Bicentennial will be reunion for Patsy Teenagers

by RANDELL RENO
STAFF WRITER

The coal companies have departed and the buildings have all fallen into disrepair. What remains of the bustling coal camp community of David is thick with memories of what was.

One of the highlights of the David community during the 1940s through the 1960s was the musical group the Patsy Teenagers. Members of that group will reconvene for a reunion performance Saturday at the David Crafts Center.

The reunion will be the first in years for many of the original members of "The Teenagers." Stories of how the club group formed differ. One such story has Betty Fiedler establishing the group in 1948. Fiedler was the wife of Princess-Elkhorn Community comes to rescue...

"Angelica" is still weak from the ordeal that left her with three legs. Penelope Roberts and Dr. Debra Hall are endeavoring to bring the fawn back to health.

Volunteers team up to save fawn's life

Group says incident shows need for animal recovery center

Members of the medical community worked a tag team effort in saving a life last week. A local resident, a pet store owner, an ambulance crew, and two area doctors worked together in an emergency to save a young victim from sure death.

The story has all the ingredients of a true human drama. Only the victim wasn't human.

About 1 p.m. Saturday, Randy Allen of Hueysville called Penelope Roberts, owner of Penelope's Pets, asking if she could take a deer off his hands. Allen transported a seriously injured deer to the pet store, where Roberts immediately took action to save the fawn's life.

Roberts called neighboring business Trans Star Ambulance for help. Jason Stapleton and Steve Frasure of Trans Star arrived at the store and provided immediate trauma care. The two established an IV, and along with Roberts began to clean the baby animal's wounds.

About three and one-half hours later, Dr. Debra Hall stopped by to check on the deer's condition. This in turn led to the transfer of the fawn to the care of local veterinarian, Rudy Ousley.

From about 6:30 Saturday evening to Tuesday afternoon, the young deer was under the veterinarian's care. Ousley stabilized the patient and then amputated its disfigured back leg.

The fawn also had a deep cut in one front leg and smaller scratches over its back and sides leading its rescuers to believe a hay bailer had run over it.

After the immediate trauma was over, Dr. Ousley released the animal back into Roberts' care for rehabilitation. Roberts said she and Dr. Hall were working together to rehabilitate "Angelica." The fawn was tagged with the name because of its angelic face, said Roberts.

Treatment on the weakened fawn continues as Roberts said she administers two antibiotics shots to Angelica a day.

The community effort to save the deer was quite an achievement, Roberts indicated as she gave credit for the save to Stapleton and Frasure. The young fawn's scrape with death has left it unreleaseable, said Roberts.

Roberts, who is certified to care for injured wild animals such as Angelica, would like to see a place for such animals to go. The thought of a wildlife recuperation center has been on her mind for years, she said.

Roberts has networked the aid of Grand jury indicts teen for fatality

26 others charged in Wednesday's true bills

by RANDELL RENO
STAFF WRITER

The Floyd County Grand Jury handed down several indictments Wednesday. Included in those was a charge of reckless homicide against a Grethel teen.

Jacob Ellis Carroll, 19, was indicted on a reckless homicide charge for the death of Edgar Dewayne Hughes.

Carroll was allegedly under the influence of alcohol while he was driving along Route 979 with Hughes as his passenger in June 1999. A fatal traffic accident resulted in the loss of Hughes' life.

Reckless homicide is a Class D felony. If convicted, Carroll could face up to five years in prison.

Other indictments issued Wednesday include:

■ Silas Slone, 72, of Hueysville was indicted on a charge of first-degree sexual abuse. Slone allegedly subjected a minor under 12 years old to sexual contact.

■ Robby Joe Hall, 18, of Galveston was indicted on four counts related to the alleged burglary of Green Hall. A first-degree assault charge was issued against Robby Hall for allegedly attacking Green Hall with a pipe, striking him on the shoulder. He was also charged with third-degree burglary, theft by unlawful taking and third-degree criminal mischief for allegedly entering Hall's building and taking a weed eater, destroying the lock on the building in the process.

Collins drops charge against Clifton's son

by RANDELL RENO
STAFF WRITER

A murder suspect dropped a wanton endangerment charge against his alleged victim's son Monday.

Henry Clifton Jr. appeared in Floyd District Court for a preliminary hearing on a charge of first-degree wanton endangerment.

That charge was held by Denver "Bucky" Collins, who asked for the warrant after Clifton came close to his residence with a gun. A call to the Prestonsburg Police department told dispatchers Clifton was en route to Collins' residence to exact revenge for the death of his father.

Collins has been charged with murder following the Easter shooting of Henry Clifton at Cardinal Mart in Lancer. Collins' case has since been referred to a grand jury for consideration.

Collins agreed to drop the charge if the Clifton's attorneys would agree to a 2,500-foot restraining order against Clifton.

The two parties agreed to the conditions with the only exception that Clifton be allowed to travel the highway past Collin's residence.

Pastors look to spread hope

by RANDELL RENO

Two area pastors will begin the first phase of crossing "clan" lines to piece together a multi-denominational support group of Christians. The group is intended to unite area Christians as one community of helping believers without delving into the separate doctrinal beliefs.

Pastors Paul Aiken and Ernest Simpkins will begin their efforts at the bicentennial Christian music performance at noon tomorrow in the Prestonsburg municipal parking lot.

"We are basically trying to bridge the gap with smaller churches," said Aiken. Working with what Aiken calls common ground, Aiken and Simpkins want to form a new organization.

Little Bit was out to get his shots by Dr. Mahendra Varia at Woods Grocery in Allen during the rabies clinics being conducted through Friday and Saturday throughout the county. Kathy Hall found Little, who suffers from a birth defect, on the highway near the store. After the pup got his shot, Hall made arrangements with Varia to have its leg corrected. Shown with Little Bit is Varia and Tyler Hall who obviously has developed an attachment to the pup.

Coal chief engineer Harry Fiedler and had previous experience in concert piano and voice instruction.

Fiedler established the David Youth Glee Club of 40 youths, according to a 1950 Floyd County Times article. Out of that 40, 14 were chosen to be "The Teenagers."

Later becoming the Patsy Teenagers, the group performed for civic organizations like the Kiwanis, the PTA, and church groups. They also sang live over Pikeville radio station WLSI.

The group brought all the kids in the coal camp together, said former member John Everly. It allowed a lot of teens to travel all over the country, said Everly, most of whom would have never gotten out of the state.

"We were just raw talent," said Everly. "Some could have been professional."

At first, all the members lived in the David community and were sons or daughters of employees, said Everly. Within two years, that small group was good enough to take the show on the road. The management of Princess Elkhorn footed the bill for costumes, transportation and housing.

The company allowed the teens to travel to Buffalo, N.Y., Pittsburgh, Penn., Blowing Rock,

N.C., and the famous Greenbrier. Those performances allowed them to get local air time on WSAB and national air time on the Today Show.

While the glee club performed a combination of hymns, classical numbers, Christmas carols, and patriotic songs, the Teenagers added popular music to their repertoire. The singers also performed the occasional skit, according to Everly.

Responsibility for the group was transferred to Katherine Frasure later in the group's years. At that point, teens from Prestonsburg began to get an invitation to join, said Everly. Frasure's daughter Elizabeth was the last of the group's leaders before disbanding more than 20 years after their inception, said Everly.

The various trips by the group gave the Teens a life they may not have experienced otherwise, said Everly. One of those experiences was the train trip to Canada, said former member Mary Lou Lavender.

Branham recalled traveling to Niagara Falls via railroad. The group boarded a reserved train car at the Prestonsburg train depot, she said.

Many very successful people came out of the group, she said, including Dr. Dallard Wright and Dr. Randall Wells.

Lavender speculated on the group's name, The Patsy Teenagers. David Francis, who was the president of the coal company, may have had a daughter named Patsy, she said.

The group gave the well-off and the poor equal opportunities, said Lavender, because the company paid for almost everything.

Since leaving the group, Lavender has continued to sing. She is a member of the Prestonsburg Community College Choir and the First United Methodist Church Chorale in Paintsville, and sings with the Pikeville College Choir.

Shirley Branham, another former member, recalled that the Fiedlers were from Canada. A group of teenagers would meet at the Fiedlers' house once a week, gather on the floor and sing. The weekly meeting soon became a practice, she said.

Branham recalled the community closeness in David at the time.

"David was a wonderful community," she said. "It was like the community was raising the children."

One trip took the group to White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., where the group gave a Christmas performance at the Greenbrier. With an entourage of about 30, Branham said that performance stuck in her memory.

"It was our first Christmas away from home," said Branham, who was 13 at the time.

The reunion of the Patsy Teenagers is tentatively scheduled for tomorrow at 1 p.m. when the community will kick off its bicentennial celebration. The performance should be quite a treat.

Ron Vanover of Jenny Wiley State Park, Johnny Ross, and Mark Wallace with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Game. The group has approached Prestonsburg Mayor Jerry Fannin on establishing a reserve.

The city may be able to help, Fannin told Roberts, by offering a portion of land that sits adjacent to the golf course. Roberts would like to acquire the land through a multiple year lease. The project could soon turn into yet another tourist attraction, Roberts said. She added that such an area could double as a petting zoo, which would appeal to children.

"We have the Mountain Arts Center and the golf course but we have nothing here for the kids," she said.

Fannin indicated to Roberts the proposed land could be accessible by the Sky Lift at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

By doubling as a petting zoo Roberts said the reserve could further add to park revenues. Plans are to make the center a non-profit educational attraction.

Although Roberts would like to see the center run by a team of volunteers, funds would have to be gathered to pay for the housing, feeding and treatment of the animals in the center, she said.

A July 10 closed meeting is scheduled for discussions on the project. Pending the outcome of that meeting, Roberts said the public would then be invited to participate.

Teamwork by Penelope Roberts and others has for now extended the life of the small fawn. Their efforts have been donated and much of their time and supply expenses have been without charge.

Roberts extended thanks to Trans Star and Dr. Ousley and Dr. Hall, but invites the public to help with the fawn's recovery.

If area residents would like to donate money for Angelica's or any wild animal's recovery, contact Roberts at (606) 889-0570.

Charges

Wade M. Price, 19, of Prestonsburg was charged with first-degree wanton endangerment for shooting at Floyd County Deputy Herman Morris while the deputy was pursuing him. He was also indicted for reckless driving, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence, possession of alcohol by a minor, resisting arrest, possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, first-degree fleeing and evading a police officer, second-degree criminal mischief and two counts of third-degree assault.

Shelly Gregory, 25, of Prestonsburg was indicted on three counts of first-degree wanton endangerment for allegedly forcing Angeline Boyd off the road, endangering her life and the life of her passengers, Regina and Jeremy Crider. She was also charged with harassing communications.

Cleo Hamilton, 23, of Teaberry and Rackey E. Wallace, 23, of Hi Hat were indicted on single counts of third-degree burglary and theft by unlawful taking for allegedly entering Nett's Wallpaper and Variety and taking $300 or more worth of property.

John Wesley Jakobson, 22, of Prestonsburg and Adam Wright, 22, of Printer were indicted for first-degree burglary, theft by unlawful taking and first-degree criminal mischief. Jakobson and Wright allegedly entered the residence of Wayne Exley, took property valued at more than $300, and defaced, destroyed or damaged Exley's property.

James Mayes, 28, of Prestonsburg was indicted on two charges, third-degree burglary and theft by unlawful taking or disposition. Mayes allegedly entered a building belonging to Douglas E. Castle and took property valued over $300.

Silas Stone, 33, of Lackey was indicted for allegedly obscuring the identity of a machine or other property when he allegedly possessed a Polaris ATV 425 Expedition upon which the vehicle identification number had been changed. He was also indicted on three counts of receiving stolen property for allegedly having in his possession the ATV, a Kentucky registration license plate, and a 1998 Honda ATV.

Keith Bailey, 30, of Delbarton, W.Va., was indicted on third-degree criminal mischief and theft by unlawful taking or disposition charges. Bailey allegedly defaced, destroyed or damaged property belonging to Roy W. Tiller and took property valued at more than $300.

Jacqueline Hamilton, 23, of Columbus, Ohio, was indicted on a theft by unlawful taking charge for allegedly taking a $125 check belonging to William Lee Martin and cashing it.

Jack Call, 44, of Barboursville, W.Va., was indicted on three counts of theft by unlawful taking or disposition for allegedly taking property from East Kentucky Metal Roofing & Siding Supply valued at $2,581 on three separate occasions.

Marvela C. Brackett, 26, of Hager Hill was indicted on a single count of theft by unlawful taking for allegedly taking a purse with over $300 worth of property inside belonging to Jeanetta Reese-Voisine.

Timothy R. Akers, 25, of Grethel was indicted on one count of marijuana cultivation and possession of LSD.

Charles E. Prater of Salyersville was indicted for theft by unlawful taking. Prater allegedly wrote a check for $1,313.92 to Wesley Electric and Supply Inc., knowing it could not be honored.

Walter H. Sanders Jr. of Allentown, Penn., was indicted on one count of theft by unlawful taking. Sanders allegedly wrote a check for $1,800 to Janice Davis knowing it could not be honored.

Dan Jack Combs II, 19, of Stanville was indicted on two charges — first-degree fleeing or evading police and operating a motor vehicle while license revoked or suspended for driving under the influence.

Carlos Hall Jr., 37, of Mud Creek was indicted on a single charge of fleeing or evading police in the first degree.

Roger Cantrell, 50, of Prestonsburg, Terry Michael Chapman of Kimper, Stanley Skeens, 46, of Feds Creek, Jackie Dean Crum, of Charlotte, N.C., Larry Spears, 31, of McDowell, Valerie Kidd Cavozos of Hope Sound, Fla., and Lon Tracy Boyette, 41, of Auxier were all indicted on charges of flagrant non-support.

Note: An indictment is not an indication of guilt, but rather a determination by a grand jury that charges warrant a full court hearing.

With the loss of jobs in the area, Aiken said area residents have sociological and psychological needs.

"A job represents a social interaction," he said. "With a loss of jobs there is an increase in depression in the area. We want to give the people some place to go and something to do."

Aiken said whether the church be Baptist, Methodist or any denomination, combining the strengths and talents under one umbrella would benefit the entire community.

The United Methodist pastor cited the recent community effort to send over $50,000 to flood-ravaged North Carolina. Aiken said a need for that kind of effort exists here at home. A common collection of people in the community will directly affect the community's morality and school discipline, as well as decrease crime and drugs, he said.

"We have so many people with talents and gifts that are doing nothing," said Aiken. Such a group would utilize those talents and gifts for the betterment of the community, he added.

The group hopes to turn area residents' focus from "what's wrong in their lives to what's right," he said. "It will be a large group of people who love Christ," he said.

Pastor Simpkins formed such a group in Ashtabula, Ohio. Called the Council of Hope and representing a combination of city and church leaders, Simpkins and friends worked together on various social problems in the city, including homelessness.

Simpkins said officials in the city would confirm that the group was instrumental in reducing the city's crime rate, school problems and various other problems in Ashtabula.

The Council of Hope was given recognition by the Ashtabula City Council, Ohio Governor George Voinovich, and Senator John Glenn for working closely with local governments and other human services-related agencies.

Aiken and Simpkins invite everyone to come out to hear what they have to propose. Many of our churches have traditionally said if you are not of our group, we have no use for you, said Aiken. Instead of being a group that will say what's in it for me, the group will focus on trying to help others, he said.

"Even if we change a little, it will be for the betterment of the community," he said.

"Come out and see us," said Simpkins. "You can't help but notice the difference in persona, the difference from when they first come to when they're leaving."

Study shows ARC investments creating jobs

Frankfort — "ARC's investment in infrastructure projects in eastern Kentucky, and all Appalachia, is paying off, not only in helping us to build the infrastructure developments needed most in the region, but by creating new jobs in the areas which have traditionally been hardest to bring economic growth to," Gov. Paul Patton said Monday.

The governor, who will take over as Appalachian Regional Commission States Co-Chair in January, was reacting to a report released by the chairman of the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure in Washington, D.C.

The report, conducted by the Brandow Company of Camp Hill, Pennsylvania, and the Economic Development Research Group of Boston, found that about 80 percent of ARC infrastructure projects designed to create a specific number of jobs either met or exceeded formal projections.

Eastern Kentucky accounted for 13 of the 99 total projects looked at in the report, with three industrial park projects and 10 water and sewer projects. Six of the water and sewer projects were directly focused on economic development.

The total ARC investment in these projects was $3,835,265, which created 1,747 new jobs and retained 1,000 existing jobs, served 42 new businesses and retained 250, and served 8,800 private households.

These Kentucky projects also created personal income impacts of $16,600,000 in retained jobs and $41,645,748 in direct and indirect or induced income from new jobs.

"Many of these projects have already well exceeded their projected economic impact," Patton said. "This says to me that eastern Kentucky, along with the entire 13-state Appalachian region, is ready to move into a new era of prosperity."

"These investments in infrastructure will continue to bring economic growth to these areas for generations to come," Patton said. "The importance of these findings cannot be overestimated, because they demonstrate that ARC's strategies to help distressed counties through infrastructure development are working."

During the Floyd County Republican Party executive meeting on June 27, new officers were sworn in. They are from left Janie Spurlock, vice chairman; Bobby Stumbo, president; and Barry Spurlock, secretary. They were sworn in by Reverend Robert Wireman, who is the treasurer of the organization. A hesitant governor

When Gov. Paul Patton wants to push a particular cause or charge off in a particular direction, he's not at all hesitant.

It was Paul Patton who put workers' compensation reform on the state's agenda in 1996, and the reform that was adopted was the handiwork of the governor.

Three years ago with higher education reform, Patton took an enormous political risk in taking on the University of Kentucky.

And it was the governor who carried the banner for casino-style gambling last year — at least high enough to get a sounding on the issue. Nobody else would touch it.

More recently, Patton proposed increasing the state gasoline tax as part of what he called tax reform. But it wasn't really a comprehensive overhaul and it stalled when prices at the pump began to soar.

This is a governor who is confident and who figures he has enough political capital to stick out his neck. When he wants to, Patton will jump in to provide leadership, to rally the troops, to push an issue.

But on the issue of reforming Kentucky's tax code, it seems the governor has been willing to take a backseat.

That was made clear again last week.

In a meeting last week with the Lexington Herald-Leaders editorial board, Patton said he'll wait until the legislature elects its leadership next year before deciding anything.

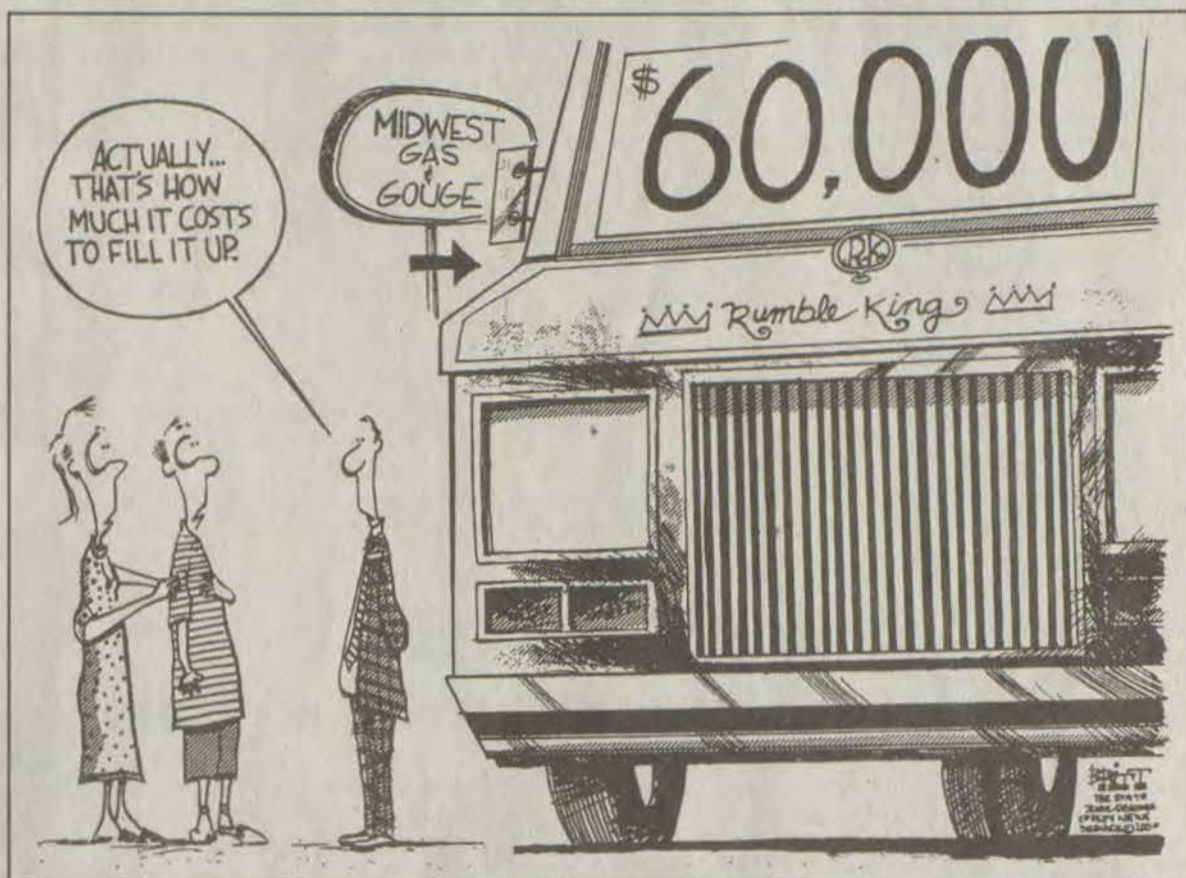

Patton explained, "...we will find out what is the leadership and then find out if there is any will to address the subject."

Of course, there's an element of pragmatic politics in such an approach. Any tax overhaul — and that's what Kentucky needs — will require lining up as much support among legislative leaders as possible. And the election in November could bring changes not only in the political makeup of the legislature but also its leadership.

We would prefer that the governor be more forceful on the topic, pledge his commitment to doing something about the antiquated and regressive tax system and identify it as an issue Kentucky can no longer afford to ignore.

We imagine low- and middle-income taxpayers in Kentucky, who pay a larger share of their income in taxes than do the rich, would prefer that as well, particularly after reading last week that the taxes the state has collected this year will result in yet another budget surplus for the state.

—The Kentucky Post

Letters to the Editor

Don Roberts' letter of resignation

Editor's note: The following letter was sent by former school board member Don Roberts to Floyd County Board of Education chairman Terry Dotson. The letter was not available at press time for publication in Wednesday's paper and is being reprinted in its entirety.

