Cleaning up our act

US Rep. Hal Rogers will be in Floyd, Leslie, Breathitt and Harlan counties Monday visiting illegal dumpsites to promote the PRIDE Fall Clean-up Week, Nov. 7-14. Also on Monday, employees of the state divisions of Forestry, Waste Management, Air Quality, Water, and Surface Mining will team up to clean trash heaps in Floyd, Morgan, Knox, Metcalfe and Jessamine counties. Remember that in Floyd County next week you can dump old appliances and assorted other junk at the transfer station for free. For those who are elderly or invalid, pick up is provided; call 606/886-8060 or 886-0498.

It's all a sham

If you hear screaming and sirens around Prestonsburg's Super 8 Motel next Tuesday, don't be alarmed. It's not real. Well, maybe the screaming and sirens will be real, but the incident isn't. Students in the law enforcement technology program at Prestonsburg Community College are staging a make-believe double homicide at the motel at 9 a.m. Students will investigate the crime, collect and gather evidence and interview witnesses. They will present their findings in a mock trial on Nov. 23.

Escapees still on the loose

At press time yesterday, three escapees from the Johnson County Detention Center remained free. They broke out of the jail Tuesday, apparently after breaking a narrow, bullet-proof window. A Kentucky State Police report lists the three as Gary Mills, 31, of Martin County; Benji Manns, 23, and Jeffery Marshall, 25, both of Magoffin County. Mills was incarcerated on capital murder and arson charges and the other two on burglary charges. Anyone with information regarding the subjects is asked to contact the Kentucky State Police at 606/433-7711.

Public meetings

- Prestonsburg City Council, Monday, 6 p.m., City Hall. On the agenda: Board of Zoning Adjustment appointment; American Legion roadblock request, and Christmas Parade.
- Allen City Council (tentative rescheduling), Monday, 7 p.m., City Hall.

Kathryn Stumbo Frazier : Community icon dies

As the ashes of her family's historic home burned out, so did the light of a long-time Floyd County educator and civic leader. Kathryn Stumbo Frazier died Tuesday at Highlands Regional Medical Center, as contractors burned the last vestiges of the house she grew up in on Court Street in Prestonsburg to make way for a parking lot. She had been a resident of Riverview Manor Nursing Home.

She was preceded in death by her husband of 60 years, Chalmer H. Frazier who died in 1997.

A native of Prestonsburg, she was the daughter of the late Earl and Anna Harmon Stumbo and a descendant of some of the area's oldest families.

She was graduated from Berea

Allen sewer project a source of PRIDE

US Rep. Hal Rogers will be in Floyd County Monday to mark the agreement between the US Army Corps of Engineers and local officials to proceed with the $4.3 million sewer project to serve the City of Allen.

The project is part of the PRIDE program which Rogers has spearheaded to clean up the eastern Kentucky environment. The program includes environmental assistance from the Corps for projects involving wastewater treatment, water supply and surface water resource protection.

Earlier this year, Rogers announced a $266,000 PRIDE grant to help finance the project. All other funding is reportedly in place.

The project is a major link in the "US 23 sewer line" from Pikeville to Prestonsburg, Rogers said. It will serve 376 homes, several businesses, an industrial park and Allen Elementary School.

Rogers is slated to be at Allen Elementary at 12:30 p.m. Joining him will be Jim Bickford, Secretary of the Kentucky Cabinet for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection; Joe Westphal, assistant

Improve attendance, state officials plead

by Willie Elliott
Staff Writer

Student, faculty, and staff attendance in the Floyd County School system, which started off at a high rate, has begun to decline and attract the attention of school officials.

In a Sept. 29 memo, state manager Arnold W. Carter wrote, "Since our last newsletter, attendance has dropped to 94.4 percent. Remember, kids are ours to educate, and when they aren't in school we're missing our charter. Again I appeal to all of you, give those kids a reason to be in your classroom and your school."

Carter also said that everyone can help—from the bus drivers to cooks to office administrators.

The Floyd County School system's goal, which matches the state's goal, is an attendance rate of 95 percent. Carter said that the state takes notice of any system that falls below this mark.

Carter said, in an interview, that increased incidence of head lice was a big factor in attendance. When a student has lice, he/she must stay home until all traces of lice have been removed.

Carter also said that measles, chicken pox, colds and the flu have been making the rounds and forcing students to miss many days of school.

The school system is targeting those students who are missing school for reasons other than lice or

Smoke in their eyes puts knowledge in their minds

Flames rolled from two buildings at Betsy Layne Sunday, but the fires were intentionally set.

Betsy Layne and Allen volunteer fire departments conducted a training session for their four recruits from Allen and two from Betsy Layne by burning down two abandoned houses near U.S. 23.

"Before firefighters are allowed to go into a (burning) structure, they must be thoroughly trained," Clark said. "They see videos, but don't get a chance to see the real thing."

The state requires volunteer firefighters undergo 162 hours of training to be certified and an additional 20 hours each year to keep the certification, the assistant chief said. Most of that is in the classroom.

At Betsy Layne, two hours of lessons (from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.) are taught each Thursday night.

Recruits usually get a look at their first fire during an actual blaze, Clark said, and that isn't always a good place to begin. During an actual fire, the recruits are told to suit up and go into a safer portion of the structure with two or more experienced officers guiding them.

They stay only a brief time to get a first-hand look at the fire.

On Sunday, though, the new firefighters got a closer look.

"We could take in as many as

The fall color season — always exceptional in this region — is even more beautiful than usual this year as it winds down. The deep reds, golds, browns and burgundies are soothing to the eyes and comforting to the soul. We had to wait a while longer for the brilliance, but the result was worth the wait. ## Election snafus provide opportunity to change

by Pam Shingler
Editor

Reinforcing the concept that hindsight is 20-20 vision, Floyd County Clerk Carla Boyd said yesterday that if she had it to do over, she would make some changes in the way Tuesday's election was run.

"If I had anticipated it would take many voters five minutes or more to vote, I would have had two machines at each polling place," Boyd said.

She was responding to complaints of long lines throughout the county as residents turned out to vote.

The turnout was not overwhelming, she said. A total of 52 percent of registered voters showed up at the polls.

The county board of elections chair said she believes it took longer for many people to vote because the ballot was longer and because many remained confused over the fact that they could vote for three commissioners, not just for one in their district.

Boyd pointed out that although more candidates were running for the countywide races in the May primary election, municipal and school board races were not included.

we wanted to because it was a controlled environment ... We could have stopped everything (if there were problems)," Clark said.

The recruits were taken in small groups into one of the larger, safer buildings, and a fire was set. Betsy Layne fire officials showed the inexperienced firefighters how fire begins and how it travels, Edward Clark, assistant chief for the Betsy Layne Fire Department, said this week.

"Fire undergoes three phases: beginning, free burning and smoldering," Clark said. "A house fire is unique. The fire is enclosed. A brush fire, the heat and smoke go up. In a house fire, heat and smoke go to the ceiling ... it stays in the room."

"We're teaching them how to read fire. In the beginning, it's a small fire with maybe a foot of flame. The smoke is not bad. Then it starts burning everything. The smoke goes to the ceiling and comes down. It's black. The heat could be 1,100° at the ceiling temperature ... If the floor is 300°, it goes into a situation called a flashover ... That's a real dangerous thing."

Flashover occurs when the gases, emitted from the burning items in the room, ignite, Clark said.

"We show (the firefighters) what happens before that occurs. We teach them how to recognize it and how to stop it. When you see that deep orange flame rolling on the ceiling, you know it's getting ready to hit," he said. "That's a backdraft. If all the windows are closed, the fire burns all the oxygen, but it still has heat. It still has fuel. It starts to smolder like a cigarette burning. If someone breaks a window, then you get oxygen in the building ... and you have an explosion."

"You have to go up to the roof area and vent it like a chimney. It keeps it from spreading and, second, it keeps it from exploding."

Sunday's training session gave the new firefighters a chance to use their SCBA (self-contained breathing apparatus) in a smoke-filled environment. During classroom sessions, black plastic bags are taped across the firefighter's face plates. They must crawl on their hands and knees through a maze.

"If they get in a situation and the smoke is heavy and they can't see, they might panic," Clark said.

They're taught to follow their water hose or follow the right side of the wall to a door and safety.

Firefighters spent seven hours at the session Sunday, Clark said. That time included refilling air tanks and cleaning equipment at the fire station at the end of the evening.

"If you fight one hour of fire, you're two hours putting (the equipment) up," Clark said.

The public can stop by and talk to the firefighters about their experiences and their training sessions during an open house at the Betsy Layne Fire Department on Sunday. Visitors can also get a look at the department's newest piece of equipment, an aerial truck that can douse a fire fast by dumping up to 1,000 gallons of water a minute on a blaze.

The piece of equipment is the latest effort to help the fire department maintain its 4th class insurance rating, Clark said. With that rating, insurance rates are lower for residents in the fire district, he said.

"If you own a $100,000 home, you pay $100 to the fire district. If you had a $100,000 home and a high rating, it would be impossible to get fire insurance ... With the Class 4 rating, you save from $400 to $800 in premiums," he said. "If you have a good fire department with the capability and up-to-date equipment, it brings industry in. It also brings people in."

illness. The central office identified those students who were chronically absent last year, and had the attendance team of Freddie Hall, Danny Branson, Walter Bentley and Jerry Fultz visit the families of these students to stop absenteeism.

Carter said the judicial system was a great help in keeping students in school. He commended District Judges James Allen and Eric Hall for their efforts in getting and keeping students in school.

Judge Hall said the school system was taking an aggressive stance on truancy and keeping good records. Hall said he and Judge Allen could use this information to hold parents accountable for their child's attendance. He said he had put parents in contempt of court because of excessive absenteeism.

Hall said he saw one area that needs attention. Some students are parents themselves and are the primary care-givers for their children. He said the system needs to find a way "to help these students help themselves." He suggested the system find some kind of day care to serve these students.

The effects of missing a day of school are twofold: The child misses a day of instruction which, in reality, can never be totally made up, and the school system loses money. Each day a student misses school, the system loses $20. That is 20 fewer dollars for books, supplies, field trips, and computers.

Carter made a simple plea to parents: "Give us your child every day so we can educate him/her to the best of our ability."

Carter also emphasized that the system holds the same, if not higher, standards for faculty and staff.

"When parents send a child to school, they expect the regular teacher to be there."

The average attendance for the faculties of all schools, central office certified, central office classified, bus drivers, other transportation, maintenance, and Title I teachers was 95.17 for the 11 days in August and 95.04 for the 22 days in September.

Figures for attendance of staff at individual schools were not available.

ed then, and each district had only its local county commission candidates to choose from. Nor were the state constitutional amendment issues on the primary election ballot.

"From now on, if there are two pages or more on the ballot, I'll have two machines, at least in those precincts with more than 750 registered voters as the law allows," she said.

Boyd said mechanical problems closed down voting temporarily in four precincts. At both Jack's Creek and Melvin, "tiny pieces on the panel were cracked" and the voting machines shut down. A technician was sent to correct the problem and voting resumed.

Machines at both Copperas Creek and Garrett experienced paper jams and had to be shut down until the jams could be corrected.

The main problem at the Prater Creek precinct, she said, was parking. In previous elections, Prater Creek Elementary School was the polling site, but when the school closed last spring, polling was switched to the post office, which is particularly busy at the beginning of the month.

"We definitely need a place with better parking in that precinct," Boyd said.

Voting at Wheelwright went on until 9 p.m., three hours past the regular time for polls to close. However, state law requires that anyone in line at 6 p.m. must be allowed to vote.

