New charges multiply Hammond's woes

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond and his wife, Janie, were indicted by a federal grand jury in Ashland Wednesday on seven charges, which included allegations that the pair devised an elaborate check kiting scheme involving $8.4 million in fictitious funds using four local banks.

The Hammonds are also charged with making a false loan application in order to obtain a loan from The Bank of Josephine in Prestonsburg to make payments to cover an overdraft in excess of $150,000, which resulted from the alleged check kiting.

The four banks identified in the indictment are The First Guaranty Bank at Martin; Pikeville National Bank in Pikeville and branch banks at Weddington Plaza and Prestonsburg; Trans Financial Bank in Pikeville and a branch at North Mayp Trail in Pikeville; and Matewan Bank in Pikeville.

Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond and his wife Janie had additional charges levied against them Wednesday by a federal Grand Jury sitting in Ashland.

According to the indictment, the Hammonds "engaged in what is commonly referred to as a check kiting scheme, involving an elaborate series of checks and deposits, drafted and made in a predetermined sequence, between and among the above banks and branches, to create the false appearance of funds that did not exist.

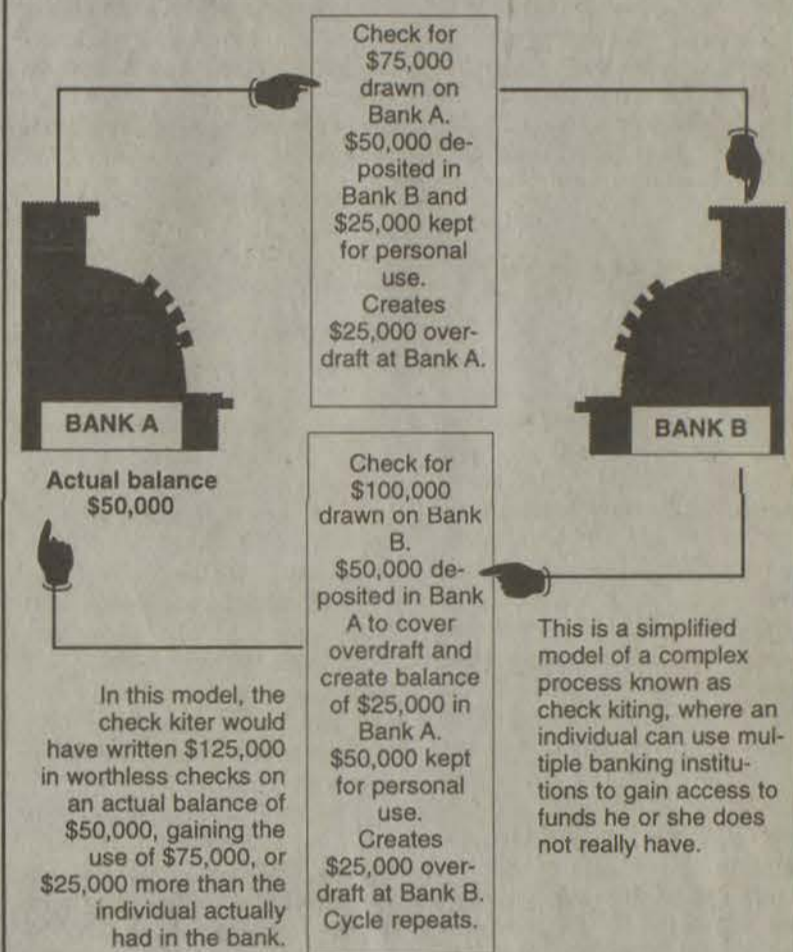

"In so doing, the defendants relied upon the provisional credit extended to them by the banks, wherein the banks credited the accounts immediately upon the deposit of an uncollected check, as opposed to waiting until the funds were collected," the indictment said. "It was further part of the scheme...that the defendant, Claudina 'Janie' Hammond, instructed various employees of Hammond Law Office to take bank deposits to several of the above banks on various days, in a certain sequence, in order to insure that the kite would continue."

The alleged acts took place between June and October 1994, according to the indictment, and that thousands of kited checks, totaling $8,484,695, were written to the four banks during that time. "On or about the seventh day of October 1994, Claudina Janie Hammond obtained from the Bank Josephine a loan advance in the amount of $20,000," the indictment charges. "On or about the tenth day of October 1994, Claudina 'Janie' Hammond obtained two loan advances from the Bank Josephine in the combined amount of $75,000. On or about the tenth day of October

Gas leak results in explosion; one hurt

by Alisa Goodwill
Staff Writer

A small gas leak contributed to an explosion at a Bull Creek apartment Sunday afternoon, authorities said.

Prestonsburg Fire Chief Tom Blackburn said at the time of the explosion, a maintenance man was lighting the propane heat stove, unaware that gas was leaking into the room.

The apartment, owned by Dorothy Branham, once had a gas kitchen stove, which was replaced with an electric stove. When the gas stove was replaced a small copper gas line was not capped off, Blackburn said.

"The explosion blew the toilet off, moved a wall four inches off the foundation and blew out the front door and window," Blackburn said. "The kitchen and bedroom were damaged by the fire."

The maintenance man received minor burns while trying to put the flames out, he added.

The fire was contained before damaging neighboring homes.

Know-how can save lives, students learn

by Alisa Goodwill
Staff Writer

A larger-than-life dinosaur and Dalmatian made their way to several elementary schools last week to preach fire safety during National Fire Prevention Week.

The 30 minute program was sponsored by Prestonsburg Fire Department with Fire Marshal Larry Adams the spokesman for the message.

Adams said he used to put on the show for schools throughout the county, but has scaled back to four to five schools.

The main message for the children is "Stop! Drop! and Roll!" a drill that will save their lives if their clothing ever catches on fire.

Adams tells the story of a young man who heard the fire safety message in grade school and when he was an adult used the "Stop! Drop! and Roll!" drill when his clothing caught on fire. The young man received minor injuries because of his quick thinking, Adams said.

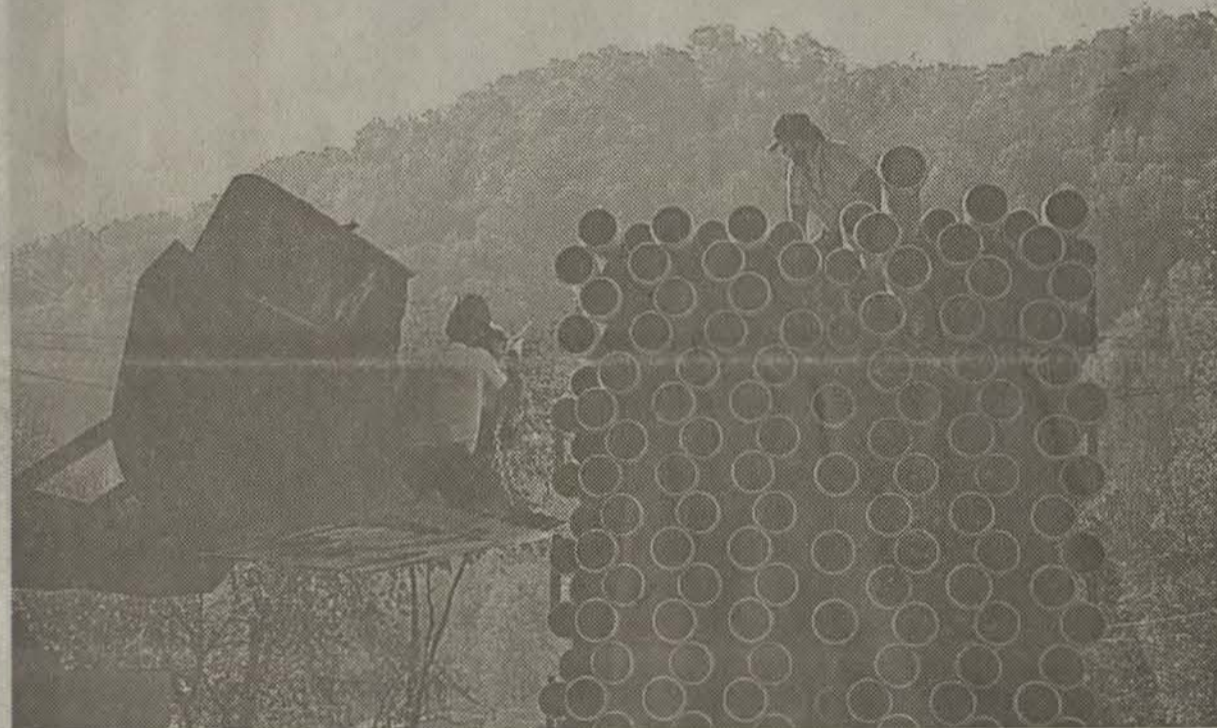

He also demonstrates the sound a smoke detector makes and the proper way of checking doors for heat.

"I use popular cartoon or movie characters in the program so the children will remember the fire message while having fun," Adams said.

In the past Adams has used the Joker, Batman and the Ninja Turtles.

"I wish I could hit every

Personnel policy changes top county code proposal

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County Fiscal Court's meeting today (Friday) is expected to be a long one and it will be the last regular meeting for interim Judge-Executive Bob Meyer.

One item on today's agenda is to set a date for a workshop to discuss the revamping of the county's administrative code.

Meyer said Thursday that the proposed new set of policies and procedures is "significantly changed" from the county's old code, but he said that the changes are necessary to incorporate into the code certain statutory requirements.

One of the main areas targeted for change are personnel policies.

"Part of the personnel policy section needed a lot of required information, procedures and policies presently not in there," Meyer said. "It needed to be totally reworked. That's the main reason I jumped in it."

After receiving a draft of the proposal, Meyer said that magistrates had a lot of questions about the changes and he decided that a work session was needed to address those concerns.

Also on today's agenda:

- first reading of an ordinance relating to the financing of a new court facility;
- setting of the 1995 real and personal property tax rates;
- discussions relating to an industrial site at Ivel;
- first reading of an ordinance creating a merit board for deputy sheriffs;
- appointments to the county's health board, development authority, Beaver Elkhorn Water District, boards of trustees for fire protection districts and to the board of assessments appeals; and
- petitions to close several roadways and petitions asking that roads be taken into the county systems.

The meeting is set to begin at 10 a.m. and will be held in the circuit courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse.

P'burg band marching on in competition

by Alisa Goodwill
Staff Writer

The Prestonsburg High School Marching Band is headed for the East Regional Band Competition Saturday.

The band is able to compete in regionals this year after receiving two overall ratings of distinguished, one at Shelby Valley High School Marching Band Festival and the other at Pikeville High School Marching Band Festival.

"I'm happy we made it this far," Band Director Keith Coleman said. "It doesn't matter how we place Saturday because we have already come a long way."

The last time the PHS Marching Band received a distinguished rating was in 1987 or 1988. A distinguished rating means a score of 80 or above.

The band will compete against 14 other bands in the AA class Saturday. If the band ranks in the top eight, they will go onto semi-finals.

"We can't control the other bands, but we can control how

Once an abuser, always an abuser

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

"One out of every two women in the United States will be in a violent relationship in their lifetime. Not because 50 percent of all men are abusers, but because we as a society completely fail to hold them accountable and provide sanctions for that abuse."

— Sarah Buel, Assistant District Attorney for Quincy, Maryland, in a speech delivered November 18, 1991.

In public, their bruises are covered with make-up or long sleeves. They appear quiet and withdrawn. Their partners appear to be friendly, caring individuals, but the happy couple facade ends behind closed doors.

Thirty percent of American women will be assaulted by their partners at some time in their lives, according to statistics from the U.S. Justice Department.

Sometimes that assault ends in death. At the Big Sandy Family Abuse Center in the last year, two women and two children have died at the hands of their abusers after they left the safety of the shelter.

Victims of domestic violence return to an abusive situation because of the emotional commitments they have made in the relationship, Gary Vickers, counselor for the Big Sandy Family Abuse Center, said Thursday.

"The number one reason they stay is because they love them," Vickers said. "The first words out of (the victims') mouths is I love them."

When their partners promise to change and quit abusing them, sometimes the victim will return to the abuser because they want to believe the situation will get better, he added.

It doesn't, Vickers said. "It's more than hope. It's a dream, a fantasy that these people will straighten up. There's a question if these guys can be rehabilitated. I can count on one hand the number of these guys that made any progress."

"These guys are really good at what they do," Vickers said, profiling an abuser. "They are slick in the beginning. Abuse is controlling and these guys are good at manipulating. They can really turn on the charm."

Women are held hostage by their abusers, according to Vickers. "Some guys pull the distributor cap off their cars. Some sit in the hills and watch or have others watch her. Women are prisoners. When they escape, they run for their lives."

One victim who escaped to the safety of the shelter literally jumped at a chance to leave her abuser. When her husband left the home to buy cigarettes, she ran to a window facing the back of her home. She jumped out of the window, landing in a ditch beneath the window, Vickers said.

The victim crawled along the ditch to avoid being seen by her abuser's family who lived next door and who were supposed to make sure she didn't leave the house while her husband was gone. The woman made her way through the ditch until she reached a store. There, she called the Big Sandy Family Abuse Center's toll-free number, 1-800-649-6605. The center called the state police who transported her to the abuse center where she found the help she needed.

Vickers praised the cooperation he has received from the state police and the local police who regularly patrol the area where the center is located.

Although the center's location is supposed to be a secret, a slip of the tongue once revealed its location to an abuser. When an abuser called the Johnson County Sheriff's Department, asking if they knew what had happened to his wife, someone at the department said the woman was probably at the center and revealed the general area of the site.

Because there is always support at the center and the area's police officers respond within minutes of receiving a call, trouble was averted, Vickers said. The Big Sandy Abuse Center has a network of centers throughout the region and victims can be moved out of one area and into another, Vickers said.

"We have created a safe environment at the shelters," he added.

Victims who have used the shelter said that it saved their lives.

"It was nice to be safe," one victim said recently.

"I'm happy to know that there is a place to turn to in a crisis. I found that I'm not the only person being abused, there is a pattern," another victim added.

The shelter is a transition station, Vickers explained. Staff at the center help the victims learn to be independent. They show them how to get the financial support they need to live on their own.

The center recently helped Fayette prosecutors put an abuser behind bars. A former student at Prestonsburg Community College sheltered at the abuse center after she escaped from her abusive boyfriend and was sent to the hospital. Vickers was called to the hospital to take her to the shelter. He knew the woman, but when he got to the emergency room, he didn't recognize her because her face was so badly beaten.

The center showed the student how to get on with her life and the woman moved to Lexington to attend the University of Kentucky.

Somehow, her abuser found her and began stalking her. When Fayette police officers arrested the man, Vickers supplied prosecutors with information to help them strengthen their case and the stalker was sentenced to five years in prison.

