Former cop says mayor asked him to break the law

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A former Prestonsburg police officer sued Mayor Jerry Fannin Thursday, accusing Fannin of firing him because the officer refused to dismiss criminal complaints at the request of the mayor.

Herman Morris, who was fired from the police department on October 5, claims that Fannin dismissed him because he "refused to violate the law in that he refused to dismiss certain criminal charges at the request" of Fannin.

The lawsuit did not specify what type of criminal complaints that Fannin is accused of trying to get Morris to dismiss.

The mayor could not be reached Thursday for comment.

Morris, who also names the City of Prestonsburg in the lawsuit, claims that he was fired for filing a workers' compensation claim and that he was dismissed "in a manner inconsistent" with state laws regarding the dismissal of police officers.

Also, the former officer accuses Fannin and city officials of firing him after he was wrongfully suspended from his duties.

"(Morris) alleges the discharge in question was done by the defendants following an attempt to wrongfully suspend (Morris)," according to the lawsuit. "(Morris) was suspended temporarily, and upon discovery that the... suspension was wrongful, Fannin did in fact reinstate (Morris) to his position as an active police officer."

Fannin is named individually in the lawsuit and in his official capacity.

Morris seeks punitive damages, a trial by jury and reasonable attorney fees.

Note: a civil lawsuit represents only one side of a dispute.

Advisory board adds clarification to minutes

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

Although its members continue to contest who chairs the board, the Prestonsburg Community College Advisory Board elected two officers and appointed a committee to revise its bylaws at a meeting Tuesday, October 4.

Paul Gearheart, who was elected to the chair on September 15 after the meeting's chairman, H.D. Fitzpatrick, declared the meeting adjourned without taking a vote to end the session, took the chairman's seat to open the meeting. Three board members — Fitzpatrick, board member Daniel Greene and faculty representative John Sammons — were absent from the meeting, and are seeking a resolution on the issue of the chairman's seat through the University of Kentucky's legal department.

The three are also questioning why the faculty representative and the student body president, who had voted earlier in the September 15 meeting, were stopped from seconding motions and from voting during the election of the chairman.

At the September 15 meeting, board member John Triplett read a state statute that identifies the faculty representative and the student representative as non-voting members.

When the September 15 minutes were read at Tuesday's meeting, student representative Charles Raleigh Nelson objected to the wording of the minutes, particularly a portion that stated he was elected to the board on September 15 "apparently in preparation for the meeting."

Nelson said the statement implied that he was in collusion with a certain group. "No way was I in collusion with anyone," he said, explaining that he is a member of the advisory board because he was elected student body president.

Nelson said he was not even aware of the meeting until the day the board was to meet, and that he had been told he was supposed to represent the student body at the meeting that evening.

Nelson also explained that he left the meeting on September 15 because chairman Fitzpatrick had adjourned the meeting, and he thought the meeting had ended.

Board members told Nelson that the minutes did not reflect any collusion on his part, and they did not think he was in collusion with anyone on the issue. The minutes were adopted.

At the beginning of the meeting,

Lexington hot air balloon to descend on Prestonsburg

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

Folks visiting the Jenny Wiley Festival Saturday can get a bird's-eye view of festival events in a hot air balloon.

The hot air balloon will hover above the Prestonsburg Elementary School Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m., depending on weather conditions. Those individuals who want to see the festival can ride in the balloon for $5, adults, and $3 for children.

The balloon will ascend, hover briefly and then descend. Aviation restrictions will not allow the balloon to give tours in the mountains, said festival organizer Donna Blackburn, Thursday. The balloon will be in Prestonsburg for six hours.

Other events at the festival include a gospel sing, which begins Friday afternoon at 1 p.m. Eleven local gospel groups will join the Spencers, the Cookes, the Messengers and

Accused rapist continues to elude police

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A Floyd County man who walked away from his rape trial Tuesday in circuit court is still at large.

Area police officers are trying to find Jamie Pennington, 29, of Bull Creek, who fled from the Floyd County Courthouse while a plea bargain was being worked out in the case.

Tera Conn, 21, of Prestonsburg, was arrested Tuesday afternoon and charged with criminal facilitation for allegedly giving Pennington a ride out of Prestonsburg. Conn told police that she dropped Pennington off near the Johnson County line.

Conn was released from jail Thursday after posting bond.

Pennington was charged with first degree rape of a 20-year-old woman last November. Pennington's trial began Tuesday, but defense attorney Keith Bartley and Commonwealth's Attorney John Earl Hunt negotiated a plea bargain which would have dropped the charge to sexual misconduct, a class A misdemeanor.

Kentucky State Police lieutenant Paul Maynard said Thursday that officers are still searching for Pennington.

"He has been entered into NCIC and warrants have been issued for his arrest," Maynard said. "We are hoping to get a break in the case."

Maynard said that no federal authorities have been asked to join in the hunt.

Floyd Circuit Judge John David Caudill issued a bench warrant Tuesday for Pennington's arrest and charged him with bail jumping and contempt of court.

Caudill commented that Pennington "would regret walking through those doors."

Bartley said Tuesday he was disappointed with his client's action.

"It is unfortunate that my client made such an error in judgment," Bartley said.

Hunt said "it's never satisfying to see any body deviate from the norm of justice."

Wholesale worker wins new car by playing it safe

by Michael Lynn Huff
Staff Writer

Some Floyd County warehouse workers are discovering that it pays to play it safe—in more ways than one.

In an effort to promote employee safety and reduce the number of accidents that occur every year, new safety incentive programs have been introduced by grocery distribution company, H.T. Hackney. The most extensive of these programs was initiated by Harold, Kentucky's Big Sandy Wholesale Incorporated, and Hackney's Knoxville, Tennessee-based corporate office.

A company-wide program was introduced to reduce the number of worker's compensation claims. Their first effort since the company had been purchased by another entity, the game "Safety Bingo," was, at first, accepted enthusiastically by warehouse workers. The game was played by qualified workers. Bingo players could win prizes ranging from $10 to $500. However, the game received mixed reactions from both workers and company officials.

"Considering the fact that it took as long as three months for a worker's (Bingo) card to get completely 'blacked out' in order to win the $500 grand prize, workers just weren't too enthusiastic about it," said Scott Fitch, assistant to Hackney's vice-president

Water debts continue to worry Martin council

by Michael Lynn Huff
Staff Writer

Martin City Council members are still "treading water" on the issue of balancing the city budget.

That was the sentiment shared at Wednesday's special meeting of the Martin City Council. Council members argued over the current financial situation concerning their water and sewage department.

Bob Lewandowski, of the Big Sandy Area Development District, suggested that the council hire an accountant to balance the books.

"I'd like to see that happen," councilman Steven Jenkins said, "but how's that going to look when we bring somebody in from the outside to solve our problems?"

Councilman Everett Akers Jr. questioned Mayor Raymond Griffith about the water debt issue by asking him if he was having any success in keeping track of the water bills that were being sent to his mailbox. The mayor replied that he was having trouble.

Council voted unanimously to have all the city government's mail to be directed to the city's mailbox, instead of Mayor Griffith's box.

Akers said that he was more concerned about simply finding the correct account balance.

"How can you pay the bills when you don't know how much you owe?" Akers asked shortly after the meeting. Akers also said that he thought the council should consult with an accountant to help them balance their books, provided the accountant had no connections, political or otherwise, to city government.

During the meeting, Griffith appeared upset and overwhelmed by the debt problem that has been plaguing the city since last January.

"We're in debt so far that we may

Jacobs to undergo competency exam

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd Circuit Judge John David Caudill ordered Thursday that accused murderer Clawvern Jacobs undergo psychiatric testing to determine if he is competent to stand trial. Caudill's order comes after a ruling in August by the state Supreme Court which mandated that it be determined if Jacobs is competent for trial.

Jacobs is charged with murder, kidnapping and first degree attempted rape in the 1987 death of Alice Lloyd College student Judy Ann Howard. Jacobs was convicted in 1987 of the charges and sentenced to death. In January, the state Supreme Court overturned Jacobs' conviction, saying the trial should not have been held in Knott County.

In August, Jacobs' attorney, Kelly Gleason, appealed Judge Caudill's ruling that a public hearing be held to determine if Jacobs was competent to aid in his own defense be public.

Gleason argued that the hearing should be held in private and that the prosecution be barred from some of the proceedings because the issues were "between Clawvern Jacobs and his attorney."

Judge Caudill's order said that reasonable grounds existed which bring into question Jacobs' competency to stand trial or responsibility for criminal conduct.

Jacobs will be evaluated at the Kentucky Correctional Psychiatric Center in Lexington. The examination is to determine if Jacobs is competent to stand trial and, if so, is there a probability that he can maintain competency in the foreseeable future.

Judge Caudill also asks that the evaluation determine if Jacobs is responsible for criminal conduct and/or whether he suffers from a mental disease, defect or other impairment which would diminish his responsibility for criminal conduct.

Floyd board buys farmland for new school

by Geoff Belcher
Floyd County Schools

Floyd County Schools bought the farm this week — literally — bringing the system one step closer to fulfilling its plan for a new Martin/Maytown consolidated elementary school.

Floyd County Board of Education chairman Ray Brackett presented a check on Wednesday for $300,000 to Earl and Altonette Bentley for their 85-plus acre farm on Stephens Branch at Martin.

Floyd County Schools chief of operations Jim Osborne said Wednesday that the Local Planning Committee, chaired by Allen Central High School principal Jody Sword and Prestonsburg business leader Paul Phillip Hughes, first began searching for potential sites for the consolidated school in August, 1993.

After viewing several possible sites, Osborne said, the Bentley farm was selected as the most viable for the project.

Initial site preparation is tentatively scheduled to begin in January with construction to begin by March or April, 1995. The school should be ready to open its door by fall, 1996, Osborne said.

Courthouse offices close for festival

Several offices in the Floyd County Courthouse will be closed Friday in observance of the Jenny Wiley Festival.

In the Floyd County Circuit Court Clerk's office, Small Claims and the Division of Driver's License will be closed Friday. The Floyd County District Court, and the Division of Driver's License Hearing and Reinstatement offices will also be closed.

Floyd County Court Clerk Carla Boyd will also close her offices Friday and Saturday.

The county attorney and the county judge executive's offices will also close.

All county offices will be open Monday, but county post offices and federal offices will be closed in observance of Columbus Day.

Minutes

chairman Gearheart opened the meeting with a footnote to the agenda stating that the board would address only the subjects on the agenda but, after the minutes were adopted, board member John R. Triplett asked the board to include a statement he had prepared to clarify the minutes. Triplett's request was not listed on the agenda.

In his written clarification, Triplett said that during the last session, Daniel Greene "as noted in the September 15, 1994 minutes before us for approval today) made a sharp personal attack on the integrity of the PCC president."

"The Floyd County Times obtained a copy of the tape of the meeting through the open records act and they published some of the remarks from this meeting verbatim, as well as other remarks," Triplett read from his written statement.

"I want to file this clarification, for discussion and ask it be made part of the record of the meeting of October 4, 1994.

