Nine are arrested in pre-dawn drug sweep

Mountain Area Drug Task Force raids operations in five counties

Task force arrests nine

Larry Johnson, 28, and Johnny Johnson, 29, both of Skull, were arrested Thursday in a five-count roundup of suspected drug dealers by the Mountain Area Drug Task Force. The two men pleaded not guilty to trafficking in marijuana. Twelve people in Floyd County were being sought by the task force and nine were arrested Thursday. (photo by Susan Allen)

Nine Floyd Countians were arrested early Thursday morning in a five-county roundup of suspected drug dealers conducted by the Mountain Area Drug Task Force.

Officers in Floyd, Pike, Perry, Knott and Magoffin counties were out in force at approximately 5 a.m. Thursday morning searching for 61 people wanted on 82 counts of various drug charges. At approximately 9 a.m., 44 people in the five-county area had been arrested.

In Floyd County, sheriff's deputies had nine of 12 people in custody and arrests were pending on three people.

Those arrested in Floyd County:

- Shirley Ousley, 47, of Martin, trafficking in a controlled substance, cocaine;
- Dottie Neeley, 76, of Hueysville, trafficking in marijuana;
- Johnny Johnson, 29, of Skull in Weeksburg, trafficking in marijuana less than eight ounces;
- Larry Johnson, 28, of Skull, trafficking in marijuana less than eight ounces;

• Rick Williams, 29, of Grethel, trafficking in controlled substance, cocaine;

• Sonja Kidd, 29, of Harold, trafficking in marijuana less than eight ounces within a 1,000 yards of a school;

• Junior Hall, 64, of Little Mud Creek, trafficking in marijuana less than eight ounces;

• Edgar Bud Lowe, 56, of Prestonsburg, trafficking in marijuana; and

• Terry McCutcheon, 30, of Betsy Layne, first degree promoting contraband.

McCutcheon was arrested on Wednesday and was charged for allegedly sneaking a bag of marijuana hidden in container of mashed potatoes into the Floyd County Jail. McCutcheon allegedly gave the marijuana to an inmate in the county jail.

Task force director Stan Farler said Thursday that McCutcheon's arrest was part of the roundup.

Farler said that Thursday's arrests resulted from drug buys made by undercover task force officers over the past several months.

In Perry County, 33 people were sought on 51 drug charges; in Pike County, 10 people were wanted on 12 charges; two people were being sought in Magoffin County; and four people were being sought in Knott County.

Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson and deputies Daniel Hutchinson, Johnny Layne, Ricky Newsome and Lloyd Powers participated in the roundup.

In a related issue, Shirley Ousley was also charged with prescription drugs not in proper container after a task force officer allegedly found a pill bottle that didn't contain the proper medication during Ousley's arrest.

Election suit arrives at critical crossroad

Judge will determine direction for dispute in two weeks

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The issues cited in a Floyd County election fraud lawsuit are at a crossroad and Perry Circuit Judge Doug Combs will decide in two weeks which direction the case will go.

In a hearing Thursday in Perry Circuit Court, C.K. Belhasen, attorney for Dale McKinney, asked the judge for a continuance, and Eric Hall, representing Floyd Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, asked that the lawsuit be dismissed.

McKinney, an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for judge-executive in the 1993 May Primary election, filed a civil lawsuit against Stumbo last June, alleging that Stumbo committed election law violations.

On Thursday, Judge Combs told attorneys that he would rule on the issues May 31.

Belhasen asked for a 90-day continuance in the case because issues raised in the lawsuit are being investigated by the state attorney general's office. Belhasen asked for the additional time to see if any action would be taken by the attorney general's office after their investigation.

Hall asked the judge for a summary judgment of dismissal in the case.

Judge Combs said Thursday that a question of immunity is still to be decided for witnesses who testify that they committed election law violations during the May Primary.

Assistant Attorney General John Swain, who attended Thursday's hearing, argued that immunity from prosecution can only be granted in criminal cases, not civil, Judge Combs said.

The hearing was originally scheduled to be held at 1 p.m. Thursday, but a scheduling conflict moved up the hearing to 11 a.m.

In March, a Floyd County Grand Jury asked the state attorney general (AG) to investigate allegations of public corruption and election fraud in Floyd County.

Last month, McKinney sent a letter to the AG's office alleging that the secrecy of the grand jury had been compromised.

Trial start is postponed to August in '93 murder case

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The trial of a Prestonsburg man accused of killing his girlfriend's estranged husband has been postponed until August.

In Floyd Circuit Court Wednesday, special Judge Doug Combs of Perry County continued the murder trial of Larry D. Robinson, 44, to August 22.

Robinson is charged with running over 52-year-old William Kent "Bucky" Rose with a vehicle at Banner on May 29, 1993. Robinson had allegedly been stalking Rose and his wife, Mary, on the day Rose was killed.

After the incident last May, Kentucky State Police trooper Earl Gorrell said that Robinson was dragged approximately 64 feet by Robinson's vehicle before it stopped.

Rose's wife was allegedly having a romantic relationship with Robinson, police said.

The incident occurred near the Banner bridge when Rose stopped his vehicle in the road and walked toward Robinson's vehicle which had allegedly been following him.

Attorney hints that indicted mine inspector may alter plea

A federal mining inspector from Floyd County who was arrested Monday and charged with extorting bribes from coal companies may plead guilty.

Edward L. Kendrick, 56, of Melvin, pleaded not guilty Wednesday in U. S. District Court at Pikeville. But Kendrick, who is cooperating with federal officials, may change his plea, according to his attorney, Ned Pillersdorf.

"We anticipate filing a motion for arraignment," Pillersdorf said, declining to go into details.

Another Floyd County man, Clifford Crum, 58, of Allen, and John W. Banks, 44, of Myra in Pike County, were arrested with Kendrick on Monday. The three U. S. Mine Safety and Health Administration inspectors were charged with accepting bribes from coal companies in the Pike district over the last four years for overlooking mining violations.

A Letcher County man, James W. Morgan, 49, who is a former state reclamation inspector, also was indicted on a bribery charge. His arraignment is today in Lexington.

Crum's trial is scheduled for June 15; Kendrick's is set for July 12 and Banks' for July 11.

Council offers reluctant go-ahead to sewer plan

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

It looks as if construction on a new sewage treatment plant in Martin will begin this summer with the city council's award of construction contracts Wednesday night.

Council approved entering into contracts with Charles Contracting and G & L Pipe Engineering to build the treatment plant, but the move was not without some minimal risks.

Libby Ratcliff with the Big Sandy Area Development District, told council that she had received a verbal commitment from the Farmer's Home Administration to the city of a grant for 75 percent of the additional $107,000 needed to complete the $2.6 million project.

City officials have already received grant monies to cover just over half of the construction costs. The city will have to get a loan for the remaining construction costs not covered by the grant monies.

The construction project has been delayed for months while right-of-way and condemnation cases have been pending in court. Ratcliff informed council Wednesday that those cases have effectively been settled, which paves the way for construction to begin.

Councilman Alan Whicker objected to proceeding with construction because Farmer's Home has not confirmed the grant award in writing.

Ratcliff told council that she felt comfortable that the grant would come through and advised them that the construction bids would expire May 15. She added that time was also running out on a $579,212 loan application with the Kentucky Infrastructure Authority.

If the contracts were not awarded, Ratcliff said that the project would have to be rebid which could result in higher prices and council was in danger of breaking up the funding pack-

Governor takes to the road to promote park upgrades

Governor Brereton C. Jones has announced he will travel throughout Kentucky next week in a campaign to "Save Our State Parks."

The governor's tour will include a stop next Thursday, May 19, at Jenny Wiley State Park.

"Kentucky's state resort parks, once considered the finest in the nation, are in need of extensive repair and renovation," Governor Jones said.

The week-long bus tour, which will include the governor, tourism cabinet secretary Crit Luallen, parks commissioner Mark Lovely and others from the administration, will begin in Louisville on Monday, May 16 with a news conference marking the start of Tourism Week in Kentucky. At that time, the governor will release the 1993 tourism economic impact figures.

"Our state parks are vital to the economy of our Commonwealth," said Governor Jones. "They provide 7,500 jobs for our people and add nearly $300 million to our state's economy."

Governor Jones submitted to the 1994 General Assembly a list of 71 projects aimed at improving and enhancing state parks in Kentucky. He proposed financing the improvements through a $100 million bond issue. However, the budget which was passed by lawmakers did not include any money for state parks, so Governor Jones vetoed that budget.

"We cannot turn our backs on our state parks," Jones said. "This bond issue is a historic opportunity to achieve long-term economic benefits through strategic investment. Our state budget must include the bond issue to allow the parks system to retain the title of "nation's finest."

The governor will call a special session of the General Assembly to pass a new, two-year state budget. In his tour next week, he will seek the support of people throughout the Commonwealth for the parks projects.

"Last December, when I proposed the bond issue to save our parks, I promised to bring back the brilliance to the Kentucky Parks System, which has long been called the jewel of all state parks systems in this country," Governor Jones said. "The jewel's luster has been dulled by wear and tear. However, with the support of the people in this Commonwealth, that jewel will soon shine brightly again."

Celebrating Child and Family Days

age to build the plant. Council said they felt they had no choice but to award the contracts because of the right timelines and, if the project fell through at this point, they would be facing large state and federal fines from environmental protection officials.

Council voted 5-1 to award the contracts, with Whicker voting no.

Also Wednesday, councilman Everett Akers Jr. traded some harsh words with Mayor Raymond Griffith relating to the operation of city government.

Akers had been openly critical of the mayor for the last couple of months because, he feels, the mayor is not doing his job of supervising city employees and making sure council's directives are carried out.

During a discussion Wednesday about the city's debt to the City of Prestonsburg for water, the mayor said that he disagreed with how much the city owed Prestonsburg.

Mayor Griffith said that he would find out by Friday (today) what Prestonsburg officials claimed the city owed.

Council has been asking about the debt for the past two months and at the April 27 council meeting, Griffith said that a partial payment on the $15,000 debt had been made.

On Wednesday, Griffith said that he thought that some type of error had been made on the city's account because there is "a lot of water missing."

Parish to celebrate its tenth anniversary

Saint Martha's Roman Catholic Church, located on the Lancer/Watergap Road, will celebrate its tenth anniversary on Sunday, June 12, beginning with an 11 a.m. Mass of Thanksgiving, which will be followed by an outdoor parish picnic from 3-9 p.m.

The parish will recognize its former pastors and its oldest parishioner from 4-5 p.m. in the church. Pictures, slides, videos, memorabilia, games, activities, music, dancing and much more will highlight the parish celebration. Former parishioners and their friends are especially invited to return and join in the festivities.

Saint Martha's was built in 1979 as the Watergap Freewill Baptist Church. The property was bought in 1984 by Msgr. Ralph Beiting, who was then the pastor of St. Theodore Church in Prestonsburg and St. Juliana's Church in Martin. The two small parishes were then merged together as St. Martha's Church, honoring both Martha from the gospels and the founding pastor's late mother.

Rev. Joseph Muench was the parish's second pastor, from 1986 to 1993, when Rev. David Powers, Sch. P. became its administrator and was later named pastor by the Most Reverend J. Kendrick Williams, the first bishop of the Catholic diocese of Lexington.

For more information, call the parish at 874-9526.

Paul Richwalsky said in April that the AG's office had received the grand jury's request and McKinney's letter. He said that both issues would be investigated.

