Man implicated in 214 burglaries

by Chris McDavid
Staff Writer

After two Osborne Elementary students apparently failed to notify school personnel that a classmate had a gun at the school last week, the Floyd County Board of Education said Tuesday that the issue may be addressed at the board's next meeting.

The board conducted expulsion hearings during a special meeting Tuesday night for three students accused of having a gun on the school grounds, and noted that the school system's 1997-98 student handbook does not specifically address the issue of students failing to report a gun or weapon on the premises.

The board decided not to expel two of the students for the incident because their involvement with the gun was minimal. The only reason they were suspended by the principal is because they were aware another student had the gun on school property and they did not report it.

Although the student handbook does not address the issue of a punishment for students who fail to report seeing a gun on school grounds, the board indicated the issue would be placed on the agenda for a board meeting in the near future.

Last Friday, principal Paul Tackett suspended three students — Brandon Hamilton, Charles Ray and Adam Little — for having a .25 caliber handgun at the school the day before.

Ray and Little were apparently suspended along with Hamilton, who allegedly brought the gun to school, because they were aware the gun was brought onto school premises, but neglected to report the incident to school officials.

At the request of Ray's and Little's parents, the board held closed expulsion hearings during Tuesday's special meeting and decided not to expel the students after considering several factors.

One of the students apparently had the firearm in his backpack, but the board agreed there was "insufficient evidence the student ever intentionally possessed the handgun...and there was) evidence the handgun was placed in his book bag without his knowledge."

In determining that the other student would be permitted to return to school, board member Johnnie Ross noted that the board considered the student's minimal Prison project is go!

A four-county effort to promote economic development in the Big Sandy region paid off in a big way Wednesday when a $100 million federal prison project was officially approved.

The prison, which will be built on the Honey Branch site in Martin County near the Big Sandy Regional Airport, is a cooperative effort between Floyd, Johnson, Martin, and Pike counties, and is expected to dramatically boost the economy in the area.

"This decision is the green light we've been waiting for," U.S. Representative Hal Rogers said Wednesday in announcing the approval of the Honey Branch prison site. "Now, we can begin to reap the benefits this prison will bring to our area."

The venture to build a 1,000-bed high security prison on the Honey Branch site in Martin County was proposed earlier last year by the four Big Sandy counties when they teamed up to form the Honey Branch Industrial Development Authority, Inc.

The Honey Branch site is located near the Big Sandy Regional Airport in Martin County.

Rep. Rogers said the prison is expected to cost approximately $120 million to build and will generate a significant number of local construction jobs, as well as sales to local suppliers of materials and services.

When complete, the facility will have an annual payroll of $25 million, employing approximately 400 people at an average salary of $32,000, Rogers said.

"The jobs and economic opportunity this project will bring to the region mean the world to our people," Rogers, who chairs the House subcommittee that funds the Bureau of Prisons, added.

Rogers said he worked to bring the penitentiary to Eastern Kentucky because of the area's "high quality work force and the interest of local officials and civic leaders."

The Honey Branch Development Authority is seeking $3.5 million funding from the state's Local Government Economic Development Fund's Regional Industrial Park Program to build the prison.

The Industrial Park Program was formed to assist underdeveloped areas of the state and to fund multi-county projects with coal severance taxes.

Utility services in Prestonsburg and Martin County are expected to supply financial resources toward extending water to the project site, and the Paintsville Utility Company has proposed to provide wastewater service to the industrial park, as well as the Auxier

Woman suffers hypothermia after leap from burning boat

When a houseboat at Dewey Lake caught fire Wednesday, an area resident apparently had two options — burn with the boat or face the possibility of drowning in the frigid waters.

Audrey Nickell chose the lake's cold waters and jumped off the boat before suffering any injuries from the fire. But, her escape from the flames placed her in another dangerous predicament.

Nickell was found wrapped in a blanket and suffering from hypothermia when a Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad volunteer heard a faint knocking coming from another houseboat.

Derrick Calhoun, a rescue squad volunteer, said Wednesday afternoon that he heard Nickell's faint knocking as squad members were preparing to drag the lake.

"She apparently got off the (burning) boat and got on another one," Calhoun said. "She had barely enough energy to knock on the door."

Calhoun said the rescue squad, state police and a park ranger had conducted a preliminary search around the area for approximately 20 minutes before Nickell was able to make enough noise to be heard.

"She had been unconscious and didn't hear all the commotion," the rescue squad volunteer said. "She was just barely responsive."

Murder victim was lured to her death, cops say

by Chris McDavid
Staff Writer

The investigation into Tuesday's murder-suicide reveals that Earl Ray Campbell apparently lured his wife, Debbie, to the Lancer residence before shooting her to death and turning a gun on himself.

The bodies of 43-year-old Debbie Kendrick Campbell and her estranged husband were discovered around 2 p.m. Tuesday when local authorities responded to a shooting incident at Mr. Campbell's residence.

Prestonsburg Sgt. Anthony Castle, who is investigating the incident, said Thursday that statements taken from Lillian Blackburn, Mrs. Campbell's mother, who witnessed the shootings, and from other witnesses indicate the shootings were premeditated and motivated by jealousy.

Mrs. Campbell had filed for divorce from her husband in Floyd Circuit Court on January 30, four days prior to her death. The two separated in December and were living in separate residences, according to court records.

Mr. Campbell had apparently contacted his wife and requested that she go to the residence to pick up some income tax papers, Sgt. Castle said.

The sergeant said Earl Ray Campbell's vehicle had been hidden nearby at Cablevision, because Debbie Campbell would not stop at the residence if he was home.

"She thought he wasn't home,"

Sgt. Castle said. "She never did see him — He stuck the gun barrel around the (kitchen) door and shot her."

Mrs. Blackburn fled the scene and contacted the Prestonsburg Police Department after her daughter had been shot. Blackburn initially thought Earl Ray Campbell had shot at her, but the officer said the second shot she heard was Mr. Campbell shooting his wife a second time.

Debbie Campbell was shot in the chest and throat with a 12-gauge shotgun, the sergeant said.

Shortly thereafter, Earl Ray Campbell died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. Sgt. Castle said Mr. Campbell shot himself with a .38 caliber handgun.

Local authorities and other emergency agencies surrounded the residence and tried to make contact with the occupants after the initial report.

After kicking open the door, Sgt. Castle and Floyd Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson stormed through the residence and discovered the bodies.

The murder-suicide shocked Mrs. Campbell's attorney, Tim Parker, who filed the divorce papers just days before the shooting and who indicated Tuesday afternoon that there was no evidence the couple "had this kind of problem."

There was no reported history of domestic violence between the Campbells and, the two had apparently reached an agreement for the

The week ahead...

A special meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education and a training session for board members, originally slated for Thursday, February 5, was postponed and will be rescheduled next week.

After the storm...

A Prestonsburg resident swept snow from her vehicle Wednesday morning. The woman said she wanted to clear the snow in anticipation of additional accumulation and ice which would complicate the task and make it harder for her to get in the vehicle.

Storm not as bad as predicted, but bad enough just the same

This week's winter storm may not have been as harsh to Floyd County as it was to other regions in the state, but the snow left many area residents in the dark and numerous motorists on foot.

Initial weather reports predicted Eastern Kentucky counties could receive as much as a foot of snow Tuesday and Wednesday.

Although areas within Floyd County received various amounts of accumulation, they did not get close to the predictions.

Michelle Roth, a teacher at Adam's Middle School, where students participate with the maintenance of a weather lab, said Thursday that approximately 3.22 inches of snow fell in the Prestonsburg area.

But that amount of heavy, wet snow and ice caused numerous power outages throughout the county.

More than 21,000 customers throughout the state were without power Wednesday because of heavy, wet snow and ice, according to American Electric Power (AEP) media advisories. On contact with the firearm; his remorse over the incident; and his cooperation with the principal's investigation.

Board member Carol Stumbo stressed that the board considers the boys' failure to report the incident to school personnel a "very serious" matter.

Stumbo said the board has agreed to consider a new policy which would punish students more harshly for similar actions.

Throughout the special meeting, board attorney Jerry Patton continued to note for the record that the student, accused of bringing the gun to school, and his parents were not at the meeting.

The expulsion hearing for Hamilton was continued and rescheduled for February 17 because of the "unavailability" of the student and because his parents were not properly notified of the hearing.

The student handbook requires that parents of students accused of an expulsion offense be notified by registered mail prior to a formal hearing of the charges.

Principal Tackett said last Friday that Hamilton denied bringing the gun, which reportedly was not capable of being discharged because of a faulty firing pin, onto school property.

In other action Tuesday, the board met in a closed session to discuss litigation.

The board did not consider any motions in regard to the litigation when it came back into the open meeting.

At the board attorney's request, though, the board agreed to have the audio tape of the closed session kept confidential and separate from the minutes of the meetings, and that the tape not be transcribed.

All members were present at Tuesday's special meeting.

Hypothermia

Nickell was transported to Highland's Regional Medical Center, where she is listed in stable condition.

Calhoun said the state police contacted the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday after Nickell's family members said she may have been on the boat and that they could not find her.

Within 15 minutes, the rescue squad arrived at the scene and launched a boat into the lake. Calhoun said there had been some difficulty getting the rescue squad's boat in the water because of the low water level.

Twenty minutes after the rescue squad's boat was launched and a search was conducted, Nickell was located.

"We were pulling out to get everybody ready to start dragging (the lake)," Calhoun said.

At the scene, a man who identified himself as Nickell's father speculated that the house boat's furnace may have caused the fire.

Kentucky State Police are investigating Wednesday's incident. The Floyd County Sheriff's Department also responded to the scene to offer assistance.

division of their marital property.

Sgt. Castle's investigation was assisted by KSP detective Lee Weddington.

In addition to the couple's 21-year-old son, Clinton, Debbie Campbell is survived by her parents and one brother, Ernest Kendrick Jr, of Dwale.

Funeral services for Debbie Campbell will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at Nelson Frazier Funeral Home.

Earl Ray Campbell is survived by one brother, Curt Campbell of Warsaw, Indiana. Funeral services for Mr. Campbell will be held at noon Sunday at Floyd Funeral Home.

Thursday, the number of customers without electricity decreased to approximately 11,300.

Melissa McHenry, with AEP's Corporate Communications Department, indicated Thursday that more than 1,000 Floyd County residents were without power Wednesday and that 323 customers remained without electricity Thursday in the Weeksbury, Arnold Fork of Right Beaver and East Point areas.

Aside from the county's trouble with power outages, snow covered roads created a difficult and dangerous situation for many motorists in the area.

Several accidents were reported in the county Tuesday night and several motorists were forced to abandon their vehicles by the roadsides due to slick road conditions.

The Floyd County Sheriff's Department had extra officers on duty patrolling for stranded motorists during the snow. Deputies transported those stranded residents to their homes.

In some cases, vehicles were abandoned and left in the road, blocking traffic and preventing snow plows and other highway equipment from clearing the roadways.

Tow trucks were dispatched to various locations throughout the county to remove those vehicles.

According to the sheriff department's dispatch logs, several accidents with injuries were reported, but information on specific incidents was not available.

A representative with the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad said Wednesday that the rescue squad worked a two-vehicle accident Tuesday night on the top of Abbott Mountain.