"During the meeting of September 15, 1994, prior to the election of Mr. Paul Gearheart as chairman, I cannot recall Dr. Floyd making any comments," he said.

The Floyd County Times did not state that Dr. Floyd had made comments during the September 15 meeting. However, Daniel Greene stated during the meeting that he would be willing to come forward with the question of tampering with the board election by PCC president Dr. Deborah Floyd.

In his written clarification of the minutes, Triplett explained that the function of the PCC Advisory Board is "to advise the president of the administration of the college as needed, and any requests on matters of policy."

"Dr. Floyd, as president of PCC does not have a vote on the advisory board and is the recording secretary by virtue of her position," Triplett said. "Dr. Floyd has had no role in my decision on the election of the chairman, nor did she try to influence me in any way."

"I cannot explain why the simple matter of electing a chairman of the advisory board became an issue that allowed certain individuals to personally and privately attack Dr. Floyd and her integrity. I trust that that period has ended and I hope that individuals who have misspoken will apologize to Dr. Floyd, and go forward with the best interest of PCC in mind," Triplett said.

Triplett also asked the board to include the opinion of Paul C. Van Hooven, an attorney with U.K.'s legal department, concerning the validity of the election. Van Hooven had explained that faculty and student representatives were non-voting members. He also explained that a quorum of voting members was present during Gearheart's election, and that a meeting could only be adjourned by vote of the members. At the September 15 meeting, Fitzpatrick did not call for a vote, but adjourned the meeting after a motion to adjourn had been made and seconded.

Advisory board members voted to approve Triplett's statement of clarification, and raised no protest that it was not on the agenda.

Next on the agenda was the appointment of a committee to revise by-laws concerning special meetings.

By-laws state the advisory board "may be called into special session by the chairman at the request of the president in writing (giving reasonable notice of one week to 10 days) and the chairman giving reasonable notice to members."

A footnote to the by-laws indicates that statement was a revision and was made on August 19, 1991. Previously, the by-laws stated the advisory board could be called into special session by the chairman or at the written request of three or more voting members. The footnote points out that the intention of the statute is not clear. In question is whether the statute was intended to replace the previous wording or if it was an addition to the previous wording.

John Triplett, Jean Hale and Dr. Deborah Floyd were named to serve on the panel to revise the by-laws.

The board then elected officers for the next term of office. John Triplett nominated board member O.T. Dorton as vice chairman, which Jean Hale seconded, and also Jean Hale as secretary/treasurer, which was seconded by O.T. Dorton. Both motions passed. Officers serve for a term of one year.

The board discussed changing the meeting date because it conflicts with the schedule of several members. Dr. Floyd was directed to set the next meeting date as needed after a poll of members was taken, and a motion was made to set a tentative date for December 8, subject to the poll.

The advisory board meets quarterly during the term, September through April and the scheduling of the meetings is supposed to be distributed to members at the beginning of each fall semester.

of Warehouses. Fitch also explained that compensation claims weren't dropping that much and a new plan, specifically for Big Sandy Wholesale, had to be designed.

Frank Sims, general manager of Big Sandy Wholesale, worked closely with vice-president of warehouses, Dean Ballinger, to design a better safety incentive program that would encourage workers to take the safety of themselves and their fellow workers into consideration, in turn, saving more money for the company.

In Big Sandy's revised program, three major categories were formed for different jobs at the warehouse. At the end of the month, each worker from each category would receive a $50 bonus if no worker's compensation claims were filed for that month. In addition, each worker was given two tickets for prize drawings, which included a 1995 Ford Taurus, at the end of the first six months of the program.

Filing a claim would cause one worker's entire division to lose that month's bonus. In addition, the worker who filed the claim would lose one of his prize tickets. If the worker filed twice within the six-months, he would then be considered ineligible for the prize drawing.

"The program worked great," Sims said. "This is good, considering that one back injury case can run anywhere from two to five thousand dollars in medical bills alone." Sims further reported that the number of worker's compensation claims had dropped by 76 percent. There are still at least 46 Big Sandy workers eligible for the next drawing.

"The program worked great," Sims said. "This is good, considering that one back injury case can run anywhere from two to five thousand dollars in medical bills alone."

"The person to benefit greater than anyone else with the new safety incentive program is a nightshift worker, James D. Lewis, of Banner, who won the new Ford Taurus at last September's company cookout.

Lewis, who was speechless about his good fortune, was cheered on by his fellow co-workers. He had been walking and hitching rides to work for nearly a year.

Needless to say, Lewis approves of the new program.

"It's just hard to explain," Lewis said. "It's great that (the company) would do this for us. Most companies wouldn't."

"It just goes to show how the Lord works," Sims said. "I'm glad that it went to someone who really needed it."

Fitch said that there would be another prize give-away at the end of the year. The grand prize choice is still being discussed by company officials.

have to raise the rates on water," said Griffith, although he didn't have any idea how much they would raise the rates or if such action would be taken.

Information from Flo Bartrum, an accountant who audited the city books, indicated that the city is only behind two payments, not six as was thought, in their water bills owed to the city of Prestonsburg.

One action that was taken toward paying these debts was an amendment of the budget ordinance, in which $5,000 was removed from the city's parks and recreation fund in order to make the sewer tax payments and to pay the liability insurance for the sewer department.

Also mentioned at the meeting was the city savings account balance, now at $50,000. It was stated that the account, which will be appropriated to pay the bonding for the water debts owed, will draw interest until the year 2005.

Council will meet in regular session on October 12.

Transy freshman gives to the community before hitting books

Leigh Ann Blackburn, a Piast School graduate, was chosen to participate in Transylvania University's First Year Urban Program (FUP). She volunteered for a week of community service projects with seventeen other entering Transylvania students. In its sixth year, FUP is a student-led organization sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa, a leadership honorary, and modeled after a program at Harvard University.

FUP's goals are to give first-year students the opportunity to serve the community, to develop their interest in community service and to discover how to make community service a permanent part of their lives through a short-term, hands-on experience.

During the week-long program, participants completed three service projects, including resurfacing a track for the Lexington Parks and Recreation Department at Russell Elementary, performing trail maintenance at the Buckley Wildlife Sanctuary, and repainting and renovating offices and the gym at the Manchester Center.

Supplementing FUP's volunteer experiences were tours of service agencies in the afternoons and speakers in the evenings.

Blackburn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Clifton of Betsy Layne.

Floyd County Schools
Absenteeism has been a monumental problem for school systems all over the country since the first schoolmarm bravely forged her way across the early frontier, but in Floyd County, at least, things are starting to get better.

For the entire month of September, Floyd County Schools' Auxier Elementary boasted an average 98 percent attendance and last Wednesday a nearly unheralded 100 percent of the school's students and staff members arrived for class.

At the end of the day, Auxier Elementary Principal Frank Smith awarded each of the students and faculty a free Pepsi, and Floyd County Schools Director of Pupil Personnel Maurice Allen spoke to each class individually and congratulated their efforts to advance education.

The pep talk was part of Allen's and Floyd County Schools' ongoing efforts to increase attendance and, in return, greatly enhance the quality of education in Floyd County.

You think party affiliation doesn't mean anything? Think again.

Received a fax the other day from the governor's office. It was a press release encouraging people to apply for a new, five-member board to oversee a health purchasing alliance created by the Kentucky Health Care Reform Law.

The alliance will purchase health care services and provide administrative and informational services to its members, which include all state employees, and individuals and businesses of fewer than 100 employees, and groups of less than 100 members who choose to participate. The board to govern the alliance will be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate.

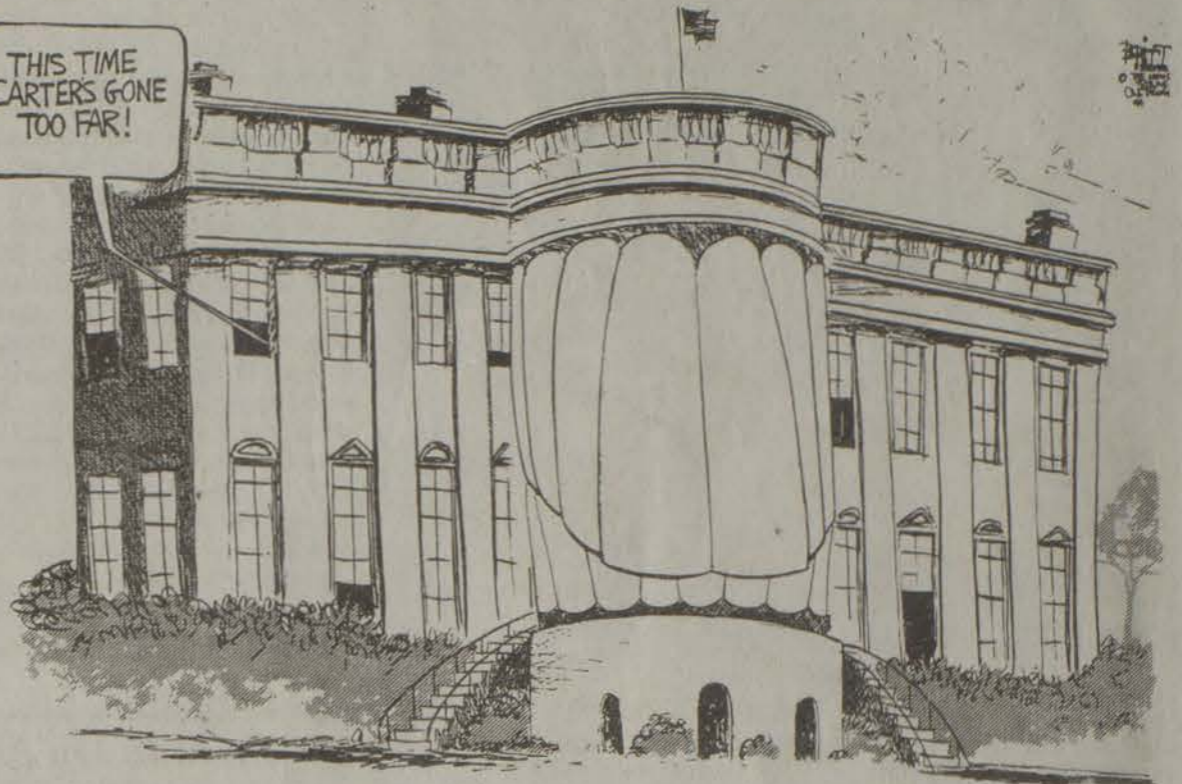

Accompanying the press release was an application for prospective board members. The application is apparently used for appointments to all state boards and commissions. In addition to the usual information—name, social security number, education, and so on—the document asks for the applicant's party affiliation. At the bottom of the application it states that the information is "necessary in order to comply with state law in regard to balance."

Before I saw that notation, I got upset; after I saw it, I was still mad. What does party affiliation have to do with becoming a member of this new board? Nowhere in the press release did it say that the board will include a certain number of Democrats, a certain number of Republicans and a certain number of Independents. It said only that members "must have expertise in business, finance, economics or health benefits management."