Boyd said poll workers did not request a second machine for Wheelwright until around 3 p.m. "By that time the technician had gone to Johnson County, and we knew that by the time we got a second machine to Wheelwright and set up, it would be 6 o'clock or later," she said.

Boyd added that two representatives of the state Attorney General's office visited polling places throughout the county. "They were here from about 5:30 a.m. until around 9 p.m., except for a short time when they went to Knott County," she said.

At every election, the state office sends staff members to monitor polling across the state, she added.

Boyd anticipates a smoother election in May when the ballot will be shorter and will focus primarily on state-wide races.

Winn-Dixie recalls meat

Customers who recently bought hot dogs and lunch meats at Winn Dixie stores in Prestonsburg or Pikeville are advised to read the labels.

The company, which has stores in 14 states, Wednesday announced a recall of more than 190,000 pounds of lunch meat that are possibly contaminated by bacteria. Earlier it is reported to have recalled more than a million pounds of hot dogs with possible contamination.

The recalled meats carry the W/D Brand. Buyers of salami, bologna and ham lunch meats should look on the labels for the notations "Est. 1415M" or "Est. P-6655" and sell-by dates of Nov. 13, Nov. 22, Nov. 27 and Dec. 6.

The meats in question should be returned to the store.

No other details were forthcoming yesterday. The manager of the Prestonsburg Winn Dixie said he could not comment and referred the Times to a number in the 502 area code. Calls to that number were not returned.

In a related incident, IBP, an Omaha, Neb., meat company that ships beef to Kentucky and 32 other states, is recalling half a million pounds of ground beef that is sold in vacuum-packaged tubes.

According to an Associated Press report, the US Department of Agriculture is testing the meat which was produced on Oct. 22 at IBP's Dakota City plant and which may be tainted with E. coli bacteria. The company said the bacteria presented no danger to consumers as long as the meat is thoroughly cooked.

No details were available yesterday as to what stores in Kentucky may have received the ground beef.

They will sign the partnering agreement among the Corps and the cities of Allen and Prestonsburg, which will furnish the water treatment service. The agreement will allow construction to begin on the sewage collection system for Allen.

"Kentucky PRIDE is about taking responsibility and cleaning our region of sewage and garbage," Rogers said. "We can't keep our people healthy and safe, and we can't attract the tourists, retirees and businesses we need, if we don't work to clean up our region.

"The Allen PRIDE sewage project is just one small part of a massive effort to make our region a better place to live, and everyone needs to take personal responsibility for the critical task of cleaning up our communities," he said.

Rogers and Bickford announced the Kentucky PRIDE initiative last year. PRIDE, which stands for Personal Responsibility in a Desirable Environment, is the first comprehensive, region-wide, cooperative government effort, designed to address the challenge, Rogers said, of cleaning up the region's rivers and streams of sewage and garbage, ending illegal trash dumps, promoting environmental awareness, and instilling a new pride in the region.

Last year Rogers secured more than $25.5 million in PRIDE funding, and this year he has secured nearly $21.5 million.

Gov. Paul Patton has proclaimed November Native American Heritage Month in Kentucky.

Actually, he's carrying out the essence of House Bill 801, which created the special designation and which he signed into law last April.

In announcing the proclamation, the governor said, "... we celebrate the history of our first ancestors and we recognize the contributions that our Native American citizens continue to make in Kentucky."

About time, don't you think?

Most of us learned Kentucky history with a scoreboard: Settlers, 10; Indians, 0. Our heroes were those white marksmen who chased the natives out of the rich forests where they had hunted for centuries. The typical native to our young ears was a beastly savage, the likes of which kidnapped and brutalized our fair Jenny Wiley (whom some contend was a half-breed herself).

For most of us, our state history omitted those who were here before the white settlers and just about anyone who wasn't Anglo-Teutonic. On the road to enlightenment, we've come to realize that there's more to the story than we've been told.

What we can do to observe Native American Heritage Month is to learn all we can about native Americans. School kids can study about them. Parents and children can plan activities that give them the opportunity to discuss such concepts as heritage, equality, fairness and difference (and why it's not necessarily a bad thing). Social and civic organizations can schedule programs about native Americans. Some of us can further explore our family trees to see if the tales of Indian branches can be verified. All of us can learn from resources in libraries, in bookstores and on the internet.

A score to be settled

First Lady Judi Patton, who chairs the Kentucky Native American Heritage Commission and who claims a Cherokee legacy, set forth the agenda: "We will officially say thank you to Kentucky's first ancestors. We will recognize their contributions to our history and the development of our state. We will acknowledge the traditions which were begun so many years ago before the birth of our state."

The governor added, "We hope that our children will learn the importance of Kentucky's Native Americans to our state. You can't plan where you're going in life if you don't know where you've been."

Well said, governor.

THANKS FOR 'ALL THAT GOOD STUFF'

Editor:
It was great to see that Aileen Hall is back with "Small World." I enjoy her column. I have saved clippings from the past. I have three large scrap books made up of Clyde Pack's "Poison Oak," Sara Hopson's "Smile Awhile," and Aileen Hall's "Small World."

I am making good use of The Times after reading it. It's like getting a big letter from home, plus more articles for my scrap book, which is titled "Floyd County Treasures."

Thank you for all that good stuff.

NO MARE'S MILK— BUT BITTER HERBS

Editor:
The November 3 general election in Floyd County calls into question two very important concepts of freedom: the right to vote and the right to vote in a fair and equal election. It is my considered opinion that the conduct of this election failed miserably in each of these fundamental Constitutional rights.

To openly deny our forgotten Floyd County people the right to vote might bring even the ever-reluctant federals into action. So it is not done that way here. We do not see snarling Doberman police dogs chasing voters or holding them at bay. Nor do we see a hillbilly version of Georgia's Governor Maddox wielding an axe handle chasing people away from the polls.

No, the Floyd County way is to let you decide for yourself not to vote. You can complain bitterly, but the tactic is not as obviously illegal as axe handles and vicious police dogs. However it is every bit as effective.

Political machines do not depend on votes from working men and women. Rather the opposite, as these people cannot be controlled, are better educated, and tend to reject political strong men and political machines.

Thus, elaborate schemes are concocted to limit their vote. Two favorite methods are the voting machine that breaks down during the rush voting period and placing one voting machine in a precinct that is known to vote heavily in the 6 a.m. to 8 a.m. period before people go on to work. And these should sound familiar to our people as both occurred on election day.

It takes at least three minutes for an average voter to cycle through the voting process, which means that with one voting machine, only 40 voters can vote in the 120 minutes from 6 a.m. to 8 a.m. in a precinct with only one voting machine. And when a man or woman who works on a strip mine or deep mine, or has to clock in at any other type job at 7 or such, gets to the polling place and is number 30 in line to vote, the election is over.

No axe handle, no snarling dogs, but just as effective. They know, and you know, that the Mantrip won't wait at the mines, or the time clock will punch red when you get to work. They know that you will leave without voting.

And they know the safe precincts such as Cliffside, which got two voting machines, while McDowell, with almost 1,200 registered voters, got but one. This was repeated throughout the good and bad precincts, with long voting lines at David, Porter, Martin, and others.

And I would estimate that putting just one voting machine in our larger precinct prevented perhaps 4,000 of our citizens from voting. And did so without axe handles and police dogs, too.

So I will not drink mare's milk. Rather, I will eat bitter herbs in remembrance of what has been done to us.

schools, instituting meaningful evaluation processes and hiring administrators who have the courage to be better.

Number three, if nobody else will do it, then the schools need to educate parents as well as children. A few years ago I saw a bumper sticker on a car in Johnson County that read: "My kid can beat up your honor student." A society that values education will not tolerate that kind of ignorance.

Parents who cannot read, or who can but don't, generally don't pop out children who read. In this area, it is not uncommon to hear folks brag about being uneducated, about having skipped school regularly, about never having read a book. In fact, they often make fun of children who love to learn and of adults who have sought to better themselves.

How often do we hear people laughing at "smart" people who don't have any common sense? Truth is, an awful lot of ignorant people don't have any common sense either. The family resource centers in Kentucky are a basis for changing parental attitudes, but the reality is that many of them (not all, thankfully) are much less than they were intended to be, poorly supported by school systems and led by what are essentially political appointees to whom the job is simply a job, somewhere to be until it's time to go home.

Here are just a few opportunities we can explore if we truly believe education to be the nation's primary concern. But I am by no means confident that we are willing to put our money where our mouth is.

I suspect that if the pollsters had spent a little more time with the respondents who named education as a priority they would have found them, one, unwilling to pay any more money for educational solutions; two, lacking in the courage it would take to ensure that teaching and staffing in schools improve, and three, loathe to spend their own time in making schools better.

No, I don't really believe that the majority of people in our country, our region or our county truly view education as our greatest concern. If we did, we'd be doing something about it.

As the national networks hyped election results Tuesday evening, many mentioned the results of polls taken as citizens exited voting places — somewhere, New York most likely, perhaps Washington.

These omnipresent pollsters always seem to be seeking the elusive and dynamic public opinion, standing outside this and that event, asking "What do you think?" (I know a lot of people in several states, but no one I know has ever been approached.)

Guess we just have to take the reporters' word for it that real people are being quizzed and that the answers they give are, indeed, what we would have said.

What we were told the other night was that Americans rank education as the number one issue in the country.

Education is #1 concern?
Sure. That's great, isn't it?

Or, it would be if we could just believe it. What makes us skeptical is that we keep talking about education, but we don't do much about it — much like what Mark Twain said about the weather.

I contend that, as a society, if we really cared about education, we would not have the morass that we now have, not just in Floyd County, but all over.

I've been shrugged off and made fun of, have been thought naive and ignorant, but I still believe the answers to many of our educational problems are fairly straightforward and simple.

Number one, reducing class size is one of the most pressing solutions. How can we expect even the most gifted teacher to teach 20, 30, up to 40 students and do it well? A mediocre teacher can probably have a significant impact with a class of 10 students, an average teacher can likely work four to six miracles under those circumstances, and, Wow! imagine what a gifted teacher can do.

What's more, class size should be 15 or under for every grade, kindergarten to college, not just primary grades.

Recent allocations from the feds will help a tiny, tiny bit in the short term. However, there is no assurance that the funding will continue and no assurance that school administrators will buy into the concept of smaller class sizes, not after years of using an unrealistic and ineffective formula.

Number two, colleges of education need to be recruiting top-notch students and preparing them to be effective, innovative, thoughtful and creative teachers. And, part two of number two, school systems need to be attracting and rewarding talented teachers and weeding out the dross. The latter point means stripping politics from the

A distinguished educator and family members of two drowning victims were recognized by Prestonsburg Community College's board of directors at its Oct. 28 meeting.

Freda McNew, a teacher at Salyersville Elementary School, recently received national recognition as an outstanding educator. She was presented with the Milken Foundation Award for being one of the outstanding teachers in the nation.

McNew attended PCC from the fall of 1984, part-time for 11 semesters into 1989.

McNew said she was grateful for PCC for "being a starting point for my career. PCC helped prepare me for the future." She said her stay at the college was very rewarding. She finished her work at Morehead State University.

McNew now teaches second and third grade, having taught 16 years in preschool before she got her degree.

McNew said she was honored and surprised when state Education Commissioner Wilmer Cody came to her classroom in Salyersville to present the award.

The board also recognized the families of Francis Y. Kaikumba and Raymond K. Kuezi-Nke who died tragically from drowning, June 27. Kaikumba, 49, was academic dean at Hazard Community College and husband of Sandra Kaikumba, dean of students affairs at PCC. Kuezi-Nke, 43, was an assistant professor of math at HCC and husband of Marjorie Kuezi-Nke, director of planning and research at PCC.