The representative said the driver of one of the vehicles apparently lost control and collided with the second vehicle. Two area residents suffered moderate injuries and were transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center.

A dispatcher with the sheriff's office said Wednesday morning that the department received more than 45 calls between midnight and 6 a.m. in reference to accidents, stranded motorists and power outages.

community.

Floyd County Judge-Executive Ben Hale said the decision "is a good example of counties working together for the benefit of Eastern Kentucky."

"We've (city and county leaders in the four counties) worked hard to meet the needs to make this project go. When the project is done, it will benefit all of our region. We all share the same concerns. We're just not that far apart when it comes to our needs and job opportunities here in Eastern Kentucky," Hale said.

Hale added that the development of the infrastructure at the site will also make it more attractive to other industries, which will mean even more jobs in the area.

It also means other areas of the economy, such as housing for the new workers, will get a boost.

"We're laying the groundwork for the future. We're seeing the fruits of our hard work. This is a big plus for our local economy," Hale said.

The Art of Magic on KET explores ancient art of performance magic Magic has haunted and baffled, amazed and entertained since the earliest shamans inspired awe by kindling fire. Never before, however, has a television program presented a comprehensive view of the illusions, philosophies and history of this ancient art. Through revealing interviews and extraordinary performances, The Art of Magic, airing on KET at 9 p.m., Wednesday, February 11, takes viewers beyond the tricks and conjuring to the power and traditions of magic, illuminating the mysteries and the people who create and perform them.

Archival footage and photographs take viewers back in time to learn about early practitioners such as Isaac Fawkes and Cagliostro, and on to the masters of the craft who appeared at the beginning and middle of this century: Cardini, Harry Houdini and Channing Pollack. The most accomplished contemporary magicians perform their stunning illusions specially for The Art of Magic.

Throughout the two-and-a-half hour program, magicians Seigfried and Roy, Jamy Ian Swiss, Lance Burton, the Amazing Randi, the Pendragons, Max Maven, Jeff McBride and Hiawatha demonstrate their spectacular art. Bodies levitate, doves materialize, minds are read, impossible escapes are achieved, elephants disappear and death is defied in phenomenal circumstances.

The Air of Magic, co-produced by Lark International and KCTS/Seattle, is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing. Viewers can find out more about programming on KET by visiting the KET Web site at <http://www.ket.org>.

Hooray for crooks!

by Scott Perry

The most significant economic development effort of our era in The Big Sandy region is off the drawing board and in the works.

Take a deep breath and say "hallelujah."

On Wednesday, Congressman Hal Rogers announced that the Honey Branch federal prison project had been given final and official approval, meaning the $120 million facility will, in fact, be built near the Big Sandy Regional Airport in Martin County.

Do you realize what that means?

Beyond the jobs that will be created during the construction phase of the prison, the facility will pump something like $25 million A YEAR in payroll into our area.

Approximately 400 people will be employed by the prison itself. Some will come here from other places, that's true, but many opportunities will arise for qualified people from this region.

Beyond payroll, the prison will open many doors.

The extension of utility services to the site will open the whole Route 3 corridor to development.

People who work at the prison will need homes to live in, and that creates opportunities in housing development and construction.

Of course, the prison will be "inflation-proof," too. Work there won't be affected by economic ups and downs, like our coal industry has. We'll always have crooks.

In the broader sense it may sound a bit hypocritical of us to be thankful for widespread crime in the country, but if that means jobs for our little corner of the world then, hey, we're all for it and we'll be the pot that calls the kettle black.

Bring on the crooks.

Bring on the jobs.

The end will most definitely justify the means for this project.

Letters to the Editor

Thanks expressed to FBLA for party for foster children

Editor:

This letter is to express our gratitude toward the Prestonsburg High School FBLA, Mrs. Combs, FBLA sponsor and Mrs. Wright, parent of one FBLA member.

Members of the FBLA had an interest in helping with the annual Floyd County Foster Parent Association (FCFPA). Christmas party, for Floyd County foster children.

The FBLA took paper angels with the age and sex of children in foster care and purchased gifts for each of them; and on Sunday evening, the night before the party, several FBLA members, along with Mrs. Combs and Mrs. Wright, helped FCFPA members get things prepared.

When December 22, the night of the party, finally arrived, these same FBLA members and Mrs. Wright became Santa's elves and helped in presenting the gifts to the children, enabling them to enjoy the smiles their hard work brought.

In appreciation for their help, Christmas ornaments were given to each of Santa's helpers, by the FCFPA.

At this time we want to thank each and every member of the FBLA, Mrs. Combs, and Mrs. Wright, for their generosity and caring about these children, our future.

Judicial independence integral to maintaining the rule of law despite outside pressures and glaring spotlight

by Judge William S. Sessions, Chair
American Bar Association
Special Committee on Judicial Independence

In the media spotlight of high public interest trials, such as the Massachusetts au pair case where all parties issued multiple statements, day in and day out, and people picketed outside the Cambridge courthouse, it is important to remember the true role of the court and the judge who presides over the trial.

The true role of the judge is not to be a caricature in a made-for-television sitcom, where the viewer tunes in for entertainment and then clicks to another channel. The true role of a judge is not to be reduced to a 25-second sound bite on the evening news. The true role of a judge is not to be shaped by pressure groups promoting a particular outcome.

Rather, the true role of a trial or appellate judge is to uphold the rule of law and ensure that justice is done. This principle is at the core of our democracy. This critically serious business requires that a judge protect the rights of all participants in a trial as well as the public interest. This principle is what has made the American legal system the most copied judicial system model in emerging democracies around the world.

The judicial process requires time to unfold. It is deliberative and thoughtful, designed to ensure that all issues are carefully weighed and considered. It is designed to produce the truth. Without this careful and deliberate process, under the rule of law, the strong fabric that binds Americans together would fray and democracy would be weakened.

Judicial decision making, however, does not occur in a vacuum. Our judicial system is at work in the jury trial process when a jury considers the evidence and arrives at a verdict on the facts. The system is at work when a judge conducts the trial and reviews the verdict of the jury in light of the law, and again when the appellate court reviews the decision of the trial court. This dynamic system of judge, jury and appellate review is what makes American's judicial system so unique and effective.

As the world reacts to the decision of Massachusetts Superior Court Judge Hiller Zobel, Americans should understand the judges' decisions are not determined by the glare of the camera lights, nor as Judge Zobel put it, "by a plebiscite," nor by partisan pressure bought to bear on the jury or the judge.

An independent judiciary is a necessary, vital and irreplaceable constant in the American Democracy, which continues to successfully evolve after more than 200 years.

That's our American system—and it works.

The Student Religious Liberty Act

Kentucky legislators passed a law twenty years ago requiring "the posting of a copy of the Ten Commandments, purchased with private contributions, on the wall of each public classroom in the state." But, according to the legislature, the poster had to also note that "The secular application of the Ten Commandments is clearly seen in its adoption as the fundamental legal code of Western Civilization and the Common Law of the United States."

The law, of course, was struck down by the United States Supreme Court, which said that "If the posted copies are to have any effect at all, it will be to induce the school children to read, meditate upon, perhaps to venerate and obey, the Commandments...[And] this is not a permissible state objective."

The case was Stone v. Graham, and in disagreement with the majority of the nation's highest court was the unnamed leader and protector of conservative thought, Justice Rehnquist. Rehnquist defended the Kentucky legislators, saying that the majority's decision is without constitutional grounds to stand upon. He pointed out that "religion has been closely identified with our history and government," and that "the history of man is inseparable from the history of religion. Kentucky has decided to make students aware of this fact by demonstrating the secular impact of the Ten Commandments."

With the Supreme Court's interpretation of the First Amendment, through Cases like Stone, there has been built a high-wall between religion and its values and public education in America. Many in the Kentucky General Assembly today are still trying to find a way over, or around, the wall. But what has, most recently, replaced their bold efforts of twenty years ago—such as the required posting of the Ten Commandments in every classroom—is the careful and skillful world play of two bills currently working their way through the legislative process.

The House has passed, and sent on to the Senate, a bill simply prohibiting school personnel from interfering with voluntary, student-initiated prayer during non-instructional time. The same bill passed through the House in 1996 but was rejected by a Senate which, perhaps, recognized the potential conflict with similar Supreme Court decisions. Even the authorization of voluntary prayer, according to the court, can be seen as the unconstitutional endorsement of religion.

A more elaborate approach has been taken by the State Senate with their passage last week of the "Kentucky Student Religious Liberty Act." If passed, the act would "define terms; prescribe rights of students to participate in various religious activities at school, subject to certain conditions; prescribe administrative remedies and a civil action; define the relationship between the Act and the Constitution, and other federal, state, or local law; prohibit teachers from encouraging any religious or antireligious activity; require the Department of Education to send copies of the Act to local school officials and to provide guidance on the implementation of the Act."

The bill is a long way from requiring the Ten Commandments to cover the walls of every classroom, but the opposition that is aroused by its proposal is just as outspoken. Namely, the ACLU, who would be leading the charge to have the law declared unconstitutional.

But the careful drafting of the bill might save it from a Supreme Court that has been chipping away at the liberal constitutional interpretations of the past several decades.

In the words of Chief Justice Rehnquist, who has gained more allies than opponents on the court over the last several years, "It would come as such a shock to those who drafted the Bill of Rights as it will to a large number of thoughtful Americans today to learn that the Constitution, as construed by the majority, prohibits [a] Legislature from 'endorsing' prayer. George Washington himself, at the request of the very Congress which passed the Bill of Rights, proclaimed a day of 'public thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many and signal favors of Almighty God.' History must judge whether it was the Father of his Country in 1789, or a majority of the Court today, which has strayed from the meaning of the Establishment Clause."

Vice-president of HRMC named to insurance board

Russell Briggs, vice-president and chief operating officer of Highlands Regional Medical Center and chairman of the board of the Compensation Hospital Association Trust (C-HAT) has been named to the Board of Directors of The Virginia Insurance Reciprocal (TVIR). The Kentucky Hospital Association Trust (KHAT), and the Compensation Hospital Association Trust (C-HAT) recently merged with TVIR.

Briggs has been with Highlands Regional Medical Center since 1984 and has served on the C-HAT Board of Trustees since 1990. He has served as chairman of the C-HAT Board since 1995.

KHAT and C-HAT were formed by the Kentucky Hospital Association in the 1970's to provide professional liability and workers' compensation coverages to Kentucky hospitals. Approximately 60 of Kentucky's hospitals participated in the group Self-Insured Trust, making it one of the leading workers' compensation health carriers for health care facilities in the state. Their goals were to provide cost effective alternatives to the commercial markets for these coverages while giving insureds a role in governance; and to offer timely claims resolution, case management of claims, monitoring of treatment plans, and coordination of return to work processes.

With the advent of managed care and the trend toward mergers and consolidations in the health care industry, KHAT and C-HAT found it increasingly difficult to meet their insureds' needs for more diverse coverages and geographic mobility. To respond to these challenges, the KHAT and C-HAT boards considered several alternatives, concluding that a merger with TVIR would provide the best opportunity for continuing to meet the needs of Kentucky hospitals.

"This merger allows us the opportunity to compete more effectively in today's health care liability and workers' compensation insurance market" said Mike Rust, president of the Kentucky Hospital Association.

