Wheelwright asked to pay legal bills

by TOM DOTY STAFF WRITER

PRESTONSBURG Wheelwright City Commission is being petitioned to pay legal fees for the lawyers who represented the city residents in a class-action lawsuit which determined that the city mis-rate hike when they failed to pay their mounting gas bill.

The motion, filed by Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf, seeks a fee of nearly $3,000 for the services of attorney John Rosenberg, who worked in advisory capacity on the original case. The fee being sought would only cover managed utilities and brought on a gas Rosenberg's services and is accompanied by an affidavit from Rosenberg listing the hours he put into the case.

Rosenberg asks in his filing that his fee be donated to the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, which provides free legal services for the poor in the region. Rosenberg was director of that agency for 29 years and oversaw the services of over 48 attorneys who donated their services for the

Dr. Allen Bohl, author of the recently published "Back Porch Swing," was on hand, accompanied by wife, Sherry, at the Mountain Arts Center Saturday evening to sign copies of his book for concert-goers and well-wishers. Dr. Bohl's book is the fictional account of a small town high school basketball player being courted for recruitment by three colleges during his senior year. Bohl says that his book is rich in small town values and highlights the warmth and love of close family ties. Dr. Bohl's wife is the former Sherry Akers, born on Prater Creek, in Dana. The Associated Press

FRANKFORT Kentucky Auditor Crit Luallen's office has found "major weaknesses" in the attendance records for an Eastern Kentucky school

A report from Luallen's office Monday stressed that no evidence was found that Johnson County school district's attendance records had been manipulated.

But the report described as "very unusual" a practice in which attendance figures collected by teachers at two elementary schools were logged into a database by principals, instead of school support staff members, then discarded, leaving nothing to verify the figures.

The Johnson County district has more than 3,700

HRMC osteopathic program holds third graduation

PRESTONSBURG Highlands Regional Medical Center's Osteopathic Graduate Medical Education Program was held on Thursday, June 29, at the Medical Center.

Dr. Donald Spaeth, HRMC director of medical education, welcomed the graduates, their families, guests and members of the medical staff. He commented,

"This is an important occasion that marks years of hard work for the Residents and marks their success as they are now ready to go out into the community and practice medicine," Spaeth said.

Dr. Patrick Collins, from Floyd County received his Family Practice Certificate of Completion of the Residency Program. Dr. Brandi Collins, from Paintsville, went through the ceremony although she will not complete her training until September 2006. Dr. Brian Sosnin, from Louisville, also participated in the ceremony although he will not complete his training until October 2006. A very emotional Dr. Patrick Collins, expressed his sincere appreciation. "It seems like forever when I look back at how long I have been in training," he said. "I could not have made it without the support of my wife and family, Dr. Spaeth, Dr. Murphy, and the clinical faculty of physicians at Highlands who contributed so many hours to our training."

Dr. Michael Murphy, Executive Director of the Appalachian Osteopathic Post-Graduate Training Consortium (A-OPTIC) and Immediate Past-President of Kentucky State Medical Osteopathic Association extended greetings from Dr. John Strosnider, President of the Pikeville College School of Osteopathic Medicine. Dr. Murphy shared that Dr. Strosnider was unable to attend due to taking office

as the newly elected President of the American Osteopathic Association. He expressed how proud both he and Dr. Strosnider were of the new graduates on making their dream a reality. Dr. Murphy said, "You have had a good learning opportunity to train in the same community setting where you will be practicing. It gives you the advantage of knowing the culture and the area. Highlands Residency program has a 100 percent pass rate that is well above the national average." The closepess of small rural programs allows students to be closely involved with their preceptors.

was presented to Dr. Angela and Dr. Darryl Lovins, with A-Maggard, ObGyn for her help in providing an outstanding training experience for the Residents. Dr. Mohamad Alnahhas received the 2006 Award for Meritorious Service to the Medical Education Program, and Dr. Patrick Collins received the Chief Resident Award.

Other guests recognized included Chad Perry, one of the founders of the Pikeville Osteopathic Medical College, OPTIC.

Highlands Osteopathic Graduate Medical Education Program has placed six Family Practice physicians in the community, Dr. Jason Rice, Dr. Brad Moore, Dr. Kevin Bayes, Dr. Patrick Collins, and later this fall, Dr. Brandi Collins and Dr. Brian Sosnin. Dr. Chad White, Dr. Cassandra Garrett, and Dr. Anna Lu are in their third year of Residency and will graduate in 2007.

Missile rattling

North Korea's provocative flurry of missile firings on the Fourth of July must invoke the first rule in dealing with that Stalinist pariah: Punish, don't reward, threatening behavior. Thus, North Korea must be made to pay a diplomatic and economic price for its dangerous, destabilizing actions. Doing anything less would only encourage further misconduct by Kim Jong II's defiant government. Given North Korea's already demonstrated contempt for international agreements, its own pledges, and accepted norms of behavior, inaction or appeasement would prove increasingly dangerous.

The first recourse is the United Nations Security Council, which met in emergency session Wednesday morning to consider a response to North Korea's test launches of seven ballistic missiles. Japan, supported by the United States and Britain, favors a stern resolution that would stop all aid and technology that could be used for North Korea's missile programs.

Predictably, Russia and China, North Korea's nominal allies, want a far weaker Security Council response. Clearly, then, the diplomacy now under way at the United Nations must include the strongest possible pressure on China and Russia to accept a tough response. China, long North Korea's principal provider of aid and trade, must be a particular target of that pressure.

If the Security Council proves unable to act with sufficient resolve, the United States, Japan and South Korea will have to consider what action they might take on their own to counter North Korea's belligerence.

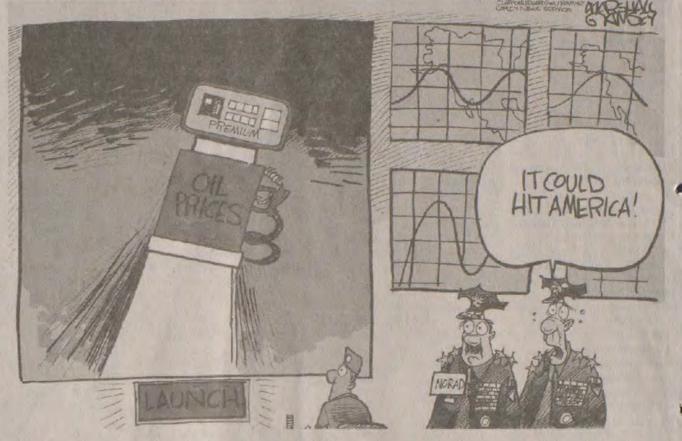

The Bush administration has already signalled, wisely, that it will not agree to one North Korean demand - bilateral negotiations between Washington and Pyongyang. Beyond the Security Council, the proper forum for negotiations on halting North Korea's nuclear weapons programs remains the long-running six-party talks, which include both Koreas, Russia, China, Japan and the United States.

This doesn't preclude direct U.S.-North Korea contacts and discussions; indeed, those already occur regularly. But North Korea shouldn't be allowed to scuttle the regional six-party approach, not least because this threat is best addressed in a regional setting.

Despite North Korea's missile tests, there is time to work this problem. North Korea is a long way - at least five receivers, if not 10 - from posing a nuclear threat to the United States. Its shorter-range missiles, coupled with the handful of crude nuclear weapons North Korea is believed to possess, pose a theoretical threat to U.S. forces and American allies in Asia. But Kim Jong II's government surely knows that attacking South Korea or Japan would quickly prove suicidal for the regime in Pyongyang.

For now, the real danger is proliferation of nuclear and ballistic missile technology, and the destabilizing effects of North Korea's threatening conduct. Countering these threats is an urgent matter, as the rude shock on July 4 plainly demonstrated.

Blogs blocked to prevent improper use

by JOHN R. FARRIS
SECRETARY, KENTUCKY FINANCE AND ADMINISTRATION CABINET

As Secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet, I serve as the chief financial officer for the Commonwealth. As such, one of my most fundamental responsibilities is to ensure the appropriate and efficient use of taxpayer-funded resources. To this end, we are constantly looking for ways to increase our productivity in order to improve service to the public.

Recently, much ado has been made over the blocking of Web sites that are irrelevant to the jobs we state employees perform on a daily basis. Although the vast majority of state workers are dedicated to ensuring they fulfill or exceed their obligation to Kentucky taxpayers, surfing the Internet can be a distraction in any workplace. According to the Gartner Group, non-work related Internet surfing results in up to a 40% loss in productivity each year at American businesses.