The board presented a copy of the resolution to Sandra Kaikumba and Marjorie Kuezi-Nke that said the PCC board of directors mourns the deaths of their spouses, extends sympathy to their families and honors their memories.

The board further resolved to support and endorse gifts in memory of Kuezi-Nke and Kaikumba to the Kaikumba/Kuezi-Nke Trust Fund established at the First Commonwealth Bank in Prestonsburg and to the Dr. Francis Y. Kaikumba Diversity Series Endowment, established at PCC by Sandra Kaikumba.

Paul Gearheart and President Deborah Floyd give copies of resolution to Sandra Kaikumba and Marjorie Kuezi-Nke.

The Gospel According To Me

These bloopers will do you good

"A merry heart doeth good like a medicine: but a broken spirit drieth the bones." - Proverbs 17:22.

My brother-in-law, Dave Eldridge, in addition to publishing The Jessamine Journal in Nicholasville, also happens to have a very warped sense of humor. You've got to admire that in a brother-in-law.

He sent me the following items via e-mail. He'd run into them on the Internet.

Purportedly, these are real errors collected by teachers from the papers of students from eighth grade to college. As with many items floating around cyberspace, there's no citation attached telling who originally compiled the bloopers into one list.

Wherever they're from, I've been grinning over them for days, and decided that they're too much fun to keep to myself. If they're not genuine, they ought to be.

In case you're wondering, I suppose they do have a religious function. As the writer of Proverbs seemed to know (see the quote at the start of this column), a belly laugh often benefits the soul more than does a pious sermon.

So here are a few excerpts:

* Ancient Egypt was inhabited by mummies and they all wrote in hydraulics. They lived in the Sarah Dessert and traveled by Camelot.

The climate of the Sarah is such that the inhabitants have to live elsewhere.

* The Bible is full of interesting caricatures. In the first book of the Bible, Guinness, Adam and Eve were created from an apple tree. One of their children, Cain, asked, "Am I my brother's son?"

* Moses led the Hebrew slaves to the Red Sea, where they made unleavened bread which is bread made without any ingredients. Moses went up on Mount Cyanide to get the Ten Commandments. He died before he ever reached Canada.

* Solomon had three hundred wives and seven hundred porcupines.

* The Greeks were a highly sculptured people, and without them we wouldn't have history. The Greeks also had myths. A myth is a female moth.

* Socrates was a famous Greek teacher who went around giving people advice.

They killed him. Socrates died from an overdose of wedlock. After his death, his career suffered a dramatic decline.

* In the Olympic games, Greeks ran races, jumped, hurled the biscuits, and threw the java.

* Julius Caesar extinguished himself on the battlefields of Gaul. The Ides of March murdered him because they thought he was going to be made king. Dying, he gasped out: "Tee hee, Brutus."

* Nero was a cruel tyranny who would torture his subjects by playing the fiddle to them.

* Another story was William Tell, who shot an arrow through an apple while standing on his son's head.

* Queen Elizabeth was the "Virgin Queen." As a queen she was a success. When she exposed herself before her troops they all shouted "hurrah."

* Sir Walter Raleigh is a historical figure because he invented cigarettes and started smoking. And Sir Francis Drake circumcised the world with a 100 foot clipper.

* The greatest writer of the Renaissance was William Shakespeare. He was born in the year 1564, supposedly on his birthday. He never made much money and is famous only because of his plays. He wrote tragedies, comedies, and hysterectomies, all in Islamic pentameter.

* Christopher Columbus was a great navigator who discovered America while cursing about the Atlantic. His ships were called the Nina, the Pinta, and the Santa Fe.

* (Benjamin) Franklin discovered electricity by rubbing two cats backwards and declared, "A horse divided against itself cannot stand." Franklin died in 1790 and is still dead.

* Gravity was invented by Issac Walton. It is chiefly noticeable in the autumn when the apples are falling off the trees.

* The French Revolution was accomplished before it happened and catapulted into Napoleon. Napoleon wanted an heir to inherit his power, but since Josephine was a baroness, she couldn't have any children.

* The sun never set on the British Empire because the British Empire is in the East and the sun sets in the West.

* Queen Victoria was the longest queen. She sat on a thorn for 63 years.

MSU professor gets grant to study cocaine addiction

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received a $91,990 grant from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

Dr. Mattingly, who is serving as interim chair of the Department of Psychology, has studied psychostimulant drugs for the past 12 years.

His current research involves behavioral sensitization to cocaine which "is thought to be responsible for the intense craving that develops with repeated cocaine abuse," he said. Drug craving is considered to be one of the leading causes of relapse in drug treatment programs.

The primary objective of the research is "to determine the involvement of the brain dopamine receptors and various environmental factors in the development and persistence of cocaine-induced behavioral sensitization," he states.

The long-term goal of this research, Dr. Mattingly notes, is to develop effective drug treatments for cocaine and other stimulant abuse by reversing the craving for the abused drug.

A number of MSU students are directly involved in the research and have been asked to share the results of their efforts.

"As a result of this research, we had 37 presentations at state, regional and national meetings by 26 students," Dr. Mattingly reported. Many of his former students have gone to pursue graduate and post-graduate work in psychology and medicine.

This is the second grant the professor has received from the National Institute of Health. The first grant assisted with research conducted from 1995 through 1998.

Columbia Gas urges customers to prepare for winter chill

Columbia Gas of Kentucky is getting ready for winter and company officials urge you to do the same.

As winter approaches each year, Columbia secures the natural gas supplies to make sure it is ready to meet the increased energy demands of winter. "And this is the time of year when it is important for our customers to be getting their homes ready for winter too," said Lisa Smith, communications representative for Columbia Gas of Kentucky.

According to Smith, it's not unusual for gas consumption to double in some months during the winter. Customers can help manage their energy usage by taking some simple steps this winter.

- Have your furnace inspected and serviced each year by a qualified heating contractor.
- Change your furnace filter every month.
- Install a high-efficiency furnace.
- Install a programmable thermostat, which can automatically reduce the temperature setting at night and when you are away from home.
- Set the thermostat as low as is comfortable for your family, and dress appropriate for the temperature.
- Open blinds and drapes to admit sunshine, and be sure to close them at night.
- Turn down the temperature of your water heater to the "warm" setting (120 degrees F).
- Insulate your water heater tank, as well as the first six feet of the hot water supply line (closest to the tank) using an insulation blanket and pipe wrap.
- Insulate any hot water pipes or heating ducts which run through unheated areas such as crawlspaces and attics.

• Seal up the largest air leaks in your house — the ones that whistle on windy days and feel drafty. The worst culprits may not be windows and doors, but holes that have been cut for pipes, chimneys and wires, plus unfinished spaces behind cupboards and closets. Be sure to seal drafty windows and doors in the rooms where you spend the most time.

• Insulate attics, outside walls and floors over crawlspaces.

"There's nothing Columbia or its customers can do to control winter weather," Smith said. "But by working together, with Columbia providing reliable natural gas service at the lowest cost possible, and customers making wise conservation choices during the winter months, we can help reduce winter's impact on customer gas bills."

Information about Columbia Gas of Kentucky and Columbia Energy Group is available on the World Wide Web at www.columbienergygroup.com. Columbia stock trades on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol CG.

Local teachers tell what they did on fall break

by Willie Elliott
Staff Writer

During the recent fall break, or intercession, for Floyd County Schools, State Manager Arnold Carter offered a challenge to school personnel.

Carter wrote: "You should already have plans on what you will do in the two-week break...remember why we adopted this schedule: to avoid burnout, reduce fatigue, allow more educational trips without missing class periods...allow year-round professional development opportunities.

"Don't let this sneak up on you...have a plan and execute it...do an 'Adopt-a-Mile' program...go to Natural Bridge...do a fall clean-up on your yard. Do something other than collapse on the couch and wait for the next start up."

Some teachers took Carter at his word and did some rather interesting activities. Some were school-related and some were just for fun. Here are four accounts of intercession adventures.

Rhoda Paige

"During our fall break, my family and I went to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. We went to the Alabama Theater and Alligator Adventure, did lots of shopping, and enjoyed the beach.

"With previous school calendars, we had never gone on a vacation during this time of the year. The trees were breathtaking and the weather was perfect.

"I am very grateful for the time I got to spend with my family. I hope for years to come the school calendar includes a fall break."

Rhoda Paige, son Cory

Glessie Stumbo

Glessie Stumbo went with her

Glessie Stumbo, daughter Iris

husband Johnny Stumbo, a retired Floyd County teacher, and daughter Iris, a student at Prestonsburg High School, to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park during the break. While there, they saw snow on the mountain tops.

They shopped the eight-mile loop between Pigeon Forge and Gatlinburg, and Iris said she appreciated the sleep-in time. She also enjoyed a 1950s restaurant where she bought an old-time root beer float.

Glessie said she enjoyed the time with the family, away from the daily stresses of school, and of course, she enjoyed the shopping.

Johnny, who is well-known for his painting, spent some time in the art galleries.

Kitty Frazier

When Kitty H. Frazier read Carter's challenge to make fall break count for something, she thought, "Gee, he doesn't know me."

Frazier, a self-described "hyper-person" did several things on her break. She said she did a lot of yard work, planting 250 bulbs, building two flower gardens, and getting a load of rocks. She said she also polished her golf game and spent time with family and friends. Frazier also began teaching an aerobics class at her church recently.

In addition to all these activities, Frazier found time to attend a professional development workshop on ecology and the environment at Prestonsburg Community College. Her goal is to use this information in implementing themes about physical science in her classroom. She said the CATS test for fourth graders requires in-depth knowledge and application of physical science and integration of everyday life.

State Fire Marshal warns of vent pipe recall

State Fire Marshal Dave Manley is asking consumers to check their vent pipes to determine if they are included in a massive vent pipe recall ordered by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Consumers should check the vent pipes attached to their natural gas or propane furnaces or boilers for these product names: "Plexvent," "Plexvent II," or "Ultravent."

The vent pipes are colored gray or black. The product name will be stamped on the vent pipe or printed on stickers placed on pieces used to connect the vent pipes together. Consumers should also check the location of these vent pipes.

For furnaces, only high temperature plastic vent (HTPV) systems that have vent pipes going through the sidewalls of structures (horizontal systems) are subject to this program. For boilers, all HTPV systems are subject to this program. Other plastic vent pipes, such as white PVC or CPVC, are not involved in the program.

If the vent pipes are those that have been recalled, consumers should contact the Corrective Action Program at 1-800-3688 between 7 a.m. and 11 p.m. seven days a week. Consumers with eligible systems will receive new, professionally installed venting systems, free of charge.

In addition, consumers who have previously replaced their HTPV pipe systems may be eligible for reimbursement for some or all of the replacement costs through the pipe corrective action program.

Earlier this year, the furnace and boiler industry and the HTPV manufacturers partnered with the Consumer Product Safety Commission to establish the program. The program replaces—at no cost to the consumer—pipe systems attached to gas or propane furnaces or boilers in consumers' homes, which can crack or separate at the joints and leak CO2.

Our patriotic duty...

Meka Hall and Courtney Spears are raising the flag on this day.

By: Carla Caudill and Adam Taylor
We showed our respect for the United States and Kentucky flags everyday because we are proud to be Americans and Kentuckians. Each morning, two students are selected to unfold and raise both flags. Every afternoon, two more students are selected to lower the flags, fold and put them neatly away until the next day. The United States flag stands for our patriotic view of our country, government, and ideals. Our state flag represents being proud of our state in addition to being a proud part of the United States. We fly both flags proudly with the American Flag above the Kentucky flag. Each student at Osborne Elementary is proud to participate in this patriotic duty.