TVIR is a Virginia domiciled reciprocal insurer specializing in professional and general liability, managed care organization liability, and workers' compensation. Like KHAT and C-HAT, TVIR's core business is principally not-for-profit hospitals. TVIR is rated "A" (Excellent) by A.M. Best and is non-assessable.

Management and administration of Kentucky operations and services to Kentucky hospitals will continue to be provided by Coverage Option Associates, the service subsidiary of the Kentucky Hospital Association. In place of the trust boards, governance of the TVIR Kentucky program will continue through two TVIR committees comprised of Kentucky health care executives. According to Russell Briggs, chairman of C-HAT and Stuart Poston, chairman of KHAT.

"We will maintain, through these two committees, many of the same board functions governing the program as we had with C-HAT and KHAT. Furthermore, we have significant representation on TVIR's board of directors."

THE WEEK AHEAD...

NATIONAL SUMMARY

The mild winter will continue across much of the nation. The only sections of the country near normal will be the Southeast and Southwest. Meanwhile, the jet stream will flow across the center of the country. As a result, stormy weather will spread across the West Coast, central Plains and the mid-Atlantic. A series of storms will plague the Pacific Northwest with rain and mountain snow.

THE WEEK AHEAD...

HB 434 would improve access to education for low-income Kentuckians

Access to education for low-income Kentuckians would greatly improve under legislation introduced by Representative Tom Burch and co-sponsored by Representative Greg Stumbo.

"This bill is win, win, win," said Debra Miller, director of Kentucky Youth Advocates (KYA). "It is a win for Kentucky's parents, children and employers."

The law creates Kentucky Educational Access for Parents (KEAP) to provide assistance and support services to low-income students who pursue full time post-secondary education.

Access to education was identified as a critical concern by low-income parents who spoke last fall at public forums about the impacts of welfare reform attended by over 450 Kentuckians statewide. KYA and another statewide organization, Kentuckians For The Commonwealth (KFTC) have worked with a broad coalition of groups to develop legislation addressing this issue and strongly support its passage.

"The federal welfare law locks people in low-paying jobs," said KFTC member Fannie Morris of Madisonville. "Our legislation allows students on public assistance to pause their time clock while they progress in higher education so they can get a good job.

"It also guarantees that low-income parents have access to support services, such as child care and transportation, while they go to school," Morris added.

A number of national studies have shown that the higher the educational level, the better the chance a person can escape welfare and earn a living wage. Research by the Economic Policy Institute indicates that high school graduates earn 28 percent more than non-graduates. College graduates earn an additional 65 percent more (1995 figures).

"I've held, I don't know how many, part-time jobs," said Robin Burchett, a student at Prestonsburg Community College who spoke at a public forum on September 26, 1997. "It makes more sense for me to stay on welfare while I get my education, so I can get a job that earns a livable wage."

HB 434 will likely be considered first by the House Health and Welfare Committee. Citizens may leave a message for legislators by calling 800-372-7181.

Citizens group adds video to lobbying effort

A statewide citizens group with a history of making the voice of the average citizen heard in Frankfort added a new twist to its lobbying efforts this week.

Members of Kentuckians For The Commonwealth (KFTC) delivered to lawmakers, videos of welfare recipients speaking about life on welfare and what they need to free themselves from public assistance.

The video features the testimony of five student-parents and an interview with Ron Crouch, director of State Data Center at the University of Louisville. The parents spoke at public forums sponsored by the Kentucky Youth Advocates (KYA) and KFTC last fall in Prestonsburg, Covington and Louisville.

The video was distributed this week to all members of the House Health and Welfare Committee, which deals with welfare related legislation. KYA and KFTC members are asking legislators to support HB 434, which will provide greater access to higher education for low-income Kentuckians.

"The video is primarily material from public forums sponsored by KYA and KFTC to give people an opportunity to comment on the impact on welfare reform," said Mimi Pickering, a video-maker with Appalshop in Whitesburg. "Lots of people, mostly women, spoke out about the importance of education to their ability to support their families.

These are excerpts of some of the speakers."

"We thought it would give legislators and the citizens of Kentucky an opportunity to hear some of the stories of fellow citizens that they might not ordinarily hear," added Pickering, who is working on a video documentary project looking at the long-term impact of welfare reform on Kentucky. "These folks are busy going to school and raising families. Unfortunately, they can't all come to the state legislature."

by Rita Brock
Contributing Writer

Dr. Charles L. Shearer, president of Transylvania University, and some of his staff came to the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn recently to meet area students and provide them with information about the university.

"We have a strong history of service to our students," Dr. Shearer said. "We are pleased with the reception we receive when we come to Floyd County. We recruit many students from Floyd and surrounding counties. Transy takes all its students personally to establish a foundation for our graduates and variety of satisfying careers."

MSU has 3 distinguished speakers to celebrate Black History month

Three distinguished individuals will speak on Morehead State University campus in February as part of the University's celebration of Black History Month.

Among the visiting lecturers are: Dr. Nashid Fakhrid-Deen, minority affairs coordinator for the University of Kentucky Community College system, on Wednesday, February 11; Afi Maule, founder of the newly-established African Roots Museum in Henning, Tennessee, on Wednesday, February 18; and Jack Jackson, a motivational speaker from Dayton, Ohio, on Wednesday, February 25.

All three programs, coordinated by MSU's Office of Minority Student Affairs, will be held in the Commonwealth Room, Adron Doran University Center (ADUC).

There is no admission charge. All events, which are free and open to the public, begin at 7 p.m.

Dr. Fakhrid-Deen, who is making a return visit to the campus, will talk on "Black Male/Female Relationships." Recognized for his experience in higher education and minority affairs, he is the author of "Ancestral Voices" and "An African American Students Guide to Longevity in Academia."

A former admissions counselor at Grand Valley State University and associate director of admissions at Bowie State University, Dr. Fakhrid-Deen is founder of C.A.R.E. (Creating Awareness Regarding Education), a national program geared to motivating students.

Recipient of numerous awards and citations for his contribution to the community, Dr. Fakhrid-Deen earned a B.A. degree in psychology from Grand Valley State University, a master's degree in religion from Western Michigan University and J.D. degree from the University of Baltimore School of Law.

Throughout the month, various campus organizations will offer special activities.

Writer, poet, and designer of African clothing, Maule will speak on "Ancestral Voices" which will include a recitation of "What's in a Name." Currently, she is making final preparations for the African Roots Museum which will open in February in honor of the late historian Alex Haley. She earned a B.A. degree in social science from Chapman University in Orange, California, where she did extensive work in the Marriage, Family and Child Counseling program. Mother of twin sons who are now 31 years of age, she completed the

Governor Patton proclaims February American Heart Month in Kentucky

Governor Paul Patton issued today a proclamation declaring February as American Heart Month and urging Kentucky citizens to support the efforts of the American Heart Association in encouraging women to "Each One, Reach One," by becoming knowledgeable about the silent epidemic of heart disease among women and sharing vital information about cardiovascular health with other women.

In the proclamation, Patton noted that cardiovascular disease is the leading health problem and cause of death for women in Kentucky. Heart disease is not commonly recognized as epidemic in women because it takes almost a decade longer to show up. By that time, a woman is often concerned with other health problems that draw attention away from the serious threat of heart disease. Patton added that more than 505,000 females die each year from cardiovascular disease - more than the next 16 leading causes of death and almost twice as many deaths as from all forms of cancer.

Cardiovascular diseases took the lives of more than 15,600 people in Kentucky during 1995, according to the AHA.

"Woman cannot afford to be complacent about cardiovascular disease. It is an equal opportunity killer," said Dr. Charles Rhoades, president of the Kentucky Affiliate. "The main difference between the sexes is not whether women are likely to get heart disease, but when. We urge all women to become knowledgeable about the serious threat facing them so that they can take steps to prevent heart attack or stroke."

"More than 17,000 citizens of Kentucky have volunteered their time to help support the AHA's annual American Heart Month activities," said Dr. Rhoades.

Since 1963, February has been designated as American Heart Month by a presidential proclamation that recognizes the continuing fight against heart disease and stroke, and the need for all Americans to take part in this effort. The American Heart which annually kill more than 960,000 Americans.

To make contributions to the American Heart Association or obtain more information about American Heart Month, the public may call the AHA office at 502-587-8641.

"Influenza 1918" presented on KET

Early in the morning of March 18, 1918, a young private reported to the Army hospital at Fort Riley, Kansas, complaining of fever, sore throat and headache. Then, another sick soldier appeared, then another and another. By noon, the hospital had more than 100 cases; in a week, there were 500. Forty-eight soldiers died at Fort Riley that spring. No one knew why.

The American Experience "Influenza 1918," airing on KET at 9 p.m. Monday, February 9, presents the story of the worst epidemic the United States has ever known. Before it was over, the flu killed more than 600,000 Americans—more than all the combat deaths of this century combined.

America in 1918 was a nation at war. Draft call-ups, bond drives, troop shipments were all in high gear when the flu epidemic appeared. American soldiers from Fort Riley carried the disease to the trenches of Europe where it mutated into a killer virus. Returning troops brought it back home. By September, the disease spread swiftly to the civilian population, moved quickly down the eastern seaboard to New York, Philadelphia and beyond. That month, 12,000 Americans died of influenza.

It was a flu unlike any other. People could be healthy in the morning and be dead by nightfall. Others died more slowly, suffocating from the buildup of liquid in their lungs. Doctors, who had incorrectly believed the flu was caused by bacteria, could not stop its spread. People lived in fear of contamination and many hid in their homes. October 1918 saw the epidemic's full horror; more than 195,000 people died in America alone.

Then, just as suddenly as it struck, the calamitous disease abruptly began to vanish. By mid-November, the numbers of dead were plunging. "In light of our knowledge of influenza," says Dr. Shirley Fannin, a Los Angeles County public health official, "we

Church offers special service for grieving parents, families

St. Martha's Church, Prestonsburg, will offer a special prayer service on Saturday, February 21, at 11 a.m., for parents, grandparents, siblings and friends grieving the loss of an unborn child through miscarriage, accident or abortion. All interested persons are welcome.

"The Naming and Commendation of an Infant Who Died Before Birth" is a prayerful opportunity for parents to formally name their children and commend them to God.

This ritual was developed by the Worship and Pro-Life Offices of the Archdiocese of St. Louis in response to the very real grief of families whose children died prior to birth. In many cases of unborn infant death, a body is not present and it is not possible to hold a funeral or burial ceremony. This ritual allows parents and other grieving family members and friends to acknowledge the impact of the deceased unborn infant's brief life. It gives expression to their heartfelt grief and it allows them to renew and deepen the faith and hope in God.

A Certificate of Commendation will be given to each participant naming a child.

The first public celebration of the rite was held at St. Martha's Church on November 29, 1994. Since then, the church has offered the prayer service annually and more than 75 unborn infants have been commended.

St. Martha's Church is urging anyone seeking solace and comfort from this type of loss, to participate in the February 21 prayer service. Resources for dealing with grief will be offered in the church hall immediately following the ceremony and refreshments will also be served.

For more information, call St. Martha's Church at 874-9526. Reservations are appreciated, but not required.