For example, in April 2003, the Auditor of Public Accounts found that Transportation Cabinet computers were used 6,000 times to visit and view pornographic Web sites or images during a 4-day test period.

Auditors also found that French hackers had used the Transportation Cabinet's computer system to: store and distribute pirated movies, CDs, DVDs, and new computer games; post and distribute pirated copyrighted French medical textbooks; and even host Internet chat rooms.

In an effort to prevent this type of misuse of state resources and waste of taxpayer dollars, the Commonwealth Office of Technology collaborated with the Legislative Research Commission in September of 2004 to develop a report that outlined acceptable uses of IT resources. Since that time, state employees have been required to sign and submit an "Acceptable Use Policy," that details the appropriate use of computers and the Internet for work-related purposes. They sign this agreement at the time of their initial employment and periodically thereafter.

To ensure that this policy was upheld equitably across the board, the Commonwealth Office of Technology began searching for an objective filtering tool that could be used at the state level. After issuing a detailed request for proposal, the Commonwealth Office of Technology selected Webwasher, an anti-hacking, anti-virus email and Internet filtering tool, which was immediately piloted and subsequently contracted for use.

At the default level, the Webwasher software blocks ten categories of Web sites, including those that contain pornographic, hate, and illegal activity content – materials that clearly serve no purpose in a place of business. While it is easy to see why access to Web sites that could create a threatening or dangerous environment in the workplace should be restricted, it is also necessary to limit or prevent access to Web sites that can hamper productivity.

After assuming my new role on June 8th of this year, I asked the Commonwealth Office of Technology to run a Webwasher report on Web site usage. Several categories, including entertainment and blogs, showed large state employee usage volume. Because we do not have the time or the ability to monitor each Web site. I made the decision to block these categories - categories which clearly serve no purpose in a place of business.

Since that time, many Web sites have claimed that they have been individually singled-out or unfairly targeted. I assure you this is not the case. Admittedly, the software-based categorical blocking of Web sites is not a perfect science. In fact, because of the large amount of "gray area" that comes with blocking of Internet access, we have asked the software vendor to categorize sites that were not initially identified.

There is no question that the Internet has continued to evolve since the issue of computer misuse first came to light in the Transportation Cabinet in April of 2003. New Web sites are developed every hour of every day. In fact, more than one new Web site has probably been created since the time you began reading this latter.

Therefore, we will continue to monitor Web site traffic for more than incidental use to ensure that taxpayers' money is wisely spent, and state resources are used efficiently.

Pediatrician joins Hometown Family Care

PRESTONSBURG Hometown Family Care, the Medical practice of Dr. Chris Bailey and Dr. Jeff Potter, has added pediatrician Dr. Kate Shutts to their practice.

As a pediatrician, Dr. Shutts, will bring an added continuum of care to the family practice setting. Dr. Shutts will treat patients from birth to age 18 and her branch of the practice will be known as Kids Care Pediatrics.

Dr. Chris Bailey and Dr. Jeff Potter opened Hometown Family Care in April 2005. The office is located on the second floor of Highlands Medical Office Building. According to Drs. Bailey and Potter, Dr. Shutts will be a great asset to their practice, to the community, and to the hospital's Medical staff. "Both Dr. Potter and I welcome Dr. Shutts and look forward to having her be a vital part of our practice," Dr. Bailey said.

Dr. Shutts is a native of Prestonsburg. She earned her bachelor of science degree in biology, graduating summa cum laude, from the University of Kentucky in Lexington; received her doc-

Farm Bureau seeks input at meeting

PAINTSVILLE Kentucky Farm Bureau will host a Farm Bill Speak-Up meeting Saturday, July 15, at 4:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn Conference Center, East Room, 624 James Trimble Blvd., Paintsville. The meeting will be held in conjunction with the Kentucky Farm Young Farmer Bureau Summer Conference.

This is one of a series of eight meetings scheduled around the state to solicit input from Kentucky farmers on content and direction of new farm program legislation.

The series will hear testimony on extending or altering provisions governing a variety of federal farm and conservation programs.

Comments gathered during the sessions will be compiled and condensed into policy recommendations for eventual consideration by Farm Bureau's annual meeting voting delegates, according to KFB President Marshall Coyle. "We expect that Congress will consider some sweeping changes in the farm bill and we want to make sure that the new legislation will meet the needs of Kentucky farmers and rural communities," Coyle said.

Policy analysts Washington expect serious work on the new farm bill to get under way early in 2007, with final enactment likely later that year or in 2008. Agriculture Secretary Mike Johanns held listening sessions around the nation last year, including one in Louisville, to gather preliminary input.

Coyle said the farm bill contains wide-ranging provisions that affect all families. including nutrition programs, rural development funds and energy and environmental sections. The farm program provisions comprise only about onehalf of 1 percent of the total federal budget, but are critical to ensuring food safety and security, Coyle said.

The Farm Bureau Speak-Up sessions will provide forums for Kentuckians to submit their views on the new legislation. They will be hosted by a Farm Bill Core Committee, made up of Kentucky Farm Bureau directors and advisory committee

Tests reveal potential problems with mine air packs

by TIM HUBER ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHARLESTON, W.Va. -For years, federal testing has shown the most commonly used air pack in U.S. coal mines can make breathing more difficult than other models, with some medical experts new warning they could be impossible to use in a crisis. Still, the federal Mine Safety and Health Administration continues to insist that air packs manufactured by CSE Corp. of Monroeville, Pa., work properly. MSHA suggests poor training is to blame for persistent reports the devices fail when miners need them most. Long-term studies of CSE air packs by MSHA and the National Institute Occupational Safety and Health suggest that while they do create oxygen, they don't necessarily help miners breathe. Fearing other fatal mining accidents like this year's disasters in West Virginia and Kentucky, some regulators are now treating CSE air packs as if they contain only half the one-hour supply of oxygen the manufacturer promises.

'There's a problem with what's out there," said James Dean, West Virginia's acting mine safety chief.

MSHA maintains that tests on devices recovered from West Virginia's Sago Mine and the Darby No. 1 Mine in Kentucky show the CSE air packs were in working order.

Belt-wearable CSE air packs are the smallest and lightest available, making them popular with miners already loaded with gear. Officials estimate as many as six in 10 U.S. coal miners carry one underground every

Yet miners who've used CSE air packs to escape accidents have complained they barely worked and, in some cases, failed altogether.

Sago survivor Randal McCloy Jr. has said four of the packs assigned to his crew failed after the Jan. 2 explosion trapped them underground. Eleven of his coworkers died of carbon devices, Boord said. monoxide poisoning.

Roger Perry, a Sago miner who escaped the blast, said breathing with a CSE air pack was like being smothered.

"I was taking it on and off because I couldn't breathe enough," Perry told The Associated Press. "It's like there's no air there."

His account corroborates what government scientists have uncovered: As many as 13 years ago, NIOSH found CSE air packs require users to work harder to breathe than similar devices by rival manufacturers. And those studies show CSE air packs generate high amounts of carbon dioxide, which makes breathing even more difficult.

But Les Boord, director of the NIOSH National Personal Protective Technology Laboratory, says the air packs meet performance standards specified in federal regulation.

Because tests conducted for the long-term field study differ from tests for certification, the study results don't necessarily show a problem with the

"It's kind of comparing two different things," he said. CSE product manager Don Pannell says his company's air packs work as designed when users properly inspect them and mine operators properly train workers how to use them.

However, Pannell said CSE is working on better training equipment that will let miners experience the breathing resistance and heat generated in the air packs before they are in an emergency.

Right now, he said, "They don't really know what to

Medical experts at Harvard, Duke and the University of Kentucky say the combination of high breathing pressure and high levels of carbon dioxide could lead a panicked miner to conclude an air pack isn't MSHA says the air packs at Sago and Darby worked as, designed because they generated oxygen.

"There was oxygen capacity left in all those units," agrees Pannell, of CSE. "Any of those units could have helped to get people out of the mines.

But there is a distinction between producing oxygen and facilitating breathing.

A 2002 report on the MSHA-NIOSH study, the latest available, shows nearly 30 percent of CSE air packs, especially those that had been carried in the field, stopped removing carbon dioxide in less than an hour.

The study also found about 20 percent of CSE air packs forced the user to inhale at least 6 percent carbon dioxide - triple the amount allowed by federal regulation.

Carbon dioxide levels should be 4 percent or lower, the study said, because irregular heartbeat and other problems can occur at higher levels. At somewhere around 10 percent, the user likely would pass out

CSE, however, maintains that its air packs function properly if miners and mine operators follow its inspection guidelines.