Dear Mr. Dotson:

I regret to inform you that I have decided to resign my position as School Board Member of the Floyd County School District. This decision comes after serious reflection on my obligations to the citizens and children of District #3, which I have represented the past 18 months.

Due to my health condition and other personal considerations, I have recently been unable to provide the full attention to my duties which are required for this position. Consequently, I feel it is in the best interests of the Board of Education, the School District, and most importantly the children who deserve nothing but the best, that I step down from my elected position.

I have enjoyed my tenure with the Board of Education and can see progress in the three schools which I have represented. Further, I have gained a tremendous amount of respect for my fellow board members and the hard work they have put forward to enhance the status of our school district. Our district is improving, and I feel I made a contribution to this improvement while serving. I wish all of you continued success in the future.

Please share this letter, and my warmest regards, with your board.

Sincerely,
Don Roberts
Board member, district #3
Grethel

'School boards are critical link'

Editor:

Improving the quality of public education is a complex equation. It depends on children prepared to learn, supportive parents and role models, qualified teachers and visionary local and state education leadership.

One of the underpinnings of all successful school districts, however, is an effective, visionary school board. School boards provide the critical link between school and community — they set the expectations, provide accountability, establish the strategic direction, and provide fiscal management. It has the ways and means to make a real difference.

Unfortunately, like many local public offices, there has been a disturbing trend of highly qualified incumbents stepping down and seats going vacant in elections. A study commissioned by the Partnership for Kentucky Schools, entitled "Difficult Ground: Community Leaders and School Board Service in Kentucky," revealed the most common obstacles to service was a lack of understanding from the media and general public about the responsibilities of service and contribution school boards make.

People who would make effective school board members don't understand what the job really entails; and people who do serve feel like nobody appreciates their efforts.

In response to the issues raised by this study, we are partnering with the Partnership for Kentucky Schools and the Kentucky School Board Association to promote increased public awareness and understanding about school boards and the importance of service.

With the filing deadline for school board coming up August 8, we are sending press releases, making editorial board visits, and helping distribute "want to make a difference... in local education, in your community," a brochure that attempts to explain a little about the role — and rewards — of school board service.

We are also working with KET that is hosting a call-in show on July 5, from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. The program, entitled "School Boards: Making a Difference for Kentucky Kids," features four current or past school board members who have made a difference. They will be making comments and responding to questions about the rewards — and tribulations — of school board service.

Public service is not for everyone, but we believe one of the critical steps to improving our schools is making sure there is a solid, constructive link between the community and the schools. As is explained in the "want to make a difference..." booklet, one does not need to run or serve on a local school board to make a difference — but one does need to be involved.

As leaders in your organization, your community, and the state, we hope you will consider what you can do to support an effective school board in your district. Tune into the KET show on July 5 and hear for yourself about how schools are making a difference and about how you can be a constructive influence in your community.

A full text version of the "want to make a difference..." is available in the document library on the Partnership's web site at www.pfks.org. Hard copies are available by calling the Partnership at 859/455-9595.

Blah-rade blues

Here we go again. Tuesday, July 4, 2000, not one, not even one high school band will play in the Bicentennial/Independence Day parade. Our community kids will instead spend their summers at band camps or competitions in other parts of the state.

Not one parent or grandparent will be able to stand on the street corner and see their precious kin march by in pride. The few of us will stand in the midst of sirens blaring, horns honking and maybe a few floats.

The civil servants will display the modern weapons against fires, accidents and crime. Some businesses may even display their banners.

The only music in this festive parade will not be by area youth. Unlike last year, the band teachers cannot say that did not know about this one.

I was never in a band but I love music and love to sing. I have sung in front of 20 and in front of hundreds. I marched in at least two, maybe three, parades a year as a Cub Scout.

I can't believe with such a momentous event as our nation's anniversary our schools cannot submit one band out of four. Add to it the county is celebrating its 200th anniversary and the stage is set for a hillbilly mardi gras.

Every year the Red, White and Blue parade in Martin gets bigger. We need a county parade that is the mother of all parades this year. Businesses should have submitted floats, civic groups should have invited members, and schools should have sent choirs, choral groups and bands.

Community pride should have made it possible. Band parents should question why their kids aren't performing in front of the entire county.

A battle of the bands could have made this parade the ultimate in celebrations. Maybe PCC or Pikeville College could put something in.

The first undersea federal park was the Key Largo Coral Reef Preserve. It was established in March of 1960.

Governor participates in SEICA agreement in Puerto Rico

Gov. Paul Patton participated in the signing of the Secretariat for the Economic Integration of Central America (SEICA) agreement at a news conference at the Southern Growth Policy Board conference Tuesday.

The agreement of cooperation signed by Puerto Rican Governor Peder Rossello, Southern Growth's 1999-2000 chair, and Secretary General Haroldo Rodas Melgar of SEICA will offer a stronger relationship between southern states and Central America.

Patton was asked to participate in the agreement because he is the chair-elect of the Southern Governors Association (SGA). Two years ago at the SGA conference in Puerto Rico, the Declaration of Puerto Rico was signed, which led directly to the SEICA agreement.

"This agreement is important to creating a high quality of life for both regions," said Gov. Patton. "The two regions share similar challenges and opportunities, and by working together to promote trade, international exchange, and education, we can create more job opportunities and economic growth."

SEICA is composed of five countries in Central America: El Salvador, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Honduras, and Costa Rica. In nearly 50 years these countries have convened to discuss regional trade, customs, transportation, and other policies in efforts to develop a common market.

"The agreement we have reached will stimulate fruitful contacts and relationships between Central America and the Southern United States," said Gov. Rossello. "Already many southern companies have established growing stakes in Central America and today's signing will reaffirm an eminent expansion of those investments."

Under this agreement, SEICA (the Central American counterpart to Southern Growth Policy Board) and Southern Growth will work together to develop initiatives to further economic cooperation between the two regions.

The agreement also calls for the development of a stronger relationship in academia through exchange programs, in government and the private sector.

"The SEICA agreement will form the foundation for ongoing relationship-building between the southern states and Puerto Rico, and the nations of Central America," said Southern Growth Executive Director Jim Clinton. "With this signing today, we signal our commitment to continue the kinds of cooperative projects and relationship-building with Latin America that we started this year."

Some advantages of the signing for southern states include building better commercial alliances; building international skills and fostering global leadership; increased academic exchange and learning the Spanish language and culture; assistance to stabilize Latin American democracies; and to offer humanitarian assistance to Central American nations, which are often struck by devastating natural disasters.

Additional funding for dentists in the state Medicaid program

FRANKFORT — More money in the state budget will go to pay for dental services in the Kentucky Medicaid program beginning July 1.

"We have a growing Medicaid population and access to services is a priority for us," said Jimmy D. Helton, secretary of the Cabinet for Health Services. "Increased reimbursement rates should attract more dentists to the program."

The 2000 General Assembly directed that $22,304,900 be used to raise reimbursement rates over the next two years. At the current volume of services billed, that amount of money allows for a 32 percent across the board increase for services.

Since no additional money was appropriated for the Medicaid budget, the $22 million will have to be taken from other health care programs within the budget.

Since July 1, 1999, there have been 829 dentists who have provided oral care to Medicaid patients. The Department for Medicaid Services processed 324,359 claims during that time. The current Medicaid population totals 568,000 individuals.

Secretary Helton said that the Kentucky Dental Association has agreed to encourage dentists to participate in Medicaid as a result of the increase in reimbursement.

In addition to the rate increase, the cabinet is taking other steps to improve the oral health of Kentuckians. The Department for Public Health is implementing the recommendations of a recent task force that evaluated oral health in the state.

Those recommendations include the hiring of a public health dentist, a survey to determine the distribution of oral health problems, and the development of a strategic plan to improve access to oral health care.

Secretary Helton said, "The cabinet is taking an integrated approach to improve oral health among Kentuckians, and we will monitor and report how well that approach is working."

Passport photographs were first required by regulation in 1914.

Good News for Prestonsburg

Many people hesitate to visit a church unless they know what it will be like when they go. Perhaps we can help you know what to expect when you visit us.

When You Visit Us

Perhaps you have said, "I intend to visit you sometime." But you have put it off simply because of the dread of going into a strange place, not knowing what to expect when you visit us.

You will be our respected guest. You will be greeted with kindness and courtesy. You will not be called upon or embarrassed in any way. Our assembly is a simple and devout period of worship patterned after the worship of the early New Testament church. There will be nothing to make you feel out of place. Perhaps you will hear scriptures read and truths preached that you have not heard before, but we are compelled by the commands of Christ to preach all of the Gospel. We preach this gospel in love...trusting that everyone present will evaluate it in light of his or her personal life and responsibility. We believe you will be impressed by a presentation of God's plan and simple Bible teaching.

About Our Worship

Our worship is simple and based entirely on what is taught in the New Testament. We will sing together. You will probably be familiar with most of the hymns and are invited to join with us in the singing. Men in the congregation will lead prayers. There will be a sermon, Christ-centered and designed to teach and uplift all who are present, you are urged to take notes and check what you hear against what your Bible says. There is never an attempt to teach anything profound or mysterious, just simple Bible truths. At the close of the sermon, those who wish to become Christians are invited to make this known by coming to the front of the assembly. No one will go about the audience urging people to come forward. Neither the worship nor the invitation are designated to embarrass, but rather to teach.

During the Sunday worship, the Lord's Supper (Communion) will be served by men of the congregation. The New Testament teaches that Christians (members of the Lord's church) are to do this on the first day of the week (Acts 20:7). A contribution will be taken, because the church is commanded to do this on the first day of the week (1 Corinthians 16:2). As our guest, you are not asked or expected to give. Do not feel embarrassed to pass the container to your neighbor or the men serving.

Voters to decide fate of two proposed constitutional amendments

FRANKFORT — There is no question that Kentucky's Constitution is archaic in many ways. The current one was adopted in 1891, literally during the horse and buggy days, when life was considerably different.

Kentucky's elected officials are reminded how outdated the state's Constitution is each time they are sworn in to office. All of them, both state and local, must take an oath swearing that they have never fought a duel, challenged anyone to one, or served as a "second" for someone fighting a duel. That portion of the oath always brings smiles because it is so out of step with the way we live today.

Over the years, there have been several attempts to amend the Constitution, and even a few attempts to replace it with an entirely new version more suited to modern times. Kentuckians are, on the whole, a traditional group, but although voters have never been convinced to adopt a new Constitution, an occasional amendment has been approved to address some specific need.

The process for amending the Constitution begins with the introduction of a bill proposing the amendment during a session of the General Assembly. Both the House of Representatives and the Senate then must approve the bill. It does not require the governor's signature, and the governor cannot veto a bill proposing a Constitutional amendment.

Once the measure has been passed by both chambers, it goes to the Secretary of State, who places the question on the ballot for the next general election. If a majority of voters approve, the Constitution is amended.

This fall, Kentucky voters will consider two proposed amendments that were passed during the 2000 session.

The first one is an attempt to streamline state government by abolishing the state's Railroad Commission, including the elected office of Railroad Commissioner. This legislation was sponsored by Sen. Ed Miller of Cynthiana and 13 co-sponsors.

When Kentucky's present Constitution was enacted in 1891, railroads were a much more prevalent form of transportation than they are today. There were no planes, cars or interstate highways, so rail was the most efficient way to move people and goods.

Times have changed, and while rail is still a viable form of transportation, its importance has decreased considerably. For that reason, many people feel that the state Railroad Commission no longer fills a need, and that Kentucky would be well served to turn its few remaining functions over to another state agency, saving money and eliminating a layer of government that many feel has outlived its usefulness.

A second amendment voters will be asked to consider would enable the General Assembly to meet annually rather than every two years as it now does. House Bill 936 was sponsored by House Speaker Jody Richards and several other House leaders, but the original version underwent several changes before winning approval.

The General Assembly now meets for 60 legislative days, or working days, every two years, always in even-numbered years, unless it is called into special session by the governor. If voters approve, the Constitution will be amended to enable the legislature to meet for a shorter session in odd-numbered years.

Lawmakers first would convene for a brief organizational session on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January. That session would be used to elect leaders for both chambers, adopt rules, organize committees, and introduce and consider legislation.

The General Assembly would then adjourn and reconvene on the first Tuesday in February and would be required to adjourn by March 30. During that session, lawmakers would consider legislation, including any bills that had been introduced during the first portion of the session, but not yet acted upon.

The amendment also would stipulate that any bills that raised revenue or appropriated funds could not become law until they were approved by three-fifths of all the members of each chamber.

During the 2000 session of the General Assembly, 1,441 bills were introduced, along with 378 resolutions. Those numbers have steadily increased over the past few sessions, and probably can be expected to continue to rise. Many lawmakers who supported House Bill 936 did so in the hope that annual sessions would reduce the amount of legislation placed before them each time they meet, allow more time to study individual bills, and provide an opportunity to make adjustments to the state budget as dictated by circumstances.

The bills proposing both Constitutional amendments faced some opposition in the legislature, but eventually won approval. Both issues now will be decided by Kentucky voters in November.

Divorce and children: Six steps to minimize the pain

Divorce is always a difficult process, and when there are children involved it becomes even more so. It is currently estimated that 30 to 50 percent of children will experience divorce as they are growing up.

As emotionally-stressed parents try to work through the divorce mechanics, the children are often the forgotten victims, feeling pain and guilt that is none of their doing.

Now experts are advising that there are ways to minimize the trauma and pain that divorce can cause children. A new book from the American Counseling Association has focused on exactly that, but from a surprising perspective.

"Don't Divorce Us! Kids' Advice to Divorcing Parents" combines the suggestions of experienced counselors with the insights and advice of children who have actually lived through the divorce experience.

The book provides a wide range of information, including this advice from a 14-year-old boy reflecting on his parents' divorce: "If you're gonna get a divorce, remember that the children are the most important thing. Think of them first, not your own anger, or your own hurt, but them. It is really hard, but that is the key to a successful divorce, if there is such a thing."

What makes "Don't Divorce Us!" so effective is not simply the insights provided by the hundreds of children interviewed for the book, but the way those insights are combined with practical advice from experienced counselors on the steps parents can and should take to help guide their children through these major life changes.

While there is no simple formula for the process, there are six strong suggestions offered to help make the divorce process less painful for any child:

- Keep the kids out of the battlefield. (Don't fight in front of them and don't involve them in the arguments.)
- Keep the kids informed. (Making believe everything is fine when it isn't fools no one. Don't share all the gory details, but let the kids know what is happening. A divorce or separation shouldn't be a surprise to the kids.)
- Don't allow the kids to take sides. (Which also means don't force them to your side. Let the kids eventually reach their own conclusions in their own time frame.)

• Assure the kids it's not their fault, and assure them over and over. (Kids are sponges for guilt — they're used to making mistakes and getting blamed. Make them know that the divorce is not their doing, and that there wasn't anything they could have done to keep the family together.)

• Keep the avenues of communication open. (It can be difficult and emotionally draining, but encourage your kids to ask questions and to talk about what they're feeling and what is worrying them. Provide honest, helpful answers, not negative propaganda about your spouse.)

• Make sure your children know you haven't stopped loving them. (It can be confusing, and terrifying, to learn that one's parents have stopped loving one another. Kids need to be reassured that their parents' love for them hasn't disappeared.)

John Sommers-Flanagan and Rita Sommers-Flanagan, the husband and wife team of psychologists who authored "Don't Divorce Us!" (in collaboration with Rita's daughter, Chelsea Elander, a child of divorce herself), emphasize that while it may be easy to list such goals, achieving them is always a difficult process.

Throughout the book, however, they offer practical suggestions on how to help parents deal with the emotions and challenges of the divorce process, and to help their children understand what is happening and why.

They also spend considerable time looking at the changes that occur after the divorce, including step-parenting, dating, double-households, ex-spouses and long-distance parenting.

A divorce is always going to be a stressful time for all involved, but it is possible to make it less so for the children. Sometimes it can be as simple as the advice offered by one small boy in the book, "Never forget to tell your kids you love them, and never put them in the middle of your problems."

"Don't Divorce Us! Kids' Advice to Divorcing Parents" ($15.95 — ISBN 1-55620-175-3) is published by the American Counseling Association and is available in local bookstores, online at Amazon.com, or directly from the American Counseling Association at 1-800-347-6647, ext. 222.

Flotsam refers to goods swept from a vessel and found floating in the sea. Jetsam refers to cargo deliberately thrown overboard.

Opry season is another winner

STORY AND PHOTOS
by WILLIE ELLIOTT
STAFF WRITER

A sense of anticipation filled the "House that Billie Jean Built" — the Mountain Arts Center — Friday, June 23, as the near-capacity crowd filed into the auditorium, and despite getting seat AK14 (they should know not to give a Vietnam veteran that seat), I was eager to see what the people at the Opry and Junior Opry had cooked up for the 2000 summer season.

It didn't take long to see that the Junior Pros were cooking as they opened the show.

The entire show included more older, traditional songs in this year's show.

Morgan Hughes did "Coal Miner's Daughter," a number that gets the audience's attention each time she performs it, and Clayton Case did the George Jones number, "The Race Is On," in excellent fashion and followed it up with "Going to Kansas City."

When the Junior Pro Fiddlers, led by Angie Carriere, came on stage, anyone not tapping his/her feet did so in short order after the youngsters started up.

Carriere told the crowd that the fiddle — violin, in some circles — is the hardest musical instrument to master. That knowledge made their performance just that much more remarkable.

It is a treat to see all those bows moving in perfect harmony, knowing the satisfaction the kids get in performing. (Sorry, big Opry, but that is my favorite part of the show.)

The group did "The Orange Blossom Special" and "Bile That Cabbage Down." Josh Carriere received "oohs" and "ahs" as he did his special singing accompanied by the fiddlers.

Get out to see the Junior Pros, either with the Opry or in other engagements. You will leave with an improved attitude about life after seeing their performance.

(The next opportunity is tomorrow evening, when the Juniors perform as part of the Floyd County Bicentennial celebration at the MAC at 8 p.m.)

The Kentucky Opry would not be the same with Monroe (Freddie Goble). His antics never fail to entertain — and last Friday night's performance was no exception.

I still say the man is a terrific singer. Songs involved in his routines require great musical skill, even though the point is to convey comedic situations.

Don't miss Monroe's "Stand by Your Man." It's different and it's fun.

Even though the kids capture our hearts, the Kentucky Opry has some excellent songs to offer for

The addition of the Opry choir added even more versatility to the show.

The fiddling corps got the show off to a foot-stomping start.

your entertainment.

Laura Ford's rendition of "First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" was a crowd pleaser.

Garland Rogers, a sure shot to be a star, sang his original composition, "Sorry That I Called." This song is on his new album.

Jo Jo (Pack) Hall sang "Your Love Is Like a River." Maybe she was singing that to her new husband, since she was recently married. She also has a new album, and it contains this song.

Kristin Everage sang the beautiful "You're My Beloved."

James Whited and Angie Carriere put on a demonstration where they played everything in the house, except a saw, and probably could have played that if one were on hand.

Not fair, James and Angie. You two can play anything and I have trouble playing a CD. James' brother Tony Whited did a great job on "Praying for Daylight."

Speaking of marriage, Shea Leslie is engaged to Chris Lafferty. You think their children might have some musical ability? Shea was stunning in her performance of "Sweetest Thing I've Ever Seen."

A special addition to this year's show is the Mountain Arts Center Choir, directed by Chris Lafferty, who has been with the Opry several years and has served in many capacities.

After a lively gospel number by the choir, Keith Caudill said, "That was so stirring that I'm tempted to pass the plate."

One gentleman in the audience said, "We'll give if you do."

A must-see is the parodies that Jonathan Estep performs. He did his Michael Jackson, but he also has some surprises for you. The man can dance.

Along this same line, Keith Caudill does an entertaining Johnny Cash (Trash). Who comes up with all this crazy stuff? I love it.

Caudill refers to these performers as a family, and audiences get a sense of that as each member does what it takes to make a complete show — not just his or her part.

Maybe they will sing "We Are Family" as their theme song. Just an idea. This group not only puts on a great show, but they also have a great time.

If you go to the show, don't dare leave before the finale. If you do, you will miss a treat.

PROCLAMATION

By

Paul H. Thompson

Judge/Executive
County of Floyd
Commonwealth of Kentucky

UPON THE OCCASION OF FLOYD COUNTY'S BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come:

WHEREAS, on December 13, 1799, the Kentucky General Assembly enacted the bill creating Floyd County, effective on June 1, 1800; Floyd County, the fortieth county in order of formation in our great Commonwealth, is part of the Cumberland Plateau, and is located in the Big Sandy area of eastern Kentucky; and with Prestonsburg designated as the county seat; Floyd County comprises an area of 393 square miles, and is bordered by Johnson, Martin, Pike, Knott and Magoffin Counties; and

WHEREAS, twenty-seven years before Floyd County was created, famous Kentucky pioneer and trailblazer, Daniel Boone, spent the winter of 1773 in Floyd County on the waters of Lick Fork of Middle Creek of the Big Sandy River, where he worked a salt deposit while waiting for his companion, William Hill, to return from North Carolina with much needed ammunition; and

WHEREAS, on June 1st, 1800, the County of Floyd was formed from parts of the counties of Mason, Montgomery and Fleming; and

WHEREAS, Floyd County is the mother county of Pike, Johnson, Martin, Letcher, Magoffin and Perry, which counties were in their entirety created out of Floyd County; and

WHEREAS, parts of the counties of Lawrence, Clay, Carter, Elliott, Breathitt, Leslie, and Harlan were formed from what was originally Floyd County; and

WHEREAS, Floyd County is named in honor of Colonel John Floyd, a pioneer explorer, and well-known surveyor under Colonel William Preston, for whom Prestonsburg is named. In July, 1776, Colonel John Floyd accompanied Daniel Boone in the rescue of his daughter, Jemima, and Elizabeth and Fanny Callaway who had been captured by the Indians. He also accompanied General George Rogers Clark on several of his expeditions; and

WHEREAS, the importance of the pioneer era cannot be overstated, for the pioneers gave the supreme sacrifice of their lives for future generations, and Floyd County played an integral role in the lives of these first pioneers; they endured many hardships and disasters, and struggled daily with the threat of Indian ambush, as recollected in the famous folktale of Jenny Wiley, a young woman captured by the Cherokee Indians and held prisoner for eleven months. Her courageous escape entailed crossing the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River to where she found safety at Harman's Station Blockhouse, the earliest settlement in eastern Kentucky. Due to her courage and fortitude, the 1,700 acre Jenny Wiley State Resort Park was named in her honor; and Dewey dam provides flood control and forms Dewey Lake, the focus of the park; and

WHEREAS, with the penetration of the railroad in 1903, coal mining became and continues to be an important economic resource in Floyd County; and the oil and gas industry and the abundance of timber are important to the economy and character of Floyd County, and these industries have enhanced the livelihoods of many of her citizens; and

WHEREAS, Bert T. Combs, a notable Kentuckian, and longtime resident of Floyd County, fondly referred to in earlier years as "The Little Judge," was Governor of Kentucky from 1959-63; having been ever mindful of the needs of his people, it was due to his insight and dedication to them that eastern Kentucky was connected to the rest of the Commonwealth through the construction of the Mountain Parkway; and now eastern Kentucky is crisscrossed with modern highways, such as Kentucky Route 80, Kentucky Route 3, and famous U.S. Route 23, the Country Music Highway; Governor Combs' education program included the construction of Prestonsburg Community College of the University of Kentucky, now a component of the Kentucky Community and Technical Colleges System, which serves a five county area including Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Pike, and Martin Counties. The college provides pre-baccalaureate education, technical and career programs, community service, and continuing education programs; and in more recent years, the Morehead State University extended campus, located in Prestonsburg, offers evening classes in telecommunications, nursing, education, business, and social work; and

WHEREAS, also instrumental to the citizens of Floyd County and eastern Kentucky was the creation of the Mountain Arts Center and Home of the Kentucky Opry, in 1996, where both programs are dedicated to showcasing the talent of eastern Kentucky, as well as being a school of music for the youth of eastern Kentucky, and attracting national artists for entertainment; and

WHEREAS, other aspects of life in Floyd County have progressed due to the hardworking citizenry, including health care, education, technology, industry, and manufacturing relating to coal resources, banking, tourism, and numerous retail businesses. While Floyd County's business community has progressed parallel to other areas of Kentucky, its people have held steadfast to its rich folk ways; and

WHEREAS, the citizens of Floyd County are proud of their rich heritage, and the contributions Floyd County has made to this great Commonwealth these two hundred years of her existence; her citizens, through their courage, leadership, and dedication, blazed important trails opening the way for progress, while preserving the rich heritage and traditions for which eastern Kentucky is so revered;

NOW THEREFORE, I, Paul Hunt Thompson, County Judge/Executive of Floyd County do hereby proclaim that July 1, 2, 3 and 4, 2000, be observed in recognition of Floyd County, Kentucky's 200th Anniversary of existence and do hereby proclaim these four (4) days as in Floyd County and encourage all citizens to join me in this important observance.

