Floyd County Sheriff John K Blackburn led suspected drug dealer Dwayne Pack to a cruiser yesterday. Pack was one of several taken into custody during a sweep of suspects throughout the county yesterday.

Sheriff's office nets four in roundup

by SHELDON COMPTON
STAFF WRITER

EASTERN - Just before noon yesterday a half-dozen or more sheriff's cruisers pulled onto Route 80 following Floyd County Sheriff John K Blackburn's unmarked vehicle toward Eastern.

The long line of cruisers led by Blackburn might have signaled to some travelers and onlookers that another drug roundup was underway somewhere in the county.

They would have been right.

Blackburn led his officers to Gold Howard Loop Road, a small road of about half a dozen homes adjacent to Allen Central High School, and to the front door of Dwayne Pack.

Pack, 51, would be the first of four Floyd County residents to be arrested yesterday by the sheriff's department during a sweep of suspects. He was charged with third-degree trafficking in a controlled substance as of midday, with possible other charges pending following.

"We've arrested Pack on charges of doctor shopping and trafficking before," Blackburn said outside Pack's home yesterday. "He told us while we were bringing him out that he had just did 27 months in jail."

Blackburn's officers had made several undercover buys from Pack, he said.

Three others were arrested yesterday in a roundup that Blackburn said would be continuing today.

Christopher Hopkins, 25, was taken into custody at his home in Tram during the roundup.

Local officials and employees of the Southern Water and Sewer District held an official opening for the new pump station in Martin. The station will work with a new tank that holds over 300,000 gallons of water in the Price area.

MARTIN - A new pump station will be the difference between people in the Left Beaver area being with or without water, according to Judge-Executive R.D. "Doc" Marshall.

"It will mean volumes to the people that live in this area," Marshall said. "I'm excited because I know it's an improvement in our county."

The pump station is part of a $759,000 project that includes a new tank that holds over 300,000 gallons of water in the Price area. The project, funded by a grant from the Center for Rural Development and a loan, is expected to be completed within the next two weeks.

"This will supply water to the people of Left Beaver," said Hubert Halbert, chairman of the Southern Water and Sewer District. "This is a larger pump that will be able to move more water. We had a problem during the winter where we couldn't provide water to some people in this area for over a week. This new station and tank will prevent that from occurring again, and it will provide water to over 1,500 people."

According to Halbert, the PRESTONSBURG - Some 100 people will now be seeing a settlement in a lawsuit brought against Grizzly Processing and Frasure Creek Mining following, following a recent court decision in their favor.

The lawsuit was filed against the two operations by Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf on behalf of Bonnie and Richard Crisp, along with more than 100 others. The defendants were each awarded a settlement based on claims that their homes were damaged due to a nearby coal washing facility operated at various points by the two companies and damages occurred to nearby roads used in hauling coal to and from the facility.

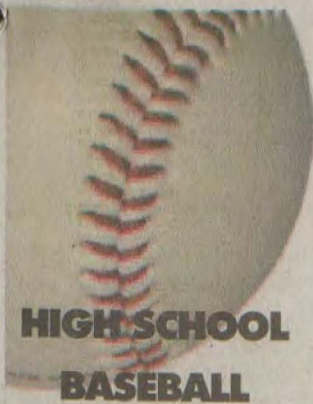

However, Pillersdorf says he has needed to file a motion to push Grizzly Processing Mining to make

Our View

More enforcement, not more regulation

As West Virginia begins to move on in the wake of the April 5 Upper Big Branch mine explosion, there will come a time when the tough questions must be confronted.

One of the toughest — who to blame — may also turn out to be one of the most complicated, as it certainly appears there is plenty of blame to be passed around.

Massey Energy certainly bears the brunt of the responsibility, as we learn more details of the Upper Big Branch mine's legacy of unsafe working conditions and record of putting profits ahead of its workers by tying up citations with endless appeals, rather than fixing the problems.

But Massey cannot be held solely responsible. Questions must also be asked of the federal government and its army of regulators, who somehow allowed the mine to continue operation despite documented concerns.

And the industry in general must also accept some responsibility, for continuing to promote a culture seemingly holds value only for the bottom line. Just two weeks after the blast killed 29 people, Arch Coal CEO Steven Leer is complaining that cracking down on mine safety might cost the industry in terms of productivity, potentially up to 5 percent. We think the families of those lost in the mine explosion would see that as a fair trade, if they could have their loved ones back.

