Warrant issued for PCC prof

After being found guilty in a court trial of driving under the influence of drugs, a bench warrant was issued for a local professor for failing to appear in court

Robert McAninch, 57, of Prestonsburg received a sentence of seven days in jail and a $200 fine in his trial, in which he was also absent.

McAninch was involved in a head-on automobile accident when he traveled the wrong way up an exit ramp from U.S. 23 in November of last year. When officers arrived on the scene McAninch refused to take a blood test.

As of press time, McAnich had not been arrested, according to authorities at the Floyd County Detention Center.

Burning restricted during fire season

The forest fire season began February 15 and runs through April 30. During that time, additional restrictions are placed on outdoor burning.

During the fire season, it is illegal to set a fire within 150 feet of a wooded area or brush land, or to perform any burning between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m., or when the ground is covered with snow. Anyone with questions is asked to call the Division of Forestry, 1-

Schools mark Seuss' birthday with reading

by Randell Reno Staff Writer

The National Education Association (NEA) put together a birthday bash for one of America's most well-known authors. Educators across Floyd County combined the celebration with a weeklong effort to increase the reading abilities of students during the Read Across America event.

March 2 would have been the 96th birthday of Theodor Geisel, better known to young readers as Dr. Seuss. In commemoration of his birthday, teachers and staff members from Prestonsburg Elementary wore the signature red and white felt "Cat in the Hat" hats.

Students from Prestonsburg High School contributed to the festivities by donating their time to reading to elementary students. The teens were met at the library by a representative student from each class and escorted to the classroom.

While most were a little nervous, the teens sat in front of the eager and hungry minds and read from their selections, most of them by Dr. Seuss. Dr. Seuss's books are on the PES accelerated reading book list.

The incorporation of the high school students with Read Across America was an effort to make sure each student at the elementary school was read to on Thursday. The program, which is in its third year, has become an annual event students and teachers alike look forward to.

Man charged with beating grandmother

Woman allegedly attacked while in bathroom

by Randell Reno Staff Writer

A Ivel man was arrested Tuesday on a charge of fourthdegree assault after Trooper Rick Conn and Department of Motor Vehicles Officer Mark Duddleson responded to a report of a fight in Wanda Snodgrass told the officers, when they arrived on the scene, she had been struck by her grandson.

Delbert L. Snodgrass, 41,

apparently accused his grandmother of bringing other men into the trailer they lived in while he was sleeping. Wanda Snodgrass told officers

Delbert Snodgrass allegedly entered the bathroom while she was in it, struck her on the forehead, twisted one of her breasts and pinched her ear, causing a small cut. The incident ended with 24 hours in the Floyd County Detention Center for Delbert Snodgrass. He will be tried for the alleged acts March 13 in Floyd District Court.

Mrs. Snodgrass told local authorities she feared for her life and took out an emergency protective order. Delbert Snodgrass was ordered to stay the victim at least 500 feet away from his grandmother and to refrain from contacting her in any form.

Local officials focus on disaster preparation during March 800-866-0048.

On Wednesday, Gov. Paul Patton declared March as Severe Storms Preparedness Month. During the month, the Floyd County Disaster and Emergency Services (DES) and local schools will be boning up on the county's emergency response services and response times.

Jim Keeny of the National Weather Service met with school principals from across the county on Wednesday. That meeting emphasized the need for emergency preparedness in the schools.

A test will be conducted at 10:07 a.m., March 7. Keeny and DES Coordinator Lon May encouraged principals to prepare each school for a sudden weather

But local schools and EMS services supply kit, he said. Every family member are not alone in the need for readiness.

Most of eastern Kentucky's weatherrelated disasters are flash floods. More injuries or deaths occur from this type of weather than a large flood, said May.

Commuters often drive across a flooded road but the culvert that they have crossed over a 1,000 times before could be washed out, said May. The unknown speed of the water and the unknown element of what is under that water could very well lead to a quick loss of life.

Also tornadoes, though very rare, can happen in the area. Just last April a tornado was believed to have touched down in Allen, injuring one man. The National Weather Service did not deny or confirm the incident was in fact a tornado, said

In any case, it is a good idea for a family to have a disaster plan and a disaster should know what to do.

One of the most important items to have is a battery-operated radio. Even if power is knocked out in the area, local radio stations have backup generators to keep the public informed.

The Tuesday tornado drill will include a mock disaster in one local area. An emergency operations center will be set up in the DES/E-911 building as a training session for local officials.

Businesses and residents in the Prestonsburg and Allen areas will hear an emergency alarm and are encouraged to spend some time talking about their plans should a tornado strike.

NOAA, the Federal Emergency Management Agency and the Red Cross have prepared a variety of pamphlets to aid residents in developing their disaster

I NEED YOUR HELP!!

I'm Going To Jail

#74563201 G- UR- GRS

I'm being "Locked-up for Good" by the Muscular Dystrophy Association on March 9th, at City Hall in Prestonsburg. I am volunteering my time to be a jailbird, and my bail is pretty steep, so I need your help! Please make a donation or pledge to help spring me out of jail and support MDA's local research and program services. THANK YOU!!!

Follow these tips to increase chances of getting student aid Students can improve their odds of money for higher education through the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES), administered by receiving financial aid to help pay higher education expenses, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA). KHEAA, the state agency that adminsiters grant, loan, scholarship, jworkstudy, and savings programs for higher education, offers these tips for finding and applying for student aid.

■ Complete your federal income tax form early if you plan to attend a college or technical school this fall. You must use information from the form to file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), which is used to apply for federal, state, and institutional financial aid.

If you complete and return the FAFSA early, you'll have the best chance of receiving aid for which you may qualify. You should also contact the school's financial aid office to determine if you need to complete additional application forms.

Make good grades in high school. By doing so, you can earn KHEAA. Students who make a C+ or higher grade point average any year of high school can earn scholarships.

The better students do in high school, the more they will earn to help pay their higher education expenses. Bonus awards are available based on students' ACT or SAT scores.

Consult "Getting In" and Affording Higher Education, KHEAA publications with information about postsecondary schools in Kentucky, including facts on admissions, costs, financial aid, and academic programs.

Free copies of "Getting In" are sent to high school guidance counselors for all seniors. Getting In and Affording Higher Education can also be found in libraries and on KHEAA's Web site www.kheaa.com.

Read Funding Your Education, a U.S. Department of Education (USDE) handbook containing valuable information about student financial assistance. Copies should be available at public libraries and counselor offices. Additional details may be obtained by calling USDE's Federal Student Aid Information Center at (800) 4FED-AID or visiting www.ed.gov.

service organizations, businesses, clubs, unions, churches, fraternal groups, etc., and contact them for more information.

■ Visit the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators home page at www.nasfaa.org. This site includes the full text of the publications "You Can Do It!" "You Can Afford It" and "Cash for College"; has links to related sites; and can lead you to information about scholarships, scams, and personal finance.

Learn about low-interest loans. You should first seek aid that does not have to be repaid. However, most financial aid packages prepared by schools contain student loans. KHEAA administers the Federal Family Education Loan Program (FFELP), which includes Federal Subsidized and Unsubsidized Stafford Loans, Federal PLUS Loans, and Federal Consolidation Loans, Some schools may offer Federal Direct Loans with the same eligibility and award criteria as FFELP.

Apply, apply, apply. By applying for several types of aid, you increase your chances of receiving enough to pay your school costs. When you apply, follow directions. You may be disqualified if you don't answer all questions, answer than incorrectly, or miss deadlines.

information about higher education and financial aid. Web sites are not regulated by any authorizing agency. Take particular care when using scholarship sites. Any site or company requiring fee-for-search services is probably best left unused.

■ Beware of scams. Before paying a fee for financial aid information, talk with your high school counselor, a financial aid officer at the school you plan to attend; the Better Business Bureau in your area and the area where the firm is located; and the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, 1024 Capital Center Drive, Frankfort, KY 40601, (502) 696-5389. Information about most sources of aid can be obtained free with a little effort on your part. Some companies offer money-back guarantees to students who don't receive any scholarship sources or funds, but students may find that refunds are difficult, if not impossible, to obtain. To find out how to spot, stop, and report a scam, contact the National Fund Information Center at (800) 876-

Ah...But herein lies the clincher. The jet stream now has the potential to go to the "Weather Dark Side." Star Wars metaphors aside, a late winter jet stream that seems to give us positive weather can turn on us at any given time. Not only does it bring in unseasonable air, but it also funnels up gobs of gult moisture simultaneously. As the jet buckles to the south, it causes ripples that can be felt up north as well.

Remember the cold air still locked up in Canada? Every once and a while one of the these ripples along the jet stimulates the Polar Vortex enough to break off pieces of leftover arctic air.

This serves as an adrenaline shot to any southern moisture that has enough strength to make it up north. If enough gulf moisture is in place at the same just 48 hours!

To assist taxpayers interested in paying their taxes on an installment plan, the IRS Web site now features a new interactive calculator. This calculator helps a person figure the monthly payment amount, and then prints out an installment agreement form for the taxpayer to file.

"This is yet another way we're improving our services and helping people meet their tax obligations," said IRS Commissioner Charles O. ask taxpayers for additional information, thus speeding our review process for their installment requests.

The calculator is for individuals who are not already paying taxes under an installment agreement. It is available through the "Interactive Installment Payment Process" link on the "Tax Info for You" page of the IRS Web site, www.irs.gov.

set, taxpayers must meet two requirements: they must make their installment payments on time, and they must stay current with their federal taxes during the agreement period. If they fail to meet either of these conditions, they will default on the installment tax bill in full.

Before entering into an installment agreement, people should explore all financial sources available that would enable them to pay the full amount of taxes owed. This is important because they will face additional costs when they enter into a longer-term payment arrangement. There is a fee for an approved installment agreement.

In addition, interest and late-payment penalties are added to any unpaid tax. But the late-payment penalty rate is cut in half for those using installment agreements. People may be able to obtain loans at banks or other lenders at lower costs than the combined charges associated with an installment agreement.

Those who decide to request an installment agreement should pay as much as they can when filing their return to reduce the amount of interest

Some taxpayers facing very severe Once the installment agreement is or unusual economic hardships may be able to settle their tax debts under an expanded "offer in compromise" program. Taxpayers make an offer by completing Form 656, Offer in Compromise, and a comprehensive financial statement showing assets, liabilities, and income. The offer must reflect the maximum they can pay.

Also, they must agree to meet all their federal tax obligations for five years or until the amount offered is paid in full, whichever is longer. Those who fail to meet the terms of the offer will once again owe all their back taxes in full.

The offer in compromise program strikes a balance between helping individual taxpayers in severe circumstances and protecting all taxpayers by collecting as much of the tax bill as taxes could double your tax bill," said Debt Counselors of America® Vice President Mike Kidwell. "People should do the math before charging their taxes.

Weigh the options before paying taxes with a credit card

"For the one-third of Americans who have a balance due on their taxes, credit cards could turn out to be an expensive option," adds Kidwell, who is co-founder of Debt Counselors®, the first Internetbased credit and financial counseling organization. "It pays to figure out how much each option will cost you."

Kidwell explains that the average balance due to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is $3,000. "Charge $3,000 on a credit card, make only the minimum payment each month and you'll be paying off that debt for 26-1/2 years. The total payments equal $7,699, of which $4,609 is interest." The calculation assumes a 15 percent interest rate and a minimum payment of $62.

"Using a credit card to pay your the same $3,000 balance with a $62 monthly payment, a taxpayer would pay a total of $4,061, of which $1,018 is interest."

The IRS charges a $43 set-up fee, plus 8 percent interest, plus a penalty of 0.25 percent per month if you file on time and set up an installment agreement.

"However, there may be some psychological or practical value to owing a credit card company, rather than the IRS," Kidwell notes. "When it comes to collecting a debt, the IRS has more options than your credit card company." These include seizing your bank account, levying your wages, or taking other income or assets.

"If you can't pay a credit card bill, on the other hand, the account will normally be sent to a collection agency, which will try to collect before taking more serious action. Breaking the habit

Senate President David Williams is right about the amount of money Gov. Paul Patton has proposed that Kentucky spend on anti-smoking programs: It is insufficient.

Five and a half million dollars over two years won't begin to make an impact in a state with the highest incidence of both adult smoking and youth smoking, the highest incidence of lung cancer, and a tobacco culture so strong that in some places smoking is still considered a patriotic duty.

