12 killed on state highways over past week

FRANKFORT — Preliminary statistics indicate that 12 people died in 11 separate crashes on Kentucky roadways from Monday, Nov. 9, through Sunday, Nov. 15.

Eight of the crashes involved motor vehicles and eight of the nine victims were not wearing seat belts. Single-fatality crashes occurred in Floyd (2), Hart, Jefferson, Knox, Logan and Powell counties. The crash in Logan County involved the suspected use of alcohol.

A double-fatality motor vehicle crash occurred in Rowan County on I-64 westbound at the 145 mile marker causing the interstate to shut down for several hours.

Two crashes involved motorcycles in Cumberland and Lincoln counties. The crash in Lincoln County involved the suspected use of alcohol and the victim was not wearing a helmet. A hit-and-run crash involving a scooter occurred in Henderson County.

Through Nov. 15, preliminary statistics indicate that 674 people have lost their lives on Kentucky roadways during 2009. This is 36 fewer fatalities than reported for the same time period in 2008.

There were 543 motor vehicle fatalities and 298 of those victims were not wearing seat belts. Thirty-two pedestrians and five bicyclists have been killed. Seventy-eight fatalities involved a motorcycle and 15 fatalities involved an ATV.

Collins, Harris file campaign papers

There have been only two filings this past week for local races, one for state representative and the other for circuit judge.

Rep. Hubert Collins filed this week to run as the incumbent for the 97th District. His challenger, former basketball coach Bill Mike Runyon, filed more than a week ago.

The filing sets up a potential high-profile race for the November election, as Collins is a Democrat, while Runyon filed as a Republican. Each man would also need to defeat any challengers within their respective parties in the May primary.

"Through my work as chair of the Transportation Committee, I have been able to improve our roads and infrastructure," Collins said in a press release yesterday. "As a member of the Education Committee, I have been able to keep our agenda focused on teacher pay, curriculum advances and school building improvements through the district.

Collins, who lives in Wittensville, is seeking his 11th term in the 97th Legislative District, which is made up of Floyd, Pike, Johnson and Martin counties.

Filing Monday morning in Frankfort was Judge Johnny Ray Harris for Floyd County Circuit Judge in the District 31, Division 1.

Harris was appointed last month to the post following the retirement of Danny P. Caudill.

PIKEVILLE — Another two-vehicle accident at the intersection of Town Branch Road and U.S. 23 has highway department officials revisiting the importance of finishing a study that will be sent to Frankfort to propose changes to alleviate the problem.

"It's not an easy fix," said Greg Couch, engineering support branch manager for Highway District 12. "We need to put it back more on the front burner, but we're still trying to complete cost estimates at this time."

A two-vehicle accident that took place late Friday afternoon left two people injured. Police said they were wearing seat belts and that airbags deployed at the time of impact. Part of the study District 12 had been working centers on two recent fatal crashes at the spot.

Couch said that he and others at Highway District 12 in Pikeville were still working on a proposal to be sent to Frankfort, including at least one option that Couch said would be one of the more viable solutions to the number of wrecks that have occurred at the location.

That option would see what is called a frontage road that would run parallel to U.S. 23. This road would extend from Town Branch Road, through the area where the Bull Creek Trade Center now exists and PRESTONSBURG — A Floyd County man will spend the rest of his life in prison after being sentenced on a murder charge in circuit court last week.

Richard Lee Adkins, 31, was sentenced to life in prison by newly appointed Circuit Judge Johnny Ray Harris. Adkins was charged with the May 2008 murder of Thomas Bentley 46, of Bull Creek.

Bentley's body was found inside his burned home. It was determined that Bentley was killed by a gunshot before the home was set on fire. Adkins admitted that he shot Bentley.

Another man, Timothy Marsillett, is also charged in the killing of Bentley.

As part of the plea agreement accepted in March, Adkins is expected to testify against Marsillett.

PRESTONSBURG — Karen Crum wants people to know that fraud exists in the mobile home moving business, and says she and her husband fell victim to it recently.

Crum, who owns such a company with her husband, claims that a former employee, 40-year-old Donald Tilley of Prestonsburg, defrauded a homeowner in Pike County recently.

"He basically told them he would move their trailer for them, took a down payment for the job and then left them high and dry," said Crum.

Our View

'Happy' or not, region is unhealthy

Last week we reported to you about the Gallup-Healthways Well-Being Index, which reported that Eastern Kentucky's 5th Congressional District is the "unhappiest" district in the nation. Looks like we might have compounded the problem in reporting the story, because from what we've heard, quite a few people were none too happy to hear that term being used to describe our region.

We understand the feeling. Once again, it seems that some outside group has attached a negative label to Eastern Kentucky, and this time it is one that is so subjective as to seem useless. How can anyone tell us how happy we are? Isn't that for us to decide for ourselves?

True as all of that may be, we don't believe this to be another example of the "hillbilly bashing" we have grown so weary of seeing. And actually, there is quite a bit of useful information to be gleaned from the report.

Part of the problem with the report is the use of the word "happiness." That term is so nebulous as to be meaningless in this case. And to be fair, the authors of the study actually prefer to use the term "well-being," and the index appears meant more as a comparison of the health, using the World Health Organization's definition of health as "not only the absence of infirmity and disease, but also a state of physical, mental and social well-being."

