School planning committee is finalized :

Budget tops $36 million

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County school board members gave their approval Monday to the district's $36 million budget for the 1992-93 school year which increased $24,291 from last year.

The bulk of the district's $36,511,348 budget is slated to be spent on instruction with $21,197,185 designated. Over $2 million is appropriated to operate schools and over $1 million is budgeted for maintenance of buildings.

Per pupil spending was increased $188,900 and spending on textbooks dropped by $250,000. Spending for professional staff development more than doubled with $225,000 allotted this year, up from $90,000 in the 1991-92 school year.

The district's food service department will have a separate accounting procedure beginning in January to comply with state recommendations, superintendent Steve Towler said Monday. Those monies will no longer be "run through" the system's general fund.

Towler also said Monday that the district finished the 1991-92 school with close to a million dollars in the black and there was an "outside chance" that state revenues could be cut.

Towler added that the Floyd County system has not had "a good record" with workman's compensation claims for the past "eight or nine years" and he said that employees need to be made aware that the more claims that are filed, the higher the insurance rates.

In other action at Monday's special meeting, the board named local businessmen Dickie Jarvis and Paul Hughes to the district's local planning committee. The 17-member committee will be responsible for studying the district's needs relating to school facilities. The committee's first meeting will be held Monday, November 16 at 6 p.m. at the administration office.

Another election? Filing opens for races in May countywide primary

Persons interested in seeking county or statewide offices may file their candidacy with county court clerks or the secretary of state's office from now until January 26 at 4:30 p.m., the filing deadline for the May primary election.

In Floyd County, all countywide offices are up for reelection as are the statewide offices of commonwealth's attorney and district judge.

As of Tuesday, Floyd County Court Clerk Carla Boyd is the only candidate listed as filing to run for office in the May Primary.

Time for adventure

Youngsters who attend story hour at the Floyd County Library experience adventures within the pages of books. Members of the younger group include Taylor and Tera Giese, Jasmine Archer, Darcay Hicks, Hope Risner, Chris Baker, Jennifer Mars, Amber Whitaker, Amanda L. Groundbreaking ceremony is Friday at David School :

Grant paves way for growth

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

The David School, known for its groundbreaking work in secondary, adult and kindergarten education, will soon conduct a groundbreaking of a different kind at the site of a new vocational education facility made possible through a $100,000 grant from the United Parcel Service.

The new facility will be a wood-working shop with over 3,000 square feet of space and will contain wood lathes, saws and all necessary power equipment. The wood shop replaces an existing facility which will be closed soon due to structural faults.

The $100,000 regional grant was made through the UPS Foundation, a charitable branch of the United Parcel Service. The David School competed with other schools and non-profit organizations all over Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan through several stages of review to earn first place and win the grant.

The first runner-up in the regional contest will receive $50,000. All other finalists will receive $10,000.

The David School has been nationally recognized for its outstanding work in helping the people of Eastern Kentucky, and founder Daniel Greene has been named "the 57th Point of Light" of President George Bush's 1,000 Points of Light campaign. The school works primarily with high school drop-outs, offering job and academic training to help them continue their educations and find suitable employment. The school also provides kindergarten and adult education programs, and is used by the state of Kentucky as a model for training and reducing the number of high school drop-outs.

Chamber's first 'Business Fair' to offer close-up of local trade

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Are you tired of seeing the same old thing on television night after night and you've already seen every single movie at every single video store in town? Or would you like to learn a little more about the community around you while you're having a little good clean family fun? If that's the case, then come on by the First Annual Floyd County Chamber of Commerce Business After Hours Fair next Tuesday evening.

Over thirty area businesses and organizations will have booths and displays at the fair and many will give out free samples. The Chamber of Commerce will also be serving free food and beverages.

The Kentucky Opry's Munroe Birdshot will be on hand to perform and entertain and the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Safety Squirrel will pose for pictures with the kids.

Businesses or organizations that would like a booth or display at the fair may contact the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce at 886-1341 for more information. Chamber of Commerce members may conduct a display for $50 and the cost to non-Chamber members is $100.

The First Annual Floyd County Chamber of Commerce Business After Hours Fair will be held Tuesday, November 17 from 5:30 p.m. until 8 p.m. at the Jenny Wiley State Resort Park Wilkinson-Stumbo Conference Center. Admission is free.

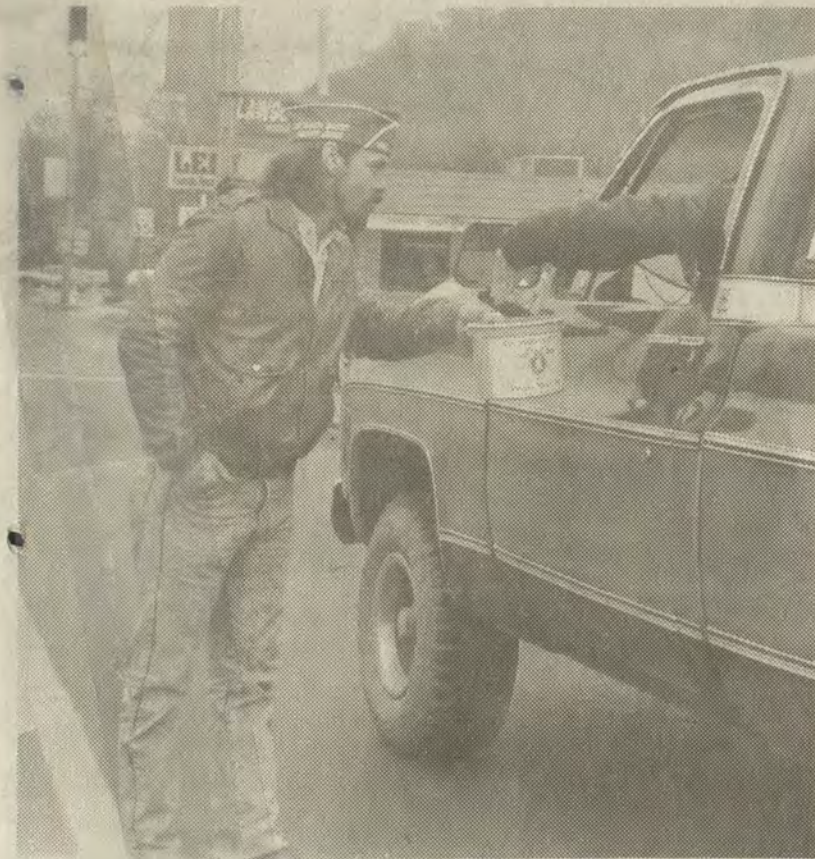

City parks proposal to lay off attendants

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Thanks to prolonged discussions by the Prestonsburg City Council at its regularly scheduled meeting Monday evening, three city employees will retain their jobs and the city itself, hopefully, will stop losing money.

The council had previously discussed the possibility of laying off the three attendants at the municipal parking lot in order to save the city the approximately $25,000 loss it suffered annually on the municipal lot system. However, hesitant to fire anyone, the council reasoned that the

Helping those in need :

Warm bodies, warm hearts...

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

The weather may be getting colder every day, but the Christian Appalachian Project is helping to warm a few bodies—and a few hearts, as well.

The organization is distributing little girl's winter coats, generously donated by "Auntie" Carol, the Reverend Carol Johnson, of Pennsylvania.

Johnson and several volunteers work year round annually making the coats and hand-knitted hats, gloves and scarves for distribution to needy Appalachian families through the Christian Appalachian Project.

Floyd County C.A.P. program director Donna Turner then coordinates distribution through area Sunday schools and Headstart programs.

Whenever she distributes coats to the girls, Turner said Monday, she also brings books and crayons for the boys so they don't feel left out.

Last Thursday, Turner distributed 27 winter coats at Martin and Louisa. So far this year, Turner has given out about 54 coats across Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence and several other counties.

Turner has also received another shipment that will be distributed soon, she said, and she expressed her great admiration and appreciation for Johnson's efforts.

"Sometimes (Johnson's donations) are the only coat the child will have all winter," Turner said.

The Christian Appalachian Project is a non-profit organization that helps needy families and individuals throughout the mountains of Appalachia. The Floyd County office has 57 paid employees and 10 permanent volunteers. Donations and volunteers are welcome. For more information, please contact Donna Turner at 285-5111.

Council condemns effort to oust Boyd

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Members of the Betsy Layne High School Site Based Council have called misconduct charges levied by state Education Commissioner Thomas Boysen against school board member Tommy Boyd "a grave travesty of justice."

School council members are also calling for the State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education to conduct its own investigation into the alleged interference by a school administrator in the hiring of a youth service center office manager.

The council voted Tuesday to send a letter to state School Board Chairman Joe Kelly and other board members which virtually says the wrong individual was charged in the incident.

"Dr. Boysen's charge centered around a personnel issue involving the New Horizon Youth Service Center at Betsy Layne High School," the council's letter said. "We feel Dr. Boysen failed to investigate this issue thoroughly. Had a complete investigation been conducted, we believe no action would have been considered against Mr. Boyd."

"We find it difficult to comprehend how a recommendation of this severity was submitted with no contact having been made of any individual associated with the issue at Betsy Layne High School," the letter continued. "We would welcome a thorough investigation by the state board on this issue. We have no doubt Mr. Boyd will be vindicated if you do so."

Boyd was charged with misconduct in office by Commissioner Boysen last week in connection with statement's he made at the September 8 board meeting. Boyd said at that meeting he would "raise Cain" until a certain individual was given a job in the school system.

Part of the Boysen's exhibit on those charges included a complaint made by the site based council against assistant superintendent Pete Grigsby Jr. The council claimed that Grigsby had tried to intimidate the director of the youth service center into hiring the individual Boyd mentioned at the board meeting.

The complaint said that Grigsby

Two injured in crash

Nancy Hall, 47, of Paintsville and James Meadows, 30, of Allen, were injured Thursday evening when their vehicles collided at Auxler on U.S. 23. Superintendent Towler also announced other committee members, which are:

- Parents- Bob Isaac of Martin; Charles Scoville of Ivel; Mike Caudill of Bevinville; and Mary Conn of Dana.

- Teachers- Linda Holbrook of Bypro; Gary Hopkins of Ivel; Judith Carter of Prestonsburg; and Denver Newsome of Teaberry.

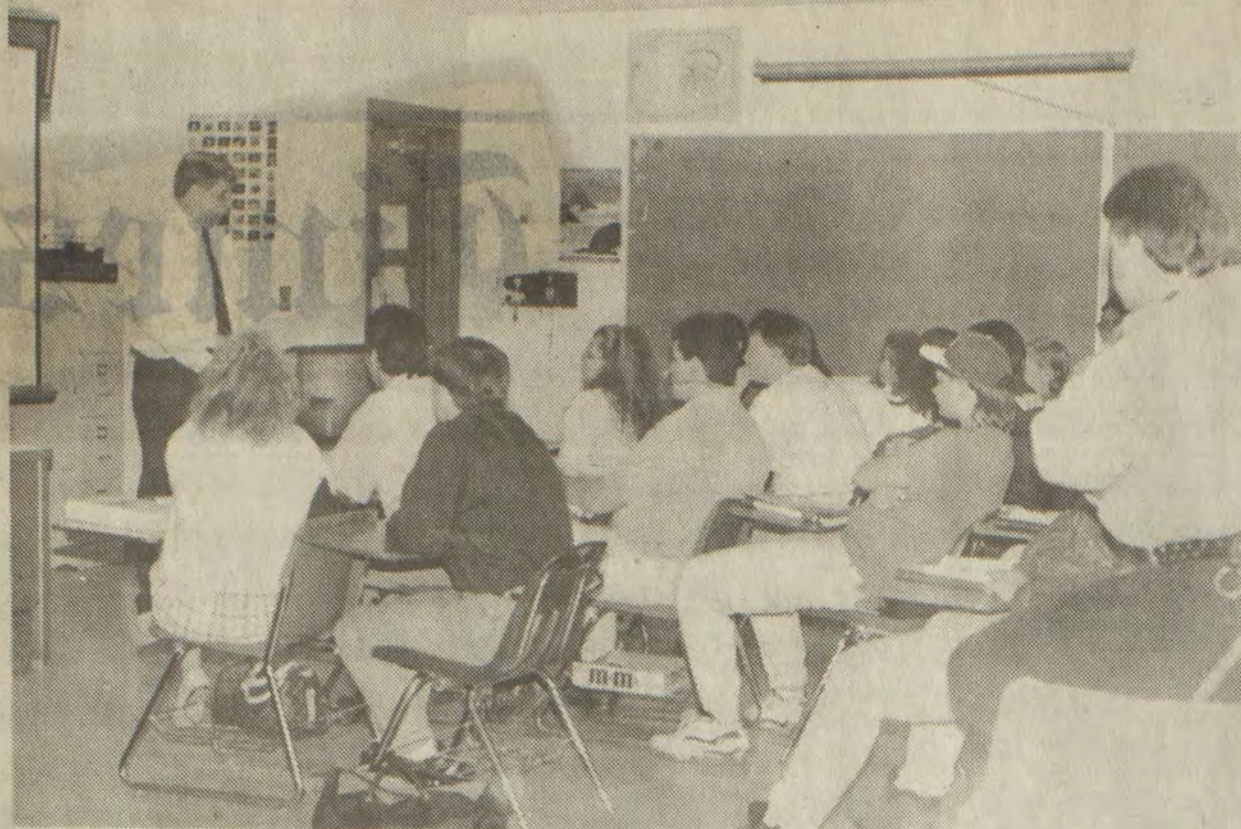

- Administrators- Jody Sword, Allen Central High School; Gene Davis, Prater Elementary; Wayne Combs, Clark Elementary; and Linda Gearheart, Auxier Elementary.

The central office representative is Ned Bush and the board member representative is chairman Ray "Shag" Campbell.

Also Monday, the board approved revisions made to the district's short-term plan for improvement that was submitted to the state in September.

Towler also announced Monday that a report should be given at the December meeting on the board's directive that the superintendent seek out alternate office space to move the district's central offices. Towler said a committee has looked at two possible sites, the old LA Joe store in Martin and the former Heck's building in Prestonsburg. Towler said those are the only two locations that have been identified as possible locations.

Newly-elected board member Hattie Owens attended Monday's meeting and the next regular meeting of the board is scheduled for Tuesday, November 17 at 6 p.m. at Maytown Elementary.

Taking it to the schools

Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson and D.A.R.E. officer Dwayne Jarrell spoke to a high school class at Betsy Layne last Friday about the dangers of drug abuse. Thompson and Jarrell also brought along drugs and paraphernalia confiscated during various raids. The sheriff's department will give their presentation to schools in the county that contact the department to schedule a date. (photo by Susan Allen) attendants perform other important duties, such as giving directions, providing motorist assistance and acting as goodwill ambassadors. The council, acting on the recommendations of the traffic committee, worked out a complex plan that is expected to bring increased revenues to the city and provide more and better parking for the citizens of Prestonsburg.

Under the new plan, the attendants will in fact work more hours, attending the lot from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., rather than from 9 a.m. until 4 a.m. The council adopted this measure because many drivers are currently able to use the lot free of charge if they don't leave until after the lot attendants have gone home for the day. The council also adopted new rates for the lot, making parking fees 25 cents per hour rather than the current 25 cents for the first hour/15 cents for each additional hour.

Also, the council voted to re-stripe the municipal lot behind Mountain Comprehensive Care and the river-front parking lot, creating more parking spaces, and to make the lot available for permit parking only. The council also voted to remove permit parking from the Richmond and Sally Gate lots; to remove all parking meters from the streets and use them to replace or repair meters in the lots; widen and place parking meters in all handicapped zone parking spots; change the free parking area on Third Street from the courthouse to two-hour parking; post 15-minute parking only signs in front of the U.S. Post Office on Third Street; and change parking on Court Street from in-line parking to diagonal, creating more parking area.

Among other items the council discussed:

- the city has received a $381,704 Community Development Block Grant from the state to help construct a permanent home for the Kentucky Opry—the Opry will perform Saturday, November 14 at 7 p.m. at the Prestonsburg High School gym. Tickets are available at Music-Carter-Hughes and Carter-Hughes Toyota and test drivers at those dealerships will receive free Kentucky Opry cassette tapes.

- Plans for the proposed Kentucky Downs Harness Track/East Kentucky Fairgrounds are proceeding as planned, subject to a comprehensive feasibility study by CMW Engineering of Lexington. The Prestonsburg/Floyd County Properties Corporation has enacted a purchase option for the site at a negotiated cost of around $1.6 million, including site preparation. It was incorrectly reported earlier that costs were estimated at $2.6 million for property purchase and an additional $2.7 million for site preparation.

- The council voted to amend ordinance 10-83, relating to the use of portable electric signs—these signs are now illegal in the city without authorization.

- The council also voted to enact a new city ordinance that will form an American Disabilities Association compliance committee.

- The council voted to charge temporary itinerant vendors of such seasonal items as Christmas trees and fireworks a license fee of $300 per day unless associated with a charitable enterprise, festival or similar event.

- The council congratulated the

After delivery they taste great cold or warm, and they are just as good when you put them in the freezer and use them later. Call 789-3661 or 789-7184

Prestonsburg High School football team and coach for their outstanding season. Friday, November 13 has been proclaimed Blackcat Day in the city.

- The city's contract with Cablevision of Prestonsburg expires December, 31. The council voted to extend the contract for six months, allowing enough time to successfully renegotiate a new contract.

All Prestonsburg City Council members were present for Monday's meeting. The council meets on the second and fourth Monday of every month. The public is invited to attend.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported in the Friday, November 6 edition of the Times that the Prestonsburg/Floyd County Properties Corporation had enacted a purchase option to buy property for the proposed harness track for $2.6 million, with an estimated site preparation cost of $2.7 million. The property was appraised at $2.6 million, with site preparation costs bringing the total to $2.7 million. The actual negotiated cost will only be $1.6 million, including site preparation and no federal funds will be used, only tax-free and taxable bonds.

Ms. Willa Dean Everage was incorrectly identified as Mr. William Everidge in the Friday, November 6 edition of the Times.

Highway of fame

Route 23 has been travelled by many Eastern Kentuckians who have become famous stars. It has seen the likes of Dwight Yoakam, Loretta Lynn, Crystal Gayle, and Billy Ray Cyrus journey to fame and fortune. (photo by Beth Jones)

*They learned readin', ritin', Route 23
To the jobs that lay waitin' in those cities' factories
Readin', ritin', roads to the north
To the luxury and comfort a coal miner can't afford
They didn't know that that old highway
Would lead them to a world of misery...*

—Dwight Yoakam from "Readin', Ritin', Route 23"

Those words, as sung by Dwight Yoakam, bring up haunting memories to many former Kentuckians. They grew up in this area, only to leave for Ohio or Michigan (via 23) as soon as they were old enough to make their own decisions. They left to work in factories or anything better than mining coal. Some stayed when they left; others came back. Either way, they've used Route 23.

Not everyone looks at Route 23 with such grim views. Many believe the highway brings opportunity, perhaps even a brighter future. Our area's coal may go out on the big road, but many needed items come back into our area in the same way.

With the new four-lane section of 23 coming to Prestonsburg and Floyd County, our area has high expectations. Undoubtedly, the road will bring much traffic to Floyd County. This new traffic will spur growth of new businesses. Business will increase in our hotels and restaurants; perhaps new ones will be built, as well. Tourism is a new concept to Eastern Kentucky. The soon-to-be-built Mountain Arts center and other tourist attractions should keep folks in our area for a longer period of time.

Route 23 has been very beneficial (or maybe lucky) in decades past, as well. Just think of all the talent that has come from the areas surrounding that stretch of road. Here is just a sample of famous Kentuckians who have come from the town's new 23.

One of country music's newest star grew up near Route 23 along the Kentucky-Ohio border. Billy Ray Cyrus hails from Flatwoods in Greenup County. Cyrus has been the hottest star in Nashville since his release of the chart-topping "Achy Breaky Heart" earlier this year.

Ever-popular Ricky Skaggs began his career along 23 around Louisa. His musical expertise has helped mold today's country and Bluegrass sounds. He's had many hits, such as "County Boy" and "Let It Be You."

From Butcher Holler in Johnson County, country music gained two stars, sisters Loretta Lynn and Crystal Gayle. Fans come from far and wide to tour their old homeplace near Paintsville.

Dwight Yoakam is a country boy from Pike-Floyd Hollow near Betsy Layne. That old highway had such an effect on him that he even wrote a song about it. Today, Yoakam's one of the most popular hillbillies in Hollywood.

From Jenkins, near the Virginia border, the musical world got Gary Stewart. He has been turning fans on to his unique music style for years. Some of his best-known hits are "Out of Hand" and "She's Actin' Single (I'm Drinking Double)."

Who knows what talent or what opportunities will come from the new section of Route 23? We shall soon see.

Reclamation award winners

Outstanding reclamation sites throughout Kentucky were recognized at an awards ceremony in Lexington recently. The awards were jointly sponsored by the Kentucky Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement and the Kentucky Coal Association. Receiving one of the awards at the annual meeting of the Kentucky Coal Association was Branham and Baker Coal Company, Inc. Shown at the award presentation were (left to right) Bob Mayfield, Vellis Wireman, Donald Cunnigun, Phillip Shepherd, Marilyn Halbert and Dave Rosenbaum.

Coal mines win reclamation and Kentucky safety awards

At the Kentucky Coal Association's annual meeting, regional awards were presented for the overall safest mine and for the mine with the best reclamation.

The Kentucky Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement and the Kentucky Coal Association presented jointly sponsored reclamation awards, recognizing the best reclamation in each of the Department's seven regional offices. Secretary Phillip Shepherd, assisted by Commissioner Dave Rosenbaum, made the presentations.

The winners were Branham and Baker Coal Co., Inc., Pikeville Regional Office; Arch of Kentucky, Inc., Middlesboro Regional Office; Kem Coal Company, Jackson Regional Office; Martiki Coal Corp., Prestonsburg Regional Office; Addington, Inc., Grayson Regional Office; Charolais Corporation, Madisonville Regional Office; and Gatliff Coal Company, London Regional Office.

The Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals and the Kentucky Coal Association presented jointly sponsored safety awards, recognizing the overall safest mines in each of the Department's six district offices. Department of Mines and Minerals Commissioner Burl Scott made the presentations.

The winners were: McCoy Elkhorn Coal Corp., Mine No. 8A, Pikeville District Office; Jarisa Inc., Mine No. 1, Hazard District Office; Gatliff Coal Company, Blue Gem 6A Mine, London District Office; Webster County Coal Corporation, Retiki Mine, Madisonville District Office; Knott County Mining Company, Hollybush No. 1 Mine, Martin District Office; and Great Western Coal (KY), Soladay Mine, Harlan District Office.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

Editorials :

With due respect...

by Scott Perry

If you should happen by the Floyd County courthouse today, take a moment to read the names engraved on the marble monument in the courtyard.

Perhaps there will be a name you remember.

Remembering is the very least we can do.

We owe them much, much more.

These are our fallen heroes, soldiers who gave their lives to their country and to their countrymen.

There are others, too, still among us. They are no less heroes for having lived through their ordeals.

From the forests of France to the Pacific isles; from the Korean hills to the jungles of Vietnam to the deserts of the Middle East; in war and in peace these are men and women who put service above self...for you and for us.

They are defined by a single word.

Honor.

Today, on Veterans' Day, we should give some in return.

...With respect still due

It is easy to speak of sacrifices when they are someone else's to make.

