Airport becoming a deer 'cafeteria'

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

Anyone who has ever flown in a small aircraft is familiar with standard landing procedures. The pilot will radio the airport for a weather report, wind direction, traffic conditions, deer check...

Hold it.
A deer check?

If you're flying into the Big Sandy Regional Airport, a deer check is a must.

There are so many of them on the airport property, in fact, airport officials are thinking about hiring a full-time employee just to shoot the critters off so pilots can land their crafts.

The airport, a joint venture operated by Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties, is a "deer cafeteria" airport board chairman John Crum, of Inez, said Thursday.

"Our grass is too good," he said.

The airport, built on a reclaimed stripmine adjacent to Route 3, is the gathering place for large herds of deer and that's a big, and potentially expensive problem for airport officials. Two near misses have occurred between pilots, including State Representative Greg Stumbo, of Prestonsburg, and deer, with the deer getting the worst of the encounters.

Efforts to reduce the deer numbers through special hunting permits did not even provide "temporary relief," Crum said and a federal wildlife specialist was called in for advice.

Crum said that advice consisted of a recommendation to construct a 10-foot high fence around the airport and the board has asked for Federal Aviation Administration permission to do that...at an estimated cost of $168,000.

"We don't know what else we can do," Crum said.

"These deer have become accustomed to our efforts to scare them off," Crum added, "and it's getting harder to get them to move along. They just don't care if they move or not."

The problems usually multiply in the fall months, when the weather cools, and Crum said he has seen "as many as 120 to 150 deer in one trip up and down the runway."

"We have deer spotters out every day and every night," he added, "and we warn all approaching pilots to be on the lookout. Now we also have people lining the access road just before dark to watch the deer come out. This place has become a tourist attraction."

Contributing to the high deer population, Crum said, was the fact that the airport property abuts the Dewey Lake Wildlife management area, where hunting is restricted, and Agip Coal property, where hunting is usually prohibited.

"These areas have basically never been hunted and the population has grown unchecked," Crum said. "We've been fortunate so far that they haven't contributed to a serious accident."

Deputy witnesses wreck that injures his mother, sister

Tuesday afternoon Floyd County Deputy Sheriff Fred Mynhier watched as his mother and sister were involved in a serious traffic accident at the mouth of Cracker Bottom at Martin.

Mynhier was following his sister, Vickie Chaffin, 44, and his mother, Marie Mynhier, 65, out of Cracker Bottom when Chaffin's vehicle pulled into the path of Heilig-Meyers truck on Route 80.

Mynhier notified the sheriff's department and then proceeded to provide first aid to the two women.

Mynhier applied a tourniquet to his sister's arm to stem the flow of blood from a deep gash. She had to be extricated from the vehicle by the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad using the Jaws of Life. Both women were knocked unconscious, Mynhier said.

Going, going, gone

A worker from Michigan Recycling of Saginaw, Michigan watched as a bulldozer prepared to crash into a section of the Allen depot last Friday. "An historic landmark bites the dust," one onlooker said. The workers finished razing the building Tuesday. Glen Morey, trainmaster, said that the depot was torn down because it was no longer needed. The site will be cleaned up and left vacant. Property corp. meeting may have violated 'Sunshine' law

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

Despite claims to the contrary, meetings of the newly-formed Floyd County Public Properties Corporation held Friday, August 20 and Monday, August 23 appear to have been in violation of state Open Meeting laws.

At the center of contention is a dispute over whether the meetings of the property corporation were special-called sessions subject to strict guidelines or regular meetings open to general discussions.

County Attorney Jim Hammond has insisted repeatedly that the property corporation meetings were regular sessions, but a videotape of the meeting announcement, made by Hammond himself, contradicts that stance.

Hammond is quoted on videotape during the August 11 meeting of the Floyd County Fiscal Court announcing the August 20 meeting of the property corporation as a "special-called meeting." No notices were received by members of the media after that public announcement changing the meeting type.

According to state Open Meeting laws, special meetings of public agencies may be called but no matters may be discussed or voted on that are not included on the special meeting agenda.

During the August 20 meeting of the property corporation, which was recessed to Monday, August 23, members voted to declare an emergency situation in relation to bids for the construction of a convention center/grandstand complex at the site of a proposed harness racing facility in Floyd County. The emergency was reportedly declared to allow a single bid, submitted by Simpson and Associates, to be accepted for the project as a show of commitment that officials said had been requested by the state racing commission.

That issue was not among those listed on the meeting agenda and legally could not be discussed or approved under special meeting restrictions.

The property corporation also ap-

Allegations made, state says, but no formal complaint filed against Owens

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

State school officials have received an allegation that a Floyd County School Board member tried to interfere with a personnel decision, but no formal complaint has been made regarding the claim.

James Meade, who has applied for a substitute bus driving position, reportedly alleged that board member Hattie Owens tried to interfere in the hiring process by asking him about his qualifications.

It was reported that Owens had seen his name "on a list" of apparent applicants and that she allegedly approached him about the issue.

Sandy Gubser, director of assistance and intervention for the Kentucky Department of Education, said Thursday that Meade had complained to her office about the incident, but no formal complaint has been filed.

"The gentleman called my office and alleged that the incident happened," Gubser said. "But, it was not substantiated. We instructed him how to proceed with the proper steps to lodge a complaint. At this time, no formal complaint has been made. We also told him, because it is a classified position, that if he has any concerns that the process was unfair, he should report it to the superintendent."

Gubser explained that someone who is alleging that a school official has acted improperly needs to put their allegations in writing and submit them to the proper agency. She added that once a written complaint is received, a determination is then made whether or not the issue warrants a review.

On Thursday, Floyd superintendent Steve Towler said he was unaware Meade had accused Owens of trying to interfere in the hiring process. Towler said no formal complaint has been made to him concerning the issue.

Report scalds management of Head Start

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The state's Office of Education Accountability has released the results of a probe concerning allegations of mismanagement in the Floyd County Head Start program to Floyd superintendent Steve Towler Wednesday.

Though OEA's findings were reportedly highly critical of the director and bookkeeper for Head Start and the school administrator who oversaw the program, superintendent Towler said Thursday that several allegations in the report were unsubstantiated.

Towler declined to discuss specifics of the OEA report and said that the findings of the probe will be forwarded to the Big Sandy Community Action Program in Paintsville, the regional agency that administers the Head Start program in Floyd County.

On Wednesday, OEA investigators Steve Yater and Phil Austin presented the report to Towler and deputy superintendent Gary Frazier, Towler said.

Last month, Head Start director Janie Bailey and bookkeeper Ruth DeRossett were suspended without pay because of allegations of misuse of Head Start equipment; misuse of funds; and improper conduct.

Towler did say that he would discuss the report with former assistant superintendent Pete Grigsby Jr., who supervised the federally-funded program for the local school system.

"Mr. Grigsby was interviewed very thoroughly and I think anytime something happens in a program it lends itself to some questions of the supervision," Towler said. "While we didn't feel it necessary to delve deeply into that situation, they (OEA) chose to. It's just natural to look at who supervised the program. I intend to talk with Mr. Grigsby. It's all in my hands."

Towler did not indicate if any disciplinary action would be taken concerning Grigsby, but he said that any information in the OEA report about the former assistant superintendent would be addressed by the superintendent because Grigsby was employed directly by the school system.

Allegations concerning Bailey and DeRossett will be addressed by the Ouster doesn't sway Towler on personnel input stance

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

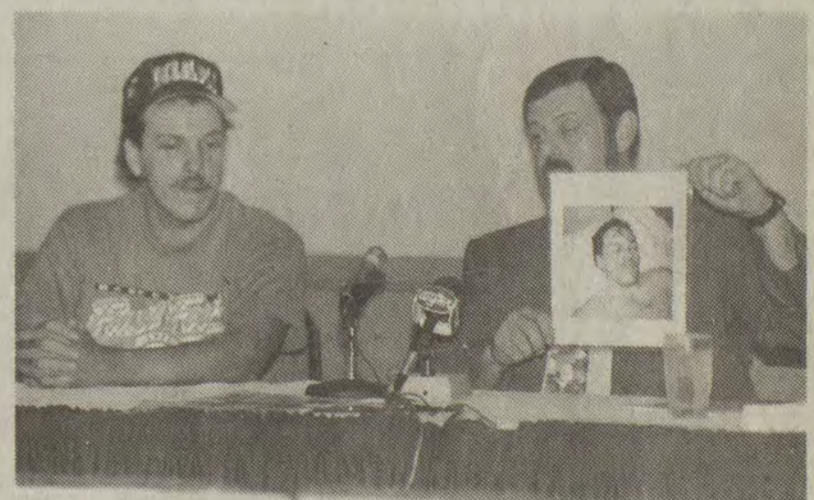

This week's removal of a Clinton County school board member by the State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education for stating opinions about hiring decisions didn't seem to faze Floyd County superintendent Steve Towler who said last week he welcomes opinions from board members.

The state school board ousted Clinton County Board Member Larry Craig Tuesday for misconduct for allegedly trying to influence the hiring of nine people by the school system. It was reported that Craig gave his opinion about personnel in response to questions asked by the superintendent.

During Craig's removal hearing, state board member Tom Gish said the law prohibiting a board member from influencing hiring personnel was illogical because it doesn't prohibit a superintendent from asking board members their opinions.

"It seems to me that if it's logical

Counseling program to fill void for older citizens

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

The Benefits Counseling Project (BCP) of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund of Kentucky has a program designed to knock down roadblocks that hinder citizens 60 years or older in Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin and Pike Counties from receiving state and federal benefits.

The BCP, which is funded by a federal grant, acts as a liaison between the applicant and the agencies that approve or deny the benefits.

"The government is trying to reach people in the hollows and branches who may not know they are eligible for government benefits," said Beverly Carroll, who was recently hired as benefits counseling coordinator for the BCP. "We want people to know what services are legally and rightfully theirs."