Four percent level might be uncomfortable, "but it wouldn't be intolerable," said Robert Banzett, an associate professor at the Harvard School of Public Health. "If they can't breathe more, it's going to make them feel horribly in need of air."

CSE's training video instructs users to slow their pace when breathing gets difficult. But medical experts say the sensation of suffocating would drive most miners to remove the packs, regardless of the threats they face.

"There is no kind of perception that's more primal," said Michael Reid, chairman of the physiology department at the University of Kentucky's College of Medicine. "It's a protective response. It's Darwinian.'

Perry, for example, said he felt better without his air pack at Sago, even though that meant breathing carbon monoxide and methane.

New law sets residency boundaries for sex offenders

by JOE BIESK ASSOCIATED PRESS

FRANKFORT — Sex offenders across Kentucky will be unwelcome neighbors to schools, public playgrounds and day care facilities, under a new state law in effect this

Advocates say new residency boundaries - which prohibit sex offenders from living within 1,000 feet of those locations - should help protect children from sexual predators who may stalk them from their nearby homes. Others, however, caution the law may be too restrictive and ban sex offenders from living in large swaths of communities throughout Kentucky.

Some also worry it may prompt some to live in hiding, under law enforcement's radar.

Lili Lutgens, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union of Kentucky, said Kentucky's new law targets sex offenders whose chances of re-offending are considered low risk while over-regulating those more likely to strike

"It is good for the General Assembly to want to regulate the risk that registered sex offenders pose on the community, but the problem is this doesn't seem to be a very effective risk management that they've created," Lutgens said. "And it's going to be the noncompliant offenders who are precisely the ones who will not

THE LAW: Sex offenders who live within 1,000 feet of school, playground or daycare center face prosecution under a law that takes effect on Wednesday.

THE RESULT: Authorities estimate that up to 1,000 registered sex offenders will have to move to comply with the law. The law will affect an estimated 170 sex offenders in Fayette County and nearly 300 in Jefferson

Among other things, it also says that if, in the future, any of those facilities should open near where an offender lives, they would have 90 days to move. First-time violators of the boundary requirements can be charged with a misdemeanor, while second offenses are felonies.

State law already requires sex offenders to register with law enforcement and that information is available to the public on an internet registry maintained by the Kentucky State Police.

Authorities aren't precisely sure how many sex offenders will have to move because of the change. Justice Cabinet spokeswoman Stacy Floden estimated about 1,000 people including about 170 in Fayette County and nearly 300 in Jefferson County - may have to move by Oct. 11.

> Louisville Metro Police Capt. Steve Thompson, commander of the Crimes Against Children section, said his agency is working to identify specifically which offenders must move. However, it's up to them to determine if they're in compliance.

> "We don't want to wait until something bad happens that we name a law after someone else who lost their life," Thompson said. "I have the opinion that whatever you can do to protect children, let's do it.'

> Robert Lanning, director of Dismas Charities, Portland in Louisville, said his organization - which operates facilities similar to halfway houses - has stopped working with sex offenders because of the uncertainty created by the law. A facility that is currently not close to a banned location may be disrupted later if a school or day care eventually opened close by, Lanning said.

Many halfway houses, which help former inmates reenter society, are essentially off-limits now to sex offenders in Kentucky. That means they will likely stay in prison longer and not have help finding a job, he said.

"If there is house for them to go to, they're laws preventing sex offenders from living within a certain distance from schools or other places common to children. Georgia recently passed a law preventing them from living, working or loitering within 1,000 feet of such places, including schools, churches, gyms and swimming pools.

Lutgens, the ACLU attorney, said the boundaries raise constitutional issues and are tantamount to additional punishments.

"It does eventually become banishment, regardless of what the legislature says their intent is," Lutgens said.

Chief Deputy Don Vrotsos, of Iowa's Dubuque County sheriff's office, said sex offenders may not live in most parts of his community. That's caused police to lose track of many sex offenders because they're not registering.

Before Iowa's prohibition went into effect more than 95 percent of offenders registered, Vrotsos said. Now, it's down to between 70- to 75 percent, he

That could pose a problem in terms of monitoring them and may increase put them at a higher risk for reoffending, Colebank, also a licensed psychological practitioner, said.

Most children are molested by people they know, she said. So, the 1,000-feet boundary may not protect many possible victims, she said.

"There have been very ugly, heinous crimes against children by people who lurk around schools, playgrounds or malls - places where children tend to congregate," Colebank said. "Most people who have offended against a child has offended right in the home, having gotten to know the

SAN FRANCISCO — Jim Guigli writes the kind of stories that you simply can't not put down.

Here's how he started one recent attempt: "Detective Bart Lasiter was in his office studying the light from his one small window falling on his super burrito when the door swung open to reveal a woman whose body said you've had your last burrito for a while, whose face said angels did exist, and whose eyes said she could make you dig your own grave and lick the shovel clean," Guigli wrote.

That piece of prose won Guigli, a retired mechanical designer, the San Jose State University's annual Bulwer-Lytton Fiction Contest for bad writing. "The judges were impressed by his appalling powers of invention," said Scott Rice, an English and comparative literature professor, who has organized the bad writing contest since its inception in 1982.

"At one time I thought I wanted to write to detective novels," Guigli told the Associated Press on Monday. "I never got a good start on it."

The contest is named for Edward George Bulwer-Lytton, whose 1830 novel "Paul Clifford" began with the oftmocked, "It was a dark and stormy night."

DRAFT ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT Floyd County, Kentucky (Levisa Fork Basin) Flood Damage Reduction Project

A public hearing on the content of the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) will be held at Big Sandy Community and Technical College, 1 Bert T. Combs Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653, on Thursday, July 27, 2006, starting at 6:00 p.m. The public hearing will give the public an additional opportunity to provide comment on the content of the DEIS.

BACKGROUND: In accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Huntington District has prepared a Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) which documents planning analyses undertaken for a proposed flood damage reduction project in the Levisa Fork basin in Floyd County, Kentucky. The study area includes the incorporated areas of Prestonsburg and unincorporated areas in Floyd County which are subject to flood damage from the potential of a reoccurrence of the April 1977 flood. The study area does not include the City of Martin, Kentucky, where a separate flood damage reduction project is underway. The DEIS documents agency evaluation of four alternatives, two of which include floodwall/levee alignments intended to protect Prestonsburg and non-structural flood-proofing measures, a total non-structural alternative, and the No Federal Action alternative.

The USACE has distributed copies of the DEIS to appropriate Members of Congress, State and local government officials in Kentucky, Federal agencies, and other interested parties. All persons and organizations that have an interest in the Levisa Fork Basin flooding problems as they affect Floyd County and the environment are urged to participate in this NEPA process. The DEIS is available for public review at the following locations:

1. U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Huntington District, 502 Eighth Street,

Huntington, WV 25701-2070, Room 3100

2. Floyd County Public Library, 18 North Anrold Avenue, Prestonsburg, KY 41653-1269 3. Prestonsburg Community College Library, One Bert T. Combs Drive, Prestonsburg, KY 41653

4. http://www.lrh.usace.army.mil/projects/review/

After the public comment period ends on August 14, 2006, USACE will fully consider all comments received. The DEIS will be revised as appropriate, and Final EIS will be issued.

ADDRESSES: Send all written comments and suggestions concerning this proposed project to the following address by August 14, 2006.

Hartford Connection

The Hartford Connection is a story about two women who are good friends. They went to school together in Hartford and try to see each other a few times a year, even though they live far apart. Their friendship is strong and is valued very much between them. Darla and Lynnette enjoy the time they have together. During one of these visits with each other they spend a night in Hartford and have fun. A romance starts to develop for one of the women. They share a lot of feelings during this time in conversation-feelings that let them know they care about each other's well-being. They have a bind of friendship and feeling that is strong enough to stay intact, even though they are not able to see each other all the time.

Highlands Cancer Center and HRMC host Cancer Survivors Day

PAINTSVILLE - Highlands Cancer Center and Highlands Regional Medical Center hosted their second annual Cancer Survivors Day celebration on Sunday, June 25, at the US 23 Country Highway Museum in Paintsville.

According to Dr. Kirti Jain, Medical director of the Cancer Center, this year there is a good reason to celebrate. Recent national statistics reported by the American Cancer Society, show that two of every three people diagnosed with cancer and treated appropriately will Highlands Cancer Center and Highlands Regional Medical Center joined in the celebration of survival and in spite of heavy rains. Over 100 people consisting of cancer survivors and their families attended the event. There were women wearing cancer turbans, others walking with canes, and a few wearing portable oxygen annulas. But even more abundant throughout the crowd were smiles — big, happy, thankful to be alive smiles.