As a matter of fact, what does being a Democrat or a Republican have to do with appointments to most state boards? I could be wrong, but I don't think all boards and commissions must have a balanced ticket, so to speak; qualifications usually concern a person's occupation or experience.

This just goes to show that politics is everything in state government. Don't ever think otherwise.—Paintsville Herald

Writer defends police regarding parking lots as after-hours hangout

Editor:
I would like to address my letter to the 21-year-old who is still hanging around the parking lots in Prestonsburg for excitement.

Speaking of "Getting off our backs," why don't you and a lot of other people get off their backs! I am sick and tired of the Prestonsburg City Police trying to do their jobs and getting absolutely no support from the people of this town, not to mention the lack of support they get from the officials of this town!

In your letter (when speaking of the people who had their tires slashed) you failed to mention the reason the police officer searched their car. The truth of the matter is, the police officer smelled alcohol and had every right to search the car and probably should have taken "your friends" to jail! In the future when you decide to gripe please include all the information, and not only what is convenient for you!

I would also like to mention the parking lot issue. I live close to everyone's favorite parking lot to hang around, the Municipal Parking Lot I, (as well as my neighbors), are constantly having to call the police to come and make these people turn their music down. It is impossible to go to sleep when "heavy metal trash" is shaking the windows in your house. If people would just stand in the parking lot it would be different; however they party, drag race, whistle, curse, fight, etc.

I can't wait until winter, maybe it will freeze them out. I agree that there is not a lot of things for the "young people" in this town to do, however, they need to go somewhere and learn to respect people of authority who are only trying to do their jobs!

Court system should punish those people abusive to others

Editor:
I have read for the last few months in your paper about abuse. I am so tired of hearing about it. Some people get caught and the law makes a big deal out of it, but really nothing happens to the person who does the crime. They are not punished. Besides, the law won't deliver the papers or they wait until the time has run out to deliver them. Then, the judge does nothing when they get them in court.

Last week I read in "Yesterdays, 60 years ago," about a judge named Caudill and he said Prestonsburg was a laughing stock. I wonder what he would say now. Haa baa!

There are people in Floyd County who had never been any good to society. They have babies by their own daughters and no one says anything.

They make moonshine and drink everything and they let their children drink alcohol and in turn they are no good to society. It's a way of life for them.

Then, the same children get teachers in trouble for just looking at them and their parents sue them, when they are children of incest.

Most men think they haven't done anything unless they kill at least two women in their lifetime.

There are pretty women in graves today that men have bloodied their mouths or killed them in some way. They never even get talked to about their dirty ways of life, so they start all over looking for another woman to do in.

Everyone that wears pants is not a man. Good men I am not talking about, just the ones who think they are men and do such a thing.

I could write a book on this subject. Do you know any good publishers?

Elusive school achievement

A newly released study commissioned by a national organization of state legislators throws cold water on the popular theory that tossing more money into public education will improve declining student performance.

None of the top 10 states in student achievement ranks among the top 10 per pupil expenditures, according to the American Legislative Exchange Council's "Report on American Education 1994."

Most of the states with the highest student performance, the study reports, spent less proportionately on public education than the national average.

The study, conducted for the council by the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research, compares total and per-pupil education spending between states and also ranks each in terms of per capita tax burden and teacher salaries as a percentage of overall expenditures. That is butted against student scores on the National Assessment of Educational Progress, Scholastic Aptitude and American College tests as well as high school graduation rates.

Kentucky fell in the middle of the pack on most student performance rankings, except for its graduation rate, where it was 33rd.

But, not surprisingly, it earned special mention in one of the spending categories as one of only five states that has increased per-pupil expenditures in real terms by 100 percent or more in the last 20 years.

What does seem to effect student achievement, the researchers found, was school size. Six of the 10 states that dominated the performance rankings enroll more than 30 percent of their students in small schools (300 students or fewer).

It is ironic that public education in Kentucky and nationwide is heading in just the opposite direction. That is just something else to consider the next time a tax increase is proposed.—Kentucky New Era (Hopkinsville)

A small school does well, but it's too late

For all the changes wrought by the Kentucky Education Reform Act, one aspect of teaching our children remains lost in the '60s.

School administrators across the state still feel the urge to merge. Every year, small schools disappear from Kentucky's education landscape, sacrificed on the "bigger is better" altar erected more than three decades ago. Too often, the well-being of the students is sacrificed as well. They lose the individual attention, the parental involvement and the community support they enjoyed in a small school that was a source of community pride.

The consolidations continue, despite national studies that smaller schools tend to produce better performance by students. They continue, despite Kentucky's own anecdotal evidence that the national studies are correct.

For example, when the results of tests that measure progress under KERA were released recently, the eighth graders at Livingston Elementary School in Rockcastle County ranked second in the entire state in improvement over the last two years. Unfortunately, this distinction came posthumously for Livingston Elementary. It was closed for good in June, and its former students now attend consolidated schools.

Livingston Elementary wasn't the first good small school to suffer this fate. It probably won't be the last. The mindset of the powers that be in school systems across the state is to build bigger, bigger, bigger.

It never occurs to them that the millions they spend to warehouse nameless, faceless hordes of students in mega-schools could just as easily be spent modernizing and updating the small schools that get the job done—and done well. They should consider this: Maybe they should be imitating good, small schools instead of closing them.—Lexington Herald-Leader

Teikyo Post University expands grant offers to Prestonsburg area students

Recognized by the U.S. News and World Report as a distinctive international business and liberal arts university, Teikyo Post has announced the expansion of its Middle Income Family (MIF) grant program to include Prestonsburg area students.

These grants are for students to attend Teikyo Post full-time for the fall 1995 term. Each grant could total $20,000.

"Our Middle Income Family grant program has struck a positive chord with the general public," stated Dr. Phyllis C. DeLeo, president of Teikyo Post. "Therefore, we are providing zero-interest loans of up to $5,000 per year from Prestonsburg area middle income students attending Teikyo Post as full-time students in the fall of 1995. If these students complete their baccalaureate requirements and graduate within four years, Teikyo Post will forgive the MIF loan and those monies become a grant, free and clear. We feel that middle income families could use a grant of up to $20,000 for their sons' or daughters' education," concluded Dr. DeLeo.

Students who wish to apply for a MIF grant to attend Teikyo Post should contact the Office of Admission immediately at 1 (800) 345-2562.

Other grants and scholarships of interest to Prestonsburg-area students include:

- Transfer Scholarships: Transfer scholarships are available.
- Teikyo Post Grants: These awards are made to out-of-state students who have demonstrated financial need. The amount of the individual grant varies depending on each student's need.
- Academic Scholarships: Non-need based Academic Scholarships are awarded to students who demonstrate high scholastic achievement throughout their high school or university career.
- Athletic Scholarships: Teikyo Post University offers non-need based scholarships to the student who demonstrates outstanding athletic ability.
- Family Tuition Discount Plan: Offered when two or more eligible members of the same family attend Teikyo Post University's day division on a full-time basis in the same semester.

• And many other private scholarships administered through the Financial Aid Office.

Teikyo Post enrolls students from 35 foreign countries and from across the United States. As part of an international education consortium, TPU takes pride in providing a "global education without prejudice." The university awards more than $3 million in scholarship and financial aid to deserving students each year.

Teikyo Post's curriculum offers students the opportunity to experience inter-cultural and international environments. The sixty-acre, suburban, hilltop campus is located in Waterbury, Connecticut, only 30 minutes from Hartford, 90 minutes from New York City, and 2 hours from Boston.

PCC library expands weekend service

Working on a difficult research topic? Looking for a special book? Then be sure to check out the library at Prestonsburg Community College.

According to Librarian Sandra Robertson, the library is not just for students' use; it's also there to serve the community. "Persons from the community and former PCC students have always used the library and we welcome them in," Robertson said. "The PCC Library adds another resource, in conjunction with the public libraries in our area, to what is available to our citizens."

To access the library, simply stop by and apply for a library card. You'll need your social security number and in just a few minutes, computer willing, a new library card will be yours. It's that simple.

To make its material even more accessible, the library has expanded its service hours. Service hours during the Fall Semester will be Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; and Sunday, 2 to 6 p.m.

The PCC Library has both local and national newspapers, a wide variety of periodicals, state and federal government documents and a special collections room containing old and out-of-print materials on Eastern Kentucky history and genealogy.

Driving tips offered to motorists during Car Care Month

As part of National Car Care Month, motorists can help improve the nation's air quality by following some simple driving and maintenance procedures.

- * Keep your car engine well-tuned
- * Avoid excess idling in non-traffic situations
- * Avoid gunning or racing the engine
- * Plan and consolidate your auto trips
- * Don't pump the accelerator before starting your car if your car has fuel injection
- * Don't overfill your gas tank when refueling

Some of these suggestions may surprise motorists. As an example, in a non-traffic situation such as stopping at the cleaners or at a friend's house, it's better to shut off the engine rather than let it idle. Restarting the car consumes less fuel and emits fewer emissions than letting it idle for 30 seconds or more.

EMT program focus: Emergency childbirth

Our Lady of the Way Hospital is offering an Emergency Medical Technician continuing education program on the topic of Emergency Childbirth and Neonatal Resuscitation on October 15, from 12:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. The program will be held in the conference room at Big Sandy ADD (Area Development District office meeting room) in Prestonsburg.

Lecture and skill continuing education hours will be awarded to those in attendance. Class size is limited and pre-registration is required before October 10.

Interested EMT's may call 285-5181, ext. 305 for more information or to register.

No matter how you say it, it's all abuse. Talking to your doctor about abuse isn't easy. But sometimes it can help. When you're ready, we're here to listen.

Tipton elected PCC's homecoming princess

A Johnson County woman will represent Prestonsburg Community College at University of Kentucky homecoming festivities on Saturday, October 29.

Sheila Tipton, 23, of Thelma was elected PCC Princess during student voting September 14. She is the daughter of Opal and Jeffery Hawkins of Louisville.

With representatives from the other 13 community colleges and from UK, she will participate in the homecoming parade and will be recognized at the UK versus Mississippi home game. Tipton also plans to participate in the Jenny Wiley Festival Parade in Prestonsburg. She also participated in the Kentucky Apple Festival parade in Paintsville in early October.

A resident of the Carl D. Perkins Rehabilitation Center, Tipton was a popular choice among student voters. Her sunny disposition and unflinching dedication to furthering her education were well-known and admired.

Although as a community college student Tipton is going against the odds before—and come out a big winner.

Tipton contracted cerebral palsy when she went without oxygen for eight minutes after her birth. The condition, created by brain damage, impairs the muscles—for life. The doctor's prognosis was that either she would not live or, if she did, she would be a vegetable for life.

She has certainly proved that prognosis wrong.

Tipton enrolled at PCC in the fall of 1992 and this is her last semester at the local community college. She gets from class to class on a three-wheel motorized cart and, unable to write quickly, she takes notes on a laptop computer. While studying at PCC, she has maintained a grade point average of 3.14 and achieved a perfect 4.0 for the 1993 Spring Semester. She plans to transfer on to the University of Kentucky to continue her studies in Social Work.