The story that really rocks

Mrs. Colleen Johnson's fourth grade class studied rocks and followed it with a project called, "Our Special Rocks." Then each student wrote a transitive writing. The following is one of those pieces of writings. By: Christina Berger

About my rocks...

By: Kayla Davis
What's in a rock? I think that soil is in a rock. I brought in a rock to school yesterday to paint it but before I did I studied it. After I studied it I knew that it made a streak. It wasn't shiny. It was hard and wasn't attracted to a magnet and that means I knew the properties of my rock. My rock was 3 to 4 inches. Before I painted my rock, it was red and sort of brownish. We need rocks because they have soil in them and soil provides food and flowers and pretty plants. I'm glad I have my rock because of its good uses.

A little girl named Mary
Spent the night on a cemetery.
Suddenly, she saw something scary!
Could it be Terry or maybe Carry?
She started to run,
Until she realized it was only her mom!

But gives everyone a great deal of fear.
White witches and goblins give me a fright
I can't wait to get through with his Halloween night.

O.E.S. reward good behavior

By: Brittany Smallwood
Four lucky students received bicycles to reward them for good behavior and attendance. Those students were Kortney Hall, Jason Johnson, Brandon Meade and Cory Tackett. The next drawing will be held before Christmas break. It pays to be at school and be well behaved at Osborne Elementary!

Halloween Night

By: Tiffany Tackett
Spiders, spooks, goblins and witches
Come out at night and hide in ditches.
They creep around on Halloween night
Scaring kids with a screaming fright.

There's nowhere to run on Halloween night
There's nowhere to hide from all of the fright.
The monsters of darkness are out to play
They're sneaking in houses, taking candy away.

So don't be surprised this Halloween night
If a vampire flies by to give you a bite.
Don't scream too loud, don't run too fast
Remember the night will never last.

Two Became One

By: Kayla Curtis and Candice Hall

Floyd County experienced many changes this year. One such change was the consolidation of Osborne Elementary and Melvin Elementary. This change has been successful for the two schools. It wasn't hard for these two schools to come together because most students from both of them already knew one another. The faculty, staff, students and parents get along very well. Now that the two schools have become one, all of us look forward to a great year and many more to come.

Conference Champs

The South Floyd Jr. Raiders was a victorious football team this year walking away with the conference championship and a 7-0 record. We swept the conference by defeating six teams within our own conference and one outside our conference. This year was a great one as Coach Robbie Harris guided us through all of our victories. He instilled a great deal of pride in all of us. We swept the conference being undefeated and we give the success to Coach Harris for his great coaching. Way to go Jr. Raiders!!!

What is expected next? When Jesse "The Body" Ventura is elected governor of Minnesota, anything is possible in this world and not for the good!

But closer to home, it is a shame that the board of education has closed the doors to the Martin Junior Pro basketball league and will say no more about it.

According to Johnny Mayo, the league director, the board canceled the use of the Martin gym after an altercation during one of the Saturday afternoon sessions. The altercation took place between two adults.

"Everything was under control in less than two minutes," said Mayo. "We have been in the Junior Pro business for the past 23 years and have run our program to the letter. Our program is run a lot better than some school programs and now they say we can't use the gym anymore."

Patsy Gearheart, the league's secretary, was told by Woodrow Carter, state manager, that the league could no longer use the gym, Mayo said.

Mayo was told the same thing Wednesday afternoon.

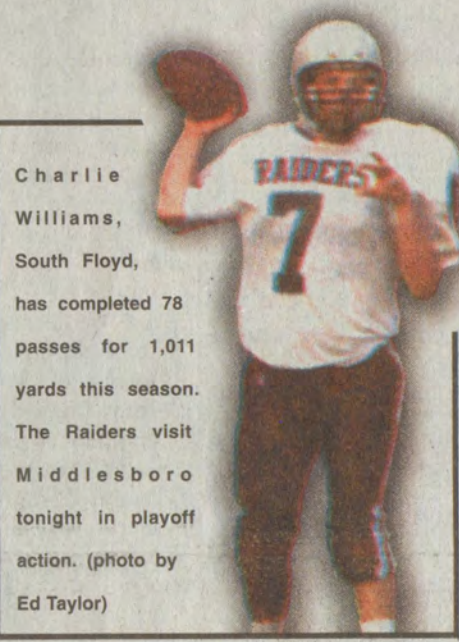

I have been associated with the Martin Junior Pro program for many, many years. I have coached in it and worked with young kids. I can say there is not a better program around than the Martin program. I have seen kids come through the ranks, star in grade school, play in high school and get a scholarship at the college level.

The best thing to ever happen to athletes at the grade school and high levels has been the Junior Pro basketball leagues. We will let other organizations use the facilities, but we deny kids the right to enter them and play basketball.

This is getting ridiculous. When we open our gyms and allow the kids to play basketball, we are keeping them from doing other things that could be

High school football fans look at Middlesboro as the state's two or three ranked team and a solid choice for a Class "A" state title. But, for Coach Donnie Daniels and the South Floyd Raiders, Middlesboro is just another game along the playoff trail that has to be hurdled if the Raiders advance.

Coach Daniels will take his team to Middlesboro tonight for the matchup with the Indians, who will bring a sparkling 9-1 record to the playoff game. The only loss for the Yellowjackets was to Bell County, a 21-18 setback. Coach Daniels said it will be a different test for his inexperienced ballclub.

"It is going to be a big challenge for the kids," said Daniels. "A big test to go in and play the number two team in the state. It is going to be a challenge at a different level."

The Raiders are coming off perhaps their best game of the season with a 46-18 win over Elkhorn City last week. The Raiders were focused then, and they will be tonight when they meet Middlesboro.

"We executed very well on offense against Elkhorn City," said Coach Daniels. "It was a good game for us to win because we go into Friday night's game on an upbeat."

The Raiders won their final three games of the regular season and Daniels says his team's confidence level is high.

"They are confident and they are not scared of playing Middlesboro," said the South Floyd mentor. "It is a real test for our program here at South Floyd. This team has improved a lot over the season they have been in

Prestonsburg to host Russell in playoffs

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It has been 1994 since the Russell Red Devils and Prestonsburg Blackcats met on the gridiron — and that came in a playoff game at Russell. That was the season Prestonsburg was coming off a state championship appearance in Louisville. But the Cats faltered at Russell in a first-round game.

Four years later, the two teams meet again and, again, in a playoff game. This time around it will be Prestonsburg hosting the Red Devils and veteran coach Ivan McGlone. McGlone has been at the helm of the Red Devils for the past 23 seasons.

"It will be a typical Russell team," said Prestonsburg coach John Derossett. "They will come after you and they are a good football team."

Russell has the state's leading receiver in Eric Day, who has scored 17 touchdowns this season. He has averaged over 122 yards per game in receptions.

"Day is an excellent football player," Derossett said. "He is their leading scorer in Russell football his-harmful. The Junior Pro leagues are not a money-making venture. In fact, sometimes parents or coaches have to dig deep to help financially with the league. Paying the insurance for each player, the officials and other expenses takes money. I know, I have been there.

There are not too many things that get me upset, but when our school board refuses to let our kids use the facilities they were built for, then I just can't understand their thinking.

I know the system has had problems, has problems now, and will continue to have problems. But don't try to solve them by denying the kids the opportunity to learn basketball in our gyms.

I think Mr. Carter and others mean well, but they just don't understand how much it means to over 150 kids to get up and go play competitive basketball on Saturday afternoons. They should have seen the excitement these kids had when they warmed up and the great expectation they had of making the winning basket for their teams. Now that may not happen, but they can dream of it. But if we take the gym away, then it will never happen.

Push them out of the gyms and onto the streets! That has been the problem with society, the lack of concern for our youth. No wonder some are wondering if anyone really cares for them.

Come on, open the doors again for the Martin Junior Pro and let the kids have their moment to shine. Don't deny them something that will help build their character. "Those are the things we are trying to teach kids in this league, character and behavior," Mayo said. "We run a clean program here and we stress keeping their grades up in school if they want to play in the league."

Johnny Mayo, Patsy Gearheart and others have worked hard over the years to assure kids a fair chance to play basketball. Let's not deny them that opportunity.

PLAYOFFS

I want to take some of this space to wish our three county schools the best in the upcoming playoffs. Allen Central will be in the eight-man tournament, South Floyd visits Middlesboro and Prestonsburg will host Russell.

I appreciate each of these young men and the entertainment they presented to us this fall in the game of football. Win or lose they are all winners in our sight and hope they bring home a victory and advance.

We have some great kids in Floyd County, regardless what others say. These kids go out there and practice every day and work hard in order to bring some pride to their respective schools. I appreciate that from them. I think they are great individuals and I stand behind you all the way.

One thing to remember, there is a way to lose and a way to win. Above everything else, good sportsmanship is a must.

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

Orange Crush wins two in final weekend

Casey Duncan and Chase Brown teamed together to lead the Orange Crush soccer team to a doubleheader win over two Pikeville teams this past weekend at the Bob Amos Park in Pikeville.

The Crushes crushed the Pikeville YMCA entry 7-0 behind Duncan, who scored six of the seven goals. Brown had the other goal for the victors.

Coach Wayne Taylor's team came back in a nightcap game and posted a 4-1 win over the Pikeville Heat with Duncan and Brown scoring two goals apiece.

Coach Taylor said several players impressed him.

"I was very impressed by the play of Josh Holbrook and Mallory Ward at halfstick," said Taylor. "Both Josh and Mallory won possession of the ball virtually every time the ball came near them and made nice passes to either Casey or Chase at forward.

"Austin May also played a solid defensive game at fullback and Nick McGuire was great as a goalie. We have a young team that, for the most part, is playing together for the first time. I am proud of how well they finished the season and how they developed as a team."

every game. Every game we have had a chance to win."

The South Floyd defense will have its work cut out in trying to contain the running game of Middlesboro. David Kelly leads the Yellowjacket rushers.

"He is tough. He is a heck of a football player," Daniels said. "Middlesboro has some quality players on both the line and in the backfield."

Coach Daniels likes the defensive play of Floyd Branham, a guard, and says he is a Division I prospect.

"He can play. He has good lateral movement and runs the motion," he said.

We have a good idea who they are going to be looking at, and we hope to have a game plan that will take him out of the game."

Coach Daniels feels his line is stronger but the inexperience of his team and the lack of fourth quarter breakdowns could be a problem.

"We have to concentrate in the fourth quarter," he said. "We have done things the last three games that have helped in that area. We have gone with 18 players and only three have had to play both ways. When you get tired, you have a tendency to lose concentration."

Daniels said he is hopeful he can do the same against Middlesboro.

Jeremy Skidmore (6'4", 192) is a solid quarterback and likes to throw the ball.

"And he throws the ball well," said Coach Daniels. "He makes good decisions out there."

Skidmore's favorite target is Adam Bowling (6'0", 153). "He does not get the credit he deserves," said Daniels. "He made some heck of catches this year."

The Raiders will have to play without fullback Darren Newsome and defensive guard Jarrod Johnson.

"We have some players with some nagging injuries, nothing serious," said Daniels. "Tuttle and Kyle Tackett are hurting some but they will play."

Coach Daniels said he would like to play control football against the Yellowjackets.

"We need to control the football against Middlesboro," he said. "That will be a key in this game. We need to keep the football and keep their offense off the field."

Daniels said he wants to have five eight-minute drives to milk the clock, taking the ball out of the hands of Middlesboro.

