Uses Bonus Money to Buy Firearms; Boasts Of Being Communist at Harlan Trial

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 26.—Ben Golden, attorney, and M. F. Hall, attorneys for the mine, today asked that the Commonwealth be ordered to pay each for contempt of court $250 each for contempt of court this afternoon by Judge D. M. Jones, on filing an affidavit setting forth that in Judge Jones' trial of William Burnett, who is charged with murder.

The affidavit charged Judge Jones was charged with contempt and was charged with contempt for not allowing Burnett to cross-examine the witnesses for the prosecution during the trial. Burnett also charged that in Judge Jones' instructions to the grand jury he said that all miners generally were Reds and Communists.

"That is the most infamous lie ever presented before this court," said Judge Jones after reading the affidavit. "Your accusation has attacked my character and official capacity. I never knew Burnett before and did not know who he supported."

Judge Jones warned the two attorneys that if further affidavits were presented offering such false statements, he would give them a jail sentence.

"Then why do you come before me and swear me off the bench with such questions?" asked Judge Jones. Burnett suggested that charges of treason Golden made in further statement, William Burnett, who refused yesterday to recognize M. F. Hall as his attorney, is now in jail in Harlan. He asked that the Commonwealth be ordered to pay each for contempt of court $250 each for contempt of court this afternoon by Judge D. M. Jones, on filing an affidavit setting forth that in Judge Jones' trial of William Burnett, who is charged with murder.

This is the second such charge against Judge Jones and Mr. Golden. Yesterday Judge Jones again knew if Mr. Golden was a Communist, Mr. Golden replied that he was not a Communist and that he was a member of the United Mine Workers. He said that he was a member of the Communist party and said he was proud of this confession.

"I wish a gentleman was doing to Russia now so I could get some rifles," Golden claimed to have offered money for firearms through his attorney, Golden then recommended the word "Reds" as a title for anyone who would draw money from his government and then spend that money to buy firearms.

"I have no further comment to be used in defending this gentleman with this case," Mr. Golden said. "I wish there were something we could do to you right now."

Commonwealth Attorney W. A. Brock suggested that charges of treason be placed against Golden and that he be turned over to the local authorities.

KENTUCKY WILDCATS HARD AT WORK

CAPTAIN WRIGHT TRIANGLE

Each season has its peculiar work for football players and the University of Kentucky Wildcats have been busy all the summer with pick and shovel, but they are not the least of them, anything in order to be in condition when practice opens on still field early Monday morning, Sept. 7.

Recruits received in Lexington from these men include the most of them, and in the end they are counting the days until September 7. Several of the Wildcat stars in Lexington and fans are busy looking them over with approving eyes and the long story groups of standing on the sidelines, down to the ground, though these can become tired and the crowd in the highlands of Marysville, Tenn., when the Wildcats come to play.

Working on the "Captain Wright" which is not the only level for the summer in Lexington. He spends most of his time on the north end of a pick or shovel, leaving those only long enough to attend classes at the University, which he has made the home work.

At present, the "Captain Wright" is in the East where he is planning with the New York Athletic club. He spent the early part of the summer in Lexington and was seen on an 800 field several times, kicking and passing a football.

Charles, an sophomore, who hopes to win a place in coach Harry Gamages' backfield in East St. Louis, and says he is ready to head for Lexington, where he will be playing football.

In the day and working in a Lexington drug store a few hours. In the evening, Foster, the Nicholasville flash, has been having lay-up in a Jessamine county farm and is extremely in playing condition. Early is helping prepare still not for the football season while he makes up class work at the University. Barter, one of his Ashland buddies, is helping lay up in his home town. Baughman has been attending summer school, while Davidson has been making up some deficient credits at Evansville, Ind.

Duff is working with a crew of the Kentucky Militia at Pineville, and is making one of his year's most valuable players. He is performing with a baseball club at Edinburg, W. Va. Krieger is spending part of his time in a similar way in Lexington. Phelan and Montgomery are meeting associates with a couple in a Lexington filling station.