Because he helps the victims, Vickers often finds himself the victim of abuse. He has even received threats to his own life. "Some (of the abusers) are barking dogs. Some are biting dogs," he said. "They don't like it because I've upset their apple cart when, in fact, they did it themselves."

Vickers counsels victims at six centers throughout the region.

Hammond

1994, Claudina 'Janie' Hammond deposited $45,000 in cash at the Matewan Bank to cover an overdraft. Between June 1, 1994, through October 31, 1994, Jimmy Martin Hammond signed checks totalling $8,484,695, which he knew were not backed by real funds.

The two were indicted last month on conspiracy and fraud charges related to the Child Support Enforcement Division of the county attorney's office. The two are accused of falsifying time sheets/payroll records of child support employees which grossly inflated the amount of hours the employees spent working on child support cases.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Ken Taylor said Wednesday that the additional charges add a "whole new area of allegations" and that the federal probe into Hammond's finances is complete.

"Our grand jury work is complete in this case," Taylor said. "We have no plans to present further matters to the grand jury."

The nine count indictment issued Wednesday included the two prior charges of fraud and conspiracy levied against the Hammonds. Taylor said Wednesday's indictment is a superseding indictment, which means it is issued to "correct, modify or supplement an original indictment."

Taylor explained that the Hammonds allegedly wrote more than $8 million in worthless checks which resulted in $150,000 in overdrafts.

A press release issued by U.S. Attorney's office accuses the two of fraudulently obtaining thousands of dollars from the Bank Josephine saying the money would be used for construction costs on their home, but that those funds went to help pay the overdraft.

Seven additional charges were filed against the two Wednesday, which included four counts of mail fraud; two counts of bank fraud; and one count of making false statements to a lending institution in order to receive a loan.

The mail fraud charges stem from the two allegedly receiving checks from the state treasury which included funds that were allegedly fraudulently obtained by falsification of time sheets/payroll records for child support enforcement employees.

Jim Hammond's attorney, Bernard Pafunda of Pikeville, did not return a phone call seeking comment on Thursday.

Janie Hammond's attorney, John Doug Hays of Pikeville, also did not return a phone call.

No new arraignment date has been set for the Hammonds. They were arraigned on the initial two charges October 2 in U.S. District Court in Pikeville and both pleaded not guilty to the charges.

The Hammonds each face up to 100 years in prison and $3,750,000 in fines if convicted of the charges.

Note: An indictment is not an indication of guilt, but a determination by a grand jury that the charges merit further judicial review.

school," Adams said. "The schedule is hectic and it is exhausting work, but the rewards are tremendous."

What is important is the message stays with the children, he added.

Students are not the only ones who can learn about fire safety, this year the theme for fire prevention week focuses on the major causes of home fires in the United States.

The theme, "Watch What You Heat: Prevent Home Fire," was chosen in order to increase awareness of the top three risks and to help people learn how to avoid fires associated with them.

The top three risks are cooking equipment, heating equipment and smoking materials.

The Kentucky Firefighters Association and the State Fire Marshals Office has the following advice for preventing a home fire:

Cooking. Stay with the stove when you are cooking. The reason most cooking fires happen is that someone leaves the kitchen when there is something cooking on the stove.

Watch the stove, so you'll be able to respond quickly if food bubbles up or if something goes wrong. It's also important to pay attention to the cooking area and remove hazards, such as knick-knack or other combustibles that are placed too close to burners.

Watch the temperatures — heating oil can be especially dangerous if you start with too high a flame or heat it too quickly.

Keep an eye on children when you're cooking. Get children in the habit of staying clear of the stove and microwave — enforce a "kid-free zone" at least three feet around cooking equipment.

Heating. As with cooking equipment, keep an eye on space and portable heaters, wood stoves and fireplaces. Remember the 3-foot rule: measure a safe distance between heating equipment and anything that can burn, including people and pets. Keep an eye on heating equipment and remember to turn it off before leaving home or going to sleep.

Smoking. If you have smokers in your home, you need to watch them carefully. Fires caused by smoking materials kill more people than any other cause of fire. Careless disposal is the major culprit.

If someone in your home smokes, provide them with large, deep, sturdy ashtrays and make sure they are emptied frequently. Always flush ashtray contents or douse them with water before placing them in the trash.

Watch where smokers have been; too. Check upholstery and cushions for smoldering butts before leaving home or going to sleep — especially after a party or when guests have been smoking.

Watch your matches and lighters and keep them high and out of sight when not in use.

Forgy and Patton debate on KET

With election day less than a month away, Kentucky's gubernatorial candidates Larry Forgy and Paul Patton return to the KET studios for a second live Election '95: Candidates for Governor forum Tuesday, October 24, at 9 p.m.

The October gubernatorial forum will follow the format established in the first KET candidate forum in September. Following brief opening remarks, the candidates will be questioned on the major issues of the campaign by journalists Tony Turner of WYMT-TV and Bill Bartleman of the Paducah Sun. Then, randomly-selected private citizens and representatives of two statewide organizations, chosen by drawing, will have the opportunity to ask the candidates questions of their own choosing. The program will also include a second round of questions by the journalists, a segment in which each candidate questions his opponent, and brief closing remarks. WHAS Radio's Jane Norris will host the program.

On Wednesday, October 25, the focus shifts to candidates for two of the state's constitutional offices—attorney general and state auditor. Republican William "Will T." Scott and Democrat A.B. "Ben" Chandler, candidates for attorney general, will be featured in the first segment of the hour-long Election '95: Candidates for Attorney General/State Auditor, while Democrat Ed Hatchett and Republican Don Bell, candidates for state auditor, will appear in the second segment.

In each part of this live forum, candidates will make brief opening statements, then will field questions from a panel of journalists from around the state, including Becky Barnes of the Cynthiana Democrat, Charles Wolfe of the Associated Press and Jack Brammer of the Lexington Herald-Leader. Dan Modlin, WKYU Radio, will moderate the program. The candidates will also be given an opportunity to question their opposition and to make closing remarks.

KET will continue its Election

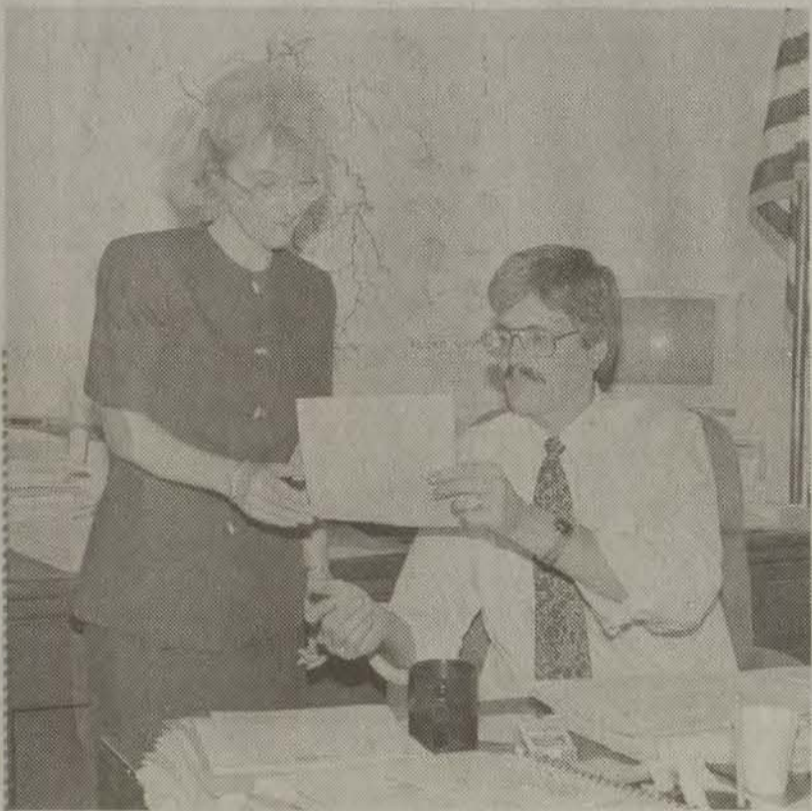

'95 programming with live candidate forums on Monday, October 30, at 10 p.m. when candidates for secretary of state, treasurer and commissioner of agriculture are scheduled to appear, and on Tuesday, October 31, at 9 p.m. with gubernatorial and lieutenant governor candidates returning to the KET studios.

Each Election '95 program will be repeated at 11 p.m. CT the night of the original broadcast. The programs are closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

good we are and we can applaud for the other bands," Coleman said. "I want all the bands to be good, I just want ours to be better."

Coleman said the band is getting stronger and really taking off.

"With the continuing support of the parents, faculty, staff and administrators at Prestonsburg, the future looks great," Coleman said.

The band's size and quality will grow because the middle school already has 40 members in its band, Coleman said.

The band is led by field commander Rhiannon Hedrick and captain Michael Halfhill. This is Coleman's third year directing the band.

"I'm so proud of the work the students have done," Coleman said. "All year I've preached effort, commitment and patience; seems like it's paying off."

Flu season on horizon; time for yearly flu shots

Dropping temperatures in the Bluegrass is a sign that the dreaded flu season is on the horizon. Now is the time to prevent catching it by having a flu shot.

People with certain medical conditions definitely should have a flu shot, Kentucky Department for Health Services officials say. Those people include anyone with chronic heart, lung or kidney disease, as well as all nursing home residents.

In addition, anyone age 65 or older, regardless of their health, should have a flu shot. Physicians, nurses and other health care providers who have contact with high-risk patients should also have the vaccination.

Although nearly anyone who wants to prevent catching the flu can get a shot, health officials recommend the immunizations particularly for the high-risk groups because of dangerous complications that can result in people who already have health problems.

"For people who are elderly or have chronic diseases a bout with the flu can result in life-threatening complications, such as pneumonia," said Karen Adams, R.N., in the departments' division of epidemiology. "People in these high-risk groups should get a flu shot every year."

For maximum protection from the flu, Adams advises getting the shot within the next six weeks.

The shots can be given to most people, except those with a severe allergy to eggs. Those people who have short-term illness with fever should put off getting the shot until they have recovered.

Pregnant women should consult with a doctor before receiving a flu shot.

Flu shots are available from private doctors and through local health departments. Kentuckians who plan to get their shots from the local health department should call ahead to ask about an appointment.

Adams said that Medicare insurance now covers the cost of flu shots, which should help older Kentuckians. Most health departments give flu shots on a sliding-fee scale.

Adams said that people who do not want to get a flu shot because they are afraid it will cause the flu, should not be worried.

"We hear that from people sometimes, but it's really a myth. A flu shot may cause a slight fever or soreness where it is administered, but it will not give people the flu. If someone has gotten the flu soon after they got the shot in the past, it is likely that he had already been exposed to it."

People younger than 18 years who get a flu-like illness should not take aspirin while sick because of the risk of Reye Syndrome, Adams said. Reye Syndrome is a disease that affects the central nervous system and liver and is associated with the combination of flu and aspirin use in children and teens. The syndrome is fatal in 10 to 40 percent of the cases.

Parents should contact their children's doctor for alternatives to aspirin use during flu-like illnesses.

Who'll lead us backward?

by Scott Perry

Both candidates for governor are attempting to gain some political mileage at the expense of Kentucky's education reform act, which comes as no surprise when you consider that education here has always been something of a political animal.

So using education, or bashing education reform to get votes is in vogue, making it absolutely necessary for the style conscious to model their designs of what is chic this season.

Each candidate has his following, most of whom are among the old-dogs-who-won't-learn-new-tricks variety, and they're all joining hands for a happy game of educational ring-around-the-rosy.

And we all fall down...

Fact is, education reform is working and working well...in areas that want to make it work...and it is languishing in areas where people would rather fight than switch.

Giving credence to the naysayers in a gubernatorial campaign, because they make up for their lack of numbers with loud voices, isn't good for the state, the educational system, or the students who are supposed to benefit from it.

Neither candidate is an educator or, we imagine, anywhere remotely associated with what's happening in our schools.

They are politicians who see a chance to capitalize on a public fractured by change.

For crying out loud, education reform is costing us working folks an arm and a leg.

Let's give it a chance, at least, to get fully implemented before we start tearing it apart.

And, if we must make a change, let's not do it for the sake of a vote, let's do it because it is going to make an improvement.

KERA wasn't created to fix something that wasn't broken.

And, we haven't had time yet to see if the repairs it is making will get the overall job accomplished.

Those who prefer that we step backward have either forgotten what we're trying to leave behind, or don't care that Kentucky was once the model of ineffectiveness.

They could stand a little education, themselves.

What happened to old-fashioned entertainment?

Editor:
This is my first time to ever write or try to express my feelings about a matter that I think is of great importance, so I would like very much if you would kindly publish this for me.

You see, in this part of our state, Eastern Kentucky, we the people of these beautiful hills and valleys, have had to work hard for a living all our lives.

We raise our children, pay our taxes, go to church and try to be good citizens, and neighbors. But we need entertainment to calm our nerves and soothe our souls, from just hard work and troubles. I don't think that's asking too much from life. We all deserve it from cradle to grave. But most folks are going about it the wrong way.

Let's look at the way it is and maybe we can somehow stop so much crime.

This is how it is today:

Starting from age two, a child hears: "O.K., girl baby, dance for momma. Come on, dance. Somebody turn the television up louder.

"Now show everybody how you can dance!"

Mother says: "See, she can really do it!"

Age five, the child watches TV four-five hours a day. She can also change channels by now. She sees all that "smut" on TV so she starts to rock and roll and everything else.

Mother says: "Buddy, watch my girl now! Somebody turn the TV up louder. Now show everybody how you can twist. That's the way!"

Now the kid has been in daycare, kindergarten, first grade, second, third, and fourth.

When kinfolks come around, the first thing they say after bragging about how pretty she is, is "have you got a boyfriend yet?"

She looks down and turns red-faced and nods her head affirmative. She hears that time and again until she is 10 or 11 and then begins to think that's what she must do.

Then mother talks to the neighbor next door. "You know my little girl Dawn is growing up fast. I am going to have to get her a bra."

"A bra!" The neighbor looks excited. "Yes, she is about as big as I was at 16. You reckon it's too much TV?"

Mother laughs and giggles a little. Well, it does get a little exciting in some of those love scenes doesn't it?

Mother asks the neighbor: "Little Dawn is in the eighth grade now, so she wants to go out cruisin' with her little boyfriend. You reckon I should let her go?"

"If I don't she just lays on the couch from the time she gets in from school and talks on the phone till late in the night."

Neighbor: "Well, I don't know about that, she's awful young. I'm glad I have just the two boys."

To make a long story short, childhood life is about the same for boys as it is for girls.

We all need entertainment through life.

So the wife and I decided last Saturday to go to the Jenny Wiley Festival. No music, no kind of entertainment. They had a good stage. I asked someone if they were going to have some music. About 3 or 4 people who had stood around in the rain about all day said they never had heard a banjo or good fiddle tune all day and that they were going home.