"That's 40 minutes with the football in your hands," he said. "But to keep the ball that long, you can't have any turnovers. We can't give any big plays and we have to win the turnover margin."

tory. They like to do with him what we do with John (Ortega) and that is put him out there and get the ball to him."

Coach Derossett said his team will have to come in focused and taking care of the football.

"We have to hold on to the football," he said. "We can't afford to fumble the ball a w a y ."

The Prestonsburg coach would like to see his team control the football much like they did the second half of the Pikeville game when they held the ball for over seven minutes.

"We need to drive the ball down the field and use the clock," said Derossett. "We took the ball away from Pikeville in the second half and they couldn't score."

Prestonsburg didn't look to pass against Pikeville. Adam Hall is the county's leading passer with over 1,000 yards this year. He has a dandy duo in Ortega and Seth Crisp as receivers.

The Red Devils missed the playoffs last season, the first time since 1990. Day was injured much of his junior season but is in top form this year after the Red Devils finished a disappointing 3-7 last year.

Tyler Wyant returns at the quarterback slot for Russell. While Eric Day is the target for Wyant, the Red Devils will run the football as well. Jason Addis will be at a halfback position with Day running at fullback and Jonathan Mynheir at the third back slot.

"We are free of injuries," said Coach Derossett, "and everyone is ready to play. We will even have Ryan Fitzpatrick back with us."

HOOP SCOOP

By Clark Francis

DePaul finished a very close second behind UCLA with the #2 ranked recruiting class a year ago, but the Blue Demons still need several more pieces to the puzzle before they could legitimately start talking about becoming one of the premier teams in college basketball. Earlier this fall they moved a step closer when they added depth in the back-court with commitments from 6'2 George Baker from Lexington (Dunbar) KY and 6'2 Joe Tulley from Rockford (Boylan) IL. Then, last week they got 6'10 Steve Hunter from Maywood (Proviso East) IL, who ranks #60 nationally by the HOOP SCOOP.

DePaul's rebuilding process would be complete if they get also get 6'11 Leon Smith from Chicago (Martin Luther King) IL, who ranks #4 nationally by the HOOP SCOOP. We think this will eventually happen, but Fresno State, Syracuse, Louisville, and Rhode Island are also still in the hunt and there is also the possibility that he won't make it academically and/or opt to declare hardship for the NBA draft next spring.

Getting back to Hunter, who recently transferred back home from Durham (Mt. Zion Christian) NC to Maywood (Proviso East) IL a month ago, we think he might have ended up at Nebraska instead of DePaul, if he hadn't returned home. Not only had Nebraska done a great job recruiting Hunter, but they had a definite connection, because Nebraska assistant coach Cleo Hill was formerly an assistant coach at Mt. Zion Christian.

However, we still think this connection will pay off, because the Cornhuskers are the leader over Memphis and Southern Mississippi for 6'7 Kenny Booker from Durham (Mt. Zion Christian) NC. Our Ohio Editor Chris Johnson tells us that Booker and 6'6 Steffon Bradford from Compton (JC) CA, who is a first team All-American junior college player, both had great visits to Nebraska last weekend. Johnson also thinks Nebraska is among the final three for Bradford, along with UNLV and Missouri.

Another interesting story involves trying to get a read on where 6'6 Matt Carroll from Horsham (Hatboro-Horsham) PA and 6'1 Todd Billet from Lincroft (Christian Brothers) NJ might be leaning. Lately, that's been next to impossible, but now we think we may know something that could indicate that Villanova is in a better position than most people realize.

Several days ago the Wildcats, which were #2 behind Rhode Island on the list of 6'3 Brian Woodward from Bayside (Cardozo) NY, called Woodward to tell him they were no longer recruiting him. This would make perfect sense if Villanova thought they were getting Carroll and/or Billet. But it would make no sense if they weren't getting either player.

UNC-Charlotte got a major commitment several weeks ago from 6'9 Rodney White from Kensington (Newport) MD, who will rank among the top 70 seniors nationally when we come out with our new rankings in November. Now they have an even bigger commitment, because 6'5 James Zimmerman from Indian Hills (JC) IA, who ranks as the #4 junior college player in America by Rick Ball, has announced for the 49'ers.

It is now confirmed that 6'5 Jamaal Crawford from Seattle (Rainier Beach) WA has announced for the University of Michigan. Crawford is one of the best athletes in the nation and, although he is not a great outside shooter, it doesn't matter. Nobody stops this guy going to the hole and he has the ball handling and passing skills to help out at the point guard spot when needed. Currently Crawford ranks as one of the best 5th year players in the nation by the HOOP SCOOP and we think he will be a great complement to 6'4 Kevin Gaines from Las Vegas (Clark) NV, who is capable of putting up big numbers from the point guard spot.

With this commitment, Michigan, which also already has commitments from 6'5 Gavin Groninger from Plainfield (H.S.) MI and 6'8 Leland Anderson from North Attleboro (H.S.) MA, moves into a tie with Virginia for the #2 recruiting class with 25 points and four players each. And that's only one point behind Kentucky's #1 ranked class, which also has four recruits and 26 points.

We are now getting reports that 6'4 Joe Forte from Hyattsville (DeMatha) MD, who ranks #21 nationally by the HOOP SCOOP and is one of the best outside shooters in the nation, has told the North Carolina coaching staff that he will sign with the Tar Heels in November.

No surprise, but we think this also will solidify 6'7 Michael Dunleavy from Portland (Jesuit) OR for Duke, which currently is the leader over North Carolina and Stanford. Forte's list includes North Carolina, N.C. State, and Georgia Tech.

Speaking of Georgia Tech, we are also still predicting that head coach Bobby Cremins will get 6'7 Damien Wilkins from Orlando (Dr. Phillips) FL, who also still has N.C. State and Kentucky on his list.

Hulan Pickett, the editor & publisher U.S. High School Hoops, which is based in North Carolina, tells us that he doesn't think N.C. State is as strong as they were for 6'7 George Williams from Sugar Land (Elkins) TX. As a result, it looks more and more like Williams will stay home and wind up at the University of Houston.

Pickett also tells us that 6'4 Joe Forte from Hyattsville (DeMatha) MD had a great visit to N.C. State last weekend. Also making an unofficial visit to N.C. State last weekend was 6'10 Jr Micah Bell from Raleigh (Enloe) NC, who Pickett ranks #5 among juniors in North Carolina. And the week before, the Wolfpack had the top ranked junior from both North Carolina and South Carolina on campus in 6'5 Jr Dwon Clifton from Westchester (H.S.) NC and 6'5 Jr Jerome Harper from Columbia (Keenan) SC.

Our Philadelphia Editor Allen Rubin tells us that it is finally official for 6'3 Chris Monroe from Wheaton (Good Counsel) MD, who was the MVP at the Charlie Webber Tournament in College Park, MD last month. Monroe joins 6'0 Val Brown from Springfield (Robert E. Lee) VA, who picked George Washington several weeks ago.

The only surprise is what took 6'5 Kareem Rush from Kansas City (Pembroke Hill) MO so long to commit to UCLA. However, it finally happened earlier this week when Rush, who is exactly what the Bruins need, because he is a lights out 3-point shooter, picked UCLA over Missouri and Oklahoma.

Rush had a bad summer and this is extremely interesting, because he was one of the only players who looked good the year before while playing on the loaded CMH 76'ers team that featured Jaron Rush, Korleone Young, and Corey Maggette. Perhaps Kareem is better when he has good players around him, which will be the case at UCLA, instead of when he has to carry the load, which was the case this summer.

The Bruins are also still believed to be the leader for 6'9 Carlos Boozer from Juneau (Douglas) AK, although Duke is making it a two horse race. We also have confirmed that UCLA will get a visit from 6'8 Justin Davis from Alameda (St. Joseph) CA. Originally Davis had committed to the University of California, but recently opened his recruitment back up. When that happened, University of California head coach Ben Braun withdrew the scholarship offer. Davis has also recently found out that his grades aren't good enough to get admitted into Stanford, which means his second choice has also been eliminated.

Despite the fact the University of Alabama didn't get 6'10 Marvin Stone from Huntsville (Grissom) AL, it looks like the new regime is well on its way towards landing a top 10 recruiting class. Earlier the Crimson Tide had signed 6'7 Rod Grizzard from Birmingham (Central Park Christian) AL and 6'8 Erwin Dudley from Uniontown (R.C. Hatch) AL, who rank #2 and #3 in the senior class in Alabama, respectively.

This week they added 6'2 Terrance Meade from Scottsboro (H.S.) AL, who currently ranks #139 nationally by the HOOP SCOOP. Other possibilities include 6'9 Kenny Walker from Jacksonville (Ribault) FL and 6'2 Derrick Zimmerman from Gossman (H.S.) LA, both of whom are expected to make official visits to Tuscaloosa, AL this weekend.

Walker's top three schools are Alabama, Florida State, and South Florida. Zimmerman also likes Tulane, Clemson, and Texas. We also think Alabama will be tough to beat for 6'5 Antonio Jackson from Butler County (JC) KS, who is the #1 ranked junior college combo guard in the nation. But we don't think he's going to do anything until spring.

Mississippi State finally has gotten 6'7 Alonzo Lane from Canton (H.S.) MS, who ranks #90, to recommit. If you will recall, he committed to the Bulldogs last spring, but then changed his mind, because he wanted to go through the recruiting process. With Lane in the fold, Mississippi State now has the two best players in the state. Last week they also got 6'11

Jonathan Bender from Picayune (H.S.) MS, who ranks #12 nationally, but has as much potential and talent as anybody in the senior class.

The Bulldogs are basically done recruiting this year, unless they can land another quality big guy. However, they already are the heavy favorite for 6'9 Jr Darius Rice from Jackson (Lanier) MS, who promises to be the one of the two best players in the state next year, as well as a top 40 player nationally. The other top junior in the state - 6'7 Jr Justin Reed from Jackson (Provine) MS - appears to be a lock for Ole Miss, but our sources tell us that Mississippi State plans on at least making it interesting.

Courtside

they will play Casey County in a 6:30 p.m. tip-off time.

Crisp will enter his second season at the helm of the Lady Blackcats and will be assisted by Bobby Hamilton.

Prestonsburg will be a veteran team this season that will include three seniors, Shelly Greathouse, Kimi Nunnery and Crystal Slone. Brandy Slone will be the lone returning junior.

The future looks good for the Prestonsburg program as they will return seven sophomores and two of those have started and logged a lot of playing time. Brooke Coleman and Amelia Conley are tabbed as two very promising players, not only in the 58th District, but the 15th Region as well.

Others players who bear watching are Stephanie Adams, Angela Howell, Brittany Hites, Chrissy Nelson, Lauren Majakey and Judy Bailey.

Coach Crisp will welcome six freshmen to the squad this season. Ashleigh Ousley, Rachel Mitchell, Rachell Hall, Vicki Bowling and Chereshe Shepherd join the Lady Blackcats this season.

"We're going to be a young team with a lot of fine talent," said Coach Crisp. "I know we have the ability to be a strong contender in the district and region this year."

"We've played a lot of ball this summer and we've already improved on our summer play during practice so far. The girls are working hard both offensively and defensively. I think we're going to surprise a lot of people."

That's the feeling from this courtside, also. Prestonsburg will definitely be in the hunt for a regional championship.

RICE IMPRESSED WITH EARLY SIGNS

The Betsy Layne Bobcats are working hard as they prepare for the upcoming season. Coach Tim Rice welcomed a good group of returning players as well as one of the better freshmen classes in a long time.

"We have been working hard in practice," said the Betsy Layne coach, who will enter his second year in control of the program. "I think we are going to be a pretty good team."

