BIDS SOUGHT ON BEAVER HIGHWAY FOR JULY 27TH

Road to Be Constructed From Warco to Knott County Line

ROUTE IMPORTANT

Advertising for bids in the week's issue of The Times on grade and drainage of the Knott county road and drainage of the remainder of the Right Beaver road, the state highway completion series all doubt as to completion of the highway.

The project on which bids are sought is a Warren and extends from Allen to Warco in Knott county line at Lacey, a distance of approximately 10.1 miles. Bid will be received by the commission until 10 o'clock, July 27.

The plan of this highway from Allen to Warco was completed in 1929 and has since that time been in use. It is a gravel surface and is traversible in all kinds of weather. Approximately 10.1 miles of the Knott county road has also been graded.

The road has been graded, beginning at Hindman, all the right-of-way has been purchased, and it is held certain that this road, a part of one of the most important routes in Kentucky, will soon be complete from Hindman to Allen.

Grading of concrete on the Maye trail between Allen and Prestonsburg has not been begun yet, widening of the highway opposite Dwyale, during the attention of the contractors to date. Early actual paving began the trail will be open to traffic at night from 6 o'clock on, it is expected.

The road will be in excellent shape in dry weather with the exception of one or two spots. It was said last week that gravel would be applied wherever the necessity demands.

PIKE TAXPAYERS ORGANIZE LEAGUE

Organization of the Pike County Taxpayers League was perfected Saturday, Ashland business men who are active in the Boy County Taxpayers League assisting in the organization, was the case when the Pike County Taxpayers League was formed here recently.

The meeting was held in the courthouse and was attended by influential business men from Pikeville and throughout the county. Roy Roberts, president of the league, presented a report on the tax situation in Pike county. He reported that for the year 1932 a total amount of taxes assessed in Pike county for all purposes was $1,000,000. The report further showed that the amount collected for the year 1932 was in excess of $900,000.

A number of addresses were made after the organization was effected and much interest was manifested. Those attending the meeting from Ashland were W. H. Dewberry, W. A. Field, Frank Yates, Judge W. A. Hahn, E. H. Brothers, R. L. Yessou and M. F. Field.

In organizing the Pike County Taxpayers League, the method adopted in Floyd county was followed with the exception of one particular. As in the private organization in Floyd county any taxpayer can join for nothing, but in Pike county the price of admission is $1. As evidence of the interest manifested, nearly every citizen attending the meeting walked up to the desk and his dollar for the privilege of belonging to this splendid organization.

C. & O. IS WINNER IN $50,000 SUIT

Judge Wheeler Finds for Defendant in Action Filed by B. L. C. May

At the trial here in circuit court Tuesday of the suit in which B. L. C. May, Albertville, sought to recover $50,000 damages from the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company in the death April 9, 1931, of his son, Thomas C. May, Judge C. B. Wheeler, after taking the case from the jury, pronounced a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Judge Wheeler held that it had not been shown in the testimony that the youth was killed by a train of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, but that the death was caused by the negligence of the defendant.

The suit alleged that the victim was killed by the train a short distance from the Stephens Branch tunnel and that the whistle was not blown nor the bell rung as the train approached the crossing where the tragedy took place, as required. The plaintiff testified that his son left home to go to Warco to work about midnight, and a brother of the victim stated that he heard his brother cough when approximately 20 feet from the tracks which he was approaching. Garrett Haldridge, charged with cutting and wounding Eddie Hackworth, was fined $25 Tuesday in circuit court. Both Haldridge and Hackworth were fined $100 and sentenced to jail term, of 30 days each for possessing liquor.

LEAGUE TITLE

Wins Decisive Game Sunday Over Louisa, 7 to 6

We "boos" who have been waiting and praying for a real, old-time baseball game in all its fineness here these many Sundays should have accompanied the Prestonsburg team of the Big Sandy League to Louisa Sunday. The game there would have gratified our fondest wishes.

The contest went twice innings and ended, 7 to 6, with Prestonsburg squeezing over a run in the fateful seventh by dint of keen baserunning and a hit and later maddening a Louisa rally in the most unexpected and dramatic manner.

And, by the way, that victory clinched the league championship for this half for Prestonsburg. Eight victories and not a defeat—the most record ever established by a Prestonsburg team.