Dr. Kirti Jain, medical director of Highlands Cancer Center spoke to an audience of over 100 cancer survivors and shared news about improved cancer survival rates and ways to prevent cancer.

The office and nursing staff the "Ike and Tina Turner from Highlands Cancer Center gave the audience even more to tumes and dance routines. smile about. They performed an Other musical entertainment entertaining karaoke version of

The inspirational music complimented the courage and inspiration of the audience of the cancer sur-

Dr. Kirti Jain and Dr. Aaron Williams spoke about cancer. Dr. Jain commented that although no one wants to be told they have cancer, an even worse situation is to think you might have cancer but fail to do anything to get help.

"Half of winning the battle with cancer is a positive, can-do attitude," Dr. Jain said. 'Chemotherapy and radiation oncology can be rough because each are treatments that kill cancer cells." He added, it is very important that if someone thinks something may be wrong, they should see their family doctor as soon as possible. If a cancer is diagnosed early and treated appropriately, then chances are very good thepatient will have a good outcome and be a cancer survivor."

Dr. Jain said that if he could tell people one thing to do to prevent cancer it would be to stop smoking or to never start smoking. Kentucky has the highest rate of smoking in the United States and the highest incidence of cancers related to smoking. All of these cancers could have been prevented by simply never starting to smoke. Dr. Aaron Williams thanked everyone for braving the weather and coming out. He said that it was a true mark of their courage and was one of the reasons they were able to survive cancer. He stressed the importance of educating everyone about the importance of getting routine cancer screening for breast cancer, prostate, colon, and lung cancers according to the American Cancer Society guidelines.

The Cancer Survivors Day celebration was free to all with Highlands' Food Services Department providing a country dinner with chicken and dumplings and strawberry shortcake. Highlands Cancer Center and Highlands Regional plan to make Cancer Survivors Day an even larger celebration next year and hope there will be even more cancer survivors to join in the celebration. Watch for free cancer screenings later this fall at Highlands Cancer

The emergency clause means the regulations take effect on July 12, at the same time as the state's new mine safety laws passed by the General Assembly earlier this

Fletcher has been pushing mine safety this year because of an increase in the number of miners killed on the job, including five who died in a single explosion in a Harlan County mine in May.

"The regulations are another critical step for improving mine safety in the state." Fletcher said in a statement. "No miner should be placed in danger of injury or death, and for the first time we can assess penalties that should serve as a deterrent to those who would violate mine roof control or ventilation plans."

Proposed regulations go through an intensive legislative review process, which includes public hearings and comments. It could have taken three to six months for the regulations to go into effect if the governor hadn't taken the action to speed up implementation.

By declaring an emergency, the mine safety regulations will be in effect while they move through the approval process.

Under the regulations, the Review Mine Safety Commission could also assess a civil penalty equal to the gross value of 10 days of coal production at the mine.

P'burg to host youth football camp

by STEVE LeMASTER SPORTS EDITOR

PRESTONSBURG - The Prestonsburg High School football program will host its annual grade school football camp Friday, July 21. The camp will run from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. Each camper will receive a camp T-shirt. Cost of the camp is set at $30.

Football fundamentals will be the focus of the youth camp. Prestonsburg High Coach John DeRossett, members of his coaching staff and past and present Blackcat football players will work the camp.

New rules will await area high school hoops teams

TIMES STAFF REPORT

Area high school basketball teams will play under some new rules during the 2006-07 season. Beginning with the 2006-07 season in high school basketball, only one warning will be given for any of the four delay situations before a technical foul is assessed, including the newly approved delay situation for water on the court following a time-out.

This change was one of five rules revisions approved by the National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS) Basketball Rules Committee earlier this year. The rules changes subsequently were approved by the NFHS Board of Directors.

In addition to the new delay situation for water on the court following a timeout, the other delay situations in Rule 4-47 are for throw-in plane violations, for a huddle by either team and contact with the free thrower, and for interfering with the ball following a goal.

Previously, a team could receive a warning for each of the other three delay situations before a technical foul was assessed and two free throws awarded to the opposition.

In another major change, the exact time observed by the referee may be placed back on the clock when an obvious mistake is made by the timer in starting or stopping the clock.

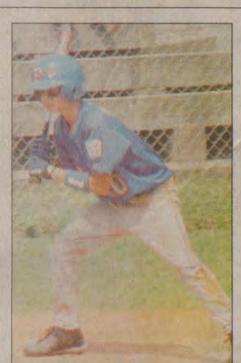

Two equipment changes were approved by the committee. In Rule 3-5-2, the guidelines for headbands and sweatbands were altered, and in Rule 3-6, the school logo/mascot now will be permitted on pants, compression shorts, sweatbands and headbands.

Headbands and sweatbands must be white or similar in color to the torso of the jersey and must be the same color for each item and all participants. Only one item is permitted on the head and on each wrist. Sweatbands must be a maximum of four inches and worn below the elbow.

Among the five rules changes was the addition of a new signal for a team-control foul. The mechanics for this signal will be extension of the arm with the fist punched. Struckhoff said the new signal should eliminate confusion at the scorer's table, as well as with players, coach-

All About Elk on Kentucky Afield TV

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

FRANKFORT -Saturday and Sunday July 15 and 16, the Kentucky Afield television program will look back and look ahead at elk in Kentucky. The state's elk restoration, the largest in US history, began in 1997.

The Kentucky Afield special airs just prior to the elk quota hunt application deadline of July 31. Host Tim Farmer will be joined by Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources officials to learn where elk range, how populations are growing and adapting to Kentucky, past hunts, and the process for taking part in fall 2006 quota hunts.

Kentucky Afield is a production of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. It is the longest continuously-running outdoor television show in the nation. Kentucky Afield airs Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Eastern /7:30 p.m. Central and is repeated on Sunday at 4 p.m. Eastern/3 p.m. Central on

FRANKFORT - The head of Kentucky's National Archery in the Schools Program recently won a national archery tournament

Jennie Richardson, coordinator of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' school archery program, out-shot several other professionals to win her division in the Mathews Solocam Illinois Pro-Am archery tournament held July 1-2 in Metropolis, Illinois. Richardson claimed more than $7,000 in prize money.

The tournament, which drew 1,200 shooters from around the country, is part of a national tour sponsored by the Archery Shooter's Association, Richardson faced 15 other shooters in the women's pro class. In addition to her own competition, Richardson was busy helping kids from 15 Kentucky schools compete in Schools Program event at the tournament.

After the first day of competition, Richardson stood in ninth place.

"Her mind was on the kids," said Ronda Elam, who also helped organize the day after the kids' activities, she was so tired that she left her bow behind. She only had time to shoot one practice shot."

Richardson overcame the deficit and rose to second place the next day. This put her into the final shoot-down, where the top five archers compete against each other.

"My husband Mike told me to forget about Saturday's score," said Richardson. "He told me to be super aggressive and I would move up. But I didn't know I would move up to second."

Only one point divided a National Archery in the Richardson and competitor Connie Griffin going into the shoot-down. Richardson made her move on the third of her five shots. She scored a 12. while Griffin only shot an 8. From then on, Richardson knew she had it won. President Mike Tyrell. "Not only do you have to deal with the pressure of shooting for a lot of money, but you also have to keep your cool in front of a lot of people."

Richardson is used to the pressure, completing her seventh season as a professional archer. She is a two-time World Champion and this is her seventh national win. Richardson has played a key role in the National Archery in the Schools Program since its start in 2002.

Ohio rules prep star ineligible

CINCINNATI - Bill Walker, one of the nation's top high school basketball players, will not be allowed to play this year because he has used up all of his eligibility, state athletic officials said on Monday.

Walker, a 6-foot-6 forward who combined with O.J. Mayo to lead North College Hill to consecutive state championships, has completed his eight semesters of eligibility, the Ohio High School Athletic Association said. Walker played a year as a ninth-grader at Rose Hill Christian in Ashland, before enrolling at North College Hill as an eighth-grader in February 2003, the association

"Based on the information we have received, Bill has exhausted his eligibility because he has participated at the high school level for eight semesters, which is the maximum permitted according to our bylaws," Commissioner Dan Ross said in a statement. While we certainly feel for Bill and his family, the bylaws are specific."