"We really want to help people..." she added. "We don't want to abuse the system. But you still see people who need help but don't get it."

She said that many older adults are not aware that they may be eligible for government assistance. Others may have been denied benefits due to technicalities that could be resolved with legal assistance. Still others, frustrated with confusing and complicated application forms and red tape, give up before their applications are processed.

To get word of the benefits counseling to older adults, the BCP is placing trained volunteer benefits counselors in the 15 senior citizens centers in the five-county area.

"Our office and volunteer counselors in the centers will be there to assist older adults and / or to direct them to the proper agency," Carroll said.

As director of the BCP, Carroll's responsibilities are "to supervise the volunteers and counselors of the benefits program in the five counties and to act as a liaison between the senior citizens and agencies or when neces-

Government in action

The Melvin Grade School organized a Jr. Beta Club. Forty-four charter members recently visited the state capitol in Frankfort. The group toured the famous governor's mansion and visited the new capitol where the governor currently works. After the visit to the capitol, the group had pictures taken in front of the floral clock. They also visited the Old Capitol where they saw many objects from the early 1700s uncovered during an archaeological dig. The group also saw a time capsule that included pictures of Floyd County's one room school project. They finished this trip with a visit to the Daniel Boone Gravesite. that a board member shouldn't talk to a superintendent, it's logical that a superintendent shouldn't talk to a board member," Gish said.

Towler disagreed. "I haven't agreed with that in the past," Towler said Thursday. "Mr. Gish is certainly entitled to his opinion. I think (it's) implying that any opinion is an effort to influence. I don't agree with that. The vast majority of opinions about people are positive. Until we have an (attorney general's) opinion or a state regulation that opinions are not to be shared by any board member... then I will clearly abide by that."

State school board chairman Joseph Kelly said Wednesday that if he were a local school board member he would not offer any opinions about personnel.

"I think I would say 'thank you for asking my opinion, but I don't feel that it's appropriate that I give it,'" Kelly said.

Jim Parks, spokesman for the Kentucky Department of Education, said Wednesday that, he too, would not give opinions on personnel issues if he were a school board member. Parks added that the Kentucky School Board Association (KSBA) informed local school boards on how to deal with personnel issues.

Ann Brandt, spokesperson for KSBA, said Thursday board members are advised not to get "directly or indirectly" involved in personnel issues. She said it was her understanding that board members should not be involved in any way with personnel issues.

Towler said he agreed with those comments if board members wanted to erase any doubt whatsoever that they were involved in personnel issues.

"I would call that a clear-cut path to no problems of any kind as far as interpretation," Towler said. "I agree with that. If a board member knows someone they should not be in the position to say that this person should not be hired. I can understand that if you're wanting there to be no questions, no anything that's clearly the way to go. I wouldn't have any problems with that. I don't see any problem with trying to find information out."

Towler said that he would like to see an attorney general's opinion issued on the matter.

Paintsville regional Head Start office.

"There's nothing in the report that I think is totally new to me with the exception of some allegations that weren't necessarily totally substantiated," Towler said Thursday. "Basically the issues we had heard from several sources were, basically, their (OEA's) findings. There was maybe a little more to the issues than we knew."

Last month, Grigsby said that he had initiated an in-house investigation in the Head Start program concerning misuse of funds when "a large bill" came across his desk.

On Thursday, Towler disagreed with Grigsby's account of how the investigation started.

"Mr. Grigsby had been general in his comments that he was concerned about some problems," Towler said. "He mentioned several concerns in July or August of '92 and we didn't do any investigation. Those concerns resurfaced this spring. He did express concerns to me, but we had not agreed to undergo any internal investigation of the situation. When Mr. (Gary) Frazier took that over, almost within a week or two that information came to us in a pretty strong fashion."

Towler did not say what total dollar amount was placed on the alleged misuse of funds and equipment, but he said that any attempt to recoup funds would have to come from the Paintsville office.

"At this point, I suppose if there's restitution involved it would come through them," Towler said.

In regard to OEA's report being forwarded to any other governmental agency for review, that too, would come from the regional office or OEA could forward the findings, Towler said.

"When the OEA is involved in something, they can refer it to who they feel necessary," Towler said. "In this case, you have a different agency you deal with."

Towler said that Bailey and DeRossett will remain suspended from their positions until a decision on findings is reached by officials in the Paintsville office. Towler said that he hoped a decision would be reached quickly.

CANCER

THIS FAMILY.

BUT MAYBE NOT FOR LONG.

Evelyn Blevins and her sister, Barbara Spriggs, know that they are at high risk for developing breast cancer. Their mother was diagnosed at age 44 and a sister at age 40. Evelyn and Barbara each have a daughter, and one has a granddaughter, who likely will inherit their increased risk for the disease.

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in American women; one in nine will be affected in her lifetime. At King's Daughters' Medical Center, we are working to change that statistic by offering a leading-edge option for prevention of breast cancer.

KDMC is among an affiliate network of 118 clinical centers in the United States and Canada participating in a nationwide study called the Breast Cancer Prevention Trial. The five-year research program studies whether the medication tamoxifen, effective in the treatment of breast cancer, may prevent its development in women at increased risk.

Factors strongly associated with developing breast cancer include age; family history of breast cancer; never having borne a child; bearing a first child past age 30; and menstruation at an early age. If you would like to know more about breast cancer risk factors, or are interested in participating in the Breast Cancer Prevention Trial, call us at (606) 327-4535.

of fiddle music

Just Fiddling Around, airing on KET at 3 p.m. Sunday, September 5, traces the roots and history of fiddle playing from its early Scotch-Irish origins to modern bluegrass performance. Carol Stokes, a world-class bluegrass fiddler, hosts the program, which will be repeated at 11 a.m. on Friday, September 10.

In authentic settings, the program brings to life, fiddle tunes from the Civil War, Bill Monroe's "Uncle Pen," and fiddle music of early radio programs and the Grand Ole Opry. Dance fiddling, display fiddling, and Cajun and Western swing fiddling are also demonstrated.

Stokes performed her original bluegrass breakdown, "Carol's Twinkle," with the Lima Symphony Orchestra to demonstrate the variety of the form.

Among the guests are Bill Monroe and The Bluegrass Boys, Jimmy C. Newman and the Canjun Country Band, Grant Turner, Jimmy Adkins and the Cedar Hill Band, the Foxfire Band, The Littlest Fiddlers, Charlie Smith, and Rufus Thibideaux.

Community spirit

Civic club gives from the pocket—and the heart

Credit the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club with really putting the "community" in Prestonsburg Community College.

The club, celebrating its 70th anniversary this year, has funded and physically worked on a gazebo on the college's new River Walk, a kilometer-long trail on the campus which is used by the community.

"It seems like it's going to be a community gathering place," club member Lane Dutton said of the walking trail, which she and husband Johnny use regularly. "And we (Kiwanians) wanted to contribute to it."

Club members gathered at the decorative shelter for their August 19 meeting and put the finishing touches on the handiwork of college employee Tim Cooley, who built the gazebo with materials paid for by the club.

"One of our goals is to serve the community," said Bob Lewandowski, club president. "This is a good thing for us to do in the line of community involvement, especially since a lot of our members walk on the trail."

So far, Kiwanians have contributed about $1,000, in addition to members' labor in painting the shelter.

To commemorate the club's anniversary and to show appreciation, the college will place inside the gazebo a plaque recognizing the club's contribution, said PCC President Dr.

Deborah Floyd.

The trail, which is used by several hundred college and community people every day, has been built completely by donations from businesses and individuals. It winds along the river at the edge of the campus and has several benches or "rest stations." More are planned.

Volunteers patrol the trail in the evenings to ensure walkers' safety.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

Play it again, Jim?

by Scott Perry

Since County Attorney Jim Hammond seems hell bent on discrediting the press, publicly accusing the media of "shoddy" reporting, it seems only fair that we should return the compliments.

Hammond has repeatedly insisted that there was nothing illegal or improper about actions taken during the first meetings last Friday and Monday of the newly-formed Floyd County Public Properties Corporation, basing his claim on a contention that any matters may be acted upon in a regular meeting of a public agency.

He's right about that.

But he's wrong about the type of meeting that was conducted.

Our evidence concludes beyond a shadow of a doubt that the public properties corp. meeting was, in fact, announced by Hammond himself as a special-called meeting.

The law is very specific about what can be discussed in special meetings...nothing that is not included on the meeting agenda.

Several actions taken by members of the property corp. were on issues that did not appear on the meeting agenda.