Tipton's court includes Erica Branham of Prestonsburg, Stephanie L. Borders of Volga, Tonia Collins of Royalton, and Crystal Jeanette Rife of Gunlock.

The princess and her court will also be honored at a tea given by PCC President Dr. Deborah L. Floyd on Thursday, October 27, at 3 p.m.

Cost of mammograms reduced during Cancer Awareness Month

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. The American Cancer Society, in an effort to help in the fight against breast cancer through the use of appropriate screening mammography, has asked all ACR (American College of Radiology) certified facilities to participate in a promotional campaign featuring reduced fees for screening mammograms during the month of October.

The Breast Center at Highlands Regional and its off-campus locations at the Archer Clinic in Prestonsburg and at Highlands Medical Offices in Paintsville will participate in the national effort by offering screening mammograms, complete with interpretation, for a discounted cost of $65 to women age 40 and over. All appointments must be scheduled between October 1 and October 31. A screening mammogram means no previously detected abnormality and/or previous history of breast cancer.

Highlands Breast Center will also offer an education component at no extra charge. Currently the Breast Center offers free information and consultation for women of all ages, and requires only that you call for an appointment so the allotted time can be scheduled for the free service.

To take advantage of the reduced mammography costs offered during National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, call Highlands Breast Center at 886-7575. Call the Breast Center in Paintsville at 789-3760 and at Archer Clinic at 886-8467. Remember, the reduced pricing is in effect only during the month of October. After October 31, the cost for a screening mammogram will return to the standard fee of $89.95.

Born November 10, 1911 at Langley, she was the daughter of the late Hiram G. and Louisa Ratliff Hagans. She was preceded in death by her first husband, Carl Edward "Shorty" Friend, and her second husband, Leo Hunt. She was a retired self-employed cosmetic saleswoman and worked as a cook in restaurants in the Prestonsburg area.

Survivors include one son, Thomas Edward Friend of Pikeville; one sister, Rose Bowling of Langley; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be Saturday, October 8, at 11 a.m., at the Hall Funeral Home Chapel with the clergyman Bob Varney officiating.

Burial will be in the Hagans Family Cemetery at Warco, Langley, under the direction of Hall Funeral Home.

Kristen is three

Kristen Griffith, daughter of Rachel and Joey Griffith of Prestonsburg, will celebrate her third birthday on Saturday, October 8. She is the granddaughter of Jim Clay Osborne of Prestonsburg and Nadine Vance of Inez; and Goldie and Truman Griffith of David. Great-grandparents are "Red" and Dora Osborne of Prestonsburg.

LOOK WHO'S LAUGHING NOW

People from other parts of the United States have labeled Eastern Kentucky politics as some of the most corrupt in the nation. We may live "a fur piece out in the woods," but we're not nearly as politically backwards as some people would have you think. At least, I don't think we're as politically illiterate as some people in Washington, D.C.

Before you think I'm talking about the Executive and Legislative branches of government (of which I could be but I'm not), let me assure you that I'm speaking of the election that placed former Washington Mayor Marion Barry back in office.

Many years ago people in Eastern Kentucky - and in many other places throughout America - voted dead people, animals, and more than once (meaning voting more than one time in a day). It didn't become illegal unless you got caught. Fortunately, few were caught before the ballot boxes were replaced with voting machines making it almost impossible to vote animals because they couldn't pull the levers or do a write-in vote. Animals would have also been more noticeable at the polls which in turn would have caused negative talk. And dead people don't vote anymore either, unless they have a social security number.

In essence, you could say that voting machines made us honest in a political sense. However, I don't think there are many of us who would reelect a convicted felon who did six months in prison for possession of cocaine whether we voted on paper ballots or with a machine.

Now I've given this a lot of thought. I know there are reformed addicts of all types: you're reading the words of one if you've read this far. Three years ago, I gave up cigarettes in lieu of a permanent job and I still enjoy the pungent aroma of secondhand smoke as it swirls around my nostrils. So I sympathize with anyone who is trying to get a monkey off his/her/their back. But would I have voted for Marion Barry if I had lived in Washington, D.C.?

Let us re-enact this scene. Marion Barry is sitting on his front porch one warm Sunday afternoon when a man walks up the steps and tells the former mayor that things are getting worse in the Capitol city. That drugs are more rampant, and crime is out of control. Barry, public servant that he is, lights up a cigar, or something, and contemplates the information he is being given.

Barry then decides that he needs to consider getting back into politics. After all, they almost forgave Nixon, and they tolerated Reagan for two terms. Why wouldn't they reelect a man who was caught on film in a hotel room with a lady of the evening while a drug deal was going down?

Not only would I question his integrity, I'd question his ability to size up a situation that might jeopardize his entire life, not to mention his family's lives and those of his constituents.

We Eastern Kentuckians may be backward, but we're not totally inept. We just act that way so the real goofballs will stay in Washington.

THE TIMES' WEEKEND Extra

Marty Brown to headline "Day in the Park"

Marty Brown is the countryest artist in country music, and he knows how to stay that way. It's easy, he says. "I just be myself."

The native Kentuckian will bring his talent to Floyd County on Sunday, October 16, as part of Trans Financial Bank and WMDJ's "Day In The Park." Brown will headline the celebration of music at Allen Park, beginning at noon.

Brown's third album, "Cryin', Lovin', Leavin'" is just the artist being himself, and the result is another sterling collection of pure, undiluted, classic-styled country music — which Brown says is a new style of music to many of today's country fans. "It's old country with a new twist," he explains, "but there's something about it that the kids and the teenagers and 18-year-olds and 30-year-olds think is cool and hip because they don't hear that stuff. You'd be surprised at the people that are out there starving for something new and fresh."

As on his previous albums, Brown's music is showcased by Richard Bennett's production. Understated instrumental arrangements harken back to the golden era of country music in the '40s and '50s, setting the scene for Bennett's tasteful lead guitar work and, of course, Brown's heartfelt vocals. The honesty, the realness of Brown's artistry was enhanced by recording the album live, with minimal overdubbing.

Brown's songs are unadorned pictures of real life, and he doesn't soften the emotional edges.

In the album's title song, an infectious rhythm and a positive twist balance the three sad themes of "Cryin', Lovin', Leavin'," but in "It Tortures Me," even a hot rhythm can't help the hurt.

The sadness Brown sings about is not sentimental or weepy but hard sadness, lonesome sadness.

Brown doesn't see these as sad songs. "To Richard Bennett that song is a sad song, but to me that's art," he says. "It's a beautiful song. It's the person who listens to it, how they appreciate that song. It's like the Hank Williams song 'I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry' — that's a piece of art. That's how the blues are."

Marty Brown

Marty Brown still lives in his hometown of Maceo, Kentucky, located between Owensboro and Louisville. He grew up in a house with all kinds of music. His two older brothers liked rock and roll, and his three younger sisters liked disco and pop, but Marty liked the music his parents liked. They both played music and dreamed of being country stars, and they played the classic country songs.

"I cut my teeth on Hank Williams' music," Marty says. "I can honestly say that because I've heard every piece of material he's ever written."

Early on he developed an undying faith in the fundamental strength and appeal of country music and dreamed of singing and writing his own songs while he was still in high school. That dream brought him to Nashville any time and any way he could get there — hitchhiking to town or driving in without enough gas money to get back home, spending his days trying to get somebody to listen. A featured segment on the network news show 48 Hours opened doors for him, but he still had to prove himself.

MCA signed him, and producers Tony Brown and Richard Bennett made sure not to tamper with Marty's raw talent.

The first album, High and Dry, introduced a new singer and songwriter with a sound so country that it made the new traditionalists sound slick and made the country music world wonder if anyone could be that country, that real.

"We shot a video up in Maceo," Brown recalls. "And all the marketing people started calling up wanting to know what the angle was. It was me, just being proud of my town. With me there just ain't no angle. I'm just being myself."

INEXPLICABLE

— A New York City Emergency Medical Services crew that was called to a Macy's restroom on July 25 diagnosed the contents of a plastic bag that a cleaning woman had found in a toilet as a fetus. A few minutes later, a crew from the city medical examiner's office arrived and correctly determined that the bag contained spaghetti.

— According to England's Manchester Guardian newspaper in August, members of a village in the remote highlands of Papua New Guinea had to that point raised about $530 in a legal defense fund for O.J. Simpson.

— In New York City in July, Bartolome Moya, 37, charged with kidnapping, drug-dealing and six murders, skipped town after being released on bail. In 1993, Moya was jailed pending trial on the same charges but was in such poor health from heart disease that a judge thought his death was imminent and dismissed the charges so Moya could go home to die. In February 1994, Moya obtained a Medicare-financed heart transplant — one of only 2,000 (out of 6,000 on waiting lists) who got hearts during a 12-month period. Prosecutors learned of the transplant, reindicted Moya in May, and jailed him. Then a judge released him on bail on the condition that Moya wear a beeper/monitor, and Moya has not been heard from since.

— The regional airline Markair apologized to passenger Rosalyna Lopez in July for a May incident in which a flight attendant on a Tucson-to-Washington, D.C., flight ordered her to stop talking in Spanish to a relative traveling with her. "No Spanish!" said the flight attendant. "English only! Do you understand that?"

— In August, New York City criminal court judge Sheryl Parker ruled that the well-known Times Square tourist hustle known as "three-card monte" was legal, thus freeing dealer Eric Hunt of criminal charges. (Players try to follow the path of one red card thrown in with two black ones; police routinely describe players' chances of winning as "zero" because of dealers' sleight of hand and intimidation.) Asked one officer, "What is that judge, about 100 years old?"

— Police in Des Moines, Iowa, in April easily subdued Ronald Albert Siedelman in the Norwest Bank after he had given a teller a long, poorly written note that officers characterized as implying a robbery and asking for "$19 trillion." Siedelman further astounded tellers by walking outside as tellers were deciphering the note. He said that he wanted to smoke a cigarette and did not want to violate the bank's no-smoking policy.

— In July, at an international travel baggage exposition in Japan, a prototype suitcase-car, manufactured by the government of Toyooka City, in partnership with an electronics firm, was introduced. The device looks like an ordinary, large plastic suitcase but can be converted into a battery-driven automobile capable of transporting a rider at about 6 miles an hour. A spokesman for the manufacturer admitted its drawbacks: It costs about as much as a real car, and it weighs more than passengers are permitted to carry aboard airliners.

— In September, after a six-month investigation, the California Department of Health Services decided that it was merely stress, and not mysterious fumes, that rendered several hospital emergency-room workers unconscious in February in Riverside, Calif. One of the workers, who has been hospitalized since February and who has undergone three bone operations, called the diagnosis of stress "absurd and ridiculous."

— In August, Ottawa biologist David Brez Carlisle told a

SOAP UPDATES

ALL MY CHILDREN: Wilma got Jane to confess she's really Janet. Laurel maligned Jane to Trevor after learning of their engagement. Noah whisked Julia out of Edmund's news conference, although Maria thought she'd glimpsed her missing sister. Later, Noah assured Grace he wasn't the one who cut Julia's face. Charlie told Brooke about Hayley's quest for revenge. Wait To See: Janet becomes desperate about Wilma's knowledge.