Walker was widely considered second only to Mayo

among the nation's incoming seniors. Walker averaged 21.7 points and 10.1 rebounds last season, highlighted by a 50point, 25-rebound performance in a 100-68 victory over Covington (Ky.) Holmes as North College Hill (26-1) lost only to Virginia-based perennial power Oak Hill

North College Hill High School officials have said they believed Walker had four full seasons of eligibility when he enrolled.

Mayo and Walker have said they want to play college basketball together. It wasn't immediately clear how Monday's ruling will affect their plans.

Reds Hall of Fame induction weekend set

TIMES STAFF REPORT

CINCINNATI - The Cincinnati Reds Hall of Fame and Museum will be the host for induction ceremonies Saturday, July 15 and Sunday, July 16 for the latest members of the Reds Hall of Fame: Tom Browning, Lee May and Tom Seaver.

"We are thrilled to welcome these players into the Reds Hall of Fame," said Greg Rhodes, executive director.

"The fans let us know that not only are these players Hall of Fame quality, they're still favorites among those who follow the Reds:"

Hall of Fame week starts today (Wednesday, July 12) at 4 p.m. at the Reds Hall of Fame with the unveiling of the new Reds Hall of Fame plaques, with Browning and May on hand for the ceremony. The Hall of Fame also will unveil its replica Hall of Fame plaques that will be given away, starting July 13, to visitors of the museum.

The celebration continues on Saturday, July 15, as the Reds Hall of Fame will host a fan "meet and greet," when fans will be able to chat with Reds Hall of Famers in the museum. The Saturday session will be from 4-6 p.m. prior to the Reds game with the Rockies, and on Sunday, July 16 from 10 a.m. until

After the Sunday "meet and greet," Browning, May and Seaver will be inducted into the Reds Hall of Fame during on-field pregame ceremonies starting at 12:30 p.m. Members of the Reds Hall of Fame will join the inductees on the field, and Reds broadcaster Marty Brennaman will emcee the event.

On Sunday evening, all three inductees will be honored at a banquet at the Hyatt Regency. More than 20 members of the Reds Hall of Fame are scheduled to attend the event. which features video-highlight tributes, remarks by all three inductees and a silent auction. Tickets are still available for the banquet through the Reds Hall of Fame at 513/765-7923 or online at reds.com.

The addition of the three players brings the total of Reds Hall of Fame members to 71, including players, managers and executives.

Braves 4, Reds 1

by CHARLES ODUM ASSOCIATED PRESS

ATLANTA - Brian McCann's two-out single in the seventh was only Atlanta's fourth hit against Aaron Harang. With Jeff Francoeur coming up, McCann said he knew the game was not over.

Francoeur hit a two-run homer to give Atlanta the lead and John Smoltz drove in a run and pitched eight strong innings to lead the Braves past Harang and the Cincinnati Reds 4-1 Saturday night.

"He's been doing it since he was 12." McCann said of Francoeur, his roommate and childhood friend in the Duluth area near Atlanta.

"There's just something about him," McCann said. "No one knows what it is, but when the game is on the line, not many are better than Francoeur. He has a flair for the dra-Francoeur's home gave him 35 RBIs with two outs this season. He began the day tied with Boston's David Ortiz for the major league lead with 33.

"I don't know what it is," Francoeur said of his production with two outs. "It's something I pride myself in. Obviously it's being at the right place at the right time. I really wanted to get up that inning. I like to be up in those situations."

Harang was working on a three-hit shutout through six innings before the Braves broke through for their sixth win in nine games on the home-

Francoeur's homer skipped over the top of the center-field wall, giving the Braves a 2-1 lead and capping an emotional day for the second-year player and his family. Earlier Saturday, Francoeur attended the funeral for his maternal grandfather.

"It was a big night for me after all I've been through today," Francoeur said. "It was a glum day. You kind of sit out there in the outfield, to be honest with you, your mind isn't 100 percent on baseball. You feel kind of lacking. To be able to do something like that was exciting."

Added Francoeur of his family: "Hopefully I did a little something good for them tonight."

After Francoeur's homer, Adam LaRoche hit a fly ball into shallow left field which shortstop Felipe Lopez lost in the lights, and the ball dropped in for a double. Harang issued an intentional walk to Ryan Langerhans before Smoltz spoiled the strategy with a run-scoring single up the middle, his second hit of the game, for the 3-1 lead.

Smoltz (6-5) won his second straight start, giving up six hits and one run in eight innings. He matched his season high with 10 strikeouts and issued only one walk.

"He's as good as anybody in the league," Reds left fielder Austin Kearns said.

Smoltz said he couldn't remember facing a power hitter like Adam Dunn as a No. 2 hitter.

"Their lineup is loaded, you have to find a way to pitch around them," Smoltz said.

Smoltz retired the Reds in order in the seventh and eighth innings. He threw 120 pitches in eight innings, and Ken Ray got the final three outs for his fifth save in eight chances.

Harang (9-6) earned his NL-leading fourth complete game but was denied his attempt to become the first Reds pitcher with 10 wins at the All-Star break since Jimmy Haynes in 2002. Harang gave up nine hits and four runs in eight innings.

"That was a tough one to take." Harang said. "That one inning hurt me. I tried not to make any mistakes. One mistake can kill you in a game like this, and I made a mistake to Francoeur."

Harang said Francoeur hit a slider, down and away.

"I didn't think it was that bad," Harang said.

The Reds fell to three games behind first-place St. Louis in the NL Central and only one game ahead of third-place Milwaukee.

The Reds took a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning when Ken Griffey Jr. hit a one-out double over the reach of Andruw Jones in center field. Griffey moved to third on a single by Austin Kearns and scored on Scott Hatteberg's fly ball to deep center.

A call by first base umpire Mark Wegner hurt the Braves' hopes of pulling even in the bottom of the fourth. After Marcus Giles led off with a double and Edgar Renteria walked, the Reds turned a double play on Chipper Jones' grounder to Lopez, who flipped the ball to second baseman Brandon Phillips.

Wegner called Jones out at first, but replays indicated Jones beat the throw from Phillips. Harang struck out Andruw Jones to end the inning, leaving Giles stranded at third.

Chipper Jones hit a one-out triple in the eighth, giving him 10 straight games with an extra-base hit, an Atlanta record. Jones scored on McCann's double to right for a 4-1

Notes: Francoeur's homer, his 16th, was his first since June 18. 3. By striking out the side in the first inning, Smoltz passed David Cone for 20th place on the all-time list. Smoltz began the night one strikeout behind Cone's 2,668. ... Edgar Renteria's first-inning single extended his hitting streak to 13 games.

West Virginia recovers from shaky start, tops Legends

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

LEXINGTON - After Lexington's explosive first inning, the West Virginia Power overcame the eight-run deficit to leave the Legends in the dark. The Power's 12-9 win snapped the Legends four-game winning streak, as they collected 15 hits off five different Lexington pitchers. The Legends drop to 7-11 for the second half of the season.

The Legends busted out of the gate with an eight-run first inning. Josh Flores led off the inning with a single. A couple of errors allowed Wladimir Sutil and Tommy Manzella to load the bases for Mark Ori. Ori plated Flores with a bloop single over second base. With the bases still loaded, Mitch Einertson walked, forcing Sutil home for another run. Koby Clemens followed with a 2-RBI double to put the Legends up 4-0. Another double off the bat of Pedro Espinoza continued the hit parade, scoring Einertson and Clemens. The Legends cycled through the order and Flores made it 2-2 in the inning with another single. Espinoza crossed the plate to make it 7-0 as Flores advanced to second on the throw home. Sutil capped off the explosive inning with an RBI single.

West Virginia began to close the gap in the third, putting up two runs. Darren Ford reached on an error then moved to third on Angel Salome's single. Mat Gamel delivered another single to score both runners.

The Power crept within two runs of the Legends in the fifth. Lorenzo Cain sparked the offense with a two-bagger down the left-field line. Salome walked to put runners at first and second, then Gamel's deep sacrifice fly to center advanced Cain to third. Michael Bell smacked a single to center field, scoring Cain. Tony Festa followed with a three-run blast over the right field wall to make it 8-6.

While the Legends offense struggled after the first, the Power kept the runs coming in the sixth. Cain got things going again with another double. Then it was Gamel's turn for a homer, as his two-run shot tied the game at eight.

Another run in the seventh gave the Power a 9-8 edge. Festa led off the inning with a single and moved to third on a Ned Yost single. Michael Brantley's grounder to second allowed Festa to cross the plate.