Signed this the 29 day of June, 2000

Riverside Raceway enjoys big turnout

by ED TAYLOR
SPORTS EDITOR

Nearly 50 karts arrived this past Friday for go-kart racing at the Riverside Raceway located in Dwale. Six classes of competition were held at the local track.

■ STOCK LIMITED

In his No. 3 kart, Greg Dawson took the checkered flag in winning the stock limited feature. Rex Lee Combs crossed the finish line for a second-place finish, followed by Eric Burgess.

■ STOCK LIGHT

Larry Clevenger bested Barry Geiger in winning the stock light class. Geiger finished in second place in his No. 13 kart. Third place went to Eric Meade in 18B.

■ STOCK MEDIUM

Geiger came back and won the stock medium in his No. 13 ride. Shawn Campbell placed second, with Jason Setser riding in with a third-place finish.

■ STOCK HEAVY

In the stock heavy class, it was a good one between Shawn Campbell and James Sturgill, both veteran drivers. It was Campbell taking the checkered flag for a first-place finish, followed closely by Sturgill in his No. 31 kart. Jonathan Lester placed third in kart No. 00.

■ BRIGGS JR.

Dustin Addis rolled to the winner's circle after winning the Briggs, Jr. class in his No. 11 kart. He outdistanced Chris Hall in kart No. 43, while Daniel Prater settled for a third-place finish in No. 27.

■ Orioles vs Pirates

Allen fans 17 as Orioles roll in 9-2 win

by ED TAYLOR
SPORTS EDITOR

The Orioles pounded out nine hits and Neil Allen was in complete control as the Orioles improved to 9-0 on the Senior League season with a 9-2 win over the Martin Pirates at the Allen Park last Monday night.

Allen struck out 17 batters and scattered four hits in going the distance.

Shannon Moore suffered the loss for the Pirates in working the first five innings. He allowed three runs on five hits.

Moore had half of the Pirate hits, with Paige and Stumbo collecting one apiece. Moore doubled in the first and singled in the seventh.

Dustin Hammonds collected three hits for the Orioles with Shawn Perry finishing with two hits. Allen had two safeties and drove in two runs. Jonathan Hall doubled in a run in the bottom of the fourth.

Allen had the Pirates shut out until they plated two runs in the top of the sixth inning. Stumbo doubled and scored by stealing home. Lyons walked and later scored an unearned run.

The Orioles scored single runs in the first three innings to lead 3-0. Hammonds led off with a first-inning double and came around to score on Perry's base hit. In the second, Matt Castle walked and eventually scored on a wild pitch. Hammonds opened the Orioles third inning by collecting his second hit of the game, a solo home run.

It was goose eggs for the Orioles in the fourth and fifth innings as Moore settled down. In the sixth, Bryan Paige took the mound for the Pirates and allowed two runs and a 5-0 Oriole lead. Hall doubled home Zach Bradshaw, who had entered the game for Perry. Allen walked and scored in the inning.

Scott Allen came to the mound when the Orioles batted in the seventh inning. Nine batters went to the plate with four runners coming home for a 9-2 game. Allen doubled home two runs in the inning. Hammond collected his third hit of the game, a two-bagger.

A Look At Sports... Let's admit it: Reds are not a good team

Before the 1999 major league baseball season started, the Cincinnati Reds were picked to hold up the rest of the National League Central Division.

What transpired was the Reds had to go to a playoff game with the New York Mets to determine the wild card team in the playoffs. Of course, the Mets won the game.

With the Cinderella season behind them, Reds General Manager Jim Bowden, manager Jack McKeon and the players were singing the joys of the 2000 season.

Then in February of this year, the Reds pulled off a major trade when they brought aboard Ken Griffey Jr. and then the talk was not

On June 4 of this year, the Cincinnati Reds held first place in the National League Central Division by half a game over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Today, Tuesday, June 27, the Reds find themselves seven and a half games out of first place, having only won five of their last 19 games.

The slump, the worst in years for Cincinnati, now has the fans scratching their heads, GM Bowden threatening to make some trades and the Reds players pointing fingers at one another saying someone else is not giving his all.

Bowden continues to give a vote of confidence to lame duck manager McKeon. Bowden knows if the Reds are out of the race, and they could be by all-star time, then McKeon has to go. Some major, major trades will follow and the Reds will be a different looking ballclub as the 2000 season ends.

It is hard to believe the Reds are still a second-place team, not a very good compliment for the rest of the division. It is hard to conceive that someone else is as bad as the Reds.

Now, that brings me to this. We have been

BIERY BASKETBALL CAMP SLATED FOR MCA

The John Biery Basketball Camp at Mountain Christian Academy is one of the fastest growing day camps in the country and July 24-28 are the dates set for this year's camp.

Coach Biery says the growth of the camp is threefold.

"My staff is enthusiastic and patient with great teaching ability," said Biery. "Discipline and fundamentals are what my camp is built on. Then fun. All our campers work hard and have fun while they are working. All we ask is for all campers to try and they will have accomplished everything we teach."

The camp will feature guest speakers. Each camper will receive a camp T-shirt. Contests will include Hot Shot, 1-on-1 and 2-on-2. Awards and trophies will be given out plus other surprises and fun.

just contending for a divisional title, or a pennant, but even a world championship.

Heading into the 2000 season the missing link of a "can't miss" season was the question mark of the Reds starting rotation. After all, the Reds had the bullpen and the bats to bring home a championship. The pitching was suspect.

With the two-week dead period in effect for high school basketball, the Betsy Layne Ladycats are coming off a very successful summer season.

Betsy Layne, which finished strong in the Transylvania camp two weeks ago, tied for the championship in their pool at the AAU tournament in Danville.

Coach Cassandra Akers said she was pleased with the summer effort.

"Very pleased with it," she said. "We finished with a record of 19-9 including the Pike Central league, Transy camp and AAU. Now we are going to rest and look forward to the fall."

Betsy Layne owned victories over Frankfort and Wayne County in their pool, losing to Ohio County.

The Ladycats posted a 62-31 win over Frankfort before losing to Ohio County 76-46. Betsy Layne posted a 54-47 win over Wayne County, which had beaten Ohio County.

Betsy Layne lost in the first round of the AAU tournament to Notre Dame Academy 64-53.

"We were down one point at the half and trailed two points going into the fourth quarter," said Coach Akers. "We just had no legs left in the fourth quarter."

Bears coach looking forward to debut season

Pikeville College will field its first ever football team this fall as they will take part in club football playing a seven-game season schedule, consisting of six games with Kentucky colleges, and one game with a college out of Tennessee.

The season opener at Georgetown College will be Thursday September 7, and will be carried live by WYMT-TV out of Hazard.

Games can also be heard on 103.1, "The Bear." The Pikeville radio station will be carrying football all season long.

The Bear football squad will be playing three home games this season at three different area high schools. Pikeville College Coach Zak Willis feels the area high schools should be a part of the program as much as possible.

"This first season we'll be playing games at three local high schools — Pikeville, Belfry and Shelby Valley," Willis said. The coach went on to say, "The local high school and high school coaches have been very helpful in getting the program started, and I want to involve them as much as we can. The people here in Pike County and Floyd County have really shown great support to the new football program, and it's very nice to see that type of support coming into a school that's just starting football."

College football is something that the people of Appalachia have always loved, and the strong support of the new football team has already made the new coach feel very welcome.

The Bears football club is currently searching for a permanent practice site. One of the local high schools will more than likely be the site of a practice field. The Pikeville YMCA will also serve the 2000 squad in their practice needs.

Coach Willis reported that the school is set to break ground on a football complex but wasn't completely finished with negotiations concerning the construction of the facility.

"The complex will hopefully be up and running by next season," Willis said. "School President Hal Smith is a man of great integrity and this football program is something that he really wants to see succeed."

A football team at Pikeville College is something that was always just a subject of speculation. It's very encouraging to see the new head coach so excited about the start of the season. The number of in-state and surrounding region players is very good, when you consider the infancy of the program.

"The official date to report is August 6. We should have around 80 players reporting on that date," said Willis. "Fifty of those 80 players we've got coming in are from either Kentucky or West Virginia."

Willis went on to say, "Our main priority is to recruit the best high school football players from our area, then we'll go out of state to fill the remaining needs of our football team."

Coach Willis acknowledged that the area high school football coaches should serve his college program very well.

201 drivers take commemorative lap for Kestner

Salyersville's David Powers wins third Late Model feature

by CHRIS BELCHER
TRACK WRITER

Saturday night's crowd of spectators and field of drivers in all five divisions said their final goodbyes to a former driver who tragically lost his life last Thursday in a motorcycle accident.

Roger Lee Kestner's passing was observed with a moment of silence held following the evening prayer and the national anthem. Several winning competitors carried the checkers around the quarter-mile of red clay as a dedication to Kestner, who drove the #37 road hog a couple of seasons ago.

The staff at 201 Speedway extends their deepest sympathies to the Kestner family in their time of loss.

Qualifying Saturday night at 201 had the #18 Warrior Chassis car of Allen's Brandon Kinzer turning in the fastest lap in the late model class, turning in a time of 13.57. Stambaugh's Scott McCloud had the quickest Super Bomber effort of 15.91 with his "Scurlock's Heating & Cooling" sponsored #5M.

In late model feature action Saturday night, Martin's Shannon Thornsberry shot to the front from the drop of the green, despite heavy pressure early from the #18 of Kinzer, and David Powers in #97. The front three soon separated themselves from the rest of the pack as it was Kinzer taking over the at the point.

Thornsberry drove his #17 Masterbuilt Chassis a little too hard into turn two, forcing the 10-year driver to the rear of the field, and handing the lead to Kinzer.

Kinzer's challenger then came in the form of Salyersville's David Powers, who stayed on the rear deck lid of Kinzer. Both drivers put on what most considered to be the late model battle of the season, with Kinzer bouncing off the front stretch wall a couple of times after coming off the fourth turn with a lot of power.

Somehow managing to hold the point, the #18 car held on until five laps left to go to the checkered flag fell. Powers found a route to the inside of Kinzer, and took the lead over at lap 20, leading all the way to victory to record his 3rd feature win with the "J.M.C. Motorsports," "Green's Lawnmower Service"-sponsored #97 Rayburn machine, followed closely to the finish by the #18 of Brandon Kinzer, Sunshine's Butch Dowdy and Martin's Shannon Thornsberry.

As always, remember David's message to all the kids — "JUST SAY NO TO DRUGS!"

Stambaugh's Scott McCloud took control of the Super Bomber feature, leading all 20 laps with his "Scurlock's Heating & Cooling" sponsored #5M, "Frogonery Racer", with Lenore, W.Va.'s Jason Dempsey crossing second, ahead of Darren Muncy's #55 and the 98G of defending Super Bomber Champion Gary Cunagin.

Barnett Creek's Ronnie Conley showed the way over the first nine laps of Saturday's feature in the Lowell Blair owned #U2, with heavy pressure from Kevin Baker's #H51 and Jody Puckett's #J3, until both Puckett and Baker had to pit on lap 6 with flats. Flat tires left Cunagin's main challengers Benny Butcher and the #P17 of Keith Potter. Butcher made up his bid for the front on the ninth lap as he powered the #81 bomber past the flag-stand.

On the restart after a caution for his brother, Albert Butcher found a line off the fourth corner, and out-powered Conley for the lead and held on the remaining seven trips to post his fourth feature win of the season in his #25 Monte Carlo. Ronnie Conley held on for a second-place finish, with Lowell Blair's #U2 finishing ahead of Jody Puckett, who returned from a flat to record a strong third-place finish in front of West Liberty's Keith Potter, and Del Tackett.

Road hog action from Saturday night at 201 had Lowmansville's Mikey Wallen taking the checkers with Robie Ratliff's #R33, "Cody Mining", Ratliff's Auto Parts sponsored hog beating Walter Castle's #17, along with Tom Crabtree, and A.J. Stambaugh to the finish. Saturday night's final feature saw Rodrick Mollete finish ahead of Raccoon's Jason Bentley, Salyersville's Harry Davis and Paul Sammons.

Next Saturday night, 201 invites all area bombers to the red clay for the "Citgo" Firecracker 50 paying the fastest bomber $800. The following Saturday night is the return of the mules for the "Run for the Daisies" old-time mule race, plus a regular card in every division.

making all sorts of excuses as to why the Reds are in such a tailspin. The club says the injuries have hurt. Fans say the pitching is the problem. Others are pointing at the lack of leadership the club has.

Barry Larkin should be the team leader, but, some say, he is not certain he will be a Red next year and really "doesn't care!"

True, there is a difference in salary negotiations and Barry's contract is up after this season. Look for the Reds, if they are out of contention, to unload the shortstop to a contending club for some promising prospects.

Well, with all the excuses, we all could just feel better about this team if we will just admit one thing to ourselves — the Cincinnati Reds are not a very good ballclub.

Last season was indeed a fluke year when they won 96 games. History will point out you win pennants and world championships with good pitching. That is something the Reds do not have and it does not appear they will have in the future unless they unload Dante Bichette, Larkin or Dmitri Young for one.

Pokey Reese is a weak hitter, and he will never be a solid player, and should be put on the market. It is scary when they talk of him as being the team's future along with minor league shortstop Gookie Dawkins.

Give me Chris Stynes any time. Stynes plays hard and gives a solid effort each time on the field. I think Pokey is one of those players that fingers were pointed at in the clubhouse, along with Sean Casey.

Casey was resting on last year's accomplishments, and figuring he could turn it on when he wanted. Hitting a weak .280 with only four home runs and 17 RBIs is not a good season. Growing a beard is not going to change the numbers.

Hal Morris, Michael Tucker and Stynes should be given more playing time.

Now for McKeon. Have you heard him with Marty on radio just before the game starts? Marty will ask Jack a question about a player and the Reds skipper is often admitting he "just doesn't know!"

Shouldn't a manager be in the know of what is going on with his club? I would think so.

Has there been any thought of getting a good pitching coach? Don Gullet has proven he cannot do the job. Why keep him around? We never think that the problem with pitching could be the pitching coach.

Now, if McKeon is gone after the all-star break, who would you like to see manage the Reds? One source told me, name not important, that the possibilities could include the likes of either Dusty Baker or a second stint for Lou Pinella. Both managers' contracts are up after this year. If McKeon is gone at the break, mentioned as a possible interim replacement is Bob Boone.

Bowden has said that if the present players don't want to perform and play with some enthusiasm, "then we will trade them for players who are going to give the effort."

"We've done that before," said Bowden. "The lack of an effort is worse than a loss."

The Reds General Manager would not step out and name the players who were giving forth an effort.

"They know not who they are," was his answer when asked to name some players. "They know who is not hustling."

One of the things that seems to irk Bowden was players swinging at pitches out of the strike zone.

The Reds began a three-game series with division leading St. Louis Monday night and pulled out a 3-2 win as the bats remained silent for most of the night. The Redlegs got a solid effort from Denny Neagle, who went seven and two-thirds innings.

The Reds hit the road to tough Arizona this weekend for a four-game series that stretches through Monday. Most agree it is make or break time for the Reds.

It is going to get interesting as to how this all comes out. Will the Reds once again look toward the future? As of the present, they are not a good baseball team.

Until Sunday, good sports everyone and be good sports! Take the kids to

Bears

"When I first got here I met some of the area coaches," Willis said. "Since arriving I've had the chance to meet and talk with many more. It helps when you have quality coaches in the local high school ranks."

One of the things that really impresses Willis is the support the local high schools get from their communities.

"The support the local communities give to their schools is real impressive," said Willis.

The rest of the Pikeville College coaching staff includes a coach from Miami, Florida, two coaches coming in with Willis from South Carolina, and a regional coaching product. The college coach has filled the remainder of his coaching staff for the 2000 season with a mixture of coaches.

Shawn Thacker is a Raccoon native who played football at Sue Bennett College in London. Thacker is doing a lot of the Bears' recruiting while serving as linebacker/strength coach.

Mac Bryan serves as assistant coach to Willis. Bryan comes to the newly formed Pikeville football program, from Southern Miss, where he was also an assistant coach.

Willis praised Bryan's knowledge of the game commenting, "Mac has coached on the junior college level and at Southern Miss. We are fortunate to have him here."

The recruits Pikeville College has coming into it's debut season are just as impressive as its coaching staff. Local recruits on this year's squad include Prestonburg's Hank Mullins, Adam Bailey and Belfry graduate Jonathan Wright. The local recruits should mix well with the other recruits coming into the new program.

Coach Willis sees this program being where it needs to be in the next three or four years.

"In the 2001 season we will be joining the Mid South Conference, which in my opinion is the strongest conference in the NAIA," said Willis. "We plan on building this program up to where we can compete and contend for a Mid South Conference title."

The expectations for the 2000 Pikeville College football season are already high. Fans want to see their college football team playing college football, something that they have wanted for quite a while now.

Zak Willis has come to Pikeville College to build a football program. Pikeville College, it's trustees and college President Hal Smith are giving Coach Willis the resources he needs to do so.

Although the practice field plans aren't finalized, the coach's show is still in the works, and ground hasn't been broken just yet. College football fever has definitely hit.

Coach Willis along with his staff and players are counting down the days till they can get started. The anticipation is high and the end results should be even greater.

Bluegrass State Games

LEXINGTON — Today is the main deadline for signing up to participate in individual sports in this year's Bluegrass Summer State Games.

Athletes who want to participate in the following sports should turn their entry forms in by that date: archery, bowling, canoeing/kayaking, chess, cycling, disc golf, golf, horseshoes, martial arts, power tumbling, racquetball, sailing, shooting, wimming, table tennis, track and field, and wrestling.

There are still two other deadlines for this year's Summer Games. Runners who want to participate in the 5K Road Race will have until July 7 to register and the deadline for fencing will be Aug. 11.

The Games will kick off on the weekend of July 14-16 with a limited schedule of events.

Opening ceremonies will be held July 21 and most of the Games will follow on the weekend of July 22-23. Fencing competitions will be held on Aug. 26 this year in Louisville. Most of the Games will be played in Lexington and surrounding counties.

This will be the 16th year for the Bluegrass Summer Games. Nearly 19,000 amateur athletes from 109 Kentucky counties participated in last year's Summer Games.

Entry booklets for the 2000 Summer Games can still be obtained at these locations or by calling the Bluegrass State Games office at 1-800-722-2474; Valvoline Instant Oil Change locations in Lexington, Louisville and Northern Kentucky, McDonald's Restaurants in Central/Southeastern Kentucky, Meijer Stores, Central Bank locations, GTE Phone Marts, GTE Wireless kiosks, local parks and recreation departments, and public libraries.

The Bluegrass State Games are a project of the Governor's Commission on Sports, Physical Activity and Wellness and are designed to provide Kentuckians of all ages and abilities the opportunity to participate in statewide, family-oriented sports festivals styled after the Olympic Games.

Pikeville College football

Pikeville College will make history on September 7 when their first-ever football team takes to the gridiron for the first time in kicking off their junior varsity schedule.

The first game will be at Rawling's Stadium on the campus of Georgetown College.

The college released its schedule Monday which will see Zak Willis' ballclub play seven games in its initial season. The Bears are playing as a junior varsity team the first year.

Pikeville will play three home games this season, and use three local high school facilities for them.

"We're excited about September coming and getting our feet wet," said Willis, the former South Carolina assistant. "These games have been anticipated for a long time. The excitement has been growing. We didn't think that was possible, but it's true. We're happy to be bringing this town something it's wanted for ages."

The opposition will be familiar to local fans. The first home game, September 14, will see the Bears entertain the junior varsity of Eastern Kentucky University. The Colonels will play the Bears at the W.C. Hambley Athletic Complex in Pikeville.

The next home game will be Monday, September 25 when the Bears host the Indians of Cumberland College at Vipperman Stadium in Belfry.

The finale to the first football season will be Thursday, November 9 when the Bears host the University of Kentucky. That clash will take place at the Johnson Brothers Athletic Complex at Shelby Valley High School.

The schedule is rounded out by October games at Marysville (Tenn) and Centre, and a November 4 contest at Campbellsville.

Jackie Boggs and Gary Combs were the big winners at the East Kentucky Raceway this past Friday night, with Boggs taking the late model feature and Combs getting the checkered flag in winning the modifieds.

Three Boggses ran in the late model, with Tommy Boggs finishing second to Jackie. Of the seven entries, three were from the Boggs family. Randy Boggs took sixth place. Steve Littleton, feeling out of place, took third place. David Conn finished fourth and Tom Hall placed fifth. Seventh place went to Joey Back.

