 runs after allowing 13 hits.

First in 800 relays!

This foursome of Nikki Queen, Jenny Wiley, Dreama Isaac and Lisa Aldbaugh captured first place in the women's 800 meter relays at the Pikeville track and field meet. The team had a time of 2:08 for first place. (photo by Ed Taylor)

The Trojans made it a 7-3 game in their half of the sixth inning when they scored twice. Matt Johnson and Kevin Johnson drew back-to-back walks off Kidd. It was then that Clark came on in relief and he promptly issued a walk to Steven Shelton to load the bases for the Trojans. Matt and Kevin Johnson scored on Helton's long drive to right centerfield that went for just a single.

Wheelwright completed their scoring with a single run in the top of the seventh against Clark. Chad Allen was safe on an error at third base and moved to second on the errant throw. Jody Johnson hit an infield single and Matt Johnson's ground ball forcing Jody Johnson at second, scored Allen.

Wheelwright committed eight errors in the game, collecting eight hits. Betsy Layne played errorless baseball and had 14 hits. No Betsy Layne batter struck out in the game.

Betsy Layne (11-5) will host Phelps tonight at 5 p.m. and they will play Allen Central in a noon game tomorrow, Saturday, at Stumbo Park.

Up and over!

Jamie Slone, Allen Central, went over the bar in the high jump event at Pikeville in track and field competition Tuesday evening. Allen Central coach Dewey Jamerson looked on. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Track & Field

gey ran a 13:31.72. Sixth place went to Estill Stumbo with a 13:59.58.

Shane Stumbo, who is working hard for a state appearance this year, took first place in the men's 110 hurdles. Stumbo took the early lead and ran a 17:26 in the event. Jamie Slone placed sixth overall with a time of 21:05. Gary Webb finished with a 22:57.

Jamerson said that Stumbo is still taking two steps too many before jumping.

"It is supposed to be three steps and then jump," explained Jamerson. "On two of the hurdles, Shane took four steps and then jumped. He has come a long way and we will keep working on the other part."

Stumbo also took first place in the men's 300 hurdles with a time of 46:51. Slone placed third at 49:31 and Justin Salisbury ran a 57:33.

Kenny Scarberry, Jamie Slone, Kevin Patton and Jason Samons ran their way to a first place finish in the men's 1600 relays. The team posted a 4:10.09 to take the top spot.

"Jamie (Slone) ran a smart race in the 1600 relays," said Jamerson. "Jamie was leading on the last of the relays but it was neck and neck. There was a girl running in the track that Jamie was in and I told Coach Hughes that he was going to lose because of the girl being in the way. Jamie came up her back and couldn't get around her until the runner behind him past by. Once he got around her, he was about 90 meters behind and caught up and won the race. It's the best relay they have won in a long time."

In the men's 3200 relays, Anderson, Scarberry, Kevin Stumbo and Mike Allen placed second with a 10:13.00.

Patton, Samons, Slone and Shane Stumbo placed fourth in the men's 400 meter race. The group finished with a time of 49:09 which Coach Jamerson calls "not bad."

"They will have to be quicker in order to win the regional," he stated. "But for the run at Pikeville it wasn't bad."

Jamerson said that the 400 relays have posed a problem for the Allen Central team as they seem not to be able "to get out of the lower four finishes."

In the field events, Kenny Crum showed why he is considered a state prospect when he out threw Pikeville's Ben Honaker to take first place in the shotput. Crum's toss of 43-feet 5-inches placed him in the number one spot with Honaker tossing a 42' 7". All three of Crum's throws were in the 40's. Ronnie Samons was making his first attempt in the shotput and tossed a 33-feet 7-inch shotput.

Shawn Robinson took third place in the men's discus with a toss of 116-feet. Robinson, a freshman, appears well on his way to being a top discus thrower at Allen Central.

"Shawn needs more spin and arm speed," said Jamerson of his freshman. "Position and technique is very important in discus throwing. Coach Hughes said that if he can see your arm, then your arm speed is too slow."

Shawn Bailey placed fourth in the discus with a toss of 101-feet 7-inches. Seventh grader, Levi Wells, another promising discus thrower, had a throw of 91-feet. Chris Bailey, an eighth grader at Maytown, had a throw of 65-feet, 9-inches.

Gary Webb placed third in the men's triple jump with a leap of 31-feet 9 1/2-inches. Andrew Greenleaf and Kevin Patton tied for second in the high jump. Slone placed sixth at 5-feet 4-inches.

Slone was fourth in the men's long jump at 17-feet 4-inches. Greenleaf leaped 16-feet 10-inches. Well finished with a jump of 16-feet 4-inches.

"It has been a great year," said Jamerson. "If we never win another event, it has been a great year. We're not as talented as we were last year but we have kids this year that are making up for some who we lost from last season. What we lost in Robert Jervis, who was an automatic first place for us in the 400 meters, we have made up for in the 800 meters. So, really we haven't lost anything."

Tomorrow, Allen Central will head to Danville and Centre College for an invitational meet. The meet is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m.

If you have to keep reminding yourself of a thing, perhaps it isn't so.

Easter egg hunt

It was fun time for Mrs. Fairchild's Home Economics class as they got to hunt Easter eggs. One person had to dress up like a bunny and hide the eggs while others wondered where the prize egg was. Through the mud, most of them went slipping and sliding to find that prize egg. After all was said and done, Chuck Hutton won the dollar. It was a very exciting activity, even though Mrs. Fairchild had to wash some shoes after the hunt.

Barter Day at W.H.S.

Mrs. Delores Woody's World Civ. c/p class had a "barter day" on April 18. Students were wheelin' and dealin' everything that they brought from home. Surprisingly, Mrs. Woody was the one that everyone wanted to trade with. Everyone wanted to try her homemade "uglies." The class brought things like fruit, scarves, homemade candy, jewelry and even beans. Some people went home with nothing while others like, Alena Meade, went away with everything.

Cablevision promotion to provide education funds

A special promotion sponsored by Cablevision will provide funding to Floyd County Schools.

Customers who respond to the May Education promotion sponsored by the company will have an opportunity to write a check — equivalent to the first month's service fees — directly to Floyd County Schools, according to Dan Perry, general manager of Cablevision.