Scott Collins, Justin Bartley, Adam Tackett, Michael Gross are returning players from last year's squad, but the bench will be longer this season for the Bobcats.

A NAME TO REMEMBER

Don't forget this name: Keshia Newman, Stumbo Lady Mustangs. She is going to be a good one.

MARTIN AWAITING STARTERS

Coach Johnny Martin, Allen Central, is still awaiting three starters on his basketball team. Gary Hunter, Jesse Hall and Brian Jones are still playing football as the Rebel football team got an extended week, playing in the eight-man tournament this Friday night. A win for the Rebs will delay the trio's return yet another week.

From Courtside, I'll see you around the hardwood and let's talk when we meet.

Eight-Man Tournament...

Allen Central Rebels face Kentucky Country Day tonight

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Allen Central Rebels are coming off their biggest margin of victory in school football history and hope they can sustain the determination that got their fourth win of the year after a 52-0 shellacking of Casey County last Friday night.

Coach Kevin Spurlock and the Rebels will head up the Mountain Parkway, exit onto I-64, where they'll find themselves past Lexington and heading toward Louisville as they meet Kentucky Country Day in the opening round of the eight-man tournament. It marks the first time the Rebels have competed in a post season tournament.

Allen Central finished the season with an acceptable 4-5 mark after dropping out of district competition at the start of this season. Coach Spurlock said before the season started he would be elated with four or five wins. He has the four and stands a good chance of picking win number five tonight.

Kentucky Country Day finished with a 2-7 record and lost its last four games of the regular season. Country Day owned wins over Berea and Caverna. The team closed its regular season, dropping a 24-13 decision to Trimble County last Friday night.

The only common opponent both teams played against was Louisville Bethlehem. Allen Central dropped a thrilling 49-42 decision to Bethlehem while Country Day fell 35-14.

Mark Dunfee, a junior, leads the Rebels' backfield. He rushed for over 200 yards last week.

Dunfee will be joined by Brandon Sizemore, freshman Shawn Newsome, Mark Howard, D.J. Hoover and others because Coach Spurlock rotates a lot in the backfield.

Dunfee has rushed for over 1,000 yards this season (1,020) and

EIGHT-MAN TOURNAMENT
ALLEN CENTRAL VS
KENTUCKY COUNTRY DAY
WHERE: KENTUCKY
COUNTRY DAY

that has been the bulk of the total 1,648 yards the Rebels gained on the ground this season. Dunfee has found his way into the end zone for nine touchdowns this year.

But in the eight-man format, there isn't, seemingly, any defense, it is all offense. Allen Central will air it out against the Bearcats and the Rebels have the trio to do so. Senior Jesse Hall has completed 54 percent of his passes in the first nine games for a total of 1,068 yards on 67 of 124 passing.

The two big receivers for the Rebels are Brian Jones and Gary Hunter. Hunter has caught 28 passes for 832 yards, tops in Floyd County. Jones has hauled in 31 catches for 446 yards. Hunter has scored 12 touchdowns this season.

It is easy to see that Allen Central is not that versatile on offense and will go mostly to the air. The Rebels, though, will have some balance with the running of Dunfee.

Defensively, the Rebels have improved over their last two games and defense figures to be the key here. Ryan Owens, Eric Combs, Hoover, Chris Damron, Jones and Dunfee will head up the Rebel defensive scheme. However, against Casey County, Coach Spurlock allowed his players to go only one way.

The Rebels are averaging 30 points per game this season, a school record.

Basketball time

Elementary basketball got underway this past Tuesday night as the Stumbo Lady Mustangs faced Betsy Layne. The Lady Bobcats posted a 48-17 win over Stumbo to improve to 11-0 on the season. (photo by Ed Taylor)

History of University of Kentucky Football THE EARLY YEARS PART THREE

More than a decade after Gamage had left UK, a young man by the name of Paul "Bear" Bryant arrived on the scene at Lexington in 1946. Bryant quickly grabbed the UK program by the collar and turned the Cats into a national power.

Oklahoma in the 1951 Sugar Bowl. The Wildcats scored early and held off the Sooners, 13-7, breaking Oklahoma's 31-game winning streak which is currently the seventh-longest in NCAA history.

Also under Bryant, tackle Bob Gain became the first UK and SEC player to win the Outland Trophy in 1950. Other standouts in the Bryant era included George Blanda, All-American Babe Parilli, and eventual UK coach Jerry Claiborne.

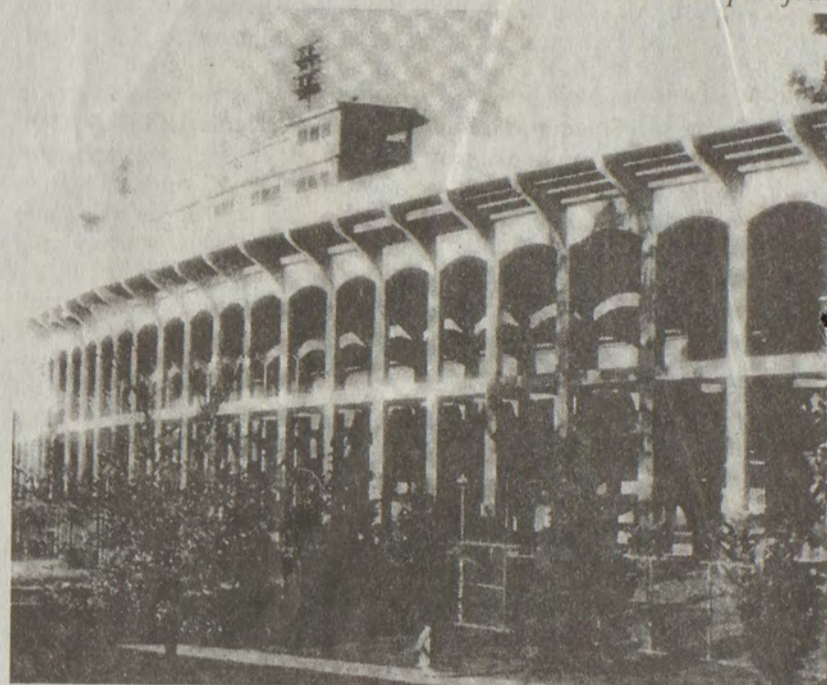

Bryant left Kentucky following the 1953 season. He compiled an impressive 60-23-5 record in eight years. Bryant's 60 victories are still a UK football record for head coaches.

Blanton Collier had the uneasy task of following in Bryant's footsteps. Collier took over the Kentucky football program in 1954 and promptly led the Wildcats to a 7-3 record during his initial campaign.

Collier stayed eight years at UK as well, etching a 41-36-3 record from 1954-1961. Kentuckians best remember Collier for his 5-2-1 record against arch-rival Tennessee. He coached All-Americans Lou Michaels (1957-58) and Howard Schnellenberger (1955) at UK. Charlie Bradshaw became the head mentor at UK in time for the 1962 season. Bradshaw, a UK graduate who lettered four years (1946-49), managed only a 25-41-4 record in seven seasons. One highlight of his coaching career featured an upset of No. 1-ranked Ole Miss early in the 1964 season. Bradshaw's Cats held off the Rebels, 27-21, in Memorial Stadium at Jackson, Miss., and ranks as one of UK's all-time biggest victories.

next week part four

Bryant took UK to eight consecutive winning seasons (1946-1953) and helped the Wildcats claim their first Southeastern Conference championship in 1950. He also sent UK squads to four bowl games which include the 1947 Great Lakes Bowl, 1950 Orange bowl, 1951 Sugar Bowl, and the 1952 Cotton Bowl.

The biggest win in UK football history came under Bryant. After leading Kentucky to its first SEC title and a 10-1 regular-season record, UK found itself matched with national champion

FROM LAST WEEK

WINSTON CUP SERIES

Jeff Gordon wrapped up his third Winston Cup championship in four years, and second in a row, in grand style, winning the AC-Delco 400 over Dale Jarrett and Rusty Wallace.

It was the 41st victory of Gordon's career and 12th of the season. No driver has won 12 races since Darrell Waltrip pulled the feat in both 1981 and '82.

Gordon could equal Richard Petty's modern record of 13 victories (1975) with a win in the final race of the season. Petty also holds the all-time record, having won 27 in 1967.

BUSCH GRAND NATIONAL

Elliott Sadler wanted to leave with one more trip to victory lane with his old Busch Grand National buddies.

"I didn't have the fastest car, but I had the smartest pit crew," said Sadler, 23. "I'd rather be lucky than good any day."

Sadler is moving up to the Winston Cup Series next year to drive the Ford owned by the Wood Brothers. It may be a while before he wins a race again, so Saturday's victory in the AC-Delco 200 was pretty meaningful.

"This was the most emotional victory I've ever had," said the older of racing brothers from Emporia, Va.

"It's the first time I ever cried in a race car."

FEUD OF THE WEEK

Chevrolet vs. Ford

Sure, there's still a point race. Not between drivers, but rather cars. With one race to go, the Chevrolet Monte Carlo and the Ford Taurus have each won 15 races. Chevrolet leads the manufacturer point standings by two, 231-229.

NASCAR This Week writer Monte Dutton gives his opinion: "What if Pontiac driver Bobby Labonte wins next week's race, in Atlanta, for the third week in a row? If a Ford is the second-highest finishing make, then there will be a tie for the title. What's the tie-breaker? Victories. That's tied. Then it's second-place finishes. Guess what? That's tied. This issue might be decided by one of these long, drawn-out NFL-style tie-breaker progressions."

It's a long way from Hampton, Ga., to Atlanta's Buckhead district, but the city's restaurant, shopping and nightclub area is worth the trip. The diversity is astonishing, and Buckhead is, at the very least, the most novel such neighborhood in any city between New Orleans and Philadelphia.

NASCAR This Week
LOCATION: Hampton, Ga.
SIZE & CONFIGURATION: 1.54-mile tri-oval, configured similarly to Charlotte and Texas motor speedways.
OPENED: 1960
ALL-TIME WINSTON CUP RACE WINNERS: Dale Earnhardt is the all-time leader with eight victories, but Bobby Labonte has won three of the last four.
ALL-TIME NAPA 500 WINNERS: Earnhardt and Richard Petty have each won four. Labonte has won the last two.

With apologies to Oldsmobile, this is not your father's Atlanta Motor Speedway.

In fact, your father probably called it Atlanta International Raceway, which it went by for years. The track, originally 1.522 miles and shaped in the form of an oval, opened in July 1960, after a delay of eight months due to weather and construction problems. Fireball

Roberts won the first two, four of the first five and five of the first seven races held there.

The March 1980 race was also notable, both for the second victory of Dale Earnhardt's career and for the driver who finished 9.55 seconds behind Earnhardt. Rusty Wallace was runner-up in his Winston Cup debut.

In the final race of the 1992 season, Bill Elliott became the only driver to sweep Atlanta's annual races twice, having earlier performed the feat in 1985. But the accomplishment was bittersweet for Elliott, who lost the point championship to Alan Kulwicki by 10 points.

Since Bruton Smith's Speedway Motorsports acquired the property — hence the change to Atlanta Motor Speedway — the capacity has been doubled and the track reshaped. Bobby Labonte won the first race after Smith transformed the layout.

YOUR TURN

Letters From Our Readers

Dear NASCAR This Week,
How can Jeff Gordon be so dominant in the Winston Cup Series, winning two championships (now three — ed.), but is only average in the champion of champions races, IROC, where all the cars are the same.
He has never won any of these championships.
Sonja Munday
Clear Spring, Md.