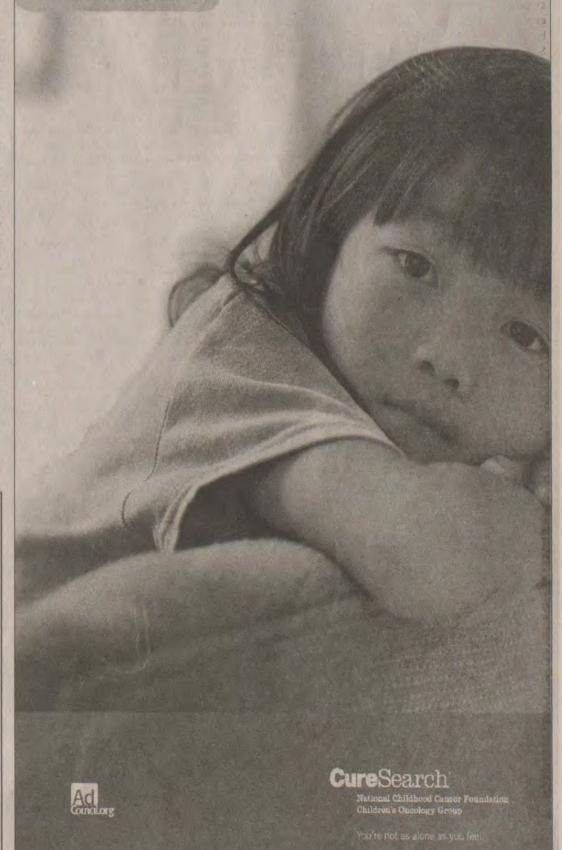

The Power turned it up a notch in the eighth, taking a four-run advantage over the Legends. Salome continued to work the Lexington pitching staff, smacking a triple to lead off the inning. With two out, Salome hurried home on a wild pitch. Festa followed with a walk, then moved to third on another Yost single. Brantley added his second RBI of the game as Festa scored on his single. With Yost at third, another wild pitch allowed him to slide home to put the Power up 12-

Lexington tried to rally back in the ninth as Flores led off with a double. With one out and Flores at third, Manzella's sacrifice fly to right field allowed Flores to tag up and run home. But that is where the rally ended, as the Power shut down the Legends for the 12-9 victory.

Gordon spins Kenseth to win at Chicagoland

by CHRIS JENKINS ASSOCIATED PRESS

JOLIET, Ill. - Jeff Gordon spun out Matt Kenseth with four laps to go, then held on to win Sunday's Nextel Cup race at Chicagoland Speedway.

Fans showered the track with debris after the race, an apparent protest of Gordon's racing tactics. "I hate to win one like that," Gordon said in Victory Lane. "Matt, he ran a great race.' Gordon and Kenseth tangled earlier this year during a race at Bristol Motor Speedway, causing Gordon to shove Kenseth afterward.

Gordon denied that Sunday's finish had anything to do with Gordon said he didn't want to wreck Kenseth, insisting, "I wanted to race him." But he added Kenseth was trying to block him.

"I'm not going to back down," Gordon said. "I wanted to win."

Kenseth crew chief Robbie Reiser said in a television inter-"We just got spun out, I guess."

Second-place finisher Jeff Burton, a former teammate of Kenseth's at Roush Racing, initially declined comment because he didn't see what happened.

But after wincing during a television replay, Burton said, "Matt's a hard-nosed racer, and there'll be retribution for that, I'm sure."

Burton said if NASCAR isn't willing to issue rough driving penalties, it will be up to drivers to settle issues on the track.

"If NASCAR doesn't handle it, then we need to handle it," Burton said. "And that's OK."

Kenseth and David Stremme then crashed on the way to the start/finish line, sending Kenseth spinning again at the finish.

Kenseth dominated the second half of Sunday's race and appeared to be headed to his third victory of the season, but a sudden surge from Gordon in the closing laps allowed him to catch Kenseth in Turn 2. Gordon then appeared to tap Kenseth's rear bumper with his front bumper.

Earlier in the race, Gordon closed in on Kenseth's rear bumper on a restart with 30 laps to go. But Gordon couldn't pull off the pass and Kenseth got away.

It was Gordon's first victory at the suburban Chicago track, and his second victory of the 2006 season.

Gordon won two weeks ago at Infineon Raceway.

Burton, trying for his first victory since 2001, finished second, followed by Kyle Busch, Kevin Harvick and Dale Earnhardt Jr.

The race was slowed eight times for caution flags, with no major crashes until the Gordon-Kenseth accident, Michael Waltrip's car was damaged when he brushed the wall with 40 laps to go, and Casey Mears - who won his first NASCAR race on Saturday with a victory in the Busch Series - spun and hit the wall with 34 laps to go.

Coleman rolls to first ARCA RE/MAX Series win

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

SPARTA - Eighteen-year-old driver Brad Coleman battled back from two laps down to score his first ARCA RE/MAX Series victory at Kentucky Speedway Friday night for City-based Brewco Motorsports in the "Channel 5-150."

Coleman (No. 62 Federated Auto Parts-Brewco Motorsports Ford) earned the first Kentucky Speedway win for his home-state team by driving away from defending and seventime series champion Frank Kimmel (No. 46 Pork The Other White Meat Ford) on the final race restart with one lap to go.

"I can't thank my team enough and my family for all the support. This is just a great day," Coleman

"I don't think my team wanted to be worried about being two laps down. We fought back hard and got the win. It was a lot of fun moving back to the front, I like driving through traffic."

second is the third closest among 13 series races at the track. Jeremy Clements (No. 3 Hamrick's of S.C./Georgia Boot Chevrolet) placed third, Chuck Weber (No. 24 Cardinal Tool Co. Ford) drove home fourth and Damon Lusk (No. 65 Construct Corps Dodge) completed the top five.

Coleman's machine was the class of the field early. He took his first race lead on Lap 6 when he overtook pole award winner Erin Crocker (No. 98 Hamburger Helper Dodge) in the frontstretch following a restart sparked by the second of a series track record nine caution periods on

He raced off to a multi-second lead with Scott Lagasse, Jr., (No. 4 Dodge Motorsports Dodge) and Crocker in tow. The lead trio dove to the pits on Laps 56-58 allowing Kimmel to take over the lead.

The scheduled stops burned Coleman, Lagasse, Jr., and Crocker as all were caught on pit road on Lap

Hardware Chevrolet of Josh Krug drew the fourth caution flag of the race when it ran of fuel and became disabled on the pit access road.

Kimmel came to the pits under yellow on Lap 59 for tires and fuel and left with race lead. The race restarted on Lap 68 with 15 cars on the lead lap and Coleman, Lagasse, Jr., and Crocker a lap down. Coleman slipped another lap down following the fifth and sixth caution periods of the night between laps 71 to 76.

He made his way back to the lead lap and powered his way to the front on a caution restart on Lap 88, then passed Weber on the backstretch to take his final race lead on Lap 89.

"On the second to last restart, we were able to pass everyone going into Turn 1. We caught Frank (Kimmel) and it was a celebration from there," Coleman said.

He would survive two more caution restarts on Lap 100 and 110 before securing the win.

"I was nervous about the last Gerhart who he's really aggressive. After I got day second in the series standings and through Turns 1 and 2, I knew we had it. It was torture during the cautions at the end. My nerves came back, but 6,812.

my helped keep me calm and we vered.

Coleman earned his fifth top-five finish through sixth series starts this season. Kimmel delivered his fifth top-five and sixth top-10 finish of the season. He gained valuable ground series leader Bobby

Hornaday grabs NCTC win at Kentucky

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

SPARTA - Two-time NASCAR Craftsman Truck Series Champion Ron Hornaday, Jr., wound his way through a 38-truck field from the 22nd starting spot and picked up his first Kentucky Speedway win Saturday night in the "Built Ford Tough 225 Presented by the Greater Cincinnati Ford Dealers" in front of a crowd of Hornaday, Jr., (No. 33 Kevin Harvick Inc. Chevrolet) took his first of three race leads on Lap 55 and drove among the top five until he made his final pit stop on Lap 100 of 150. Racing on old tires, the Palmdale, Calif., veteran tapped his restart expertise twice in the final 12 laps to hold off charges from eventual second-place finisher Rick Crawford (No. 14 Circle Bar Corral Ford), third-place finisher Brendan Gaughan (No. 77 The Orleans Dodge) and fourth-place finisher Johnny Benson (No. 23 Toyota Tundra Toyota) who were locked in a three-wide battle for position in the closing laps.

Hornaday, Jr., beat Crawford to the finish line by 0.586 of a second to register the thirdclosest series victory in seven events at the track. He also posted the greatest improvement from a starting position by a Kentucky Speedway NCTS winner.