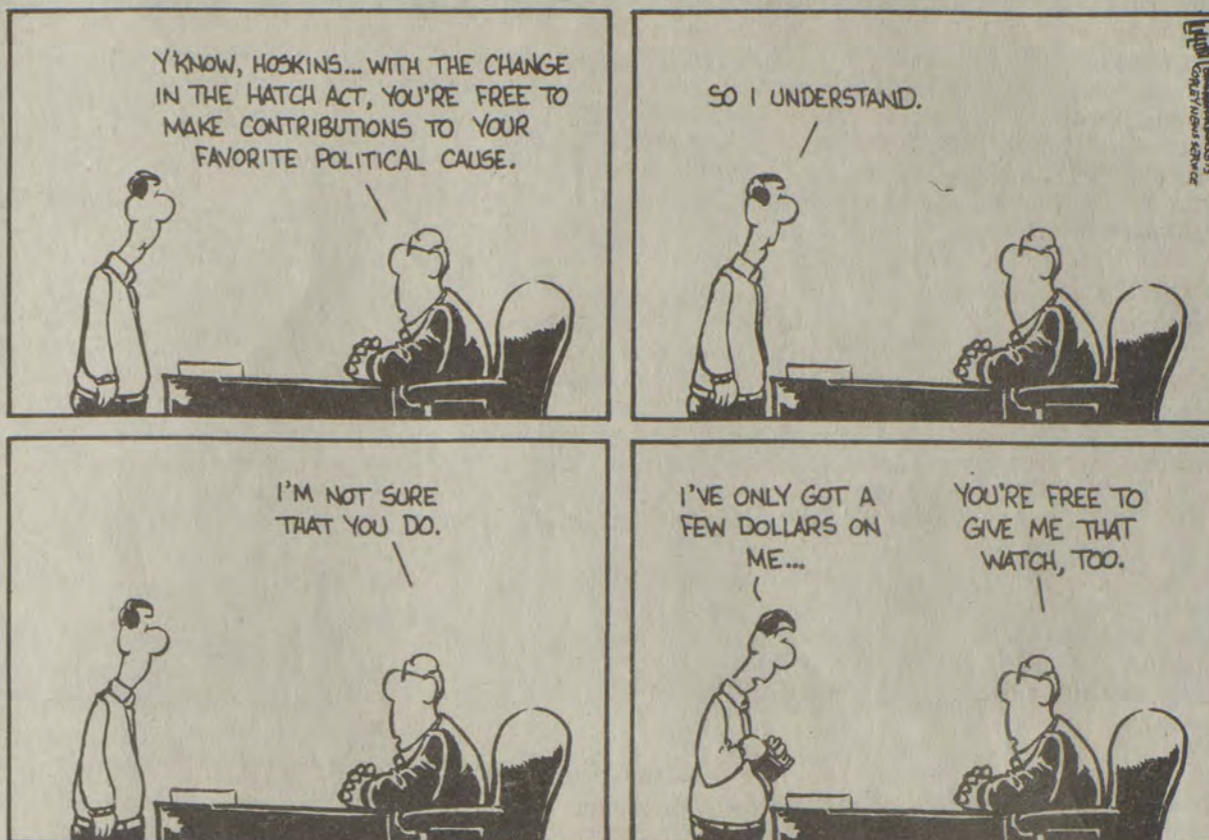

They are, therefore, improper, illegal and should be properly readdressed by the property corp. in a properly conducted meeting. Otherwise, we will have no choice but to formally challenge the legality of the meeting.

We have no particular desire to provide another hurdle in the effort to locate a harness racing facility in Floyd County and, as a matter of fact, we have endorsed the effort every step of the way.

Nor do we believe that fiscal court members, who double as members of the public property corporation, intentionally violated the law in their first meetings.

It seems, instead, that they were the victims of poor legal advice from their counsel, the county attorney, and we would recommend that they avoid repeats of that in the future by always seeking a second opinion.

Better safe than sorry.

Pike County approves payment of bills

It took over a week, but the Pike County Fiscal Court was finally able to approve all its due bills Tuesday.

Nearly 120 bills were accidentally deleted from the county's computer system.

Finance Commissioner Mary Jane Wright thanked the court for its cooperation in the financial confusion and said the county is back on track as far as bill payments are concerned.

"Some vendors claim they haven't been paid in three months," Magistrate Earl Sullivan explained. "The 1992-93 bills should be paid up."

Wright assured Sullivan that they were. The court also had to approve a $200,000 transfer of funds from the county's general fund to the solid waste account.

Pike County Treasurer Johnda Billiter stated that the lack of payment to the solid waste fund by agencies dumping in the landfill and an increase in salaries for that department has caused the need for the transfer.

Figures show that Floyd County owes $88,000 for dumping its garbage in the landfill and the Pike County Board of Education owes $25,000.

Solid Waste Commissioner Leroy Syck said he has been in touch with Floyd County in an attempt to collect the money owed. —Appalachian News-Express

Two men killed when car strikes tree

Two men died about 2 p.m. Wednesday when the car they were riding in ran off Ky. 404 and struck a tree near Howard Branch about 15 miles south of Salyersville, state police said.

The driver of the car, Larry Juniper, 20, of Salyersville, and another man who was a passenger in the car were pronounced dead at the scene.

The passenger in the car has not been identified, police said.

Juniper was driving a 1983 Oldsmobile, west of Ky. 404 at a high rate of speed when he crossed into the eastbound lane and left the road, police said. Neither man was wearing a seat belt. —Lexington Herald-Leader

Tackett named in $1.8 million lawsuit

Johnson County Jailer Thurman Tackett has been named in a $1.8 million civil rights lawsuit that has been filed in U.S. District Court in Pikeville.

Richard Bailey, an inmate at the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center, filed the lawsuit May 14, 1993. Bailey claims that Tackett subjected him to cruel and unusual punishment while he was incarcerated in the detention center on charges of theft and burglary.

Bailey is asking for compensatory damages in the amount of $800,000 and punitive damages in the amount of $1,000,000 as well as a restraining order.

On July 1, Federal Judge Joseph Hood recommended that the suit be brought before the courts. On August 2, Hood ordered the case to be heard before U.S. Magistrate Judge Peggy Patterson for pretrial matters and record developments. —The Mountain Citizen

Pike man is killed as crash throws him into truck's path

An 18-year-old Pike County man was killed Wednesday when he was thrown from a car into a path of a tractor-trailer.

State police said Jeffrey Thomas Price of Rockhouse died at the scene of the accident on U.S. 460 at Regina.

The driver of the car, James Michael Collins, 18, of Pikeville, also was thrown from the vehicle but suffered only minor injuries.

The accident occurred at 7:38 a.m. when Collins apparently lost control of his Mazda RX-7 and crossed into the eastbound lane, police said.

The car hit a truck driven by Davey G. Adams, 29, of Elkhorn City, and Collins and Price were thrown from the car, police said. Price was thrown into the path of a tractor-trailer driven by Gordon Belcher, 53, of Elkhorn City, police said.

Adams and Collins were treated at Pikeville Methodist Hospital and released. Belcher was uninjured.

The accident is under investigation. —The Courier-Journal

What others are saying

The following articles are excerpts of editorials taken from Kentucky newspapers

No need to offend This is the dilemma:

To many white Southerners, the Confederate flag and other references to "rebels" are a source of pride in their heritage. But to most blacks in this country, those same symbols are a source of great injury, an ugly reminder of a time when they were treated as property instead of people and of a South that fought a war to maintain their bondage. For that matter, the Confederate flag is likely to cause pain to white citizens whose ancestors died fighting for the Union.

Who's to say which view is more important?

Well, in terms of people's personal lives and property, the answer should be obvious. No one can tell you what flag you can fly outside your house, or paint all over your car or even have tattooed on your back. The First Amendment to the Constitution gives you the right to display the symbols you choose, and no one is questioning that.

But when we're talking about state-owned properties — schools, for example — that are created for and paid for by all taxpayers, it's not the same thing. Government agencies simply should not adopt, endorse or sanction symbols that are offensive to significant numbers of citizens.

And that's why the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has every right to ask several Kentucky high schools to drop their "Rebel" mascots and to quit using any other Confederate symbols.

The organization recently directed its request to eight Kentucky high schools that call their sports teams "Rebels." Some of the schools also use Confederate or rebel logos on yearbooks, newspapers, athletic uniforms and other school materials.

To be fair, the schools involved probably mean no harm in their use of Confederate names and symbols. They're just using the symbols to build pride among students.

But because their schools are public and serve everyone, they shouldn't be brandishing names or symbols linked to a past that offends a significant number of Kentucky citizens. Equally inspiring and less offensive mascots can and should be found.

Health-care reform won't be easier later

Nobody's said it outright yet, but the signs are unmistakable.

With increasing frequency, key members of the legislature are hinting that they will handle health-care reform in January's regular session.

What's wrong with that, you say? Wouldn't it be cheaper than another special session?

Yes, that's true. But a couple of other things are true, too.

First, it was only about three months ago that legislative leaders stood beside Gov. Brereton Jones and agreed that just a special session on health care would be conducted this year. What has happened since to change that commitment? Do lawmakers know something now that they didn't know then? Or is it just that legislators, under intense pressure from an array of interest groups, just want to delay the tough decisions that await on health care?

That brings up the second point. Anyone who thinks health-care reform will be easier in January than in October is seriously mistaken.

Just look at the nettlesome (and in some cases politically explosive) issues already piled up on the January agenda: closing the annual gap between the state's planned spending and actual revenues; a broad range of recommendations to improve the efficiency of government, among them an end to the merit system; child sexual abuse, and legalized casino gambling. Put those on top of the routinely controversial work of any legislative session and you have a prescription for political paralysis — even without health care.

Perhaps, for some reason that's not immediately apparent, a special session on health reform isn't a good idea. But if so, legislative leaders should begin to say so in public — and to explain why their commitment to acting soon on health care seems to have evaporated in only 90 days.

Saving babies

Just say EAT?, a take-off on the once-popular "Just say no!" anti-drug campaign, is one catchy way to keep in mind that Kentucky's infant-mortality rate dipped to 8.3 last year — the state's lowest level ever.

In other words, there were 8.3 deaths in 1992 for every 1,000 live births. Of 53,665 babies born in Kentucky last year, 444 died.

"Just Say Eat!" sprang to mind because officials seem to think that the decline in Kentucky's infant-mortality rate may largely be the positive result of Education (sex-education in the schools), Access (to prenatal care for poor mothers-to-be), and Technology (advances in medical care for infants).

The statistics leave no doubt that progress has been made. In 1972, Kentucky's infant-mortality rate was 18.9. The state's previous best rate was 8.4, achieved in 1990.

But the figures also leave no doubt that we still have a way to go, since it's possible that a substantial number of the 444 infants who died last year might have been spared had their mothers been gotten to sooner.

Babbage names task force to assist in implementation of national "motor-voter" law

The specifics of expanded voter registration opportunities for the citizens of Floyd County will be explored when a task force on voter registration meets in Frankfort September 7, Secretary of State Bob Babbage said.