Floyd County Commonwealth Attorney John Earl Hunt asked to be removed from the case and that request was granted by the AG's office.

Legislature passes laws that help the hearing-impaired

During the 1994 KY General Assembly, several bills having an impact on deaf and hard-of-hearing persons were considered by the legislature. Members of the deaf and hard-of-hearing community together with staff of the Commission on the Deaf and Hard of Hearing (KCDHH) worked many long hours writing letters, making phone calls, meeting with legislators and attending Senate and House Committee Meetings.

One important bill, which was passed, expands the Telephone Relay Service to include a TTY Distribution Program. According to Dr. Bobbie Beth Scoggins, executive director of KCDHH, "Relay services have greatly increased accessibility to the telecommunications system. However, deaf, hard-of-hearing and speech impaired persons still must purchase additional equipment that others do not need to have access to the phone. Passage of this bill brings us closer to equal access." A portion of the current surcharge for relay services will be used to fund the distribution program.

The legislature also passed a bill which makes Kentucky's Interpreter Laws comply with the Federal Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). ADA requires that the court in any matter, criminal or civil, shall appoint and pay a qualified interpreter for persons who are parties, jurors, or witnesses. The new law also states that "Interpreters shall not be required to testify regarding any other privileged communications without the consent of the person for whom they are interpreting."

Combined Final Notification and Finding of No Significant Environmental Impact

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Rural Development Administration (RDA) has received an application for financial assistance from the Prestonsburg-Floyd County Public Properties Corporation, SAI# KY920918-1287. The specific element of this proposed action is the construction of a 1,000 seat performing arts center in Prestonsburg near the intersection of KY Hwy. 114 and US 23.

RDA has assessed the potential environmental impacts of this proposed action and determined that the location of the proposed performing arts center would impact the 100-year floodplain. It has been determined that there is no practicable alternative to avoid this impact. The basis of this determination is as follows:

—The floodplain will be impacted by construction of the proposed building.

—The proposed building must be located within the floodplain because adequate alternate sites are not available.

—All practicable mitigation measures have been agreed to by the applicant.

—The proposed action conforms to applicable state and local floodplain protection standards.

—The Economic Development Administration, Appalachian Regional Commission and the Department of Housing and Urban Development through its Community Development Block Grant Program are also participating in this project.

RDA has also determined that the proposed action will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment and will not prepare an environmental impact statement.

Any written comments regarding these determinations should be provided within 15 days of this publication to Mr. Thomas G. Fern, State Director, Farmers Home Administration, 771 Corporate Drive, Suite 200, Lexington, Kentucky 40503-5477. FmHA will make no further decisions regarding this proposed action during this fifteen-day period. Requests to review the FmHA environmental assessment upon which this determination is based or to receive a copy of it should be directed to the FmHA District Office, 207 London Shopping Center, London, KY 40741.

Federal law prohibits discrimination on the grounds of race, color, national origin, religion, age, handicap, and sex in this program.

American volunteers work to strengthen international relations

Recent news from the headlines has been filled with violence and social injustice. Consequently, America has been shoved into the world's spotlight as a dangerous country to visit. As Americans, it is our responsibility to show the people of the world that America is one of the most beautiful, wondrous countries on earth. Our citizens are kind, generous, and anxious to share our cultural heritage with people from other countries.

Over 1,000 volunteers have been hard at work for more than a decade to show the nations of the world what an exceptional country we have.

American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE) has been placing foreign students with American families for over 13 years. By spending a school year with an American family, these students return to their countries with a deeper understanding of America and its people. By opening their eyes to our culture, we are working to strengthen ties with the future leaders of foreign nations.

AISE is seeking host families in every city and town, on every ranch and farm, in urban areas, mountain areas, rural areas, and every place in between, who can volunteer to host an exchange student beginning in August, 1994. "Many students applied for host families last fall, and they are still waiting," remarked Belinda Biron, director of marketing for the non-profit program. "We have had a tremendous response nation wide, but there are still students in need of homes," Biron added.

If you would like information on hosting a student for the upcoming school year, call now and begin corresponding with your newest family member immediately! Call AISE at 1-800-SIBLING for more information.

No rooms at the inns?

by Scott Perry

A report issued this week concluded that Kentucky state parks are missing a chance at profitability because there are too few rooms at most to accommodate visitors.

Many parks in our area have no accommodations at all.

The solution, we think, is obvious.

Open the way for private development.

Neither Paintsville Lake nor Yatesville in Lawrence County have any short-term plans to offer room and board for visitors.

That's a shame.

Thousands of people visit those lakes every year, but the state is unable to capitalize on the profit potentials because there is no way to keep those visitors there.

It makes sense then, since the state park system is so financially strapped, to use those facilities as experiments in privatization.

We suspect both Paintsville and Yatesville could have lodges up and running within a couple of years if private entrepreneurs were allowed to develop the needed facilities.

The entire region would benefit from such an arrangement, too, and the state could pocket a percentage of the revenues without having to lay out any capital.

We could take the privatization concept a step further, too, by permitting new development and expansion at parks, like Jenny Wiley State Park, that already have some tourism facilities.

Since Jenny Wiley is already established as a tourism attraction, we suspect it would be relatively easy to attract private investors to new projects...like the proposed golf course.

Most proposals for lakes in Eastern Kentucky would require the participation or approval of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which owns the rights to much of the developable property.

The Corps has never expressed much interest in making money at their flood control projects and the restrictions they apply to any proposed development are many.

But the lakes themselves should be the middle ground for a joint effort among state, federal and private concerns to solve the state parks' financial problems and, ultimately, save those scenic wonders from economic ruin.

The longer we wait, the more we lose.

Thanks appreciated during Hillbilly Days

Editor:
Kentucky Black Lung Association would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who so graciously gave merchandise from their business, baked or volunteered their time during Hillbilly Days. It would not have been possible without your support. There is no way we can thank all of you personally, but most of all God knows each of you and you will be blessed for helping your fellow-man.

The new bill that we have fought so hard for, is just a few weeks away from becoming a reality.

Susie Davis, as President of Kentucky Black Lung Association, has made numerous trips to Washington, D.C. along with other volunteers, to lobby, talk to the Senators personally and to testify before the Senate. We cannot quit now. The outcome looks very favorable, but we must continue to fight to make this dream come true for all you miners, coal truck drivers, tippie workers, railroad workers, or any of you who have worked in any coal related job.

Again, we cannot do this alone,

What others are saying

The following articles are excerpts of editorials taken from Kentucky newspapers

Money is there for coalfield work; let's use it

If rich people in Southern California build houses on what amounts to loose dirt and then rains turn that dirt into rivers of mud, the sight of homes flowing down the sides of mountains is national news.

Cameras record every cracked foundation. The nightly news tapes men and women in work clothes (Calvin Klein jeans) trying to save the family heirlooms. Government declares the entirely predictable scene a disaster (the mud has flowed in Southern California for eons) and sends money, fast.

When people in McCreary County build houses and churches on perfectly good ground, but have the misfortune to live below an abandoned strip mine, forget the sympathy. When the old strip bench collapses and mud and rocks tumble down on church, trailer or stick-built home, there is no disaster declaration — and there is precious little money.

And get this: The money is there to fix the problem. Where the federal government has to add to the deficit to clean up other disasters, the damage caused by abandoned strip mines is paid for in advance.

Since 1977, coal companies have paid $800 million to fix the havoc caused by abandoned strip mines. In the last 16 years, only $108 million of that amount has been used to firm up the land damaged by unscrupulous miners. So, while an abandoned mine in McCreary is slumping onto a cemetery and church, about $700 million sits in a dusty account in Washington, D.C.

It's not right. Coal companies have paid to protect coalfield homes. The homes need protection. And $700 million sits idle.

A congressional subcommittee met Tuesday to discuss the budget for the Department of Interior, where the moribund abandoned mine land fund can be found. Therefore, now is a good time for a test of the Kentucky congressional delegation.

Before you bring Kentucky any new projects, Sens. Ford and McConnell and Reps. Rogers, Bunning, Baesler, Barlow and Mazzoli, get the coalfields what they need. See that the abandoned mine land fund is used to protect Kentucky homeowners from disaster. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Forget more rooms; build lodge at Paintsville Lake

A legislative panel is looking into the possibility of building more lodge and cabin space at Kentucky's state resort parks. Before they add rooms at existing facilities, though, I suggest they build a lodge and some cabins at the state's forgotten park — Paintsville Lake.

I can think of no other park in Kentucky that has been ignored more than Paintsville Lake. Since it opened in the 1980s, the lake has been promised facility after facility by every official holding office. Yet, year after year, we see those promises dwindle away.

Paintsville Lake was supposed to be a godsend for Johnson County. Aside from flood control, the lake was supposed to help our tourism market and bring thousands and thousands of people to our part of the state. True, Paintsville Lake has attracted all kinds of fishermen and been featured in national publications, but it has yet to provide a reason for other people to visit.

The General Assembly will return in special session in a few months to consider a two-year spending plan...

Considering lawmakers' reluctance to pump more money into park renovations — and even less enthusiasm for new facilities — it's likely that Paintsville Lake will again be left out of the state's spending plan.

State officials are trying to get private developers interested in building lodges, cabins, restaurants and other facilities at resort parks. My question is, why would developers want to spend millions of their dollars to construct facilities at state parks when the state is afraid to do it? As long as the state is hesitant about improving and expanding our state park system, private development is not going to happen.

And we know from experience that state officials apparently have little interest in Paintsville Lake. If they do, now is the time to show it. — Paintsville Herald we need you to support us and what you believe in to see this bill go through. You can do this by joining our organization and coming to our monthly meetings the third Friday of each month at 7:00 p.m., held at the K.B.L.A. office.

Have a voice in this, help us to fight for your livelihood for you and your family.

Mrs. Davis, along with some other volunteers will be traveling to Frankfort the 12th of this month (May) to meet with our Governor. She will again be asking for help for you and your families.

The need is great for a Black Lung clinic in our area for our coal workers and their families. Mrs. Davis and our volunteers will be asking our Governor for his support to help us get this clinic which would enable us to be of greater help to our people who have this dreadful disease.

Mrs. Davis has also scheduled a T.V. program with WPRG May 16, at 7:00 p.m. At this time she will have as guest speakers; a pulmonary specialist, a specialist in cardiology, and two lawyers. They will have a "call-in" portion on this program, 478-4200, so please show your support—give them a call.

For more information, you may contact: Susie Davis, K.B.L.A., 3402 South Mayo Trail, Pikeville, Ky. 41502. Or telephone us Tuesdays or Wednesdays at (606) 437-0391.

Social Security needs an overhaul by Kenneth Eskey

Scripps Howard News Service One of the great hoaxes of the 1990s is the fear that the Social Security system will go broke in the next century, depriving present-day workers of their future rewards.

It's a fear that doesn't make much sense. Can you imagine Congress letting old people starve in the streets? But it serves as a useful rallying cry against deficit spending.

As long as Social Security surpluses are invested in government bonds to help finance the federal budget deficit, alarmists can claim the money won't be there when baby boomers retire.

As a practical matter, the bonds will be honored, even if it means raising taxes. But there's no denying that the Social Security system, as we know it today, is in need of a major overhaul.

Otherwise, the burden will become intolerable.

As a starter, the benefits paid to retirees with substantial incomes should be completely taxable. Why should young workers pay stiff Social Security taxes so that senior citizens with far fewer financial recommendations can receive benefits tax-free?