Randy Boggs mounted his modified racer but had to settle for a second-place finish behind Combs. Combs led from the green to the checkers and on to victory lane. Jimmy Allen was a third-place finisher. Finishing fourth was Michael Perkins.

David Shepherd, Terry Mullins, Frank Porter and Mike Christian rounded out the top eight.

Scott McCloud, of 201 fame, ran Friday night at Willard and took first place in the super bomber feature. He finished in front of second-place finisher Joey Back. Jim Lemaster placed third, with Brian Sammons placing fourth.

Claude Spence, Kendall Flangher, Terry Hicks and Jeff Flaughner completed the field.

Veteran racer Harlan Ferguson went from the green to the checkers in winning the bomber feature. Placing second was Paul Day, followed by Danny Lowe.

Joe Day, Rob York and John Triplett rounded out the field of six drivers.

The final feature of the evening involved the road hogs, with Carson Rogers taking the checkered flag in front of Bryan Bledsoe. Jay Perkins placed third, with Richard Horton crossing the line for fourth place. Garrett Kitchen and Jeff Robinson placed fifth and sixth respectively.

Racing happens every Friday night at the Willard track.

Orioles complete perfect season with win over Reds

by ED TAYLOR
SPORTS EDITOR

Coach Tom Holbrook's senior league team completed a perfect regular season but it took the late-inning heroics of John Hall to win the final game of the regular season against the Martin Reds.

The Martin Orioles posted a 6-5 win over Martin and finished with an 11-0 record as all-star play approaches.

Zack Bradshaw picked up the win for the Orioles in going the full seven innings. He struck out 10 batters, allowing only three hits.

Jason Lafferty suffered the setback for the Reds in the seven-inning stint. He finished with eight strikeouts but the Orioles touched him for 12 hits.

Bradshaw shut out the Reds through the first five innings. At one stretch he retired nine consecutive batters until the sixth inning when the Reds scored four times to make it a 4-4 game.

With two out in the Reds' half of the seventh inning, Martin scored after the first two batters had been retired, to give Martin a 5-4 lead heading into the bottom of the inning.

In their final at-bat, the Orioles struck after Lafferty had retired the first two batters. Neil Allen singled with two out and Bradshaw followed with a base hit. John Hall then rocketed a gapper to left center field, scoring Allen with the tying run and sending Bradshaw in with the winning run.

Martin scored three times in the third inning after they could get nothing going against Lafferty in the first two frames. Dustin Hammonds singled with one out and Anthony Conn followed with a safety. Allen singled to load the bases with Hammonds and Conn coming home on Bradshaw's base hit. Hammonds scored on John Pack's safety.

The Orioles went in front 4-0 with a single run in the fourth inning. Shawn Perry singled to open the frame but was erased on Joey Bryant's ground ball. After Lafferty fanned Hammonds, Conn doubled home Bryant.

Lafferty held the Orioles in the fifth and sixth innings, allowing his team to plate four sixth-inning runs to tie the game. An error in left field allowed two unearned runs to cross the plate. Lafferty and Tommy Nelson had base hits for the Reds in the inning.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

MONEY IN A FISH'S MOUTH!

ARAMAIC, THE LANGUAGE WHICH JESUS SPOKE, IS STILL USED IN PARTS OF SYRIA TODAY IN ITS ORIGINAL FORM WITH THE SAME IDIOMATIC PHRASES AND SLANG. ONE OLD EXPRESSION IS "YOU CAN FIND A SHEKEL IN THE MOUTH OF A FISH." MEANING: IF YOU CATCH A GOOD FISH YOU CAN ALWAYS SELL IT EASILY AT THE MARKET. IF A MAN SAID "THERE'S TWENTY SHEKELS IN THE HORN OF MY GOAT." NO ONE WOULD CUT OFF THE HORN LOOKING FOR THE TWENTY SHEKELS—EVERYONE KNEW HE MEANT THE GOAT'S WORTH WAS TWENTY SHEKELS. TODAY, IF A MAN SAYS, "I'VE GOT SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS TIED UP IN MY CAR," WE WOULDN'T SEARCH HIS CAR LOOKING FOR A TIED UP BUNDLE OF MONEY—WITHOUT ANY OTHER EXPLANATION, WE KNOW IT MEANS HE'S SPENT THAT MUCH MONEY ON HIS CAR FOR REPAIRS OR SOMETHING OF THE SORT...

WHEN JESUS WAS IN CAPERNAUM AND THE ROMAN TAX-COLLECTOR ASKED FOR THE HEAD TAX EVERYONE PAID TO ROME (TWO SILVER COINS, WORTH A SHEKEL), JESUS TOLD PETER, WHO WAS A FISHERMAN, TO GO CATCH A FISH WHICH WOULD HAVE A PIECE OF MONEY IN ITS MOUTH (MATT. 17:27). MANY AUTHORITIES ARE AGREED HE WAS USING THE SLANG OF THE DAY—IN OTHER WORDS, TO CATCH A FISH GOOD ENOUGH TO SELL ON THE MARKET FOR A SHEKEL. AND THIS WAS THE TAX DURING THE 1ST CENTURY, A SHEKEL THE GREEKS WERE

Fun, Motivation and Modeling Help Kids Get in the Swing

If you have children, this will come as no surprise to you: Kids love to play fun games. So if you want them to learn golf, the first principle is: Make it fun.

Golf can be used for relaxation, enjoyment with friends, competition and later for business. And you can play golf long after the ability to play soccer, baseball, basketball and football is gone.

You know this, but chances are your kids don't. How do you let them discover the long-term advantages of golf without being too pushy? In other words, how do you motivate them to play golf?

Motivation is not innate; it's a learned skill. That's an important point because it means that kids can learn to be motivated. What certainly helps to motivate them is seeing you golf. Kids are great copiers, and with Tiger Woods, a kid himself, dominating the sport, they now have another role model for golf.

Modeling is innate, and your kids will model you when they are learning something new like the golf swing. They also watch how you respond to making mistakes.

If you believe that mistakes mean failure and are an attack on your self-worth, then you will be fearful of trying anything new, and so will your kids. So the way that you look at mistakes has a great deal to do with how your junior player will approach the golf learning process—a process filled with "bad shots" in the early stages.

Kids who look at bad shots as personal disasters often quit the game after a few years and that's a shame. Golf is a great game, one your kids can play their whole lifetime. Exposure to the game and the type of people who play it can teach young people valuable lessons, one of which is that "failure" is a stepping-stone to success, not an attack on your self-esteem.

(For more on junior golf, see "Play Golf for Juniors" by T.J. Tomasi and Mike Adams, Firefly Books.)

This young player just hit the ball fat, but so what — it won't be long before he learns to make solid contact.

ASK THE PRO

Q: One of the guys in my foursome got a new putter and he says it's "face balanced," but he can't explain it. What's it mean?

— Josh
from Keyser, W. Va.

A: It's a new type or class of putter. There are arguments for and against this class, but you can tell if you have a face-balanced putter by doing this: Balance the shaft of your putter on your finger. If the putter face is parallel with the ground, the putter is face balanced. If the toe points toward the ground, the putter is a "toe down" putter.

■ ■ ■

Q: I saw Lee Trevino on TV a couple of weeks ago and he didn't put his ball on a tee on a par 3. He just put the ball on the ground and hit it onto the green. I always thought you were supposed to use a tee. Should I or shouldn't I?

— C.H.
from Minneapolis

A: I think you should. Remember, that's Lee Trevino, one of the greatest players ever. My advice is always opt to use a tee under your ball on a par 3, even if you're hitting a short iron. If you choose to hit the ball off the ground, you run the risk of hitting it fat.

Also, when your ball is on the ground, you might catch some grass between your clubface and ball, which decreases backspin and causes your ball to roll more after it lands. This shot is called a "jumper" and it goes farther than you intended.

So to ensure that you get the true distance from the club you choose, tee the ball every time the rules allow.

To Ask the Pro a question about golf, e-mail him at: TJInsider@aol.com.

IT'S GOOD FOR YOUR GAME

In the photo on the left, I've started my downswing with the same amount of knee flex that I had at address. If I simply keep this position and allow my arms to drop down to the ball while my body unwinds, my spine will stay at its address angle and I'll make solid contact with the ball. But as I demonstrate in the photo on the right, if I increase my knee flex as my downswing unfolds, my spine angle changes. At impact I'll hit the ground before I hit the ball because the club is, in effect, longer than the one I started with.

Sweet Swing Is Soured By Shifting Knee Flex

One thing good golfers do is establish the correct relationships at address and then keep them throughout their swing.

If you want to play your best, most consistent golf, you can't change your spine angle during your swing. For solid contact, you've got to keep your body level so that your club comes to impact on the right path with an angle of approach that allows the clubface to hit the ball directly on the sweet spot.

Consider this example of how destructive losing your body level can be. Say your 7-iron is 37 inches long and your left arm is 32 inches from the tip of your shoulder to your knuckles. That makes a total club length at address, shoulder to clubhead, of 69 inches. Your goal is to produce solid contact by returning to impact with the same length club as you started with.

If you come to impact with 70 inches, you'll bury your clubhead into the ground behind the ball in a bone-jarring collision that leaves your ball well short of target. If the length has shortened to 68 inches by the time you arrive, you'll catch the very top of the ball and hit one of those "ground-huggers."

For solid contact, you've got to keep your body level so that your club comes to impact on the right path.

In the rogues' gallery of bad shots two of the most notorious are the fat and thin shots. In many cases they have a common cause, i.e. your body changes its level.

If you move up and away from the ball as you swing, your club becomes effectively shorter (the thin shot). Moving down and toward the ball, makes your club longer (the fat shot).

The cure is to keep your spine angle from changing as you swing, and the best way to do this is to focus on keeping the same knee flex you started with at address all the way to impact.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

He manages his game well. I managed my game well. I think he can play right-to-left or left-to-right. He probably plays better right-to-left than I did. He's got a far better short game than I ever had. ... He's a terrific putter, but I think I was a good putter too.

—Jack Nicklaus, comparing his overall game to Tiger Woods'

GOLF SPOKEN HERE

Banana Ball

BIRDIES & BOGEYS

Labrador Non-Retriever

Golf World reported in a recent edition the story of Shamous, a Labrador retriever who sometimes retrieved the golf balls his master chipped and pitched, and sometimes he didn't. Suspicions rose when Shamous fell ill, and he was X-rayed by his vet, who found 14 golf balls of varying brands in his stomach. Surgery was performed and the balls safely removed, most of them damaged by the dog's stomach acid. The only ones that were still perfect: the Titleists. I smell a commercial in here somewhere.

DeLorean Country Club

John DeLorean, cool-guy car designer of yesteryear, has been evicted from his 434-acre estate in New Jersey's hill country near Bedminster after filing for Chapter 11 bankruptcy last fall. The estate was sold to a golf course developer, National Fairways Inc., of Fairfield, Conn., for $15.25 million. The developer plans to build a private golf club and some homes on the property.

THE GOLF DOCTOR

High Tee Gets Best Distance

Positioning the ball correctly in your stance is an important part of playing your best golf. But there is another aspect of ball positioning that is equally important, and that is teeing the ball at the correct height.

The rule of thumb is that when you're using a wood, you should tee the ball so that the top edge of the wood bisects the middle of the ball.

Your goal with the woods, especially the driver, is to hit the ball slightly on the upswing. However, many golfers tee the ball too low.

Because their swings are so steep into the ball, many golfers find that when they tee it up high, they go under the ball at impact and hit a pop-up. It doesn't take too many of these sky balls before you lower your teeing height.

Tee the ball as described above and work on shallowing out your swing so you get the correct trajectory and full carry for all your woods off the tee.

This ball is teed to the perfect height.

School board okays increase in fees for education groups

Traveling just got a bit more expensive for groups associated with the educational process in Magoffin County.

And the increased expense didn't come about as a result of escalating fuel prices.

For groups such as the local head start program, Magoffin County's gifted and talented, and others affiliated with local education will be paying more to the Magoffin County school system for use of the system's buses.

The Magoffin County school board voted last week to increase fees charged to those groups for the use of school buses by $.42 per mile for field trips.

The Magoffin County ESS, head start, upward bound and any fund II programs, which includes special education and gifted and talented and gifted programs, will now pay $.92 per mile for buses they use on field trips.—The Salyersville Independent

Heavy rains bring benefits to area battle with drought

A weekend's worth of rain brought many rewards to the area, but officially Magoffin County and most of Kentucky are still battling the effects of last year's drought.

From when the rains started in earnest on June 16 until June 20, parts of Morgan County had received almost three inches of rain with some areas across the state receiving even more.

Officials with the Salyersville Water Works reported Tuesday morning that their rain gauges showed the area receiving two and three-quarter inches of rainfall over the period.

The rainfall brought relief to farmers, especially those growing tobacco in the area. Some tobacco crops had to be re-set due to the lack of rain since the initial setting.—The Salyersville Independent

Pike's ethics board inactive for past year

The state-mandated seven-member body tasked with monitoring concerns and policies related to Pike County's official code of ethics has not met in more than a year, according to Judge-Executive Karen Gibson.

And that group — the Pike County Ethics Commission — has already lost at least two of those members, with a third possibly on the way, heightening concerns for appointing replacements, Gibson said.

"State law requires that we have an ethics board," Gibson told the court this week as she presented two recommendations to fill the seats left vacant after the resignation of Dr. Mary Pauline Fox and local attorney Marris Allen May.

But a vote on Gibson's picks — Pikeville College professors Carol Grizzard and Robert Davis — was put on hold Monday, until the court's July 17 meeting upon a motion by Magistrate Hilman Dotson and a 4-3 vote tabling the appointments to allow court members to review resumes.—Appalachian News Express

Pike officials diagnose case of meningitis

What at first appeared to be a health problem in just neighboring Floyd County now seems to be one here, after a Pike County Health Department official confirmed yesterday a second case of bacterial meningitis has been diagnosed locally.

Paul Hopkins, director of the Pike County Health Department, said a 12-year-old girl has become the second Pike County resident to contract the illness with the last month.—Appalachian News Express

Six enter guilty pleas in Mexican marijuana pipeline

In a surprising turn of events, six of the 16 people charged in a $34 million marijuana ring entered guilty pleas Monday in U.S. District Court in Pikeville.

Among them were James Wellman, David Wellman, Mark Wilson, Emil Hinkle, Thomas Munch and James Arthur Horn.

Each of them pleaded guilty to one count of the 17-count indictment and will receive final sentencing once all trials in the case are over.

For weeks it was rumored the U.S. District's Attorney's Office was talking to those charged in hope of making a deal.

Monday was to be a status hearing, but U.S. Attorney Thomas Self, substituting for Roger West, told U.S. District Joseph Hood that eight plea agreements had been reached.

All six men entered guilty pleas on count I of the indictment that stated they conspired with others to knowingly and intentionally possess, with the intent to distribute various quantities of marijuana.—The Martin Citizen

Lorene Mills arose early Thursday morning for her routine walk and noticed a small crack in the asphalt of her driveway. When she returned an hour later, the crack in the steeply sloped roadway was larger.

Her husband Ersel Mills kept watch on the crack and noticed it was growing along the base of the mountain where the couple's brick home is located about one-quarter mile west of the Turkey Volunteer Fire Department. The hillside in front of the homes of two neighbors has also slipped, resembling a fault line as the crack followed a path along the base of the mountain.

A day later, conditions worsened. The television cable snapped. A repairman replaced it, and minutes later the cable snapped again.—The Martin Citizen

Sheriff has until Friday to pay debt

Sheriff Darriell Young has until Friday (today) to repay $70,664.40 to the Martin County Fiscal Court for his payroll advance. A failure to repay the money could force the county to shut down, as it cannot close out the fiscal year budget which ends June 30.

The fiscal court requested that Martin County Judge-Executive Dr. Lon E. Lafferty ask Young to see if the sheriff could get a loan to repay the debt.—The Martin Citizen

Court sets aside money for pay hikes

County commissioners gave second and final approval Thursday to a $4.6 million budget that includes some money for salary boosts for county employees, but no raises have been okayed yet.

Judge-Executive Tucker Daniels said in a special meeting Thursday that the budget for next fiscal year, which begins July 1, includes about $22,000 in a contingency fund that can be used to give employees, including deputy sheriffs, salary increases.

"We haven't budgeted an exact amount for raises," Daniel said, "but we will decide in a month or so how much we can give."

Commissioners made no comments on the budget and no substantial changes were made to the spending plan. But, the revenue side of the document could improve considerably if an ordinance proposed Thursday by Daniels gets final approval.—The Paintsville Herald

Medical Center early Friday, about three hours after the mishap.

The fatal accident occurred around 9 p.m., Thursday, at Kelly's Radiator Shop, where Kestner was employed, along Route 1049 in Oil Springs. He was thrown from the motorcycle during the mishap and suffered severe head injuries, according to a state police press release.

Healthnet, an emergency response helicopter, was dispatched to the scene and landed at Oil Springs School, but Kestner was transported to the local hospital by the Paintsville ambulance service.—The Paintsville Herald

County man honored on national monument

On January 26, 1994, emergency medical technician John F. Compton, 57, of Van Lear, collapsed and died of a heart attack while in McDowell on duty with P & B Ambulance service of Prestonsburg.

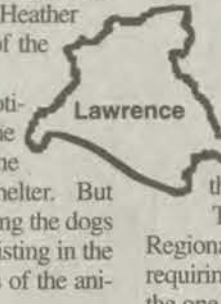

Last Saturday, Compton was honored in a special emotion-filled ceremony at the home of his widow, Verda, in West Van Lear. Mike Vanhooze, a former Johnson County man who is now a paramedic with the Georgetown-Scott County EMS, presented Mrs. Compton with a National EMS Memorial medallion, a flag and a certificate to honor her dead husband.—The Paintsville Herald

The highest jobless rates in the FIVCO Area Development District, according to the latest state statistics.

Lawrence County's rate of people unemployed declined from 8 percent in March to 7 percent in April, but figures released by Department for Employment Services show that the rate was the FIVCO district's second highest in April.

Oply Elliott County, with 9.9 percent, had a higher rate.—The Big Sandy News

Board members want notification of 'major' incidents at regional jail

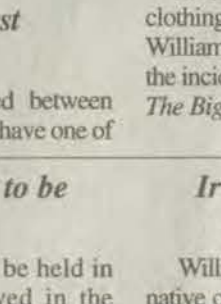

A recent arson at the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center in Paintsville caught the attention of members of the facility's governing board, who told administrator Ken O'Bryan last Wednesday that they should have been notified about the incident.

To that effect, the members of the Big Sandy Regional Jail Authority unanimously approved a motion requiring O'Bryan to inform them of "major incidents" like the one that occurred at the jail on July 18.

In that incident, a female inmate allegedly caught her clothing on fire in her cell. Assistance administrator Butch Williams was hospitalized for smoke inhalation following the incident but was back on the job a couple of days later.—The Big Sandy News

William E. Barber, Col. U.S. Marine Corps, retired, a native of Dehart in Morgan County, remains gravely ill in a hospital in Irvine, Calif., following heart bypass surgery several weeks ago and was unable to attend the June 3 dedication of a $6.5 million, 42-acre park named in his honor by the city of Irvine.

The Col. Bill Barber Marine Corps Memorial Park honors the 80-year-old Congressional Medal of Honor recipient, who has lived in Irvine since retirement from the Corps in 1970 and who, until ill health prevented it, has been active with community youth groups in Irvine and taught public speaking skills. The name also honors the Marine Corps, which has contributed to the growth of Irvine with nearby bases at Tustin and El Toro, Calif.—The Licking Valley Courier

Quarantined dogs to remain housed at animal shelter

Their quarantine period has ended, but four dogs suspected in the mauling of a Blaine girl earlier this month are still impounded in the Lawrence County Humane Society Animal Shelter.

Marsha Dotson, director of the animal shelter, said Tuesday that she was told that a judge had ordered that the dogs remain housed at the facility while authorities continue their investigation into the attack of 11-year-old Heather Jarvis. Dotson said she had requested a copy of the order but had not received one by Tuesday.

County Attorney Kimberly Compton was notified last Tuesday that the 10-day quarantine of the four canines had expired, meaning the owner of the dogs was free to take the animals from the shelter. But Compton said she may seek a court order requiring the dogs to remain at the shelter if a Louisville doctor assisting in the investigation determined that dental impressions of the animals were needed.—The Big Sandy News

Kentucky's Korean War veterans to be honored today

Today, Friday, June 30, ceremonies will be held in Frankfort honoring Kentuckians who served in the Korean War. Gov. Paul Patton will present certificates of appreciation to all Korean veterans in attendance, or to their next of kin. The presentation of the certificates will begin at 2 p.m., between the state Capitol and the Capitol annex. A concert by the 202nd Army Band will precede the ceremony, starting at 11:30.

The event coincides with ceremonies held across the nation throughout this week to commemorate the start of the Korean War 50 year ago, on June 25, 1950, when the Communist North Korean Army invaded South Korea.—The Licking Valley Courier

Layoff in county work force

Eight employees of the county road department, including all seven hired by Judge-Executive Donnie Newsome, and one employee from the previous administration received notice of layoff on June 23.

One parks worker was also laid off, and an employee at the Human Service Center was reduced from full-time to part-time.

Perhaps the most surprisingly, Newsome chose to eliminate one position, that of economic development director, a job held by Bill Francis.

Treasurer Eddie Campbell explained the rationale for the decisions. "Obviously, there is a financial concern," Campbell said. "We had good intentions a year ago and did a tremendous amount of work, and we overextended ourselves. It was too much, too fast."—Troublesome Creek Times

On February 16, 2000, he was given recognition from the state of Kentucky. He was introduced on the floor by the Speaker of the House of Representatives as a distinguished graduate of Loyola University and given a commendation for his outstanding accomplishments in research and in the medical field. In recognition of which he was made an Honorary Kentucky Colonel.

After graduation from Loyola, Fair spent time teaching classes at Tulane University as well as keeping in step with several research projects, which at times required him to perform such duties as swimming in a snake and crocodile infested swamps, after dark, while studying the poisonous insect and reptile life that make the dark waters their home.—Troublesome Creek Times

Repair Affair 2000 volunteers improve living conditions

Each year, LKLP Supervisor Shirley Conley leads a team of volunteers to homes needing repair, where they are greeted by a grateful home owner. This year the teams improved the living conditions of ten households in Knott County.

At one site, the home of Vertie (Dootsie) Wallen of Bear Fork, the team was especially welcomed. Wallen, a widow, has been totally disabled by a debilitating stroke that paralyzed her five years ago, when she was 57.—Troublesome Creek Times

Fair joins Louis Pasteur Research Team in Africa

Twenty-two year old Joseph Fair, former Knott County resident, is gaining recognition for his accomplishments in the field of research.