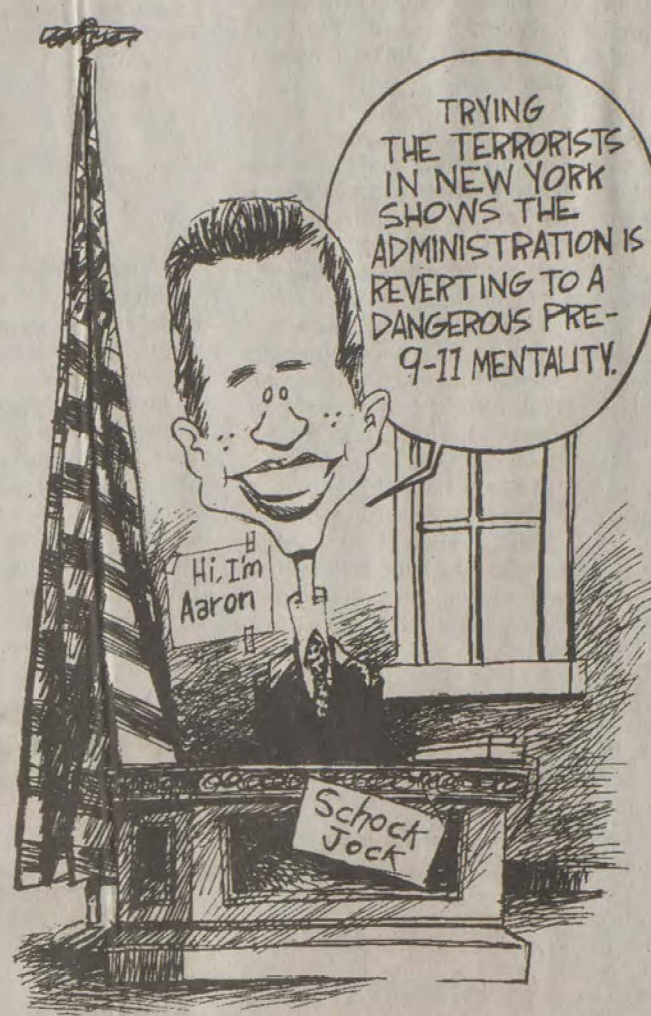

Information for the study was gathered by surveying residents of the district on questions concerning their own personal evaluation of their lives, work quality, access to basic services and necessities, healthy behavior, physical health and emotional health. Those answers were then compared to those living in other districts, all across the country.

Having extensively reported on such issues in the past, we were not surprised to see our district rated at or near the bottom in terms of physical health, healthy behavior and emotional health, which were major factors in the overall last-place ranking. Physical health was measured by asking participants about high blood pressure, high cholesterol, diabetes, cancer, asthma and obesity, nearly all of which have been shown in study after study to be more prevalent in Eastern Kentucky than just about anywhere else in the country. The study measured healthy behavior by determining the number of people who smoke, exercise and eat nutritionally complete meals, while emotional health was determined by asking survey-takers for their own estimates about how much of the previous day they felt sad, angry, stressed, worried or happy.

The point of all of this is to say that, when we toss aside the hyperbole of the term "happiness," we are left with a disturbing image of our region leading the nation in unhealthy behavior and conditions. Instead of anger about yet another perceived slight against us, we should focus our concern on how to improve the health of our friends, our families and ourselves.

That is a task best undertaken by individuals, but there is also a role for government to play in promoting healthy behaviors. In this spot on Friday, we will offer our suggestions in that regard.

Guest Column

House week in review

by REP. HUBERT COLLINS

Kentucky works hard to take care of its farmers.

Consider this: Kentucky farmers, especially those who need financial help developing or expanding their farming operations, have received millions of state tobacco settlement dollars through low-interest loans over the past six years.

Funding to initiate the loan programs came from 2003 state Agricultural Development Fund (ADF) dollars administered by the Kentucky Agricultural Finance Corporation. Governor's Office of Agricultural Policy Executive Director Roger Thomas told the legislative Tobacco Settlement Agreement Fund Oversight Committee recently that KAFRC funding for the low-interest loans has grown from $20 million to around $36 million over the past few years.

Thomas said the state hopes the fund, available to the KAFRC, will "last beyond the ADF and will be available for Kentucky agriculture as we move forward into the future."

KAFRC Financial Services Director Bill McCloskey told lawmakers that nearly 300 loans costing $35.8 million have been approved through KAFRC to date. The loans are provided through five programs, including the Beginning Farmer Loan Program which helps farmers establish, expand or buy into farm operations.

GOAP Senior Policy Analyst Tim Hughes said the program has made 55 loans totaling $5.4 million to date for such operations as grain farming, pig farming and marketing trees.

According to McCloskey, a KAFRC priority is helping farmers expand their farming operations and in some cases, intergenerational transfer from one family to the next generation, through its loan programs.

The other four loan programs offered through KAFRC include the Agricultural Infrastructure program, Coordinated Value Added Assistance program, Agricultural Processing program and Large Animal Veterinary program. The state has approved 224 projects totaling around $14 million through the infrastructure loan program, which the GOAP says pays for capital improvements on the farm.

One project funded through the program was construction of what Hughes called a "mouse house", a facility that allowed a farmer to raise rodents for sale to pet stores as exotic pet feed.

"It just shows the diversity of what we can do with these types of programs," Hughes told the committee.

Approximately $1.4 million has been spent on the Coordinated Value Added Assistance program, the GOAP said, while $12.2 million has been committed for seven projects through the Agricultural Processing program.

Our farmers are such an integral part of our state's economy that we must continue to do everything we can as state government, and as consumers, to support them. They are our past, present—and future.

Have a great fall season and a great week ahead.

then exit at the Marathon gas station just below it. Another aspect of this plan would be to put in a signal light at the gas station exit.

"That could be a good solution there, I think," said Couch. "Then I think people would be more agreeable to approving a signal because you're funneling everybody at one point."

But for now, it is cost estimates on several options that Couch and his team are busy with. For instance, the cost of putting in one signal light will cost between $90,000 and $100,000.

Other options could be a barrier wall, restriping lanes or other traffic calming projects. But Couch said an assumed price tag must be attached before Frankfort sees the proposal.

"We need to spur this thing along, get people involved,"

Couch continued. "One of the things we're going to do toward that goal is to conduct a critical rate factor."

A critical rate factor study would show what other intersections, similar to the one at Town Branch Road, show for crash and fatality data. Couch said he suspects the Town Branch intersection would show average or better than average results.

"The area at Town Branch is not a good place for a signal," said Couch. "Part of that problem would be the hill where trucks and other traffic might have a problem slowing down for the light."

Couch said if 20 engineers were to look at the data for the proposal there was a good chance that there would be 20 different suggestions.

"It's just not an easy fix and there's going to be a lot of options on the table," he said.

Prosecutors also agreed to dismiss the first-degree arson charge against Adkins as part of the plea agreement.

Thomas Bentley's body was found inside his burned home on May 24, 2008. According to police, Marsillett was arrested the same night, while Adkins was taken into custody early the next morning.

Bags of marijuana and scattered money were found around Marsillett's car and a rifle was located in the creek behind the vehicle. Marsillett was eventually taken into custody after a field sobriety test and charged with driving under the influence.

Adkins was found by police early the next morning, cold and wet, after apparently wandering around the mountains most of the night. A .22 caliber bullet was located in Adkins' pocket by police.

After Adkins was taken into custody, he also admitted robbing Bentley of both money and marijuana, but also said that he did not start the fire.

"It was not a death penalty case, so life was the most he could realistically get," said Commonwealth's Attorney Brent Turner. "Anytime you have somebody willing to admit what they did and take a life sentence, it doesn't happen very often. It's a very good sentence. We are more than satisfied with the result."

Timothy Marsillett is expected to go to trial next year.