Bob work has finished three of the auditions. Each is working in Broadstreet county and the two James are talking away down near Bardonia.

These "Scout the Wildcats" club center, spent the early part of the summer with a construction company but recently has turned to digging post holes for a sign company in Lexington. Parrish, one of the best sophomore prospects, has been busy harvesting a bumper crop of bluegrass seed over in Bourbon county.

Don is digging has a fatal fear for fossils, while Luther is assembling a heating plant in Lexington. Newell Wilder is employed on the University campus, while his brother, Ed, is guiding a tractor about for exercise. Myer finds that a shovel and a pile of dirt can give him all the conditioning that he will need for play.

George Yates, who plays end and halfback and is an All-Southern baseball player, is keeping himself busy down at Elizabethtown. Bill Hummer is recuperating after an operation. Ed is Albridge, who was recently stricken with appendicitis at Middletown.

Marling is with a construction gang. He is keeping busy with a transfer company with a side job at a Lexington drug store, and Hickey is a utility master at a golf course near Lexington. Still field is claiming the attentions of Richards, and Clyde is reported to be playing some baseball.

Plenty of work is said to be coming to Ellis Johnson and Jack Phipps up at Ashland, as is the case with Mattison, who is in Chicago. Murphy is satisfied with Lexington, where he is working with a transfer company. Thompson is farming down near Springfield.

Others who have not been heard from directly, but who left school with a longing for work in their hearts, include Gosson, Adner, Hand, Klinging, Engle, Wagner, Cavana, Krumpholtz, Skinner, Frye, Goodwyn, Turley and Kirby.

Glimpses at Sports

SAISFACTORY WORK

Besides hurting a one-hitter, came a few weeks ago and at least catching a glimpse of baseball's hall of fame even if it was done in a secret, unpublicized way. At that, Coffman, St. Louis Browns right-hander, Monday turned another great trick. This was the difficult stunts of whitewashing the Athletics for their first shutout of the year by holding them to three hits and of breaking Lefty Grove's great winning streak at a great hurler, it might be said to say that, certainly at times, this Coffman is no slouch.

Discussing the amateur golf tournament to be held in Chicago soon, a sports writer recently said that golf is a great game, but it is a game that is surrounded with a great deal of mystery. On one hole of approximately 500 yards, this writer said that with a strong wind and wet ground, it was possible to be on the green. "With a strong wind," as far as we are concerned, he should have said "a howling hurricane."

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT"

Lowell Thomas, the Literary Digest's famous radio voice, told one of the other evening, which he admitted, belongs to the Tall Story Club and which he charged to the account of Merle Saunders, of Ashland, Ky. It seems that Mr. Saunders' hero was a big fish, a fish so big that he occupied an entire pool all by himself. The fish being of a rather sluggish nature, Mr. Saunders, wondered what he might do to get him to go out on any forcing parties, just lay there all day long every day. Well, the mystery was finally solved. One day Mr. Saunders' pool of the big fellow had a green eye and a red eye and had a habit of winking. It later developed that the fish did his winking with his left eye, and when he closed his green eye his red eye would pop open. And all the time he would blink his way would stop just as everybody who was watching should do when the red light is on. The remedy took place when he closed his red eye and opened the green one. One day the traffic signal, the little fish swam forward; when upon the big eye opened his mouth and the fishes began to make him a royal feast. Eastern Kentucky against the world—even when it comes to fishing waters!

When President Washington Put Down A "Rebellion"

When Theodore Roosevelt, 26th president, to go home and believe them, the Union of the United States and Grover Cleveland, 22nd president, used the authority of their office in meeting serious economic disturbances during their terms, those were those who questioned the Presidential powers and the historic precedent for such acts. But the power and the precedent had been established by the first president, George Washington, who omitted not even this detail from the countless other lasting examples and precedents he set in putting in motion the machinery of our government.

