KY. CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING ACT IS ADJUDGED VOID

Ruling Throws State Political Situation Into Legal Hodge-Podge

MARTIN MAKES OFFER
A majority of the board of federal judges, sitting in consideration of the validity of the Congressional redistricting bill, Wednesday held that the act is unconstitutional.

As a result of this decision, Congressional candidates must run from the state at large instead of from the several districts. The state courts may be called upon to decide the manner in which nominees are to be selected.

Federal Judge Moorman, in commenting upon the fact that certain candidates have not filed from the state at large, said that he saw no reason why a candidate who failed to file in the state at large is not eligible to run, since at the time of the filing there was no machinery in the law set up to prescribe against running from the several districts.

In Louisville Tuesday Ex-Senator George B. Martin, Catlettsburg, announced that he would withdraw his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator against Senator Albert W. Barkley, if Senator Barkley would take a definite stand supporting the plank in the platform of the Democratic party against prohibition.

Frankfort, Ky., July 11.—Election of Kentucky, nine Congressmen was in the hands of a three-judge federal court tonight after a hearing today on the question whether an unconstitutional act of the 1932 Legislature was valid.

By association, Congressmen in many other states may be affected by the decision in this case.

SCHOOL PER CAPITA THIS YEAR TO BE $7

One Dollar More Than That of Last Year, It Was Said by Supt. Richmond

Frankfort, Ky., July 20.—A $7 per capita for the school year 1932-33, was announced this week for Kentucky by James Richmond, state superintendent of public instruction. Last year it was $6.

The $7 represents the sum the state will afford as the pro rata share of the common school fund to which each pupil child is entitled. It was estimated upon a census of 710,500 pupils, and upon an estimated income of $4,482,500,000 plus the balance in the school fund of $297,470,571 on June 30.

Major W. M. Blackburn, of this place, last week received his appointment as postmaster of the new postoffice building at this place, which was being connected with the appointment. This was submitted by a number of applicants for the position.

JOHN BUD HARRIS'S SUCCUMBS SUNDAY

John Bud Harris, 45 years old, member of one of Floyd county's old families, died at his home on Stephens Street, this county, at 1 o'clock Sunday morning after an illness of eight months.

Mr. Harris was the son of the late J. H. Harris, Sr., and was born and reared in this county. He was a farmer, and for years was engaged in sawmilling. Through his business relations with citizens of this section and elsewhere, he had gained a high respectability by all who knew him.

Mr. Harris was thrice married—first, to Miss Josie Mayo, who died in 1896; three children surviving; next in 1907 to Miss Florence Burnett, in which union six children were born, and following the death of his second wife he was married to Miss Fanny Collins, of Johns Creek, who survives. To this union five children were born, the eldest preceding him in death.

MRS. HOPKINS DIES AT MARTIN MONDAY

Mrs. Mary Hopkins, widow of the late James Hopkins, of Harrod, passed away in her 74th year at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, Monday morning, following an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Hopkins was a member of one of the most aristocratic families in this section, and was one of Floyd county's best women. She was a daughter of the late William Little, of Left Beaver Creek. Mrs. Hopkins became a member of the Regular Baptist Church 35 years ago and lived a devoted Christian life until death.

Surviving her are three sons and five daughters: John, W. D. and McKinley Hopkins, Mrs. John Franklin, Mrs. Marion Hall, Mrs. W. S. Johns, Mrs. J. M. Strubbe and Mrs. Henry McCown. Funeral services were given Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home here by Rev. E. H. Hall, E. A. Hopkins and Jerry Hall, and burial was made in the family cemetery at Harrod.

ANONYMOUS TIP TRAPS SLAYER

Negro Taken at Wayland for Murder in 1929; Confesses Guilt

An anonymous letter from Wayland to Jailer W. A. Diggins resulted in the arrest last Thursday of Mar. Vin Sullivan, negro, confessed slayer of another negro named George at Wayland in 1929. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Ben Laidlaw and Detective Verle Banks, of Garrettsville.