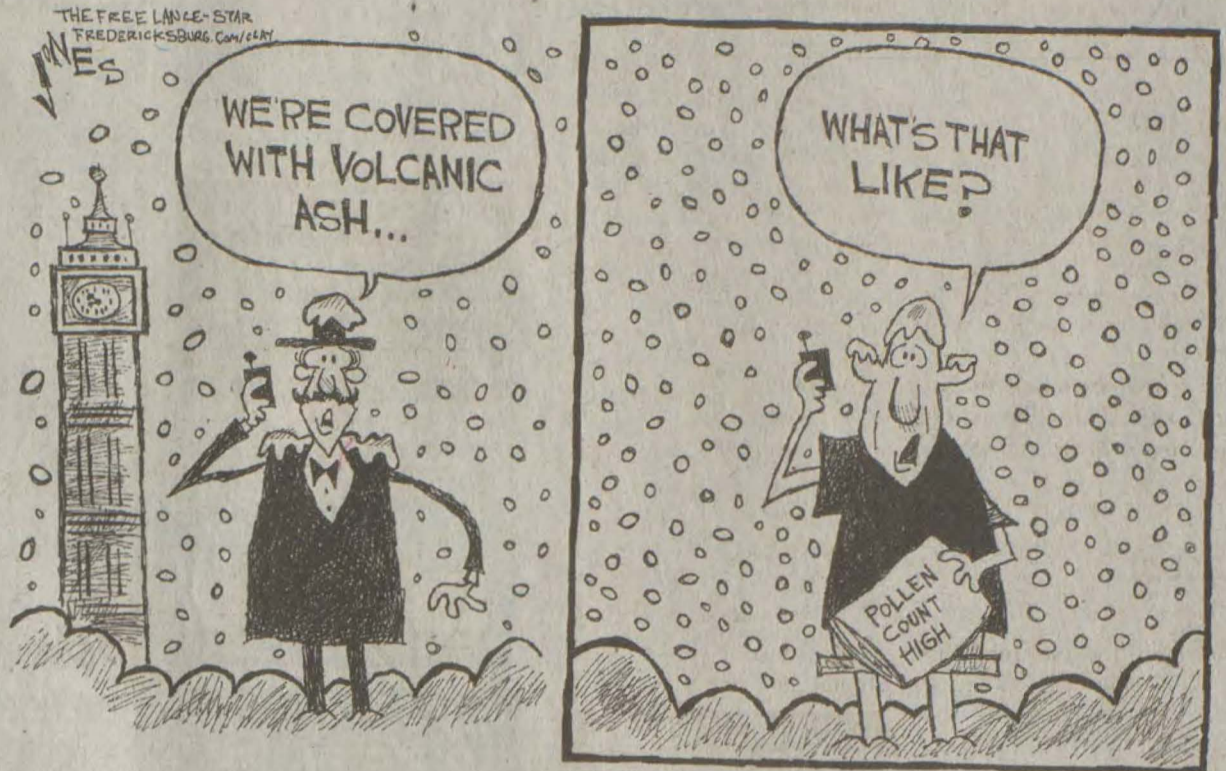

And moving forward, we can find fault in the knee-jerk calls for tougher rules and more regulation. The problem with mine safety does not lie in a lack of rules, but rather in an inability to enforce those already on the books.

If Massey was able to continue operating the Upper Big Branch mine under deadly conditions, despite proof through numerous citations that the federal and West Virginia governments were aware of the unsafe working environment, why should we think that even more rules would help?

The path to preventing future disasters should be clear. Mine companies need to take seriously the lives and safety of their employees by focusing more meeting safety guidelines instead finding a way around them. And regulators need to take the issue of safety seriously, rather than turning a blind eye to violations and allowing repeat offenders to continue with business as usual.

Calling for more stringent regulations only complicates the government's ability to enforce the rules it already has, and distracts the rest of us from holding Massey and regulators accountable for their failures.

Celebrate the 40th Earth Day by going greener and earning rebates on new appliances

by SEN. JOHNNY RAY TURNER

On April 22, 1970, 20 million Americans took to the streets, parks, and auditoriums to demonstrate for a healthy, sustainable environment. The mission was to garner support to save the planet and to raise awareness of the deterioration of our environment. People from all walks of life joined the cause. Supporters were Republicans and Democrats, rich and poor, city slickers and farmers, tycoons and labor leaders.

That first event was a success. It not only led to the creation of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the passage of the Clean Air, Clean Water, and Endangered Species acts, but it spawned an awareness day that continues even today.

On April 22, 2010, Americans will again join in Earth Day — the only event celebrated simultaneously around the globe by people of all backgrounds, faiths and nationalities.

Four decades later, the movement continues — only there are many more people to carry the message. Participation has grown to exceed a billion people annually. The mission is no less important than it was in 1970 and is still a cause that needs all our support and participation. This involvement can start at home.

Making our homes, as well as our schools and businesses, more energy efficient can assist in protecting the environment as well as reduce, high-energy bills. Improving energy efficiency is a good first step for homeowners interested in "green" remodeling.

We can also take measures to be more energy efficient in our homes by investing in ENERGY STAR appliances. Beginning on April 22 - Earth Day - residents who replace existing appliances with the ENERGY STAR appliances will qualify for rebates. The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 appropriated funds to each state to establish and administer the appliance rebate program. Kentucky will have just over $4 million available and rebates will be distributed on a first-come basis. Applications must be submitted within 14 days of purchase. Information on the required materials is available on www.kyappliancerebates.com or by calling 1-877-813-3669. Additional information also is available at <http://www.energy.ky.gov/recovery/rebate/>.

During the 2010 Legislative Session, we took steps to make our schools more environmentally friendly by passing legislation to support and encourage the construction and renovation of school buildings using efficient design concepts. The legislation also establishes a Kentucky efficient school design trust fund and requires the Department of Education to develop and publish guidelines for efficient school design.

Along with looking at more energy-efficient measures for our schools and our homes as we observe the 40th International Earth Day, we can also become more environmentally aware and make a more conscientious effort to incorporate some "green" into our lifestyles. A few simple changes in our everyday living that can have long-term effects include:

- Save water by decreasing shower time — or rather take a bath instead.
- Brush your teeth with the water off.
- Recycle - junk mail, cell phones, paper products, plastic bags, and more.
- Switch from paper and plastic bags to reusable bags and totes.
- Hang clothes to dry.
- Opt for direct deposit, online banking, and paperless statements.
- Start composting (planting scraps from fruits, veggies, and coffee grounds outside).
- Use recyclable (and refillable) beverage containers that you can fill with filtered water, rather than purchasing disposable water bottles.
- Unplug all appliances to save energy when you leave the house.
- Take public transportation or walk, when possible, or car pool.
- Use dishes not disposable utensils, cups, and plates.
- Use rechargeable batteries.
- Donate.
- Make your next car a hybrid model.
- Buy items that use less packaging.

Letters

Don't blame the victim

I feel a gut-wrenching need to respond to a letter in The Floyd County Times dated Wednesday, April 14, on page A6 for anyone interested in reading it for facts. Although the letter starts out about the tragedy of Amanda Ross' death, after one reads on down the page, one gets the real point of the letter.

I was stunned and appalled at the remark, and I quote, "No one is willing to even discuss that if Amanda Ross had not sought a protective order, if Steve Nunn had not been thrown into turmoil, causing him to lose his job and be pushed over the edge, there is a distinct possibility Amanda Ross would be alive today."

At first, I was stunned that anyone would have the nerve to think this way, much less have the nerve to write it for everyone to read. Did anyone else notice that this places the blame on the victim, instead of the perpetrator?

This attorney, Earl McGuire, must not have a mother, sister, daughter, cousin or friend that has been threatened by a domestic terrorist, I mean threatened to the point one fears for their life. Anyone that has been through this knows that a policeman asking an abused to "just calm down" or "just stay away from her" really doesn't work.

Most of these people laugh at our police officers and judges. I think that our officers and judges do their job well and they do what is in line with the law. It is the laws that need changed. I can tell you that a pat on the hand and a good talking-to doesn't succeed in most cases.

A very wise judge once told a close family member's perpetrator to "leave her alone, all she wants is peace, we all strive for peace," which is a very true statement. With everything that is going on in the world now, we should all worry about the important things and should be able to find peace in our lives and homes.

The laws are so lenient toward the abusers. Women can get a protective order and they are ordered to take a domestic violence class and then how proof to the court that the class has been taken. The abuser, on the other hand, is off free from any punishment, no classes or even anger management teachings.