In 1995, Fair graduated from Knott County Central High School. He attended Loyola University in Louisiana where he graduated with honors in 1999.

NOTICE OF BOND RELEASE

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.093, notice is hereby given that Buck Coal, Inc., 544 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, (606-886-2330), intends to apply for a Phase II and III Bond Releases on Permit No. 836-5288 which was last issued on Feb. 17, 1997. The operation covers an area of approximately 364.09 acres located approximately 1.6 miles northeast of Hi-Hat in Floyd County.

The permit area is approximately 1.5 mile southeast of KY 122's junction with the Spewing Camp Brand road. The Latitude is 37°24'40" and the longitude is 82°43'22", and the operation is located on the McDowell 7-1/2 minute USGS quadrangle maps.

The performance bond (surety) currently in effect for the operation is $8,900,000. Approximately 100% of the original bond of $17,300.00 is included in this request for release.

Reclamation work thus far performed includes: backfilling and grading, sampling and testing, liming, fertilizing, seeding and mulching, and was completed in Fall 1997. Results thus far achieved include: establishment of vegetation in accordance with the approved post mining land use plan.

Written comments, objections, and request for a public hearing or informal conference must be filed with the director, Division of Field Services, #2 Hudson Hollow Complex, Frankfort, KY 40601, by July 14, 2000.

A hearing date of this bond release request has been set for July 17, 2000, at 9:00 a.m., at the Department for Surface Mining and Enforcement's Regional Office, 3140 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, KY 41653. The hearing will be canceled if no request for a hearing or informal conference is received by July 14, 2000.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections, or requests for a hearing must be received by the Director, Division of Field Services by July 14, 2000.

NOTICE OF BOND RELEASE

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Northern Elkhorn Coal Co., 24700 Center Ridge road; Suite 118; Cleveland, OH 44145, has applied for Phase III bond release of permit 436-5191 which was last issued on 08/27/98. The bond release application covers an area of approximate 5.0 acres located 0.20 miles East of Northern in Floyd County.

The permit area is approximately 0.2 miles East from State Route 80 junction with Goose Creek Road and located 0.05 miles East of Goose Creek. The Latitude is 37°20'38". The Longitude is 82°50'15".

The bond now in effect for the permit 436-5191 is a surety bond of $2,000. Approximately 100% of the original bond amount of $10,000 is included in the application for release.

Reclamation work performed in these increments has included backfilling and grading, redistribution of the available topsoil, and revegetation in accordance with approved plan completed on April 1986. The achieved results include the stabilization of backfilling and seeding of permanent vegetative species.

Written comments, objections, and request for a public hearing or informal conference must be filed with the Director, Division of Field Services, Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, #2 Hudson Hollow Complex, Frankfort, KY 40601, by August 21, 2000.

A public hearing on the application has been scheduled for August 22, 2000 at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's, Prestonsburg Regional Office, 3140 South Lake Drive, Suite 6, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. The hearing will be canceled if no request for a hearing or informal conference is received by August 21, 2000.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

(Pursuant to Application No. 898-5853, Renewal No. 1)

(1) In accordance with KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Kentucky May Coal Company, Inc., 1045 Arnold Fork Road, Kite, Kentucky 41828, has applied for renewal of a permit for an underground coal mining operation located 0.5 miles northwest of Speight in Pike County, KY. The proposed operation will disturb 11.97 surface acres and will underlie 1981.10 acres, and the total area within the permit boundary will be 1993.07 acres.

(2) The proposed operation is approximately 0.1 miles east from Long Fork Road's junction with KY State Route 1469 and located 0.05 miles north of Long Fork.

(3) The proposed operation is located on the Wheelwright U.S.G.S. 7-1/2 minute quadrangle map. The operation will underlie land owned by Hurley Johnson, Rabon Hall, Marion Johnson, Grant Honeycutt, Vimus Isaac's Estate, Gary Hall, Ethel Holland, Sandra Childers, Drax Fouts, Louie Burke, Leonard Burke, Orville Burke, Grant Burke, Johnny Roop, Progress Land Corporation and Kinship Resources.

(4) The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Pikeville Regional Office, 109 Mays Branch Road, Pikeville, KY 41501. Written comments, objections or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director, Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow Complex, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, KY 40601.

Auxier Water Co., Inc. Annual Water Quality Report

We are very pleased to provide you with this year's Annual Water Quality Report. We want to keep you informed about the quality of our water and services we have delivered to you over the past year. Our goal is and always has been, to provide to you a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make continually to improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water remains at the highest level and the lowest price as we meet the needs of our community.

Our water comes from the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River, which is considered a surface water source. We purchase our water from City of Prestonsburg.

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Phillip Ward at (606) 886-6240. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. If you want to learn more, please contact Phillip anytime prior to any of our annual corporate meetings. It is normally held in February of every year at the Auxier Water Company.

Auxier Water Company routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. The table enclosed within shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 1999. All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. It is important to remember that the presence of these contaminants does not necessarily pose a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

Definitions:

In the test results table you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/l) - one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Action Level - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - A treatment technique is a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level - The "Maximum Allowed" (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal - The "Goal" (MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

8. TTHM [total trihalomethanes] (ppb)	100 (80)*	0	86 (running average)	6-92	#1-Dec 1999	N	By-product of drinking water chlorination

*The current MCL for total trihalomethanes (TTHM) is 100 ppb but will change to 80 ppb in the year 2001.

Turbidity has no health effects. However, turbidity can interfere with disinfection and provide a medium for microbial growth. Turbidity is a measure of treatment performance and is regulated as a treatment technique. Turbidity is measured in nephelometric turbidity units (NTU), and is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person.

Maximum Contaminate Levels:

MCL's are set at very stringent levels. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated contaminants, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having the described health effect.

A Special Note:

Sources of drinking water, both tap and bottled water, originate from streams, reservoirs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and in some cases radioactive material. It may also pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. Possible contaminants that may be present in source water are, pesticides and herbicides, inorganic and organic compounds, microbial organisms, and radionuclides. With proper treatment process these contaminants can be reduced or eliminated. In order to insure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in drinking water provided by public water systems.

Special Precautions:

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Additional Information:

Thank you for allowing us to continue providing your family with clean, quality water this year. In order to maintain a safe and dependable water supply we sometimes need to make improvements that will benefit all of our customers.

We at Auxier Water Co., Inc., work diligently to provide top quality water to every tap. Our water operators are highly trained, tested and certified by the state of Kentucky. The Company's licensed operator has over 20 years experience in the distribution system profession. We ask that all our customers help us protect our water resources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life and our children's future.

You've cleaned out your attic, your basement, your garage and now you're ready to host a garage sale. Before you proceed, follow these signs for placing the type of classified ad that will help turn your event into a best-seller.

Be sure to include in your Garage or Yard Sale ad...

- 1 WHAT.
Describe the type of sale you're hosting. Is it mostly household goods? Nursery furniture? Apparel?
- 2 WHEN.
Give dates and time of sale, and rain date information.
- 3 WHERE.
Where the sale will be held, with directions or phone number for directions.

- 4 WHY.
Reason for sale, especially if it is a "moving" sale, since these tend to attract more customers.

Sandy Valley Water District Annual Water Quality Report

We are very pleased to provide you with this year's Annual Water Quality Report. We want to keep you informed about the quality of our water and services we have delivered to you over the past year. Our goal is and always has been, to provide to you a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make continually to improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water remains at the highest level and the lowest price as we meet the needs of our community.

Our water comes from two separate supplies from the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River which is considered a surface water source. We purchase our water from City of Prestonsburg (Mare Creek to Harold Bridge) and the City of Pikeville (old Thompson Rd to Harold Bridge).

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Mike Webb at (606) 478-5500. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. If you want to learn more, please contact Mike anytime prior to any of our regularly scheduled Board meetings. They are normally held on the first Monday evening at 7:00 p.m., at the Sandy Valley Water office.

Sandy Valley Water District routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. The table enclosed within shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 1999. All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. It is important to remember that the presence of these contaminants does not necessarily pose a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at

Definitions:

In the test results table you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/l) - one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Action Level - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - A treatment technique is a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level - The "Maximum Allowed" (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal - The "Goal" (MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

UNREGULATED CONTAMINANTS TEST RESULTS

This table contains test results on unregulated contaminants during the previous five years.

Unregulated Contaminants	Unit	Average	Range
Bromodichloromethane [2943]	ppb	#2-12	12
Bromoform [2942]	ppb	#2-6	6
Chloroform [2941]	ppb	#2-10	10
Dibromochloromethane (chlorodibromo) [2944]	ppb	#2-10	0-10

The table above has analysis test results from both sources because the water from each flows to particular areas of our distribution system. (#1) Prestonsburg (#2) Pikeville.

The Best Health Care is health care close to home

It's hard enough these days to do everything you have to do to take care of your family.

There's your job. The kids' school. Homework. Supper. The yard.

Enough without having to drive a long way whenever someone in your family is sick.

At Big Sandy Health Care, we understand. That's why we have three primary care clinics in Eastern Kentucky.

Our Shelby Valley Clinic is just south of Pikeville on Douglas Parkway. Our Hope Family Medical Center is in Salyersville. And our nationally-renowned Mud Creek Clinic is in Grethel.

Our primary care clinics are like one-stop-shopping for your health care needs. We take care of everything from pediatrics to internal medicine to female health and family planning.

So don't worry about going far to find the best health care.

Caring for you is at the heart of what we do

We know that good health is important to you. And you should know that it is just as important to us. When you or a family member needs medical care or simply a medical question answered, look to us at ARH.

McDowell ARH Hospital offers the community a wide range of services right here at home. The hospital has 50 acute care beds and a 10 bed nursing facility. ARH also offers two clinics for your care and convenience which provide both adult and pediatric care. So the next time you need medical care, remember to look to us at McDowell ARH where caring for you is at the heart of what we do.

The hospital is located on Highway 122 which is accessible from Route 80 via the 680 connector at Eastern (between Martin and Garrett).

Roots of First Commonwealth Bank

On May 2, 1904, the Articles of Association for Floyd County's second bank were completed. The name of the new business was the First National Bank of Prestonsburg.

The bank's first directors selected "an upper room of the law office of May & May" as the place of business for an indefinite time. As confidence grew in First National Bank, so did the necessity for more space.

In 1909, the bank moved into new headquarters on First Avenue. By June 1920, the bank had grown significantly and began construction of an addition to the "Front and Bridge Street" building. The bank building and its contents were a sign of the times to come. Although the term "technology" as we know it today didn't exist in 1920, bank President Hiram Harris was setting the tone for his successors in providing the necessary tools to meet customer needs. This was also reflected in October 1920, when the board directed the bank's cashier to buy and install the latest and improved posting machine to keep up with the higher volume of work being required.

The stock market crash of 1929 and the Great Depression of the 1930s didn't devastate Floyd County or First National to the extent it did Wall Street, but neither were they immune from it. In 1931, there was enough confidence in the economy to raise the rent of bank-owned offices from $36 to $50 a month — plus utilities. Ultimately, however, First National in 1934 and 1935 sustained losses in bonds that necessitated a reduction in salaries to avoid layoffs.

During the remainder of the 1930s, and through the war years, the bank underwent a period of growth and was well positioned for the prosperity of the 1950s.

In 1944, a new shareholder, Burl Spurlock, joined the board. Spurlock also served as executive vice president and president from 1954 to 1972.

Seeing the post-war population growth on the horizon and to provide a more convenient location for customers, the board of directors on July 28, 1952, resolved "to relocate the main office to the northeast corner of the intersection of North Lake Drive (Broadway) and Court Street." The logic of this move was obvious. No longer were the railroad and river the primary modes of transportation and the heavily-traveled US 23, also known as the Mayo Trail, was at the doorstep of the soon-to-be bank office.

The new banking headquarters on Lake Drive and Court Street were occupied in the month of September 1953, at which time the total assets were approximately $5 million.

During the 1960s, under the direction and leadership of Burl Spurlock, the bank grew and prospered with total assets growing to $14,635,209 by December 31, 1966. During the 1970s, the bank continued to assert its leadership in the community as evidenced by its continued asset growth. Mr. Russell Hagewood, a longtime senior officer of the bank, became president in 1972 after the death of Burl Spurlock, and served in that capacity until his passing in 1976.

During this period, the bank grew from $36,066,706 as of December 31, 1972, to $63,586,665 in assets as of December 31, 1976.

Burl Wells Spurlock was named president and chief executive officer on February 10, 1976, and served in that capacity until April 2000. Under his leadership, the bank experienced tremendous growth and expansion.

In 1980, the board of directors authorized the conversion of the bank from one with a national charter to one with a state charter. The First National Bank of Prestonsburg became the First Commonwealth Bank of Prestonsburg on April 7, 1980. Total assets at that time had grown to nearly $100 million. Not long after, land was acquired with the stated purpose of constructing a new banking headquarters. The main office on Lake Drive and Court Street was no longer adequate because of the substantial asset growth. The planning and construction time took several years, but in October 1986, the new main office was occupied, being located on the property of the heirs of Professor Julian Harlow and on the old "Garfield Place," the headquarters in January 1864 of Major James A. Garfield, Union Army, during the Battle of Middle Creek.

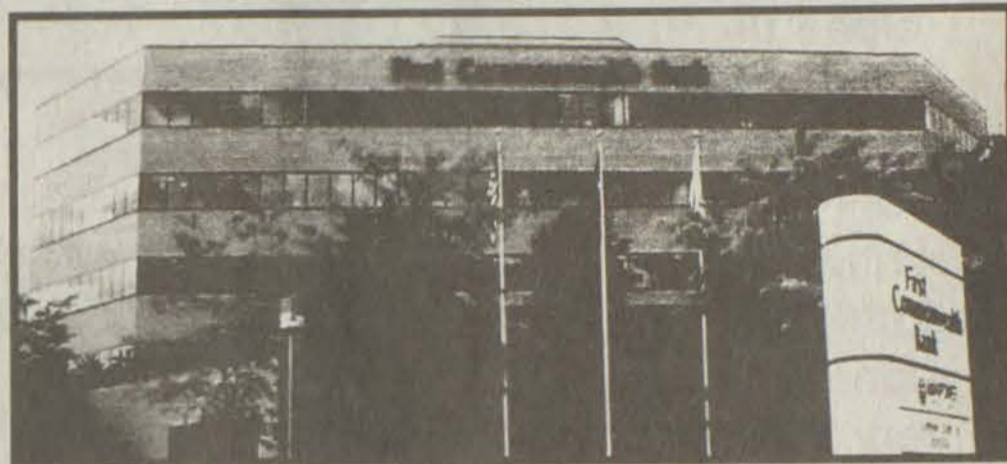

First Commonwealth Bank continues to grow and expand operations. Loan Production Offices opened at Pikeville and Morehead in 1999 and the bank had total assets of $167,704,159 as of December 31, 1999.

On April 24, 2000, Greg Wilson became president and chief executive officer of First Commonwealth Bank. Burl Wells Spurlock continues to manage affairs of the bank as chairman of the board.

First Commonwealth Bank has a proud tradition as a locally owned bank since 1904 and today continues its commitment of service to the Big Sandy area. The mission of First Commonwealth Bank is to be a locally owned community bank, committed to exceeding the expectations of its customers, employees, shareholders and community.

Proudly serving the Big Sandy Area since 1904.

Expanded cardiopulmonary services at OLW help keep patients closer to home

Since his arrival four months ago, cardiologist Dr. Ananth Kumar has helped to increase the number of cardiopulmonary services offered at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin.

That expansion has not only helped the hospital better meet the needs of the patients it serves, but it has also given the patients an opportunity to receive quality heart care close to home.

"We're a very small facility, but we offer a lot of services usually found in big cities," said Vicky Rose, a registered respiratory therapist who serves as director of the cardiopulmonary unit.

And Rose credits Dr. Kumar for helping to make it all possible.

"He has helped us out a lot," Rose said of the cardiologist. "There are not many heart doctors in this area. He has a very good bedside manner and he is very thorough."

Dr. Kumar completed a cardiovascular medicine fellowship at the University of Illinois at Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center in Chicago, after having earlier completed his residency training in internal medicine.

Dr. Kumar also holds memberships in the American College of Physicians and the American College of Cardiology.

A graduate of J.N. Medical College in Belgaum, India, in 1990, Dr. Kumar received additional training in internal medicine at Holdsworth Memorial Hospital in Mysore, India, and in ophthalmology in T.N. Medical College in Bombay, India, prior to coming to the United States.

Now Dr. Kumar is using that expertise to help the hospital provide needed services to the community it serves.

At one time, heart patients either had to wait a week or two for some tests, or go elsewhere entirely for others. Now, in many cases, all that has changed, preventing many trips to hospitals in Lexington and other places.

"[These services] are more easily accessible and more quickly accessible," Dr. Kumar said.

Among the services offered routinely at Our Lady of the Way are:

■ Stress tests and stress echoes, which are diagnostic tools which help doctors determine whether or not a patient has had a heart attack. The tools are 80 to 90 percent effective in determining whether blockage exists in arteries, a leading cause of heart attack and stroke. Previously, Our Lady of the Way was only able to perform stress tests twice a month when a cardiologist from Lexington made visits. Now the hospital can perform the tests on a daily basis.

■ Electrocardiograms, which monitor the heart's activity and assist in diagnosis.

■ Echocardiograms, which are ultrasounds for the heart. Using echocardiograms, doctors can get a precise picture of the heart in order to assess the heart for abnormalities, as well as to examine how well the heart's valves are functioning.

■ Venous Doppler studies, which determine whether there are blood clots in the legs, and carotid Doppler studies, which determine if the arteries in the neck have thickened or have become occluded.

■ Holter monitoring, which allows doctors to monitor heart patients 24 hours a day to compare heart rhythms with the chest pains or abnormal beating a patient is experiencing. By comparing heart rhythms to what a patient is actually feeling, doctors are able to accurately diagnose any trouble the patient may be experiencing.

Rose says that patients like having the new services, as well as being able to utilize other services more frequently.

"They do appreciate that," Rose said. "They were having to wait or go to Lexington and it would take several days to happen."

In addition, Dr. Kumar has established a congestive heart failure clinic at the hospital which is dramatically improving the quality of life for patients.

While congestive heart failure can be a debilitating condition, what is important to know is that heart function can be improved with medication.

At the clinic, Dr. Kumar is able to administer heart infusions to congestive

Our Lady of the Way Home Health Agency provides top-notch service while maintaining family atmosphere

Ask Mike Brown, nurse manager at Our Lady of the Way Home Health Agency, what he likes best about where he works and he will likely tell you that it's the closeness the staff has with each other, as well as with their clients.

"A lot of people say, 'We have a family atmosphere,' because it sounds good," Brown said this week. "But I'm confident I can say it and it's true."

Brown explained that Our Lady of the Way Home Health is a smaller agency and, as such, maintains closer ties between nurses and patients.

And Brown should know. The 24-year medical field veteran previously worked with a larger agency.

"It's a closer knit group of people here. When you get so big, I think you lose that," Brown said. "All the staff here knows the patients. You lose that in a big agency."

Our Lady of the Way Home Health is the newest such agency in the area, having opened its doors in January 1999. The agency serves Floyd, Pike and Johnson counties with 12 full- and part-time employees with a collective 41 years nursing experience, and numerous contract workers.

But being small doesn't mean being second rate. Just ask the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations. Just months after Our Lady of the Way Home Health opened for business, that commission honored the agency its highest level of accreditation.

In September 1999, Our Lady of the Way Home Health obtained accreditation with commendation from the Joint Commission. During an on-site inspection of the agency in July of that year, a surveyor from the Joint Commission compared the agency's practices against the commission's national standards for home care organizations.

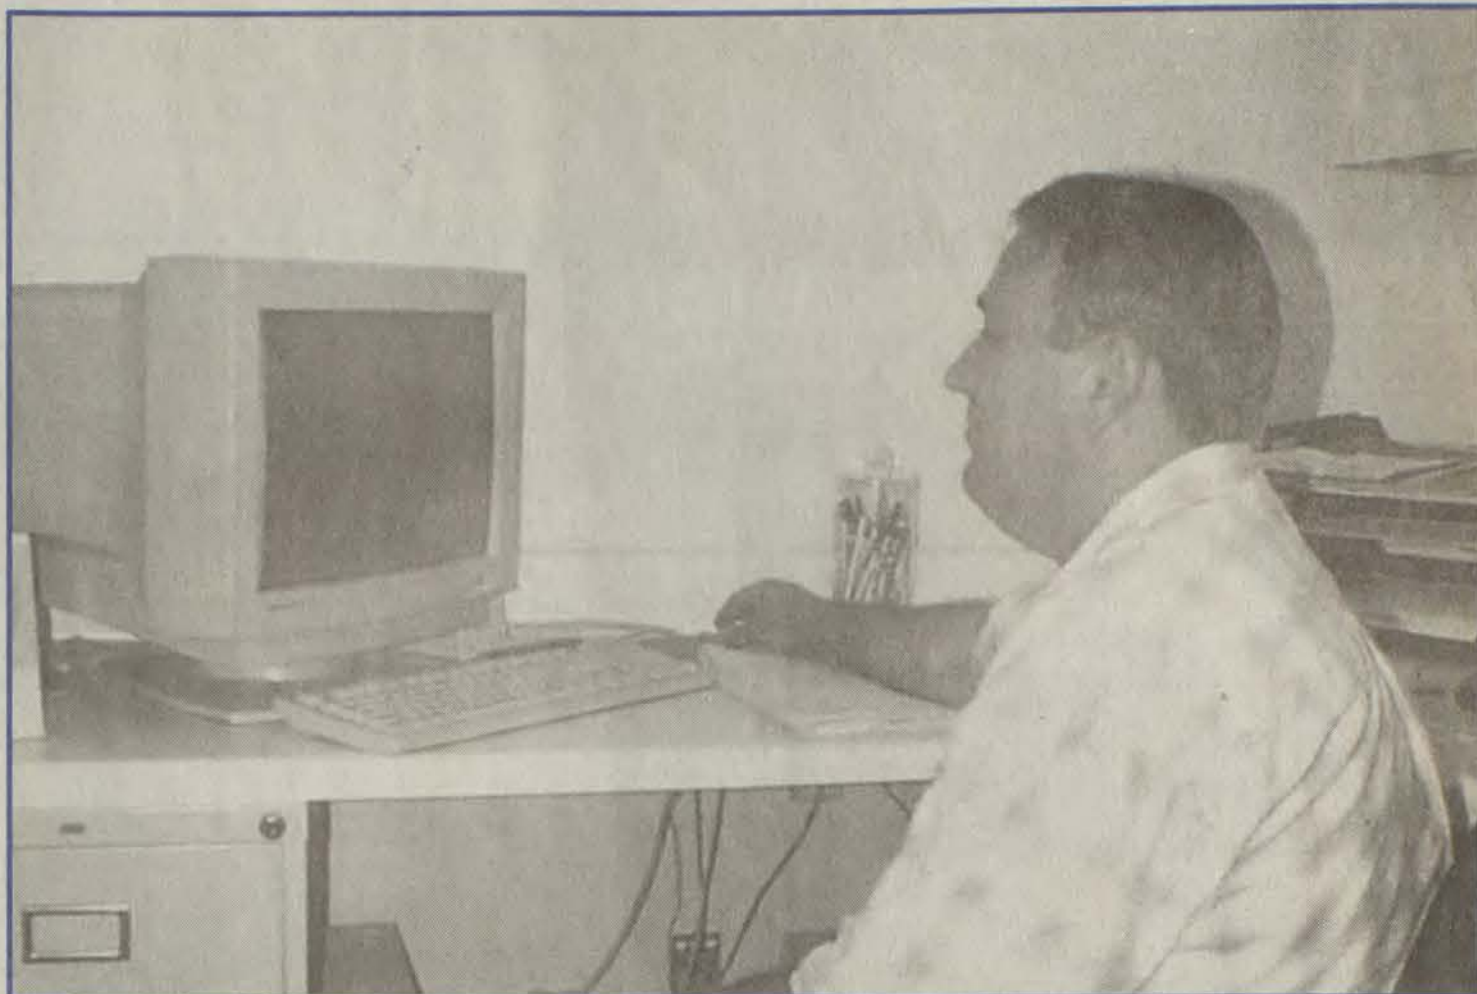

Not only did Our Lady of the Way pass, it excelled. The agency scored 97 out of a possible score of 100, earning the commission's highest level of accreditation.