More than $5.5 million will have to be invested to mount effective education, prevention and treatment programs, as well as an effective media campaign.

Sen. Williams has suggested that $40 million over two years is a more reasonable sum. He wants to add programs for drug and alcohol abuse.

That amount of money is closer to what is really needed, but Sen. Williams' plan suffers in another way: In a state as pro-tobacco as Kentucky, there would be great risks in lumping all those addictions together in one office and budget.

It doesn't take much of an imagination to envision how anti-smoking strategies might be put aside, or at least relegated to the bottom of a very long priority list

Smoking cessation programs are going to need their own budget in Kentucky if there is to be a vigorous effort to save the health of our youth.

The big question, of course, is where would the $40 million come from? It appears that it would have to come out of the tobacco settlement money — a logical enough source.

After all, that money was won by the state attorneys general as compensation for the high cost of smokers' health care that states have had to bear. What better way to use a portion than to reduce those costs in the future?

Yet in the politics of the General Assembly, taking $40 million out of the tobacco settlement would probably pit two good programs against each other: smoking cessation and the Governor's program to enhance early childhood care. That's bad, since children would benefit from both.

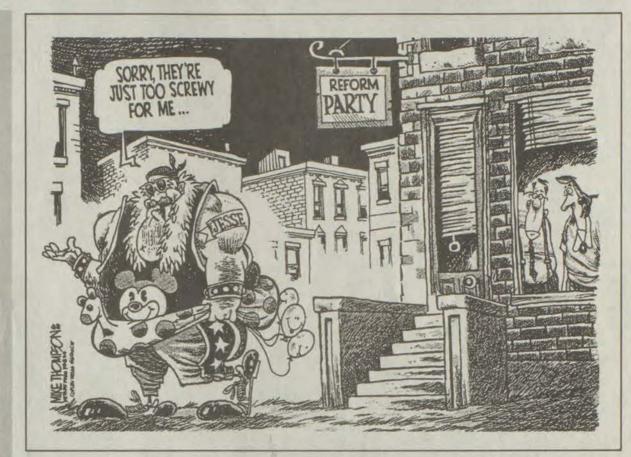

But at this point, with the budget and the future of every big legislative program still up in the air, this much is clear: $5.5 million won't be much of a help in reducing Kentucky's tobacco habit.

The $40 million Sen. Williams is calling for may prove more than Kentucky can manage this time, but it comes a lot closer to the mark that the legislature should be aiming for.

Remembers town band of yesteryear

Editor

My heart is beating a little faster than usual. The cause? I just finished reading the Community Calendar article in Friday's February 4 issue of The Floyd County Times about the Community Band being started by Prestonsburg Community College. I have waited a lifetime for this to happen. I have encouraged local musicians for years to establish a local band. I hope there will be a rush the likes of which Prestonsburg and Floyd County citizens have never before seen as our musicians climb aboard our new bandwagon.

Prestonsburg once had such a band. That was about 75 years ago. Prestonsburg had a band to be proud of. It was a delight to hear them play. They had a bandstand that sat smack dab in the middle of our city park. The city park site is presently occupied by our County School System's administrative offices.

I am not sure who was the leader of the band, but I believe it was John Hensley. Hensley gave private instruction in instrumental music at his home for a lifetime. I remember the names of a few of the band members. John Hensley played the cornet. John Hunley III played the French Horn. Bill Hubbard played the bass horn. Pearl Allen was the drummer. Bill Marshall and Bill Brown, as I recall, played slide trombones. Robert "Bob" V. May who had formed an orchestra may have played the saxophone and Martin Leete and Bill Arnold Spradlin may have been members of the band, as well as others, whose names I am unable to recall.

I have in my possession a "Tin Type" post card size photograph of the band that I would like to submit for inclusion in your Pictorial History of Floyd County.

The next order of business should be the construction of a large bandstand on the Community College Campus. Editor, how about you volunteering to chair a committee to make it happen? I want to be one of the first contributors.

A class act recognized

by Randell Reno Staff Writer

More than a couple of times I have made people cross in this profession by putting their names on the front page or within a story. If they are in the public eye or in a public position that has made them even more susceptible to be pinned in the news.

After subjecting one local leader to print for something less than notorious I thought I would give one back.

It is rare that we give notice to the work these people put into their communities. It is even more so that we recognize what they do for the young people.

Unfortunately, the news is about flashes of violence and public betrayal because that is what the public wants to read about.

Recently I crossed paths with this man in an AAU game, Prestonsburg vs. South Floyd. During the previous game, (12 year olds), a boy was fouled. It seemed obvious to me the foul was there but neither referee made the call prompting the child's father to remove him from the game and the South Floyd team's departure.

At first the man's actions seemed some what irresponsible but looking back on the situation I have more than once reacted as he did. When one of our boys was on the receiving end, especially if my son was involved I too, have been quite demonstrative.

I believe in class basketball. Beat my team with finesse or pure skill and though I will no doubt be upset, I will recognize your team as better or you as a better coach. But win by bad refereeing and like many I will be nearly, if not entirely, ballistic.

My son's 11 year old team took the court for the next game that saw us maybe eight points ahead in the first quarter. With about two minutes and 17 seconds left in the quarter these same officials missed a call Apparently a boy was hit in the throat. Being aquaited with most of our team, I know it was not done out of spite. But I refereed a number of years and know I missed some calls.

If the call was missed it was only the first. Our team had six fouls called against us already. South Floyd had none. The agitation of the previous game did contribute to one father walking the side lines and harassing the referee.

I don't think the man would have hit the referee but the official thought otherwise and ask the man to leave. This prompted the parents to leave this game also.

It was a shame because the South Floyd coach was at his best. He was tediously trying to teach his team. He was working hard trying to solve the problems his team was facing. He was giving his all and may have brought his team back and possibly won the game.

In a class act he shook our coach's hand and apologized. Instead of acting out of spite against me he smiled. (I was keeping the clock.)

Everyone messes up once in a while and I have heard this man has tried to work out his problems. And it is a relief to see someone giving their hand in an apology despite the situation that surrounds them.

He could have been just as verbal with the referees but chose to be civil and tried to make changes from the bench where a true coach is at his best.

So, hats off to you coach Don "Booty" her child's other parent. According to the legislation, visitation rights could only be granted to such a parent if a hearing determines visitation would be in the child's best interest.

The Senate also approved HB 70, legislation that would exempt religious nonprofit activities and facilities from civil rights laws pertaining to their public accommodations. Under this legislation, churches would not be forced to let groups they disagree with use their accommodations, such as campgrounds or reception halls.

We also approved Senate Bill 155, which would ensure that slot machines and video games aren't offered by the Kentucky Lottery unless lottery officials receive approval from the General Assembly.

Activity in the Senate committee system also accelerated last week. The Senate Judiciary Committee approved SB 218, legislation that would strengthen penalties against parents who fail to make child support payments. The bill would allow the state to suspend the driver's license of a parent who fails to with the legislative process by pay child support for six months. writing me or any legislator at According to current law, such a Legislative Offices, State parent's driver's license isn't Capitol Annex, 701 Capital Ave., suspended until he or she falls Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Corps warns of spring forest fire season

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife, and Kentucky Division of Forestry manages or protects about 12,113 acres of forest land surrounding Paintsville Lake.

This area is home to many small game animals, such as the squirrel, racoon, turkey, rabbit, grouse and quail. Kentucky's big game animal, the white-tailed deer, is also found living abundantly throughout this area. These forest residents are totally dependent upon you to protect them and their habitat from raging forest fires.

Kentucky's new spring forest fire season began on February 15, and will end after April 30. It is unlawful during this time to set a fire to any flammable material capable of spreading fire, located in or within 150 feet of any private woodland or brushland, except between the hours of Kentucky's new 6 p.m. burning law allows those who burn brush and debris for gardens to burn during the early evening when wind has started to die down, air temperature is lower, and relative humidity is increasing.

These conditions make a fire much more manageable and less likely to get out of control. If the fire does get in the woods, it is much eas-

However, even after 6 p.m., no fire should be started if there are high winds, or light fuels such as tall dry grass nearby. Kentucky law also requires someone to stay with their fires to be sure they don't get out of

The Corps of Engineers reminds you that when visiting Paintsville Lake, fires are not permitted except when contained in fire grills, designed especially for that purpose. When fires are built, care must be taken to completely extinguish them to prevent a restart that could get out of control.

Smokers should make sure that a cigarette is completely safe before

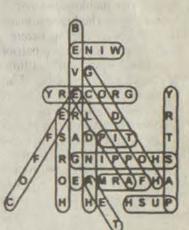

In the event of a forest fire that occurs on or near the Paintsville Lake area. Johnson and Magoffin county area residents can contact the Kentucky Division of Forestry at Betsy Layne at 1-800-866-0048... Morgan County residents can contact the Morehead Division of Forestry at 1-800-866-0052.

Persons can also contact the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Resource Manager's office, Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., at 606-297-6312 to report fires.

Campbellsville University to host spring revival April 3-5

Campbellsville University will host a three-day "Real Life, Real Love" Spring Revival and Mission Work Project April 3-5, featuring Dr. Deforest "Buster" Soaries as guest speaker, and CPR, a Christian comedy team.

"There is an exciting spirit on the Campbellsville University campus as we prepare for our 2000 spring revival," said Dr. Michael V. Carter, president. "Dr. Soaries is an outstanding speaker and preacher who will challenge our campus community. Our Baptist Student Union and Campus Ministries Department have taken the lead in putting together day mission and ministry projects for high school youth groups who are planning on participating in these three days of Christian worship and renewal."

"We are expecting a large number we are expecting a large number of high school students from around Kentucky, and perhaps out of state, to attend, in addition to our own university community," said the Rev. Todd Parish, a senior Christian education major and BSU president at Campbellsvillew University.

"These visiting young people will go out in the local and area communities to do special ministry projects. During the day, they will be involved in mission work, and at night, they will be challenged by the powerful messages of Dr. Soaries and entertained by the Christian commedy of CPR."

Soaries is the pastor of First Baptist Church of Lincoln Gardens in Somerset, New Jerseyh, one of the fastest growing African-American churches in the country. He also serves as secretary of state for New Jersey. He comes to Cammpbellsville University as the Thomas F. Staley Foundation speaker for the current academic year.

The improvisation comedy team CPR includes Carl Crispin, Pete Vandersluis and Rodney TeSlaa. The members of the group, who refers to themselves as "crazy and zany guys," have performed more than 500 shows across America while providing quality, family entertainment.

Admission to the event is free, and free lodging for youth groups will be provided in local churches and on the Campbellsville campus on a first-come, first-serve basis. Other lodging will be available in local area hotels at the participants' expense.

Meals will be available in the university dining hall at the following prices: breakfast, $3: lunch, $4; and supper, $5 per person per day. Local restaurants are also available for meals at the participants' expense.

Evening services will begin at 8 p.m. each evening in the Powell Athletic Center on the Campbellsville University campus.

Participants in the Mission Work Project—Spring Revival are encouraged to bring with them several items including a Bible, sturdy shoes or work boots, hat or visor, mirror, towels and washcloths, pillow, work gloves, rain gear, camera and film, light jacket, handkerchiefs, sunglasses, pen or pencil, sleeping bag, air mattress (optional), sturdy clothing, T-shirts (no midriff tops), shorts (no short-shorts), personal toilet articles, plastic bags for school clothing, socks and underwear, personal family and health insurance card, snacks and Kleenex.

In addition, each participant is asked to bring four items from the following individual equipment checklist: safety goggles, paint brush or paint roller (strongly suggested); hammer, paint roller and pan, paint brushes (4-inch width preferred), paint bucket, crowbar, tape measure (at least 25-foot length), paint scraper and 4 to 6-inch putty knife.

Space is limited and work projects must be planned. Those interested are encouraged to register as soon as possible and no later than March 15 by contacting the Campbellsville University Office of Campus Ministries at 270/789-5227.

What to do when the carpet is flooded

While there are standards for dealing with flooding or water damage, each situation is slightly different and must be evaluated individually by an expert to determine the best course of action.

You Don't Need A New Car For A New Look

(NAPSA)-With the hectic pace of today's society, most of us are spending more time than ever in our vehicles. Vehicles have nearly become a second living room. Just like the living room in a house where the carpet may need replacement or the couch has become torn or dirty, your car can also lose its clean look.