Kentucky Life visits Bad Branch Nature Preserve

Television viewers discover the artistic inspiration behind the works of a Bowling Green muralist and a University of Kentucky art professor world-renowned for his innovative woven works on the next edition of Kentucky Life, airing on KET at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, February 14. Hosted by Byron Crawford, the program also features a trip to Bad Branch, one of Kentucky's picturesque nature preserves.

First, Kentucky Life introduces artist David Jones, who says that when he was a child he loved to draw on walls. It is only natural, then, that he grew up to be a muralist. Jones' art enlivens several homes, public buildings and businesses around Bowling Green.

Next, viewers visit the studio of Arturo Sandoval, a University of Kentucky artist who traces his artistic roots back through his family of weavers in the American Southwest. Sandoval, who has the same name as the well-known jazz musician, has won international recognition for his works, which use recycled and other unusual materials.

Finally, Kentucky Life searches out the hidden beauty to be found in Letcher County on the south side of Pine Mountain. Here, Bad Branch Nature Preserve protects endangered wildlife species in pristine conditions.

Kentucky Life, a KET production made possible in part through a grant by the Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels, is produced and directed by Joy Flynn. Ellen Ballard is writer and associate producer. Segment producers for this program are Timothy Bischoff, Judy Banta and Gale Worth. The executive producer is Craig Cornwell. Kentucky Life is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

Viewers can find out more about Kentucky Life and other programming on KET by visiting the KET Web site at www.ket.org.

Alice Lloyd College announces Academic Achievement Lists

Alice Lloyd College in Pippa Passes recently announced the Academic Achievement Lists for the fall 1997 semester. Students on the Dean's Lists had a semester grade point average of 3.25 or above, with the President's List distinguishing students with a 4.0 semester GPA.

"This is one of the most significant academic achievements in the undergraduate experience," said Dr. Wallace Campbell, dean of the college. "It's always exciting to recognize our students' hard work in this way."

Floyd County students named on the Academic Achievement Lists include:

President's List (4.0 GPA): Marlin Shandrell Johnson, junior of Bevinville, son of Roscoe and Exer Johnson; Ryan Paul Jones, senior, of Hi Hat, son of Billy and Glenda Hopkins; Stacey Beuledith Johnson, senior, of Prestonsburg, daughter of Steven and Stella Campbell; Lloyd Michael Marcum, senior, of Prestonsburg, son of Lloyd and Penny Marcum; Brandie Lynn Ousley, senior, of Blue River, daughter of Gerald and Linda Ousley; Eric Allen Reid, senior, of Minnie, son of Bobby and Wilma Allen.

Dean's Distinguished List (3.75-3.99 GPA): Bradley Thomas Moore, senior, of McDowell, son of John and Wilma Moore.

Alice Lloyd College is a private, four-year, interdenominational Christian liberal arts college in Pippa Passes, located in Knott County.

The college was founded by Alice Geddes Lloyd in 1923 to educate mountain students for positions of leadership and service in Appalachia. One of only six work colleges nationwide.

Alice Lloyd College offers a quality education with tuition guaranteed to any student in its 100-county service area, including parts of Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio, and Tennessee.

All full-time students work up to 20 hours per week to develop leadership skills and help pay for their education.

Hall awarded scholarship

Keith Hall, a Harold, resident and third-year student in the University of Kentucky College of Medicine, has been awarded the L. H. May Scholarship and the Chambers Scholarship.

The May scholarship was contributed by L. H. May, a Western Kentucky farmer, through his estate, to benefit medical students who are native Kentuckians. The Chambers scholarship was established in 1972 through a bequest from the state of Dr. and Mrs. John S. Chambers.

Hall, son of Leonard and Bulavene Hall, was recognized at the annual UK College of Medicine dinner in Lexington. The College of Medicine is nationally recognized for its innovative curriculum.

Local students included in Who's Who Numerous students from Floyd County are included in the 31st Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1996-97.

Who's Who, published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, Illinois, is the largest high school recognition publication in the country. Students are nominated by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches and educational organizations based upon students' academic achievement and involvement in extracurricular activities. Traditionally, 99 percent of Who's Who students have a grade point average 'B' or better and 97 percent are college bound.

The 31st Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1996-97, published in 18 regional volumes, features over 700,000 students or just five percent of the nation's 14,000,000 high school students. They represent approximately 18,000 of the 22,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the country.

Who's Who students also competes for $200,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's Annual Survey of High Achievers, an annual opinion poll of teen attitudes. The book is distributed to up to 15,000 high schools, colleges, universities and public libraries throughout the country.

Local students receive EKU Dean's Award

Four Floyd Countians are among 241 students at Eastern Kentucky University who received the Dean's Award for fall semester study.

The EKU Dean's Award recipients include:

Alan Seth Hyden, Prestonsburg, biology (pre-medical sciences); Matthew B. Rose, Hi Hat, occupational therapy; Opal Doreane Williams, Richmond, corrections and juvenile service; and Stephanie Nicole Word, Prestonsburg, history (PT).

To earn the Dean's Award, students must achieve Dean's List honors at EKU for three semesters, not necessarily consecutive.

The lapel pin is presented to students by the dean of their academic college, according to Jill Allgier, EKU registrar. "Achieving the Dean's List three times is a significant accomplishment," she said.

So, you're going to have a baby class

February 10—So, you're going to have a baby. This class is for women who have just found out that they are pregnant.

The class will cover the importance of exercise during pregnancy, good body mechanics and the discomforts associated with early pregnancy.

The class is open to new mothers and a support person. The class will be offered from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. in Pikeville Methodist Hospital's Education Center located in the Wallen and Cornett Building on the corner of Hambley Boulevard and Fourth Street.

Jude implicated in 214 Ohio burglaries

by Mark Grayson
Martin County Sun

Former Martin County Alternative School student David Eric Jude waived extradition last Tuesday in Martin District Court and was picked up Wednesday by two Delaware County Sheriff's deputies at the Big Sandy Detention Center.

Deputies Matthew Dick and John Burke also came to the Martin County Courthouse to pick up copies of taped statements in which Jude, 19, had claimed to be a "fence" for stolen property.

But, according to Martin County Sheriff Darriel Young, who reviewed a copy of the Ohio police department's investigation into a burglary ring in the Delaware County area, Jude's involvement appears to be much more serious.

Detective E.A. Schams told Young that he believes Jude commits the burglaries and then likely goes to a flea market in Clinton Township, Ohio, as well as another fence in the northern Columbus area, and sells the stolen merchandise.

Schams said Jude may have been involved in as many as 214 burglaries, one quarter of all those committed in the past two years in Delaware County.

One of the more high profile burglaries linked to Jude's group involves the home of Wendy's Famous Hamburgers founder Dave Thomas, near Gahanna, Ohio.

Police retrieved fingerprints traced back to Antwan Weiss, a known associate of Jude's, from a late model Porsche allegedly stolen from Thomas' residence during a burglary during the Christmas holidays in December of 1997. Police also found items linked to the Dave Thomas burglary at Jude's Columbus apartment on Maize Road.

Weiss was arrested on January 5 while driving the Porsche and was also charged with another breaking and entering in Columbus, Ohio.

"Our interview with Weiss showed collusion with David Jude, and Jude's name keeps coming up more and more as we investigate the burglaries and car thefts," Schams said.

Jude, who was expelled from the Martin County Alternative School for violent behavior in 1995, was indicted January 24, 1998 by a Delaware County Grand Jury on four counts of Burglary and Receiving Stolen Property.

Detectives had served a search warrant on Jude's cousin, Jeffrey Cornett, at their apartment on January 9.

According to police reports, Jude walked up on the search as it was in progress and was able to flee on foot. He had been a fugitive until being apprehended by Martin County Chief Sheriff's deputy F.D. "Pete" Fitzpatrick and Volunteer Deputy G.L. McCallister last Monday at Moore's Trailer Park at Lovely.

Jude, who is currently on probation for a 1997 conviction for Receiving Stolen Property, remains lodged in the Delaware County jail awaiting arraignment on the new charges.

VanHoose to answer to charges

Mayor expected to plead innocent in district court

by Jerry Pennington
Big Sandy News, Louisa

Louisa Mayor James L. VanHoose was expected to plead innocent to the 24 counts of official misconduct he faces during his arraignment scheduled Wednesday in Lawrence District Court.

VanHoose's attorney, John David Preston of Paintsville, said he would enter a not guilty plea, but declined further comment on the case.

VanHoose was indicted on the charges by a Lawrence County Grand Jury last month after they heard testimony from a former city worker, a city mechanic, and a worker hired through a federal aid program and state investigators.

The resulting indictment contained 24 incidents where the mayor had allegedly used city employees to do private work on his home, flower shop and van.

VanHoose has also declined comment on the case.

Since all of the charges contained in the indictment are misdemeanors, the case was sent back to the district court level. Each count of official misconduct carries a penalty of a fine and up to a year in prison.

The grand jury also refused to indict the mayor on four other counts due to lack of evidence presented.

At the arraignment, the judge will likely set a date for a pre-trial conference to hear motions filed, and may set a tentative trial date.

Magoffin County clerk's office robbed

A second burglary within a month's time has taken place at Magoffin County Courthouse.

Following a similar method of entry as the previous theft, which occurred in the Magoffin County Circuit Clerk's office, only with more success, the office of County Clerk H.B. Arnett was broken into during a recent weekend and a large sum of cash was stolen.

Employees found evidence of the burglary when they reported to work on Monday, January 26.

Entrance was apparently gained into the first floor office through a rear hallway where one or more persons entered through a hole directly over the back door. Reportedly, a large trash can placed just outside the back door gave burglars the boost they needed to reach the opening and then they were able to remove ceiling tiles to gain entry to the office.

One employee reported that the cash register had been pried open and emptied during the robbery.

"Ninety-nine times out of one hundred, anyone breaking in here would only get about $20 that we keep for change," said Clerk H.B. Arnett. "Just that evening it had been forgotten to transfer the cash to the safe."

Arnett estimated approximately $2,938 in cash was missing from the cash register. Checks that were also still in the cash register drawer were left untouched. A set of keys that went to the cash register and various desk drawers containing important papers were also taken.

The exit from the office was easier than the entrance as the lock that secured the back door was removed, allowing for easier exiting.

Bars have been placed across the hole in the wall. Locks have been replaced and a new cash register purchased.

The theft is still under investigation by the Salyersville Police Department. —

Prices plunge at pumps

by Carla Davis
Paintsville Herald

A little extra pocket change'll do more than get you into the Sipp Theatre on a Saturday night. It'll practically fill up your tank.

With recent gas prices dropping 30 cents during the past week, many motorists decided to stop over at the 23 BP or SuperAmerica to take advantage of Paintsville's isolated gas war.

Prestonsburg resident Robert Wireman usually drives through Paintsville on his way to work. Last Wednesday, though, the prices made him stop and fill up.

"I'm getting what would normally cost me $1.19 for ninety cents a gallon," said Wireman as he capped off his tank at the 23

BP.

BP manager Jenny Gambill says that the gas war is an attempt to beat out local competition's petro prices.

"We always try to stay at least two cents lower than the other guys," she said.

As for the consumer, most are hoping that the gas war will continue.

Red Dale of Flat Gap also decided that Wednesday was as good a time as any to fill up and, as for the low prices, he can only hope it will last.

"I'm filling up while I can," said Dale. "Gas prices should always be this low."

But as the weekend arrived, so did higher prices. Will they last?