"Our Lady of the Way Hospital received accreditation with commendation during our most recent survey," Kathy Stumbo, chief operating officer at the hospital, said at the time. "This is the highest level of accreditation awarded by the Joint Commission. We are very pleased that this prestigious designation has been extended to include our Home Health Agency."

Accreditation is attainable only through cooperation and communication among staff members, Stumbo explained.

"Everyone here at Our Lady of the Way Home Health plays a valuable role in working to meet the standards," Stumbo said. "I think it gives them a feeling of prestige to work in an accredited organization."

While many home health

Mike Brown, nurse manager at Our Lady of the Way Home Health, says he appreciates the close-knit, family atmosphere at his agency. He says that not only do all the employees know one another, they also know all of their patients. That degree of familiarity allows Our Lady of the Way Home Health to offer more personal attention than larger agencies can provide, Brown says.

agencies have faced troubles in recent years because of changes to Medicare and Medicaid mandated by the federal Balanced Budget Act, Stumbo says that Our Lady of the Way Home Health is a needed service in the community.

Stumbo points out that eastern Kentucky has a need for home health agencies because of four factors:

- The higher than average rates of chronic disease in eastern Kentucky, such as heart disease and diabetes.

- The lack of a public transportation system.

- The fact that many people live in areas which are isolated from health care providers.

- The rising numbers of people over age 65 in the region.

For those reasons, Stumbo says that Our Lady of the Way Hospital is responding to the needs of its patients by operating its home health agency.

Care of patients at Our Lady of the Way Home Health is divided between registered nurses and certified nursing assistants.

RNs typically provide skilled nursing services, such as administering intravenous solutions such as antibiotics and nutrition supplements.

In addition to administering IVs, workers at Our Lady of the Way Home Health also provide other skilled services such as physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy and social services.

In addition, RNs have taken on a new role by serving as educators.

"In years past, Medicare and Medicaid paid home health agencies to take total care of the patient," Brown said. "But in recent years, it's changed so that the emphasis is on teaching the family to provide care."

Brown said RNs work with families to show them how to properly care for their loved ones who are dealing with chronic diseases and other debilitating conditions.

In addition to the skilled nursing services, Our Lady of the Way Home Health also expanded its focus to include home-based waiver services and respite care.

Waiver services are available to help those with less serious conditions, but who also are unable to adequately care for themselves.

CNAs working with waiver services patients perform such tasks as bathing patients, performing housework or shopping for needed items.

Brown said the waiver services are aimed at helping patients who have been left out in the past. Many of the patients qualify for intermediate care in nursing homes, but overcrowding in such facilities has given them nowhere to turn.

"You usually can't get in an intermediate level bed in a nursing home," Brown said. "The waiting list is so long."

Brown said the impetus behind Our Lady of the Way Hospital operating the home health agency goes to the facility's philosophy of providing care to meet the needs of its patients.

"Our Lady of the Way's philosophy is to provide continuity of care for patients," Brown said.

From left, Mabel Harris, RN, Jennifer Childers, CNA, and Vickie Flannery, CNA, take care of charting and paperwork near the end of the workday. While Our Lady of the Way Home Health has office hours from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., an RN is on call 24 hours a day to help with patient emergencies.

Cardio

heart failure patients once or twice a week, and the results of the infusions can be amazing.

Rose told the story of one patient whose battle with congestive heart failure had left him in a wheelchair. Now, after taking part in the clinic, she says he is not only able to walk once again, but that he recently went four-wheeling.

With the new and more frequent cardiopulmonary services available at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin, patients who formerly had to be treated in Lexington hospitals are now able to remain close to home.

That is important, said Kathy Stumbo, chief operating officer at the hospital, because heart problems affect a large number of people in eastern Kentucky.

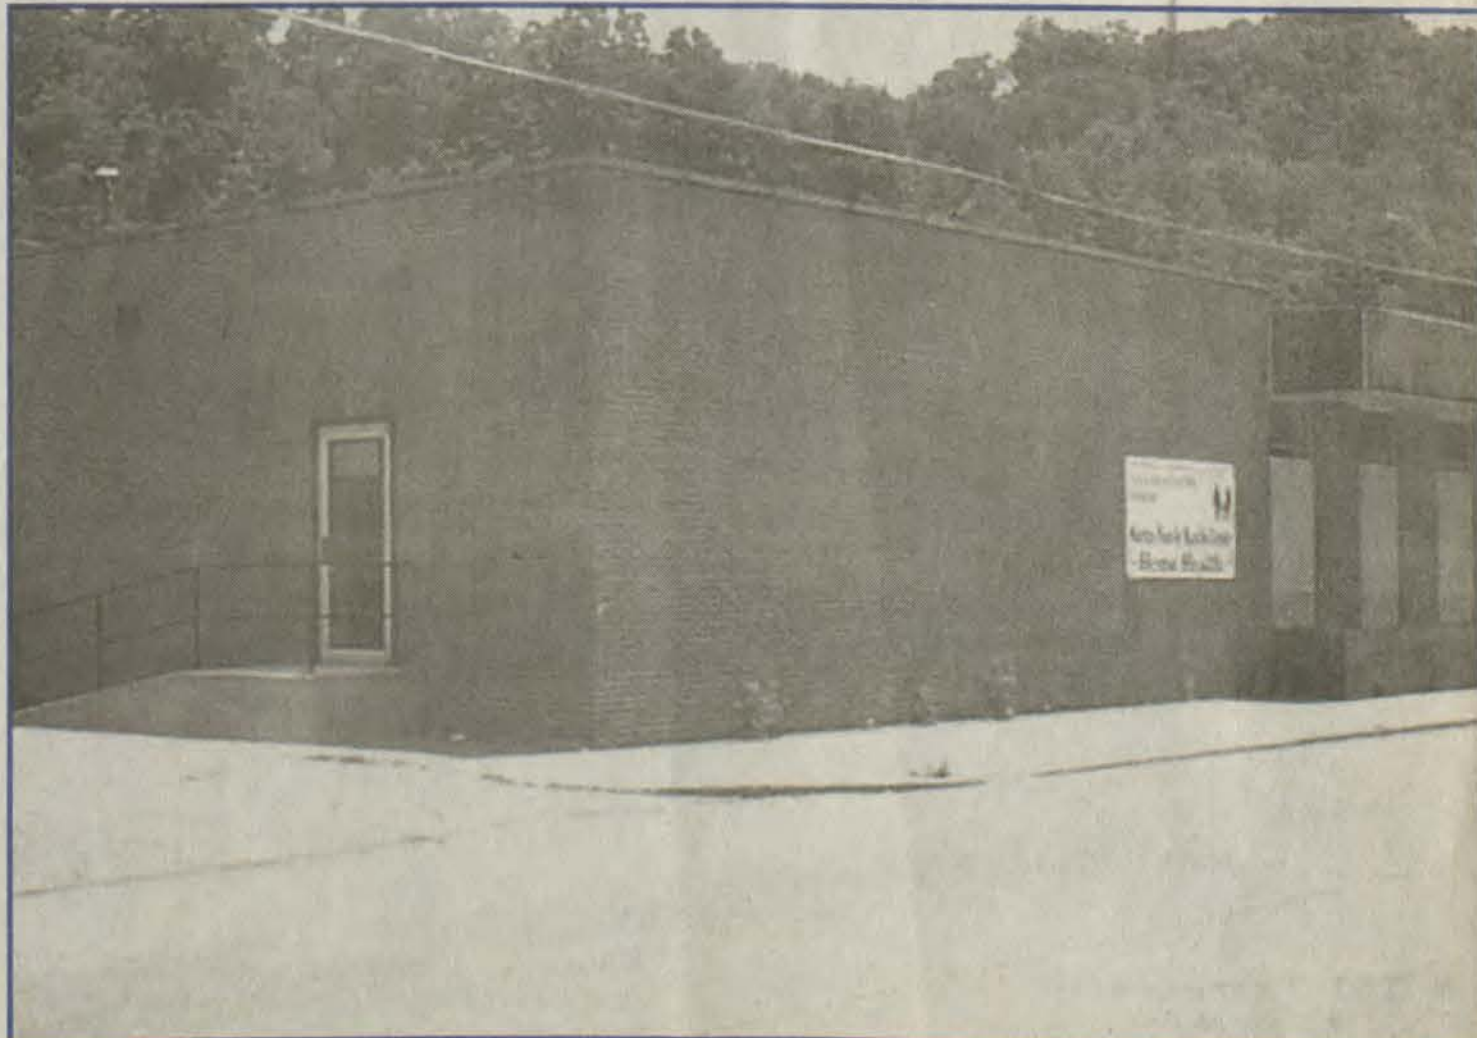

Heart disease is the number one killer of men and women in the United States, and it takes a higher toll in Appalachia.

Studies have shown that rates of heart disease are higher in eastern Kentucky than they are in both the nation and the state.

As a result, it was only natural for Our Lady of the Way to offer more in terms of cardiopulmonary services, Stumbo said, because the hospital has a mission to respond to the needs of its patients.

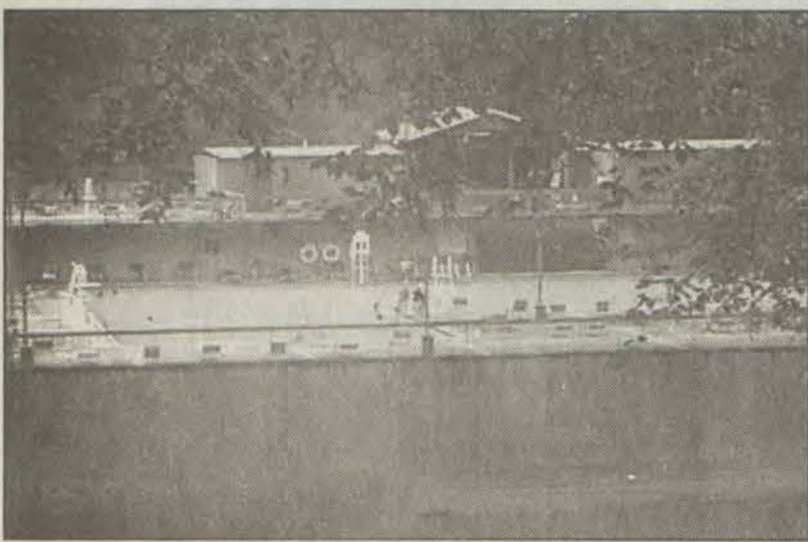

But Our Lady of the Way is by no means finished looking for ways to better serve the community. The hospital is currently working to establish a cardiopulmonary rehabilitation program, as well as looking to add more services.

Dr. Kumar practices cardiology and general internal medicine at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin. He is now accepting new patients at the Beaver Valley Clinic located in the Coal Building in Martin. To schedule an appointment, call (606) 285-1442.

Our Lady of the Way Home Health is conveniently located in Martin between the post office and the old Martin High School.

The history of Kentucky Opry

by ANN LAFFERTY
MARKETING DIRECTOR
MOUNTAIN ARTS CENTER

Prestonsburg meanders along US 23, a highway well-known for connecting the homes of many country music legends ... like Loretta Lynn, the Judds, Ricky Skaggs, Patty Loveless, Dwight Yoakam, and so on and so on. There are quite a few ... so many in fact that folks around the area have wondered if there's something in the water that produces the clear, sweet voices as it does the very mountains from which they come. Kentucky Opry, assembled in 1990 by Billie Jean Osborne, as a way to showcase the talent of East Kentucky, performed every Monday night in the summer at Jenny Wiley Theatre ... the only night of the week there wasn't a theatre performance. They have served as the opening act for many country music shows, including Travis Tritt, Ronnie McDowell, Billy Ray Cyrus and many others. They've traveled to Lexington, Louisville, Covington, Myrtle Beach, Abingdon, Va., and played at two governors' inaugurations in Frankfort. Miss Billie had always had a dream of providing a regional center where her "children" could gather and study and present music to their friends and families, and not have to travel to another place a couple hours away to do so. She campaigned and petitioned for years to get funding for that dream. That dream became a reality in the fall of 1996, when the Mountain Arts Center, a non-profit organization, opened its doors for the first time. The Center houses a beautiful, acoustically sound 1,050-seat performance theater, a state-of-the-art, fully digital 24-track recording studio, the capability of doing teleconferencing from any room at the center (even the theater), and private instruction rooms up and down the hall for Miss Billie's "children." Mountain Arts Center is now the headquarters for Kentucky Opry, a performing troupe, whose variety-style shows come to life on the stage in the theater as often as possible. The show is family-style entertainment featuring the band, pretty girl singers, cute boy singers, special guests, a delightful comic — "Munroe" — and a "level-headed" emcee, Keith Caudill, whose verbal sparring with "Munroe" can cause some uproarious fun. The Kentucky Opry Junior Pros, which was originally started as a "feeder" group for the Kentucky Opry, has a featured segment on stage during the big Opry's performances. The kids who make up this group are ages 6 to 18, and love performing anytime they get the chance to do so. They're the very real part of Miss Billie's dream. They're the reason she believed so strongly in building the Center. The Kentucky Opry summer season opened Friday, June 23. Summer shows will be performed on Friday or Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. through September 2. Schedules are available at the box office. This area is alive with talent ... musicians, singers, actors and craftsmen of all kinds. Up and down the roads and hollows, along the creeks, you'll find the track of our musical heritage. Plan a visit soon to Prestonsburg, where the highway, US 23, meets the melody of mountain tunes and the stitches of our colorful quilts ... from our past as well as our future, in these enduring hills we call home. Holiday Inn — back and better!

Around 1792, "Preston's Station" (which became known as Prestonsburg in 1799) was established. It was so called in honor of John Preston, who had been a member of the Virginia legislature and was for many years the treasurer. Holiday Inn chose to give special recognition to the fair city of Prestonsburg by naming its lounge "Preston Station." It is open from 4 p.m. until midnight, Saturday through Thursday (closed Sunday, of course), and open on Friday from 4 p.m. until 2 a.m.

PUBLIC RELATIONS DIRECTOR
The Holiday Inn of Prestonsburg reopened its facilities after an extensive renovation, which was completed in June 1999. All of the 117 rooms were completely stripped down — ceilings, wall vinyl, carpeting, and all of the furniture has been replaced. In-room features include coffee maker, data port for modem communications, hair dryer, iron and ironing board, radio/alarm clock, voice mail and a 25-inch television with remote control featuring 48 cable channels, including HBO, HBO2 and HBO3.

The Elkhorn Centre Ballroom is available for wedding receptions, family reunions, class reunions, business meetings, plus groups requiring space for a breakfast, lunch or dinner meeting. The hotel has the capacity to seat 150 people. The Garfield Room Restaurant is named in honor of President James A. Garfield, who was Union commander during the Civil War Battle of Middle Creek. The battlefield is a National Historic Landmark. The Garfield Room is open from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 5 to 10 p.m. The menu features a wide array of entrees to satisfy your appetite!

Comedy Night is featured in the Preston Station Lounge every Thursday night. Some of the finest comedians from the "Comedy Zone" Circuit appear. The show gets underway at approximately 9:30 p.m. on Thursday evening. "Laughter is a tonic — try a dose at the Comedy Zone!" For a completely fun-filled evening, Holiday Inn invites you to come in and relax in its newly-renovated restaurant and lounge. The Holiday Inn is located at 1887 North US 23, Prestonsburg, just one mile south of the intersection of US 23 and Route 114 (Mountain Parkway). For reservations or hotel information, please call (606) 886-0001.

The Dream Factory, Inc.

It all started with a dream. Not the dream of a critically ill child, but the dream of a young businessman who wanted to share himself. The year was 1980, and the place was Hopkinsville, Ky. Charles Renault established the Dream Factory when he saw the hurting children in his town and granted the wish of seven-year-old Tammy Keel to go to Disney World for her dream vacation, passing away shortly after her return from the resort park. That is how Dream Factory got started and ever since has kept growing with chapters throughout the nation. The Dream Factory is one of the largest wish-granting organizations. No, the dreams are not for us. They are for children whose names appear on medical charts next to ominous-sounding words like leukemia, neuroblastoma and takayasu.

New home of the Dream Factory.

We don't pretend to be able to cure a child's illness. All we can do is give children something to look forward to, enjoy and to look back upon with pleasant memories. If you know a child that is either critically ill or chronically ill, please give us a call so we may make his/her dream of a lifetime come true.

Your local chapter of the Dream Factory is located at 25 Dotson Lane here in Prestonsburg, at the mouth of Abbott Creek. Our number is 889-0707, or 1-800-317-7306 for people outside the county.

Hot days, COOL fun

Hot days lead to cool fun at Prestonsburg's Archer Park. Children of all ages are sure to enjoy what is one of the state's finest city parks.

Realizing the need for a recreational facility for the city, Archer Park was established in 1964 by former Mayor George P. Archer and local business leader Ed Music. Since then, the city park has been a center for recreational fun and family gatherings for years.

Whether it be a refreshing swim in the pool or an exciting game of softball, the park offers residents of Prestonsburg and Floyd County a great place to relax.

Recent improvements are sure to entice you to visit Archer Park. The installation of new water slides has been quite an attraction. Four wet and watery rides have the kids gliding their way to fun.

As always the swimming pool provides opportunities for those who want to spring from the heights of the diving board. For those who just want to bathe in the warmth of the sun, trained and certified lifeguards stand watch while you soak up the rays.

Daily admission to the pool is $2 for those under 12 and $2.50 for adults. Season passes at the pool are $50 for single, $75 for family. Private parties are also available.

A newly refurbished, full-court gym and a full-size skating rink are also available for a small rental fee for your enjoyment.

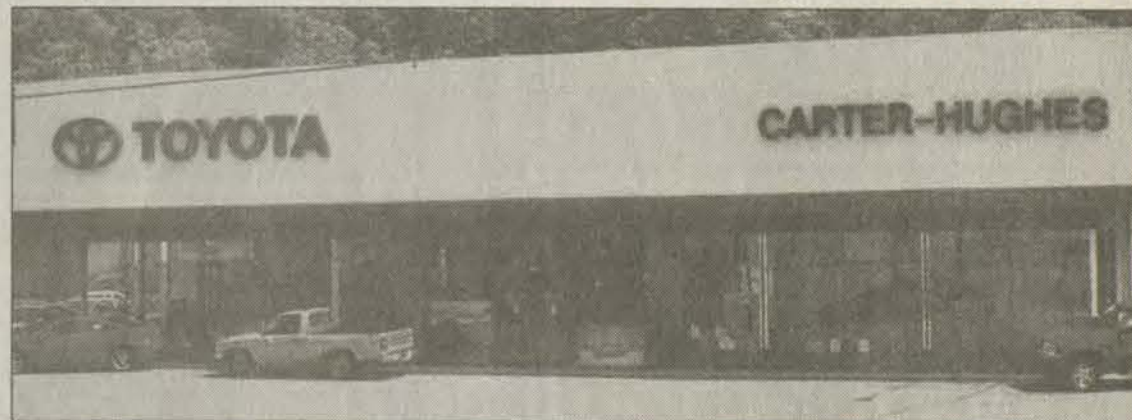

Archer Park hosts Prestonsburg's Little League, Senior League, and high school baseball competitions. A softball field is also available for local leagues.

The gym can be rented for a two-hour slot at $12 an hour. The skating rink is also available for $50.

For more information, please call Archer Park at 886-6390.

200 years and crowing

by PAM SHINGLER
Leisure Times Editor

A local band with local names and faces will cap off Floyd County's bicentennial celebration on July 4.

Don Stanley and Middle Creek will perform in concert at 6 p.m. at the Municipal Parking Lot Stage in downtown Prestonsburg, prior to the annual fireworks display.

Also in concert will be Dean Osborne and Blue Towne.

The free performances culminate three days of activities celebrating Floyd County's establishment in 1800.

The festivities begin Saturday with open house at the historic May House in Prestonsburg from noon to 5 p.m.

Also on Saturday, beginning at 1 p.m., the David Crafts Center on KY 404 at David will focus on the arts. The Patsy Teen-agers, made up of children of miners at the David coal mines in the 1950s and '60s, will have a reunion. The group per-

Salome's STARS

ARIES

(MARCH 21 TO APRIL 19)

You feel ready to face up to a major change, although it might involve some risks. A once-dubious family member comes around and offers support and encouragement.

TAURUS

(APRIL 20 TO MAY 20)

Move forward with your plans, despite discouraging words from those who underestimate the Bull's strong will. Your keen instincts will guide you well.

GEMINI

(MAY 21 TO JUNE 20)

A misunderstanding is easily cleared up. Then go ahead and enjoy some fun and games this week. A Libra might have ideas that merit serious consideration for the future.

CANCER

(JUNE 21 TO JULY 22)

You might feel as if you're in an emotional pressure cooker, but the situation is about to change in your favor. Take time out for some well-earned fun.