Getting back to the Amanda Ross tragedy, I don't know all the details, but I am so glad that she got a protective order, because if she hadn't, then the news would be that no one knew why this happened, because there would not be any documented proof that she needed protection. Whereas now we know that she did need protection and it is heartbreaking that she had to lose her life to prove it.

Mr. McGuire says if she hadn't gotten a protective order, she might still be alive, but I say if Mr. Nunn hadn't obtained a gun and pulled the trigger, Amanda Ross would still be alive. Put the blame where the blame lies.

It is the mentality of Mr. McGuire that really disturbs me. I am sad to say that many people believe this way. I guess that's his way of putting women in their place and keeping the good of boys in control, which is what this really boils down to — control and intimidation.

I know there are two sides to this issue. I've been on both sides of the fence. I know there are women who falsely obtain protective orders, but there are also women who are trying to protect their lives and those of their children. There need to be tougher laws in place to protect those who need protecting.

Mr. McGuire, until someone you love has been stalked or threatened, you do not have a clue about what you are talking about. No one forced Mr. Nunn to go over the deep end. He was mentally unstable and, yes, he did need help too, but Amanda Ross had every right to get a protective order. It is her right under the law, Mr. Attorney!

My heart goes out to Amanda Ross' family and to Steve Nunn's family. This double tragedy has destroyed two families forever, but please don't blame the victim.

Johnson constable indicted on drug charges

by SHELDON COMPTON
STAFF WRITER

PAINTSVILLE — A Johnson County constable has been indicted on charges of doctor shopping.

Constable Terry Ward, 47, was indicted and arrested on that indictment April 16. He is charged with unlawfully obtaining prescriptions for controlled substances by fraud, most commonly known as doctor shopping.

A Johnson County grand jury handed down the indictment against Ward on April 15. He is facing four counts of first-degree unauthorized procurement of a controlled substance, a class D felony.

Kentucky Attorney General Jack Conway acknowledged the case by announcing Ward's indictment in Frankfort the same day the grand jury returned its decision.

Ward was arrested without incident in Williamsport by officers with the state Attorney General's Office, the Paintsville City Police Department and Operation UNITE.

The indictment and eventual arrest comes after a six-month investigation by Conway's Drug Investigations Branch, with assistance from UNITE officers.

Ward, who is being held at the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center on a $5,000 cash bond, is accused of trying to obtain hydrocodone from multiple doctors in Johnson County.

Since January 2008, the Drug Investigations Branch has opened more than 325 cases and took part in 14 drug roundups.

Conway launched the state's first Prescription Drug Diversion Task Force to investigate prescription drug trafficking, overprescribing physicians and doctor shopping, which took part in the state's largest drug sweep in October of last year.

Roundup

Blackburn said undercover officers bought oxycodone from Hopkins, leading to a charge of first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance.

Two others taken into custody yesterday were Emmitt E. Clark, 57, of Harold, charged with second-degree trafficking for allegedly selling hydrocodone to undercover agents, and Michael Blocker.

Blocker, 42, of Honaker, was, unlike the others, was charged with trafficking marijuana, but Blackburn said his officers had also recovered pills from his residence following the arrest.

"We expect several more arrests in the next few days," Blackburn said.

Vote for and Re-Elect JOHN GOBLE Magistrate, Dist. 1 No. 4 On the Ballot

TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT 1:

I ask that you vote to re-elect me, John Goble, on May 18, to serve again as your magistrate. In the past term, my first as magistrate, I have seen how important it is that you have a voice and a helping hand. During that first term I have consistently voted on matters to benefit you and all this while dealing with some of the most destructive natural disasters our county has seen in the past several decades.

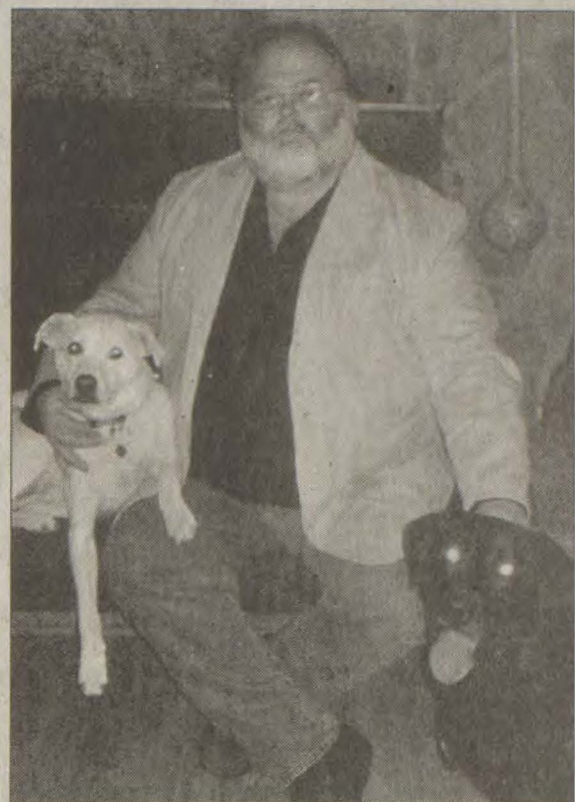

When I wasn't in the courtroom, giving your needs a voice, I was in your backyards, alongside your roads, removing fallen trees during ice storms, helping find answers as mudslides threatened homes, coordinating with other county, state and even national leaders in finding solutions so you could continue to live happy and productive lives as best as you could during these trying times.

As many of you know, I have long supported coal, voting again and again on measures to protect jobs and our most abundant natural resource, both locally and at the state level. But I have not only recently supported coal now that the issue is a hot button topic. I worked as an underground coal miner for 15 years, attending college to earn a degree in applied science for mining technology while doing so. When my life went in a direction that saw me leave the coal mine, I did not forget about coal, but continued to work hard to see that tax money, for instance, from our coal producing counties were used in the best ways possible through my work as a magistrate in delegating how coal severance tax would be utilized.

Again, I ask that you re-elect me, John Goble, so that I can continue to work hard for you for the next four years, both in your backyards and in the courtroom. Everyone's going for Goble. You should, too.

Court confirms Heartland Publications plan of reorganization; clears way for Heartland to emerge from Chapter 11 by May 1

CLINTON, Conn. — Heartland Publications, LLC, which operates 50 paid-circulation newspapers and numerous free or controlled distribution products in nine states, including The Floyd County Times, announced Friday that the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware has entered an Order confirming Heartland's amended, pre-negotiated Plan of Reorganization. The confirmation hearing was held following voting in which no creditors voted against the plan. The plan is expected to become effective on, or about April 30, at which time Heartland will emerge from Chapter 11 protection as a newly reorganized company with continuing management and all publications intact. Distributions will be made after that time to satisfy general unsecured claims in full.

