Traffic waits for progress

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Motorists travelling through the intersection of U.S. 23 and Kentucky 114 can expect at least another two weeks of slow moving as the Kentucky Department of Highways rearranges the interchange to allow improved traffic flow.

Denton Billiter of the Pikeville District of the Department of Highways said Tuesday that the delay was a necessary result of improving the highway system.

"We're in that phase where we're having to... shift traffic flows to complete the project," Billiter said, and stressed that drivers should remain patient.

Billiter said that highway workers should soon have lighted signs installed to redirect traffic flow and hopefully end any confusion.

The department should have the redirection phase of construction completed within the next two to three weeks, Billiter said. When construction is completed, U.S. 23 will pass over Ky. 114, with exit ramps to both the Glynn View Plaza and the Prestonsburg Village Shopping Center.

Fred James of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce and Prestonsburg Tourism Commission said Tuesday that state highway officials were meeting to discuss changing the timing on traffic lights at the

Allen seeks to ban sale of alcohol

Beer, taxes and commission vacancies were the hot topics Monday at the Allen City Commission meeting.

Commissioner voted to prepare an ordinance to ban the sale of alcoholic beverages inside the city limits after several commissioners were approached by citizens wanting to locate a beer store in the city.

Mayor Elmer "Fudd" Parsons said the city does not have an ordinance on the books banning the sale and that the only ordinance he could find relating to the sale of alcohol was in 1945 which lowered the fee for a whiskey license to $200.

Commissioner Chris Waugh said he would investigate the legalities of banning the sale of alcohol in the city

Police cruiser rammed during suspect's arrest

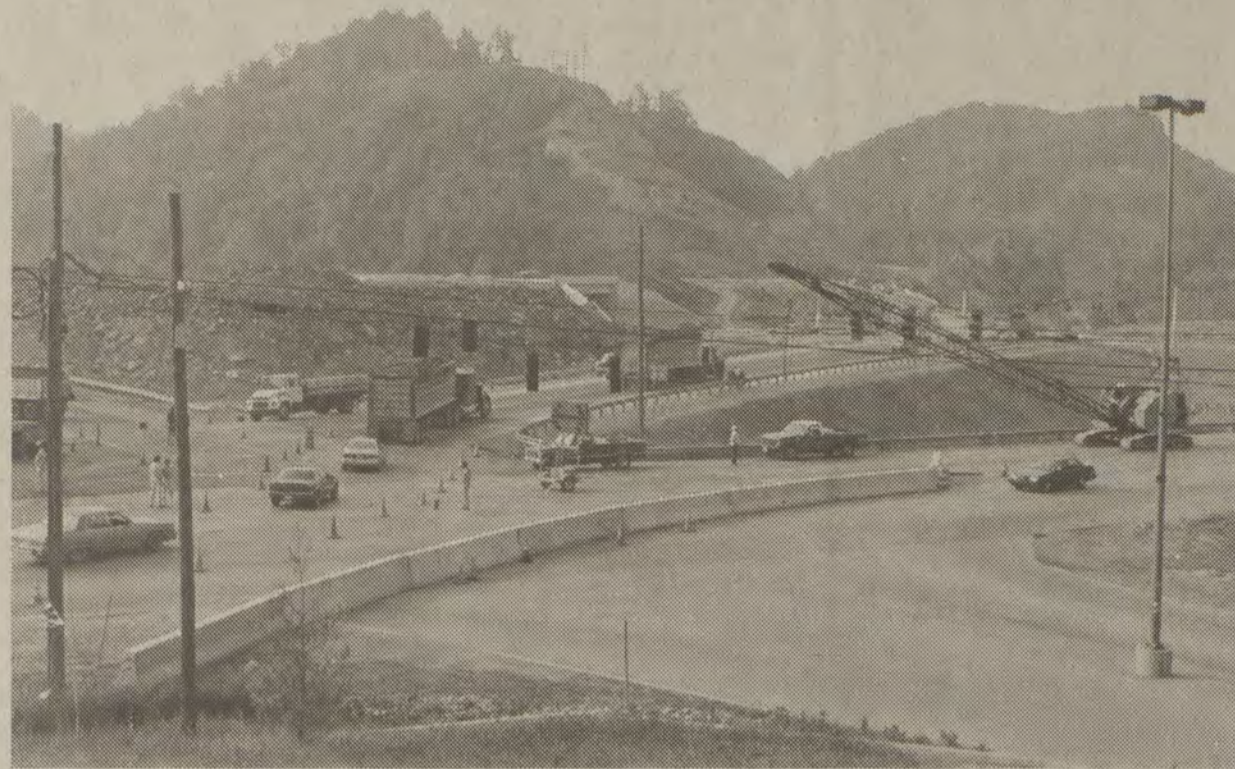

A Central Kentucky man swerved off the road at Ivel last week, striking a parked Kentucky State Police cruiser and injuring himself and two others.

Brian Faust, 29, of Lancaster was driving south on U.S. 23 at Ivel last Thursday when his 1984 BMW ran off the road and onto the shoulder, hitting the patrol car of Trooper James Hopkins. The emergency equipment on Hopkins' vehicle was activated at the time of the accident.

The incident occurred at approximately 11:16 p.m.

Hopkins was standing outside the vehicle at the time of the accident while assisting in the removal of a car involved in an earlier hit and run accident.

Faust was rushed to Pikeville Methodist Hospital, where he was admitted with a broken leg. He was later transported to the University of

Standing at the crossroads

Motorists passing through the intersection of U.S. 23 and Ky. 114 can expect another 2-3 weeks of unavoidable delay while Kentucky Department of Highways workers redirect the interchange for better access to the city of Prestonsburg and surrounding shopping centers. A spokesperson for the department said Tuesday that lighted signs will be installed soon to help avoid any confusion concerning the new direction of traffic flow. When the project is completed, U.S. 23 will pass completely over Ky. 114. (photo by Geoff Belcher)

Landfill protesters get second chance to air contention at public hearing

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Tempers and emotions are expected to once again reach a fever pitch this week when officials of Kentucky's Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet conduct the second public hearing concerning the approval of a proposed residual landfill to be located at Ivel.

Mike Francisco, chief engineer for Costain Coal, Incorporated, the Pikeville-based company which proposed the landfill, said last week that the second hearing will take place to assuage complaints by members of the Ivel and Big Sandy Citizens Against Pollution who feel they were not allowed ample time at the last hearing.

The landfill is to contain fly and bottom ash produced by the burning of coal which Costain will supply to an out-of-state coal-generating power plant.

Although an official with the Environmental Protection Cabinet has said that fly and bottom ash from coal incineration are neither toxic nor hazardous, they do contain low concentrations of heavy metals such as lead and arsenic which have raised concerns with local residents.

Opponents of the landfill's construction fear that its proximity to the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River, the main water supply for much of Eastern Kentucky, will inevitably lead to health hazards and environmental disaster and have asked Costain to either place the waste back in the ground the coal was originally extracted from or renegotiate the contract to keep the ash in the state in which it is burned.

Those in favor of the landfill, including representatives from Costain, Industrial Technologies Corporation and Kentucky's Coal Operators Association, say that such facilities are necessary for Kentucky to remain competitive with other coal-producing states. They have also said that putting the waste back in the overburden would be potentially more hazardous than putting it in one central location where it can be monitored and contained safely.

The application for the proposed site has passed the second phase of the approval process, the "administrative" phase, and is currently in the third or "technical" phase of the review process.

Documents related to the application are available for public review at the Floyd County Judge/Executive's office in Prestonsburg and at the Division of Waste Management office at 14 Reilly Road in Frankfort.

Persons wishing to attend the hearing but who have disabilities which require special assistance should contact Linda Nutgrass at (502) 564-6716.

The hearing will take place this Thursday, September 24, at the Allen Central High School gymnasium at 7 p.m.

Gas rate proposal axed by commission

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A push to lower gas rates in the city of Wheelwright got the axe Thursday night when the commissioner who proposed the cut withdrew his ordinance.

Commissioner Lowell Parker, who has tried to pass the measure for several months, threw in the towel at Thursday's meeting saying, "I've had it. If you want to be big spenders, we'll spend it."

Parker was referring to discussions that a fifty-cent cut in the gas rates would eventually place the utility commission in a financial bind.

Tribunal upholds firing of principal

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A three-member tribunal voted Tuesday to uphold the firing of a Floyd County principal because he falsified his employment application, but recommended the principal submit a valid application to the district for future consideration.

The panel agreed that interim Floyd County school superintendent Eldon Smith was justified in firing Wheelwright High School principal Lewis "Spike" Berkheimer in July because he failed to include on his application that he pleaded guilty in Ohio to contributing to the unruliness of a minor in 1976.

On his employment application, Berkheimer wrote no to the question asking if he had been convicted of, or pleaded guilty to, any crime other than a minor traffic violation.

Smith, who fired the principal on the recommendation of Education Commissioner Thomas Boysen, had also charged Berkheimer with allegedly having inappropriate sexual contact with a 15-year-old female student on two separate occasions at the school.

The sexual contact charge was dropped during the hearing on Monday by Cliff Latta, the school system's attorney. Latta said Monday the charge was dropped to "expedite" the proceedings of the appeal hearing.

Trammel says civil rights were violated

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A Carl D. Perkins Job Corps counselor who was cleared last week of charges that he ordered an assault on a student may have to take legal action to get his job back.

Keith Bartley, the attorney representing Job Corps counselor Clarence Trammell Jr., released a letter Tuesday signed by center director Edna Higginbotham which spelled out the terms which Trammell must accept before returning to work.

Terms Bartley called unacceptable.

The letter said if Trammell returned to work he would be subject to a probationary period as with any new employee; that he would not receive any back pay for six months; that he would be placed in the position of resident advisor; and that he would be terminated if he was involved in "any incident that reflects negatively" on himself or the center.

Charges of criminal solicitation and facilitation against Trammell, 52, were dismissed last week in Floyd County District Court. Trammell was accused of organizing an attack on a 17-year-old student at the center in January. He was placed on suspension after his arrest.

In the proposal, the state agreed to conditionally dismiss the charges on grounds it "might be difficult" for the state to obtain a conviction and that Trammell realized the "risk of a trial by jury."

The conditional dismissal said that Trammell's case would not be re-docketed unless he failed to obey the law or was convicted of any criminal offense in the next 180 days.

Trammell called the offer "ludicrous" and said it violated his civil rights.

"It violates my civil rights because it denies me the opportunity to go back to work to help the young men and women at the center," Trammell said. "It also denies my rights to my full back pay and my reinstatement as a counselor. I think that is wrong."

Bartley said Trammell intends to file legal action against the center if an agreement cannot be worked out between the two sides.

"They are denying Clarence Tram-

Latta added that he had not wanted to proceed with sexual contact charges "from the beginning."

Berkheimer's attorney, John David Caudill, said the evidence wasn't there for the school system to pursue the sexual abuse charges.

"I'm not surprised," Caudill said. "That was the proper decision by Mr. Latta."

Berkheimer was charged with two counts of first degree sexual abuse by state police. Those charges were dismissed in March by Floyd County District Judge Danny Caudill who determined that not enough evidence was presented during the preliminary hearing to warrant the charges. The case was also presented to a Floyd County Grand Jury who did not issue an indictment.

Berkheimer testified Monday that he omitted the Ohio charge on his application on the advice of an Ohio superintendent who told him in 1979 that he had "paid the price" and that he didn't need to bring it "out of the closet" for the rest of his life.

Caudill explained Monday that his client was sentenced to six months in a Cincinnati work house for pleading guilty to having an affair with a 17-year-old student in 1976.

After Tuesday's decision, Latta said he was satisfied with the ruling and that it vindicated Smith's actions.

(See Berkheimer, page three) mell exactly what the corporation's rule and regulations guarantee him," Bartley said. "They are denying him full back pay with benefits. Also, this is a man who has worked there eight years and they want to treat him like a new employee."

"As for the condition of the dismissal that he obey the laws of the commonwealth, that's a condition to live in the state of Kentucky, not a condition just for Clarence Trammell," Bartley said.

Squire's districts divided

New district boundary lines were drawn in two magisterial districts Friday by the Floyd County Fiscal Court, a decision that was almost made by the flip of a coin.

District one magistrate Gerald DeRossett and district two squire Jackie Edford Owens reached an amicable agreement at Friday's court meeting after a spirited debate on the issue of whether to move two or three precincts into Owens' district.

Owens disagreed with placing three additional precincts in his district saying it would almost double the size of territory and it would be difficult to "make friends with them from now until election."

DeRossett countered that the re-districting is to be based on population, not the size of the district.

Magistrate Ernil Tackett suggested the two men decide the issue by a coin toss since they were unable to agree on the issue.

Judge-executive John M. Stumbo endorsed the coin toss decision, but magistrate Owens said "I ain't no good at flipping a coin."

DeRossett finally relented to just two precincts being moved to Owens' district, Jack Allen and Middle Creek. Magistrates Betty Caudill and Tackett, who would not make the decision, agreed to the move, pro-

Bank Josephine bandit indicted

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

The man accused of robbing the North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg branch of the Bank Josephine twice in less than two weeks has now been formally indicted for those two robberies as well as another in Ashland. Jeffrey Mullins, 32, formerly of Hi Hat, was captured in the early morning hours of Saturday, July 25 in Ceredo, West Virginia, where he had been staying with a female companion.

Officers of the Ceredo Police Department and agents from the Federal Bureau of Investigation captured Mullins acting on information obtained by the Prestonsburg Police Department and the Boyd County Sheriff's Department.

Prestonsburg Chief of Police Greg Hall and Detective Ricky Conn assisted in the investigation which led to Mullins' arrest and participated in stakeouts at Ashland, which Mullins had used in recent years as his base of operations.

Mullins was indicted last Tuesday by a grand jury of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky in Lexington.

Mullins was charged with robbing the North Lake Drive Bank Josephine branch on June 26 and July 8. He was also charged with the July 17 robbery of the Westwood Branch of the First American Bank near Ashland.

Mullins allegedly took $8,600 in the June 26 heist, $4,069 in the July 8 robbery and $3,750 in the July 17 Ashland robbery.

Mullins is also presently under indictment in West Virginia on two counts of bank robbery and two firearm related charges and is being held without bond on these charges in West Virginia.

All of the robberies of which Mullins is accused are still under investigation by the Pikeville and Huntington, West Virginia offices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation as well as both state and local authorities.

Cochran explains school safety tips that saved his life

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Assisting Prestonsburg Fire Marshal Larry Adams this year in his annual "Fire Prevention Week" tour of Floyd County schools will be a Prestonsburg man whose life was saved thanks to Fire Prevention Week tours in years past.

Jimmy Cochran, a mechanic for the city of Prestonsburg, narrowly avoided serious injury or even death three years ago when his gasoline and diesel-soaked coveralls burst into flame while he was huddled near an open fire for warmth.

Remembering the lessons he had learned in elementary school when the Prestonsburg Fire Department conducted its annual Fire Prevention Week lecture, Cochran stopped, dropped and rolled, extinguishing the flames.

Although his coveralls and underlying clothing were destroyed, Cochran suffered only minor burns on the back of his left leg.

Adams said Tuesday that Cochran will accompany him and Freddie the Fire Hydrant and other famous costumed characters for "Freddie and Friends for Fire Safety" when they tour the county's elementary schools between October 4 and October 10, National Fire Prevention Week. Adams will also visit day care and head start facilities in the county.

Adams said that fires in 1991 accounted for 4,465 deaths, 29,375 injuries nationwide and nearly nine billion dollars worth of property loss. Also in 1991, there were 9,000 fires in educational facilities.

1991 fire statistics for the city of Prestonsburg include 24 residential fires, 29 business fires and one arson fire, Adams said.

Berkhimer

"I feel sad for Mr. Berkhimer and I feel glad about the decision for the interim superintendent; it was important," Latta said. "This will send the message that in failing to file an accurate employment application this type of action can be taken. Under the Kentucky Education Reform Act, we must take the bitter pills and enforce our rules and regulations."

Berkhimer's attorney said the tribunal's ruling would have to be evaluated before a decision is made whether to appeal the ruling.

"We will discuss it and attempt to determine what decision was made," Caudill said. "The tribunal upheld the termination, but requested that Mr. Berkhimer file a new application. Obviously we disagree with their ruling."

When asked if he would submit a valid employment application, Berkhimer said, "We'll find out what it means (the ruling) and then decide."

If Berkhimer appeals the decision, the issue will be moved to Floyd County Circuit Court.

Attorney's for both sides exchanged several heated discussions during the two-day hearing in which testimony was given by Smith, Berkhimer, ousted superintendent Ron Hager and assistant superintendent Gary Frazier.

Smith, who was named interim superintendent when Hager was suspended by the state school board, testified Monday that he would not have rehired Berkhimer in April if he had known about the prior conviction.

Hager testified Monday that he was "vaguely" aware in March of a misdemeanor charge against Berkhimer, but that the two talked about the incident in detail after the principal was charged.

When asked if he would have revealed the misdemeanor charge on an employment application, Hager answered, "I'd have put it down, yes. I'm putting on my applications that the state board ousted me."

The tribunal, made up of an administrator from Laurel County, a civil engineer from Frankfort and a Pike County teacher, deliberated for over two hours Tuesday before reaching their decision.

The hearing, which was open to the public, was held in the conference room of the Floyd County Library.

Districts

vided Owens and DeRossett agreed.

Paul Gearheart, who was one of three commissioners appointed to redraw the district boundaries, resigned from the committee on July 29 which left a split between commissioners Hattie Owens and Tom Smith.

Smith had recommended that three precincts be added to Jackie Owens' district, but his wife, Hattie Owens contended that adding three districts would double the size of her husband's district.

In other business Friday, the court heard a progress report on economic development from Floyd County Development Authority director Darrell Gilliam.

Acquiring an option on the Lowe's property on KY 114 in Prestonsburg to house the Kentucky Opry and property for a proposed harness racing track in Prestonsburg have been two of the authority's top projects, Gilliam told the court.

Gilliam also reported that he has met with industrial prospects in Atlanta and Los Angeles, California. Gilliam declined to publically discuss the details of the two meetings, but offered to meet with the court in closed session to provide them with the information.

The court did not meet with Gilliam in private to talk about the two prospects.

All of the county's industrial sites have been cataloged and video taped to send to companies wanting information on Floyd County, Gilliam said.

Other business included:

- discussing a request from Don Neeley to build a bridge on the Left Fork of Abbott;
- discussing a complaint from Elaine Boyd of Dana about poor cable service from Tel Com;
- receiving an invitation from Troy Cole to attend a public hearing at Allen Central High School on September 24 to discuss a proposed fly ash landfill at Ivel;
- receiving the sheriff's 1991 tax settlement;
- holding first reading to refinance mortgage bonds;
- setting the county tax rates for 1993, which remained the same;
- appointing water commissioners to the Mud Creek Water District, David Water District, Beaver Elkhorn Water District and Sandy Valley Water Districts; and
- authorizing judge-executive Stumbo to borrow the necessary funds to get the Floyd County Landfill into operation.