Arrest

A complaint was later filed against Tilley by Thelma Justice, of Pikeville, alleging that he took $2,300 from her as payment to move her trailer and then never showed up to do the job.

Tilley was later arrested in connection to the complaint and charged with theft by unlawful taking.

Crum says Tilley posed as the owner of the business while hatching the alleged scheme.

"We just want people to know about this, to know that this can happen and that they should be careful," Crum said, adding that Justice's money was returned and that she and her husband also planned to go ahead and move the trailer as promised.

"We looked at the trailer and wanted to make good on the promise, but it couldn't be moved," she said. "But we did what we could."

Justice's complaint asserts that Tilley was driving a truck belonging to the Crums when he convinced them to pay the down payment and later failed to tell the Crums about the money.

Tilley's case was referred to a grand jury recently and his bond amended to $2,300 cash.

"We just want to do everything we can to make sure nobody else gets done this way," Crum said.

Justice could not be reached for comment.

campaign and what he hopes to accomplish.

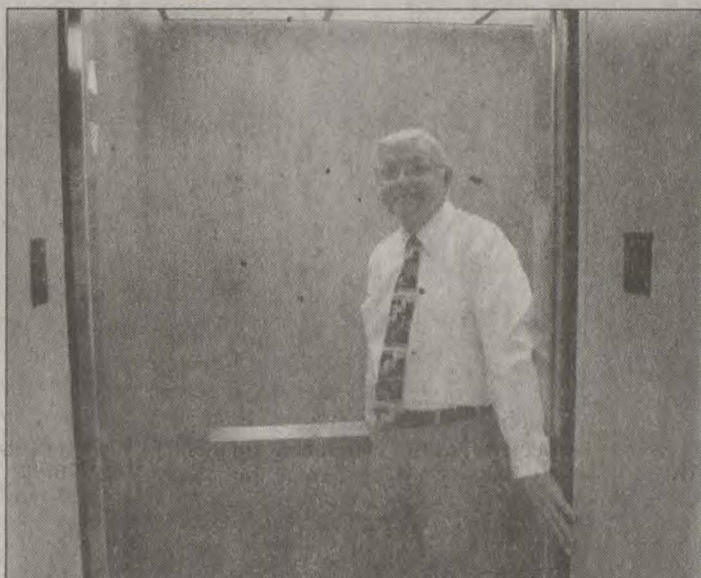

"We want to get the word out," McCall said. "We want people to know the value that our colleges have for the community and what it can do for the state. Tough economic times require the education necessary to get jobs. Our students will be well-prepared for the jobs they are about to undertake. By better educating our citizenry, we are better educating our workplace. Also, we are working with Gov. Steve Beshear to maintain our funding at the current level and to not cut higher education anymore."

The annual operating budget of the Kentucky Community and Technical College System is approximately $713 million. Over 100,000 students are currently enrolled on one of the 68 campuses in the state.

McCall also met with students, faculty, and Big Sandy Community and Technical College President Dr. George Edwards.

Floyd County Judge-Executive R.D. "Doc" Marshall gives a midday inspection of the newly renovated elevators at the Floyd County Courthouse. Marshall said the elevators were important to have so visitors unable to use the stairs could still come to the county offices on the second floor.

Fall conference to focus on colon cancer awareness

PAINTSVILLE — The Big Sandy District Cancer Council will hold its Fall Conference from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 24, at the office of the Kentucky Cancer Program, Kentucky Highlands Entrepreneur Center, 120 Scott Perry Drive, Paintsville. The topic will be raising awareness of colon cancer screening and resources among the public and health professionals in the district.

A District Cancer Council exists in each of Kentucky's 15 Area Development Districts. The councils are groups that work with regionally based Kentucky Cancer Program (KCP) cancer control specialists to identify and address local cancer problems. DCC members are survivors, physicians, health care professionals, social workers, clergy, health educators, and representatives from local groups and government agencies.

The Big Sandy DCC serves Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties.

The conference is free and open to the public. The deadline to register is Friday, Nov. 20. Lunch will be provided. To register, call Becky Simpson, Kentucky Cancer Program, at (606) 789-3270.

Chamber welcomes Mellowbrook

The Floyd County Chamber Of Commerce recently welcomed new member, Mellowbrook Properties.

Mellowbrook is nestled in an upper valley amid the hills of Floyd County, on the site of a former surface mine. Completed in 1999, owners Bufford and Carrie Rose considers Mellowbrook a work in progress, always refurbishing and upgrading, assuring residents that their homes are well cared for and beautifully maintained. Bufford and Carrie Rose invite you to drive through Mellowbrook to appreciate more than 500 rose bushes, crepe myrtles and a variety of annuals and perennials adorning the landscape.

Mellowbrook is home to many professionals working throughout Eastern Kentucky. Most residents consider Mellowbrook their permanent home but accommodations are also available for residents who only plan to stay a few months. For these transitional residents, Mellowbrook offers live-in ready, fully furnished apartments, complete with well-appointed kitchens, and linens for bedding and bath. Property includes a private swimming pool, basketball court, and mountain trail.

Mellowbrook has 24 two-bedroom apartments, featuring ceramic tile and Berber carpet throughout approximately 1,000 square feet of floor space. The 11 one-bedroom cottages are 750 square feet and similarly decorated. Each of the 35 units has a fully equipped kitchen with generous cabinet space and washer/dryer hook-up. The cottages are unique to apartment rental since each freestanding unit provides independent living without the responsibilities of a house. All cottages and apartments are smoke free living.

Mellowbrook is located at 7 Stacey Street in Harold. Owners Bufford and Carrie Rose can be reached at (606) 478-8000 or you may visit them on the web at www.mellowbrookproperties.com.

In conjunction with the Prestonsburg Elementary Family Resource Center and Food City, Prestonsburg Elementary completed its first annual "Coats for Kids" drive throughout the month of October. The drive was successful, generating donations of clothing and coats to be given to local children as needed. Radio station WQHY was the media sponsor of the drive, conducting a live remote at Food City on Oct. 16.

PRESTONSBURG — Senior quarterback Michael Burchett kept the Prestonsburg offense rolling Friday night as Class 2A, District 8 runner-up Middlesboro visited for a regional semifinal. Prestonsburg controlled the game from the opening kickoff. The Blackcats scored early and often en route to a convincing 61-27 win.

Prestonsburg moved to 12-0

after posting the win.

Middlesboro was overwhelmed as Prestonsburg executed extremely well in a quick-strike offensive attack. The Blackcats led 61-7 at the intermission.