"I've always stunk at qualifying, but have been good on restarts," Hornaday, Jr., said. "If I tell you what I do on the restarts, then everyone will know and I won't be good anymore. So, I'm not going to tell you."

His second victory of the season helps him vault four positions in the series standings to sixth and gives him a total of four top-five and six top-10 finishes through 13 races.

"I put myself in a position to win here tonight," he said. "We worked hard on the truck all day. We didn't know what to expect in qualifying and when the green flag dropped, we had pretty good luck.

"We ran a long time on old tires. With 20 to go, Rick (Crawford) really ran up our tailpipe coming out of Turn 2, but a couple of yellows bunched us up. We were able to get some clean air on the restarts and I was able to race flatfooted for the last few laps."

Crawford maintained the fifth spot in the series standings with his second straight second-place finish, third top-five and ninth top-10 performance of the season. He also gained a bit of redemption after ending his then series record 210-race consecutive start streak here last season when he sustained injuries during a qualifying run and was not medically cleared to start the race.

'We are very, very satisfied. We brought a good truck tonight and put on a good show," he said. "Our guys were awesome, they did a good job in the pits getting us from 23rd to second. I tried my best to make a move on Ron. I think our truck was a bit better, but when Brendan drove it up on the outside I knew that I could not run and fight Ron. I don't care who we're racing, I just want to compete. That's what we did today.

Gaughan collected his second straight topfive and third top-10 finish of the season.

"I'm excited. This was good old-fashioned racing," he said. "I had a chance to win but just didn't have enough. We do something that nobody else does with transmissions and I go to the high side. I screwed up with two laps to go and tried to go low in Turn 3. I shouldn't have done it. That's what cost us second.

Series leader Todd Bodine closed out race 10th. He will the enter series July 15 race at Memphis Motorsports Park with a 133-point lead over secondplace driver David Reutimann in the series standings.

UPS sticks with Jarrett in move to new Nextel Cup team

by CHRIS JENKINS ASSOCIATED PRESS

JOLIET, Ill. - Dale Jarrett says he didn't want any part of trying to recruit his current sponsor to follow him to his new team.

They did anyway.

UPS announced on Friday that it would leave Robert Yates Racing at the end of this season to remain with Jarrett when he moves to Michael Waltrip's newly formed Nextel Cup team next year.

The move apparently happened without any lobbying from Jarrett, who said he recused himself from the negotiations out of respect to Yates. Jarrett and Yates have won 29 races together since 1995.

"Dale told us from the beginning, 'I don't want anything to do with you all talking to UPS," Waltrip said.

Now that the deal is done, Jarrett said he is excited UPS chose to stick with him. They will sponsor Jarrett through 2008 and might continue to sponsor Waltrip's team with a new driver beyond that.

"We feel very fortunate that we're the team that they chose and we'll continue this relationship for a couple more years," Jarrett said.

The deal is a major boost for Waltrip, who is starting a team nearly from scratch but now finds himself in the enviable position of having three fully sponsored cars next year when he only expected to have two.

"People thought we were maybe a little bit of a 'paper' team, not a whole lot substantial there," Waltrip said. "And like I said, we have a comprehensive map of where we're heading (and) how we're going to get there.

Waltrip is still looking to hire a third driver, a move he hopes to announce in the next few weeks. He'll also have significant financial backing from Toyota, which is making its entry to the Nextel Cup series next year.

"We know the infrastructure that we need to build in order to compete with the teams that are winning today, and this allows us to build that infrastructure at a faster pace,' Waltrip said. "Money buys speed - that's obvious."

And when it comes to buying speed, Yates just suffered a major blow to his purchasing

Considered one of the most formidable teams in NASCAR a few years ago, Yates now must replace a marquee driver and sponsor at a time finding either one can be a challenge.

"Obviously we would have liked to have

Dale finish his career with us simply because I know we have been good for each other and he has repeatedly done the job for us in the (No.) 88," Yates said in a statement. "But now we are going to move forward and grow our company in a direction necessary to stay competi-

Driver Jeff Burton said drivers know that losing a sponsor can hurt a team owner.

"I don't blame UPS for continuing to (sponsor) Dale Jarrett," Burton said. "Jarrett is a highly respected winner that has done an awful lot for our sport. At the same time, they need to understand that it's the car owners that have financial liability in this thing, not the

Burton, who left Roush Racing for Richard Childress Racing in the middle of the 2004 season, said he doubts Jarrett would have left Yates if the team's performance had been bet-

Jarrett has won only two races since the beginning of the 2003 season, but Yates remains optimistic about his team's stature in

"I'm convinced we are still one of the topfive teams in all of NASCAR," Yates said. "But we won't be satisfied until we are winning championships as proof that we're the

But will Jarrett and his sponsor be any better off with Waltrip, a new team working with a new manufacturer?

It might not really matter.

Patrick Guilbert, UPS's vice president of sponsorship, said that while winning is important, it's just as important to have a driver who can appeal to employees and customers.

"I don't know that any successful program that is built entirely and solely on performance," Guilbert said. "This sport and the venue that it provides is an opportunity to hit on all cylinders, no pun intended, that provides an opportunity to grow business, deliver that motivation platform for our employee base and perform at track."

Waltrip - who for years has both battled and embraced his reputation for being a better pitchman than driver - insists his team is serious about performance.

"Our PR story has been very positive, and we've done some wonderful things," Waltrip said. "But just equally, on the competition and performance side, we're doing just as good of a job. And we feel like that as we develop and unfold, that we will be a formidable group, able to win next year."

KIM'S KORNER Out of the Babes!

The following was sent by a dear friend via email last week, and was too good not to share.

Need a good laugh? A first grade teacher had twentyfive students in her class and she presented each child in her class the first half of a well known proverb and asked them to come up with the remainder of the proverb. It's hard to believe these were actually done by first graders. Their insight may surprise you. While reading these keep in mind that these are first graders, 6-year-olds, because

by Kathy J. Prater FEATURES EDITOR

Hailing originally from England, Ann Maynard, crew trainer, Martin McDonald's, was honored by being referred to as "a shining example" of "the All-American family" by Jay Miller, business consultant for McDonald's Pittsburgh region.

Miller was on hand early Monday morning, along with the owner of the Martin fast-food restaurant, Bob Hutchinson, to formally recognize Maynard as Crew Person of the Year for the Pittsburgh region, a six-state area.

"Ann has consistently demonstrated superior skills, abilities, and professionalism as a crew member and trainer," Miller said. "She is a shining example of everything that is signified by this

Maynard, who met her husband, Larry, athletic director and JROTC instructor, Allen Central High School, when he was serving in the military overseas. The couple, who have been "happily married," according to Ann Maynard, for the past 27 years, came to live in eastern Kentucky when Larry Maynard moved his family "back home." Larry Maynard is a native of Martin County.

Ann Maynard, a naturalized citizen of the United States, said that she was "rather surprised pleasantly - and very honored" to learn of being named Crew Person of the Year for the Pittsburgh region, a region that encompasses six states. "Ann won from among 20,000 employees," Hutchinson said, "that's a pretty big accomplishment."

Martin McDonald's where she was formally recognized as McDonald's "Crew Person of the Year," for the Pittsburgh region, Monday morning.

Jen Mullins, who works with Maynard at the Martin restaurant, nominated her for the Crew Person of the Year award. "Ann won this award by her ability to follow procedures...everything runs much smoother when she's here. She is a perfect example of what you strive to find in an employee...she has a great personality and is, well, just everything all in one. I've loved working with

Maynard has been with the McDonald's team for the past three years, was awarded $500 from the McDonald's corporation, along with a framed certificate honoring her as the 2006 Crew Person of the Year. Hutchinson, along with his brother, Tom, who together own several McDonald's restaurants throughout the East Kentucky region, including not only the Martin McDonald's but also McDonald's restaurants in Paintsville, Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Salyersville, Inez and West Liberty, matched the corporate award, presenting Maynard with an additional $500 as a reward for her hard work and dedica-

"I just get up every morning, come to work, and do my job," Maynard said. "And I'm glad to do it," she added. Maynard shared that neither she nor her husband had been absent "a single day" from work in as long as she could remember. "We have always tried to be an example for our children," she said.

