SPRADLIN KILLED BY TRAIN AND 2 INJURED IN CARS

C. & O. Employee Hurt at Martin, Allen Man Injured Sunday

INJURED RECOVERING

One Floyd county man was killed by a train and two others were seriously injured by automobiles this week.

The train victim was Andrew Spradlin, 27 years old of Train. The injured men are Solie Warrick, Allen and Martin C. & O. employee. Martin, both said to be recovering in the Beaver Valley hospital from dangerous injuries.

Spradlin was killed at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning as a train when struck by a Chesapeake & Potomac truck. His body was found on a bank near the wreck. The car overturned here, by him going to work. The body was badly mangled and death had resulted instantly.

Surviving the victim are his widow and three children. Burial was made Wednesday at Train.

Martin suffered serious injuries Sunday night about the head and body when the car in which he was driving failed to make the curve near the bridge leaving Martin on the highway. The auto, owned by Z. C. Diggins of Martin, was badly wrecked after plunging over the high hill approaching the bridge.

Warrick, 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Warrick, of Allen, sustained a skull fracture Sunday afternoon behind the right ear when he pitched from the rear of a truck near level on the pavement of the Mayo Trail. Standing in the bed of the truck, Warrick lost his balance when the machine was stopped.

$10,000 SOUGHT IN INJURY OF CHILD, 8

Suing for $10,000 damages, in the Boyd circuit court, Gula Jean Smith, eight-year-old Floyd county girl, through her father, J. W. Smith, alleges that her left foot was crushed and broken and rendered permanently useless as the result of having been struck by a car driven by W. M. Haplin on June 14, 1921. The child was struck at a point on the Mayo Trail near Little Point Creek. It is claimed.

Constructs Approximately 20 Miles of Road in Month

Approximately 20 miles of grade and drain road construction has been made by John Brannan, operating a grader for the county within the past four weeks, it was said Thursday.

A road has been built from the Jones addition here to Axler and the Johnson county line also from the road to Little Point Creek, and road work has been done on Little Point and Middle Creek. This work has made available a sizeable stretch of good dry-weather road.

The "Burgoo King" Does His Stuff

J. L. Looney of Lexington, Ky. went all the way to Atlanta to prove that Brunswick stew doesn't compare with burgoo. Mr. Looney, who is known throughout Kentucky as the "Burgoo King," and for whom this year's Kentucky derby winner was named, offered to prepare a special dish of burgoo to be served at the annual barbecue of the Atlanta police department and to furnish definite proof that burgoo is infinitely better than any Brunswick stew ever made. Here he is preparing the pot of burgoo. His recipe for burgoo, enough to serve 100 persons is: 100 pounds of potatoes, 200 pounds of onions, one bushel of corn, 24 gallons of tomatoes, 6 gallons tomato puree, 45 cans of canned corn, 100 pounds of cabbage, 24 fat hens, 100 pounds of lent soup meat; cook for 24 hours, season to taste.

TEACHERS HERE JOIN TRANSYLVANIA TOURS

Mrs. Margaret D. Collins, and Miss Irene Patton, teacher, in the local graded school, left Tuesday for Lexington, where they were met Thursday by Mrs. Edna N. Collins, Mrs. Kitty Sandige and Miss Frances Jones, teachers here, to join the Transylvania Tours. They will tour a part of Canada and the Eastern section before returning here the last of July.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO GIVE GARDEN SUPPER FRIDAY

The Prentonsburg Women's Club will have a garden supper at the home of Mrs. J. D. Mayo, one mile south of town on the Mayo Trail, Friday evening, June 24, from 6:30 until 8 o'clock, proceeds of which will be used on the building fund.

In addition to a well-planned menu, there will be a musical program under the direction of Miss Edith Fitzpatrick James. Every one is invited and urged to come.

ONLY 13 OF 65 MASTER TESTS

Estill McGuire, Honor Man in County Teachers' Examination

Of the 65 applicants in the May teachers' examination whose grades have been received at the office of County Superintendent John Stephens only 13 made passing grades. A total of 70 applicants finished the tests but applications of 11 have not been properly certified and will not be reported upon until required certification is made.

Estill McGuire, of Ball Creek, Prentonsburg, high school student, holds the honor of having attained the best general average for the 12 subjects upon which the applicants were examined, his grade being 87.07 percent. Writing, Reading and Theory and Practice were the subjects on which the greatest number of applicants stumbled. Tests on these branches, a few years ago, were the least difficult of all those with which the prospective teachers were obliged to contend in county examinations.

Grades of successful applicants follow:

Estill McGuire, 82.67 pct.; R. L. Hill, 82.25 pct.; Leona May Hager, 81; Fred Gearhart, 81.08; German Vance, 80.88; Gail Lafferty, 81.08; Cuth Hunley, 81.25; Virginia Hatfield, 81.25; Mrs. M. M. Collins, 80.25; Josephine Stanley, 80.67; Margaret Patton, 80; Julia Grace Porter, 80.42; Malta Wells, 81.42.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD SELECTS POLL OFFICIALS

Trustee Election Under New Law To Be Held July 2

HEALTH FUND CUT

Officers were named Friday by the Floyd county board of education to officiate in the 126 school districts of this county at the election of trustees Saturday, July 2.

The election is the first to be held under the new law enacted at the recent session of the Legislature, which provides for the election of three trustees from each district. Names of candidates are to be entered on the poll sheet furnished by the county superintendent to each district, and each voter votes for any three of the contestants. It is provided that the county superintendent shall list the three candidates, having the greatest number of votes draw lots at the polling place to ascertain which shall serve three years, which two years, and the other one year, and then have the results certified to by the election officers.

A number of "hot" races are expected. Trustees chosen at this election go into office as soon as they qualify following their election.