Writer of the letter stated that Sullivan committed the murder between the years 1927 and 1929, and gave his home number in Wayland. The officers had no trouble in locating him.

In jail here, Sullivan admitted killing George, saying that he did so after the slayer had taken his "woman" and tried to hurt him when he went to the house where George and the woman were staying to recover some of his household goods. He said he left the county for a time after the killing took place, then returned to work in this county.

SLEEP AND A TIP FOIL JAIL DELIVERY PLAN

Heavy slumber and a tip probably averted a jail delivery here Sunday.

In the first place, Jailer W. A. Diggins had been told that a man named Ray Holt was coming to the jail as a visitor and that he planned to bring saw blades with him. He had been in the penitentiary a few days ago with Bernard Stephens, who is being held here for murder. So Jailer Diggins was awaiting his arrival, planning a warm welcome.

VAN LEAR MAN IS INJURED BY FALL

Kelly May Die, Result of Skull Fracture; Falls From Train

Jack Kelly, of Van Lear, is in the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, probably fatally injured as the result of a fall from a northbound coal train at midnight Sunday at the Middle Creek railroad bridge.

He was picked up along the track in the ambulances of E. P. Arnold. It was found that he had suffered a deep fracture at the base of the skull and also had a severe scalp laceration.

JUDGE WILLIS, O'REAR ARE VISITORS HERE

Judge S. S. Willis, Ashland, of the county court of appeal, and Judge C. O. O'Rear, Lexington, were visitors in the county while last week. Judge Willis is a candidate for reelection, having filed on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

CUTS THROAT AFTER VERDICT

Harvey Burton Attempt to Take Own Life After Death Verdict

Frankfort, Ky., July 18.—Five days after a jury in Elliot street court found his wife and sentencing him to death, Harvey Burton, 32, a farmer, attempted to take his own life by slashing his throat with a razor blade. He severed an artery and a vein, said by physicians to be in a critical condition.

When the death verdict was announced, Burton was led back to jail and apparently was not affected by the sentence. As the jailer closed the door of the cell Burton took a small box from his pocket, extracted the razor blade and slashed his throat before Jailer James DuVall could intervene.

SLEEP AND A TIP FOIL JAIL DELIVERY PLAN

Heavy slumber and a tip probably averted a jail delivery here Sunday.

Holt said he came here from Louisville. Arrival of Sheriff Adam Carpenter, of Magoffin county, and seven of his deputies here Wednesday afternoon gave officers here their first inkling that Holt was wanted elsewhere.

SHOOTING OF TWO, SCHOOL TRUSTEE RACE AFTERMATH

Marion Akers Believed Fatal Wounded Saturday; Brother Shot

The late school election played a prominent part in the shooting of two men, one probably fatally, late Saturday afternoon on the head of Little Mud Creek in this county.

TWO ARE ARRESTED

When Marion Akers and his brother Grant met Mark A. Yates and Lee Metcalf at the school building on the head of the creek, where the shooting took place, the four men entered upon a discussion of the election in which the Akers, supporter of Yates, and the Metcalfs, supporter of Metcalf, were brought into the picture.

BROWN EXECUTES BOND OF $10,000

Aaks New Trial; Others Granted Bond in Important Cases

Benj. G. Brown, convicted July 9 to George Brown, convicted in the Floyd circuit court two weeks ago of the murder of Henry Adams, and Floyd county farmer, pending action of Circuit Judge C. B. Wheeler on Brown's plea for a new trial.

Burt Thompson, held in the straits of his county, Mt. Vernon, in the murder of Charlie Johnson, was released Tuesday of this week under $10,000 bond to appear before the grand jury in September. Waiting examining trial in county court, three men charged with connection in the slaying of Lemmy Elton Brouder at the home of Mrs. Brouder at $2,000 bond and $500 bond for Lewis and $2,000 bond for Turner's store at this time, were each executing $2,000 bond for their appearance before the grand jury.

