An accord has been reached between owners of a harness racing track and Auxier Water Company officials to provide water to the track site so that live horse racing can begin on July 3.

Track owners filed a lawsuit this week against the company asking for a restraining order mandating that water service be provided to the site.

The two sides were disputing the cost $25,000 bond, which represents the of providing water service, according to the lawsuit.

At a hearing Wednesday in Floyd Circuit Court, Thomas Moak, representing Appalachian Racing, told Judge John David Caudill that Auxier Water officials had agreed to install water lines to the track and that the cost of the service would be determined by the state Public Service

Faulty brakes on car may be to blame for collision

Faulty brakes apparently caused a collision between an automobile and a train Wednesday morning at David, which injured a Blue River man.

Craig Ousley, 30, of Martin, was operating a 1985 Pontiac on KY 1210 early Wednesday morning when he discovered the brakes on the vehicle were not working. Ousley exited the moving vehicle, but his passenger, Larry Chaffins, 30, of Blue River, could not get out of the car before it traveled into the path of CSX train operated by Michael Saul, 27, of Pikeville.

The train hit Ousley's vehicle on the left side and the impact ejected Chaffins from the car. Chaffins had the car door open and was attempting to get out of car when it was struck by the train.

Chaffins was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center and treated for injuries to his arm and hand. Ousley was not injured in the accident.

Jenny Wiley a winner in budget fight

With Governor Brereton Jones' signature Wednesday on the state's two-year budget, over $6 million is earmarked to be used for renovations at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

The budget does not include funds for building a 18-hole golf course, but does include $1.6 million to design 15 projects at state parks including the golf course at Jenny Wiley.

The state will borrow about $61 million for pay for park renovation projects in fiscal year 1996, which includes three projects at Jenny Wiley.

Projects slated for Jenny Wiley are the renovation of the May Lodge estimated at $4.2 million; boat dock replacement, $1.3 million; and $675,000 to upgrade the public pool.

Design on the golf course is slated to be done in 1995, but lawmakers did not authorize building the project. The golf course is one of 15 projects to be designed, but not built in the next biennium, in the state park system.

The General Assembly ended a 17-day special session Wednesday, which cost taxpayers $680,000. The special session was called because Governor Brereton Jones and lawmakers could not agree on the budget during the regular session earlier this year.

The building will be underwritten by the Kentucky Power Company, which will loan the Prestonsburg Industrial Corporation $750,000 interest free for up to three years. Kentucky Power's parent company, American Electric Power System, has been doing the shell building program since 1988, but Prestonsburg is Kentucky Power's first community to take advantage of the program.

"We are extremely pleased to be able to assist the Prestonsburg Industrial Corporation in its economic development efforts," Dick Boyle, Kentucky Power president, said. "Prestonsburg, like most of Eastern Kentucky, is dominated by the coal industry and related service companies. Many of the communities have long sensed a need for economic diversification, and have been taking steps to meet this need.'

Gilliam said that work will begin on the building early next week and completion is expected by early October.

Jenny Wiley's 30th year dedicated to "Mr. Jenny Wiley Theatre"

Any organization that becomes a father as the first and only Emeritus success on the surface never does so without hard work and dedication from behind the scenes. For Jenny Wiley Theatre, a foremost source of this dedication came from Dr. Henry A. Campbell Jr., a man who served as the Jenny Wiley Drama Association president 12 times in its 30-year history, as well as being the first president of Prestonsburg Community College.

Dr. Campbell passed away earlier this year and in honor of his memory and his undying devotion to making Jenny Wiley Theatre the success it has grown to be, the theatre's 1994 summer season will be dedicated to the man referred to as "Mr. Jenny Wiley Theatre."

During the 30th Anniversary's opening night celebration on June 24, Dr. Campbell's children will be presented with a plaque honoring their Trustee of the theatre. In addition to being honored as an Emeritus Trustee, the theatre's annual college scholarship has been named in his honor. The Henry A. Campbell Jr. Memorial Scholarship is awarded every year to a student interested in threatre and pursuing a college education, a more than proper homage that combines the two things Dr. Campbell devoted his life to, furthering education and the theatre arts.

As the theatre reaches the crossroads of its 30th season, no other time would seem quite so befitting to honor someone, who without help, the first 30 years may not have been the achievement that it was.

As Jenny Wiley Theatre flies into its 30th year with the debut of Peter Pan, it is also using its anniversary to exercise a certain retrospect into its past by honoring Dr. Campbell.

The council, however, voted to give Griffith the authority to authorize the requests without consulting with council.

A pre-construction meeting was held on June 13 in which the engineers were told they could begin and were given ten days to start work.

Haworth, Meyer and Boleyn is the engineering company that will be handling the project and they have nine months to complete it.

Meetings will be held on or about the 20th of each month to discuss the progress of the project.

In other action, the council: · approved the second reading of the budget for 1994-95.

· decided to submit a letter to Beaver Elkhorn Water District asking for the amount of water used by people who are presently hooked up to the city's sewage system but are not being billed to determine how much their sewage bill would be.

None of the money has been given back to the housing authority, the SEC charges.

Lauer's attorney, James E. Snyder, claims that most the allegations in the SEC complaint are not against his client and that the allegations involving Lauer "will not be demonstrated to be a violation of the Securities Act."

Neal could not be reached to comment, according to a published report.

This year, one in three Americans-about 85 million of us-will be diagnosed with cancer.

Alligators star in all-nature night On June 30, KET extends its usual

Thursday evening lineup of nature programming, with two in-depth documentaries on one of nature's most elusive reptiles: the alligator.

The evening begins at 8 p.m. with Kentucky Afield, the longtime favorite that sends host Dave Shuffett across the state for outdoor exploration, fishing and hunting. Kentucky Afield is a co-production of KET and the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife.

Next, at 8:30 p.m., NatureScene, travels to Massachusetts where hosts Jim and Rudy visit the Summit of Holyoke, with its spectacular views of the Connecticut River Valley. Glacial rocks and strange geological formations, along with dinosaur tracks, add to the story of this area.