Appropriation of $1,000 voted by the board of education at a recent meeting to the Floyd county health department was reduced at Friday's meeting to $500. All rural schools are to begin July 18. It was decided and James Hale was employed as training officer for seven months, beginning July 1, at a monthly salary of $100. Alex M. Spradlin again was hired as clerk of the board of education at $125 a month, while G. W. Stephens was appointed agent in handling textbook sales in the county.

As the result of word from the state high school inspector, saying that condition here was unsatisfactory at the Bonanza high school, since one of the two high school teachers has been teaching in the grades, part-time, to correct this condition, the board of education annexed the Blue Fork school to Bonanza, and the teacher of the former school will teach the grades at Bonanza. Teachers in the county will be tenanted by teachers for a change this year. (Continued on page four)

QUANT FIGURE IS TAKEN BY DEATH

A. C. Patrick, Wealthy Merchant, Victim of Paralysis Saturday

(Special to The Times)

Hneysville, Ky., June 13.—Paralysis brought death last Saturday evening at 9 o'clock to one of the most quaint and picturesque of the old school of mountaineers, A. C. Patrick, 78 years old, who passed away quietly at the home of Melvin Cramer, one of his tenants on Salt Lick, near here. Mr. Patrick had been ill for several weeks.

A prominent merchant and attorney who never set foot on a railroad train, Mr. Patrick amassed both local fame and a fortune. He left $18,000 in cash and fine farm lands, as well as first mortgages, on numerous tracts of land throughout this section. He was the sort of man who loaned money to any and all and continued to succeed despite many losses.

Mr. Patrick spent a large part of his life on Quicksand Creek, which might rightly be called the last frontier. He was both magistrate and lawyer there for many years and was a friend in need to many the mountain folk. His mercantile business was patronized by persons from far and near.

Mr. Patrick is survived by three brothers: C. D. Patrick, of this place; Joe O. Patrick, of Handeoh, Ky.; and Jack Patrick, of Waldo, Magoffin county.

Burial will be made today in the Wood, Colburn cemetery on Salt Lick with the Rev. D. M. Allen, of the Christian Church, officiating. Hundreds are congregating to pay their last respects to the deceased.

COMMITTEES FOR TAXPAYERS LEAGUE 'FOURTH' NAMED

Preparations for Independence Day Celebration

Preparations for the fourth of July celebration here gained momentum this week, with the appointment of committees and beginning of work toward financing the program. Half of the proceeds derived from "Broken Wings," the picture to be exhibited in the Unique Theater here Thursday and Friday of this week, will go toward defraying expenses of the celebration while other funds are expected to be raised by public subscription.

Dr. M. J. Leete, chairman of the Fourth of July committee, has appointed the following committees, members of which are to meet at 7 o'clock Monday evening at the office of The Floyd County Times:

Program committee—Joe P. Tackett, J. W. Henney, F. C. Hall, C. B. Latta, Adrian Collins, P. H. Allen, W. C. Rimmer, Gordon Francis; finance committee—H. C. Francis, W. J. May, James Morell, Jr., H. 2ND FOLK SONG FESTIVAL HELD

'Burgoo' Woman Takes Prominent Part in Picturesque Reminder of Other Days

Several hundred persons Sunday witnessed the second annual American Folk Song Festival held at the "Traipin" Women's picturesque cabin of Miss Jean Thomas, mountain wife of Miss Jean Thomas, near Ashland, 95, on the Mayo Trail near Ashland, and among this number were two Prentonsburg women who took a prominent part in the program.

Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James sang a group of sea shanties, ballads, which she has learned and herself sung since childhood. Gifted with a voice of rare quality, Mrs. James sang "Blow the Old Man Down," a chanty which still holds in the mountains of Kentucky its ancient charm, without ceasing to be popular as the crews of boats as long ago sang with only the tapping of the waves and the swaying of sails in the wind to back the measure.

Miss E. E. Browning of Ashland, daughter of Prentonsburg, appeared in the "Burgoo" picturesque setting of the mountain wedding, as Mrs. Gussie. The "Burgoo" the staging of which is charged from Miss Thomas' book "Burgoo" as a part of the festival. Mrs. W. E. Mayo, of this county, was one of the sponsors of the

DEATH CLAIMS DR. PRICHARD

Dr. J. Allen Prichard, widely known physician and surgeon of Boyd and Lawrence counties, and a brother of Dr. C. L. Prichard, of Harrold, this county, died at his home in Harrold, on Friday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

News of Dr. Prichard's death came as a shock to his wide circle of friends and relatives in this section. He had been a successful practitioner in Boyd and Lawrence counties for more than 25 years.

Dr. Prichard was a son of the late Senator and Mrs. Jerome T. Prichard and was born and reared on Boyd's Fork.

He was a member of the Kentucky State and Boyd County Medical societies and was surgeon for the C. & O. Railway Company at Buchanan. He was a graduate of the College of Medicine, University of Louisville, a life-long member of the Prichard Memorial M. E. Church, South, of Buchanan, and a member of the Greenhill Masonic Lodge, of which he was a past master.

Dr. Prichard, a member of one of the families, was a man of sterling character and possessed a kind and sympathetic disposition.

Dr. Prichard was married to Miss Laura K. Compton, in Ashland on March 31, 1900 and in addition to her he is survived by two sons, Marvin and Hubert, students of Louisville Medical College, by five brothers, Dr. C. L. Prichard, of Harrold, Ky.; Dr. L. M. Prichard, of Catlettsburg; Charles Prichard, of Catlettsburg; Charles Prichard, of Bells, Ark. and by two sisters, Mrs. Geo. Chapman, of Tunelo, Miss., and Mrs. C. W. G. Hannah, of Portsmouth, Ohio.

