Schools Face Crisis As Heavy Fund Loss Seen

DRASTIC CUT IN TEACHERS' PAY MAY BE RESULT

Per Capita Cut Expected To Be Reduced From $9 to $4

If the present distribution of state funds to the several hundred school districts of this commonwealth is continued, the school year ending June 30, 1932, will be the first in which the per capita fund available to each school district will be less than that of the preceding year. Last year, for the first time in the history of the state, the per capita fund available to each school district was reduced from $9 to $4. This reduction was the result of a drastic cut in the state fund available to each school district, which was the result of a drastic cut in the state fund available to each school district.

The number of promotions show an increase of more than 15 per cent. The number of eighth grade graduates has increased approximately 25 per cent.

HERE'S ANSWER TO DEPRESSION

Prestonburg Citizens Are Building; New Businesses To Come Here

Construction of a brick-and-mortar building on Court street was begun last week by H. J. Musie, with Jim Meade in charge of the work. This building will be used as a restaurant and promise to be an attractive addition to that part of town.

Two other structures are expected to be begun here within a short time. Both to be used as business places. One is expected to be a filling station at the corner of Court and Broadway, opposite the Irene Cole memorial Baptist Church, on the Mayo/Trail route through Prestonburg, and the other may be a bulk oil and gasoline plant on the same street.

Richard Sprinkle recently completed the construction of an attractive residence on Highland avenue, while J. H. Nunnery has under construction now a handsome one on Third avenue, Grand Hubbard, who recently sold his residence property on Friend street to Mrs. John Hunley, is erecting a residence in the Garfield addition, and J. M. Parsley recently completed a cottage on Third avenue.

Harvey's Cafe opened to business last week in the Howard building, Court street, which was formerly occupied by Dan Hepler's jewelry store. Mr. Hepler has moved his store into the new Harlowe building on First avenue. This new restaurant is modern in every respect, and is especially well-furnished.

In other words, business is not dead in Prestonburg, nor are hopes of the business future of Prestonburg dead.

The programs, which were conducted at the three schools, consisted of singing of Blue Ribbon songs through their respective towns, and exercises pertaining to health work. Inclement weather prevented the pupils from enjoying picnics in the hills, as had been planned.

TO BUILD ROAD VIA BULL CREEK

Heavy Traffic Over Route This Summer Seen While Trail Surfacing On

Work is expected to be begun soon on the Bull Creek road between Prestonburg and Iwale, a distance of approximately four miles, it was announced last week by Dr. W. L. Stumbo.

Dr. Stumbo said that he would be in buying right-of-way for the route this week, and that machinery would be moved there to begin work within a few days. Construction will be made by the state highway department, it is said.

It is said that the road will be given gravel surfacing, so as to make the route traversable in all kinds of weather by traffic which will be detoured over the road while the Mayo Trail is being surfaced between Prestonburg and Allen. Notice has already been published that the state highway department will receive bids on surfacing of the Trail from Prestonburg to Allen until May 11.

EVERYBODY'S SLEUTHING

Strange Car and Disposal of Mysterious Box in Licking, Near Salyersville, Causes Search

Kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby has made of every citizen a sleuth, suspicious of strange cars, unfamiliar faces and unexplained occurrences.

A few days ago when Mrs. Lee Water saw an auto driven onto a bridge near the home of Dr. W. C. Stannely, near Salyersville, and one of its occupants, curiously bump what appeared to be a box through the window, she thought of the Lindbergh baby, thoughts of which flashed through her mind. As soon as the car had driven away, she rushed to the bridge and found a place of landing where a package had been on the bridge railing as it was about which it was wrapped into the water.

The package was opened, but was found to be a tin of toothpaste.

Magazine Tells Pineville's Side of Dreiser-Frank Story

Pineville's effort, to combat various insinuations of a peaceful community by alleged "investigative" parties, and the reasons for being generally declared a meretricious Kentucky hospitality are told in a magazine article in the April issue of the Kentucky Progress, Magazine, by R. J. Brown, editor of the Pineville Star.

Among other illustrations, in connection with the article is a picture of the students from New York colleges who were escorted across the state line at Cumberland Gap, following the Theodore Dreiser-William Frank incident. The picture was taken at night on the state capital grounds at Frankfort after a committee had presented a petition to Governor Laffoon and he believed to be the only picture of the incident.