All members attended Friday's meeting and the next meeting of the fiscal court will be October 16 at 10 a.m. at the courthouse annex.

Pikeville judge receives award

The Kentucky Academy of Trial Attorneys recently announced that the 1992 Henry V. Pennington Outstanding Trial Judge Award will be presented to Circuit Judge Bayard V. Collier of Pikeville. The selection was made from nominations submitted by KATA members throughout Kentucky.

The Kentucky Academy of Trial Attorneys presents the Pennington award annually to one member of Kentucky's Circuit Court, who has demonstrated excellence in fairness, judicial temperament, qualifications, and overall exemplary service to the public.

The Award will be presented at the Annual Convention of the Kentucky Academy of Trial Attorneys at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in downtown Louisville on Friday, September 25. Approximately 200 trial attorneys will be in attendance at the Convention and the luncheon ceremony.

Judge Bayard V. Collier was born August 28, 1953 in Louisville. He graduated from Eastern Kentucky University in 1976 with high distinction and a B.A. Degree in Political Science. He later attended the University of Kentucky School of Law, graduating in 1979. Between 1979 and 1985, Judge Collier engaged in the private practice of law and, in addition, served as Assistant County Attorney. He has served on the bench of both the District and Circuit Courts of Pike County during his judicial career.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

Guest Editorial :

Test of family values

Congress is about to present President Bush with another medical-leave and family-leave bill that would provide some relief to parents caught between obligations at work and family emergencies at home.

But in spite of repeated promises to defend America's families, Bush has never delivered much more than rhetoric. In 1990, he vetoed similar legislation, saying he'd rather not overburden big business, and he threatens to veto the new bill as well.

The most striking thing about the bill is its sheer modesty. It would affect only firms with 50 employees or more—5 percent of all businesses—requiring them to grant employees up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave for the birth of a child, adoption or the serious illness of the employee or the employee's spouse, child or parent. Firms would have to continue to provide health insurance and a guarantee of job protection to employees on leave.

While Bush has criticized these provisions as costly for business, companies that have voluntarily enacted the measure have found that helping workers through family crises creates a more stable work force and reduces the expense of hiring and training a new employee.

And though it would offer a strong boost to working parents, the bill looks anemic compared to more progressive family-leave laws in countries such as Germany, where workers are granted 14 weeks leave with full pay.

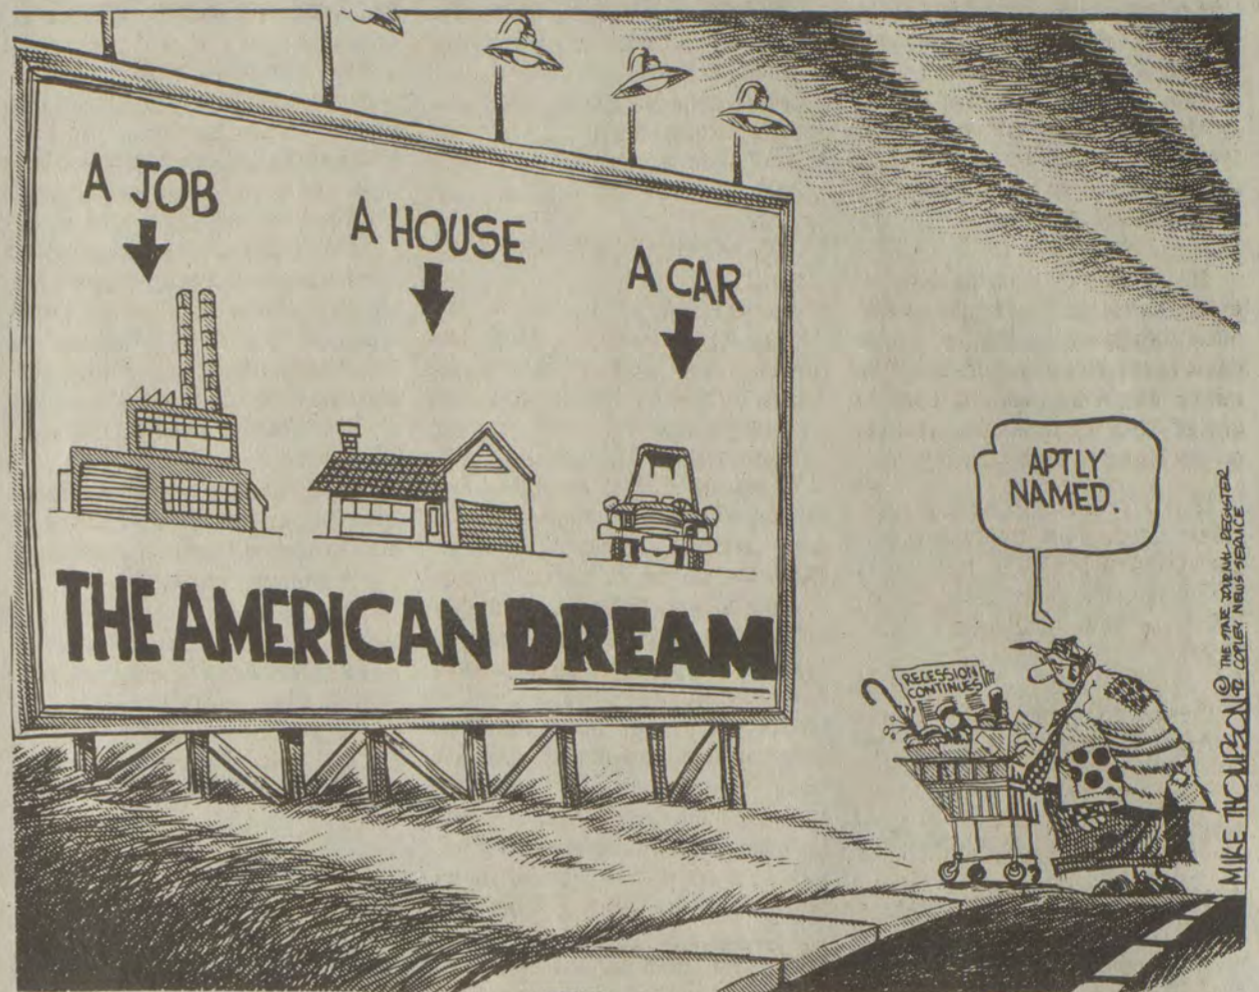

The United States is one of the last countries in the industrialized world where working mothers and fathers risk losing their jobs when family illness or the birth of a child keeps them at home. The bill was easily approved by the Senate and by the House, although the House margin fell short of the two-thirds vote needed to override the anticipated veto.

Bush's campaign people will undoubtedly complain that the timing of the bill is tied to campaign politics—forcing the president to confront a politically sensitive issue just before the election.

That may be true, but it's good policy as well. Two out of three American mothers are now a permanent part of the work force; so are half the mothers with children under age 1. And 300,000 workers with serious medical conditions have lost their jobs since Bush vetoed the 1990 family-leave legislation, according to a Cornell University study.

Does this administration really care about them? If the concept of "family values" is to take on any real meaning, a bill like this is the first step.

Combined efforts produce success

Editor:
Here's what can happen when people work together: As happens to many organizations at some point in time, the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival Committee needed some extra assistance to get the job done. The Kentucky Opry stepped in to help, and now the festival has just completed its twenty-seventh year.

We have many people to thank: The Prestonsburg Tourism Commission and its staff, Leon Russell and the staff at the Jenny Wiley State Park, Kenny Scott, Jim Sparks and many others.

The purpose of this letter is not just to express thanks, however. We want to give an example of what cooperation is all about. Kentucky Opry asked how they could help us. They immediately acknowledged the differences between what they do and what we do. They took the time to learn about our festival so that they could give us the help that we needed. Although the Kentucky Opry and Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival are two diverse groups, we recognized some common goals and came to see some ways that each organization can help the other reach those goals. Ultimately, organizations and events which are in the business of promoting the area and our people will enhance each other if we work together.

Thank you, Angie Collins, Beth Howard, David Morris, James Whited, Freddie "Munroe Birdshot" Goble, Mickey Bentley, Billie Jean Osborne, and most especially Greg Crum. If the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival can do anything for Kentucky Opry, please let us know.

Thanks for all help and support

Editor:
Our neighborhood would like to take this opportunity to thank Judge John M. Stumbo for all his time and work spent on the approval of a fire hydrant for the protection of the Abbott Creek area. Also thanks should go out to Bill H. Howard, Prestonsburg Utilities manager, for his efforts and understanding and to Gerald DeRossett, magistrate for his time spent on such a small matter.

"Bring A Bike Day"

Editor:
St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Bring A Bike Day" safety course will be conducted at Mountain Christian Academy Preschool on October 15th and 16th to encourage safe riding behavior among children and raise money to fight childhood cancer.

Bicycle accidents are a major problem with American children. According to the National Safety Council, there are an estimated 1,000 fatal accidents and 500,000 injuries a year involving bicycles. "Bring a Bike Day" aims at making children aware of bike safety at an early age, which we hope will save our children from harm.

Parents of children at Mountain Christian Academy Preschool will be seeking pledges for St. Jude Hospital during this program. St. Jude is the leading center for the study of childhood cancer which, next to accidents, is the leading killer of children.

For more information, call me at Mountain Christian Academy, Martin.

Solid support

A University of Kentucky survey has found that the 1990 Kentucky Education Reform Act still enjoys a solid base of support among state residents.

Good. The more Kentuckians who support reform, the less urge legislators will have to tinker with the law before it has had time to take full effect.

The random sample of 664 Kentuckians found that 54 percent either strongly or somewhat support school reform. Two-thirds of the respondents said they believe KERA will increase student competitiveness in the job market and that school-based councils will lead to improved decisions.

The weakest support was for the primary grade mandated by the act. About 40 percent said they thought the elimination of grade-level designations for children in kindergarten through third grade would result in improved education.

The weaker support for the primary concept is not surprising, since it is perhaps the most dramatic, visible change mandated by the law. Many parents—and some teachers—still are not convinced the idea will improve instruction. Given a chance, the primary system will work. It has elsewhere, and it can in Kentucky.

KERA calls for the most dramatic changes that have ever occurred in public education in Kentucky. There is always a certain amount of fear, uncertainty and opposition with such changes.

But the survey results indicate that a majority of Kentuckians recognize the need for improvement in our public schools and are willing to give the reforms time to work.

Kentucky is on the right track. Stay the course. —

Landfill heaven?

There was a time when economic development, if it had been vigorously pursued, might well have turned up industries willing to locate in Appalachia despite the region's well-known shortcomings.

Local leaders, however—many of them linked to the mining industry—preferred to put their bets on coal.

Now, the truth is rapidly dawning that the coal boom of the mid-1970s was the last boom these mountains are likely to see.

Another oil crisis, another war, wouldn't make a whole lot of difference today as far as jobs are concerned. So mechanized has mining become that it needs little manpower.

Besides the coal is running out. From the opening of the coalfields and the coming of the railroads, it has taken just about 100 years to dig and strip the black gold from the mountains...

Our fading economic hopes are pinned now on tourism and on Interstate 66, the super highway that is still 20 or more years away and could yet be snatched from Southeastern Kentucky by the Lexington-Frankfort axis, which is greedily eyeing Interstate 66.

There is, of course, the Eastern Kentucky Development Corporation, awash in taxpayers' dollars and contributions from industry; but which has yet to produce any jobs, except those of its own staff.

And there is one industry, undreamed of as recently as 10 years ago, that begs to come to Appalachia.

The mountain states are inundated with applications to set up landfills, incinerators, nuclear waste dumps and recycling "farms" for polluted soil...

In the bizarre world of the 1990s, a ton of coal sells for $25 while eastern seaboard cities will pay up to $100 per ton to have garbage hauled away and dumped.

The waste merchants have so much cash they don't even ask the target counties for bond issues or tax write-offs. Many of the deal-makers are themselves Appalachians; it's reminiscent of old John C.C. Mayo with his broad-form deeds—cash today, but grief tomorrow.

Does Appalachia have to become America's trash heap, or can its citizens take control of their own environment and halt the ruthless exploitation of what is left of the region's natural resources?

We need to hear from someone who has answers. — Alice Cornett, Appalachian Voices, Lexington Herald-Leader

Harkins Schoolhouse ready for furniture

Editor:
The Josie D. Harkins Schoolhouse moved from Daniel's Creek to Jenny Wiley State Resort Park will be ready for furniture by the end of this week. The Floyd County Board of Education has donated the necessary amount of old school furniture to fill the school, but the school built in 1924 needs some of those old desks where two students could be seated and the desk top lifted up for a place to put books, tablets, etc.

If any former students who attended the school has books, graduation certificates, attendance certificates, or other memorabilia, our committee would appreciate a copy of any of these items. Also needed are school books published before 1950.

If you have any items to donate, please contact the following: Virginia Goble (874-2325), Ruby Akers (377-6234), Imogene Caldwell (874-2697), or Frances Brackett (874-2659).

Thank you given for time and donations

Editor:
We would like to take this opportunity to thank the following businesses and individual for the time and donations given to the Health Fair held at Archer Park Senior Citizens Center on September 16.

They are as follows: Cooley Medical Equipment, House of Flowers, McDonald's, Wal-Mart, Food City, Helton's Meat Market, Dairy Queen at Prestonsburg, Martins, Sav-More, Foodlyon, Carter Funeral Home, Flowers Bread, Lee's, Prestonsburg Fire Department, Winn Dixie, Long John Silvers at Martin, Jerry's, and Hardee's.

Also, Louise Hall, Rose Adkins, Theresa and James Halbert, Dixie Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Troy McKenzie, Christian Appalachian Project, the "Clown" Munrow, James Whitted and Ron Wright, and the Big Sandy ADD staff with special thanks to Betsie Carroll and Donna Frazier.

Thanks to all of the above and all of those who attended. Our Health Fair was a huge success. We are looking forward to next year.

Kentucky Sheriffs Association annual conference successful

Editor:
Sheriffs and deputies all over Kentucky helped make the 63rd Annual Kentucky Sheriffs' Association Conference a real success. The conference recently held in Ashland, September 10-13, attracted over 250 sheriffs, deputies, wives, and friends to this Eastern Kentucky city. Sheriff Troy Dixon, president of the Association for 1991-92, was the host sheriff.

Elected president for 1992-93, is Sheriff Charles Logsdon, Hardin County (Elizabethtown).

The Kentucky Sheriffs' Association honored Sheriff Ton Scillian, Christian County (Hopkinsville) as "Sheriff of the Year, 1991-92" and honored Deputy Sheriff John Coyle, Woodford County (Versailles) and Deputy Sheriff Mike Hettich, Jefferson County (Louisville) as "Co-Deputies of the Year, 1991-92". Donna Stoess was recognized for her volunteer efforts at the Kentucky Sheriffs' Boys and Girls Ranch in Gilbertsville. Sheriff Jerry Wagner, Fleming County, presented Mrs. Stoess with a plaque in recognition of

Louisville, Kentucky was selected as the site for the sixty-fourth annual conference in 1993.

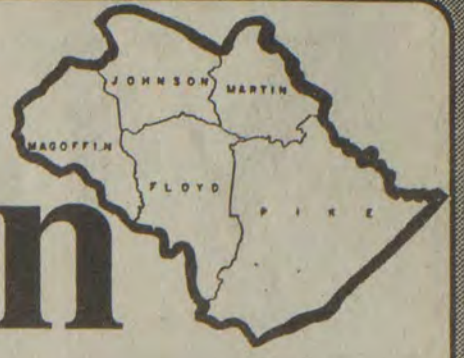

The featured speaker for the Saturday banquet was Judge Executive Mike Miller, Marshall County (Benton) who stole the spotlight with his downhome humor and his challenge to sheriffs and deputies to be enthusiastic and to the best of their ability, be the best they can be in their law enforcement profession.

Guest speaker Bobby Timmons, executive director of the Alabama Sheriffs' Association was impressed with the many programs that the Kentucky Sheriffs' Association has started such as their Memorial to slain sheriffs and deputies; the many DARE Programs throughout the state; initiating the new TRIAD Program for the elderly; Blockwatch Programs; and their very successful Boys and Girls Ranch for needy children in Gilbertsville.

Newly elected president, Sheriff Charles Logsdon says he will work hard to help build a stronger sheriff's office for each of Kentucky's 120 counties.

Johnson County man pleads guilty to aiding in failed bank robbery

A Johnson County man pleaded guilty Monday to helping two men in a failed bank robbery two years ago in which one of the robbers was killed by police.

Donnie Stiltner, 36, of Flat Gap, admitted he devised the escape route the pair was to use after robbing the People's Security Bank of Blaine. The trial of Stiltner, who had been charged with criminal conspiracy to commit bank robbery, was scheduled to begin Monday. Instead, he pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of criminal facilitation of robbery in the first degree.

Mike Wolford, 24, of Pike County, who police say planned the holdup, was killed at the scene when he aimed his weapon at state police troopers who had ordered him to surrender. Wolford was wearing a pillowcase over his face and plastic bags over his shoes.

Stiltner will be sentenced on October 9. Special prosecutor C. David Hagerman has recommended that Stiltner be sentenced to two years in prison. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Pike Countian named Miss America finalist

Pike County native Tawnya Dawn Mullins was named a top 10 finalist in the Miss America pageant Saturday afternoon.

On Thursday, Mullins, 25, won the preliminary swimsuit competition, capturing an additional $500 scholarship. However, after competing in the swimsuit, evening gown and talent competitions, she was cut from the top five contestants.

A Johns Creek High School and University of Kentucky graduate, Mullins is the daughter of Stoney and Brenda Mullins of Kimper. — Appalachian News Express

Grant funds traveling dental unit

Dental care is going on the road in Appalachian Kentucky, thanks to a federal grant announced recently.

The University of Kentucky Research Foundation has received a $140,000 grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission to fund a mobile dental facility in 12 Eastern Kentucky counties.

The grant will pay for service to 3,000 children living in poverty. — The Courier-Journal

"The 'Slings and Arrows'" Presidential Slogans

President Harry Truman called it "our four-yearly spasm." That's right. It's presidential election time again. And as part of the ritual, we tune in night after night to see and hear the latest from candidates George Bush and Bill Clinton. Electronic media keep us connected to the candidates by giving us up-to-the-minute reports on where they stand on the issues, as well as the most intricate details of their lives.

It wasn't always so easy for Americans to get a feel for their presidential candidates. Before radio and television brought candidates into our homes, Americans formed their opinions in a more rudimentary fashion—often based on slogans or catch phrases. A candidate's entire campaign could rise or fall on a catchy saying emblazoned on a banner or button, or chanted by citizens who wanted to make their views known in a readily understandable form.

According to political columnist William Safire, "good slogans have rhyme, rhythm, or alliteration to make them memorable; great slogans may have none of these, but touch a chord of memory, release pent-up hatreds, or stir men's better natures." In his "Political Dictionary," Safire made note of many themes that recur in slogans, including ones that are promissory ($20 a Day and Roast Beef); warnings (Coolidge or Chaos); a call for change (Had Enough?); and challenging (Fifty-Four Forty or Fight).