Burchett, who completed 11-of-15 passes for 287 yards and six touchdowns, burnt the Middlesboro secondary on numerous offensive possessions. The Prestonsburg quarterback connected with four different receivers on scoring passes. Josh Blackburn and Joseph Jamerson led Prestonsburg in receiving, hauling in two touchdown catches each. Austin McKinney and Tyler Hall grabbed one scoring catch each for the Blackcats.

Burchett passed for five touchdowns in the opening quarter as the Blackcats sprinted out in front 34-0.

Middlesboro scored its lone first half touchdown with 10:16 remaining in the second quarter.

Josh Craynon rushed six times for 91 yards and two touchdowns for the Blackcats. Eight different Prestonsburg players took handoffs out of the backfield. Kain Collins also scored on a rushing touchdown for the Blackcats, which used 478 yards of total offense to dismantle Middlesboro.

Cody McCoy was the leading Prestonsburg defender, finishing with nine tackles. Craynon and Josh Stambaugh posted seven tackles apiece. McKinney and Alex Griffith were other leading defenders for the Blackcats.

Prestonsburg will host District 8 Champion Corbin at Josh Francis Field Friday night (Nov. 20) in the Class 2A, Region 4 championship game. Lady Eagles upend Hiwassee

TIMES STAFF REPORT

MADISONVILLE, Tenn. — The Alice Lloyd College Lady Eagles pulled off a convincing road win over Hiwassee on Saturday, defeating the host Lady Tigers 92-62. Alice Lloyd, which moved to 2-3, won despite being without the services of two of its starters.

With starters Bailey Gabbard, (knee) and Chelsea Jarrell (ankle) out due to injuries, along with key reserve Kelly Jo Moore (ankle), ALC was shorthanded going into the contest. Coach Betty Noble-Acevedo challenged her girls to step up on the road and they responded in a big way.

Sophomore Gemma Gray connected on nine three point baskets and exploded for a career high 36 points to spark the Lady Eagles. Gray drilled six three-pointers in the first half alone, accounting for 24 first half points. She propelled visiting ALC to a 48-28 lead at the intermission.

The Lady Eagles continued to control the game in the second half, refusing to allow Hiwassee to creep back into the game. Alice Lloyd added 10 points to its lead, ultimately winning easily.

"I was very pleased with the effort tonight," Noble-Acevedo commented. "Faced with the adversity of playing with so many injuries, I challenged the girls that it was an opportunity for other players to raise their level of play. To have any chance to go on the road and win outside of the conference, you have to remain focused and play well. Gemma really came up big for us, and her play gave every girl confidence to perform at a high level."

Three other Alice Lloyd players joined Gray in double figures.

Sophomores Allison Felner added 14 points for the Lady Eagles. Sophomore Nikki Durman added 11 points and a team-high 12 rebounds, turning in a double-double performance for ALC. Freshman Kendra Thomas provided another spark off of the bench as she chipped in 10 points for the Lady Eagles.

Katryn Beard led Hiwassee (0-4) with 19 points. Jaryn Davis added 15 points for the Lady Tigers.

Alice Lloyd was hosting Lindsey Wilson Tuesday evening at the Grady Nutt Athletic Center. The Alice Lloyd-Lindsey Wilson game ended too late to make this edition.

Allen Central senior running back Justin Jackson (7) reeled off a 61-yard run in the season-ending loss to Hazard. The Bulldogs built an early lead over the Rebels.

Rebels' postseason run ends at Hazard

Allen Central finishes best season 10-2

by STEVE LeMASTER
SPORTS EDITOR

HAZARD — Allen Central faced its toughest test of the season Friday night on the road at Hazard in a matchup against the Class A state runner-up from one season ago. The Rebels, carrying momentum from an offensive-heavy 60-34 victory over Pineville in the opening round of the Class A State Playoffs, couldn't muster much against the Bulldogs. Hazard scored 14 or more points in each of the first three quarters, amassing a comfortable 49-0 lead before Allen Central answered offensively. Allen Central had its diverse running game shut down for each of the first three quarters as Hazard prevailed 49-16 and eliminated the visiting team from the postseason.

Allen Central ended its best season ever 10-2.

Hazard owned shutout leads at the end of each of the first three quarters. The Bulldogs led 14-0 when the first quarter ended and packed a 35-0 advantage into the break. Hazard led 49-0 as the third quarter closed.

Allen Central scored both of its touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Hunter Crowder scored for the Rebels on a rushing attempt while Micah Harlow hauled in a scoring pass from quarterback Chris Stumbo.

Logan Crowder led Allen Central in rushing as he went for 97 yards through 15 carries.

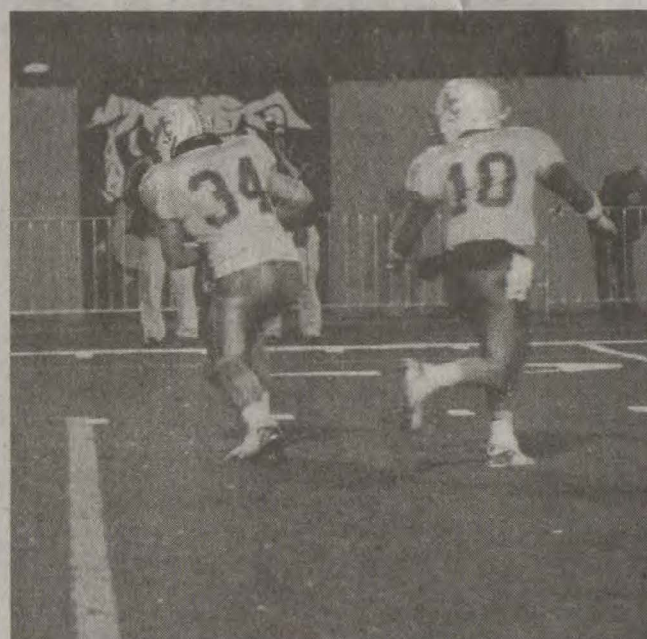

Hunter Crowder also rushed 15 times, finishing with 53 yards.

Justin Jackson carried the football once for 66 yards in the regional semifinal.

Stumbo completed 4-of-7 passes for 85 yards and the scoring toss that Harlow hauled in during the final quarter.

Logan Crowder paced the Allen Central defense, recording eight tackles. Hunter Crowder turned in six tackles while Jackson and lineman Cory Conn provided five stops apiece.

Hazard will host district nemesis Pineville Friday (Nov. 20) in the Class A, Region 4 championship game.

Hunter Crowder (34) took a handoff from quarterback Chris Stumbo.