"Government is now required to advocate and to assist with voter registration," Babbage said.

"We expect nearly 500,000 new voters to register in the four-year cycle of the driver's license," Babbage said. "Since the potential for voter registration has grown under this law, it is essential that as many citizens and agency representatives as possible participate in its implementation," he added.

By virtue of his office, Babbage will chair the task force and lead the efforts to implement the federal law. Kentucky law names the secretary of state as the chief election officer of the Commonwealth.

The task force, comprised of representatives of government agencies, private groups and citizens-at-large, will review the requirements and make recommendations for enacting the National Voter Registration Act of 1993 in Kentucky.

The federal law has been nicknamed "motor-voter" because it directs that voter registration be permitted when and where a driver obtains or renews a driver's license.

The law also requires public agencies which offer assistance to the handicapped to serve as voter registration sites. Other agencies which offer public and employment assistance are required to register voters under the new law.

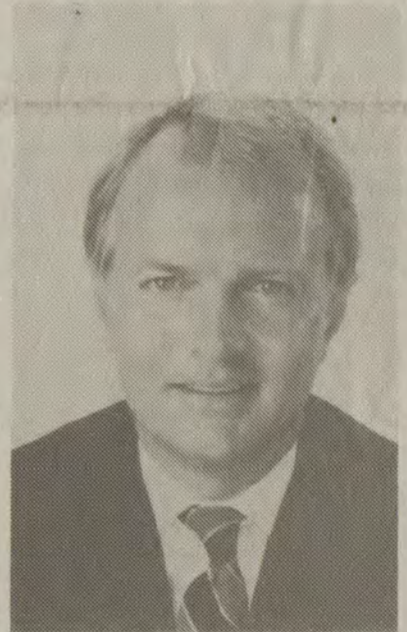

The task force will also explore other registration options required by the law which directs states to designate other public offices to offer voter registration. States have some discretion in choosing additional sites.

Since taking office in 1992, Babbage has been instrumental in developing programs to increase voter registration. Several have gained Kentucky national recognition and now serve as models to build registration in other states.

Between the 1991 and the 1992 general elections voter registration increased by 134,301. Between the 1992 general election and the 1993 primary, a time when registration traditionally declines, 83,929 persons registered to vote for the first time.

Plastic surgery seminars being offered locally

Dr. Henry G. Wells Jr.

Anyone who has ever thought of plastic surgery as a means of improving their looks will have an opportunity to find out more about it and to ask in-depth questions of the experts.

It's all part of a free seminar series being offered to the general public. The first seminar takes place on Monday, September 13, at 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Prestonsburg. This session will concentrate on interest in rejuvenation procedures—those aimed at achieving a more youthful appearance. Discussion will center on brow lifts, eyelids, breast lifts, neck liposuction (fat removal) as well as reducing facial wrinkles through dermabrasion and chemical peels.

The second session will be presented at the Landmark Inn, Pikeville, on Monday, October 25 at 7 p.m. Reshaping the human form through contour surgery will be the main topic and will include rhinoplasty (nose shaping), facial implants, breast augmentation, breast reduction, abdominoplasty, liposuction, thigh lift and arm lift.

Each session will include a description of procedures and the extent to which they benefit people physically and psychologically. An open-ended question and answer session will follow, and each seminar is expected to last from one to one and a one-half hours.

The feature presenter will be Dr. Henry G. Wells Jr. of the South Hill Clinic in Lexington and Chief of Plastic Surgery at Highlands Regional Medical Center. Dr. Wells is Board Certified by the American Board of Plastic Surgery and served four years on the Medical College faculty at the University of Missouri. He has practiced for over ten years and has conducted local seminars in the past two years at the For Women Conference. The seminar series is presented in association with Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Anyone interested in attending may obtain further information or register for either or both seminars by calling toll free 1-800-844-6877. Registrations will be accepted at the door.

Eric Hall

Wee Wonder

Eric Hall, two-year-old son of Dr. Dan and Susan Hall of Bowling Green, formerly of Prestonsburg, was awarded first prize in the 18 month-4 year old category in the Wee Wonders contest.

Winnie Greer Photography was one of hundreds of professional photography studios who participated in the annual contest sponsored by Pechman Professional Color Lab, Kaukauna, Wisconsin. National judging took place on June 30, in Wisconsin. Over 1400 children's portraits were judged on expression, personality, charm and uniqueness of the child as he or she appeared in the photograph. Hall is the grandson of the former Winnie and Taulbee Johnson of Prestonsburg. He was an age category local winner photographed by Winnie Greer. He will receive a $200 wall portrait. All children photographed by Winnie Greer, including the national winner, for this year's contest are currently on display at Cedar Knoll Galleria in Cannonsburg.

Visually Impaired Preschool Services (VIPS) of Eastern Kentucky recently held its second Family Retreat Weekend at Camp Shawnee. Nine families having children who are blind or visually impaired participated in a weekend of family fun, support, encouragement and learning.

The retreat began with a Friday evening wiener and marshmallow roast around a campfire and swimming. Families interacted with one another and siblings made new friends.

Saturday morning activities included paddleboat riding on Dewey Lake, petting goats, swimming, and walking about the camp. After lunch families participated in a family craft project in which they sanded puzzle boards and then glued textured materials to the base and the corresponding puzzle piece. Demsey Chaffins and Donny Puckett of CAP cut the boards and puzzle pieces for this project. A toy and equipment exchange followed with items families brought which they no longer used or needed as well as from donated defective toys.

Special guest Joyce Coots, local coordinator for KY-SPIN (Kentucky Special Parent Involvement Network), spoke on effective communication and informed parents on how to advocate for their children's needs and from whom to seek assistance.

Saturday night entertainment featured Corky the clown who presented all the children with animal-shaped balloons. A surprise juggler fascinated the children as he juggled balls, bats, knives, baseball bats and even the children themselves! Corky and his helper returned to perform skits for Sunday morning worship services accompanied by singing by Bill and Katrina Tussy.

This weekend event was made possible through a grant from the Kentucky School for the Blind Charitable Trust Foundation, many donations from within the community, and volunteers.

VIPS-Eastern Kentucky is a joint effort between VIPS-Louisville and the Christian Appalachian Project, known as the Appalachian Training & Outreach Project which is supported by the American Foundation for the Blind and the Hilton/Perkins National Program of Perkins School for the Blind, Watertown, Massachusetts.

Fun and friendship

Ethan Caudill, son of Danny and Jacquelyn Caudill of Morehead, and Makayla Compton, daughter of Rita and Darren Compton of Pikeville, played with toys distributed during a Family Retreat Weekend.

South Floyd to inaugurate season against Betsy Layne

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

When the Betsy Layne Bobcats host the South Floyd Raiders in tonight's season opener for both teams, it will present a little different angle.

The Bobcats are used to being the young kids. The new kids on the block. The up-and-coming program. But not this season.

South Floyd will play their first game as a high school team and this time they will be the "kiddie corps" going against a more experienced team.

Betsy Layne will be looking for win number one under coach John Derossett, who will enter his second year at the Bobcat helm. Betsy Layne finished 0-9 last season. The battle ground will be "On the Hill" at Betsy Layne and it has all the makings of a good high school football game.

Wheelwright hosted the game last season and came away with a 14-0 win over the Bobcats. But Coach Derossett's ballclub feels that things will be different this year.

South Floyd will dress one of the largest teams in the county; 58 will don the silver and black uniforms for game one. Numbers, or the lack of them, have always been a problem at Wheelwright; but this year with the consolidation of McDowell and Wheelwright, Coach Donnie Daniels has the numbers that he hasn't been blessed with in years past.

Raiders' scouting report

Betsy Layne does present some problems for South Floyd and that comes in their defense.

"We are concerned about the 'track of the tackle,'" said Daniels. "We feel they are stronger up front than what they have been."

Daniels said that because of a strong front line, this ballclub was

"Monday and Tuesday I felt we had two very good practices," said the South Floyd mentor. "Both days we went at it real hard. I mean, they were hitting with shoulders down."

Past Wheelwright teams were known for their hard hitting and Daniels has carried that over to the new school.

"We'll hit somebody," he said. "You'll never find us standing around. We've been running everything at full speed in practices."

Daniels said that his lineup will be the same as in preseason scrimmage games with Chad Slone and Adam Wright getting a close look.

The South Floyd coach said after last Saturday night's scrimmage that his team must cut down on turnovers.

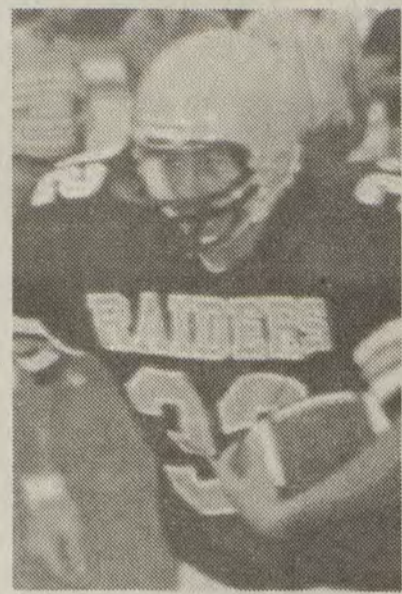

"We're turning the ball over three and four times a game," he said.

Grinding it out and eating up the clock will be on the list of things to do against Betsy Layne. "We want to be a good team not only on offense but on defense as well," said Daniels.

Cruse Caudill has been a pleasant surprise for the Raiders in the backfield, a position that he didn't going to have to mix it up more.

(See South Floyd, A 9)

"We need to counteract that somehow," said Daniels. "We'll do some different things like running some slants and angles at them."

Daniels said that he hopes to use the numbers he has this year and "run some fresh faces" at Betsy Layne.

"We want to wear them down by running fresh players at them," he explained. "We want to tire them down."