"This is exciting news for Heartland and our communities," said Michael C. Bush, president and chief executive officer. "We will soon complete this process and emerge with nearly half of our prior debt eliminated. With this new, healthy balance sheet, we look forward to exploring growth opportunities once again in existing and new markets."

Bush continued, "We have completed this process on an expedited basis, and throughout this process we have maintained the same high level of quality for which our publications are known. We are proud of these accomplishments, and I commend our employees for their hard work in continuing to serve our subscribers, advertisers and communities."

Heartland filed for Chapter 11 protection on Dec. 21 and filed its pre-negotiated Plan of Reorganization and Disclosure Statement shortly thereafter.

From its headquarters in Clinton, Conn., the company operates 50 paid-circulation newspapers and numerous free or controlled distribution products in Georgia, Kentucky, North and South Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia. The company reaches more than 250,000 print subscribers each week and many others via interactive websites.

Additional information about the company's restructuring, including copies of the Plan and the Court Order confirming the plan, may be found online at <http://chapter11.epiqsystems.com/heartlandpublications.com>. ## Young ACMS volleyball team continues to excel on the court

TIMES STAFF REPORT

EASTERN – With only one conference match and less than two weeks of the season remaining, the Allen Central Middle School volleyball team has a 7-2 Floyd County Conference record and stands 11-5 overall. The Rebels are getting more focused and understanding the game more completely.

"I like to win, but at this level, it is about learning the fundamentals and understanding the game, the movements, and the basic formations; if you learn that, winning will come," ACMS Coach Larry Maynard said. "However, it is more about the journey than it is the scoreboard."

Talented young sixth-grader Katie Kendrick is pacing the Rebels with 66 kills on .870 hitting.

"Katie Kendrick – pay attention to that name, you are going to hear a lot more about her in the next six years," Maynard commented.

Eighth-grader Rachel Moore has pounded in 50 kills on .740 hitting. Fellow eighth-grader DeShae Elliott has slammed in 32 kills on .730 hitting. Fifth-grader Kelsie Jackson has run the Allen Central offense 212 times and set up 58 kills. Seventh-grader Lanah Gibson has pitched in with 41 assists. Elliott leads the Allen Central squad in aces, landing 79. She is serving at 83 percent.

Kendrick has landed 59 aces on 86 percent serving. Moore has slapped in 37 aces and is serving at 90 percent. Chelsea Austin, another sixth-grader, has LEXINGTON – The Prestonsburg High School track and field program was back in action over the weekend, competing in the Heart of the Bluegrass meet at Henry Clay High School. The PHS boys' team finished 18th in a 37-team field. Saturday's meet featured over 1,800 athletes.

"A school record, more personal records and the relays running their best times of the year, I would say we had a pretty good day," Prestonsburg Coach Dewey Jamerson said. "This may be the biggest meet I have ever had kids competing in. The only one bigger was the USA Track & Field National Championships that Nicholas (Jamerson) did when he was 12 years old in Seattle, Washington. I didn't see any panic in their faces. Maybe these Saturday meets will show them that they can go faster, higher and farther than they think they can."

Wildcats conduct second major spring scrimmage

TIMES STAFF REPORT

LEXINGTON — Kentucky's second major scrimmage of spring practice, held Saturday morning at Commonwealth Stadium, was remarkably similar to the first — a good start by the offense and a rally by the defense.

The format featured the first-team offense vs. the first-team defense and the second-team units against each other. The ball was placed on the 30-yard line for the majority of the scrimmage, requiring the offense to go 70 yards for a touchdown. Late in the workout was a short-field scrimmage in which the offense was given the ball on the defense's 25-yard line.

Quarterbacks Mike Hartline, Morgan Newton and Ryan Mossakowski each played with the first and second teams.

"The offense started off fast, all three of our quarterbacks did some really good things," Phillips said. "I'm really pleased with what I'm seeing at wide receiver, catching the ball (by) big, physical guys. We have to do a better job on the perimeter blocking at wide receiver. We should be better at blocking because of our big bodies because I think we have some really nice backs."

"Defensively, the thing we did not do is get ourselves off the field on third down and a lot of that had to do with our tackling, especially in the secondary, we have to be better tacklers. Some guys who still continue to progress are Tristian Johnson (defensive end) and Mark Crawford (defensive tackle). I'm really pleased with what Collins Ukwu is doing (at defensive end) and Qua Huzzie (linebacker). Those four guys continue to show up and we still have (linebacker) Danny Trevathan, who shows up a lot, we know he can play. We just have to get more guys around the football and be able to tackle."

Hartline opened the scrimmage by moving the first-team offense to the 17-yard line before the defense stiffened and Ryan Tydlacka converted a 35-yard field goal. The big play on the drive was a 26-yard scramble by Hartline, showing that he has recovered his mobility after missing almost all of the last eight games of the 2009 season because of an injured knee. On his next series, Hartline drove the second team to paydirt with a 27-yard touchdown run by tailback Donald Russell, who also had a 33-yard pass reception during the drive.

Hartline played just three series on the day, none during the short-field portion of the scrimmage.

Newton drove the first team to a touchdown on his first action, with the TD coming on a two-yard pass to wide receiver Chris Matthews. Newton had two excellent scrambles on that possession, good for 14 and 17 yards. Newton then drove the second team to a touchdown, capped by his own seven-yard scoring scamper. Two passes to wide receiver Matt Roark covered much of the territory on that series.

"Mike continues to play really well," Phillips said. "He's ahead of those guys mainly because of knowledge. He has a lot of seasoning. Morgan got us in the end zone a little more today than the other quarterbacks. I really like what he did in moving himself around. The thing he did today was pull the ball down and run for a lot of yards, make something positive when we were covered downfield. That's the thing he has to do because he's the type of guy who can make things happen with his legs."

"He (Mossakowski) seemed comfortable today and he made some good plays, too. He didn't get us in the end zone as much but he continues to progress. I'm really pleased with all three of them, the way they're playing. We've put a huge emphasis on throwing the football this spring and it's showing, it is definitely showing, because we're completing passes."

The defense stiffened in mid-scrimmage, keeping the offense out of the end zone on five-consecutive possessions. The only score during that time was when Mossakowski maneuvered the second team to the nine-yard line, setting up a 27-yard field goal by Tydlacka. The highlight of that drive was a pass to Roark, who leaped over a defender, tipped the pass to himself, and came down with the ball for a 30-yard gain.