While most consumers know where to go to purchase new carpet or have their furniture cleaned or replaced, they are uncertain about where to go to fix up their car's interior.

"With the average automobile age at nearly 10 years now, people are holding on to their vehicles longer than ever," advises Cassandra Turner, owner of Turner Auto Tops & Upholstery in Overland Park, Kan. "Outside of home ownership, a vehicle is your most expensive investment," says Turner. "When the inside of your car needs to be repaired, you don't always need to buy a new car to achieve a new look. Yet many consumers aren't aware that there is a local shop where they can take their car or van for interior and upholstery work."

Trim and upholstery shops specialize in repairing and enhancing the interior, and certain exterior features of cars, trucks, sport utility vehicles, vans, RVs, boats-even aircraft. These shops can repair or recover leather, cloth and vinyl seats; replace and upgrade worn or soiled carpeting; replace torn or falling headliners (ceiling fabric); and repair, replace or install convertible tops and sunroofs.

But how do you go about finding a local trim shop? Turner, who is the third generation owner of her family's 65-year old business, advises consumers to look in the yellow pages under headings such as: "auto upholstery repair." "seat covers," or "convertible auto tops" to find a local shop in their area. The same key words can be used to find a shop using Internet search

Once you have located a few shops. Turner offers these tips to select the right shop for you:

Explain the problem. Tell the shop the type of vehicle you have and what the problem is. A good shop should be able to clearly explain the options available to fix your vehicle or the upgrades that may enhance its value

Don't be afraid to ask questions. You can never ask too many questions, and a good trim shop is trained to help you fully understand your interior maintenance

Obtain a written estimate of the work to be performed. The estimate should include parts, cost of parts, cost of labor and an expected delivery date. "Many people are surprised at the affordable cost when balanced against the value the repair or upgrade has added to the vehicle," says Turner. To protect your investment, make sure the shop is insured.

Does the shop have a warranty program? You can be confident in the service you receive from a business that is willing to warranty both parts and labor.

Ask to see examples of past work completed. A good trim shop will have a photo book that includes different types of services performed and the results, which are often spectacular. Visit the facility. A clean well-run shop will bolster your confidence that the trim shop you have chosen can do the work specified.

Trim and upholstery work also lets individuals customize their cars, to reflect their own personal tastes. For example, a customer with cloth seats may choose to upgrade to leather or he or she can change the whole color scheme of the vehicle's interior from red to Research by the Automotive Aftermarket Industry Association in Bethesda, Md. shows that a vehicle with highly visible signs of wear-like torn upholstery, worn carpeting, cigarette burns, and damaged headliners-is worth hundreds of dollars less in resale value. A clean, well-maintained vehicle is worth much more than an identical one that's been neglected.

Besides, says Turner, "a car that looks good feels good.

1. Determine whether the water source is sanitary or unsanitary. Only in some sanitary conditions should you attempt to clean and restore the furnishings yourself. Certified professionals always should be called in to handle the adverse affects of disease-causing bacteria contained in unsanitary water. If you cannot reasonably determine the water quality, call the IICRC information line for assistance

Sanitary—This may include uncontaminated sink or toilet overflows, ruptured pipes, and supply lines for many applicances.

■ Unsanitary—This usually includes water with some degree of bilogical contamination, including punctured waterbeds and toilet backups, and discharge from dish or clothes washers.

Also included is water that has come into contact with the ground or that contains raw sewage. This includes, but is not limited to, natural flooding.

Unfortunately, carpet, carpet cushion, mattresses, pillows, stuffed or highly absorbent fabric furnishings, or those that have been contacted by unsanitary water must be discarded due to high levels of bacteria and other pollutants, unless they can be washed thoroughly in a home or commercial washing machine.

In sanitary water situations, once the water has been stopped, extraction of excess water from floor cover-Restoration ings, such as carpet, must begin immediately. In natural flooding or unsanitary water situations, both carpet and carpet cushion must be replaced to reduce possible health

3. Immediate Steps:

Quickly remove furnishings that may stain carpet or other floor coverings or place plastic or aluminum foil under the legs or bases.

Keep traffic on wet carpet to a minimum. Moisture can weaken latex adhesives in carpet and excess traffic may cause backings to separate. Once dry, latex normally regains its original strength.

■ Use fans to increase air circulation, a vacuum designed to pick up water (if available) and dehumidifiers to speed up drying (only in sanitary conditions). Carpet should be completely dry within 48-72 hours after the elimination of the water source and thorough extraction to minimize the growth of bacteria and fungi.

4. Because each situation is somewhat different, consult an IICRC Firm that employs trained and certified technicians. They can determine whether carpet or other furnishings can be salvaged.

Often, insurance agents will recommend a restoration professional. Professionals have state-of-the-art equipment to extract excess water, along with proper solutions to clean and deodorize carpet; or they can remove it if necessary.

OSPEI ACCORDING to Me

Annie Jones takes calling as a novelist seriously

while in grade school - skits, stories to amuse her friends and even

She was an Air Force brat whose family moved frequently,

In third grade in Texas, she says, she encountered her first critic. "a kid who said, 'Why are you doing that? No one is ever going to read

Later Jones put her creative dreams aside, thinking that the kid - and other critics she'd met afterward - had been prophetic.

Fortunately, at about age 30 Jones gave writing one more try.

Today the wife and mother of two, who lives in Versailles, is the author of 18 romance novels published by several secular and religious houses. Her Christian faith informs everything she writes.

And she's won wide acclaim. Her novel "Saving Grace," for instance, was a finalist for Virginia's Holt Medallion in Southern Theme Fiction and was named one of the top five inspirational romances of 1998 by Affaire de Coeur Magazine.

Recently, I asked Jones, 42, about her career as an author. This is an edited version of that

Q: How long have you lived in Versailles?

We've lived in Versailles a couple of years now, before that in Lexington, and Louisville, Cincinnati, Oklahoma City, Enid, Oklahoma. ... We're not wanted by the law. My husband has Annie Jones started writing had job opportunities open up and I'm always game to go and see what's out there.

Q: What is your religious back-

JONES: We recently returned to Southeast Christian Church in Louisville. I have always been a spiritual person, seeking and having faith even when it did not make sense to keep that faith. ... I feel strongly about not judging others, about keeping my eyes on Jesus and not on people or dogma.

Q: Where did you get your interest in literature?

JONES: Reading was a big form of entertainment in my family. When my sister married, instead of keeping her room for guests or when she visited, (my parents) turned it into a library.

Q: Aside from writing books, what other kinds of jobs have you

JONES: I've had a lot of makeends-meet jobs, including Santa's helper at a mall, a stint in college at Wiener King, tending bar in an Air Force officers' club and watching the news on fast-forward for a video marketing firm. ... My "real" work, what I felt called to do besides writing, is first to be a wife and mom. Fail at that and what good is the Q: Why did you finally start writing again as an adult?

JONES: I read a small romance and felt so uplifted and positive. I was hooked. I wanted to write one. Five years of writing at my kitchen table later, my first book sold.

Q: Tell me about that book.

JONES: I was 36, so no wonderkid here! But my first book, "Wedding Bells and Diaper Pins" for Silhouette Romance, was a big best seller in the genre. My "break' came after years of hard work, submitting like crazy - 1 have 50 rejection letters in a file, and those are just the ones I saved.

Q: Is it hard to be a successful author while living in small-town Kentucky?

JONES: With computers, e-mail, faxes and travel so common, where you live just isn't a barrier anymore. One of the most important things is making contact with other writers, networking. There are so many avenues available for that - (writers') groups, conferences, seminars, on-line connections.

Q: What tips would you offer other aspiring inspirational authors? JONES: Read in the market. Pay attention to what publisher puts out which kind of book, they publish and it is not one size fits all.

Q: How has your writing affected your faith - or vice versa?

JONES: It has definitely made me more responsible about my faith, about what I say and do. Not because people are watching and I care what they think, but I do care what God thinks. I care very much that the name of the Lord is attached to my work in such a visible way.

Wiper blades-an endangered species

(NAPSA)-During the 20th Century, mankind has not withstand severe temperature variations, witnessed the effects of technological advancements. However, technology is advancing so quickly, new designs make previous advancements obsolete before many people realize it. Lasers are replacing scalpels and computer chips are replacing lasers. VCR's were replacing movie theaters and now DVD players are replacing VCR's. Telephones replaced radios and now telephones are being replaced by Cell Phones. The automotive industry is becoming so high tech that before too long it might take a computer technician just to fill the gas

Even traditional wiper blades are becoming extinct. Since the material properties of silicone were discovered, it has replaced traditional carbonbased rubber in many automotive applications. And with good reason. Carbon is the backbone of traditional rubber, which deteriorates rapidly and can Silicone, on the other hand, is inorganic with a silica backbone, which gives it tremendous resistance to severe temperature variations as well as resistance to ozone, UV rays and weathering. The traditional rubber wiper blade loses its functional properties below 32°F where it becomes stiff and brittle and above 110°F it dries and deteriorates rapidly. Silicone wipers operate perfectly in temperatures as low as minus 100°F and as high as plus 350°F.

With these kinds of advancements, the necessity to replace worn wipers in the pouring rain or freezing weather will become another story our grandchildren will listen to in amazement. They will wonder how we ever got along without things like Silicone Wipers, the Internet, cell phones, Global Positioning Devices, etc. etc. etc. For more information on Silicone Wiper Blades visit your local Wal-Mart, Kmart or call 800-517-7600.

School officials discuss possible reductions in teacher' positions

A continuing decrease in over-all student body population may soon mean a decrease in the overall teacher population for the Magoffin County school system.

The local school system has seen a steady decline in student enrollment over the past few years, and it has reached the point where several teaching positions may be eliminated, according to Magoffin school officials.

Falling enrollment totals have been a concern County for the school board since the beginning of the current school year, because educational funding in Kentucky is based on a local school's system average daily attendance.

Initially, school board members were concerned that the system would lose much needed financing due to lower enrollment. Now, thought, they are faced with teacher positions.—The Salversville Independent David Stallard, 23, and Robert Mason, 36, both of Carter County, were arrested without incident, February 23, at separate locations near Olive Hill.

Mason was captured at a grocery store after police received a telephone tip that he was there and wanted to turn himself in. Shortly afterward, Stallard was taken into custody Morgan at his mother's residence in a nearby trailer court.

Stallard and Mason escaped, February 5, by crawling under a fence around an exercise yard adjoining the prison's minimum-security unit and fleeing down the Licking River. A search dog lost their trail on KY 519 the following morning.

Mason was serving a 35-year sentence for robbery and being a persistent felony offender. Stallard was serving a 12-year sentence on drug, burglary and theft charges .- The Licking Valley Courier

Board votes to close Caney

The Knott County Board of Education voted to close Caney Elementary School in a special meeting, Thursday, February 24. The boardroom was packed with Caney Community members, parents and children, some angry, some tearful. Ignoring their objections, Donald Collins made the motion to close the school; a second came from Charles Hall. Doug Gibson voted no, followed by yes votes from Collins, Hall and Mickey Amburgey. Langus Martin voted no, but the majority vote passed the measure.

In response to questions from the audience and from board members, Dr. James Pack stated that he did not recommend closing of any school.—The Troublesome Creek Times

County attorney's office recognized for efforts to obtain support for children

County Attorney Randy G. Slone has addressed the growing problem of deadbeat parents by establishing a Child Support Office that scores high on evaluations. The state's child support offices in each county are graded on performance. The state looks at the number of new child support orders established, the amount actually collected and the number of paternity establishments to gauge how well each office is doing. Since taking office in 1999, Slone and his staff (Marcia Gayheart, Patricia Smith, Vicki Jackson Slone, and Tim Bates) have earned high marks from the state's Division of Child Support.—The Troublesome Creek Times

Outside Knott County, Ritchie is renowned as the foremost authority on knife collecting. he has written several books detailing the history of cutlery. One of the books, "The Standard Knife Collector's Guide" is so much in demand that it is now in its third printing.— The Troublesome Creek Times

Teacher pleads guilty to forging student checks

A former Feds Creek High School teacher charged last year with falsifying documents and cashing the paychecks of students whose names she forged as having worked in a summer work program in 1998, recently pleaded guilty to the charges in Pike Circuit Court.