While perhaps not the most memorable slogan, one of the earliest recorded campaign slogans appeared in the 1828 presidential campaign of Andrew Jackson. "The gallant & successful defender of New Orleans" referred to Jackson's heroism in the War of 1812, and it painted a reassuring picture of strength and courage for voters.

Slogans that touch on our greatest fears can be particularly powerful tools during an election. In 1916, the slogan "He kept us out of war" helped propel Woodrow Wilson to a second presidential term. While Americans anxious to avoid war took stock in Wilson's slogan, that faith did not keep us isolated from the conflict in Europe. Five months after the election, America entered World War I.

And Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1932 campaign slogan underscored America's economic insecurity by reminding voters that he was not at the helm when the Great Depression started in 1929—"In Hoover we trusted, now we are busted."

What makes slogans so popular? According to Thomas A. Bailey, one of the foremost experts on campaign slogans and author of the book "Voices of America," slogans are "about the only medium through which large numbers of ordinary citizens can express their views personally and repeatedly for or against given candidates or propositions."

Others are not so charitable about the popularity of those often catchy phrases. "Voices of America" quotes several wits on the subject. One anonymous observer of slogans—and human nature—declared that slogans are "the good old American substitute for the facts." Wendell Willkie, the Republican challenger to FDR in the 1940 presidential campaign, remarked that "a good catchword can obscure analysis for fifty years." And British philosopher Bertrand Russell offered this explanation: "Most people would rather die than think. In fact, some do."

Whatever the reason, slogans are part of American culture and heritage. They help us remember historic events that have shaped our country's past. Although it's too early to tell if any of the slogans from the upcoming election will pass the test of time, we have put some of our favorites from past elections into an election year trivia quiz. How well do you remember?

Presidential Slogan Quiz

The following are slogans from 20th-century presidential campaigns. Match the slogan with the candidate who used it.

Trammell will be fired if he is involved in an incident that "reflects negatively" on him or the center.

"I think the offer they made Clarence Trammell is a blatant and open attempt to put Clarence Trammell in a position to falsify charges against him or take actions to cut off his back pay of (approximately) $20,000. According to the employee handbook there is no question to what he is entitled."

A section of the company's employee handbook states: "If an employee is arrested for a crime the employee should be placed on suspension without pay until the case is resolved. Should the employee be found innocent or the charges dismissed, the employee will receive full back pay and appropriate benefits for the period of suspension."

Higginbotham could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Bartley said if an agreement is not reached Wednesday, he intends to either seek an injunction against the center and/or fill a lawsuit on Trammell's behalf.

Commissioner Andy Akers suggested that the second reading of the ordinance be tabled until discussions could be held between the city commission and the utility commission.

Parker, apparently tired of arguing the issue, withdrew his ordinance.

In other action Thursday, commissioners listened to a grievance from city employee Ricky Little who complained that commissioner Allen Taylor harassed him while he was working.

Little, who works two days a week, said he didn't mind Taylor being his supervisor, but that he did not want him "talking about" him while he was working. Little also said Taylor had him performing other duties when the grass at the park needed to be cut.

Commissioner Parker told Little that he should file a written complaint to the commission outlining his complaint. Parker added that Taylor was his boss and that he should do what duties Taylor assigned.

The commission discussed transferring the employee to work under commissioner Luther Johnson Jr., but nixed that when Johnson said he would not interfere with Taylor's department.

Little said he would agree to work one day for Johnson and one day for Taylor.

That offer prompted Parker to remind Little that he did not decide the terms of his employment and said,

"these people are your bosses and let these people work it (job assignments) out."

In other business, the commission:

- held second reading of an ordinance to move the regular monthly meetings to the third Monday of each month at 7 p.m.;

- held second reading of an ordinance fixing the city tax rate;

- heard reports from the fire and police departments;

- agreed to allow Keith Smallwood to repair a pool table owned by the city to be used in the Youth Resource Center; and

- voted to repair the fence in the city park.

All commissioners attended Thursday's meeting and the next regular meeting of the commission will be held Monday, October 19 at 7 p.m. at city hall. The meetings are open to the public.

Prestonsburg Adult Day Care Center to have an open house

Governor Brereton C. Jones has proclaimed the week of September 20, as National Adult Day Care Week in Kentucky, and in honor of the occasion Prestonsburg Adult Day Care Center will open its doors to the public for a tour of the center September 21-25.

The Prestonsburg center is the only adult day care center in the county, and currently five clients utilize the facility.

Kentucky has 65 Adult Day Care Centers which serve 1,567 senior citizens and some younger adults who suffer from Alzheimer's Disease or related disorders. The purpose of these centers is to provide a safe and positive environment to these eligible individuals who are in need of daytime assistance and supervision. The centers also provide opportunities for social interaction to otherwise isolated persons, and offer relief to families who otherwise must care for disabled elderly persons on a 24 hour per day basis.

and made a motion for an ordinance to be drafted.

Discussions turned to filling vacancies on the city council when Jerome Kinzer requested that Mayor Parsons ask Governor Brereton Jones to appoint him to the council.

A seat on the council was left vacant in April when Allen Mayor Buster Porter resigned due to health reasons and Parsons was named to replace him.

Under state law, if the commissioners do not fill a vacancy within 30 days the governor must fill the seat.

Some confusion over the procedure arose when Mayor Parsons and Hall said that Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo could administer the oath of office to a new commissioner.

Kinzer said he felt that action would not be legal and asked that the governor make the appointment.

The confusion continued when citizen Chester Porter, who was nominated by Kinzer to also be named to the council, said that, according to law, a sixth class city governed by the council form of government is supposed to have six council members.

At that point, city clerk Bill Parsons said the city was governed by the commission form of government which required four commissioners and a mayor.

During the discussions on the appointments, commissioner Stevie Hall said he wanted to resign his seat on the council for health reasons. Hall asked that his replacement be sworn in at Monday's meeting.

Mayor Parsons told Hall to submit a written resignation at the October meeting and a decision would be made at that time.

Talk turned to tax collections when commissioner Hall asked why no effort was made by the city to collect delinquent taxes.

"It's not right for a few to pay and for others to get out of it," Hall said. "I don't see how they're getting out of paying."

Mayor Parsons said there was no one in the city designated to collect the city's delinquent taxes and the city couldn't afford to hire a tax collector.

Citizen Gary Elliott asked why the names of delinquent taxpayers couldn't be published and property sold as is done with delinquent taxpayers in the county. Elliott said other cities hire tax collectors to handle delinquent tax accounts.

"Where's ours (tax collector)?" Hall asked.

"He's dead," Porter told Hall.

Commissioner Waugh suggested the commission follow through on hiring a city attorney and get the attorney's advice on how to handle delinquent tax accounts.

Commissioners and citizens also debated the effectiveness of the city's water commission.

Commissioner Hall asked how people were on the water commission and why no one was at the commission meeting to answer any questions that might arise about the water system.

City clerk Parson responded that only two seats out of five were filled on the commission and that they have not had a meeting in "several years."

Mayor Parsons said R.D. Marshall and Delano May were the two persons on the commission and that May told him that he "didn't feel like he was off the commission, but that he had not been interested in it for the last several years."

The commission discussed disbanding the water commission and "bring it back" to the city for its administration.

Commissioners agreed to discuss the issue at its October meeting.

In other business Monday, commissioners:

- directed commissioner Hall to finalize plans to get an audit of the city's finances;
- discussed asking the Floyd

County Board of Education to remove the fence around the playground at the old Allen Grade School; and

- discussed having agenda items submitted a week before commission meetings in order to have answers to any issues to be discussed.

Commission Ann Bentley was absent at Monday's meeting and the next regular meeting will be held Monday, October 5 at 7 p.m. at city hall.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON —A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Although other studies and scientists may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant colloid, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural colloids has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Metairie, Louisiana nurse lost 71 pounds. She stated "I never had to sacrifice the foods I dearly crave!" "Food Source One is very easy and anyone could do it," says a Niagara Falls, New York woman who lost 26 pounds and 15 inches. "The results are great," she added.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

Mrs. Todd H. Nairn

Kirk, Nairn exchange vows

Ann Reeves Kirk of Ceres, and Todd Harris Nairn of Prestonsburg, were united in marriage at 4 p.m. on August 22. Rev. Rick Beam performed the double ring ceremony at the Emory and Henry College Chapel. A program of wedding music was provided by Anita Coulthard of Emory, organist, and Ginger Howard of Prestonsburg, soloist, who sang, "Longer," "Two Candles," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland R. Kirk of Ceres, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. David F. Bear Sr. of Atkins. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Nairn, and he is the grandson of Nellie Nairn, all of Prestonsburg.

The bride chose a white satin gown trimmed with pearl and sequin beaded alencon lace, designed with sweetheart neckline, illusion with lace collar in back, basque waist with two satin cabbage roses in back to accent the small bustle. The skirt and chapel train had a deep scalloped lace border. Her pearl and petite beaded crystal headband held a rolled edge, two-tier veil studded with pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of white rosebuds, baby's breath and English ivy.

Autumn Kidd of Fredericksville served the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Beth Carter, sister of the bride of Saltville, Leigh Kirk, sister of the bride of Marion, Heather Conley of Rocky Mount, Shannon Piedmont of Richlands, Anne Crutchfield of Bristol, Margaret Rooney of Fredericksburg, and Amy Ratliff of Prestonsburg.

The attendants wore tea-length floral print dresses of mauve and teal. They carried a single, long stemmed white rose with baby's breath and English ivy.

Edward Nairn of Prestonsburg served his son as best man. Ushers were Trent Nairn and Thomas Nairn, brothers of the groom, Clyde Johnson, Jon Hale, Gordie Ratliff, all of Prestonsburg, Johnny Anderson and B. J. Sturgill, both of Lexington.

An outside barbecue/reception was held in Atkins at the home of Dave and Charmie Bear, grandparents of the bride.

The bride is a 1986 graduate of Rich Valley High School and a 1990 graduate of Emory & Henry College. She will be teaching in Lexington.

The groom is a 1984 graduate of Prestonsburg High School and a 1988 graduate of Emory & Henry College. He is currently a medical student at the University of Kentucky.

The couple is residing in Lexington.

Medicare helps people with kidney disease

from: Jim Kelly
Social Security District Director
For the Big Sandy Area

An often overlooked success story of the Medicare program is the coverage that it provides for people with kidney disease. Before Medicare, permanent kidney failure requiring dialysis or a kidney transplant was generally fatal to people who could not afford the expensive treatment. Today, some 9 out of 10 workers have this protection under Social Security.

It was the availability of treatment beyond the reach of most Americans that resulted in the passage of the law in 1972. Since then, the number of treatment centers providing kidney dialysis has mushroomed. And kidney transplants are generally limited only by the availability of organ donors.

Ordinarily, Medicare covers people age 65 and older or people who have been receiving disability benefits for two years. But a person with permanent kidney failure may become eligible for Medicare at any age if he or she, or their spouse, worked long enough under Social Security to be covered. And a child may also be covered on a parent's work record.

Unlike other dependent's benefits, the parent or spouse does not have to be deceased or drawing retirement or survivors benefits for a family member to receive Medicare coverage for permanent kidney failure.

There are two parts to Medicare and both provide some coverage for kidney disease treatment. Hospital insurance, or Part A, is free, but medical insurance, or Part B, requires the payment of a monthly premium. For 1992, the monthly premium is $31.80.

Part A covers in-patient hospital costs. Part B, which pays doctor bills and outpatient services, pays for many of the services needed by people with permanent kidney failure.

If you need more information on Medicare coverage for permanent kidney disease, give us a call. Our number is listed in your local directory under U.S. Government.

More than 809,500 meals were delivered to 5,350 elderly Kentuckians through the state-funded homecare program in the fiscal year that ended June 30. Participants pay according to their income.

Prestonsburg marching band to participate in festival at MSU

Prestonsburg High School's Marching Band will participate in Morehead State University's Department of Music and MSU Bands' annual Blue and Gold Festival of Marching Bands on Saturday, September 26, in Jayne Stadium from 12:15 to 9:30 p.m.

Tickets for the festival will be available at the gate at $4 for adults and $2 for children 12 and under. Children under six years of age will be admitted free.

Sanctioned by the Kentucky Music

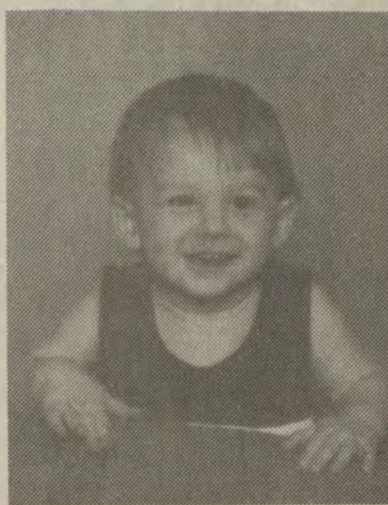

Education Association, the Blue and Gold Festival features a non-competitive format with each participating band receiving a rating from a KMEA panel of adjudicators and an individual mini-clinic by a separate set of adjudicators.

Approximately 30 high school marching bands from a four-state area are expected to take part in this fall's showcase, according to Dr. Frank Tracz, MSU bands director. Also on tap is an exhibition performance by MSU Marching Band.

First birthday

Whitney BreAnn Ousley, daughter of Don and Brenda Manuel Ousley of Martin, celebrated her first birthday on August 23, at the Allen Convention Center, Stumbo Park, Allen, with family and friends. She is the granddaughter of Arnold "Duck" and Ocle Manuel, Willis and Kansas "Boe" Ousley, all of Martin, and the great-granddaughter of Anna Isaac of Prestonsburg and Ida Roberts of Lexington.

Jordan is one

Christopher Jordan Perkins, son of Mark and Lisa Perkins of Garrett, celebrated his first birthday July 28, at his home. He is the grandson of Floyd and Peggy Daniels of Garrett and Donnie and Sharon Perkins of Martin. Family members were present to wish him a happy birthday.

Breastfeeding fits in with a busy lifestyle

Many women are interested in breastfeeding, because they know that breastmilk is the most nutritious and healthiest food for their babies. However, they are concerned that they won't be able to take care of their other family members, run errands, or socialize.

Kim Blocker, LPN, Breastfeeding Promotion Coordinator for Our Lady of the Way Hospital, gives these tips for balancing the needs of mother and baby:

—In the early weeks, get other family members and friends to help out with housework, cooking, and childcare. Learn to live with a house that may not be as spotless as before—the new baby is more important!

—Young babies are very portable, especially breastfed ones. All a mother needs is an extra diaper and maybe a sleeper, and she's set to go, without the hassle of mixing up formula and toting a heavy bag.

—When mother is out at appointments, shopping, or running other errands, she can breastfeed without anyone noticing by draping a light blanket over her shoulder, sitting off to one side, using an exam or changing room, or sitting in her car.

—If a mom feels uncomfortable breastfeeding away from home, she can nurse right before going out so that her baby stays satisfied. With an older baby, she could give a bottle of breastmilk while she's on the move.

Our Lady of the Way Hospital will begin a weekly Breastfeeding Support Group on Friday, September

25. The group will meet every Friday from 10-11 a.m. in the third floor conference room at Seton Complex in Martin. Facilitators for the group will be Mary Lou White and Mary Montgomery, R.N. This support group is FREE to all expectant or breastfeeding couples and everyone is welcome. Please feel free to bring your children with you. The support group will offer personal instruction and support to individuals in or out of the hospital setting, update trends in breastfeeding and provide samples of current literature and materials for preview such as breastpumps, breastshell systems, etc.

For further information regarding the support group or tips on breastfeeding while on the go, please contact the Community Health Education Department of Our Lady of the Way Hospital at 886-5181, Ext. 388.

Day and evening GED/ABE classes at PCC

Continuing Education/Community Services of Prestonsburg Community College will offer GED/ABE classes on Mondays and Wednesdays, from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. The classes will be taught by Brigid Layden and will begin October 5, 1992. The classes are free and everyone who needs a GED or help with such skills as reading and math is welcome to attend.

Antique furniture class offered at PCC

An antique furniture class will be held on Thursday evening 6:30-8:30 p.m. at Prestonsburg Community College in the Johnson Building Room 111. The antique class will feature what to look for in antique furniture and where to find antique furniture. The class is sponsored by Continuing Education/Community Services and will be taught by PCC professors Thomas and Kathleen Carroll. The class is free and everyone is welcome to attend.

SAVE

EASTERN KENTUCKY

From Out-of-State Waste

STOP

THE DUMP AT IVEL

On Thursday, September 24th at 7:00 p.m., at Allen Central High School, the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, Division of Waste Management, will hold another Public Hearing on the proposed landfill by Costain Coal at Ivel.

There's something very real and scary going on in Eastern Kentucky... Did you know that there are reports of a Florida company having bought the coal tipple at Price...that property reportedly has been either purchased or looked at on Right Beaver and perhaps even at Garth, Allen and Hippo? To move coal? Not hardly!! To bring in garbage...fly ash and bottom ash.

Eastern Kentucky is on the verge of becoming the dumping ground of the nation.

Perhaps never in the history of our county do we need to stand together as a people. The lives of our children, our grandchildren and generations to come may be in our hands.

This is not about damaging the coal business or jobs. It's about living or dying. Use your common sense—study the facts—stand up and fight. We can and must stop this. If you love your home and family—and we know you do—be at Allen Central High School Gym Thursday night at 7:00 p.m.

We need you there and we need each other.

United we stand, divided we fall.

Be there and stand tall.

A Look At Sports

ALABAMA, MINUS THE BANJO

It is off to Montgomery, Alabama (Wednesday) for the Grand National Softball Championship as one of our local teams, Ken's Sport Shop, will be making their second trip to the tournament.

With camera, pen and pad in hand, I am looking forward to visiting the state of Alabama for the first time. I have been close to it but never have journeyed inside their borders.

Ken's is one of the area top softball teams and has been for several years. Floyd County should be proud of the accomplishments of this team. All of the players give it all they have and they will be faced with a difficult task as 85 of the top teams in the United States gather expecting to be the national champions.

Our best wishes go out to this team and we expect to be on hand to cover all their games.

CHEERS AND JEERS DEPARTMENT....

CHEERS: For Tim Belcher for feeling sorry for press row during the Reds/Padres matchup. Seems one of the reporters was barred from the stadium dining room after his criticism of Marge Schott's dog Schottzie 02. Belcher sent the fellows some pizza and sandwiches in the press box.

JEERS: To Marge Schott who doesn't belong in baseball anyway!

CHEERS: To rookie pitchers Bobby Ayala and Tim Pugh for their performance since their call up from the minor leagues. Both rookies posted wins over the San Diego Padres this week giving a boost to the Reds other wise dismal pitching staff.

JEERS: To Rob Dibble for his continuing child-like attitude he continues to possess. Grow up Dibble! Trade him!