Under current law, retired couples pay taxes on up to half the benefits they receive when their incomes exceed $32,000 a year and up to 85 percent of benefits if their incomes are more than $44,000 a year.

Single retirees pay taxes on up to 50 percent of their benefits when their incomes exceed $25,000 a year and up to 85 percent of benefits if their incomes are more than $34,000 a year.

And why should a retiree with income of $40,000 a year pay any less in income taxes than a worker with income of $40,000, especially when the older person may be more affluent?

"The elderly aren't poor, for the most part," says Reo Christensen, a retired political science professor who teaches a course at Miami University of Ohio. "Their net worth is nearly twice the national average. They live better—by far—than any elderly group in the history of the human race."

Federal law requires that the normal retirement age be raised to 67 by 2027, but why wait that long?

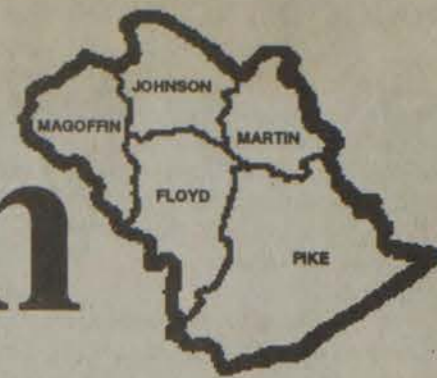

Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., who heads the House Ways and Means Committee, is proposing that the higher retirement age—67—be phased in by 2016, a reasonable date.

Rostenkowski has other ideas about protecting the solvency of Social Security. None will be seriously considered this year, but the idea is to stimulate debate about a subject that most lawmakers regard as political poison.

"Don't rile the old folks" is phony wisdom.

With the ratio of workers to retirees falling from 3-to-1 to 2-to-1 by 2020, it's time to take a new look as where the burdens and benefits of Social Security should fall.

Certificate revoked for Pike teacher

A state agency has revoked the teaching certificate of a long-time Phelps High School teacher for having sexual relations with a 16-year-old student.

The Education Professional Standards Board revoked the certificate of Gary R. Hunt for five years.

After the revocation on April 18, the Pike County schools terminated Hunt as a teacher at Phelps. District spokesman Bruce Hopkins said the dismissal was taken with regret and noted the allegations involve incidents that took place in 1987.

The student, whose identity was deleted from a record of the proceedings obtained by The Associated Press under Kentucky's Open Records Law, claimed that she had sex with Hunt on three occasions in the spring of 1987.

Hunt, 45, is a Phelps graduate himself who has held a teaching certificate since 1972. He was formally notified of the charges of immoral conduct against him in September 1993 and the hearing to revoke his teaching certificate took place November 1993.

Hunt is appealing the disciplinary action against him. Lawyers for Hunt did not return telephone calls for comment on Tuesday.—Appalachian News-Express

Spears to be extradited

Edward "Mick" Spears, the Louisa man who is charged with shooting his wife, is going to be extradited from West Virginia.

After fighting the extradition for over a week, Spears signed the waiver Tuesday, and is going to be brought back to Kentucky where he is faced with a murder charge.

"He did sign his waiver (Tuesday)," said Kentucky State Police trooper Gary Kistner. "We don't know when he's going to be extradited." Spears was arrested in Huntington, W. Va., on May 1 after his car crashed on the 5th Street exit of I-64.

In West Virginia, he is charged with leaving the scene of an accident, DUI, possession of a dangerous and deadly weapon and brandishing.

After his arrest, West Virginia police found out that he had been charged with murder in Kentucky.

According to a police report, the Louisa Police Department had received a call on the evening of April 30 from Spears advising that he wanted to file a complaint against Jeff Kidd, his wife's ex-boyfriend, for driving up and down Ky. 3 past their residence on the point section.

Trooper John Marshall went to the scene and talked with both Edward Spears and his wife Ruth, and saw no sign of any domestic problems. At about 11:15 p.m., the Louisa Police Department then contacted the State Police advising them of a shooting at the Spears' residence.

When the police arrived, they found Ruth Spears dead of single shotgun wound to the abdomen.

It was about 1 a.m. when Spears was apprehended in West Virginia.

According to the report, the murder weapon along with another weapon was recovered at the scene.

Spears is being held at the Cabell County jail in Huntington, W. Va.—The Big Sandy News

AHA and FDA launch new food label public awareness, education effort

The American Heart Association joined the Food and Drug Administration and other organizations on May 9th to launch a year-long public awareness campaign to help consumers learn about the new FDA-required food label, now appearing on packaged foods.

The FDA's new food labeling regulations actually went into effect the day before. At that time, food manufacturers placed the new, easy-to-read "Nutrition Facts" label on their product packages. While not all products that appear on grocery store shelves will bear the new label in May, many products will.

"The new label will make it much easier for people to choose foods that fit into a heart-healthy diet," says Jerry Lacy, M.D., president of AHA's Kentucky Affiliate. "Shoppers will be able to quickly compare products side-by-side to find the amounts of fat, cholesterol, sodium and other nutrients in a standard serving of those products. The AHA is very excited about the new label because we've been so involved with the development of the food labeling regulations."

The AHA worked with a coalition of 20 health and consumer groups, urging congress to pass the Nutrition Labeling and Education Act of 1990 and then worked with the FDA and the USDA to develop guidelines to improve the nutrition information on food labels.

The new food label usually appears on the back or side of product packages. The label will list key ingredients, including the amounts of total fat, saturated fat, cholesterol, sodium, dietary fiber, sugars and protein per serving.

The label will also list total calories and the number of calories from fat. This information can help consumers limit their total fat intake to no more than 30 percent of calories per day, the AHA recommendations for heart-healthy eating.

"Today, people want to cut down on fat, especially saturated fat and cholesterol, to reduce their risk of heart disease. With the new label, they can see at a glance which food products are low in fat," said Lacy. "And people with high blood pressure who want to stay away from salty foods can find the amount of sodium in an instant. It's good nutrition, made easy."

For consumers who need help determining what constitutes a healthy diet, the label lists the upper limit of fat, cholesterol, sodium and other nutrients you can safely have every day, if you normally eat 2,000 calories. These numbers are called daily values. For example, if your food product package lists the percentage of daily value for total fat as 5 percent, you know you have 95 percent of your daily fat allowance still available. If the package lists the percent of daily value for total fat as 60 percent, you know you have only 40 percent of your daily allowance left.

"The American Heart Association has always recommended a combination of low-fat, low-cholesterol, low-sodium foods for a heart-healthy diet," said Lacy. "No one food will give you everything you need. There is no 'magic' food out there to make you healthy. It's a combination of nutritious food choices that add up to a healthy eating style."

In addition to the new label, the FDA has standardized serving sizes to reflect the typical amounts that people actually eat. And key words, such as "light," "low-fat," "calorie-free" and "low-sodium" have been defined by the government. To make any health claims that imply the product is good for your heart, the product must meet strict guidelines for saturated fat and cholesterol.

The American Heart Association wants to help people learn how to get the most from the new food label through a brochure called, "How to Read the New Food Label." It explains the new label in detail, shows how to read it and defines product claims like "fat-free," "low-sodium" and "low-cholesterol."

For more information on the new food label awareness and education program, contact the American Heart Association, Kentucky Affiliate at 502/587-8641 or call 1-800-AHA-USA1.

Local health department campaigns to fight childhood hunger

The Floyd County Health Department is launching a campaign to combat childhood hunger. The campaign is designed to provide information to parents about nutrition and the availability of federal food programs.

Hunger is common among children in Kentucky. According to a recent study by the Tufts University Center on Hunger, Poverty and Nutrition Policy, Kentucky had the 7th highest rate of childhood hunger in the nation. This study finds 25 percent of Kentucky children are hungry or at risk of hunger, compared with 18 percent in the United States as a whole. Hunger among Kentucky children is related to the high percentage of children who live in poverty.

"Our goal is to let the community know that child hunger is a problem and that there is help available for families," said Cheryl Younce, WIC Coordinator for the Floyd County Health Department. "There are a lot of food programs available, including Food Stamps, school meals and of course the WIC Program," said Younce.

Many families are unaware they are eligible for the WIC Program. The WIC Program is a federally funded supplemental food program for pregnant and breast feeding women, infants and children up to 5 years of age. The goals of the WIC Program are to improve the outcome of high patterns, and to improve the dietary habits of its recipients.

Participants receive basic health assessment and must be certified by a health professional to be at nutritional risk. Participants receive nutritional counseling along with food instruments (vouchers) which may be redeemed at local grocery stores. Foods which are available are milk, eggs, cheese, juices high in Vitamin C, iron fortified cereals, dried beans or peas, peanut butter, infant formula and breastfeeding women now may receive tuna and raw carrots.

Younce also stated that some people do not realize that if they have been on the WIC program before, but were taken off when they were no longer at nutritional risk, that they may apply for the program again.

If you think you are eligible or if you know someone who is eligible for the program, please call 886-02788 for an appointment.

Graduation at Alice Lloyd College set for May 14

In 1982, Alice Lloyd College became a four-year institution. On Saturday, May 14, the 12th graduating class will cross the graduation stage and receive their diplomas.

In keeping with the tradition of teaching excellence held by ALC, the majority of this year's graduates are education majors. In addition to the strengths of the education program at Alice Lloyd, other humanities and science programs have blossomed in recent years. Other graduates specialize in Biology, History, English, Business Administration, and Accounting. Nearly all of the 60 graduates are from Kentucky.

Emanuel L. McCall, pastor of the Christian Fellowship Baptist Church in College Park, Georgia, is this year's Baccalaureate speaker. Dr. McCall, a faculty member of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, also served for 23 years on the executive staff of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Speaker for the Commencement service is Alice Lloyd's own Jim Bergman. Bergman, who has been with the college for 19 years, began as Dean of Students and currently works as Assistant to the President. Next year, Mr. Bergman and his wife, Betty, will be returning to Irvine, although Bergman will continue to travel across the United States visiting Alice Lloyd alumni and donors.

Baccalaureate service will be held at 10:00 a.m. with the Commencement ceremony following at 1:00 p.m.

In 1994, the average monthly Social Security retirement benefit is $674. The average disability benefit is $641.

Lactose intolerance? Here are some helpful hints

For some people, drinking milk or eating milk products can be the prelude to misery. They are among those who have lactose intolerance.

"Lactose is the primary carbohydrate in dairy products. Most people are able to digest it because they have a specific enzyme, lactase, that breaks down lactose. However, many people have low levels — or none — of this enzyme," said Sandra Bastin, extension foods and nutrition specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Approximately 70 percent of children worldwide between three and five years of age lose their ability to digest lactose because of lactase deficiency, she said. This is especially true among adults of African, Asian and Mediterranean heritage.

She noted that some population groups, such as Caucasians, maintain their ability to digest lactose throughout life.

Although not consuming milk products will help you avoid the discomfort of bloating, cramping and gas that are symptoms of lactose intolerance, doing so can result in a diet deficient in calcium, Bastin said.

Dairy products are the most important sources of calcium in our diet. It helps build strong bones and teeth and plays other vital roles in the body as well.

Treatment requires that lactose be restricted to a level that does not produce symptoms. This does not mean that you should totally eliminate lactose from your diet if you are lactose intolerant, Bastin said.

Aged cheddar cheese or Swiss cheese, cottage cheese, ice cream and "activated culture" yogurt have less lactose than most other dairy products, she said.