Bledsoe claims SEC freshman honor

TIMES STAFF REPORT

LEXINGTON — University of Kentucky men's basketball freshman Eric Bledsoe was named the SEC Freshman of the Week as announced by the league office on Monday.

The 6-1 Birmingham, Ala., native helped lead Kentucky to a 75-59 win in Kentucky's season-opener against Morehead State. Bledsoe scored 24 points in his UK debut, becoming the first Wildcat player since Sam Bowie in 1979 to score 20 or more points in their UK opener. He also pulled down seven rebounds while coming up with two blocks and finished the game shooting 90 percent from the free throw line.

The award is his first of the season, and he becomes the fourth Wildcat to earn SEC Freshman of the Week honors since the SEC started the award in the 2006 season. Jodie Meeks received the honor three times in 2007, Patrick Patterson received it three times in 2008 and DeAndre Liggins was named Freshman of the Week once last season.

Kentucky 72, Miami (Ohio) 70: John Wall hit the game-winning shot with 0.5 remaining and scored a team-high 19 points Monday night as Kentucky fended off Miami (Ohio) in a season-opener. The Wildcats won after facing an 18-point deficit.

Field set for AC panorama

TIMES STAFF REPORT

EASTERN — Allen Central High School Athletic Director Larry Maynard and Head Coach Mark Martin have announced the parings for the annual, Thanksgiving Boys' Basketball Panorama.

The panorama will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 25 at the John E. Campbell Arena at Allen Central, and feature three local 58th District and Floyd County teams facing off against varsity teams from the surrounding area.

This year's field is represented by last season's 58th District Champion, Betsy Layne, along with reigning district runner-up Prestonsburg and host Allen Central.

Pike County Central, Lee County, Magoffin County and Coal Grove, Ohio complete this year's eight-team field.

"This year's field features some of the successful veteran coaches around the region and we are excited about the match-ups," Martin stated. "You look down at the list of the coaches that we are bringing in and boy, it's quite a resume when you look at the amount of games and championships some of these guys have accomplished during their careers. We're happy that they are participating and the fans will get to see some quality teams."

Allen Central Middle will square off against Emmalena Junior High in another game.

"We think it was a good idea to bring the junior high team down and let them play and showcase some kids that we think have a good future in the coming years for us," Martin added. "Coach Brad Short and his staff do a good job and it should be a fun day for his team."

King Kelly to appear at Meet the Blackcats Night

PRESTONSBURG

Basketball legend King Kelly Coleman will make a rare appearance Saturday night at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse during the annual Meet the Blackcats Night. The Prestonsburg High School event will serve as an introduction of sorts for PHS basketball fans.

Meet the Blackcats Night, scheduled to get underway at 5 p.m., will feature the Prestonsburg High School boys' basketball team as well as feeder schools Adams and Allen and the Prestonsburg Lady Cats. The schedule for the Meet the Blackcats Night will appear in Friday's edition.

Respect landowners during modern gun deer season

TIMES STAFF REPORT

FRANKFORT — One of the deer hunter's common laments is not being able to find a place to hunt. Kentucky is roughly 95 percent privately owned, so finding an accommodating landowner can be the toughest part of the deer hunting equation.

The challenge is even more daunting if you follow a rude, disrespectful hunter.

"Respect the landowner and conduct yourself with class and you'll be allowed to hunt again," said Tina Brunjes, big game program coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "If you treat their land disrespectfully, not only will you not be allowed back, but you've effectively barred others from hunting there in the future."

One of the easiest things to do is pack out what you brought with you. No landowner likes to walk across their property and see soda cans, wrappers from trail mix bars or spent brass laying near where you set up a tree stand.

Always close any gate behind you. Cross fences at the post, not in the middle between posts. A landowner that spent several thousand dollars in new fencing will be hot if they happen upon a section broken down by a hunter crossing it. The best plan is to go through a gate if one is available, even if you have to walk a ways to use it.

"Don't drive across crop fields or through mudholes," Brunjes said. "This is one of the things that can make a landowner really mad, especially driving across crop fields. Think about how you would want a visitor to treat your land and act accordingly."

Retrieving a deer from neighboring property can cause tremendous friction between the landowner and his or her neighbor. "Don't set up your tree stand or hunt near the property line," said David Yancy, deer biologist for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "You must have permission from the property owner to go onto their land to retrieve a deer or you are trespassing."

Disposing of the internal organs left over from field dressing a deer can be problematic. "Be discreet about where you dispose of it," Yancy said. "Place it behind a tree or a log and away from any trails or roads. They disappear quickly. Raccoons and other wildlife eat them up."

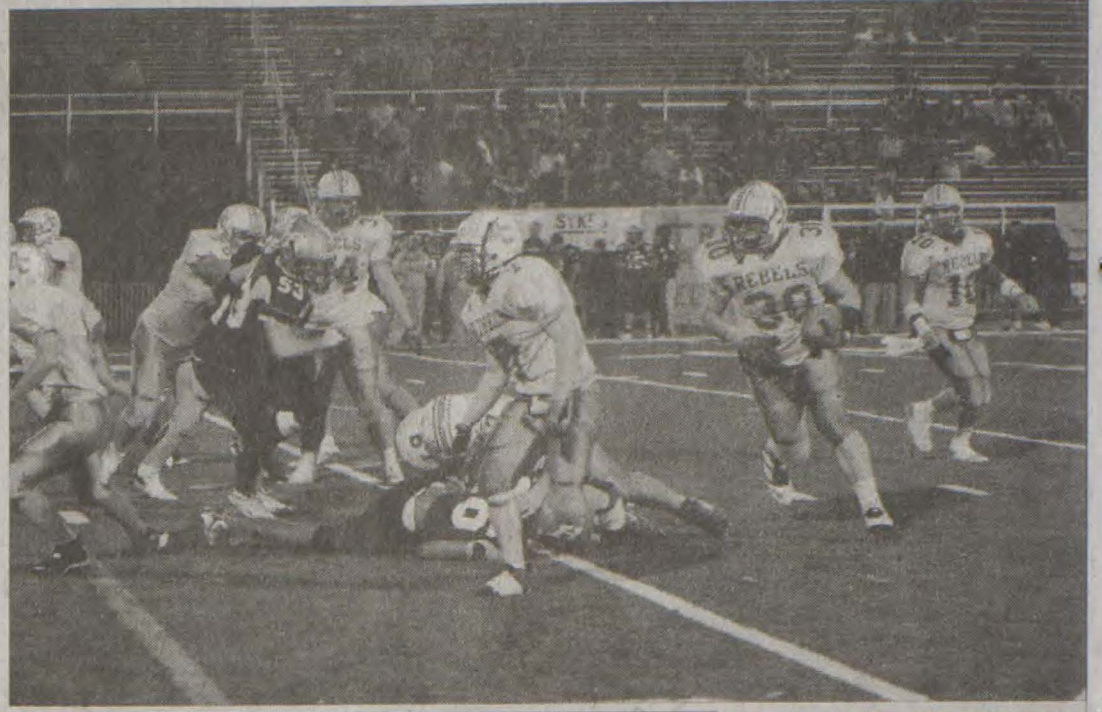

Few landowners would enjoy having high-powered rifles fired near their home or other outbuildings, especially if they have children. Don't hunt near these structures.