What's going on anyway? Are we all trying to lose and forget, and deny our heritage? Are we too proud? Do most people want to pretend they really dig Elvis and the Beatles because some of their kinfolks had been up in Ohio and had improved their standard of living came back home and said we were too old-fashioned?

You know the kind I am referring to. I have heard people raised up Beaver Creek, Mud Creek, Caney Creek, and most of these hollers came back from Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, they had worked six-ten months plucking chickens.

Now you would think at first they had been away at college up north by the way they had learned a new language.

I have asked a few to slow down so I could understand what they were saying. Oh, I guess I do talk too popular for "hillbillies," to understand anymore. That's a shame! They try to be something what they ain't.

I am asked, "Are you going back up where you were after your visit here?" No, I don't think I will. I love this state too much, and don't think I will ever go back north. I'm going to stay with my sister and sign up on food stamps, I guess. I hate Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana.

I have gone a long way trying to make my point. So let's wake up and try to furnish good old-fashioned entertainment for our people and a job here at home, especially for young people.

We have the best musicians you will ever hear right here under your nose.

Senior citizens take hike to get tax break

Editor:

Taxes, taxes, taxes.

Born free and taxed to death.

Seems as if when our school board or fiscal court has money problems, they raise taxes.

The school board plans to raise taxes again and no one can do anything about it. We received the largest tax increase in the history of Kentucky five years ago.

Looks as if the school board would hire a manager.

According to an article in the Lexington Herald, seniors are leaving Kentucky to get a tax break.

Text of Federal Indictment

The following is the complete and unedited text of an indictment issued Wednesday, October 18 in Ashland, naming Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond and his wife, Janie Hammond. An indictment is not an indication of guilt, but a determination by a grand jury that criminal charges merit further court action.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT EASTERN DISTRICT OF KENTUCKY, PIKEVILLE INDICTMENT NO. 95-22-S

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
VS.
JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND,
CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND

INTRODUCTION

1. At all times relevant to this indictment, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND, a defendant herein, was the duly elected County Attorney for Floyd County, Kentucky. In that position, he administered a staff of attorneys and support personnel known as the Floyd County Attorney's Office, and he was responsible for performing the duties of that office as required by law, including, among others, criminal prosecutions and child support collection and enforcement. Additionally, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND was engaged in the general practice of law in the firm of Hammond Law Offices, P.S.C., located in Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky.

2. At all times relevant to this indictment, CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, a defendant herein and wife of JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND, was an employee of the Floyd County Attorney's Office. In that position, she performed administrative duties for the Floyd County Attorney's Office, including preparation of monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports for personnel and employees of the Floyd County Attorney's Office and the Hammond Law Office. Additionally, CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND was the office manager of the Hammond Law Offices, P.S.C., located at Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky.

3. At all times relevant to this indictment, the Cabinet for Human Resources, Department of Social Insurance, Division of Child Support Enforcement (hereinafter the "Division of Child Support Enforcement") located in Frankfort, Franklin County, Kentucky was a public office affiliated with the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and was an agency of state government, as that term is defined in Title 18, United States Code, Section 666(d)(2).

4. At all times relevant to this indictment, there was in existence a national program for child support collection and enforcement, as set forth at Title 42, United States Code, Chapter 7, Part D (Title, 42, United States Code, Section 651 et. seq.). The Commonwealth of Kentucky participated in the program under a "state plan" formulated pursuant to Title 42, United States Code, Section 654. The state agency responsible for administering the above program was the Division of Child Support Enforcement. The Floyd County Attorney's Office entered into Agreements with the Division of Child Support Enforcement, in compliance with Title 42, United States Code, Section 654(7), pursuant to which the Floyd County Attorney's Office performed child support enforcement duties within Floyd County, Kentucky.

5. Pursuant to Title 42, United States Code, Section 655 and 658, the United States government made payments to the Division of Child Support Enforcement as a result of the state's participation in the federal child support and collection program. Thereafter, the Division of Child Support Enforcement, pursuant to its cooperation agreement with the Floyd County Attorney's Office, remitted a portion of the funds to the Floyd County Attorney's Office as reimbursement for expenses and salaries incurred by the Floyd County Attorney's Office in its participation in the federal child support and collection program.

6. During each of the one year periods of July, 1990 through June, 1991; July, 1991 through June, 1992; July, 1992 through June, 1993; July, 1993 through June, 1994; and July, 1994 through June, 1995; the Division of Child Support Enforcement received well in excess of $10,000 of federal funds under the federal child support and collection program described in paragraphs four (4) and five (5) above.

7. Pursuant to the terms of the Agreements between the Floyd County Attorney's Office and the Division of Child Support Enforcement, the Floyd County Attorney's Office was authorized to use the employees of the Floyd County Attorney's Office and of the Hammond Law Office to perform services in the area of child support enforcement, and to obtain reimbursement from the Division of Child Support Enforcement for the time so spent, at the same hourly rate of pay that said employees were paid by the County Attorney's Office or Hammond Law Office.

8. Pursuant to the terms of the Agreements between the Floyd County Attorney's Office and the Division of Child Support Enforcement, the Floyd County Attorney's Office was required by the Division of Child Support Enforcement to submit, for purposes of determining the amount of reimbursement due, monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports stating the name of the employee and the number of hours he/she worked on child support matters.

9. Pursuant to the terms of the Agreements between the Floyd County Attorney's Office and the Division of Child Support Enforcement, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND was responsible to the Division for Child Support Enforcement for the accuracy of the monthly employee time sheets/ payroll billing reports.

COUNT 1

[T. 18 U.S.C. § 371]

THE GRAND JURY CHARGES:

10. The allegations contained in paragraphs one (1) through nine (9) of the Introduction are restated and incorporated herein by reference.

11. Beginning on or about January 1, 1990, and continuing until the date of the original indictment, in Floyd County, Franklin County, and other places in the Eastern District of Kentucky,

JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, defendants herein, and divers other persons known and unknown to the Grand Jury, did conspire and agree together and with each other, to commit offenses against the United States, to wit: as the County Attorney of Floyd County, Kentucky and as agents thereof, they did obtain by fraud property, that is money, valued in excess of $5,000, from the Division of Child Support Enforcement, an agency of Kentucky state government, which received, in any one year period, benefits in excess of $10,000 under the Federal assistance program for child support collection and enforcement, as set forth at Title 42, United States Code, Chapter 7, Part D (Title, 42, United States Code, Section 651 et. seq.), and in furtherance of said scheme did cause the use of the United States mails; all in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 666, and Title 18, United States Code, Section 1341.

MANNER AND MEANS OF THE CONSPIRACY

12. The object and purpose of the conspiracy was that from on or about January of 1990 and continuing to the date of this indictment, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND engaged in a scheme to obtain by fraud money in excess of $5,000 from the Division of Child Support Enforcement by knowingly submitting false and fraudulent monthly employee time sheets/ payroll billing reports for reimbursement, in that said monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports contained inflated time figures for a number of employees, including, among others:

- (1) JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND,
- (2) CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND,
- (3) Christopher Waugh,
- (4) Lorie Dawn Foley, and
- (5) Pamela Lynn Wiley

13. It was a part of the conspiracy that JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND instructed individual employees of the Floyd County Attorney's Office and individual employees of the Hammond Law Office to sign monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports which JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND knew were false and inflated, thereby giving the appearance that the employee had worked substantially more time than he/she had actually worked in performing child support enforcement duties.

14. It was further a part of the conspiracy that CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND insisted employees sign monthly employee time sheets/ payroll billing reports while CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND concealed all but the signature line thereby preventing the employee from knowing the amount of time billed on his/her behalf.

15. It was further a part of the conspiracy that JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND from January of 1990 through June of 1995 regularly billed numerous hours per month to the Division of Child Support Enforcement falsely claiming he had provided substantial legal advice and performed substantial in-court legal services toward child support collections and enforcement on behalf of the Floyd County Attorney's Office, when in truth and in fact, as he well knew, he seldom provided either legal advice or performed in-court legal services toward child support collections and enforcement on behalf of the Floyd County Attorney's Office.

16. It was further a part of the conspiracy that JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, acting through the Floyd County Attorney's Office, obtained by fraud money well in excess of $5,000, money to which JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, defendants herein, were not rightfully entitled.

17. It was further a part of the conspiracy that from about September of 1991 through about May of 1995, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, acting through the Floyd County Attorney's Office, having devised a scheme and artifice to defraud, that is to obtain money by false and fraudulent representations, for the purpose of executing, and attempting to execute the scheme and artifice, did take and receive and cause to be taken and received, from the United States mails checks addressed to the Floyd County, Office of the Co. Atty., PO Box 311, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, from the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Department of the Treasury, Frankfort, KY.

OVERT ACTS

18. In furtherance of the conspiracy, and in order to obtain the objects thereof, the following overt acts were committed by members of the conspiracy, in Floyd County, Franklin County and in other places in the Eastern District of Kentucky:

(1) At various times between January of 1990 and January of 1994, CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND directed Lorie Dawn Foley to sign monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports without permitting Lorie Dawn Foley to know how many hours she was reporting. CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND would obscure all of the monthly employee time sheet/payroll billing report form except for the signature line.

(2) In or about May or June of 1990, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND instructed Pamela Lynn Wiley regarding which employees monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports should be submitted, how many hours should be billed to each employee, and how many hours should be billed to JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND as hours spent in child support enforcement.

(3) From on or about January of 1990 through April of 1991, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND instructed Pamela Lynn Wiley to bill a large number of child support enforcement hours even though Pamela Lynn Wiley actually spent only a very few hours in child support enforcement activities.

(4) In or about January of 1990, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND gave Christopher Waugh a $6,000.00 a year raise which was paid by the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Division of Child Support Enforcement.

(5) Subsequent to the event described in Overt Act (4), JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND invented the hours allegedly worked by Christopher Waugh, and completed Christopher Waugh's employee time sheet/payroll billing report forms accordingly. CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND then instructed Christopher Waugh to sign his monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports which falsely reflected hours worked by Christopher Waugh in child support enforcement.

(6) From on or about July of 1994 to March or April of 1995, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND stopped sending monthly employee time sheets/ payroll billing reports to the Division of Child Support Enforcement so as not to cause an audit.

(7) In March of 1995, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND instructed Christopher Waugh to bill the Division of Child Support Enforcement 38 to 40 hours per month for merely walking through the Floyd County Child Support Office daily and speaking to someone for a few minutes.

(8) On or about March 8, 1995, on a Saturday morning, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND called a meeting in the Jimmy Hammond Law Office of the employees involved in the Floyd County Child Support Enforcement Program. The purpose of the meeting was to construct the monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports which had not been submitted on behalf of the employees to the Division of Child Support Enforcement since July of 1994.

(9) At or about the time of the meeting described in overt Act (8), JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND told CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND and Mary Carol Sturgill to bill an hour for all three routine staff meetings on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays despite the fact that five minutes or less was devoted to child support activities at each of the meetings.

(10) At the meeting described in Overt Act (8), JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND told Mary Carol Sturgill to bill around 32 hours on each of her time sheets/payroll sheets dating back to July 1, 1994.

(11) At various times between March of 1992 and June of 1994, CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND presented monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports to Sandra Belcher, Robert Bishop, Marsha Hackworth, Christopher Waugh, Mary Carol Sturgill, Geneva Skeens, Lorie Foley, and others in which JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND had created inflated hours and activities, and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND instructed each to sign his/her respective monthly employee time sheet/payroll billing report form without accurately determining the amount of time he/she actually worked and without permitting the employee to know the amount of time reported on his/her behalf.

(12) On or about the 15th day of May, 1995, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, did take and receive and cause to be taken and received, from the United States mails a check in the sum of $77,341.58, addressed to the Floyd County, Office of the Co. Atty., PO Box 311, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, from the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Department of the Treasury, Frankfort, KY.

(13) On or about the 11th day of May, 1995, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, did take and receive and cause to be taken and received, from the United States mails a check in the sum of $9,960.49, addressed to the Floyd County, Office of the Co. Atty., PO Box 311, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, from the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Department of the Treasury, Frankfort, KY.

(14) On or about the 11th day of August, 1994, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, did take and receive and cause to be taken and received, from the United States mails a check in the sum of $52,364.91, addressed to the Floyd County, Office of the Co. Atty., PO Box 311, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, from the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Department of the Treasury, Frankfort, KY.

(15) On or about the 8th day of August, 1994, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, did take and receive and cause to be taken and received, from the United States mails a check in the sum of $11,851.38, addressed to the Floyd County, Office of the Co. Atty., PO Box 311, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, from the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Department of the Treasury, Frankfort, KY.

All in violation of Title 18 United States Code, Section 371.

JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, defendants herein, aided and abetted by one another, knowingly and unlawfully devised and intended to devise a scheme and artifice to defraud, and to obtain money from the Division of Child Support Enforcement, an agency of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, based upon false and fraudulent pretenses and representations, the said scheme and artifice consisting of the following methods, among others:

MANNER AND MEANS OF THE SCHEME TO DEFRAUD

23. It was part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that from on or about January of 1990 and continuing to on or about September 20, 1995, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND knowingly submitted false and fraudulent monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports to the Division of Child Support Enforcement, Commonwealth of Kentucky, for reimbursement, in that said monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports contained inflated time figures for a number of employees, including, among others, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND, CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, Christopher Waugh, Lorie Dawn Foley, and Pamela Lynn Wiley.

24. It was part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND instructed individual employees of the Floyd County Attorney's Office and individual employees of the Hammond Law Office to sign monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports which JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND knew were false and inflated, thereby giving the appearance that the employee had worked substantially more time than he/she had actually worked in performing child support enforcement duties.

25. It was part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND insisted employees to sign monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports while CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND concealed all but the signature line thereby preventing the employee from knowing the amount of time billed on his/her behalf.

26. It was part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND from January of 1990 through June of 1995 regularly billed numerous hours per month to the Division of Child Support Enforcement falsely claiming he had provided substantial legal advice and performed substantial in-court legal services toward child support collections and enforcement on behalf of the Floyd County Attorney's Office, when in truth and in fact, as he well knew, he seldom provided either legal advice or performed in-court legal services toward child support collections and enforcement on behalf of the Floyd County Attorney's Office.

COUNT 7

[T. 18 U.S.C. § 1344] [T. 18 U.S.C. § 2]

THE GRAND JURY FURTHER CHARGES:

38. At various times relevant to this indictment, the following banking institutions were doing business at the following locations:

(1) The First National Guarantee Bank in Martin, Kentucky.

(2) The Pikeville National Bank: Main Office: 208 North Mayo Trail, Pikeville, Kentucky.