Mary Ann West 53, of Mouthcard, changed her plea after reaching an agreement with the Pike County Commonwealth's Attorney' office, in which 28 or the 30 counts against her were dismissed.

West, pleaded guilty to one count of second-degree forgery and one count of theft by unlawful taking, court records show.—Appalachian News Express

Kin of Korean MIAs located

In an attempt to locate relatives of two Johnson County soldiers missing in action in the Korean War, Roger Belcher, representative for the Kentucky Department of Veterans Affairs in Prestonsburg, listed names of Master Sergeant Eugene H. Herkless and Corporal Odes Iven Cantrell in last Friday's issue of the Herald. A story about the two missing men had also been published last November, without anyone coming forward with information about their relatives.

But this time, Belcher said that before noon Monday, he had solid leads as to the whereabouts of relatives of both men and even had a telephone conversation with Cantrell's sister, Ruth May Kelly, who lives in Dayton, Ohio.

Belcher said relatives of the two men were being sought because the United States and North Korean governments have authorized the Department of Defense to send joint field investigation and negotiation teams into North Korea to try to account for missing service members and DNA information from relatives could be necessary to confirm an identification. — The Paintsville Herald

Betsy Layne to challenge speed of South Floyd

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

Tonight at the J.E. Campbell Arena, the Betsy Layne Bobcats and South Floyd Raiders will find themselves in an unusual position. Both teams will be playing for the championship in the finals of the boys' 58th District.

It will be the first-ever appearance for South Floyd, which had never won a district tournament game until Tuesday night when they disposed of Betsy Layne hasn't been in the championship game since they fell to Allen Central 103-69 in the final game of 1994.

Both teams are quick. Both teams like the smothering defense. Both teams have the three-point shooters. Both teams match up well except for maybe inside where the advantage would have to go to South Floyd.

Coach Rose and his Bobcats will meet one of the region's top teams in number one seed South Floyd, a team they have fallen to twice during the regular season.

The assured presence in the upcoming regional tournament will be the first since Betsy Layne played in the 1994 event, also held at Allen Central and won by the Rebels over Pike County Central.

Conley scores 25 in win over Betsy Layne Ladycats

Sports Editor

What was billed as a "showdown" was just that when the Betsy Layne Ladycats and Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats squared off in a first-round game of the girls' 58th District basketball tournament at Allen Central High School Tuesday night.

In what had been the best game of the tournament to date, Amelia Conley showed why she was one of the top players in the 15th Region by dominating the offensive boards, roaming the paint area and scoring 25 points to lead Prestonsburg to a 73-67 win over a very, very good Betsy Layne team.

The victory placed the Lady Blackcats in the finals of the district tournament (Thursday night). Prestonsburg is the defending district champions and runners-up in last year's 15th Region tournament.

Ramanda Music, who had several put-backs and was instrumental in leading a Prestonsburg comeback that netted the win for the Lady Blackcats, tossed in 18 points and had 12 rebounds. Megan Hyden finished with 12 points but played a strong floor game in directing the team at the point.

Senior Brandy Wells netted nine points for Prestonsburg with a three-point basket. Brook Coleman finished with five, including a trey. Angela Howell and Stephanie Adams had two points apiece.

Junior Jenny Parsons, as usual, was outstanding but fouled out late in the game, which hurt the Ladycats in the final four minutes of the game. Betsy Layne held a one-point lead when Parsons departed the game. She finished

The Johnson Central Golden Eagles took on the Tigers of Paintsville. The two teams split in regular season, therefore this was the rubber match for the two crosstown rivals.

This was deja vu for the two teams. The same thing happened last year, when the two teams met in the first round of the district tournament. Prestonsburg plays hard, falls to South Floyd, 99-66

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

It has just been a season for the Prestonsburg Blackcats basketball team. A year of struggling, a time of trying to find the right combination, and a time to help some players to mature all came to an end Tuesday night.

Coach Jackie Day Crisp's ballclub dropped a 99-66 decision to top seed South Floyd in a firstround game in the boys' 58th District basketball tournament at Allen Central.

The Blackats played hard but just could not overcome the balanced attack of the Raiders.

Senior Ryan Shannon hit four three-point baskets and poured in 20 points to lead five players in double figures. Senior Jimmy Stumbo tossed in 17 points and pulled down 12 rebounds. Kyle Tackett, also a senior, scored 12 points, with freshman Michael Hall pumping in 13. Hall had two three-point baskets. Sophomore Rusy Tackett netted 11 points. John Meade just missed double figures with nine points.

Dustin Music led Prestonsburg with 23 points and was perfect from the free-throw line hitting five of five attempts. Senior Seth Crisp closed out his basketball career with 17 points. Ricky Powers was held to just seven

First round games lacking in luster; watch out for second round

HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISH

Prestonsburg's Megan Hyden, who celebrated her 16th birthday this past Wednesday. Megan plays point guard for the Lady Blackcats and is a dandy. Happy birthday,

Also, to Shawna Case who is celebrating her birthday today, Friday. Happy birthday, Shawna.

If you see either of the two, wish them a happy birthday.

TOURNAMENT TIME...

It hadn't been all that exciting at the 58th District tournament during the first-round games. And of course, the reason for that is all the mismatches of the first round games.

The Allen Central and South Floyd girls' game was a laughter while Prestonsburg won over Piarist. Thanks to Coach Jackie

Day Crisp, the game was interesting at times but the result was never in doubt.

Tuesday night's game, well, the first one, was a treat but game two saw South Floyd unload on Prestonsburg.

Allen Central has done a number one job in hosting the tournament. Every thing seems to be in place and tournament manager, Johnny Martin, has worked extremely hard to make this a great tournament.

The program you can purchase at the gym is more than just a book of ads. I like what they did with this year's program. An article from Chuck Culpepper (Lexington Herald). In short, the program is definitely a collector's item and one you will want to keep as a keepsake. Thanks Coach Martin for the effort you put into giving us a great program. It is the best we have had at tournament time.

 - . One player I have been rooting for all year has been Allen Central's Jessica Martin. Jessica's future was in doubt before the season started, but she has played the whole season and has had a great senior year.

I like those players who overcome adversity and play extra hard to prove a point.

· The boys regional will be at Allen Central High School and will get the first tip on Wednesday night, March 8.

Until Sunday, good sports everyone and be good sports! Take the kids to Sunday School and church this Sunday.

Coach Rose said there were some keys to playing against the Raiders and taking care of the basketball was at the top of the list.

"Definitely turnovers. Also, we have to shoot the ball fairly well," he said. "Up there we went about four minutes without a score. We went from being three points down in the season. Coach Rose said his to being 13 down. We can't afford

"The school, the student body, and the staff are going crazy up there right now," he said. "The next week or so might be the best they have had in a long time."

Coach Rose said he never doubted the ability of his team to reach the tournament finals.

"I knew we had the capabilities and the talent," he said. "It was just a matter of our seniors and some of our juniors believing in our system and believing in us. They have done that from day one."

much more enjoyable. This game pitted not only two of the top teams against each other, but two of the best coaches were up against each other. Johnny Ray Turner and Bill Mike Runyon are two of the best coaches in this area.

But the Tigers ended their season with a record of 19-9.

Mitchell Coleman was the leading scorer with 28. Tommy McKenzie finished with 16 and Jimmy Burchett had 14 for the night.

For the Tigers, they were led in scoring by Kyle Meade with 22. Ben Trimble had 19 and Mitchell Grim finished with 11 points.

The Tigers struggled from the floor. They missed shots that they normally put in with ease. They missed layups, dunks and putbacks. And this really hurt the Tigers and allowed the Eagles to come away with the win.

But the game of basketball is a game that has a great deal of luck the luck was not with the Tigers. It was with the Eagles. That is not to say that both teams did not play very good basketball, but the shots just did not fall for the Tigers.

Paintsville got the ball to start the game and quickly turned the ball over to the Eagles. Mitchell Coleman missed his first try and Paintsville got the rebound. The Tigers committed another turnover. then Johnson Central turned the ball back over to the Tigers, but Dustin Ratliff missed the jumper and Tommy McKenzie pulled down the rebound for the Eagles. And with 6:21 remaining in the opening quarter. Tommy McKenzie put the Eagles on the scoreboard first when he drove to the basket for two

But Mitchell Grim would soon answer for the Tigers with a threepoint basket to give the lead to the Tigers. Marvin Fannin regained the lead for the Eagles.

The Tigers outscored the Eagles 7-0 in the next two minutes of the game to jump out to a 10-4 lead with 3:56 remaining in the opening quarter. Mitchell Coleman broke the Eagles' dry spell when he went in for a two-point basket and was old-fashioned three-point basket. He missed the free throw and the Tigers maintained a four-point lead.

The Tiger lead increased to six points when Ben Trimble hit a jumper. But the Eagles would have a run of their own. Really, Mitchell Coleman had a run. Coleman hit two three-point baskets and Tommy McKenzie hit a three-pointer at the buzzer to give the Eagles the threepoint lead at the end of the first quarter, 19-16.

Jimmy Burchett hit a three-point basket for Johnson Central to get the second quarter started. Tommy McKenzie hit a two-point basket to increase the Eagle lead to eight with 6:30 remaining in the half

Both teams had spurts in the second quarter. Johnson Central led by as many as 11 with two and half minutes remaining in the half, but the Tigers would not go away. The Tigers fought back to cut the lead to only four when they went into the dressing room. The Eagles held on to a 41-37 lead at the half.

> Mitchell Coleman took up in the second half where he left off in the first half. Coleman hit a two-point basket to get the second half started. Heath Castle then hit another basket for the Eagles and the lead was suddenly eight points. With 5:52 remaining in the third quarter and the Eagles leading 48-37, Bill Mike Runyon called a timeout.

The Tigers could not get a basket to fall for the first three minutes of the third quarter. Kyle Tackett hit a two-pointer with 5:08 left on the clock in the third quarter. Ben Trimble hit a another two-point basket for the Tigers to cut the lead to nine points with 3:37 remaining in the third.

Then Mitchell Coleman struck again for the Eagles. Coleman hit a two-point basket, and Paintsville committed another turnover on the next trip down the floor Mitchell Coleman took advantage of the turnover by hitting a three-point basket to increase the Eagles' lead to 14 with a little over two minutes to go in the third. The Eagles held on to a 58-47 lead going into the

But Coach Runyon and his Paintsville Tigers would not go away. The game was far from being over. The Tigers outscored the Eagles 19-14 in the final quarter.

With 5:15 minutes remaining in the game, the Eagles had a 64-51 lead. Kyle Meade hit a two-point basket for the Tigers to cut the lead to 13 points. Mitchell Coleman and Kyle Meade traded baskets. Then Brad Austin hit a two-point basket, then Ben Trimble hit two freethrows and the Tigers were right back in the game. With 2:53 remaining, the Eagle lead had been cut to only six.

Mitchell Coleman committed his fourth foul and put Ben Trimble at the charity line. Trimble hit one of two free throws to bring the Tigers to within five points.

With less that a minute remaining for the Tigers, Dustin Ratliff stole the ball and made the basket and the Eagle lead was only two with 16 ticks left on the clock. Paintsville's Brad Austin put Tommy McKenzie to the line. McKenzie had missed his last three from the charity stripe. But this is where the maturity of being a senior comes into play. McKenzie hit both of the free throws to give the Eagles a four point lead.

Paintsville hurriedly got the ball down the floor and Brad Austin attempted a three point basket but it was a little off. Heath Castle got the rebound for the Eagles and made the basket. Time ran out on the Tigers. The Eagles went away with the game for the second year in a row, 72-66.

The Tigers' season ended and the Eagles advanced to the championship game on Friday night. The Eagles will take on the host Magoffin County Hornets. The Hornets will be playing without junior Brandon Russell, Russell injured his ankle in the game against Sheldon Clark on Tuesday night and will be out for the rest of the season.

Betsy Layne

"We knew what they were going to do defensively," said the Betsy Layne first year coach. "We have been working on it a couple of weeks."

Coach Rose said his team showed a lot of patience against the Allen Central pressure.

"We stayed with our game plan and didn't take the bad shots we usually do," he said. "We did what we were suppose to do. Our defense, especially in the second was half, was great.

Trailing by three points going to the locker room, Coach Rose said he felt his team was in a good position for the second half.