Cablevision will waive the normal $39.95 fee to connect new customers, as well as forego first month's service fees for those customers who elect to participate in this unique promotion. This also includes upgrades of HBO, C-Max, Disney Channels.

"We are committed to strengthening our education resources in the community," stated Dan Perry. "We already provide free cable service for all schools in our service area through our 'Cable in the Classroom' program, and this is just an additional way we can help support education."

The Floyd County Schools will be targeted for funds raised from the promotion and assistant Superintendent Gary Frazier expressed his appreciation of Cablevision's offer. Frazier said the funds will be used to update technology in area schools.

Cablevision is currently preparing informational materials about the campaign which will be mailed to current customers in May.

Last May, Cablevision ran a similar promotion during which customers donated $1324.40 directly to the Floyd County Board of Education.

Cablevision provides information and entertainment programming to over 3,100 cable customers in the Prestonsburg, Floyd County area.

Play written by PCC student to be performed

A play written by PCC student Mark Vanderpool will be performed Saturday, May 2, in the Pike Auditorium at Prestonsburg Community College. The Theatrical Experience, PCC's drama group, plans two short plays that evening, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free.

First on the program is "Who Am I This Time?," a comedy by Christopher Sergel derived from "Welcome to Monkey House," a story by Kurt Vonnegut, Jr. This light romance deals with a shy young man, Harry Nash, who has no personality at all until he takes part in a play. Then he becomes "body and soul, whatever the part calls for," whether macho lover, crude servant, or Romeo. Harry has no relationships until a new girl, Helene Shaw, comes to town and joins the acting club. Helene decides she wants Harry, and the fun begins when she discovers how impossible it is to reach him. The plot thickens as Helene tries out a plan of her own to attract Harry.

The play by Mark Vanderpool is called "Wallstreet's Ultimate Son". John Phillips, an uptight, harried business executive, has lost sight of life in the race for a promotion. One day he meets a "Dharma Bum," or hippy, who makes John confront his past from the 1960s. The play answers the question of whether John will be able to recapture his laid-back, compassionate self or be fated to work himself to death.

The starring role in both plays is acted by Ryan Briggs of Hager Hill. Helen Schul, of Prestonsburg, plays Helene, and the other actors in "Who Am I This Time?" include Sherry Waddles of Eastern; Kevin Benson, Sinae Risner and Alice Adams, all of Prestonsburg; Chris Daniel and Janie Short of Paintsville; and Barbette McCarty of Auxier.

Other players in "Wallstreet's Ultimate Son" include Kevin Benson, Mark Vanderpool, and Alice Adams.

Both plays are suitable for a general audience.

Welcome back Mr. B

On April 14, the student body of Wheelwright High School presented Mr. Lewis "Spike" Berkheimer a surprise welcome home party. The students planned the activity by having Food City make two large sheet cakes that had "Welcome Back Mr. Berkheimer" on them. The presidents of each club said a few words to Mr. Berkheimer about Mr. Berkheimer's return. After his speech, everyone got to have a piece of the cake. Pictured are Mr. Berkheimer and Becky Allen, president of the student council at W.H.S.

Science Screen Report explores biotechnology

SCIENCE SCREEN REPORT, an educational video series produced in cooperation with the National Science Teachers Association, presents the most recent developments in science, technology and engineering. This award winning program is donated each month by CONSOLIDATION COAL COMPANY as a community service to grades 7-12 in the Floyd County Schools.

This month's edition of SCIENCE REPORT, explores biotechnology: PLANTS, ANIMALS and PEOPLE.

When does the traditional "food chain" relationship between plants, animals and people become a life-line? When the amazing science of biotechnology takes natural abilities of one organism and genetically improves them for the benefit of another. The April/May 1992 edition of SCIENCE SCREEN REPORT explores the inter-disciplinary discoveries that makes biotechnology possible. The program then climbs our genetic research ladder...reaching the highest rung in an incredible, real-life example of sheep generating a blood clotting protein used by hemophiliacs.

This issue of SCIENCE SCREEN REPORT also includes a brief review of plant cross-breeding, a natural but limited form of trait transfer. Then, the actual genetic creation of the disease immune tomato plant is brought to life through animated computerized imagery. Graphic representations of DNA, plasmids and agrobacteria help students grasp these basic components of biotechnology.

Outside laboratories, biotechnology's value to farmers around the world is explained, as students see the size, shape and biological characteristics of basic food such rice, apples and beef cattle genetically improved.

Across all these examples, the program highlights the importance of biologically safe testing. The regulatory check and balance relationship between government agencies and the biotechnological community are also discussed, as both sides strive to make safe genetic testing as basic to their research as DNA.

Lexington Electronic Institute of Lexington, recently announced the acceptance of Brad Scott, of Prestonsburg, to begin training in July. L.E.I. is a two year electronic training institute. Upon completion of the training, he will be awarded an Associate Degree in Electronic Engineering Technology. He is the son of Wendell and Theresa Scott of Prestonsburg. He will graduate from Allen Central High School this year.

ALL MY CHILDREN: Trevor gave Derek and Mimi proof that neither he, Opal, nor Palmer killed Will. Livia asked Brooke to be her maid of honor. Edmund, a newly arrived journalist, trying to get dirt on Dimitri, visited Angelique (his former lover) and tried, unsuccessfully, to turn her against Dimitri. Stephen gave Brooke the Craig/Gloria videotape, suggesting Craig had a motive to kill. After learning Brian loves Hayley, not An Li, Jack forbade him to see Hayley until the trial was over. Wait To See: Gloria becomes concerned about Brooke's growing suspicions.

ANOTHER WORLD: Dennis, stunned by Marley's revelation that Olivia promised the baby to her, vowed he won't give up the rights to his child. Jenna felt uncomfortable during a video rehearsal attended by Roger Jackson, who demanded she be replaced with Mara, or Dean's career would be ruined. Lorna overheard Roger on the phone saying that he'd made an offer to Ada for Paradise, and once they took it over, they'd kick her out. Just as Dennis was about to tell Marley he loved her, she told him she still loved Jamie. Wait To See: Felicia is faced with a situation she may not be able to handle.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Iva and John told Andy they'll tell Lily and Holden the truth about Aaron's paternity after their baby is born. Lucinda, upset with Iva and John's decision, threatened to take matters into her own hands. Gallagher asked Gavin if he had Carolyn and Phillippe killed because they knew too much. Marcy learned of the secret plans Lucinda, Cal, and Duncan made about the Kruger takeover. After Marcy accidentally took Lily's purse, Hannah found Marcy's pocketbook, and the birth control pills she carried. Wait To See: Barbara realizes she must prepare to deal with the jury's verdict.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: Feeling a bit tipsy, Sally got Saul to dance with her. At midnight, Blake panicked when he saw Faith about to take her mask off in front of Ridge, and pulled her away just before she got the mask off. While talking to Eric, Sally accidentally knocked over a piece of expensive crystal, which Eric instinctively grabbed before it could shatter. Sally announced the good news to all: Eric can see. Brooke left for Ridge's place (leaving Stephanie to care for little Eric) only to find him in bed with Heather. When she returned, Stephanie ordered her out. Wait To See: Ridge is confronted with a triple dilemma!