The Weddington Plaza Branch: 4205 North Mayo Trail, Pikeville, Kentucky

The Prestonsburg Branch: 50 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky

(3) Trans Financial Bank: The North Mayo Trail Branch: 280 North Mayo Trail, Pikeville, Kentucky

Main Office: 317 Main Street, Pikeville, Kentucky

(4) The Matewan Bank, 1086 North Mayo Trail, Pikeville, Kentucky

39. At all times relevant to this indictment, the deposits of the above institutions were insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

40. The defendant, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND, maintained checking accounts at each of the banks named above, during some or all of the time set out in this indictment.

41. Beginning in or about May, 1994, and continuing until on or about the 31st day of October, 1994, in Prestonsburg, Floyd County, in Pikeville, Pike County, and other places in the Eastern District of Kentucky,

JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, defendants herein, aided and abetted by one another, did unlawfully, willfully and knowingly execute and attempt to execute a scheme and artifice to defraud the above banks, and to obtain money from them by false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, which money was then in the care, custody and control of said banks.

SCHEME TO DEFRAUD

42. It was part of the scheme to defraud that the defendants engaged in what is commonly referred to as a check kiting scheme, involving an elaborate series of checks and deposits, drafted and made in a predetermined sequence, between and among the above banks and branches, to create the false appearance of funds that did not exist. In so doing, the defendants relied upon the provisional credit extended to them by the banks, wherein the banks credited the accounts immediately upon the deposit of an uncollected check, as opposed to waiting until the funds were collected. More specifically, worthless checks drawn on one of the Jimmy Hammond accounts at one of the above banks, made payable to Jimmy Hammond or "Jimmy Hammond Law Office," would be deposited in another Jimmy Hammond account at another one of the banks. Because of the provisional credit, the defendants had immediate access to these fictitious funds, and would draw upon them by writing checks for the payment of personal debts and obligations, thereby creating a potential overdraft that was concealed by continued check kiting. The potential overdraft would be avoided when the defendants deposited in the account originally drawn upon another worthless check from one of the other banks, prior to presentation of the original worthless check. This process was then repeated many times until the scheme was detected by the banks, and a demand was made by the banks for payment of the overdraft.

43. It was further part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that the defendant, CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, instructed various employees of Hammond Law Office to take bank deposits to several of the above banks on various days, in a certain sequence, in order to insure that the kiting would continue.

44. As a direct result of the aforesaid scheme to defraud, the defendants obtained the interest free use of the funds of the above banks during the period of time in which the scheme was in operation.

45. In furtherance of the scheme, and in an attempt to avoid prosecution, in October, 1994, the defendants borrowed money from various private and bank sources in order to pay off the overdrafts created by their check kiting scheme at the above banks.

46. From on or about June 1, 1995, at Prestonsburg and Pikeville in the Eastern District of Kentucky, for the purpose of furthering and executing said scheme and artifice, as described above,

JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, defendants herein, aiding and abetting each other, deposited in the various Jimmy Hammond and Hammond Law Office accounts at the banks listed above, several thousand kited checks, representing a total amount of $8,484,695.50 in fictitious funds, and creating an overdraft in excess of $150,000.

All in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1344, and Title 18, United States Code, Section 2.

COUNT 8

[T. 18 U.S.C. § 1014] [T. 18 U.S.C. § 2]

THE GRAND JURY FURTHER CHARGES:

47. Between on or about the 7th through 10th days of October, 1994, at Pikeville, Prestonsburg, and other places in the Eastern District of Kentucky,

JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, defendants herein, aided and abetted by one another, having devised the application for an additional advance on a loan, did knowingly make false statements and reports to the Bank of Josephine, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, a banking institution the deposits of which were then insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Company, in that the defendants falsely represented to the loan officer that the advanced funds were for the payment of the costs of construction of a personal residence, against which the said bank held a first mortgage, when in fact, the defendants intended to use said funds to cover overdrafts at other banks; all in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1014, and Title 18, United States Code, Section 2.

COUNT 9

[T. 18 U.S.C. § 371]

JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, defendants herein, and divers other persons known and unknown to the Grand Jury, did conspire and agree together and with each other, to commit an offense against the United States, to wit:

(1) To knowingly execute and attempt to execute a scheme and artifice to defraud and to obtain the moneys and funds of federally insured financial institutions by means of false and fraudulent pret

'Red and gold' autumn leaves may be pink and yellow

The breathtaking brilliance of Kentucky's fall foliage may be dulled a bit this year based on current conditions—and this week will be the key indicator of what the season will look like.

"The first week of October will tell us if we are going to have much color in the leaves this fall," said Doug McLaren, area extension specialist in forestry with the University of Kentucky. "I'm concerned about how spectacular this fall is going to be because we, as foresters, have a feeling that the browns are going to overshadow the splendid, vivid colors we usually see this time of the year."

The rain Kentucky missed out on in July and August is to blame, McLaren said, because the level of moisture in the ground is one of the factors affecting fall colors. The other two factors are the duration of the day and the temperature.

The process works like this: Leaves are green because of a group of pigments called chlorophylls. During the growing season, they are abundant, so their green color masks the other pigments that may be present in the leaves. Chlorophylls are vital to the manufacture of the plant's food, and the plant replenishes its supply during the growing season.

But, as autumn approaches, the supply dwindles, exposing some of the other pigments that have been present during the leaf's life. These carotenoids (which also give carrots and corn their color) give us the fiery fall colors.

This year, though, those pigments started to break down early because of the summer dry spell. "I think the colors won't be as vivid this year, but we won't know for sure until around the first week of October when the signs are more apparent. By the second week, we should have our peak coloration," McLaren said.

Rain now would be too little, too late, McLaren said, and heavy rains could knock the leaves off the trees.

In Eastern Kentucky, where 80 percent of the state's forest areas are located, the usually dry ridge lines are even drier this year, but the lower elevations may have adequate moisture to show some good fall coloration, he said.

Kentucky contains an interesting mix of trees because northern and southern species are both found in the state. In the autumn, sassafras trees and red maples give us the vivid red; silver maples, hickories and yellow poplars provide the yellow coloring; and Kentucky's large number of oak trees give a wide spectrum of reds.

Falling leaves also mean conditions are good for forest fires. Officially, forest fire season runs from October 1 through December. "With the dry conditions and the amounts of leaves on the ground, the potential for forest fires this season is very high," McLaren warned.

Sorry Marge, Wrong move

The best thing that could happen to the game of baseball, particularly the Cincinnati Reds, is to option Marge Schott (Reds' CEO) to some minor league system in the desert sands of Kuwait. There, along with her pet, she can trade Schottzie hair for camel hair.

With the dismissal of Davy Johnson as manager of the Reds next season, Cincinnati will be under the guidance of Ray Knight, who is yet to manage a big league ball team. Knight, who played third base for the Reds some years back, may be one of the "good ol' boys" but I don't think he will make much of a manager. I'm for bringing the Main Spark (Sparky Anderson) back and I think Marge would love too also. But commitment to Knight last year for next year, is a blunder she will have to live with.

I wonder if Tony would consider coming back?

One has to wonder if the Reds will dip further into the free agent market this winter or if they will try and make some trades. The bonus babies they have now have made the payroll very large and with the decline in attendance, the Reds — like most major league clubs — will show a huge loss for the just-completed season.

One that I hope they deal away is Hector Carrasco. He is pitiful. Then there are Tim Pugh, Mike Jackson, Xavier Hernandez who could be looking for work next season.

Jose Rijo would make good trade bait this winter in order to find another solid outfielder who can hit the long ball.

Ron Gant is sure to move on to greener pastures leaving Reggie Sanders as the only solid starting outfielder returning (I know he had a bad playoff). Thomas Howard, Darren Lewis and Jerome Walton make good bench warmers.

Pitching wise, John Smiley is under contract for next season as well as Mark Portugal. Dave Burma is in the fold as well. Pete Schourek is still unsigned and a free agent this year. Look for Pete to end up with

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The cross-country season is winding down as all teams prepare for the upcoming regionals scheduled to start in two weeks.

Last Thursday at the Paintsville Lake, the Paintsville girls and boys dominated things as they captured both divisions.

Paintsville girls haven't lost this season and they scored 15 points to out-distance second place Prestonsburg. South Floyd and Mountain Christian Academy placed third and fourth.

Prestonsburg's Ryan Hardee took home first place in the men's division with a time of 19:14. It was the second consecutive first place finish for Hardee in as many weeks.

Another Prestonsburg runner, Kyle Conley placed sixth at 21:11.

Paintsville girls took the top seven spots in the meet with South Floyd's Jenny Meade finishing eighth with a time of 22:11. Shelly Greathouse, Prestonsburg, was ninth at 23:12.

$1,000 savings bond goes to Best of Show

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Tomorrow is the big day as the eighth annual Trans Financial Bank Red, White and Blue Car Show kicks off the fun and festivities of the special day in Martin.

All the show cars will be on display at the Martin branch parking lot beginning at 8:30 a.m. The Best of Show, that is the overall winner, will be awarded a $1,000 savings bond, but that is only a tip of what will be given away during the course of the day.

There will be plenty of fun and entertainment for all the car buffs who make the trip to Martin. The Junior Kentucky Opry will entertain with some good "down home" music and the line dancers, as well as the cloggers, will be stomping around to all the music.

Three front-end alignments will be given away. Cases of oil, dash plaques, $50 and $100 savings bonds, and sweat shirts are just a few of the prizes to be passed around.

Security services will be provided for the day and out-of-town judges will be making the decisions. This year, a separate category for late model cars has been set. Cars from 1980 and up will be judged separately with the top five being placed in the top 50 category.

T-shirts as well as sweat shirts are on sale and will be on sale during the car show. Shirts may be purchased at either the Martin or Prestonsburg branches of the bank. Large sizes sell for $12, extra large, $15, with extra-extra sizes going for $17.

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. and will run until 11 a.m. Registration fee is only $10.

Raiders resembles MASH unit

As team heads to McCreary Central

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

South Floyd Head Football Coach Donnie Daniels' team will look like anything but a football team as he gathers his injured and heads out for the long drive to Stern, Kentucky where his team is scheduled to face McCreary Central in the next to the last regular season game of the year.

Daniels said he is concerned about his ballclub's complacency of late, especially in the last two games, when the team failed to put any points on the scoreboard against Hazard (52-0) and Allen Central last week (28-0).

"I think it goes to the fact that we are going to be in the playoffs and they have become complacent about it," Daniels said. "It is showing."

Feature back Ketrin May has suffered a strained neck and is questionable for the McCreary Central game.

"He has practiced both days, but it doesn't seem to bother him during the day," the South Floyd coach said. "He had it bumped in PE and it hurt him again."