Funeral service was held Sunday morning at 2 o'clock, with the Greenhill Masonic Lodge in charge. Burial was made in the family

ATTENDANCE OF 54, INITIATION OF SIX MARKS REBEKAH MEET

First meeting of Midway Lodge, Order of Rebekahs, in the new Odd Fellows' building here Tuesday night was marked by the attendance of 56 members, of the lodge and the initiation of a class of six candidates.

Talks and degree was conferred by the degree team led by Mrs. Edith Kendrick.

New members are Misses Alice Fitzpatrick, Lily Strong, Anna Nichols, Oval Bingham, Mrs. John W. Stephens and W. J. May.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served to the 66 persons present.

Man Wanted for Murder in Floyd Taken By Accident by Colorado Authorities

Bernard Stephens, alleged slayer of Joe Williams, who was returned by Sheriff B. L. Sturgill from Lamar, Colo., Saturday to the county jail here, was charged by Floyd county authorities for the killing by the same accident, Sheriff Sturgill indicated this week.

Stephens, residing with relatives in Lamar, had been arrested there on a charge in a mining accident, which resulted in a death here last week.

Stephens, it is reported, was working for a time, he worked with a stevedore in the Floyd Coal Company mines at Bonyo Leno and for a few days he was held in a cell here in connection with an unusual number of arrests of Williams, he was being brought to route to Prentonsburg from here last Colorado.

It is reported to try to get Stephens out of the prison and return him to his home in Lamar, Ky. Searching for a man who was wanted for a murder in Floyd taken by accident by Colorado authorities.

HINDMAN MAN IN RACE FOR CONGRESS

Attorney H. H. Smith, of Hindman, filed notification and declaration with the secretary of state last week of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress, from the Seventh (the old Tenth), Congressional District. It was reported here that Mrs. Katherine B. Campbell's party, under the name of the "Hindman Club" would be formally announced.

Exchanges Shots With Tire Thief at Martin

Catching an unidentified man stealing a tire from the auto of Geo. T. Roberts, a guest in his hotel at Martin, at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning K. Moore exchanged in a brief exchange of shots with the thief, who escaped. When discovered pursuing the tire, the thief threatened Mr. Moore with a revolver, and the latter hurriedly procuring a pistol, opened fire. The man fled with a male companion in a car, taking the tire with him.

INSURANCE MAN BANKRUPT

Don G. Currier, of Louisa, well known in this section as a life insurance agent, filed voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the office of the United States court here, Catlettsburg, June 7, having an indebtedness of $20,000. His assets are valued at about the same amount.

THE SPICE IN SPORT

(By Bill Leach)

"Here today, gone tomorrow," and as it is ever in the baseball world where nothing is assured and least of all victory, the week ago the Cincinnati Reds were comfortably settled in third place in the National League pennant race and appeared to be on their way up the ladder. Then, suddenly along came one of those lopsided shumps that frequently strikes the best of teams, and the Reds skidded down to the bottom division and on to the bottom-most pit of oblivion. As one witty sportswriter has so aptly stated, life is just a bowl of cherries. And how those leading like cherries.

It is extremely difficult to ascertain exactly the factors that have caused the Reds to slip in the past few days. Better clubs than the Reds have suffered the same fate and the history of the national pastime is filled with similar episodes. Only one fact is reasonably certain—the Cincinnati Reds are a better club than their recent games have indicated and they are certainly not figured to continue for long in the present demerol. As a matter of fact, the Reds are very far from out of the first division and can regain their former lofty position in quick order.

Medea Fay, who are worried over the club's showing—and what fan is not—must inspect the puzzling lack of batting punch for an analysis of the state affairs of the Reds. The Reds are rated among the hard-hitting teams in the league, yet to date their batting has been of extremely light color. The absence of Chick Harley from the lineup is partly responsible. Harley has been ill for almost two weeks, a long breck for a baseball player, but characteristic of the bad luck which has met the team at every stand.

Ernie Lombard continues to hit hard, while George Trubman and Babe Brown are also doing their share. Hoffman, however, the remainder of the team, are not working at the bat as they have been powerful. However, the lack of sustained power and the tragic leadership of the Reds to seem in pinhead. Manager Dan Howley is trying every conceivable experiment in an heroic effort to hit the team out of the morass. Some of his efforts are going to bring results, but they must arrive soon or the team will have a hard task to climb up again.

The Reds have failed to hit when they were needed and they have also batted badly, frequently making an error or two. It is a situation that cannot continue, and is not figured to continue, Howley has substituted Al and Hugh for Wally Gilbert on third base, and has regained Harvey Hendrick from St. Louis to bolster the first sack. Medea Fay is able to stay with Borchers in the International league. The Red manager has also announced that Leo Durocher, unquestionably the best fielding shortstop in the league, will play that position permanently. Edie Collins and Wally Borchers have both been tried in center field but have failed to hit, and the position has been returned to Taylor Hostick.

The batting order is greatly changed, and will probably undergo alterations within the next few days. Bennett, Gilbert and Herman continue in the top three positions. Hendrick is fourth in Harley's place and Borchers, substituting for Harley in left field, is fifth. Grantham and Lombard have been dropped to sixth and seventh places to strengthen the lineup. The batting order, with Durocher at short and the pitcher last.

Twirlers in Trouble
The Reds' pitching staff is the victim of a series of tough breaks that are enough to make the hurlers throw their hats with rage. Evans, usually Frey and Kuhn, have had a string of good ball and losing day after day by the margin of a single run. With any kind of punch behind them, these men would be plugging their games. In addition, St. Johnson is out of the game on account of illness. The team has already dropped 12 games by the margin of one run, most of them loss scores. Owen Carroll, for example, has lost six games, three of them being 3-2 defeats, and another 5 to 3, in 12 innings.