"We were all right there," he said about the halftime deficit. "We played a lot of players in the first half and they looked like they were winded. We kept trying to push the ball but we let them back in the game. But it all paid off for us and I thought their shots were a little short in the second half."

Allen Central, which had lost two of the three previous games to Betsy Layne, enjoyed the second quarter spurt that earned them the halftime advantage. Senior Leslie Slone showed senior leadership in the period by scoring 10 points and hitting two three-point baskets.

But the third quarter did not prove as fruitful for Allen Central as Betsy Layne threw their own version of the same defense Allen Central played in the first half. The Rebels scored only six points in the third period but still trailed by three, 48-45 after three periods.

Betsy Layne took a 41-40 lead on a three-point basket by Justin Bartley, who had 16 points in the game. They extended the lead to five with 4:41 left in the third but Allen Central cut the lead to three just before the quarter ended when Josh Howell got behind the Betsy Layne defense, scored, was fouled and sank the free toss.

With 2:54 left on the clock, Betsy Layne took some air out of the ball and ran the clock down only to throw it away with 21 seconds left.

The Bobcats took their biggest lead in the fourth quarter with a 9-0 run to assume a 64-52 lead with just under three minutes to play.

In the final 2:03 of the game, Betsy Layne hit 10 of 14 free throws to secure the game in the win column.

"We missed eight free throws in the fourth quarter," said Coach Rose, "but we did get to shoot a lot. We usually are a good freethrow shooting team.'

Bartley's 16 points led the Bobcats followed by Brooks 15. Brock Keathley finished with 14. Scott Collins added 13 and Adam Collins tossed in 10. Nathan Tackett came off the bench and added five big points, while Brad Daugherty finished with three.

Sexton and Slone led Allen Central with 19 points each. Larry Mullins, who tried to rally his team in the final quarter, finished with 12 points. Josh Howell netted nine and Rodney Scott scored six. Travis Francis scored two and Z.W. Chaffin had one.

It was the final game for Sexton, Slone and Howell for Allen Central which finished the season at 13-10.

the margin at three. Again, poor rebounding by Betsy Layne allowed Prestonsburg to extend its lead to seven points, 52-45, after three quarters.

Parsons and Lykens led the Ladycat charge that reclaimed the lead for Betsy Layne at 59-58 but that would be the last time they would have the advantage.

Shannon scored seven second-quarter points and hit his second trey in the period to lead the Raiders to a 41-24 lead at the half. Music had eight points in the quarter for Prestonsburg.

The shot of the game that would make anyone's highlight film was taken by Kyle Tackett when he went under the goal, came out and with his back to the basket, flipped the ball in the air, the ball went in and he was fouled on the play. Tackett hit the free throw to complete the three-point play.

Prestonsburg never would go away, as they stayed close to the Raiders through most of the third period.

But a fired Prestonsburg team could only watch as the Raiders pulled away and put the Blackcats away.

Best of the best bluegrass

Pull together some of the best bluegrass musicians from across the country and you have to have a winning sound.

That's the story of Longview, which is set to perform at the Mountain Arts Center on St. Patrick's Day, March 17.

In 1994, the founder of Rounder Records, Ken Irwin, to commemorate his label's 25th anniversary, put together an all-star lineup for a bluegrass festival in North

He recruited Dudley Connell, Don Rigsby and James King to sing three-part harmony with the Stanley Brothers. The acclaim for the singers led to the formation about a year later of Longview, when the three joined Joe Mullins, Glen Duncan and Marshall Wilborn to record at the Long View Farm studio in rural

Salome's Stars

ARIES (MARCH 21 TO APRIL 19)

Your natural leadership qualities will be put to the test when a workplace situation threatens to turn from turmoil to real trouble. Expect someone to block your way.

TAURUS (APRIL 20 TO MAY 20)

Knowing what to say and when to say it is one of your strengths. Use it wisely when confronting those who are looking to see if you will meet their requirements for a special workplace project.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20)

The arts are highly favored at this time. Even if you don't plan to outpaint Picasso, spend some time at a museum or gallery. It will help get those soothing endorphins flowing.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)

Learn to let go! Your need to hold onto grudges keeps you from reaching out to more rewarding relationships. You can start now to make a better future.

LEO (JULY 23 TO AUGUST 22)

A night out or a weekend away is like catnip for a winter-weary kitty who needs some cheering up. Enjoy a fun time with close friends or, better yet, with just one very special someone.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22)

It's not too early to plan your spring wardrobe. You'll need a few special outfits for those special occasions that will be coming your way. A phone call from an old friend reignites those once warm feelings.

LIBRA (SEPTEMBER 23 TO OCTOBER 22)

A chance to enhance your skills gives you the edge when a new opportunity opens up. A family member reveals a secret that could change how you feel about another relative.

SCORPIO (OCTOBER 23 TO NOVEMBER 21)

It's a good time to go through things that you've stored away. Share some precious mementos with family members. A long-lost letter gives you a chance to reestablish an old relationship.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)

Looking for a change in the direction your life is taking is like looking for loose change under your sofa pillows. It's all there waiting to be found — just as soon as you start your search.

CAPRICORN (DECEMBER 22 TO JANUARY 19)

Don't be so thin-skinned where a friend's comments are involved. Instead of storming off in high dudgeon, stop to listen to some of the best advice you've had in a while.

AQUARIUS (JANUARY 20 TO FEBRUARY 18)

You're entering a relatively quiet period. This gives you a chance to refresh both body and soul before things begin to bubble and boil again. Your family responds to the quality time you've been sharing with them.

PISCES (FEBRUARY 19 TO MARCH 20)

Your renewed immersion in a more active social life is already paying off with new friendships. Someone calls to give you important information you might be able to put to good use in your career.

Bluegrass

Massachusetts.

In the fall of 1997, they released the results of that recording session on the tape titled simply "Longview." Two songs from the album remained in the bluegrass top five throughout the summer of 1998, and the band won Recorded Event of the Year and Song of the Year honors from the International Bluegrass Music Association.

Their second album, "High Lonesome," released last summer, has received critical acclaim.

The six musicians are members of some of the most respected and popular bluegrass bands in the country — Lonesome River Band, Seldom Scene, James King Band and Lynn Morris Band.

They reunite for selected engagements as Longview.

The MAC date is one of those engagements.

They will appear as part of the Don Rigsby Homecoming, which will also feature the Lonesome River Band, Carl Jackson and Dwight Whitley.

Showtime is 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $15 in advance and $16 the day of the show. For reservations, call 1-888-MAC ARTS or locally 889-9125.

Additional information on the Longview members includes:

■ Don Rigsby — mandolin, lead and harmony vocals. Rigsby, who is from Sandy Hook in Elliott County, is a member of Lonesome River

Band. He was previously with the Bluegrass Cardinals and J.D. Crowe and the New South. He has a solo gospel recording, "A Vision."

Dudley Connell — lead and harmony vocals, guitar. Originally from the Washington, D.C., area, Connell rose to prominence as one of the Johnson Mountain Boys and then sang tenor with the James King Band. Since 1995, he has been a member of Seldom Scene.

* Glen Duncan — fiddles, harmony vocals. Duncan, an in-demand fiddle player in both country and bluegrass music, has performed with Bill Monroe, Jim & Jesse and the Osborne Brothers, as well as country artists Reba McEntire, Barbara Mandrell and the Kendalls. From 1991 to 1995, the Indiana native was co-leader of the band Lonesome Standard Time.

James King — lead vocals. James is from southwestern Virginia and recorded with Ralph Stanley before starting his own band in 1988. The James King Band was named IBMA's Emerging Artist of the Year in 1997.

The group's third album, "Bed By the Window," reached Number One on the bluegrass charts in 1999.

Joe Mullins banjo, vocals. At the age of six, Mullins was accompanying his father Paul Mullins on guitar, and he learned the banjo as a teen-ager with the help of such masters as Ralph Stanley, Sonny Osborne, J.D. Crowe, and Don Reno, who routinely visited the Mullins household. Joe and his father led the Traditional Grass from 1983 to 1985. Joe owns WBZI, bluegrass and country music station, in Xenia, Ohio, ■ Marshall Wilborn bass. Wilborn was named Bass Player of the Year in the first annual Bluegrass Now Fan's Choice Awards. A native of west Texas, he started in music by playing folk and bluegrass banjo. Switching to bass, he played with Whetstone Run, Jimmy Martin's Sunny Mountain Boys, and Connell in the Johnson Mountain Boys. Since 1988, he and his wife have led the Lynn Morris Band.

All that's fit to print and then some

As anyone in the newspaper business knows (especially editors), an occasional misprint of a single letter or word can change the entire meaning of an article and often produces hilarious results.

In fact, late night talk show host Jay Leno devotes one opening segment a week to "THE HEADLINES," newspaper bloopers sent to him by fans from all over the world.

With this in mind, my sister, Melinda, forwarded to me (through the modern technological miracle of e-mail) a list of actual "misstatements" from church bulletins. They brought a smile to my face and tickled my funny-bone; I hope they do the same for you.

State park gets rare portrait

John James Audubon State Park in Henderson recently welcomed a mysterious woman to the park.

The identity of the regal woman dressed in fine clothes is unknown. But what is known for sure is that she represents one of only a handful of portraits known to exist by the famed naturalist/artist for which the park is named.

A privately funded park support group, the Friends of Audubon, recently purchased the portrait for $32,000 from an unidentified seller. The subject might be Adelaide Talbot, the wife of a friend of Audubon, Sen. Isham Talbot, based on scanty information that has been passed down through the family that owned the work for generation.

But while the subject's identity is not known for sure, the image's rarity and quality is certain, says the park museum's curator, Don Boarman.

The work, executed in India ink, graphite pencil crayon and charcoal, is an invaluable addition to a priceless collection of art work and memorabilia on display at the park's museum, he said.

While Audubon made his mark meticulously painting and drawing birds, he executed many portraits, of which roughly 15 are known to have survived, Boarman said. The newly acquired work dates from 1819, shortly after Aubudon left Henderson amid business problems.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

CHUCK SHEPHERD'S NEWS OF THE WEIRD by Chuck Shepherd

Cynthia Lane told reporters in February that she would file a complaint with the Ontario Human Rights Commission because Windsor Regional Hospital had labeled her Down syndrome child on charts as "FLK," which several health care personnel told her was a commonly used term meaning "funny looking kid." Said the hospital's chief of pediatrics, "A lot of parents dislike the term."

State-of-the-art veterinary care was described in a January New York magazine story on Manhattan's Animal Medical Center, including kidney dialysis (at $55,000 a year), cataract removals, hip replacements, anterior-cruciate ligament repairs, root canals and brain surgery. CPR on small animals (such as, witnessed by the reporter, a pet rat) consists of placing the animal's head inside a doctor's mouth. The New York Times reported in January that veterinary care flourishes in Canada because the private sector runs it, unlike human health care; one man, long wait-listed for an MRI at Ontario hospitals, quickly booked time at an animal hospital.

Last Words

"Who wants old ugly Kevin Green, anyway?" (uttered by a 17-year-old Atlanta woman who was then shot to death by Kevin's other girlfriend, who was convicted in December), "Make me (stop humming Christmas carols)" (uttered in December by a 78-year-old Menlo Park, California, man who was then strangled by his roommate). "I killed your dog" (uttered tauntingly by a 37-year-old Whitelaw, Alberta, woman to her rifle-holding husband, who then shot her to death, according to his December confession; she had already admitted having an affair with an old boyfriend).

Compelling Explanations

In December, after a four-year legal battle, the Texas Supreme Court invalidated the VitaPro soybean meat substitute contract with the state prison system because of evidence that prisoners had become demoralized with their VitaPro diets, which had "led to adverse health effects, including rampant flatulence."

Former pastor Eric Daniel Harris, 37, pled guilty in November to the 1996 arson that burned down the Kentucky Missionary Baptist Church in Saline County, Arkansas. According to a federal prosecutor, Harris said he did it because "there was a division among church members, and they needed a project to unify them."

October, In 3 Pennsylvania Commonwealth Court accepted driver John Carlin's argument on appeal that it was impossible for him to comply with the police's Breathalyzer demand because he had to urinate so bad that he could not blow firmly into the device. Said Judge Rochelle Friedman, "The difficulty of such a task is obvious." Officers had denied Carlin a restroom break until he consented to make the standard two blows; the first registered 0.18 (over the legal limit), and he refused to take the second.