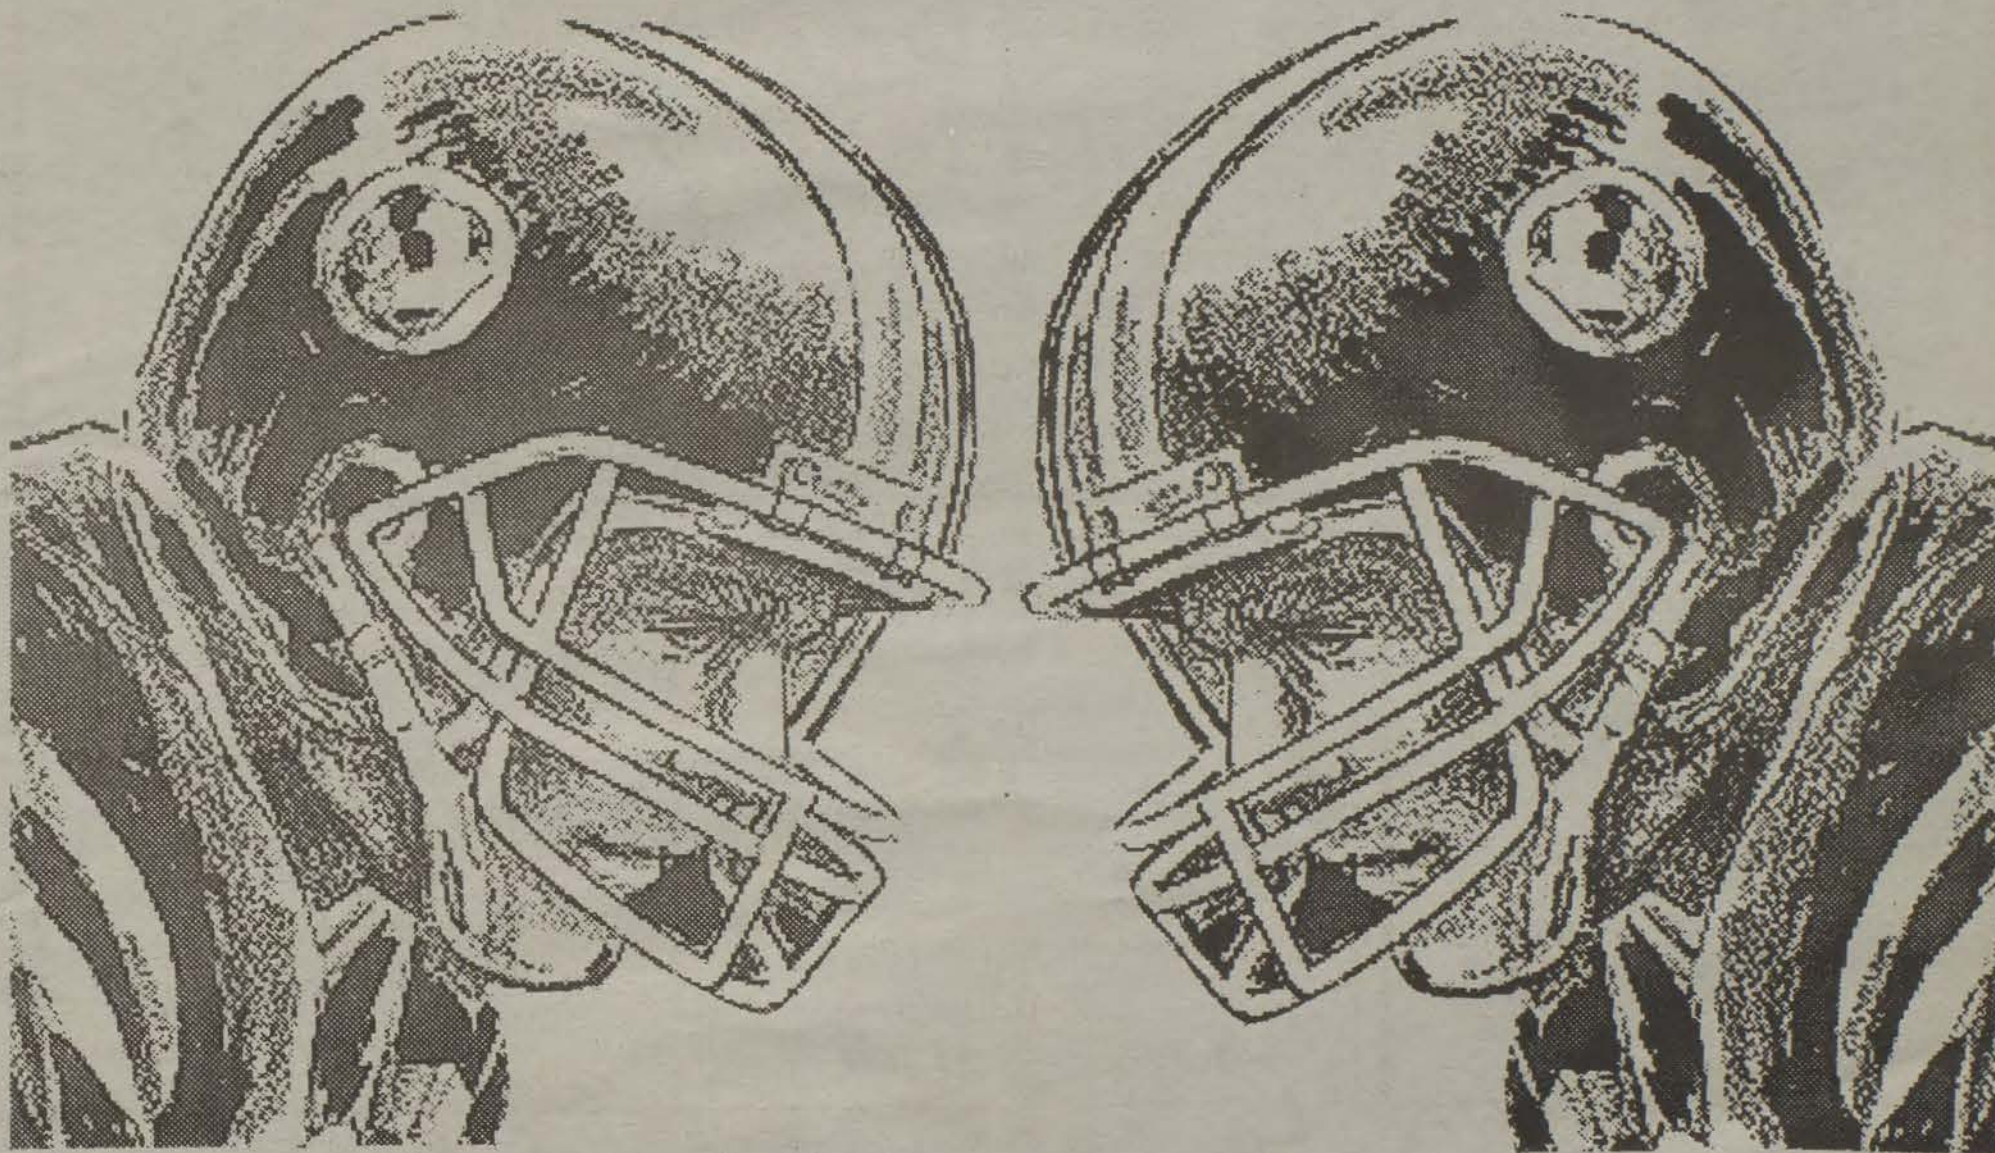

Other members of the M.A.S.H. unit include Aaron Caudill, who is out for the season; Dustin Hall who pulled muscle and will be out this week; Pete Dawson who was injured last Friday against Allen Central; and Joe Caudill who was in the hospital with acute appendicitis but has returned to the team.

"We've had Chris Isaac out and he is back for the first time in a week," Daniels said. "We're not in

Morgan County hopes senior night inspiring

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It hasn't been a good year for the Morgan County Cougars.

It is never a good year for a team that goes 0-8 in its first eight games.

Morgan County, along with Powell County, also 0-8, are holding up the rest of the district and the two teams are on a collision course to face each other in the season's final regular season game.

But Morgan County has other things to be concerned about tonight when the Prestonsburg Blackcats, looking for a playoff berth, brings a 3-5 overall record to town. The Blackcats are 3-2 in district play.

Morgan County Coach Terry

Chinn said he believes that if his team is going to get the Blackcats, it will have to be this season.

"They haven't had the year they are accustomed to having," he said. "But they still have some very good players. They seem to be a young team who can still play football."

COACH CHINN'S SCOUTING REPORT...

"They will keep the ball on the ground on us," he said. "They will try and control the game. I like the (Jon) Morris kid. He's a good runner."

Coach Chinn said defending the rushing game has been a problem for his team all season.

"We've given up more than 1,800 yards in the first eight games," Chinn said. "Of course we haven't recovered from the Breathitt County game yet.

"Prestonsburg is a young team and they lost two close games perhaps they could have won. They have very good size and that will be hard for us to handle.

"They have good speed outside," Chinn continued. "They have moved the (Jonathan) Estep kid outside. He will be a problem for us. We've had trouble covering other teams."

It will be the seniors' final hurrah at home and Chinn is hopeful the farewell will be an inspiration to his team to pull out a win.

"It will be the last game for our seniors," he said. "They know what that means and hopefully it will inspire them to play well."

Chinn said he likes the play of Ricky Johnson for Prestonsburg.

"He could present some problems for us," he said. "Their nose guard, (Robbie) Cain does a very good job for them. We will have to handle him."

The Cougars have tried to throw the ball this season as quarterback Dan DeBorde has completed 100 of 220 attempts for 1,390 yards. DeBorde has tossed for 13 touchdowns and has been intercepted ten times.

"We tried to throw the ball against Rowan County last week, but our protection just broke down," the Morgan County coach said.

The loss of Timmy Lykins is uncertain, but Chinn said he is hopeful that he will be able to return. Lykins is questionable, so the backfield will consist of senior Dustin Carter and sophomore Travis Stacy.

"Having Lykins out last week hurt us," Chinn said. "He has been to the doctor today (Wednesday) and we just don't know whether he will be able to play or not."

Jason Williams will return to the Cougars' lineup after being out the last three weeks.

KEYS TO A COUGAR WIN

"We have to stop their running game," said Chinn. "If we don't do that we will be in for a long night. Other teams don't throw against us, but run the ball. When we adjust to stop the running game, they come up with a big pass play on us. That is just a case of poor open field tackling. We have to prevent Prestonsburg from making the big play."

To insure playoff berth

Blackcats need win over Morgan County

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Bill Letton's Prestonsburg Blackcats team is a veteran when it comes to the state high school football playoffs. Letton's squad has been in the playoffs every year since the 1989 season.

In his first year at the high school, the Blackcats finished with a dismal 2-8 record with victories over only Betsy Layne and Morgan County.

The Blackcats improved in the '90 season with a 5-6 mark, winning the final two games over C.C. Napier and Morgan County to capture a playoff berth as the second-place team. In the '90 season, the Blackcats were an even 6-6, winning over Morgan County 4-14 in the final district game to grab yet another playoff berth.

In 1991 Letton's ballclub got off to its worst start, dropping the first four games of the season, but rebounded and reeled off six consecutive wins, five were district games, and finished second to Whitesburg, but made the playoffs.

What was to come over the next two seasons was indicative in the '92 season. With Aaron Tucker, Seth Hyden and Dwayne Garza, the Cats roared to a 12-2 finish in one of the most thrilling seasons of Blackcat football.

Mind you, one of the most thrilling seasons. Without any doubt, the most fantastic season for any Blackcat fan was the '93 year when Prestonsburg posted victories in its first 13 games with win number 13 the sweetest to cherish as the team broke Danville's long, long winning streak and advanced on to the finals of the 2A state championship.

Last season, the Blackcats once again made a trip to Russell for the second round of the state playoffs after defeating East Carter at home in the first round. Prestonsburg fell to Russell, ending a brilliant high school career for linebacker Larry Morris.

The year 1995 has been a disappointing season for Prestonsburg, but a year that the Cats were to rebuild. The team has shown steady improvement with some young talent starting to blend with veterans.

Junior quarterback Mike Castle has been very, very impressive this season and is one of the reasons fans are excited about this team next year. Castle tossed for 125 yards last Friday night and has totaled 648 yards this season.

But there is more. Freshman John Ortega has played like anything but a freshman. He has drawn the raves of opposing coaches and the fans have said more than once how much they enjoy watching him play. Keith Marsillett, who started the season sharing quarterback duties with Castle, has shown his move to a receiver was a good one for the Blackcats.

Jon Morris, injured and out of last week's game against Powell County, has had an up and down season. Morris could conceivably, if able to play the final two games, reach the 1,000-yard plateau this season. He has rushed for 753 yards.

Sophomore Dennis Laferty has been handling the football more out of the backfield, and he appears to be playing with much more confidence.

Senior John Lyons has been a standout on defense for the Blackcats this season. He, along with Waylon Bevins, Ernest Campbell, Peter Howard, Bill Willis and Rusty Young, has had a solid year.

Now it will be on to Morgan County tonight and a date with the Cougars. The Cougars fell hard to Rowan County 41-7 last Friday evening.

A Prestonsburg win would give the Blackcats a 4-2 district record and a third place finish. Only Betsy Layne could match the Blackcats, but they must win their final two games against Whitesburg and Breathitt County.

Game time is set for 7:30 p.m. and the game may be heard over WQHY-FM, 95.5 with Jim Ed Allen calling the play-by-play.

With playoff hopes dangling, Betsy Layne to host Whitesburg

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

To say the Betsy Layne Bobcats need a big game win would be an understatement.

Tonight the Bobcats will host second place Whitesburg in a District 2 match up and all the hopes of a playoff berth will be riding on this one.

The Cats are 2-2 in district play while sporting a very impressive 6-2 record. Whitesburg, tonight, and Breathitt County remain on the schedule and both are at home. But the Bobcats have their work cut out for them as they begin an all important battle tonight against the Yellowjackets.

Whitesburg has dropped only one game and that was a 41-6 thrashing at the expense of Breathitt County last Friday night. Coach Don Chandler's ballclub will be looking for a way to redeem themselves from the embarrassment wars of last week.

Betsy Layne's offense has struggled of late and the Cats are not moving the football as well as they did earlier in the season. A big, big game must be had by some key personnel if the Bobcats are to keep those playoff hopes alive.

Fullback Chris Hicks hasn't carried the football as often and it has slowed the Betsy Layne running game. Hicks, along with halfback Ray Lyon, must be the catalyst that propels the Bobcats in this one. A solid performance from both is imperative.

Quarterback Craig Hamilton will feel the pressure more than he has all season against the Yellowjackets on rushing the line. Hamilton, who is an excellent option quarterback, may have to tuck the ball under and make some carries of his own.

Willie Meade has been consistent all season in catching the football. Whitesburg's secondary is probably the best in the district outside of Breathitt County.

Defensively, Bobo Hall and Rodney Hamilton will have to close the holes on the line, while linebacker Wes Collins must be ready in the flats.

A win for Betsy Layne would guarantee them of at least a 3-3 district record and could tie the Bobcats with Allen Central for fourth place. However, by virtue of a 13-12 win by the Rebels over the Bobcats, the fourth berth would go to Allen Central.

Should the Bobcats pull off back-to-back surprises with wins over both Whitesburg and Breathitt County, the 4-2 Bobcats would tie Prestonsburg for third, but receive the fourth place berth because the team lost to Prestonsburg in overtime earlier in the season.

By all rights, Betsy Layne should be undefeated for the season and in district play. They had Prestonsburg down to the last play in overtime only to lose on a 15-yard completion pass by Mike Castle to John Ortega.

At Allen Central, the Bobcats jumped in front 12-0, but couldn't hold the lead and fell 13-12.

Game time is set for 7:30 p.m.

GUN SAFETY AWARENESS MONTH

November is Kentucky's second annual Gun Safety Awareness Month. Educating adults and children about firearm safety is a major focus for the Kentucky State Police (KSP) and the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR).

Both the state police and the fish and wildlife department have been strong advocates of gun safety for decades. In 1994, the two agencies combined their efforts in working to reach more people and encouraged Governor Brereton C. Jones to proclaim November as "Gun Safety Awareness Month" in Kentucky.

KSP Commissioner Gene Peter and KDFWR Commissioner Tom Bennett are committed to supporting this special emphasis and in continuing Gun Safety Awareness Month as an annual event. Both agencies have planned many activities for increasing public knowledge about firearms safety and the proper treatment of firearms in the home and in the field.

The following activities have been scheduled to get the public interested and involved in learning more about gun safety.

- KSP Public Information Officers will visit the schools to give safety presentations to children in grades K-4.
- Conservation Education Program

Leaders will use the National Rifle Association's (NRA) Eddie Eagle Gun Safety Program to teach fifth and sixth graders about firearm safety.

• Additional hunter education courses, taught by KDFWR hunter training officers and volunteer instructors, have been scheduled.

• Numerous safety fairs will be held at malls and sporting goods stores across the state.

• The KDFWR will also run special television segments and newspapers articles regarding gun safety throughout the month.

Mike Middleton, Raceland, Conley, Jeremy Watkins, Paintsville, Kyle Sellars, Paintsville, Clinton Blair, Paintsville and Joe Hogsten, Raceland rounded out the top ten runners.

Paintsville took first place with 30 points. Raceland finished second and Prestonsburg third.

Paintsville will host its conference meet this Thursday evening beginning at 5 p.m. and the final regular season meet on Monday, October 23 at 5 p.m. Regionals start Saturday, October 28.

the best physical shape."

Despite the injuries the South Floyd coach said his team has had two good days of practice.

"That's a big factor," he said. "We were embarrassed the past two games. The next two games are big factors for us as well."

Daniels said he knows his team must play well the final two regular season games.

"You never know how they are going to play," he said. "We have to play well and go into the playoffs with some momentum. If we don't, then it's over."

Some small voices have been heard in the Raiders' camp in the past two days of practice, according to Daniels.

"A few have been speaking up in practice and that is good," he said. "They are the younger kids. They are starting to get the older players to step in line. I was worried about them at first, but they are doing fine right now."

South Floyd owns a 3-5 overall record, but more importantly the team is 3-2 in district play. The Raiders have one remaining district game and that will be at home against Elkhorn City, a 28-6 loser to Phelps last Friday night.

Phelps (2-2) has reentered the playoff picture by virtue of the win over the Cougars. But the Hornets have yet to play Hazard, the second place team in the district. That will happen in the final game of the regular season.

Elkhorn City plays Hazard this Friday night and a loss to the Bulldogs will drive a final nail in the playoff casket for Elkhorn, which would fall to 1-4 on the district season.

Should Phelps win over Fleming-Neon this week and fall to Hazard in the season finale and South Floyd stumble against the Cougars, the Raiders would be the district's third place team by virtue of their win earlier in the season over Phelps. Phelps would be the fourth-place team.