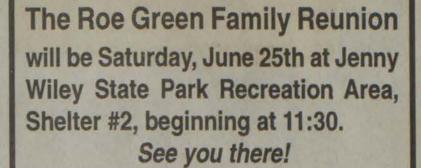

For the following two hours, alligators and the humans they interact with are the stars Alligator!, airing at 9 p.m., examines this feared but misunderstood creature, including its adaptability; its feeding, mating and fighting habits; and how and why it attacks humans.

In the 1960's, alligators were near extinction. But in 1973 they were placed on the endangered species list, and today more than a million live in Florida alone. But that success has also put it into more frequent contact with humans, whose numbers are also growing. As the alligator instinctively tries to protect itself, attacks have not only increased over the years, but have also overflowed into residential areas. To better understand this creature, biologist Kent Vliet and naturalist Mark Emery discuss its biology, physiology and behavior.

In Louisiana, man has been the predator and the alligator the prey. Alligator Hunters, airing at 10 p.m., is a 60-minute documentary on alligator hunting as told by "old timers" in the marshes of Louisiana. This program gives an interesting look into this hunting tradition, which was passed on from fathers to sons, and includes conversations with natives of the bayou, known as "marsh men". These families made their living from the land before pollution and overhunting destroyed the natural habitat of the alligator, severely diminishing its population.

NatureScene is a presentation of South Carolina Educational Television.

Give that man a breath mint

by Scott Perry

We hadn't intended to jump into the fray over whether state lawyers ought to make their own disciplinary hearings open to the public, figuring the outcome would be something like whipping a dead horse.

After all, the state Supreme Court ruled in 1978 that the judicial branch of government, including the Kentucky Bar Association, didn't have to comply with the provisions of open records law.

And, the General Assembly, which might mandate open disciplinary hearings for lawyers, is overloaded itself with the very was being pushed by the press so the press can pursue vendettas against attorneys.

He then lumped all news agencies into one neat package, saying, "Our noble profession should not bow to the wishes of a profession (the press) with no educational standards, no licensing, no discipline and no ethics."

That earned Gullett a standing O from his compatriots.

We're more inclined to offer him a roll of breath mints he no doubt needs after mouthing that load of crap.

We won't dispute the allegations that there are some undereducated, undisciplined and

Kentucky task force seeks to improve employee conditions

Editor:

As chairman of state government's Career Service System Task Force, with members who are state employees and our private sector counterparts, I oversee a process to improve how we manage state government personnel. Our aim is to provide better service to our customers by cutting red tape, reducing the time and cost of doing business with the state and building a better work environment for all state employees.

Since the task force first met in December, our actions include passage of the Pilot Personnel Program Act that allows 15 to 20 percent of the state's permanent full-time work force to participate in pilot projects that, first and foremost, promote increased involvement by all state employees. The pilots must also emphasize manager and employee training, continuous improvement of how we deliver services, evaluating customer satisfaction, and performance measurement. The task force has also moved to combine human resource development and personnel administration to increase employee involvement at every level of the state's personnel management system. We have taken steps to strengthen the state's Equal Employment Opportunity efforts to recruit and retain a diverse work force.

These are a few of the steps the task force has taken to improve state employment procedures, but the one that impacts all others and which may be our biggest challenge, involves our efforts to improve how we communicate between state government offices located in every county of the commonwealth. Because the task force is committed to conducting business in the most open manner possible, we have held statewide staff meetings and teleconferences, sent memos to all state employees, and used computer networks wherever possible to keep employees informed. This effort has been made more difficult by groups such as the Kentucky Association of State Employees (KASE), who seem determined to spread incorrect information about the task force's work and intentions. While agreeing with our programs to boost employee training, rework the evaluation system and develop a modern personnel system, KASE has repeatedly told state employees that our actions are actually an effort to erode the protections included in the Merit System Law. I cannot emphasize strongly enough that through our actionslegislative or otherwise-this task force has insisted on keeping employee protections that are included in the Merit Law. There have been and will be no exceptions. The sections in the law that protect against firing, demotions, or other penalties without cause; that relate to layoffs; and preserve reemployment rights remain in place.

Throughout this process, we have invited participation by all state employees and organizations, including KASE, and that input has been very valuable. We will continue to encourage it. Productive dialogue, however, is only possible in an atmosphere of honesty and goodwill. I am hopeful that, in the future, those traits will encompass our discussions with groups like KASE.

Forming the Career Service System Task Force was only one of 270 recommendations presented to Governor Jones by the Commission on Quality and Efficiency last November. In just six months, the general Assembly and state agencies have taken steps to implement Commission recommendations that, using the estimates in the report, will cut the cost of government $155.3 million over the next five years. An overview of these accomplishments is available by calling my office at 502-564-4240.

Following the example set by the Governor's Commission on Quality and Efficiency, this task force aims to generate team commitment to dramatic improvements in the way state government manages and uses its people. This requires that we throw out outdated, punitive practices that lead to mistrust, suspicion, and fear. Our commitment calls for a new way of operating that requires changes in our thinking, culture and actions.

Our county officials are not going to do anything unless we get together. These people understand numbers, which are used when counting votes.

Several people that signed these petitions made statements like, "I called and complained about the portable toilets several times and nothing was done." People have been told the baseball fields fo not make any money.

In the summer we ha two baseball leagues-Little Leage and Babe Ruth-with approximately 270 children. The high schools use the fields during their season with the three teams totals another 60 or so young people. These totals are around 330 children and teenagers that use these facilities. Ask yourself where your child would be if not playing ball this summer.

If you count two parents per child that uses this park and double it that would be 660 people that can get behind a move to get something done like other surrounding counties have. Again, add to those number the grandparents of these children and you have 1320. If you go on to the children who will be using these facilities over the next few years, count aunts, uncles, etc., there could be number in this county in the thousands and I think our officials would understand these numbers at election time.

Please look for these petitions and sign them. Let's get together and attend fiscal court meetings and get something done.

We have to remember the golf course makes money. If they could folks who might have their dirty linen aired in public should such a change be made.

But darned if some grandstanding attorney hasn't ticked us off.