Still, for some, too many, it remains difficult to acknowledge the unprecedented sacrifices imposed upon a whole generation of American soldiers.

The ghost of our generation's war--Vietnam--was resurrected during the recent presidential campaign. Americans agreed, en masse, to forgive or forget president-elect Bill Clinton's anti-war posture during the Vietnam era.

If Clinton's elevation to the White House is a signal that it was acceptable to say "no" to war, what do we say now to the thousands who served, who died or who remain tormented by the memories of a time when an entire nation turned its back on them?

Forget Vietnam...if you can...but never, never forget those who served.

Their sacrifices continue.

P.H.S. coach says Top priority should "thanks for help" be POW/MIAs

Editor:

Please allow me the opportunity to recognize a number of people and businesses who were kind enough to support the Prestonsburg High School academic team during the '91-'92 school year.

First of all, I must apologize for having been so thoughtless and for not thanking these citizens before. I sincerely appreciate those who have given financial support to the PHS academic team. I should not have appeared to take your generosity for granted.

I give special thanks to Pat Allen, Jim Hammond, Dr. Robert Herrick, Dr. and Mrs. Roger Jurich, Castle's Jewelry, First Commonwealth Bank, Lad and Lassie Shop, Carter-Hughes Toyota, Music-Carter-Hughes Chevrolet, and Trends and Traditions.

In addition, I would be equally remiss if I did not thank Mr. and Mrs. John Maynard for their efforts. If I have overlooked anyone else, I apologize for that, too.

John Neal Patton
PHS Academic Coach

Editor:

Wednesday, November 11 is Veterans Day. This year as we honor heroes from wars past we must not forget the fact that our country left behind live POW/MIAs in Southeast Asia after the Vietnam War. There is undeniable proof that this did indeed happen! High-ranking government officials have testified to this.

Concerned citizens can do something to help bring these forgotten men home to their families.

First, pray that our leaders will focus their attention (finally) on the POW/MIA issue. It has been 20 years and many families still do not know the fate of their fathers, sons, and brothers. Pray that the families will soon have answers. Pray that our new president Clinton will make this a top priority in his administration. Write and tell him you'll be watching him.

Call your senators and congressmen and ask them not to support any normalization relations with Vietnam. If normalization occurs the truth about our POW/MIAs will never be known. The phone number for all senators and congressmen is 202-224-3121.

Call or write the president and ask him to carefully review the new evidence on live POWs. Ask him to demand cooperation from Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia, China, and Russia before giving any aid or assistance. The White House comment line is 202-456-1111.

Read the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Report on POW/MIAs. Call 202-224-6342 for a free copy.

Contact the Senate Select Committee and give them your opinion. The committee is scheduled to end it's work by the end of the year. Call your representatives and ask that the committee have an extension because of all the newly released information. They should have a chance to re-search the new evidence.

Keep up with all the latest information on POW/MIAs. One way to do that is to join a POW/MIA group such as Task Force Omega of Kentucky, Inc., P.O. Box 44, Preston, Kentucky 40366. There are still 21 men from Kentucky who are unaccounted for! This should not be! This is America! What is going on?

Let your voice be heard today. Let our officials know we won't stand for our POW/MIAs being forgotten any longer! You can make a difference! Do it for the families of these men who fought for our freedom!

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Let's take a moment for a tip of the hat to soon-to-be-departing Congressman Chris Perkins for two of his most meaningful contributions to our area during his stint in Washington.

This being Veterans' Day and all, we should begin by saluting Perkins for his successful effort in locating a Veterans' Outreach Center in the Big Sandy region. The veterans' center, still expanding, offers convenience to area vets who once had to travel great distances for needed services.

Perkins' most notable success as a congressman has to be his uncompromising effort to fund the completion of Route 23 between Paintsville and Prestonsburg, an eight-year, uphill battle that we soon will be taking for granted.

There are more pluses and a considerable number of minuses to Perkins' tenure but this is not the time to debate.

Let's accentuate the positive, as the song goes, and give Congressman Perkins a curtain call round of applause.

Now that we've done it, what have we done?

The approval by voters last week of constitutional amendment number two makes for some pretty radical changes in the way our future elections will be conducted. Here's how:

- Beginning with the gubernatorial election in 1995, the person elected governor will have the right to seek a second consecutive term in 1999.

- In the next gubernatorial election, the candidates for governor and Lt. governor will run as slates instead of being elected separately.

- The state's General Assembly will assign specific duties to the Lt. governor's post and eliminate the Lt. governor as president of the state senate.

- The governor will not lose his powers just because he crosses state lines.

- The line of succession in the governor's office goes first to the Lt. governor then to the attorney general then to the state auditor.

- The register of land office and superintendent of public instruction will now be appointed instead of elected.

- The state senate will have the power of consent on the appointments of inferior state officers and members of boards and commissions.

- All elections will be held in even numbered years, except for state constitutional offices. To bring about that change, local officials elected in 1995 will get an extra year on their terms, and circuit judges elected in 1999 will have a year subtracted from their terms.

If that's not clear, just go play charitable bingo...it's legal now, too.

Kentucky, the pundits say, could reap a bonanza of federal plums now that two neighbors are moving into the nation's top spots.

A variety of Kentucky leaders have been mentioned for Washington jobs—from Governor Jones to State Senator Benny Ray Bailey.

Obviously, there's been some mistake. We haven't heard our name mentioned one single time in the conversations of Who's Who and Going Where despite the fact that we are most ably qualified for any number of high-ranking government jobs (Ambassador to Tahiti would be nice).

Oh well, guess we'll just have to keep working for a living.

If we don't get a federal post, the snub will no doubt fit into that all-encompassing category that has replaced apple pie as one of the ingredients for cooking up The American Way. It's all POLITICALLY MOTIVATED!

That disclaimer has become the most popular excuse in use today, covering everything from arrests for bootlegging to outbreaks of hemorrhoids.

Nobody can be blamed for their own indiscretions today, they're always the fault of somebody else who's out to get them, politically.

Pass the buck.
It's fashionable.

Binding commitment

Editor:
All across America today, a grateful nation will pause to honor the millions of men and women who have so proudly worn the American uniforms of Freedom and Democracy. Two days each year we honor Veterans: Memorial Day we honor those who died and Veterans Day we acclaim those who fought and lived. Most of you probably just voted in our national election last week, choosing representatives to govern us at the local, state, and federal levels. Voting is one of the fundamental rights we enjoy in this country. A process that has been taking place for over two centuries. It's a simple act many may take for granted, but it hasn't always been so. Through the years, we've not always made the best choices. Now that we've completed that process, the next step is to work with the choices we've made, and it seems to me that the best way to accomplish that is to work together.

No matter what our backgrounds are — every veteran can lay claim to a sense of camaraderie, a sense of togetherness. Let me make mention here of a certain group of veterans who have an even greater bond. Most veterans were lucky enough to serve our country well and leave military services with good health. Others, however, were not so fortunate. Many veterans who were disabled in the line of duty face daily trials in dealing with their disabilities. Injuries we suffer from, or diseases we cope with, are an ever-present reminder of our military service to our country. We are bound by the shared pain of recovery and the joy of rehabilitation.

From coast to coast, veterans are celebrating their unique status by reuniting and sharing memories of the times that brought them together. A recently dedicated "Memorial" that will soon be built in Washington, D.C., honors the services and sacrifices of Korean Veterans, sometimes referred to as the "The Forgotten War."

Today is also the 10th Anniversary of the "Vietnam Veterans Memorial" in Washington, D.C. The Black Granite Memorial has been a major catalyst for Americans to reconcile over 20 years of pain and sorrow. The "War Memorial" that D.A.V. Chapter 18 dedicated in front of the Floyd County Courthouse last Memorial Day to honor those from four wars has drawn only praise. The popularity of these memorials and the increase in veteran-related activities are evidence of a groundswell of rediscovery sweeping this country, America has changed — grown larger and stronger and more diverse.

Change is all around us, But for me, at the core of all this change, lies the unchanging, unyielding soul of America — her Veterans. But let us also remember that once the guns of battle fall silent and the sabers no longer rattle, our government has an equally binding commitment to those same defenders of freedom.

As we salute our veterans on this 11th day of the 11th month, let's remember with pride their commitment to defend the freedom each of us enjoy on this special day. Some forces are indeed too compelling, too true to ever change. The force of America's Patriots — America's veterans — from the birth of our nation to the present — underscore that one unchanging FACT.

America is No. 1 thanks to veterans

Editor:
Twice each year America remembers veterans: Memorial Day and Veterans Day. These are rightful days of tribute to those who gave their lives, and to those who served America.

For those of us at the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), we remember veterans "year-round" as we respond to President Lincoln's call to "care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan."

Veterans Day reminds us every third person in America is a veteran or receives a veterans service. You may be a veteran or your spouse, Uncle Harry or Aunt Sally may be, a neighbor, your doctor, realtor, grocer, banker, barber, anyone. Whoever they are, wherever, whenever, however they served, they are America's 27 million veterans: Men and women (4.4 per cent are women) who were drafted, who volunteered, who served in the Guard and the Reserves—inactive and on federal duty, such as those in the Persian Gulf—and those who chose military service to their country as a career. In caring for an estimated 345,000 veterans in Kentucky the VA distributed more than $557 million in Fiscal Year 1991; more than $356 million went directly to veterans and their beneficiaries as compensation and pension, $5.7 million for readjustment and vocational rehabilitation benefits, and over $14.4 million for insurance and indemnity payments.

As wars become more distant history, the ravages of age and more recent wars change the profile for medical and compensatory care VA provides men and women veterans.

Care for Kentucky veterans during FY 1991 by two VA facilities included inpatient care to 18,000 veterans; ambulatory care to 282,000 and nursing home care to 700. VA spent more than $1.1 million for facility construction and more than $179 million for medical services and administrative costs.

In addition, VA guaranteed 2,130 home loans worth $132,410,000.

There were 400 interments in five National Cemeteries located in Kentucky.

Veterans Day, a reminder that America is Number One, thanks to her veterans.

Fairness denied by racing board

Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to Gov. Brereton Jones and reprinted here at the request of the writer.

I would like to start by giving you some background on myself. I own a store—Fennell's Horse Supplies—located at the Red Mile. We have been in continuous operation since 1909. We have 10 full-time employees and we cater primarily to the standardbred and the saddlebred horse industries.

Our gross sales generated by the Red Mile's spring race meet and the fall Grand Circuit meet are approximately 20 percent of our total annual gross sales. From these sales, we collect sales tax for our state, pay payroll taxes and generate solid income for the State of Kentucky.

All of this is in serious jeopardy because of the actions of our newly combined state racing commission. They are wrong in what they have done and you yourself admitted this in your interview to be shown on Your Government. How can you, in good conscience, continue to ignore the decisions—illegal at that—of this commission. You are alienating the horse people here in our state, as well as those who have no interest in horses. This is definitely not a case of standardbred vs. thoroughbred. It is a case of a bad commission willing to go to any lengths to deny fairness to the standardbred industry. You have stacked the board and there is no way a fair decision can be made by them.

As a point of interest, I have a petition here at the store which we are asking people to sign when they come to shop. It asked that you abolish your present board and appoint a more balanced representation. We have gotten over 120 signatures here in our store in four days, both from horse people (standardbred and thoroughbred alike) as well as non-horse people who are fed up with good ol' boy syndrome in our government. I have many good friends in the thoroughbred business and they are calling to tell me how much they disapprove of the racing commission's decision.

I appreciate your taking time to read this letter and ask they your reply.

Congratulations, Wheelwright High

Editor:
We would like to congratulate the Wheelwright High School Trojans, the coaches and fans, for an outstanding year of Trojan football 1992. Our hearts go out to the team which fought with determination and team spirit until the end. An extended hand also goes out to Muntu for his efforts in a very productive season.

With the team's support, Muntu rushed for 845 yards in regular season play for an average of 84.5 yards per game, 7.5 years per carry, scored eight touchdowns, three conversions for 54 points, and had two excellent games in which he rushed for over 235 yards each.

Although Muntu never made the Floyd County Player of the Week, we are extremely proud of his accomplishments on and off the field. In our heart, we know he's "special."

Once again, we would like to thank everyone at Wheelwright High School for a combined effort. And may we keep that competitive spirit wherever we'll be in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Oden

Solutions begin at home

Editor:
Regarding the letter from Buford Slone (Wednesday, Nov. 4), am I right in assuming that Dr. Boysen knows the California school system and is comparing it to Floyd County's school system? If so, I'd like to comment.

I moved here in July from California. I was raised there and went through that school system. I managed to survive it with my brain somewhat intact. I learned more on my own than what was taught in school.

I have two sons who go to school here. One has gone to school in California for two years. The work he does here is more challenging than what he did in California. I have no complaints about their school or their teachers. I think they are doing a great job with my boys.

California is more concerned about teaching "political correctness" than it is of making sure children are learning the skills they will need as they grow.

There is no such thing as a flawless school system, but I think the parents, teachers and administration of Floyd County can work out the problems and find solutions on their own without having to turn to another state's system. Especially if that other state is California.

Ole goose may be too tough to cook

Editor:
In a recent article in the Lexington Herald Leader, Dr. Grady Stumbo expressed a keen interest in what he termed, "cooking Hal Rogers' Goose." Well, needless to say, one must first pluck his goose; then cooking the "Ole Goose" is a long, difficult and laborious effort. As most people know, now, Congressman Hal Rogers' Ole Goose is tough as leather—there is not a tender bone in it.

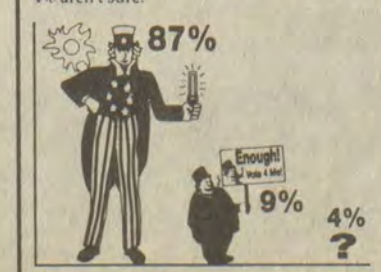

Much to the Good Doctor's chagrin, the temperature never reached 212 degrees and the water remained only warm. The truth of the matter is that from day one, outside of Pike and Floyd counties, there was never any sustained heat in this campaign. There were only a few sparks, nothing that would even ignite a flame. The simple arithmetic is that had Mr. Hayes received 100 percent of the votes in Pike and Floyd counties—he still would have been beaten by 1,145 votes. So, we can easily see that it is going to become harder and harder to cook Hal's Ole Goose in the future.

Those who are interested in cooking his Goose should start today—not tomorrow—and get their matches out. Be sure this time to first pluck him before Thanksgiving and then to keep him on the front burner for 730 days. Then of course his Old Goose must be tenderized because he is overly tough. The best method for this would be to wrap him in about a barrel of both soft and hard dough and then turn up the heat.

Ideal Candidate: Pro-Solar & Energy Efficiency

A national survey reveals that 87% of registered voters would support a candidate for Congress "who believes the government should expand its efforts to develop and encourage use of solar energy, other renewable sources and energy efficiency." Only 9% of voters prefer a candidate who thinks the government is already doing enough. And 4% aren't sure.

Tackett says he is innocent after ABC raid on nightclub

Pike County entertainer Marlow Tackett says that he and a woman arrested during a Thursday night raid of Marlow's Country Palace are innocent and were falsely arrested.

Kentucky Alcohol Beverage Control officers, along with Kentucky State Police Post Nine officers, conducted the 8:50 p.m. raid after an undercover investigation allegedly discovered the use of alcoholic beverages on the premises of Tackett's nightclub, at Green Meadows, a dry area of Pike County.

According to a report issued by the KSP, Tackett, 48, was charged with "unlawful transaction with a minor and license required, presence of alcoholic beverages raises presumption of intent to sale and illegal sell/give of alcohol in a dry territory."

Glenda Thacker, 40, an alleged employee of the establishment, was charged with illegal sell/give of alcohol in a dry territory.

Thacker allegedly handed undercover ABC agent Jack Miller "half a Pepsi-Cola cup of vodka ... and stated that she could get him a bottle if he needed one."

The incident reportedly occurred in the presence of ABC agent Ronnie Robertson.

Tackett was lodged in the Pike County Detention Center Thursday night. He was later released on a $10,000 surety bond, and Thacker was released on a $2,000 surety bond. — Appalachian News Express, Pikeville

Judge raises doubts in PCB case

A judge has once again postponed the trial in a 7-year-old chemical contamination case, until April 19, but he indicated Monday he wasn't even sure the case should go to a jury.

The trial is in the case of 44 former Pike County salvage workers who claim they were exposed to cancer-causing PCBs — or polychlorinated biphenyls — when they dismantled transformers and capacitors. The workers, employees of the now-defunct Libby Iron & Metal Company, claim that exposure occurred through corporate negligence.

But during a hearing in Pikeville Monday, Special Judge F. Byrd Hogg questioned whether the remaining two corporate defendants, Monsanto Company and Westinghouse Corporation, had an obligation to warn the salvage company. He noted that Monsanto warned Westinghouse of the toxicity of PCBs, and that Westinghouse warned its customers.

"At some point down the line, there has to be a stopping point to the liability," Hogg said. "The liability would be ... with those who did not pass that warning on."

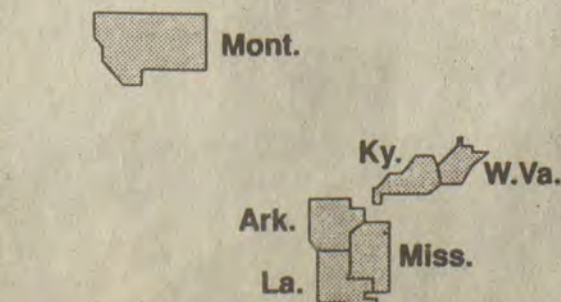

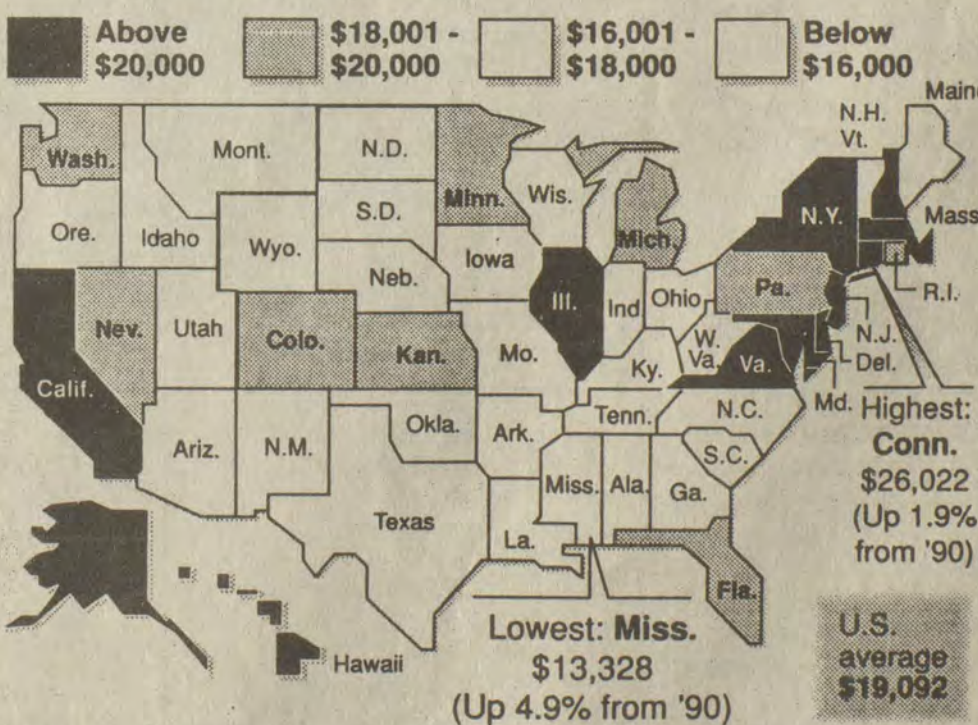

The scrapyard got the transformers and capacitors from Kentucky Power Inc., but the Ashland-based utility settled out of court late last month. That settlement followed closely after agreements with General Electric Corporation and Allis-Chalmers Corporation.

But Dave McCrea, one of the salvage workers' attorneys, argued yesterday that Monsanto should have taken into account that the devices would have to be scrapped.

Hogg gave each side ten days to respond before he decides whether to grant the defendants' motion to dismiss. — The Courier-Journal

Ousley deployed to Mediterranean

Navy Seaman Ronald D. Ousley, son of Calvin and Frankie Ousley of Martin, recently deployed aboard the tank landing ship USS Sumter, homeported in Little Creek, Virginia, for six months to the Mediterranean Sea.

The USS Guam Amphibious Ready Group is composed of five ships: USS Guam, USS Austin, USS Gunston Hall, USS Sumter, and USS LaMoure County. The ARG, originally scheduled to deploy November 16, departed early to ensure the continued presence of an amphibious ready group in the Mediterranean. The schedule change is another example of the inherent flexibility of naval forces and their ability to respond when called upon.

The Guam ARG will carry Landing Craft Air Cushion assault craft, as well as other amphibious landing crafts, and detachments of Naval Beach Group Two, Tactical Air Control Squadron 22, and Navy Special Warfare Group Two.

Additionally, the 22nd Marine Expeditionary Unit will be deployed aboard the ships. The 22nd MEU includes both USMC air and ground elements, as well as service support and command elements.

The 1987 graduate of J. H. Allen High School joined the Navy in January 1989.

Voter registration books reopened November 10

As of Tuesday, November 10 Floyd Countians can now begin registering to vote in the county clerk's office, according to Secretary of State Bob Babbage.

Kentucky law requires registration books to close the fourth Tuesday before an election and remain closed through the Monday following an election, he explained.

New voter registration reached an all-time high in the year between the 1991 general election and the 1992 general election. A total of 184,301 more people were registered to vote in the presidential election than were registered to vote for governor last year.

"Even in our best years, about two-thirds of the registered voters vote. Historically, about a third of the eligible voting-aged citizens are not even registered," Babbage said.

Babbage said programs implemented in 1992 to encourage voter registration, education and election day turnout will continue. Several of these programs have received national recognition for their successes.

Efforts to dispel two popular misconceptions about voter registration will be among the first major endeavors. The first deals with teenagers.

Most Kentuckians are unaware that 17-year-olds who will be 18 on or before the date of the November general election are eligible to register and vote even in the preceding May primary election.

The second misconception deals with jury duty. "Many people are unaware that jurors are selected from the list of persons with valid driver's licenses as well as registered voters," Babbage explained.

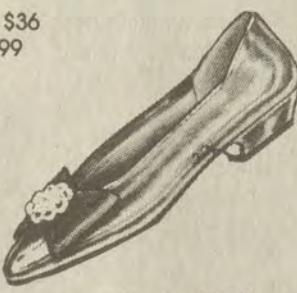

Local officials, business and community leaders and educators joined in sponsoring programs to encourage voter registration and education in 1992. Several election laws were passed by the 1992 General Assembly to make registration more convenient and to promote education programs for school children.

Compensation for disabled veterans increased

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has announced that compensation payments for disabled veterans will be increased by three percent, effective December 1.

The cost-of-living allowance was included in legislation signed by President Bush October 24. The increase will be reflected in veterans' January 1993 checks.

Affected are some two million veterans whose monthly payments will range from $85 for a single veterans with a ten percent disability rating to $1,730 for a single veteran with a 100 percent disability rating.

Also affected are some 312,000 survivors of service members or veterans who died from service-connected causes.

Veterans whose service-connected disabilities are rated at 30 percent or more may receive additional allowances for dependents, based on the number of dependents and the extent of disability.

Highlands to host Diabetes Awareness Health Fair

Nationwide the incidence of diabetes is one out of every twenty people. In Eastern Kentucky the incidence rate climbs to one out of every fifteen people.