BLAZE CAUSES $60,000 LOSS LATE TUESDAY

Baptist Church, Six Business Houses and Two Residences Razed

Correction
Bulletin.—It was learned here Thursday morning, too late for The Times to change its original story of the fire, that the loss in Hindman Tuesday was not as heavy as was first reported. The Baptist Church and Adam Campbell's residence and the two filling stations were not burned, this last report says. That, of course, reduces the loss estimated in the body of The Times' original story.

Judge Reminds Talesmen No Officer Is Beyond Reach

Floyd County, Ky., April 12.—A grand jury inquiry into alleged irregularities surrounding the passage of bills at the 1932 session of the Kentucky General Assembly was deferred by Commonwealth's Attorney William B. Arbery today until tomorrow.

Senate Journal showed he had signed the bill.

Charging the grand jury, Circuit Judge H. Church Ford warned that any attempt on the part of outsiders to "embarrass and influence" the jury would not be tolerated.

Judge Ford instructed the jury to investigate "certain rumors" concerning the administration of state affairs.

"No officer is beyond your reach," said Judge Ford. "You shall have the full facilities of the court to aid in your investigation along this line."

FARM GIVES MUCH TO FAMILY LIVING

A study of 4,000 farms, made by the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, shows that the value of home supplies furnished by the farm is greater than the net cash returns on many farms.

The farmer's family is considered the best market for potatoes and other garden vegetables, milk and other dairy products, eggs and poultry, cured meats and fire wood.

There is no way discounted this year, and the market outlook so far as they are concerned is as good as it ever was, says the statement of the farm economics department of the college.

SAYS 4-CENT PROFIT MAY BE PROFITABLE

The possibility of a profit, from four-cent hogs is presented by Grady Sellards, field agent for the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

With corn at 40c per bushel, farmers who balanced their rations and used good pasture, last year made $5 or more on each 100-pound pig, above cost of feed, pasture and labor.

Hogs continue to be one of the most profitable mediums through which a large part of the corn crop can be marketed, according to Mr. Sellards.

SCHOOLS FACE CRISIS AS HEAVY FUND LOSS SEEN

County Superintendent John Stephens, said Monday that the situation will beyond doubt be serious if the per capita reaches the low expected figure.

It is believed by federal experts that from $200,000,000 to $400,000,000 worth of insects every year are destroyed by insects, which cost a big piece out of the $300,000,000 annual yield.

The Courier-Journal's editorial of Sunday, April 16, contains the statement: "If the per capita reaches the low expected figure, the state will have to pay $400,000,000 to $600,000,000 for the loss of the year's crop. This is a serious situation."

[the maximum school tax. Forty-three counties and ten graded districts applied for aid this year.

"Those counties were unable to pay $75 a month for teachers, leaving the maximum tax and receiving $9 for each school child from the state. On account of lowered assessments, they will receive less local revenue next year; for they cannot make up the deficit by increasing the rate. If their share of the state fund drops, more than 50 per cent, as it is estimated, their schools may not be open more than three or four months; veto of the budget bill has cut the equalization 80 per cent below the amount drawn on this year.

"A comparative table of local and state school funds, prepared by the Department of Education, shows that two counties drew three times as much from the state fund as they raised by local taxation; eleven drew twice as much and twenty-one received more from the state than they raised locally. These last included the big contributing counties of Holt, Harlan, Perry and Pike. Bell, Letcher and Maitland also drew on the equalization fund. Thirty-two other counties received approximately the same amounts from taxation and the state fund.

"Deducting overhead and expenses other than for instruction, more than half the teachers' salaries in those 65 counties is paid by the state. Taking no account of equalization provision and loss of revenues, reduction in the state school fund will cut teachers' salaries one-half in thirteen counties and one-fourth in fifty-two; but they, of course, will be much worse off than that. Property assessments are down the same for school taxes, as for state taxes. One-fourth of their school revenues is received from the state by twenty-eight counties.

"Many graded schools will be in serious straits. Cities, towns and counties must be forced to shoulder a larger proportion of their own school burdens but they likewise suffer, both from loss of local taxes and state distribution. They probably will be forced to eliminate valuable extras and get down to plain, old-fashioned school teaching. That is essential. Perhaps, they can maintain the full term if they hold to the purpose and the class. There are almost, if not quite, enough school holidays observed in a year to make up the 20 days of one school month. Most of the counties, however, have nothing but teachers, to direct."