"As long as the other stores have low prices, we'll always be a little bit lower," said Gambill.

Cabinet for Health Services approves more than 50 certificate of need projects

The Cabinet for Health Services has approved more than 50 certificate of need projects, while more than ten others were denied. Descriptions of the regional projects follow. (Dollar amounts listed with the following projects are capital expenditures - not a state grant. Projects listed without a dollar amount did not require a capital expenditure.)

In Floyd County, The McDowell ARH Rehabilitation Agency in McDowell was approved to establish a rehabilitation agency.

Highlands Home Patient Care in Prestonsburg was approved to establish a home agency to serve Johnson County at a tag of $11,000.

In Johnson County, a $10,000 price was deferred to the Central Baptist Hospital Home Health Care Facility in Paintsville to establish/expand home health services to include Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Morgan counties.

In Lawrence County, the Three Rivers Medical Center Home Health Agency in Louisa was approved to establish/expand home health services to include Lawrence and Martin counties for $1,000.

In Pike County, a rehabilitation agency was approved for the Williamson ARH Rehabilitation Agency in South Williamson, while the Pikeville Methodist Hospital's Home Health Agency had a county establishment deferred.

MSU collaborates in teaching effort

Morehead State University and five other universities in Kentucky are collaborating to offer a pilot program to train social workers using interactive distance learning technology. The Public Child Welfare Worker Certification Program utilizes the expertise of professors from the participating universities and runs for three semesters. LaTonya Hesterberg, standing in back, director of MSU's Training Resource Center, has been teaching a course to help future social workers recognize the signs of child abuse or neglect. Participants on MSU's campus include, front row, from left, Julie Sandlin, Booneville senior; Rhonda Thomas, Mt. Sterling senior; Tiffany Rice, Salyersville senior, and Lucille Fletcher, Morehead senior, formerly of Louisa. Back row, from left, Lila R. Reynolds, Owingsville senior, and Julie Ann Gillespie, Tollesboro senior. (MSU photo by Tim Holbrook)

Sara Hopson

What have you done for me lately?

I don't dislike politicians. In fact, I feel the majority of them toss their hats into the political arena because they truly believe they can make a difference. My theory is, if they're corrupt, their constituents have given them some help.

Last week, I spoke to a former office holder. Being a novice public servant, he went into office thinking about all he was going to accomplish during his term.

"For the first time, we were able to pave a road for some people who had never driven over anything but gravel to get to their homes," the person told me somberly.

"That's wonderful," I said, sincerely.

"I thought it was, too, but a week after we paved the road, they were calling back complaining about speeders and asked us for speed bumps."

"That's the way it works," I laughed. "Did they get the speed bumps?"

"Yep. They called back later and said they needed guardrails."

"I guess that's progress," I laughed again.

Because I was reared in a political family, I understood the problems this man was experiencing. I remember all the times my father had helped people, only to discover that oftentimes, whatever he did was never enough. That's when I got on my soapbox and told my friend how I felt.

During one election, Dad solicited the assistance of a man he had once helped feed and house. The man's family had been destitute, but were now able to help themselves due to my father's generosity. When Dad approached him about giving out cards for him in his precinct the man told him he was sorry, but he had already promised to hand out cards for his opponent.

Another time, my father was dismayed to learn that one of the people he had helped get a job had an opponent's bumper sticker on his car. When Dad asked him about it, he replied, "But, Buzzy, I got fired from that job."

Let me pose a hypothetical question:

Two candidates are running for political office. You, as a constituent, are in need of a road. You approach the first candidate, and he tells you if he's elected, he will do what he can. The second candidate assures you that he will build the road as soon as he's elected.

It doesn't take a mental giant to tell me how I'd cast my vote. I'll take the promise over the try anytime. Unfortunately, that's what we've been doing for so long now, we've grown apathetic about even going to the polls.

Politicians are elected, not born. We elect them, and time and time again we complain when they fail to live up to our expectations. After election, the once enthusiastic politicians find that simply fulfilling the duties of their offices is not enough. They're deluged with favor-seeking supporters who will quickly relinquish that support if special interests are not met.

Before I'm accused of patting politicians on the back with one hand and putting voters down with the other, I assure you I'm the first one to admit that I'm as guilty as any-

Ten Prestonsburg High School Honor Choir students have been selected by state-wide auditions to perform with the 1998 Kentucky Music Educators Association All-State Chorus.

The choir will perform as a part of the fortieth annual In-Service/Professional Development Conference being held February 4-7 in Louisville.

The experience will culminate in a concert, open to the public, on Friday evening, February 6, beginning at 8:15 p.m. in the Robert Whitney Hall of the Kentucky Center for the Arts.

Tickets for the event may be obtained by calling 1-800-775-7777.

Prestonsburg High School students participating in the auditions include:

- Jody Hurt, a son of Harges and Patricia Hurt;
- Jeremy Hatfield, a son of Jerry and Patricia Hatfield;
- Wesley and Lesley Fugate, twin sons of Marshall and Jackie Fugate;
- Denise Campbell, a daughter of

Keith and Eileen Campbell;

- Joe Drury, a son of Steve and Judy Drury;

- Melissa Dye, a daughter of Michael and Patricia Dye;
- Greta Hicks, a daughter of Derek and Deborah Hicks;
- Christy Allison, a daughter of Clark and Phillis Allison; and
- Aaron Spradlin, a son of Kenneth and Rayanna Spradlin.

The students will be accompanied by Elizabeth Frazier, choral director.

News of the Weird

— Hard Times for Canadian Strippers: According to December news reports, Mexico stepped up what had been a low-key immigration policy: Canadian and U.S. nude dancers would no longer be permitted into the country to work under the special "high technology" skills category of NAFTA. And in Winnipeg, Manitoba, stripper Carole Levesque filed a lawsuit against the local police because officers forced her to raise her hands over her head during a drug raid despite her truthful protest that recent breast-enhancement surgery had left her unable to do that without pain.

— What Goes Around, Comes Around: Since taking control of most of Afghanistan in September 1996, the religious Taliban army has enforced strict, conservative Islamic rule, especially regarding the work, recreation and dress of women. Now, according to a report in the London Daily Telegraph in November, a splinter Muslim group about 200 miles north of Kabul has begun to train a women-only battalion to fight the Taliban. Females from the Hazaras, a Turkic Mongol ethnic group, have been training at a secret location and will soon begin a major recruiting campaign.

— Tough Guys: In Paris in December, just before being convicted of the murders of two counterespionage agents, international terrorist Carlos the Jackal was sentenced to 10 days solitary confinement for calling a prison guard a "gnu." Two weeks later, Montreal Canadiens' defenseman Dave Manson underwent surgery to remove a Christmas tree needle that had gotten stuck in his ear.

COMPELLING EXPLANATIONS

— William Garland, the father of the late rap singer Tupac Shakur, fighting for part of Shakur's multimillion-dollar estate in Los Angeles in August, despite his having had no contact with his son after age five, pointed out at a hearing how he was a good father. For example, he said he would often tuck in little Tupac, a bed-wetter, with another Garland son, also a bed-wetter: "They could pee with each other."

— In July, Toronto courier Alan Wayne Scott, 47, lost a three-year battle when the Ontario Tax Court ruled that he took improper business deductions. Scott, who makes deliveries on foot and by bicycle, had claimed that his body is a professional vehicle and that operating expenses (shoes, knapsack, the $13 a day in extra high-caloric food he must consume to do his grueling work) should be tax-deductible just like an automobile's expenses are. (And, as Scott pointed out, his machine is environmentally friendly: On the day of the court's decision, a NAFTA report named Ontario the third biggest polluting jurisdiction in North America.)

— In November in Wasilla, Alaska, Duane Carr was sentenced to 28 months in prison for sexually molesting his 15-year-old baby sitter. Carr maintained that he did not know the girl was under the legal age of 16 because he and the girl are Jehovah's Witnesses, whose members do not celebrate birthdays.

THE CONTINUING CRISIS

— Crisis at Nike: The winner of September's annual Angeles Crest ultra marathon, which started at the Wrightwood Resort in the San Gabriel Mountains near Los Angeles and finished in Pasadena, was Mexican Tarahumara Indian Cirildo Chacarito, 52, in a time of 19 hours and 34 minutes. Incredibly (if one believes shoe ads), Chacarito beat all the guys in $200 running shoes; he ran the race in sandals made from old automobile tires.

— Robert Kong, 13, was arrested and charged with manufacturing a destructive device, namely a 5 1/2-inch pipe bomb that he had made, gift-wrapped, and presented to a female classmate in Corvallis, Ore., for her birthday: He said he followed the instructions he had seen on an Internet site.

— In September, officials at the Florida Agency for Health Care Administration changed their minds and decided it was OK for employee Mr.

Dale Robb, hired as a counselor in 1996 after 20 years in the military, to report for work every day dressed as a woman named Sabrina. And in an August story, The Washington Post featured a recent tourist, the very masculine Larry Goodwin, 51, of Douglas, Wyo., who took in the sites around town clothed as he usually is, in a dress. Said Goodwin, "I really love the feel of women's clothing."

— According to a police report in Colerain Township, Ohio, in June, a restaurant manager trying to rid his property of drug paraphernalia turned over a homemade bong pipe that he found in a rear corridor of his building. The bong was actually a hollowed-out potato rigged with masking tape and aluminum foil, with marijuana residue inside, and had to be destroyed by the police, rather than kept as evidence, in that it was perishable food.

— City Council member Ed Walker of Brier, Wash., was charged in September with spitting on a neighbor who had put up a yard sign touting Walker's opponent in the upcoming election. Said the neighbor to a reporter, "We've got him dead to rights. All we need is a sample of his spit (for DNA testing)."

UNDIGNIFIED DEATHS

— In September, a basketball player for Southeastern Oklahoma State University was killed near Paris, Texas, when a flying cow hit the car in which he was riding, causing the driver to lose control and crash. The cow had been sent airborne when it was hit by another car.

RECURRING THEME

Latest Attempts by Women to Use the Law to Enforce Prostitution Contracts: In November, three teen-age girls were arrested after they called police in Oneida, N.Y., to ask for help because a man who had just had sex with them and paid them with a check for $1,500 wrote it on an out-of-state bank that the girls couldn't get cashed. And in June, a judge in Salt Lake City dismissed Kathleen Ferguson's lawsuit against Zions First National Bank for repossessing her truck. She had sued, believing she could keep the truck because she worked out a deal by having sex with the repo man.

SOAP UPDATES

by Seli
Groves

ALL MY CHILDREN: A tip from a friend sent Jim rushing to New York City where Mateo and Hayley were checking him out. Stuart agreed to help Allie and Jake in their "sting" to get David. Brooke shared some surprising information with Laura. Adam saw something Tad couldn't see. Later, Tad realized Adam may not be crazy after all. Wait To See: Trevor and Axel come face-to-face.