Testifying Wednesday at the state bar association's annual convention, Hazard lawyer Asa Gullett III, who was once the bar's chairman of a task force on lawyer discipline, took the opportunity to divert attention away from real issues by blaming everything on the press.

Gullett sugested, in fact, that the whole move to open disciplinary hearings against lawyers unethical folks among the press corps, but their flaws are by the very nature of their profession on public display every day.

Our credibility is subject to constant checks and balances by our readers, who are neither stupid nor naive.

And, when someone like Gullett insinuates that the public ought not be allowed to sit in on disciplinary hearings for lawyers because of some absurd notion that the press is full of attorney bashers, our readers wonder, like we do, what secrets he's really trying to keep secret.

I continue to encourage everyone to get involved in this process. Only by working together for positive change will we accomplish the reforms necessary to truly satisfy our customers-the citizens of Kentucky.

Disappointed in Patton

We were very disappointed with Lt. Gov. Paul Patton's statements last week that the state should not issue bonds to fund new construction projects supported by Gov. Brereton Jones. Patton's comments came at a very inopportune time. The governor and Eastern Kentucky legislators were putting up a strong fight to increase the state's overall debt payments by issuing bonds that would fund Eastern Kentucky projects. Three of the projects valuable to Knott Countians were the proposed RedFox Resort, and improvements at Jenny Wiley and Buckhorn state lodges.

As a result of the legislature's refusal to go along with the governor's proposal, the Red Fox Resort at Carr-Fork Lake faced a serious setback.

The Red Fox Resort and other park projects would encourage more tourism into Eastern Kentucky without raising taxes. The governor's budget proposal was a plan for the future economic growth of Eastern Kentucky.

Last week was a time for East Kentucky leaders to present a united front. Unfortunately, Patton was not a part of the East Kentucky effort. One political analyst reported that by Patton's stand he was able to distance himself from the governor and not appear to be just a regional candidate for his bid for governor. It is a shame that Lt. Gov. Patton did not share the same view of the other Eastern Kentucky leaders when he made his comments on the eve of the voting. - Troublesome Creek Times

Why shock probation in sexual assault case

According to evidence a prosecutor planned to present at the trial, the victim of an attempted rape at a University of Kentucky fraternity house last year was just a few breaths away from dying when the assault on her ended.

Blood vessels burst in the woman's face, which the assailant covered with a pillow; and a doctor was prepared to testify that the victim was about one minute away from death.

That's a very thin margin between living and dying — so thin you would think the victim's ordeal would be taken into account during any sentencing decision by a judge.

But Scott Ratliff, an Ohio man who pleaded guilty to attempted rape in the case, walked out of Luther Luckett Correctional Complex Monday after serving just 248 days of a five-year sentence.

Fayette Circuit Judge Mary Noble granted Ratliff's request for shock probation.

The judge said she did so because Ratliff was a first-time offender who could not get sex offender counseling or participate in an Alcoholics Anonymous program in the prison.

Maybe the counseling and AA meetings will help Ratliff; maybe not. One thing is certain, though: Judge Noble's action offers little hope or encouragement to the victims of rape and sexual assault.

Ratliff's victim may need extensive counseling, too. The trauma of struggling for her last breaths will stay with her for years, if not for the rest of her life. Now, there is the additional trauma of seeing her assailant walk away a free man after just 248 days in prison.

As is too often the case in our courts, Judge Noble showed more concern for the criminal than she did for the victim. And in doing so, the judge added to the terror faced by all victims of rape and sexual assault. — Lexington Herald-Leader

GUN SURVEY GOES OFF HALF-COCKED

by Leonard Larsen Scripps Howard News Service

WASHINGTON - The gun-nut lobby, stung by reverses in Congress and elsewhere, is stepping up the campaign of fear, urging Americans to arm themselves against "criminals" who most often turn out to be family, neighbors and friends.

The lethal looniness to popularize handgun ownership and its inevitable attendant violence has crept into book form, a recent volume for the gun choir whose central thesis appears to be that guns-especially handgunscan turn every American home into a defensive bunker.

The book is "Stopping Power" by J. Neil Schulman, with a dust-jacket endorsement by Charlton Heston, the actor who nowadays performs as a television reader for gun-nut-lobby propaganda and assorted other partisan political preachings.

This book, a weird collection of numbers spewed out as statistics, facts pulled out of nowhere and conclusions based on thin air, starts with a series of did-you-know propositions.

At the top is a did-you-know that "every 13 seconds one of America's 70 million gun owners uses a firearm in defense against a criminal." From there it only gets worse.

Both author Schulman and recent propaganda from the gun-nut lobby make use of a "National Defense Survey" conducted in 1993 and based on a "random telephone sampling" of 4,978 households in every state except Alaska and Hawaii.

The survey, published by Dr. Gary Kleck of Florida State University and a colleague, Dr. Marc Gertz, is an inexact muddling of telephone responses-all unproven claims and unverified incidents-that is used to suggest that gun owners sometimes defend themselves.

One rambling conclusion of the survey was offered in an interview by Kleck, in which he said: "Our results ended up indicating ... anywhere from 800,000 on up to 2.4 million or 2.5 million defensive uses of guns against human beings-not against animals-by civilians each year."

It is this kind of stuff that the gunnut lobby is using to pump new fervor into its campaign to arm America against "criminals" and author Schulman used to explain "why 70 million Americans own guns."

Pike pedestrian killed in accident

A Pike County man was killed Monday as he walked alongside a roadway.

George M. Davis, 71, of Hardy, was walking along the Right Fork of Blackberry Creek Road at Ransom in Pike County, when he was struck by a pickup driven by John C. Plum, according to state police records.

Teenager killed in collision with train

A Louisa teenager was killed late last Tuesday after the car he was driving was hit by a train in Fort Gay, W. Va.

Cecil Perry, 17, was flown to St. Mary's Hospital in Huntington, W. Va., after the accident at about 9:25 p.m., but died shortly afterward.

Police said the crossing at Railroad Street and Sunnyside Avenue was marked, but Perry attempted to cross because he either didn't see the train or thought he could beat it.

The 1983 Plymouth Reliant he was driving was dragged for nearly a mile and a half before the train could come to a complete stop, a dispatcher for the West Virginia State Police said.