A win over Elkhorn in the final game would give South Floyd a 4-2 mark, the best ever for the school.

McCreary Central, who does not compete for a district title, is 1-6 on the season and will be playing its third straight Floyd County team. They fell at home to Allen Central two weeks ago and lost to Betsy Layne 14-0 this past Friday night.

"McCreary Central is a good defensive ballclub," Daniels said. "They have improved on defense a lot. Offensively, they have struggled. They held Allen Central to 19 points and Betsy Layne to 14."

"They don't throw the football that much and I don't think they are going to change anything for me."

Fullback Chet McCarty has shown some spark of late and the Raiders will need good games from him the final two weeks of the season. Quarterback Nick Compton got no protection against Allen Central last Friday night and the offensive line is going have to protect him better.

Receivers Terrence Mullins and Aaron Hall had only four receptions between them against the Rebels.

Train derails after fatality at crossing

by Linda H. Breed
Appalachian News Express

Officials estimate $17,000 in damage was done to an unloaded CSX train and equipment Wednesday night when seven cars derailed. The accident happened just yards from where a woman was killed earlier this week after the van she was riding in was struck by a locomotive.

The derailment at the junction of U.S. 119 and Ky. 194 blocked traffic for several hours, due in part to the fact that four cars derailed at one end and three at the other. Robert Gould, spokesman for CSX Transportation, said there were two engines and 90 cars in the train.

Personnel from the Johns Creek Volunteer Fire Department and CSX Transportation responded to the accident that happened around 8 p.m.

Donahue Brothers, a railroad wrecking service in Barboursville, West Virginia, brought in six pieces of equipment to clear the scene.

It was about 3 a.m. before U.S. 119 was opened to traffic, with cleanup taking most of the day.

Classes were called off at Johns Creek Elementary School because of the accident.

No one was injured in the mishap, and Gould said the cause was under investigation.

Sixty-nine-year-old Sylvia Rowe of Pikeville was killed near the same intersection Tuesday afternoon.

A CSX Transportation locomotive slammed into the northbound 1983 GMC van in which Rowe was a passenger as it was crossing the tracks at the junction. The van was pushed about 100 feet and over an embankment.

Kentucky State Police said Raymond Syck, 68, of Meta, the driver, was taken to the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington where he was in the neurosurgery intensive care unit. Hospital officials said Syck had been moved from intensive care, although a condition was unavailable.

Police said the signals at the crossing were operating at the time of the accident.

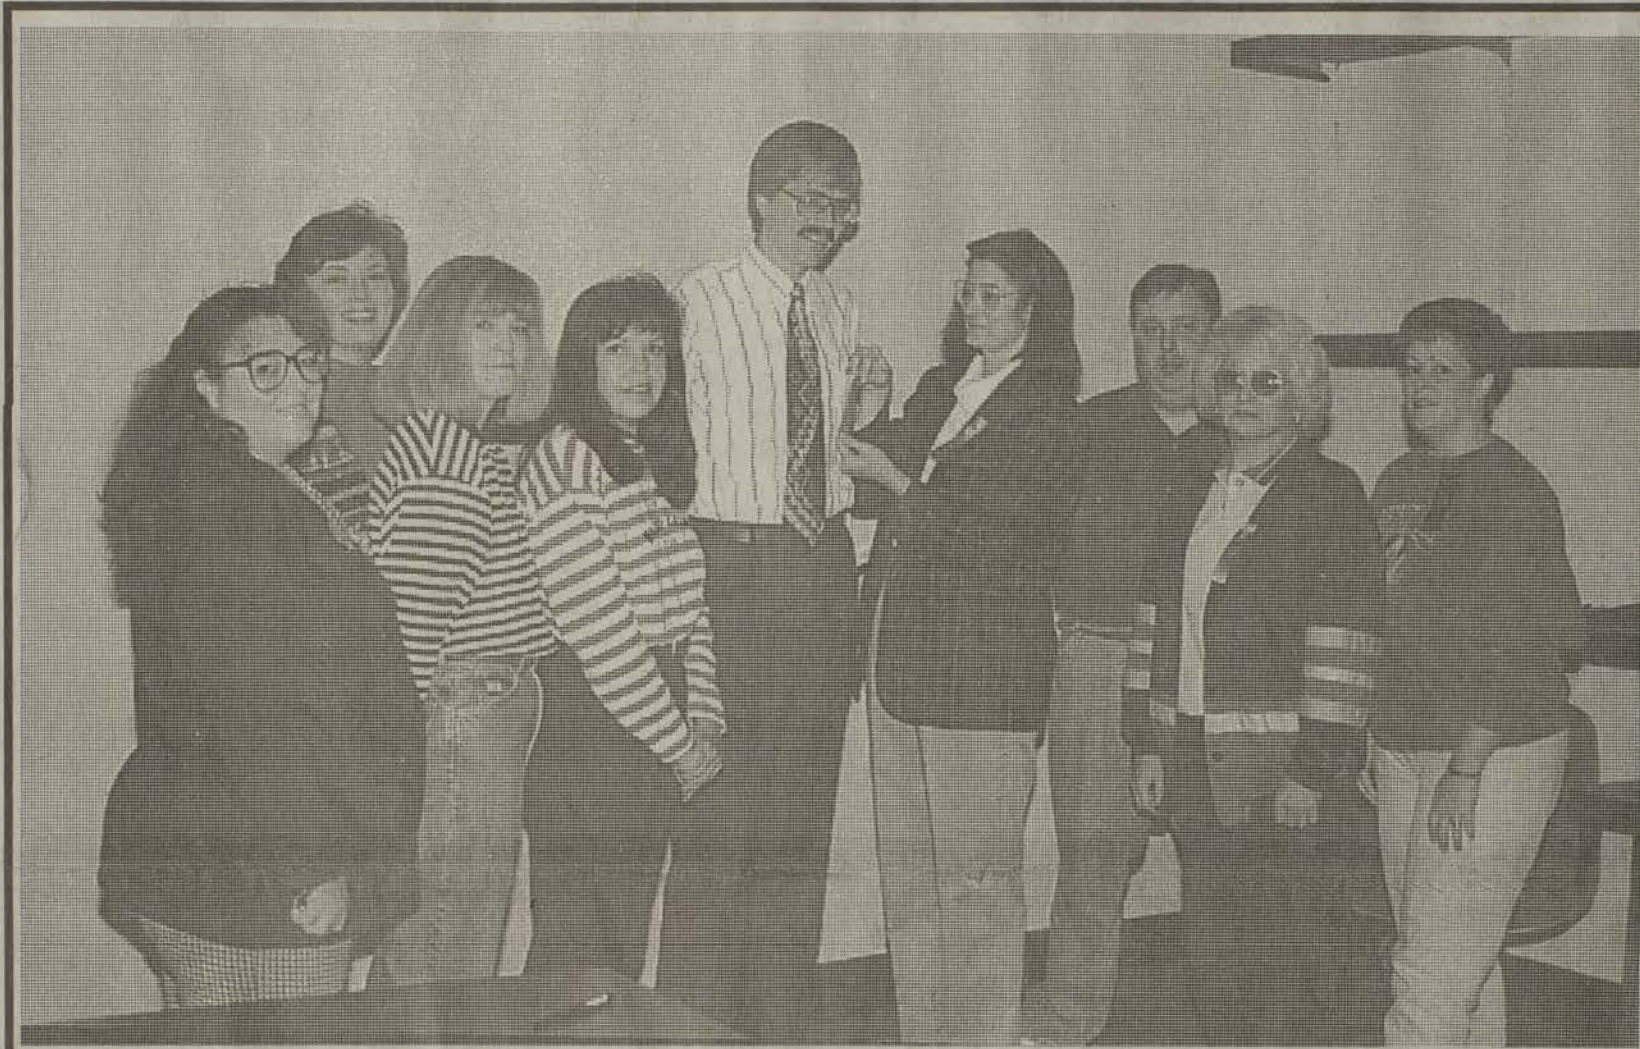

In fact, 50 percent of the crossing collisions in the country occur at crossings that have protective gates, said Laura White of the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet.

The number of train-vehicle and train-pedestrian accidents in the state decreased from 115 in 1989 to 80 in 1994.

Nationwide, there are 269,000 grade crossings across the country, and 615 people were killed at grade crossings in 1994, said Federal Railroad Administration spokesman David Bolger.

In the United States, a train collides with someone every 90 minutes, Bolger said.

Woman gunned down Sunday

by Tony Fyffe
Paintsville Herald editor

A woman allegedly shot by her ex-boyfriend over the weekend had obtained an emergency protective order against the man in 1994, court records show.

But most conditions of the EPO that Renee Fields received against Marion Eugene Butler were dropped 12 days later on her request, including a prohibition that Butler stay away from her.

Fields, 33, died at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday after Butler allegedly shot her several times Sunday night.

Butler, 35, of Wintonsville, was formally charged with murder following Fields' death.

Police claim Butler also shot 42-year-old Ben Sanders during the incident, which occurred at McClure Apartments at Wintonsville.

He has been charged with attempted murder in the Sanders shooting.

Kentucky State Police said Butler "forced his way" into Fields' apartment around 7 p.m. Sunday and "shot her several times at close range."

"Fields then ran downstairs to another apartment, where (Butler) forced his way into the apartment and shot (Sanders) two times and shot (Fields) several more times," according to a news release from the KSP post in Pikeville.

Butler was arrested at 7:40 p.m. in Paintsville and lodged in the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center.

In addition to the murder and attempted murder charges, Butler was additionally charged with two counts of first-degree burglary for allegedly breaking into the apartment.

Oil Springs man convicted in DUI death

by Tony Fyffe
Paintsville Herald editor

On June 5, Debbie Webb left her job at Lowe's in Paintsville, got into her car and headed to her Boons Camp home.

Around the same time, Larry Johnson, a construction worker, finished a couple of beers at a co-worker's house at Williamsport and began driving to his Oil Springs residence.

Neither Webb nor Johnson arrived at their destination, their vehicles colliding on Route 40 east of Paintsville.

Webb, a 35-year-old mother of three, died two hours later. Johnson received minor injuries and was charged in Webb's death.

Last Thursday, a Johnson County jury found Johnson guilty of second-degree manslaughter. The eight-woman, three-man panel agreed with police that Johnson, 41, was drunk when his van hit Webb's car head-on near Highland Veterinary Clinic.

The jury recommended that Johnson, who was initially charged with murder, be sentenced to ten years in prison. Formal sentencing is scheduled for November 17.

Johnson's trial began last Wednesday in Johnson Circuit Court. Testimony concluded later in the day.

In her opening statement, Commonwealth Attorney Anna Melvin told jurors that Johnson's van crossed the center line on Route 40 and crashed into Webb's vehicle.

She also said alcohol was a factor in the accident, saying witnesses would testify that Johnson was "mumbling and smelled of alcohol" after the crash.

"You will determine how much effect it (alcohol) had on the defendant," Melvin told jurors.

Paintsville police officer Doug Wallen, the investigating officer, said the accident occurred around 4:30 p.m. When he arrived on the scene, Wallen said Johnson was in his van, which was against a guardrail, and Webb was lying on the road beside her car.

City police officer Steve Sluss said Johnson "admitted to drinking one beer" prior to the collision. A sample of Johnson's blood was taken at Paul B. Hall Regional Medical center, and Sluss said he hand-delivered the sample to the Kentucky State Police Crime Lab the next day.

Tests showed that Johnson's blood-alcohol content was .20, which is twice the legal limit in Kentucky.

Four people who were traveling behind Johnson's vehicle testified that Johnson was driving erratically. "He was going back and forth, and before he got to the golf course, I saw him hit a car head-on," Neal May said. May, of Ivel, was driving directly behind Johnson.

Another motorist, Anna Garrett of Auxier, said she followed Johnson for about eight miles before the crash.

"He was all over the road," Garrett said. "He ran several cars off the road."

Travis Wells of Williamsport, who worked with Johnson at Done

Right Construction, testified that he and Johnson had finished a job at Offutt around 1 p.m. or 2 p.m. and stopped by Wells' house to drink some beer.

Wells said Johnson drank one or two beers while he was at the house.

"I asked him not to leave," Wells said. "I didn't think he could drive because he had been drinking a little bit."

Johnson, the only witness to testify for the defense, told a different story, he claimed he was not drunk and that Webb was on his side of the road.

Johnson said he stayed at Wells' house for about 45 minutes, drank two beers and started on a third when he noticed that it was getting late. He left Williamsport and started home.

As he approached Paintsville, Johnson said Webb's car was on his side of the road and swerved to miss it.

"As soon as I hit the guardrail, we collided," Johnson said.

The jury deliberated for a little more than two hours before returning the second-degree manslaughter conviction. Melvin had asked jurors to find Johnson guilty of wanton murder.

Debate continues over settlement of workers lawsuit in Pike County

by Christopher Hunt
Appalachian News Express

The debate over the settlement is still not settled.

Questions were raised about the settlement with eight former county employees yet again Monday as the Pike County Fiscal Court voted 3-2 to transfer the necessary funds to pay the plaintiffs.

Judge-Executive Donna Damron, and magistrates Hilman Dotson and Carson Wright voted to approve payment, while magistrates Eddie Harris and Karen Gibson voted no. Magistrates Jerry Senter and Sid Phillips were not present for the vote.

The $100,000 needed to pay the settlement was acquired from the legal fees account, which already had $25,000 in it, and transferring the salaries of deputy county judge-executive and finance commissioner.

The position of deputy county judge-executive pays $42,285 and finance commissioner pays $32,715. Neither position had been filled at the time of the vote.

The duties of deputy county judge-executive have been taken over by Damron's executive assistants, Terry Spears and Greg May. The duties of finance commissioner are being performed by Damron.

Damron confirmed during the discussion that the insurance company for the county did pay for Damron's and the county's attorney fees. She also confirmed the insurance company paid for the settlement between the same eight plaintiffs and Damron.

Parties suing in these cases often file against both the office, in name, like county judge-executive, and the person holding that office.

The suit against Donna Damron, not as county judge-executive, was settled for $35,000 earlier this year and will be paid by the insurance company.

The debate began during the vote when Larry Thacker, of Concerned Citizens for Pike County, said to the court, "I don't understand why the taxpayers have to get stuck with this (the settlement). Why can't the members of the fiscal court pay for this (the settlement)?"

Damron assured Thacker that neither she nor the magistrates wanted to settle the lawsuit out of court, but financial reasons made a settlement the only practical choice. She added that County Attorney Gary Johnson strongly advised the fiscal court to settle rather than risk having the jury award the plaintiffs a large amount of money.

