Will the Empress Eugenie Food Affect Our Fashions in Food?

Don't laugh too hard over the suggestion that the current fad for Empress Eugenie fashions will extend to our diet. It may be that some before long during the emperor's reign, a host of chefs will be brought out from the kitchens of the Versailles palace...

From the dishes, of course, become quite the rage during this period, but the really bizarre was in the family. A trifling recipe, which is nothing more than potatoes baked in their jackets, appears in a "Receipts" column as "Dommes de Terre. Six (chopped) the 'chopped' being merely a mistake for 'mashed'...

Recipes of Eugenie's Time.

Puddings were very popular. Like us, she particularly enjoyed chocolate puddings, and she was particularly frequent in the magazines of the day, wedged in between directions for "How to Cure Wasp Stings" and "Making Amoy Sauce for Young Ladies' Hair"...

Fruit peels and citron flavored in most of the best recipes, and the dried or orange and lemon peel and citron we buy today already dried and candied, had to be "cut, pounded, sieved and dried." Tropic was the period ingredient, a thick, dark, strap which would seem most inferior to the modern use of whole some corn syrup. Cooks of the time, just as today, considered the best of hot citrus toppings.

Under the heading "Monday Glacés," this "Recipe for a New Glacé" brand appears. "Two pounds flour, six pounds of moist sugar, one and a half pounds of cracked ten minutes ginger, half a pound of butter, a little honey and a little brandy. Make it after the old recipe on this."

Contrary to this, with this definite rest of hot recipe of the same origin: 1921 Trested Gingerbread. 1 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup cooking oil, 2 cups flour, 1/2 cup molasses, 1/2 cup dark corn syrup, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup soda, 1/2 cup salt.

Why Count Sheep? Too much work, too much worry. Tired but too nervous to sleep. Counting imaginary sheep, relaxing your muscles, making your mind a blank, all no use. You'll feel "all in" tomorrow. Just Dissolve a Dr. Miles' Effervescent Nerve Tablet in a half glass of water. Drink the clear sparkling beverage. Drift off into deep dreamless sleep and get up in the morning refreshed in mind and body, and ready for the day's duties of business.

Empress Eugenie and approved by a "Summary of Household Science for Young Women" was thought to be most delicate.

Colonist Pudding. Take a pint each of blue bread crumbs and minced apples and put them in alternate layers into a buttered pie-dish with chopped almonds, chopped dates and sugar between each layer. When you have placed in all ingredients, pour in six ounces fresh cream previously melted. Bake over with more hot crumbs and bake one hour. Dates are hard to procure but are often seen in shops at the Yuletide season.

Now we do not have to wait to see what the shops at the Yuletide season may have them in this year, but the year round. 1922 Date Cramb Pudding. 1/2 cup dry bread, 1/4 tsp salt, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup vanilla, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup vanilla, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup vanilla.

THE ART OF DYING Lincoln Steffens, famous newspaperman of the old muck-raking days, announced at his home in California that he has been practicing the art of dying for 20 years. He says that in all his papers and proposals he has always had arranged his affairs, written his will and set himself free from the necessity of earning a living or worrying about what his reading public will think of him. And he likes it very much.

It involves our emotions, by one of their obligations immediately. All preferences, or our pocketbooks, will prefer to work out that way. Who of us, for instance, in the spring of 1920 would have listened to any one who said that stock prices were too high and that our industrial machine was geared to run fast? Who of us in 1917 and 1918 would have believed particularly to any one who suggested that Germany was not entirely responsible for the World War? How many of us today would listen to an economist who happened to remark that Russia's economic system was better than our own? Wouldn't we simply tell him to shut up, without offering to find out if he were right? Such goes. We are all consumers; and men like Mr. Steffens, who have uncovered many truths that run counter to our established notions, know that a writer who has a living to make must step warily—Ashland Daily Independent.

FIRE PREVENTION BEGINS AT HOME

In some European countries, the owner of a property where a fire originates, through negligence, is held responsible for any damage done to the property of others.

The principle behind the law is worth considering. It places the blame squarely where it belongs, on the individual whose carelessness or neglect is responsible for at least eight out of ten fires. We will never reduce the fire loss until we thoroughly understand and place of our selfishness against fire. It that individual responsibility is the key to the entire problem. This fact has been stressed time and again by public and private organizations. It has been found expending in advertising in the columns of newspapers, in speeches over the radio, and from the platform. Our national fire loss averages close to half a billion dollars annually to which must be added the far greater yearly waste of ten thousand lives which fire destroys and loss of business.