The Norfolk Southern train was driven by engineer Terry Maynard of Kenova, W. Va., who told police he blew the train's whistle several times before it collided with the car.

The train had three locomotives and 128 freight cars, and was traveling at about 38 miles per hour. The death was the fourth in the tri-state area along the Norfolk Southern line this year. A Wayne County man was killed in March after a collision near Prichard, and two South Point, Ohio, teenagers died in February. - Big Salisbury, 67, at his home here Saturday.

The meat of the "National Defense Survey" was its conclusionbased on unchecked and self-serving claims by respondents-that about 66 of the 4,978 persons answering the telephone survey said they had used guns in "defending themselves" in the past year and "about" 50 of those used handguns.

The data was all in volunteered statements-no accompanying police reports, no verification of the gun defenses whatsoever.

It was, Kleck explained as he was interviewed in Schulman's book, an "extrapolation to the general population" that brings 66 gun defenses out to 2.4 million "defenses" in a year and 1.9 million of those with handguns

The Kleck survey, in effect, acknowledges that the gun "defenses" were all in the eyes of the defenders, most often in the absence of any police presence, eyewitness, judicial finding or any scrap of information to affirm defense against "criminals."

But in the contortions of the gunnut lobby, every gun defense in Kleck's pile of statistical extrapolations becomes a gun defense against a "criminal."

The genuine foolishness of the gun-defense argument jumps out of a brief acknowledgment by Kleck buried in Schulman's book. Speaking of gun defense, he said, "54 percent of the defensive gun uses involved somebody verbally referring to the gun."

So in 35 of the 66 "gun defenses" which were exploded into Kleck's 2.4 million "gun defenses" and into Schulman's fantasy of a gun defense against a criminal "every 13 seconds," there was no gun.

The gun "defense" was a threat, like: "You better stop messing with me, or I'll get my gun."

To borrow another extrapolation, the dwindling few "gun defenses" in the survey resulted, most likely, from family or neighborhood arguments. And there's actually no evidence of criminals who were backed off by armed citizens.

All this gun-defense goofiness might be laughed off as tribal talk among the gun nuts. But these people are seriously intent on arming America and they've got money enough to scare a lot of politicians.

Inez man taken into custody

An Inez man was arrested Monday at his home after being indicted for Criminal Abuse, First Degree.

According to Martin County Sheriff's Deputy Pete Fitzpatrick, Lewis Holly Harless, 33, was taken into custody and lodged in the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center in Paintsville. He is being held on a $10,000 bond.

Harless is charged for alleged abuse of a child under the age of 12.

The indictment reads that Harless committed the offense when he intentionally abused a minor child, causing cruel punishment to a person 12 years of age or less.

A warrant was issued May 26, but officers were unable to locate Harless.

He will be arraigned June 27 in Martin Circuit Court.

.Officials have jumped through bureaucratic hoops in recent months to free up an extra $10 million for emergency abandoned mine reclamation projects after Kentucky reached its $5 million limit. Yet some people whose projects have been financed and designed are still waiting for the bidding process to start.

The U.S. Office of Surface Mining has had a record 231 "presumptive emergencies" to deal with this year because of the winter freezes and rains in Eastern Kentucky. And officials say the dozen or so employees in the OSM's Ashland office are having trouble handling the onslaught.

"We've been working people overtime and lots of Saturdays and Sunday," said Jack Holbrook, chief of the OSM's southern Appalachian branch. "Imminent for us is health and safety; immediate fixes first, along with the hottest emergencies."

But the residents facing the slides can't understand why such a flurry of "emergency" activity is followed by such a long wait.

"Every time it rains the fear is right back again," said Genita Callihan of Roxana in Letcher County, where a slide in early December engulfed her pickup and destroyed an outbuilding before stopping 3 feet from her house.

Contractor Randy Hinkle of Louisa used a special grant from the state's reclamation program to complete a wooden barricade behind the house several weeks ago. He said design work on the permanent reclamation job has been complete since April, but no bids have been taken on that second phase.

"There's probably more than 100,000 (cubic) yards that's still up there unstable and got water coming out of it," said Hinkle, who's already removed about 40,000 cubic yards of material from the site. "I asked about it a couple of weeks ago and I was told it was put on hold."

But Holbrook said people are not being left in peril. Although the Callihan slide was a "hot emergency" when it occurred, $400,000 worth of work has stabilized the situation, he said.

"Right now it's not dangerous," he said. "If we leave it too long, it could deteriorate to the point where it was before."

Hinkle said he has seen the OSM get contractors to a site within 24 hours of an emergency declaration. But Holbrook said the sheer number of cases in Eastern Kentucky-and the necessary "triage" process of fixing the worst firsthas kept the OSM from moving more quickly.

For instance, OSM inspectors estimate that 300,000 tons of loose material has been sitting behind Tommy Phillips' home at Island Creek in Pike County since a slide began March 9. A prebid conference on that project took place last week, and bids are scheduled to be taken Thursday.-Lexington Herald-Leader

Seventh-day Adventists Believe...

In infinite love and mercy God made Christ, who knew no sin. to be sin for us, so that in Him we might be made the righteousness of God. Led by the Holy Spirit we sense our need, acknowledge our sinfulness, repent of our transgressions, and exercise faith in Jesus as Lord and Christ, as Substitute and Example. This faith which receives salvation comes through the divine power of the Word and is the gift of God's grace. Through Christ we are justified, adopted as God's sons and daughters, and delivered from the lordship of sin. Through the Spirit we are born again and sanctified; the Spirit renews our minds, writes God's law of love in our hearts, and we are given the power to live a holy life. Abiding in Him we become partakers of the divine nature and have the assurance of salvation now and in the judgment.-Fundamental Beliefs, 10 grams of fat has been carried into this house within the last twelve months.

Smile Awhile Sara Hopson FAT FREE OR DIE o food containing more than 8

This should mean that the people living within these walls should be no larger than a peppermint toothpick from Pizza Hut. Unfortunately, at least one member of the household looks more like the Meat Lover's special from the same aforementioned eating establishment.