The Maynard's have three children, Tim, Alex and Victoria. Both Tim and Alex are members of the U.S. military; Victoria is currently a ROTC Cadet at Morehead State University. And, "mom" isn't the only one in the family who has become a part of the McDonald's team - son, Alex, and daughter, victoria, have both been employed at the

Martin McDonald's. As for plans for the $1,000 awarded to Maynard on Monday morning, Maynard said she had none, but said, "Actually, I think my children may have already spent it," before adding, in a more serious vein, "I'm sure I'll find a good use for it."

Portion of Berea Craft Festival proceeds to benefit Humane Society

Festival to be held July 14-16

As part of their 25th anniversary celebration, the Berea Craft Festival, to be held this coming weekend, July 14-16, will hold specially planned events and activities to benefit the Humane Society. A visit to the festival this year will provide the wonderful opportunity to purchase a great piece of art while at the same time helping to support a great cause. Animal lovers will be able to choose from a wide variety of animal inspired art.

Louisville artist Patricia Grove will have on site an extensive line of handpainted wooden pins, ornaments and clocks. Most major breeds of cats and dogs, a variety of birds, horses, tropical fish and a few exotic animals, as well, will be represented. Grove's unique approach to painting stems from her experience as working as a wildlife rehabilitator for 17 years. Much of her inspiration comes from her own pets, especially Bryce, her golden retriever. She got Bryce as a puppy and trained him to be a service dog. As part of that training, he had to be with her 24 hours a day and so attended the Berea Craft Festival with his master thatyear. Although Bryce went on to the next level of training, he didn't make the final cut and returned home with Grove. But, says his master, no need to feel bad for Bryce - for he now has a career as a male Pictures of Bryce wearing

This beautiful animal is "Bryce." Bryce is a golden retriever owned by Patricia Grove, of Louisville. Bryce was being trained as a service dog, but didn't make the final cut, so he now lives with Grove, who fashions handcrafted jewelry, and serves as a "male model" for her hand-painted wooden animal pins, ornaments and portraits. You can meet both Bryce and his master at the Berea Craft Festival this coming weekend.

POISON OAK We men can't win

I read somewhere a while back that a group of researchers from some big university somewhere, with the help of magnetic resonance imaging, more commonly referred to as MRI, has concluded that we men can't

how they expressed it, but what they have concluded, pretty much means the same thing. After close scrutiny, I've decided that what they really said was that they had decided win.

Well, that's not exactly

that aging in a woman's brain is not as rapid as it is in a man's brain. Consequently, this group has apparently decided that as men grow older, they lose their ability to talk faster than women.

I sure hope nobody spent an excessive amount of money just to find that out. I mean, was this point ever in question? How could we lose the ability to do something we've never had the ability to do in the first place?

Anyway, particulars of the report stated that the left side of the brain controls language and verbal abilities, and the left side of a man's brain deteriorates two to three times faster than a woman's. In other words, what they're saying is, when it comes to arguing with our wives, the older we men get, the more disadvantaged we become. That's really a scary thought, especially when we all know that we've been at a disadvantage since day one, anyway.

If there's a bright side to all this, it's that we now have an excuse. At least

Ten Years Ago (July 17 and July 19, 1996)

Allegations of mismanagement and wrongdoing by members of the Mountain Area Drug Task Force, as reported in a state newspaper's stories recently, may have surprised some readers, but they were not news to task force officials. "We were already looking at all of the issues addressed throughout the articles," Frank Fryman, director, of the new-defunct task force, said Tuesday afternoon...Jimmy Stumbo, a former deputy judge-executive is spending a few days in jail after he violated his probation requirements for a second time. He was arrested in Lexington, on July 3, after testing positive on a drug screen...Residents of Floyd County shouldn't expect to dial 911 any time soon and get a response, even if the county decides to implement the basic service before it goes with enhanced...Bruce Ward of Betsy Layne, was arrested, Tuesday afternoon, for allegedly exposing himself in public. He reportedly stood near the trees in the back corner at the walking track at Prestonsburg Community College, Sunday afternoon, and exposed himself to at least two women who were walking on the track...Dr. Don Chafin was the winner, Thursday night, of the State Good Samaritan Award. The Good Samaritan award is given each year to a Kentuckian who, "over an extended period of time, has made significant contributions in the area of health care and/or health care education."...The Mud Creek Volunteer Fire Department responded early Monday morning to a structure fire on Highway 979, near Red Morg Branch, and discovered the fire was intentionally, set with a Molotov cocktail...The Floyd County Fiscal Court expected to consider, at its regular meeting today, a recommendation from the 911 board to purchase pagers for volunteers, and secure clean frequencies for the service. The 911 board approved the recommendation at its regular meeting last week. What isn't scheduled to be heard at the meeting is a request for an alcohol ordinance in Floyd County...Martin L. Hammond, 88, of Prestonsburg, died Wednesday, when he apparently turned across traffic on Route 80, and was struck by another vehicle...It looks like Floyd County School Board is quickly digging its way out of the financial hole it found itself in earlier this year. A preliminary end-of-the-year financial report given to board members, Wednesday afternoon, shows the school system only $619,000 in the red. That's nearly $1 million less than was projected earlier this year...Lon May, Floyd County Disaster and Emergency Services Director, is concerned about some materials located in West Prestonsburg, such as a silo of nitrogen fertilizer and a container of diesel fuel, the combination of which was used to make the bomb that destroyed the federal building in Oklahoma City...The Floyd County Sheriff's Department ten-day Western Trip ended, Tuesday evening, at the courthouse. After nearly 100 hours on the school bus, and camping throughout the United States, many of the weary teens said they enjoyed their trip, but were glad to be home...Trash was piled up on the curb at the courthouse annex, Thursday morning, waiting for pickup by the City of Prestonsburg. County Judge-Executive Ben Hale and County Jailer Roger Webb have disagreed over the use of a dumpster which belongs to the county, but is located inside the fence for the jail... Once hub of Maytown center, old Slone Grocery Store now gone

ARTICLE SUBMITTED, EDITED BY KATHY J. PRATER

Julie and Emery Slone moved to Maytown in 1930, where they opened a grocery store in the front part of their home. Emery died in 1935, but Julie, pictured, stayed on in Maytown, operating the store until 1987.

For many years, Julie and Emery's combined home/grocery business served its purpose - as a home, a store, a restaurant, a home laundry, a gathering place for both the young and old, a place for Julie to earn a living to help support her seven children and subsequent grandchildren, and, as many will attest, as a place of refuge for many who were hungry and some who were nearly naked.

Julie never missed an opportunity to care for those in need. The old store/home in which Julie reared her family is now gone. Torn down piece by piece. But though the old building is now gone, many will long remember "Granny Slone" and her store. Hundreds of children who attended Maytown School were recipients of Granny's love, understanding and coun-

One who fondly remembers Julie, Rubin Stephens, of Floyd County, says that he and others who now harbor many wonderful memories and hearts full of thanks to Julie's memory, will never forget the old store and the happy times spent there. He writes: "Nothing can separate you from the love of a mother, not time or space. The map of life that she took will always be

"Her spirit still is with us, she really hasn't gone. She's still standing at the counter with her flowered apron on."

Lawnmowers are no place for children

Ray Tackett COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT FOR AGRICULTURE & NATURAL RESOURCES

Each spring, as the flowers blossom and the grass begins to grow, millions of people haul out their mowers, lawn tractors, trimmers. tillers and chipper/shredders. Along the way, some also haul out unsafe operating habits that can lead to injuries.

Young children move quickly and are attracted to mowing activity. They don't understand the dangers it poses. Parents should keep young children away from any outdoor power equipment. Each year, about 75 people are killed and about 20,000 are injured on or near riding lawnmowers and garden tractors. One out of every five deaths involves a child.

More than 800 young children get run over or backed over by riding mowers each year. This happens when children fall while being given rides, or when they approach the operating mower. Children should never be in the yard while you're mowing, and they should never ride on the mower.

Children see mowing activity, want to ride along and approach the mower sometimes faster than the adult can see them. Never assume children will remain where you last saw them. Be alert and turn off the mower if children enter the mowing area. Use extra care when backing up or going around corners, shrubs, trees or other obstacles.

As with all lawnmowers, there is a risk of a thrown object. Small children are at special risk since an object thrown from a lawnmower that would strike an adult in the leg could cause a much more serious injury by striking a small child in the body or the head.

Many children suffer serious burns to their hands and arms when they touch the hot muffler of running or recently running engines. Keep children away from power equipment, especially that which is running or has recently been running.

Protecting children in and around lawn care equipment can be accomplished by taking the appropriate precautions. While children may want to ride on mowers or other equipment keeping a firm "no riders' policy will help preven injuries and allow for a safe enjoyable summertime.