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Vivian told Lawrence it looked as if John really was his brother, and suggested he use Carrie to keep an eye on John for her. John broke into the Alamain house security room and watched Lawrence and Vivian on the monitor opening a mysterious crate. Lisanne warned Carly not to perform surgery. Unaware about the impending drug raid, Marlana dressed up as a hooker to surprise Roman on the pier. Rafi's men grabbed her and threatened to kill her, but Roman, Bo, and Abe turned up and brought down the Torres family. Wait To See: Law-

BABY, IT'S COLD OUTSIDE

Before you start unpacking winter clothes you just packed away a week ago, remember that Friday will be the first day of May.

Last week my husband and son left the house in the mornings wearing short-sleeved shirts, huraches, and inner-tubes wrapped around their waists. This week, they refuse to venture outside without ear muffs and long johns.

What's happened? If we're experiencing the Greenhouse Affect, we'd better move farther south because the ozone above us will not disintegrate during our lifetime.

By the way I'm reacting, you may think the weather we are having is making me nervous and you'd be right. The thoughts of having to endure a second more of winter weather is the most depressing thing I can imagine.

Yes, it's true. I'm one of those people you read about in magazines and watch on Oprah Winfrey. No, I don't wrestle midgets or shave my head and chant, I am one of those people who cannot function without a daily dose of sunshine.

If the sun isn't shining, I turn on every single light in the house so it appears as if it's bright inside even though it's gloomy outside. My monthly electric bill is so high, I have been approached to represent the electric company as its national poster person.

"Sara?" my husband often asks. "Don't you think we could do without some of these lights?"

"Don't turn them out. I need sunshine, don't you?"

I'm not exaggerating. The four lamps in our family room are presently switched on, as are the overhead fixtures. Visitors swear that they have not received worse burns from curling irons. And even though I don't venture into the kitchen as often as my husband would like, I keep those lights on in case someone needs a paper towel to wipe the Big Mac grease off their hands.

The only time I turn off the lights in the house is when I go to bed. After all, I almost always keep my eyes closed when I sleep. Because of this routine, my husband thinks I'm silly. I can accept night being dark—it has been ever since I can remember—but I refuse to accept day being dark, too.

Though I forget what it's called, there is a medical name for what I have. My husband says its called ignorance. When I remind him that ignorance is not a medical condition, he reminds me that it is chronic, though. If he was better informed, he would know that going without sunlight makes some people depressed, irritable, unsocial and, in some cases, suicidal. When I tell him this he explodes saying, "Those are exactly the same symptoms you have with P.M.S.!"

Unfortunately, he is wrong again. Though many of the symptoms appear to emulate each other, P.M.S. differs immensely from the "depression without sunlight" disease in that no woman has ever been acquitted of murder on this account. Don't worry, it has to be just a matter of time before we read about it in the Enquirer.

I've tried to convince my husband that we should move to a sunnier climate. A nice, warm location where the sun shines even when it's raining, and your front yard never has to be mowed because sand would gum up the motor in a lawn mower. A pleasant place where the sky is always drenched in U.K.'s colors and the temperature is like Mama Bear's soup—not too hot or too cold, but just right.

When I tell Jimmie that I know I would get over this feeling of gloom if we lived in a place like this, he says, "Sara. Why don't you click your heels together and repeat to yourself, 'There's no place like home?' And while you're at it, take ToTo there with you."

If it doesn't warm up by Saturday, and the sun isn't shining on our old Kentucky home in time for the Derby, I may buy a pair of shoes and try it.

DELTA BURKE: A VERY SPECIAL JOURNEY

by Selli Groves

"I never had an imaginary friend when I was growing up," Delta Burke said. "But I can imagine that for some children, that would be a very welcome thing in their lives. I know it was for Grace DeGeorgio Connors, the character I play in 'Dayo.' It's one of the reasons I wanted to do this film: I loved the whole idea of the story, and I loved the script. I thought it was very well balanced. It has nice dramatic moments without hitting you over the head. It has wonderful comic moments — you know, the old time comedy you used to see in those great old movies. But I think most of all, you get to see this very special lady make a very important journey. And I think that speaks for most women: I know it does for me."

Delta Burke stars in "Dayo," (a Walt Disney Television production) airing on NBC May 3. Her costars include Charles Shaughnessy, who plays Shane Donovan on NBC's daytime series, "Days of Our Lives" as her supportive husband, Ben; Ashley Peldon (formerly of "Guiding Light") as the five-year-old Grace who invented Dayo at that time, Fred Dalton Thompson ("Cape Fear") as her apparently insensitive father, Frank, David Packer ("Silent Movie") as her irresponsible brother, Tony (whose mistakes Grace is constantly covering up), Carlin Glynn ("The Trip to Bountiful") as her mother, and Elijah Wood ("Radio Flyer", "Paradise") as the beguiling Dayo himself.

"Grace is a wonderful woman," Delta said. "But for much of her life, her father ignored her in favor of her younger brother, Tony. It's not that she was less loved; it's just that in some families, the attention often goes to the boy, leaving the girl feeling either like an outsider, or just not good enough."

In the film, Grace is forced to deal with a jolting shot of reality when she finds she's pregnant. She realizes that the memories of her lonely childhood are still too strong, and she's afraid that motherhood may be more than she can handle.

"That's when 'Dayo' reappears in her life," Delta said. "Just when she needs him most." But Dayo's presence in Grace's life is not quite what it had been when she was younger.