It amazes me that I still manage to maintain my weight or add to it by eating fat free pretzels, baked potatoes with fat free margarine and fat free sour cream, and fat free fig newtons. Of course, there are times when I break over and eat yogurt, but it's fat free, too.

"What's for supper, Sara?" my husband asks.

"Fat free Egg Beater sandwiches with fat free cheese and fat free mayonnaise."

"Yum, Yum," he answers glumly. "What's J. R. eating?"

"I'll have pizza, too." "But you hate pizza!" "I hate fat free more."

"Fat free is so much healthier. And I'm sure that any day now, pounds of weight will fall from my body."

My husband doesn't believe me. Men don't. The weight just slides off the male gender when they adhere to a diet low in fat.

The United States Supreme Court will be deciding sometime in the near future if the U.S. Constitution is worth the parchment it's printed on. Since the only job the Supreme Court has is to interpret what the Constitution really says for us morons who think the printed words ought to be enough to go by, the Court's decision on one particular case is really important.

If they interpret the wrong way, why they could be out of a job. Here's the deal.

In a case out of Arkansas, the high court is being asked to decide if states have the right to limit the terms of their representatives to Congress.

Now, the average Constitution reader, whose latin legalese stops at "Et tu, Brute?!," might think the answer to that question is made pretty clear in the Constitution.

The very first article (section 4) says that, and we quote, "The times, places and manner of holding election for Senator and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the Legislature thereof "

Okay, that's pretty clear. It is also pretty important to note what is not in

They don't even have to count calories like women do.

Sadly enough, worse than trying to convince men that women don't lose as rapidly as men on fat free, is trying to convince them how difficult shopping for fat free foods has become. I did this one day last week, and was surprised at how many foods claimed to be fat free or so low in fat you supposedly couldn't tell the difference.

"Jean," I asked my friend, "have you ever tried those low fat chocolate chip cookies? They're delicious."

"They should be. There's five grams of fat in each one."

"That's a lot. How many in the real ones?"

"Twelve. It's amazing how seven extra grams of fat improves the taste of a cookie."

"Have you tried the fat free corn chips?"

"I've been chewing on the same one I started two days ago," she replied dryly. "I keep dipping this same one in picante sauce."

"Have you lost any weight?"

"I haven't weighed. I will at the end of the week. That's after I've finished my fat free brownies with fat free whipped topping, and the rest of the fat free burritos."

"I found some fat free cake at the store, and I'm going to fix it with some fat free strawberries sweetened with Equal. I should drop a ton."

Somewhere out there, a white laboratory rat is being subjected exclusively to fat free foods, and he weighs 400 pounds. I've no doubt we'll be reading about it soon.

First show of the season

Kentucky Opry will open the summer Monday night. Jody Conley, left in front row, has moved to Somerset. He will be replaced by Chris Lafferty, whose magical fingers bring the keyboard to life. As alway, Munroe, in back, will be up to some new antics. Billie Jean Osborne, founder of the Kentucky Opry, has promised a few surprises in this year's show. Don't miss a single performance.

The stars come out Monday night

Monday night, June 27, when the Kentucky Opry opens its fourth season at Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheatre.

Most of the faces will be familiar, says Opry founder Billie Jean Osborne, James Whited. "but we've got a lot of new songs, new store."

A new face at the Opry this year is Chris Lafferty, who has been a member of the Kentucky Opry Junior Pros for the past two years. Lafferty is moving into the spot vacated by Jody Conley, who is moving to Somerset. Conley played the keyboard and guitar and it formed. was a vocalist with the Opry since its inception.

Lafferty has played back-up to Conley in recent months. He is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and is now a freshman at Prestonsburg Community College.

It's toe-tappin', finger-snappin', time Munroe Birdshet, vocalists Misty Daniels, Raetta Damron and Danette Flanery, emcee and lead singer Tony Whited, fiddle player David Morris, and the rest of the band: Dwayne Binge, Ray Salvers and the Constitution before we give you the clincher on this particular issue.

Nowhere does it say that Senators and Representatives may be elected until they fall over dead.

That's a major point because (drum roll please) there is a little thing in the Constitution called the 10th Amendment.

Here's what it says... "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States, respectively, or to the people."

Now it doesn't matter how many law degrees you've got nailed up on the wall to be able to interpret that.

If the Constitution doesn't specifically say it can't be done, then the states have the final say on what will be done.

There you go. Now, before some disgruntled Washington lawyer who makes a living reading between the Constitutional lines accuses us of practicing law without a license, let's make one final point.

You don't have to be a lawyer to serve on the Supreme Court.

We'd be more than happy to accept an appointment to the next opening.

SOAP UPDATES

ALL MY CHILDREN: Unable to get Harold to accept her, Janet drugged him and sent him off to California in a moving van. Laurel later told Trevor she suspected "Jane" was behind Harold's disappearance. Moved by Adam's story of his ordeal, Gloria agreed to conceive a child with him. Brooke remained suspicious of Adam's kidnapping event. Stuart was upset that the "switch" story would be revealed when Gloria persuaded an uneasy Adam to undergo hypnosis. Del was in a panic about being investigated. Wait To See: Kendall feels it's time to make a new move against Erica.

ANOTHER WORLD: Carl revived, but was unable to recognize Rachel. Ryan brought Iris to Carl, hoping seeing her would jolt his memory. When Carl failed to recognize her as well, Iris told him it would be to his advantage not to remember anything. As Paulina and Jake faced the challenge of survival, Jake recalled Barry saying Carl would be taken care of, and Iris would take her own life. Tomas stared at Angela and asked what she was doing in Bay City. Josie told a shocked Sharly/ Sharlene she had become a hooker, like her mother. Wait To See: Iris makes a risky move.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Margo (actress Ellen Dolan) returned home to a warm welcome from Tom and the children. At Julie and Caleb's wedding, Holden noticed Lily's closeness with Damian. Samantha made a mysterious phone call. Julie and Caleb were stunned to learn they would have Petey for good. Gregory tried to make Lisa suspicious of Mike. Margo decided to focus her investigation of the elevator incident on the stalker. Gregory later accused Barbara that she's the stalker. Wait To See: Lisa is determined to contact Scott.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTI-FUL: James was furious when Ridge said he knew the children, Eric, Jr. and Bridget, were against his marrying Brooke. Connor told a surprised Brooke that Sheila did, indeed, leave the office the day Garvin died. Sheila later admitted it, saying she'd left at lunchtime to buy a gift for Eric. James told Brooke Garvin died about that time. After Sly reported seeing Dylan out with Ivana, a shaken Dylan promised Eric it wouldn't happen again. Anthony and Darla were unexpectedly affected by the kiss she was supposed to be practicing for Connor. Wait To See: Sheila shows why she to Alexandra about the wedding gift can, indeed, be a dangerous foe.