Damron explained that if the jury had awarded any money to the plaintiffs, the county would have had to pay the plaintiffs' attorney fees. She added that she had been told those fees were in excess of

Bailey to be retried in Shop Rite case

The Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled Friday, October 13, that Richard Bailey, of Kermit, will have to stand trial in a case which was dismissed September 1994 by Special Judge Kelly Asbury.

Bailey was accused of robbing the Inez Shop Rite Supermarket in 1992.

Asbury ruled that the government had failed to grant Bailey, who had as many as five court-appointed attorneys during the case, a speedy trial.

However, in granting the new trial, the appeals court said the delays were attributed primarily to Bailey's actions and only partially to the actions of his attorneys.

Bailey's trial was continued several times because of the defendant's conduct and his refusal to cooperate with counsel.

Two other men pleaded guilty in the case and were set to testify against Bailey when Asbury made his ruling.

Collins, 21, of Pikeville, were arrested and both were charged with trafficking in a controlled substance within 1,000 yards of a school.

Marijuana was confiscated in the arrests.

Pike County Sheriff's Department, the Kentucky State Police, Pikeville City Police and the Mountain Area Drug Task Force assisted in the arrests. — Appalachian News-Express

Ray Allen, founder and president of AAA, said, "Since the theatre was built in 1905, several country music stars have performed on stage, and AAA scheduled the Lew DeWitt Memorial Music Festival on Saturday, October 7. Other events include the Lew DeWitt Junior Virginia Opry on Saturday, October 21, at 2 p.m., the Virginia Opry on the same day at 8 p.m. and the Miller Brothers' Country Music Show on Saturday, October 28."

Bob Campbell and the Coachmen will headline the Lew DeWitt Memorial Music Festival, and Jim Pollock, a singer/songwriter from Indianapolis, will appear as a special guest along with Beth Miller, a teen-age singing sensation from Verona, Virginia. Miller is a member of the Lew DeWitt Junior Opry that Bob Campbell, a life-long friend of Lew DeWitt, directs for AAA at the historic theatre. As for comedy at the festival, the Booger Brothers, a trio of musicians who are sure to make the most serious minded country music fans laugh, will be on hand to catch the tears of laughter with their assortment of zany instruments. Showtime is 8 p.m., and advance tickets for adults are $6 and $3 for students. Tickets at the door are $4 and $8 and may be reserved by calling the Olde Forge Travel at (540) 862-1234 or purchased at regular Virginia Opry ticket outlets in Virginia and West Virginia.

Lew DeWitt's widow, Judy DeWitt who serves as honorary spokesperson for the Lew DeWitt Junior Virginia Opry, will attend the festival. The proceeds will benefit AAA and the Crohn's Foundation. Lew DeWitt battled Crohn's disease from the mid-1960s until his recent death. The festival will feature Dr. Dan Nix and radio personality Ray Houser. Both will share master of ceremonies duty.

During the Fall Foliage Festival in Clifton Forge, AAA will present the Lew DeWitt Junior Opry at 2 p.m. on Saturday, October 21. The country music show will feature more than two dozen students from five Virginia counties. The group has its own band, and the show will feature male and female vocalists, dancers, musicians and comedians.

Advance tickets for adults are $5 and $6 at the door. Advance tickets for students are $2 and $3 at the door. Advance tickets are available at Virginia Opry ticket outlet.

The Virginia Opry, a group of musicians, vocalists and comedians from southwest Virginia, will present "A Country Music Show" at the historic theatre at 8 p.m. on Saturday, October 21.

The show will mark the third anniversary of the Virginia Opry that performs monthly in the theatre as an outreach of AAA. As in all shows at the historic theatre, the Virginia Opry performs G-rated shows that are suitable for the entire family.

Advance tickets for adults are $5, and tickets at the door are $6. Tickets for 12 and under are $2 in advance and $3 at the door.

ments, and with 10 counts of wanton endangerment for allegedly endangering the lives of people who were in the apartments, including a one-month-old girl.

Court records indicate that Butler and Fields had a history of domestic violence.

Fields filed a petition in Johnson District Court on February 22, 1994, seeking a domestic violence EPO against Butler. Among other things, Fields asked that Butler be ordered to stay at least 500 feet away from her and her family.

The basis for the order was an incident that occurred three days earlier at a trailer the couple shared $75,000.

"You never know what a jury is going to decide," she said.

Damron also maintained her and the court's innocence. "There was never any question that the administrative code explained that those jobs ended with the term of court," she said.

"I don't buy her explanation that the settlement is saving money. I think the magistrates and Judge Damron should have to pay the bill," said Thacker.

Dotson offered another explanation for settling the case.

"The federal judge had control over that case and he's a pretty powerful person. When the judge tells the lawyers he wants this case settled...we had to do something," Dotson said.

U.S. District Judge Joseph Hood denied the implication he pressured both sides into deciding anything. "I don't recall any of them (the magistrates) being present when I had conversations with the attorneys in chambers. The magistrate who was not there is mistaken," he said.

"The only thing I told the parties was if they were going to have a settlement to get it done before Thursday. I didn't want them taking up court time with settlement negotiations," Hood said.

The trial, had it continued, was scheduled to end on the Thursday both sides agreed to settle.

Gibson voiced her concerns with the case and the settlement.

"When Judge Hood called a jury and listened to the case, why was the fiscal court asked to settle?" she asked.

Gibson said she has objected to settling the case from the beginning. She also complained that the media and Damron have attributed positions to the fiscal court as a whole without noting she disagreed with those positions.

"I'm taking issue with the News Express and (former editor) Linda Breed for not talking with the magistrates, for saying in her story 'County magistrates authorized the judge-executive to negotiate a settlement,'" Gibson said.

Gibson said Damron risked implicating her when she said some of the magistrates were "cheering" for the former worker.

"I was cheering for the people to get a fair break," Gibson said.

Damron replied she did not want to specify which magistrates she was referring to, but that Gibson would know if she was one of those magistrates and that she should seek out the media if she wished to clarify her position.

The Kentucky Association of Counties (KACO) is the insurance company for Pike County. KACO sponsors the Kentucky All-Lines-Fund, which specifically handles cases like the ones against Damron and the county.

No one with the All-Lines-Fund could be reached to explain why they would only pay for the settlement concerning Damron as an individual, not as county judge-executive.

behind Combs Airport.

According to Fields' hand-written account of the incident, she was asleep on the couch and Butler woke her up and started calling her names.

"When petitioner attempted to leave, respondent kicked petitioner in the leg and hip," according to Fields' statement. "In October, respondent hit petitioner in the face, causing her to have ear surgery. Petitioner states she is fearful of the respondent due to past history of abuse."

Judge Susan M. Johnson granted an EPO on March 2, 1994, ordering Butler to vacate the trailer and stay away from Fields and prohibiting him from "committing further acts of domestic violence and abuse."

On March 14, 1994, Johnson granted a request by Fields to remove the 500-foot prohibition.

"It is hereby ordered that the prior order of this court...be amended in the following manner: remove all conditions except that respondent be restrained from committing any further acts of violence and abuse," the order says.

Funeral services for Fields are scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday in the Jones-Preston Funeral Home Chapel, with burial in Highland Memorial Park at Staffordsville.

News of the Weird

In an August story on improvements to the Seattle waste treatment plant, the Seattle Daily Journal of Commerce reported on the Vancouver firm that manufactures the hardshell diving suits used by the "pilots" who jump into the tanks and monitor effluent flow. The suits provide air for up to 48 hours, contain voice and video connections to the surface, and have thrusters for propulsion throughout the sewage. The long-standing brand name of the diving suit is The Newsuit. (Republicans should relax; the suit is named after the firm's founder, Phil Nuytten.)

THE LITIGIOUS SOCIETY

— Warren E. Smith filed a $3 million lawsuit in Roanoke, Va., in April against palm reader Lola Rose Miller because she sold him bad numbers to play in the state lottery. He is suing for the amount of that week's grand prize, which he says he should have won.

— In May, Jose and Maria Tercero filed a lawsuit against the Santa Fe, N.M., school board and various officials for unspecified injuries suffered by their son, Jesse, from the act of carving a jack-o'-lantern last October. The Terceros said forcing Jesse to carve the pumpkin violated his religious freedom because he does not celebrate Halloween.

— The Minnesota Court of Appeals ruled in February that the King of Clubs Bar in Minneapolis could be sued by a wife whose husband assaulted her on the way home after the couple had stopped by the bar for a few drinks.

— In June, a jury in Pensacola, Fla., awarded nearly $600,000 to Pedro Duran, 56, in his lawsuit against the CSX company. Duran lost his left arm and suffered a broken back and leg when a CSX train hit him as he lay on the tracks, passed out from a round of drinking.

According to trial testimony, an engineer spotted what he thought was a lump of trash on the tracks and sounded the whistle as a precaution for 54 seconds before the collision. However, the "lump of trash"—Duran—didn't move.

— In July, the Maine Supreme Judicial Court upheld a $40,000 verdict against the Fort Kent Golf Club. Jeannine Pelletier had sued because, on the first fairway almost 10 years ago, she hit a golf ball that struck a railroad track that cuts across the fairway, and the ball bounded back and hit her in the face.

— In May, Laura Carlton, 23, accepted an out-of-court settlement by the City of Victoria, British Columbia, in her lawsuit for injuries she suffered when a police officer inadvertently shot her during a raid. She had sued for around $200,000—$50,000 of which was for her loss of earnings as a prostitute, which she regarded as a stepping stone to a future as an exotic dancer.

Popperri

by Scott Perry

After an exhaustive, 30-minute study that received no federal, state or local funding, we have concluded beyond a shadow of a doubt that men are different from women.

This remarkable conclusion follows a routine parent-teacher conference with our son's third grade teacher, who expressed some concern over the boy's failure to properly follow written instructions on homework.

We had casually noted before that the lad would often dive into his home assignments without first reviewing the directions for that work, often resulting in a do-over, but we assumed he was rushing to get through so that he might have more time to devote to his chosen profession of juvenile delinquency.

After the conference with his teacher and some soul searching of our own, we realized just how wrong we were.

It is our considered opinion, which we can back up with years of biological evidence, that our son has a genetic characteristic common only to the male species that prevents all us guys from following written instructions, whether they be concerned with operating a VCR or constructing a nuclear power plant.

What has often been attributed to stubbornness by our female counterparts is actually a physiological fingerprint that probably developed way back when we had to give up that rib to permit the creation of women.

Ever since that time, men have been putting things together with parts left over.

And we always thought the manufacturer sent spares.

Now we know, though, that we're genetically programmed to ignore instructions, and we no longer have to feel bad about it.

Until our report cards are issued, that is.

Unstrung Heroes

Hollywood is known to be a brutal place for those actresses "of a certain age." As actresses pass the 40-year mark, it seems good roles simply dry up. They are few and far in between. However, the ever-brilliant Diane Keaton is not one to be beaten down by a sexist system. She has found new vitality in what promises to be a brilliant directing career.

In this debut, feature-length effort, Andie MacDowell portrays Selma, a Los Angeles homemaker of the early 1960s. Her husband is Sid (John Turturro), the consummate scientist. To Sid, there is nothing that can't be explained or addressed in a logical, methodical manner. The two have a young son, 12-year-old Steven.

Unfortunately for Sid, his two brothers, Danny (Michael Richards) and Arthur (Maury Chaykin), are totally unconventional.

Arthur is a junk collector, hoarding mountains of bundled newspapers because he says he hasn't read them yet and rounding up all sorts of odd items. Danny subscribes to conspiracy theories, convinced that a fascist takeover of the U.S. is imminent. Unlike their scientific brother, they are practicing Jews.

When Selma becomes ill with cancer, Steven is sent to spend the summer with his uncles while his mother and father deal with this tragedy.

While at his uncles' home (a residence hotel), Steven is urged to study for his bar mitzvah. He is confused by his uncles' somewhat quirky habits, but is captivated nonetheless. Best of all, they provide him with a safe harbor in the stormy seas of his mother's illness.

This could have been just another sentimental tale of a boy losing his mother at a young age.

However, thanks to Keaton's very fine direction, it is much more than that. It is a film that teaches us about grief and its ultimate resolution. It touches on all areas of family relationships and gives them a very three-dimensional reality.

All the actors in this film turn in fine performances, but I was particularly taken with MacDowell's portrayal of Steven's mother.

As she faces the inevitable fact of her mortality and grows weaker and weaker, she still manages to maintain that essence of herself that is vital and giving and nurturing of her children.