We must learn to guard our homes, and places of business against fire. It must be made a regular household duty, exactly as we might light the furnace, make the lawn, pour water, refuse left in corners, careless disposal of cigars and cigarettes (these are the things in themselves, but they may be the cause of a conflagration). The American people do not want such a law as the European one cited. And it should not take a law to awaken them to the responsibility which each citizen must accept if we are to control preventable fires.

It Really Doesn't Pay To Try To Do Without It

The telephone is such a familiar part of daily life that its convenience and value are often overlooked until it is out of service. This is the experience of those who discontinue their service for one reason or another. They soon find that the small cost of the service has been repaid many times each month in convenience, in time and actually in money saved.

Telephone users constantly tell us that the cheapest service they can buy today, compared with its value, is telephone service. There have doubtless been times in your own experience when your telephone service has proved priceless—when the ability to call instantly a doctor, a policeman or the fire department, could not be measured in terms of money.

But it is not alone the emergencies that give the telephone its true value. There are the commonplace of every day conversations—the twenty-four hour a day convenience in the home, the shop, the office, whenever you wish two-way communication with anyone almost anywhere.

On reflection you will doubtless agree that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it.

"DRAMMY" FOR YOU!

This is being written Monday, and so, having won the gift of the reputation of a prophet, we have nothing to "give out" on the ultimate outcome of the current World Series.

But we have got a keen impression right at this minute that the ninth inning of each of the last two games— that of last Friday and today's— were highly dramatic. In fact, in future games of the series, we shall probably even until that they run is out to the ninth.

Who'll soon forget "Wild Bill" Hall, taken going into the ninth, with a three-run slugging in his grasp, walking two men, nothing, two, then striking only a line-drive, only to see that same pinch-hitter go safe at first and bill the bases as a result of some weird thinking on the part of Jimmy Wilson, the Cards' catcher?

Moreover, what of Burleigh Grimes' great streak going up to the ninth inning, which in assisting in the outcome of the game, he had sustained an injury to his pitching hand, and momentarily lost his effectiveness, walked Calahan and permitted Al Simmons to win the second Athletic hit of the game out of the park for a homer?

Such incidents as these, must not be dwelt on, for they are the result of a lot of guesswork which may spurter and explode any moment. EVEN UP TO HERE!

"Two good baseball teams came to Prestonsburg, a neutral battleground, all "batted for here" Sunday. And Glo, who hosted a pitcher who on only one pitch but also could hit the other fellow's pitching, triumphed "Thankful" for it. Which makes the two teams even-Stonewall for the year. Maybe they'll get together, again. And if they do, they'll likely be looked for both this next time.

By the way, a "constant reader" asks us to ask what outcome of the box score of the first game between "The Glo" and "The Glo".

The students of the history department, returned from "Cam" last night, to content themselves with a ride with the "Bank" Miss, which the "Delmas" did so far from being a "rath" of "honor" fashion within the last few minutes of the night. Well, we are saying we did not see, but we must say that we have from one to the next, a total and long relative to the evils of over-education.

Prestonsburg high school this year will not be discarded on the football field as long as the team keeps the idea in mind that the "football" game is "the game" of a "high school" affair.

It is a "New" as being a "working" of "Rogers" (the "land" near here and "the" of "start" in "near" future).

GARRETT

Revs. E. Howard, M. C. Welch, Proctor Hays and Lewis Moore, conducted a funeral service at Wayland cemetery Sunday. A large crowd gathered for the occasion.

Mrs. Bessie Howard is, per study 21. A revival meeting has been going on at the Methodist Church here for the past week. Rev. Smith of Maytown, assisted in the revival.

The patrons of Garrett school met on Thursday night and organized a Parent-Teacher Association. The following officers were chosen: Mrs. H. Hornish, president; Mrs. Cecil, first president; Mrs. Stearns, secretary; E. Howard, treasurer. J. H. Moore was appointed in the care of the order of the organization. These officers, along with the other patrons, are endeavoring to make this organization feel free. These men are here already, a school.