"(Adam) Roberts is a strong full-back and he runs real hard," the Raiders coach stated. "Betsy Layne's front line gets off the ball real well. They off tackle very good and, while they don't have good speed, they run the ball tough."

Daniels said that it was going to be an exciting time for the kids because this will be the first athletic contest for the new school.

"It's a big thing for the kids and the program here at South Floyd," he said. "It's important that we get off on the right foot."

The Raiders have impressed their coach in recent practices. They have been hitting hard in drills.

Prestonsburg faces Clay County in Appalachia Bowl Saturday

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Blackcats will open their 1993 high school football season on the road and in a place where other opponents have found hard to win — Clay County.

Prestonsburg, 12-2 last season, will face a young Clay County team that finished 10-3 last year.

"While Clay County has always been traditionally strong, it won't be so this season," said new head coach Wayne Napier.

"We had an awful lot of talent last year," he said, "but that is all gone. We are a very young football team this year. We have so many young people that it will be hard for us to match up against Prestonsburg."

Napier had been an assistant at Clay County for the past 16 years under former coach Eugene Hensley, who resigned this past season.

Twenty-four of the 45 Clay County players will be freshmen, making it a very young football program.

"They play real hard as freshmen," said Napier. "But still they are freshmen subject to making freshmen mistakes."

A freshman, Tim Rogers, will call the signals at quarterback for the Tigers this year but Napier hopes Rogers plays higher than his grade.

"He's a very talented young man," said the Tigers' coach. "He's smart and intelligent. He will have a big line coming at him in Prestonsburg."

The money-man for Clay County is running back De-Shae Henson, one of the leading candidates for Mr. Football in Kentucky.

Henson, a fullback, is a speedster who scored 25 touchdowns last season. He carried the football 225 times last year for 1,564 yards. He has amassed 4,267 yards in his three-year career.

But Napier confesses that the experienced running back will be running behind an inexperienced offensive line.

"We return only one starter back from last year's offensive line," said Napier. "So De-Shae will be running behind a line that doesn't have too much experience."

However, Coach Napier is excited about the backfield that will line up for the Tigers this season.

"We have a very talented backfield coming back," he said. "We have four very good backs coming in that I am excited about."

Steven Roberts, a junior, will also run at the fullback slot and, along with Henson, is expected to be the main ball carriers for the Tigers.

Two newcomers will join the backfield: freshman Travis Smith and junior Desmond Thompson.

"Both are very inexperienced but both can fly," said Napier. "Thompson has never played in the backfield before but he can run with the ball."

"In our two scrimmages that we had I couldn't have asked for a better effort from a team than what this team gave me."

Both lines, offensive and defensive, will be basically the same, according to Napier.

"Both lines will be the same — young and inexperienced. This is the youngest team that we have had in the history of the school," explained Napier.

But the last eight years have seen the Tigers put some impressive numbers in the column. Tigers have averaged 10 wins per season.

"We've never been hit this hard before by graduation," said the new Clay County mentor. "Then before the season started our right tackle moved. Next, one of our outside tackles broke his leg and, then on August 1, we had an outside tackle tear his knee. He's back but he won't be able to do much against Prestonsburg."

While 1993 doesn't look bright for the Tigers, Napier sees the tunnel brighter at the other end with all the talented freshmen he has, plus a strong middle school program.

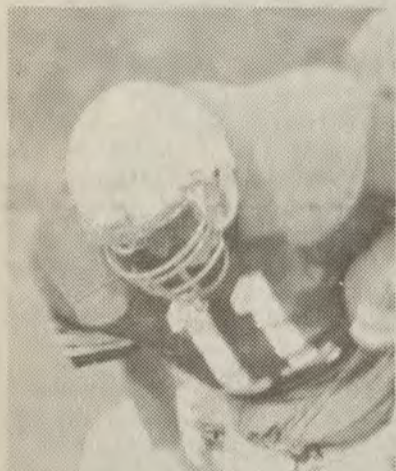

"We feel that in two or three years we will be very strong again. We just want to get our numbers back up after we dropped down into the 30s last season."

Napier said that last season's 6-0 loss to Bell County in the semifinals of the playoffs was just because "We didn't have the numbers."

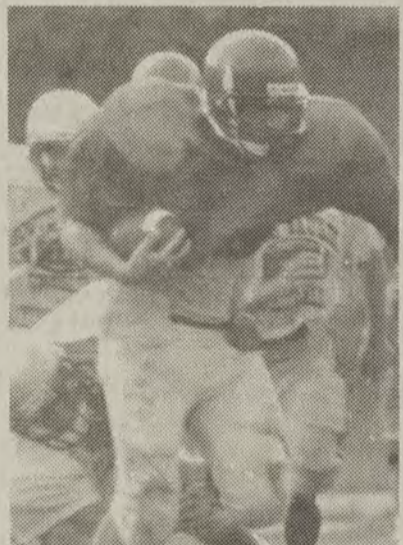

"This will be the toughest opener that Clay County has ever played," said Napier. "But we didn't have anything to do with the schedule."

It will be the fifth annual Appala-

Potter sinks first hole-in-one; Bobcats fall to Paintsville

Jamie Hylton

Dave Kimbler

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

In just his first golf meet in high school, Shannon Potter showed the rest of the Betsy Layne High School golf team that getting a hole-in-one is not as difficult as other make it out to be.

Call it beginner's luck if you wish but Potter, who hasn't been playing very long, aced the third hole (175-yards, par 3) at the Pleasant Valley Golf Course as the Bobcats were facing Morgan County in a high school meet.

Paintsville vs Betsy Layne

Matt Ratliff shot a even-par 34 at the Paintsville Country Club Monday afternoon to lead the Paintsville golf team past Betsy Layne 162-192. Chris Potter had a 5-over-par 39 for the Bobcats. He had a double bogey on the first and second hole before getting birdies on the fifth and seventh holes.

Mike Short shot a 5-over-par 39 also for the Tigers with Scott Hale finishing with a 7-over-par 41.

Brian Pugh had a birdie on the sixth hole while finishing with a 7-over-par 41. Jamie Hylton thought he had gotten a break on the number two hole when his ball struck a wall and bounced to the green. But Hylton had to settle for a 48 as he had a double-bogey on the first hole and bogeyed on the next two.

Josh McKenzie shot a 48 for the nine holes as Paintsville took the 30-stroke victory.

Betsy Layne will face Prestonsburg at the Green Meadows Country Club in Pikeville Tuesday, August 31.

Youth League football signups August 30

Youth league (flag) football signups will be conducted at the Betsy Layne High School football field for students attending Harold, Prater, Stumbo and Betsy Layne grade schools.

The league will be for those in grades three through eight.

Signups will held Monday, August 30 beginning at 3 p.m.

For more information about the new league call 478-5001.

Sports Correction....

In an article that appeared in last Friday's Times sports section, it was reported that Brian Hall had fought in "eight bouts" in winning a national title.

Instructor Jim Porter reports that the actual number of bouts was just one after Hall had drew a first round bye.

The number of contestants in Hall's division was "eight."

Ace on number three hole!

Blackcats open season in road game at Clay County

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The scrimmage games are all history and now it is time to play the game of football for real.

Every team, no doubt, would love to have another week to prepare for the season but some of the coaching staff would just as soon get it underway.

Coach Bill Letton's Prestonsburg Blackcats will open their season Saturday night when they travel to Clay County to face the Tigers in the Appalachia Bowl.

Opening with tough competition, especially on the road, has always been a tradition with the Blackcats. They faced Estill County in the Engineer Bowl two seasons ago and opened last year at Johnson Central in the Big Sandy Bowl.

Letton brings a strong and experienced team to play when they travel to Clay County. Picked by many as odds-on-favorite to repeat as regional champions again this year, the Blackcats must guard against any emotional letdown.

The entire backfield returns for what many expect to be yet another banner season. Dwayne Garza, Seth Hyden and Jody Cornette give the Blackcats one of the strongest backfields in high school football.

Garza, who will be returning from surgery following last season, is expected to be 100 percent and looking to get his hands on the pigskin. Garza was injured in the Russell game and had to miss the Danville game.

Hyden is a finesse type of runner and has speed to burn. A tough runner to defend, especially if he gets on the outside of the defense.

Cornette, while he did not carry the ball that much, is a strong head-up runner. He plays hard and is a good third down and short yardage runner. Matt Porter is another who can run the football.

Thomas Ratliff will replace the departed Aaron Tucker at the quarterback slot. Ratliff appears to be a natural at the position. He appears to have problems reading the defense but has a strong throwing arm.

The offensive and defensive lines for the Blackcats will be led by Brad Wells (5' 10", 190), Kevin Farthing (6' 3", 265), Kyle Fitzpatrick (6' 3", 250) and Larry Morris (6' 1", 210). Morris is a tough kid who makes things happen on defense. He enjoys getting to the opposition's quarterback. Throw in a Tim Lewis (6' 2", 260) and Ryan Elliott (6', 250) and you have a very solid front line.

The Blackcats would like to get the season underway on a very positive note but may find the Tigers of Clay County unwilling to cooperate.

De-She Henson will be a speedster whom the Blackcats may find hard to contain. Backs with good speed have been a problem for the Blackcats in past games and Henson is one of the quickest in the state.

A highly regarded candidate for Mr. Football, which will be an added incentive for a good showing, Henson will be wanting to start things off right.

However, he will be running against one of the biggest lines that he will -- outside of Belfry -- face this season.

Battle of Backfields

Appalachia Bowl
Saturday, August 28
Prestonsburg vs Clay County
at Manchester, 8:30 p.m.

Scouting Report

- Prestonsburg must stop the running game of Mr. Football candidate De-Shea Henson, who scored 25 TDs last season in rushing for over 1,500 yards. Junior fullback Steven Roberts will pose added pressure for the Blackcats' defensive line.
- The Blackcats should be able to put pressure on an untested quarterback in freshman Tim Roberts. Must watch the sweep.