Use a climbing or ladder stand for your hunting. Refrain from using devices that require drilling into a tree. Don't nail steps to a tree to get up in a stand. Drilling or gouging trees causes stress and gives an entry port for parasites and diseases to attack the tree.

Also, pay close attention to the location of cattle, horses or other livestock on the land. Always identify the target and look for what is behind it before you pull the trigger.

Keep these things in mind this modern gun deer season and you will help keep private land open for all deer hunters. The modern gun deer season opened statewide over the weekend, Saturday, Nov. 14. Gun season closes Nov. 23 in Zones 3 and 4, while Zones 1 and 2 remain open to modern gun hunting through Nov. 29.

For more information on deer hunting, consult the 2009-2010 Kentucky Hunting and Trapping Guide, available free wherever hunting licenses are sold. The guide is also on the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife web site at fw.ky.gov.

Football Bears drop season finale to Campbellsville

Prestonsburg High grad Jamerson honored on Senior Day

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIKEVILLE — A pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns proved to be the difference on Saturday as Campbellsville knocked off Pikeville 31-17 in a Mid-South Conference matchup. Prestonsburg High School graduate Nick Jamerson was among the players recognized as Pikeville hosted its annual Senior Day.

Pikeville (3-8, 1-5 in the Mid-South Conference East Division) tied the game with 13:30 to play on a 28-yard field goal by senior All-American Kyle Chilton, but the Tigers needed only three plays to respond as freshman Nathan Cooper hit Harold Small with a 54-yard scoring pass 56 seconds later. David Hon's kick made it 24-17.

Campbellsville (7-4, 4-2) put the game away when Karl Charles intercepted a pass and returned it 10 yards for the score with 6:59 left.

Campbellsville marched down the field on the opening drive, needing 13 plays to cover 60 yards. The drive ended with 11:14 left when David Mason scored from the two for a 7-0 lead.

Pikeville, which scored both its touchdowns on big plays, got the first one with 3:35 left in the opening period. Freshman Jeremy Mobley took the handoff and ran 80 yards for the score. It was the longest play from scrimmage all season for the Bears, who tied the game on a PAT by Chilton.

The kick for Chilton gave him 185 career points and made him the all-time leading scorer in the nine-year history of the program. The Clearwater, Fla., native would finish with 189 points.

Campbellsville took the lead back before the period ended when Hon kicked a 27-yard field goal, and scored with two seconds left in the half on a three-yard keeper by Cooper to lead 17-7 at the break.

Pikeville was a different team when it came out of the locker room, and used a bit of trickery to get back in the game. Freshman punter Dale Swords ran the first fake of the season and hit junior Anson Cunningham with a pass that saw Cunningham sprint 62 yards for the score. Chilton tacked on the PAT and set the stage for his game-tying field goal early in the fourth.

Campbellsville had 424 yards of total offense, using a balanced attack with 202 yards on the ground and 222 in the air. Wayne Coffee led the balanced ground attack with 69 yards on 11 carries; David Mason followed with 52 yards on eight tries.

In the air the Tigers were 13-of-34 for 222 with one interception and a pick, all but one incomplete pass being thrown by Cooper. He hit Russell Parker five times for 54 yards and Small four times for 87.

Mobley had 127 yards on 14 carries for only the second 100-yard rushing game of the season by the Bears. Junior Dan Wideman, in his third game as the starting quarterback after moving back under center from the free safety position, was 8-of-23 for 95 yards and three interceptions. Knott County Central product Bobby Owens led the way with five catches for 77 yards.

On the defensive side, Trey Mayes led the way with 14 tackles for Campbellsville, including 1.5 for loss and a fumble recovery.

Pikeville's defensive corps was led by Lee White with eight tackles. Senior John Brown went out with a bang, adding two fumble recoveries and an interception to his three tackles and pass breakup.

Bears hold off UVA-Wise

TIMES STAFF REPORT

WISE, Va. — Pikeville College received all it wanted from future Mid-South Conference men's basketball rival UVA-Wise on Wednesday night. The Bears saw, the potential game-winning Highland Cavalier three-point attempt just go up after the buzzer to allow the visitors to hold on for an 83-81 victory.

Trailing 82-75 with 1:25 left, UVA-Wise (2-1) received a three-pointer from Travis Berry before Josh Jordan followed with a three-point play to cut it to 82-81 with 10 seconds. After Pikeville made one of two free throws with seven seconds left, UVA-Wise regained possession with eight-tenths remaining. Following the inbounds, Adam Hood couldn't gather himself in time to get off the potential game-winning shot before the horn for the 83-81 final.

Jonathan Clark scored a team-high 19 points as he led a balanced Pikeville scoring effort. Five different Pikeville scorers reached double figures in the scoring column. Justin Hicks added 16 points for the UVA-Wise outrebounded Pikeville 34-27.

Two UK football players honored

TIMES STAFF REPORT

LEXINGTON — Defensive tackle Corey Peters has been named Southeastern Conference Defensive Lineman of the Week for his performance in Kentucky's win over Vanderbilt, the league office has announced.

Peters made five tackles, including 1.5 tackles for loss, in the 24-13 victory over the Commodores that clinched bowl eligibility for the Wildcats. Both of Peters' TFLs helped lead to Vanderbilt punts. The senior from Louisville also had a quarterback hurry that forced an incomplete pass.

As a unit, the UK defense limited Vanderbilt to 209 yards total offense, the fewest yards against an SEC opponent since 1996. In the second half, the Cats held the Commodores to no points, only one first down, 31 total yards and just 6:56 time of possession.

This is the second time during the 2009 season that Peters has been tabbed as the league's Defensive Lineman of the Week. He also was chosen for the South Carolina game.

McIntosh named National Kickoff Specialist of the Week: Kentucky kickoff man Craig McIntosh has been named the National Kickoff Specialist of the Week by the College Football Performance Awards for his play in Kentucky's 24-13 win over Vanderbilt.