ANOTHER WORLD: Carl's suspicions of Evan intensified when he realized he could steal the counterfeiting plates from the safe deposit box. Walter foiled Felicia's escape attempt. Marshall and Cass left a note for Penelope Windsor (the name Walter used to register at the Romance Novel Festival). When the phone went dead, Vicky assumed Ryan had hung up on her. Later, Ryan and Lorna began investigating Evan's connection to Lila. With hours to go before their wedding, Paulina couldn't find Jake, who had gone to help Vicky in her scheme. Wait To See: Felicia faces an increasingly angry Walter.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Shannon learned Devere is alive. Eduardo confronted Sam with his knowledge about Eliot but she countered with ammunition of her own. Upset by Damian's coolness, Lily vowed to fight for their marriage. Later, when Damian rejected her, she ran off. After Sam and Grey made the Pisarro exchange, she told Eliot she'd meet him later in Rio. Kim asked Lily to oversee Janet's show budget. Wait To See: Craig learns more about Sam.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: In Morocco, "Laila" learned from Moustafa's file she was really Ridge Forrester's wife. She attempted to call Ridge, but Omar cut the phone wires before she could speak to him. She demanded Omar let her go home to her husband, but he refused, saying he intended to marry her. In Los Angeles, James turned up for the wedding, telling Stephanie he didn't want to show he harbored ill feelings for having been rejected by Brooke. Ridge waited at the altar as Brooke came down the aisle on horseback, and then joined him as the minister began reading their vows. Wait To See: Taylor makes a potentially dangerous decision.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Kristen wanted John to dig more deeply into the years he lived as priest. Bo resisted making love to Billie until he felt he could commit to her completely. Worried she might be sent back to the sanitarium, Laura fled to Daniel's place. While she slept, Peter took her to the roof and placed her on the edge. Daniel then called Jennifer and Mike who were horrified to see their mother peering down at them from that height. Later, rather than risk Laura telling Victor about the embryo switch, Vivian agreed to help Laura avoid recommitment. Wait To See: Celeste continues to pressure Mike (under Stefano's orders) to get close to Marlena.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Katherine collapsed at the Quartermaine mansion and was rushed to General Hospital where Steve told Sean he suspected she had been poisoned. Luke got information that could help shed light on Damian's past. A desperate Edward went to see Mary Mae. Mac told Robin someone else fathered Felicia's baby. Kevin had another terrifying nightmare about Grace. Bobbie and Tony mourned their daughter, B.J.'s death on the date of her birth. Wait To See: Edward makes a shocking admission.

GUIDING LIGHT: Roger was rocked by what he learned about Alan. Holly told Blake she's one of three women who could return Alan's assets to him. Eve suggested Vanessa consult a psychiatrist. Alan was anguished by Jenna's news of Alan-Michael's death. Meanwhile, A-M and Tangie shared a quiet, but electric moment. Tangie told Cutter Harry was the attacker. Later, Alan and Alan-Michael's reunion was marred by danger. An unexpected visitor spoiled Gabriella's romantic evening with David. Wait To See: Roger and Holly get new, disturbing information.

LOVING: Gilbert, still posing as Jeremy, picked a fight with Gwyn so he could break off with her. Curtis applied for a gun permit. An upset Casey agreed to Mike's offer for a much stronger drug. Deborah made love with Clay, unaware it was part of his plan to break up Cooper and Steffi. Gilbert was shaken to learn Jeremy had done a sketch of twin boys. Wait To See: Gilbert continues to try to break up Alex and Ava.

ONELIFE TO LIVE: As part of his plan to keep Viki in the dark about his illness, Sloan got Beverly to tell Viki they're in love. Blair asked Andrew about his meeting in the park with Marty. David worked out a plan to be alone with Tina. Asa heaped dollops of guilt on Bo, Cord, and Clint for their attitudes toward Alex. Luna was trapped in an elevator. Buck and Bulge met to discuss their plan to destroy Asa and Alex. Wait To See: Dorian makes a disturbing discovery about David. Marty creates another problem for Todd.

YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Mamie told John she suspected Jill was having an affair with Jed. Later, John warned Jill if she divorces him, he won't let her have Billy. Blade and Mari Jo owned up about having been lovers once, but Ashley suspected there was more they didn't tell her. Nina went into premature labor and lost her baby. Olivia tried to persuade Dru to believe Neil, not Malcolm, fathered her child. Nick and Sharon agreed to throw Nikki off course by letting her believe Nick was dating Amy. Victor asked Hope to keep an open mind about not aborting the baby even if the amniocentesis proved discouraging. Wait To See: Keemo has another confrontation with Luan.

meeting of geologists in Waterloo, Ontario, that the exotic amino acids found in several rocks from space, which are considered evidence that extraterrestrial life exists, are not what they seem. Carlisle said that the space rocks he has examined contain not the exotic amino acids but flakes of human dandruff, which have a similar chemical makeup to the amino acids. Carlisle said he knows a lot about dandruff because he has a lifelong, severe case.

FIRST THINGS FIRST — In June, the state of Maine yanked the driver's license of a divorced father — the first victim of a 1993 law authorizing the revocation of driver's licenses and professional licenses (among them doctors, lawyers, architects, plumbers, electricians) of parents behind on child support payments. However, not affected under the law are deadbeat parents' hunting and fishing licenses.

— In August near Mont Saint-Michel, France, Marie-Noelle Guillernee, 42, drowned in a deep water hole at a tourist attraction when she tried to save her 6-year-old daughter. Dozens of tourists were watching the 10-minute rescue attempt, and none attempted to assist the woman or called for help. Spectators reported hearing one tourist say, "I got the whole thing on tape."

— Last fall in a jail in New Haven, Conn., inmate Francis Gotlibowski was beaten and kicked by other inmates in an attack that sent him to the intensive-care unit of the Yale-New Haven Hospital. After an investigation, a jail spokesman found that the beating was in retaliation for Gotlibowski's having littered on the floor of the cafeteria. Said the spokesman, "[The inmates] apparently have their own code to keep the place clean."

I DON'T THINK SO
Lloyd Johnson Jr., 38, was arrested in Jacksonville, Fla., in May. He admitted to running by a bank's drive-through teller chute and swiping money just before the waiting motorist could grab it. Johnson told Judge Morton Kesler that he wasn't a thief; he said he had been using an automatic teller machine elsewhere on the bank's property but was unfamiliar with how it worked and thought he had to run over to the drive-through chute to retrieve his money.

NATASHA'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Others may not say exactly what's on their minds and you'll have to read between the lines early in the week. Later, improved concentration brings you success with certain intellectual pursuits.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Visits with old friends are favored this week but there may be a last-minute change in travel arrangements. It's not a good week for shopping since you'll be tempted to overspend. Guard against this.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You'll find a solution to one business problem but some you deal with may be overly sensitive and touchy, leading to another dilemma. This will sort itself out in time. Unexpected expenses may arise.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Work of a mental nature is favored. However, you may not get as much time for yourself as you'd like this week. This may put you in a grouchy mood but don't take it out on others. This weekend, you'll take time for reflection.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You'll spend part of this week with financial record-keeping which leads you to a happy surprise. Social plans are subject to change but take this in stride. A career matter is left unresolved for now.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You'll reach a better understanding of a matter that has a partner concerned. Work interests may take priority over socializing. However, a close friend is easily miffed. Be careful not to offend this person right now.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You may be busy with work from the office and you'll feel positively swamped this week. Right now, there's too much going on at home to consider a trip. Good news comes from a relative who lives far away. Prepare for a visit.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Be careful you don't misplace a credit card or something else of value. This week, you'll be a bit preoccupied and absent-minded. Also, pay extra attention to the tasks at hand while at work. A loved one is easily upset.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Heart-to-heart discussions are favored. A family member feels neglected and requires extra consideration and patience this week. However, you are up to the job since you're in a positive, communicative mode.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) This is a week to stay away from physically strenuous activities. Instead, work of a mental nature is favored. There is some danger of overtaxing yourself through socializing. Pay heed to health and diet and you'll feel better.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Overspending on various pleasure interests is a real temptation. However, you should be discriminating about socializing this week or you may find yourself stuck at a boring event. Not every invitation requires your attendance.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You're very preoccupied this week and may not be very good company. A loved one feels neglected and will lash out. Use diplomacy in dealing with this person and try to smooth things over. Friends drop by unexpectedly this weekend.

Major league sports snubbing the fans

HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISH TO...

Allen Central's Jason Bevins. Jason will turn 17 this Saturday. The big boy in the middle is looking forward to the basketball season.

Hang in there, Jason. Nine more days until practice starts. Oh, yeah! Happy birthday, Jason.

WHERE DOES THE BLAME LIE?

Major league sports in America has all but forgotten the fan. You know who the fan is don't you?

They are the ones who pay the salaries. They provide a good living for those who own and those who play the game.

They are the ones being snubbed this season.

The crybabies of major league baseball have folded their tents and are at home or on vacation. They will have the winter months to wonder if they will play next year or seek employment somewhere else.

Now the National Hockey League has joined the baseball boys and set the NHL season back three weeks. Personally, I don't care anything about the NHL anyway, so there is no sympathy here.

But, wait a minute. Now the boys of roundball are talking foolishness and a lockout may be on the horizon in the NBA.

The franchise owners are concerned over escalating salaries. The players are concerned over their egos being bruised but no one is concerned about the fans.

Integrity in sports has been lost. Respect between owner and player is lost. Loyalty is lost.

Where do we draw the line?

Major league baseball owners should drop their pursuit of a salary cap, get the baseball season going and then do this:

If a player, who is drawing a ridiculous salary (that's most of them), doesn't want to play for the Cincinnati Reds or whatever club, then bid him farewell and let him go elsewhere. Bring up a promising minor league player and let him replace the delinquent child on the roster.

The owners are to blame for the high salaries of today. The players have been spoiled so they will never be satisfied, no matter what kind of an agreement they make.

I am a Cincinnati Reds fan and have been since my school days. But when I go to see the Reds play, I don't necessarily go to see big name ballplayers. I go to see my team win (which they don't do too often).

Major league sports need to look toward the ones who feed their greedy hands -- the fans. They need to bring some integrity back to the game.

Allen Central cross-country competes in Lexington

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Allen Central cross-country team traveled to Lexington's Horse Park to take part in the Lexington Catholic Invitational Cross-Country meet this past Saturday.

Thirty-three teams made their way to the meet in which 211 girls and 222 boys competed against each other.

Allen Central's girls placed 25th overall and scored 782 points. Coach Dewey Jamerson said that his team made a good showing.

"We ran well," he said. "Annie (Harvey) was a little ticked that she didn't run her personal best. We had some good times and it was real good competition."

Five states—Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Tennessee—were represented at the meet.

Harvey placed 108th overall in the race with a time of 18:26.58. Dreama Isaac and Crystal Martin ran their personal best. Isaac placed 128 at 19:06.06 and Martin ran in at 20:59.02 for 168th.

