G. O. P. NOMINATION FOR CONGRESS IN 7TH CONTESTED

$15,000 Slush Fund Used by Ramey, Mrs. Langley Alleged

Suit contesting the nomination of Harry H. Ramey, Republican for Congress from the Seventh district was filed in the Magoffin circuit court at Salyersville Thursday by attorneys for Mrs. John W. Langley.

Violation of the Corrupt Practices Act involving the expenditure of a slush fund of $15,000, printing of an illegal number of ballots for Magoffin county control of election officers who joined in padding the vote and conspiracy with a relief worker to coerce voters are charges included in Mrs. Langley's petition. Because she claims the election was so conducted that it is impossible to determine the will of the people of Magoffin county, the contestant asks that the entire vote of the county be voided.

Alleged that an illegal number of ballots were printed and distributed for the primary she points out that "in the 1932 Presidential election the vote cast in Magoffin for the leading republican, Presidential elector totaled 2,661. The county clerk, the petition states was authorized by law to cause to be printed a number of ballots not in excess of 70 per cent above the number voted in 1932 which would have made the legal number of ballots total 4,657. The number printed, however, was 5,874.

FLOOD DAMAGE TO FLOYD CROPS AND LIVESTOCK, HEAVY

Store, Postoffice at Dana Washed From Foundations by Record Rise

A well of water, reported having reached 15 feet in height, swept Prater Creek Monday night as the result of a cloudburst, destroying crops of all kinds, washing from their foundations two buildings and causing property damage which is placed at several thousands of dollars.

The flood, the highest ever to hit Prater Creek according to the oldest inhabitants, came with startling suddenness. The stream began rising at dusk and rose for two hours.

The store building at Akers and Robinsonette was washed from its foundations several yards downstream and with the store building went the Dana post office. Later not known if the store building was washed away. Akers and Robinsonette's warehouse drifted down to the store's foundations. Several head of hogs and poultry were lost.

Communication with Prater Creek was cut off by the terrific storm. Sixty men were set to work by relief headquarters Tuesday morning and it was estimated that it would be two days before the road up Prater would be cleared sufficiently for passage of the mail wagon up the creek.

Heavy damage is also reported from Arkansias, Creek on Right Beaver, across the mountain from Prater. Bucks Prater, near Martin, likewise sustained heavy loss.

Dobbs, believed to be a member of a dwelling on David branch of Prater, was among those swept down stream. It is not known if any residences were destroyed.

Arnold Robinsonette, a member of the firm of Akers and Robinsonette, was trapped by the sudden rise of water, according to the report received here. When he was swept into a brook from his home, he found the water partly rising and was stranded for more than an hour on an elevation at the base while water rose beneath his feet. He returned safely to his home with the fall of the stream.

With property damage came the part of a tenfold epidemic in communities struck by the high waters. Dr. Marvin Rauschell, Miss Martha Clark, nurse and Montaine V. Clarke, sanitary inspector of the Floyd county health department, were busy this week in stricken communities vaccinating against the disease. A representative of the district U. S. engineer's office, Huntington, W. Va., was here Wednesday, en route to Prater Creek to gather data as to the height of the water.

Every well on the creek was contaminated, it is said. Lime was washed here by Dr. A. T. McCormack and Dr. P. S. Blackerby, of the State Board of Health and the county health department is chlorinating all wells.

PONTIAC SCHEDULE FOR SEPTEMBER INCREASED

Deliveries of Pontiac cars for the third quarter have just resulted in an increase of 2,000 units to the September manufacturing schedule...

Features of the game were the hitting and fielding of "Ty Cobb" Montgomery, the pitching of Patton, slender right hander for the local nine...

Patton issued not a pass, struck out five and allowed only seven hits. This is nothing unusual for him, however...

Ratcliff, one of the most dangerous hitters in this section if not the most dangerous, did his stuff afield Sunday, the fielding gem of the day...

Besides hitting safely twice, "Ty Cobb" came through with a play which caught even the umpire napping. A wild hopper between third and short caromed off Castle's glove...

Johnson twirled a creditable game, and but for the Sarsg Valley hunting attack might have won. He had trouble with the slippery ball, but walked only one man and hit another.

BUNTING ATTACK WINS FOR LOCALS

Those who appreciate science more than brute strength, who relish inside baseball more than the outside variety ("outside," in this case, meaning when the ball is slammed outside the park)...

Three bunts down the first-base line in the fifth inning momentarily tore up the Wayland infield and the bases were filled before a man was retired. Three runs came in, and the coal team was through scoring for the day...