Betsy Layne's Potter signs with Pikeville College

Picks Pikeville over Cumberland, Marysville, Tennessee

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

Chris Potter of the Betsy Layne Bobcats inked a letter-of-intent with Pikeville College Wednesday morning at the school's administrative building.

His parents, Cathy and Mike Potter, along with his brother Kyle, attended the signing as did his baseball coach Junior Newsome.

Potter viewed the signing as a dream come true.

"I've always wanted to go to Pikeville College," he said. "It is something that I have always dreamed about."

Potter said that his decision to bypass other schools was not only because of his dream to play for the Panthers, but because he thinks it is the place he should be.

"I just felt like it was the best of the schools that recruited me," he said. "It's a place where I can continue my baseball career."

The Panthers were 18-25 last season, but veteran coach Roy Cutwright thinks that his team will have experienced players back from this past season.

"We only graduated one senior," said the Pikeville mentor. "We will have a solid pitching staff returning next season. We just need to get some kids to fill some key positons for us."

"That Henry Napier is a dandy little pitcher," said Drift Astro coach Clinis Hall after his team won their third consecutive game in the Beaver Creek Little League Tournament at Martin.

Drift posted a 11-5 win over the Reds to advance to the finals of the winners' bracket.

Potter has been playing varsity baseball for the Bobcats since his eighth grade year. He batted over .300 in his freshman and sophomore season and hit .327 as a junior. He improved his hitting from last season, something he set out to do.

Brooks' grand slam slams door on Cubs, 13-8

Potter's mother, Cathy, said that just being able to belong is what Chris needs

"He has always belonged somewhere," she said. "Just being able to belong is the nice thing about signing with Pikeville.

"I feel good about him going to Pikeville. It was totally his decision and I believe he can contribute. He loves the game of baseball and he has been playing it since he was five. He wanted to go to Pikeville."

"The biggest thing is that Chris will be playing close so that we can watch him play," said his father Mike. "It will also make it easier for him to adjust to college life being close to home."

"I'm really happy for Chris," said his brother Kyle. "He will be close to home and help me with baseball and teach me how to play basketball."

Potter not only starred for the Bobcats' baseball team, but the basketball as well. However, he said that playing basketball at Pikeville was not in his plans.

"I just want to concentrate on baseball," he said, and not be concerned about walking on in basketball.

"Chris is a good player with good skills," said Coach Newsome. "He knows how to play the game. He has

Duff scores eight in second for 12-4 victory over Pirates

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

John Ousley struck out 15 Garrett Pirate batters, collected three hits, including two triples, and drove in two runs to lead the Duff Orioles to a 12-4 win in the Beaver Creek Little League Tournament at Minnie vednesday night. With the win, the Orioles will move into the quarterfinals against the Martin Cardinals tonight. The game will be played at Minnie. Jonathan Ellis drilled a three run home run in the Oriole second when they scored eight times to take an 8-1 lead. Wesley Hyden walked and Jeffry Tackett singled just ahead of Ellis' home run. Willie Bentley started the second with a base hit and scored on Ousley's first triple. Josh Shepherd singled home Ousley. After Jason Patton walked, Matthew Osborne struck out and Hyden walked. The Pirates scored their first run in the third inning on a lead off walk to Tipton, who stole second and third. He scored on a base hit by Risner. Scott's two-run home run for the Pirates accounted for the two runs they scored in the fourth inning. Ousley, in picking up 15 strikeouts, fanned the side in the second inning and had five K's through the first two innings. He also got the side on strikes in the fifth inning.

John Mullins, who has done it all for the Astros, did it again Tuesday night. The game, which was doubtful at first, got underway at 6:30 p.m., a half an hour late; but the late start didn't bother Mullins.

He went the distance for the Astros and collected three hits. Mullins homered for the second straight night when he drilled a home run over the right field fence in the Astros' first.

He struck out 13 batters and gave up only five runs.

Drift exploded for five runs in the first inning to take a 5-0 lead. Mullins hit his three-run home run in the inning with Byron Hall and Brent Slone on base. Hall and Slone had singled in the inning. Jason Spriggs also had a first-inning single.

Graden Allen collected a double off the fence in right center in the first inning. J.J. Hall singled in the inning, also.

The Astros made it 8-0 with three more in the second. Hall singled, Slone doubled him home and Mullins followed with an RBI two-bagger.

> For the second time in tournament play, the Harold Dudgers defeated the Mud Creek Cubs and earned a berth in the championship game of the Harold-Allen-Prater Little League tournament tonight at the Allen Park.

It was the booming bat of Bradley Brooks that sounded defeat for the Cubs. Brooks blasted a grand slam home run in the Dodgers fifth inning that helped the Dodgers erase a 6-3 deficit and post a 13-8 win.

Anthony Tackett, 11, hurled the complete game for the Dodgers in picking up the win. Dodger coach Mike Potter was elated.

"Anthony came on in the last half of the season for us," he said, "to be a very good pitcher. He should be very strong next year."

The Cubs had scored a run in the top of the fifth inning for a 6-3 margin with the Dodgers on the verge of elimination.

fifth with a base hit and was sacrificed to second by Brooks. Josh Meade then delivered a RBI double scoring Bartley for a 6-4 game. Chase Gibson then tripled home a run to narrow the margin to 6-5. Gibson scored the tying run on Casey Brown's single.

Ralph King kept the hit parade going with a single and Kyle Potter followed by walking. Nick Coleman gave the Dodgers the lead with a solid base hit with King denting home plate.