Washington Bi-Centennial Celebrated By the English

From England, the country whose King George Washington's opponents have come reports to the United States Commission Bicentennial Commission of sincere tributes to the memory of the first president of the United States as part of the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of his birth, a celebration which has found enthusiastic participants in sixty-seven countries, uniting the world in the greatest observance ever held in honor of a national hero.

Among the most interested of the English participants in the celebration are the people of the town of Washington, county Durham. These people are so proud of their connection with the Washington family that they are using every means at their command to honor George Washington.

It was in the town of Washington, where the Washington family had its origin in 1183 when William de Herburn came into possession of lands in that village. Following the custom of the time Herburn took the name of his new estate, then spelled Woesington, and became founder of the Washington family.

Through the activity of Frederick N. Hill, headmaster of Washington Biddick School, many bicentennial features have been carried out in the town and vicinity. Mr. Hill has delivered several lectures on Washington based on material published by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission. George Washington portraits also supplied by the United States Commission, have been framed and placed in public buildings of the town including the public library, the parish church, the George Washington lodge, Washington Freemasons, the Urban Council, the Washington Chemical Company Ltd., and several schools and other prominent buildings.

Mr. Hill, who is also a historian, is publishing a booklet giving the history of the town and tracing George Washington's descent from the original Washingtons.

School children in the town of Washington wear on their caps the Washington crest which is the same as George Washington's and the crest also hangs over the door of the Urban district council office and is used on the Urban district ambulances.

A suggestion, now under consideration, was made by Mr. Hill and William F. Doty, American consul at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, that the history of Washington, D. C., and five schools in the town of Washington exchange British and American flags.

Mr. Doty also reports that a special bicentennial program was held in the Stoll Theater in Newcastle at which Sir Thomas, mayor, noted British scholar, presided. Robert Barnes, minister of the Church of the Divine, delivered a lecture on George Washington which received favorable comment in the press. In his lecture, Reverend Barnes pointed out the fit was time to regard George Washington "as a great and noble British subject, but as a deliverer of vast millions of mankind."

Mayor Charles J. Scott, the aldermen and burgesses of the county of Borough of Northampton, sent to President Hoover, in honor of the occasion, complimentary addresses which included the following expression: "Whilst we are loyal to the Union Jack we have an especially strong affection for the Stars and Stripes. We are proud of the children of the old country who, in establishing the United States of America, founded the greatest republic in the world's history. We pray that our two peoples may ever be found working side by side in every movement for the promotion of the world's peace, and a spirit of international brotherhood."

The Bristol branch of the Geographical Association has erected a tablet marking the site from which Colonel Henry Washington, an ancestor of George Washington, directed the Royalist attack on the town in 1643. The tablet features the name of George Washington, a descendant of the Colonel, the American consul, Roy W. Baker, has declared his intention to decorate the memorial on July 4, every year, and has suggested that his successors continue the practice.

The American Legion, London commandery, placed a wreath on the bust of Washington in the crypt of St. Paul's cathedral, London. On that occasion the American consul general, Albert Hasstead, delivered an address on Washington.

The Manchester Reference Library at Piccadilly, Manchester, has an exhibition all the books in the library relating to George Washington. The display occupies three large show cases. Most of the books are opened at pages showing portraits of Washington or pictures of Mount Vernon and other places associated with him. A printed notice is also on display stating that literature published by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission is available to readers at the American consulate.

The exhibit will remain until the close of the celebration on Thanksgiving, November 24.

A notable bicentennial event in Manchester was the reception held by the American consul, A. B. Thompson, in the Midland Hotel. Among the hundred and fifty guests were the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayors (Councilors and Mrs. C. W. Wood), the Bishop of Manchester, and Americans residing in the district. The reception was noted in Manchester newspapers as an outstanding event.