Well to Be Determined
Though it all, President Sidney Well remains determined to give the Cincinnati a real ball team and is not at all broken up by the team's recent performances. The Red citizens, who worked hard to build up their club, are in a state of great anxiety.

should do much to improve the team. Some of the fans are inclined to ridicule the president of the Reds for the club's slump, which is extremely foolish and unwarranted. Cincinnati never had a club owner who worked as tirelessly as Well. As we have often stated before, a winning club isn't built in a day—and even winning teams will have their slumps. It's a point old baseball custom.

Six Quality for Open
The most sensational golf championship ever played in the Cincinnati district marked the qualifying for the National Open in the Open City last week. Six players made the grade after a hectic and bitter struggle over the 36 holes at the Hyde Park Country Club. Otto Harnisch, veteran Cincinnati Country Club professional, finished with medal honors with 121 strokes. Johnny Florio, Ohio State University champion, Columbus, Ohio, and Johnny Fisher, Western Conference champion from Cincinnati, tied for second with 143 each. Fourth and sixth places went to Eph Smith, manager and unimpaired amateur from Cincinnati; Art Smith, Summit Hills Country Club professional in Northern Kentucky; and Leonard Schmitz, nationally known professional from Lima, O. These three tied with scores of 144.

Harnisch and Schmitz staged a race-track finish to get under the half-dozen just in time. Harnisch, the very last player in the field, finished 18 holes with 18 on the course card. Schmitz was only one stroke ahead with 19. These two just about blew the tournament into a puff of hot, sensational rallies. All six will leave next Saturday for the Open Championship at the Fresh Meadows Country Club, Long Island, N. Y., June 23 and 25.

Metrow Quits Game
The biggest news in baseball history was the announcement that the Metrow, for 20 years manager of the New York Giants, has resigned his job and intended to retire, leaving the managerial work to Bill Terry, star first-sacker of the Giants, and taking of Metrow from the game, the end of one of baseball's greatest careers. There never was a greater quiet like old "Jaw", probably never will be again. How know, just about all there is to know about the position, and his long and the 30-year period has never been approached by any other.

He has been seen talk about Metrow having been "fired" that he had to resign until he was obliged to do so. Although this is possibly the case, there are no facts to prove that the "grand old man" of one of baseball's greatest careers, there never was a greater quiet like old "Jaw", probably never will be again. How know, just about all there is to know about the position, and his long and the 30-year period has never been approached by any other.

Queen Helen has taken European pennies by storm again as—parody the pun—she wills. The American nation, especially known as "the pink-knee", has not dropped a set of any matinee or fountain near the pond, and the chances are she'll not do that at least this year. Helen's will is a tennis player among women much along the lines on which Joyce Withers is a woman suffer. Her game approaches the power and precision and speed of the best tennis played by men. In fact, it takes a masculine tennis-player of real ability to defeat her. And she is a duffer—Joyce Withers said she is under 250 yards with her woods.

If there is a pit-thing phenomenon in the big leagues just now, it is the gentleman is none other than Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, of the New York Yankees. He's a phenom not because he is leading the league in games, won or lost. "Lefty" Grove in strikeouts, but because he's accomplishing these and other great pitching feats in the face of great physical handicaps. Six feet, two inches tall, Gomez has only 142 pounds, of bone and muscle scattered over his shaggy frame. That makes him not much more than a humpie. He can't gain weight, either; last winter he ate twice as much cheese became super-obedient, and not a pound gained. After a hard game, he is told, he is put to bed so that he may regain his strength. And yet they send him the full distance to win a game one day, and a day or so later use him in the relief role.

To continue the story (and to relate more than may be legend), he is said that when Gomez turns the ball loose, neither he nor his catcher ever knows where it'll go. Anyway, he gets it over often enough to lead the league as we go to press in games won and in the number of strikeouts.

Hack Wilson Comes Back
When the Chicago Cubs returned Hack Wilson, a lot of folks thought that the star slugger was all washed up and would soon disappear from the game. Brooklyn gave him a try at the vacancy left when Babe Herman was traded to the Reds, and for three Hack remained on the side that I was of very little service to the Redlegs. Now, however, the wonder is, how in the game Hack is hitting. Hack is batting over .400, and he's already chased two home runs with the promise of a good many more over the course of the season.

play for him. Hornaby never liked Wilson after Hack attended a fare well dinner to Joe McCarthy when McCarthy was kicked out by the Cubs and signed up by the New York Yankees. The dinner was something of a protest against the late William Wrigley's high-handed action and a criticism of Hornaby. At least, the "Rajah" inferred it to be and never forgave the offending players.

SPORTS

THE BEST OFFENSE AS HEN WELLS HITS A PITCHING PHENOM PICKING A GOLF WINNER

The best defense, it has been hinted, is a good offense. That was Dempsey's secret of success—hitting the other fellow quicker and a lot harder than the party of the second part could hit him.

The same sometimes holds good in baseball, though it's not to be denied that both a tight defense and a strong offense make the best combination. Take Pittsburgh in the National League. The Pirates are on the bottom when it comes to fielding, but they're hitting third and are up there in the third notch in the race. Now, on the other hand, Cincinnati leads the league field by 15 on the bottom, with the attack. And the Reds are deep in the cellar in the American Association, Columbus, last in fielding but third in hitting, is crowding the leaders, while St. Paul is following exactly where Cincinnati leads. Or, as they followed where the Apostles led?

Anyway, it's interesting to consider these phases of baseball.

Queen Helen has taken European pennies by storm again as—parody the pun—she wills. The American nation, especially known as "the pink-knee", has not dropped a set of any matinee or fountain near the pond, and the chances are she'll not do that at least this year.