As the statistics show, thousands of Kentuckians suffer from diabetes, yet public awareness and education about this disease is often overlooked, even by diabetics themselves. Highlands Regional Medical Center and the American Association of Diabetes Educators are working to change this.

Highlands is joining in celebrating November as National Diabetes Awareness Month by stressing diabetes education as an integral component of diabetes treatment. Utilizing both out-patient and in-patient diabetes education programs, Highlands hopes to promote diabetes awareness among sufferers of the disease as well as within the community as a whole.

On Thursday, November 12, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Highlands will sponsor a Health Fair on diabetes education, including diagnosis, treatment and management. It will be held in the back of the Floyd Room at Highlands.

This fair will provide booths with informative pamphlets about diabetes and Highlands Laboratory will perform free screening for blood sugar and blood pressure as well as cholesterol and triglycerides. A dietitian and a physical therapist will also be available to answer questions concerning diabetes management through diet and exercise.

Vickie Risner B.S.N.CCRN, nurse case manager and coordinator of Highlands' out-patient diabetes education program, insures that diabetes education is available to area residents not only during National Diabetes Month but all year-round.

"We do one-on-one counseling with the patients, as well as the patient's family" Risner said. "We work with a dietitian closely with the Living Well with Diabetes Program, sponsored by Highlands Dietary Department."

At Highlands Diabetes counseling is comprehensive and provides more than just information. For example, patients diagnosed with gestational diabetes associated with pregnancy can borrow glucose monitors to check blood sugar levels at home. That program currently has about 25 monitors to lend.

Perhaps the most important aspect of diabetes education is teaching self-management of the disease," stated Risner. "People come to us, and they don't understand what causes diabetes or what the complications are. We teach them as much as we can about the disease so they can be more informed and better manage their diabetes. Because of rising health-care cost, and the chronic complications associated with diabetes we stress preventative management, ways patients can avoid the costly complications of diabetes," Risner said, adding, "Diabetes is an expensive disease and this program is of great value to low-income families and individuals who do not have health insurance."

Risner also stated that the out-patient education program will work with patients' personal physicians as well family members, to help educate, give encouragement, and provide needed emotional support.

"Family counseling can vary greatly. It depends on the individual," Risner said. "It might mean cooking different meals. If a child is diabetic, it means total care from the parents' point of view."

Diabetes education in young people is a high priority for Highlands' Diabetes Care Program. Out-patient education services include a plan to bring diabetes education to area schools, beginning with teachers in those schools. Risner also said that an additional part of this plan is the formation of a diabetes support group for children.

The urgent need for comprehensive diabetes education for people living in eastern Kentucky is the driv-

Making dreams come true

Billie Jean Osborne is making dreams come true. Projects are underway to provide a home for the Kentucky Opry. The Opry is scheduled to perform in a free concert Saturday, November 14, at 7 p.m. in the Prestonsburg High School Fieldhouse. (photo by Rhonda Simpson, The Daily Independent, Ashland)

Kentucky Opry dreamin'

Billie Jean Osborne's dedication pays off

By Cathie Shaffer
The Daily Independent

SOME FOLKS CALLED BILLIE JEAN OSBORNE A DREAMER.

Some thought she'd never be able to see her vision become reality.

But the growing success of the Kentucky Opry, and the acquisition of a site for a permanent home for that show, is an affirmation that when Billie Jean Osborne wants something, she finds a way to get it.

"Everything I've planned has come right down the line," she says. "Some people said I was a dreamer, but I'm not, because every day, I'm putting something together. I see this as an opportunity God is giving me to put together a place for talent in eastern Kentucky."

Osborne taught music in eastern Kentucky for 30 years, 25 of them in her native Betsy Layne. During her years as an instructor, she came to realize just how many talented young people there are in this region, and how few opportunities exist for those talents to be appreciated.

"I was able to retire at an early age," she said. "But my husband died of cancer a month before my retirement, and I have no children. So I traveled for a year."

"I went to Renfro Valley, and to the Carolina Opry in Myrtle Beach, and I began to wonder about the talent I'd produced in my years as a teacher."

Osborne came back to her native Floyd County determined to do for eastern Kentucky what the country-music business has done for Nashville, Tenn., and Branson, Mo. She started by getting in touch with some of the country music stars she'd come to know over the years.

"During my years as a teacher, we had 22 country-music stars come to the field house at Betsy Layne to help finance the music program," she recalled. "We brought in Loretta Lynn, Conway Twitty, Ricky Skaggs, Keith Whitley, Dwight Yoakam—most of them from eastern Kentucky."

Osborne's connection to Yoakam was especially close. She had attended school with his mother, and Yoakam himself was born in Pikeville.

"His mother's home place is only eight doors from mine," she said. "During his early years, Dwight spent a lot of time here, and he's never forgotten it. Many of his songs come from the time he spent with his grandparents, and what he knew about coal mining from his grandfather."

Yoakam is one of the members of the Kentucky Opry's board of directors, and donated the gold record he received for his album "Guitars and Cadillacs." It will be hung in the organization's new home.

The Opry began with five young people Osborne watched develop into good musicians, and now boasts an ensemble of 11. She also conducts talent searches in Floyd and Pike counties and plans to also have searches in Johnson and Martin counties.

DEDICATION AND VISION

It's no surprise to Fred James, tourism director for Prestonsburg, that the Kentucky Opry has achieved so much in so short a time.

According to James, Osborne originally planned to use a piece of land she already owned to build a place where the talents of her region's young people could be showcased. But it didn't take long for Osborne and the others involved with the project to realize that more was needed.

"She went to the Big Sandy Development District and was informed that public funds could be used from an education standpoint," James said. "The facility which we envision will have classrooms as well as a community performing arts center."

"Since that point, in September or October of 1990, the focus has been making that dream a reality. The city of Prestonsburg is committed to helping her acquire the funds for the facility, which would be on 12 acres of land near Prestonsburg which is already optioned."

The building Osborne has in mind would seat 1,000 to 1,200 and would draw tourists from across the country. The Kentucky Opry, which has sold out the 800-seat Jenny Wiley Theatre regularly the past two years, would perform there several nights a week.

ANOTHER PROJECT

Core samples are being taken at the proposed site now and building designs are being drawn up. But in the meantime, Billy Jean Osborne has yet another project in the works.

She'd like to see U.S. 23 become the north-south route for country-music fans, with the various home and performances sites of local musicians who have found fame as stops on those tours.

And to promote that idea she's working toward having the route names for the stars as it passes through their home counties.

"There's a 162-mile line from Flatwoods to Elkhorn City that has produced more country music stars than anywhere else in America," James said. "What Billie Jean wants is to have sections of the route designated for them—the Billy Ray Cyrus Highway, The Judds Highway, The Loretta Lynn Highway, and so on. It would help the tourism trade and it would also give recognition to these stars."

Like others who have worked with Osborne, James believes that not only will her dream become reality, it may also exceed her expectations. And if Prestonsburg does become a country-music mecca, he knows who should receive most of the credit.

"Billie Jean has a sixth sense about talent," he said. "Back when she was bringing in country entertainers to raise money for the high school's music program, she knew who was going to make it big."

"She brought in Conway Twitty when no one had heard of him, and they packed the gym. She brought in Dwight Yoakam in one of his earliest professional performances. She just knows who's going to be a success."

"And you can't fool her. If somebody's not as interested in the mission as in making a fast buck, she's quick to spot them. No one puts one over on Billie Jean Osborne."

(Reprinted from The Daily Independent, Ashland)

Editor's Note: The Kentucky Opry will perform in concert on November 14, at Prestonsburg High School.

Floyd County native recounts horrors of World War II

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Dr. Francis E. Burgess, formerly of Floyd County, eked out a spartan existence in his historic home on Route 1 near Louisa. The interior is decorated with only a modicum of furniture, which is almost all piled high with books, journals, and notebooks filled with his own writings. The walls are almost bare except for a religious print or two. His home, in fact, seems more like some sort of holy sanctuary than a house. He sleeps and works in a small room adjacent to the kitchen, with a tiny space heater emitting an almost oppressive heat. Only an old oak shelf lined with ancient pill bottles gives any clue that Dr. Burgess was ever actually a practicing physician, rather than the deeply sensitive, intensely driven poet that he is today.

Born May 11, 1914 to Malcolm and Victoria Elam Burgess, Dr. Burgess has led a fascinating and often tragic life. After graduating from the University of Ky., he earned his medical degree at the University of Louisville, served his internship at Akron City Hospital in Ohio, then studied post-grad surgery at Cook Co. Hospital in Chicago. Finally, he returned to his native Eastern Ky., where he worked in Prestonsburg, Martin and Paintsville, before eventually entering private practice in 1939.

In 1943, Dr. Burgess did his patriotic duty and enlisted in the U.S. Navy, a decision which cost him, for a time, the love of the only woman he ever truly cared for. It also cost him a great deal of pain. The destroyer U.S.S. Lindsey, upon which Dr. Burgess served as medical officer, was attacked by a squadron of Japanese Kamikaze fighters while engaged in the United States invasion of Iwo Jima and Okinawa. Although the ship's gunners destroyed all but two of the enemy planes before they could do any damage, those last two were enough to literally cut the ship in half. Of the three hundred seamen on board, sixty-two were killed, and dozens more were critically wounded. Dr. Burgess himself was gravely injured, eventually losing his right lung due to his wounds. Lapsing into one of his occasional bursts of dry humor, Dr. Burgess says of his injuries, "Fortunately, in his infinite wisdom, the good Lord gave us twice as many organs as we really need."

Speaking passionately but slowly, measuring each word carefully, Dr. Burgess says, "It was Hell. I was crawling over my dead friends, who lay beneath me, ground up like hamburger—worse were those still alive, mangled, crying out for me to help them, but I couldn't, because I was dying myself."

"I was losing a lot of blood... hanging onto the rails as the ship was sinking and the waves tried to wash me away. I knew I wasn't strong enough to hold on, and I was going to die. Then I passed out. But I saw a brief glimpse of God, and he was saying, 'Don't be afraid, you're not alone.'"

When he woke up, he was in a hospital in Guam, both physically and emotionally scarred.

While recovering in the hospital, there was very little for him to do, so at the age of thirty, despite having only one lung, he took up smoking.

"Everybody else seemed to enjoy it so much," he said, "and besides, I figured if the Lord wanted to take me, he would've just washed me away in the ocean."

Dr. Francis Elam Burgess

Illustration by Geoff Belcher

He also wrote "Peaceful Pacific," a poem about his war-time tragedy and a tribute to his fallen comrades.

Dr. Burgess resigned his naval commission in 1946 and returned to his private practice. However, by 1951, he had seen enough blood, and retired, world-weary, to his farm to write and reflect. Eventually, he reconciled with his lost love, and they continued their romance until her death just a few years ago. Although they never married, Dr. Burgess loved her as well as any husband ever could, and credits her for the inspiration for the first poem he ever wrote, "Sweet Springtime Love."

Almost all of Dr. Burgess' poems have a spiritual flavor. In fact, he doesn't even take any credit for his work, and no money, because, as he said, "I never know what I'm going to write. God guides my hand—gives me thoughts and words to write down.... I never go past the first verse without asking God for help."

Many of his poems are so spiritual in nature that they have been made into gospel songs. The latest of Dr. Burgess' poems to be put to music, "My Lonely Star of Bethlehem," was recently performed by Melvin Goins at a gospel concert.

No less religious is "A Cheater's Bushel," which talks about today's troubled times and the decline of moral values. Dr. Burgess said that this will probably be the last poem he ever writes, because the writing process leaves him so drained. Fittingly, it is both the first and last poem printed in his book of collected poems, released last February by TMC Printing in Paintsville.

Although he doesn't expect to die anytime soon, Burgess says he doesn't fear death. As he put it, "Life and death are just one continual process. Our bodies here in life are just all the stuff we ate while we were here made flesh."

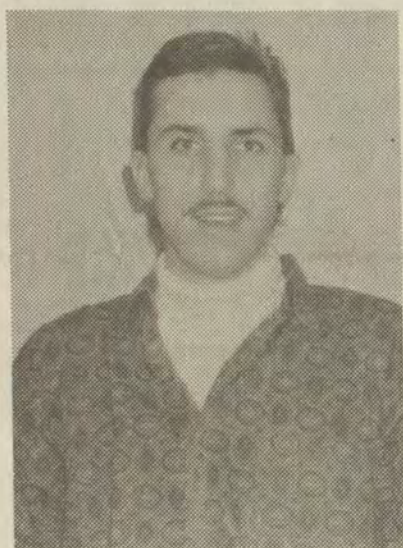

When he does die, he doesn't want a real funeral, just a "...burial at sea, just like my fallen friends had. I don't deserve anything better."

He doesn't want a sermon, just "a verse...any verse of the bible read." He also wants a recitation of his poem "Graveyard Reflections," the last two verses of which he hopes would describe his life:

I realized that man never dies at all

If he lives for Christ by walking tall.

Gulf War veteran recalls hostile desert

Edward Allen Muncy

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

Somehow it is fitting that Edward Allen Muncy's birthday falls on Veterans Day. At the tender age of twenty-two Muncy is already a veteran, having served in the Gulf War. Today he is a freshman at Prestonsburg Community College and he works as assistant veteran employee representative at the employment service office in Prestonsburg.

A native of Martin County, Muncy is a quiet, soft-spoken young man who sees his service in the Gulf War as just a matter of fulfilling his soldierly duties.

"There wasn't much time to think clothes in them."

The two events which stand out most in his mind about the war are: "The day the war started we had a Scud (missile) alert, and when a cease-fire was called."

Of the Scud alert he said, "We were getting out of bed (when the alert came). We put on our (gas) masks and I ran for my bunker."

The Scud missed Muncy's barracks but it hit another U.S. barracks destroying the building and taking several U.S. lives.

Of the cease-fire he said, "I guess I was just relieved. You get aggravated because you had to wait awhile (after the cease-fire) to go home."

Muncy joined the army straight out of high school when he was seventeen years old and, although he and his unit spent 23 months in Germany training for warfare, he said he never dreamed "I would actually be in a war." In December 1990 he and his unit were deployed to Saudi Arabia as part of Operation Desert Shield. He recalls that the winter weather in Saudi Arabia was "really cold and rainy. Then the monsoon season came and it got really hot when we left (in April). There was sand all over."

His unit saw a lot of action and "a lot got injured, but no one was killed."

In his opinion, the war ended too soon. "They (government and military officials) should have let us finish it off. But I do think we had to go over there. We did what we set out to

We spent 260 days a year in the field (training). We practiced so much, it just came to us.

-- Edward Allen Muncy

about it (the war)," he said during a recent interview at his workplace. "You just have to do it (perform the tasks you were trained for). Once the war started there wasn't time to be scared."

As a field artillery surveyor party chief, Muncy worked with his two-man crew as forward observers. Their job was to seek out the position of Iraqi forces and, once sighted, Muncy's crew would relay by radio and computer Iraqi defense positions to the Howser field artillery unit. The artillery unit would then map the movements of the Iraqi forces.

He said his crew was well-prepared for Operation Desert Storm. "We spent 260 days a year in the field (training). We practiced so much, it just came to us."

The worst part of his experience in the desert was "getting only four hours of sleep at night. We had to keep trying hard to get ready (for action). That meant not getting much sleep and not getting to take a bath. We bathed in bowls and washed our do, but we could have accomplished more."

When the war was over "I was really ready to come home," he said.

By mid-May, 1991 he was home and, although his family threw him a party, and he was featured in a local paper, he doesn't consider himself a war hero. "I didn't feel any different (about myself) than I did before (the war)," he said, smiling nonchalantly.

He finished his tour of duty in the military this past April and he is reaping the benefits of his military service. His college education is being paid for by a Veterans Administration educational assistance program and he works at the employment office as part of the Veteran Administration's work-study program.

While his experience as a soldier in the Gulf War hasn't pumped up his ego, it has changed his outlook on life.

"I appreciate life a lot more," he said. "It doesn't take much to make me happy - as long as I'm not hungry and I have a place to sleep at night."

Veterans Day 1992

On Veterans Day, November 11, America honors all who served in its armed forces - 27 million living Americans who served and sacrificed on behalf of our nation's ideals and freedom. They deserve our grateful recognition. Let them know that you remember. Take part in your community's Veterans Day celebration.

No warm welcome for returning Vietnam vets

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Like many other veterans of the Vietnam war, Thurman Mullins fought proudly to protect Democracy and his fellow man—and like those others he returned to far less than the hero's welcome he so richly deserved.

At the tender age of 19, Mullins was drafted into the United States Army in October 1966 and served for two years amidst the worst horror any American ever faced.

Mullins spent most of those two years stationed at the Dak To firebases, where he gave mortar support and performed reconnaissance missions to help his fellow soldiers. He was also present during the Tet Offensive, where he helped remove the wounded from the battlefield and transport them to Medivac stations.

He was wounded by enemy mortar rounds twice, for which he received two Purple Hearts and scars that still run deep, both physically and emotionally.

The worst injuries, though, were the ones he received after his tour of duty was over.

"When we came home... we had to put up with the protestors," Mullins said. "They threw rotten vegetables at us... called us 'baby-killers'.... One of my fellow veterans said it right—he said we were treated with more respect by the enemy than by our fellow Americans."

Mullins, raised in both Floyd and Johnson counties, came back home in 1968. The lack of good jobs in Eastern Kentucky forced him to move briefly to Indiana, where he worked for six years in a factory.

He then returned home to work in the coal mines, where he labored nearly every day of his life until 1989, when he was laid off. He has yet to find a job.

Due to disabilities caused by his military career, Mullins said, employers are somewhat reluctant to hire him. Now he and his wife Linda live only on her income and the meager disability check the Veteran's Administration sends him each month. His two children, Thurman, Jr., 22; and Michelle Hitchcock, 20, are now grown and are working on their own families.

Now Mullins spends much of his time working with the Veteran's Referral Center in Paintsville, where he tries to help veterans like himself get the assistance they need.

The major strength of the referral center, Mullins says, is that all the local veterans' groups such as the Military Order of Purple Hearts; Disabled American Veterans; Veterans of Foreign Wars; DAV Ladies' Auxiliary; Vietnam Veterans; and the local division of the Kentucky Department of Veterans Affairs are located under one roof. That way, Mullins said, the public knows that the facility is for all veterans, no matter whether they served in World War I, World War II, Korea, Vietnam or the Persian Gulf.

And, Mullins said, the organizations can pool their resources to better aid all the veterans.

"We're all veterans working for veterans and veterans families," Mullins said. "And we try to see that the veteran is taken care of as he should be."

Veterans forgotten in Korean Conflict

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

At the age of 21, Eugene Akers of Betsy Layne stepped ashore in Korea to become part of "the forgotten war."

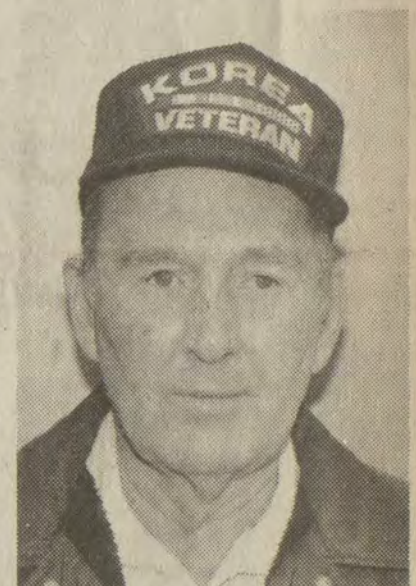

In 1950, when the United States military forces entered Korea, President Harry Truman explained the troop movement as "police action." No official declaration of war was issued.

"I never saw a ticket given out during that time," said Akers. "It was war to us."

In the three years that this "police action" raged, more soldiers were killed or wounded in Korea than in 10 years of the Vietnam War, Akers said. Approximately 33,647 U.S. soldiers were killed; 103,259 were wounded. In all, 2,043,922 U.N., U.S., South Korean, North Korean and Chinese troops were killed or wounded in the war.

The Korean Conflict began June 25, 1950 when North Korean forces invaded South Korea. United Nations forces combined efforts to repel the northern Communist-dominated Democratic People's Republic of Korea and China. Though the United Nations declared a victory, the issue of governmental control and free elections that divided Korea were not resolved.

Akers, a squad leader and staff sergeant, saw plenty of action during tried to attack when the soldiers stood in the chow line, but they were too late. The soldiers had just finished when the mortar rounds began. Many were killed. The seventh round of mortar fire hit Akers' unit, and he was injured in the left elbow and right chest.

He managed to reach safety and the field first aid unit. He was taken to the field hospital where he stayed ten days. He recuperated for two weeks at his company base, but Akers said his duty as a squadron leader was at the front lines with his unit, the Seventh Division Light Artillery.

Because of his battle experience,

I thought of many other places where I'd like to be, but my country called and I went without hesitation to serve my country.

-- Eugene Akers
Korean War Veteran

the Korean Conflict, receiving six bronze stars (one for each battle he participated in), a Purple Heart, and a Syngman Rhee citation (Syngman Rhee was president of South Korea). He covered all three fronts, including White Horse and Heartbreak Ridge—an area Akers described as a "rough place."

"I thought of many other places where I'd like to be, but my country called and I went without hesitation to serve my country," said Akers.

"For awhile, I could look around and see my footsteps—on rocks, all over Korea where I got off the boat until I got back."

"It was bad. We lost people, but we did our duty."

His duty also was with the U.N. forces that held Pork Chop Hill against savage attacks by the communist forces. Just minutes before the attack on Pork Chop Hill, U.N. soldiers were enjoying a rare treat—hot breakfast with scrambled eggs. Stoves had been transported to the front lines to serve the troops their choice of breakfast items.

Nearby enemy forces on 10-62

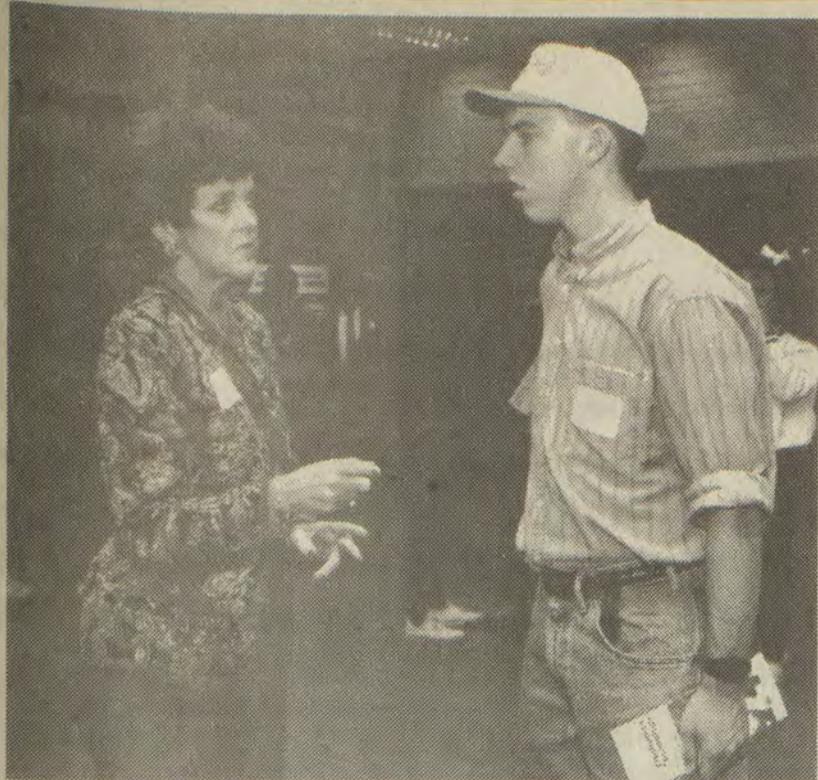

Akers received an early discharge, three months early. When he returned stateside, he discovered his battles weren't over. Discharged from Ft. Knox on April 3, he was stricken with Malaria.