"Dayo encourages her to find herself. That's not as easy as it sounds. She has to learn that even if some people have made you feel unimportant, that you really are important, and you won't let anyone make you feel that you're not anymore."

"The process is an interesting one," Delta went on. "It's basically relearning how to listen to yourself; how to find, and listen to that child inside who is always there. You have to remember what it was like to have, what some people call, that 'gut feeling.' Somewhere, as we get older, we're taught to stop listening to that inner voice, and we lose the kind of direction that it once gave us."

"I've spent the last several years trying to get back to where I can hear my inner voice again. Think about it: if you don't listen to yourself, you're losing a very important part of yourself. You can wind up with an ulcer; you can become a nervous wreck; you can make one wrong choice after another. All because instead of following your own best instincts, you listen to what others may say is the right thing to do."

"It's been said that when you grow up, you're supposed to leave childish things behind. Yet, some childish things are the truest part of yourself. In Grace's journey, she finds Dayo again. In my journey, I found the other part of me."

Delta, who was nominated twice for an Emmy for her role as Suzanne Sugarbaker on CBS' "Designing Women" finds that for many women, that journey begins in their early 30s. "Usually, up to that time, you accept — you may not like it — but you tend to go along with what's expected of you. But the time comes when you don't want to be bullied into doing what others say you should do, and you want to do what you know is right for you. Once I began listening to my inner self again, I knew that I had to be true to myself."

As for her departure from "Designing Women," Delta said: "I was in New Orleans where Mac and I (Mac being her husband, Gerald Mc-

Real life isn't made for television

Saw where one of the state's daily newspapers had a contest to come up with a name for the current federal probe into bribery and influence peddling in Kentucky's state government.

We've got an entry (but we're probably too late to win the grand prize of an all-expense paid trip to the horse-racing track of our choice)...

Then again, our name suggestion is not one that most family newspapers would care to print unless they opted for a euphemism (Horsehockey, for instance).

All of which brings us to the real question millions of Americans want to know the answer to:

Will Ronald and Nancy Reagan play themselves in the sure-to-be-released film, "Mommie Dearest, The Sequel?"

The Reagans' eldest, Patti, alleges in her autobiography "The Way I See It" that her mother was a pill-popping child abuser and her dad wouldn't believe it.

We're inclined to accept the allegations, though, seeing as how the Reagans abused most of the American public for eight years. What we want to know is, was Nancy on dope the whole time she was president?

Guess we'll have to read the book, which was released Thursday and which will likely be made into a TV movie before the weekend is out.

Made-for-TV movies are really a strange breed of entertainment. Particularly those on "real-life" dramas.

You know, the ones like "I've Got An Incurable Disease, Let Me Entertain You" or "Kidnapping of the Week."

We're part of a small but growing segment of our society which believes that we get enough of real life in real life and we aren't really interested in seeing reruns.

The problem with television is that it has been around so long, some people are unable to distinguish between real life and Gilligan's Island.

These people are called jurors in California. On Wednesday a panel of jurors acquitted four Los Angeles police officers of brutally beating a black motorist in March, 1991.

The entire event was videotaped live by a passerby and televised to the world which was generally sickened by what they saw.

The jury, on the other hand, apparently considered the fact that the suspect was beaten repeatedly with a night stick, kicked, and shocked with a Taser gun an appropriate police response to an effort to outrun the law.

The suspect didn't do too much running after his arrest because the police officers broke his leg.

The California trial and the acquittal of the police officers has apparently sparked a sequel to this particular real-life drama.

It might be called "Los Angeles, What a Riot" or "Is California Burning?" Film at eleven.

The blue badge of courage.

It takes real courage to pursue a career like nursing. Your career will own much of your freedom, many of your nights and weekends. It will constantly expose you to the diseases that have put your patients in the hospital — or worse. It will hold you to the most exacting standards of your profession and some pretty idealistic expectations from your patients. The education process will never cease. The demands will never let up. And surely if your courage deserves a badge, so does your dedication, your compassion, patience, stamina, intelligence, loyalty and team spirit. These are the things that make you special, and make us grateful. Thanks from the staff and administration.

Dear Abby

Ex-lover deserves to know she's been exposed to AIDS

DEAR ABBY: I was deeply involved with a woman who is four years older than I am—I am in my late 20s. At the end of May 1990, our relationship fell apart.

Last month, I discovered that I am HIV-positive. I have not dated since the breakup, and I have no other risk factors.

This woman has two pre-teen daughters and deserves to know, but I am not sure if I should tell her. She wants nothing to do with me, and I have no desire to shatter her life. What should I do? I have not told anyone else about it.

If you need my name and address I am sorry. I only wish to go in peace. Thank you for your time.

E.S. IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR E.S.: It is vital that you contact the woman immediately so that she, too, can be tested for the HIV virus. If she tests positive, it is almost certain that she will want and need to be under the care of a physician—and it is definite that she should have counseling to deal with the trauma of such a diagnosis, as well as information on how AIDS is and is not spread to others.

DEAR ABBY: I avidly read and applaud your airing of the various problems facing society. If you can solve my problem, which is also my pet peeve, I'm sure the effects could be heard around the world.

Example: I ask a 10-year-old girl how she is, and her mother answers, "She's fine."

I ask a woman where she was last Sunday, and her husband answers "She was out of town."

I ask a patient when she is going home, and the nurse answers "Maybe tomorrow."

Conclusion: There must be two kinds of people, those who answer and those who get answered for.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

DEAR FOOD: A general profile of the person who answers for another person: protective, presumptuous and insensitive.

If you are the kind of person who answers for others, please hold your tongue.

If you are the kind of person who permits others to answer for you, put a little starch in your spine and speak for yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in response to the letter from "Frustrated Wife" whose husband quit smoking, but gained quite a bit of weight. She was upset about the weight gain and very unhappy about the way he looked in his clothes.

In my opinion, your advice was quite good, telling her to tell him that she loved him and wanted to grow old with him—but you went too far when you said, "... insist that he sees his doctor—and if he keeps putting it off, ask him if his life insurance is up-to-date."

The wife should have told her husband how proud she was of him for making the tremendous effort to quit smoking, told him that his weight had nothing to do with how much she loved him, and that she thought he was quite a man for doing what he did—then shut up!

NAMELESS, OF COURSE

DEAR NAMELESS: Thank you. Your answer was better than mine.