After Tackett walked, Justin Bartley drew a walk to load the bases bringing Brooks to the plate for the second time in the inning. Brooks cleared the bases and then some with a long home run, grand slam style, that gave the Dodgers a 13-6 lead.

Meade batted the second time in the inning and singled, but was left stranded.

The Cubs picked up two runs in their half of the sixth on a lead off double by Jonathan Tackett and Bran-Justin Bartley started the Dodgers don Newsome's RBI single. Brock

Keathley was safe on an error at first and Tackett came around to score on Brent Hamilton's bouncer to short-

After Jake Carroll singled, Tackett got Ryan Hall to pop to second for the final out.

The Cubs had taken a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a base hit by Keathley to start the inning and Carroll's two out double. Carroll scored on an error.

It was 3-0 after the Cubs batted in the top of the second. Tackett singled and scored on Keathley's triple.

The Dodgers made it a tie game with three in the bottom of the second. Meade singled and Keathley issued back-to-back walks to Gibson and Robert Rose. Meade scored on J.R. Conn's ground ball to short. Gibson and Rose later scored on wild pitches.

Single runs in the Cubs third and fourth inning made it 5-3. Carroll's double, his second, started the third and he scored on an error in left field. Tackett singled to start the Cubs on Leroy Adkins double. Tackett, in getting the win, struck out six batters. He was in control of his pitches, walking one batter.

Keathley, in taking the loss, fanned six. He walked nine.

Brooks finished with four runs batted in. Gibson had two RBIs.

"Chase is a good 11-year-old," Coach Potter said. "He plays a very good center field for us and his bat has come on strong at the end of the season. He's a very good prospect for next season."

Potter said even though the bat of Brooks hasn't been that lively, his hit was a big one Wednesday night.

"Brooks bat has performed as well as it should have," the Dodger coach said, "but it was a big one when he hit the grand slam."

HAPPY BIRTH-DAY WISHES ... A belated Happy Birthday wish goes to Bimbo Collins, who celebrated his birthday this past Tuesday.

Collins coaches the Martin Cardinals' Little League team. Happy birthday, Bimbo. GOINS GOING, GOING, GONE

Beaver Creek Little League director Jimmy Goins, out of frustration, resigned his post Wednesday night in the midst of some controversy over a suspended game.

Goins has headed up the league for the past three years and was just one of those directors who didn't want to hurt anyone.

At the Martin Park Wednesday night, Goins evidently had enough of parents and coaches who were constantly complaining. So he went home, gathered up the trophies that were to be presented, and the league funds, and dropped them off at the ballpark at Martin.

What was the problem? When a ruling was called for, Goins

A Look At Sports made a decision that was handed down from the Little League headquarters in St. Petersburg, Florida. He ruled that the game between the Martin Cardinals and Garrett Cubs was a complete game and the victory went to the Cubs.

> The game was called on account of darkness in the bottom of the fourth inning with the home team (Cubs) leading 8-6 which, according to Little League rules, constitutes a complete game.

In a filed protest, Dickie Jarvis, assistant district commissioner, ruled, "in his opinion," that the game should have been rescheduled and started from the point it was stopped, that being the bottom of the fourth inning.

Two days after the game actually began, it ended Wednesday night with the Cubs coming away with the victory.

The atmosphere at the Martin Park Monday night was not pleasant as they mulled over a decision. The parents got involved and that did not help matters at all.

I know that parents have their children's best interests at heart and that is fine to a point. But when a decision is to be made by the coaches and staff, then the parents should just revert to the sidelines and let the proper decision be made.

Sad to say that those in power to make that decision were not at the ballpark and, therefore, the decision was made between the coaches to reschedule the game for the following day.

Upon arriving at the park Tuesday to play the game, the ruling from Florida was rendered and the game was ruled in favor of the Cubs.

Upon arriving at the park Wednesday, the whole mess was just that - a mess. Jarvis said that he thought the game should have been picked up where it left off.

Now, all this could have been avoided if: The league director had been present on the day of the first meeting (Monday).

· Everyone had been versed on the rules that apply in such a situation. No one knew the rules. One person had a regular season rule book and another had a rule book that governs just the tournament. (That's silly).

This league has had a lot of controversy the past three seasons. That is because no one wants to follow the rules, especially if it is against his team. "Rules should be observed, but not by my team," seems to be the rule of the day.

Last year, the controversy was about a kid who wanted to play on the all-star team, but who wasn't allowed. Coaches, fans and others have lost sight of the real reason for Little League baseball- to teach kids at an early age how to play the game.

I have seen officials argue in front of the kids over almost nothing. I have seen fans become so vocal that it's a shame. What do all the kids think when they see grown-ups who are suppose to be setting an example, act like they do?

Folks, it is no wonder we have young people who act as they do! No one cares about setting the right example. There is so much negative influence out there already for our kids, they don't need it on the baseball field.

Dave Conley has been in baseball for over 20 years. He told me at the Martin Park (he coaches the Garrett Cubs) that he is happier than he has been in the past 20 years. He loved working in Little League.

Wednesday night I asked him how he was doing (after the reversed ruling), if he was ready to return to the Babe Ruth League.

"I'm ready to get away from it all," he said. And that is a shame because no one, no one, has done more for the youth in our area than Dave Conley.

CONGRATULATIONS TO KRYSTAL

While she says that she doesn't know anyone at Cumberland College, Krystal Isaac need not worry about that. With her personality, she will quickly make friends and feel at home there. Krystal received a scholarship to Cumberland this week.

"It was mostly in track," she said. "I will also be playing basketball and running crosscountry.'

Who says that track is not important and there are no scholarships awarded for track?

"I'm excited about going," said Isaac. "I don't know how much basketball I'll get to play, but they told me that they needed a guard."

Isaac says she is supposed to run up to eight miles a day.

"I'm doing three and a half right now," she said. "Competing on the college level is going to be hard at first."

Isaac was also recruited by Morehead.

ROBINSON, WELLS IN DISCUS CAMP

It may be summer and school may be out. But for Allen Central's Shawn Robinson and Levi Wells, the track season never has ended and there is much to do in the future.