The British press in general have commented on the occurrence of Washington's two hundredth birthday anniversary and remarked on the appropriateness of President Hoover's bicentennial address. The Manchester Guardian, one of the world's outstanding newspapers, ran a dignified complimentary editorial on the American. After summing up the good Washington accomplished for both America and England, the article concluded: "Today we may well be proud and glad that his statue stands in Trafalgar Square—looking toward the Parliament he once built into sense."

It is estimated that other bicentennial features will be carried out in all parts of England during the remaining months of the celebration.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING

(Ashland Daily Independent)

Members of Kentucky plan to complete the formation of a State Association at the meeting to be held in Lexington on July 19, at which representatives from all the larger cities and towns will assemble.

This organization had its inception last winter at Frankfort when the proposed state sales tax, which would have meant ruin for many Kentucky business men, was defeated. It would have become a law had not the merchants of the state, brought together by threatened adversity that was real and impending, united to defeat it.

Danger that there are being hatched similar plans to load undue taxation upon their shoulders is an added incentive to forming a permanent and strong organization. But there are many other reasons why they should have an association. Problems that are common to all of them can be worked out through committees. Personal contact and acquaintance among those from the various cities and sections, among those from the various cities and sections will bring about friendship and relation mutual and beneficial.

Ashland business men took a decided and definite part in the blocking of the sales tax during the last winter. The leader of the local delegation was Dr. C. H. Parsons, president of the Parsons-Pauling Company, of this city. It was his presentation of the merchants' case before the public hearing of the state senate committee that really turned the tide of legislative opinion against the administration's determined stand for the sales tax.

We understand that there is a strong sentiment among the merchants of Louisville, Lexington, Covington and Newport that Dr. Parsons is the man to head the organization as president. We certainly concur in that opinion and so do the members of the Ashland business men's Association. With this in view, it is proper that Ashland should send a large delegation to the Lexington meeting to show in a very definite way that Dr. Parsons' home city and section are behind him.

He is not seeking the office for his own sake and unless the position is given him with full support of the state's business community behind him, he would far rather it did not fall to his lot. He has made this statement publicly several times. But he is needed at the helm, just as the organization is needed in Kentucky.

We would be anxious to very little surprise if, after the November election, a special session of the Kentucky legislature were called to consider a war and marine, and other duties.

KEEP YOUR STEP
The AMERICAN LEGION

BIG ENTERTAINMENT PROGRAM ARRANGED FOR LEGION CONVENTION
Middleboro, Ky.—The Cumberland Mountains—that rugged and romantic region, rich in historic lore where the states of Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee meet, is all decided in summer holiday, ready to receive the thousands of veterans of the World War, who will attend the American Legion department convention at Middleboro, July 25, 26 and 27.

Arrangements have been completed for an elaborate program of entertainment. Two dances a banquet, the big drum and bugle corps, speeches, fireworks, golf tournaments and rifle matches are some of the features that are set for the big three-day veterans' meet. We expect to give the Legionnaires from all over Kentucky a real example of mountain hospitality. Our entertainment will be free to all registered guests. William B. Ralston, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The business session will be held in the auditorium of the Middleboro public school, which is one of the largest school auditoriums in Kentucky, and will seat over 1,000 persons. It is located in a corner of the business section of Middleboro.

J. C. Chambers, housing chairman, stated that he was housing the guests as fast as reservations were received and that rooms in each of the host hotels were available. "Middleboro has hotel facilities far in excess of any city it, also in Kentucky, and we will care for every person that attends the convention," the housing chairman said.

Sufficient entries have been received from the drum and bugle corps contest which is scheduled Monday night, July 25, to assure the Kentucky Legionnaires that this annual spectacle will be larger this year than the 1931 show at Lexington. Harry W. Spill, commander of the Middleboro Post of the American Legion, is chairman of the drum and bugle corps contest committee, and he has all details of the contest arranged.