Kelly, starting the game for Prestonsburg, held Louisa well in hand until the fourth. In this inning Louisa drove out three hits which, mixed with an error, were good for three runs. At the end of the seventh Prestonsburg was leading, 6 to 1. Kelly, in the seventh, pitched a slipper ball in the seventh, pitched Kelly's down fall. A double by Varney, leading off, and Scott's triple, knocked Wells in. In the eighth, Kelly pitched a fast pitch for Prestonsburg. Thompson, first to face the left fielder, hit a single through second. Two more runs were in. And thereafter there was nothing doing for the Louisa outfielders in the matter of run-getting.

While Louisa was doing all this, Prestonsburg trailed right up into the ninth. In the second Harris doubled and was singled home by Harlow. The latter made it 6 to 2, to make Prestonsburg two runs for the inning. In the fifth the bench made another run on two hits by Curran and Castle. The latter following himself of a double. Three hits and two runs in the eighth left Prestonsburg still a run shy of a tie. Castle doubled, Harlow singled and Wells hit another two-bagger that's how the trick was worked. Curran's single, and Miller's double in center mangled up that other run in the ninth necessary to prolong the game.

Throughout the tenth and eleventh the game went, Wells pitching for Prestonsburg and Patton on the mound for Louisa. Instead of Wells, and no runs. Then the twelfth, Harlow walked with two out, stole second and bag third when Wells singled to Parsons at short, Harlow scoring.

And now to protest that this lead, Parsons and Saw singled and Thompson walked with two out. The bases Clark, L. S. Miles, H. F. Patton were full, with Miller on the lead. Parsons hit the ball, but it failed to go on with Prestonsburg's Washington, Correlli Whitler, H. M. "Mighty Alford," Curran, Miller, Boyers, Don Decker, A. D. Corbett, Prestonsburg infielder, singled J. J. Harber, Josie Wright, Russell Curran to a throw to first after he had singled. Paul Francis, H. C. Fraught observed Thompson's slip of the foot. W. F. Mayo, Misses Ruth Niemi, Tom the left fielder, standing on the base, saw the ball. Parsons, who had failed to go on with Prestonsburg, our clown, and the game was over.

Both teams played great ball, but the Louisa men probably having a leg. Edie Marrett, Lily Strong, Susan Shinn, and Harlow, tried countermeasures, had to get out of the game. Mrs. Virgil Prector left recently for Louisa can outmatch the pros yet. This game, it will furnish still other thrills.

WAYLAND DEFEATS VAN LEAR, 2 TO 1

Wayland, Ky., June 27 (Sp)Wayland defeated Van Lear in a close game Sunday, 2 to 1. The feature of the game was the pitching of Jess Ratliff, whose reputation is mainly that of a hard-hitting catcher. The Van Lear team scattered his wild hits, his teammates made seven hits off Lambert.

The game was called twice on account of rain, but the boys on each occasion went back to play all the harder after each shower. The Van Lear boys made in the fifth inning, when table walked, went to ground on a talk and scored on Welch's hit. Wayland also scored in the fifth. Sunday July 3, Wayland plays Saturdays at Wayland.

CHARITY BAKETEERING

There are people in Prestonsburg who should be ashamed of themselves for asking for Red Cross flour.

It is quite evident that many persons who had no right to receive any of this flour applied for their share and received it.

The flour has not all been distributed and certain days will be designated by the local Red Cross officials during the coming weeks when flour will be given away. It is to be hoped on these occasions many Prestonsburg people will use reason to reform.

This flour has been sent to Prestonsburg to be distributed among the poor and needy. Any one who is not in need of the flour for actual subsistence of life is not really in want.

The local chapter officials have distributed the flour to the best of their ability. The flour had been applied for by four in spite of the fact that it is impossible for these persons personally to investigate every claim for aid which is presented, although they have learned some discouraging things after the flour had been applied for.

It is impossible for the Red Cross to be every applicant for flour. Are you wondering: Do you need this flour to get along? Did any one else in your family get flour today? Can you buy it?

Beyond these questions, it is impossible for the Red Cross to be inquiring the cost of distribution. But it is certain that many who are anxious to have abused their privileges will not go through when they apply again, even though they do in giving answers to the questions.

An incident is related of a man applying for flour in spite of the fact that he had between four and five thousand dollars in the bank. It had been sold one man exchanged flour for sugar.

The blame in these instances of charity racketeering can not be laid upon the persons distributing the flour. The blame must be laid on the shoulders of those who had when they answered the questions asked them at the warehouse. In several cases there is one family here applying for flour the same day.