After a series of treatments over the years, he managed to control the attacks to three per year. Now, he suffers about one attack per year.

A member of the reserves for six years, Akers has continued to serve his country and his fellow military comrades. A state service officer for the Disabled American Veterans and a commander of the Betsy Layne DAV, he and his wife have helped veterans and widows and dependents of veterans file claims.

He strongly believes in the rights of veterans and believes that they have not been served as they should. "A lot of our boys came out of Vietnam, even into Desert Storm, and they can't get treated. Sometimes it's a technicality that knocks them out of getting their benefits," he said.

He is working to help these "forgotten" veterans—all veterans—to overcome those technicalities and be remembered by their country.

Student gets advice

Scott Hall, a student at Prestonsburg High School, got some of his questions about Morehead State University's academic programs answered by Jacquelyn Scott, counselor for nontraditional students. Hall was one of several area students who attended MSU's Informational program, "Meet Morehead State" held recently at the Jenny Wiley Convention Center near Prestonsburg. Measuring quality of health care part of reform effort Enabling Kentuckians to be more cost conscious and to "shop around" in their health care choices will require that they know how to measure the caliber of services they receive and how one medical provider compares to another.

This issue of "quality assurance" has been raised by the public and by Gov. Brereton C. Jones during Kentucky's current effort to reform the state's health care access, delivery and payment systems.

"Quality assurance" standards proposed by the governor for study by the Commission on Health Care Reform include practice guidelines, outcome measures, provider profiles and tougher penalties for abuse of medical insurance rules.

"It's one thing to just tell people that they've got to play a role in controlling costs and in making wise health care choices," Jones said, "but it's another thing entirely to give them the knowledge they need to act."

"What both the state and the public need are 'health care rulers,' to give us acceptable, understandable measuring sticks on how medical providers do their jobs and what kind of comparative fees they charge for their services," the governor said.

Commission Chair and Cabinet for Human Resources Secretary Leonard Heller said it would be the responsibility of the proposed three-member Health Care Authority to implement solid quality assurance 'rulers' and to collect and report to the public the data those 'rulers' produce.

"One of the primary functions of the proposed Authority would be to gather information relating to finances and treatment outcomes, and to publish that data in a form which people can readily grasp and make use of," Heller said.

"A technical practice guideline for delivering babies, providing emergency room trauma care or reading a mammography would be useful in more than just reducing so-called 'defensive medicine' and haggles over medical malpractice claims," he said. "It would serve as a standard by which performance of those services could be measured."

More advantages would result from linking practice guidelines to a system of gauging the results of medical treatment. "Outcome measures would be a tool for licensing and contracting agencies to use in making a determination about the effectiveness of medical professionals and their treatments," said Heller.

Ultimately, reports based on accepted standards of practice, records of treatment outcomes and financial data on fees for services would produce a profile of medical providers that would be useful in choosing, for example, which primary quality care at a cost effective price.

Heller said, "The Health Care Authority would compile, analyze and publish this data in a manner that would enable the citizen, the health insurer and Medicaid and Medicare to decide who they were going to trust to take care of the ailment and to 'take care' when figuring up the final bill."

Another "quality assurance" aspect of Gov. Jones health care reform plan calls for beefing up Kentucky's penalties for both recipients and medical professionals who cheat on insurance claims.

"Insurance fraud and abuse costs millions each year, and the current laws don't make people afraid to try to get away with it," Heller said. "Higher fines, longer prison terms and more investigators looking for cheaters will put a different 'quality assurance' check in a reformed health care system."

"At the same time, we must close any loopholes in the reimbursement system that allows providers to profit beyond what is reasonable."

Wedding correction:

In the Wednesday, November 4th, edition of the Floyd County Times, the date for the wedding of Patricia Click and Robert Matthew DeRossett was incorrectly stated. The wedding will be held Saturday, December 12, at the First Baptist Church at Allen.

Dr. Rodney Handshoe addresses PCC faculty and staff

Dr. Rodney Handshoe, Cardiologist at Highlands Regional Medical Center, was the keynote speaker during the recent Health and Wellness Seminar at Prestonsburg Community College. His discussion began with what an extremely important role the community college had in the promotion of health and preventive education. While addressing the broad topic of coronary heart disease, Dr. Handshoe led discussions centered around the effects of smoking, activity, diet and the impact of life-style changes.

Dr. Handshoe's presentation served as an excellent introduction for the remainder of the day's activities. Concurrent sessions were held including separate sessions regarding cancer detection in men and women. These workshops were presented by Dr. John Boswell and Denise Queen, both from Highlands Regional Medical Center. Kevin Shannon, from Gateway Counseling, discussed smoking cessation, and Pamela Howard, a physical therapist from Pikeville Methodist Hospital, held a session on low back care during exercise.

With the support of President Deborah L. Floyd and the coordination of Glennis Little, Prestonsburg Community College is involved in a very progressive wellness program with a futuristic focus on preventative health measures. Activities include low impact and step aerobics, walking, weight loss and nutritional programs, smoking cessation, stress reduction, as well as various other health related issues. The Fitness Center and wellness programs are presently being used mainly by faculty/staff and students at PCC. However, low impact aerobics classes will be scheduled for high school students in the very near future. If you have questions or would like to take part in any of our programs, please contact Glennis Little, Wellness Coordinator, at Prestonsburg Community College, 886-3863, ext. 509.

Phi Kappa Phi scholarships

Woman's club meets

The GFWC/KFWC Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club held its monthly meeting October 26 in the home of club member Louise West at Hueysville.

Devotions were given by Marsella Bradley, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance. The program was on "Fine Arts" and Bradley displayed Allen Central student art work which had been sponsored by the club in the recent Seventh District Fall Meeting at the Landmark in Pikeville. All four entries won ribbons. Chad Compton of Eastern won a blue ribbon for his photography; Chuck Compton, also of Eastern, won a red ribbon for his drawing; Michael Ousley of Hippo won a red ribbon for his watercolor and a white ribbon for his painting. Mrs. Caralita O'Quinn is their teacher.

In response to a letter from TEL-COM, INC., Harold, Louise West was asked by the club president, Maxine Martin, to serve on the board for TEL-COM cable T.V. service in order to give input from one of its customers.

The club's daughter-club dinner was discussed and food assignments made for the dinner to be held November 16 in the fellowship hall of the Garrett Baptist Church at 6:30 p.m.

It was again decided to take part in the "Adopt-A-Child" program for Christmas to purchase needed items of clothing and toys for an underprivileged Headstart child.

Those present were Maxine Martin, Marsella Bradley, Marie Mullins, Loretta Martin, Vera Allen, Libby Martin, and the co-hostesses Louise West and Elizabeth Duff, who served refreshments following the meeting.

The next meeting will be the club dinner on November 16.

Campbell, Spiggle wed

Laura Ann Campbell and Donald Ray Spiggle were united in marriage August 7 at Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church. The bride is the daughter of Wesley Campbell of Cow Creek and Darlene Campbell of Prestonsburg. She is the granddaughter of the late Tennessee Bevins and Mr. and Mrs. Connie Darby of Cow Creek. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Spiggle of Prestonsburg and the grandson of Chester Forsyth of Williamson, West Virginia and Isabelle Spiggle of Davis, West Virginia. The couple now resides in Nicholasville, West Virginia.

You can beat breast cancer. Jackie Newton is living proof.

"My breast cancer was found from my routine mammogram. It was very small, .6 centimeters. And I was very lucky that the mammogram picked it up. A few years ago, because my cancer was so deep, it would have been too late. I would have been dead."

Jackie Newton, of Paintsville, learned she was at risk because of a family history of cancer. She learned to do breast self exams (BSE) and followed a schedule of mammograms at the Breast Center. There, the tiny lump was found.

The Breast Center staff was there for Jackie. "Somehow, I just knew it was cancer. Denice (the Nurse Educator) held me and cried with me...she and Connie and the other girls at the Breast Center...they're just a great bunch of people.

Early detection paid off for Jackie "I got rid of it and I'm doing great."

Her advice? "BSE's are important. When I came to the Breast Center, Denice did a lot to help me do the right kind of breast exam." And—"there is a little discomfort with the mammogram, but it's well worth the few minutes to save your life."

Get a mammogram and a free cancer risk test

Cancer of the breast is the most common form of cancer, striking 1 out of 9 women and killing 175,000 every year. But early detection, including mammography, can lead to successful treatment. Prestonsburg triumphs; Russell next

Garza, Hyden rush for 363 yards as Blackcats roll over Mason County 29-12

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

One of the things that Mason County head football coach Tom Malone said that his ball club had to do in order to defeat the Prestonsburg Blackcats was to stop them early. That didn't happen. Another was to slow down the tandem backfield for Dwayne Garza and Seth Hyden. That also did not come to pass.

Hyden rushed for 214 yards on 10 carries and Garza totaled 159 yards on the ground on 16 carries to lead the Blackcats to a 29-12 win over a good Mason County team Friday night as the Class A, Region 4 playoffs got underway at the Prestonsburg Stadium.

The win was sweet for the Blackcats as they avenged last years 38-30 loss to the Royals under the same conditions. The win was the first for Prestonsburg in the past four years. The Blackcats fell hard to Somerset, 52-0, in 1989. At Corbin, it was a 47-13 setback for the Cats in 1990 and last years (1991) loss to Mason County.

Prestonsburg improved their record overall to 10-1 on the year and will entertain Russell this Friday night in the second week of the playoffs. Russell was a 21-20 winner over Whitesburg in overtime this past Friday night.

Coach Bill Letton's ball club struck fear early when they scored on their first possession of the game. Garza, who only totaled 38 yards in last year's matchup, shot out of the chute for a 12-yard pickup as the hard running fullback was not about to have a repeat of last year's game. A 2-yard run by Garza, and quarterback Aaron Tucker's keeper for 7 yards, put the ball in Royal territory. Garza ran the ball to the 39-yard line on a 15 yard pickup. Tucker then connected with Jason Crisp for a 39-yard touchdown pass. Tucker ran the two-point conversion for an 8-0 Prestonsburg lead with 9:58 left in the first period.

Mason County, behind fullback Galen Thomas, moved the football well against the Prestonsburg defense as they marched down into Blackcat territory only to have the drive stall out on the Cats 40-yard line. Thomas picked up 20 yards on the drive.

It didn't take Prestonsburg long to give the large crowd on hand something to cheer about. Hyden took a handoff from Tucker after Prestonsburg had taken over the football on downs, and ran 60 yards for the touchdown on the first play from scrimmage. Marcus Araujo added the extra point for a 15-0 Blackcat lead.

Prestonsburg's punting game wasn't that good as Jody Cornette's punt went for short yardage and then a personal foul penalty against the Blackcats moved the football to the Blackcats' 28-yard line to give Mason County excellent field position. The Royals were helped by two off-side penalties against Prestonsburg. Johnny Marshall ran the ball into the end zone for the touchdown with 51 seconds left in the first quarter for a 15-6 game.

Garza fumbled the football back over to Mason County just before the first quarter ended. The Royals marched down to the Blackcats 5-yard line where they were faced with a fourth-and-five situation. The call went to Thomas on the carry, but the Prestonsburg defense built a wall in front of the hard running fullback and he was stopped at the 1-yard line with Prestonsburg taking over the ball on downs.

Neither team mounted any threat in their next possession of the ball. Prestonsburg, late in the half, was forced to punt on a fourth-and-eight at the 44-yard line, but a roughing-the-kicker penalty against Mason County gave the Blackcats an automatic first down. However, Tucker had a pass picked off by Thomas to stop their drive.

Mason County moved from the Prestonsburg 45-yard line down to Eyes on the defense...

Seth Hyden (32) keeps his eyes on the defense as he picks up some good yardage on this carry against Mason County Friday night. the Cats 21 and an incomplete pass by quarterback Chris Ullery ended the first half.

After Mason County had taken the kickoff to start the second half, the Royals were stopped at the Prestonsburg 23-yard line where the Cats once again took over on downs.

In a replay of an earlier play, Hyden took a handoff from Tucker and raced 77-yards for the touchdown as he out ran the Mason County defense.

Araujo's extra point made it a 21-6 game with 8:24 left in the third period.

On a third-and-six play, Tucker

Trojan's season ends in 67-0 loss to Hazard

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

The Wheelwright Trojans traveled to Hazard last Friday night to play the Hazard Bulldogs, the undefeated and number one ranked team in the state in class A. The Trojans had started the season with a 3-0 record until an emotional loss at the hands of the Pikeville Panthers seemed to get the Trojans down for the rest of the year. The Trojans ended the regular season with a 5-5 record overall and 3-4 in the district, but the Trojans made it into the playoffs for the first time since 1971 and this was the last time the Trojans could go into the playoffs as Wheelwright.

"We have nothing to lose, but everything to win," Trojan coach Donnie Daniels said. "We have to control the ball three-fourths of the time."

The Hazard Bulldogs did not take long to score after getting the ball off of a Trojan punt and setting up their offense on the Wheelwright 45-yard line. After the Bulldogs ran two plays, picking up a first down and a five yard run by Robert Warren, the Bulldogs were at the Trojan 27-yard line facing a second down and five. For the next play, John Grigsby hit Pete Combs for a 24-yard pass taking Hazard to the Trojan three-yard line. Combs ran it in on the next play for Hazard's first score of the game with 8:20 left in the first quarter. Warren's kick was good to make the score 7-0.

The Hazard defense was outstanding, holding the Trojans to zero yardage on their next series and forcing the Trojans to punt.

After a run of 13 yards by Pat Turner who took the ball across the 50-yard line to the Trojan 43-yard line, Grigsby hit Warren with a 30-yard touchdown pass with 5:42 left in the first quarter. Warren's kick was no good and the score was 13-0.

On the next play for the Trojans, Steve (Teter) Shelton was hit and fumbled the ball, having Hazard recover on the Trojan 43-yard line.

The Bulldogs moved 16 yards on five plays setting up a third down and 20 from the Trojan 27-yard line. During the next play, Combs ran 27 yards, on a reverse play for a touchdown with 3:37 left in the first stanza. Grigsby passed to Turner for the two-point conversion was incomplete and the score was 19-0.

The Trojans started their drive on their own 43-yard line to see if they could last over four plays on one drive. Montu Oden carried the ball twice, losing one yard and picking up no yardage, before he was hit on his next carry and fumbled the ball. Hazard recovered it.

The Bulldogs took over on Wheelwright's 32-yard line and the Hazard offense was wondering how long they could go without making a mistake. They went a little longer when Colby Combs ran for a nine yard gain and on second down and one from the 23-yard line, Combs ran it into the end zone with 1:12 left in the first quarter. Warren's kick was

If this had been basketball maybe an over the back call would have resulted. But is just a Hazard receiver going high over a Wheelwright defender to catch a pass in Hazard's 67-0 win over the Trojans in playoff action Friday night at Hazard. (photo by Chuck Rowe)

Maytown to host Right Beaver Classic Nov. 16-23

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The boys' and girls' Right Beaver basketball tournament will get underway this coming Monday night when Maytown Elementary will host the tournament that kicks off the season for the Right Beaver teams. Martin, Maytown and Duff are three fixtures in the tournament with seven other county teams invited to take part. Maytown hosted the tournament last year with Duff scheduled to hold the tournament in their new gym. But for some reason the tournament will return to the Maytown gym again this season.

The tournament will feature three games on Monday and the tournament will skip Tuesday before resuming on Wednesday night.

In the first round game on Monday night the defending county champions Adams Middle School Lady Blackcats will face a powerhouse in the Lady Mustangs of John M. Stumbo. The two teams last met in the championship game of the Floyd County tournament last season with Adams pulling off the upset. It will be a classic rematch. Game time is 5:30 p.m.

Game two will feature two teams that will be evenly matched as Martin squares off against the Lady Daredevils of McDowell in a 7 p.m. start. Martin has always been one of the top girls teams in the county until they faced a rebuilding season last year. McDowell has some talented players returning that should make this one a good one.

The third game of the evening will be a boys game between two of the top boys teams in the county — Adams and John M. Stumbo. Adams should be loaded this season with some very talented players making a return to the Blackcats den. Stumbo can boast of one of the premier players in the county this year in Rocky Newsome. The eighth grader is considered to be one of the bright high school prospects in the county this season. A quick, good shooting guard, Newsome will be a tough one to handle.

Wesly Samons, John Ortega, Andy Jarvis, Gavin Hale, the list just goes on and on for the Blackcats. This should be one of the most balanced teams in the county this year.

After taking off Tuesday, the Duff Lady Bulldogs will take the court against the Lady Hornets of Auxier. Auxier won their first game in two years when they defeated Prater last week. Game time is 6:30 p.m. for this one.

Then at 7 p.m. on Wednesday the boys will play the final two games of the night. The Martin Purple Flash, defending boys county champions, will face a good John Martin McDowell team. The Daredevils lost a tough one to Maytown in overtime to begin the season. Martin also has two eighth graders who are considered the cream of the crop in the county this season. Thomas Jenkins is a favorite among many of the county high school coaches and there's not a one of them that wouldn't like to have the 6' 2" forward on their floor as a freshman next season. Tackett is fast, an excellent defensive player and he can score as well.

McDowell will counter with some very talented players themselves led by another eighth grader who will make some noise this year in Chris Moore. Moore, a tall slender player, has good range with the jumper and runs the court as well as any of them. Also, the Daredevils can dress the

Bobcats to hold Blue & White games Saturday, November 14

Betsy Layne High School head basketball coach Junior Newsome announced that his squad, along with the Lady Bobcats, will hold their annual intrasquad Blue and White game this Saturday at the D.W. Howard Fieldhouse.

The games are staged to give students and fans a sneak preview of the 1992 team.

The first game will feature an intrasquad game between Coach Bill Newsome's Lady Bobcats who figure to be in the thick of the district race this season. The women's game will start at 6 p.m. Following the women's game, the Bobcats will show their stuff in a 7:45 p.m. game.

Admission to the Blue and White games will be $3 for adults and $2 for students.

FOOTBALL TROJANS END ERA AT WHEELWRIGHT...

If in fact the new Left Beaver high school does become a reality next season, then this was definitely the last year for Trojan football at Wheelwright. Coach Donnie Daniels and his assistants did a great job of putting together a team that was competitive.

While it was a disappointing loss for the Trojans at Hazard (67-0) this past Friday night, still I think the Trojans did very well. They finished at 5-5 in the regular season and made the playoffs for the first time in a long time. Then when you look at the players who will be returning for Coach Daniels at the new school next season, plus what other players he may get from McDowell, you can expect an even better season next season.

For all you Trojan fans, capture all the memories of the school this year. It may not seem so important to you now, but it will down the road.

Take pictures, keep clippings and other things that will be a memory of past years at the school.

I have enjoyed following the Trojans as much as I could. I have learned to appreciate their efforts this season against teams who were far larger than they were. I want to thank Coach Daniels and all the players, as well as all fans at Wheelwright for making me feel welcome at Brackett Field. Coach Daniels is a fine football coach and Wheelwright has some of the finest fans around. They certainly followed this year's team.

Basketball season will be starting at Wheelwright on December 1 and all you Trojan fans get hold of this team and support it all the way.

PRESTONSBURG CONTINUES IN PLAYOFFS...

For the first time in four years, the Prestonsburg Blackcats have gotten past the first game in the playoffs and have an excellent chance of making the regional finals, as well as winning their first regional since the early '80's.

Prestonsburg will host Russell Friday night and I hope more fans will turn out for this playoff game than what was in the stands this past Friday night. While there was a respectable crowd, I feel somehow that there should have been more.

These young men and coaching staff have worked hard all season to get where they are now. They have confounded the experts by arriving in game two of the regional playoffs. Now it is time to get out and show them how much we appreciate their efforts and all their hard work.

When you see one of the players, stop them, shake their hand and tell how much you appreciate their hard work. Our young people need to know that they are appreciated.

LOT OF ROUND BALL TALK....

Twenty days and counting. That's how many days remain until the start of the high school basketball season. It seems everyone is anxious to move indoors now that football season has ended (except for Prestonsburg) and listen to the bounce of the basketball.

"Well, Ed, how do you see the season this year?" I am constantly asked. But that's okay, because I enjoy talking about basketball. I enjoy being around those who are excited about a new season about to begin.

Last year I went out and picked Wheelwright to finish last in the conference only to see how wrong I was after they won their first conference in a many years. Jackie told me that he was going to be stronger this year. So, I could go out and pick the Trojans to finish first. I could, but I haven't — yet!

Prestonsburg looks very good on paper. Much will depend on the inside game of Chris Burke and Eric Fitzer. Both will have to produce offensively for the Blackcats. Aaron Tucker will be a big part of the offense. I could pick Prestonsburg to win it this year. I could, but I haven't — yet!

Allen Central will be a team to reckon with this season. Coach Johnny Martin will return a solid ballclub that many around the region has labeled a team to be are of. Good size, good shooters and good quickness could make the Rebels my choice for

(See A Look At Sports, B 7)

Trojans to stage Maroon/White game Nov. 17

Watch out Wheelwright Trojan fans! Here they come! Last year's Floyd County Conference champions are getting tuned for the defense of their title and all Trojan fans can get a preview of this year's team in their annual Maroon/White game to be played Tuesday, November 17 at the Wheelwright gym.

But there's more. The Osborne girls will face the Melvin girls in a grade school game at 5:30 p.m. and immediately following that game, the Osborne boys and Melvin boys will square off around 6:30 p.m.