- Clay County must match up well against one of the best backfields in the state as Prestonsburg's dynamic duo, Dwayne Garza and Seth Hyden, team with another threat in Jody Cornette.

- The Tigers youth will be tested by the size, quickness and experience of Prestonsburg's. First game jitters could be a factor for both teams and turnovers could be abnormally high.

Last Year

Prestonsburg finished 12-2 and advanced to the final four of the state 2A tournament falling to eventual state champion Danville. Clay County posted a 10-3 season and loss to powerful Bell County in semifinal play.

chia Bowl.

"We have a nice bowl here at Clay County," said Napier.

Scouting report...

Coach Napier said that he had seen Prestonsburg in a scrimmage this season. Plus, the two teams have exchanged films of each other.

"Prestonsburg is a very impressive football team," he said. "They are big and their backfield is very quick. They run hard and I look for them to go a long way."

"I don't see any weak points in their game and that goes back to the fact that they are very experienced. I am very impressed with the team. They know how to play football."

Napier said that the key to this game will be for his line to stop the running tandem of the Blackcats' backfield, namely Dwayne Garza and Seth Hyden.

"That's going to be hard for us to do," he stated. "They are all quick and they run so hard."

The game will be the second of a doubleheader scheduled for 8:30 p.m.

play last season.

Patrick Tackett also showed that he could carry the football out of the Raiders backfield by his performance in the two scrimmages.

Adams is one of the area's strongest runners and Betsy Layne no doubt will key on the senior fullback.

Aaron Hall will need more time throwing the football than his offensive line afforded him last Saturday night. But he connected on four completions against Magoffin County.

Betsy Layne scouting report

Coach Derossett likes the attitude of his team this season but believes that South Floyd is a solid football team.

"They are a solid team," he said, "and they have Arnold Adams, who is very strong and was EKMC Player of the Year last season."

The Betsy Layne mentor said that his team is ready for the challenge of the invading Raiders.

"South Floyd is a very aggressive football team," said Derossett. "Cruse Caudill is a hard runner and gives them depth in the backfield."

While the Bobcats will miss the services of running back Rocky Hamilton, Derossett believes the key to winning over South Floyd is ball control.

"We have to control the football," he said, "as well as the line of scrimmage up front. We have put in a hard week of practice and I just hope it reflects on the field tonight."

"I've always heard that the way you practice is the way you will play. If that's the case then this team should play hard."

It will be an exciting night of football for the Bobcats. They open their home schedule against a new school that has gotten a lot of attention this year.

Heading up the offensive line, who Derossett said he has been blessed to have, will be Brandon "Bubba" Combs, Tim Hunt, John Hall and Shannon Hall.

The Betsy Layne field has been painted and excitement is in the air.

"I just want to thank those who helped with all the work here," said Derossett. "We want to thank Unisign for the sign they painted, and the parents for painting the field. We also will have a new athletic concession stand. I think people will be impressed with what we've done."

Game time is 7:30 p.m. at the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex.

The game will be taped-delayed on WPRG-TV, channel 5.

Elkhorn City vs Allen Central at Eastern, 7:30 p.m.

Scouting Report

- The Rebels need to contain Aaron Blizzard early. Allen Central has been suspect on the sweep and the Cougars will exploit that. The defensive front line for Allen Central will need to be aware of where Blizzard is as well as Charles Damron.

- Elkhorn City, no doubt, is concerned about the Rebels' backfield. Glenn Floyd, James Osborne and Shawn Howard give the Rebs a solid threesome in the backfield. Brad Blackburn has yet to show that he can throw with consistency.

Last Year

Allen Central finished 2-10 with wins over Betsy Layne and Magoffin County. First-year coach Glenn Reeves will lead the way.

Elkhorn finished 6-5 last season but had a strong finish down the stretch. New kid on the block is B.J. Elswick.

Rebels to host rebuilding Cougars in season opener

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

When the Elkhorn City Cougars and Allen Central Rebels take to the gridiron tonight, they will have one thing in common - both will be under new coaches.

Elkhorn City saw last year's head coach Royce Mayo depart for Pike County Central as an assistant. B.J. Elswick, who found much success as the Cougar girls' basketball coach, resigned the position and took on the head football coaching job.

Elswick is no stranger to the gridiron. He coached the sport at Mullins before it was dropped.

Allen Central will be looking to improve last season's 2-10 record under new head coach Glenn Reeves. Reeves has come in preaching defense to a group of inexperienced kids. The Rebels have been impressive in their two preseason games.

Leading the rushing game for Allen Central will be senior Glenn Floyd, who has been awesome in preseason scrimmages. Floyd is a hard runner and has deceiving speed.

James Osborne helps to form a solid tandem in the backfield. He will run at the halfback slot. Osborne runs for short yardage while Floyd will break a tackle and run the length of the field. Shawn Howard makes the third person in the backfield for the Rebels. A finesse type of runner, Howard runs the ball hard.

Calling the signals will be fourth-year quarterback Brad Blackburn. Blackburn is a much improved QB and runs the option as well as anyone.

Austin Shelton will anchor one end position as a target for Blackburn. Adam Coleman will be at the other end. Freshman Thomas Jenkins will see some time at the end position as well.

Shawn Robinson will lead the Rebels defensive side of the line. A hard-nosed player with a smell for the quarterback, Robinson will team with Kevin Dye, Scott Bellamy and Austin Shelton on defense.

On the offensive line, Matt and Mark Varney will try to open the holes for the backfield.

Jy Shepherd will be at the line-backer position joined by Levi Wells. Wells will also carry the football on offense.

The Cougars return 12 seniors from last year's squad led by Aaron Blizzard (5' 9", 165) and Charles Damron (5' 8", 177). Both Blizzard and Damron like to run the football to the outside where the Rebels seem to be the weakest.

Coach Reeves stated after his two game preseason scrimmages that his team doesn't handle the sweep as well as he had hoped and that could pose a problem.

Allen Central has shown steady improvement since the first day of practice and by midseason could be a solid team.

Coach Elswick lauded his team's work ethics and said it is showing in practice.

"We have improved drastically since the first scrimmage game we played at Wheelwright three weeks ago," said Elswick. "The kids have worked real hard and have a good attitude."

Quarterback will be played by sophomore Isaac Swiney but there is a freshman, Jason England, who is waiting for his chance -- and Elswick said he would get it.

"We'll start with Swiney, but we'll get playing time for Jason," said the Cougar coach.

Elswick said that he planned to alternate between the two until one stepped forward to do the best job.

Elswick will run the wishbone on offense and play the five on defense.

Joe Rowe, Gary Ratliff and Kam Kiser will work the defensive line along with other starters.

A running Rebel!

Allen Central has come a long way since practice began and one of the reasons for the success of the Rebels in their first two preseason games has been Glenn Floyd. Floyd has rushed for over 200-yards in the two scrimmage games and will carry the playoff hopes of the young Rebels. Allen Central faces Elkhorn City tonight at home. The Rebels look to improve on last season's 2-12 mark.

Shelby Valley dance team to hold independent basketball tourney

Local independent basketball teams will be able to enter a team in the Shelby Valley Dance Team's Independent Basketball Shootout September 9, 11, 12. The tournament will be held in the Shelby Valley High School gymnasium (new one) under the direction of Wildcats' assistant coach Rodney Rowe.

Entry fee for the tournament is $80 per team with no limit on the number of teams that can enter. Awards will be given to the winning teams. Proceeds will help send the dance team to the nationals in Orlando, Florida.

Kentucky Rifles close out regular season this weekend

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It has been a rocky inaugural season for the Kentucky Longrifles in the first year Frontier League. It has been a rocky season for the entire league.

The Rifles will close out their first season of organization by playing two games in Paintsville this weekend. The Rifles will face Lancaster both Friday night at 7:05 p.m. and again on Saturday with the first pitch scheduled for 2 p.m.

The Rifles are under new manager Johnny Lemaster with Paul David Brown as a new coach. Both are eager for the final two games in Paintsville to be successful.

Lemaster and Brown urge all area fans to come out to the park this weekend in support of the team.

"Let's show these kids we do appreciate them coming to our town from all over the USA to play baseball," said Brown. "We would like to have a large turnout for both dates."

Fans will be allowed to come by and get free autographs from all the players. "You never know," said Brown, "one of them may be the next Henry Aaron or Johnny Bench."

There will be special drawings for gifts throughout the games.

"We want to keep professional baseball alive in Paintsville," Brown stated.

The Longrifles are assured of a place in the playoffs that get underway next week.

Tournament champions

The Mud Creek Pee Wee Tigers were crowned champions of the Mud Creek Pee Wee Tournament this season. The team finished second in the league's regular season but won the prestigious tournament. Terry Hamilton coaches the team.

BACK TO SCHOOL

It doesn't take a mental giant to know what and who is happy when school begins. No question about it—clothing and shoe stores and school supply retailers.

When most of us were growing up, a notebook and a few pencils saw us through nearly one semester of school. Today it's mandatory that my son have a perforated notebook so that when he turns in a paper it won't have those jagged-edged, spiral shreds hanging from it. He also has to have ink pens and lead drafting pencils. At least this is what he tells me he has to have, and I, being the dutiful mother, believe him.

After the first day of school, my son becomes our son because he reports that he needs a protractor, slide ruler, note pad, standard ruler, and scientific calculator for math class.

"Why do you need a scientific calculator for math?" I ask.

"To help me figure out problems," he announces indignantly.

"What happened to figuring it out in your head?" I stupidly ask.

"That would take too long!" he exclaims. Of course, he can stump me on this point because I wasn't a math whiz. In fact, I recently read where 1 out of 4 adults were deficient in math. Just think, fifty percent!