Wayland drew first blood with its only run in the third inning. Innes staving and came home on Ratcliff's double. Thereafter, the Wayland batters were held completely at bay by Patton, local twirler.

When asked as to his study habits and how it had been possible for him to make such a fine record in college while working his way through, he said: "I seek to understand rather than memorize my assignments."

Mr. LeMaster entered Eastern Teachers College in February, 1931. Since then he has continued in school during the entire year including summer schools, except the fall semester when he was teaching. He has done his major work in mathematics, minoring in French and chemistry.

During his college course he has worked every semester except the first and last in order to stay in school and support his wife and four-year old son, Eugene. Most of his time he has worked at the college dairy, milking cows night and morning, while most of the other college students were either taking recreation or sleeping. He worked at the

BETSY LAYNE

A farewell party was given Wednesday evening in honor of Misses Beulah, Opal and Reba Hale, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hale, at their home in Betsy Layne.

The Hales have moved to Kingsport, Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. Hale have been prominent citizens of Betsy Layne for many years and have many friends who were sorry to see them leave.

A delightful evening was spent in dancing and games. Delicious refreshments were served to the following: Misses Opal Branham, Edythe and Stella Woods, Virginia May, Ina Stumbo, Inez Sizemore, Inez Balsden, Della and Pansy Risner, Anna Sue, Margarette and Elsie Mae Caldwell and Zella Mae Layne; Messrs. Frank Pruitt, Raymond Good, John Anderson, Eddie Clevenger, Trimble and Paul Pruitt, Herbert Barnett, and Durand Phillips, of Pikeville, Jack Stephens, John Henry Osborne and Jack Allen, of Allen; Gene Hoskins, Floyd Addis, Carl Stumbo, J. CLIFAR CREEK

W. J. Newman has arrived here from Florida to start drilling for gas in Knott county. J. W. McCoy and family attended the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company annual picnic at Maytown Saturday.

W. M. Boyd attended church at Bonanza Sunday. The Kentucky West Virginia Power Company made a reduction in man-hours here by installing automatic machinery leaving Chas. McKinney and George Akers in charge of the large station. Darcus Newman, daughter of Hent Newman, is confined to her home with a slight attack of appendicitis. H. S. Akers is traveling on the road now, representing the Allen Overall Company. A new firm has started business here and is styled as "Stephens Cash Store."

100,000 CATTLE TO BE SENT INTO STATE. Approximately 100,000 cattle will soon be brought from the drought-stricken West into Kentucky to be grazed. It is reported. Beef from these cattle will be used for food relief. Floyd county is not expected to graze any of these cattle. "Landowners" already being hard-put for pasture lands, Boyd county and probably some other Eastern Kentucky counties will pasture a comparatively small number of the cattle, however, it was said.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for August 19 AMOS DENOUNCES SELF-INDULGENCE

(Temperance Lesson). LESSON TEXT—Amos 6:1-14. GOLDEN TEXT—Seek ye first and so the Lord, the God of hosts, shall be with you, as ye have spoken. AMOS 4:11. PRIMARY TOPIC—When People Are Selfish. JUNIOR TOPIC—Amos' Famous Sermon. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Amos' Self-Indulgences. YOUNG PEOPLE TOPIC—Destruction Through Indulgence.

Our lesson is a temperance lesson and applies to other things than indulgence in intoxicating liquors. Our age is indolent with the love of pleasure, pursuit of gain, and various kinds of self-indulgence. I. Israel's Reckless Security (vv. 1-6). They were blind to the perils that surrounded them. They trusted in the mountains of Samaria for their protection. They relied their city as impregnable. They seemed to have regarded the utterances of Amos as the dreams of a fanatic. The slain blinders are being made in America by those who are depending upon money and armaments instead of righteousness as the national defense.