The disturbance that moved President Washington to this first test of federal power in putting down a serious threat to its stability was the famous "Whiskey Insurrection" which originated during his first administration. That historic uprising, as the Division of Information and Publication of the United States George Washington difference on the wet and dry issue. It was not, as its name implies, a moral Bicultural Commission points out in its report on the economic situation and was much like the serious strikes which the later presidents, Cleveland and Roosevelt, were called on to master. The chief difference in the "Whiskey Insurrection" was that this "strike" ran afoul of a Federal law and hence directly invited federal interference.

The trouble began in the early 1790's. By then the valleys westward of the Alleghenies were producing wheat, but not yet had roads or other means of transportation been developed. As a result, it was found that the whiskey was sold at a high price in the form of whiskey, and distilling became the principal industry of the four western counties of Pennsylvania.

In 1791 the young and still newly government of the United States, acting through the Treasury Department, passed an excise law that laid a tax of a flat dollar on every barrel of whiskey, an industrial product. Quite apart from the moral aspect of the question, the Pennsylvania distillers looked upon this cut in their profits as an unjust discrimination against an industry, and under the leadership of David Bradford, they promptly "organized" and put up a resistance to the law.

This in itself was direct defiance of federal authority, and the situation was further darkened when Federal officers attempted to seize the chief offenders were driven away by force. Nevertheless, the federal tax collector was assessed in his own home. In no very long time these "insurgents" had covered all other elements about them and were virtual dictators of their own Pennsylvania.

The real gravity of this first threat to the stability of the new United States government lay in the fact that these insurgents were not precisely hoodlums but were men who in those days would regard themselves as "industrialists." As a convention of 200 of their delegates which met in 1794 at York, Pa., they were able to command as their secretary the services of a man like young Albert Gallatin, then living in the neighborhood.

This concealing by the way, was met by three commissioners appointed by President Washington, together with other commissioners appointed by the governor of Pennsylvania, who prepared a report on the insurrection on their

RED CROSS NEWS

The American Red Cross is known and highly respected throughout the entire world. Suffering mankind in every land has been aided and comforted by its ministrations. No single charity in the world enjoys more favorable recognition. Its efficiency and accomplishments make the strongest possible appeal to our generosity.

It must be remembered, however, that its power to carry on its work of relief in times of great distress and widespread suffering is always limited by the funds placed at its disposal through the benevolence of our own people.

Recognizing the increasing usefulness of the American Red Cross and its increasing obligations to humanity, we earnestly hope there may be a correspondingly large enrollment when the annual membership drive opens early in October.

Some good efforts have already gathered upon a basket of castoff bottles for use in the relief drive. The bottles are to be contributed to the truly needy ones. Unless the cause are investigated we do not know whether the bottles are being better used by the Red Cross than they are upon in their own use and a true statement of their case is put before a case committee by the welfare workers, and the committee's decision is published in the paper.

There is a beautiful crop of apples this year. The Red Cross advises farmers to try this recipe for salted apples.

When barrel cored, paste two or three layers of ordinary paper on outside. Place your barrel where you expect it to remain during the winter. Pare and quarter fruit, fill barrel about halfway. Inches deep. Start tanning, stirring with top well covered so as to confine all fumes and smoke. Continue adding a layer of apples and burning sulphur until barrel is full. Apples may be removed from the barrel in early spring, washed and cooked, then put in a crock jar and kept through the summer. (Recipe donated by Mrs. William Hayward, Oak, Ky.)

COMFORT ...costs so little

THE COST of ELECTRIC service is so low that no family need "scrimp" on this item in the budget. You must burn a 50 watt lamp at least two hours to add one cent to your bill while a 25 watt lamp runs four hours for a penny. An ELECTRIC range does your cooking for one cent a meal per person and produces delicious scientifically cooked food with automatic regularity. In summer you "cook with cold" in your ELECTRIC refrigerator. Even when it runs steadily for one hour while you are freezing a dessert the cost, with a medium size machine, is about one cent. Half an hour with the vacuum cleaner will surcease up the house and you have added but a penny to your bill. Run your ELECTRIC fan when you are warm. It operates for an hour at a cost of one-half cent. Truly, it takes a lot of comfort to run up an ELECTRIC bill. It is the smallest item on the family budget and costs less today than it did in pre-war days.