All totaled, math materials cost slightly less than our monthly mortgage, but we still have other classes to consider - like English. English also requires a notebook, but my husband's son - I'm the one writing the checks so he's losing ground - requires a dictionary, thesaurus and a special notebook. At this point we are extremely glad that he has two more years of high school because we've heard college is expensive.

By the time he purchases materials for his chemistry, history and typing classes we begin to have imaginary gas pains produced by the large quantity of soup beans we're going to ingest for the next six weeks.

Just when we think we have pushed enough capital into the palm of his outstretched hand, the person that lives in a bedroom of our house (he's really lost ground) proclaims he needs a new pair of shoes. Not just any shoes mind you, but the type of clodhopper that gives men the ability to catapult their bodies through glass backboards with barely any effort at all.

"I need a new pair of shoes."

"What's wrong with the ones you have on?" we ask.

"I've worn them all summer."

"They've still got soles on them, don't they?"

"Barely."

"Well, Son," my husband says, thereby actually admitting his paternity, "if we purchased you a pair of shoes would you do us the courtesy of lacing them?"

"You mean all the way up?"

"J.R., it's not abnormal to lace your shoes."

"It is if you're my age!"

This statement made me think. As one gets older, it gets harder and harder to tie the shoes. It should be that young people have to tie their shoes, and older persons shouldn't. That's much more logical.

"Son, you could lace them up when you run," I said calmly.

"Oh, that type of shoe isn't

THE TIMES' WEEKEND

Gingerbread gospel sing

If you like to clap your hands and praise the Lord, then plan on attending the second annual gospel sing of the Knott County Gingerbread Festival, Sunday, September 12.

The nationally known, "Singing Cookes" and "The Cooke Brothers" of Kingsport, Tennessee, and the "Freemans" of Hendersonville, Tennessee, will provide three hours of inspirational music. The music will begin at 4 p.m. and last until 7 p.m.

It will be held outdoors on the Hindman Settlement School campus. There is no admission charge. Please bring your own seating. In case of rain, the program will be moved indoors.

"The Singing Cookes" are a legend in gospel music. For over thirty years, Hubert and Jeanette Cooke have taken their ministry of music to thousands of people.

Their down-home approach to their audiences and wonderful music has made them one of the most popular gospel groups in the United States.

"The Cooke Brothers" music is very much like "The Singing Cookes" but with a little more contemporary sound.

The "Freemans" were officially formed in 1985 but the members of the group have a lifetime of experiences in musical ministry.

Their single "Going Back" reached number one on both the Singing News and Gospel Voice national reporting charts.

With some two hundred concert dates a year, ministering in the church sanctuary as well as the numerous fairs, and festivals, the "Freemans" fully intend to keep extending their ministry to all who will listen.

MICHAEL, WE HARDLY KNEW YE, OR LIFESTYLES OF THE RICH AND TWISTED

I don't know about you folks, but I'm crushed. MICHAEL JACKSON, believe it or not, the self-styled "King of Pop" (who earned the title when a can of Pepsi set him on fire), has been accused of being a demented, hideous little pervert. What a surprise.

In case you don't know what I'm talking about (and, as I've said before, I usually don't myself), Michael Jackson is currently under investigation for having some, well... IMPROPER relations with children. Guess he took his baby sitting job a bit too seriously (and before the phones start ringing off the hook, please read the entire column before passing judgment and/or canceling your subscription).

Now, I'm all for this "innocent until proven guilty" stuff, but let's look at the facts: according to Associated Press reports, the charges against Jackson stem from a 13-year-old boy's confession to a therapist that the singer had accosted him;

police raided Jackson's mansion and ranch and confiscated videotapes and other materials which they called "evidence," but said everything would remain confidential pending further investigation; and an eleven-year-old child who was with Jackson at the ranch at the time of the police search said that Jackson had taken

him (and his mother)

Truth, Justice, and the on trips all over the world, slept in the same bed with him and had given him "many affectionate hugs and kisses."

Jackson's underlings, of course, have reported that the whole thing is just part of an elaborate scheme to get even with Ol' Flamehead for not knuckling under to a multi-million dollar blackmail attempt.

And of course, frogs have wings so they don't bump their behinds when they hop.

Correct me if I'm wrong, but I believe blackmail attempts only work if you have something with which to actually BLACKMAIL the person. And police generally don't make a habit out of investigating persons, particularly FAMOUS persons, without a little thing called "probable cause."

I don't know. Maybe I'm being too tough on poor widdle Mikey. Maybe this is all some new publicity stunt designed to induce America's seemingly millions of pedophiles to buy his new album. Or, maybe he's trying to make Brooke and Bubbles jealous. I just feel sorry for poor little Webster. First his career fades and now this.

But my point (and I actually have one this time) is that, regardless of guilt or innocence, any

by Geoff Belcher

normal, fully-pigmented working man would've been put in the pokey in a heartbeat, whereas Paleface gets to seclude himself in his Hollywood palace and play pattycake with his zoo critters while his flunkies make heartfelt speeches about all the pain and suffering HE'S going through.

What about the kids? Even if this IS a sick get-rich-quick scheme orchestrated by some unscrupulous extorting scumsuckers, the names of at least two of the children allegedly involved have been revealed by the press. Where's the outpouring of public sympathy for THEM?!?! If Michael's found guilty, he'll get a slap on the wrist and his career will slump for about six months until he finally does another interview with Oprah and talks about how miserable his deviant behavior made him and how he's well again and ready to release another sell-out record. If he's found innocent, the whole incident, for him at least, will become a Trivial Pursuit question. Sure, his reputation will be a little tainted, but look at all the free press.

The kids won't be that lucky.

Wherever they go, whatever they do, someone, somewhere will know what ALLEGEDLY happened to them. Hushed whispers and furtive glances will plague them for years to come. And a year or two from now, they'll be prominently featured in a "Victims to the Stars" segment on Geraldo and maybe actually make a couple hundred bucks while TV movie producers and gag T-shirt vendors will reap a whirlwind of profits.

It ain't funny, but it's the truth. It ain't justice, but it's CERTAINLY the American way.

by Scott Perry

The entertainment industry has this new invention called "virtual reality" which, for a few sacks full of cash, gives video game players the sensation of being right where the action is.

Just goes to show you that we'll spend money on anything.

In most places, there is no charge for reality.

Then again, "real" reality isn't all it's cut out to be.

The best we can figure, virtual reality is defined as darn-near real, which covers a lot of ground.

For instance, politicians have used virtual reality for a long time to enact laws and regulations that sometimes come darn near to addressing real issues.

Like the all new deficit busting plan just passed and signed into law.

In real reality, that plan would eliminate taxpayer funding for a lot of goofy programs...like government funded research on the proper way to prepare french fried potatoes.

By shifting into the virtual reality mode, though, Congress can keep that program intact and get extra ketchup by deciding that the best way to stop spending so much is by spending more.

Most of us would consider that approach to be VIRTUAL NONSENSE, but then most of us aren't congresspersons who must make important decisions on things like this and whether or not we should allow convicted serial killers to be exposed to the harmful effects of secondhand smoke.

The development of virtual reality equipment by the entertainment industry could be the means we average Joes need to get into the game.

We could all use it, say, on April 15 to get the sensation of actually paying our taxes without really shelling out any dough.

Better yet, we can use virtual reality when election time rolls around to cast votes for all those yahoos who promise us milk and honey during their campaigns and then deliver curds and whey after they're elected.

Just as these guys are getting the sensation of really being elected officials, we pull the plug.

Sorry fellas...nothin' beats the real thing.

SOAP UPDATES

ALL MY CHILDREN: Tad punched Edmund after finding him with Brooke, but later apologized when she explained he had pulled her out of quicksand. A tabloid TV show "exposed" the Tad/Dixie/Ted scandal, forcing Tad, Brooke, Ted and Dixie to seek damage control. Erica was unable to stop Dimitri from telling Travis that she had Bianca. Charlie got a warning about Alec from a woman with whom he once worked. Trevor returned home with Timmy and Amanda and was shocked to find Laurel in the house. He blamed her for Natalie's death and ordered her out of their lives, but reconsidered when Timmy ran to her for comfort. Wait To See: Dimitri makes a potentially "damaging" decision.

ANOTHER WORLD: Paulina hid Ian from the police, but insisted he had to get out her life. Amanda tried to get Jake to understand that only he was responsible for his breakup with Paulina. Carl learned Felicia, Frankie, Cass, and Kevin were plotting to nail him. Vicky was able to place a call to Ryan who then asked Bridget to help him find her. Felicia worked through a difficult time resisting taking a drink on the anniversary of Lucas' death. Carl nixed Rachel's offer to buy back his Cory stock. Donna warned Grant he won't win Vicky's love by manipulation. Wait To See: Ian is shocked at Carl's revelation.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Royce turned down Lucinda's offer to put a detective on the trail of his supposed twin. Emily told Royce how Graham could have framed him. Jessica was concerned that Larry, Susan, and Emily had begun the in vitro process without signing the right legal papers. Tom raised the issue of Hal legally signing away any parental claim to Adam. Lucinda told John where Iva and the children were. Connor was shaken by the sparks that flew between her and Linc. Damian made Lily's birthday extra special. Royce's alibi was negated. Andy and Courtney faced new trouble in London. Wait To See: Royce is forced to make a desperate decision.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: Brooke told Connor her goal was to pay Stephanie back for the years of pain and humiliation she caused her. Eric comforted Stephanie when she blamed herself for the mess the family was in. Later, at home, a deeply troubled Eric was unmoved by Sheila's attempt to seduce him into giving her a management job at the company. At the meeting, Brooke stunned the Forresters by demanding 51 percent of the company in return for their use of the patent. Much to everyone's surprise, including Sheila's, Brooke named her as her new executive liaison. Wait To See: Macy faces a difficult lesson.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Jack was barred from donating bone marrow to his daughter, Abby, because of his history of Hodgkins disease. Kate was emotional after compatibility tests as a potential donor. Carly awoke believing she was back in Paris 10 years earlier, unaware of who Bo or Nikki were. She called to Lawrence as James. Lucas got Brandee to imply to Carrie that she and Austin had spent a steamy night in the cabin. Marlena was stunned to find Sami's stash of laxatives and junk food. Later, Marlena, Sami, and Jonah rushed to the site where an undercover police officer had been killed. Marlena screamed when she saw Roman's jacket on the body. Wait To See: Kate realizes she must make a decision before it's too late.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Karen enjoyed the attractive and exciting ambience of Sonny's club, while Sonny, in turn, found her exciting and attractive. Stone was devastated to learn that his friend, Crystal, had apparently overdosed. Mac and Felicia learned that Crystal's death complicated their search for Jagger's brother. Monica declared war when she mistakenly assumed Alan's conversation with Rhonda portended more than just talk! A.J. got Edward to allow him to go on a business trip to the Bahamas with Ned and Julia. Julia, meanwhile, asked Katherine to represent "Deception" at a convention in Montreal while she (Julia) was away. Sean, Mac, and Felicia were upset at the way Jessica handled the case against Ryan. Wait To See: Ryan's jury reaches a decision.