According to reports of an NCAA investigation published in the Knoxville News-Sentinel in February, an official in the University of Tennessee English department last year claimed that a star football player plagiarized a class paper,

Learning the essential skills for a simpler life

(NAPSA)-Simplifying your life may require learning some new skills.

Fortunately, a practical primer offers hundreds of simple guidelines. Storey's Basic Country Skills ($24.95 paperback, $34.95 hard-cover, Storey Books) has been called a complete guide to the simpler life, a primer for rediscovering traditional American country arts-or even an encyclopedia in overalls.

Weighing in at three pounds and 576 pages, the book offers step-by-step instructions on creating, fixing and doing. It covers everything from buying country property to creating a window-box butterfly garden, from tapping your maples for sugaring to installing a woodstove, from milking a cow to making homemade ice cream flavored with your own berries.

Inspired by country living enthusiasts, John and Martha Storey, the book offers sections on furniture repair for people with few tools, making your own cheeses and using herbs for moth control. Information from 150 real country pros runs the gamut from A to Z-from building an arbor to deadheading Zinnias. In fact, the book has close to everything a home owner might want to know about country living including the kitchen sink and how to repair it.

The country experts who provide many of the tips hail from towns most people have never heard of and towns that in some cases don't appear on the map, such as Salmon, Idaho; Chilliwack, British Columbia; and Zumbro Falls, Minnesota.

Here are a few examples of country wisdom from the book:

■ Want to save on heat? Constructing a shelter around your door will save heating costs every time you enter or leave the house in winter.

■ Looking for an underground source of water? Lightning doesn't always strike just the tallest tree. If a short tree is struck repeatedly, it may be close to a spring or water vein.

■ Want to keep pests out of your garden? Leave some dirty laundry in the corn patch.

SOAP UPDATES

ALL MY CHILDREN:

Becca told Scott it wasn't Leo's idea to set up Marian and Stuart. Tad decided to thwart Adam's plan by not telling Jake the truth about Colby's paternity. Mateo warned Arlene to keep away from Hayley. Alex was stunned to see Edmund in London. Leo filled Erica's head with doubts about David. Gillian shocked the court with her testimony during the custody trial. Wait to See: Liza makes a stunning outburst in court.

AS THE WORLD TURNS:

Denise and Andy made a decision that would change many lives. Henry's offer of "help" for Katie caused problems for Lily and Holden. Lisa gave Emily a warning. Simon made Lily an intriguing offer. Ben got devastating news. Wait to See: Katie's lie may be closer to the truth than she realizes.

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL:

Morgan cautioned Eric and Ridge that she might offer their best chance to make peace with Brooke, Clarke decided not to let Giovanni get any advantage over him with Morgan. Taylor realized Morgan and Ridge were once an item. Sally's newspaper ad congratulating Adam on his birthday alerted men from his past who burst into his party and started shooting. Wait to See: Sally faces a horrifying realization.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES:

Hope's screams alerted Stefano who then grappled with Kurt for the gun. The bomb aboard the plane exploded. Unaware that Rolf tampered with the compass, John tried to find a place to land, but had to ditch into the water. Nancy was crushed when Chloe said she'd leave her when she turns 18. Wait to See: Victor issues an order that could change the lives of Nicole, Brandon, Lucas, Austin and Sami.

GENERAL HOSPITAL:

Chloe was rushed into emergency surgery, Stefan's men overpowered Helena's guards and Stefan then rushed Lucky away with Luke and Felicia in hot pursuit. Roy and Bobbie explored their feelings for each other. Luke told an overjoyed Laura their son was still alive. Meanwhile, Stefan learned Helena stole Lucky back from him. Wait to See: Tony has distressing news for Carly and Jax. Nikolas tells Liz Lucky might be alive.

GUIDING LIGHT:

The Spaulding and Lemay families rallied around Lizzie. Michelle learned her fate. Meanwhile, Danny plotted to force Carmen to confess. Richard became increasingly attracted to Cassie. Olivia caught Marah in her own trap. Wait to See: Vanessa begins to awaken. Danny and Michelle ask Ray for help.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE:

Skye stunned Ben with the news that not only was Max faking his condition, but he's not the true Buchanan heir. Starr told Blair and Tea she just talked to her daddy (Todd). Kevin wondered why Viki hadn't told Ben about her breast biopsy. Asa began to believe what Ben told him about Max's scheming. Later, Max dropped a bombshell on Ben. Wait to See: Nora decides to tell Bo about Lindsay's pregnancy.

PASSIONS:

Charity became increasingly agitated over her visions of Julian and Eve's sordid past. Eve and Julian met at the closed Book Café, unaware that Chad was heading there. Timmy kissed a sleeping Charity on her forehead. Sam and TC got a call about lights on in the closed Café. Wait to See: Eve tries to keep T.C. from learning about Charity's visions.

PORT CHARLES:

An unconscious Kevin was stabbed in the heart and left to die in a backroom where Eve and Chris found him. He was rushed into surgery but had little chance to survive. Eve blamed Rachel, Scott, and Lucy for Kevin's condition because of their support of Julie. Meanwhile, Julie was devastated that Chris believes she might have been Kevin's assailant. Wait to See: Joe approaches Tony for a job. Kevin identifies his attacker.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS:

Victor confided in Ashley about his feelings for Nikki. Later, Ashley called Christian in Paris to tell him she's pregnant and briefed him on how to handle Jack. Brad insisted on a commitment from Nikki. Dru assured Neil she'll find out what's really happening with Olivia. After hearing Brittany says Billy is dead, Jill and John rushed out to find Raul administering CPR to their son. Raul confronted J.T. for not letting Britanny call 911 for Billy. Ramona arrived to see Victor. Malcolm noticed Ross' strange behavior toward Victoria. Wait to See: Victor faces a crucial

UK to show new acquisitions

As prelude to its 25th anniversary celebration slated to begin in Fall 2000, the University of Kentucky Art Museum is exhibiting a selection of new works that have been added to the collection over 1998 and 1999.

Paintings, sculptures, photographs, and works on paper acquired by gift and by purchase will be on display through June 25.

Splashy Sea Lions Capture San Francisco Hearts

(NAPS)-To see some exceptionally good looking, gregarious males with very distinguished mustaches go to San Francisco. That's where the sea lions hang out at PIER 39's West Marina. There are hundreds of them.

It all started back in 1989 after the Loma Prieta earthquake when sea lions staked their claim on Kdock in PIER 39's marina. No one knows exactly why they chose San Francisco's number one attraction as a new home base, though it is speculated that the available dock space, the protected area and the abundance of herring in the Bay are contributing factors.

Each year over the past decade, 50 to 900 wild sea lions have been observed at K-dock drawing thousands of tourists and local spectators every year. They have even been nicknamed "Sea-Lionebrites" for the crowds they draw.

In 1992 PIER 39 began a program with the Marine Mammal Center that has touched the lives of 13,000 school children since its inception.

PIER 39 features 110 specialty shops, 11 full service restaurants and numerous attractions

For further information, call (415) 705-5500, or check out the Web site www.pier39.com.

The museum has added to its extensive holdings of regional artists by acquiring a painting by Louisville native, Mary Ann Currier, and a sculpture by Lexington artist Steven Armstrong.

Acquisitions by former and current faculty members of the UK Art Department include new works by Edward Fisk, Clifford Amyx, Raymond Barnhart, and Arturo Alonzo Sandoval.

Paintings added to the collection include Joe Guy's Issenheim Series (Reflection Two) and Marjorie Guyon's Paradis #2. In the graphic arts area, the museum was given two drypoint prints by celebrated fin de siecle printmaker Paul Helleu, and a silkscreen by Ralph Steadman titled Patriotic Primate.

A silverpoint drawing by Victor Hammer, the Viennese painter and typographer, and book works by Susan King enhance the museum's collection of works on paper.

Through gifts and funds from the Robert C. May Photography Endowment, the museum has added substantially to its collection of photographs in the past two years. In anticipation of a major exhibition of the early-20th century Pictorialist photographer Doris Ulmann in 2002, the museum has acquired through gifts and purchases of one of the country's largest collections of her photographs, many of which document her extensive travels through Appalachia.

The University of Kentucky Art Museum is open, noon to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday, and noon to 8 p.m. on Fridays, closed, Mondays and university holidays. For more information, contact Jane Boswell at 606/257-5716.

Circus coming to Charleston

The 129th edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will be in Charleston, West Virginia, on April 19-23.

Athletes, acrobats, elephants, ostriches, alpacas, yaks and more, will perform together within the three rings of The Greatest Show on Earth, at the Charleston Civic Center.

From the moment the whistle blows, the audience will step into a spun-glass world of carousels and camels, a mysterious world of thrills and chills. Ringmaster Johnathan Lee Iverson takes viewers on an emotion-stirring, magical journey through a crystalline jeweled world filled with more than 200 of nature's most beautiful animals and the world's most fantastic flyers, tumblers, balancers and clowns.

This year's spectacular showcases circus families, presenting acts that have spanned the generations. Featuring everything from horses to housecats, the show is billed as the "world's largest traveling menagerie."

Skills passed from father to son take on a tantalizing twist when the masters of the highwire, trapeze, The Globe of Death and The Wheel of Wonder perform flights of fearlessness, with death-defying skill and strength.

An hour before showtime, ticket holders can join Clown Alley's Masters of Mayhem as they take a powder, get painted, and mix it up.

Showtimes are 7:30 p.m. each evening, Wednesday through Saturday, with additional Saturday shows at 11:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. The Sunday show is at 1:30 p.m.

Family Concert March 7 at MU

The Marshall University Symphony Orchestra will present its annual Family Concert on Tuesday, March 7. The concert, designed to appeal to families with children, will begin at 7:30 p.m., in Smith Recital Hall, on the corner of Third Avenue and Hal Greer Boulevard in Huntington.

The concert is free and open to the public. Parking is available after 7 p.m. in all university parking areas.

The program will feature compositions from the 19th and 20th centuries, along with three soloists.

Special pieces include "Ruy Blas Overture" by Mendelssohn; the "Bacchale" from "Samson and Dalila" by Saint Saens; the "Rakoczy March" by Liszt; and the "Anvil Chorus" from "Il Trovatore" by Verdi

Featured compositions will be the "Praeludium and Allegro" for violin and orchestra by Fritz Kreisler, and "The Quiet City" for English horn and trumpet with orchestra by Aaron Copland, in celebration of the centennial of his birth.

A special part of the program will be "Billy and the Carnival" by American composer Daniel Dorff, a fantasy that introduces orchestral instruments.

For the concert, the orchestra will be joined by three soloists and a narrator. Mark Wilson of Ravenswood, West Virginia, will be the soloist for the Kreisler "Praeludium and Allegro." He was the winner of the young Artist's Competition sponsored by the Music Division of the Huntington Women's Club in 1999.

Soloists for the Copland work are Dr. Ann Marie Bingham, English horn, and Deb Eastwood, trumpet, both adjunct professors of music at Marshall.

Narrator for "Billy and the Carnival" will be Dr. John H. Mead, MU music professor. Though more well-known as a trombonist, Mead has had a distinguished career as narrator, appearing in such works as "King David" and "Noye's Fludde."

For more information, call Paul Balshaw, director of the Marshall Orchestra, at 304/696-2399.

Broadway's brightest bring glamour of the stage to KET during TeleFund 2000

To celebrate British composer Andrew Lloyd Webber's 50th birthday, KET and KET2 air an allstar review of his many hit songs, followed by a concert performance from Broadway's darling, Bernadette Peters, Sunday, March 5.

"Andrew Lloyd Webber 50th Birthday Celebration: A Great Performances Special," airing at 7 p.m., delights viewers of all ages with performances by Antonio Banderas, reprising his big-screen performance of "Oh What a Circus" from "Evita," and Glenn Close, singing "As If We Never Said Goodbye" from "Sunset Boulevard,"

Immediately following at 9 p.m., Broadway's baby brings down the house in "Bernadette Peters in Concert." The Tony-Award-winning singer performs such classics as "Broadway Baby," "Some People," and "Unexpected Song," which Peters first sang as part of the original Broadway cast of Webber's "Song and Dance."

"Andrew Lloyd Webber 50th Birthday Celebration: A Great Performances Special" is produced by WNET/New York with the Really Useful Theatre Company. "Bernadette Peters in Concert" is produced by HD Thames Productions.