YANKEE TWIRLER

If there's any one game in which it is next to impossible to pick the winner, it's golf. The wife who had a pretty easy time of it while Bobby Jones was cock of the Scottish walk, since he was well-nigh unbeatable, not to name any other golfer as the winner of a tournament, and, moreover, put your money up on that choice has always, seemed the height of recklessness, folly—or "sump". Yet those "in the know" laid their money on Gene Sarazen in the recent British Open—and cashed their bets. Tommy Armour, defending champion, himself picked Sarazen to win. And Gene did—and how! His aggregate score for the 72 holes was 283, three strokes lower than even the great Jones shot the tournament in 1930 when he won everything worthwhile to a big time.

LOCUST DUE IN SIX KENTUCKY COUNTIES

Seventeen-year locusts are due this year in Grant, Clinton, Green, Hardin, Letcher and Wolfe counties in Kentucky. W. A. Price, state entomologist, announces. They may injure young trees in the laying of their eggs, as the puncture twigs and limbs and give trees appearance of having been struck by blight. Otherwise he expects no damage. The locust swarms in late May or June. The stinging of the adults usually attracts attention to the arrival of this 17-year pest. They'll hit all with their load and continuous shrill call.

About two weeks after emergence from the ground the females begin laying eggs. Each deposits 500 to 600 eggs by puncturing twigs and limbs of trees. The twigs wither and sooner or later drop off. In large trees this damage amounts to little more than a light pruning. Injury may be serious to young trees.

The eggs deposited in the fallen branches incubate in six to eight weeks and the young nymphs immediately enter the ground. There they feed upon the roots of trees and such nutriment as may be obtained from the soil. They change their position from time to time, sometimes going into the soil to a depth of 10 or more feet. Usually, however, they are found within two feet of the surface of the ground. They live and develop in the soil from 15 to 17 years, depending on the particular kind of soil they represent.

In order to obtain more definite information on the appearance of locusts, Prof. Price is asking that all persons observing the insect send specimens to the Experiment Station at Lexington. In this way the State Entomologist will be able to map the regions in which they appear this year.

ADVANCE fashion information indicates that bathing suits will be smaller than ever this season—mere wigs compared with the billowy garments worn on the beach only a few years ago. Pictured above are two of the very latest styles in bathing suits which suggest that costs of suits will be more moderate this summer. And, in these modest suits of contrast colors, the difference between the styles is the difference between the old and the new. Both suits will be made in the new style, and the new style is the new style.

THE BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL

On this day, 157 years ago, there happened an event known to every school-child in America as one that all his life has thrilled him with pride in being an American. That event, we are told by the United States' George Washington Bicentennial Commission was the battle of Bunker Hill, the first real battle of the American Revolution.

Every boy and girl born or taught in this country knows the story of that little band of patriots who dared to defy what was then the greatest military power on earth, that they and their descendants might live here in a land free and independent.

We know they were driven from their rude redoubt only when their ammunition was gone and they were about to be overpowered by overwhelming numbers of the best trained troops of Europe charging with bayonet. We know that the patriots lost 150 killed, 271 wounded and 500 prisoners. Their losses occurred, not so much during the action, but afterward during the retreat, when the warriors, for freedom had neither bayonets to defend themselves, nor powder for their deadly marksmanship. But though in the technical military sense the outcome was scored as a defeat for the patriots, while they dealt such blows to their enemies as had an effect on all the rest of the war. Indeed it is only now, after these many years, that military historians are able to calculate the moral effect of the Battle of Bunker Hill on the whole after-course of British military operations, during the Revolution.

Until recent years, Bunker Hill has been traditionally regarded as a magnificent but futile gesture on the part of the patriots—not so much a military action as the subject of poetic speeches. No wise students of military history concede that Bunker Hill had profound influence on a later event—and was one of the turning points in the successful struggle for independence.

It will be remembered that soon after Bunker Hill, General Sir William Howe was placed in supreme command of the British troops, and every student of history is familiar with the correct moves aimed at Howe as a dunder. His delays are given as one of the reasons why Washington prospered so well against him. Now the keen military analyst sees the reason for Howe's otherwise unaccountable unwillingness to press the frequent advantages over General Washington.

The United States' George Washington Bicentennial Commission points out that Howe, before taking over the chief command, was the general leading the British assault on Bunker Hill. Like the brave man he was charged with his men, and was an eye witness to the dreadful slaughter of his troops from the deadly fire of the patriot riflemen in their redoubt. Never had he seen such accurate marksmanship. Every school-boy knows the patriot command, "Hold your fire till you see the whites of their eyes," and how well the command was obeyed. Especially had the American marksmen been told to pick off the British officers, and well they did their work.

Howe escaped, but the modern military authorities are of the opinion that he received the shock of his life during the slaughter of his men. The British soldier had never been trained to shoot with accuracy; his reliance was on the bayonet. And yet Bunker Hill he nevertheless managed to use it until the patriot rifles had got in their killing fire, and then had run out of powder. The Americans, on the contrary, had been accustomed to other rifle from boyhood. They had learned to use it against the Indians, and in bringing down the game they needed for food. Remarkable accounts have come down for their skill and accuracy. Indeed this deadliness with musket or rifle became one of the main reliances of the patriot army.

At Bunker Hill, Howe learned about this new method of warfare, and studied it, his later course in the Revolution are of the opinion he never forgot the lesson. He fairly again undertook a bayonet charge against the patriots when he found them strongly entrenched. They had taken that kind of fight completely out of him, and at least one military historian, Thomas G. Frothingham, is of the opinion that the starting experience he received at Bunker Hill might have had a great deal to do with his subsequent lack of initiative. True and again he had Washington's command against overwhelming numbers, and neglected his opportunity. The reason, says Frothingham, was Bunker Hill.

ODD FELLOWS OPEN NEW BUILDING HERE

The Odd Fellows' building, just completed, is declared to be the best of its kind in this section. The first floor is one large storeroom, 50x70 feet, which will rent for $100; or this floor can be divided into two rooms, 25 by 70 feet, each renting at $50. On the second floor are 12 modern office rooms, one of which has already been rented to C. H. Nichols, insurance company representative. Rent for these rooms averages $8 each. Light has been temporarily installed, and the entire building will be equipped with substantial light fixtures this month.