Whiteburg, Delicton, refreshments were served.

Mrs. Walter Kouss, of Ashland, is visiting her mother this week.

Ida Marie Martin is home from Casey, where she has been attending school.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Little and Miss Adelle Huff, of Omar, W. Va., were visiting their father, J. W. Huff, of this place, recently.

Jimmie Hughes, who has been a patient at the Beaver Valley hospital, has returned home and is slowly recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Craft and son, Clinton, and Randall Hays were business visitors in Ashland Saturday.

BOSCO

A large crowd of the younger set were picking up the "High Rocks" Sunday. Those making the trip were: Ida Marie Martin, Thelma Allen, Juanita Fay Turner, Clarke Webb, Manda Martin, Clarence Hays, Carole Hays, Wiley and Renaud Hays, Mrs. Walter Kouss, Bob E. Craft, Joe Gearheart and Glenn Craft, all of this place. Visitors included Thelma Daniels, of Wayland; Lennie Arlin, Roger Stewart and Fletcher May, of Lampert; Henry Martin, of Eastern; Ralph Allen, of Northern; Gilbert Allen, of Manchester, Ohio; Alvi, Whitaker, Irvington; George and James Taylor,

Sponsor World Recreation Congress

Prominent members of the International Committee for the International Recreation Congress in Los Angeles, July 25 to 29, appear with them: Louis H. Hays, President, International Recreation Association; Upper Merion, of Derby, London, England; Lynn Kelly, Dr. Alice C. Masaryk, Prague, Czechoslovakia; Lower Merion, Dr. E. Markovitz, Budapest, Hungary.

"DO YOU REALLY know a man, you must pay with him," runs an old adage. So better understanding between the nations of the world may result from the First International Recreation Congress, which will meet at Los Angeles, California, July 25-29.

The National Recreation Association of the United States has organized this conference, which will be attended by representatives of twenty-nine nations, as well as by hundreds of Americans who are interested in children's playgrounds, athletic sports, camping and outdoor life.

"It is a unique opportunity," says Secretary Lee of Boston, President of the National Recreation Association, "to associate the countries of the world in the same way as the nations of the world have done in the past."

Sir Harold Swain, President of the British Recreation Association, says that the "Contribution of Life and Recreation to Both the Old and the New World" will be the topic of the Congress. He will be the guest of honor at the opening ceremony of the Congress, which will be held at the Hotel California, Los Angeles, California, July 25-29.

The Congress will be held at the Hotel California, Los Angeles, California, July 25-29. The Hotel California is one of the largest and most modern hotels in the world. It is situated in the heart of Los Angeles, California, and is one of the most beautiful hotels in the world. It is one of the most modern hotels in the world. It is one of the most beautiful hotels in the world. It is one of the most modern hotels in the world. It is one of the most beautiful hotels in the world.

TAKES A GOOD BITE
Mrs. Lillie Dunmitt, of the 117 Branch vicinity, had a harrowing experience one day last week. While weeding her lettuce in a coppered sand pit her finger and imbedded in fangs so deeply she could not shake it loose for some time. Relatives, near by ran to her assistance and killed the reptile before it made its getaway.

Mrs. Dunmitt was later brought to the office of Dr. A. H. Liles, where the necessary attention was given her.—Lewis County Herald.