Most teenagers do not know the facts about drugs, AIDS, and how to prevent unwanted pregnancy. It's all in Abby's updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a business-size, self addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, 111.61054. (Postage is included.)

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Get some insight. Do some soul-searching before you rev into high gear. You are "personality-plus" and can make some real headway in the direction you so choose. You are most indulgent this weekend. Life improves rapidly all week long.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're still on that roller coaster. Make sure you like where you are heading rather than get involved with the ups and downs. Solid choices make a big difference in the outcome. You peak during the weekend, when all you need to do is just "wish upon a star."

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Accept being in the limelight this week, but don't count on this as a forever situation. You do have reason for celebrating, but remember, what goes up, must come down. Plan on a retreat (a long one) this weekend and you'll be okay.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Stay centered on your dreams and fantasies this week, in whatever realm you choose, of course. There's a strong possibility you can make them happen faster than you imagine. Hook up with friends or a loved one, or both, for weekend celebrations. You'll grin all weekend long.

LEO (July 23-August 22) You may not be as in command of your ship as you'd like. Nearly everyone else seems to be holding the strong suit. With a little brainstorming, you do come up with a solution that works all around. Yes, take that bow in the spotlight this weekend. You deserve all the applause.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Do little and let others reveal their personal agendas. You'll feel a lot better if you listen before you talk. Close contact, one-to-one relating and fulfilling one of your dreams make this an extraordinary week. Don't be a prudish Virgo now.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Demonstrate your high efficiency and potential at work. You may get what you want and reverse the course action, if you let others play things out. Plan on some quiet downtime with a loved one this weekend. Yes, you'll look like the Cheshire cat with your ear-to-ear grin.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Creativity and ingenuity, spark and fire to make you the zodiac winner as far as charisma goes this week. Find time to do some work, or maybe consider using your animal magnetism to affect your work in a positive way. This weekend, be at another's disposal. You'll love the results.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Keep centered, get down to the basics, and move out to accomplish whatever it is you want. Fun and creativity merge and you could just make the impossible, possible. Share a very, very favorite pastime with a loved one this weekend. And when you're done sharing, share some more.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Take the initiative when dealing with others this week. Anchor in and you could very well get exactly what you want. Be more creative with the pluses in your life, and make the most of each moment. Relish the weekend and enjoy the soothing heat of a spring day.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) Watch expenses and get matters handled. Reach out for another and get down to the basics. Negotiate the terms you want and expect to make the most of your good timing. You may want to lull the weekend away with lullabies and dreams or, better yet, the "real" thing.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) Be more playful and let your real self out. Your personality breaks down barriers, and you're very likely to make happen whatever you desire. Be more realistic about how much you really do offer. This weekend, you reconnect with an old flame.

Fun facts for kids

Paul Revere's ride:
Henry Wadsworth Longfellow began his poem, The midnight ride of Paul Revere, "On the eighteenth of April."

That much is probably true. However, several facts about that night were changed in the poem.

When the signal first went out, Revere was still in Boston — not "on the opposite shore."

Actually, Revere never did arrive in Concord. He was joined in Lexington by two men, Dr. Sam Prescott and William Dawes, and later all three ran into a British patrol.

Dawes escaped, but went back to Lexington. Revere was captured and released.

It was actually Prescott who got through to Concord and warned the patriots.

Soft spring rains usher in new beginnings
Spring is a time for re-birth.

- Oval spikes awaken within green and purple skunk cabbages.
- Jack-in-the-pulpits come into bloom.
- Fragrant arbutus nod their pink blossoms.
- Trilliums lift their pink-lined petals above their extended leaves.
- Queen bees and hornets come out of hibernation.
- By late spring, newborn animals and birds fill the forests.

Facts about rain:
• Because of the strong

updraft in every thunderstorm, some of the rain goes up instead of down!
Rain cannot fall through air which is moving faster than 17 miles per hour.

Shifting winds:
Just check out cows in a pasture. If they all change positions in the same direction, you can bet the wind has shifted.

Why? Because they always head into the wind. For what reason?
Cows don't like the wind to ruffle their hair.

The same goes for most birds — plus, they can take off more quickly facing into the wind.

Would you believe?
The Shearwater has one of the longest migration routes of any bird.

Where does it migrate? In a circle completely around the Pacific Ocean. How long does their journey take?

Three or four years!

Nest building time
In spring, a female bird feels the need to build a nest, when the chemical estrogen builds up in her body.

When does this happen? As the daylight hours increase.

Did you know?
Very large drops of water — nearly the same size — produce the brightest rainbows and the purest colors.

GOLF PUZZLE WHICH GOLFER HAS SCORED THE HOLE-IN-ONE?

DID YOU KNOW?

LIVING THINGS CONTAIN CARBON AND, WHEN THEY DIE, THE CARBON SLOWLY CHANGES OVER A PERIOD OF 70,000 YEARS. A FOSSIL'S AGE CAN BE FOUND, THEREFORE, BY THE AMOUNT OF CHANGE IN ITS CARBON.

A GERMAN IMMIGRANT AT THE 1893 WORLD'S FAIR IN CHICAGO WAS HAVING DIFFICULTY SELLING HIS SPICY SAUSAGES BECAUSE THEY WERE TOO HOT TO HANDLE. HE DECIDED TO PUT THE SAUSAGES INTO BREAD ROLLS AND THUS PRODUCED THE "HOT DOG" THAT WE KNOW TODAY.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

LEAD STORY

Theaters in North Carolina recently began showing, as a short feature, a state-funded film advocating teen-age sexual abstinence. In "The Power to Create Life," a teenage couple in a car are contemplating having sex until the sky lights up and an alien emperor implores, "You have the power to create life. Don't abuse it." The kids decide to go to a movie instead.

OOPS!

In January, an Orlando Sentinel subscriber had just settled down to enjoy breakfast with her newspaper, which she was removing from its plastic bag. She then lost her appetite when out came, along with the paper, the dentures of her newspaper carrier, Warren Gregory, 43, who had placed them in the wrong plastic bag after they had begun to irritate him.

Minneapolis prosecutors were expecting a long and difficult child-molestering trial against Robert G. Swan because the incriminating photographs they had of him blurred his face. Then, in January, his wife brought Swan, who was in jail, a fresh change of clothing for his court appearance, giving him the very articles of clothing he was wearing in the photographs. After the clothing turned up, Swan quickly pleaded guilty.