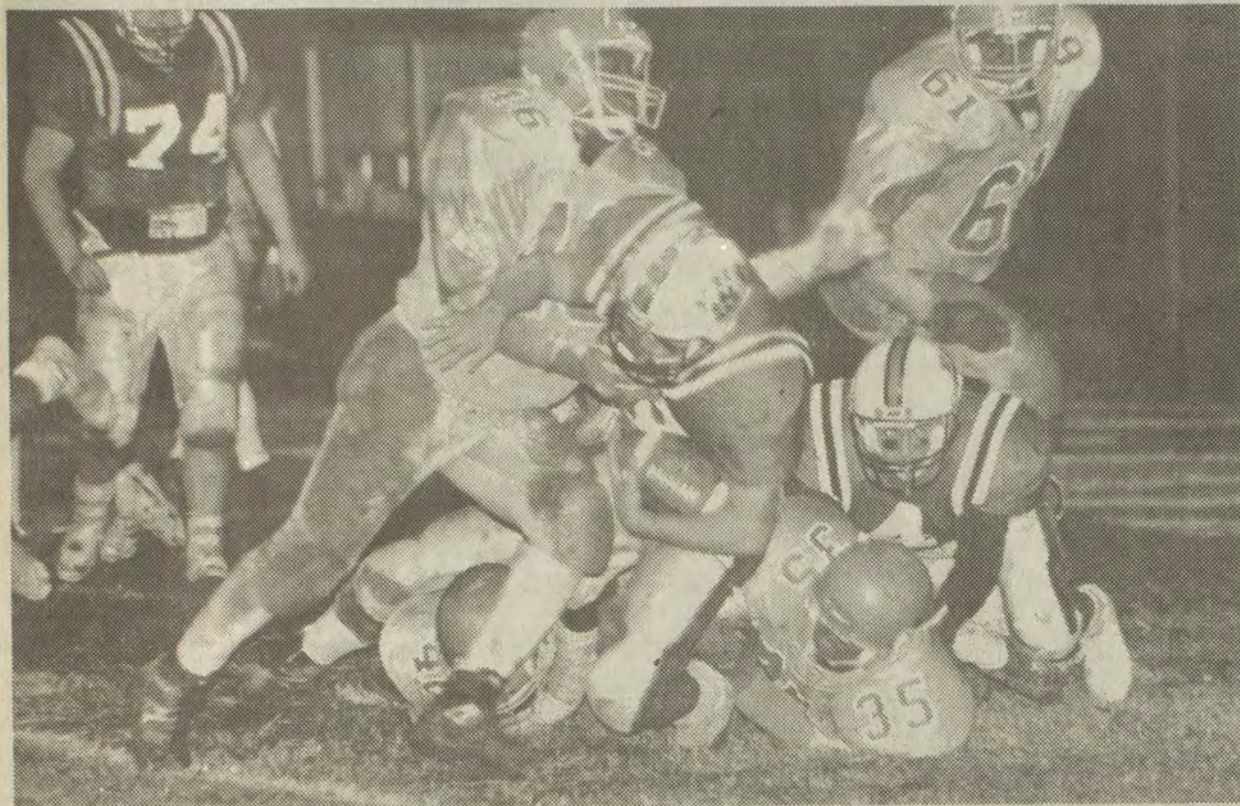

The Lady Trojans will hold their intrasquad game at approximately 7:45 and the Trojans will finish off the action packed evening with an intrasquad game.

Coach Pack invites all area fans to come out and take a look at this year's Trojan team that he says will be a good one. Admission is $2 for all games.

Lewis scores 12 points to lead Allen past Betsy Layne 36-5

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Lady Eagles of Allen and the Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats got their 1992 grade school basketball season underway Monday night before a good crowd at the D.W. Howard Fieldhouse in Betsy Layne.

Shalena Lewis scored 12 points to lead the Lady Eagles to a one-sided 36-5 win over the host team. Brandy Watson added six points in the Allen win.

Sabrina Yates scored three points for the Lady Bobcats and Jessica Hill had the other two points for Betsy Layne.

Both teams really struggled in the first quarter of their season debut. Yates, who did not start for Allen, came on strong in the second quarter when Allen outscored Betsy Layne 12-0 to take a 17-3 halftime lead.

The only lead that Betsy Layne held was in the opening minutes when they led 1-0 on a free throw by Hill. A basket by Lawson gave Allen their first lead at 2-1. Betsy Layne took their final lead of the game at 3-2 on a basket by Yates. Allen then scored the next 15 points of the game to open up the margin.

Betsy Layne played hard and had some good basketball players, but looked nervous in the early going. Allen will be one of the top girls' teams in the county after they have a couple of games in.

In overtime, Maytown defeats McDowell

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

The Maytown Wildcats traveled to McDowell to play the Daredevils last Thursday night in what turned out to be an outstanding performance by both squads. The Wildcats' Todd Howard hit two free throws with no time remaining on the clock to send the game into overtime. The Wildcats outscored the Daredevils 6-1 in overtime to take the victory 51-46. The Wildcats scored the first three points of the game on a Howard basket and on a Brandon Hicks free throw at the 4:47 mark of the first quarter. After Justin Hopkins and Jason Shannon exchanged three pointers, the Wildcats went on a scoring streak that saw them outscore the Devils 8-2 from the two-minute mark. Maytown led by seven at the end of the first quarter having an 18-11 lead.

After Shannon made a two-point basket to add to the Mustang lead, Alan Osborne and Chris Moore hit baskets to bring the Devils back into the game. At the 3:53 mark of the second quarter, Jeremy Huff hit a three-pointer to bring the Devils to within two points, 20-18. The Wildcats' Shannon and Tommy Brown then tried to pull their team away, scoring two baskets making the score 24-18. McDowell scored once more before halftime when Hopkins hit a two-point basket that pulled the Devils to within four at the half, 24-20.

In the third quarter, the Wildcats' Shannon hit a three-pointer only to have the Devils' Moore make a basket and get fouled. Moore made his free throw to keep them within four. The two teams exchanged baskets the rest of the quarter and the Wildcats went into the fourth quarter with a tight four-point lead, 33-29.

The fourth quarter was the most exciting quarter as there were four ties and two lead changes. Maytown struck quick when Howard was fouled after making a shot and, after sinking the free throw, the Wildcats had a seven point lead.

Then the Devils got hot as Huff scored on a two-point basket, Howard hit two free throws, and Huff hit another two-point basket to bring the Devils to within one with 3:45 left in the game. The Devils tied the game at 36-36 when Huff hit one of two free throws capping off a seven-point scoring streak that got the Devils back into the game.

The Devils took their first lead of the game when Osborne hit a two-point basket 1:46 in the game to make the score 42-41. The Devils added to their lead when Steve Hamilton hit the front end of the bonus and Huff hit a basket to extend their lead 45-41. With :29 left in the game, Maytown pulled closer with Howard's two free throws making the score 45-43. After McDowell turned the ball over, Howard was fouled with no time left on the clock. Howard made both free throws giving his team another chance as he sent the game into overtime with the score 45-45.

In overtime it was all Maytown, scoring four of their six points from the free throw line, outscoring the Devils 6-1 coming out with the win.

In girls' action, Maytown came out on top beating the Lady Devils 36-21. Chrystal Martin recorded 18 points to lead the Lady Wildcats in scoring. Amanda Sammons tossed in 12 in helping lead her team to a victory.

In B-team boys' action, Maytown squeaked by McDowell 30-28.

Trojans

good to make the score 26-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The Hazard defense held the Wheelwright offense, dropping them for negative yardage and bringing up a punting situation. Hazard blocked Arnold Adams punt and the ball was downed on the Trojan three-yard line.

This set up Hazard's fifth touchdown when, on the second play from the three-yard line, Colby Combs took it in for the score with 11:02 left in the second quarter. Grigsby's pass intended for Chris Cornett was complete and the score was 34-0.

On the second offensive play from the Trojans, Justin Ray was hit and he dropped the ball as Hazard recovered it on the Trojan 26-yard line.

The Bulldogs repayed the favor. On their first offensive play, Hazard's Pete Combs fumbled and the Trojans recovered on their 27-yard line.

After a Trojan punt and a good Bulldog run back, Hazard set up shop again in good field position starting on the Trojan 21-yard line.

After a run of one yard by Warren and a run of 17 yards by Grigsby, the Bulldogs were faced with a first and goal from the three-yard line. Grigsby kept the ball on a sneak following his lineman into the end zone for the touchdown with 4:55 left in the second quarter. Warren's kick was good to make the score 41-0.

After another Trojan punt, the Bulldogs took the ball on the Trojan 46-yard line. Hazard was faced with a third down and 14, after a run of one yard and a delay of game penalty against the Bulldogs, from the 50-yard line. On the next play, Pete Combs, Hazards' backup quarterback, kept the ball and ran 50 yards for the touchdown with 1:21 left in the first half. Warren's kick was no good to make the score 47-0, at the half.

Hazard took the opening kickoff of the second half and set up their eighth touchdown drive of the night from their own 42-yard line. After a run of 23 yards by Tony Cornett took Hazard across the 50-yard line, Kevin Deaton hit Tony Cornett with a 34 yard touchdown pass with 9:10 left in the third quarter. Warren's kick was good to make the score 54-0.

Wheelwright could not seem to hold onto the ball as Brandon Holbrook fumbled and Hazard recovered the ball on the Trojan 15-yard line.

Hazard took two plays to get to the one-yard line on a run of five yards and on a run of nine yards by Tony Cornett. Tony Cornett ran it on in for the touchdown with 5:37 left in the third quarter. Deaton's pass to Brian Campbell for the two-point conversion was incomplete and the score after third quarter was 60-0.

The Trojans, after being held on three straight plays, went for it on fourth down and ten early in the fourth quarter. Adams' pass to Charles Johnson was incomplete and the Bulldogs took over on downs on the Trojan 45-yard line.

On the first play of the series, Deaton completed a pass to Tony Cornett that covered 24 yards and took the Bulldogs down to the 21-yard line. After an illegal motion call against Hazard that took them to the 26-yard line, Tony Cornett ran 26 yards for a touchdown with 7:25 left in the game. Warren's kick was good to make the final score 67-0.

The leading rusher of the game was Hazard's Pete Combs who picked up 84 yards on just four carries and scored three touchdowns. Tony Cornett tossed in 59 yards on five carries and scored a touchdown. Colby Combs ran four times for 44 yards and scored two touchdowns.

The leading rusher for Wheelwright was Matthew Johnson who rushed five times for five yards. Aaron Hall ran three times for one yard.

The Wheelwright Trojans' season is over, ending at 5-6 overall. The Hazard Bulldogs will continue their quest for the state title as they entertain Pikeville next Friday night.

Trio hits double figures as Allen topples Betsy Layne Bobcats 57-63

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor
The Allen Eagles placed three players in double figures as they opened their 1992 elementary basketball schedule on a successful note with a 57-35 win over a young Betsy Layne Bobcat team.

Billy Mitchell fired in 19 points, Brandon Castle netted 17 and John Hurd scored 14 to lead the Eagles to victory. Mitchell drilled nine of 11 free throws in scoring his 19 points.

Brad Kimbler led Betsy Layne with 10 points. Josh Lasure tossed in nine and Tommy Taulbee added eight.

Betsy Layne stayed close to the Eagles through the first quarter, trailing only 15-11 at the first stop. The Eagles got some good play from Sammy Nelson in the first quarter as he scored five points, but just as important, Nelson pulled down five rebounds in the period.

Allen jumped to a 3-0 lead on a free throw by Castle, who struggled at the line hitting only five of 12 attempts. Nelson scored underneath for Allen. After Lasure hit the back end of a two-shot foul, Allen scored seven unanswered points to roll to a 10-1 lead.

With the advent of the three-point field goal in grade school basketball this year, no lead is really safe. Kimbler drilled a three-pointer and followed with a basket underneath to narrow the lead to four points, 10-6. Hurd's free throw made it a 11-6 game until Taulbee hit a trey from the 19' 9" circle to make it a two point game.

Castle scored back-to-back baskets to give Allen a 15-9 lead. Jarred Hall's basket before the buzzer, made it a 15-11 game.

The Eagles opened the second period with their 1-3-1 half-court trap and it caused Betsy Layne a lot of problems. The Eagles reeled off eight consecutive points to lead 23-11 and held a 27-15 lead when they went to the locker room at half time.

Allen picked up where they left off when they came out quickly in the third period as Castle scored the first six points of the period for a 33-11 game. Allen led by 24 points after three periods, 45-21.

Taulbee drilled a three-pointer to begin the fourth quarter and came back with a short jumper to narrow the margin to 45-26, but the Eagles outscored the host team 10-2 to open up a 55-28 margin. Betsy Layne could get no closer than 20 points in losing for the first time this season.

Nelson finished the game for the Eagles with five points and hauled in eight rebounds. Scotty Walls scored two points for Allen.

Heath Dale tallied four points for Betsy Layne with Hall and Shannon Williams tossing in two each. Brock Bryant had one point for the Bobcats.

In the junior varsity game, Jason Keathley scored five points and Scotty Walls added four as the Eagles' JV's defeated Betsy Layne's junior varsity 19-12. Nathan Leslie and Seth Crisp each added three points. Eddie Rowe scored two points.

Shannon Williams, David Howell, Jeremy Adkins, Heath Dale and Chad Bryant each tossed in two points.

Allen held a 5-2 lead after the first quarter and took a 8-4 lead at half time. It was 16-6 after three quarters before Betsy Layne came back in the fourth period.

likes of Alan Osborne, Eric Cook, Justin Hopkins and Jeremy Huff. This should be one of the better matchups this season.

In the third game on Wednesday, the Duff Bulldogs will take on a scrappy Auxier Hornet team at 8:30 p.m. Duff will be a stronger team this season as coach Ronnie Patton should field a good team.

Auxier will be led by Ricky Johnson and Tony Honeycutt this season with Clabe Hall joining the duo. Catrell Farler will give the Hornets strength under the boards.

Play continues Thursday evening when Maytown will host the Harold Lady Red Devils in a 5:30 start. Maytown is a team that could challenge for the girls county championship this year with players like Chrystal Martin returning. Martin tossed in 18 points in her team's debut this season against McDowell. Joining Martin from Martin Elementary will be Amanda Samons. Samons scored 12 points against McDowell.

Maytown and Harold will hook up in the 7 p.m. game Thursday against the Harold Red Devils. When you speak of Maytown you think about Todd Howard who is just a seventh grader at the Right Beaver school and led the Wildcats with 24 points in their first game. Then there is yet another Shannon playing, and that is Jason Shannon. Shannon, like his brothers, hit two three-pointers in scoring 14 points against McDowell last week. This should be a good one.

Waiting in the wings to play the winner of the Adams/Stumbo matchup will be the Allen Eagles. The Eagles will be young, but not inexperienced. This will be a good shooting Allen team although they may lack some height this season with the loss of Cory Patton and Jambo Jarrell from last year.

Betsy Layne gets the other bye and will play the winner of the Maytown/Harold game on Friday evening at 8:30 p.m. Before this game, the Allen girls will face the winner of the Adams/Stumbo game at 5:30 p.m. and Betsy Layne's Lady Bobcats will square off against the winner of the Duff/Auxier game at 7 p.m.

The semi-finals of the girls' bracket will be played at 4 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, November 21 and the boys semi-finals will be played at 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. on Saturday.

The finals, girls' and boys', will be held on Monday, November 23 at 5:30 p.m. and 7:15 p.m.

There will be a lot of basketball for the roundball fan during the week. Be there and support your team.

TOUCHDOWN TWINS....
Prestonsburg, which advances this week to face Russell, is the home of two running backs known as the "Touchdown Twins." The Blackcat tandem of Seth Hyden and Dwayne Garza, both juniors, are posting near identical numbers. Against Mason County last week, Hyden carried the ball 10 times for 204 yards and two TDs. Hyden scored on runs of 61 and 79 yards. Garza carried 17 times for 159 yards and one touchdown. He scored on a 33-yard run.

BRUGH WATCH.....
Paintsville coach Walter Brugh's attempt to become the all-time winningest coach in the state of Kentucky will have to wait until next year. Beechwood's 45-8 pasting of the Tigers ended the season for Brugh, just four wins shy of passing Garnis Martin's record of 271 wins.

WILD FIRST ROUND...
The first week of the high school playoffs went off without a hitch last weekend as 16 teams in each class advanced to the regional semifinals. But the weekend wasn't without a few surprises. In all, 15 teams upset higher seeds in the first round. However, of those 15 upsets, five involved number four seeds beating number one seeds. The giants who fell? Raceland lost to Bellevue; Oldham County lost to Baren County; Marion County lost to South Oldham; Central Hardin lost to Marshall County and Doss lost to Jefferson-town. The biggest upset? Probably Oldham County, who had lost only one game during the regular season, falling to Baren County, which ended the regular season at 5-5.

DEJA VU ALL OVER AGAIN...
Of the 32 games scheduled for this week, 14 are rematches from regular season action. The results from regular season.... Class A: Russellville beat Murray 20-13 in overtime, Washington County beat Campbellville 35-28, Beechwood beat Lloyd Memorial 49-23 and Newport Central Catholic beat Bellevue 42-6; Class AA: Elizabethtown beat LaRue County 31-13, Danville beat Corbin 21-18 (in the Thorobred Bowl to start the season) and Lawrence County beat Fleming County 22-8; Class AAA: Bowling Green beat Owensboro 27-13, Woodford County beat South Oldham 13-0 and Covington Catholic beat Holmes 41-6; Class AAAA: Male beat Butler 30-28, St. X beat Holy Cross 29-15, Eastern beat Jeffersonton 8-0 and Trinity (in a game to watch this week) beat Ballard 10-6.

THE UNFORGETTABLES....
LaRue County tailback James Franklin scored six TDs Friday in LaRue's 54-19 victory over Russell County. Franklin rambled for 175 yards rushing and 80 yards receiving. He rushed for three scores, caught two TDs and returned an interception for a score.

McLean County running back D.J. Dykes rushed for 235 yards and five scores as the Cougars defeated Lone Oak 47-12.

Garrard County's Sheldon Burnside had a bittersweet night last week. He racked up 242 yards rushing and scored three TDs but the Golden Lions fell to Campbellville 35-28. Meanwhile, Campbellville's Chad Deener completed 13 of 18 passes for 198 yards and four TDs to lift the Eagles to victory.

Thief Richie Sutton of Holy Cross picked off three passes in the Cougars 39-7 win over Fern Creek.

the number one spot. I could pick them to win it, but I haven't — yet!

Although McDowell may be down experience-wise, don't forget some of this year's returning players were forced into action off of a good junior varsity team and it isn't as though they are coming in green this year. Alan Joe Moore, Mike Duddleson and a host of others, as well as one of the finest coaches in the area in Johnny Ray Turner, could make it possible to pick the Daredevils number one. I could, but I haven't — yet!

Betsy Layne has coach Walter Brugh's attempt to become the all-time winningest coach in the state of Ken-

NORTHERN KENTUCKY DOMINANCE....
Much has been said in the past of the fine football played at high schools in Northern Kentucky. Results from the first week of the playoffs have helped to reinforce that notion. Class A, Region III, District 1 (Beechwood, Newport Catholic, Lloyd Memorial and Bellevue) swept the 1-4 seeds of Class A, Region III, District 2, a stat that doesn't happen in the playoffs very often.

Class AAA, Region III, District I (CovCath, Highlands, Holmes, Newport) almost pulled off the same feat as the top three advanced. Only Newport's loss to Ashland Paul Blazer (49-13) kept the broom stored away in the closet.

VIRGIN TERRITORY....
Bourbon County's trip to Rockcastle County last Friday marked the first time Bourbon had qualified for the playoffs. The fourth-seeded Colonels fell to the top-seeded Rockets 21-13, to finish their first season under new coach Roger Gruneisen at 5-6. Gruneisen moved across town this year from rival Paris.

CARDS AND COLLECTING

This is a nice card of one of the all-time greats ... WILLIE MAYS is pictured on a 1964 Topps "Giants" card ... These were postcard-sized, hence the "Giants" nickname, and are an under-appreciated set, filled with stars of the early '60s ... Mays, #51, is one of the higher priced cards in the set, but at only $20 or so is a bargain compared to most Mays cards of the 1960s ... In '64 Willie socked 47 home runs to lead the NL, a typical year for him, with 111 RBI, batting .296 ...

PANORAMA'S COMING UP...
The Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference 1992 basketball panorama is scheduled for Friday, November 20 at Allen Central High School. Wheelwright will face Fleming-Neon in the first game at 6 p.m. and Elkhorn City, along with all-state candidate Todd Conley, will take on Jenkins at 7:30 p.m. In the final game of the evening, Allen Central will face Johns Creek at 9 p.m.

The Sheldon Clark Cardinals always host one of the finest panoramas around and it will be even better this year. Coach Roger Harless has renamed this year's event as the "The Last Showdown" instead of "Kentucky's Number One Panorama." That is because, as I understand it, he has had it with the West Virginia people. Seems they have not been all that cooperative this season with some rule they have governing scrimmage games in West Virginia. (See schedule in separate story.)

The Johnson Central panorama is scheduled for November 21 with Wheelwright taking part. Ashland as well as Johnson Central will be part of the events.

Well, we could write a long time about what the season holds. It should be an exciting year for basketball fans. The region will be wide open this season and should make a more interesting season.

PARKING COULD BE A PROBLEM AT BETSY LAYNE....
I was at the grade school game this past Monday night at Betsy Layne and it was my first trip to the D.W. Howard Fieldhouse since the finals of the girl's regional tournament last year. As everyone knows, construction has begun on the addition that will be adjacent to the gym. The once existing parking lot is non existing anymore, prompting the question, "Where will people park for the Betsy Layne home games?" Coach Junior Newsome stated that parking will be provided on the other side of the grade school and some may have to park up and down the street. I'm sure they will work it out for the betterment of the fans.

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

ected to keep the football on a sweep, but fumbled the football after gaining 6 yards. Mason County recovered with just over five minutes left in the third period.

The Royals picked up three first downs as they moved down to the Blackcats 9-yard line, facing a third and long situation. Thomas took the toss and ran across the goal line for the TD and a 22-12 score.

Prestonsburg struck back quickly. Garza took the kick off and returned the football 36 yards before he was brought down on the Blackcats 46-yard line. A 9-yard run by Hyden and Garza's 8-yard gainer placed the ball at the 33-yard line of the Royals'. Tucker handed off to Garza who then back-busted two tackles and ran the 33 yards for the score. Araujo added his fourth extra point of the game for a 29-12 lead that held up the rest of the way.

Mason County did threaten in the late stages of the game as they had the ball resting on the Blackcats 17-yard line. But Ullery's pass was intercepted by Tucker on the 2-yard line, stopping the drive. A 37-yard run by Hyden moved the ball up field.

Tucker had one completion for 39 yards which was a TD pass to Crisp. He rushed for 15 yards on four carries. Cornett carried only once in the game for 6 yards.

Thomas led the ground game for Mason County with 136 yards on 35 carries. Marshall ran for 55 yards on 16 carries.

What was surprising in the game was the passing game of the Royals. Mason County came into the game averaging around three passes per contest. But, in a surprise move, Ullery attempted 12 passes with three completions for 19 yards.

Mason County was penalized seven times for 55 yards and Prestonsburg had a high 100 yards on 11 flags. Tucker was intercepted once, as was Ullery. Prestonsburg fumbled the football twice.

Mason County totaled 203 yards on the ground with 19 yards in the air for a total of 222 yards on offense. Prestonsburg gained 394 yards on the ground and 39 in the air for a total of 433 yards.

Crisp had the lone reception for Prestonsburg. Marshall had one reception for Mason County, as did Chaz Salley and Matt Wallingford.

Todd Clark, Brad Wells and Larry Morris led the Prestonsburg defense against the Royals. Clark had 11 first hits and 10 assists. Wells totaled 10 solos and two assists. Morris came up with 10 first hits, four assists and one sack.

Brian Horne and Kyle Fitzpatrick had seven solo hits and five assists each. Kevin Vaughn came up with seven first hits, three assists and one sack. Hyden had six first hits and two assists for the Blackcats. Matt Porter had six assists to go with his four first hits. Ryan Elliott had three solos and five assists. Glenn May had an even five first hits and five assists.

The Last Showdown comes to Sheldon Clark November 27

It soon will be roundup time. Time to corral them old 'doggies.' Time to get the chuck wagon a fixin' the grub (that's hospitality-room talk). To put it simply, it will be basketball time at the Sheldon Clark High School when The Last Showdown will be staged — not on the streets of Inez, but in the Sheldon Clark gym which has undergone a new look that simply says "Cardinal Basketball: Red Hot."

The Cardinals had their floor re-designed and painted by Kelly Goble in anticipation of a great basketball season for the Cardinals in which they have been rated as high as tenth in the state in some polls.

Cardinal coach Roger Harless and his staff will put on one of the best high school panoramas in these parts on Friday, November 27, when teams from around Kentucky and West Virginia square off in a half-day affair.