LEO

(JULY 23 TO AUGUST 22)

A shift in your workplace responsibilities creates resentment among some co-workers. Deal with it before it becomes a threat to your success on the job.

VIRGO

(AUGUST 23 TO SEPTEMBER 22)

Expect some surprises in what you thought was one of your typically well-planned schedules. Deal with them, and then enjoy some light-hearted entertainment.

LIBRA

(SEPTEMBER 23 TO OCTOBER 22)

Be careful: What appears to be a solid financial opportunity might have some hidden risks attached. A hazy personal matter needs to be cleared up.

SCORPIO

(OCTOBER 23 TO NOVEMBER 21)

It's a good time to strengthen ties with family and friends. You might feel unsure about a recent workplace decision, but time will prove you did the right thing.

SAGITTARIUS

(NOVEMBER 22 TO DECEMBER 21)

Just when you thought your relationship was comfortable and even predictable, your partner or spouse could spring a potentially life-changing surprise on you.

CAPRICORN

(DECEMBER 22 TO JANUARY 19)

Your usually generous self is overshadowed by your equally strong suspicious nature. You might be judging things too harshly. Keep an open mind.

AQUARIUS

(JANUARY 20 TO FEBRUARY 18)

Love and romance dominate the week. Married Aquarians enjoy domestic harmony, while singles could soon be welcoming overtures from loving Leos.

PISCES

(FEBRUARY 19 TO MARCH 20)

An old health problem recurs, but it is soon dealt with, leaving you eager to get back into the swing of things. A favorable travel period starts this week.

YOU WERE BORN THIS WEEK:

You have an independent spirit that resists being told what to do. But you're also wise enough to appreciate good advice.

The King and Eye

Life is stranger than fiction. I know this because my friend Jean, who up and left me and moved to Lexington, calls every once in awhile and relates to me some interesting stories that are usually reserved for best sellers or major motion pictures.

This week was no exception. It seems that Jean was in a drugstore standing behind an elderly man who walked with a slight limp. Jean was more aware of the man than most others in the store because he called out to his son, Owen, which made Jean do a double take since that's her grandson's name as well as her late husband's.

From Jean's vantage point, she could tell that the man looked familiar, but just couldn't place him. That would have been the end of her observation if she hadn't seen the look of surprise on the salesperson's face as Jean started to pay for her purchase.

"What's wrong with you?" Jean asked an astonished looking lady.

"I, I, I think th-th-that maaaan was Stephen King," she stammered.

"You're right!" Jean exclaimed. "I knew he looked familiar. He did look just like Stephen King."

"Do you think it was?" the lady asked.

"Well, let's go over this," Jean cautioned. "This is central Kentucky and Stephen King lives in Maine, right?"

The salesperson shook her head affirmatively.

"All right then," Jean reasoned, "it probably isn't Stephen King but someone who looks remarkably like him. So the odds of THE Stephen King being in Lexington, at a drugstore on a Sunday morning, is very unlikely. Good deduction?"

"I think you're right, but he sure was scary looking," the salesperson sighed.

"Well, he's not the most handsome man in the world," Jean began,

"but"

"No, it was just eerie how much he looked like him," she said as she took Jean's money. Jean thanked the salesperson and left the store. Once in her car, she noticed that the SUV in front of her had Maine license plates.

That's when she made a beeline back into the drugstore.

"You'll never believe this!" Jean shouted at the top of her lungs. "I think that REALLY IS Stephen King! There's a vehicle out there with Maine plates! Can you"

Jean stopped in mid-sentence as the mystery man once again walked into the store. No one made a move. It was like the scene from a mannequin party.

Everyone stood motionless except for Jean who picked up two cans of tennis balls and tried to look nonchalant as her head dawdled. No one said a word as Jean inched her way toward him with a surprised look on her face that could only be attributed to the proverbial "deer in the headlights" stare.

Very confidently Jean asked, "E wag Ug U Spen keen?"

He looked at her a moment before he replied (in English, I might add), "Yes, I am."

Jean nodded her head affirmatively and walked to the salesperson to pay for the two cans of tennis balls. As Mr. King approached the door, he looked back over his shoulder and said, "You've got some eyes going on there."

People have always commented on Jean's large eyes, but seeing Stephen King in person made them extraordinarily more pronounced. She wasn't quite sure what he meant, but Jean's daughter assumed it had something to do with King's literary prowess.

"You're probably the subject of his next book," Kelly laughed.

All Jean cares about is getting rid of two cans of tennis balls. She doesn't play.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

by CHUCK SHEPHERD

A freighter left Philadelphia in 1986 with 14,000 tons of incinerator ash for burial in the Bahamas, but that country changed its mind, and the ship drifted at sea under worldwide media scrutiny while new sites were pursued. Only Haiti seemed even mildly interested, offloading 2,000 tons before it, too, backed off. After more attempts to strike deals, the captain finally dumped the remainder at sea, but in 1998, Haiti ordered the Philadelphia contractor (Waste Management Inc.) to remove the original 2,000 tons. Waste Management agreed to bury the ash in one of its U.S. landfills, but so far in 2000, several states have denied it permits, for fear that the ash was contaminated in Haiti. Thus, 14 years after leaving Philadelphia, the ash is still around, and at press time, no one knows where it will wind up.

Claiming that Virginia has inadequately prepared for extraterrestrial invasions, Larry W. Bryant and two colleagues filed a lawsuit in June in Alexandria, seeking to force Gov. James Gilmore to empanel a grand jury to investigate alien abductions, to train the National Guard to handle attacks from outer space, and to cover abductees under civil rights laws meant for rape victims. Bryant told the APBnews service that he was especially worried about the "dark, silently floating flying triangles" that observers have noticed and that Gilmore has neither explained nor put a stop to.

Orderly Murderers

Prosecutors said Alpana Patel, now awaiting retrial for murdering her husband, did it because he had ignored her written list of 39 specific complaints about the marriage (Baltimore, February). And Pierre Navelot, 21, convicted of murder in France in February, told the court that his professional aspiration in high school was to "kill people," recalling that he had once written out a 13-page "career plan" that included the names of his pending victims. And the best evidence against Sante Kimes, convicted of murder in New York City in May, were her numerous notebooks filled with reminders, such as "when (does the victim go) to sleep" "any exits in her apt?" and "is there a burglar alarm?"

Uh-Oh!

The New Mexico attorney general announced in March that he would open an investigation of TD's Showclub North in Albuquerque for billing one customer's credit card, over four days, $26,974.50. The customer said he was drunk most of the time and thus didn't consent to the charges, but the card company said it called the man at the club twice to ask if he knew what he was doing and that he had said yes.

Recent Implants Gone Bad: Dancer Dottie L. Smith sued her plastic surgeon in January, claiming her operation left her breasts too high on her chest for any club to hire her (Milwaukee, January). A Sarnia, Ontario, dancer sued Dr. Gilles Lauzon because her implant made one breast look like a "banana" (Montreal, February). Dancer Mary Gale won $30,000 from a jury, claiming that Dr. Elliot Jacobs used breast implants for her buttock augmentation surgery, making her posterior painful and unsightly (New York City, June).

In May, the city of Pineville, Louisiana, admitted that about 60 homes had been receiving a drinking-water/sewer-water mixture for the previous three months. The city said its chlorine treatment had probably killed any bacteria, but that various water filters (in washing machines, icemakers, etc.) had become clogged with dark specks (feces) and white strands (toilet paper).

Robert Richardson, 20, and Lakrisha Nash, 18, were arrested in May after allegedly walking out of a Costco store in Chula Vista, California, with $600 worth of unpaid-for

A gripping tale of intrigue

(NAPSA)-A gripping new tale of intrigue takes fans of acclaimed author Emilie Richards from 19th century Cleveland to the present.

In her latest book, Whiskey Island (MIRA Books, $6.50), the shores of Whiskey Island are littered with dark secrets and long-hidden passions.

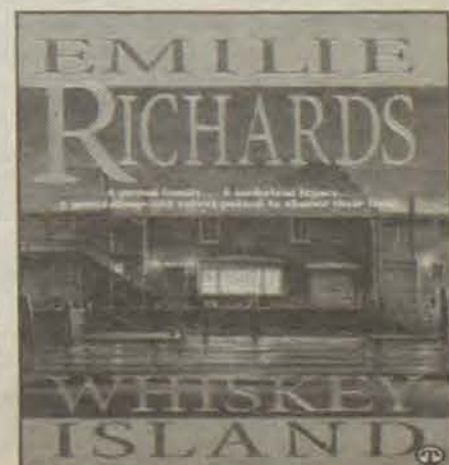

The Whiskey Island Saloon has been home to five generations of Donaghues-and a second home to Cleveland's Irish immigrants and their descendants. At the dawn of the twenty-first century, the saloon is being managed by Megan Donaghue, a fiery young woman who single-handedly saved the family business and raised her two younger sisters after their father walked out more than a decade ago.

The riveting tale sweeps readers on a journey from the glory days of Cleveland's privileged "Millionaires' Row" to the dirty, cramped streets of nineteenth-century Whiskey Island, then forward to today's sprawling metropolis, where secrets new and old collide with enough force to tear apart a family...for all time.

Whiskey Island is available wherever paperbacks are sold or through www.mirabooks.com. An audio version will also be available from dh audio.

SOAP UPDATES

ALL MY CHILDREN:

Edmund and Dimitri shared a touching reunion. Ryan pretended to be jealous as Greenlee cooed up to Leo. Edmund followed Dimitri's advice and urged Alex not to go away with Charlotte. Later, Dimitri told Edmund not to tell Alex he's alive so that she can go on with her life. After Jack recalled seeing Eliot in Statesville Prison, Eliot claimed he was the chaplain at the time. Wait to See: Charlotte tells Alex about her past.

AS THE WORLD TURNS:

Lily realized her only chance to cope with life on the island depended on Simon's survival skills. Holden tried to salvage his marriage. Molly tried to keep her promise to Jake, although she found "Lily" to be very persuasive. Emily was trapped in her web of lies. Wait to See: Holden is impressed by the changes in his "wife."

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL:

Thorne rejected Macy's attempt to seduce him, and later presented her with divorce papers. Eric assured a devastated Macy that he'll "take care" of Thorne and Brooke. Morgan told Clarke that Taylor doesn't know that she (Morgan) slept with Ridge to conceive a child. Wait to See: Macy's plan to meet with Thorne takes an unexpected turn.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES:

Phillip "won" the right to ask Chloe to the dance. Victor caught Kate and Nicholas in a compromising position. A frightened Hope feared "Evil Gina" was attempting to take over again, and that her baby's illness was retribution for Gina's wickedness. Nancy began to feel excluded as Craig and Chloe bonded. Wait to See: Nicole makes a desperate decision.

GENERAL HOSPITAL:

Ned realized the garden in Chloe's dream about Laura and Stefan was at Wyndemere. Monica told a stunned Bobbie that she (Monica) might be pregnant. Stefan completed his plan to foil Helena. A troubled Laura reached out to Mac. A jealous Emily left with a stranger after seeing Juan kiss Alison. Helena offered to give Jax the drug that could help Chloe in exchange for a night of passion. Wait to See: Emily faces danger.

GUIDING LIGHT:

Reva and Noah made love. Meanwhile, Josh made a startling discovery. Rick and Abby were excited by the decision they made, unaware that Claire might threaten their plans. Phillip and Beth discussed Phillip's place in their son's life. After helping Cassie, Edmund considered some of the tricks he still had up his sleeve. Wait to See: The wedding march begins, but will Cassie make it down the aisle?

ONE LIFE TO LIVE:

Ben helped Viki deal with the side effects of her chemotherapy. Skye blurted out to Asa that he's not Max's father. Rae agreed to allow Kelly to pose as her long-lost daughter to draw Daniel out of hiding. Sam realized Colin has seen Nora. Viki persuaded Blair not to tell Sam that Ben is Asa and Renee's son. Meanwhile, a tearful Renee told Ben she was determined to find her son. Wait to See: Lindsay learns the truth about Bo and Melanie. Todd persuades Will to let Jessica go home.

PASSIONS:

Gwen caught Teresa wearing her wedding gown. Tabitha gave Charity a pendant to enhance her dark powers. Sheridan saw Hank holding a gun. Charity had a vision of Kay and Simone in the fires of Hell. Ivy considered telling Sam that Ethan is his son. Grace screamed when she touched Charity's pendant. Luis confronted Julian about the bullet in Sheridan's cottage wall. Wait to See: Charity faces her dark powers.

PORT CHARLES:

Scott feared his and Lucy's relationship was permanently damaged. A paranoid Rachel accused Kevin of trying to kill her with poison. Joe learned the results of his HIV test. Ian ordered immediate surgery after determining Rachel had a ruptured appendix. Chris badmouthed Eve to remove her as a competitor for the post of Chief Resident. Wait to See: Alison tends to a wounded Jamal. Alan names the new Chief Resident.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS:

Jill was stunned when Mac was elected Prom Queen over Brittany. Later, Mac and Billy danced together as Prom King and Queen.

Chris told Nina the decision about making changes in her book must be hers, not Tomas's. Nick accepted Victor's offer of a reduce workload. Later, Victor warned Nikki her actions threatened to pull their family apart. Mac told Billy she fears what might happen if Jill tracked down her mother. Wait to See: Victor gets surprising news.

Soap Scraps

by SALLY STONE

I once asked Pat Falken-Smith, the award-winning writer whose credits include "Days of Our Lives" and "General Hospital," what she feels has been the most challenging aspect of her career as a soap writer:

"Getting your mail forwarded from the last show you worked on," she said.

Soap writers are among the industry's true nomads. They wander from show to show and back again, and the activities of the past few weeks certainly prove that.

By now you know the Labine family — Claire and her talented offspring, Matthew and Eleanor — are heading up the scribe tribe at "Guiding Light." We now learn they'll be joined by Stephanie Braxton, late of "As the World Turns," and David Smilow.

Meanwhile, back at "ATWT," two significant changes have taken place: Hogan Sheffer is stepping in as head writer, and Courtney Simon, one of the medium's best scripters, is joining the show as script editor. Other changes in the "ATWT" writing staff are expected over the next several weeks.

Renfro Valley to host Neal McCoy

Renfro Valley—On Saturday evening, July 8, Neal McCoy fans will have the times of their lives as the dynamic performer appears in two fast-paced performances at Renfro Valley Entertainment Center.

Hubert Neal McGaughey Jr., the son of Irish and Filipino parents, was different from his classmates in the east Texas community of Jacksonville.

When the rodeo came to town the other kids trailed along in the shadows of the cowboys, little Neal was elsewhere, he had come to see the entertainers, the country music and television stars. He liked every last one of those singers and pickers. He listened hard and imagined himself in their boots.

Even as a child he was a gifted singer whose baritone was nurtured in gospel quartets and choral groups. At home he listened to big-band records and danced to disco. His first playing gig came with a rhythm-and-blues band. It is no wonder that he appeals to a wide audience.

McCoy's hits include unforgettable numbers like "Life of the Party," "The Shake," "Wink" and his remake of the '60s favorite "Then You Can Tell Me Goodbye."

Tickets for the 7 and 9:15 p.m. performances are $21 and $23. To reserve seats call 800-765-7464 or 606/256-2638.

Renfro Valley, "Kentucky's Country Music Capital," is located just off I-75 at exit 62. Visit the website at www.renrovalley.com.

'Singer's singer' Gene Watson to appear at Renfro Valley

Gene Watson is a singer's singer if ever one breathed. Just ask Clint Black, Randy Travis, Marty Stuart, Martina McBride or any number of other stars who have been influenced by his songs.

"I never did go lookin' for music," says Watson, "music found me." In 1974 the steamy single "Love in the Hot Afternoon" was picked up by Capitol records and the rest, as they say, is history.

You can hear Gene Watson in concert when he appears at Renfro Valley Entertainment Center on Saturday, July 15 for two performances, 7 p.m. and 9:15 p.m. Tickets are on sale now.

The cost is $18 and $20. To reserve seats call 800-765-7464 or 606/256-2638.

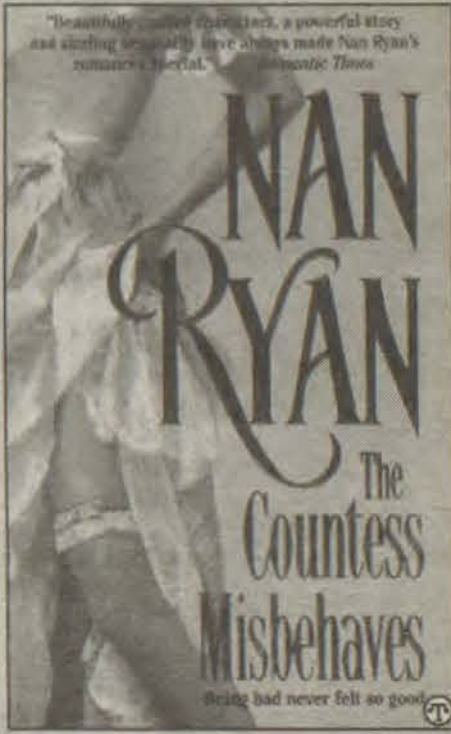

The Countess Misbehaves

(NAPSA)—An entrancing tale of a woman torn between the fiancé who loves her and a man she can't stop wanting. That's what's in store for the readers of award-winning author Nan Ryan's latest book, The Countess Misbehaves (MIRA Books $6.50).

During a transatlantic voyage from England to New Orleans, Lady Madeline Cavendish, the Countess of Ballarat, first encounters Armand de Chevalier, a man she distrusts from the first moment she sees him. With the exception of her constant encounters with this roguishly handsome Creole, Lady Madeline enjoys her sea voyage until the ship sails into a life-threatening hurricane.

In the midst of evacuating the ship Lady Madeline is nearly washed overboard. In that instant, Armand reaches out and saves her life. With no lifeboats to be found and no way off the ship, Madeline and Armand believe the end is near. They throw themselves into a passionate embrace.

What happens next, after Madeline is saved and believes Armand to have perished, is the discovery of a love neither Madeline nor Armand thought possible.

The Countess Misbehaves is available wherever paperbacks are sold, or at www.mirabooks.com. An audio version is also available from dh audio.

Somerset festival spotlights masters

The Master Musicians Festival will take place, July 20-22, in Somerset.

Thursday's Classical Concert will feature the Louisville Orchestra with international star violinist, Rachel Barton—a three-time "Festival Favorite"—as soloist. New York virtuoso pianist Jeffrey Jamner (MMF '95) will perform Gershwin's "I Got Rhythm" with the orchestra.

Friday's line-up features the popular, genre-defying Amazing Rhythm Aces, and the Les Sampou Band, a bluesy American band from Boston.

Also in the limelight are several regional acts: Karousel, Sofa King Deluxe, John Wilson & Rich Lawrence, Wanda Fries, and a tribute to Russell County's recently deceased star musician, Kenny Wilson.

Musicians performing Wilson's original material are his brother, Keith Wilson, with Tom Minton, Greg Ikerd, David ("Cruso") Robinson, Jim Gillum, and David Warinner.

Saturday's stellar line-up is already drawing attention from internet users across the nation: five-time Grammy Award-winning legend Doc Watson is the featured "Master Musician of the Year."

He will be accompanied by his longtime touring partner, Jack Lawrence, and his grandson, Richard Watson. He blends Appalachian folk music roots with blues, country, bluegrass, and gospel to create his own style and an expansive repertoire. He is a powerful singer and a tremendously influential picker who virtually invented the playing of mountain fiddle tunes on the flattop guitar.

Also on the National Stage on the third day of the festival are the hilarious and energetic Juggernaut Jug Band; renowned bluegrass pickers Jim Hurst and Missy Raines; the traditional New England folk duo Atwater-Donnelly; banjo greats Tony Trischkla and Bill Evans; sweet bluegrass vocal harmonies by Claire Lynch and the Front Porch String Band; and the show-stopping, vocals of John Cowan and his powerful band.

On the Kentucky Stage that Saturday will be the Polk Family & Friends; The Goodmans; musical excerpts of "Annie Jr." by the Meece Middle School drama students; the combined children's choirs of the First Baptist Church, Bill Adcock & Allison Sewell, directors; black gospel singing by the Mass Choirs of Somerset and St. Peter Claver Church Choir, Lexington; a red-hot Festival Jam; and multi-instrumentalist Tom Minton.

For teens and young adults, the Re-Generation Stage will offer a full line-up of Kentucky's most exciting bands on Saturday, July 22, hosted by Somerset's superb band, Doc, who have just signed with a national label.

Friday and Saturday's events will be held outdoors at Somersport Park. There will be tents for sunshade and some chairs, but to be sure you have a seat, bring a chair or blanket.

Choose from a wide variety of tasty concessions, or bring your own picnic. Arts and crafts by Sheltoewe Artisans will be available for purchase. Professional play directors will coordinate activities for children: arts and crafts workshops, games, world dancing, song writing, storytelling, and group listening.

Children 12 and under are admitted free of charge; teens are $5 in advance and $10 at the gate. Advance tickets prices range from $10 to $18. Senior tickets and multiple-day passes are available and provide substantial discounts.

For a free brochure, advance tickets, two-or-three-day passes, and general information, call locally 606/678-2225 or toll-free 1-888-386-5859. For travel, lodging and area information, call toll-free at 1-800-642-6287.

'Light up the sky' opens theatre season

Horse Cave Theatre, Kentucky's Professional Festival Theatre, launches its 24th season on June 30 with a gala reception at 6:30 p.m., followed by a 7:30 performance of Moss Hart's uproarious show-business comedy, "Light Up The Sky."

Hart, one of American theatre's most popular comic writers, is renowned for his collaboration with playwright George S. Kaufman on the perennial favorites, "You can't take it with you" and "The Man Who Came To Dinner."

In "Light Up The Sky," he presents the misadventures of a Broadway-bound theatre company opening a new play in Boston.

Hart pokes fun at a variety of cheerfully exaggerated theatrical types — a self-dramatizing leading lady, an earthy stage mother, an overly emotional director, a hard-nosed businessman turned producer, an idealistic first-time playwright, and an established older writer with a more cynical perspective on the heartbreak that often lurks behind the bright lights of the theatre world.

The egos, ambitions, and clashing personalities of this company strike comic sparks as they join forces in anticipation of success and turn on each other in the face of failure.

"I think the six plays chosen for the 2000 Season are as entertaining, stimulating, and challenging as any we've produced in our 24-year history," said Horse Cave Theatre's Artistic Director Warren Hammack.

"From the heart-warming American classic, 'Our Town,' by Thornton Wilder, to the exciting world premier of 'Beating The Varsity,' by Glasgow playwright Larry Pike, this season truly has something for everybody."

