RE-INHABITING THE COUNTRYSIDE

Industry, headed for more than a century toward centralization in cities, is likely to re-inhabit the countryside, but the industrial revolution of the nation need not be viewed with despair, says Martin J. Insull, president of the Middle West Utilities Company, who points out that industry is retaining its steps and is again turning toward diffusion.

Just as power changed the decentralized industry of 1781 into a centralized industry by 1881, he declares, power in 1931 appears to be changing industry back into a decentralized structure.

"Our life today, with its machinery, its mass production and its teeming cities, is an outgrowth of changes in the nature of all power resources. The life which it supplanted, the rural life, however, was determined by the nature of the power resources of the time.

Beware of Imitations

GENUINE Bayer Aspirin, the kind that doctors prescribe and millions of users have proven safe for over thirty years, can easily be identified by the name Bayer and the word genuine as above.

GENUINE Bayer Aspirin is safe and sure; it is always the same. It has the unqualified endorsement of physicians and druggists everywhere. It does not depress the heart, and no harmful effects follow its use.

Bayer Aspirin is the universal antidote for pains of all kinds.

- Headaches
- Neuralgia
- Colds
- Sore Throat
- Rheumatism
- Lumbago
- Toothache

Aspirin is the trade-mark of Bayer manufacture of monoacetic acid ester of salicylic acid.

"The power supply of today is widely distributed. Electricity is available in any quantity at virtually every point on the map.

"Industry is not slow to recognize the advantages of decentralization in terms of lower cost and improved working conditions.

"The industry of the future is more likely to re-inhabit the countryside to possess all the advantages of power machinery without the disadvantages of congestion which have hitherto accompanied it."

THE COUNTY

By J. Catron Jones in "The Kentucky City"

Kentucky has 120 counties, which vary in size, but which average about 240 square miles per county. The average width of each county is 18 miles, and the average distance from the county line to the county seat is nine miles.

THE COUNTY

By J. Catron Jones in "The Kentucky City"

The purpose of the county originally was to bring the government closer to the people. The county is an administrative district of the state. Where the present boundary lines of the county were established, a county on the average of 18 miles square owns a very convenient unit for administrative area.

THE COUNTY

By J. Catron Jones in "The Kentucky City"

It may be objected that 130 men would have to do the work of only 30 men in each case that are omitted from the payroll. The answer to that is that the administration could be done just as effectively by one man as the administration in a small area.

"I'm glad we have a Telephone again"

A number of people who gave up their telephones during the stress of the past twelve months have told us that this proved to be false economy and they have had their service restored.

Those who have not had their service reinstalled, and those who may be hesitating about having a telephone of their own, are reminded that telephone service is no longer regarded as an expense, but is considered a necessary home convenience and economy.

No other money you spend can bring you more actual value. Thousands of telephone subscribers know the truth of this. They do not consider their telephone statement as a "bill," but rather as a reminder of pleasant living and broadened opportunities.

Those who have previously enjoyed telephone service appreciate it more than ever; new subscribers wonder how they ever did without it.

Telephone service costs so little and the advantages are so many that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it.

RED CROSS NEWS

Field secretary for the Red Cross chapter in Floyd county announces that plans are being made for the winter work.

Mrs. E. L. Heitz has been named chairman of probation committees, whose duty will be to all in releasing clothing for use in cases of emergency such as occurred the Red Cross has seen.

Mrs. O. T. Stephens has been named chairman of the Junior organization and will work with the school children.

The American people are endowed with idealistic sentimentality and sound practical common sense. These three characteristics distinguish the work of the American Red Cross, which is soon to make its annual appeal for memberships, direct it by membership and the organization exists. May Floyd county people so respond to the call that their National Red Cross may enlarge its service to humanity.

Monday, September 21 a regional conference will be held in Princeville for the purpose of perfecting plans for the winter's work. All persons interested are cordially invited. Let's show this district that Floyd county has our work at heart.

A MESSAGE FROM ENGLAND TO AMERICA

(By Herbert N. Casson, Editor, The Efficiency Magazine, London)

You are depressed. You think on the eve of the war. You are afraid of the future. You are full of fears.