The panorama, once called "Kentucky's Number One Panorama," has been changed this year to become "The Last Showdown." It seems that officials in West Virginia have taken a different view of what defines a scrimmage and a preview. West Virginia rules say that no more than two teams may be in the gym at the same time to constitute a scrimmage game. Therefore, the teams playing must exit the gym before the next two can enter, otherwise it will be considered a preview rather than a scrimmage.

Six games will be on tap for the afternoon with action starting at "high noon." Betsy Layne will face Matewan, West Virginia, in the first game of the day, and Prestonsburg will face Johnson Central in game two.

The action will continue on through the day as 15th Region champions, Belfry, face West Virginia's 1991 state champs, Tolsia. In the fourth game of the day, Kentucky's 1992 state runner-up, Lexington Catholic, will go against West Virginia's number one team and 1992 AAA State Champ, Woodrow Wilson Beckley.

Kentucky's preseason number 10 team, Sheldon Clark will take on West Virginia's AA state runner-up Williamson in game number five. The evening will conclude with Louisville PRP, Kentucky's number two preseason team and 1989 state champs, challenging West Virginia's number one preseason team and 1991 AAA state champs, Logan.

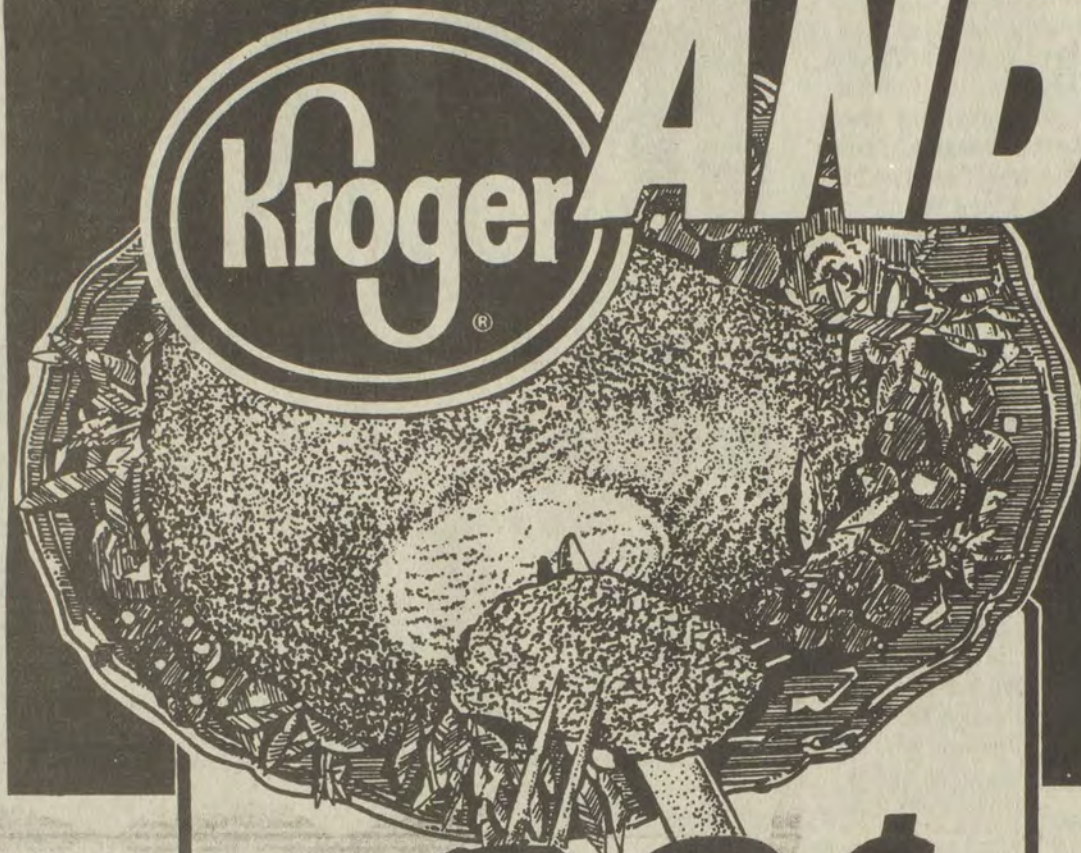

Also on hand for the panorama will be former University of Kentucky guard Kyle Macy.

WHITE TEAM GRADE SCHOOL ALL-STARS

Auxier girls end 2-year drought; Hornets win 57-45

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It has been two years since the Auxier Lady Hornets have won a basketball game and they held a 16 game losing streak. That is until last Thursday when they posted a close 18-17 win over the Lady Cougars of Prater.

With the game tied at 17-17, Brandy Wells stepped to the free throw line with seven seconds on the clock and sank the first of two free throws to give the Lady Hornets a 18-17 lead. Wells missed the second shot with Prater grabbing the rebound. But the Lady Cougars could not get a shot off as time expired.

"It was a complete team effort," stated Lady Hornet coach Jerome Greathouse. "We played some good defense. The girls were so happy you thought we won the county tournament."

The last time the Lady Hornets had won a game was during the 1990 season when they won one contest.

"We promised them a pizza party if they won," said Greathouse. "We got a good defensive effort out of Jennifer Henson, Jennifer Greathouse, Alicia Spears, Lisa Johnson and Candy Howard."

Shelly Greathouse led the Lady Hornets in scoring with 11 points. Tonya Honeycutt added six and Wells scored one, her game winning free throw.

Marilyn Rowe and Brandy Watson led the Lady Cougars with five points each. Misty Arms tossed in four with Angie Ousley scoring three.

The Lady Hornets will host the Lady Eagles of Osborne tonight in a 5:30 p.m. start.

In the boys' game, Auxier had an easy time with the Cougars in recording their first win of the season. The Hornets defeated Prater 57-45 and never trailed in the game.

"We took the early lead and maintained a comfortable lead all through the game," said coach Ashland Gearheart.

Auxier held a five point, 15-10 lead, after the first quarter and extended it to 15 points, 32-17 at the half. Prater had cut the margin to 10 points after the third period but could get no closer.

Tony Honeycutt tossed in 17 points to lead the scoring parade for the Hornets. Ricky Johnson added 16 and Catrell Farler scored seven. Clabe Hall and Stewart Daniels had four points each.

Auxier improves to 1-1 on the season and Prater is 0-1. Auxier will host Osborne tonight.

Clinton invited to run in JFK Memorial race

Rick Roberts of Van Lear is a big racing fan. And I suppose you could say that Roberts also is a die-hard democrat. Roberts went so far as to issue an invitation to President-elect Bill Clinton to take part in the upcoming John F. Kennedy Memorial 3,000 meter Cross Country run this Saturday, November 14 at the Paintsville Lake.

Registration for the memorial race will be held at the Paintsville Lake Nature Trail beside of Paintsville Lake Dam. Registration will be held from 10 a.m. until 10:45 a.m. with the race scheduled to start at 11 a.m.

The course will be a flat tree lined nature trail with a panoramic view that will include on 50-yard hill. Entry fee into the race is $10 per person with preregistration or $15 the day of race.

Mail all preregistration forms to: Rick Roberts, Box 1179, Paintsville, KY 41240.

Roberts received a letter back from Governor Clinton's scheduling secretary, Nancy Hemreich, thanking Roberts on behalf of Governor Clinton for the invitation and that his November schedule had not been made out at the time and she would get back with him.

Small World

by Aileen Hall

BRINGING READERS HOME

Since this column first began more than two years ago, I've been hearing from people who once called Floyd County home but who now live in some distant city or state. Each message has expressed some pleasure at having read of the people we write about—people who are an important part of their lives and their memories.

Of course, as they care about us, we also care about them so I decided to use this space once in a while to bring our readers home. We're also interested in where they are and how they're doing.

One of our first correspondents was Mary Auxier Ford, a former teacher, now living at Burnside in Pulaski County. We haven't heard from her again but trust she still gets her copy of the Times and that things are going well for her.

More recently I had a call from Betty Rose Johns Swindell, who lives in Louisville. She grew up in Martin and Betsy Layne High School, but she married a minister, Homer Swindell, and they settled in Jefferson County.

The Swindells had a son, Tony, who was recently named Vice President of the First National Bank in Louisville. They also have two grandchildren, Michael and Maggie, who inherited their grandmother's red hair.

Betty Rose called me after Emmitt Conn's death and after I had written about him. "Emmitt was the object of my first high school crush," she said. "He drove a yellow Plymouth called a Hollywood Special and I thought he was just the most handsome guy."

A widow now, she teaches piano and provides music for weddings and various programs. She still has a bunch of relatives here, including cousins Ted and Judge John M. Stumbo. I had no idea that she reads Small World, but she assured me, "I wouldn't miss it."

Another transplanted couple is Ann and Lyman Porter, who reside in Waverly, Ohio. Lyman grew up in Van Lear and Ann in Martin. She is the daughter of Melpha and the late Emmitt Tackett. Melpha, a widow, now makes her home with the Porters in Waverly and, good friends of Emmitt Conn, they were all here for his final service. It was a surprise to hear they also look forward to our paper.

Leona and Jim Prater have lived in Westland, Michigan, for about 25 years. They travel back and forth some to Florida but Leona says they look forward to reading about their family and friends.

Having lived on Beaver Creek—around Bosco, Hueysville and Garrett—they still maintain strong ties and depend on their home paper.

Wanda Reynolds Patierno is another subscriber who lives in Newport News, Virginia. She is the daughter of Oma and the late Oscar Reynolds. Her family is scattered from Florida to Michigan but she has a sister here who is very important to me.

The sister is Thelma Clark of Harold, a beautician who gives me a shampoo at least once a week. She keeps my hair out of my eyes and helps me be able to look in the mirror when I wash my face.

I thought you'd be glad to know that, Wanda.

Kim's Korner

I've always heard bad news travels fast, and this weekend has been no exception to the rule.

Death is never news one expects to hear even if an illness has been prolonged.

We tend to hope and pray our loved ones will overcome their sickness and pain and all will be well once again.

I've heard many people say that a person who suffers over a period should expect it, but it's so hard, so very hard.

And then when death comes to those who least expect it, through massive heart attacks, wrecks, and freak accidents the news is so devastating.

I don't think we ever prepare ourselves, or if we even have the slightest idea of knowing how. But the one thing I've experienced when someone close to me has passed away, it's been my friends and family who gathered to pay their respects that meant so much during a time I was so lost.

Adams Middle School has lost a teacher, friend, mother and wife this weekend. Mrs. Desta Price taught eighth grade and was a victim of a massive heart attack Saturday night.

I got to have a long conversation with Mrs. Price just last Thursday. We sat and laughed and shared experiences our daughters share as sisters.

She told me she loved reading this column and reliving some of the things her daughters have gone through and done themselves when they were at that age.

She had me in tears. I was laughing so hard as she told of the controversy over their telephone limits, the girls gave one another.

My heart aches for her daughters in a way that's so hard to explain in words.

Words at times like these are so hard to think of. We all want to express our sympathy and let those in need simply know we are there.

BSU hosts missionaries as part of SBC World Missions Conference Week

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

Southern Baptist missionaries who have served at home and abroad were on hand to share their missionary experiences at the November 4 Baptist Student Union luncheon at Prestonsburg Community College. BSU director Rev. French Harmon, pastor of Allen First Baptist Church, invited the missionaries to BSU in celebration of the Southern Baptist Convention World Missions Conference Week.

Rev. Harmon said he invited the missionaries to BSU "to expose our student community to the possibility of student involvement in missions. We live in a challenging world and college students need to experience the broader view of how Americans interact with their faith in other parts of the world."

The World Missions Week, held November 1 through November 8, involved Southern Baptist churches in Floyd and surrounding counties.

During this special mission emphasis week, Southern Baptist home, state, and foreign missionaries were invited to speak at participating churches about their mission work and to show through slide presentations what it is like to be a missions worker. Foreign mission activities discussed during the week by various visiting missionaries centered on Spain, Phillipines, and Mexico; home mission presentations concentrated on ministries in North and South Carolina with the Civil Air Patrol and resort park ministries; and state mission presentations included mission work in western Kentucky.

Dr. Gerald McNeely, retired foreign missionary who served in Spain for 32 years, and who now teaches at Southern Seminary in Louisville, spoke about the purpose of the World Missions Conference in an interview after the luncheon.

"Our goal is to help all the churches understand what their mission offerings go to and the fruit of their offering, and to make the churches more mission-minded...It gives churches a perception of home, state and foreign mission work and to see what we (churches) are supporting. The conference helps us to have a better vision of what we are doing (in terms of mission work)."

Rev. Harmon began the meeting by introducing each of the seven missionaries by name and place of missionary service. Dr. McNeely then took the podium and described his work and his experiences as a teacher and administrator at a Southern Baptist seminary in southern Spain. In Spain he said he witnessed Christian people who served God despite persecution from a communist government. Upon coming back to the United States, he was dismayed to discover that religious freedom is largely taken for granted here. "They (citizens of the U.S.) just don't understand what freedom is," he remarked.

While he served in Spain, a Baptist church was started in the city of Cordoba. It is now the largest Baptist church in southern Spain, and its mission work has resulted in "seven strong mission points around Cordoba. The church is a real light-house" for spreading the Gospel, he said.

The mission effort in Spain was made possible by Southern Baptist churches giving to the Cooperative Program, said McNeely. The Cooperative Program is a voluntary partnership of Southern Baptist churches which financially supports the convention's worldwide missions enterprise.

McNeely concluded his talk by declaring, "God has a plan for young people. The needs of the world are so great and we have the honor of being God's people who can meet that need."

Home missionary Hannah Hanson, 24, spoke about her and her husband James' work in resort park ministry at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.

"Jesus went where people are. There are 18 million visitors a year (at the beach). People we minister to are local residents, seasonal employees, and visitors," she said.

Although their ministry might seem to be all sun and fun, a lot of work goes into organizing and implementing the various activities in their

"grand strand" ministry, named after the 60 miles of Myrtle Beach.

Hanson, a 1989 graduate of Georgetown College, and her husband have been on the mission field at Myrtle Beach for a year and a half. In that time they have coordinated various activities including a lifeguard ministry, Sand and Son clubs (puppet shows and games on the beach), Bible studies, and a campground ministry, which Hanson described as "a huge ministry. We had 60 youth camps this summer we coordinated."

They also ministered to fire and police department personnel, and were involved in chaplain and jail ministries.

The purpose of the Hansons' "grand strand" mission work is to meet needs, said Hanson. "We want to meet people's needs. Through (our activities) we form a relationship and have a one-on-one opportunity to tell others about Jesus."

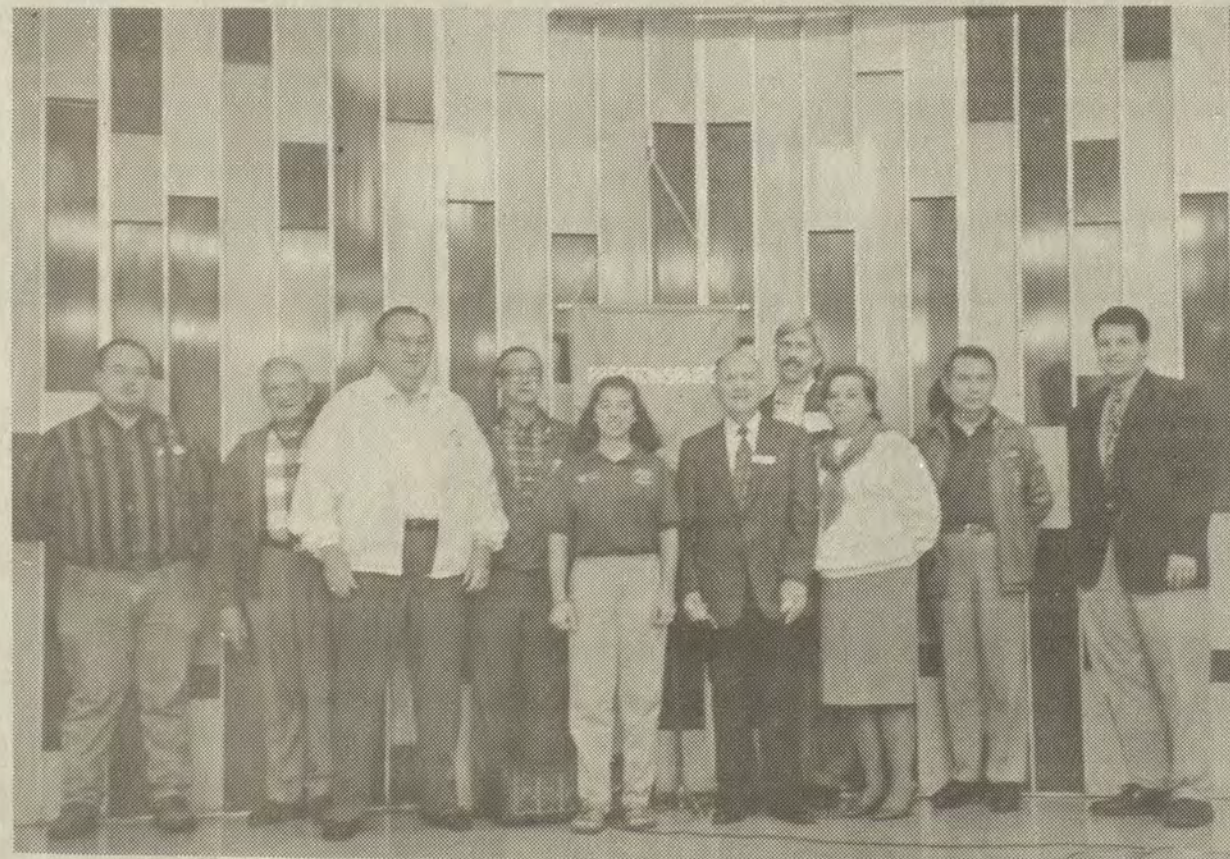

Hanson also discussed opportunities available for those interested in working as summer missionaries.

After the luncheon, Rev. Mike Taylor, pastor of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, explained how the world conference had affected him. "It's sparked a new vision in me for missions, to be a church planner (who starts new missions) again."

William Lyons, president of Prestonsburg College BSU, said of the day's mission agenda, "I think the program was very good. I think our last speaker really opened our eyes about summer mission (opportunities)."

He expressed interest in starting a BSU mission team. "Maybe if we can get a song or a dramatic group to act out skits, then we could have a traveling group" as a mission team.

About 40 students, pastors, mission workers and college personnel attended the program held in the Johnson building.

PCC Baptist Student Union Hosts Missionaries

William Lyons, (far L) president of PCC Baptist Student Union and Rev. French Harmon, (far R) pastor of Allen First Baptist and director of the PCC Baptist organization, joined visiting foreign, home, and state missionaries in celebrating World Missions Week at a recent BSU meeting.

THE ITCHING'S GONE...FOR NOW

Well, it's been over a week now, and I hope you're satisfied. With the results of the election I mean. I hope your candidate won. Or better still, to be more trendy, I hope the one you didn't want to win didn't.

I suppose it's time for the healing process to begin and the sooner we forget about it, the better. But, before it's completely out of our minds, allow me just a few parting thoughts about this ordeal we've just been through.

Perhaps now we can step back and take a good, long look at this monster we've created...especially the one in Washington. I don't mean Bill Clinton. I'm talking about things in general. I mean, how long are we going to be able to elect the highest official in the land based on which guy can out insult the other? When are we going to stop joking about our candidate winning by a mudslide?

"Okay, smart Alec," you may ask, "what can I, a little guy from the hills of Eastern Kentucky, do about all the goings on in Washington? What can I do about the TV pundits and the spin doctors? What can I do about the Ozone Man and the Bozos and the Mr. Potato(e) Heads and the smoking guns?"

All good questions, and to be perfectly honest, the answer probably is, at least for now, "Not much."

But I've got this idea, see, and if we start small, maybe it'll catch on and eventually make a difference.

Suppose we devise us a score card, like we'd have if we were playing bridge or canasta or rook. For each race in which we're interested, we can take a 3x5 note card and list each candidate's name. To begin with, we'll give each candidate the benefit of the doubt. We'll assume his purpose is pure. We'll assume he's running for all the right reasons. We'll assume he has honesty and integrity. We'll start exactly one week before the election and on the first day that we list his name, we'll give him 100 points. Then, for every negative he (or any of his representatives) speaks about his opponent, we'll subtract five points. For every positive, constructive idea he comes up with, we'll add one point.

We'll tend to this faithfully on a daily basis. Then, when we go to the polls, we'll pull out our little card, total up the points, forget about our party affiliation, and simply vote for the one with the highest score.

Admittedly, if we'd have done that in the recent presidential race, it would have taken several note cards and we'd likely have had to vote for the candidate with the score of minus 7,156 instead of the one with the score of minus 7,157.

One more thing. Here's a thought about the national debt. Make it a law that for every dollar any candidate (both on the national and local levels) spends campaigning, he must contribute an equal amount toward the deficit.

Think about it. A couple of campaigns like we've just had, and we'll be debt free.

Oh well, it's all history and we'll never have to worry about it again...until next time. To be perfectly honest, though, I do miss it a little. I miss turning on the TV and not hearing about the daily tracking poll and the wild promises and, yes, even all the name calling. Of course, when my chicken pox left me, I missed all that irritable itching, too.

Engagement announced

Gary and Janice Salyers of Powell, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jessica Leigh, to Richard Kenneth Bacon of Ft. Stewart, Georgia, son of Zerland and Nancy Bacon of Waukegan, Illinois.

The bride-elect, a 1983 graduate of Olentangy High School, received her bachelor of arts degree in political science from Ohio State University in 1988. She is an aide at the Ohio House of Representatives at the State House in Columbus, Ohio, and is a 2nd Lieutenant Headquarters Platoon Leader for 383rd Medical Company of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The prospective groom graduated from Waukegan High School in 1985 and received his associates degree from the College of Lake County. He was awarded a bachelor of science degree from Illinois State University and is serving in active duty with the Army's 24th Infantry Division, 2nd Squadron, 4th U.S. Cavalry as a 2nd Lieutenant.

The couple will marry on February 20, at the Indian Run United Methodist Church in Dublin, Ohio.

The bride-to-be's parents are former Floyd Countians. Her grandparents are Dora Bentley of McDowell and the late Charlie Bentley and Bertha Moore of McDowell.

Executive board holds meeting

The executive board of the GFWC/KFWC Prestonsburg Woman's Club met in the clubhouse at Archer Park, Thursday evening, November 5, at 7 p.m. prior to the regular monthly meeting which was held there at 7:30.

President Garnett Fairchild called the meeting to order. Matters to be discussed with club members during the regular meeting were discussed. These included the collection of aluminum cans for recycling, to help in defraying the cost of the Prestonsburg High School Special Education class trip to the Special Olympics; the club's annual Christmas party, with members of the executive board traditionally serving as hostesses; plans for the annual Christmas in the Park, and a visit with Santa during the Woman's Club's open house scheduled for the Yuletide Season; the importance of reading to children, and the restoration of the May House, a project begun in keeping with the Kentucky Bicentennial Year.

Board members present for this meeting were Garnett Fairchild, Judy Burchell, Drema Miller, Kathy Lowe, and Dianne Clatworthy.

The group adjourned to attend the regular meeting of the club which followed there.

Prestonsburg Woman's Club holds monthly meeting

Members of the GFWC/KFWC Prestonsburg Woman's Club held their monthly meeting on Thursday, November 5, at 7:30 p.m., in the clubhouse at Archer Park. President Garnett Fairchild presided. The group, accompanied by Dianne Clatworthy on the flute, sang "My Old Kentucky Home," then joined in the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag. The devotional was given by Betty Porter, who read from the Book of Proverbs and from "The Prophet," by Gibran, before leading in prayer.