Supr. John Stegans visited the Garrett school Friday, October 2. He was father amazed, he said, to see such a large number of girls and boys in the town of Garrett.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Rasmick were visiting with Mr. Rasmick's father Sunday. H. H. Hornish and J. C. Thacker motored to Prestonsburg Sunday, where they attended the fall game in the afternoon.

J. C. Stone met with an accident on Guest Creek mountain, during the week-end.

FOX HUNTING, POLO FEATURE MAGAZINE

The National Foxhunters Association meeting in Kentucky early next month, is filled in one of the most thrilling affairs in the sporting calendar. It featured in the opening article and also on the cover of the October issue of Kentucky Progress Magazine, the official publication of the Kentucky Progress Commission. The program of the meeting, which includes the fifty cent and the ten cent show at the Boone-shire, the Prince of Wales Gold Cup Steeplechase in Harrods, Place and attendance at the Home Farm to witness the annual Charity Races on Armistice Day, is outlined and illustrated.

Second only in the order of its appearance in the magazine is an illustrated article on "Polo in Kentucky." A brief history of polo, popular as the "sport of kings" since the fifth century, is blended with a vivid description of its rapid development in Kentucky. Pictures of the sport, "horses" and children's teams that have represented Kentucky in the several exciting games played this season, accompany the article.

An "advance" on the prospects of the University of Kentucky football team the coming season, including the schedule of games, which opens October 3, and photos of some of U. K.'s "aces," furnishes another feature that will be of interest to all Kentuckians no matter where they reside.

Other outstanding articles are: "Town Fathers of Lexington" an historical account of the early days of the Blue Grass capital; "Envoying of the Blue of Jefferson Davis," an even scheduled for next month at Transylvania College; "A Week in Old Kentucky by Bus," next illustrated from "Boston Broccoli"; "A Letter from Henry Clay," a prophetic epistle recently discovered in some old documents by an Ohio writer; "Historic Site is Marked by Bryan Station Chapter D. A. R.," "Newspaper Kentucky," "Breed of Corn," "Built in 1792," "Residing in the Hills," and "Kentucky Island of the World-Sing Melody," the latter a radio address broadcast a few weeks ago from New York City over station WABC and for five stations in the Columbia Basin.

HOW TO FIGURE YOUR INCOME TAX

A Lebanon man says he worried a good deal over making out his income tax return, until he finally hit upon a simple formula, which he offers free of charge to any who may be perplexed in this future.

His friend as dependents one blond wife, a sedan car, three goldfish, and two children. He then multiplied his grandfather's age by six and seven-eighths, subtracting his telephone number. Next he added the size of his hat and subtracted the number of his car. After these preliminaries, the rest was easy.

Deducting $1,000 for keeping his wife a blond for the whole year, he divided the remainder by the number of lodges he belonged to multiplied by the number of electric lights in his house, divided by the size of his collar.

DEMAND GOVERNMENT TAX ECONOMY

A good foundation for any political platform, municipal, state or national, would be: "Restrict government to the business of governing, and thus allay the fear of heavy tax increases that kill industrial development and employment."

Officials give their constituents assurance of tax reduction and economy in government—during their campaigns. Once they are safely established in office they customarily forget their pledges. The result is a constant increase in the number of government bureaus and employees, more patronage, higher taxes.

activities, can prevent taxes from rising to intolerably higher levels in the next few years. The public must demand that officeholders stand for tax reduction and fulfill their pledges when they are given their offices.

FOLEY MUST SERVE TIME Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 2.—A 24-hour term meted Joe Foley in Pike county court on a charge of manslaughter in the slaying of Crit Tucker, a deputy sheriff, was affirmed by the appellate court today.

BOWELS need watching

Let Dr. Caldwell help whenever your child is feverish or upset, or has caught cold. This simple prescription will make that colicky, headachy, cross boy or girl comfortable, happy, well in just a few hours. It soon restores the bowels to healthy regularity. It helps "break-up" a cold by keeping the bowels free from all that sickening mucus matter. You have a famous doctor's word for this laxative. Dr. Caldwell's receipt of having attended over 3000 babies with the loss of one mother or baby is believed unique in American medical history. Let a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drugstore and have it ready. Then you won't have to worry when any member of your family is headachy, bilious, gassy or constipated. Syrup Pepsin is good for all ages. It overcomes the bowels, increases appetite, makes digestion more complete.