ANOTHER WORLD: Lila used Matt as a pawn in her plan to trap Shane into remarrying her. Rachel later confronted Matt about contacting one of Carl's old enemies. Toni wondered who her secret admirer might be. Etta Mae noticed a parallel in one of Felicia's books to Toni's gift. Meanwhile, a copy of the book was in Wally's hideout. After warning Shane not to hassle Vicky, Jake found Shane and Vicky together. Joe and Sofia found Paulina's liquor-soaked sweater and feared she'd gone off with Dante while drunk. Wait To See: Lila tries another ploy on Shane.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Kirk found a wedding picture of Sam and James, but she insisted it never happened. But Kirk's P.I. later confirmed it did take place. Teague stabbed Jack and held a knife to Carly's throat as Ben held a gun on him. As they awaited the verdict, Holden reminded Lily he could be in jail for a long time. After overhearing David tell Emily about his new job, Matt asked to get out of his deal with James but was warned not to try. Wait To See: Jack makes a desperate choice.

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: After James rescued Sheila from Mike and Marty, she told him of Maggie's part in the kidnapping. Lauren was relieved to find Jonny was really Rush's twin and not Rush. Brooke sensed Ridge was feeling connected to Taylor's baby and told Thorne he should know he's the baby's father. Rick was able to get Amber rehired. Later, Amber stole a piece of Brooke's jewelry. Wait To See: Maggie gets help in her plot to bring Sheila down.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: After learning that Roman now knew everything about him and Marlena, including Kristen's lies, John asked Marlena to choose between him and Roman. Kristen vowed to get Susan's baby back. Hope was upset when Bo said he was in charge of arresting Jack. While searching for Jennifer, Peter attacked Bo and almost killed Hope. Carrie considered asking Mike if she's the married woman he loves. Ivan told Edmund of his love for Vivian. Wait To See: Peter makes a terrible decision about Jennifer.

GENERAL HOSPITAL:

Brenda was surprised to find Jax on a dinner date with Ashley. Sarah was upset that Nikolas was spending time with Emily. Helena ordered Alexis to give Katherine a long white dress. Stefan later saw a similar dress in a painting of Laura. Bobbie helped Carly come to terms with her feelings for her baby. Alan struggled through another pill crisis. Mac escaped as James again proposed to Felicia. Wait To See: Liz is in danger.

GUIDING LIGHT: Vanessa gave birth to her daughter, Maureen. Later, Vanessa and Matt got distressing news. An injured Beth made a confession to her mother, Lillian, while Harley tried to reassure Phillip he's not to blame. Annie tried to get Ben to help her by suggesting she knew something about Ross. A shocked Reva learned Annie had escaped. Wait To See: Reva's life is in danger.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Bo got a new lead on the kidnapping. Cassie saw Miss Stonecliff emerge from a secret area of the house. Dorian stole Stonecliff's key and ventured into the locked wing where she made a shocking discovery and came face to face with her past. Téa and Andrew spent the night together while Todd, at the hospital with Starr, tried to reach her. Over Viki's objections, Kevin set out in the storm to try to find Cassie. Wait To See: The police question Todd.

PORT CHARLES: Scott was sentenced to 10 years in prison. Kevin overheard Scott urge Lucy to do everything to protect Serena, even marry Rex if necessary. Chris learned Matt lied about being injured in a ski accident. Mike told Ellen Matt left with two men. Later, a bomb exploded in a hotel room where Matt waited with the men. In the hospital, Matt blamed the Feds for the deaths of the two marshals who had been with him. Eve helped Scott feign an illness. Kevin was unable to reach Lucy before she became Rex's wife. Wait To See: Scott escapes.

SUNSET BEACH: To her relief, Meg couldn't find the tell-tale wound on Ben's leg that could have proved Tim was right in accusing him of being the killer. Later, Ben removed and then reapplied the flesh-colored latex strip that covered the wound. Cole resisted JoBeth's advances and threats. Annie prepared to give Caitlin Olivia's child. Virginia was determined to make Vanessa believe she has her mother's disease. Caitlin went to confession on her wedding day where she heard the priest urge her to tell Cole the truth about her fake pregnancy. Ricardo urged Gabi not to quit the force. Wait To See: Claude causes more problems for Cole.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Jill overheard Tricia tell Megan she'll soon be Ryan's wife. Jill then asked Ryan if he actually proposed to Tricia. John told Silva to pursue custody of Billy. Sharon fumed because Grace wouldn't let her tell Cassie she's her mother. Nikki was concerned about Sharon and told Victor Nick should spend more time with his wife. Josh wondered about his and Nikki's missing wedding photo. Meanwhile, Sarah (Veronica) cut Nikki's head and body out of the photo. Victoria and Ashley had words over Cole. Wait To See: Chris and Paul face another problem over Danny.

NATASHA'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Advice you receive may be off the mark. Guests could drop by at an inappropriate time or someone you're expecting later in the week may be delayed in arriving. Be flexible this weekend.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You may be talking to someone this week who has a big line. Remain properly skeptical. Keep business aims realistic. Weekend social plans may be subject to change.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) In your pursuit of good times, remember to honor prior commitments and stay on top of responsibilities. It's not the best week for a do-it-yourself project.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You're in a pleasure-seeking mood this week and may be inclined to take foolish risks. Stay away from long-shot gambles. This weekend, you're a bit impulsive in matters of the heart.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Money owed you may be late in arriving. Don't part with joint funds until you check with your mate first. This weekend, have enjoyable times without being overly indulgent in food or drink.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A family member may be unable to attend a planned get-together this week. It's best to be sure of a person's taste before purchasing a gift. This weekend, watch your wallet.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Someone could keep you waiting early in the week. Be leery of those who promise more than they can deliver. Business and pleasure do not combine favorably over the weekend.

SCORPIO (October 23 to body else. I know how corrupt politics can be when authority goes unchecked, and what happens when cloud clouds political judgment. It's a Catch-22 situation, and sadly, it's the voters who get caught in the crossfire.

When I finished telling my politician friend how I felt, he laughed and said, "Well, I suppose you're trying to tell me I can expect a call about installing traffic lights."

November 21) Though there'll be time for socializing this week, you'll also want to devote some time to a work-related project. Try not to go overboard on spending on the home this weekend.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) The pleasures of food and drink may be alluring at this time. Be careful not to abuse your health. Keep the lines of communication open this weekend with those close to you.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You have some difficulty making up your mind about a possible purchase. Moderation should be your keyword this week since you have a tendency to go to extremes.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You should be discriminating about which social invitations you accept. Some are more fruitful than others and more enjoyable. Travelers meet with unexpected expenses this weekend.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You have innovative business ideas this week, but it's not the time to push them. When shopping over the weekend, be careful not to overspend on a luxury item. Be sure you know your prices.

CRITIC'S CORNER by Mickey Greene

WAG THE DOG: Recent polls have found that we as a people are quite cynical about politics and politicians. Just take the last few elections. Less than half the people registered to vote actually turned out on Election Day. That's sad. This flick plays on that cynicism by presenting us with a view of inside political workings that is as astounding as it is fictional. Yet somehow, it seems plausible.

As the film opens, the presidential election is only two weeks away. The president, though, has basically shot himself in the foot by fooling around with an underage girl who came to tour the White House. What to do? How can this incident be "spun" so that no damage is done to the president and his re-election efforts. Enter the master of all spin doctors, Conrad Brean (Robert DeNiro). He proposes staging a "war" in Albania. As he puts it, "It won't be a real war ... more like a pageant."

To accomplish this task, Brean calls on Hollywood producer Stanley Motss (Dustin Hoffman), a guy who is so successful, he can "do" meetings while reclining in a tanning bed! Motss loves the challenge and says he's having more fun than when he did live TV as he sets about to "film" the war.

Motss stages an entire war campaign and films a stirring video showing a young Albanian girl fleeing the horrors of rape in a war-torn village. The "victim" is actually an aspiring Hollywood starlet filmed behind a blue backdrop into which is dropped the fictional village. Motss brings in a songwriter, Johnny Green, (Willie Nelson) to come up with a rousing anthem to move the people a la "We Are The World." He also finds a war hero, known as "Old Shoe," a soldier (Woody Harrelson) picked at random. However, the "hero" turns out to be a psycho from an army stockade who's been imprisoned for raping a nun.

This hilarious, irreverent satire is a joy to behold. Director Barry Levinson is in top form here, as are the leading players and supporting actors (Anne Heche and William H. Macy). Even if you're not into politics, you'll enjoy it. Don't miss it. I give it three and a half stars.

"No, Henderson, I said I want to see a profit around here."

Grade School
Tournament
Resumes Monday

A Look At Sports

County athletics need addressing by responsible leaders

A soft drink cup comes flying out of the stands and onto the playing surface at the Allen Central/Prestonsburg high school game. Nothing is done about it, but rather it seemed to meet the approval of those in attendance.

A grade school player uses vulgar language in telling his coach off. Yet nothing is done but it seems to have been approved.

A player is ejected because he took a swing at another player, he strips his jersey and tossed it in the air as he is escorted off the floor, to the applause of the fans.

What has happen to athletics in our county? Have we degenerated down to where we no longer applaud that which is good, but rather give our approval when someone acts like a kook?

School administrators need to take more of a hand in discipline than what has been shown in past years. Better yet the parents, whose kid acts up should act the part of the disciplinarian that they should be. Used to be if you were corrected at school, you could expect correction at home when you arrived after hiding out all day.

I can see where our younger generation is influenced to use language that is not becoming of a young man or woman. Yes, the girls are just as bad! When the coach does it, and it is the way of life of the college player, and an NBA player, what can we expect?

I know all these words will fall on deaf ears. I know that coaches are more interested in winning that being a positive influence on their athletes. I know that most will not agree with me. But that is all right. But that doesn't stop it from being so. Our kids today need a positive force in their lives more than ever. A parent, coach and school official has that opportunity.

MELEE AT MELVIN

I have received word that a petition has been obtained by the Melvin Cougar basketball team demanding that County Athletic Director Pete Grigsby, Jr., respond to their request for an investigation of the Melvin/Betsy Layne boys' game last Monday night.

The team's request it twofold:

- One, that the game be replayed, or...
- Two, that the game be forfeited to Melvin.

The outcry came when the officials refused to call a technical foul on the Betsy Layne coach who journeyed out of the coaches' box, onto the floor and punted the basketball against the wall.

The group responsible for the petition cites the fact the officials were intimidated by the Betsy Layne coach.

The group contends all they are asking for

Under Newsome:

Lady Cats have winning season

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Betsy Layne head girls' basketball coach Bill Newsome is one of the more successful coaches in the 15th Region and under Newsome, the program has never known a losing season.

The Betsy Layne coach is hoping this year's unpredictable team will be no exception as the 58th District tournament is just 20 days away. Newsome admitted before the season began, the '97-98 Lady Cats could be the weakest he has put on the floor.

When the season unfolded back in December, Newsome knew he was going have to go a different direction this year with the absence of a solid outside shooter, like he had in J.J. Johnson and Ashley Tackett. But he had three twin towers, make that four, and that was the game plan.

With the size in the middle, the problem facing the coach now was how to get the ball down low. Without a "true" point guard to distribute the basketball, Coach Newsome went with Amanda Hall, more fitted to the two-guard concept.

The Lady Cats are currently 10-7 on the season with five games remaining. Pike County Central, Elkhorn City, Johnson Central and Prestonsburg join Phelps as the remaining foes. Only two teams have faced the Lady Cats already this season, Phelps and Prestonsburg, and the Lady Cats are 1-1 against them. They won over Phelps earlier in the season and recently dropped a 40-point decision to Prestonsburg.

To avoid a losing season, Betsy Layne needs only to win one of the remaining five games.