GUIDING LIGHT: David came out of hiding and faced Kat and Hamp, and left without taking Kat with him. Later, a reluctant Mallet was forced to arrest Kat, while Hart and Bridget set David up in an unusual hiding spot. Eleni told Frank, Buzz paid for Marina's ear surgery. Macauley secretly taped a conversation with Joe, Vinny's uncle. At her bridal shower, Julie found the stained glass she wanted had been shattered. Unaware he had planned to propose, Blake gave Ross an ultimatum about marriage. Mindy betrayed Macauley's confidence when she told Nick about his romantic past. Stavros revealed he had been badly injured by Vinny's beating. Wait To See: Mallet and Harley learn more about Macauley.

LOVING: Dinah Lee locked Ava and Jeremy in a wine cellar to try to get them to admit their true feelings for each other. Meanwhile, Shana decided the best way to get Ava out of Leo's life would be to have him pretend he wants her back. After freeing Jeremy and Ava, Leo "confessed" that he had made a mistake letting her go. Mac was upset when Trucker insisted his father consult a doctor about his serious (actually, phony!) illness. Buck shared a close moment with Stacey as the two had dinner with Heather and JJ. Isabelle and Clay persuaded Cooper to seek Tyler's custody. Wait To See: Tess and Trucker grow closer.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Dorian crashed Sloan's publication party, humiliating herself, and causing Cassie to fall. Although Cassie's unborn child escaped injury, the incident firmed up Cassie's decision to have nothing more to do with her mother. Dorian's pain deepened when Jason walked out on her. As Marty and her friends searched for the sweatband, Elmer, a homeless man, stashed it in his bag. Todd attacked Marty but was beaten unconscious by Luna. Angela returned hoping to win Cain back. Cord surprised Tina in New York. Viki and Sloan spent a romantic getaway in Maine where she said yes to his proposal. Wait To See: Dorian is determined to win back Cassie's love, no matter what she may have to do.

YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Liz returned to England, but assured Jill that Kay was wrong: her daughter had done nothing to alienate her. Brad had Jack evicted from Victor's office pending the final decision about who will run Newman Enterprises. Mitchell suggested Nikki and Brad should agree on who that person should be. Ashley told Jack she won't support his bid for the job. Cole turned down Victoria's bid for a date after agreeing to have dinner with Nikki. Victoria, certain that he was meeting his "mystery woman," was determined to learn her identity. Neil insisted to Brad his promotion to assistant to the CEO of Newman didn't involve betraying confidences to Jack. Wait To See: Victor faces his real feelings about Hope.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

South African KwaZulu leader Mangosuthu Butheizi began his annual state-of-the-state policy address to the KwaZulu legislature on March 12, spoke continuously during week-day business hours, and finished on March 30 — reading 427 pages of text and waiting for the translation from English to Zulu.

INEXPLICABLE

— In July in Elkton, Va., Jarrette Arlo Dean, 43, gnawed the head off a rattlesnake that had bitten him on the hand while he was transporting the snake on his motorcycle. Dean apparently became exasperated at the bites and took pre-emptive action by biting the snake's head. Dean was hospitalized in intensive care with severely swollen lips and tongue.

— The Chicago Tribune reported in June that lawyers for William L. Carlson, 19, who is serving a 90-year sentence in Illinois for killing his parents, were optimistic that Carlson would be awarded the parents' $700,000 estate. In a plea bargain, Carlson confessed to killing only his father, who died first. At the moment of his death, the father's estate passed to the mother, whose beneficiary is William, who technically has not been convicted of killing her.

— The U.S. Treasury Department's Historical Association announced it is raising money this year by offering for sale Internal Revenue Service gift ornaments, for $11, that commemorate the 80th anniversary of the 16th Amendment, which authorized the income tax. The ornaments are "24-carat, gold-finished, three-dimensional" models of a 1913 income tax form.

— In a June profile, The New York Times reported that New York City Sanitation Department's "artist—in-residence," Mierle Laderman Ukeles, has accomplished the following: built an archway made of gloves discarded by city employees and a structure made of piled steel shavings from subway car wheels; choreographed a dance of street-sweeping machines; and conducted a performance art piece in which she shook hands with all 8,500 employees of the department. On the side, the self-described "maintenance artist" conducted a ballet of garbage barges in Pittsburgh.

— Police in Gonzalez, La., arrested Garrick "Lucky" Lewis, 20, in April on the complaint of a 21-year-old woman. The woman said Lewis broke into her apartment, lectured her about the need to lock her windows and doors, and left. A half-hour later, Lewis broke in again and allegedly tried to rape her.

— District of Columbia Superior Court Judge John Bayly was forced to declare a mistrial in a child-beating case in July when the defendant's lawyer casually informed the judge in the middle of the trial that he was leaving on vacation that evening. Lawyer Clayton J. Powell Jr. cited a commitment to his family and to his non-refundable airline tickets. Another lawyer in the case told reporters that Powell was committing "professional suicide."

— Neighbors in Kittery, Maine, the Hill and Cormier families, have been feuding for years over the noisy Cormier family dogs, with the Hills complaining that the police never take action to stop the constant barking. In April, the police issued the first summons in the feud — to the Hills' son, Henry Paradis, for creating a nuisance by barking back at the Cormiers' dogs.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

— Testifying in June; former St. Joseph, Mo., sheriff's deputy Tim Carder said convicted murderer John Ferguson escaped from his custody during a physical therapy session at a hospital in 1992 when Carder took a restroom break. "I just got to the point where I had to go to the restroom," said Carder. "At that point, I didn't have any other choice."

— In December, at the University of Colorado, three-hour final exams in French classes were canceled halfway through when women's basketball coach Ceal Barry commandeered the gym where the exam was being held for a team practice. All 580 test-takers received an A because of the inconvenience.

NATASHA'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Misgivings about a personal relationship are ill-founded. You will meet with a challenging situation on the job this week and may feel temporarily stymied. Patience, however, will win out. Watch overspending on pleasure interests.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Friends may burden you with their problems. A new business opportunity that comes now pleases you very much. Family interests prosper this week. Unexpected company drops by this weekend, and you may fall behind on chores.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You may be worried about a business matter now. Delays at work get you down. Social life provides you with a quick pick-me-up. A person who flatters is insincere. More information is needed about an investment concern.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Communicating with a certain someone is like talking to a stone wall this week. There is no sense in arguing with an opinionated type. Social life is fun, but guard against costly expenditures. Share happy times with family this weekend.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Monies due you may be delayed in arriving this week. You sparkle with creativity and will find the right words to get your points across to others. Reaching agreements about financial interests won't be difficult. Your routine at work may be upset in some way.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You are likely to meet with some opposition to your plans now, so it is best to be low key and wait until a more propitious time. Feedback is likely to be negative if you don't give others sufficient time to make up their minds. Timing is very important this weekend.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Work priorities may take precedence over socializing this week. Still, you will receive a lovely invitation now. Pace yourself accordingly. Guard against overspending when socializing. Get-togethers with friends are short but sweet.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A problem related to child rearing may concern you and may interfere with your concentration for a while. A bona-fide career opportunity comes now. Coming on too strong with a romantic interest may cause this person to get cold feet. Be patient.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A home matter will have to be settled to your satisfaction for you to feel free to accept a social invitation. It may take a few days, but things will work out. A coworker is touchy this week and it may be difficult now to keep on top of things.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Business developments will put you in a better position. You may be hesitant about a financial concern and have a right to be cautious. You can't be forced into making up your mind now. Tell the other party you need more time to think things through properly.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Getting a financial matter straightened out will take a few days. Don't look for immediate solutions. A close tie is sensitive now and needs special consideration. Partnership rapport is a bright note this week.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A tendency to sell yourself short will work against you now. A new career offering that comes this week is worth your while. Be up for the challenge! Partners seem to be at odds about a personal matter. Avoid distractions.

"Don't tell me," I say as I reach for the aspirin bottle.

"You need another pair of shoes for running."

"Yah. But don't chill out. I'll lace THEM!"

If we can make do with what mouthwash and underarm deodorant we have until next payday, we can keep him in school.

DEPRESSION

My roommate was depressed. More than the blues. I mean seriously depressed.

She always looked sad. Cried a lot. She couldn't sleep, eat, or do any of her work.

Treat it! Defeat it!

Most of the time she wouldn't talk to me. I just couldn't reach her.

I figured she needed to get professional help, before her pain got worse. So I checked it out.

I was amazed. Once her depression was diagnosed, treatment was effective and began to work within a few weeks.

Got a friend or loved one who you think is depressed? For free materials, call 1-800-421-4211.