Dear Sonja,
Although Gordon has never won an IROC (International Race of Champions) championship, he did win one of the races earlier this year. Gordon's career is still relatively young — he was a rookie in 1993 — so we wouldn't be surprised if eventually he added an IROC championship to his list of achievements.

At age 27, however, Gordon has won championships in open-wheeled cars (United States Auto Club) and Winston Cup.

ON THE MARKET

■ Ray Evernham and the Rainbow Warriors made a crucial mistake, earning a 15-second pit-road penalty from NASCAR, that nearly cost Jeff Gordon the AC-Delco 400 at Rockingham. But the crew acquitted itself quite nicely, putting Gordon in second place and in position to win his 12th race of the season.

Fan Tips

Atlanta is a vibrant city with many reasons to visit, but if your priority is to avoid race-day traffic, try to find lodging away from the city. The best location is Griffin, but don't bother looking if you don't already have a reservation there. Other towns include Jonesboro, Monticello, Peachtree City and McDonough.

TRIVIA

1. Before this season, when was the last time a Winston Cup championship was decided before the final race in Atlanta?
2. Who was the first champion of what is now known as the Craftsman Truck Series?

ANSWERS
1. 1994, when Dale Earnhardt clinched the title at Rockingham
2. Mike Skinner in 1995

Who's hot... Who's not

WHO'S HOT? Dale Earnhardt has scored three straight top-10 finishes.

WHO'S NOT? Darrell Waltrip has finished 21st or worse in the last seven races.

AROUND THE GARAGE

Dale Jarrett relies on mineral oil to pass his gallstones

By Monte Dutton
NASCAR This Week

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. — Dr. James Magary said more about Dale Jarrett's condition than anyone wanted to know. It didn't help that the Phoenix physician's remarks were distributed during lunchtime at North Carolina Speedway.

Magary said Jarrett passed the gallstones Oct. 28 in "a totally unique way."

"Mine were stuck between the small and large intestines," said Jarrett. "I began ingesting mineral oil every hour until 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, and then I passed two of the stones through the digestive system.

"It's a little bit uncomfortable," he said. "I'm not doing anything that puts me in any danger. I'm not delaying the operation (removal of the gall bladder) that I will undergo in a few weeks."

IRVAN OUT AGAIN: Ricky Craven drove the No. 36 Skittles Pontiac while Ernie Irvan awaited the result of MRI (magnetic resonance imaging) testing taken earlier last week on his neck.

Irvan, given a clean bill of health following a Talladega crash, drove only 13 laps the following week at Daytona, then turned his car over completely to Craven at Phoenix.

Irvan flew to Michigan last week for consultations with Dr. Erroll Erlanson, who oversaw Irvan's recovery from the 1994 practice crash that nearly claimed his life.

ZIP-A-DEE-DOO-DAH: Greg Zipadelli will head up Tony Stewart's Winston Cup effort next year at Joe Gibbs Racing.

Zipadelli, 31, from New Britain, Conn., was most recently employed at Jack Roush Racing as a chassis expert.

BEST ON PIT ROAD: The Richard Childress Racing No. 31 team, led by crew chief Larry McReynolds for driver Mike Skinner, won the 32nd annual pit-crew competition at North Carolina Speedway on Saturday. The crew changed four tires and replenished the fuel supply of Skinner's car in 20.322 seconds, edging Steve Park's crew. Park's stop was 20.537 seconds, which in turn was just a few ticks better than Dale Jarrett's 20.583-second stop.

HOME RUN ACE VISITS: Mark McGwire, part-owner of the Busch Grand National car driven by Bobby Hillin, was at North Carolina Speedway Saturday.

For once, the mob of media types — wielding tape recorders and cameras — surrounding McGwire gave Winston Cup champion-elect Jeff Gordon room to maneuver.

Said Gordon, watching the scene from a few yards away, "I could get used to this."

FROM THE ARCHIVES:

The rich history of NASCAR
Bill Elliott, a Georgia native, swept Atlanta Motor Speedway's two annual Winston Cup races twice, first in 1985 and again in 1992. The second '92 triumph was bittersweet, however. If Elliott had led one more lap, he would have won a second Winston Cup title. Since he did not, the season title went to second-place finisher Alan Kulwicki.

Magoffin gets $148,000 for new teacher staffing

Magoffin County is slated to receive over $148,000 to be used to expand the number of primary teachers staffing local schools, following congressional approval of the new federal budget.

The budget bill, signed into law last week, will make approximately $20 million available to Kentucky schools to lower the average class size.

Magoffin's portion of the money is expected to provide six new positions for primary teachers. Estimates by the US Department of Education are allowing approximately $25,000 for each entry level teacher's salary package. — The Salyersville Independent

Squires vote not to raise tax rates

The Magoffin County Fiscal court accepted the compensating tax rate for both real estate and personal property taxes during a special meeting Thursday, October 22.

For the fourth year in a row, magistrates voted against raising county property taxes.

The 1998 personal property tax rate remained at 30.0 cents per $100 assessed value. — The Salyersville Independent

Accused murder, two others escape from jail

Accused Gary Haven Cochran Mills and two Magoffin County inmates remain at-large at press time after escaping from the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center in Paintsville.

The trio escaped sometime late Monday night or early Tuesday morning. Ken O'Bryan, BSDC administrator, said the inmates were reported missing after the night shift made its rounds at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

The 31-year-old Mills, 23-year-old Benji Manns of Magoffin County and 25-year-old Jeffrey Marshall, also of Magoffin County were in a maximum-security cell. They apparently used a food tray door to break open an overhead window that was supposed to be made of bullet-proof glass and then crawled through an eight-inch space to the outside. — The Mountain Citizen

Melody Bowen back in court

Accused murder Melody Bowen was back in Martin Circuit Friday afternoon without Gary Haven Cochran Mills, who is also charged with murder in the March 19 death of 60-year-old William Ratliff of Nats Creek.

Ratliff's charred remains were found in a burned Ford F-150 pickup on an old strip mine road near Milo.

At a brief hearing Friday, an attorney with the state public defender's office filed a motion for particulars in the case. She said she wanted to know if Bowen will be implicated in the crime for using a gun or knife, two weapons police have determined were used in Ratliff's death.

Caudill ruled the motion be held over for 20 days so that the Commonwealth can prepare a response.

If Bowen and Mills are found guilty of Ratliff's death, they could face the death penalty. — The Mountain Citizen

General election a close one

Mike Sullivan will take over as Louisa's new mayor in January after a lop-sided win over four other candidates for the city's top seat in Tuesday night's election.

Sullivan collected almost 59 percent of the votes cast. He currently holds positions on the Lawrence County Board of Education and the Louisa Tourism Commission.

And, in the county judge's race, Democratic candidate David L. Compton defeated Republican Phillip Carter by only 32 votes, making one of the closest judge's races in the county's history.

For Lawrence County Sheriff Bobby Jo Workman, the election was deja vu from five years ago, when he narrowly defeated challenger Morris Howard.

Tuesday night, the Republican sheriff was elected to another term by a margin of 115 votes. Howard claims his third term as Lawrence County Sheriff. — The Big Sandy News

Police drug roundup nets eight suspects in Lawrence County

State and local police teamed up for a "drug roundup" last Thursday morning, which resulted in the arrest of eight suspects in Lawrence County and eight others in Boyd.

Kentucky State Police narcotics detectives have been working on the case for the past 10 months, and on Thursday morning made the sweep in Lawrence County with the help of the Louisa Police Department and the Lawrence County Sheriff's Department.

"We felt very successful that we got 18 out of the 23 suspects we were after," Kentucky State Police Public Relations Officer Gary Kistner said.

Those arrested in Lawrence County included Herbert McConaughy, 50, of Louisa; Johnny Scott, 40, of Louisa; Ray Clay, age unknown, of Louisa; Kevin Pack, 33, of Louisa; Emery Cantrell, 28, of Blaine; Margy Cantrell, 46, of Blaine; Roy Bowen, 48, of Louisa; Harold Wheeler, 39, of Louisa. — The Big Sandy News

Amnesty program accounts for approximately 7,500 junk tires

Morgan Countians turned in an estimated 7,500 junk tires during the three-day waste tire amnesty program sponsored last week by the fiscal court and the state Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet.

County Judge-Executive Sid Stewart said the fiscal court, which paid a bounty of 25 cents each on tires brought to the state Highway Department Maintenance Garage, spent the full $1,000 allotted by the fiscal court for that purpose, collecting a total of 4,000 junk tires.

Another 2,500 tires were brought in from eligible salvage yards and businesses, along with several truck loads collected by individuals and groups at no charge for disposal. — The Licking Valley Courier

West Liberty's home rehab program has few takers

Earlier this year, the Kentucky Housing Corporation (KHC) awarded a grant of $400,000 to rehabilitate up to 14 homes of low and very low-income families in West Liberty.

Knott County has a new judge-executive adhering to the choice made by voters in the May primary election. Democrat Donnie Newsome defeated Christopher C. Stone, Republican. Newsome captured 4,088 votes to Stone's 1,542.

The two school board races remained close until the final precincts involved were reported. — Troublesome Creek Times

First Republican since '65 claims Pike judge's seat

Pike County voters overwhelmingly supported county judge-executive candidate Karen Fouch Gibson in Tuesday's general election, making her the first Republican to win the county's top post since Bill Pauley earned the honor in 1965.

Gibson defeated Democratic opponent Wayne T. Rutherford by more than 2,400 votes. The vote makes Gibson the first Republican elected to the position since it was altered to be the county's chief administrator in 1978. — Appalachian News-Express

Two injured in shooting

State police are investigating the shooting of two Robinson Creek men by an unknown assailant, authorities said.

According to a Kentucky State Police report, Merl Adkins, 35, and Ricky Newsome, 37, were involved in an altercation early Saturday morning outside the residence of Adkins' brother.

Election puts county court clerk in the record books

Tuesday's general election will be a day Betty Jo Conley will never forget.

For Conley, Johnson County's incumbent county court clerk, Tuesday's election results put her in the record book as only the second person to be elected to six terms in office in Johnson County.

Conley, a Republican, rolled to a stunning victory over Democrat Ronald R. "Ronnie" Wells to lead the Republican ticket and easily win another term as county clerk. — The Paintsville Herald

Daniel buries Brown in landslide

What was expected to be the closest race in Johnson County Tuesday turned into a landslide as Republican R.T. "Tucker" Daniel trounced Democrat Paul Brown to become the next county judge-executive.

In defeating Brown by more than 1,700 votes, Daniel may have accomplished a first for a county judge candidate in Johnson County — he carried all precincts and the absentee vote. — The Paintsville Herald

NOTICE TO PRESTONSBURG CITY'S UTILITIES NATURAL GAS CUSTOMERS*Natural Gas Facts

Natural gas is lighter than air, non-toxic and contains no poisonous ingredients. Breathing natural gas is not harmful as long as there is adequate air to breathe along with it. Natural gas will not burn by itself. Combustion can occur only when there is a mixture of gas and air containing between 5 percent and fifteen percent natural gas and between 95 percent and 85 percent air. Because of its unique qualities of being lighter than air with a narrow band of combustion, natural gas is one of the safest energy sources available. It is also one of the most economical sources. Understanding and following safety procedures will make natural gas an even safer choice. The Potential Hazards of Natural Gas

Gas accidents can be avoided if you understand the potential hazards.

(1) Fire
Natural gas can be a fire hazard, if you let it. Don't let it. A very hot stove, open flame or pilot light can ignite any combustible materials that happen to be near. Keep paper, curtains, paints, etc., away from gas appliances.

(2) Explosion
Natural gas can be ignited by open flames or sparks. That's why unburned natural gas should never be allowed to escape into a room. A spark, flame, lit match or cigarette, even the flick of a light switch may be enough to cause an explosion.