Have those charity racketeers no conscience? Do they not realize they are taking flour from people who are actually in need?

This may go on for some time, but it is hoped that the Red Cross will be able to stop it.

BUY TIRES BEFORE PRICES GO HIGHER, FIRESTONE URGES

Our owners at this city were strongly urged today by A. C. Carter, of the Carter Motor Sales, local Firestone dealers, to buy tires now in preparation for their Fourth of July automobile trips.

"There is no reason this year," said Mr. Carter, "why anyone should risk spoiling his holiday enjoyment by driving on worn and unsafe tires. Motorists now have a wonderful opportunity to equip their automobiles with new tires at the lowest prices in history. With an excess tax on tires and tubes effective June 21, it is unlikely that the chance to buy at the prevailing low range of prices will continue much longer.

"With the Fourth of July holiday close at hand and with an eventual increase in price inevitable, no one should miss this unusual opportunity. The pleasure you derive from a new holiday trip over the Fourth depends on your tires. It is the wisest economy to run your whole day through the fire failure. The money saved in trying to squeeze the last few miles out of a tire is insignificant compared with the expense and worry of an accident, with possible injury to the motorist and his family, as a result of a smooth or worn tire failing to stop the car in an emergency.

In addition to the present low cost of tires, sales here have been greatly increased. In Firestone tires, the gum-dipped cords, two extra gum-dipped cord plies under the tread, the extra tough slow wearing non-skid tread give the motorist the lowest cost per tire sale in history. These are construction features found in no other make of tire.

NEW POSTOFFICE HERE OCCUPIED

Though not officially accepted by building inspectors of the postoffice department, the new postoffice building here was occupied Wednesday by Mrs. Ella C. Ferguson, postmistress, and staff. Inspectors are expected here daily to give the building the final O.K.

Construction of this building has added to Prestonsburg one of the finest edifices of its kind in this section. Architectural design and workmanship alike are excellent. Constructed of brick, the structure is 70 feet long and 50 feet in width. In the basement are rooms for storage, heating apparatus, etc., while the first floor contains the large room devoted to the postoffice proper, the postmaster's office, a public lobby and mailing vestibule. Appointments of this section of the building are particularly convenient. On the second floor, in addition to five large offices, there is a large reception room. Improvement of the grounds surrounding the postoffice will come with the development of a lawn. As the rear of the building is a special parking space of concrete for postal employees' cars, etc.

The building was constructed by the J. C. Miller Company, Campbellsville, Ky., with R. S. Thompson superintendent in charge of construction.

Spice in Sports

By BRL LEACH, June 22
What constitutes a winning ball club? Why aren't "all-star" teams always on the top? What is the importance of balance, spirit and courage in the make-up of a major league club? In short, why are the Boston Braves, never figured in the National League pennant race before the start of the season, now making a grim and determined fight for the flag? Can the Braves keep up the pace? These are some of the important questions that have arisen from the sensational mix-up in the National League this season, a mix-up that has wriggled, and is still wriggling, a grand struggle between all eight of the clubs. The present situation is almost unique in baseball; and a large part responsible to the effect which Boston's gallant stand has had on the entire circuit.

There are no mediocre players with the Boston Braves. Every one of them is capable, if not sensational. They play together and do not allow petty jealousies to break down the morals of the squad. There are no "prima donnas" to be petted and caajoled, no internal frictions. The Braves are out to win every game and their spirit on the field is a sight to behold. The loss of a game doesn't throw the team into despondency, it only makes them try harder the following day.

As we said last week, the temporary loss of Chick Hefey and El Johnson could not have come at a more inopportune time and was partly responsible for the team's slump. The club has been playing under most discouraging conditions all season, enough to break the morale of the players, but his nevertheless come up well under the strain. The team has just as much spirit and courage as Bill McKeehan's Braves and possesses a punch that Boston cannot assemble. That goes for every other club in the league also. During these recent stormy days, the courage and pep of Leo Duracher, Babe Herman and Eric Bombard stand out at the guiding principle behind the Reds' playing. Now, with the club fully recovered the entire team is expected to share the winning spirit.

PREVENTION OF SUMMER COMPLAINT

(By JAMES W. BRUCE, M. D., Louisville, Ky.)