The lodge opens this building to rent, not in competition with others, but as a means of recovering the cost of erecting the structure.

This Gyro-Processed Gasoline Combines More POWER

With Higher Anti-Knock, Better Mileage and Improved ALL 'ROUND Performance

Under ordinary refining methods, power and mileage are usually reduced when anti-knock quality is increased. Gyro Vapor Phase refining, however, has made it possible to step up the anti-knock rating of New Purol-Pep without sacrificing other qualities. This regular price gasoline has an anti-knock rating equalling some "premium grades".

It also has extra power, extra mileage because Gyro-Processed gasoline contains more energy units per gallon than ordinary motor fuels. Energy units are what make power and mileage. New Purol-Pep also gives quicker starting and acceleration, because it's perfectly blended to vaporize easily, instantly and completely. Try a tankful of New Purol-Pep. Compare its all-around performance with other gasolines. You'll find it gives what you're looking for these days—more value for your money.

Tirolene MOTO OIL
Sealed in bottles for your protection. No danger of substitution when you buy Tirolene, the 100% Super-Passport anti-knock Oil that holds its body hard after ordinary oils have become thin. Tirolene maintains its body on it.

TRAIL SURFACING BEGUN THIS WEEK

Bull Mountain Detour Unnecessary Drying Wet Weather; Gravel Surface Proposed

The Major Trial between Prestonburg and Allen was closed Friday of this week when paving contractor, of this part of the trail began work. Traffic is making the detour between the two towns over the Bull Mountain road, which recently was graded and sealed, but wet weather all week had slowed the road in im-factory condition. Improvements were made Thursday if the Bull Creek route is to be given gravel surfacing as well as first proposed, but definite answer was not forthcoming. Mr. and Mrs. (Minnie) Sellards and little daughter, of Lexington, arrived Sunday for a visit with Mr. Sellards' mother, Mrs. Maggie Sellards. Mr. Sellards will spend the next two days here, returning the day of the next of Lexington, speaking with the Experiment Station, College of Agriculture, at the University of Kentucky.

How They Teach Geography in Oregon

ORDINANCE

At a regular meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, June 6, 1932, the following ordinance imposing license tax on omnibus trucks and other motor propelled vehicles:

signed by the President will have the inevitable effect of increasing many retail prices," continued Mr. Carter. The thrifty will see the wisdom of taking advantage of the prevailing low prices...

These 31 school children of Oregon are learning their geography in a highly modern as well as interesting manner. The picture puzzle map of the United States is 36 feet long and 19 feet wide. Each state is a separate block. The new method of teaching geography, it is said, not only holds the pupils' interest, but teaches them graphically the relative sizes of the states and their locations.

Upon motion of Sam L. Sprague, seconded by P. H. Allen and carried unanimously the following ordinance was passed: BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS: 1. That each person, firm, association or corporation using automobiles, trucks, motor-propelled vehicles, or motor-propelled fire goods, wares, merchandise, other property of value within the city limits of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, shall pay an annual license tax as follows on each such truck or vehicle, as follows:

IN MEMORY OF MRS. SALLIE HAGANS

Although expected, no greater shock and sorrow has been experienced by Maytown citizens, than news of the passing of Mrs. Tom Hagans, Friday, June 8, near noon at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, death due largely to gallstones.

Mrs. Hagans, who was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hatfield, was born May 11, 1867; age, 67 years at death. In August, 1888, she was married to Tom Hagans, who survives, as do the following sons and daughters: William and Johnnie Hagans, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Lee Frasier, Shelby; Mrs. Tom Martin, Northern; Mesdames, Dial, Saltbury, Orylle, Horner and Hugh Boland, Langley; the following brothers and sisters: Newt, Rattiff, Mansfield, T. L. Rice, Emery, L. S. and Tom Rattiff, all of Eubank, Ky.; Mrs. Dan's Prater, Haysville, and Mrs. Bill Rattiff, Langley. Four children preceded Mrs. Hagans to the grave: Mrs. Jim Clark and Miss Ross Hagans, also two babies.

Funeral services were conducted in the presence of a large congregation of sorrowing friends, and relatives from the Wilson Creek Baptist Church, Friday, June 10, by Rev. A. L. Allen and Rev. Malcolm Wright. Interment was made in the Garfield cemetery.

Mrs. Hagans was known and loved as "Aunt Duck" by many who share the grief of the immediate family. She joined the Baptist Church 28 years ago, and was a devout and faithful member to the end, ever an example of true Christian living, calm and content, kind and thoughtful; a loving wife, devoted mother, loyal friend and neighbor. Her intense desire to live to see all her children grown and safely launched upon the pathway of life was granted. She had commended both soul and life to God and calmly announced that his will in the end would be hers. Those who knew her, but were conscious of her willingness to go, Her beautiful Christ-like spirit remains.

NOTICE: Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against the estate of the late Mrs. Sallie Hagans are hereby notified to present their claims, properly verified and sworn to, to the undersigned, either with John W. Candill, Executor, at his residence in Prestonsburg, Ky., or to the undersigned, at his residence in Pikeville, Ky.

MARION WALL, Attorney at Law, 111 Hall Estate Bldg.

still, though the voice which gladdened the hearts of many is forever silent. Her loving devotion to her husband and children, her unselfishness and her cheerful countenance which ever gladdened the faces of her great love for flowers and generosity in sharing them with others will long be recalled by those blessed in knowing "Aunt Duck."

O husband, children, friends, Grieve not, though she is gone. The life she lived will here continue on and on.