KEYS TO DISTRICT

The Lady Cats must find ways to utilize their height inside for easy baskets. Heather Kidd, Sabrina Yates, and Leslie Hopkins are the "trio towers" and must carry the game load for the Lady Cats. Add Jessica Clark and Hall, once she returns from suspension, and you have a good backcourt duo.

Also, the press hurt Betsy Layne the last time they faced Prestonsburg on their own floor. The Lady Cats turned the ball over 31 times. The bigger players are going have to be used in bringing the ball up the floor.

SUPER SUBS

Jenny Parsons is only a freshman, but one of the more promising froshes in the county. A good outside threat from the three-point arch.

Heather Hamilton has had a couple starts under her belt, and will see plenty of playing time. Shenna Akers is one of the top sophomores in the county.

PREDICTION:

If that losing season occurs it could be in the first round of the district tournament. Again, the Lady Cats must find a way to solve the pressure they will face from Prestonsburg, and take advantage of their inside size.

If they do, then they should be one of the two teams to represent the district in the regional tournament.

will have to establish the inside game.

McDowell edges Martin in tournament

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Martin Middle School Purple Flash had their chance to advance in the Floyd County Conference Basketball Tournament Tuesday night, but could not get key shots to fall in the waning seconds of the game.

Martin saw a nine-point lead with 4:12 to play in the game, disappear as the Daredevils fought back.

Martin held a 11-point cushion in the third quarter, but an incident seemed to spark the Daredevils in their comeback. In a close encounter under the McDowell basket, Chris Owens came over the back of Jason Spriggs and the two players went to the floor. Spriggs came up and took a swing at Owens and was immediately ejected from the game by referee Lowell Parker. While leaving the floor, Spriggs removed his jersey and tossed it high in the air to the approval of the crowd.

Moore scores 19 as Daredevils outlast Purple Flash 36-34

After things had settled down, Jared Harlow hit the two technical free throws that put Martin in front 21-10. Less than a minute later, Owens was whistled for a technical foul and sent to the Martin bench. McDowell began the climb back. The Daredevils had cut the margin to six points, 25-19 after three quarters. Martin turned the ball over on their final three possessions of the third period, and started the fourth in the same manner.

McDowell pulled to within three of the Purple Flash, 24-21, on a rebound basket by Justin Taylor. But D.J. Hoover, who played so well in the game for Martin, had a put back and Ricky Lewis, who was suspended for the first half, drilled a three-pointer that gave Martin the nine-point lead with just over four minutes to play.

A lid seemed to the Martin basket as they went over two minutes without a score, allowing McDowell to take a one-point lead, 31-30 on a rebound basket by Josh Moore with 2:12 to play. Hoover's basket gave Martin the lead back at 32-31. McDowell led 33-32 and Martin went in front 34-33 on a basket by Hoover with 1:17 to play.

Moore hit the front end of a two-shot foul that tied the game at 34-34 and Martin turned the ball over with 46 seconds to play. At :42 McDowell took a time out. With 40 seconds to play, Moore made a strong move to the basket and on a finger roll, scored to give the Daredevils the 36-34 lead.

Martin was whistled for a turnover, a walking violation, at 27 seconds. Facing full-court pressure, McDowell stepped out of bounds with 18 seconds to

Ousley helps AMS to advance in tourney

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Ashley Ousley scored 18 points to lead the Adams Middle School Lady Blackcats past a good Harold team 49-32 in the Floyd County Grade School Basketball Tournament at Martin last Tuesday night.

Caresh Shepherd added eight points in the win, with Heather White scoring seven.

Whitney Likens netted 17 points for the Lady Red Devils, with Tabatha Witt scoring nine points.

Adams held a 7-6 lead after the first quarter. White drilled a three-point basket to erase a 6-4 Harold lead, and put the Lady Blackcats up one point.

Harold had taken a 3-0 lead on three free throws. In fact, all six points in the first for Harold came from the charity stripe. Shepherd's rebound basket put the Lady Blackcats on the scoreboard to make it 3-2. White connected on two free throws with 51 seconds to play and then at the :01 mark, buried the trey to give Adams the lead.

Harold led 8-7 on a basket by Tasha Rice.

Adams went up 9-8 on Ousley's layup, but Harold regained the lead on a basket by Tabatha Witt and Likens free throw to make it 11-9. The game was tied at 11-11 on Erin Majakey's basket. The Lady Red Devil's led 13-11 on Witt's put back. White again tied the game at 13-13 before the Lady Red Devils took a 14-13 lead. The lead could have been larger, but Harold missed five-of-six free throws. Adams took the lead for good on consecutive baskets by Ousley to give Adams a 17-14 half-time lead.

Harold hung around at 19-16 until Prestonsburg went on a 8-2 run to lead 29-18 after three quarters. Ousley hit a base-line jumper and scored four points in the spurt.

Tiffany Frasure and Lafferty finished with four points for Adams. Erin Majakey and Mullins netted two points each, as did Amanda Stephens.

Trish Robinson scored three for Harold with Rice finishing with two. Jessica Kelly had one point.

Grade school tournament to resume Monday, hopefully

The Floyd County Grade School basketball tournament is in hopes of resuming this Monday with completion of the first rounds. Weather knocked out both the tournament and school this week.

The final round was scheduled to begin Monday, February 9 but that will be needed, along with February 10, to complete the first round.

According to Pete Grigsby, Jr., athletic director, the final round of the tournament could be played February 11, 12, and 16th at the D.W. Howard Fieldhouse in Betsy Layne. Grigsby was not sure of the final dates.

"It's not written in stone, but that is what I will suggest to them," he said. "Gym space is the problem. We may have to play one of the rounds in a grade school gym somewhere."

The tournament is being held at four separate sites, with the Betsy Layne site having one more game to play than the other three. It was thought the tournament could resume this Saturday.

"But some of the schools did not want to do that," said Grigsby. "They felt they didn't have time to get things ready."

When school is out in the elementaries, so is basketball. If the tournament does indeed resume Monday, then only one day will have been lost if the alternate dates are approved by the coaches.

The two shot a four under par and finished 12th out of 48 teams. Also accompanying the two players to Las Vegas were Joe Back of Prestonsburg and Muncie Meade of Dema.

South Floyd denied first-ever district win-again

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

For the second time this season, and against the same team, the South Floyd Lady Raiders were denied their first-ever district victory.

For the second time this season, the Lady Raiders had the Betsy Layne Lady Cats on the hook only to let them wiggle free and dropped a 63-57 decision to coach Bill Newsome's team.

At Betsy Layne, back on January 16, South Floyd fell 36-35 to the Lady Cats, but had the last shot at the basket in coach John Martin's first game as head coach.

South Floyd, since consolidation, has never defeated a 58th District team.

Sabrina Yates scored a game-high 22 points, and Jessica Clark added 19 in spite of playing while ill.

"We tried to get her not to play," said the Betsy Layne coach. "But she wanted to play. She has the flu. But she gave a tremendous effort and finished with 19 points."

Clark knew the magnitude of the game and what was at stake should the Lady Cats falter. It would have meant a virtual tie for the fourth seed in the conference race with one game to play in the district. The victory assured them of no lower than a three seed and still the chance to tie Prestonsburg for the second seed. Nevertheless, when the district tournament tips off, it will Betsy Layne facing Prestonsburg regardless who is the two or three seed. South Floyd will meet Allen Central, the top seed.

Yates also pulled down 13 rebounds to go with her 22 points. Seven of those were offensive boards.

"She worked the offensive boards real well," said Coach Newsome.

Heather Kidd, who fouled out with eight points, had 10 rebounds in the game. Leslie Hopkins finished with six points and Jenny Parsons four. Heather Hamilton had four points.

Misty Berger led South Floyd with 14 points, hitting a three-point basket. Olivia Stewart netted 12 with a trey. Martha Crawford hit a three-point basket, and scored 15 points.

Betsy Layne held a four point lead, 44-40, heading into the final quarter and extended the lead out to 10 points and appeared to be cruising to their 10th win of the season. But, the Lady Raiders were not ready to concede the game and fought back from the 10-point deficit to take a one-point lead of their own with three minutes to play. The lead exchanged hands several times until Betsy Layne went up and stayed there.

"They had to foul us down the stretch," said Coach Newsome. "They are a much-improved basketball team."

Betsy Layne, although still struggling from the charity stripe, hit 19-of-39 attempts for the game.

"We're still not shooting the ball play giving the ball back to Martin. Martin still had life left.

Martin's leading scorer, Keith Crum, who was saddled early with foul trouble, took the ball to the basket in an attempt to tie the game. The ball roll off the rim, with Harlow gabbing the rebound. His shot was blocked by Moore out of bounds giving the ball back to Martin under their own basket. The ball came to Crum who's last shot fell short.

McDowell led 7-4 after a sluggish first quarter. A 13-3 second-quarter gave the Purple Flash a 17-10 halftime lead. Hoover came in off the bench and sparked Martin with back-to-back baskets and Michael Murphy drained a three-pointer that gave Martin a 13-9 advantage. Baskets by Harlow and Justin Reynolds' jumpers gave Martin the seven-point halftime lead.

Jason Skeans added 11 points for McDowell. Taylor finished with four and Adam Ward scored two.

Hoover led Martin with his eight points. Lewis' two treys gave him six points. Harlow had six points and eight rebounds. Crum and Owens scored four apiece. Owens had nine rebounds.

well from there," said Coach Newsome.

Betsy Layne improved to 2-3 in the conference while going to 10-7 overall. South Floyd will remain winless in the conference at 0-6, and they fell to 3-15 on the year.

is a fair and impartial investigation.

Mr. Grigsby said he had tried to contact the Melvin principal and Betsy Layne principal but was unable to make the contacts. He also stated that he was trying to contact one of the officials involved.

I know Mr. Grigsby, and his sincerity in wanting to make the Floyd County Elementary Conference second to none. He has a desire to get the best officials for the games.

"But the officials in question were rated high on the list by the coaches," he said in a telephone interview. "In going down the list of officials I had eight rejections. I had to take who was available on the list."

RUB-A-DUB TUBBY

In one season the University of Kentucky Wildcats have dropped two home games, both to unranked teams. But there are a lot of teams out there that would love to be 19-3 right now, and almost a shoe-in for an NCAA berth.

But Wildcats fans must remember, the Cats must travel to Florida and South Carolina as well as at always-tough Auburn. Then the Cats will host a very good Ole Miss team at Rupp. Now the Rebels of Ole Miss know the Cats are beatable at Rupp and will be gunning for them. It will be hard for Kentucky to win at both Florida and South Carolina. Look for Auburn to pull off a major upset. The Cats finish second in their division, losing to South Carolina, Florida, Auburn and Ole Miss. They go two rounds deep into the SEC tournament before losing, and play two-and-out in the NCAA.

Maybe Orlando "Tubby" can land a job with the Orlando Magic. Taking up for a lackadaisical player like Allen Edwards will not make UK a better team. Heishu Evans should replace Edwards in the lineup. Evans adds something to the game.

Also, give Michael Bradley a shot at more playing time. Myron Anthony and Ryan Hogan deserve more time on the hardwood than the pine.

Next, Tubby has absolutely ruined Cameron Mills as a player. If he had not played as much as he did, think of what an embarrassment it would have been in losing to Florida? We're talking big time.