Mary Baldrige finished 188 with Heather Conley at 190. Summer Bailey placed 194th.

"Any time runners improve their times and run a personal best, what can you say?" explained Jamerson.

The Allen Central boys finished 28th overall with 780 points.

Josh Patton placed 102 with a time of 18:52.60. "He was about 30 seconds off his personal best and a new school record," said Jamerson.

Todd Howard finished under 20 for the first time and ran a personal best with a time of 19:52.95 for 142nd place. Jay Harvey and Brian Crawford had personal best as well. Harvey posted a time of 21:10.81 for 166th place while Crawford finished 171st with a mark of 21:35.96.

"Brian was about three minutes off his personal best," Jamerson said.

Sam Bently ran a 22:12.52 for a personal best and sixth grader Jeremy Hayes finished 192 with a time of 28:31.43.

"We sort of threw Jeremy to the wolves," said Jamerson. "It was his first race for us."

"Everybody, but one, had a personal best for the boys. It was a good race as well. We had some good times and we'll take it."

Jamerson said that he would have liked to have had someone in the top 100, but as long as a runner shows improvement, he is accomplishing something.

"I would like to see our kids work out on their own," he said. "They need to take it more serious. I would like to see them get tired of losing and want to do better."

Jamerson said that Annie Harvey could be "unreal" as a runner if she set her mind to it.

"Kevin Stumbo is another one that could be an excellent cross-country runner. He has the build for being a strong runner at meets. He just needs a head for the sport. He has to want to win."

Prestonsburg visits Magoffin County tonight

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Week seven of the high school football season is about to unfold and the Prestonsburg Blackcats will be taking their modest two-game winning streak into "Caba Country" tonight as they face a surprising Magoffin County Hornets team.

Prestonsburg is 3-3 on the season and even in district play at 1-1.

Magoffin County is sporting an impressive 4-2 overall record and are 1-2 in district play. The Hornets also are coming off a strong outing against Fairview after pasting the Eagles 54-14 last Friday night.

The Hornets will be showcasing the third best quarterback in the state

Crisp leads Allen past Sandy Valley

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Allen Eagles won only the second time this football season when they turned back the Sandy Valley Bobcats 28-0 in grade school football Tuesday night.

The win improved the Eagles to 2-4 on the season.

Seth Crisp was involved in every phase of the game with an interception, punt returns and defense.

Crisp totaled 181 yards on offense, scoring two touchdowns. Jason Keathley rushed for 64 yards and Aaron Bingham had 11 yards on four carries.

Quarterback Carl Smith completed two passes for 46 yards. Crisp was at the receiving end of a pass for 27 yards. Keathley had one catch for 19 yards.

Jessie Isaac kicked two PATs for the Eagles who fumbled the football once.

With 1:37 left in the first period, the Eagles took a 8-0 lead on a 76-yard punt return by Crisp. Isaac added the PAT.

On pass play action, Keathley, on a half back pass, hit Crisp with a 27-yard toss for the second touchdown that gave the Eagles a 14-0 lead.

Sandy Valley quarterback Tyler Puckett was intercepted early in the second quarter and, you guessed it, Crisp took the interception and galloped 68 yards for the touchdown for a 20-0 Allen lead at the half.

Sandy Valley looked as if they were going to put some points on the scoreboard when Puckett completed a 62-yard pass, putting the ball on the Allen 9-yard line.

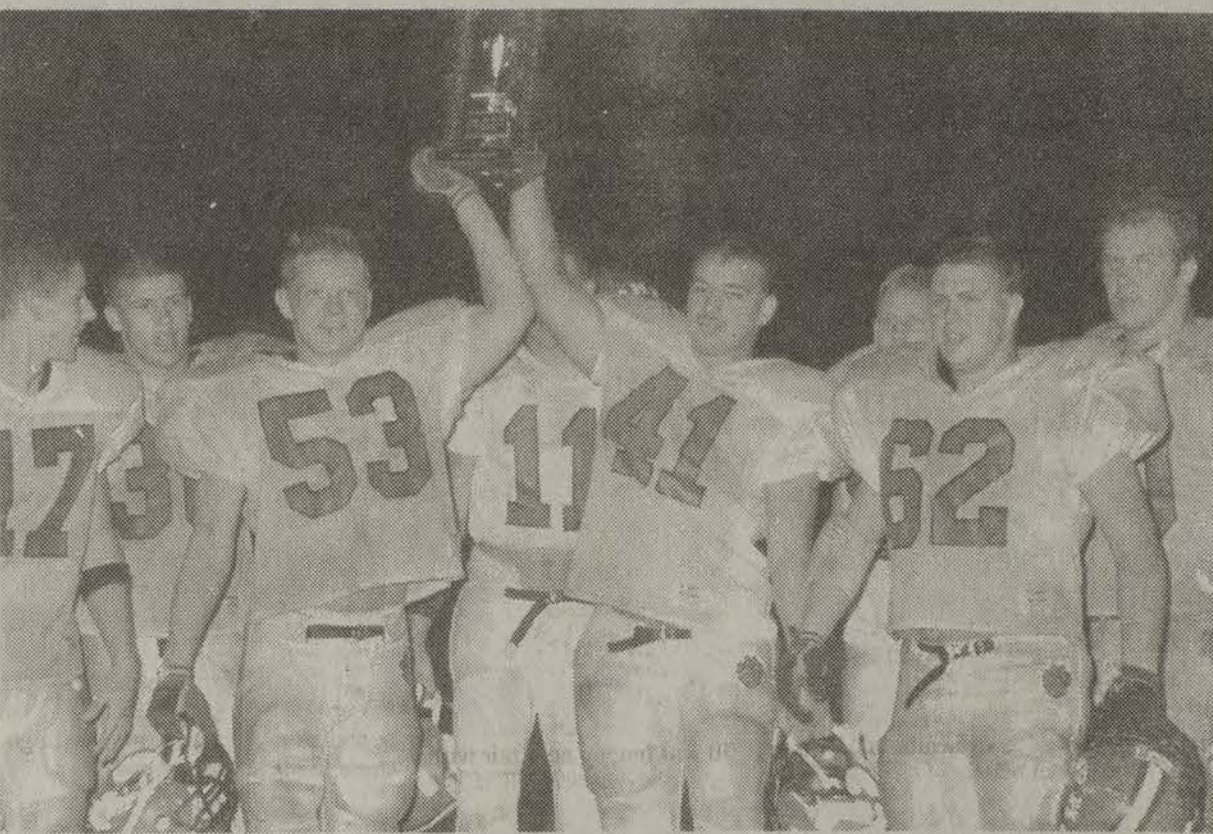

But the Bobcats were unable to move the football against the Allen line and had to settle for a field goal attempt from the 17-yard line. The attempt failed.

Allen had control of the football as the third quarter ended. But on a third-and-four from the Sandy Valley 39, Keathley ran the football into the end zone and Isaac kicked his second PAT for a 28-0 game.

Sandy Valley had a minus-21 in rushing, but did finish with 62 total yards on offense thanks to Puckett's passing of 82 yards. Brooks Bradley had one reception for 20 yards.

Allen will hold their homecoming festivities this Saturday at 11 a.m. at the elementary school. The Eagles will face South Floyd.

First Jenny Wiley Bowl ...

Ortega sparks Prestonsburg early in win over Betsy Layne

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Senior Ryan Ortega rushed for 118 all-purpose yards and Mike Shepherd gained 103 yards to lead the Prestonsburg Blackcats to a 34-0 win over the Betsy Layne Bobcats.

The two teams met in an unusual Monday night game that drew a large crowd.

The Blackcats pretty well had things going their way from the onset, rolling to their third victory this season. The Blackcats improved to 3-3 on the season, and won for the second straight time.

Betsy Layne fell to 2-4, playing their second consecutive county team.

Twelve different players carried the football for Prestonsburg. Coach Bill Letton went deep to the bench, giving the junior varsity, as well as, freshmen playing time.

Ortega put the Blackcats on the scoreboard early as he raced 57 yards on a punt return after it was three downs and out for Betsy Layne.

He carried the football twice for 7 yards and picked up 54 yards on an interception.

The Bobcats were held to three downs on their second possession and sophomore back Jon Morris made it a 13-0 game on a 31-yard run. Thomas Ratliff added the PAT for a 14-0 game.

The Bobcat woes continued on their third possession. On a second-and-ten, Ortega picked off a Craig Hamilton pass and returned the football to the Betsy Layne 21.

On a pass play action, Ratliff hit Clint Shutts from 20-yards out for the touchdown. Ratliff added the PAT and it was 21-0 after the first quarter.

Betsy Layne didn't pick up a first down until mid way of the second quarter. On a boot-leg play, Brent Akers hit Rocky Hamilton with a half-back pass for a 12 yard pickup. The Blackcats were assessed 15 yards on a personal foul putting the football at the Prestonsburg 48.

The Bobcats looked to be in excellent position but the Blackcats defense stopped them on four plays.

With 1:53 left in the first half, Mike Shepherd crossed the goal line on a 4-yard run and Ratliff kicked his fourth PAT for a 28-0 halftime lead for the Blackcats.

The final Prestonsburg TD came at the start of the third period when Morris ran the ball into the end zone from 15-yards out for a 34-0 game. Ratliff had his PAT blocked.

Betsy Layne just couldn't get any kind of offense going against the line of Prestonsburg. Jason Blackburn picked off a Hamilton pass with less than five minutes to play in the third period.

Coach Letton played the junior varsity the third period and ran his freshmen in the fourth.

Winless Allen Central Rebels look to McCreary Central tonight

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It has been a disappointing football season for the Allen Central Rebels. Not because they have yet to win a football game this season. But because they have competed well in every game but one. They could easily be 4-2 instead of 0-6.

Legitimate defeats came at the hand of Pikeville and Fleming-Neon, although some will tell you that had it not been for a fourth quarter breakdown, the Neon game was closer than the 19-0 final.

But against Elkhorn City, Berea and Jenkins, the Rebels had the lead only to see it fade in the final quarter. Against Betsy Layne they had the football in the closing minutes of the game and couldn't score.

Tonight the Rebels head down the Daniel Boone Parkway toward Somerset to face McCreary Central, a team they beat at home last year 32-8.

Last year the Rebels had a running game with fullback Glenn Floyd. Floyd gained 160 yards against McCreary Central, but he has graduated. Freshman Thomas Jenkins also added two receptions for 82 yards and he returns this year.

No rushing game has presented a problem for the Rebels through the first six games. That's why coach Glenn Reeves has gone to the air with quarterback Adam Coleman (5'10", 155). Coleman has thrown for 755 yards over the past three games, airing it out against Jenkins for 385 yards.

However, the Rebel coach says that the ball may be moved on the ground more than in the past.

"We will go from throwing the football 70 percent of the time to 60 percent," said the Rebel mentor.

A quarterback needs good receivers, and Coleman has five good targets.

Betsy Layne JVS hands Pike Central 36-22 setback

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Wes Collins, a junior, gathered in a kickoff and returned it 85 yards for a touchdown as the Betsy Layne junior varsity squad posted a 36-22 win over Pike Central Wednesday night.