In such a little while You all may join her there. If you but place yourselves In her dear Master's care. —(CONTINUED)—

BAPTIST WOMEN IN MEETING, JUNE 10TH

Women's Missionary Society of the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church met in regular session at the home of Mrs. A. J. Archer Friday, June 10, with Mrs. Archer and Mrs. C. W. May as joint hostesses.

Mrs. J. Basson Clarke, who was the leader for the evening's program, announced the subject, "Christian Education in Schools, Colleges and Academies Abroad," and was ably assisted by Mrs. John Hale, Mrs. J. D. Mayo, Mrs. C. H. Nichols, Mrs. Gray D. Ford, Mrs. A. B. Combs, Mrs. H. H. Holcomb, Mrs. Charles Hughes, Miss Ruth Nichols and Mrs. Anna Harris.

Many interesting talks of personal contact in Baptist schools were made by L. J. Harkins, Jr. At the close of the meeting, a delightful sing-a-long was held to the following: Mrs. Bill Hubbard, Mrs. P. J. Francis, Mrs. R. C. Clarke, Mrs. A. B. Combs, Mrs. H. C. Francis, Mrs. Charles Hughes, Mrs. C. H. Nichols, Mrs. O. P. Powers, Mrs. Grace D. Ford, Miss Ruth Nichols, Mrs. Anna Harris, Mrs. J. D. Mayo, Mrs. A. J. Archer, Mrs. Lou Burchett, Mrs. H. H. Holcomb, Miss Virgie M. McCoombs, Mrs. John Hale, Miss Louise Dunn.

All members are urged to be present at the next regular meeting which will be in charge of Miss Ruth Burchett and Mrs. Virgie McCoombs.

J. D. Harkins, Jr., arrived Wednesday evening from Ann Arbor, Mich., where he is a student at the University of Michigan, and will spend his summer vacation here with his parents, Attorney and Mrs. J. D. Harkins.

FRENCH VETERANS TO VISIT KENTUCKY
Louisville, Ky.—Bacon B. Moore, department commander of the American Legion of Kentucky, recently announced that the five hundred French veterans of the World War who will visit America, had included Kentucky on their itinerary. The visit will be made some time in September.

SENATE RETAINS ALL VETERANS BENEFITS
Louisville, Ky.—On Tuesday, June 7, the United States Senate by a vote of 63 to 14, voted to remove from the Senate Economy bill, all of article VII which would have reduced benefits now received by disabled veterans of the World War by approximately fifty million dollars.

The American Legion had waged an incessant campaign to see that the veterans' dues were eliminated from the bill, and, according to G. L. McChaffin, legislative chairman of the organization in Kentucky, the Legion can take credit for the part played in counteracting the propaganda sponsored by enemies of the veterans that had flooded the senate for many days prior to the bill's consideration.

Interesting Lights On The History Of The Big Sandy Walley, Given In Collins Book

The following is taken from Collins county seat; it is situated on Big Sandy river, about 71 miles from its mouth, 31 miles south of Louisville, Lawrence county, and 47 east of Floyd. The 40th of the counties of Kentucky in the order of formation was created in 1798 out of parts of Fleming, Montgomery and Mason counties, and named in honor of Col. John Floyd. Its territory was extended that from it has been formed the whole of Pike county in 1821, and parts of Clay in 1806, Martin in 1819, Perry in 1820, Lawrence in 1823, Morgan in 1822, Breathitt in 1826, Letcher in 1842, Johnson in 1845, Rowan in 1836, Boyd, Magoffin and Wolfe in 1860, Elliott in 1869, and Lee in 1870. Fifteen counties in all, it is situated in the east; the surface is mountainous, in some places reaching an elevation of 5000 feet; it abounds in rich and luxuriant timber, and the principal crop is corn, but wheat, oats and hay are cultivated. The mountains afford excellent range for sheep, hogs and cattle.

Towns—Prestonsburg (so called in honor of Col. John Preston, of Virginia, who owned the land) is the around Prestonsburg. The main bed which averages about four feet, with a clay parting, is rich in iron ore, which thickens, upstream towards the south to eight inches and thins down stream to half an inch is situated 70 to 80 feet above the bed of the Big Sandy river.

A bed of coal supposed to be a distinct bed crops out just above Prestonsburg, 58 feet above the river, which is of a compact, close texture, approaching cannel coal, and is different from the main coal in appearance, fracture, composition and roof. The coal bed of Col. Martin, two miles above Prestonsburg, on the east side of Big Sandy River, 60 feet above the river, has three to four feet of remarkably pure coal, but little changed in form in burning and has acted injuriously in a coal used for smelting iron. The main bed of coal is one of the best in Kentucky for manufacturing purposes. The Burnside Spring, 17 miles from Prestonsburg, emits continually a thick, sulphurous gas, and ignites instantly on the application of fire.

The first white visitors upon the territory of what now is Floyd county were probably one or more of the parties who came to western Kentucky at different dates before the Revolutionary War, in search of "Switz's Silver Mine."

In December, 1775, tax appears from deposition copied in the court records in 1798 of Mason county when that county extended over the entire Sandy River region and northern portion of Kentucky. Wm. Thornton, Jas. Fowler and Wm. McManis left Clinch River in southwest Virginia, on a bear hunting expedition, and came out through Little Paint Gap, thence on to the head of Shelby

CIVIL WAR VETERAN LEARNING TO DRIVE

Knoxville, Tenn., June 15—An 87-year-old Civil War veteran is now taking lessons at the Chevrolet agency here to learn how to drive the first automobile he ever owned. As soon as he has mastered the few simple operations, he is going to nose the car toward the Pacific coast and with his wife perched on the front seat beside him, he and his 88-year-old mate are going to see places for the first time in their lives.

They will go to Texas first, and then to California, and on some days will call on some of their immediate family, of whom there are twelve living children, fifty grandchildren and seventy great-grandchildren.