(3) Carbon Monoxide Poisoning
Even though natural gas itself isn't poisonous, gas burners that aren't adjusted properly can produce deadly carbon monoxide. You can't see or smell carbon monoxide, but it's a killer. To avoid its dangers, always make sure that all natural gas appliances in your home are properly adjusted and vented to the outside.. so they'll burn safely and efficiently.

(4) Suffocation
Natural gas can cause suffocation if it replaces air containing oxygen. (Only air that has oxygen can sustain life.) This is another reason why natural gas should never be allowed to leak from appliances or build up in an enclosed area or room.

FOLLOW THESE COMMON SENSE SAFETY RULES..IT'S UP TO YOU TO USE SAFE GAS APPLIANCES AND TO USE GAS APPLIANCES SAFELY!!

(1) Keep Combustibles such as papers, fluids, paints, curtains, and rags away from furnaces, water heaters gas ranges and dryers.

(2) Teach Children never to light or play with the controls of any gas appliances.

(3) Keep Pilot Lights of your gas range lit. If you put them out to save energy, a dangerous gas build-up can occur if someone accidentally turns on the range.

(4) Keep Gas Range Clean. Make sure burner bowls are free of used matches, grease, paper, etc.

(5) And, Never Use Your Gas Range to heat your home or apartment. This practice creates a serious fire hazard and puts you and your family at risk from dangerous carbon monoxide fumes.

(6) Make Sure Appliances are Vented. Natural gas need air containing oxygen to burn safely and efficiently. Without enough air, dangerous carbon monoxide is produced. For this reason, always make sure that your gas furnace and water heater are vented to the outside of the building. If you're not sure your appliances are vented properly, have them checked by a qualified heating contractor or plumber.

(7) Keep Flues and Chimney's Clear have your flue pipe and chimney checked to make sure they're not blocked with debris such as nests, branches, or ivy. (Your heating contractor can inspect and clean flue pipes for you.)

(8) Signs of Poor Flue Ventilation indoor wetness (condensation); unusual smell in your home that doesn't go away; sick houseplants; yellow or wavering appliance flames; soot in your home; pilot light that keeps going out.

CERTAIN OLDER GAS CONNECTORS MAY BE DANGEROUS!

Gas connectors are corrugated metal tubers used to connect gas appliances in your home to fuel gas supply pipes. Some older brass connectors have come apart, causing fires and explosions resulting in deaths and injuries.

These older brass connectors have a serious flaw in how their tubing was joined to their end pieces. Over time, the end pieces can separate from the tubing, and cause a serious gas leak, explosion, or fire. To our knowledge, these dangerous uncoated brass connectors have not been made for more than 20 years, but many of them are still in use. The older these connectors get, the greater the possibility of failure.

Although not all uncoated connectors have this flaw, it is very difficult to tell which ones do. Therefore, any uncoated brass connector should be replaced immediately with either a new plastic-coated brass or a new stainless steel connector. Connectors can wear out from too much moving, bending, or corrosion. Connectors should always be replaced whenever the appliance is replaced or moved from its location.

WARNING: Only a qualified professional should check your connector and replace it if needed. Don't try to do this yourself!

Moving the appliance, even slightly, whether to clean behind it or to inspect its gas connector, can cause the complete failure of one of these older weakened connectors, possibly resulting in a deadly fire or explosion. DO NOT MOVE YOUR APPLIANCE TO CHECK THE CONNECTOR!

How do I know if a gas hazard exists??? Your sense of smell should tell you

(1) A Gas Leak is Potentially Very Dangerous! Gas may leak from faulty appliances, broken pipes or broken mains. Make sure all members of your family know what to do if they smell gas.

(A) If The Odor Is Strong:

1) Do not light matches.
2) Do not turn lights on or off.

3) Do not operate any electrical switches, appliance controls or pull any plugs from outlets.

4) Do not use the telephone.

5) Notify everyone in the building or house to leave immediately, and leave the door open.

6) If possible, ventilate the building by opening doors and windows starting where the odor is strongest. Do not re-enter the building for this purpose.

7) Call the gas company or fire department from a nearby building or house.
8) Do not re-enter your home until the gas company of fire department has told you it's safe to do so.

9) Never take chances! If your safety is threatened, get out quickly. Prestonsburg City's Commission Phone Number - 886-6871 Day; After 5:00 p.m., Weekends or Holidays - 886-2900.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A GAS LEAK OUTSIDE HOUSE OR BUILDING - Gas leaks outside are uncommon, but it is a good idea to know how to recognize them.

Common signs include:

1) A gas odor.

2) A blowing or hissing sound.

3) Dirt being blown or thrown into the air.

4) Water bubbling or being blown into the air at a pond.

5) Fire coming from the ground or burning above the ground.

6) Brown patches in vegetation on or near pipeline.

If you detect any signs of a gas leak outside, call Prestonsburg City's Utilities Commission immediately.

Seldon Horne, Superintendent
Prestonsburg City's Utilities Commission

2. If customers' buried piping is not maintained, it may be subject to the potential hazards of corrosion and leakage.

3. Buried gas piping should be:

I. Periodically inspected for leakage.

II. Periodically inspected for corrosion if piping is metallic.

III. Repaired if any unsafe conditions are discovered.

IV. Repaired, located, inspected and maintained by plumbers or heating contractors.

4. When excavating near buried gas piping, the piping should be located in advance, and the excavation done by hand.

Prestonsburg City's Utilities Commission

NOTICE TO ALL CONSTRUCTION AND EXCAVATION COMPANIES

In accordance with federal and state regulations governing natural gas pipeline safety, Prestonsburg City's Utilities Commission is pursuing a damage prevention program to minimize accidents and/or disruptions that could involve its underground pipeline facilities. If you observe any type of construction or excavation, or if you plan to do any work requiring digging near a company pipeline, please call the Prestonsburg City's Utilities Commission so that we can send qualified personnel to locate and properly mark the exact location of the pipeline. Knowing the exact location of the underground pipeline will reduce the possibility of damage and/or personal and financial loss to both parties.

Question, name & address

Dear Guys,
Two readers couldn't seem further apart: Brazil-Ohio. Submarine-fish. But they do share lots in common. It's wonderful how a healthy curiosity can bring people together. Good questions rule!

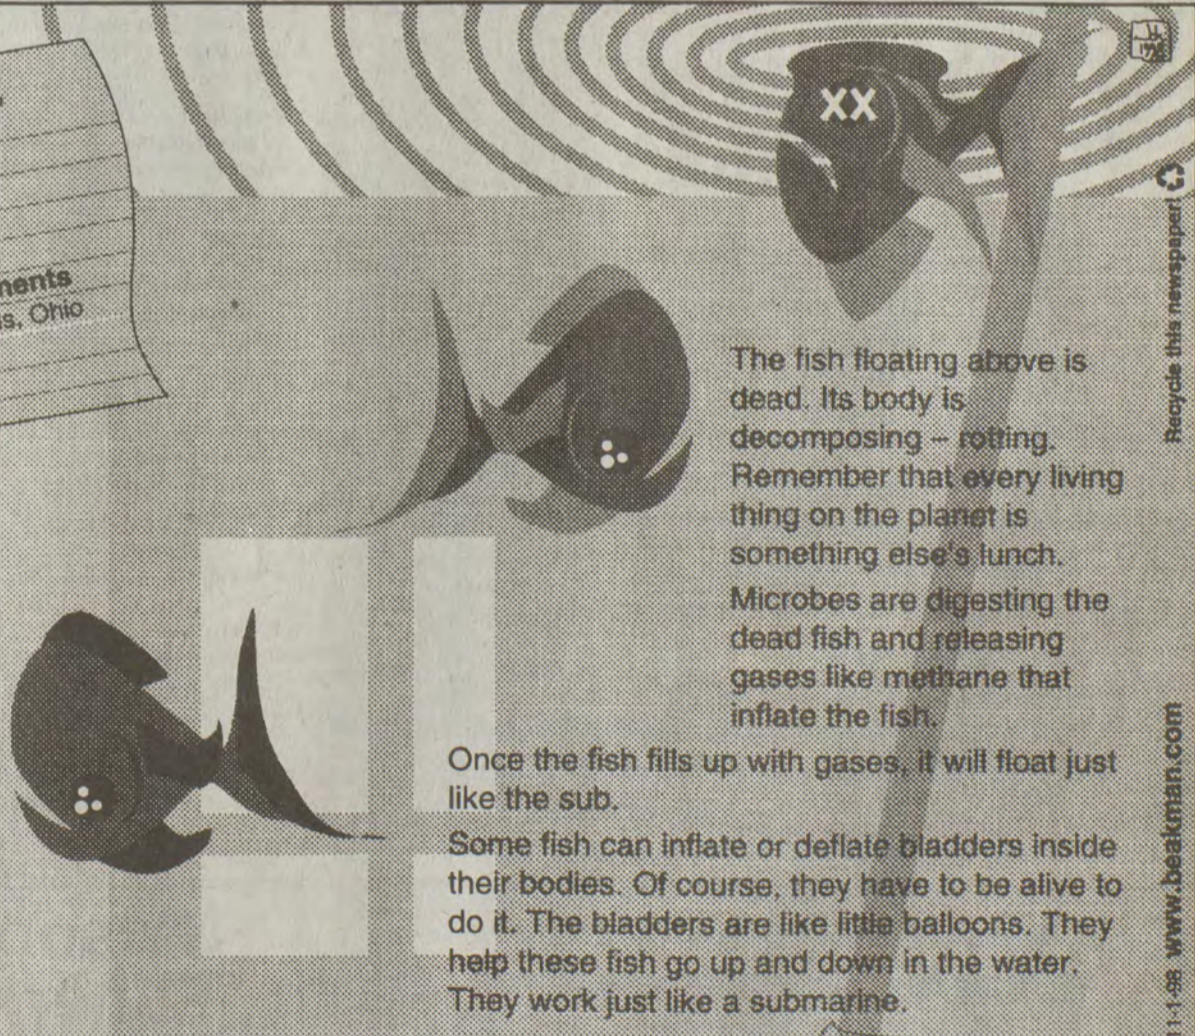

Michael's and Rafael's questions are like the ends of a bridge. The answer is the thing between them. That's a way of saying those questions answer each other.

Some fish and all submarines can change their relative density. They can change their size/weight ratio. Is that getting too complicated? How about: They inflate.

experiment #1
WHAT YOU NEED: Plastic bottle - plastic bag - drinking straws - tape - coins
WHAT TO DO:
Ask a grown-up to cut a few holes in the bottle. Make it like the drawing. Gather the end of a plastic bag around a straw and tape it on tightly.

Stuff the bag into the bottle. Make a really long straw by stuffing straws end-to-end and taping them. Tape enough coins on the outside of the bottle to sink the whole thing in the bathtub or a bucket.

The fish floating above is dead. Its body is decomposing — rotting. Remember that every living thing on the planet is something else's lunch. Microbes are digesting the dead fish and releasing gases like methane that inflate the fish.

Once the fish fills up with gases, it will float just like the sub.

Some fish can inflate or deflate bladders inside their bodies. Of course, they have to be alive to do it. The bladders are like little balloons. They help these fish go up and down in the water. They work just like a submarine.

If you leave one end of the straw above water, You Can blow up the bag and surface your sub. When you suck out the air, your sub will dive.

WHAT IS GOING ON:
Submarines contain tanks that flood with water to make the ship heavier and dive. The tanks can be filled with compressed air again to surface. Some fish can do the same thing. They grow envelopes inside their bodies that work like ballast tanks, filling up and floating, deflating and diving.