"Lactose intolerant people can usually eat these products without incident," Bastin said.

Whole or chocolate milk usually doesn't cause discomfort because the increased fat and sugar slows digestion. Foods made with milk, such as soups and milkshakes usually do not produce symptoms for most people with lactose intolerance, she said.

Another way to alleviate the problem associated with lactose intolerance is to take enzyme replacement tablets before meals.

Zoological display attracts area residents

"I love this place," said one blond, curly-headed boy of about seven as he passed, wide-eyed, through Dr. John Shiber's zoology lab at Prestonsburg Community College on April 26.

He and about 60 other primary school children—the "KERA Bears"—from Porter Elementary School were on a tour of the lab to learn more about the animal kingdom. More than 100 specimens, representing nearly every major animal group, were on display.

There were shells, such as the nautilus and abalone, along with oysters, scallops, tusk or tooth shells, and endoskeletons of sea dollars, biscuits and urchins. Some were collected by Shiber's animal biology students last fall and this spring.

Also on display were specimens of sawfish teeth, procured from the Arabian Gulf, and a living tarantula with its freshly-molted exoskeleton.

Living lampreys, commonly called "mud eels," collected by Mike Wallace, one of Shiber's students, were also on display. Fossils, including dinosaur skins, teeth, tracks and eggs, decked one of the walls.

The newly-acquainted and delicate "EcoSphere," a complete living ecosystem in a sealed, crystal dome, was on a table—not out of sight, but out of reach, so it will last for several years.

The children looked at flatworms under a microscope and were amazed by the lab's array of hornets' nests, one of which is the largest found, to date, in eastern Kentucky.

Teachers Deborah Ward, Sally Patton, Sean Castle and Deborah Slone received copies of Shiber's natural history articles and hand-outs on different scientific topics to share with students.

While the lab display was open to the public for two days, about 200 PCC students and faculty, school children and others visited. Fifth-graders from Allen Elementary toured the display the following week.

Piarist school drama team brings talent to Floyd County

The scene was set for a night of fun and enjoyment as a crowd gathered at the MCA gym on the evening of April 27. For the eleven cast members and stage crew, many long weeks of practice came together on stage for the Piarist School's first-ever musical production of Charles M. Schultz' "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown".

Backstage hands, under the direction of Matthew Wagner and Jarrod Hunt, a sophomore at the Piarist School, included Brittany Francis, Angie Collins, and Jennifer Young, all of whom are sophomores.

Charlie Brown was very convincingly portrayed by Michael Sanders, a junior. Mike said that as much as he enjoyed the whole play, the best feeling was when it was all over. Lucy, played by Youtha Potter, a sophomore, was a most convincing six-year-old brat. As far as Linus was concerned, knowing the lines was no problem, provided they were not his.

Leigh Ann Blackburn, a.k.a. Snoopy, was most definitely a crowd pleaser with her songbird-like voice and floppy ears. Leigh Ann is a senior at the Piarist School, and plans to attend Transylvania University in the fall. In the words of Marisa Tinder who played Sally, "I have never felt such electric energy as there was backstage when the lights came up and the first sounds of applause could be heard echoing out in front of the stage." As far as Schoeder, played by Robbie Freels, was concerned, worry over the crowd was non-existent because "we couldn't see. The spotlight blinded us!"

"Even though it was a lot of grueling work," remarked Amy Coleman who played Patty, "in the end, it was all worth it."

Also extremely instrumental in the success of the show were Gary Hinkle, Emily Bradley, Pallavi Maddiwar and Deedra Hamilton who played Sherman, the Red-Headed Girl, Violet and Frieda, respectively. They were not only actors and singers, but also backstage hands and prompters.

Cherie Toppins had this to say as the show's musical director, "The kids did an excellent job. Lucy was the epitome of the character and Mike Sanders did an excellent job as well."

In reflecting upon the overall experience, the director, Michelle Stemmler was very proud of the students. "It was wonderful to work with these kids. They've developed tremendously over the last three months and deserve every second of applause they received."

The school hopes to continue its drama program in the years to come and to bring its students' talents to the Floyd County community.

Kentucky's leaders

Pikeville College's Phi Beta Lambda Club will represent Kentucky in six events at the national leadership conference this summer in Anaheim, California. The club won nine awards at the Kentucky Leadership Conference in Louisville this month. Pictured are Treasurer Gary Humberson, President Billy Lowe, Vice-President Marcia Little, and faculty advisor Howard Roberts.

Pikeville College Phi Beta Lambda triumphs at state with four first place awards

The Pikeville College Phi Beta Lambda Club has triumphed again with four first place, two second place, two third place, and a fifth place win at the Kentucky Phi Beta Lambda Spring Leadership Conference in Louisville, Ky. The awards qualify them for the national competition this summer in Anaheim, California. This marks the club's third year in a row to represent Kentucky at the national leadership conference.

The first place awards went to Gary Humberson, Marcia Little, and Billy Lowe for their American Enterprise Project; to Lowe and Little for their Local Chapter Annual Business Report; to Humberson, Little and Lowe for Partnership with Business (the club won first place in both the state and the nation in this category last year); and to Little for Computer Concepts. Second place went to Eddie Bradley for Chapter Newsletter and to the entire chapter for Outstanding Chapter in Kentucky; third place went to Humberson, Little, and Lowe for their Community Service Project and to Lowe and Lewis Ratliff for their Chapter Scrapbook; fifth place went to Bradley in Public Speaking. Pikeville College was also awarded the Gold Seal Chapter of Merit and Lowe was recognized for Who's Who in Kentucky PBL.

In addition to the academic competitions, the three-day conference included two general assemblies, a semi-formal ball, a Monte Carlo night and two workshops; Group Dynamics-Diversity led by Gilbert Sison and Meet the Senator with Senator

Mitch McConnell. During the conference, Howard Roberts, faculty adviser, attended adviser workshops, served as a member of the Executive Council of Kentucky PBL and as an event coordinator for the academic events for economics and finance.

According to Roberts, "The achievements of these students are a result of their dedication to the goals and objectives of PBL. These awards, which have consistently been earned by Pikeville College PBL members, provide evidence that students pursuing a degree in business, can become well prepared at Pikeville College for a career in the ever-changing business world."

PBL club members participating in the conference events were: Bradley, Humberson, Senega Justice, Mekdess Ketema, Mark Klinepeter, Little, Lowe, Thomas Rainey, Ratliff, Pam Rowe, and Roberts. Pikeville College PBL Club members will go on to compete in six categories at the national conference in July.

OUTLAWS AND IN-LAWS?

My Grandmother Wheeler always said that she claimed all her kinfolk—outlaws and in-laws. And if you're married, you have in-laws. They go along with the territory. It doesn't matter if you like them or not. They're yours, and you're theirs.

Not unlike a lot of in-laws, my in-laws are different in that they are perfect. Well, almost perfect. I see their flaws when they think I'm not looking. A good example of this occurred this past weekend.

"What are you doing tomorrow, Sara," Bonnie asks me over the telephone.

"We're coming up to your house," I answer immediately. "What are you doing?"

"Oh, I'm just relaxing in the hot tub. I have a ham in the oven, a turkey breast in the crock pot, green beans in the pressure cooker, creamed new potatoes on the stove, and two homemade butterscotch pies cooling on the counter. What are you doing?"

Unfortunately, she caught me off guard. Any other time I would have been able to come up with something more sophisticated like 'taking out the garbage' instead of blurting out, "trying to get the batteries in this nose hair puller thing fixed."

"Oh," she uttered.

"Why are you cooking?"

In that Betty Crocker Home-maker voice she replied, "My family has this weird custom of eating on a regular basis. Daily, actually."

"The boys try to do that, too. We don't always succeed. They might have missed a couple of meals last week, but gee, who's counting?"

When Bonnie didn't answer immediately, I thought she may have gotten the temperature too warm in the hot tub, but in a few seconds she replied, "Excuse me, but Paul just fixed us some fresh squeezed lemonade. It's so refreshing. See you tomorrow. By the way, I've got your mother's afghan finished."

The next morning came earlier than usual. The last meal I'd had them down to our house for was club sandwiches and potato chips. I did fix a cake, but that was nothing compared to homemade pies.

If we hadn't already known the way, we would have been able to locate Bonnie's house by the aromatic smell that emitted from the vicinity of her house. When we reached the house, the lawn was manicured, the windows were glistening, and a newly made homemade wreath was hanging on the door.

"Come in, come in," Bonnie called from the kitchen as we made our entrance. "I was just putting the finishing touches on Paula's new dress. Let me fix you both a plate."

I scanned the house as Bonnie began filling our plates. There were no cobwebs, you could not play tic-tac-toe in the dust on the piano, and her floors were so clean you could have eaten off them. It would have made me sick except then I wouldn't have been able to eat, and I was really in the mood for a home-cooked meal.

"When was the last time you worked?" I asked Bonnie. "I mean, after all, if I had been able to take off work and clean my house would look good, too."

"I work full-time, Sara. You know that."

"Oh, yeah! Guess I forgot."

"But your job isn't stressful. You just go to work and go home don't you?"

"Doesn't everybody that works do that?" she asked.

"Maybe so. It's just that you do everything so well."

"No, I don't. It just seems that way to you because you don't do anything particularly well."

If I hadn't known Bonnie, I would have been offended. Since I knew her so well, I know she meant it. And it doesn't matter because she's got me, and I've got her.

Floyd resident to compete in 1994 Mountain Laurel Festival pageant

LEIGH ANN SMITH

Leigh Ann Smith, daughter of Russell and Sue Smith of Dana, has been selected to represent Pikeville College during the 63rd annual Kentucky Mountain Laurel Festival, May 26-29 in Pineville.

Smith, 21, is a senior majoring in English/secondary education. Her hobbies include acting, writing and tennis. She will be escorted by Roger D. Ford.

The Kentucky Mountain Laurel Festival is Kentucky's oldest festival and a unique event of charm, grace and beauty.

The Queen's coronation will be held in the stunning outdoor amphitheater located in Pine Mountain State Resort Park near Pineville at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 28.

The Kentucky Mountain Laurel Festival is the only pageant in the state where candidates from every Kentucky college and university compete. The Festival is a four-day celebration that includes dances, fireworks, crafts, one of the largest parades in Kentucky and the traditional crowning of the new Queen by the governor.

For more information about the Kentucky Mountain Laurel Festival, call 606-337-6103 or write KMLF, P.O. Box 151, Pineville, Kentucky 40977.

THE LITIGIOUS SOCIETY

—In February, New Mexico state patrolman Norman Martinez filed a lawsuit against a Santa Fe bar and its bouncer for injuries he suffered during an off-duty fight. Martinez is asking additional compensation for his broken nose because he can no longer properly sniff for alcohol on the breaths of drivers.

—Frances Bobnar of Adamsburg, Pa., filed a lawsuit against the Pennsylvania Lottery Commission in March, claiming that she and family members have spent more than $150,000 on lottery tickets during the last 10 years but have never won.

—In November Tom Stafford of Mission Viejo, Calif., won $8,500 in a lawsuit against a local golf course. He hit an errant shot that ricocheted off a steel pole and smacked him in the forehead.

—In February, Bernadette French, 36, won $1.1 million in a lawsuit against the Wilmington (Del.) Hospital. French, who suffers from manic depression, gouged her eyes out and then claimed the hospital staff was negligent in allowing that to happen.