Both programs are closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-ofhearing.

Viewers can find out more about programming on KET by visiting the KET Web site at http://www.ket.org, a Kentucky.com affiliate.

AAA travel tips

Travel is one of life's many pleasures, but a well-planned, much-deserved vacation can turn into disaster if you are victimized by crime, according to AAA.

"You can reduce your chances of being a vacation crime victim by following a few common sense suggestions," said Dan Dickson, public relations manager for AAA Blue Grass/Kentucky.

When people go on vacation, they let their guard down, making them vulnerable to crime. AAA Blue Grass/Kentucky offers these tips for safe travel.

- Don't leave bags unattended at the airport or hotel. Make sure they are taken by a hotel or airline employee, especially if you are checking in at curbside.
- At the airport or hotel check-in counter or on a shuttle, keep your attention on your bag.
- When boarding a plane, never put items in a front overhead storage rack if your seat is in the rear. Anyone sitting in front can steal items during de-planing while you're stuck in the back.
- Quickly claim bags at the airport baggage area. Crooks grab those not immediately picked up.
- Make sure your hotel has electronic guest room locks, deadbolts and peepholes on the door, locks on the windows, room phones allowing outside calls and well-lighted hallways, parking garages and grounds.

- Avoid ground floor hotel rooms that may be easy targets for thieves.
- Travel well-lighted streets in a group. Avoid dark corners, alleys and entrances to buildings. Park in well-lighted areas.
- Carry travelers checks, since they can be replaced if lost or stolen. Never flash large amounts of cash or expensive jewelry, or carry more cash than you can afford to lose.
- Place cash and a copy of your travel documents in more than one location, so if one item is stolen from you, you'll still have money and papers to continue your trip. Carry money and documents on your person.
- When using an ATM, choose one in a well-lighted, public area. Prepare all paperwork in advance to minimize your time. Walk purposefully to and from the ATM and be aware of your surroundings. If you get cash, quickly put it away. If you feel you might be in danger, then leave. At a drive-thru ATM, lock your car doors.

AAA Blue Grass/Kentucky is a not-for-profit automobile club serving 120,000 members in a 61-county area of central and eastern Kentucky and parts of Virginia and West Virginia.

CRITTERS CORNER

by Carol Combs-Morris, DVM

I suspect lots of animal-related injuries result from misunderstood communications be tween species. Take tail wagging. We almost universally think this is an indication of happiness; in fact that's not the case.

A wagging tail IS usually an indication that a dog is willing to interact—but it has to be interpreted in the context of the rest of the dog's body language. We have to look at what the rest of the body is saying in order to get some idea of whether the dog intends the interaction to be aggressive, fearful, or, indeed, friendly.

To illustrate, form a mental picture of a friendly dog. The tail is wagging, yes, but usually in wide sweeps; the ears are up (as much as possible depending on breed) and forward, the mouth is open and relaxed, the eyes are wide, and the entire dog just "looks happy."

Contrast this with the dog who is saying, "don't come any closer. His tail may well be wagging also, but usually with stiff, rapid movements. His body posture is entirely different—the ears are generally back or flattened, the mouth is drawn back and tense, the eyes are staring and intense; the entire body radiates the feeling of a coiled spring.

Sometimes the differences are not so obvious, even to people who work with dogs every day. I personally have a hard time "reading" Rottweilers. They seem to have very subtle changes in facial expression, and also, the closely cropped tail robs these dogs of one of their most important communications devices.

This is one of my big objections to ear cropping and tail-docking, aside from any personal feelings. Dobermans have a double-whammy of both altered ears and tails. Our Dobe, Gunner, always has what appears to be a stiff, aggressive tail movement, even when he's obviously having a ball playing with Whitney, our Chow-Lab cross. There's only so much you can do with a three-inch long tail.

And then there are cats.

Tails say entirely different things in cat language. I will never forget the first-time cat owner who nearly learned this the hard way. We happened to overhear her say, "I've never seen a cat so happy—he's actually wagging his tail!"

This was no sooner out of her mouth than the entire clinic staff rushed to avert the impending disaster in exam room two. While someone worked on restraining and calming the cat, someone else gave the owner a quick lesson on cat body language.

Her pet was not wagging, but lashing, his tail. He was on the verge of actually attacking his unsuspecting owner who was not responding correctly to his repeated requests in cat language to back off.

Had this lady been more experienced with cats, she would have taken note also of the flicking ears, the laid-back whiskers, and the squinted eyes, and the laid-back whiskers, and the squinted eyes, and she would have been more alert to the fact that the cat had switched from a purr to a barely audible growl!

(Just as a side note, purring is not strictly reserved for happy cats either. It is also heard in sick, stressed, and even dying cats.)

Watch your pet to see how the tail is carried when he is different moods, and take his breed into consideration. German Shepherds will always have a somewhat low tail carriage; lots of terriers hold theirs straight up most of the time; Akitas' tails are generally held curled over the back.

Some breeds that lack tails, whether naturally or as the result of docking, seem determined to make up for it. Australian Shepherds are notorious for "wagging" their entire rear end.

I'm not sure how this carries over into short-and no-tail breeds of cats (such as Manx and Japanese Bobtails), I haven't observed enough of them. I've really not seen a lot of exaggerated rear end motion in cats who accidentally lost their tails. It may be less obvious because cat body language in general is more subtle.

As your learn more about your own pet's body language, start to watch other animals for differences and similarities.

While I think animal body language is fascinating in and of itself, it can have practical applications, especially if your work involves animals or brings you into contact with animals, such as home health repair or delivery services. My sister-in-law is an insurance agent in Ohio, and we often have impromptu lessons on recognizing and avoiding aggression in dogs when she visits. She credits the knowledge with saving her neck on at least one occasion.

If you are interested in increasing your safety factor around strange dogs, or just in more effectively communicating with your own, there is a neat little book called "On Talking Terms With Dogs: Calming Signals," by Norweigan dog trainer Turid Rugaas. It is published by Legacy by Mail Inc., P.O. Box 794, Kula, HI 96790, or E-mail at Igcymail @ maui.net.

I honestly can't think of a really good basic text on feline body language, although I'm sure they're out there; frequently there are good articles in Cat Fancy magazine.

We'll deal with the subject of avoiding animal bites in a future article

Baby pandas, ballroom dancing on KET

KET has something for everyone on the evening of March 8.
First, "Little Pandas: The New Breed." airing Wednesday, March 8, at 8

First, "Little Pandas: The New Breed," airing Wednesday, March 8, at 8 p.m., on KET and KET2, follows the trials and tribulations of three baby pandas and their mother.

The giant panda was once plentiful throughout China and its neighboring countries, but today there are only an estimated 1,000 of them left in the wild. With their reluctance to breed, and their high infant mortality rate, the birth of one of these adorable bear-like animals is always cause for celphration.

For the program, videographers had unrestricted access to the maternity ward doctors at China's Wolong Panda Breeding Center, providing an unusually close-up view. When one mother abandons her baby, the center's medical team takes over, and the cub evolves before the camera from a delicate black-and-white bundle struggling to survive to a pudgy adolescent striving for independence.

Next up is one of PBS' most popular and enduring entertainment shows. "Championship Ballroom Dancing (2000)," airing at 9 p.m., features all the fancy footwork, creative costumes and high energy that show why ballroom dancing is back in style.

Now in its 19th season, America's first television program dedicated to ballroom dancing continues to feature competitive couples who exude style, stamina and passion.

"Little Pandas: The New Breed" is produced by LJM Productions.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

On Mar. 7, 1809, Jean-Pierre Blanchard, who along with American John Jeffries made the first successful balloon crossing of the English Channel, dies in Paris, France, from injuries suffered after falling from a balloon during a demonstration in the Netherlands ... On Mar. 6, 1834, Toronto, formerly known as York, is incorporated as a city with controversial Canadian politician William Lyon Mackenzie as its first mayor ... On Mar. 9, 1841, the U.S. Supreme Court rules that the African slaves who seized control of the Amistad slave ship had been illegally forced into slavery, and thus are free under American law ... On Mar. 10, 1848, the U.S. Senate votes 38 to 14 to ratify the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, formally ending the Mexican War and extending the boundaries of the United States west to the Pacific Ocean ... On Mar. 11, 1861, delegates from South Carolina, Mississippi, Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana and Texas adopt the Permanent Constitution of the Confederate States of America ... On Mar. 12, 1888, the most severe winter storm to ever hit the New York City region reaches blizzard proportions, causing hundreds of deaths and millions of dollars in property damage ... On Mar. 12, 1945, although the Nazis kept few records of the millions of people who perished in their death camps, it is believed that 16-year-old Anne Frank, a Jewish diarist, died of typhus at the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp... On Mar. 8, 1961, the U.S. Senate considers a motion to launch a formal investigation of the John Birch Society, an ultraconservative organization that was dedicated to fighting what it perceived to be the extensive infiltration of communism into American society ... On Mar. 8, 1965, the first U.S. combat troops openly assigned to Vietnam go ashore near Danang in South Vietnam ... On Mar. 10, 1969, James Earl Ray pleads guilty to the assassination of African-American civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. and is sentenced to 99 years in prison ... On Mar. 11, 1990, Lithuania proclaims its independence from the U.S.S.R., the first Soviet republic to do so.

Take A Bite Of Fruitcake, A Thrilling New Novel

(NAPS)-A provocative new thriller about a lawyer with nothing left to lose (but his life) is getting a favorable verdict from fans of critically acclaimed author R.J. Kaiser.

The book, Fruitcake (MIRA Books, $5.99) is the fast-paced story of Gabe Rose, who, in one night of blinding rage, lost everything; his marriage, his law practice and all his money.

Gabe's given a second chance at life when Del Pritchard walks through his door. Del is a total fruitcake... but a rich fruitcake. And he wants to retain Gabe's legal services to look into a conspiracy of daunting proportions. When Del is brutally murdered, the only person Gabe can turn to is Margot Girard, Del's cousin and the executor of his estate.

With a desperate bank executive and an unpredictable hit man trying to keep one step ahead of Gabe and Margot, uncovering the truth behind the conspiracy could cost Gabe Rose the only thing he's got left. his life.

Fruitcake is available wherever paperbacks are sold or through www.mirabooks.com.

The Lowdown On The Highlights Of China

The Great Wall of China is just one of the wonders that await visitors to this magnificent land, especially when hundreds of artists are coming to the Wall to display their works.

(NAPSA)-Local travel agents are offering tours to one of the most fascinating places on the face of the earth: China. Highlights can include:

■ The Great Wall. A grand gathering of 200 outstanding artists from a hundred countries or more will gather at the Great Wall at its Mutianyu Section near Beijing to produce paintings, calligraphic works, sculptures and various forms of folk art. The advent of the new century, world peace and development are the themes. All the work will combine to form an immense 2-mile-long work where Eastern art meets Western art to match the grandeur of the Great Wall.

Spectacular Shanghai, where a thousand years of commerce can work out to great bargains for American visitors, as well as a chance to see an exciting relay race featuring folks in their sixties and older and children under 15.

■ The Tree Plant Festival, when the entire nation turns out to plant trees. The Beijing World Forest Park and the shores of the Yellow River in Henan Province will be venues for large-scale tree-planting activities. The "Century Tree" and the "Millennium Tree" will be planted and a "Monument to the New Millennium" will be erected beside the Yellow River.

The Round-The-Island Bicycle Race in Hainan Province has been called the ideal time to visit the Island of Hainan, where the smell of coconuts and the ocean mingling in the gentle breeze capture visitors' hearts. Outstanding bicycling athletes from many countries take part in this week-long international tournament. Winners get free tours to scenic spots that have been inscribed on the World Heritages List in China.

A wealth of spiritual uplift awaits those who visit China's churches, temples and mosques. Some of the most charming religious services anywhere can be seen among China's Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, Moslem, Buddhist, Confucian, Bahai and other communities.

For a free brochure with more information and breathtaking photos of China today, see a travel agent or visit the China National Tourism Administration at www.chinatour.com or ento.org.

but the university concluded that an athletic department tutor had merely misinterpreted the federal Americans With Disabilities Act. The athletic tutor said she thought the act allowed a student with a learning disability to talk to her about a classroom topic and that the tutor could then draft a paper for the student.