The defense continued its momentum into the short-field scrimmage. Even though the offense got the ball on the defense's 25-yard line, the defense held for three-straight series. Newton broke through with the second-team offense on a one-yard touchdown run. Mossakowski followed with a pair of touchdown drives, featuring a two-yard TD pass to wide receiver Aaron Boyd with the second team and a seven-yard scoring run by Russell with the first team.

Russell had a big day, accounting for 147 yards from the line of scrimmage. He led all rushers with 63 yards on 13 carries and added four receptions for 84 yards.

"Russell showed up a lot more today than he did last week," Phillips said. "I just like the way Donald ran the ball when he got in open field, made people miss."

The defense's improvement from last week showed up primarily in the pass rush. After only one quarterback sack in the previous scrimmage, the defense accounted for three sacks and seven QB hurries that forced incomplete passes. The pass rush also forced the quarterbacks to scramble several times.

"We didn't protect the passer as well as we have," Phillips said. "But our quarterbacks did a good job eluding the sack, eluding the rushers and making plays for us. We turned a couple of guys free on our quarterbacks but our quarterback was able to make plays. On defense, we have to get the sack. If you come free, you have to make the play."

The defense was paced by linebackers Danny Trevathan (six tackles, one sack), Qua Huzzie (six tackles, one for loss, one pass breakup) and Ronnie Sneed (five tackles, one for loss). Defensive tackle Ricky Lumpkin had a pair of tackles for loss.

On special teams, the place-kickers had another good day. Tydlacka and Patrick Simmons made all of their field-goal tries before the scrimmage began. There were two field goals during the scrimmage, with Tydlacka hitting from 35 and 27 yards.

Phillips reported that there were no major injuries during the scrimmage. The Wildcats opened their final week of practice on Monday. Spring drills culminate with the Blue/White Game on Saturday, April 24.

Blue Water Trails: Elkhorn Creek

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

FRANKFORT — The two forks of central Kentucky's Elkhorn Creek join just east of Frankfort to form one of the state's best-known streams for floating and fishing for smallmouth bass.

Visitors love the Elkhorn for its beauty and its fishing. Paddlers find it perfect for canoeing and kayaking. From the Forks of Elkhorn to its end at the Kentucky River, the Elkhorn Creek provides 17 miles of adventure.

Two businesses located on the creek offer canoe and kayak rentals for visitors. The main stem of the creek is not suitable for johnboats. The creek is ideal for one-person, pontoon-style float boats.

Crayfish are king in the creek. Anglers should try small, crayfish imitating crankbaits cast to rocky areas in slower water. Small, 3-inch plastic grubs in crayfish colors are good below riffles and jugged around bank side tree roots.

White in-line spinners, such as Rooster Tails, white spinnerbaits or silver-and-black floating baits teased along shady banks and current breaks also work well. Even a piece of worm on a hook is a deadly bait in the creek.

The first seven miles of the Elkhorn Creek's main stem contains the best whitewater. For safety, floating anglers should always wear a life vest while paddling, especially in the whitewater sections.

Anglers can start their float at a parking lot and put-in at the Forks of the Elkhorn bridge, located at U.S. 460 and North Scruggs Lane in Franklin County. Anglers using this launch site must pay a $3 fee at the Elkhorn Campground, located further down North Scruggs Lane.

Look for a bourbon distillery on the right shortly after this float begins. Keep to the left while rounding the right-hand bend in the creek, being careful to watch for a dam ahead. Portage the dam on the left — this requires carrying the boat down a stepped rock cliff — and launch far enough downstream to avoid the powerful reverse current of the dam. The first good rapid of the float lies downstream. Floaters should be prepared.

This section continues through towering limestone cliffs carved by the waters of Elkhorn through the millennia. After passing an abandoned railroad bridge and long riffle, anglers enter a deep, long hole. This is a great place to catch smallmouth bass from your boat.

Soon afterward, the Elkhorn begins a Class I-II rapid as the stream crashes hard left into a small bluff. Ride the pillow of water to move the bow of your boat downstream to your right. A similar situation occurs a little further downstream after you float by the ruins of the Steadmantown Paper Mill to your left. This mill printed money for the Confederate government during the Civil War.

This time the creek takes a hard right against another small bluff. This rapid can be treacherous in high water. From there, the Elkhorn remains relatively calm until the first take-out at Knight's Bridge, located at Peak's Mill Road (KY 1900).

Floaters may use property owned by American Whitewater as a take-out, according to club member Philip Sisk. The American Whitewater property, located downstream and to the left of the bridge, has a parking lot and changing stations. This access is for boaters only — it is not for wade fishing access. Be mindful of property boundaries if you use this take-out area.

Continue downstream for another 1 1/2 miles to the public access at T.N. Sullivan Wildlife Management Area (WMA), owned by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. This is located off KY 1262. The Sullivan WMA take-out, however, requires a long hike up a strenuous ridge. Anglers wishing to carry boats up the hill should be in top physical shape.

The next six miles are primarily mild water, suitable for beginners and families. This is also one of the best sections to fish for smallmouth bass.

Roughly halfway through this run is a boat-flipping strainer known as The Claw. Signage on the left side of the creek warns floaters to portage left. Canoeists should take the advice and portage on the left side of The Claw, which is formed from the roots of a mid-stream sycamore tree. The tree's roots often catch the bow of a canoe while the swift current flips it.

The take-out for this section is at Peak's Mill Bridge, located near the junction of Peak's Mill Road and KY 1262. This bridge may also serve as the put-in for floating the lower Elkhorn. Canoe Kentucky, which offers full-service canoe and kayak rentals, is located nearby.

Downstream is another public access spot: Kentucky Fish and Wildlife's Pfeiffer Fish Hatchery, located north of Frankfort on Indian Gap Road (KY 2919), off U.S. 127. The hatchery is open from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays, so plan accordingly if you want to use the hatchery as a put-in or take-out. It is also an excellent area to wade fish.

The final section of the main stem extends to a take-out at the boat ramp at Stillwaters Campground. The campground is located off U.S. 127.

This section features long holes punctuated by riffles and holds some of the better smallmouth bass in the stream. Stillwaters Campground charges $3 to use their ramp. The campground also provides canoe rentals and shuttle services.

Anglers and other paddlers should always check the creek's water levels prior to a trip. The United States Geological Survey maintains the stream flow of creeks and rivers across the country at their Web site: waterdata.usgs.gov. Click on the "real-time data" tab, then "statewide streamflow table." Search the Kentucky River basin for "Elkhorn Creek near Frankfort, Ky." The site lists the creek's current water level and flows for the main stem.