—In March in Louisville, Ky., former paralegal Merrell Williams, 52, added a claim to his disability suit against his former law firm, Wyatt Tarrant & Combs. Though he admitted that a 29-year smoking habit contributed to his heart problems, he also claimed that in the course of working for the firm's tobacco clients, he was "horrified" to learn about complicity between tobacco companies to suppress data on the dangers of smoking and that he suffered stress knowing he had to keep such information secret.

—In January, Emmerson Phillips filed a claim against his employer, the Metropolitan Toronto Housing Authority, after he was turned down for sick leave. Phillips informed his employer that his daughter was getting married the following Sunday, that he intended to get roaring drunk at the reception and would probably have a hangover, and that he thus would be taking sick leave on Monday. The employer refused to grant the sick leave, but a local arbitration panel ruled in his favor.

—In September, Bob Jones of Berkshire, England, filed a claim for about $1,200 with his insurance company for a loss he suffered during a power blackout. The body of his parrot, Polly, which was recently killed by Jones' dog, had been kept in the family freezer for posterity, but during the blackout, Polly thawed and decomposed.

NAMES FROM HELL

—In a July story on odd names in England, the Wall Street Journal reported on the plight of a women's scholarly organization in the town of Ugley. Said spokesperson Irene Camp, "We try to call ourselves the Women's Institute of Ugley, but it never sticks."

—In November, there was a malfunction in the new telephone system in the public library in Edmonton, Alberta, which ordinarily would permit a machine to dial up a customer and announce by synthesized voice that requested materials were ready to be picked up. The system, which is referred to by its acronym, is the Electronic Library Voice Information System.

—Among recent names in the news: operator of a suicide hotline in Amsterdam—Jan Hilarius; Ph.D. candidate in demography at the University of California, Berkeley—Long Wang; New Orleans writer—Quo Vadis Gexbreaux; co-creator of a just-released map of the Georgetown section of Washington, D.C.—Outerbridge Horsey; Mansfield, La., jailer recently suspended after being accused of buying crack cocaine—Billy Blow; Columbia, Mo., man sentenced to three years in prison in January for sexually abusing a 7-year-old boy—Fred Rogers.

LEAST COMPETENT CRIMINAL

Fargo, N.D., police reported that late in the evening on April 9, a person stole a car and tried to get past a quagmire of mud and water on a road but became stuck. That person then stole another car three blocks away and tried to pass through the same mess, again becoming stuck. He or she then stole a pickup truck a block away and tried yet another pass through. All three vehicles were found the next morning firmly stuck in the mud.

UNDIGNIFIED DEATH

In March, George William Corrao, 41, was charged in the shotgun death of his mother in Milwaukee. According to police, while the two were watching television, Corrao became agitated because she was talking incessantly about Olympic skater Dan Jansen.

Poperri

by Scott Perry

If you are among the growing crowd of sensible people who think Brussels sprouts are some sort of cruel vegetarian joke, we've got some advice for you.

You better just watch your mouth.

Particularly if you happen to think Florida-raised Brussels sprouts are especially offensive.

See, it is now against the law to badmouth Florida produce.

No kiddin'.

The Florida legislature has actually passed a law that permits state produce growers to sue anyone who publicly says the state's fruits, vegetables or other perishable food products are no good, if the claim can't be backed up with scientific evidence.

To paraphrase an infamous dead politician, you don't have lima beans to kick around anymore.

Nosirree.

Not in Florida, anyhow.

Don't know if the legislative language police thought about it, but the new law will most certainly require expansion of the state's juvenile courts just to handle all the disparaging remarks kids make every time some eat-a-green-thing parent shoves a plate of spinach under their noses.

Reminds us of the story about the lumberjacks, who had a rule that anyone caught complaining about the cooking had to do the job until someone else griped.

One lumberjack, who was a particularly good cook, couldn't get rid of the duty because no one would complain about his cooking.

So, he decided to force the issue.

He went out into the woods, gathered up a healthy supply of moose, er, stuff, and baked it up in a pie.

At dinner that evening, a co-worker dug in to the concoction, took one bite and bellowed...

"HOLY @#%&^* PIE!!!"

Remembering that such an outburst would exile him to the role of cook, he quickly added...

"BUT I LOVE IT."

The relevance of that story to the Florida badmouthing law is plain and simple...

Amendment is repentance.

Who is a wise man? He who learns from all men.

"Yer out!"

Harold Dodger Kyle Potter couldn't believe that he was called out on this play at the plate in Little League action last Tuesday evening at the Stumbo Park. Potter had just singled, stolen second and tried to score on a base hit. He was called out on a very close play at the plate as catcher Mitch Williams put the tag on him. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Allen Central remains undefeated at Pikeville

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The Allen Central Ridge Runners like the Bob Amos Park in Pikeville where the Pikeville track and field meet is held twice each week.

The Ridge Runners claimed their sixth victory at Pikeville this past Tuesday in six tries to remain undefeated there. Allen Central placed fifth at Clay County and fourth at Shelby County this past weekend for its only non-first place finishes.

Allen Central scored 132 points to beat out Pikeville for first place. The Panthers had a total of 114 points. Belfry took third and South Floyd finished fourth out of 12 teams.

Kevin Stumbo continued to dominate the triple jump and the 800-meters, but slipped some in the pole vault. Stumbo took first place in the triple jump with a leap of 39 feet. Stumbo's winning jump came on his final try of the evening.

"The other guy had him down and he had to do it on the last jump," said Allen Central coach Dewey Jamerson.

Gary Webb took sixth place in the triple jump at 35 feet 4 inches.

Stumbo was the top finisher in the men's 800-meter dash. His time of 2:14.08 gave him first place in an event that he runs so well. Todd Howard placed fifth for Allen Central at 2:34.99.

Stumbo, who is in his first year in pole vault, slipped to a second place finish by clearing the bar at 9 feet 6 inches.

Shawn Robinson placed first in the men's discus, another event that Allen Central had dominated. Levi Wells placed fourth overall. No distances were noted.

In the shot put, Allen Central took fourth and sixth place in scoring points. Wells took fourth place at 39 feet. Samons threw for 36 feet 9 inches.

Chris Halbert placed second in the men's long jump with a leap of 19 feet. Webb did not place at 16 feet 7 inches.

Halbert took fifth place in the high jump. He cleared the bar at 5 feet 6 inches.

In the track events, the Allen Central 1600-meter relay team finished first as it set a new school record with a time of 3:52.03. The foursome included Mike Elzokari, Halbert, Estill Stumbo and Kevin Stumbo.

"This team has surprised me," said Coach Jamerson. "Not so much as last year's team did, because they won a regional title. But at the half way point they are running a 1:46 and I'm getting excited. It was a very good run for them."

It was a second place finish for the Ridge Runners' 400-meter relay team. The foursome of Trevor Fitch, Halbert, Jason Samons and Curtis Webb ran a 48.80 for second place and their fastest time of the year.

"They were very excited about it," Jamerson said. "Chris Halbert said to me, 'Felt good today.'"

Shawn Amburgey ran his personal best and helped the 3200-meter relay team capture second place. The foursome of Amburgey, Elzokari, Jay Harvey and Todd Howard posted a time of 9:53.05 for second place.

Lady Rebels tune up for regional meet at Breathitt County

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The Allen Central girls' track and field team found itself in a very unusual position last Tuesday night at Pikeville.

That unusual position was a fourth place finish in a meet it has run so well in all season long.

Coach Dewey Jamerson tried to explain his team's low finish (even though they placed fourth out of 12 teams) without sounding like he was making excuses.

"We just had some out sick," he said. "In two events we have no one to compete in them."

The Allen Central coach also had to run Lisa Stumbo in an event that she had never competed in before,

(See Lady Rebels, B 2)

Estill Stumbo, who won last week's hurdles meet, had to settle for a fourth place finish in the 110 hurdles, but did take second place in the 300.

Jason Samons placed sixth overall with a time of 12.06 in the men's 100-meter dash. Trevor Fitch and

South Floyd girls wrap up sixth meet with win at Pikeville; regionals next

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

South Floyd girls' track and field coach Keith Smallwood knew last year (at Wheelwright) that putting together a girls' track and field squad would be difficult and how well it would compete was uncertain. However, at the urging of the kids, Smallwood accepted the task of forming the school's program and just wanted to have fun.

"We did," he said of last year. "We knew we couldn't compete against the more experienced teams and we didn't have the numbers to compete in all the events."

That was last year at Wheelwright. Consolidation has brought a whole new program at South Floyd with Smallwood returning to head up the program that he began last year.

"I picked up a paper from last season," said Smallwood. "I saw where we scored in a meet 20 points. Twenty points. Then, in another one we had scored 47. We were improving."

In 1994, it was to be all together different. The Lady Raiders are undefeated in six meets this season, after winning their sixth straight at Pikeville Tuesday evening.

"This is the best bunch of kids that I have ever coached," said Smallwood. "They are the best ever that I have worked with."

Lori Tackett and Tiffany Compton continue to put a smile on their coach's face. Tackett and Compton have been the catalyst in the field events for South Floyd this season.

Tackett took first place in the girls' discus with her toss of 88 feet 11 inches. The way Tackett has been performing this season, Smallwood says that she has a shot at the state meet.

"Lori has a great shot at the state meet," he said. "She should go out of the regional. But I also expect her to place high in the state meet."

Compton, just a sophomore, has not only a shot at the state meet, but a state championship in the shot put, according to her coach.

"Tiffany has a great future at South Floyd and beyond in the shot," said Smallwood. "She will be a high state finalist with an outside shot at a state title."

Compton won the Pikeville meet in the shot with a toss of 31 feet 6 inches, well below what she is capable of throwing. Compton finished second to Tackett in the discus with a throw of 83 feet 10 inches.

Misty Shepherd took part in the shot put with a throw of 23 feet 11 inches.

Carrie Miller, Jeanene Fields and Jennifer Holbrook competed in the women's high jump.

Krystal Isaac, another Lady Raider with a chance at a state berth, took second place in the women's high jump. Isaac cleared the bar at 4 feet 7 inches. Teammate Susan Stephens was measured at 4 feet 3 inches for fourth place.

"It was the first time ever that Susan high jumped," said Coach Smallwood. "She did very well for the first time."

In the women's 100-meters, Jada Hall and Cassie Hall did not place, although they did compete. Tackett took third place in the women's 200-meters. Tackett had a time of 30.07. Jada Hall and Holbrook also ran the event.

Isaac and Stephens took second and third in the women's 400-meters with Jenny Meade finishing fifth. Isaac ran the course in 1:08.95 while Stephens was close behind with 1:10.85.

Isaac continued to pile up the points for the Lady Raiders by finishing second in the women's 800-meters. Isaac was clocked at 2:45. Melenda Wilson also ran the race, but did not place. Margret Morgan was a participant in the women's mile run (1600).

The 400-meter relay team of South Floyd, comprised of Fields, Jada Hall, Jane Hall and Cassie Hall, was an impressive second with a time of 57.30 without the presence of Tonda Floyd, who, according to Coach Smallwood, is the most improved distance runner that he has.

"She has really improved since the start of the year," he said. "She was sick and could not make the meet."

The 1600-meter relay team also finished in second place. Stephens, Isaac, Meade and Newman finished the run in 4:59.35.

A second 1600-meter relay team competed, although it was not eligible to place. Carletha Tramble, Nee Mee Oden, Sarah Slone and Misty McCray ran the mile relay in 6:05.14.