Xavier Hunter, 26, was arrested in Chicago in December for robbing the Citibank Federal Savings Bank. Unknown to him, President Bush was speaking at the Chicago Board of Trade, less than a block away, at the time, and the neighborhood was thus full of police officers. As Hunter exited the bank, the chemical dye pack in his bounty exploded, alerting the many nearby officers, who chased him down despite his futile attempt to abandon the money by throwing it into the air as he ran.

In St. Louis in January, Thomas Hall pulled into what looked like a fast-food restaurant's drive-thru to place an order. However, the drive-thru speaker he yelled into was an intercom stand at the Area III St. Louis police station. An officer came out and arrested Hall for DUI. (The next day, after Hall's arrest made local news, deejay "Wacky Pat" Fortune drove up to the same intercom stand to carry out a gag for his listeners. However, an officer checked Fortune out on the computer, discovered unpaid traffic violations, and arrested him as a fugitive.)

James Bridgewater, 32, was arrested in Kankakee, Ill., after a mishap at the First America Bank's drive-in window. He was carrying two white sacks, one containing money for deposit and the other containing two grams of marijuana and rolling papers. He put the wrong bag into the pneumatic tube.

TEACHERS FROM HELL

To quell unruly seventh-graders in Irvington, N.J., in February, substitute teacher Monique Bazile, 57, cast a voodoo spell on the class. According to pupils, Bazile began shaking and chanting, threw ritual powder on the kids, and warned them that their houses would burn down because of their rowdiness. Criminal charges of endangering the welfare of a child and making terroristic threats were brought against her.

Milford, Utah, high school teacher Cherry Florence was fired in February for an indiscretion. According to the local board of education, after the school, for health reasons, interviewed students individually as to their level of sexual activity, Florence released to her classes a list of which of the school's 170 teenagers were virgins.

Acting principal Steven Stocker, 31, voted Fredericksburg, Va., outstanding young educator in 1988, was arrested in January after he engaged a 9-year-old girl in what the district attorney called a servant-master game. Stocker, the servant, had allegedly kissed the girl's feet and sucked her toes.

The board of education in Worthington Hills, near Columbus, Ohio, disciplined teacher Alan Brady in February on charges that he poked a student teacher in her backside with a fork and that he had third-graders line up and jump on and hit a fellow student who had been bad.

Immokalee, Fla., substitute teacher Krystal Gail Allen was fired in January after parents complained that she had described her sex life in great detail to an eighth-grade geography class and invited students to share their own tales with her. One student had recorded the class.

In January, burglars at Rich's department store in Salem, Mass., were forced to flee empty-handed after the welding torch they were using to break into a safe accidentally ignited the money inside, causing a fire and setting off the store's smoke alarm.

CREME DE LA WEIRD

Daniel Hendricks, 34, of St. Louis, was charged in February with several counts of aggravated battery in Tampa for ramming at least six cars on an interstate highway and forcing others off the road as he sped at 100 mph toward nearby Clearwater, Fla., where Barbara Bush was speaking. Hendricks told police he had to warn Mrs. Bush that Saddam Hussein was preparing to invade the United States.

GRANDPARENTING

BEAUTY IN THE EYE OF THE BEHOLDER

Q: Our granddaughter Lisa, 8, lives nearby and loves to call us. We love it too. She was recently away for a few days and called us the minute she returned home. I asked her to come over for tea that same afternoon. Two of our older lady friends were also coming.

She told us she would have to ask her mother. She called right back and said she was "R.S.V.P.ing" and her mother would drive her over. When Lisa arrived the very first thing she said at the door was, "Where's the lipstick?" When our other guests arrived she greeted them with a lot of lipstick and her face rouged heavily!

These proper old friends have no children or grandchildren and I am sure were shocked by our 8-year-old granddaughter's appearance. She was very polite and well-behaved, but did look somewhat like a miniature "vampire." Was I wrong to let her get all dolled up? — J.B., Huntington, W.Va.

A: If your young granddaughter wants to go on stage at your house, we think it's a compliment. She obviously feels right at home and doesn't suffer from stage fright. Enjoy her act now. As young people get older they invariably like a change of scenery, and there may not be many more "encores."

Also, we wouldn't worry about the reaction of your other guests. They just don't recognize a star when they see one.

Shirley Albertson Owens, Costa Mesa, Calif.

We welcome your Grand Remarks of the Week. Many thanks.

Many readers ask us for tips on how today's grandparents, raised in another era, can get on the same wavelength and influence today's youngsters. We recently met a very imaginative grandmother from South Burlington, Vt. She is our first "Grandparent of the Month."

Mrs. Shirley Murray, who recently retired after 20 years as a kindergarten teacher, is still a natural teacher with strong, enthusiastic convictions. She said:

"I love to 'journal' with our six grandchildren. It is my favorite grandparent activity. We do it as often as we can, simply writing our thoughts and favorite pictures in our respective journals. I start early, when they are only 3. I make the journals from white drawing paper, punching holes and lacing the sheets together with yarn, and colored covers.

"I began this as a kindergarten teacher in a model school for the Vermont Writing Project, sponsored by the University of Vermont. I then wondered if it could also be done at home with younger children. I began with our three grandsons, 3, 5 and 6, visiting from Florida. These journals, started in 1984, are now priceless treasures. Our other grandchildren, who live nearby, also love to 'journal' each time we're together.

"I 'journal' when they 'journal.' If we go on a picnic, we take our journals along. It is a very positive experience, with no grades. Instead, there is a lot of 'inventive' spelling. I call this 'process' writing. It's a developmental process, like first learning to walk in stages."

"The journals stay in our house. When the grandchildren visit we read and admire our work, sharing very special moments. Each visit becomes a written memory. I hope you can pass this on to all your readers."

Brennan is a very astute child and very aware of age-related accomplishments. With eyes widened in astonishment, Brennan asked, 'Hasn't he learned to do that yet?'"

WINNERS OFTEN MEET, BUT THEY DON'T HAVE CLUBS

Q: We have heard of a New York State lottery winners group who meet and swap investment information, share warnings of scams they are newly prey to, as well as enjoying friendship and comradery. Since some winners are young and 'retired' early, the association seems a logical source for new friends of similar circumstances. Does each state have their own Winner's Club? How are the meetings restricted and kept confidential and limited to winners only? Do any states issue a lotto winner's I.D.?—C.N.