The cast of "Light Up The Sky" includes Ronald J. Aulgur as director Carleton Fitzgerald, Robert F. Brock as playwright Owen Turner, and Pamela White as ice-skater Frances Black. The play will run through September 16.

The theatre will add a second play to this year's rotating repertory when the British farce "Funny Money" opens on July 7. On July 14, the Theatre will present the world premiere of "Beating The Varsity," a new play in the acclaimed Kentucky Voices program.

The season will continue with the World War II romance, "And A Nightingale Sang," opening August 18; the heartwarming classic "Our Town," opening September 22; and the Agatha Christie murder mystery, "Spider's Web," opening October 20.

Horse Cave Theatre is located off I-65 halfway between Louisville and Nashville, at Exit 58, two miles east in downtown Horse Cave.

St. Croix's rich historical past

(NAPSA) — Visitors to St. Croix may fly there, but when they drive along the new Heritage Trail they are both entertained and enlightened about the island's rich historical past and cultural heritage.

The trail, traversing the entire 28-mile length of St. Croix, links together the history of the island's diverse inhabitants, agricultural points of interest and the many existing historic attractions. Using a trail map and following the Heritage Trail road signs, visitors will be able to explore the island on a self-guided driving tour, which features fascinating historic attractions, cultural landmarks, scenic overlooks and restored points of interest. Throughout the trail are also opportunities to learn about the island's oral traditions, music, food and agricultural history.

The Heritage Trail traces St. Croix's evolution, which was influenced by a variety of nationalities that have lived on the island over the years. During the past 350 years, European planters and merchants, enslaved Africans, free people of color, Caribbean immigrants and American settlers have profoundly shaped the island's history and culture.

When Christopher Columbus first discovered the island in 1493, he encountered a population of Indians known as Caribs. Since that time, seven different flags have flown over the island of St. Croix—Spanish, Dutch, British, French, Knights of Malta, Danish and American. The Danish influence had a profound effect on the architecture of buildings and cultural traditions that are still evident—including driving on the left side of the road.

St. Croix's Heritage Trail extends from the historic seaport of Frederiksted located on the island's west end to Point Udall, the easternmost point of the United States in the Western Hemisphere, and includes the island's vast and fertile central plain.

Trail brochures with maps for the Heritage Trail are available at the United States Virgin Islands Department of Tourism offices. For more information on the St. Croix Heritage Trail and the United States Virgin Islands, call 800-372-8784.

There are many sites to see along St. Croix's Heritage Trail, including the remains of several old plantations and great houses. © Lynn Seldon/USVI Dept. Of Tourism

Mt. Sterling gallery has new show

The Montgomery County Council for the Arts and Georgetown College will sponsor an exhibit of watercolors by Peggy Mann, beginning July 7, and ending July 29.

The exhibit is free and open to the public, Tuesdays through Saturdays from 11:30 a.m., until 4:30 p.m. The Gallery is located at 42 West Main in Mount Sterling.

Peggy Mann began painting at the age of 39 after being invited by a friend to sit in on a community education class, taught by local artist, Ray Beam. After just three sessions, she was hooked and attended Beam's classes for several years thereafter.

She has participated in workshops with artists Doug Adams, Richard Ensing, Johnny Johnson and Russell McLanahan. Although such workshops were beneficial, Peggy firmly believes that just continuously painting is that best way to grow as an artist.

Watercolor is her favorite medium because of the variation of colors and hues that are possible, although she does enjoy experimenting with oils and decorative painting.

"I paint because I love to. It has become a very important part of my life and I am happier when I am painting on a regular basis," Mann said. A "First Friday" reception to introduce the exhibit to the public will be held from 4:30 p.m., until 7 p.m., at the Gallery on Friday, July 7. Complimentary refreshments will be served.

For more information, contact the Gallery at 859/498-6264.

The Labines, whose first scenes will air Aug. 7, have two challenges to deal with as they start their "GL" duties: One is to write for a new character who is described as being in her early 20s with "warmth and humor."

The other task for the Labines is to fill the vacuum soon to be left by the departure of Maeve Kinkead (Vanessa Chamberlain Lewis Reardon). After 20 years, Kinkead is taking her leave of soaps to focus her attention on her family and the theater. She has been one of the dominant figures on "GL" and will be missed both for her talent and for herself.

Look for an announcement about Mark Pinter (ex Grant, "Another World," ex Brian, "ATWT," ex Mark, "GL" and ex Dan, "Loving") to rejoin "ATWT" either in a new role or to assume the role of Craig Montgomery, which had been created by Scott Bryce in 1982 — and confirmation that Michelle Stafford will reprise her role as the trouble-making Phyllis on "The Young and the Restless."

Two young bands belt out bluegrass

Airing Thursday, July 6, at 10 p.m., on KET, the next episode of "Jubilee" presents Mountain Heart and Nickel Creek, two young, talented bands that have an eye on tradition.

Mountain Heart, which is composed of an impressive lineup of young, new-generation pickers, opens the show. Led by Steve Gulley of Doyle Lawson & Quicksilver fame, Mountain Heart also features Barry Abernathy, winner of the 1997 Banjo Player of the Year award from the Society for the Preservation of Blue Grass Music in America.

Abernathy also played in Doyle Lawson & Quicksilver, and Gulley was previously a staff musician, featured vocalist and musical director at Renfro Valley.

Nickel Creek, featuring mandolin virtuoso Chris Thile, takes the stage next. This group features Sara Watkins, 1996 Arizona State Fiddle Champion, and her brother Sean, 1996 Arizona State Mandolin Champion. Thile's father, Scott, rounds out the group.

Regarded as a mandolin-player of outstanding expressiveness and originality, Chris Thile is an accomplished and critically-acclaimed musician despite the fact that he is only 19 years old. Since being named Mandolin Champion in Winfield, Kansas, at the age of 12, Chris has recorded two solo albums on the Sugar Hill label in addition to his work with Nickel Creek.

Both groups were recorded for "Jubilee" at last summer's Festival of the Bluegrass at the Kentucky Horse Park.

"Jubilee," a KET production in its fifth season, is produced and directed by H. Russell Farmer.

Evening at Pops presents Alison Krauss, Union Station

Rolling Stone once called Alison Krauss a "crystalline soprano... [who] sings with riveting emotion—and no melodrama whatsoever."

Solidly based in bluegrass music, this talented singer and fiddle player, who signed her first record deal when she was only 14 years old, has won both critical and popular acclaim through her unique blend of traditional and contemporary sounds.

Krauss and her band, Union Station, bring their hit songs to KET when "Evening at Pops" airing Friday, July 7, at 10 p.m.

The Grammy Award-winning bluegrass group performs several tunes from their latest album, Forget About It. Song selections include "Stay," "Forget About It" and the traditional bluegrass tune "Ride the Wild Turkey." Krauss promises to dazzle audiences with her beautiful voice as well as her brilliant fiddle playing.

Evening at Pops "Alison Krauss and Union Station" is produced by WGBH/Boston and the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Inc.

Renfro Valley welcomes the Crabb family

Kathy and Gerald Crabb are a very blessed couple. They are able to travel with their children Jason, Kelly, twins Aaron and Adam, and 17-year-old Terah, the youngest of the clan, while they minister the Gospel of the Lord.

The music ministry is truly a family affair as oldest daughter Krystal, who also holds the coveted title of mother of two granddaughters, helps out in the office of the Family Music Group.

The Crabb Family has been nominated for 43 awards in three years and have been honored with "Sunrise Group," "New Artist of the Year," Album of the Year and many other tributes. This Southern Gospel Group will be performing at Renfro Valley Entertainment Center on Friday, July 14, at 7 p.m.

Concert-goers will be treated to songs like "Shoutin Time," "Please Forgive Me," and "Trail of Tears." Most groups sing for years without having the success The Crabb Family has achieved since they began their full time music ministry in January 1996.

Tickets are available by calling 800-765-7464 or 606/256-2638 and are $13 and $15.

DVDs. In their getaway, Richardson lost control of the baby carriage that contained both the DVDs and the couple's 6-month-old girl, sending the baby tumbling. Hurrying to continue, Richardson tossed the infant over to Nash, but she, too, dropped her. The baby did not appear seriously hurt, but the delay allowed police to catch up to the couple.

Inexplicable

Pamela Oliver, 39, was arrested in April in Des Moines, Iowa, and charged with assault for convincing three complete strangers on the street to go beat up her husband, which they did. She said she was surprised to find out that what she did was illegal, since she did not even offer to pay the men anything.

The Food and Drug Administration announced in May that it was considering several plans to get more doctors to read the labels of the drugs they prescribe, which many doctors now say they are too busy to do. In five previous instances, when dozens of patients died after taking misprescribed drugs, a skeptical FDA chose to ban the drugs altogether rather than try to change doctors' reading habits.

Philadelphia police told reporters that Officer Margo Grady, who disappeared on April 1 while taking a crime victim from one stationhouse to another (three miles away), had inadvertently gotten on the New Jersey Turnpike and was almost to Newark (75 miles away) before she turned on her emergency lights to stop a car and ask where she was.

In Their Own Words

Douglas Holmes, 30, explaining in February why he had fled in the middle of his robbery trial in Kansas City, Missouri, the month before (after grabbing cash from the table of exhibits): "I saw the evidence piling up on me (and) I thought it would be in my best interest if I left for a little bit." (He was found guilty in absentia, sentenced to 55 years in prison, and then recaptured two weeks later.)

Recurring Themes

News of the Weird reported last year that certain Canadian transport aircraft were undergoing expensive structural repairs because beams had been corroded by men accidentally splashing urine when they used the planes' cargo-hold toilets. In April 2000, a landlord in a Radeberg, Germany, apartment house, facing a similar rusting problem in bathroom radiators and pipes, ordered male tenants, "as a condition of the rental agreement," to begin "to use the toilet like women: in the sitting position."

Thinning the Herd

A 38-year-old man was electrocuted in Okolona, Kentucky, in May while digging in his back yard; according to a deputy coroner, he had received a mild shock while using a tiller and so thought the thing to do at that point was to grab a spade and dig down deeper, to find out exactly what had shocked him (answer: unshielded electric cable). And a 34-year-old man was electrocuted in Lakewood, Colorado, in April by the fence he had installed to keep dogs out; he had rigged it at 10 times the typical, recommended voltage.

Also, in the Last Month ...

A 25-year-old Tehran transsexual who had just become a woman said he wants to change back after realizing just how poorly women are treated in Iran. A 52-year-old man whose neck was broken in a truck crash wiggled out of the wreckage and walked three miles to an Interstate 76 interchange to get help (Brighton, Colorado). An Australian physician announced plans to open an assisted-suicide facility on an off-shore boat, to circumvent national laws (Queensland). A 16-year-old boy was sent to jail for 60 days for extorting lunch money ($3 per day) from fellow students (Vernon Township, New Jersey). A 50-year-old man who accidentally dropped his keys into a park's portable toilet got stuck at the hips when he lowered himself to retrieve them, requiring a rescue by firefighters (Huntingdon Valley, Pennsylvania).

Kentucky Life visits horse farm, historic home

"Kentucky Life" steps through the famous yellow gate at Bourbon County's Claiborne Farm and then passes into a bygone era by visiting a home in Louisville's first subdivision. Hosted by Dave Shuffett, the program encores on KET at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, July 8.

The farm that bred Kentucky Derby winner Swale and was instrumental in the syndication of Secretariat is perhaps the most famous thoroughbred racing operation in the world. Claiborne Farm, owned by the Hancock family, has a proud tradition that stretches back half a century.

In this segment, Waddell Hancock — widow of A.B. "Bull" Hancock, who restored the farm to its early prominence — reminisces about the farm's history and direction. Now operated by her son, Seth, the farm that has been host to Queen Elizabeth, still follows the diction of Bull Hancock: "Do the best exceptionally well."

Next, in Louisville's historic St. James Court, the Victorian Era is just a step away through the threshold of the Conrad/Caldwell House. This 1895 Richardsonian Romanesque mansion features a hand-carved stone exterior and period furnishings. Visitors to this magnificent home can enjoy its gargoyles, swags, massive arches and fleur-de-lis.

The Conrad/Caldwell House is on one of the lots created from the land on which the Southern Exposition was held from 1883 to 1887. The subsequent partitioning and sale of lots resulted in Louisville's first subdivision.

"Kentucky Life," is produced and directed by Joy Flynn. Series writer is Ellen Ballard. Segment producers for this program are Charlee Heaton Pagoulatos and Connie Offutt. Craig Cornwell is executive producer.

Beat the heat!

by KELLI SUMMERS
KENTUCKY HISTORY CENTER

Whether you need to come in out of the rain or the heat or you're trying to beat the summer doldrums, there is plenty to do at the Kentucky History Center in Frankfort during the month of July.

On July 1, the adult programs office will host Bluegrass Bookmarks. Spend an afternoon talking with Maysville native Frank Mathias about his recent book, "The GI Generation: A Memoir."

In the book, Mathias chronicles his boyhood in a rural Kentucky town on the eve of World War II. The event is free and begins at 2 p.m.

Bluegrass Bookmarks is a new program that allows visitors the opportunity to meet Kentucky authors. More than simply a book-signing, Bluegrass Bookmarks provides a forum where an author can discuss aspects of his or her book and field questions from the audience.

The Kentucky History Center creates an intimate atmosphere where adults can get to know the personalities behind the book. For more information, call Joan DiMartino at 502/564-1792, ext. 4467.

Bring your lunch or order one from us to hear July's Brown Bag Lecture on July 5 at noon in the Brown-Forman Kentucky Room at the History Center. This month's lecture, "Hallelujah! The Great Revival in Kentucky," will explore the reasons behind the religious fervor that spread like wildfire throughout the frontier.

Kentucky participated in the first of a series of religious revivals that swept through the southern states at the beginning of the 19th century. As a result, church membership increased significantly, a new sense of religious community pervaded the state and a tradition of evangelism became a cornerstone of southern culture.

On July 13, spend an evening at the movies. Admission is free and so is the popcorn. This month's Reel Kentucky feature is "Jumpin' Jack Flash" starring Franklin native Annie Potts. The movie begins at 7 p.m., with a short introduction by KHS guide Greg Hardison.

Reel Kentucky focuses on movies with a Kentucky connection. Annie Potts was interested in films and theater at a young age.

She majored in theater at Stephens College in Missouri, and completed some graduate work in California.

Most of her early roles were on television, but she gained prestige as a professional after her performance as secretary Janie Meinitz in the 1984 hit "Ghostbusters."

"Jumpin' Jack Flash" stars Whoopi Goldberg as a bank employee who stumbles onto an international spy ring through her computer. The movie contains adult language and adult situations.

July's Center Scene event will take place on Thursday, July 20, and features "Blues and Barbeque." The band, Sacre Blue, provides the entertainment and you provide the fun. Admission is free to KHS members and $5 for non-members.

On the third Thursday of each month, the public is invited to meet at the Kentucky History Center for culture, cuisine, cocktails and conversation. Center Scene offers the opportunity for participants to become acquainted with the History Center's exhibits and programs while networking with other professionals or just visiting with friends. Call Julia Curry for reservations at 502/564-1792, ext. 4414.

Have you heard that infamous phrase yet this summer? "I'm boooooored!" Well, here's a cure for the out-of-school crew. Come to "Playtime in the Past" at the Kentucky History Center in Frankfort for a Super Saturday, July 22 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Children and families can see dolls, make toys and play games that entertained Kentucky children years ago. Don't miss Dr. Smart's "Old-Tyme Magic and Medicine Show" at 1 p.m.

Super Saturdays at the Kentucky Historical Society are free. Craft activities are primarily for children between the ages of 5 and 12. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

Groups of 10 or more must register in advance. For more information, call Jennie Bare Boyd at 502/564-1792, ext. 4424.

Don't forget that the History Center, Old State Capitol and Kentucky Military History Museum are great places to spend an afternoon or to bring out-of-town guests. On July 15, we will unveil our two newest temporary exhibits. All the museums are closed on Mondays, but open the rest of the week.

formed throughout the country.

Poet Gordon Fitch will be on hand, and music will be presented by Cassie Justice and Friends and by fiddler Angie Carrier.

Throughout the afternoon, crafts demonstrations will be presented by Doreen Martin, cornshucking; Tom Whitaker, watercolor and storytelling; John and Jennifer Woodrow, baskets; Leota Trusty and Jean Crase, quilting, and James Pennington, whittling.

On Saturday evening at 6, church bells will toll and fire sirens will blare across the county to sound out the historic occasion.

At 7 p.m., refreshments will be served at the Mountain Arts Center, followed by the reading of a resolution from the Kentucky General Assembly and of proclamations from other communities.

The Kentucky Opry Jr. Pros will perform at 8:30 p.m. at the MAC.

A Gospel Sing is set for Monday, July 3, at 7 p.m. at the Municipal Parking Lot Stage. Singers slated to perform are Norm Marcum, Voices of Faith, Gaining Ground and Sisters of Faith.

A parade is set for 3 p.m., Tuesday, July 4, prior to the evening concert.

Don Stanley and Middle Creek is a Prestonsburg-based bluegrass band, formed in 1999. The group has two CD's on CrossCut Records and is making plans for a third. The band has played at numerous bluegrass festivals and at other gatherings.

Stanley, who is a third cousin to bluegrass legend Ralph Stanley, is a Prestonsburg native and the group's lead vocalist and guitar player. He was formerly lead singer and guitar player with the Boys From Middle Creek.

Dennis Marshall, banjo picker and harmony vocalist, is from Salyersville. He has played with several bands, including Kentucky Thunder, a group he and his brother, Clyde, had in the 1990s. He began playing the banjo when he was 11.

The youngest member of the band is 18-year-old Adam Collinsworth, a recent graduate of Magoffin County High School. He began playing the guitar at the age of six and later added the mandolin.

Josh Stanley, son of the band's leader, is a 1999 graduate of Prestonsburg High School. He plays upright bass and sings harmony vocals. He has worked with the Boys From Middle Creek, Melvin Goins and Windy Mountain and Ralph Stanley. He also works as a studio musician.

The group's latest CD is "I've lived a lot in my time."

Dean Osborne and Blue Towne will share the stage with Don Stanley and Middle Creek on July 4 at Prestonsburg's Municipal Parking Lot.

The other scheduled performer, Dean Osborne, is a cousin to the noted bluegrass group, The Osborne Brothers. He will appear with his band Blue Towne.

A banjo player and teacher, Osborne plays frequently at bluegrass festivals. He has a recording contract with Pinecastle Records.

Concert-goers are encouraged to bring their own seating.

The Kentucky Opry Jr. Pros, who just last week began their summer season, are 50 of the area's most talented young people.

Members of the singing, playing and dancing tribe are Sarah Allen, Shane Boyd, Julia Burchett, Joshua Carriere, Staci Carriere, Clayton Case, Kory Caudill, Morgan Clark, Valerie Clark,

Amanda Combs, Ryan Combs, Eric Conley, J.T. Cure, Elizabeth Davis, Myranda Elliott, Kelly Farthing, Hannah Fitzpatrick, Vincent Ganzon, Ashley Hall, Pam Hall, Renny Hall, Brittany Hamilton, Morgan Hughes, Carolyn Kanney, Crystal Kanney, Rachel Kanney, Katie Lemaster, Maegan Leslie, Alison Lovely, Chelsie Madden, Leslie

KET celebrates July 4 with holiday specials

Part history, part holiday fun, Independence Day is all about celebrating, and KET will join in the festivities with a special holiday lineup of programs.

The celebration begins on July 3, with "The Cracker Man," an original Southern drama that explores the power of the ties that bind us to family, the land and the past.

Airing at 10 p.m., on KET, and again July 4, at 9 p.m., on KET2, the program tells the story of Gloria Turner (Ashley Crow), who for nine years has made her life caring for her truck, her farm and her elderly great-grandfather (Patrick Cranshaw).

Her life is forever transformed, however, when she meets Hank (John Dossett), a fireworks salesman known as the Cracker Man.

On July 4, the fun starts at 9 a.m., on KET2, with "The Greatest American Fourth of July." Broadcast live from New York Harbor, the program features a flotilla of ships representing an older age as well as an armada of the most technologically advanced naval war ships in the world.

Ships from dozens of countries will also sail up the Hudson River, bringing their own culture and heritage with them.

At 8 p.m., on KET, "A Capitol Fourth (2000)" provides one of the biggest celebrations of the nation's birthday. Broadcast live from the West Lawn of the U.S. Capitol, the 90-minute special offers an exuberant musical celebration, replete with a fireworks finale over the Washington Monument.

Joining host Barry Bostwick (Spin City) are Broadway sensation Audra McDonald, popular Irish flute player James Galway and world-renowned pianist David Benoit in a performance with conductor Leonard Slatkin and the National Symphony Orchestra.

Directly following at 9:30 p.m. "Cincinnati Pops Holiday: Fourth of July from the Heartland" airs on KET. The 90-minute program opens with fireworks exploding over the Riverbend Music Center and a cavalcade of 100 singers and dancers. Backed by Erich Kunzel and the Cincinnati Pops Orchestra, Rosemary Clooney sings, and her brother Nick Clooney, hosts the concert and shares some regional history.

Other guests include Danny Glover, Doc Severinson, Tom Wopat, aerialist Alexander

Streltsov and bluegrass fiddler Billy Contreras as well as the Southern Gateway Chorus and the United States Army Field Band and Soldiers' Chorus.

"The Cracker Man" is produced by Alerion Films. "The Greatest American Fourth of July" is produced by WNET/New York. "A Capitol Fourth (2000)" is produced by Capital Concerts Inc. and WETA/Washington, D.C. "Cincinnati Pops Holiday: Fourth of July from the Heartland" is produced by Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra in association with Brandenburg Productions Inc. and WCET/Cincinnati.

Call-in program discusses schools

A common element of the most vibrant communities across America is a quality public school system. While researchers, educators and politicians struggle to determine how to improve our nation's public schools, the local school board is the community's voice in the direction its schools will take.

On Wednesday, July 5, a live, KET call-in program, "School Boards Making A Difference," provides a forum to talk about the roles of school boards and how more citizens can become involved in the process of school governance.

The program, hosted by Kentucky Tonight's Bill Goodman, airs at 8 p.m.

Scheduled panelists include Helen Mountjoy, chairperson of Kentucky's State Board of Education; Wilson Stone, president of the Kentucky School Boards Association; Brenda Jackson, a Shelby County School Board member; and Susan Cook, a school superintendent in northern Kentucky.

"Schools Boards Making A Difference;" is produced by KET in partnership with the Partnership for Kentucky Schools, the Kentucky School Boards Association and the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce. The program is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

Viewers can find out more about programming on KET by visiting the KET Web site at <http://www.ket.org>, a Kentucky.com affiliate.