Fields placed fourth in the women's 100-meter hurdles and took third in the 300. She had a time of 19.79 in the 100 and ran a 59.37 in the 300. Jane Hall ran in both events, but did not place.

In the two-mile relays (3200), the team of Kelly Miller, Olivia Stewart, Jessica Reed and Sarah Boyd ran a 15:34.36 for third place.

Tackett, Heather Little, Holbrook and Jada Hall finished second in the women's 800-meter relays with a time of 2:04.54.

Coach Smallwood says that he is pleased with the way his team has responded this season.

"We have improved through the year in almost everything we have done," he said. "But what pleases me more is that they want to be better."

South Floyd was late in arriving at Pikeville Tuesday night and had to skip out of some of the field events which cost them points, but the Left Beaver school scored 114 points in winning the meet.

"We thought it was going to come down to us and Allen Central," Smallwood stated. "At the midway point, I looked at the score and we were leading Allen Central by 12 points. Then Pikeville and Fleming-Neon slipped in there."

"Our girls were really looking forward to going head-to-head against Allen Central," he said.

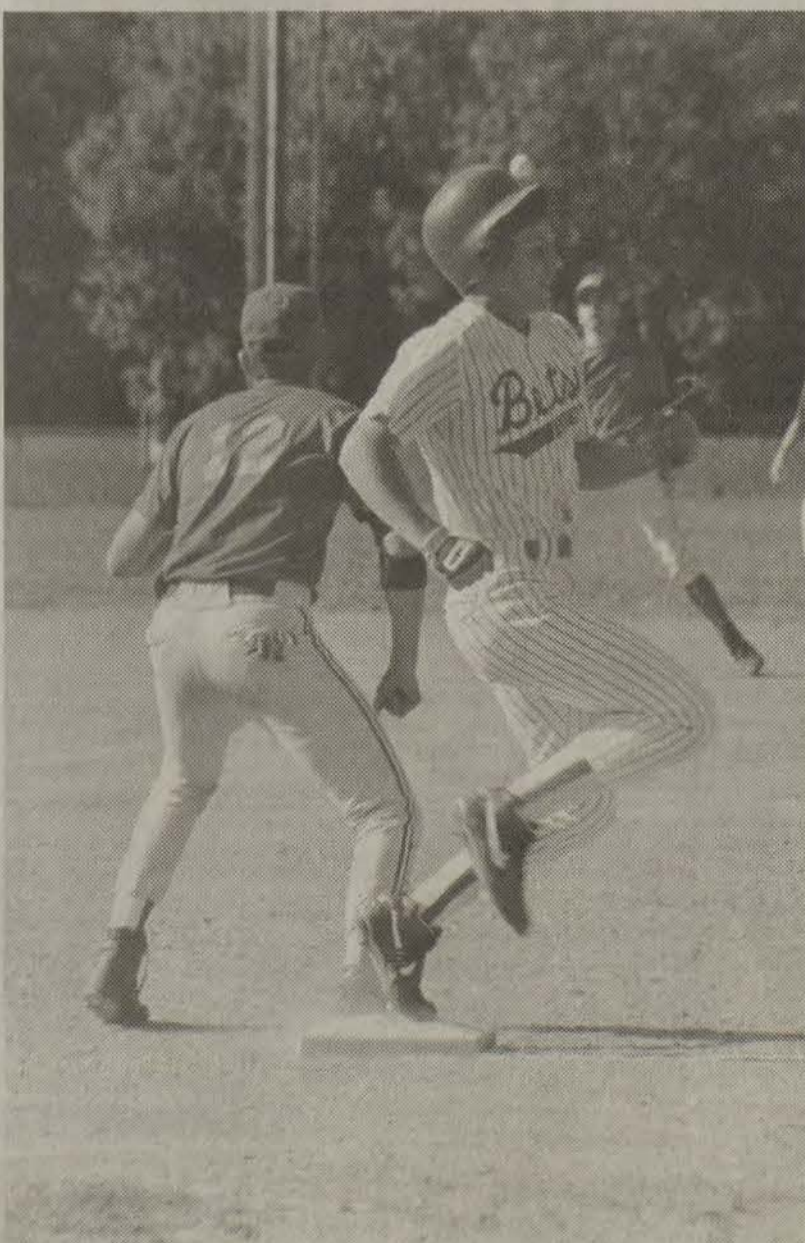

With the regional meets scheduled for next week, Smallwood says that his relay teams have looked much better of late.

"We're definitely looking better," he said. "We have a shot at getting out of the regionals. We're not looking bad at all."

The South Floyd coach said last Tuesday's Pikeville meet was the best meet the team had been in all year. Twelve teams gathered at the Bob Amos Park in an effort to fine tune their performances before next week's regionals.

"It was a heck of a meet. The best one of the year. The competition was very good," he said.

South Floyd will travel to Russell a week from today for the regional preliminaries and the finals will take place Saturday, May 21.

Castle's slam, six RBIs highlight Bobcat victory

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

Betsy Layne head coach Junior Newsome saw his Bobcats score seven times in the sixth inning for an 11-3 win over the Prestonsburg Blackcats Wednesday night at Archer Park. The win gave the Bobcats the Floyd County Conference championship with a perfect 6-0 mark.

Freshman Brandon Castle hit his fifth home run of the year in the sixth inning, and it was a big one. The second baseman came to bat with the bases loaded and cleared the bags with the grand slam.

Shannon Newsome picked up the win in going the distance for Betsy Layne. He allowed Prestonsburg the three runs on seven hits. He struck out six and walked three.

Derrick Newsome continued his torrid hitting, collecting three hits and scoring three times. Castle had three base hits and collected six RBIs.

Keith Hamilton reached on an error to start the Bobcats' sixth when his fly ball was dropped in left field. Derrick Newsome singled and Chris Potter reached when his sacrifice bunt was misplayed to load the bases. Castle then reached the fences for a home run.

An error at first off the bat of Barry Clark, who stole second and moved to third on a wild pitch, allowed Greg Hunter to pick up a RBI with a base hit. Shawn Ousley then doubled home Shawn Rose (pinch running for Hunter), who had stolen second. Ousley scored on a single by Hamilton, who was batting for the second time in the inning.

Betsy Layne led 2-0 after the first inning. Derrick Newsome opened with a double and scored on Castle's one out single. He came home on Hunters' base hit.

Clark scored in the third inning for a 3-0 game. He walked and later scored when Willie Meade drew a bases loaded walk from Allen.

Prestonsburg plated two runs in the bottom of the third to make it a one run game at 3-2. Seth Hyden the 3200-meter relays. The result was that she got sick and did not perform well in the 100 and 300-meter hurdles, her two strongest events.

"It was new to her," said the Allen Central coach. "It made her sick and caused her not to run so well in the hurdles. She will not do that again. She is more important to us in the hurdles."

Stumbo has been one of the region's top female hurdle runners, but because she could not compete in the two events, Allen Central lost points.

Pam Goble, however, did compete in the two events, finishing a strong fifth in the 100 while not placing in the 300. Heather Conley also ran the 300 hurdles.

Allen Central, because of the absence of Crystal Floyd, did not have an entrant in the women's 100-meter dash.

Elisha Ousley took fourth place in the 400-meter dash with a time of 1:11.95. Dreama Isaac did not place at 1:16.28.

Annie Harvey had a personal best in the women's 800-meter run. Harvey posted a time of 2:45.26 for third place. Fifth place went to Crystal Martin at 2:56.59.

Greta Halbert and Jessica Slone ran the women's 200-meter dash, but did not place.

Mary Baldrige placed fourth in the grueling 3200-meter run. She had her personal best time of 15:28.

In the relays, the 800-meter relay team took fourth place with a time of 2:06.08. Again, the team had to run without Floyd.

The 400-meter relay team ran a 1:02.03 for fourth place which was two seconds off their normal time.

Isaac, Crystal Martin, Ousley and Nikki Queen placed third overall in the women's 1600-meter relays.

In the field events, Queen took fourth place in the women's long jump with a leap of 13 feet 7 inches. Nicole Clark did not place at 12 feet 6 inches.

Melissa Mullins had two third place finishes in the discus and shot put. Mullins threw for 25 feet 10 inches in the shot and had a throw of 83 feet 6 inches in the discus — a distance she needs to continue, according to Jamerson.

"The last couple of meets she has been throwing in the high 70s or low 80s and she needs to stay there for the regionals," he said.

"Now, how did he call a strike?" Allen Central's Jeremy Hall was puzzled at a called third strike. Allen Central faced the Betsy Layne Bobcats in conference action last Tuesday evening. The Bobcats posted a 9-1 win over the Rebels. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Betsy Layne splits with Millard Lady Mustangs

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The Millard Lady Mustangs are one of the top ranked teams in the state in women's high school softball, but that didn't phase the Betsy Layne Lady Cats in the first game of a doubleheader earlier this week.

Betsy Layne took the first game of the twin bill, 11-3, but was shutout in the nightcap, 4-0.

The Lady Cats collected 16 hits in the first game led by Jessica Johnson's three hit effort. Boyd had three RBIs and was perfect at the plate with two hits.

Betsy Layne scored five times in the sixth inning and held the Lady Mustangs to a single run in the seventh for the win.

Millard led 1-0 after the first inning when Jennifer Baldrige scored an unearned run thanks to three Betsy Layne errors.

The Lady Cats made it 2-1 with two in their half of the inning. A leadoff single by pitcher Heather Keathley and a double by Johnson made it 1-1. Johnson scored the go ahead run on an error at shortstop off the bat of Shanna Clark.

Dawn Watson scored in the second inning after leading off with a base hit. She came in to score on Boyd's RBI hit to make it 3-1.

Keathley stopped the Lady Mustangs in the second and third innings, while her team plated three more runs in the third for a 6-1 game. A leadoff single by Johnson and Misty Clark's one out single set the stage for Christy Osborne's two-run double. Ashley Tackett drove in Osborne.

Millard got their second run in the fourth on a leadoff double by Christy Little, who scored on a fielder's choice.

In the five run sixth for Betsy Layne, Melenda Hamilton had a leadoff single to start the sixth. Watson and Rachael Thompson followed with a pair of hits to load the bases. Boyd then picked up two RBIs with a double. She scored on Johnson's two out single and Shanna Clark doubled her home for the 11-2 score. Millard got their final run in the seventh.

"We just couldn't hit," was the way Betsy Layne coach Cassandra Akers summed up her team's effort in the 4-0 shutout of game two.

Millard scored all the runs it needed in the first inning when two runs crossed home plate. Baldrige and Colley scored for the Lady Mustangs.

The first five batters for Betsy

Layne were retired before Tackett singled with two out in the second.

Millard added a run in the third and one in the fifth for the win. Betsy Layne managed only two hits — one each by Osborne and Tackett — as it failed to solve the pitching of the Lady Mustangs.

Three Lady Cat liners, that looked to be hits, were picked off by Millard. Betsy Layne continued to beat the ball into the ground keeping the Millard infield working.

Betsy Layne committed five errors in the game, giving Millard two unearned runs.

The victory and loss combination ran Betsy Layne's record to 17-6 on the season.

Betsy Layne is scheduled to complete its regular season with a trip to Pikeville tonight. The district tournament will get underway Monday with the site still undecided.

Todd Samons also ran in the event. Amburgey placed fourth in the mile run (1600-meters) with a time of 5:32.88. Jay Harvey and Todd Howard also ran the event.