A: You sound an awful lot like a lottery winner, or at least one planning to win soon.

No state, including New York, has an official lottery winners' organization, but several states have unofficial and informal groups of winners that have been formed by the winners themselves as a way of sharing information, insights and providing help to one another. What do new millionaires need to adjust to? Many things, including dealing with family and friends who may be jealous of the winners' new good fortune and who also may have their hands out. Investment information and advice is also of concern. These groups don't meet very often, perhaps every few months, and the winners usually meet at one another's homes so there really isn't much chance that unwanted "nonmembers" may show up at the meetings.

Several lottery states do have annual winners "reunions" for two or three days, usually at some resort hotel in the state. These reunions are an opportunity to meet other winners, party, share insights and information and generally have a good time.

There is no state issued lotto winner I.D. that I know of. I don't think the winners need it. These meetings are restricted to winners and invited members of the media. I have been invited to several of these reunions but have not yet been able to attend. I'm looking forward to doing so in the near future. Then I'll tell you what really goes on at these meetings of millionaires.

Q: Do lottery ticket retailers receive any extra money if they sell a winning grand prize lottery ticket?—V.A.

A: About half of all lottery states pay a bonus—usually amounting to 1 percent of the winning amount—to retail selling agents who sell a winning grand prize ticket. On a big jackpot, this bonus often means many thousands of dollars for the retailer.

This past November, a Missouri Lottery retailer really benefited from selling the winning lottery ticket. Michael McKernan of Peculiar, Mo., owns Jerry's United Super and has been buying lottery tickets at his market since he started selling lottery tickets in January 1986. On Nov. 7, 1990, one of his tickets won the $2.3 million Missouri Lotto jackpot, and since he also sold the ticket, he earned an additional $23,000 bonus. Not bad.

Q: What's a "Breakopen Tournament"? I understand that state lotteries occasionally conduct them and some pretty great prizes are won.—D.A.

A: Breakopen Tournaments are held in states that sell pull-tab games. These pull-tab lottery games, also called break-open or rip-off games, feature low priced lottery tickets (25 cents to 50 cents each), which have several paper tabs to pull off in order to reveal play symbols on a line underneath. Players win by uncovering three matching symbols on any of the lines.

In a Breakopen Tournament, the lottery uses advertising to invite players from around the state to join the tournament. On specific dates, preliminary rounds are held at taverns, restaurants and other locations where the breakopen tickets are sold. Contestants race to remove as many tabs from the tickets as quickly as possible. Players win the cash that comes from matching three symbols.

In addition, the tickets used in these tournaments usually feature special bonus points under the tabs. The player who accumulates the most bonus points at each preliminary location moves on to the final competition at a later date. The final competition usually has additional grand prizes besides cash prizes. On Nov. 16, 1991, the Oregon Lottery awarded two new automobiles (a Geo Prism and a Chevrolet Lumina) to winners of its Breakopen Tournament finals.

These tournaments are a lot of fun for players and they are very successful promotions for the lottery.

Q: Is there any possibility that multi-country lotteries will be formed in the near future?—V.E.

A: They are already being formed.

In February 1990, the world's first multi-country lotto was launched when Austria and Hungary began co-marketing the 6/45 Austrian lotto. In addition, the Lottery of Croatia (Yugoslavia) is anticipating joining in the near future as are perhaps a few other countries which are watching closely how successful this multi-country lottery is.

It has also been reported that our own Lotto*America, which is composed of 16 states, has been having discussions with Caribbean and Latin American nations about the possibility of those countries joining the rapidly expanding Lotto*America family. Multi-country lotteries are on their way.

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Charity wants to play the coupon game

Dear June—We are a non-profit food pantry serving 114 families with food and other necessities.

I have heard about food coupon fund-raising programs where organizations collect coupons without expiration dates that are worth more than 20 cents and turn them into cash. Can you tell me how our group can participate in this?—Pat D'Amico, Bushkill Outreach Program

Dear Pat—You may have heard about organizations selling coupons, but I do not know of any legitimate group that buys them. Organizations interested in fund-raising should be wary if they are approached by anyone offering to buy coupons.

The first question to ask is, what will the coupons be used for? If you are told they will be used by individuals to make legitimate purchases of the couponed items, request that all the coupons be handled this way.

Coupons that are sold in bulk are very often used by criminals and redeemed without purchases being made. A coupon crook who purchases coupons from organizations may make a deal with a retailer to redeem the coupons, with the proceeds being split between the coupon crook and the dishonest retailer, for example. This is a federal crime. It is an act of fraud against the manufacturers, and it is punishable by fines and imprisonment.

If your organization is approached with an offer to raise money by selling coupons, check the purchaser out by calling Katherine Clapp at the Coupon Misredemption Task Force, (213) 894-3623.

If the members of your community can contribute coupons, please consider organizing a coupon exchange. Collect the coupons that are not used and redistribute them to the members who can use them.

This requires that your members make a complete list of the food categories and branded products they use regularly, and it requires a working group to sort and redistribute the coupons.

This exchange can become money for the food pantry if you ask the members who participate in the exchange to make a monthly cash contribution to the Pantry or set a contribution, 10 cents for example, for each good coupon the exchange sends them.

This requires work, but one thing is for sure, it's legal!

I have received letters from readers who complain that a $1 cash refund offer is not worthwhile. I agree, it does take time, effort, an envelope and a 29-cent stamp to send for that $1 refund. But there is still money to be saved.

A reader from Houston had the same complaint. But she said, "I go ahead and send for these refunds anyway, because I am elderly and live on a very limited income."

She is not alone. A great many seniors on fixed incomes have turned to refund offers as a small way to supplement their incomes. Even if a $1 refund means a savings after postage of only 71 cents, the pennies add up to dollars, and every dollar is important.

This week's smart shopper is Cheri Phillips of Lake Placid, N.Y., who really knows how to clean up on a good buy: "I bought an O' Cedar mop on sale for $4.54, regularly $6.49. A $3.50 rebate certificate came with the mop. So the mop cost me just a little more than a dollar!"