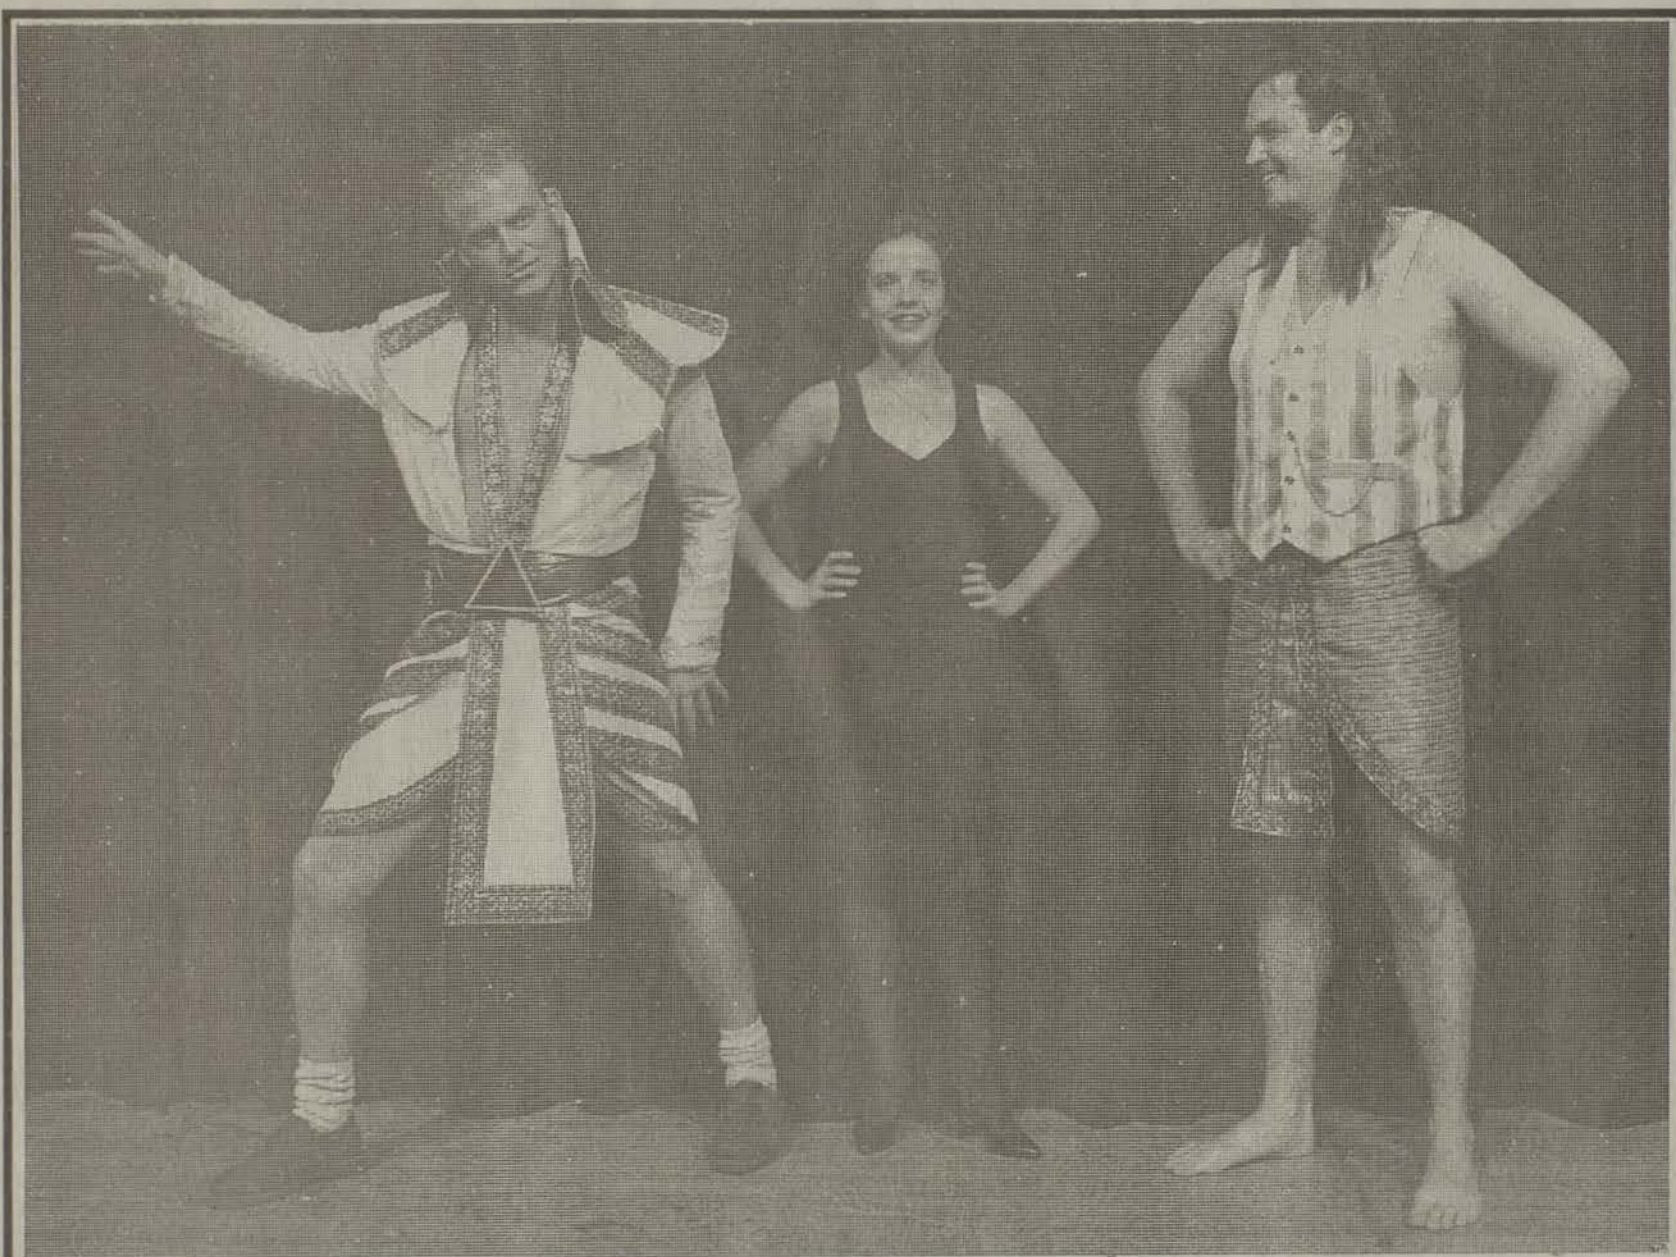

The audience realizes, as it watches her, that this is her soul and something that can never die, despite the withering of the body.

I loved this film and I can't recommend it enough. It is worthy of four stars in my book!

The richer get richer

It was hardly news, but one of the most depressing bits of information I've heard in recent years is that rich people really are happier than the poor.

You don't have to conduct a survey to convince me that being rich can alleviate many problems. Although I realize money can't buy happiness, it can go a long way in making your life more comfortable. The downside is that you forget how the other side lives.

A friend of mine, Mimi Galore, has money. Her day begins with a backrub from her masseuse, a healthy, low calorie breakfast prepared by a French chef and a mineral bath drawn by her maid. (These facts, alone, would make one's days less stressful even if one were poor.) This agenda is followed by a pedicure, manicure, facial and lunch. While this sounds divine, her afternoons consist of summoning her chauffeur for a jaunt to her dress designer and a rousing game of bridge at the club.

Of course, this type of decadent lifestyle is not for everyone, but I guarantee my attitude would improve if I didn't have to worry about whether chicken was going to be on sale at the grocery this week, or if my AT&T bill was going to arrive in the nearly affordable

"What are you doing, dahling," Mimi coos when she calls.

Smile
Awhile

Sara Hopson

"Cleaning the oven."

"Don't you know that will ruin your manicure?"

"I don't get manicures."

"Well, you should, dahling."

They're relaxing."

"I can't afford manicures."

"You shouldn't scrimp on luxuries, dahling. It's bad for the constitution."

"The constitution is what got us into this mess because it says we have to pay taxes."

"Oh, how clever, dahling."

"I'd better go. I've got to fix lunch," I say.

"You cook?"

"Of course. I just put a chicken pot pie in the micro."

"Oh, how horrid! You should eat something lighter."

"It was a Lean Cuisine Pot Pie," I announced poorly.

As we talked, I realized the rich have problems, too.

"I'm going to the doctor for a checkup today," Mimi stated.

"Oh, I hate pap smears."

"Oh, no, dahling. I go to a surgeon for pap smears so I can be anesthetized. I abhor anyone seeing me in stirrups. Of course, unless I'm hunting. But I'm not going for a female problem, I'm going for my eyes."

"Optometrist?"

"No, my sight is perfect. But I've developed a line around the corner of one eye...."

"A wrinkle?"

"It's just a line. Sheets have wrinkles."

"Well, I need to go for a mammogram, but it costs $50."

"Fifty dollars isn't much. I tip my hairdresser that much. Dahling, I have to run, my doctor says I need to rest so I'm jetting to Switzerland, Monaco and Spain. We'll do lunch when I get back."

I hope she knows that "doing lunch" means I'll be fixing it. I didn't tell her that $50 goes a long way in buying groceries.

The thought might even have made her go into cardiac arrest. But Mimi could handle it because she could afford a new heart.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You'll be glad to finally put aside that private worry which has been plaguing you recently. Listen closely to what a loved one is telling you concerning a financial matter. There's an opportunity waiting in the wings.

HOME TIPS

LARGE APPLIANCE COVER—I have noticed that many people put towels on top of their washer and dryer to keep them dust-free. Since our children are married with homes of their own, I had several twin-size sheets and had no use for them. I cut one in half and it makes a perfect cover for both appliances. Since I used a fitted sheet, it fits over the dials and stays in place. Helen C., Altoona, Pa.

THIN POTHOLDERS—Ever wonder what to do with those too-thin, handmade potholders received as gifts or bought at a local bazaar? Just put one in each of your non-stick pans to keep them from scratching each other when stored. Wendy V., N. Canton, Ohio

EASY PLACEMENT—Recently, I was putting pictures in a purchased collage—the kind with the spaces already cut out. I was feeling frustrated because I couldn't keep the picture still while it was centered, but then an idea came to me. I taped the mat to the window (with the good side facing outside). From there I could easily center each picture perfectly by seeing the shadows of the images. It turned out perfectly! Sandra W., Lighthouse Point, Fla.

John was frustrated over being fired from Oakdale Latin. Scott and Carly tried to get dirt on Kirk and found themselves trapped in his closet when he arrived with Sam. Orlena panicked when Mark found Damian's blood-stained shirt. Later, everyone was shocked when Damian suddenly appeared. Lisa comforted Nancy over Mac's Alzheimer's attack, and then visited Eduardo's grave. After Orlena warned Damian not to try to stop what she's doing for the family, he tried to reach Lily to tell her how Orlena drugged her. Lucinda fired Scott. Wait To See: John decides to fight back.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: Maggie was devastated when Dylan said he was getting closer to Michael. Sly denied to Stephanie that he was Taylor's stalker. Meanwhile, Taylor told Eric she felt good about working for a man whose employees admired him so much. Later, Stephanie stunned Taylor by saying she still loved Eric. While Mike was photographing more Forrester designs for Spectra, Macy had Sally recall how well she and Eric got along in Rotterdam. When Dylan warned Sly he could have his bar closed for serving beer to an underage Jessica, Sly told him he had information (referring to Dylan and Maggie) Jessica would want to hear. Wait To See: Stephanie acts on her feelings for Eric.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Carrie felt guilty that Sami's baby might not pull through. Jack was determined to get Sarah out of town before Jen found out about her. Hope went undercover at the Blue Moon, unaware that Jude St. Clair had plans for her. Laura cautioned Marlena about her growing closeness with Stefano. Father Francis tried to stop Tony from his plan to commit suicide and have John framed for his "murder." Later, Tony realized he could use John's hatred for Stefano to prove he's capable of killing. Wait To See: Tony proceeds with his plan.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: After a tiff with Brenda, Lily accepted Sonny's bid to attend Miguel's New York concert. Keesha caught a despondent A.J. drinking. Ned told Miguel Sonny's phone was tapped. Mac and Kevin planned to expose Maia's "mysticism." Stone's seizure left him frightened and angry. Mac turned up in Katherine's place while she was in bed with Damian. Wait To See: Stone faces another challenge.

GUIDING LIGHT: Marian (Brent) unnerved Lucy as she waited for the HIV test results. Alan surprised Alexandra by saying he wanted no part of his old life. Josh let his pride interfere when he didn't reconcile with Annie after assuming she and Rick had resumed a relationship. Acting on her "vision," Nadine tried to head off any danger. Dinah told Roger's investigator to stop searching for Hart. H.B. told Josh he made a mistake with Reva in the past that Josh just made with Annie. Wait To See: Brent's madness grows increasingly dangerous.

LOVING: The series, which becomes THE CITY on November 13, has not yet resumed providing summaries while the serial killer story line continues.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: In Ireland, Marty and Patrick realized the men following him were not police, and later found themselves abducted at gunpoint. Viki was surprised to learn how much time Clint has spent with Carlotta. Andy entered a "not guilty" plea. Nora got her to waive trial by jury. Blair got into David's room to steal the diary. Meanwhile, Kelly refused to believe David had another woman in his life (besides Dorian, of course). Viki heard the voice of a new alter-ego, her father, Victor Lord. Wait To See: Blair's plan to help Dorian could backfire.

YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Hope turned to Cliff for comfort when Victor delayed a visit because of Nick's problems. Mari Jo acted to keep Blade from discovering Rick in the bedroom with Ashley. Malcolm was drawn to Keesha, who was sitting at her bar, ruminating over being stood up by Nathan. Luan learned Jack now knew the truth about her illness. Lauren accepted Eric's bid to collaborate on a Fenmore-Forrester line, and left for Los Angeles. Nick and Sharon learned they'd been "married" by a fake Justice of the Peace. Paul examined a drawer Drake looked into in Matt's apartment, and found bullets and gun paraphernalia. Matt offered to "sell" Victor the truth. Wait To See: Paul wonders if he's really on Amy's trail.

— In August, Carolyn J. ### I DON'T THINK SO

— Police in Collinsville, Ill., arrested Earl Templeton, 38, and charged him with passing three counterfeit $100 bills. According to police, Templeton said he was not trying to enrich himself but rather to stimulate the economy.

— In May, Dorothy Diane Rose, who is in a halfway house in Tampa, Fla., the result of a 1990 trial in which she was found not guilty by reason of insanity for strangling her two toddlers, petitioned her judge in Tampa to be released because she has a job lined up. According to a counselor, a local couple wants to hire her as a baby sitter.

— In Sonora, Calif., in August, former U.S. Forest Service employee Gary Gunderson, 43, was convicted of theft of what prosecutors said were "truckloads" of items of government property. Gunderson said he might have borrowed a few things but that because he suffers from Usher's syndrome, which he said causes visual impairment, he wasn't able to see well enough to realize that he had a lot more stuff than he thought.

Winning The War Against Fleas (NAPS)—Once fleas get a foothold in your home they can be tough to control, a nuisance, and a health hazard for you and your pets. Fortunately, you can gain the upper hand against this pest. It simply requires an understanding of the flea's life cycle, adequate precautions and proper use of pesticide products when necessary. Flea Prevention Tips There are several steps consumers can take to help prevent flea invasions. They should remember to: • Keep rodents away from the house by screening foundation vents under the home, moving garbage containers, clearing plants and restacking wood piles away from the house. Fleas on rodents will quickly hop on dogs or cats nearby. • Discourage any bird or rabbit nests near the home. • Replace or wash pet's beds frequently to eliminate flea eggs. • Vacuum carpets, rugs and furniture to remove any flea eggs, larvae and pupae. Pay attention to areas frequented by pets, as well as cracks and crevices along walls. Dispose of vacuum bags immediately. • If fleas still persist on your pet or in your home, consult a veterinarian or use a flea control product which contains Dursban® insecticide. Dursban offers effective control of fleas in and around the home. • For best results with a flea control product, always read and follow all label directions. By taking these precautionary steps, you can protect your home and family from fleas all year long.

Tips For Setting Up A Home Office

(NAPS)—In the past location was said to be a key to a business' success, but thanks to today's technology, it's possible for a business to be successful almost anywhere—including your home.

The key to a home office today is efficiency, fitting the basics into the space you have—whether that's an extra bedroom, den, loft or garage.

Even the basics can take up a lot of space if you don't shop carefully.
What's essential?

Furniture should include a desk or work surface to serve as a communications center, a computer
table to house hardware, filing cabinets and shelves for storage plus a comfortable chair with firm support. A recent Harris poll indicated that people spend 75 percent of their day at a desk.

When choosing communications tools top considerations are quality, affordability, reliability and size. These include:

- a multiline telephone,
preferably with a speaker
phone, call-waiting, unless you are sharing a telephone/fax line, and an answering machine or voice mail system.
- modem/electronic mail.
- business cards and stationery compatible with your printer.

Whenever possible, a home office should have a dedicated work station, which includes:

- a personal computer system with a modem—and