Kentucky is bowl eligible after recording its sixth win.

The College Football Performance Awards are a scientific evaluation of game-day achievements. McIntosh kicked off five times at Vanderbilt, with a career-high three touchbacks. His other two kickoffs had outstanding placement, forcing the receiver to catch the ball near the sideline. The great kickoff location helped the coverage unit contain the highly dangerous Warren Norman, who has returned three kickoffs for touchdowns this season. Norman was limited to a 19-yard average on his two returns. The average field position after Kentucky kickoffs was inside the 22-yard line.

EVERYBODY'S SCIENCE

A pot in search of a recipe

by SANDY MILLER HAYS
AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE

Got any good bean recipes you'd care to share?

If you're a regular reader of this column, you know I'm a fiend for cooking--and I'm also hopeless addicted to "kitchen stuff."

I've got every kitchen pan, dish and gadget known to mankind (and yes, I really use them); someday an as-yet-unborn archeologist is going to have a blast trying to figure out what all those weird items are that they unearth from the Adig@ where my kitchen now stands. My husband jokes that if I buy any more kitchen wares, we'll have to build an addition just to house them all!

One of my latest acquisitions is this gorgeous two-tone-brown ceramic pot for baking beans. It's enormous -- about the size of a basketball -- and will probably outlast me. It's just begging for some homey baked-bean recipes ... something mouth-watering that can simmer and bubble in the oven all afternoon.

Truth be told, I do love beans--all kinds of beans. And there are plenty of reasons to eat them. For one thing, according to the results of studies by Agricultural Research Service (ARS) scientists in North Dakota, eating as little as one-half cup of cooked dry beans every day can help lower your cholesterol!

You've probably heard long ago that beans are a heart-healthy food choice. Here's why: Experts consider a "lipid profile," which is a complete cholesterol count based on blood tests, to be a valid indicator of risk for cardiovascular disease. Because cardiovascular disease is a lifestyle-related disease, anything you can do to improve your cholesterol scores -- such as changes in your physical activity levels or your diet -- is considered beneficial to your health.

In the ARS study in North Dakota, the researchers tested 80 volunteers ranging in age from 18 to 55 years. Half of those folks were healthy, but the other half had at least two symptoms that lead to what's called "metabolic syndrome," a combination of conditions that signal a risk for cardiovascular disease.

Those with "pre-metabolic syndrome" had abdominal obesity and either high triglyceride levels, low HDL ("good") cholesterol, high blood sugar or high blood pressure.

For 12 weeks, half the group was randomly selected to eat one-half cup of cooked dry pinto beans daily along with their regular diet. The others ate a serving of chicken soup instead of the beans.

The results? Compared to measures taken at the start of the 12-week test phase, all the volunteers who ate the pinto beans saw their cholesterol levels go down.

You might think beans are a pretty uncomplicated food -- but you'd be wrong. For all their good qualities, I'll bet you didn't know that they also come equipped with certain compounds that prevent our bodies from absorbing all the iron that's available in our favorite reds, whites and pintos.

ARS scientists in Ithaca, N.Y., have been digging out the details about natural compounds in foods that increase or -- even worse -- decrease absorption of iron from those foods. To achieve this, earlier this year the scientists began tests with poultry as a followup to experiments with human digestive system cells cultured in petri dishes.

Some of this new work builds on an earlier ARS study in which the scientists pinpointed a natural compound called kaempferol as a possible key culprit in decreasing our bodies' ability to absorb iron from red and pinto beans.

It turns out that kaempferol belongs to a class of natural substances known as polyphenols. Scientists have known for decades that polyphenols were involved in hindering absorption of iron from beans,

THE WINNING BEAT

Drummer finishes near top of worldwide contest

by JARRID DEATON
FEATURES WRITER

Chad Smith, drummer for funk-rock icons The Red Hot Chili Peppers, recently initiated a search for the most talented drummers in the world by inviting those with spectacular drumming skills to submit videos of their performance, and one of Floyd County's own took second prize in the contest with a dynamic display of percussion.

Jared "J.D." Hall, 30, of Stanville, was selected as the second-place winner in Chad Smith's Bombastic Meatbeats Drum Solo Contest. The prize included a Pearl Chad Smith Signature 14x5 snare drum with an estimated value of $469. Hall currently drums for Dreadfall, a local thrash metal band.

"I was surfing the web a couple of months back and saw an advertisement for the contest on Modern Drummer Magazine's Myspace page, if I recall correctly," Hall said. "It was something I knew I had to try, so I immediately submitted the video of a recent live drum solo I did with Dreadfall at our Hillbilly Days show. My video was actually one of the first ones posted."

Hall has an extensive drumming background, and his video trumped 48 others, including the drummer for Slaughter and Skid Row.

"I always had a natural ear for rhythm and used to beat my mother's pots and pans to death until I received my first drum kit when I was in the sixth or seventh-grade," Hall said. "I've been playing drums seriously for over 15 years. Playing drums really just always came natural to me. I was a little bit surprised when I won second place. I mean, I was very confident of the quality of my solo, but I was going up against some really awesome talent from every major nation on earth. I was, and still am, very excited, honored and grateful."

A number of drummers form the main pool of influences for Hall, and he admires each one for a specific reason.

"Some of my biggest drumming influences would have to be people like Joey Jordison, Vinnie Paul, Tommy Aldridge, Lars Ulrich, Dave Lombardo, Igor Cavalera, Eric Carr, Tommy Lee, Mike Portnoy, Neil Peart, John Bonham, Keith Moon and even the great Buddy Rich to name a few," Hall said. "I like different drummers for different reasons. I like guys like Jordison and Portnoy for their incredible technique and precision, and players such as Tommy Lee and Lars Ulrich for their remarkable showmanship and ability to take the drums 'up front' so to speak, and into the public eye. I admire drummers who are larger than life in their own right, not merely an anonymous supporting musician pecking around in obscurity."

Hall has been a part of the local music scene for well over a decade, starting with Midnite Karnival, an alternative rock band formed in high school. After graduating from high school, Hall became interested in more extreme forms of music, including death and black metal. After playing in a number of bands from 2000 on, Hall helped form Voices of Aggression, better known as V.O.A.

"We got a lot of regional notoriety with this band and also started turning some heads within the record industry," Hall said. "Unfortunately, V.O.A. split in 2003 and I spent the next two or three years in a sort of musical limbo."

After playing in a couple more bands, Hall reunited with a bandmate from V.O.A. and

Cookie program spreads holiday cheer to soldiers

by MARILYN LOESER

It's that time of year -- decorations, shopping, baking, family get-togethers.