Here's a refund form to write for: a $1.99 refund. LADY SPEED STICK Crystal Clean Cash Refund Offer, P.O. Box 8961, Young America, MN 55551-8961. This offer expires June 30, 1992, but requests for the form must be submitted by May 15, 1992. While waiting for the form, save the bottom panel of the carton showing the Universal Product Code number from one Lady Speed Stick Crystal Clean Deodorant (any fragrance), along with the original dated cashregister receipt with the purchase price circled.

Here is this week's list of refund offers. Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket, in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends. Meanwhile, start collecting the needed proofs of purchase as detailed below. Remember, some offers are not available in all areas of the country.

Today's refund offers have a value of $9

Personal Products (File No. 11-B) These offers require refund forms: ADVANCE Save $2 Refund Offer. Send the required refund form and the instruction pamphlet from any Advance Pregnancy Test, along with your dated cash-register receipt with the purchase price circled. Expires June 30, 1992.

GILLETTE $2 Refund Offer. Send the required refund form and one proof of purchase (clip the Universal Product Code from the package) from any of the following: Gillette Cartridges 10-pack, Gillette Sensor Cartridges 10-pack, Gillette Atra Plus Cartridges 10-pack, Gillette Trac II Plus Cartridges 10-pack, Gillette Atra Cartridges 10-pack, or Gillette Trac II Cartridges 10-pack. Include the dated cash-register receipt with the store name and the purchase price circled. Expires June 30, 1992.

GYNE-LOTRIMIN $3 Rebate Offer. Send the required refund form and one Universal Product Code from Gyne-Lotrimin (any size except trial size), along with your original cashregister receipt with the purchase price circled. Expires June 30, 1992.

MITCHUM/LADY MITCHUM $2 Refund Offer. Send the required refund form and the Universal Product Code clipped from the bottom of the carton of any full-size Mitchum or Lady Mitchum Anti-Perspirant/Deodorant Roll-On, Solid, Aerosol or Cream (not good on trial or travel sizes), along with your dated cashregister receipt with the purchase price and store name circled. Expires June 30, 1992.

FRESH BREEZE

May 7 is the birthday of Sir Francis Beaufort. For those who haven't heard of him, Sir Francis was the British Admiral who devised Beaufort's Scale of Wind Speeds in 1806, later adopted by the International Meteorological committee for use in weather telegraphy. Still later the U.S. Weather Service also adopted the scale with modifications.

Beaufort's scale can indicate the wind strength when no instruments are available using descriptive criteria and a scale of 0 (calm) to 12 (hurricane). For instance, a hurricane is "that which no canvas could withstand." Recent changes include the addition of miles per hour, so we now know a fresh breeze (5) is 19-24 mph but a light breeze (2) is only 4-7 mph. Good to know when you're flying a kite on a balmy spring day!

A little wind kindles, too much puts out the fire.

TIP OF THE WEEK

When doubling a vegetable recipe, only increase the liquids and herbs and spices by half.

EARTHWISE

If fleas are a problem in your house, please consider using natural alternatives to "mainstream" products. Remember, you could be slowly poisoning your pet while you kill off the fleas. Pyrethrin is an active ingredient that is made from chrysanthemums. It's safe to you, your pet, and the environment, and fleas don't seem to build up an immunity to it. Read labels carefully because some companies add toxic ingredients along with the pyrethrin.

OLD FASHIONED SODA CRACKERS

4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sour milk
1 cup butter

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in milk and butter, mixing well to form a stiff dough. (To sour fresh milk, add 1 scant tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice.) Roll and turn over repeatedly until the dough is very stiff. Roll very thin, cut into squares, and prick with a fork. Bake at 400° F until edges are lightly browned. Makes about 50-60 crackers.

THE OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Clear and warm, cloudy and cool south coast; rain then warmer, clearing west.

SOUTHEAST: Rainy, cold then clearing, warming; finally sunny and very warm.

MIDWEST: Cool and rainy; hot and sunny; then cooling and more rain.

SOUTHWEST: Sunny and warm; cold, rainy mountains then clearing; cloudy and rainy, clear and warm California.

TELL ME WHY

HOW DID THE CUSTOM OF KISSING START?

We know the kiss is a form of expressing affection. But long before it became this, it was the custom in many parts of the world to use the kiss as an expression of homage.

In many African tribes the natives kiss the ground over which a chief has walked. Kissing the hand and foot has been a mark of respect and homage from early times. The early Romans kissed the mouth or eyes as a form of dignified greeting.

It is quite probable that the kiss as a form of affection can be traced back to primitive times when a mother would cuddle her child, just as a mother does today. It remained for society only to accept this as a custom for expressing affection between adults.

We have evidence that this was already the case by the time of the sixth century, but we can only assume it was practiced long before that. The first country where the kiss became accepted in courtship and love was France. When dancing became popular, almost every dance figure ended with a kiss.

From France the kiss spread rapidly all over Europe. Russia, which loved to copy the customs of France, adopted the kiss, and it spread there through the upper classes.

In time, the kiss became a part of courtship. As marriage customs developed, the kiss became a part of the wedding ceremony. Today, of course, we regard the kiss as an expression of love and tenderness. But there are still many places in the world where the kiss is part of formal ceremonies and is intended to convey respect and homage.

Tell manager about rude employee

DEAR BRUCE: I was very dissatisfied with the treatment I received from a department-store employee last night. The woman was rude and used language that was totally inappropriate. In short, it turned me off completely.

My husband has advised me not to write a letter of complaint, as he says I could be hauled into court for saying things about this woman in writing. Everything I want to tell her superiors is absolutely true, and two of my friends are willing to vouch for it.

My husband says to let the matter drop. What do you think? — M.C., Cleveland

DEAR M.C.: On the contrary, not only would I not let the matter drop, but unless all of us as customers let management know when we are dissatisfied, how in the world is the manager in the top office going to know? People like the employee clearly do not reflect the point of view of the overwhelming majority of managers. But unless a customer brings this lack of civility and professionalism to their attention, how are they going to correct it?

The truth is a great defense. And the fact that you have two witnesses to this woman's inappropriate behavior would be sufficient to provide such a defense should the need arise. However, I doubt that will happen.

By all means, send a courteous but very strong letter to the manager of that store and demand a reply with regard to what action has been taken against the store clerk.

DEAR BRUCE: You've said that you've had no confidence in time shares and found them to be poor investments. Are there any time shares anywhere, in your opinion, that are worth investing in as they are developed? I'm looking ahead for the long