NEW BOOKS IN STOCK....

Better hurry over to the Readmore Book Store in the Glynn View Plaza and pick up a copy of the just arrived "Full Court Pressure" by Kentucky basketball coach Rick Pitino. The store just received a shipment of the books and they sell for $22.95. The book covers the first three seasons at Kentucky and is surely to be a big seller.

Already, a favorite of everyone is Richie Farmer's new book "Richie." The book has been in stock at Readmore and sells for an easy $9.95.

That totals three from the university that authored books when you count Cawood Ledford's book.

While on the subject of Cawood, he is sorely missed behind the microphone for the football games and he will be missed even more when basketball starts. Ralph Hacker has received a grade of C- as far as trying to call the games. He and Charlie "Mac" McAlexander leave a lot to be desired in broadcasting. But no one else can replace Cawood either. We're stuck with them.

TOO MUCH TALK....

About J.P. Blair and Jesse Watts. You can talk about all the other great quarterbacks in high school football you want to but Aaron Tucker has to rank right up there with them — if not ahead of many.

Tucker has shown that he is one of the area's top signal callers and should have college coaches knocking at the door. The difference in Tucker and the others has been the exposure. Throw for a state record yardage against Allen Central and you get national recognition. Make the state tournament finals and you get the recognition. This is not to say that Watts and Blair are not great quarterbacks. They are! But Tucker is just as good or better. Why? Because he can do so much more than just quarterback a ballclub. He is a very athletic athlete and a three sport performer. He can throw the football and run with it as well. A very good knowledge of the game as well as having the intellect that most quarterbacks don't have.

As far as we're concerned, there is no better (may be some as good) — that's right — no better than Aaron Tucker in this area. JORDAN WRITES...

Dear Ed,

You were right and I was optimistically wrong, except I still think the Reds will wind up second — small consolation!

Blackcats, Trojans fall from unbeaten ranks

Turnovers costly for Prestonsburg in loss to Belfry

While five former Belfry Pirates athletes were being inducted into the Pirates Hall of Fame Friday night at Belfry, the current Pirates were putting some Hall of Fame numbers on the scoreboard also as they posted a 33-0 win over a strong Prestonsburg Blackcat team.

Both teams entered the evening contest with perfect 3-0 records and the game was being billed as a close one. But the game did not live up to the billing as the Blackcat offense struggled against the strong defensive line and secondary of the Pirates.

While the Prestonsburg offense could not get in gear, Mark Carroll and Eric Coleman did as they ripped the Blackcat's defense for 114 and 120 yards respectively. Carroll seemed to do it all for Belfry with runs of 48 and 73 yards with the latter for a touchdown run early in the fourth quarter that gave Belfry a 26-0 lead. Carroll took a punt return and went 48 yards in the first period for a TD that gave Belfry a 7-0 lead after Mark Varney's extra point.

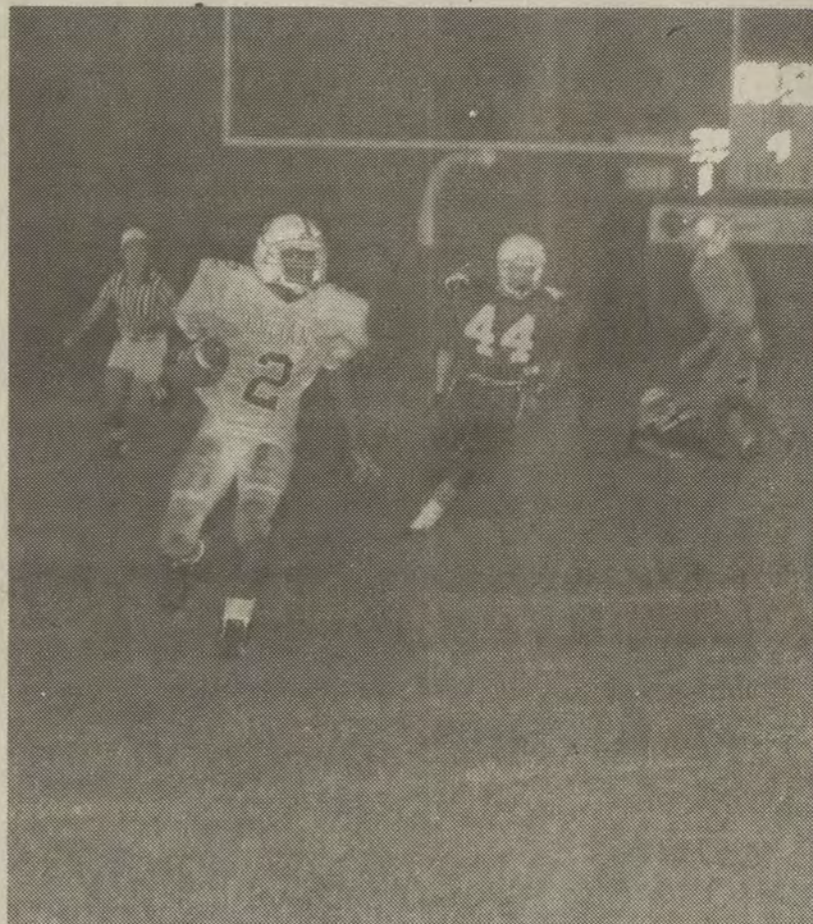

While Belfry was running all over the field, Prestonsburg was desper-

Pikeville survives Trojans scare in 20-12 district win

The Pikeville Panthers kept their regular season winning streak at 14 consecutive games with a 20-12 win over a very good Wheelwright Trojan team, but not without a major scare. The loss dropped Wheelwright from the unbeaten ranks as they fell to 3-1 overall and 2-1 in district play.

Wheelwright did something not many teams have done this season and that is let the Panthers know they were not about to go away. Coach Donnie Daniels' Trojans continued to play hard-nose defense as they gave coach Bill Allara's team all they wanted and then some.

Wheelwright's defense kept the Panthers at bay in the first period as neither team was unable to cross the goal line in the 12 minutes of play. Wheelwright's defense caused the Panthers to cough up the football near the end of the first quarter with the Trojans recovering on the Pikeville 30-yard line.

Early in the second period Wheelwright moved the football to the Pikeville 22-yard line on a 3-yard and 5-yard gain by Matt Johnson and Muntu Oden. However, a hold-

Red, White and Blue car show keeps getting bigger and better

It's that time of year again for the annual Red, White and Blue Day celebration in Martin and the arrival of the special day includes the First Guaranty National Bank's car show that keeps growing with each year.

According to Tina Mills, show director, this year is expected to even top last year's record number of entrants.

"We are expecting a bigger show this year," said Mills about the expected number of entrants. "We will even have more judges this year than last year." Mills said the extra judges are needed because of the large number of entrants at last year's show.

"They just kept piling in on us last year," said Mills, "and we want to be better prepared this time."

The show drew over 80 entrants last year with many going away with nothing but praise for the class of the show.

"Last years show went real well," said Mills. "Those who entered cars went away talking about how good it was."

One of the problems Mills and her group faced last year was the show running close to the parade which started at 2 p.m. All the cars enter the parade and it created a problem in judging the entrants. But this year, Mills says, that problem has been rectified.

"They have agreed to start the parade an hour later this year," she said, "and it won't start until 3 p.m. That gives us more time to judge the cars and allows them time to get in the parade."

Mills and her staff have been meeting since July to plan the show. Many prizes will be given away during the event.

"Every 30 minutes we want to give away a prize," explained Mills, "and we have some very nice prizes to give away."

Prizes such as a $500 savings bond to the Best of Show, front-end alignments, cases of oil, CB radio, chrome valve covers plus numerous other items. Fifty and one-hundred dollar savings bonds will also be given away.

"We have coupons that will be given away for sundaes at Dairy Queen," said the show's director. "Super America will be giving away two-liter bottles of pop; plus we have have matches, pens and floor mats to be given away."

Once again T-shirts and sweatshirts will be offered to those who wish to purchase one. The price of the T-Shirts are $8 and the sweatshirts cost $15. Mills said that anyone who wants to order a shirt should call her and place the order.

"We will also be offering chances on a 35 motor or who wins it can take a $1,000 in cash," said Mills. This year also the show will break down the mini-truck classes.

For the entertainment this year the Kentucky Junior Opry will make an appearance. "We couldn't get the Kentucky Opry this year," said Mills who was pleased to have the Junior Opry perform.

Security services will be provided for the show and there will be over 30 classes judged in the show. First and second place trophies will awarded in each of the original and modified classes.

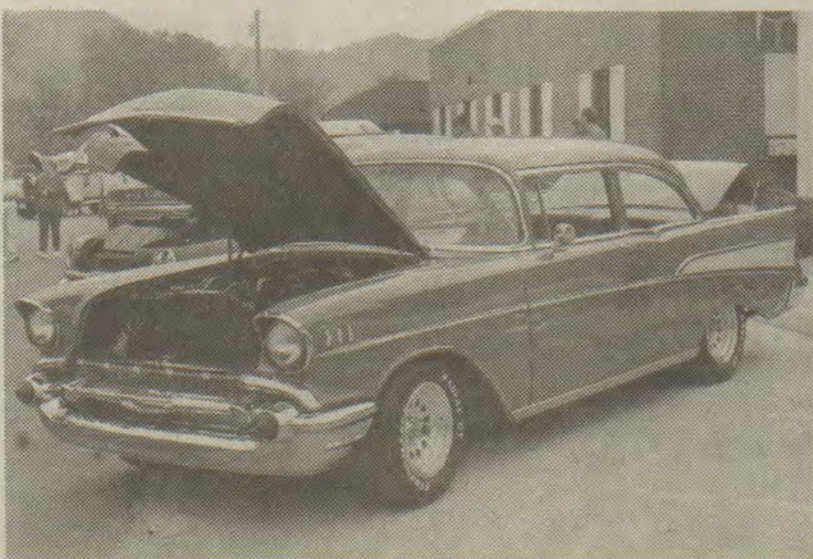

Registration for the show will begin at 8:30 on October 17 and will continued through noon. Registration fee for the show is just $10. Judging will begin at noon.

Many who enter their prized cars and trucks begin weeks in advance to wash and polish their vehicles in hopes of taking first place in their class.

Not only does the show draw a large number of entrants, but car buffs from all around converge on the First Guaranty National Bank parking lot to take in the show

Last year, Tom Williams won the Peoples Choice award but this year the award has been changed. Assistant school superintendent Gary Frazier won a second place with his 1957 Chevy. Anne Stumbo's 1931 A Model Ford won a first place, also. Wheelwright's Keith Taylor's 1931 Ford Model A truck won first place in the truck division.

For more information on the show contact Tina Mills at 285-9281.

THIS 1957 CHEVY was one of more than 80 cars entered in last year's car show as part of the Red, White and Blue celebration in Martin. The First Guaranty National Bank sponsors the show each year.

Prestonsburg Blackcats freshmen fall to Belfry Pirates

Coaches will tell you that when you get the ball inside the other teams 10-yard line you should be able to punch the ball across the goal line. But the Prestonsburg freshman football team could not take advantage of a scoring opportunity early in the game and fell to the Belfry Pirates JV team 8-0 last Thursday at Prestonsburg.

Jamie Thacker rushed for 100 yards on 16 carries, scored a touchdown and ran the two-point conversion to lead his team. Hobby Dotson carried the football eight times for 29 yards.

Prestonsburg took the opening kickoff and drove the football inside the Pirates 10-yard line to the eight only to have a Keith Marsillett pass intercepted by Thacker on the Blackcats 5-yard line.

Belfry returned the favor by fumbling the football and John Lyons recovered for the Blackcats. The first quarter ended without either team putting any points on the scoreboard.

Belfry missed a good scoring opportunity in the second period as they moved to the 13-yard line of the Blackcats only to be stopped with the help of two penalties. On a fourth and thirteen play, the Pirates were caught with 12 men on the field and assessed a penalty and loss of a down turning the ball over to Prestonsburg.

With 5:10 left in the second period, Belfry scored on a 45-yard run by Thacker. Thacker ran the two-point conversion and took a 8-0 lead that held up through out the game.

For Prestonsburg, Blake Leslie carried the football 17 times in rushing for 66 yards. Robbie Risner had 57 yards on 13 carries. Jason Spurlock had the only reception for Prestonsburg, a 15-yard pass from Marsillett. Prestonsburg totaled 138 yards on offense with 123 coming on the ground.

Marsillett had two passes intercepted and the Blackcats fumbled the football once. Prestonsburg was penalized seven times for 40 yards.

Belfry fumbled the football twice and was penalized 60 yards on six flags. The Pirates totaled 134 yards offensively with 133 coming on the ground.

Prestonsburg goes to 0-1.

Prestonsburg

ately trying to solve the Pirates defensive line problem as the backfield for the Blackcats had trouble finding any holes. Prestonsburg, boasting one of the areas stronger backfields, managed only 72 yards on the ground and worse yet they only had 38 yards passing for a total offense of 110 yards.

Fullback Dwayne Garza ran the football eight times and totaled only 13 yards. Seth Hyden rushed for only 40 yards on nine carries. Jody Cornette, who has been a big part of the Blackcat's offense, carried only once for zero yardage. Even Tucker had problems with four carries for 19 yards.

Turnovers in the game for Prestonsburg played a big part in the loss. The Blackcats fumbled the football four times losing it three of the four. Prestonsburg quarterback Aaron Tucker, who was coming off a brilliant game against Whitesburg the week before, had three of his tosses intercepted.

A bright spot for the Blackcats in the game was the cut down on the number of penalties they were called for. Prestonsburg had only three flags for 15 yards.

Carroll's 48-yard punt return with 5:37 left in the first quarter gave the Pirates the early lead at 7-0. Prestonsburg, who won the toss, elected to kick off to start the game and the Pirates marched to the Prestonsburg 1-yard line only to fumble the ball on the one with Prestonsburg recovering.

However, four plays were all the Blackcats could run as they were forced to punt the ball over to the Pirates and thus the 48-yard punt return by Carroll.

Prestonsburg had control of the football when the first quarter ended with Tucker rushing for 12-yards. On a first-and-ten play, Hyden fumbled the football and Belfry recovered on the Prestonsburg 30-yard line.

Belfry returned the favor when Coleman was hit hard by the line and he coughed up the ball with Matt Porter recovering for the Blackcats.

Prestonsburg finally got their ground game going as they marched into Pirate territory to the 30-yard line where they were 2 yards short of the first down. On a keeper, Tucker was a yard short of the first down and the Pirates took over the ball.

Belfry had the ball on the Prestonsburg 33-yard line but fumbled the ball back as Joey Nunn covered the loose ball. But Prestonsburg would only run four plays before giving the ball up.

Belfry made it a 13-0 game when Kevin Varney ran the ball in from the 9-yard line. The first half ended at 13-0.

In the second half kick-off, Hyden took the ball and returned it 20 yards and then ran for 7 yards on the first play of the second half. But, Garza, on a sweep, fumbled the ball and Belfry took over with 10:47 left in the third period. The Pirates then marched 34 yards on five plays that concluded when Carroll ran in from 12 yards out for the score and a 19-0 game.

On the first play from scrimmage following the Pirates' kickoff, Tucker went to the air to Jason Crisp only to have Carroll intercepted the pass and another Prestonsburg turnover with 8:28 left in the period.

With 6:09 left in the quarter Porter recovered his second loose ball as Coleman fumbled on the Blackcats' 19-yard line. However, three plays on the possession, Tucker was intercepted for the second time when he went to Crisp.

Belfry with the ball on their own 47, faced a third-and-eleven play. On a busted play, Stacy seemed destined to be sacked by the Blackcats' defense but managed to escape the tackle and rushed for 17 yards and a Belfry first down. The Pirates got to the Prestonsburg 1-yard line and on a third-and-goal, Coleman fumbled the football with Kyle Fitzpatrick recovering the ball.

Early in the fourth quarter, Prestonsburg gained control of the football. Tucker hits May with a 12-yard pass for a first down. On a second-and-eleven, Tucker is intercepted for the third time in the game as his pass is picked off with 10:46 left in the game. The turnover led to another Pirate touchdown as Carroll took a Stacy handoff and down the side lines, trotted 73 yards for the score. Mark Vargo's extra point made it a 26-0 game.

Belfry's final score came with 5:14 left in the game when Peyton Roberts scored from 13 yards out and Vargo added the extra point for a 33-0 count.

Thomas Ratliff had two receptions for the Blackcats for 26 yards and he came in at quarterback in the final five minutes of the contest. May had one reception for 12 yards.

Belfry totaled 430 offensive yards with 338 coming on the ground. Stacy was five of ten for 92 yards passing. Belfry lost the football five times on five fumbles. They were flagged for two holding penalties and a clipping call for 35 yards.

On the defensive side for Prestonsburg, Brad Wells had 10 first hits and five assists in a fine defensive performance. Brian Horn came up with seven solo tackles and two assists. Todd Clark continues to play hard defense with six tackles and three assists. Matt Porter and Hyden had five first hits with Hyden getting two assists. Glenn May had four first hits and two assists.

Kyle Fitzpatrick and Joey Nunn had fumble recoveries and Matt Porter came up with two.

Prestonsburg, while the Belfry game was not a district matchup, now will turn their attention to the upcoming six games remaining; five of the six are important district contests.

Friday night the Blackcats will travel to Betsy Layne to face the winless Bobcats who had dropped out of district competition for the next three years. Game time at Betsy Layne will be 7:30 p.m.

Ken's Sport Shop journeys to National Championships

For the second time in three years Ken's Sport Shop men's softball team will make the grand trip to the Grand National Softball Championships this weekend. Actually, the tournament gets underway Thursday night but the drawings will not be known until Thursday afternoon.

"I have to be there for the drawing which will be held at noon on Thursday," said Kenny Conley, manager of the softball team. "I understand that there will be around 85 teams in the tournament which will mean a lot of softball."

The opening ceremonies of the tournament will be held at 7 p.m. on Thursday and the first game will start at 7:30 p.m. Games will be played all day Friday and Saturday with the national champion crowned on Sunday.

"I don't know how we will do," said Conley, "but we will be going for the second time and we are the only team to make the only two trips from this area."

Ken's Sport Shop placed second in the state this year and third in the Midwest Regionals in Chicago, Illinois.

So what's the answer for next year? Since I believe we had the talented players to win even with all the injuries, there must be only one answer — send Piniella packing. He just doesn't have the rapport with players. Psychological coherency I call it. That is absolutely necessary to get the most out of what you have to deal with.

I agree that Doggie (Tony Perez) would make a fine manager, and more importantly, deserves a chance to prove what he can do. Proud to say I was there (I can't remember the year but feel sure it was an opening day game) when the Reds honored him with a "Tony Perez Day." He rode around the park on the back of a car.

Actually, I would love to see the world's greatest catcher, Johnny Bench, back in some capacity. He knows baseball inside and out.

Keep up the fine work!
Your friend, Paul Jordan.
We appreciate getting letters from fans expressing their point of view.