Rick Pitino called to congratulate Billy Donovan, the Florida coach.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports! Take the kids to Sunday School and church this Sunday.

UPCOMING EVENT

WHAT: The Bud Shootout
WHERE: Daytona International Speedway (2.5-mile tri-oval), Daytona Beach, Fla.

WHEN: Sunday, Feb. 8.
CHANGES: The Bud Shootout was formerly known as the Busch Clash. As before, it matches pole winners from the previous year in an all-star race. Formerly the event was 20 laps, but it has been extended to 25 laps, and all must be run under green flag (caution laps do not count). In the past, one starter was selected from a drawing made up of the leading second-round qualifiers from each event. Now all of those drivers are eligible to compete in a 25-lap race of their own on Saturday, with the winner advancing into the Shootout field.

DEFENDING CHAMPION: Jeff Gordon.
THE PRELIMINARY: In the 15-car field for the undercard will be six-time Clash winner Dale Earnhardt, three-time runner-up Sterling Marlin and 1981 winner Darrell Waltrip.
TELEVISION COVERAGE: The preliminary race will be shown by ESPN on Saturday at 11 a.m. The Bud Shootout will be on CBS at noon on Sunday.
ALSO AT THE SPEEDWAY: Pole qualifying for the Daytona 500 will be held on Saturday. Following the Bud Shootout on Sunday, the Automobile Racing Club of America will hold its annual ARCA 200 (approximately 1:15 p.m.).

FROM THE ARCHIVES:

The rich history of NASCAR
David Pearson won 105 Winston Cup races, second only to Richard Petty, but one aspect of Pearson's career is more remarkable than the rest. Pearson, a native of Spartanburg, S.C., was never seriously injured while driving a race car, and he drove during a period in which injuries were commonplace. The three-time champion drove in 574 races between 1960 and 1986, not even counting his starts in other divisions besides Winston Cup, and never missed a race due to injury.

Ricky Craven to test drive Pontiac Grand Prix at Atlanta

By Monte Dutton
NASCAR This Week

A Pontiac Grand Prix may be in Ricky Craven's future. Team Hendrick is constructing a Grand Prix for Craven to test at Atlanta Motor Speedway. According to crew chief Tony Furr, Craven may compete in the Pontiac at the Primestar 500 on March 8.
"Those guys (Pontiac) have gotten awful competitive lately," said Furr. "We don't want to leave anything on the table, so that's why we've done this. We're just looking into it right now. We're just going to take a look at it and see what happens. We're going to see if we can gain anything by it, and then we'll go over the results after the test."

Pontiacs won two of the last three races last season, but those were the only Pontiac wins of the entire season. Fords won 19 races, Chevrolets 11.
Team Hendrick provides engines for the Pontiac team of Ernie Irvan.
NO MOORE: Bud Moore, one of NASCAR's most familiar names, has had to postpone the return of his No. 15 Ford team due to lingering medical problems with driver Tim Steele. Three-time ARCA champion Steele injured ribs and suffered a concussion while testing Moore's Ford Thunderbird last fall at Atlanta Motor Speedway. Recently Steele suffered dizziness and rib pain while testing the car at Daytona.

According to the car owner's son and team manager, Greg Moore, it could be July before Steele returns.
Bud Moore Engineering did not compete on the Winston Cup Series last year, although the team attempted to make starting fields twice.

STRONG WORDS: According to Dan Davis, director of Ford Special Vehicle Operations, the Winston Cup switch from Thunderbird to Taurus is the biggest challenge ever faced by the carmaker in North American motorsports.
"At least in my limited experience in motorsports in the United States, I would say that this would be the biggest challenge," said Davis. "I would say that in some of our other venues, we have faced similar challenges, but this certainly is the biggest one in North America."

THE WINSTON CUP CIRCUIT

THINGS YOU MIGHT NOT KNOW ABOUT BILL ELLIOTT

- He and Jeff Gordon are the only drivers to win the Winston Million bonus.
- His only victory on a road course (Riverside, 1983) was the first victory of his career.
- Beginning his fourth season as driver-car owner.
- Added Jerry Nadeau as driver of a second car, co-owned by Miami Dolphins quarterback Dan Marino.
- When he won the championship in 1988, he became the first Ford driver to claim Winston Cup title since David Pearson in 1969.

Elliott

■ Pearson and Jody Ridley were his racing heroes.
■ Turned the fastest official lap in Winston Cup history, 212.809 mph at Talladega in 1987.
■ Started five Winston Cup races in 1976 but never competed in every race until 1983.
■ Won six races during his championship season but finished second to Darrell Waltrip in point standings despite 11 victories in 1985.

- Took current number, 94, from short-track number of his late nephew, Casey.
- Recently moved into new shops in Statesville, N.C., but his engine and research operations remain situated in Dawsonville, Ga.
- Selected American Driver of the Year in 1985 and 1988.
- Has finished in top 10 in point standings five times in last six years.
- Last victory was at Darlington Raceway in 1994.
- Finished fourth in each of four Winston Million races last season.
- Has been elected Most Popular Driver by fans a record 12 times.

PROFILE

John Andretti

John Clark/The Gazette

John Andretti will again be driving in Richard Petty's Pontiac beginning in Daytona.

By Monte Dutton
NASCAR This Week
In 1994, the matchup of two great racing families, the Pettys and the Andrettis, seemed like a natural fit. But after 11 races in Richard Petty's No. 43, John Andretti decided to sign with rival team owner Michael Kranefuss instead. He moved from there to Cale Yarborough's No. 98 at the end of 1996, and that move culminated in Andretti's first Winston Cup victory in July, 1997, at Daytona. Oddly enough, Daytona was the scene of his uncle Mario's lone Winston Cup victory in 1967.
Now, the match made in heaven is alive again. Andretti replaces Bobby Hamilton in Petty's Pontiac beginning with the Daytona 500. Hamilton won single races in both 1996 and 1997 while driving for Petty.

- AGE: 34
- WIFE: Nancy.
- CHILDREN: Jarett (5), Olivia (2).
- CAR: No. 43 STP Pontiac Grand Prix, owned by Richard Petty.
- CAREER RECORD: 126 starts, 1 win, 2 poles, almost $2 million in earnings.
- WHAT IS IT LIKE DRIVING FOR FORMER GREAT DRIVERS LIKE RICHARD PETTY AND CALE YARBOROUGH? "I think the King (Petty) understands racing, and so does Cale. They know how tough it is sitting there while someone is telling you you're supposed to win races. It's kind of ridiculous. If you don't know that, you probably should have a lobotomy. Why state the obvious? Here it's, 'What can we do for you?' When you're with a good team and you say something like, 'If we were just a little better right here...' it's like, bam, they're working it. There's never a question about it."

■ WHAT DO YOU EXPECT TO ACCOMPLISH WITH THIS TEAM? "Any time you put a driver in a new situation, they ask, 'Can he still win races?' I'd like to think so. I think, in the last three years, they've gotten better and I've gotten better. But most of the other guys in the garage area have, too, so the mark keeps moving."
■ ARE YOU MORE CONFIDENT BECAUSE OF WINNING AT DAYTONA? "I've been working hard on them (the Petty team), because when I first came here (crew chief Robbie Loomis') first comment was, 'Our season kind of starts at Rockingham.' I said, 'No, it doesn't. The season starts from the first race out.' Whether we're capable of winning it or not, we need the points."

TRIVIA

1. Who collected four top-10 finishes in a row for the first time in his career during the summer of 1996?
2. Who married the daughter of ex-driver Donnie Allison?
3. What driver won the first two poles of his career in 1997?

ANSWERS
1. Jimmy Spencer
2. Hut Stricklin
3. Kenny Wallace

READERS ASK THE QUESTIONS

Dear NASCAR This Week,
I am a big fan of Dale Earnhardt. Although I am only 15, I am very interested in NASCAR racing and have been most of my life. I have been hearing news of Dale quitting and having Steve Park drive for him. I would like to know if this is true. I hope this is not true because I think he still has a lot of years in him.
Bret H. Massey
Anderson, Ind.

Dear Bret,
You are confusing stories. Earnhardt will continue to drive the No. 3 Chevrolet owned by Richard Childress. Steve Park will drive a No. 1 Chevrolet that Earnhardt and wife Teresa own. Earnhardt drives for one team and owns another. Earnhardt has said on several occasions that he plans to drive at least through the year 2000.

Dear NASCAR This Week,
I was wondering if you could tell me if Coo Coo Marlin is Sterling Marlin's father? What else could you tell me about Coo Coo Marlin and his car and records?
MJM
Burns, Tenn.

Dear NASCAR Fan,
Yes, Sterling is the son of Clifton "Coo Coo" Marlin. Coo Coo never won a Winston Cup race but did win an unofficial race in one of Daytona's 125-mile qualifying races, in 1973. Overall, the elder Marlin competed in 165, with a career-best finish of third (on three occasions). He led 23 races, however, and earned $328,912 in his career. Coo Coo Marlin turned 66 on Jan. 3.

Dear NASCAR This Week,
How can I get a picture of Dale Jarrett's '98 Ford Taurus? I want to put it in my yard in lights Christmas 1998.
Ray Landis
DuQuoin, Ill.

Dear Ray,
Finding a photograph large enough for this endeavor might be difficult. We have several suggestions. First, try your local Ford dealer. Quality Care/Ford Credit, Jarrett's sponsor, is closely aligned with dealerships, many of which offer Jarrett souvenirs. Also, several Jarrett souvenir trailers are on hand at all Winston Cup events, and many also make trips to other motorsports-related functions like auto shows, Jarrett personal appearances, etc. Or you may want to write Robert Yates Racing at 115 Dwelle St., Charlotte, N.C. 28208. Good luck.

If you've got a question or a comment, write: NASCAR This Week, Your Turn, c/o The Gaston Gazette, 2500 E. Franklin Blvd., Gastonia, N.C. 28054

ON THE MARKET

"Davey Allison: A Celebration of Life" is a picture book authored by the late driver's widow Liz. The 144-page book, which includes more than 150 color photos and a foreword by Benny Parsons, is on sale in hardcover at $34.95. For more information, write Howell Press Inc., 1147 River Road, Suite 2, Charlottesville, Va. 22901-4172, or call toll-free 1-800-868-4512.

RACING ON THE WEB MOTORSPORT INTERNATIONAL
www.motorsport.com/issues/13181.html
Strong points: We recommend this site in general, but this particular Web address will allow you to dial up an article on Bobby Allison written by Ellen Siska. The story features quite a bit of illumination into all the tragedies faced by the ex-champion driver, based on an exclusive interview conducted in York, Pa. in late January.
Weak points: None. Fine story.

Not everyone in the house wants to watch Barney...

It's something you don't hear much about in the satellite TV ads, which promise hundreds of channels of movie-quality television. But the truth is: With a standard satellite system, you can only watch one of those channels at a time — on every TV in your home.

If two people in your household want to watch different shows at the same time, it is possible - but be prepared to pay. In fact, you'll need to pay for additional receivers for each TV in your home, and a dual output dish. Plus, you'll have to pay an additional monthly programming fee. It's enough to send the cost of putting a satellite dish on you home through the roof.

With cable television, you typically can hook up as many TVs as you like at little or no extra cost. No matter how many TVs you have, everybody can watch what they like.