Beginners and intermediate paddlers will enjoy the creek most when the flows run between 300-1,500 cubic feet a second. Higher flows are best left to experienced paddlers.

This Blue Water Trails series supports Gov. Steve Beshear's Adventure Tourism Initiative. Log on the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' Web site at fw.ky.gov for a detailed map of the Elkhorn Creek's main stem.

ACMS

20 aces and is serving at 89 percent.

This is a young team that has a lot of first-year players but it is pulling together, working extremely hard and simply getting the job done.

Defensively, Rachel Moore leads the Rebel team in receiving. She has returned over 86 percent of the 353 attempts she has made. Moore has also been credited with 37 digs. "She goes after it with all she has and firmly believes in keeping the ball off the floor," Maynard commented.

Elliott has 20 digs. Kendrick has chipped in with 11 digs. Kendrick's forte, however, is at the net where she has 10 solo blocks and 19 deflections.

"This team has the talent and they are beginning to demonstrate it more and more," Maynard remarked.

Lanah Gibson, Kelsie Jackson, and Chelsea Austin, a seventh grader, fifth grader, and sixth grader, respectively, have thrived for the Rebels. However, there are six players on the court and although they may not have the big numbers, contribute significantly to any success ACMS may have. "I will tell you, these girls' contributions are as invaluable as they are numerous and we just couldn't have a team without them and what they do day-in and day-out," Maynard said. "They add value to the team and that is what it is all about."

Courtney McCoy has 14 aces and four kills for the Rebels. Brandy Crum has nine aces and five kills. Victoria Music has recorded three deflections, four aces and a kill. Ashley Crager has four assists and a kill for the Rebels.

There are others who are the future of Allen Central Volleyball:

Heather Burdzilauskas, Haley Pinson, Tera Music, Jannah Halbert, Kaitlyn Ousley, Lorel Cummins, Bethany Crum and Karissa Wallen. Their love for the game and understanding that it takes six players to get the job done and their determination to learn offensive systems and defensive positioning will make the Allen Central volleyball program a success.

Bowling: Pikeville eliminated from national tourney

TIMES STAFF REPORT

EL PASO, Texas — Pikeville College saw its 2010 bowling season come to an end on Friday, running into the buzz saw that was Webber International.

The Warriors rolled 21 strikes in 40 frames and left only five open in a 4-0 win over the Pikeville College Lady Bears.

With the loss, Pikeville finished fifth in the national tournament. On Friday night, Webber was just too much for Pikeville. It opened strong, with three turkeys in the opening game to cruise to a 231-188 win. In the second game, Pikeville had three open frames and didn't strike until the eighth frame of a 184-160 loss.

Game Three saw Pikeville have its best chance to win, but when it rolled a turkey in frames 5-6-7, Webber struck from frames 4-7 and pulled out a 213-192 win. In the finale, Pikeville opened with a pair of strikes but then left a frame open. Webber closed the gap with four straight strikes beginning in the fourth frame to pull away for a 222-190 decision.

After leaving only 10 percent of its 160 frames open through the first three games, Pikeville was open eight of its 40 in the this round. Webber, meanwhile, was open only five times.

Senior Sarah Germano and sophomore Kim Yioulos led the way with five strikes apiece for the Lady Bears. Senior Jennifer Wright had three. After striking 46.9 percent of the time through three rounds, Pikeville totaled only 16 in 40 frames.

EVERYBODY'S SCIENCE

Little pitchers' big ears

by SANDY MILLER HAYS
 AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE

I'll bet you think your parents — or, at the very least, your grandparents — came up with this one: "Little pitchers have big ears."

Incredible as it may seem, this saying has been around since before your parents' parents' parents' parents' parents' time. According to numerous sources, it was first recorded in print in 1546 by one John Heywood as "Auoyd your children, smal pitchers haue wide eares."

It amazes me how old some of these sayings are; I was quite astonished to learn that "I didn't sleep a wink last night" dates to the Middle Ages! (And in case you're wondering, no, I don't have a clue what "auoyd" means.)

While youngsters always seem to have radar-sharp hearing to pick up things you don't want heard, at other times they might seem as unresponsive as the proverbial fencepost when it comes to truly important messages.

But according to studies funded by the Agricultural Research Service (ARS), there is one area of interest where your youngsters will respond — and that's physical fitness and a healthier lifestyle.

In one study, ARS-funded researchers created weight loss and physical fitness regimens for sixth- and seventh-graders enrolled in a Houston charter school mainly attended by Hispanic youngsters. The researchers specifically targeted Hispanics 10 to 14 years old because of the high rate of overweight among kids in that minority group.

The 57 overweight youngsters were divided into two groups for the six-month study. One group was assigned to a self- and parent-taught plan, while the other group participated in an intensive, instructor-led program.

As part of the self-taught program, the youngsters spent time in study hall once a week for the first three months of the program, reading a self-help weight management textbook written especially for kids. Meanwhile, the youngsters in the other group spend four class periods a week outdoors, improving their physical fitness, with a fifth session each week learning about nutrition, healthy eating, and behavior-change skills essential for living an active lifestyle and making healthy food choices.

During the last three months of the study, the kids, their parents and members of their extended families were given the opportunity to participate in followup activities including nutrition and fitness discussions in their homes.