I remember being at the old Crosley Field in Cincinnati for a game between the Reds and the Philadelphia Phillies and saw two promising rookies play their first game. One replaced Don Blasingame at second base — Pete Rose — and the other came on as a pinch hitter late in the game — Tony Perez. What promising rookies they were!

Marty put it well on the radio the other day when he said that "no one knows who will be back for the Reds next year." I sure hope the brass realize that not many fans will pay good money to come to the ballpark and watch Schottzie 02 do its thing before the game. While it may be entertaining, fans want a winner. Fans support a winner. Fans love winners. This year the Reds were not winners.

BASKETBALL IN THE AIR...

With the start of high school basketball practice less than a month away, there is a lot of talk going around about the upcoming season. Many have tried to corner me into making my predictions about the upcoming season. But not this time. We, Floyd County, are going to be strong in the region this year! I will say that. A lot of good young players will be making their mark on the sport and some very strong experienced players will return.

In the region, the likes of Shelby Valley and Sheldon Clark will have to be contended with. Of course, there will be some sleepers.

FOOTBALL...

Will hit its halfway mark this Friday night as the season seems to be slipping by quickly. Two county teams seem to be heading for a playoff berth — Prestonsburg and Wheelwright — as they head down the final five games after Friday night.

Prestonsburg, although suffering a 33-0 setback at Belfry, needs to keep their heads up because the games that really count begin October 2 with Shelby Valley. All five remaining games are important district games and I hope the Blackcats will not let the loss bother them. They are a tremendous football team and they were defeated by a great team. Coach Bill Letton, whom I consider one of the top coaches around, knows how to keep the club motivated. The Blackcats will be all right.

Wheelwright, losing 20-12 at Pikeville, must be encouraged by their performance against the state runner-up Panthers. Donnie Daniels done a tremendous job with the Wheelwright program last year and this year. A good defensive team, the Trojans offense needs to come up a level and then the Trojans will be even stronger.

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

Ratliff receives visit from parents at Naval Academy

Former June Buchanan High School basketball standout Midshipman Fourth Class Nikki Ratliff recently received a visit from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ratliff of Estill, during Parents Weekend at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, MD.

Midshipman Ratliff, who graduated last year from the June Buchanan School, is one of 1,240 members of the Class of 1996 who reported to Annapolis in July for intensive military training as a member of the Brigade of Midshipmen.

The Naval Academy is the undergraduate college of the Navy. Upon graduation, midshipmen receive bachelor of science degrees and are commissioned as officers in the Navy or Marine Corps.

Ratliff is a member of the Naval Academy's drill team and plays intramural basketball. Ratliff, while at Buchanan, was the schools leading rebounder and one of the top in the state.

Looking for some running room!

Prestonsburg's Dwayne Garza made a cut on the right side in trying to avoid the Belfry Pirates defense at Belfry Friday night. The Prestonsburg ground game was missing as the Cats fell 30-0 to the Pirates. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Trojans

ing penalty against the Trojans sent them back to the Pikeville 32-yard line. On a fourth-and-ten play, Wheelwright quarterback Steven Shelton hit receiver Patrick Tackett with a 13-yard pass good for a first down on the Pikeville 19. A 9-yard carry by Oden after Johnson had picked-up three, moved the ball inside the Panthers 10-yard line to the eight-and-first down.

A 3-yard pickup by Johnson placed the ball on the Panthers five as the Trojans were knocking on the door. On a the next play from scrimmage, Wheelwright was flagged for an off-sides call moving the ball back to the Pikeville 10-yard line. But the Trojans did get a break when Pikeville was called for a pass interference giving Wheelwright the ball on the 3-yard line. On the next play, Oden scored from 3 yards out for a 6-0 Wheelwright lead. Wheelwright went for the two-point conversion instead of the field goal and the run failed.

It didn't take Pikeville long to knot the game in the second quarter. A poor punt from Wheelwright gave Pikeville excellent field position as they took the punt on the Trojans 33-yard line and J.J. Joplin took the handoff and raced in from 33 yards for the touchdown. The conversion run also failed for the Panthers leaving the game tied at 6-6 at the half.

There were some anxious moments for the Pikeville faithful as they saw Wheelwright once again recover a Pikeville fumble in the third period that led to another Trojan touchdown. However, it was to be the final lead for Wheelwright.

After recovering the football on the Panther 20, Shelton moved the ball to the 11 on a 9-yard pick up. Arnold Adams ran for 4 yards and a Trojan first down and later a 6-yard gain put the ball on the Pikeville 1-yard line. Shelton tried to power his way on a plunge but was stopped at the line of scrimmage. However, on the next play, Adams busted his way through the Pikeville line for the touchdown that gave Wheelwright a 12-6 lead after the conversion run failed.

Joplin on 19 carries as they rushed for 193 yards on 39 carries. Blair was two of eight in passing with one interception for 44 yards.

Pikeville was flagged for 45 yards on four calls and Wheelwright was penalized 37 yards on seven flags.

A surprising stat was in the turnover department. Wheelwright turned the ball over once — on an interception — while Pikeville gave the ball up five times on five fumbles.

Wheelwright's ground and passing game did not match the defensive effort as the backfield for the Trojans only managed 70 yards with Adams rushing for 21 on 12 attempts and Oden running for 29 yards on 10 carries.

Wheelwright (3-1) will face yet another tough district foe this Friday night when they take on Jack Hall's always tough Fleming-Neon Pirates on the road. It will make the fourth consecutive road game for the Trojans who return home to play Jenkins on October 2.

Who's that quarterback?

Kevin Johnson (88) of Wheelwright threw the football on an option play against Pikeville Friday night. The Trojans lead the Panthers for three quarters before falling 20-12. (photo by Susan Conn)

Pikeville wasted no time to come back as they scored on the series of plays that covered 65 yards on five plays. Pikeville was assisted by a 15-yard personal foul on the Trojans. With 4:34 left in the third period, Joplin ran into the end zone of a 18-yard run for the touchdown that tied the game at 12-12. Pikeville took their first lead, 14-12, on a pass play from J.P. Blair to Tony Newsome.

Wheelwright had problems moving the football the rest of the way and Pikeville added another touchdown in the final 1:03 of the fourth quarter on a 7-yard run by John Hatfield.

Wheelwright held Pikeville to their lowest offensive yard total this season as the Panthers totaled 207 yards offensively. Wheelwright gained 70 yards rushing on 41 carries and had 14 yards passing for 114 yards.

Magoffin and Floyd County schools to hear pro athletes

Students in Floyd and Magoffin county schools will be challenged for three days this week by two former professional athletes to take a positive attitude toward life and make a difference.

Wali Jones, former Philadelphia 76er, and Willie Mitchell, formerly with the Kansas City Chiefs, will present their "Shoot for the STARS" training program to students in Magoffin and Floyd counties. (STARS stands for Students Training Around Responsibilities).

The Christian Appalachian Project's Community Health Advocates Program and Camp Shawnee are sponsoring the program on September 24, 25 and 26.

This training program emphasizes the development of high standards of behavior in activities and academics by developing positive role models among young people.

The program heightens awareness, shifts attitudes, and encourages development in self-esteem, communication skills, refusal skills, problem solving skills, decision-making skills, action planning skills and academic action planning skills.

Both Wali and Willie will be at Magoffin County High School, Herald Whittaker Middle School, Millard Hensley Elementary and Middle Fork Elementary School on Thursday, September 24.

On Friday, Mitchell will be at Adams Middle School, Prestonsburg High School, the Mountain Christian Academy's Piarist High School and Allen Central High School. Jones will conduct sessions at Betsy Layne, McDowell and Wheelwright high schools.

An all-day youth rally (10:30-4:30) at the Christian Appalachian Project's Camp Shawnee will complete the three-day program.

Jones, who played with Wilt Chamberlain and helped the 76ers to a 1967 NBA national championship, is community relations director for the Miami Heat basketball team. Mitchell, who played in the first Super Bowl and was a member of the 1969 Super Bowl Champions, is an educational consultant.

OUTDOORS TRACKER PRO FISHIN' TIPS

When you take kids fishing this season, leave the live bait at home. Instead, let them cast ultralight crankbaits.

These little lures, all weighing less than a quarter-ounce, are effective on everything from sunfish to spotted bass. And they're easy to fish, which makes them perfect for a youngster.

Another advantage to using little crankbaits, as opposed to fishing live bait under a bobber, is that while the youngster is having fun catching fish, he or she is also learning about proper presentation and getting plenty of casting practice.

An ultralight spinning rig with four-pound line and a handful of little crankbaits are all you need. Some of the best plugs to try are those that imitate small crawdads. Try sometime soon to get any kid hooked on fishing.

Jon Hall has finished second in B.A.S.S. competition in lakes in Alabama and Missouri.

Kids aren't the only ones who benefit from Kentucky school reform.

Retired people may think school reform has very little to do with them. But the end result of school reform is more jobs and a healthier economy. And when you're living on a fixed income, being able to count on stable costs for products and services is a definite plus. There's only one requirement needed to benefit from Kentucky school reform. Living in Kentucky. To find out how you can get involved in supporting school reforms, please call: 1-800-928-2111.

Johns Creek rolls 52-6, hands Allen Central fourteenth consecutive loss

by Chuck Rowe
Contributing Writer

The Johns Creek Bearcats and the Allen Central Rebels both went into Friday nights contest with 0-3 records. The Rebels, in front of their home crowd, were trying to end a dreadful thirteen game losing streak.

"The final score does not always relate to how you play," Allen Central's head coach Dewey Jamerson said before the game. "As long as they play to their ability, that's all I can ask."

Allen Central received the opening kick only to go four plays losing eight yards. This would set up a punting situation for the Rebels. The Allen Central punt was a line drive and the catch was never handled as the Rebels fell on it at the 45-yard line.

On this series of plays, Allen Central's offense picked up a first down and seemed to be making a threat, until a fourth and five play came up and Coach Jamerson elected to go for it on Johns Creek's 25-yard line. The pass from Brad Blackman to Shawn Stumbo fell incomplete, but there was a flag on the play. The call was offensive pass interference against Allen Central. It was declined and the Bearcats took over on the Rebels 25-yard line. After two plays, picking up 7 yards, Hamilton Harris connected with Jason Taylor on a 77-yard touchdown pass which put the Bearcats up 6-0. The two-point conversion was run in by James Coleman to make it 8-0 with 5:22 left in the first quarter.

After the kickoff, on the first play from scrimmage, David Gilliam was hit and fumbled the ball only to have Johns Creek recover it on their own 32-yard line. But two plays later, the Bearcats would repay the favor when Coleman fumbled and the Rebels recovered on their own 10-yard line. Three plays later, Johns Creek sacked Blackman in the end zone for a safety to make the score 10-0, with 3:25 left in the first stanza.

Allen Central kicked an onside kick that was unsuccessful and gave the Bearcats good field position from the Rebels 33-yard line. It seemed as though the Bearcats would be stopped on four straight plays until on fourth and eleven, Harris' pass to Taylor was incomplete and a crucial defensive pass interference call was made against Allen Central. That gave Johns Creek a first down from the Rebels 24-yard line.

A holding penalty moved it back 10 yards but the only thing this 10 yards meant was 10 more yards added to Harris' stats as he connected with Shawn Thacker for a 34-yard touchdown pass to extend the lead to 16-0 with only 1:06 left in the first quarter. The try for the two-point conversion was no good and, after the first quarter, the score was 16-0. Allen Central kept the ball most of the second quarter, following a recovered fumbled reception of a punt. The Rebel offense turned on, moved it down to the 4-yard line making a first-and-goal. Two plays later, Patton carried the ball 2 yards for the Rebels first score of the game. A try for the two-point conversion was no good and with 6:30 left in the second quarter the score was 16-6.

The score would stay this way until, with 17 seconds left in the first half, Allen Central's punter mishandled the snap and he fell on it on their own 19-yard line. Five plays later, Harris kept the ball and ran in from 13 yards out. The two-point conversion was good and the halftime score was 24-6.

Johns Creek took their opening drive of the second half the distance when Harris hit Taylor again for a 30-yard touchdown with 10:32 left in the third quarter. The two-point conversion was good as Coleman ran it in to make the score 32-6.

The Rebels could not get anything going on offense and had to hand over the ball on downs. It only took Harris two plays before he found Freddie Varney for a 21-yard touchdown pass with 6:54 left in the third quarter. After an offside call on the Bearcats, Harris found Thacker in the end zone for the two-point conversion to make the score 40-6. The Rebels still could not get anything generated on offense and they had to turned it over on downs.

After Harris completed a couple more passes, Kermie Weddington ran it in from 9 yards out only to be called back for holding. But Johns Creek did not worry. They had Harris at the helm but never fear, because three plays later he hit Kevin Pugh for a 9-yard touchdown pass with 2:29 left in the third quarter. Harris was sacked on the try for two which kept the score at 46-6 at the end of three quarters.

In the fourth quarter, Allen Central picked up three first downs only to be stopped on fourth-and-nine. Johns Creek took over on their own 25-yard line. Harris made his first and only mistake of the game as he threw an interception right into the hands of Allen Central's safety.

The Rebel offense was shutdown on four straight plays and they gave the Bearcats the ball on their own 38-yard line. Harris set up his final touchdown pass on a 27-yarder to Taylor and a 31-yarder to Thacker that took them to the 4-yard line of Allen Central. Two plays later, Harris threw a 2-yard touchdown pass to Taylor, with 2:05 remaining in the game. The try for two was no good and the final score was 52-6.

"We worked on offense all week," coach Jim Lamb of Johns Creek said. "We did not work on any defense."

Shawn Thacker was the leading rusher for the Bearcats as he rushed 5 times for 32 yards. Freddie Varney had 18 yards on 4 carries.

Allen Central's leading rusher was James Osborne as he tossed in 41 yards on 10 carries. David Gilliam ran 13 times for 39 yards.

Morris powers Adams Middle School past Betsy Layne 34-6

The grade school football season got underway this past Thursday afternoon as the Adams Middle School Blackcats rolled past the Betsy Layne Bobcats 34-6 behind the play of Jon Morris. The win gives Adams a 1-0 record and Betsy Layne starts at 0-1.

Adams scored the first time they touched the football as the Blackcats marched 66 yards on five plays, all on the ground, as quarterback Mike Castle got plenty support from his backfield. After two runs of 3 and 6 yards from Bill Willis, Jason Blackburn picked up a Blackcat first down on a 2-yard run. Morris then took the ball to the right side and scampered 42 yards for the touchdown with 5:17 left in the first quarter. The conversion run failed.

Betsy Layne was forced in a punting situation and Adams blocked the punt attempt setting up their second TD, taking over the football on the Bobcats 31-yard line. Willis picked up 6 yards on a run. Adams fumbled the football but recovered losing yardage on the miscue. However, Blackburn broke two tackles and raced into the end zone from 30 yards out for an Adams touchdown. Castle hit McGuire with a pass for the two-point conversion and a 14-0 Adams lead.

Betsy Layne looked as if they have gotten their offense straightened out when they marched 63 yards for a score using eight plays. Jarred Newsome was the big ball carrier for the Bobcats as he ran for 12 yards on two plays. Craig Johnson carried twice for 23 yards. Newsome rushed for 13 more yards putting the ball on the Adams 9-yard line. Hamilton carried to the five before Newsome ran the ball into the end zone from 8 yards out and a TD.

Adams put the game out of reach when Morris scored three more touchdowns—two in the third period and one in the fourth. Morris ran a 30-yard TD run with 3:08 left in the third period and Castle connected up with Jason Osborne for the conversion play. With :26 seconds left in the third period, Morris broke loose and galloped 54 yards for the score. The final TD came in the fourth period when Morris raced 43 yards with 6:19 left.

Morris carried the football five times for 132 yards.

Adams totaled 228 yards in the contest with Betsy Layne getting only 97 yards. Adams rushed for 222 yards on 15 carries while Betsy Layne gained 93 yards on the ground on 38 carries.

Castle was two-of-four in the passing department for 6 yards and Betsy Layne had 4 yards passing. The Blackcats were penalized six times for 50 yards while Betsy Layne had no penalties. Adams lost the ball on one fumble while Betsy Layne fumbled twice.

Betsy Layne (0-1) plays Elkhorn City this Thursday at 6 p.m. at the Lloyd Hamilton Field. No schedule is available for the Adams games.

The City by the Bay

I would be doing an injustice not to devote a column to San Francisco. Before I spent time here, I thought like most people I know, San Francisco to me was earthquakes, the Golden Gate Bridge, Joe Montana, and gays. True, all the above are here, but it's not fair to leave the city at that.

First, San Francisco is not just an outgrowth of Los Angeles. Most Easterners (myself once included) lump everything out here together into "California." Northern California is practically a different state. It's sure a heck of a lot colder! L.A. and San Francisco provide the perfect contrast.

L.A. is a huge urban sprawl laid out around a bunch of freeways. People in L.A. exist at the highways' allowance—careening headlong from one building to another. Everything's pumped up, sped up, and even blown up in some cases. People there have to be laid back—they'd go nuts otherwise.

San Francisco is really a city. Neighborhoods forced the roads to cope, instead of the other way around. I guess that's why there are creations like the ridiculously twisty Lombard Street. Lombard makes the road to Wheelwright seem straight. Also, any movie about San Francisco has a central car chase scene down a huge hill. That's Hyde Street with its 30 percent grade. Check out "Bullitt" with Steve McQueen to see what I'm talking about.

There are all sorts of sights to be seen—Chinatown, the Golden Gate and Bay Bridges (traffic on the Bay Bridge actually inspired the trench scene in Star Wars), Alcatraz, Fisherman's Wharf and so on, but San Francisco is truly a city of people—a mix of cultures and lifestyles in a place that hasn't overgrown itself like Southern California.

One of the most amazing aspects of San Francisco appears when walking the few blocks from neighborhood to neighborhood and being in places with radically different "flavors." My cousin Dan designed a walking tour around the area for me. I didn't know if I liked the idea of walking around an unfamiliar city by myself, but the experience was one of the most interesting on this trip by far.

My cousin lives in the Mission district—named for the Mission Dolores, founded by Spanish friars in 1776. The mission itself is San Francisco's oldest historical landmark. It even withstood both earthquakes this century. The district is predominantly Hispanic, especially Salvadoran, with Tacquerias dotting the streets. They have the best burritos I've ever eaten. The area's also home to many intellectuals—mostly from area universities like Berkeley. Most of them, including my cousin, are very socially active. (My cousin's going to Paris on a fellowship. I'll take this line to congratulate him.)

I went to my first cafe (or coffeehouse, if you prefer) in the Mission. I had a cup of cappuccino and watched old men working their crosswords, people my age dressed in a variety of styles drinking coffee, debating the issues of the day, writing, reading, or just hanging out. The cafe scene is all over San Francisco—some neighborhoods have two and three to the block and almost all have a steady clientele.