"Our offensive line really came to play tonight," said coach Jody Cecil.

The offensive line consisting of Brad Kimbler, Shawn Rose, Stewart Hall, Darrin Reynolds and Clifton Boyd opened the holes for the backfield.

Ray Lyons led the ground game for the Bobcats with 87 yards on 12 carries. Jarred Newsome picked up 78 yards on 10 carries.

Eric Cecil and Timmy Nunnemaker came up with some big defensive plays, as well, and pulled in an interception each.

Reynolds, Rodney Hamilton and Kimbler each had a fumble recovery.

Hamilton led the defensive side with eight tackles. Boyd finished with six and Jarred Newsome had five. Collins and Reynolds had four and three respectively.

Allen Central

• Thomas Jenkins (6'3", 175) had five catches for 106 yards versus Betsy Layne. Against Jenkins he pulled down six catches for 104 yards.

• Kevin Stumbo (6'1", 160) is a newcomer to the Rebels attack, having not started the season. But Stumbo has been a good addition to the passing game of the Rebels. He caught four passes against Jenkins for 103 yards.

• Estill Stumbo (5'9", 145) had seven catches for 108 yards versus Jenkins.

• Brad Blackburn (6', 165) is a versatile player and has been active in the passing game of the Rebels.

• Beau Tackett runs from the half back slot but has caught several passes.

However, according to the Allen Central coach, the Rebels will be without the services of one of the five.

"Thomas (Jenkins) has a pulled hamstring and will miss tonight's game," he said. "Chris Bailey has a swollen knee and will not play tonight."

Running the football hasn't been in the game plan for the Rebels since the Pikeville game. Josh Reeves (6', 185) is the team's leading rusher averaging just over 50 yards per game.

Tackett is averaging around 32 yards per game and after that Coleman is carrying a 22 yards per game average.

There may be some new faces in the backfield for Allen Central tonight.

"We will give Craig Crace the opportunity and put Mark Varney back in the backfield," said Coach Reeves. "Also, Gordon Reeves and Shane Blackburn will spend time there. Shane has been impressive in practice."

On the defensive side of the football, the Rebels have struggled at times. They appear to get down on themselves late in the game.

Shawn Robinson (6'3", 245) plays defensive end for the Rebels. He is a solid ball player with good pursuit instincts. James Osborne (5'8", 225) plays nose guard.

Gordon Reeves (6', 155), Blackburn and Josh Reeves fill the three linebacker slots.

"Scooter" Moore plays a tackle position with "Bubba" Osborne at a guard slot.

Coach Reeves Scouting Report...
"We're going down there blind," he said about the Raiders. "We know they have some good kids. They have always been a good team. We've looked at them on film, but we have spent much of our time working on our own stuff.

"They will run a wing offense and a slant 50 on defense. They will be a good opponent for us."

McCreary Central (3-3) on the season is not competing in district play. The Raiders defeated the Kentucky School for the Deaf 34-12 last week.

The Raiders won over Berea, a team that defeated Allen Central at home, 13-8 in the first game of the season.

Game time is set for 7:30 p.m. in Stearns, home of the Raiders.

Tackett's 4TDs gives South Floyd 40-8 win

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Matthew Tackett scored four touchdowns to lead the South Floyd Elementary Raiders to a one-sided 40-8 win over the Allen Central Little Rebels "B" team this past Tuesday night.

Tackett scored the first touchdown of the game in the first quarter to give the Raiders a 6-0 lead.

However, the lead was short-lived. Larry Mullins ran into the end zone and then ran the two-point conversion to give Allen Central their first and only lead at 8-6.

B.J. Bryant turned up the burners and he ran the football to pay dirt to send South Floyd out to a 12-8 lead. Tackett scored his second TD on a pass from quarterback Josh Johnson. Tackett then ran the two-point conversion for a 20-8 game.

Bryant made it 26-8 at the half with his second touchdown of the game.

Tackett kept up the scoring pace by intercepting a pass and returning it all the way for the touchdown. He also ran the two-point conversion to make it 34-8.

South Floyd's final score came in the fourth quarter when Tackett crossed the goal line for a final 40-8 count.

Allen's Seth Crisp took a punt and returned it 77 yards for a touchdown against Sandy Valley last Tuesday night at Betsy Layne. Crisp scored three touchdowns to lead the Eagles to a 28-0 win over the Bobcats. (photo by Ed Taylor)

A Look At Sports

I, for one, don't see the excitement being in the fans eyes once the issues have been settled. They have learned, after this baseball season, that you can't trust the owners or the players.

DANIELS RECLAIMS SEATS...

When Don Daniels was principal at Allen Central High School, he went to Betsy Layne and "borrowed" some bleachers for his football field.

Now, Daniels has come out of retirement and is the principal at Betsy Layne High School.

The other day he told Allen Central principal Jody Sword that he had something that belonged to him - the bleachers. Mr. Daniels then went and reclaimed the seats that he "borrowed" several years ago. They are sitting on the visitors side of the Betsy Layne football field.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL IN WEEK 7

Only three weeks remain in the regular football season after tonight's games. It certainly has been a quick year.

• Prestonsburg appears to be the only county school with playoff hopes although, mathematically, South Floyd is still in the picture.

• What a great job the Prestonsburg band did last Monday night. They have come back strong. Great job!

• Red, White and Blue Bowl game will feature Allen Central at South Floyd, Friday, October 14.

• Last year's game was a ugly one. Here's hoping that it gets better this time around. I believe it will.

• Could it be like the South Floyd/Allen Central elementary game Monday night. The Allen Central coach pulled his team off the field and loaded them on the bus -- before half-time. Too many penalties (70 yards in eight minutes) was the reason.

The fight could have had something to do with it also.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports. Take your kids to church Sunday.

Something has got to give at the top. The four seem to be looking at each others picks! Jodi is making her move as she makes her first appearance on the top. Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne are the only county teams picked to win in week seven. The Blackcats should take Magoffin County while Betsy Layne will win over Berea on homecoming day. Kentucky gets the week off, and they need it. Texas will lasso the Sooners of Oklahoma. Auburn will do a war dance around Mississippi State while Notre Dame will slip past Boston College. Dallas, without Emmett, will win over Arizona. Miami gets the nod over Buffalo.

Betsy Layne will have to watch out for the Chasteen Brothers!

The Berea Pirates have journeyed to Floyd County once all ready this season and will make their second trip tomorrow afternoon as they provide homecoming opposition for the Bobcats of Betsy Layne.

All the festivities will get started around 4 p.m. with kick-off time set for 4:30 p.m.

Berea owns a victory here in the mountains after coming from behind to upend the Allen Central Rebels earlier and hopes to make it two straight over Floyd County teams.

When you look at the Pirates, you wonder how they have won two games. But the Pirates are a quick team led by Bruce and Anthony Chasteen.

Anthony Chasteen is the quick one and possesses some very impressive moves. Bruce plays the wing back slot and is the power runner. Both will challenge the Bobcat front line.

Scott Kaylor (6'2", 220, senior) will quarterback the Pirates. Kaylor, who doesn't pass that much, will look for his receivers.

Mostly, his receivers include Bruce Chasteen who caught seven passes for 117-yards versus Allen Central. Kaylor will have Eric Huff (6'2", 150, senior) as well as Anthony Chasteen to throw to.

If there is a letdown, it will be in the passing coverage that the Pirates give. The secondary for Berea is suspect, but the Bobcats do not throw the ball that much themselves.

Kaylor is a good option quarterback who has decent speed. But the Chasteen boys will carry the football 90 percent of the time.

A shortage of players has caused many of the Pirate players to go both ways. Anthony Chasteen plays a line-backer slot while Bruce Chasteen is a defensive back. Eric Hasty (5'9", 150, junior) and Phillip Williams (5'11", 192, senior) plays the other linebacker spots.

The Pirates lack the size on their defensive line, but are very quick coming off the ball. Josh Paluzi (6', 275, junior) anchors a tackle slot with Jeremy Miller (5'10", 182, freshman) on the other side of the ball.

Berea lost their first three games of the season before knocking off Allen Central. They fell to Kentucky Country Day 28-14 and dropped a 18-16 loss to Eminence. Last week, the Pirates rolled past Grant County 32-14.

Coach Barsch Scouting Report...

"They are definitely the biggest line we will go up against this year," he said. "They are big and strong and are very big up front. They will line up in a wishbone and come at us."

Coach Barsch said that his ballclub hasn't faced that kid of defense this season.

"And that concerns us," he said. "Hopefully, we can use our speed to compensate for the difference in size. We did that against Allen Central when we played them."

"Bubba" Combs pictures a problem for the Pirates, according to Coach Barsch.

"Boy, he's big and strong. We remember him from last year and he had a real good game against us."

Coach Barsch predicts the game will be a good one and a close one.

The Pirates are reporting no injuries but the flu bug has bitten the

Berea to help Bobcats celebrate homecoming

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The date: October 8, 1993.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats traveled to Richmond to face the Berea Pirates in a matchup of two clubs that were struggling to win.

The same Berea team will enter the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex this Saturday, October 8, to face the Bobcats in a special day for the Floyd County school: It will be homecoming at Betsy Layne.

In last year's game, Keith Hamilton intercepted a Berea pass late in the fourth quarter and returned the catch 78 yards for a game-winning touchdown. Betsy Layne dusted off the Pirates 20-14.

But that was last year and Keith Hamilton is gone. But the Bobcats return the leading rusher against Berea last year, Rocky Hamilton, who rushed for 138 yards.

Hamilton, a very strong runner, will find the line of the Pirates to his liking perhaps, because the size is not there to contain the senior.

Brent Akers may have just the speed to get outside on the Pirates' defense for some long yardage. But the secret of the Bobcats could be quarterback Craig Hamilton if he can hit a few receivers like Hamilton, Willie Meade or Timmy Nunnemaker.

The pass coverage of the Pirates is lacking as the opposition, who likes to throw the football (such as Magoffin County), has found out this season.

The Betsy Layne defensive line may be the best the Pirates has or will face this season. Led by tackle Bubba Combs, the line is solid from end to end.

Combs (6'4", 290) is one defender the backfield tries to run the opposite of. Combs is a solid lineman and has some strong company with him.

"Big" John "Bobo" Hall (6'3", 305) looms large on the defensive line, and when you add Shannon Hall (5' 10", 285), you have a wall that is hard to penetrate.

The Pirates like to sweep and use their quickness in cutting up the middle, which means the linebackers will have to be set. But the talent is there in Rocky Hamilton, Jason Hamilton (5'7", 246) and Rodney Hamilton (5'7", 180).

Berea coach Anthony Barsch believes that Rocky Hamilton is the key back for the Bobcats and stopping him won't be easy.

"He is a very strong runner," he said. "He has very good speed and he's their key. We have to stop him."

Barsch said the key to a Pirate win will be how they utilize their speed.

"It will be our speed versus their size," he said. "There is no way we can run through them."

Coach Barsch said that getting outside will be a major key for his team.

"Not only that, but we will have to throw the football some," he said.