You have half the gold of the world and half of the machinery and most of the automobiles and all the labor. You are envied more by other people in the world than any other people in the world. You are hated more by other people in the world than any other people in the world.

There is now a golden opportunity for every man who has eyes to see it. Dollars are now being sold for cents. Practically every security in the United States is now being sold at less than its value.

The way to create a fortune is to buy from pessimists. Pay your money and take the risk.

Frick started his career by buying coke oven in the slump of 1873, and made $200,000 by buying steel plants in slumps.

Hundreds of fortunes have been made by buying from pessimists. We need a change there is in this moment.

Ten years from now most American business will be in the hands of Englishmen. Then it will be too late to buy. Buy for thirty cents. The opportunity will be gone.

When a horse balks the driver is his head, not in his heels. Get the same idea when you buy.

When an American business man is depressed the Stamp Book says there is nothing serious to worry about. The Stamp Book says that the man who buys the stamps will be well.

When four rates the well is filled, not done, out when a man is full out of his mind the world becomes as a center.

This city depression has gone on long enough, Get rid of it. Buy the Stamp Book. RISE AND WALK.

Every Section of State Featured in September Progress Magazine

The September issue of Kentucky Progress Magazine presents an unusual number of interesting illustrated articles that have as the basis practically every section of the state.

A center page editorial reminds Kentuckians that they are expected to answer "present" of the state fair in Louisville during this month and increases an invitation to the outside world to gather at Lexington to witness the grand chronicle of the state.

Ed and Newell Wilder, Corbin, Ky., are the second pair of brothers in all history who are fighting for similar athletic positions on the University of Kentucky Wildcat grid team. They succeed the Phelps brothers, Tom and Jack, whose friendly battle was interrupted by the completion of Tom's three years' service, coming to last season. The Wilders are both good looking fellows and will probably see a lot of action during the fall campaign.

Norman Gaud, teacher of the year in the state, will be the guest of honor in the first week-end of the week in New York where he is expected to make a most trip with Forest D. Shor and Forest P. Bell.

WILL TEACH EXTRA SATURDAY CLASSES

Two new features have been added to Pikeville College courses of study for this year. The first is that courses to meet the state requirements for a teacher's certificate will be offered in the coming fall semester. This is the first time such courses have been offered, existing during the spring semester.

The second new feature for this year is the Saturday courses which will be offered for out of school students. Students and rural teachers who are unable to attend the regular weekly courses may attend as many as four college courses during one semester. These Saturday courses are as follows: Two hours in child psychology and two hours in either health education or in rural school problems. However, students desiring to take these extra courses must register on Saturday, Sept. 7.

EXPERIENCED DRIVERS CAUSE MOST ACCIDENTS

According to Edward J. O'Connell, highway commissioner of Wisconsin, the rate of increase of automobile accidents is greater among experienced drivers than among those of less years of driving experience. This, he says, is because the more experienced drivers are those who, in the excessive speeding on stretches of narrow, winding road, who pass on curves, weave in and out of traffic, and do the best of the things that result in crashes.

Right enforcement of driving codes alone cannot overcome this, because the patrolman is limited to the very small piece of road on which he can be for any given time. A sense of responsibility of duty must be some day established in those who use the highways, to materially improve the accident record.

General safety education in schools is now producing tangible results in the form of fewer deaths in children of school age, and the knowledge implanted in youthful minds now will be retained by the adult. Education, civility and unremitting pursuit, is the greatest factor in fighting the accident menace.

... industries, but the prosperity of the community is built. Some of the industries known by almost every citizen of Kentucky are generally the only kind of outside their own county. Yet, despite the fact that they are shadowed in the public mind by the great corporations of General Motors, General Electric, U. S. Steel and the others, it is these small factories which have the largest aggregate of workers and produce the greatest volume and value of goods.

There are some United States small factories, on manufacturing. Only 14 per cent of the Nation's factories have more than 200 employees and only 24 per cent more than 250. Sixty-two per cent of the Nation's workmen are employed in factories with working forces of fewer than 100.

PROSPERITY BUILT ON SMALL PLANTS

A survey shows that success of industry in Kentucky rests on small factories of 50 employees and over. These are the backbone of the State's industry.