North of the Mission is the Upper and Lower Haight. The Lower Haight is the speed metal or "body piercing" district. If the skateboarders that used to hang out in the Prestonsburg Municipal Parking Lot disturbed you, don't even think of going to Lower Haight. I saw people with their eyebrows pierced. One gentleman I talked with had hair like a Rocket Pop—you know, rings of blue, then red, then purple, then yellow. He had fourteen earrings (I counted), two noserings, and several tattoos. He was very friendly. He gave me directions when I got a little lost.

The Upper Haight, also known as Haight-Ashbury, was the cradle

THE GIFT OF FRIENDS

During the past several weeks we've had to say good-bye to many good friends who were such an important part of our lives. Over and over we are being reminded that life is such a fragile thing and our loved ones are truly a gift to enjoy and treasure while we may.

Our real friends become a part of us and they bolster our spirits in ways they may never know. In their loving us, and in their generosity to us, they sometimes impart a gift that stays with us long after they are gone.

Rev. Isaac Stratton was a kindly old minister who lived at Banner when I was a child, and I had to pass his house on my way to school. Often he would be out by his gate when I walked by and he always took time to talk to me. I realize he was kind to everybody, but he made me feel really special and I wanted to be a better person because he expected it of me.

After I grew up and fell in love with my handsome prince, it was he who performed the wedding ceremony. He has been gone for several years but his influence never left me. Now, when I place a small flower by his marker, I can almost hear him say, "Bless your heart, child."

I mention Rev. Stratton because he is typical of the friendships that come to us in such a gentle way. Sometimes we take them for granted and are suddenly surprised that they have become far more important than we realized.

In his book, The Prophet, Kahlil Gibran has written, "Your friend is your needs answered.... For you come to him with your hunger, and you seek him for peace."

"... And in the sweetness of friendship let there be laughter and sharing of pleasures. For in the dew of little things the heart finds its morning and is refreshed."

Real friendship doesn't require a lot of reassurances, nor does it make demands of you. It can be as soft as a breeze, as strong as a handclasp or a hug, but its effect is very genuine and, lasting.

Delcie Layne was truly a gracious lady who was a shining example of faith, and Nancy Hale was another special person who touched my life with her love of beauty and kindness wherever she found it.

Janie Moore influenced many lives with her creative touch and warm personality, and Joyce Weddington always seemed so much alive. Joyce—with the laughing eyes and the smile that could say more than a million words.

These are just a few of the dear people who have left us in recent days, and even as I write this (on Friday) Emmitt Conn clings to life by a most delicate thread. For all our adult lives, we have shared laughter, food and families, and we'll never forget those times together.

It is to all the special friends who still encircle our life and to the memory of these just mentioned that I dedicate the following:

TO MY FRIEND

*The journey had been difficult
And winds had chilled me through;
My body ached with hunger
When I encountered you.*

*You built a fire to warm me
And shared with me your bread,
You recognized my need and gave
A pillow for my head.*

*And now when others talk about
The way some friendships grow
Or how a friend can warm the heart,
I answer, "Yes... I know."
—from Candlelight*

As if you haven't heard enough about Floyd County schools—well, here is yet another story.

Difference here: 1) This is not a news item.

2) This is not to inform you of how our board of education is spending their time and money. 3) However, this is to inform parents (after seeing with my own eyes) what happens at school. Our children are not necessarily the little angels we think they are.

Contrary to what some may believe, teachers are so much more than teachers. The classroom is not just a room where subjects are taught.

It's astounding, mind boggling, and quite simply overwhelming what these educators deal with on a daily basis.

Now before your feathers get ruffled, I'm not saying we're dealing with a building full of juvenile delinquents. All I'm saying is that so much more goes on during these hours at school than we as parents conceive when we are away from our children.

Children who are quiet and shy at home turn into class clowns at school. Children who bounce off walls at home, sit quietly and bashfully at their desks—it's amazing, I'm a tellin' you.

It's a wonderful atmosphere to be a part of.

But yet, I for one have come to the realization that as a parent, I had no earthly idea what a teacher endured on a daily basis.

I've respected my former teachers all these years but, after being a part of the school system, R-E-S-P-E-C-T has a whole new meaning.

Appreciation and admiration go out to all teachers. Your patience is certainly a virtue to be admired.

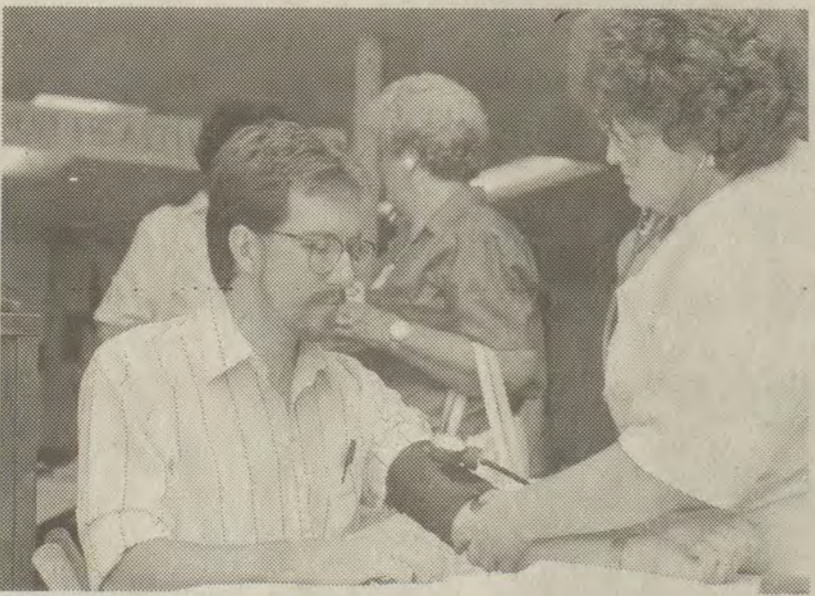

Till next week.

Health facts

Our Lady of the Way's Happy the Clown (top photo) spread a little cheer and passed out lollipops and pencils to participants of the Prestonsburg Senior Citizen's Health Fair. She is pictured with Andy Collins, a member of the Wheelwright Senior Citizens Center. Prestonsburg seniors host area Health Fair Music, comedy and health education were highlights of the Health Fair Wednesday, September 16, at the Prestonsburg Senior Citizens Center.

Doctors, technicians, and professionals from all walks of life were on hand to answer questions and pass out brochures. Staff at Highlands Regional Medical Center drew blood to test cholesterol and sugar levels. Delores Carpenter, with the Floyd County Health Department, checked blood pressure levels, and quite a few of the younger, middle-of-the-hill generation, discovered they needed to lower their cholesterol levels. A dietitian from Highlands Regional Medical Center was available to explain how to lower cholesterol through a cholesterol-free diet.

Dr. Garland Godsey gave dental exams and Dr. Robert Manning checked hearing levels. Dr. Songer and Dr. Webb, podiatrists, also gave exams.

Frank Carlton, pro bono coordinator with Appalachian Research and Defense (Appalred), consulted with attendees and explained about the services available at Appalred. Glenda Hughes, with Aging Services, handed out brochures and explained about the Alzheimer's Association.

Representatives attended from Farmer's Home Administration, Hospice, Christian Appalachian Project, Our Lady of the Way and McDowell Appalachian Regional hospitals, and the Ombudsman's program.

Other professional service representatives attending were Big Sandy ADD's Volunteer Program, Carter Funeral Home, Preston Funeral Home, Department of Social Services, Department for the Blind, Adult Learning Center, Kentucky Home Care, Cooley's Medical Equipment, Mountain Comprehensive Care, and Avon.

The event, which was open to the community, was attended by more than 300 people, including senior citizens from Wheelwright and from Magoffin County. Anyone who registered at the door was eligible for door prizes which were donated by House of Flowers, Avon, Cooley Medical and Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Entertainment was provided by James Whited, with the Kentucky Opry, and Ron Wright, with the Department of Human Resources. Comedy was provided by Munroe Birdshot, with the Kentucky Opry, and Happy the Clown, with Our Lady of the Way Hospital.

Participants also received a tour of the Adult Day Care Center and a free lunch. Food was donated by Food City, Winn-Dixie, McDonald's, Food-Lyon, David Cooley, Jerry's, Long John Silver's, Lee's, Wal-Mart, Helton's Meat Company, Flowers Bakery, Prestonsburg Fire Department, Dairy Queens at Martin and Prestonsburg, Pepsi Company, Hardees, Christian Appalachian Project, Big Sandy ADD, and Prestonsburg Senior Citizens.

Patsy Evans, director of Prestonsburg Senior Citizens, said the health fair will become an annual event and will be held each September. Evans said she received enthusiastic response both from the community and from the professionals who participated. "The health fair was really a big success. It gave a lot of information to the community."

Elmer Bentley Jr.

Celebrates birthday

Elmer Bentley Jr., son of Elmer and Lesa Bentley of Spurlock, celebrated his second birthday at his home on August 16 with a cake decorated with mini-trucks with the logo "Keep on Truckin', Junie," written at the bottom.

Guests attending were Gordon and Carol Tussey; Clifford, Jan, Brandon, Nathan and Kristen Bentley; Barbara Caldwell, Brandon and Justin Lovely; Mamaw Lovely; Tammy, LaKeshia and Kimberlee Lovely; great-grandfather Alan Pitts; Mamaw Pearl and Zene Goble; Vincent, Shawn, Gwen and Brandy Justice; his sister Crystal and brother Eddie.

His is the grandson of Jimmy and Darcus Lovely of Waldo; Pearl and Zene Goble of Auxier; and Gilbert Bentley of Toledo, Ohio.

The great-grandparents are Homer and Beatrice Shepherd of Waldo and Alan Pitts of Conley Fork.

LOCAL ECCENTRIC?

A friend of mine passed along a book a while back called American Eccentrics by Carl Sifakis. The cover proclaimed that it contained "140 of the greatest human interest stories ever told."

After having scanned it, I can't speak for 138 of them, but at least two of them did indeed pique my interest.

The first was about a fellow named John Symmes, who in 1818 petitioned the Congress of the United States to help fund an expedition. Now this in itself is not all that unusual, except this particular one was to begin by digging a hole from Siberia to the center of the earth, where Symmes expected to find a warm and rich land filled with vegetables and animals... if not humans.

As would be expected, Symmes' theory that the earth was really nothing more than hollow concentric spheres, gained little interest and after a few years of his touring the country (and the world) seeking support, his theory was eventually dropped and forgotten.

However, his appeals did not fall entirely on deaf ears and one of his staunch supporters, his prime advocate in Congress, was one Richard M. Johnson, a Kentucky congressman who would later serve as vice president under Martin Van Buren.

Since one good eccentric deserves another, quite naturally, the next chapter of the book, "The Sometime Vice President", was about Johnson.

If Sifakis' reports were accurate, Richard M. Johnson was some character.

"The sins and wild disclosures about present-day political Washington pale when compared to the doings of Johnson," Sifakis writes.

There were some critics so worried about his being vice president that they felt he'd be better suited for a prison cell or a lunatic asylum that he would be for the White House.

A primary source for their chagrin (other than his subscribing to Mr. Symmes' "hollow earth" theory) was his womanizing. Richard M. Johnson was known to have had "sexual flings" with the wives of at least four senators and congressman, and was suspected of being involved with three more.

As if this weren't enough, he openly had a love affair with a slave woman he'd inherited from his father. They had two daughters, Adaline and Imogene, whom he reared and educated as his legal children.

Needless to say, this caused many of the southern Democrats to go bonkers.

When Van Buren was renominated at the next convention to run for president against the Whigs and their nominees, William Henry Harrison and his running mate John Tyler, Johnson was not nominated for vice president. So, the old Indian fighter ran for office on his own, as an Independent.

While Harrison's familiar slogan, "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too" rang throughout the land, Johnson, who claimed to have personally killed the famous Indian chief Tecumseh in 1813 at the Battle of the Thames, countered with a slogan of his own: "Rumpsey dumpsey, Rumpsey dumpsey, Colonel Johnson killed Tecumseh."

The rest is history. Van Buren lost and so did Johnson.

Johnson was not forgotten in Kentucky, though, and in 1841, was elected to Congress again.

Folks around here will likely never forget him, either. This is the same Richard M. Johnson from whom Johnson County, Kentucky got its name.

And now you know...the rest of the story.

Adah Chapter No. 24 holds meeting

Adah Chapter No. 24, Order of the Eastern Star, held its regular meeting on September 14, at the Masonic Lodge Hall, with Nell Hebner, worthy matron, presiding.

The election of officers for 1992-93 was held. Those elected were Shelby Willis, worthy matron; Don Willis, worthy patron; Nell Hebner, association matron; Toufic Saad, association patron; Patsy Evans, secretary; Rebecca Rasnick, treasurer; Janie Hicks, conductress; and Billie Murdock, associate conductress.

The installation of officers will be held September 28, at lodge hall, with dinner to be served at 6 p.m. All members are asked to bring either a salad or dessert of their choice. The worthy matron, Mrs. Hebner, will furnish the sandwiches.

Mrs. Donahoe has family as houseguests

Mrs. James Donahoe had as her houseguests recently, members of her family, including, Mike and Dianna Donahoe, their daughter Suzanne and their son, Michael David, of Flatwoods; John Donahoe and son James, of Lexington, and her brothers, Tom Rogers of Winchester. While here, Mrs. Dianna Donahoe participated in the Highlands Folk Festival, as she has done for the past several years.

Relatives from Albuquerque, New Mexico here for a visit

Mr. and Mrs. E.T. Bourland of Albuquerque, New Mexico, are here for a visit with their cousins, Mrs. Margaret Collins, and Tom and William Dingus. On Sunday morning, they attended services with Mrs. Collins at the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial).

Mrs. Virginia S. Goble attends council meeting of KRTA

Mrs. Virginia S. Goble, executive council member of KRTA, attended the council meeting held in the new KRTA office at 7505 Bardstown Road, Louisville, on August 31.

The KRTA now has a permanent home. This office building and the 1 1/2 acres on which it is located is owned by the association. Any time retired teachers are in Louisville they are cordially invited to visit this office.

Mrs. Goble represents the Big Sandy District of Retired Teachers, including Floyd, Johnson, Lawrence, Martin, Magoffin and Pike counties.

During the KRTA-BSRT meeting on Thursday, September 17, she reported briefly on her meeting with the council.

Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 holds regular meeting

The regular meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 was held September 15, at 7 p.m. Voiletta Wright, a past noble grand, presided in the absence of noble grand Loreita Akers.

Those who were sick and in need of sympathy were recorded. Cards to be mailed to them were signed.

The district four meeting to be held on September 19 was discussed and the dinner for this meeting was planned.

A discussion was held regarding the Rebekah float, which is in the Rose Bowl Parade each year, on January 1, and it was decided to make a monetary contribution to the decoration of this float.

The love offering for the Assembly President Project was allowed. Plans for the state assembly meeting to be held in Lexington from October 4-7, were discussed.

Present for this meeting were Violetta Wright, Hope Whitten, Mollie Hyden, Susie Clifton, Jean Hickman, Lorena Wallen, Paulena Owens, Beverly Hackworth, Rebecca Bingham and Mabel Jean LeMaster.

Martin Homemakers hold first meeting of club year

The Martin Homemakers began the new Homemakers year with their regular meeting and a potluck supper.

The meeting was conducted by Marena Hale. Topics discussed were county and area meetings, the puppet workshop, the upcoming handkerchief pillow top workshop scheduled for October 7, and the regular club meeting place.

Members answers the roll-call with facts about Kentucky and also shared recycling tips. The lesson was "Knowing Your State of Kentucky."

Attending were Judy Allen, Beulah Baldrige, Geraldine Bartrum, Altonette Bentley, Phyllis Centers, Marena Hale, Jean Meade, Gail Osborne, Dorsie Patton, Dorothy Tackett, Jean Watson, Weston Reid, and Frances Pitts. The next meeting will be October 12 with Jean Watson and Marena Hale as hostesses.

Mrs. Ollie Wells returns home from visit with family.

Following the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Charlotte Wells to Mr. Bryan Ramey, at the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) here on September 12, Mrs. Ollie Wells accompanied her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clements to Lexington for a visit of several days.

During that time she visited her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wells and their son Kenny in Versailles. Joining her during the latter part of the week was her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Leslie and son Nathan, of Prestonsburg, who, after a visit with her son Michael, a students at the University of Kentucky, and other relatives in Lexington, accompanied Mrs. Wells to her home here.

Flowers at First United Methodist

Flowers on the altar of the First United Methodist Church during services there this past Sunday morning were "in love and honor of" the Chancel Choir, from Elizabeth Frazier family; and for Mrs. Lallage C. Cook from the Cook family.

Lamplighters meet at First Baptist

The Lamplighters of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) held their bi-monthly meeting in Fellowship Hall of the church, Tuesday, September 8, at 4 p.m. The meeting was opened with prayer by the church pastor, Rev. Michael Taylor. A video of missions, by a missionary, was shown. The meeting was enjoyed by Rev. Taylor, Thomas Foy, Ada Meade, Minerva Cooley, Lucy C. Regan, Myrtle Allen, and Dixie Webb. A cordial invitation is extended to attend the meeting which are every-other Tuesday.

Jenny Wiley Chapter AARP holds dinner-meeting

The regular, monthly dinner-meeting of the Jenny Wiley Chapter AARP was held Friday, September 18, at the dining room of the Highlands Regional Medical Center. Crystal Crider, granddaughter of members, Roberta and Arnold Crider, led the Salute to the American Flag. The devotions were presented by Jimmy Goble. Minutes of the last two meetings were read by Shirley Callihan, and approved. Jimmy Goble gave the treasurer's report. Gladys Allen, president, presided.

A letter from chapter president, Eleanor Dailey, urged donations be made for victims of Hurricane Andrew. The Jenny Wiley Chapter made a donation of $100.00 for this purpose, to the American Red Cross.

Prestonsburg Kiwanians to meet

The first luncheon-meeting of the Prestonsburg Kiwanians will be held Thursday, September, September 24, at 12:30 p.m., at May Lodge. Jane Wallace, program chairman, is planning a program for this event. Mabel Jean LeMaster, president, urges all members to attend.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Burieta Gearhart.

Guests were Patsy and Johnny Evans, Lillia Mae Price, Crystal Crider, and Hager White's sister-in-law, Eunice Meade.

A nominating committee composed of Margaret Ackerman, chairman, Flem Blanton, and Hager White was appointed by the president.

Patsy Evans, director of the Archer Senior Citizens' Center, presented the program. She said she had been at the Center for nearly 15 years, and told of how much she enjoyed being with the people there. She added that a Day Care program had been added there for the elderly and handicapped.