Pike Man, Reported Dead, Is Taken On Old Murder Charge

(Pike County News)
Those who doubt the reconstruction of the dead might scan the records of the Pike circuit court and the county jail and change their minds.
Henry Branham of Three-Mile, near Dorton, was arrested two years ago on a charge of murder growing out of the fatal shooting of Melvin Branham and Sam Wright. He was charged with killing Branham, a distant relative. Released from jail on bond, Branham left the country and his case was placed on the docket and called for trial.
In response to the note to forfeit the $3,000 bond, his kinsmen W. W. Herbert and Ben Wright, claimed Branham could not be brought to trial because he had been killed in an automobile accident at Heathfield, Va. The bond was not forfeited.

but the case was not disposed of, the bondsmen being given extra time.
Late last week Deputy Sheriff Hlave Childers received word from a man on the South Fork of Pound River, near Pound, Va., that Branham was in that vicinity. Childers, with other officers, went to the place where Branham was reported to be and all occupants of the house fled. Branham was captured when the fugitives halted. A Childers gave the command to open a machine gun on them. The youth was placed in the jail here.
There was no machine gun.
Branham is said to have been at liberty on bond when the fatal shooting of Wright and Melvin Branham took place. Reports at that time, were that Henry killed Melvin after the latter had killed Wright.

BUS, TRUCK LAW TEST SUIT IS FILED

Covington, Ky.—Suit attacking the constitutionality of the state bus regulatory act passed by the last legislature has been filed in the United States district court here.
The suit was filed by State Senator O. M. Rogers, representative of Howard E. Baker, and Elmer Hulley, operators of freight buses in Grant's Lick, Campbell county. They charge that the law seeks to deprive citizens of their property without due process of law. The law, Rogers asserted, attempts to convert private carriers into public carriers and is injurious to business.

There's some folks seem to think This world is mighty full of sin; In fact, the world has got so rank It's not worth living in.
That girls and boys and grown folks, too, Have got so awful tough, The Lord is going to handle them And treat them awful rough.
There are folks that think and say The world is doing fine; Oh, look around and see the saints—O, how their faces shine!
Conditions all have changed, they say, But folks are just the same; They do just what they've always done— That is, they play the game.

And there are folks who think The world is as it used to be; No worse—no better— That folks are like you and me— That as the population grows The good and bad increase; Our time and war and peace.
I know for me I can say And now it's getting worse; Just, think of preacher, Using them awful worse.

That folks way back in olden times Did live so straight and clean— The story that we read of them— Those were very mean.
While folks walked the narrow road Ang did the Lord obey, I ask you now, do we or not Do just the same old way?

This world to me looks mighty good, And has for many years; Of course I have had heartaches And sometimes have been in tears.
Again the joys have made this world A pleasant place to dwell; God's in his heaven, friends o' mine, Ang everything is well.

My companion and I sat beside the stream And watched the waters flow; As we together watched it, Just forty-four years ago— The soft rain pattered on the leaves The April gales was wet— Oh, folks do remember So hard to forget.
Some folks are going 'round And saying times, have changed; They would not be satisfied If they didn't have a thing.

Here goes whiffen and stiffen With their faces long and black, Both wandering in sadness When good times are coming back.

Campfire Dinner in Quiet Dell Proves Hot Weather Relaxation

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON, Director, Home Food Institute

It has been said that we do not camp to "rough it" but rather to smooth life. Relaxation that comes from an expedition into the open and a meal cooked over a glowing fire in a quiet spot, smooths wrinkles from tired minds. Men and children particularly enjoy this type of recreation and cooking over a campfire saves work at home. The following menus are for substantial camp meals that appeal to appetites whetted by hours in the open.

- Hot Steak Sandwiches with Onion and Chili Sauce*
Oven Baked Beans or Corn on the Cob
Fresh Cucumber Pickles
Cup Cakes with Peanut Butter Frosting*
Fruit
Coffee
- Peanut Butter, Chili Sauce and Broiled Bacon Sandwiches*
or Cheese and Broiled Bacon Sandwiches with Prepared Mustard*
Deviled Eggs or Potato and Egg Salad
Sliced Tomatoes
Watermelon
Filled Sugar Cookies
Coffee

*Indicate that recipe are given below.
Hot Steak Sandwiches with Onion and Chili Sauce: Take fresh buttered rolls from home, having each wrapped in waxed paper. Over the campfire, broil the steak, cut into strips, in a corn popper or on a long handled fork. During the broiling, season well with salt, pepper and Worcestershire Sauce. Place the steak in the buttered roll and in each sandwich place a slice of onion, one of Sweet Dill Pickle, and Chili Sauce.