The two discus throwers just attended John Powell's Discus Camp in Grandville, Ohio, last week and the duo is anxious for next season to begin.

"It was like being in the military," said Robinson of the camp. "It was hard, but we learned a lot.'

Some of the things the camp stressed was foot speed and stance.

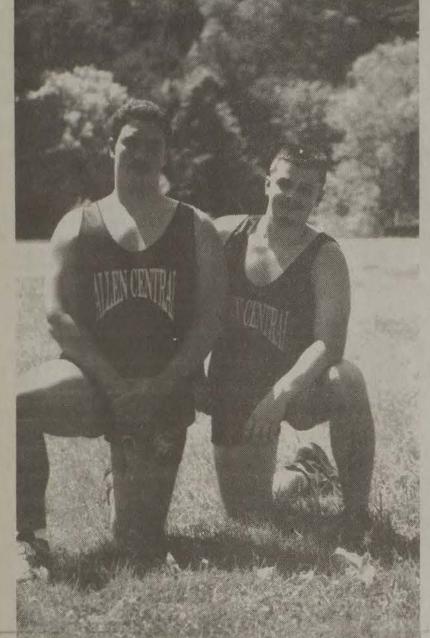

"They worked on our stance and changed that," Robinson explained. "Then we worked on our foot speed. We were doing it all wrong before. One thing we were doing wrong was that our shoulders were not back far enough."

The veteran thrower brought home videos to watch and the learning process will continue.

"They recorded us while we were down there. We got the videos to look at and see what we are doing wrong."

Robinson said that he and Wells had learned a lot and were confident about next spring's meets.

"We will throw a lot farther than what we threw this year," said Robinson, who has won almost every meet he has competed in. "Coach (Forrest) Hughes got us to go to it and the camp helped us a lot."

Robinson said the camp director was surprised to learn that his school did not have a track and field facility.

"They couldn't believe it," he said, "that we didn't have a track and field facility here. They were surprised that we could throw the discus without one. It was the best camp that I have been to."

Robinson said that Wells and himself have decided to go to the Bluegrass State Games this year and set a new record.

"We will do better than last year," said a confident Robinson.

The two Ridge Runner-throwers said that he and Wells wanted to share what they learned in camp with others to make them better throwers. If all goes well, the new track and field facility at Allen Central should be ready this spring. ISAAC HEADS

TO CUMBERLAND...

Here's some great news!

South Floyd's Krystal Isaac will be heading to Cumberland College this fall. Isaac inked a letter-of-intent with Cumberland this week. She received a scholarship in both basketball and track.

With the signing, Isaac becomes the first athlete from South Floyd to receive a college scholorship.

Isaac carried a 3.9 GPA this year and is tickled, we understand, to be going to Cumberland.

Her dad called and informed me of the signing (at Cumberland) and said that he was "tickled to death for her."

Isaac has been a hard worker, both academically and athletically, all through school. She starred on the South Floyd Lady Raiders basketball team and was a state competitor in track this year.

Isaac will run track and play basketball for coach Henry Morgan. She played three years of varsity basketball for Wheelwright.

I'm very happy for Krystal.

Cumberland. Well, that's how I see it! Until the next time.

Jimmy Lee Stumbo had a RBI single.

The Reds got on the scoreboard in the third inning when four runs crossed the plate. Mullins walked three consecutive batters to load the bases. Chris Damron then cleared the bags with a long double. He later scored on a passed ball to make it a 8-4 game.

The Astros came back with three of their own in the fourth. A walk to Spriggs and Hall's third hit of the game set up Slone's RBI single. Mullins them followed a run-scoring base hit before Stumbo doubled home two runs.

The Reds got their final run in the fifth inning when Damron walked, stole second and third before scoring on a wild pitch.

"Jason (Spriggs) is playing real good baseball for me right now," said Coach Hall. "He is the type of kid that will play anywhere you put him." Mullins got the win in going the distance. Henry Napier suffered the setback for the Reds. Napier had 10 strikeouts in the game. The Astros are 14-2 on the season.

The defensive play of Bartley at short had Potter in awe.

"He has a very strong and quick arm at shortstop," Potter stated. "He is a very good defensive player and swings a good bat."

A couple of 10-year-olds have added to the scheme of things for the Dodgers.

"Casey Brown and Kyle (Potter) have been very good subs for us this season. They will come in and perform well," he said.

Carroll finished the game with three hits, including two doubles. Keathley, Tackett and Newsome had two hits for the Cubs.

Potter-

Betsy Layne program.

"I'm glad to see him sign with Pikeville College. It's a good program academically as well as in athletics. I feel that Chris can contribute here at Pikeville," he said.

Coach Newsome said that Potter needs to get stronger and that "it will help his overall game."

"He was an excellent shortstop for us and he may get some time at second base here at Pikeville," said Newsome.

While playing four years for Betsy Layne, the Bobcats won 20 or more games in each season that Potter played.

"We reached the regional finals twice and won it once," said Newsome. "He ended his career at Betsy Layne in a big way when we went to the sectional tournament."

"We're just real excited about having Chris coming into our program," said Coach Cutwright. "When you can get a player the caliber of Chris out of a successful program such as Betsy Layne, you have gotten a quality player.

"We try to recruit good local players," he said. "We believe that Chris can play for us at the college level and I believe he can contribute in his first year.

Coach Cutwright said that the biggest adjustment he sees for Potter is offensively.

"But that is the case with all players coming out of high school into the college game," said the Panther coach. "It is an adjustment for every player.

"He is a very good defensive shortstop. He will get the opportunity to play early. It's never, will he or won't he play. He will."

"I'm just willing to play anywhere they need me," said Potter. "I'm just hopeful that I can contribute wherever I play.

"I feel that my defense has improved a lot and I just need to continue to work on my defense."

Potter said that he chose the Pikeville program over other schools because it was an area that he was familiar with.

"It's the kind of baseball, in this program here at Pikeville is building and it is getting to be a consistently good program. I feel that it will get even better."

been a big part of the success of the area, that I am used to," he said. "The included Marysville, Tenneseee, Cumberland, Campbellsville, Morehead, Duke and Cincinnati.