Elzokari scored eight points for his team with a second place finish in the 400-meter dash. He had a time of 58.81. Curtis Webb ran it in 1:00.88.

Trevor Fitch and Jason Samons ran in the 200-meter dash, but neither placed.

Amburgey ran another personal best with a time of 11:52.31 in the men's two-mile run (3200-meters) for fourth place. John Goble and Jackie Owens ran in the event also.

"We ran a strong meet," said Jamerson of his kids effort. "The kids were somewhat disappointed with their times, but we ran well. We remain undefeated at Pikeville."

Allen Central opens regional competition at Breathitt County on Thursday. The finals will be held Saturday.

Swiger powers Allen Astros past Dodgers

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The Allen Astros put together a complete game as they defeated the rival Harold Dodgers 12-9 in Little League play at the Allen Park last Tuesday.

Aaron Swiger became a one-man gang as he collected three hits and drove in four runs to lead the hit parade of the Astros.

Bradley Brooks, Josh Meade and Robert Rose had two hits each for the Dodgers.

Alvin Reed picked up the win in going the distance. He struck out 10 batters while walking three.

Chase Gibson took the loss for the Dodgers. He struck out seven and walked eight while hitting one batter.

Swiger had two RBIs in each of the first and second innings. He doubled home two runs in the first and had a two-run single in the second. He also collected his third hit in the fourth inning.

Josh Meade drilled a two-run home run in the first inning for the Dodgers. Brooks, who had singled, scored ahead of him. The blast gave the Dodgers a 2-0 lead.

Allen plated three runs in the first to take a 3-2 lead. Two runs scored on Swiger's double. He scored on an error.

J.R. Conn came home on an error in the second for the Dodgers to tie the game at 3-3.

Four runs touched home plate in the second for the Astros for a 7-3 game. All four runs scored after two were out. Gibson got the first two on strikes, but walked the next four to force in one run. Swiger struck again with a two run single.

Conn tripled to start the Dodgers fourth and scored on Rose's RBI double. Rose scored the second run of the inning for Harold.

Leading 7-6, Allen dented the plate for three more in the fourth. Nick Spears had an RBI single for the Astros.

Meade doubled home a run in the fifth for the Dodgers, scoring Brooks, who had reached on an error.

Reed had a two run single in the Astros fifth to complete the Allen scoring.

walked with two out and Jambo Jarrell collected his second hit of the game. Hyden scored on an error at shortstop after Prestonsburg loaded the bases.

It was 4-2 after the top of the fourth. Derrick Newsome singled, stole second and scored when Castle got his second base hit and second RBI.

Betsy Layne scored their final run in the fifth on a base hit by Jarrell, his third, and Cory Reitz's RBI single. Robbie Rinser had singled ahead of Reitz.

Jarrell collected four hits in the game that included two doubles.

Allen suffered the loss for the Blackcats in going the distance. He walked three batters and did not strike anyone out.

Betsy Layne will face fourth place South Floyd in the first round of the 58th District Tournament Monday at Stumbo Park. Game time is set for 5:30 p.m.

Prestonsburg, who finished in a tie for second with Allen Central, will take on the Rebels Tuesday at 5:30 p.m.

Newsome hurls, bats Bobcats past Allen Central Rebels

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne Bobcats assured themselves of at least a tie for the top spot in the Floyd County Conference baseball standings when they posted a 9-1 win over a strong Allen Central Rebel team Tuesday evening at Allen.

Derrick Newsome was the Bobcat of the day as he collected three hits and went the distance on the mound in picking up the win. Newsome allowed the Rebels the one run while scattering five hits. He fanned five and was in full control, issuing no walks.

Center fielder Scott Ousley blasted his second home run of the year when he led off the Bobcat fifth with a solo round tripper. Keith Hamilton collected two hits for Betsy Layne.

The win improved the Bobcats conference record to 5-0 on the year. Allen Central scored their lone run against Newsome in the fourth inning when Glenn Floyd opened the inning with a base hit. He stole second and scored on Jason Martin's RBI double.

Betsy Layne led 1-0 after the first inning when Newsome opened the game with a base hit. Chris Potter executed perfectly a drag bunt that got past Martin on the mound for a base hit.

After Brandon Castle moved both runners up with a sacrifice, Shannon Newsome walked to load the bases. Barry Clark then lifted a deep drive to right that Floyd gathered in with Newsome tagging up to score. The Bobcats left the bases loaded in the inning after Greg Hunter walked.

Willie Meade scored in the second for Betsy Layne on a sacrifice fly by Potter. Shannon Newsome came around on a fielder's choice off the bat of Ousley.

Two runners came on to score in the Bobcats fourth. Derrick Newsome collected his second hit of the game and Potter reached on a fielder's choice. Castle and Shannon Newsome delivered back-to-back RBI singles.

Ousley's home run to start the fifth made it a 6-1 game and Meade, who had singled, scored on Derrick Newsome's RBI single, his third of the game.

Betsy Layne completed the scoring with two in the sixth when Clark and Hunter scored two unearned runs.

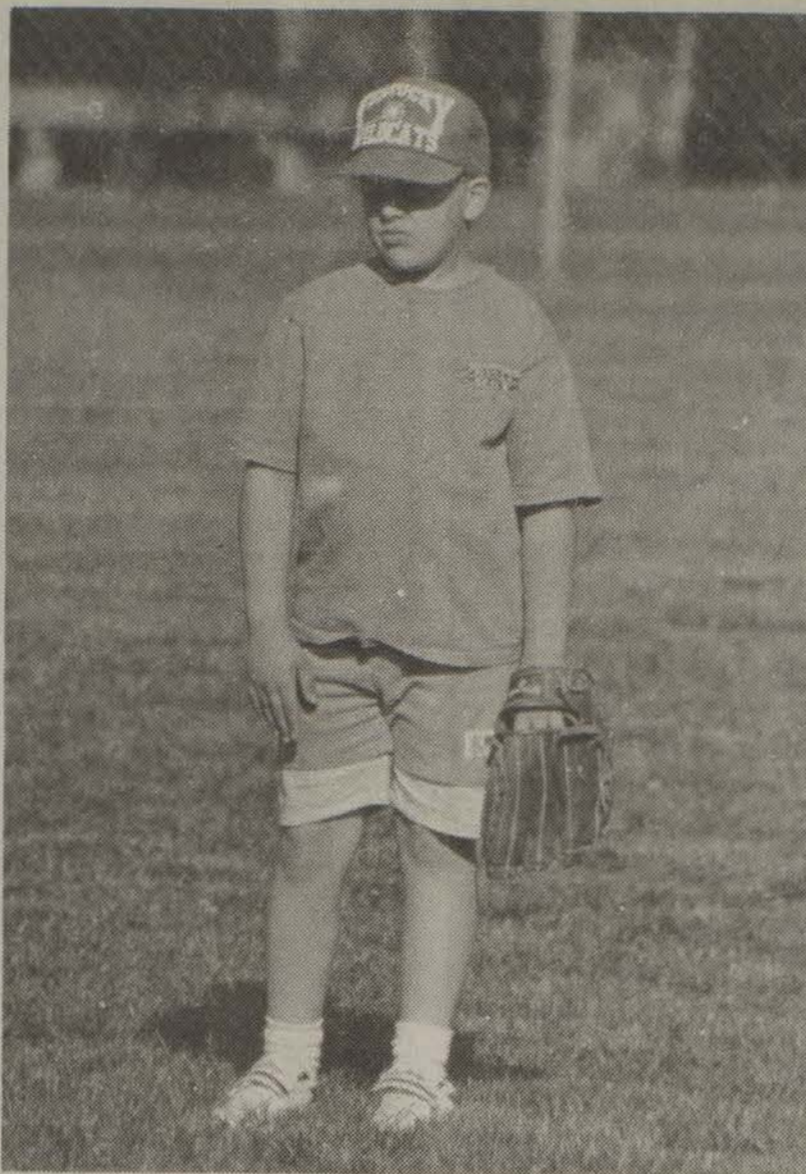

Jason Martin suffered the setback, working the seven innings for the Rebels. He struck out four and walked four.

Newsome retired the first four batters he faced until Kevin Martin singled with one out in the second. Brandon Reed had a third inning double, but was left stranded on base.

Allen Central dropped to 7-10 on the season and 3-3 in the conference. The Rebels will complete their regular season at Pike Central tonight.

Johnson, Clark power Betsy Layne to twin wins over Shelby Valley

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Misty Clark homered in the first game of a twin bill against Shelby Valley and drove in four runs to team with freshman Jessica Johnson in leading the Lady Cats of Betsy Layne to a clean sweep of a doubleheader "on the hill" at Betsy Layne. Johnson also had a home run in the first game.

Betsy Layne won the first game 9-4 and came back in the nightcap to post a 13-4 win.

Clark tripled and singled in the second game with Johnson collecting a double and a triple. Shanna Clark had a three-bagger in the second game. She doubled and singled in game one.

The doubleheader sweep improved the Lady Cats to 19-6 on the season as they remain one of the region's top teams.

Heather Keathley picked up the win in game one with Johnson credited with the win in the second game.

Betsy Layne spotted the Lady Wildcats four runs in the first inning of game one and then roared back with three in their half of the third to take a 5-4 lead. Misty Clark drilled a two run home run after two were out. Keathley had led the third off with a hit and scored ahead of Clark.

Christy Osborne followed Clark with a base hit and Ashley Tackett was safe when her fly ball to right was dropped. Both runners came home on Ashley Bartley's two-run double, her first of two. Bartley had been out with an injured knee and had just returned to the Lady Cats lineup.

Betsy Layne scored their first in the first on Johnson's solo home run.

Betsy Layne added four more runs in the fifth on four consecutive hits. Johnson started the rally with a single. Shanna Clark doubled and both runners scored on Misty Clark's two-run single. Osborne doubled home Clark and she scored on Bartley's second double of the game.

Keathley blanked the Lady Wildcats over the final six innings with Shelby Valley stranding a runner in every inning.

Misty Clark finished the game with four RBIs and Bartley drove in three.

In the second game, Betsy Layne sent 12 batters to the plate in the third inning, scoring eight times to take the 13-4 win in the five inning game.

Johnson doubled to leadoff the Lady Cats' eight run third. Shanna Clark tripled her home and scored on Misty Clark's three-bagger. Osborne then delivered a RBI double with Clark scoring. Tackett followed with a base hit and Bartley lined a single to center scoring Osborne.

Tackett was tagged out when Hamilton bounced to short. Rachael Thompson then roped a RBI single and Boyd followed with a two-run single. She scored on an error in right field.

Johnson had a triple and a double while Shanna Clark and Misty Clark also tripled in the game. All three players had two hits in the game.

The score was tied 1-1 after the first inning, but the Lady Cats led 3-1 after two. Johnson tripled in the first and scored on Shanna Clark's sacrifice fly to tie the game at 1-1.

Shelby Valley's run was unearned on two errors.

Betsy Layne put together a two-run rally in the second and both of those runs were of the unearned variety. Christy Osborne reached on an error at short and Ashley Tackett singled. With one out, Melinda Hamilton's grounder to short got through and Osborne scored. Tackett scored on an error at second base.

Blackburn hammered a home run in the third inning for Shelby Valley's second run.

Misty Clark singled to start the fourth for the Lady Cats. Tackett was safe on an error and both runners ran home when Hamilton's ground ball was misplayed at short.