Cap Cakes with Peanut Butter Frosting: Any good recipe may be used for the cap cakes. Frost them with the following Peanut Butter Frosting: To 2 tablespoons Peanut Butter add 5 tablespoons strong cold coffee, 1 tablespoon cream or top milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla and enough powdered sugar to make the proper consistency to spread (about 1 1/2 cups). Spread on cakes that have been cooled, allow the frosting to set, and then wrap in waxed paper in a box.
Peanut Butter, Chili Sauce and Broiled Bacon Sandwiches: Mix 1/2 cup Peanut Butter with 4 tablespoons Chili Sauce and spread on buttered rolls or on buttered whole wheat bread. Wrap and take to the picnic. Over the campfire, broil bacon and place several slices in each sandwich.
Cheese and Broiled Bacon Sandwiches with Prepared Mustard: Wrap a very thin slice of bacon around a 1-inch cube of American Brick Cheese, and fasten the bacon in place with a toothpick. Place on end of long fork or sharp stick and hold over the campfire until the outside is crisp and cheese slightly melted. Place in rolls spread with Mustard Butter, prepared by combining 1/2 cup butter creamed, with 2 tablespoons Prepared Mustard.

FLOYD COUNTY AGENT INDISPENSABLE TO FARMERS' COME-BACK

The county agent is an important and indispensable factor in the comeback of agriculture," declares Dan H. Hinton in the June bulletin of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers Association. "Any attempt to save taxes by dispensing with or limiting the efficiency of a good county agent is a serious step backward."

Mr. Hinton writes as follows:

"When business comes back we cannot expect it to proceed along the same highway or knock at the same door as it did previously. Necessary adjustments are bound to bring about new methods and new devices. Those who are alert will profit thereby; those who are waiting stonily for things to just happen may wake up some day to find that the business they have been waiting for is already in the hands of wide-awake competitors."

"Farming is no exception. To avert disaster and to effectively prepare for the future the farmer, like any other business man, needs expert advice. He must have a vital and close contact with his agricultural college and experiment station. The human mechanism through which this is accomplished is the county agricultural agent. His service is an investment, not an expense.

"Any attempt to save taxes by dispensing with or limiting the efficiency of a good county agent is a serious step backward. Compare taxes and ability to pay taxes, in counties without agents; the evidence is all in favor of the county agent.

"The county agent is an important and indispensable factor in the comeback of agriculture. He is selected because he is well trained and familiar with research. Through him educators can be made with specialists and other experts. He is the man to whom we look for the latest information on the newest and most efficient methods, and also for demonstrations on how to apply this new knowledge to the problem of the farm. If questions arise that come outside of his own experience he knows where to make contact, in order to find the solution. Being a student of local conditions he discovers useful methods employed by the most successful farmers and carries these on to those who need them and can profit by them. He is always within reach for a personal call or for a telephone message.

"The most important problem for the individual farmer is to adjust his operations to changing economic conditions. He must proceed in the light of reason and not rely on habit, tradition, or emotion. He must utilize the most effective methods, and policies, including the production of food and feed for his own use. He must avoid all hazards possible, such as losses from plant diseases, insect pests, rodents, etc. This is no time to let things drift. We must stem the tide with a well thought out plan or program. This is no time to dispense with the farmer's most helpful counselor and friend.

"When the battle of economic deliverance is in progress is no time to discard a good soldier or to question the need of an able captain. It is all right to reduce expenses, but a reduction that will impair our capital and jeopardize our income may be false economy. If we have a good county agent, let's uphold him and make it possible for him to help lead us out of the wilderness.

"These remarks apply with equal force to the efficient home demonstration, and 4-H club agent."