Before entering into a discussion of this subject it will be well to define just what we mean by "Summer Complaint." This is a lay term, but it has come to be quite definitely identified with the diarrhoeal disorders of infancy and childhood commonly known as Gastro-Intestinal Infections or Fermentative Diarrhoea. Whether the term also covers the group of disorders known as colitis or dysentery is open to question, but the latter will not be discussed in this paper. Summer complaint is essentially a disease of hot weather—hence the name. The heated atmosphere depresses the infant's digestive mechanism to such an extent that food lies in the upper bowel in a half-digested state and falls easy prey to bacteria. These bacteria ferment carbohydrates and fat and form lactic, butyric and other acids which irritate the gut and cause diarrhoea. No specific organism is involved. Normal inhabitants of the lower bowel (coliforms, proteus, streptococci, etc.) invade the upper bowel and attack the food mass, which has been partially digested by workaday enzymes.

Considering the disease from the point of view of its pathogenesis we will all agree that anything that will make food cleaner and more digestible will help prevent summer complaint. Let us consider, first, things that make it more digestible.

The first and most important factor in keeping baby's food clean is the routine boiling of all milk fed during the hot months, i. e., June to October. Milk brought to the boiling point is sterile for all practical purposes. A few spores escape, but all pathogenic organisms are killed. If the bottled milk is immediately poured into sterilized bottles and capped and put on ice or into a spring house, there is little chance for bacterial contamination. Milk prepared in this way will keep for days without souring. There are two objections to boiling milk. Both are easily overcome. The first is that it kills the anti-scurvy vitamin C. However, fresh milk contains little of this vitamin anyhow and infants should receive fresh orange juice or tomato juice every day to prevent scurvy. Secondly, boiled milk is constipating. This is a serious objection, especially where the infant is already constipated. It is overcome by judiciously increasing the sugar content of the food or by adding one to the liquid malt preparations. Thus, this can usually be overcome. Inhabitants of the lower bowel (coliforms, proteus, streptococci, etc.) invade the upper bowel and attack the food mass, which has been partially digested by workaday enzymes.

Considering the disease from the point of view of its pathogenesis we will all agree that anything that will make food cleaner and more digestible will help prevent summer complaint. Let us consider, first, things that make it more digestible.

put away until next day. Baboos nipples are a frequent cause of trouble. Thrush is caused by a fungus which finds a good breeding place in unboiled nipples. Once a nipple has been used it should never be put back into baby's mouth until it has been scoured and boiled. This applies to the nipple on the water bottle as well as to those on milk bottles. It seems superfluous to speak of screening the baby and his food from flies and yet this is so often overlooked that it bears repetition.

Turning now to our second point, how can we make baby's food more digestible? Here again boiling the milk is of the greatest importance. Boiled milk is more digestible than raw milk. This can be readily demonstrated. If an infant is taking his full capacity of bottled milk and the boiling is stopped, the infant will almost surely have indigestion. On the other hand, if a raw milk formula is boiled so digestive upset will occur except constipation.

The use of lactic acid milk or buttermilk as a preventive of summer complaint has received a great deal of attention in recent years. We know from experience that these sour milks do agree with infants better than sweet milk. It is harder to say why this is so. The most likely theory of explanation is that of the high "buffer" value of sweet as contrasted with sour milk. Briefly it is as follows: Sweet milk contains large amounts of alkaline salts. When these salts come in contact with the hydrochloric acid in the infant's stomach, they neutralize a great deal of it and thus make it difficult for the child to produce the degree of gastric acidity which is best suited for gastric digestion. These alkaline salts are called "buffer salts." On the other hand, with sour milk, these buffer salts have already been neutralized by lactic acid and so the infant does not have the same difficulty in producing the desired acid state in its stomach at which gastric digestion proceeds most smoothly. The action in the intestines, front of the bacteria which produce, sour milk is probably of minor importance.

There are four ways of making lactic acid milk or buttermilk in common use, and it will be worth while to discuss them briefly.

Charms as it is practiced on the farm. The disadvantage of this process is that the milk is never at any time sterile although the rapid production of lactic acid inhibits the growth of most pathogenic organisms. Also, the proportion of fat is never definitely known.

RECORD ATTENDANCE PREFERRED FOR MIDDLEBORO MEETING

Middleboro, Ky.,—Hundreds of requests for information about Middleboro have been received during the last week from Legionnaires contemplating attending the convention of The American Legion, Department of Kentucky, here July 23, 26 and 27, and advance reservations insure a record attendance, according to F. L. Hambley, chairman of the publicity committee of the Legion convention.