The program for the evening was presented by Sharon Campbell, who instructed the members on the art of tying and trimming, using bows. Her presentation was well received by the group.

The minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given and filed.

President Fairchild reminded members that dues are payable December 1. A discussion regarding community recycling was held. A club project, of recycling aluminum cans, with proceeds to go to the P.H.S. class's participation in Special Olympics was also discussed.

Burieta Gearhart reported on the KFWC District meeting held in Pikeville, and said that Joyce Allen, a member of this club, who submitted three handmade items in the contest, received two red ribbons.

Mrs. Fairchild, president, told members that a group is meeting on each Tuesday evening, at Prestonsburg Community College to discuss the possible restoration of the May House. She and Burieta Gearhart had attended one meeting, and she urged other club members to become involved in this endeavor.

The president appointed the following committee to prepare for the Woman's Club's Open House, and a visit with Santa Claus during the annual Christmas in the Park: Lida Howard, Kathy Lowe, and Dianne Clatworthy, with others to be appointed at a later date.

The group was told about the proposal to have club members read aloud to children at the Bookworm or the Public Library, and Drema Miller said she would ask Carolyn Traum, owner of the Bookworm, about this matter.

Burieta Gearhart announced the first presentation of the Eastern Kentucky Concert Series to be held at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, Monday evening, and that season tickets were still available.

Hostesses for this meeting were Lucille Nunnery, Ethel Burke, Shirley Callihan, Betty Porter, and Ditty Tackett. Refreshments were served to Garnett Fairchild, Judy Burchell, Drema Miller, Kathy Lowe, Dianne Clatworthy, Sandy Burchett, Burieta Gearhart, Dorothy Harris, Phyllis Herrick, Elizabeth Ramey, Lee Boswell, Lida Howard, and Lucy C. Regan.

The club's Christmas party will be held Thursday evening, December 3, with members of the executive board: Garnett Fairchild, Judy Burchell, Earlene Nelson, Drema Miller, Kathy Lowe, Lida Howard, Dianne Clatworthy, Sandy Burchett, and Docia Woods as hostesses. An international theme was chosen, with each board member to select a country, briefly describe its traditions, and bring a desert that would be enjoyed there.

More news regarding Christmas in the Park will be announced at a later date.

Gordon Moore recovering from liphotripsy

The many relatives and friends of Gordon Moore will be glad to know that he is showing marked improvement at his home following liphotripsy at the Blue Grass Stone Therapy Center, in Lexington, this past Thursday. Mrs. Moore was with him during his stay there.

Nell Montgomery visiting relatives here

Nell Montgomery, formerly of Floyd County, who, for the past several years has resided in Missouri, is here for a visit with relatives, including Mr. and Mrs. Russell Laven of Allen, Mrs. Worth Music, Mrs. Estill Music, and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Branham, all of Prestonsburg. Mrs. Montgomery worked for many years at the Bank Josephine here.

Methodist Women hold meeting

The United Methodist Women of the Horn's Chapel United Methodist Church held their monthly meeting there on November 5. The meeting was opened with prayer by Margaret Ratliff, president. Minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report were given by Ethel Sammons.

The business session included a discussion on the selling of Benson fruit cakes, for which this group is accepting orders, and an assortment of pound cakes. It was reported that several of these had already been sold.

It was decided that a Thanksgiving dinner would be held by the group on Sunday, November 22, and that a Christmas party would be held there on December 3.

Following the business session, Tincy Crisp presented the program on "Pledging to Missions through Global Ministries of the Kentucky Conference." Pledge cards were signed. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer said in unison.

Refreshments were served by Gaye Hall and Klora Osborne to Margaret Ratliff, Willia Mae Branham, Ethel Sammons, Evelyn Goble, Marietta Crager, Tincy Crisp, Elsie Lafferty, Tim Crisp, Susan Crum, Tina Branham, Leslie Akers, Susan Coleman and Beth Ratliff.

Mrs. Boyd honored with birthday dinner

The family of Mrs. W. B. (Brad) Boyd gathered at her home on Sunday, November 1, to honor her with a dinner in celebration of her birthday. Enjoying this occasion were the guest of honor, her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cottrell, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, Mrs. Raymond Schoolcraft, and Mrs. Collene Click, all of Prestonsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Holcomb of Baton Rouge, Louisiana; and Mr. and Mrs. Tom DelBello and daughter Kristen of Lexington.

Following the dinner, decorated birthday cake, ice cream, and other refreshments were served. The honoree received many attractive and useful gifts. She also received a number of telephone calls, and other greetings during her birthday, and for all remembrances she expresses her sincere appreciation.

Guest room named for Devert Owens

Among those attending the one-million-dollar H. N. and Frances C. Berger Residence Building, near the University of Kentucky campus, to serve Caney scholars at U.K., were the widow and family of Devert Owens.

Mrs. Vivian Owens accepted a plaque naming the guest room of this building in honor of her husband, an alumnus and former trustee of this school.

Owens was instrumental in helping to secure the new residence for this school.

Annual Thanksgiving Love Dinner

Plans for the annual Community United Methodist Church's Thanksgiving Love Dinner, which will be held there on Thursday, November 26 (Thanksgiving Day), are underway. The dinner to be held in Fellowship Hall there, will be from 10 a.m.-2 p.m., and meals will be delivered to those unable to come to the church. Assisting with donations for this dinner will be several of the local churches. Calls in regard to meals should be made no later than Wednesday, November 25, at 6 p.m. Numbers to call are 886-8087 or 886-6595.

Rev. Ray Snider is pastor of the host church.

Wiley and Martin attend quilt show in Ohio

Mrs. Pollyanna Wiley of Prestonsburg and Mrs. Alice O. Martin of Turkey Creek attended a quilt show in Dayton, Ohio on October 31.

The quilts displayed included 80 or more patterns of quilting done by their sister, Virginia Fite, who completed her first quilt at the age of 17, and has continued quilting for the last 54 years. She has won many awards for her quilting, piecework, and color combinations. Mrs. Fite is a former Floyd Countian.

United Methodist Women hold meeting

The United Methodist Women met on November 2, at 7 p.m., in the Family Life Center there. The meeting was called to order and "The Purpose of the United Methodist Women" was said in unison. Minutes of the last meeting was read by Roslyn Burchett, and the treasurer's report was given by Geneva Carter.

The next meeting will be the Christmas program. Glenna Adkins, district president, will be here to install new officers for the coming year. Mabel Brown volunteered to provide a gift of appreciation.

The Area District meeting will be held in this church on September 25, 1993.

Rose Glenn will attend the 20th annual meeting of the Kentucky United Methodist Women to be held at Frankfort. The keynote speaker for Celebration and Praise will be Sally Graham Ernst.

The annual Pledge Service, "Importance of Giving to Missions," was given by Geneva Carter. Giving for such a time as this was based on Esther 4:14. Members from each circle of the church participated in the program with Rose Glenn from Wesley Circle, Nancy Webb from the Sewing Circle, and Dianne Turner from the Friendship Circle.

Pledge cards were filled out and members were asked to remember other women around the world with their giving.

Those present for the meeting were Geneva Carter, Jane Wallace, Shirley Callihan, Hope Whitten, Helen Neeley, Roslyn Burchett, Edna Carol Greenwade, Lee Boswell, Rose Glenn, Mable Brown, Mabel Allen, Dorothy Harris, Elizabeth Ramey, Debbie Holland, Nancy Webb, Vera Ford, Deanne Turner, Fannie Runnels, and Alice Harris.

Annie Allen Circle meets at First Baptist Church

The Annie Allen Circle WMU of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) met Monday evening, November 2, at 5:30, for the purpose of holding a covered-dish dinner honoring Baptist missionaries who were here conducting services at the church. Present for the dinner were Alma Blair, West Kentucky Baptist Association secretary; Charles Blair, West Kentucky, Director of Admissions; Jim Smith, Enterprise Association Director of Missions; Jean Smith, secretary for Enterprise Association, Michael M. Taylor, Michelle Taylor, Elizabeth and Jonathan Taylor, Thomas W. Foy, Susan Foy, Robbie Foy, Eva Collins, Julia Curtis, Rebecca Rasnick, Myrtle Allen, Lucy C. Regan, Chester Patton, Faye Patton, John Evans, Patsy Evans, Lillia Mae Price, Ada Meade, Camden Garrett, Ruby Garrett, Vivian Fraley, and Loma Lyon. Rev. James Smith led the group in prayer.

Following the dinner, the Annie Allen WMU held a brief business meeting there with Eva Collins, president, in charge. Patsy Evans opened the meeting with prayer. A discussion concerning the possible attendance by members at the forthcoming State WMU was held. It was reported that flowers on behalf of this group has been purchased for Maman Leslie, who has been ill. The decision to bring boxes of Kleenex to the Christmas meeting for gifts to

The annual Christmas dinner is to be held once again at the home of Roberta Sloan, with the time to be announced at a later date.

Schoolcraft visits relatives

Christopher Schoolcraft, formerly of Prestonsburg, presently of Morehead, was here last weekend for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schoolcraft; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cottrell; his great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W.B. (Brad) Boyd; and other relatives and friends.

John Burke Sr. recovering at home

John Burke Sr., former co-owner of the Fountain Korner here, is recovering at his home here, following recent bypass surgery at St. Joseph Hospital, Lexington. Mrs. Burke and other family members were with him during his hospitalization. His many relatives and friends wish him well.

East Point Homemakers hold regular meeting

The East Point Homemakers met November 3, at 12:30, at the Little Paint First Church of God. The meeting was called to order by Armita Snavely. The devotional, based on John 8:12-27, was read by Shirley Callihan, and the Lord's Prayer was said in unison. The roll-call was answered by listing good deeds that had been done by those in attendance.

Members agreed to bring to the next meeting one cent for each inch of waist measurement as a fund-raiser.

Sandra Baldrige's Christmas wreath was chosen to represent the club in the forthcoming contest.

The club will go to Jenny Wiley Lodge on December 1 at 12:30 p.m., for a Christmas luncheon. Members were asked to meet in the lobby there.

Food items, to be donated to the Church's Food Pantry, were brought.

A new member, Ada Hunter, was welcomed into the club.

Spices, donated to the extension service by FoodLyon were given as door prizes, with Betsy Baldrige as winner.

Frances Pitts displayed a large variety of Christmas ideas and decorations made from recycled items. She gave demonstrations, and handed out lesson sheets.

Those present were, Elsie Leake, Lorena Horne, Dorothy Harris, Betsy Baldrige, Sandra Baldrige, Frances Pitts, Shirley Callihan, Armita Snavely, Lee Boswell, Gloria Buch, Ada Hunter, and Ruby Hall,

Mrs. Thomas Hereford home from hospital

Mrs. Ina May Hereford is recovering at her home on Arnold Avenue, Prestonsburg, following a few days' hospitalization last week at St. Joseph Hospital, Lexington. Mr. Hereford and other members of the family were with her during her stay there.

Mrs. James Donahoe has had as her houseguests, her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Donahoe, their son Brennan of Lexington, and her brother, Tom Rogers of Winchester.

Lamplighters hold meeting

The Lamplighters of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) met on Tuesday, November 3, at 4 p.m., in Fellowship Hall of the church, with Rev. Michael M. Taylor, Rev. Marvin Fitts, Ada Meade, Minerva Cooley, Myrtle Allen, and Lucy C. Regan in attendance.

Rev. Fitts, a Southern Baptist Missionary, showed slides of his mission work in Peru, where he, his wife, and children spent 20 years, and of his work in Mexico City, where he and his wife went following retirement.

The next Lamplighters' meeting will be on Tuesday, November 17, at 4 p.m., at the church, and an invitation is extended to attend this and all meetings.

Bill Pettrey recovering from eye surgery; Dolly Pettrey improving

Bill Pettrey, who recently underwent eye surgery at Highlands Regional Medical Center is recovering at his home. His wife Dolly, is showing "slow but steady" improvement from broken bones at her home. The Pettreys have long been active church and community leaders. Much credit is due Mrs. Pettrey's sister, Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, for her care throughout this time.

Church-wide dinner and services enjoyed

A church-wide dinner was enjoyed by members of the First Baptist Church here on Wednesday evening of last week, in Fellowship Hall there. Following the blessing offered by the church's pastor, Rev. Michael Taylor, the covered-dish dinner was served by members of the Social committee there. After the dinner, Hannah Hampton of Myrtle Beach, one of the missionaries who was here helping to conduct services at this church, gave an inspiring speech during church services there.

Hanging of the Greens

The annual Hanging of the Greens, at the First United Methodist Church will be presented again this year. Preparations are well underway there for this forthcoming event.

Conley, Schmidt to wed

Janet L. Conley, daughter of Eula and Dalton Conley of Allen and Charles A. Schmidt, son of Charles and Joanne Schmidt of Louisville, announce their engagement and forthcoming marriage on November 21, at 2 p.m., at the Pigeon Fork Baptist Church at Waddy, Kentucky. The reception will follow at the couple's home in Lawrenceburg. Ms. Conley is a graduate of Morehead State University. Schmidt is employed at Tri-City Olds of Louisville. The gracious custom of an open ceremony will be observed.

Allen, Johnson exchange vows

Stephanie Dawn Allen, daughter of Stanley and Rita Allen, of Minnie, and Bruce Alan Johnson, son of Donald and Gleda Johnson of Printer, were united in marriage Saturday, August 29th, at 6 p.m. at the First Baptist Church of McDowell. Rev. J. Eddie Miller officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, and given in marriage by her mother and father.

The bridal gown was a Bridgette design by Elganza Italiana. The straight skirt of satin had a bodice trimmed with pearls, beads, and iridescent sequin appliques. Oversized pouf sleeves draped off the shoulder. A full overlay of tulle trimmed with satin ribbon, flowed from short to long from the waistline. The gown carried a 12-foot train of flowing tulle. The headpiece consisted of soft tufts of tulle surrounding a tiara of pearls, rhinestones, and sequins. The bouquet was designed with cascades of fresh white roses and Casablanca lilies.

The traditional wedding music was performed by Joan Chaffins, Trish Cieslak, and Libby Hall. Steve Combs also sang "Forever's As Far As I'll Go" while the unity candle was lit.

The maids of honor were Crystal Hall and Jackie Mitchell. The bridesmaids were Denise Vance, cousin of the bride, Mary Beth Dudleson, Missy Dye, cousin of the groom; and Valerie Vance, cousin of the bride.

The attendants wore yellow tea-length dresses made of satin and twinklite, with a v-neckline. They carried a bouquet of yellow and purple lilies.

Kala McNally, cousin of the bride, was the miniature bride. She wore the Baby Bridgette replica of the bride's dress. She carried a bouquet of white roses and daisies which she dropped down the aisle.

Taylor and Tera Giese, cousins of the bride, were the miniature bridesmaids and they gave daisies to guests as they went down the aisle. Ashley Reynolds, cousin of the groom, gave roses to the grandmothers.

The best man was Donald Johnson, father of the groom. The groomsmen were Chuck Meade and Lance Hall, cousin of the bride. The ushers were Steve Hoffman, Jamie Tackett, and Greg Johnson, brother of the groom.

The miniature groom was Shane Allen, brother of the bride, who also served as ring bearer. Scott Devin Allen carried the wedding Bible. Dustin Addis and Paul David Francis pulled the aisle runner.

Bobbi Lynn Moore coordinated the ceremony. Monica Gates, cousin of the groom, registered the guests. Sheena Allen and Brook Hamilton, both cousins of the bride, gave out programs.

Videos were taken by Ricky Hamilton, uncle of the bride, and Missy Nelson. Sam Nelson was the photographer. Flowers were arranged by Andy and Judy Dye of Jenny Wiley Florist.

The altar was decorated with six columns at different heights. Each column held an arrangement of yellow and white fresh flowers. The pews were decorated with aisle markers which also held floral arrangements and candles. Candles and greenery filled the windows of the church and two candelabras were placed at the piano and organ in the front of the church.

Following the ceremony the couple was transported to the reception by a horsedrawn carriage driven by Chad Vance, great-uncle of the bride.

The reception was held at the home of Stanley (Bobo) and Rita Allen. The wedding cake, decorated by Norma Crisp, was six tiers high with two double cakes and two single cakes connected by gold ribbon. Each cake was topped with a bouquet of yellow roses and baby's breath.

A personal shower was held at the home of Janet Vance on August 8th. It was given by the attendants and family. A household shower was held at the McDowell High School Cafeteria August 14.

The bride is a graduate of McDowell High School and Morehead State University. Her grandparents are Dorothy DeRossett of Prestonsburg and the late Pay Hamilton and June Allen of Minnie and the late Stanley Allen Sr.

The groom is also a graduate of McDowell High School and Morehead State. He is employed by Good Samaritan Hospital. His grandparents are Woodrow and Monnie Dye of Printer and Talt and Arnie Johnson of Bevinville.

The couple now resides in Lexington.

VEGETABLE LASAGNA

2 cups ricotta cheese
2 cups part-skim mozzarella cheese
1/2 cup Parmesan cheese, grated
Basil-Tomato Sauce
2 cups fresh spinach, chopped
1 1/2 cups mushrooms, sliced
1 cup blanched carrots, thinly sliced
1/4 cup parsley, minced
1 box (16 ounces) of lasagna noodles, cooked (or) 2 packages (9 ounces each) refrigerated lasagna noodles

Mix cheeses. Spread 1 cup tomato sauce in bottom of 13 x 9-inch baking pan. Layer 1/3 of the noodles over sauce; top with half the spinach, mushrooms, carrots and parsley. Spoon 1/3 of the cheese mixture over the vegetables. Repeat layers, ending with layer of noodles, sauce and cheese on top. Bake, uncovered, in preheated 350 degree oven, about 1 hour. Cut into squares. Makes 8 main dish servings.

BASIL-TOMATO SAUCE

1 cup onion, chopped
3 cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons olive or vegetable oil
2 teaspoons dried basil leaves
1 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
1 1/2 pounds ripe tomatoes, peeled, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup tomato paste
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons parsley, minced
Salt
Pepper

Saute onion and garlic in oil in large saucepan until tender. Stir in herbs; cook 1 to 2 minutes. Stir in tomatoes, tomato paste and water; heat to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, until sauce is thickened. Stir in parsley; season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes 3 cups.

RED SIMMERED POT ROAST

3-pound beef chuck pot roast, about 1 1/2 inches thick
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1/2 cup Kikkoman Stir-Fry Sauce
1/2 cup burgundy wine
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Brown beef on both sides in hot oil in Dutch oven or large skillet over medium heat. Combine stir-fry sauce and wine; pour over beef. Cover, reduce heat and simmer 1 hour 40 minutes. Add mushrooms and simmer, covered, 15 minutes longer, or until beef is tender. Meanwhile, combine cornstarch and 1/4 cup water; set aside. Remove beef to serving platter; keep warm. Add cornstarch mixture to pan drippings. Cook, stirring, until mixture boils and thickens slightly. To serve, cut beef across grain into thin slices and serve with hot mushroom gravy. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

PINEAPPLE CRANBERRY MOUSSE

1 can (20 oz.) Dole Crushed Pineapple in Juice
2 packages (3 oz. each) raspberry gelatin
1 pkg. (12 oz.) fresh cranberries
1 Dole Orange
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 pint light dairy sour cream
1 can (8 oz.) Dole Crushed Pineapple, drained, optional Mint sprigs
• Drain 20-ounce can pineapple, reserve 1 cup juice. Heat reserved juice to boiling; stir in gelatin until dissolved.
• In food processor or blender, chop cranberries and sliced, unpeeled orange with sugar to make a relish.
• Combine relish and pineapple with gelatin. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in sour cream.

• Pour into 2-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold onto serving plate. Garnish with 8-ounce can of crushed, drained pineapple and mint if desired.

• Serves 10.
Prep time: 15 minutes
Chill time: 4 hours

LOWFAT CHEESE SAUCE FOR VEGETABLES

1 cup part-skim ricotta cheese
1/2 cup evaporated skim milk
2 tsp. ready-to-use minced garlic (or 3 cloves, minced)
1/2 tsp. oregano
1/2 tsp. onion powder
Combine all the ingredients in a saucepan. If you are using fresh garlic, you might want to steam it before adding to the sauce, to soften the flavor. Stirring occasionally, heat until the cheese is melted (about 5 to 10 minutes) Serve sauce over cooked vegetables or baked potatoes. Each 1/4 cup of sauce contains only 3 grams of fat and 76 calories.

CRANBERRY-PECAN PIE

3 1/2 cups cranberries
1/3 cup pecans, coarsely chopped
1 cup plus 3 tablespoons sugar, divided
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup golden raisins
1/4 cup fresh orange juice
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
3 tablespoons butter, melted
Pastry for one 9-inch crust (recipe follows)
1 1/3 cups sour cream
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
Preheat the oven to 400 degrees.
Coarsely chop the berries in a food grinder or food processor. Transfer to a bowl and add pecans, 1 cup of the sugar, the flour, raisins, orange juice, cinnamon and melted butter. Mix thoroughly.
Pat pastry into a buttered 9-inch pie pan. Spoon in the filling. Bake for 45 minutes, until the crust is brown and the filling begins to bubble. Remove from the oven and cool for 30 minutes, leaving the oven on.
Mix the sour cream with the remaining 3 tablespoons sugar and the vanilla. Spread on top of the pie, return to the oven, and bake 5 minutes to set the topping. Cool completely before serving. Serves 8.

PAstry FOR 9-INCH PIE

1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
2 tablespoons sour cream
2 tablespoons sugar (optional)
Place all ingredients in a food processor and process until mixture forms a ball. Remove from food processor and shape into a tight ball. Pat dough into a buttered pie pan.
(This recipe can be doubled to make two pies or a double crust. Divide dough into two parts when you remove it from food processor; wrap half in plastic and refrigerate until ready to use.)

CRANBERRY CHUTNEY

1 cup cranberries
2/3 cup diced apple
Juice and grated zest from 1 tangerine or orange 1/4 to 1/3 cup maple syrup, to taste
2 teaspoons chopped cilantro
Cook the cranberries, zest, juice and maple syrup in a small saucepan over moderate heat until the cranberries pop, about 5 minutes. Cool and stir in the cilantro. Makes about 1 cup.

QUICK BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

(Makes 12 muffins)

2 cups buttermilk baking mix
1/3 cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons packed light brown sugar
2 teaspoons grated orange zest
1 egg
2/3 cup undiluted CARNATION Evaporated Milk
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 cup fresh or frozen blueberries, thawed and drained
2 teaspoons orange juice (optional)
2 tablespoons granulated sugar (optional)

In large bowl, combine baking mix, granulated sugar, brown sugar and orange zest. In small bowl, beat egg lightly; stir in evaporated milk and oil. Add liquid ingredients to dry ingredients; stir just until moistened. Gently fold in blueberries. Spoon batter into 12 greased or paper-lined muffin cups, filling 3/4 full. Gently brush tops with orange juice, and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in preheated 400°F oven or 15 to 18 minutes, or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool for 3 to 4 minutes. Remove from pan; cool on wire rack.