Not My Fault

Jack Ramsay, who is a member of the Canadian Parliament and who was convicted in November of the 1969 attempted rape of a 14-year-old girl while a member of the Mounted Police, said the crime "would never have happened" if she had not let him see her panties. Ramsay admitted recently that while questioning the girl as a crime victim in 1969, he needed to know whether she understood the concept of sexual intercourse and thus asked her to demonstrate it. Ramsay said it was when she unfastened her jeans that he caught the fateful glimpse of her panties. (Ramsay has been ousted from the Reform Party but has not resigned his seat.)

In recent months, a New York woman and a Massachusetts woman received huge windfalls to their checking accounts due to data-processing errors, and now both are fighting to keep the money, in both instances citing their banks' incompetence. Susan Madakor, 40, has spent $230,000 of her $700,000 that should have gone to a United Nations environmental agency, and retired Centerville, Massachusetts, schoolteacher Joan L. Phillips has spent most of the $800,000 accumulated since 1990 when her pension checks mysteriously increased from $800 a month to $8,000.

The family of 15-year-old Lance Landers said it would appeal a January Alabama court decision barring the diagnosed-"emotionally conflicted" student from public schools. His mother insists he be mainstreamed into the school system under the federal Individuals With Disabilities Education Act, even though he has allegedly assaulted his mother, threatened to kill students, punched the driver of a moving school bus, spit in cafeteria food, thrown batteries at students, ranted during classes, and regularly addressed the principal, "Hello, (expletive deleted)!"

People Who Are Not Like You and Me Joseph Motyka, 32, was arrested on January 1 in Chicago and charged with child endangerment because he, not content with a firecracker celebration of the New Year, had brought home a quarterstick of dynamite. Motyka's 3-year-old daughter discovered it and put it into a candle, and the resultant explosion took off her right hand and caused hearing and vision loss.

Hard to Get Into Prison These Days

Matthew Harley, 27, sentenced to prison on weapons charges in 1995, surrendered at a courthouse in Portsmouth, Virginia, but was sent home, where he continued with his life until September 1999, when authorities finally came for him. And Doris Preston, 74, sentenced to five years' minimum for arson in 1991, went home to Columbus, Ohio, on bail but was not called back until September 1999. And in August, parole-violating rapist Gerald Bennett, 30, tried politely to surrender at the police station in Glenolden, Pennsylvania, but was turned away because of a records glitch and remained free for six more days, during which time, according to police, he killed one woman and raped another before being caught.

Least Competent Criminals

Miguel Avalos-Rivera, 28, was arrested in Fairfax, Virginia, in November after being found screaming in pain in a car; his hand had gotten stuck in the dashboard as he tried to steal the stereo, and he had broken three of his fingers. And Jimmy Cooksey, 36, also was discovered screaming in pain in October; sheriff's deputies in Dallas said he had tried to steal electricity by connecting powerline wires with a homemade pole, but took 36,000 volts, burning him so badly that he lost both legs and is still hospitalized (though no criminal charge was filed).

Also, in the Last Month

A couple parked in a Loudon County, Virginia, nighttime lovers' lane was so startled by an approaching sheriff's cruiser that the man abruptly drove off, accidentally right into the Potomac River before being rescued. A 7-year-old girl was stabbed 25 times (not life-threateningly) by a playmate emulating Chucky in "Child's Play 2," which he had seen three days earlier (Brasilia, Brazil). A rapist sentenced to two life terms plus 110 years asked the judge for a lethal injection, saying, "I can't do that much George's County. (Prince Maryland). A drug-dealing couple were arrested for trying to collect a $40 debt by dangling a guy out a window while the woman bit him (Evansville, Indiana). A math teacher was arrested for forcing a 13-year-old boy to take his restroom break in a classroom trashcan (Montgomery, Alabama).

■ Barney throws a party, teletubbles dance in March specials on KET

KET presents special episodes of kids' favorites, "Barney and Friends," and "Teletubbies," airing on KET and KET2 during TeleFund 2000.

Barney throws a birthday party for BJ that is sure to be a "super-dee-duper" time. Airing, Saturday, March 4, at 9 a.m., "Barney's Big Surprise," features 28 songs.

The celebration also includes dancing, a ride in a hot air balloon and, as usual, lots of love. Show favorites such as Baby Bop, Mother Goose and Professor Tinkerputt make appearances for the party.

KET fab four, the Teletubbies, also make a special appearance the morning of Sunday, March 5, "Dance with the Teletubbies," airing, at 8 a.m., features the four whimsical denizens of Teletubby Land letting their feet do the talking.

"Here Come the Teletubbies," airing at 9:05 a.m., features the Teletubbies enjoying the world of real children celebrating the joy of play.

"Barney's Big Surprise," is produced by Leach Production Company, an entertainment unit of Lyrick Studios. The Teletubbies Specials are produced by Ragdoll Productions (UK) LTD/Itsy Bitsy Entertainment. Both programs are closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

■ Three daytime specials on KET prove as entertaining as they are instructive

KET and KET2 are ready to spice up viewers' days with three great daytime shows during TeleFund 2000. These programs not only entertain viewers, but also show them how to cook a fabulous meal, create a treasure and keep their body and mind in balance.

First, "An American Feast," a grand progressive banquet, commemorates more than a quarter-century of great food and great television. The program airs, Sunday, March 5, at 4 p.m.

Hosted by perennial favorites Julia Child and Burt Wolf, the program features mouth-watering dishes prepared by some of public television's top chefs, including Martin Yan, Lidia Bastianich, Paul Prudhomme, Jacques Pepin and Nathalie Dupree.

Next, "Sewing with Nancy" shows viewers how to take those treasured family photos out of closed albums and dark drawers and turn them into treasured keepsakes.

Airing, Saturday, March 11, at 11 a.m., the program demonstrates the basics of using photo transfer techniques to make an album cover, a wall quilt, a quiet book, a giraffe growth chart, a Noah's ark pillow and an ornament that will be treasured for years to come.

Finally, the title says it all for "Balance Your Body, Balance Your Life with Dr. Ed Taub," airing, Sunday, March 12, at 2:30 p.m. Providing a step-by-step program for nutrition and health, Dr. Taub introduces the concept of "integrative medicine"—a strategy that combines the best of modern medicine with a person's own resources for healing.

"An American Feast" is produced by A La Carte Communications in association with Georgia Public Television and American Public Television. "Sewing with Nancy" is produced by Nancy's Notion's Ltd. "Balance Your Body, Balance Your Life with Dr. Ed Taub" is produced by MPI Media Productions International.

All programs are closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

■ 'Doo Wop 50' features performances by legends of rock 'n' roll's golden era

In America in the 1950s, any given street corner rang out with the doo wop beat. In south Philly, a bystander might hear Gene Chandler's immortal "Duke of Earl," while across the Hudson, Johnny Maestro and the Brooklyn Bridge were belting out "Sixteen Candles."

"Doo Wop 50," airing on KET and KET2, Monday, March 6, at 8 p.m., celebrates five decades of vocal group harmony with once-in-a-lifetime performances by more than 20 of the original groups and performers popular in the late 1950s and early '60s.

The special, recorded before an enthusiastic audience at the Benedum Center for Performing Arts in Pittsburgh, reunites groups like the Del Vikings, performing their hit "Come Go With Me," and, for the first time in 30 years, the Chantels with lead singer Arlene Smith, performing "Maybe."

"Doo Wop 50" also features originators of rock 'n roll, from the Platters ("Only You," "Great Pretender," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes") and Jimmy Beaumont and the Skyliners ("Since I Don't Have You," "This I Swear") to the Penguins ("Earth Angel").

Revival groups of the mid- to late '60s appearing in the program include Johnny Maestro and the Brooklyn Bridge ("Worst That Could Happen." "Sixteen Candles") and the Capris ("There's a Moon Out Tonight").

In addition to performances by the original groups, two doo wop all-star groups, the Legends of Doo Wop and Golden Group Memories, perform.

"Doo Wop 50," produced by WQED/Pittsburgh in association with Rhino Records, is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

Art of the other McCartney on exhibit in Huntington

Before she was tied to one of the major stars of the rock era, she was a photographer of rock stars.

The late Linda Eastman McCartney began photographing rock legends in the 1960s. Early on, she was house photographer at New York's Filmore East concert hall and then joined the staff of Rolling Stone magazine when it was being launched.

She continued her photography after her marriage to Paul McCartney, who was then a member of the "Fab Four" — the Beatles. She died a couple of years ago of cancer.

In 1987, she was named US Photographer of the Year by the magazine Women in Photography. Her work was exhibited throughout the country, from New York City to San Francisco.

The Huntington Art Museum is exhibiting 51 of her works through April 23. The show, titled "Linda McCartney's Sixties — Portrait of an Era," is on a national tour.

The exhibit can be viewed Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. For this show only, museum hours will be extended on Tuesdays to 9 p.m. The museum is closed on Mondays.

The museum is located at 2033 McCoy Rd., Huntington. For information, call 304/529-2701.

Programs on the Southern Landscape at UK

Continuing its year-long exploration of the Southern landscape in art, the University of Kentucky Art Museum will present two outstanding speakers on the subject this spring. Dr. William Eiland, director of the Georgia Museum of Art at the University of Georgia, and Martha Severens, chief curator of the Greenville County (South Carolina) Museum of Art.

Dr. Eiland, who will talk on March 5, at 2 p.m., holds a B.A. from Birmingham-Southern College, and an M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Virginia. In 1996, he was nominated for "Georgia Author of the Year," and in 1999 he received the Award for Outstanding Contribution to the Arts in the Southeast at the annual meeting of the Southeastern College Art Conference.

He has published widely on exhibition subjects and has a special interest in Lamar Dodd. Dr. Eiland has also served as editor for numerous publications, including a collaboration with the Swiss Sports Museum, "Alfred Heinrich Pellegrini (1881-1958): A Swiss Modernist and the Art of the Figure."

His newest book, "Ann Norton, Sculptor," will soon be published by the Ann Norton Sculpture Gardens in West Palm Beach, Florida.

Dr. Eiland's talk in the museum galleries is titled "Red Clay and Black Belt: The South as Landscape."

Martha Severens has been the chief curator at the Greenville County Museum of Art since 1992. She previously served as the curator of collections at the Portland Museum of Art in Maine.

She holds a B.A. from Wells College and an M.A. from The Johns Hopkins University. A frequent lecturer and author of numerous exhibition catalogues, she most recently published "The Charleston Renaissance."

Her lecture titled "Landscape Painting: Not Just a Pretty Picture," will take place on Sunday, April 9, at 2 p.m., in the President's Room of the Singletary Center.

Her talk will also address the paintings of Ellis Wilson, the Kentucky-born African-American artist whose exhibition is opening the same day at the museum. The public is invited to a reception in the museum following Severens' lecture.

The Southern landscape lectures are part of A Place Not Forgotten: Landscapes of the South from the Morris Museum of Art programming. The lectures, exhibition, and accompanying catalogue are sponsored by the Museum Loan Network, a national collection-sharing program funded by the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation and the Pew Charitable Trusts.

The University of Kentucky Art Museum is open, noon to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday, and noon to 8 p.m. on Fridays; closed Mondays and university holidays. For more information, contact Jane Boswell at 606/257-5716.

Great performances celebrates 100th birthday of Duke Ellington

Great Performances "Swingin' with Duke: Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra with Wynton Marsalis," airing, Friday, March 10, at 9 p.m. on KET and KET2, celebrates the late American musical genius' 100th birthday.

The two-hour program offers a slice of Ellington's vast body of work—more than 2,000 compositions in all—interweaving musical performances, dancing and documentary sequences.

Edward Kennedy "Duke" Ellington was one of the most prolific composers of the 20th century in both number of compositions and variety of forms. He is considered by many to be America's greatest composer, bandleader and recording artist.

The Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra, under the musical direction of trumpet virtuoso Wynton Marsalis, showcases several of the Ellington Orchestra's best-known works, as well as lesserknown gems.

Reflecting on the themes that most frequently inspired Ellington's compositions—dancing, trains, women and the spirit of big cities—highlights include "Take the A Train," "Mood Indigo," "Bli-Blip," and "Rocks in My Bed."

Great Performances "Swingin' with Duke: Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra with Wynton Marsalis," produced by WNET/New York and Storyville Films, is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.