Male and hearty, smoking a cigar and with a springtime sparkle in an unlined eye, R. M. Perry, the veteran, swung down automobile way here recently with a firm and purposeful stride.

Perhaps the patriotic fervor which plunged him into the Civil War impelled him to do battle now against the depression by attempting the work and wages, which a new car represents. Perhaps he wanted to get under the wire before the sales tax was added to the cost of his car. Or it might have been simply that springtime urge.

At any rate, he filed a four-hour sedan on the floor of the Stiles, Chase, and Sons' store, he filed its books and the way it sounded and the ease with which he could learn to drive.

Witness my hand this 8 day of June, 1932. (Continued on page eight)

"SIX CYLINDERS NO MORE—NO LESS," says America

Anything more and you sacrifice economy—anything less and you sacrifice smoothness.

BUYERS everywhere are comparing low-priced cars. Lifting hoods. Counting cylinders. And the result? An overwhelming verdict for the six, in preference to cars of fewer or more cylinders.

"SIX CYLINDERS. No more—No less!" And America backs up that conviction by purchasing more six-cylinder Chevrolets—far more than any other type of low-priced car. Since January 1st, buyers have chosen more Chevrolet Sixes than the combined total of all fours and all eights priced under $1000.

Why such decisive preference? America knows its automobiles... and America has found that real economy and real smoothness can be combined in only one type of engine: the SIX!

With more than six cylinders, you sacrifice Chevrolet's famous economy of gas, oil and upkeep.

With less than six cylinders, you sacrifice built-in smoothness.

But with a six—a Chevrolet Six—nothing is sacrificed. You get everything you want.

You get economy—the greatest all-round economy available in today's motor car market.

You get smoothness—the built-in smoothness that makes driving really restful and enjoyable.

You get power, too—60 horsepower. And speed—65 to 70 miles an hour, easily! And sink-up—a smooth, lightning-fast getaway from a standstill to 35 miles an hour in less than 7 seconds!

So, when buying a new low-priced car, settle the question of cylinders RIGHT, and you can't go WRONG. "SIX CYLINDERS. No more—No less!"

In addition to a six-cylinder engine, Chevrolet provides Power Wheeling; Syncro-Mesh shifting; big, spacious Flexite bodies. Due to new reduced prices you'll be money ahead buying a new Chevrolet instead of keeping the old car another season.

Veterans in 'Bonus Army' Wear Medals on Tattered Uniforms at Capital Camp

A graphic story of the "bonus army" campers and conditions under which they are living in Washington was told Thursday by County Attorney Joe P. Tackett, who made a tour of the three camps, in which 17,000 bonus men are quartered.

"Except for poor shelter and lack of cooking conveniences, the boys," Mr. Tackett said, "are living the Army life. They have their own military police, maintain perfect order and police the ground, so that surroundings are clean."

But the plight of the veterans in most camps is pitiful in the extreme. Mr. Tackett said, "The majority are poorly dressed, and it is no unusual sight to see veterans wearing on their bonus medals earned by bravery in action but pinned to tattered old army uniforms."

A portion of the "army" is engaged in small games, but thousands have been obliged to take shelter in the rain. These are the "bonus boys" who are being kept out of the camps by the government.

Other veterans have been obliged to sleep in the open, and some of them have died of exposure. In many instances, the boys are being kept out of the camps by the government.

These men, Mr. Tackett said, are being kept out of the camps by the government. They are being kept out of the camps by the government.

SIXTH STRAIGHT WIN FOR P'BURG

Prestonsburg, power at the bat Sunday in the game here with Salysville spoiled a fine record established in previous games this year by the young collection, Williams of Morehead State Normal. He retired in the first inning with only two men out, after Collins, Prestonsburg lead-off man, had come up again for the second time.

Then Prather took up the pitching burden for Salysville, and, though not slugged so unmercifully as was Williams, was hit plenty hard and often. His successor, Ferguson, found the going equally tough. Neither pitcher was accorded good support by the Salysville infield, though the work of the visiting outfield left no room for complaint of any kind.

And while the local swingers of the mace were going about their tasks so manfully "Yankee" Wells was again left-handing his way to another pitched victory. This time he held the opposition to six scattered hits, and gave a run. His support was less, and with the exception of a pronounced weakness on running down base runners trapped on the paths, the Prestonsburg team worked like a machine.

508 BOYS AND GIRLS ATTEND JUNIOR WEEK AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Five hundred and eight 4-H club members from 82 counties, attending the 12th annual Junior Week at the University of Kentucky June 7-11. They enrolled in short courses, in agriculture and home economics, demonstrated improved practices, for the farm and the home, engaged in contests and games, and enjoyed a week of education, recreation and inspiration at the state's leading educational institution.

Lillian Odin and Jeanette Hammond, of Simpson county, won the championship in demonstrating agricultural practices, and Vera Nelle Pottinger and Hilda Mansfield, of Motracken county, took similar honors demonstrating home economics practices. Fulton county won the livestock demonstration division, Garrard county the crop production division, Shelby county the dairy section, and Simpson county the poultry division. The Boyle county team stood first demonstrating foods, and Mr. Cracker county demonstrating in the clothing and room improvement division. Thirty-five county teams demonstrated agricultural practices and 30 county teams demonstrated home economics.

Leon Burnett and Morris Smith, both of Meade county, placed first in the health contest and will represent Kentucky in a national contest in Chicago. Mavis, Rattiff, of Pike county, won the style show and will enter a national show in Chicago. Edith Fox, Harlan county, was the best judge of baked foods, and Dixie Abraham, Jefferson county, the best judge of canned foods. Faye White of Boyd county, was given special honors for her outstanding activities during the week.

New officers of the Kentucky Association of 4-H Clubs are Julia Ackinson, Nicholas county, president; Veda Byrnsdale, Marion county, vice-president; and Juanita Parsons, Pike county, secretary.