Mrs. Evans said the Center has 40 on the waiting list for home-delivered meals. She said a health fair was recently held there, with approximately 250 persons in attendance, and that they planned to conduct a bazaar in November. Mentioned as helping to sponsor birthdays there presently were the Rotary Club and Lee's Famous Recipe Restaurant. She said the Center now has two buses. Mrs. Evans extended an invitation to come and visit with them.

of the Beat and Flower Power movements. This is where the "Summer of Love" and the "Be-ins" of the 60's were held. Jack Kerouac and Allen Ginsberg used to write and read their poetry in the cafes there. Charles Manson and the Reverend Jim Jones began their infamous careers in the Upper Haight. Now, the district has been commercialized. The Upper Haight is a melting pot of people, ranging from Deadheads to punks to hippies to yuppies.

Duboce, slightly south, is an upscale neighborhood with some beautiful turn-of-the-century houses built after the 1906 earthquake. I stopped at Duboce Park and split a couple of games of one-on-one basketball with a deaf man named Larry. Talking trash wasn't very effective.

And then there's the Castro. I had mixed feelings going into the Castro. You see, the Castro is San Francisco's most venerable gay neighborhood. I admit, I was a bit apprehensive. What I found there really surprised me. Many people talk about gay neighborhoods like they're seedy places with people committing unspeakable acts in the streets. The Castro was one of the cleanest, most upbeat sections of a large city that I'd ever seen. The only difference from other places was that the couples walking around, eating lunch and shopping were same sex couples.

No one in the Castro accosted me or tried to pick me up. I was just another person walking around. It's been said that the most remarkable thing about Gay San Francisco is that Straight San Francisco doesn't say anything about its existence. The Castro and other predominantly gay neighborhoods exist peacefully side by side with "straight" neighborhoods. The neighborhood is very clean and has the lowest crime rate in the city. Because of this, many straight people live there and there are no problems.

Even with all I saw, I only got to part of the city. San Francisco is a people watcher's paradise. No matter how a person looks or acts, no one bats an eye here. This city may well be one of the most tolerant in the U.S. It's a lot of fun and a necessary stop on any cross-country road trip.

My time in California's just about over. I'm going to head north from here through the wine country and up to Portland and Seattle before making the big right turn and heading toward the Atlantic again. Until next time, Save The Giants!

Collins, Bill Callihan, Shirley Callihan, Elva Spradlin, Herbert Spradlin, Pauline Foley, Bill Foley, Alice Harris, Fannie Runnels, Pearl Robertson, Burieta Gearhart, Emma Jean Pelphrey, Dave Whisman, Patsy Evans, John Evans, and Lillia Mae Price.

United Methodist Women hold regular meeting

The United Methodist Women met September 14 in the Family Life Center of the church.

Judy Daniel, communications coordinator at the Highlands Regional Medical Center, gave a program on the MediAlert System, sometimes called the Guardian Angel Program. Members were interested in the program and a question-and-answer session was held.

The business meeting was called to order by Helen Neeley. The minutes were read by Roslyn Burchett, and the treasurer's report was given by Geneva Carter.

School supplies, to be sent to the Hill Crest Bruce Mission, were brought by members.

It was announced that the church picnic would be held on September 27, from 4-7 p.m., at the Spillway. It was also announced that the United Methodist Women would meet on September 26, at the Russell First United Methodist Church, Russell.

Elected officers for the coming year are Mable Brown, president; Debbie Holland, vice president; Roslyn Burchett, secretary; Geneva Carter, treasurer; Jane Wallace, mission coordinator of Christian personhood; Kathy Fitzpatrick, supportive community; Mary Hermon, social involvement; Rose Glenn, global concerns; Hope Whitten, membership; Mabel LeMaster, program materials; Dawn Brown, public relations; and Clara Bradbury, nominations.

Refreshments were served by Nancy Howard and Clara Bradbury to the following members: Elizabeth Ramey, Mabel Allen, Helen Neeley, Dorothy Harris, Bess West, Priscilla Hager, Roslyn Burchett, Geneva Carter, Dot Marshall, Debbie Holland, Hope Whitten, Alice Harris, Dorothy Stover, Virginia Jeffries, Fannie Runnels, Mabel Jean LeMaster, and Dorothy Wells.

Family reunion held at Bays home

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Bays, of Prestonsburg, for members of Mr. Bays' family, on Labor Day weekend, September 6. Attending were Angie Bays of Parkview Manor, Pikeville; Elzie Bays, Mr. and Mrs. Eltic Spears, Ricky Bays and children, Erica and Chad, Gary Bays, Craig and Leslie Bays, and Donna Jewell and sons, Jeremy and Christopher, all of Prestonsburg; Bonnie Mulky, daughter Denise, her husband Russell and family, all of Dana; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bays and family, and Juanita Spradlin, all of Kenton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. George Wyatt of South Gate, Michigan; and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Zeigler, and daughter Jennifer, of Nashville, Tennessee.

Staying with Mr. and Mrs. Bays for the weekend were, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Shaheen and children, Trevor, Drew, and Beth, of Findlay, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooker visit with family

During the Labor Day weekend,

Ron and Judy Hooker went to Minneapolis, MN., for a visit with their family, Chris, Pam., and five-month-old Chelsea Hooker. While there, they visited the Mall America, the largest mall in North America, which opened a few weeks ago.

North Prestonsburg Homemakers hold regular meeting

The North Prestonsburg Homemakers met September 15, at the home of Mabel Allen. The meeting was called to order by Mary K. Music, President. The devotional, entitled "Encouragement," was presented by Mabel Allen. The roll-call was answered with a fact about Kentucky and recycling tips. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Mrs. Frances Pitts announced that 78 homemakers from Floyd County attended camp including five instructors. She added that the FACES Jewelry workshop was a success and that the Bicentennial quilt was completed.

Mrs. Pitts announced that a workshop was conducted September 18, at the Courthouse Annex for the purpose of making finger puppets for children while patients at the Highlands Regional Medical Center.

The lesson was on Kentucky, in celebration of the 200th birthday of this state.

The next meeting was scheduled for October 20.

Present were Mabel Allen, hostess, and Elizabeth Ramey, Betty Ward, Goldie Collins, Frances Pitts, Mary K. Music, and Garnett Fairchild. Refreshments were served.

KRTA and BSRT hold joint meetings and a luncheon at May Lodge

The annual Fall Workshop of the Kentucky Retired Teachers' Association (KRTA), and the quarterly meeting of the Big Sandy Retired Teachers' Association (BSRT) along with a luncheon, was held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, on Thursday, September 17.

Registration began at 8:30 a.m. The meeting was called to order by Miss Ethel Fetterly, president of BSRT, who greeted and welcomed those in attendance. This was followed by the reading of the 23rd Psalm and by silent prayer for retired teachers who were deceased since the last meetings of these organizations. Anna Mae Arnette led the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag.

Secretary Delphia Hicks called the roll for Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Lawrence counties, which compose the membership of the BSRT, with Floyd County leading in the number of those present.

The president presented M. L. Archer, chairman of the membership committee for KRTA. He displayed a chart illustrating the number of members by areas throughout the state, with this district averaging 63.3 percent. He urged members to become more active in soliciting members and explained that dues for KRTA members could be deducted from retirement checks or paid directly to the KRTA. He added that pre-retirement meetings held annually at Prestonsburg Community College were always successful, and that one would be held there this fall.

Juanita Singleton, president of KRTA, presented Robert Conley, a trustee of this organization, who, in the absence of Robert Kelly, chairman of Insurance and Health Care, spoke on these matters.

Mrs. Singleton also presented Millie Minter, who gave an update on the KRTA System, and brought greetings from Pat Miller, and the 55 staff members there.

The president then introduced Pearl Miller, AARP/NRTA coordinator, who discussed the importance, relationship, and responsibilities of these two organizations.

Ted Crosthwait, chairman of the legislation committee, then stressed the importance of guidance in regard to health care, membership, and legislative matters, to the group.

Lunch was enjoyed at May Lodge.

Following lunch, the BSRT meeting and installation of officers for 1992-93 was held, with Ethel Fetterly presiding. Miss Fetterly thanked the group for "having faith in her" in electing her as their leader this past year, and talked of how much she had enjoyed this office. She presented Danese Amburgey, incoming president, who conducted the remainder of the meeting. The minutes and the treasurer's report were given by Delphia Hicks.

Mrs. Hicks presented Imogene Salyer, who installed officers for the coming year. These officers and the counties they represent are: Danese Amburgey, president, (Floyd); Edith Hall, president-elect, (Lawrence); Lola A. Doane, vice president, (Pike); and Delphia Hicks, secretary-treasurer, (Floyd).

Committees for the coming year are as follows, (with the first name on each list denoting the chairman): membership: Flora Rudd, (Magoffin); Wanda Chaffins, (Martin); Garnet Gay Bailey, (Johnson); Shelby Hill, (Pike); Alice O. Martin, (Floyd); insurance: Glen McDowell, (Pike); Elmer Martin, (Floyd); H. C. FLOWERING BULBS: A FLASH OF NATURAL COLOR

Traditionally considered a time for raking leaves, carving pumpkins, hay rides, and football games, autumn is also the best time for planting flowering bulbs. Planted during fall in flower beds, rock gardens, along a hedge or fence, or in the lawn, bulbs are a great way to add a splash of color to any landscape.

Easy to plant and cultivate, bulb blossoms will thrive next spring if they are given a hospitable growing environment and are properly groomed this fall for winter dormancy. Bulbs should also be protected from foraging animals by soaking them in a repellent, such as Ro-Pel Animal, Rodent and Bird Repellent, prior to planting.

BULB VARIETIES

The most difficult part of planting spring-flowering bulbs is choosing from among the hundreds of species and hybrids available. Some of the most sought after varieties include:

Tulips - The most popular of all spring flowering bulbs, tulips offer gardeners a wide range of choices in height, color, shape and bloom time.

Narcissus - More commonly referred to as daffodils, this winter-hardy flower comes in many shapes and colors. These bulbs develop extensive root systems in fall and provide better flowering results in colder climates.

Muscari - Nicknamed the "Grape Hyacinth," these tiny, bright purple flowers multiply quickly and resemble bunches of upturned grapes. Flowers stay in bloom for one to three weeks and thrive in sun or shade. They are an excellent choice for borders.

Chionodoxa - Commonly known as "Glory-of-the-Snow," this early spring flower blooms in loose clusters of white, blue or pink, and can vary from three to 10 inches in height. This bulb type is an ideal plant for borders and rock gardens.

PLANTING TIPS

Whether they are planted individually or in groups, spring-flowering bulbs will thrive and flourish if you follow these few simple planting procedures:

Prepare the Soil—Once the planting bed has been selected, turn the soil over to a depth of about 10 inches to aerate the site and give bulb roots ample room to grow. Quick to rot if left in standing water, spring-flowering bulbs flourish best in light, well-drained soil. Where necessary, condition soil with fertilizer as required.

Plant at Proper Depth—Using a bulb planter or trowel to dig the holes, the general rule of thumb is to plant bulbs to a depth of three times their overall height. With the soil removed to the required depth, lightly press bulbs into place bottom side down (the flat side is the bottom), return the soil, and water thoroughly.

Remember, if bulbs are planted too shallow the freezing and thawing of surrounding soil may interrupt their dormant phase; permanently damaging root systems and limiting your chance of bright, healthy blossoms.

Protect Against Pests—Bulbs are a tasty treat for many hungry creatures, such as mice, moles, squirrels and chipmunks. To keep these animals from making a restaurant out of your garden, soak each bulb for a minute, prior to planting, in Ro-Pel Animal, Rodent and Bird Repellent, a safe and effective animal repellent that works on the principle of aversive taste. Non-hazardous and ecologically-sound, Ro-Pel will give any bulb-feasting creature a "bitter" reminder that this property is off limits.

Bulbs, glorious bulbs

Tulips and other spring-flowering bulbs give the landscape a touch of royal splendor.

People, Places and Things... by Beth Jones

Charlie Allen was born on October 4, 1912, in Big Show Hollow in Pike County. He is the son of the late Josh and Cynthia Allen. Early in his life, Charlie began working long, hard days in the fields at the family's farm.

At age 16, he went to work in the coal mines. His first employer was Pittsburgh Coal Company and he labored at a mine up Pike-Floyd Hollow at Betsy Layne for four years. After that, he worked at mines of various companies.

Charlie was a coal miner until 1941 when he was drafted into the U.S. Army to serve in World War II. He spent 27 months overseas during the war. While overseas, he worked with an engineering corp that built bridges.

He was discharged from the army in 1945 and returned to Pike County. There, he met and later married Edna Adkins. That union began in 1946 and continued until Edna's death in 1987. Also in 1946, the Allens moved to Wheelwright where Charlie started work for Inland Steel (which later became Island Creek Coal). In 1951, the Allens moved to Price, along with their daughter, Glenda. Later, they had another daughter, Brenda.

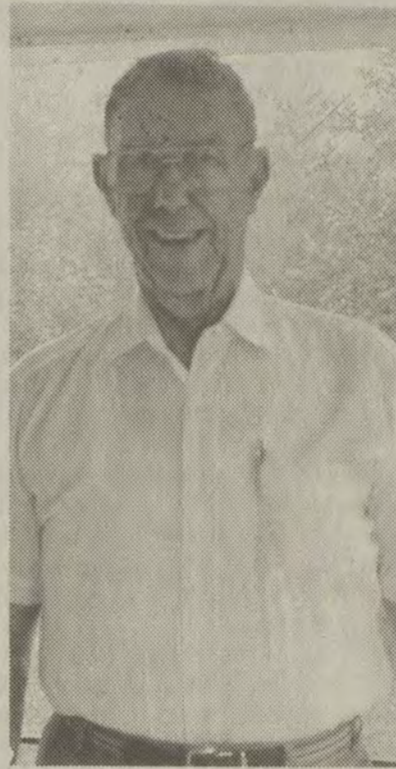

Allen kept working for Island Creek until one day in '66. This is when tragedy struck. A huge rock fell on Charlie and crushed his backbone. For two months, he was in Lexington. During this time, he was paralyzed from the waist down. In time, the paralysis went away, but doctors said Charlie would never walk again. Despite that fact, he was very determined and learned to walk again. "I guess the good man up above was looking down on me," remarked Allen.

Since that time, Charlie hasn't been able to work in the mines again. However, he's found many things to fill his time. He has been a member of the United Baptist Church at Clear Creek for 17 years. He is a member of the DAV Chapter 128 at Garrett since 1970. He's been a member of the United Mine Workers of America for 37 years. As well, he is a member of the American Association of Retired Persons, a Kentucky Colonel, and an honorary senator of Kentucky.

In his spare time, Charlie enjoys fishing and going to church.

All the items in the article make a pretty good biography, but the facts don't tell the whole story. Charlie Allen is one of the most easy-going, good-hearted men around. He is nearly always the first man at church. He goes to many funerals, some of which he doesn't even know the deceased, just to offer his condolences to the family. He's always willing to help those in need and sees the good in everyone.

Charlie Allen

Charlie Allen is truly an extraordinary man. He has worked for a living, paid his dues, and now has plenty of time to spend with his family. He is never pessimistic; he is always the optimist in the crowd. He believes faith in the good Lord is all one needs to be happy. He is truly an example of a contented man.

WAYLAND AREA SENIOR CITIZENS

The Board of Directors of the Wayland Area Senior Citizens met Tuesday, September 15 at 4 p.m., at the Center with Chairperson Elmer Morrison presiding. Roll call by the secretary indicated three absent; namely, Ena Mills and Dewey Hall, both ill, and Odis Perry.

Doug Lawson with Big Sandy ADD was present and passed out copies of the Revised Budget for 1993, the revision having been necessary because the Center had recently contracted with Sandy Valley Transportation for operation of the Center van.

The director, Sharon Smith, reported that the Center has a new deliveryman, Gene DeCoursey, for home-delivered meals via the new car which the Center won in the drawing held last month in Prestonsburg. She also advised that the Center now has two new telephones and "Call Waiting." The jacks were given to the Center and the installation was done free of charge by a relative of the director.

Holiday and weekend meals for the homebound was brought up but Lawson advised that the funds are not now available. Smith reported that she learned at a recent director's meeting that the grants for kitchen equipment must be equally met by the local center. She also reported concerning the new advisory council and one of the council members reported on funds earned from the sale of crafts.

Reports on the sick were given by Morrison and Smith. Morrison then, after some discussion, appointed a committee to draw up a rental contract for the Center when renting to outsiders. Appointed were: Jerry Fultz, Libby Martin, and Shirley Martin.

Smith reported that another gospel sing is planned for Saturday, October 3, and individuals and groups who will sing for this occasion are being assembled. This event will begin at 5 p.m. and everyone is invited. There will be drinks, food and crafts for sale, but the singing and music is free. Smith also reported that a Bible study is being conducted weekly by the Wayland United Methodist minister, the Rev. Troy Poff, and other area ministers may be invited to participate at alternate times.

It was voted to ask the cook if she would like to work two extra hours each day, in other words, eight instead of six hours.

Smith advised that attendance had averaged 20 per day in the past week and there were 36 at the recent birthday dinner. The next meeting will be October 20, at 4 p.m. at the Center.

Those present were: Morrison, Jerry Fultz, Shirley Martin, Libby Martin, Hobert Bates, Lula Ratliff, Ernestine Hall, and Mattie Gibson, directors, and Lawson and Smith.

August birthdays

Prestonsburg Senior Citizens celebrating birthdays in August were Dave Whisman, Rebecca Rasnick and Frank Carlton (guest). Cake and gifts sponsored by Lee's Famous Recipe, Jim Sparks, manager.

Health education

You can beat colorectal cancer. Sandra May is living proof.

"At first I thought it was hemorrhoids. It started off as just cramping, then turned into diarrhea. I'd get real hot and sick to my stomach. I had headaches and went down to 89 pounds. I had these symptoms for about five years."

Sandra May, of Staffordsville, had developed a lesion in her colon, or large intestine. And like many of us, she put off getting it checked. "I was just sure it was cancer."

Still, she caught it in time. "Dr. Basha (her surgeon) said if I had waited very much longer, it would have been widespread cancer." Although the surgery, performed by Dr. Basha at Highlands was not easy, "I just put myself in his hands because I knew he'd bring me through...and he did. I'm just sorry I put it off as long as I did. I would urge anyone that has symptoms to go to a physician and have tests run...especially if you're over 40. Then you have a chance of being cured. I was 39."

"The good Lord really blessed me. I just feel great now. Highlands Regional is one of the most efficient hospitals...fine doctors...nurses... I was treated great."

HI-PROTEIN ENERGY BAR

Makes 18 bars.

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 1/3 cups packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/3 cup Hershey's Cocoa
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup nonfat dry milk crystals
- 1/4 cup wheat germ
- 1 cup unsifted whole wheat flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 2 cups (12-ounce package) Reese's Peanut Butter Chips
- 1/2 cup raisins

Cream butter or margarine, sugar, eggs, and vanilla in large bowl until light and fluffy. Blend in cocoa and milk; add dry milk crystals, wheat germ, flour, baking powder, and baking soda. Beat until ingredients are thoroughly combined. Fold in peanut butter chips and raisins. Spread mixture evenly in a greased 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Bake at 350° for 30 to 35 minutes. Cool in pan on a wire rack. Cut into bars.