Hundreds of those who usually attend national conventions, due to the great distance to Portland, Ore., the scene of this year's national Legion gathering, and the untaxed suffering from the economic pinch, have comprehended upon a three-day visit to the state gathering at Middleboro, and arrangements have been made to see that all are given every opportunity to enjoy the majestic beauty of the mountain town.

J. C. Chambers, honing chairman, stated that he has sufficient facilities to care for every delegate, alternate and visitor that wishes to attend the convention, and insists that he will comfortably house three thousand guests.

J. C. Looney, the "Burgoo King," will cook the burgoo for the big Fourth of July celebration of W. O. Johnson Post No. 99, American Legion, Louisville. Over 3,000 World War veterans and visitors are expected to attend the Eastern Kentucky Legion celebration.

The Hazard Rifle Club of Perry Post No. 128, American Legion, met at The Tavern on last Wednesday night and selected officers, as follows: E. B. Collins, president; James W. Wootton, vice-president; Fulton F. Lamb, executive officer; G. C. Vance, secretary; and Theo. Fields, treasurer.

Floyd Post No. 128, American Legion, Prestonsburg, is planning a big Independence Day celebration. A baseball game, parade, band concert, fireworks, and reunion of World War veterans in Floyd county will feature the day. The arrangements are in charge of C. E. Corbin, commander of the Post.

Johnson County Post No. 117, American Legion, Paintsville, is making elaborate preparations to entertain several thousand people at a picnic on Independence Day. Business and Professional clubs of the city are cooperating.

Louisville, Ky.—F. H. Hayden, Jr., department adjutant of the Kentucky department of the American Legion, recently reported to Department Commander Byron B. Moore that sufficient membership cards had been received at department headquarters, to put the state over one hundred per cent of the 1932 membership quota assigned by the national headquarters of the organization. The national headquarters quota was based upon an increase over the 1931 quota of twenty per cent.

Mr. F. Miller, department membership chairman, stated that while he would have been more pleased to have shown a greater increase over 1931 at this time, he realized that economic conditions were such throughout the state that the Legion had really accomplished a most satisfactory victory in exceeding the national quota. "Only the hard work of past officers and diverse Legionnaires in each of one one hundred and forty-seven active posts of the organization in Kentucky made possible the honor roll position of the department," Chairman Miller said.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Van Petten and sons, of Ashland, are guests of Mrs. Van Petten's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Archer.

Spring and Summer Breakfasts Should Be Interesting, Varied

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON, Director, Home Food Institute

THE breakfast menu is usually more difficult to vary than that of other meals. It is easy to serve the same foods over and over again, but who wouldn't dread breakfast if they knew that every day they would see at the breakfast table exactly what was there yesterday? Fruits, cereals, breadstuffs and hot dishes should be varied. Be sure to utilize seasonable fruits and change the menu to appeal to appetites of various seasons. Spring and summer breakfasts may be especially interesting for there is a wealth of appropriate foods from which to choose. The following menus furnish interesting, well-balanced breakfasts:

- Whole Strawberries with Powdered Sugar
- Rice Flakes
- Crisp Bacon
- Surprise Muffins*
- Coffee
- Sliced Fresh Pineapple
- Butter
- Rice Flake Waffles*
- Pure Apple Butter
- Syrup
- Coffee
- Spanish Omelet*
- Hot Rolls
- Coffee
- Halves of Cantaloupe
- Fluffy Omelet with Tomato Sauce

Redistricting Statute Is Attacked in Suit

Suit contesting the validity of the 1932 Act redistricting the state into nine Congressional districts was filed in the United States court for the Eastern District of Kentucky at Frankfort recently.

The suit, brought by James J. Hume, a coal operator, charges inequality of representation in the various districts, according to his attorney. It points out that the new First district has a population of 238,807; Second, 338,317; Fourth, 228,314; Sixth, 317,551; Seventh, 235,508; and Ninth, 332,860.

The other districts not mentioned in the petition are the Third, Jefferson county, with a population of 337,350; Fifth, 240,203; and Eighth, 288,108.

In event Mr. Hume wins his suit, it was pointed out, the nine Congressmen from Kentucky to be elected in November would be chosen from the state at large, the party carrying the state probably winning the entire state Congressional delegation.

The 1932 Legislature passed the act attacked in Mr. Hume's suit to revise the Kentucky delegation in Congress from eleven to nine members as required under a Congressional reapportionment law based on the 1930 census.

Under the new reapportionment based on the 1930 census, a population of 287,000 is required to make a Congressional district.