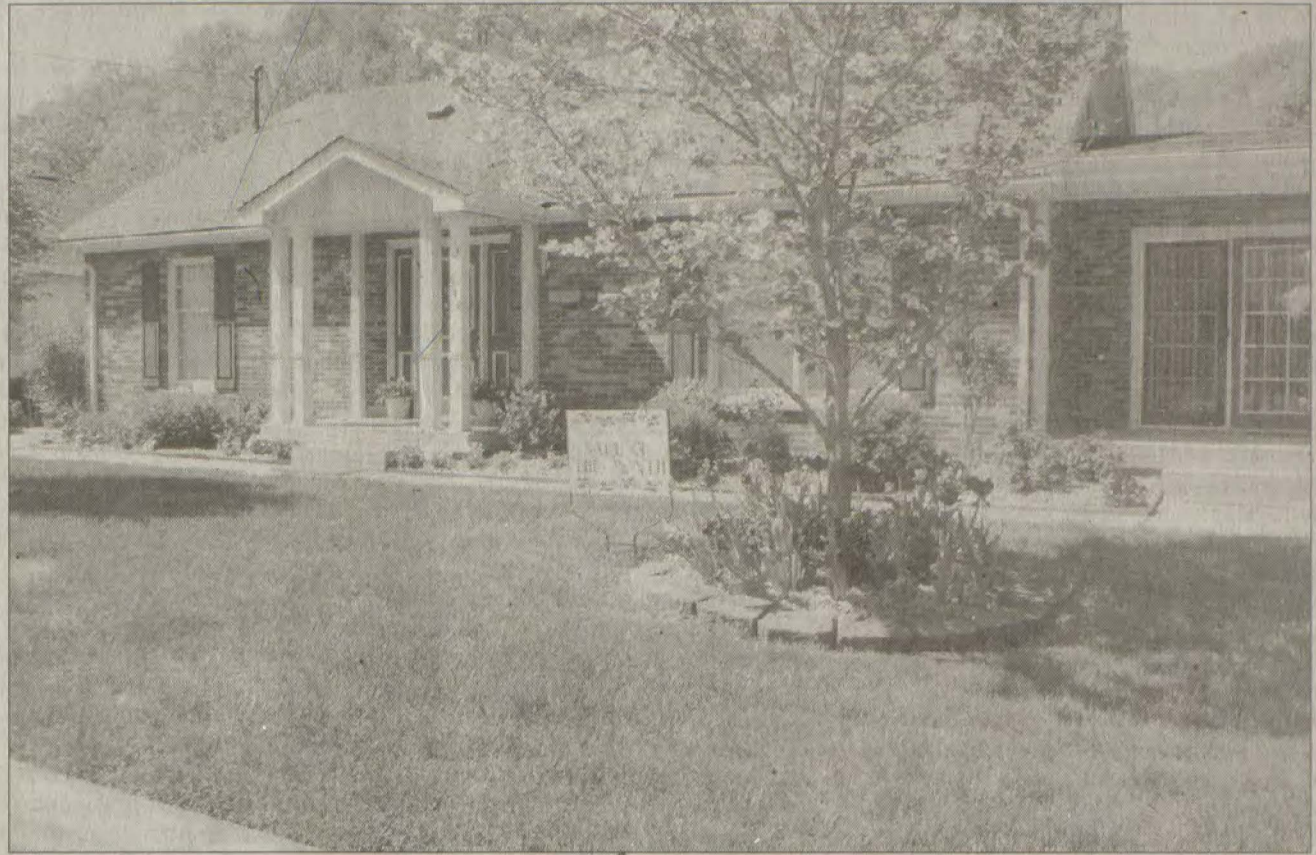

At the end of the six-month study, the kids who had participated in the instructor-led program had significantly greater weight loss as well as greater "physical quality of life," as measured by their answers to a questionnaire, compared with the kids in the self-taught group.

"Of course," I can hear you saying, "a kid will do anything for a little while — until the novelty wears off." But there was more to it than that.

The scientists checked back with the youngsters at one year and at two years after the start of the study. What they found wasn't just some "flash in the pan" short-term improvement. Instead, the youngsters who had participated in the instructor-led team had significantly greater decreases in their body mass index (BMI), which is a height-and-weight based calculation that gives an indication of body fatness, compared with the self-taught youngsters. (Regarding your BMI, the lower the number, the better — up to a point.)

The scientists reported that more than 79 percent of the youngsters in the instructor-led group decreased their BMI in that first year after the study, and 62 percent still had a decreased BMI at the two-year point. Those numbers are even more impressive when you compare them with the youngsters from the self-taught group: Among those kids, 64 percent

YARD OF THE MONTH

Owner says repeat winner a work in progress

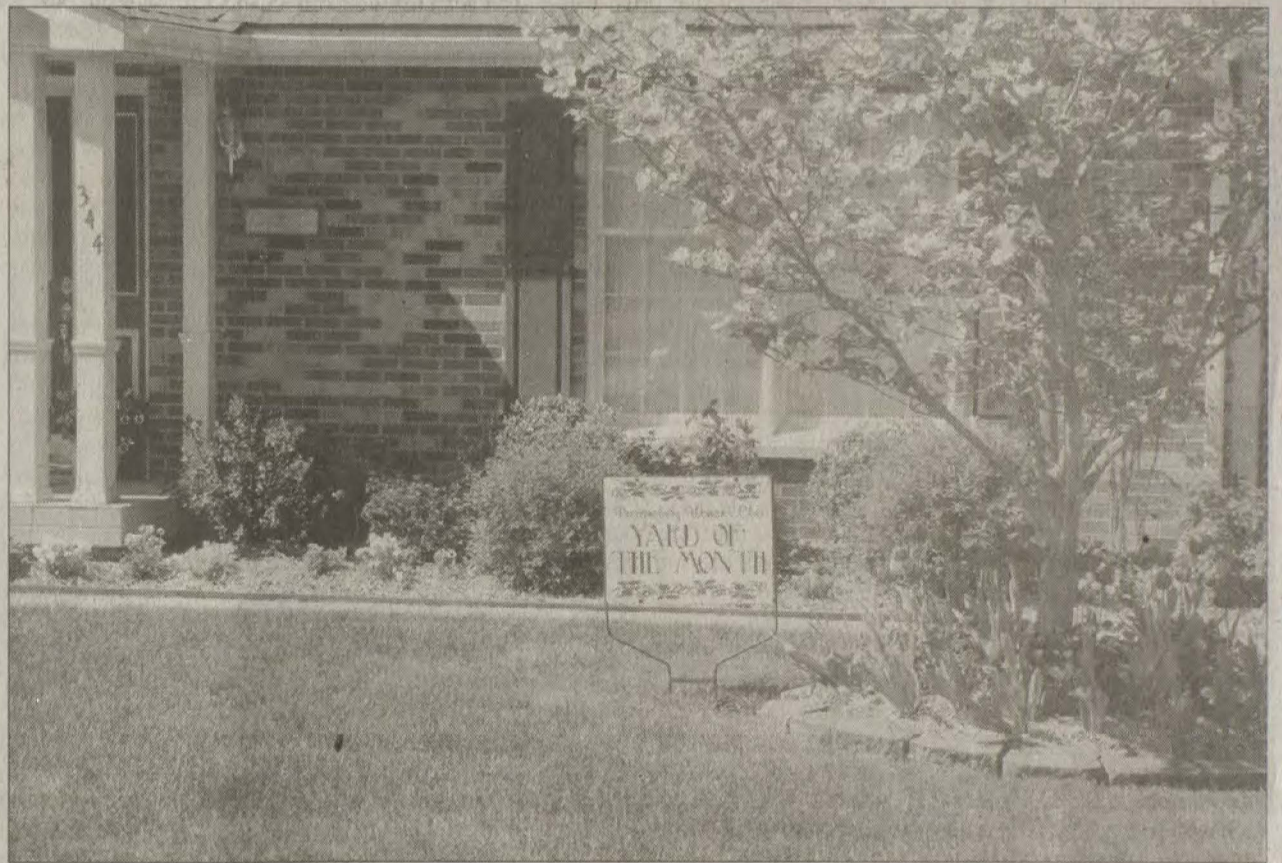

by JARRID DEATON
 FEATURES WRITER

PRESTONSBURG — It was eight years ago when the yard of Ted and Sue Nairn first got the attention of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club, and now the Yard of the Month sign is once again gracing their front yard. However, according to Sue Nairn, the best part of the landscape is still in the works.