MINI APPLE CIDER-PUMPKIN PANCAKES

1 1/4 cups apple cider
1/4 cup mashed cooked or canned pumpkin
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 tablespoon molasses or honey
2 eggs
1 1/4 cups Gold Medal Wondra quick-mixing flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) margarine or butter, softened
2 tablespoons mashed cooked or canned pumpkin Cider Syrup
Mix cider, 1/4 cup pumpkin, the oil, molasses and eggs in medium bowl, using wire whisk. Mix in flour, baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt until smooth. Drop batter by heaping tablespoonfuls onto hot griddle (grease griddle if necessary). Cook until bubbly and edges begin to dry. Turn and cook other sides until golden brown. Mix margarine and 2 tablespoons pumpkin. Serve pancakes with margarine mixture and warm Cider Syrup. About 26 pancakes (2 1/2 inches each).
Cider Syrup

1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 cup apple cider
1 tablespoon margarine or butter
Mix sugar, cornstarch and cinnamon in 1-quart saucepan. Stir in cider. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat; stir in margarine.

GFWC/KFWC Drift Woman's Club

The GFWC/KFWC Drift Woman's monthly meeting was held October 19, at the Lite Pizza Restaurant at Minnie.

Ruby Akers, vice president, presided. The devotional was given by Celia Little followed by the Pledge to the Flag.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Celia Little, secretary.

The treasury report was given by Jerri Turner, treasurer.

A copy of the Living Will Declaration was distributed and discussed. A copy of "Volunteers in Action" was distributed to inspire members to meet our goals in conservation, education, home life, international affairs, public affairs and the arts.

The GFWC/KFWC Drift Woman's Club delegates to the 74th annual 7th district woman's club conference at Pikeville reported that members received first place blue ribbons and will be taken to the state KFWC convention, in the following categories:

Crewel—Irene Reitz; embroidery, quilt and pillow, Celia Little; quilted wall hanging, Raney Clark; basket and patchwork quilt, Celia Little.

In the art contest for students—McDowell High School winners were: painting oil, Judy Lawson; water color, Stephanie Reed and drawing; pencil, Judy Lawson.

The Drift Woman's Club's fifth annual beauty pageant was discussed. Entry deadline—November 6. Beauty and photogenic category, prettiest dress and prettiest eyes; color and black and white photographs. For more information call 377-2487, 377-2917 or 377-2437.

The program-membership chairman Violet Hall distributed pamphlets and explained that the GFWC/KFWC Drift Woman's Club provides their members with something for everyone, knowledge that they belong to a worthwhile organization and pride in belonging to the best service club; the pleasure of joining others in completing an activity or helping someone who needs assistance. Leadership training and education and the bonus is the friends you meet and keep a life time.

Geraldine Ward, hostess, served refreshments to Ruby Akers, Celia Little, Raney Clark, Mrs. Cheryl Hall, Violet Hall, Jerri Turner, Roberta Luxmore, Karen Slone and Irene Reitz.

The next meeting will be November 16.

MONEY SAVER—My children always left the lights and stereo on. They never gave a thought about the money it cost.

One night, we sat our four kids down and showed them the bills so they could actually see what electricity cost. We put one child each week in charge of checking and turning off electricity when not in use for two months. Their reward was the difference between the previous bill and the new one. It taught them the importance of not wasting electricity, which I hope will carry on when they are on their own some day. Delia C., Baltimore, Md.

PTA provides home safety tips

November will mark the National PTA's seventh annual Child Safety and Protection Month. The first place to undertake efforts to protect our children should start in the home.

Studies show that an average of 1,300 children ages 4 and under die each year from injuries sustained in the home and many more thousands are wounded in these accidents.

To make you home a safe place for children, the PTA offers the following suggestions:

- Unplug unused appliances and power tools; keep them stored safely out of reach. Cover all electrical outlets with safety covers to prevent children from sticking their fingers or small objects into them.

- Never leave a child alone in the bathtub. It only takes seconds for a child to drown in less than two inches of water.

Land management help is available at Forestry Dept.

The Kentucky Division of Forestry encourages all forest land owners to get involved in Forest Management. The Division of Forestry personnel will visit farms to answer owner's questions and will develop a written Management Plan.

This management plan will be written to meet the land owners objective including timber production, wildlife habitat improvement, soil and water conservation and forest recreation.

Each plan will include a stand description, woodland map and recommendations for future practices. This is a free service offered to land owners by the Division of Forestry.

For more information contact, Stephen R. P. Brackett, District Forester of Steve Graves, service forester, at 478-4495 Monday-Friday. The office is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Land owners may return the Stewardship Assistance Application through the mail.

- Keep small objects away from children. Coins, buttons, and safety pins can cause choking.

- Make sure the garage door stays closed. Many children have been hurt when running under the garage door. Take precautions by locking the remote control in the glove compartment and locating the wall-mounted switch out of children's reach.

- Store "danger" items such as medicines, household cleaners, chemicals and drain cleaners away from children. Look for items packaged in "child resistant" containers.

- Post emergency numbers next to your phone to eliminate the search for numbers in a crisis. Be sure to include the number of your local poison-control center.

- Make sure that a family member knows first aid or is enrolled in the next available course.

- Practice fire safety at all times. Install smoke detectors; create a fire escape plan; and keep a multi-purpose fire extinguisher in the kitchen.

HOW TO START GARDENING

by Polly Ward
Feature Writer

Anybody can be a successful indoor/outdoor gardener. Having a "green thumb" or, an innate ability to grow plants, has nothing to do with the art of gardening. What does matter are interest and knowledge. The interest you can develop yourself. The knowledge can be gathered from books.

When I was 22 I began developing a keen interest in gardening. I had watched my grandmother, a master gardener, grow vegetable gardens and flower gardens, fruit trees and berry patches from the time I was a little girl through my teenage years. I never once asked her how she went about developing her gardens. I just looked and appreciated the fruits of her labor, including eating every kind of fruit and vegetable imaginable, and marveling at her gorgeous rose peonies in the spring and her pink, red, yellow, white hollyhocks and red geraniums in the summer, and her white and pink hibiscus bushes in the fall.

Somehow the art of gardening was lost on my parents, who built a modern ranch house on a lot located next to my grandmother's house. My parents' evidently thought "bare is best" when it came to landscaping. A tree was planted in the front yard, grass was sown, and that was it. No vegetable garden, no flowers. Low maintenance, but utterly drab. The contrast between my parents' yard and my grandmother's was striking. But I knew nothing about gardening, so the yard remained as it was - barren.

Then one Saturday I turned on Crockett's Victory Garden on PBS and I was hooked. Not only did the show's host, Jim Crockett, make gardening look easy and fun, he also had a book that explained in month-by-month detail the tasks a gardener should tackle, and how to tackle them.

So I bought the book, "Crockett's Victory Garden" and soon I was on my way to becoming a "real gardener". I ordered seed catalogs, planted tulip and daffodil bulbs, began growing my own vegetable and flower plants from seed, planted roses, flowering shrubs, and ground covers. Neighbors began asking me what this and that plant was, and how to grow certain vegetables and flowers, and how to maintain houseplants. (Crockett had also written a book about houseplants that I had locked in my memory and if I didn't know the answer to a question, I simply looked it up).

I even started my own small greenhouse business (producing organically grown plants) and had good success. In fact, the business was growing faster than I could manage. And I loved it. Circumstances forced me to reluctantly abandon my greenhouse business, but I still love to garden.

The way to start: purchase a basic gardening book like "Victory Garden" (available in bookstores) and study it, then apply what you learn to your own garden. And watch the "Victory Garden" gardening program on KET.

Golden Ages

TAX TIPS FOR OLDER AMERICANS

To make the most of your retirement years, be sure you take full advantage of the special tax breaks available to older Americans. The Kentucky Society of CPAs points out that it's important to consider your eligibility for certain tax deductions and credits, and to understand the tax consequences of tapping into your retirement nest egg.

STANDARD DEDUCTIONS GET BETTER WITH AGE

Individuals who are at least age 65, or blind and do not itemize on their tax returns qualify for an extra standard deduction. For married individuals filing jointly, the 1992 standard deduction is $6,000, plus an additional $700 for each qualified spouse. For single filers, the standard deduction is $3,600, plus an additional $900. The additional deduction doubles for anyone who is both elderly and blind.

DON'T OVERLOOK SPECIAL TAX CREDIT

Individuals over age 65 may also qualify for a special tax credit worth as much as $750 for single individuals and $1,125 for married couples. The Credit for the Elderly and Permanently and Totally Disabled is based on a taxpayer's income, filing status, age, and spouse's age if the taxpayer is married. As a general rule, to qualify for this credit your adjusted gross income (AGI) must not exceed $17,500 if single, or $25,000 if married filing jointly.

Individuals who are under age 65 may also qualify for a tax credit if they are retired on permanent and total disability. This is true even if they receive other retirement income.

KEEP TRACK OF SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS

Many older Americans who rely on Social Security are surprised to learn that in some instances, the government requires them to pay taxes on that income. However, if the only income you received during 1992 was your Social Security or equivalent railroad retirement benefits, your benefits are not taxable.

The higher your income, the more likely you'll be subject to a tax bite. If your adjusted gross income, plus nontaxable interest income, and one-half of your Social Security benefits exceeds $25,000 (or $32,000 for couples filing jointly), a portion of your benefits will be subject to taxes. You will owe taxes on the lesser of one-half of your benefits or one-half of the amount of your combined income (AGI, nontaxable income, and 50 percent of your Social Security benefits).

THINK TAXES WHEN YOU SELL YOUR HOME

If you are age 55 or older and plan to sell your home to relocate to an area with a warmer climate or to move into smaller quarters, you may exclude from your income up to $125,000 of the gain resulting from the sale of your residence. Take note that you and your spouse are entitled to take this tax deduction only once in your lifetime.

TAPPING INTO YOUR RETIREMENT FUNDS

If you socked money away in a company retirement plan or another pension plan, carefully consider your options for withdrawing your money. How and when the funds are withdrawn affects their tax treatment.

Generally, benefits can be paid to employees in the form of an annuity or in a lump sum. With an annuity, an employee usually receives monthly payments for the rest of his or her life. Annuities are taxed as ordinary income. However, if you contributed after-tax dollars to a company retirement program, you need not pay taxes when these contributions are withdrawn over the life of the annuity.

TAX CONSEQUENCES OF LUMP-SUM DISTRIBUTIONS

Taxpayers who opt to receive their retirement benefits in a lump sum may feel like they just stumbled upon a pot of gold. However, although you are free to spend—and invest—your lump-sum distributions in whatever way you choose, care should be taken to ensure that these funds are not depleted prematurely. For tax purposes, a lump-sum distribution means that you withdraw the entire balance of your retirement benefits within a single tax year.

If you were not at least age 50 before January 1986 and you receive a lump-sum distribution before age 59 1/2, you have only two choices: pay taxes on the distribution or roll the funds into an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or other qualified retirement plan. If you opt to roll your funds into an IRA, you must do so within 60 days from the date you receive the retirement benefit. Once you reach age 59 1/2, distributions from IRAs are generally taxed as ordinary income. However, you may still roll over your distributions into another IRA without any tax consequence.

More options are available to individuals who were at least age 50 before January 1, 1986 and participated in their employer's plan for a minimum of five years. They can elect a tax-free rollover into an IRA, or pay taxes on the distribution using either five-year averaging at 1992 rates, or ten-year averaging at 1986 rates.

With each averaging method, you pay five or ten times the tax (at single rates) on one-fifth or one-tenth of the amount of the distribution in the year in which you receive it. CPAs recommend that before selecting either five-year averaging or ten-year averaging, you take the time to calculate your tax both ways so you know which is the most beneficial. And remember, whichever method you choose, the decision is final.

When you're living on a fixed income, every penny counts. Being aware of how the tax law affects you and your income may help you make the most of those pennies during your golden years.

50th anniversary

The children of John P. and Betty F. Bentley of Langley, announce the 50th wedding anniversary celebration for their parents, November 28, at 2 p.m. at the Maytown United Methodist Church in Langley. All family and friends are urged to attend. The couple was united in marriage on November 25, 1942, at the Portland Avenue Baptist Church in Louisville, by the Reverend Paul Jagers.

Cancer Answers

Q: When my kids were growing up, we thought being out in the sun was good for them. I babysit for my grandchildren in the summer. My daughter tells me to keep them out of the sun or put sunscreen on them. Is she right?

Everyone is at risk, but fair-skinned people need to be especially careful. Skin cancer is the most common type of cancer in the United States, and the number of cases keeps increasing.

When your grandchildren go outdoors, put sunscreen on them. Use a sunscreen with a protection rating of at least 15 SPF. Try to get them to play in the shade, and wear hats and protective clothing in the sun.

For a free fact sheet on how to protect yourself and your children from skin cancer, call 1-800-4-CANCER.

A: Protection from the sun should start in childhood to prevent skin cancer later in life. Most skin cancers appear after age 50, but the sun's damaging effects begin at an early age. Skin cancer is related to lifetime exposure to ultraviolet radiation.

Business/Real Estate

Lender should foreclose on property

SMART MONEY

BRUCE WILLIAMS

DEAR BRUCE: Twenty-four years ago, my husband and I inherited 37 1/2 acres of farmland. We are city people and had no interest in farming, but the taxes were so low we thought we would hang onto it, and maybe one day it would be worth something.

Three years ago, a farmer in the area made us an offer for the property, conditioned on the fact that we take the mortgage. He said that no bank would loan money on land without buildings on it. Our investigations substantiated his position. We sold him the property and took back the mortgage. For the first two years, he made his payments on time and there was no problem.

In the meantime, we moved from Omaha to our winter home in Florida, intending to make it our permanent home.

A couple of months ago, the payments were missed. We waited until the next month, still no money. We called him and he said he was having a tough time, but he would try to get caught up. Well, he hasn't caught up. He hasn't sent us another penny.

We aren't angry with him because we know he's having difficulties, but what should we or can we do at this time? He did give us 20 percent down but with the interest taken into account, he still owes us about what he did when he bought the place.

What are our choices, or do we have any?—L.S.

DEAR L.S.: Of course you have choices. One is to do what a professional lender would do, and that's foreclose on the property. The buyer has violated his contract, and you have every right to take the property back. This will involve a legal procedure, and then the property will be sold at auction.

Customarily, you will bid what is owed on the property. That way, if someone else comes in and wants to bid more, that's fine, you're off the hook. But if you don't bid, there's a distinct possibility that someone will bid a lot lower and the property will be sold. Then you'll have to go after the farmer for what is known as the deficiency. If he owes you, say, $50,000, then that's your opening bid.

In the event that someone bids higher, you're out; if not, you've got the property back. You could, of course go to the farmer and try to work out some kind of a new deal. You still have the right to foreclose at some time in the future.

This is the problem with carrying the mortgage. You run the same risks as any professional lender, but without the professional expertise.

DEAR BRUCE: My wife, God bless her, is a bundle of energy and willing to work hard to get us the things that I can't provide on my salary. That's the good news.

The bad news is that she wants to go into the cleaning business. She's already found two people who are as enthusiastic as she is about her coming in to clean their places at night.

The one problem is that she says the only way she can be competitive is not to buy insurance. This makes me very, very nervous. I know that as a businessman myself, there are people out there just waiting to sue you. She says that there is nothing to worry about since nobody is allowed in the offices when she's there. She will have worker's compensation for her employees; it's just the liability insurance and the bonding that she is staying away from.

She says I'm an old lady. Isn't that something coming from a feminist?—C.P., Chicago

DEAR C.P.: Well, if you're an old lady, so am I! I do have a problem with not having some insurance to cover that possibility that one of her customers decides that she walked off with the family jewels—in this case, the corporate jewels.

Understand that frequently claims are baseless, but the cost of defending those claims has sent many a small business into bankruptcy. The reason that your wife is so favorably looked upon, is the fact that she doesn't have this additional overhead, so she can undercut the competition. That can go on only so long.

If I were in your situation, I would be very, very reluctant to endorse it, though I don't know how in the world you can stop someone who decides to do something. At the very least, you should insist that your wife separate her affairs completely from yours (that includes ownership of your home, joint bank accounts, and whatever). That way, if she does get herself into hot water, they can't come after the assets that you two have worked so hard for. Good luck.

Lowest rates in nation

Electric rates for residential customers of Kentucky Power Company are among the lowest in the nation, a study by the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC) has confirmed.

NARUC's national study of residential electric bills from the winter of 1991-92 shows that Kentucky Power is among the country's 25 electric utility companies with the least expensive rates for customers.

A Kentucky Power customer who used 500 kilowatt-hours in each of the three winter months—December, January and February—would have paid a total of $90.25 for electric service during that time span, according to NARUC.

Kentucky Power had the 20th least-expensive rates in the NARUC listing. Many of the electric utility companies with lower rates are utilities that sell cheap hydropower from the major dams of the Pacific Northwest.

Residential rates of 191 electric utility company jurisdictions were examined in the NARUC study.

A.C. takes it to the bank

Recently on October 8, Mrs. Osborne's Business and Recordkeeping classes at Allen Central High School celebrated a week-long study of the P.E.P. program presented by Donna Roope by taking a field trip to the Bank Josephine. They toured each department including bookkeeping, reception area, savings and loan and the vault. But don't worry no one got locked in. The classes made it back to school safely for sixth period!

Managing Your Biggest Investment

Remodeling your home: How much is too much?

by Dorothy Harris
The classic way for homeowners to increase the value of their house is by remodeling existing rooms or adding on to its current plan.

Some choose to build recreation rooms and studios while others add new appliances, fixtures and cabinets to enliven rooms and make their home more attractive to future buyers.

But, when should you decide to stop sinking money into a home and buy a bigger place? And how much rehab is too much when it comes time to recovering remodeling costs through a home sale?

For instance, if you've just spent $1,000 remodeling your living room and didn't expand your small bathroom, the chances of increasing the number of interested buyers are slim.

With these concerns in mind, Century 21 sales associates offer a few tips for those struggling to add value to their home.

First, always protect the character of your home. Nothing sticks out more than a new addition that is in a completely different architectural style. Be consistent. Recognize your home's character and stay within its framework.

The most financially rewarding areas to remodel are usually the kitchen and bath. Newly re-done cooking spaces and cabinets can attract more buyers and may command a slightly higher price for the home than a comparable one on the market. Simple repairs that are made to last will bring you the biggest returns upon sale.

Enlarged bathrooms are the most popular attraction for new home buyers, according to the National Kitchen and Bath Association. Today, the most popular additions for younger buyers are sunken whirlpool baths and showers. But be sure to install modest, solid amenities. It's easy to quickly over-spend on bathroom fixtures.

Buyers are, by convention, more interested in above-ground living spaces—not basements, yards and walkways. Swimming pools can be a poor investment if installed for the sole purpose of increasing a home's value; it's rare that a pool's cost will be recovered in a home sale. It can also be a negative feature for potential buyers with very young children.

Replacing worn carpeting, tiles and wood floors can give your home immediate advantage over similar properties in the area. Updating paint colors in all areas of your home can also prove beneficial.

However, it's recommended that your use neutral colors, such as gray, beige and off-white when adding new floor and wall coverings. Fewer buyers will then turn away because of differing tastes.

Stay simple with your remodeling and look at your home as though you were the buyer. Chances are that if you find the upstairs bedroom could be brightened by a larger window, potential buyers will probably feel the same.

Don't go overboard. Concentrate on improving two or three deficiencies in your home. More than likely, the time and money you spend adding quality to your home will be rewarded with greater profit at selling time.

Business plan seminar offers tips on selling

The East Kentucky Small Business Development Center will offer a seminar entitled "Creating An Effective Business Plan". This seminar will be conducted by Michael Morley, Management Consultant for the East Kentucky Small Business Development Center.

This seminar is scheduled for Thursday, November 12, from 6:00-9:00 p.m. at the East Kentucky Beverage Auditorium, U.S. 23 North, (near Long John Silver's), Pikeville. This program is available to all individuals, without regard to race, color, sex, creed, or national origin. Arrangements will be made to accommodate handicapped people when a request accompanies advance registration. This seminar is being presented at no charge and is co-sponsored by Morehead State University Small Business Development Center.

This seminar will offer guidance in the development of a business plan, including the areas of business description, products or services, sales and marketing, operation requirements and financial management.

The number of people who can attend this seminar will be limited only by available space. For additional information or to pre-register, contact Linda or Mike at the Small Business Development Center at (606) 432-5848.

Sell to Uncle Sam workshop planned

If you have been in business one year or longer as a manufacturer, wholesaler, service business, or construction firm, and want to know how to sell to Uncle Sam and the Commonwealth of Kentucky, then plan on attending a contracting workshop November 19, at the Mark II in Pikeville from 1:30-4:30 p.m. This is offered by the Cabinet for Economic Development, the Pike County Chamber of Commerce, and The Small Business Development Center, as well as other area Chambers of Commerce.

There is a $20 charge for the workshop. For more details or to register call Priscilla at (606) 432-5504.

Check Your Home

by Ray F. Cawood

Q: My room is beneath a bathroom and the sound of drain water coming through the pipes seems loud. Would this be because the wall is thin?

A: Maybe. Could be that the pipes are plastic. Plastic pipes are noisier than iron pipes.

Q: We are thinking of having the washing machine drain directly outside instead of to the septic system. Is that advisable?

A: No. Could be a health hazard.

Q: What safety devices do you look for on a hot water heater when you inspect a home?

A: A pressure/temperature relief valve. Also check to see if there is enough piping to discharge any blow-off to a safe location. Your hot water heater manual should tell you whether you have such a valve.

By the year 2000, the dearth of young workers may hamper the ability of companies to grow rapidly or to respond to change. With the absolute numbers of new workers age 16-34 declining by almost 5 million, many companies may find themselves unable to move rapidly to hire large numbers of new workers to respond to changing economic conditions, according to Workforce 2000, a U.S. Labor Department publication.

The proposed major revision area is approximately 0.50 miles northwest from KY Route 7's junction with KY Route 899 and located 0.10 miles north of Right Beaver Creek. The latitude is 37 25' 22". The longitude is 82 47' 59".

The proposed major revision is located on the Wayland U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be affected by the major revision is owned by Barnett Heirs. The operation will affect an area within 100 feet of public road KY Route 7. The operation will not involve relocation or closure of the public road.

The major revision proposes to add 0.28 acres for a coal stockpile area and 0.01 acres for haul road "D", which in conjunction with haul road "A" will provide access to the coal stockpile area.

The major revision application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 1346 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653-1468. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT

C.A. NO. 90-CI-060

Pikeville National Bank and Trust Company.....Plaintiff VS: NOTICE OF SALE

Randall Keith Williams and Loretta Lynn Hall Williams.....Defendants

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the April 16 term, 1990, March 1 term, 1991, and September 8, 1992 term, 1992, in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 19th day of November, 1992, at 10:30 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of thirty (30) days, the following described property, to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land, lying and being on the waters of Mud Creek in Floyd County, Kentucky, being the same property conveyed Keith Williams by deed from Tammie Sue Hall, et al., dated January 10, 1989, recorded in Deed Book 324, page 638, Floyd County Clerk's Office, being more particularly described as follows, viz:

Beginning at Highway 979 at the corner of Earmel Bentley's line; thence south with 979 to the corner of the yard fence; thence west with fence to smoke house, on the right corner of smoke house; thence to the left pear tree that stands with three pear trees; thence in a straight line to Earmel Bentley's line and with Earmel Bentley's line to the beginning.

This property is sold, subject to property taxes due Floyd County, Kentucky.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $33,867.83, with interest thereon at 10.75% annually from May 1, 1992 until September 8, 1992, and thereafter at the rate of 12% per annum from the 8th day of September, 1992, until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 30th day of October, 1992.

John Earl Hunt,
Master Commissioner
Floyd Circuit Court