Shelby Valley scored a run in the fourth and one in the fifth.

Hall homers as Drift Astros sweep two; Slone whiffs 15

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Drift Astros is expected to have a strong Little League season as the Beaver Creek Little League opened their season this past Monday.

The Astros pinned two losses on two Martin teams this week, winning over the Reds 7-6 and then defeating the Braves 25-2 in a game called after four innings.

Against the Reds, the Astros scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to erase a 6-5 Reds' lead. Byron Hall blasted a home run in the inning to tie the game at 6-6. Jimmy Lee Stumbo followed Hall with a triple.

Gradon Allen and Jimmy Bailey were intentionally passed to load the bases, setting up a force at home plate. But nine-year-old Adam Moore had other thoughts as he lined a pitch in the gap for the game winning RBI, scoring Stumbo.

Martin had taken a 6-4 lead with three runs in the top of the fourth. After Fields reached on a base hit, Larry Mullins walked and an error at first base loaded the bags. Chris Damron bounced one in the infield that was misplayed to score Fields and Mullins. Damron scored the third run of the inning.

The Astros led 3-1 after the first inning, but the Reds scored a single run in the second and third to tie the game at 3-3. John Mullins hit a home run in the Astros' half of the third for a 4-3 lead.

Joe Skeans singled to start the Drift fourth and scored on Bret Slone's triple to make it a 6-5 game.

Slone picked up the win striking out 15 Reds' batters. He walked five. Henry Napier took the loss for Martin. He allowed the Reds only one hit.

Stumbo had three hits for the Astros, two being triples. Slone also tripled for the Astros.

Against the Braves, Allen collected two doubles and drove in five runs as the Astros won easily over Martin.

Skeans was on the mound for the Astros with his white hair blowing with the breeze. He went the full four innings striking out eight batters.

"It is the first time that he has ever pitched," said Astros manager Clinis Hall. "He was the man of the mountain and went to work."

The Astros scored 10 times in the second and plated nine in the fourth, when the game was called with Drift winning 25-2.

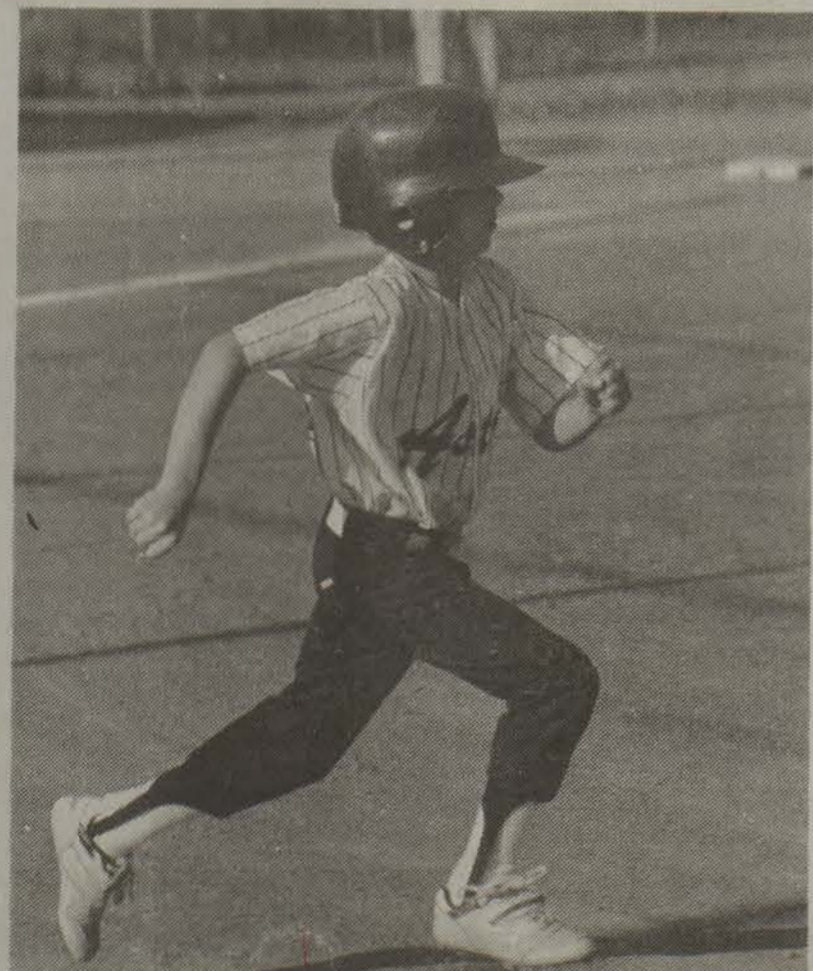

John Mullins was out for the Braves' game with a knee injury.

"That has hurt us," said Hall. "He swings a big bat. He's also a hard thrower."

Hall feels his team's strength is the pitching staff that he has this season.

"I think we have two of the best pitchers in the league," he said.

Hall, Stumbo, and Allen all had two hits for the Astros. Brent Slone had a third inning triple.

Brandon Spencer Times Manager of the Year

A basketball, football or even a baseball team is successful because a team works hard together and puts in many hours of practice during the course of a season.

But behind the scenes and getting very little recognition is the team's manager. Getting this, getting that and going here and going there to see that the team has its needed supplies.

Hardly is there a thank you from the players or the coaches, yet the manager just goes on and does his job.

There are many good managers in the county but Allen Central's Brandon Spencer gets our vote as the Floyd County Times "Manager of the Year."

His constant hard work during the basketball season, as well as during the baseball schedule, makes him an excellent candidate for the honor.

BRANDON SPENCER

58th District Baseball Tournament begins Monday

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne Bobcats will carry a perfect 6-0 conference record into the 58th District baseball tournament Monday at the Allen Park and also a favorite's role in repeating as district champions.

But there are three other teams out there that feel, with some breaks, they could be the new champions.

The Bobcats, lodged in one of their worst hitting slumps three weeks ago, appears to have found sight of the baseball in their final three games.

Derrick Newsome is on a tear with the bat, collecting seven hits in his last two games since he has been moved to the leadoff spot. Newsome is the third player to hold that spot and seems to be the natural for it.

Another one that has been on a hitting binge lately is freshman Brandon Castle. Castle, hitting third, has been making the best contact that he has all year.

The pitching staff of the Bobcats is also going to be tough for district opponents to handle. Shannon Newsome, Barry Clark, Derrick Newsome, Greg Hunter and Castle are capable of beating anyone in the region.

The strongest point for the Bobcats will be in the strength of their head coach Junior Newsome, who continues to field a team that is consistently a challenger for a regional title. The veteran coach has been more daring this season, asking the power hitters to lay down a few bunts. The move has been a plus for the Bobcats as it will help them in the tournament when it is needed to move runners up.

The best with the move is in short-stop Chris Potter. Potter has a knack of putting the ball just where it is needed in order to move up the runners.

Power comes from the right side for the Bobcats in Shannon Newsome, Clark, Castle and now Scott Ousley. Ousley has been stinging the baseball of late and reaching the fences.

ALLEN CENTRAL STILL A THREAT...

While Betsy Layne carries the favorite's role, the Allen Central Rebels will have much to say about who takes the crown this year.

Off to a very slow start, coach Jackie Pack and assistant Don Hansford have molded this team into a contender, not only for a district crown, but regional as well.

Jason Martin, when he is getting his breaking ball over, is as about a tough of a pitcher any team would want to face. The big right-hander likes to mix his pitches and uses the off-speed stuff to set up the hitter for his fast one.

Glenn Floyd is a stalwart in the rotation. The hard thrower seems to be the Jose Rijo of the high school scene, receiving no offensive support.

Throw in a much improved Austin Shelton and you have three pitchers who can get the job done.

At the plate there is an abundance of talent lying in the bats of Kevin Allen, Todd Bingham, Kevin Martin and Roy John Martin as well as the above mentioned pitchers.

This is a good Allen Central ballclub that will challenge the Bobcats.

PRESTONSBURG NOT TO BE TAKEN LIGHTLY...

Prestonsburg coach Russell Shepherd finds himself with a team that is very much inexperienced. But there probably is not a team that plays as have a very balanced team.

Other teams in the district include

Allen Central, South Floyd, Magoffin County, Paintsville, Johnson Central and Sheldon Clark. The district has no conference for seeding purposes.

While, as of press time, the location of the women's district softball tournament is unknown, it will get underway this Monday evening.

A meeting is scheduled to be held at Betsy Layne, the host school, this Sunday at 3 p.m. to determine where to play the classic.

The Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats are the tournament's defending champions, but coach Bridget Clay lost a lot from last year's championship team and is in a rebuilding season.

In only their third year of existence, Coach Cassandra Akers' Betsy Layne Lady Cats are no doubt the odds on favorite to take the tournament this year.

The Lady Cats sport a sparkling 19-6 record (as of press time) and hard as the Blackcats.

A good young ballclub that has a good future ahead. Three seniors start in the opening card lineup and the rest are promising young players.

Cory Reitz, John Stout and Seth Hyden grace the lineup and all three are legitimate baseball players.

Reitz, a solid contact hitter who possesses good speed, shares the pitching duties when he is not in center field.

Hyden, a late comer to the game two years ago, is a strong leadoff man. Hyden plays third base and has excellent bat control.

Stout has been used primarily as the team's designated hitter although he does play some in the outfield. Stout, who sprays the ball to all parts of the field, is a very hard player to get out, especially when he is in one of his grooves.

Ricky Lemaster, Bryan Allen, Bennett Allen, Robbie Risner, Toby Robinson, Kevin Robinson and Zeth Shepherd are just a few of the good young players for the Blackcats.

SOUTH FLOYD STRUGGLED IN FIRST YEAR...

Coach Jim Rose's South Floyd Raiders have suffered through a drastic season in their first year of existence.

But the Raiders have some good talent in some players who have proven they can play the game.

Pitching has been the sore spot for the Raiders as Coach Rose has had to rely on the youth corp of this year's team.

Terrance Mullins is one of those young players that the Raiders have counted on. Mullins is a hard thrower, but seems to lose velocity after four innings.

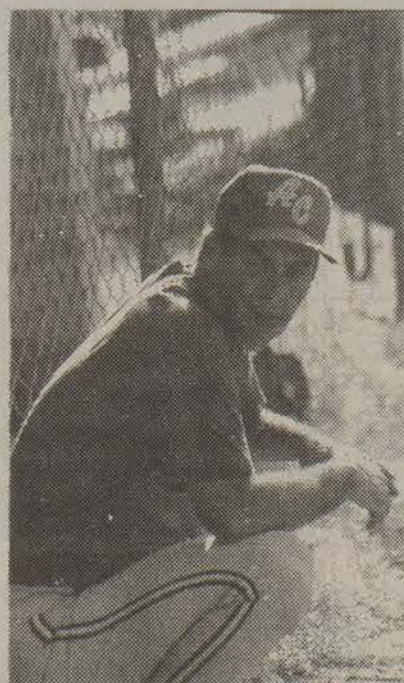

Scott Hall, a left-hander, gives Rose some strong innings, but doesn't get the support offensively he deserves.

Chris Moore can throw the ball as hard as anyone in the conference, but lack of control over his fastball has been a thorn.

From the plate comes solid hitters including Ryan Brown, the team's power hitter. Brown is a strong kid who, when he makes contact, can drive the ball to all parts of the field.

DON HANSFORD
Assistant Coach

JACKIE PACK
Head Coach