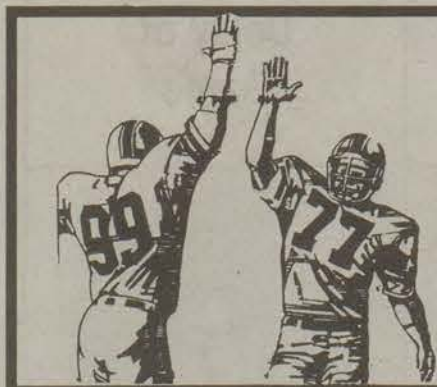

Anthony Chasteen has carried the football 82 times this season for 530 yards rushing.

Scott Kaylor quarterbacks the Pirates, and although he is a senior, he has had his problems this year.

"He had a better year last year," said Coach Barsch.

Kaylor has been intercepted 10 times this season and has only tossed for one touchdown. He has completed 48 of 101 passes for 507 yards.

It will be homecoming tomorrow at Betsy Layne. The pregame festivities will get underway at 4 p.m. with the homecoming queen being in junior Mike Caba (6', 161). Caba is ranked third in the state in passing and he will be attempting to air it out against one of the stronger secondary's in the district.

Prestonsburg

Caba has three very capable targets in Jason Robinette (5'10", 138), Brian Risner (6'3", 181) and fullback Grayson Smith (6'2", 217).

Prestonsburg has completed one of the toughest first half schedules around and they appear ready for the final four district games.

The backfield for Prestonsburg has improved vastly since the start of the season. Sophomore Jon Morris, replacing the injured Robbie Risner, had two strong outings against district foe Shelby Valley and county rival Betsy Layne.

Risner is expected to return tonight against Magoffin County and that will give added strength to the backfield. Mike Shepherd continues to carry the football well.

Fumbles, fumbles and more fumbles has plagued the Blackcats through the first half of the season and they must take better care of the football tonight against the Hornets.

Magoffin County doesn't run the ball all that much, leaving the yardage in the hands of Caba.

Ryan Ortega (5'11", 165), Jason Blackburn (5'5", 140) and Clint Shutts (6', 155) will roam the secondary for the Blackcats with Ortega as the last line of defense at free safety.

The Blackcat trio has been sensational in the secondary all season. Against Shelby Valley they had five interceptions between them. Both Shutts and Orgea pulled down two with Blackburn gathering in one.

Not only will Caba have to be concerned about throwing against the secondary, but the onslaught of the Blackcats defensive line will be much on his mind.

Larry Morris (6'1", 220) at one linebacker position is "The Pursuer," and will put pressure on the passing game of the Hornets.

Waylon Bevins (5'11", 155") has emerged as a strong lineman and has been putting pressure on past quarterbacks. He had two sacks versus Betsy Layne Monday night. He led the Prestonsburg defense against Shelby Valley with six tackles.

Another surprise for the Blackcats defense has been the play of junior Jonathan Estep (5'10", 155). Estep came up with eight tackles against the Bobcats Monday night and has been in the middle of several outstanding defensive plays.

The newly renovated Hornet stadium should be rocking tonight as a large, noisy crowd is expected. It will be a big district game for both ballclubs.

Game Notes:

- Prestonsburg defeated Magoffin County 47-7 a year ago.

- The Hornets totaled 132 yards offensively against the Prestonsburg defense.

- Caba passed for 129 yards last year.

- After the win last year, the Blackcats were a perfect 7-0.

Coach Caba's Scouting Report... "I have told my kids that Prestonsburg's 3-3 record is very deceiving," said Coach Caba. "(Thomas) Ratliff is an outstanding football player. I like the Morris kid. I saw him play tightend against Betsy Layne and he a solid ball player.

"Prestonsburg is a well coached team and are back on track. This is a bad time for us to be playing them when they are playing much better."

Caba said that Prestonsburg will be one of the best defensive ball teams that his club has faced this season.

"Shelby Valley was a good defensive ballclub," he said. "Prestonsburg did a great job against them and that worries us."

Caba said that to win tonight, the Hornets will have to do what they do best and play their game.

"We need more discipline on the field," he said. "We have gotten too many penalties and that has hurt us. We are capable of scoring some points. Prestonsburg is a team that is rich in tradition. We can't make any mistakes against them.

Coach Caba said that he was impressed with the play of Jon Morris.

"He did a heck of a job against Betsy Layne Monday night," he said.

The Hornets are healthy and await the Blackcats.

Quarterback Mike Caba has attempted 178 passes this season and completed 97 for 1,503 yards passing. He has thrown for 17 touchdowns.

"Mike is starting to develop as a smart quarterback," said Coach Caba. "He really reads the coverage very good."

Game time is set to kickoff at 7:30 p.m.

second half with freshmen Dennis Lafferty, Mark Miller and Ian Slone carrying the football late in the game.

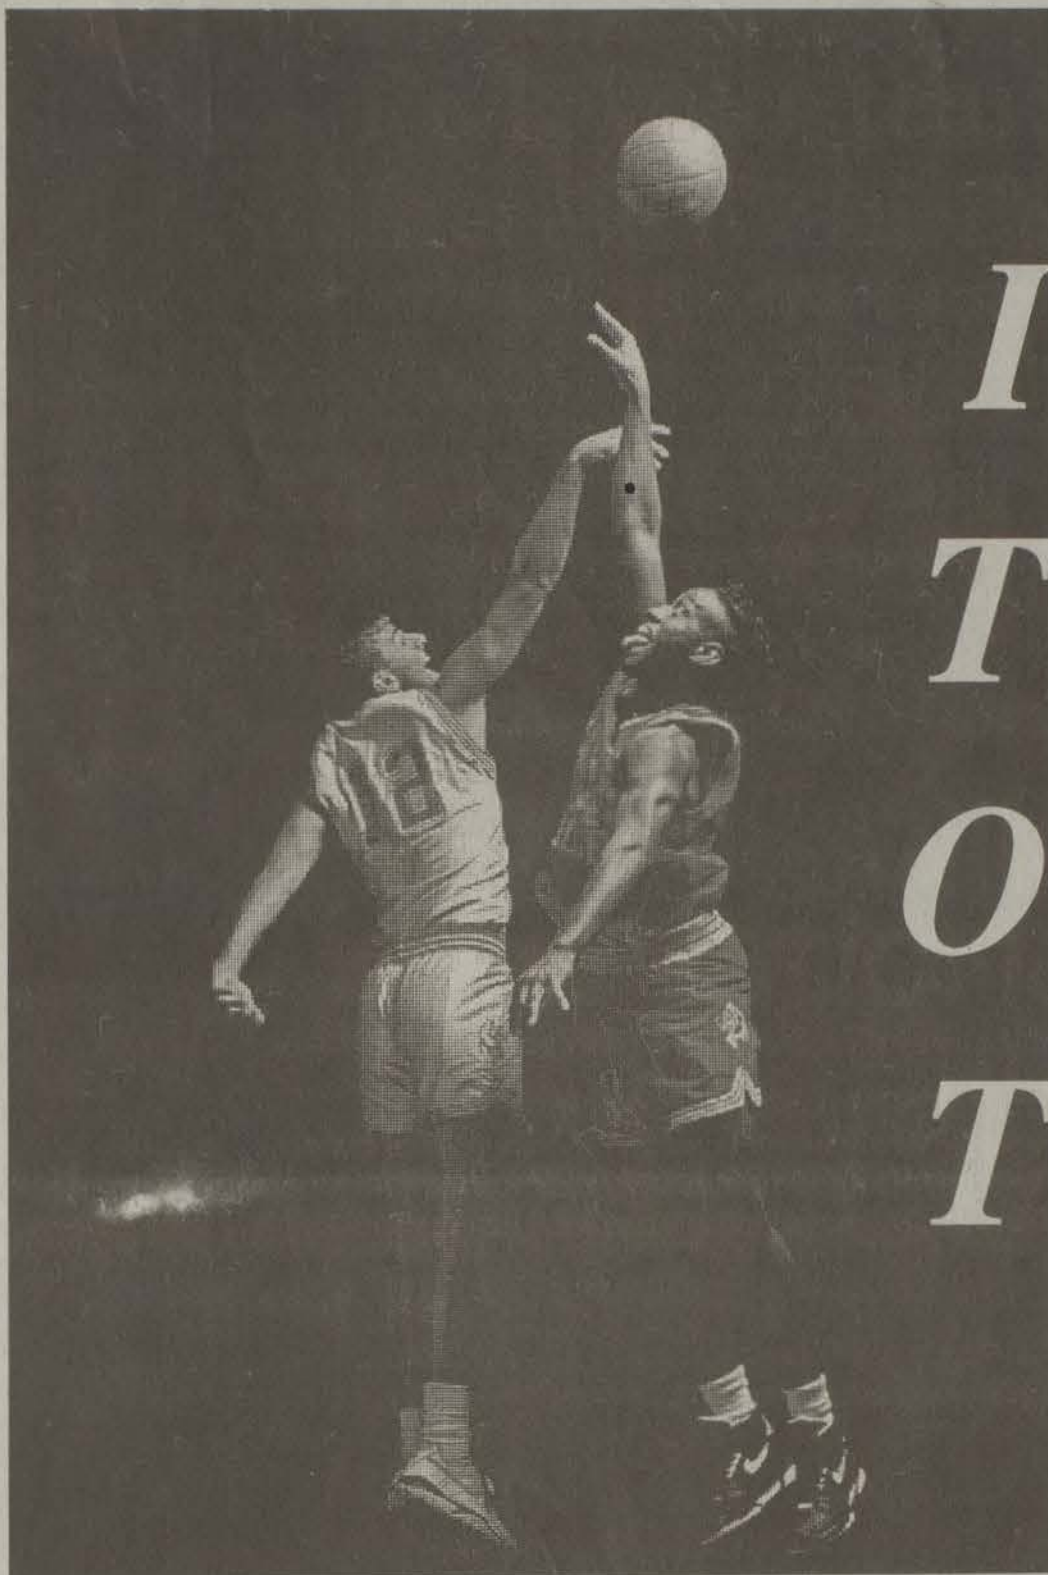

Rocky Hamilton led Betsy Layne in rushing with 36 yards on 14 carries. Akers finished with 20 yards on 10 attempts.

The Bobcats totaled 89 yards on offense with Akers completing two passes for 24 yards. Betsy Layne did not have any penalties and they turned the ball over twice.

Rocky Hamilton had two receptions for 31 yards.

Brian Jones had an outstanding second half for Prestonsburg, rushing for 63 yards on four carries. His longest run was a 49-yard pick up.

Ratliff had 30 yards rushing on two carries. Matt Lafferty finished with six carries for 7 yards.

We're making a few changes at First Guaranty National Bank, not the least of which is a new name. Now it's Trans Financial. But very soon, we'll also be adding many new products and services not usually found in a bank - like a full range of investment vehicles and complete travel services.

What hasn't changed are the friendly people and the nice little personal touches you're used to. It's just that now, those same friendly people will have more to offer - not only more banking services, but more money for business expansion, new home construction and home loans.

So please stop by. And see how sweet it is.