PEANUT BUTTER CHIP AND JELLY BARS

Makes 3 dozen.

- 3 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- 1 cup grape jelly

2 cups (12-ounce package) Reese's Peanut Butter Chips

Combine flour, sugar, and baking powder in a large bowl. Cut in butter or margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in beaten eggs; stir until mixture is smooth. Reserve half of the mixture. Press remaining half of mixture onto the bottom of a greased 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Spread grape jelly evenly over crust in pan. Sprinkle 1 cup peanut butter chips over jelly. Crumble remaining dough over chips. Bake at 375° for 30 to 35 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from oven. Immediately sprinkle with remaining 1 cup chips. Cool. Cut into bars.

PEANUT BUTTER CHIP BREAKFAST BARS

Makes approximately 5 dozen.

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 cup packed light brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 1/3 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 2/3 cups granola or natural cereal, crumbled
- 1 cup seedless raisins
- 1 cup flaked coconut
- 2 cups (12-ounce package) Reese's Peanut Butter Chips

Cream butter or margarine, shortening, brown sugar, egg, and vanilla in large bowl. In a separate bowl combine flour, baking soda, salt, and cinnamon. Alternately add flour mixture and milk to creamed mixture. Stir in cereal, raisins, coconut, and peanut butter chips. Spread batter evenly in a foil-lined 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1-inch jellyroll pan. Bake at 350° for 20 to 25 minutes. Cool completely. Invert pan. Peel off foil. Cut into 1 x 2-inch bars.

CHERRY-BRIGHT CHOCOLATE BROWNIES

Makes 16.

- 1/3 cup butter or margarine
- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 cup light corn syrup
- 2 tablespoons kirsch or other cherry liqueur, or 1 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2/3 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1/3 cup Hershey's Cocoa
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 cup chopped, well-drained maraschino cherries
- 1/3 cup chopped, slivered almonds

Halved maraschino cherries, optional
Cream butter or margarine, granulated sugar, and eggs in a small bowl. Blend in corn syrup, kirsch or almond extract, and vanilla. In a separate bowl combine flour, cocoa, salt, and baking powder. Gradually add flour mixture to creamed mixture; blend well. Stir in chopped cherries and almonds. Spread in a greased and floured 9-inch square baking pan. Bake at 350° for 25 to 30 minutes or until brownie begins to pull away from edges of pan. Cool in pan. Frost, if desired. Cut into squares. Garnish with additional maraschino cherry halves, if desired.

MILK CHOCOLATE PIE

Makes 8 servings.

- Graham Cracker Crust
- 1 (1/2 pound) Hershey's Milk Chocolate Bar
- 1/4 cup milk
- 3 1/2 cups (1 8-ounce container) frozen nondairy whipped topping, thawed or whipped cream

Hershey's Semi-Sweet Chocolate Mini Chips
Prepare Graham Cracker Crust; set aside. Break chocolate bar into pieces. Melt chocolate with milk in the top of double boiler over hot, not boiling, water. Cool completely. Fold whipped topping or whipped cream into cooled chocolate. Pour into crust. Garnish with Mini Chips. Cover; chill several hours until firm. Can also be frozen.

GRAHAM CRACKER CRUST

- 1 1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

Combine crumbs, sugar, and melted butter or margarine in a medium bowl. Blend thoroughly with a fork or pastry blender. Press mixture into the bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Bake at 350° for 8 to 10 minutes. Cool.

CHOCOLATE PEANUT BUTTER PIE

Makes 8 servings.

- Peanut Butter Chip Crust
- 1 cup Reese's Peanut Butter Chips
- 1 cup Hershey's Semi-Sweet Chocolate Mini Chips

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 3/4 cups milk
- 2 egg yolks, lightly beaten

- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 egg whites
- 1 tablespoon granulated sugar
- Whipped cream, optional
- Chocolate shavings or Reese's Peanut Butter Chips, optional

Prepare Peanut Butter Chip Crust; set aside. Place peanut butter chips into one bowl and Mini Chips into a second bowl; set aside. Combine gelatin and 1/2 cup sugar in a saucepan. Add milk and egg yolks. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved and mixture lightly coats a spoon. Do not boil. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Slowly pour 1 cup of the gelatin mixture into the bowl containing the chocolate; stir until melted. Gradually add remaining hot mixture, 1/2 cup at a time, to the peanut butter chips; stir until melted. Chill both mixtures until partially set. Pour chocolate into prepared pie shell. Beat egg whites with the 1 tablespoon sugar. Fold egg whites into peanut butter mixture. Pour over chocolate layer. Chill thoroughly before serving. Garnish with whipped cream and chocolate shavings or additional peanut butter chips, if desired.

PEANUT BUTTER CHIP CRUST

- 3/4 cup Reese's Peanut Butter Chips
- 1 cup vanilla wafers or graham cracker crumbs
- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 5 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted and cooled

Chop peanut butter chips with a nut chopper or blender. Add crushed chips to cookie crumbs and sugar. Drizzle on melted butter or margarine. Blend thoroughly. Press mixture into bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Chill.

CHOCOLATE AMARETTO PIE

Makes 8 servings.

- Graham Cracker Crust
- 1/3 cup Hershey's Cocoa
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1/3 cup cornstarch
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

- 2 3/4 cups milk
- 3 tablespoons Amaretto
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sliced almonds, optional
Prepare pie crust; set aside.

Combine cocoa, sugar, cornstarch, and salt in a medium saucepan. Gradually blend in milk; stir until smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil; boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat. Blend in Amaretto, butter or margarine, and vanilla. Pour into piecrust. Chill until firm. Just before serving, pipe on Amaretto Whipped Cream. Garnish with sliced almonds, if desired.

Amaretto Whipped Cream

- Makes approximately 1 cup.
- 1/2 cup heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
- 1 to 2 teaspoons Amaretto

Whip cream, sugar, and Amaretto until stiff.

SOLVING THE MYSTERY OF THE CEREAL BOX

Half asleep you read the cereal box label. You might as well be reading Greek, since the meaning of the words is not familiar to you. Gram of fat. What does it mean?

"A gram is a metric measurement used in nutrition labeling, but its meaning to most folks is distant. A gram is about equal to the weight of an average paper clip. So when you read a nutrition label saying how many grams of a particular nutrient the serving provides, picture paper clips," said Janet Kurzynske, Extension food and nutrition specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

A gram of pure fat, or one paper clip of fat, is equal to about nine calories. A paper clip, or gram, of pure protein or pure carbohydrate, equals about four calories, Kurzynske said.

A nickel is about five grams in weight. A piece of pure fat weighing about the same as a nickel, then is about 45 calories. That same weight of protein or carbohydrate would provide only 20 calories.

"Those little ribbons of fat add up to a lot of calories quickly," she said.

A pound is equal to 453.6 grams; thus, a pound of pure fat contains almost 4,100 calories, she said.

A kilogram is one thousand grams—or about the weight of a 1,000 paper clips. A person who weighs 154 pounds also weighs 70 kilograms, or about 70,000 paper clips.

Ounces are tricky measurements, too, Kurzynske said, because an ounce can mean either a measure of weight or a measure of volume.

"We all know that 16 ounces equals one pound. But that applies only to weight—not volume. Sixteen volume or fluid ounces can weigh more than a pound or less than a pound," she said.

A fluid ounce refers to the volume a particular item takes up when you put it in a container.

For example, she said, two tablespoons are equal to one fluid ounce, regardless of the product being measured. A fluid ounce refers only to the amount of space a product takes up.

"Because the term ounce is used to refer to two different measurements, we sometimes need to make conversions from one to another. Such conversion tables are often found in the backs of cookbooks," Kurzynske said.

For example, a pound (16 ounces by weight) of flour measures four cups in volume or 32 fluid ounces (by volume) and a pound of sugar measures only about two-and-a-quarter cups or 18 fluid ounces by volume, she said.

Self employment hurts job search

DEAR BRUCE: I've been looking for work for seven months. I am a college graduate, an administrator, have 20 years of success, and have made a great deal of money, yet I am unemployable. Why? Because I have always been self-employed.

As soon as prospective employers find out that I've been the boss for 20 years, it's, "Don't call me, I'll call you." What is wrong with being self-employed? I have proven that I have entrepreneurial experience to make things work. I've worked 20 hours a day.

Well, I've reached a point where I don't want to retire, but I don't want to work 20 hours a day. But I'm sure prepared to work 40 hours a week and work hard at it. How do I convince prospective employers that I'm a good bet?—V.B., Carson City, Nev.

SMART MONEY

BRUCE WILLIAMS

DEAR V.B.: You are in the toughest category of prospective employees. Like you, I've been self-employed my entire adult life, the radio experience being the only exception.

Like you, I've enjoyed a tad of success. But as a practical proposition, I would look very, very closely at someone whose entire background was "self-employed." The problem is you've made the decisions, you've called the shots, and you've been the boss. People who have done that for two decades frequently aren't the best of employees.

Your best shot would probably be some type of independent contractor status, perhaps in sales. Here, you would be paid exactly what you're worth—no more, no less. You will have a degree of independence and the employer doesn't have to gamble that you'll be the maverick in the crowd. I know it sounds crazy, but success as a self-employed individual is ordinarily held against you in the employee marketplace.

DEAR BRUCE: I have been offered a position with an airline. It's a position that I have tried to land for several years, and I'm really happy. There's only one problem. They have filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection.

I hate to leave my present job and find out the company is going down. On the other hand, we've reached a dead-end here. I'm only 43 and can't bear the thought of sitting here for the next 20 years going nowhere.

On the other side of that, I've got a mortgage, car payments, and a wife and kids. Given that, would you consider taking a job with a company that's filed for bankruptcy?—F.V., Boise, Idaho

DEAR F.V.: Filing for bankruptcy protection is not laying down and playing dead. The company is saying, "We have life, we have vitality, but if our assets are attacked, there's no way we're going to fight our way back in the marketplace."

You remind me of those folks who won't buy a ticket on an airline that has filed for Chapter 11—nonsense. It's a self-fulfilling prophecy. If you fail to patronize those companies that have filed for protection, you most certainly will force them deeper into trouble.

That isn't to say you ought to throw caution to the wind. Take a look at the company, see why they went into Chapter 11, and in your best judgment (after finding the facts), what are the odds of them coming out of Chapter 11 reasonably intact, and will your job survive that reorganization?

If everything's an affirmative, I would have no problem whatever going to work for that company.

Paraphrasing, this column is being dictated at 30,000 feet with an airline that is currently being protected by Chapter 11. I certainly have no reservation about flying with the airline, buying tickets in advance and patronizing them.

(Send your questions to: Smart Money, P.O. Box 5202, Hudson, FL 34674. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns. Due to the volume of mail, personal replies cannot be provided.)

Mining deaths decline in first quarter of 1992

The number of workplace deaths in the nation's mining industry decreased slightly during the first three months of 1992, compared to the same period last year, the Labor Department's Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) said.

The rate of fatal coal mining injuries per total hours of work during the first quarter of this year also decreased, while the fatality rate in the metal and nonmetal (non-coal) mining industry remained the same as that for the same period in 1991.

Rates of non-fatal injuries that resulted in lost worktime in the first quarter decreased in both coal and metal and nonmetal mining compared to the same period last year.

The rate of fatal injuries in coal mining was .04 injuries per 200,000 employee work-hours during the first quarter of 1992, compared to .05 for the first quarter of 1991 and .04 for all of last year. Fifteen miners were killed on the job through March of this year compared to 17 during the same period of 1991, 62 for all of last year, and 22 for the first quarter of 1990.

The rate of non-fatal coal mining injuries involving lost worktime during the first quarter of 1992 was 7.01 injuries per 200,000 employee-hours down from 7.10 in the same period of 1991. The rate for all types of injuries in coal mining was 9.22 per 200,000 work-hours, compared to 9.09 for the same period of 1991.

Pawnbroker installed to national board

While recently in Las Vegas at the National Pawnbroker Convention, President Charles Jones installed Ed Kuss of the Hock Shop of Prestonsburg to the National Advisory Board. This Board shall direct the Pawnbrokers with future regulations which shall professionalize the Pawnbrokers and better establish the advantage of having Pawn Shops in the community. While in session the almost 1000 shops represented dealt with many problems and arrived at goals to help with ridding the group of stigma associated with pawnshops.

Attending the convention with Kuss were his wife, Becky and Ed-dybanks Kuss, who celebrated his birthday while there at the Circus Circus and the Wayne Newton Show.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA Counselors. Full information is available at any VA Office.

Q.—Who is eligible for the Student Work-Study Allowance Program?

A.—A student enrolled on a 3/4-time basis or higher under Chapter 30 (Montgomery GI Bill), Chapter 31 (Vocational Rehabilitation), Chapter 32 (VEAP), Chapter 35 (Survivors' and Dependents' Educational Assistance), and Chapter 106 (Selected Reserve Program) is eligible to apply for work-study.

Q.—I am attending school full-time while on active duty with the military. I was not paid for the break between semesters. Please explain why other students in my school were paid for the break and I was not.

A.—Payment can be authorized when the interval between terms at the same school is less than a full calendar month for students not on active duty. Payment of educational benefits will not be authorized in the following situations:

1. Intervals between terms exceed 30 days.
2. Intervals between terms, regardless of length, when the student transfers from one school to another and also changes programs.
3. Students on active duty.
4. Training at less than half-time on the last day of the term preceding the interval.

Q.—Are medals available for service in the Merchant Marines?

A.—The Secretary of Transportation announced May 19, 1992, that new medals are available for civilian merchant seamen in recognition of their service in World War II, Korea and Vietnam. A medal also has been authorized for merchant mariners who served in the Persian Gulf in direct support of Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm. Specific eligibility criteria apply. Applicants must provide proper documentation of their Merchant Marine service in order to be considered for the medals to: Office of Maritime Labor and Training, Maritime Administration, Room 7302, 400 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, DC 20590, Attn: Awards.

Q.—My husband has been rated 100 percent for a service-connected disability and has been receiving compensation for 15 years. If he dies from other than service-connected causes, will I be entitled to Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC)?

A.—The widow of a veteran who had a 100 percent service-connected disability for at least ten years immediately prior to his death is entitled to DIC benefits, regardless of the cause of death, provided that they were married one or more years or that a child was born of the marriage. If the 100-percent rating is not in effect at the time of the veteran's death, eligibility is not established.

Kentucky Power receives award

Kentucky Power Company has been presented an international award for "outstanding achievement in utility communications."

The company's 1991 corporate goals booklet won first place in the "Employee Information Piece" category for utilities the size of Kentucky Power in the Utility Communicators International 1992 Better Communications Contest.

The twelve-page booklet was produced by C. Richard Lovegrove, Kentucky Power's public affairs director, to communicate the company's mission statement and goals to employees.

Yvonne Yonts.....Plaintiff
VS: NOTICE OF SALE
Joyce B. Allen and Bob E. Allen, her husband; Ronnie Burke, single; Joan Hall and Carl D. Hall, her husband.....Defendants

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the August 19 term, 1992, in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 28 day of September, 1992, at 10:00 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or twenty (20) percent of the purchase price in cash at the time of the sale, and the purchaser shall be required to execute a bond for the balance, with approved sureties thereon, due and payable within sixty (60) days from the date of sale, with interest at the rate of 12% per annum from the date of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

The property being sold is described as follows:
A certain tract or parcel of land, lying in Floyd County, Kentucky, on Frozen Creek of Left Beaver Creek, and more particularly bounded described as follows:

Beginning at a marked stone with Arville Spears line upstream near 150 feet to marked stone joining Silas Burke line; thence turning south up a drain to a marked stone with Silas Burke line; thence up the point with Silas Burke line to top of ridge; thence turning west down the ridge running with Vinia Johnson line; thence running down to another tract of Silas Burke line; thence down with Silas Burke line to the branch to a marked stone; thence up the branch turning northeast with Noble Burke line to top of ridge; thence turning east; thence with Felix Johnson line to Arville Spears line marked oak; thence down Arville Spears line to the beginning, so as to include all in said boundary containing 60 acres, more or less.

Being the same land conveyed from Noah R. Johnson and Liza Jane Johnson, his wife, to K.D. Burke and Sopha Burke, his wife, by Deed bearing date April 21, 1959, and recorded in Deed Book No. 171, at Page 347, records of the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office; and the same land inherited by the Plaintiff and Defendants herein by Affidavit of Descent dated the 22nd day of June, 1990, and recorded in Deed Book No. 337, at Page 163, records of the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office; by Affidavit of Descent dated the 22nd day of June, 1990, and recorded in Deed Book No. 337, at Page 167, records of the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office; by Affidavit of Descent dated the 22nd day of June, 1990, and recorded in Deed Book No. 337, at Page 169, records of the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office; and by Affidavit of Descent dated the 22nd day of June, 1990, and recorded in Deed Book No. 124, at Page 133, records of the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office; and a Deed from Hiram Hall and wife to

Finally, see Affidavit of Correction dated August 18, 1992, recorded in Miscellaneous Book 4, at Page 382, records of the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

Unpaid property taxes and liens of record as of the date of this Judgment shall be paid out of the proceeds of the sale. The purchaser shall pay the 1992 property taxes. The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall include the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

Given under my hand, this 4th day of September, 1992.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant To Application 836-5266 Amendment 1

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Richardson Fuel, Inc., 16232 US Route 23, Catlettsburg, KY 41129 has filed an application for an amendment to an existing underground coal mining and reclamation operation. The amendment proposes to add an additional 0.60 acres of surface disturbance and underlie an additional 662.0 and deletions 172.0 for a total proposed permit acreage of 1133.14 acres located 1.0 miles North of Banner in Floyd County.

The proposed operation is approximately 0.5 miles Northeast from Old Daniels Creek Road's junction with U.S. 23/460 and located 300 feet North of Daniels Creek. The latitude is 37° 36' 42". The longitude is 82° 41' 40".

The proposed operation is located on the Harold U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be disturbed by this amendment is owned by H.D. Fitzpatrick Heirs. The proposed amendment will underlie land owned by those as shown on the attached map.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 1346 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, KY 41653. Written comments, objections, or request for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow Complex, US 127 South, Frankfort, KY 40601.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date.

The Who, What, Where, How and Why of Label Reading

As the back-to-school and holiday shopping seasons approach, be sure to pay special attention to the labels on the garments. Sometimes overlooked and usually under-appreciated, a garment's label contains the most important information you need to know about the item you are about to purchase. What's in a label? The who, what, where, how and why of the garment.

Who: The brand or designer often identifies quality. Manufacturers and designers have worked hard to ensure that their names are synonymous with superior workmanship.

What: By disclosing the fiber content, this portion of the label reveals the type of care the garment will require and how well it will wear. Each fiber has its own attributes. For example, wool is known for its warmth, and acrylic for superior shape retention and color fastness.

Where: The country of origin may also reflect the quality of the garment since quality controls vary from country to country. Garments manufactured in the U.S. adhere to accurate sizing and quality control. Garments often carry addi-