"The back yard is the one I really work on," Nairn said. "I usually plant the flowers around Mother's Day to avoid the frost. We put out a fountain during the summer, and I planted some roses out back. We are also going to re-seed the yard."

When her yard won the Yard of the Month eight years ago, Sue Nairn thought it was a joke that her son was playing.

"I thought my son took the sign from Gorman Collins' yard and put it in mine, so I took it back," Nairn said. "Somebody told the Woman's Club that I thought it was my son playing a joke, so they went and got the sign and put it back in my yard. We had a lot of fun with that."

Now, eight years later, Nairn is again, and this time she knows it "I am really appreciative of the happy to see the sign in her yard wasn't a joke. recognition," Nairn said.

Dessert and a show at Alice Lloyd College

Alice Lloyd College will host Fish-Cake Productions May 5 in their presentations of "Shakespeare on the Move" and "Twain by the Tale."

Fish-Cake Productions is a traveling theatre troupe supporting ALC's Admissions Department. Fish-Cake Productions is directed by Megan Burnett, the Speech and Theatre professor at Alice Lloyd College.

The Alice Lloyd College Eagle Theatre Department and Fish-Cake Productions are offering a fundraising event on May 5. They will present two plays, with a special Kentucky Derby dessert for the intermission fare including mock-mint juleps and ALC's version of Derby pie. Each $10 ticket will support future productions and events.

"Shakespeare on the Move" is a 25-minute play made up of monologues and scenes from some of William Shakespeare's most famous plays. There are love scenes, fight scenes, and of course, the witches from Macbeth.

"Twain by the Tale," adapted by Dennis Snee, is a 40-minute play consisting of scenes and monologues from Mark Twain's writings. Included are scenes from "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn."

The evening will also serve as a farewell to Brandon Zellers, who is transferring to another school in August, and Chris Cornett, a veteran of Fish-Cake Productions, who will transfer to UK this fall to pursue an Engineering degree. Cornett is also working to become a stand-up comedian.

The shows will take place in Cushing Hall on the ALC campus. Seating is limited, so reservations are recommended.

increased their BMI in the first year after the study, and 65 percent had an increased BMI at two years after the start of the study.
This is one of the few studies to show, with Hispanic youngsters, that sustained success with weight loss and weight management is definitely possible. Another important message from this study: A school-based weight-management program can be effective at reaching large numbers of kids, especially if there's already a good physical education and health education program in place at school.

So yes, it's true that little pitchers have big ears — and it is actually possible to get those little pitchers to retain some great messages about physical fitness!

Ten Years Ago

(April 16, 19 and 21, 2000)

The Prestonsburg Community College Board of Directors met at Gearheart Communications in Harold on Thursday, April 13, to get an explanation of the proposed budget and the presidential search, plus a report on construction projects that are to be done on the campus. Dr. Charles Stebbins, interim president of Prestonsburg Community College, explained the process that was used to select the names of individuals on the Local Advisory Committee learned Thursday evening that new E911 addresses have been submitted to BellSouth, making the process nearly complete.

With this year's sometimes difficult legislative session drawing to a close last week, state and local leaders were congratulating each other helping to bring nearly $57 million in state spending into Floyd County over the next two years. Included in that amount is nearly $9 million in state general fund spending, over $2 million in coal-severance tax-funded projects and a whopping $46 million for local roads.

A motion for relief was recently denied for convicted murderer Michael Lee Crisp who is currently serving a life sentence for the 1988 murder of Ricky Hall. Crisp's attorney Robert Ganstein entered the motion, arguing that Crisp's jury had the option to give Crisp 20 to 50 years prison time for the crime, which was a class A felony. Crisp was sentenced by Judge Hollie Conley, who followed the jury's recommendation of a life-sentence.

Attorneys for accused car thieves, Edgar Hedrick and William Ferrell entered motions to reduce the men's bonds last week. Edgar Hedrick, 26, of Tomahawk, in Martin County; William Ferrell, 25, of Louisa, and a teen allegedly traveled through Prestonsburg and possibly Paintsville on a one-night auto-theft spree. They are all being held on cash bonds.

The Floyd County Historical Society was treated to the story-weaving talents of Myrtle Bates Webb, Monday evening, as she spun a yarn on the exploits of her kinsman, Martin Van Buren Bates. Bates, known to the world as a giant, became a very wealthy man thanks to the exposition talents of P.T. Barnum, world-renowned circus owner.

An apparent escape attempt from a Floyd County officer ended in the death of a Langley man, Tuesday night. Deputy Bobby Hackworth and Kentucky State Police Trooper Ronald Peppi responded to the scene of a 9:04 p.m. domestic violence call in progress in Maytown.

The Prestonsburg properties Advisory committee, making up a meeting that had originally been planned for the previous day, met in an upbeat fashion at the Mountain Arts Center on Wednesday as the members were aware of the state funding that soon will be coming to the city to complete projects, particularly the Stonecrest mountaintop development project.

Former state police commissioner and Floyd County resident Gary Rose has filed a suit in Floyd Circuit Court alleging he was terminated from his position improperly. Rose's suit alleges he had submitted a memorandum to the state's secretary of the Justice Cabinet, Robert Stephens, that was critical of mismanagement and waste of public funds occurring within the state police and criticized the employment practices within the KSP.

Candy Robinson, a local woman, who was granted temporary custody of her nieces, was ordered by Juvenile Division Judge Robert Buck to return the children to their mother, is refusing to give the children back to her mother. She could be facing kidnapping charges. She was informed in a letter by her attorney, Paintsville lawyer Paul Deaton of the news last week.

Indictments naming six defendants on the charge of "possessing narcotics for sale or use" were voted by the grand jury during last week's session, and the jury in its final report to the Circuit Judge Hollie Conley expressed alarm at the "amount of narcotics being used by our younger citizens." Also heard was testimony concerning a place called the "Pink House," on Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek, where drugs were allegedly used.