But what if you're serving the nation in the Middle East or some other far-flung location and this holiday season you'll be away from home?

On the heels of "Treat the Troops," a program founded by Jeanette Cram in 1990, a new program has been launched. "Operation Cookies for American Soldiers," encourages those of us surrounded by family and friends to remember the military men and women, mostly in their 20s, who are not.

The plan is simple. When you are baking cookies for your family, friends and co-workers, bake a few more and send them to the troops along with cards and letters.

How to ship cookies

Thin, crispy cookies will break apart in transit including sugar cookies, thin cookies, and soft and crumbly cookies. Larger size cookies, and bar cookies including brownies and blondies work well. Many drop cookies and refrigerator cookies are good options as well since they're smaller and denser.

For extra protection and to make sure the cookies are fresh when they get to the recipient, wrap each one in plastic wrap. For some types of cookies, it may be better to wrap two together.

Make sure the cookies are completely cooled before wrapping them and boxing them, and make sure there are no large spaces in between the cookies. Pack them tightly and use popcorn to fill the space between them. You don't want the cookies moving around inside their container.

For maximum freshness, bake them as close to your shipping time as possible.

Place the wrapped cookies into an airtight container. This can also be a gift for the recipient. Use a Tupperware or other plastic container or holiday tin.

Make sure to cushion the sides of the container with packing peanuts, bunched up newspaper, tissue paper or other lightweight filler.

Write 'Perishable' or 'Fragile' in big, clear letters on each side of the package.

The most cost effective way to send cookies is by using Large Priority Mail Flat-Rate Boxes. If packages are mailed at the Post Office, the sender receives a $2 discount, from $13.95 to $11.95.

By using Click-N-Ship, available online at usps.com, the cost is $11.50 and you can take advantage of Carrier Pickup. Delivery Confirmation also is free when mailing online.

Priority Mail shipping supplies are also free and available at your local Post Office or online at usps.com.

Sidestep high-calorie holidays with strategies from TOPS

For many of us, food is an important part of the holiday season. Family gatherings feature meals consisting of high-fat, high-calorie temptations that can sabotage even the most dedicated of otherwise healthy eaters. TOPS Club, Inc. (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), the nonprofit weight-loss support organization, recommends strategies that will allow you to navigate common food-centered traps while still enjoying festive celebrations without regret. Consider the following "smart swapping" tips to ensure that the turkey is the only one stuffed this season:

- Choose two slices of skinless turkey breast over a drumstick to save calories and reduce fat and cholesterol.
- Avoid using boxed stuffing mix and, instead, make your own with whole grain bread and turkey or chicken sausage. Increase the nutritional value by incorporating fruits, such as apples, pears, and cranberries, or almonds and walnuts.

- Canned cranberry sauce often contains excess amounts of high-fructose corn syrup. Make your own cranberry sauce by pureeing dried cranberries in orange juice and water, or substitute the sauce with fruit-flavored gelatin.
- Replace candied sweet potatoes with mashed or baked sweet potatoes. Replace heavy cream in the mashed potatoes with low-fat butter-milk and add a vegetable that can be easily mashed, such as turnips or green onion. Olive oil and dried or fresh herbs live up roasted red potatoes with minimal calories.
- Commonly known as "cocktail franks" or "pigs in a blanket," bite-sized hot dogs are always a popular appetizer but laden with sodium and fat.

Instead, snack on mini quiches for a tasty dose of protein that keeps you full.

- Steer clear of crab cakes, which are typically breaded and deep-fried. Enjoy pieces of steamed or boiled shrimp dipped in cocktail sauce for a calorie-light alternative.
- Swap potato chips and dip for the equally satisfying crunch of veggies. Dip into hummus or salsa for a low-calorie, flavorful topping.
- For a sweet snack, enjoy an apple baked with cinnamon and nutmeg instead of an overly-indulgent caramel apple.
- Pecan pie contains high amounts of sugar and fat – up to 800 calories per slice. Choose pumpkin pie for a rich, creamy dessert, and make it even healthier by using evaporated skim milk and egg substitute.
- Consisting of heavy cream, eggs, milk, and sugar, egg nog is a classic holiday beverage. But even without the addition of alcohol, this drink can still spell disaster for those who are watching their weight. Try homemade hot chocolate and leave off the whipped cream to partake sensibly.

With these simple tradeoffs and a bit of discipline, you will be able to celebrate the season without feeling deprived – but just as satisfied.

TOPS Club Inc. (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), the original, nonprofit weight-loss education and support organization, was established more than 61 years ago to champion weight-loss support and success. Visitors are welcome to attend their first TOPS meeting free of charge. To find a local chapter, view www.tops.org or call (800) 932-8677.

formed Dreadfall. "Dreadfall took the tri-state by storm and reached some impressive heights over a two-year span," Hall said. "I had the opportunity to record my first music video, 'Haunted,' with this band. We recently decided to go on hiatus, but there's a little rumor going around that the hiatus could possibly be lifted very soon. I'm also planning on doing another project or two simultaneously, though, I'm looking to stay busy musically and not get pigeonholed."

Hall hopes that his success will help bring attention to the local music scene in eastern Kentucky and encourage the youth of the area who are interested in music to get involved with bands and projects. "There's actually a lot of talent here in eastern Kentucky in all genres, from bluegrass to black metal," Hall said. "Unfortunately, there's not much support from the local music 'establishment.' There's also a very serious lack of performance venues and opportunities for exposure. A lot of good bands have recently broken up. A lot of kids, by no means all, have grown apathetic towards local bands lately no matter how talented they are. They would rather sit at home and play their Playstations or whatever than go out and support local music. I suppose it's like that a lot of other places as well these days. I really hope that this changes in the near future. I, myself, and the bands I've been in over the years, have been at the forefront of the local music scene, so I know first hand how it is out there. I'd like to ask more folks to get involved and support local music."

For more information on Hall and his musical projects, visit www.myspace.com/jdhalldrumz. To listen to Hall's current band, Dreadfall, visit <http://www.myspace.com/dreadfallmusic>. Science but this latest study is apparently the first to pinpoint a specific polyphenol in beans as a possible major player. But life -- and science -- are never simple, it seems. Polyphenols also are antioxidants, which are Agood guys@ that help our bodies deal with those tricky oxygen free radicals that wreak havoc with blood vessels and other vital parts. So the scientists say they need to learn a lot more about polyphenols before they pronounce judgment.

In the meantime, I'm not going to worry about the kaempferol, but just concentrate on all the good things beans have to offer ... and find a way to give that pretty new pot a good workout!