II. Israel's Extreme Luxury (vv. 7-8). Periods of prosperity are always characterized by luxury. The luxury of Israel expressed itself in: 1. Extravagant furniture (v. 4). They had beds of ivory—perhaps wood inlaid with ivory. 2. Indulgence in food. Many lately stretched themselves on their couches—lived lives of indolence. Such is the way of many in America today. 3. Feasted on delicacies (v. 4). The implication here is that they had their delicacies out of season. They bought what they desired, regardless of what it cost. 4. Adorned their heads with music (v. 5). They sang into pipes which they invented musical instruments for this purpose. How like the times in which we live! By means of the radio, gramophone and even licentious sentiments are carried to our ears through the noble art of music. 5. Drank wine (v. 6). They were not satisfied with ordinary drinking vessels—they drank from bowls, indicating excessive drinking. They were so mastered by the intoxicating cup that their feasts which were adorned with the refinement of music ended in drunken obsequy. III. Israel's Failure to Grieve for Joseph (v. 6). Joseph here stands for Ephraim and Manasseh, his two sons. Ephraim became the principal tribe of the northern kingdom, so Joseph is used as a synonym for the nation. IV. The Inevitable Consequence (vv. 7-11). 1. They shall go into captivity (v. 7). The northern kingdom was the first in sin and therefore first to go into captivity. 2. The calamitous circumstances of the siege of Samaria (vv. 8, 11). The city with all its inhabitants was to be delivered up to its enemies. a. Israel, the first in rank as well as first in numbers and power, went first into captivity. b. Their revelry to cease (v. 7). There was to be a rule of silence from their drunken carousals. c. God's judgment upon the city of strange contrast to his love for Jacob (v. 9). Men would not believe that God sometimes waits long, he does not forget. V. Israel's Ridiculous Conduct Exposed (vv. 12-14). 1. It was as absurd as plowing up on a rock with oxen. Their hard hearts were unresponsive to the call of God as rocks are to the plow of the farmer (v. 12). 2. Their boasted power as a nation (v. 13). Outwardly the nation was characterized by great wealth and splendor. This all was to pass away with the stroke of divine judgment. 3. A nation raised up against them (v. 14). God raised up the Assyrian nation to punish Israel. The very fortified cities which they boasted of, Amos tells, would be taken away and used against them. Nearness of life to the Saviour will necessarily involve greatness of love to him. As nearness to the sun increases the temperature of the various planets, so near and intimate communion with Jesus raises the heat of the soul's affections toward him—Sprague. Heavens! The man who thinks in terms of the heavens, and lives as he thinks, will never be found walking "in the count of the ungodly."

JOHNSON MAN MILKS COWS (Continued from page 3) but, "after all," said the honor student, "it is not so bad to stand right out and not lose any time."

This student receiving "high distinction" has never made a grade below B since starting to school 18 months in the army. He was expecting to attend the West Point Military Academy and wanted the army experience before going to the Academy. He did not like the service and decided to become a teacher. Mr. Archer taught in the rural schools of Johnson county five years before he entered the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers' College at Richmond. His father and school teachers, his mother were formerly rural school teachers. This honor student from the mountains of Eastern Kentucky is very fond of picture shows. He admitted that he would attend them frequently if he had money enough. For his physical exercise, when not milking cows, he plays baseball and swims.

PRATER CREEK FLOOD

Red Cross aid in this county was not held necessary, but according to a wire from Washington, D. C., to M. D. Powers, chairman of Floyd Chapter of the Red Cross, help is badly needed in Carter, Rowan and Boyd counties which were swept by last week's flood. Applications for aid have been forwarded to Red Cross headquarters from 1,000 families in these three counties, with 600 more applications expected, the telegram said. Federal relief is unavailable at this time though a satisfactory arrangement has been made between the Red Cross and state relief authorities. Floyd chapter was asked to raise $150 for relief in this area and transmit this amount to Red Cross headquarters.

Carter Rowan Flood

As heavy rains fall in Floyd county before daybreak Friday morning, a cloudburst swept Carter and Rowan counties, claiming the lives of two children, destroying scores of livestock and poultry and wrecking property damage estimated at $1,500,000. One former Prestonsburg family, that of Dr. G. W. Curnutte, suffered severe damage, when Dr. Curnutte's drug-store at Olive Hill was inundated by six feet of water. The storm, said by residents of that section to be the most severe to strike that section in 33 years, swept away the home of Everett Damron, near Grayson, drowning Harold Curnutte and Marvin, his son. Surviving with his wife, who held the boys by the hand while he held another child, the farm-er passed through the tragedy of seeing the two boys carried away by the flood from which he could have snatched them could he have released his wife and other son. Visitors to the flood area Saturday afternoon when the waters had subsided viewed scene of destruction. The fertile Tzart valley lay stripped of its crops. Here and there lay the carcasses of drowned horses, cattle, hogs and farm fowls. One spectator said that 50 bushels of corn would not be harvested from the valley.

At 11 o'clock Friday morning crowds stood on the bridge across Tzart's Creek at Olive Hill watching the rise of the water, which yet lacked three feet of reaching the bridge bed. Thirty minutes later, the bridge was torn away. The record set by the 1928 flood was broken. Almost every business house in Olive Hill was damaged. Kehoe, a small town where three small streams converge as they join Tzart, was hardest hit, perhaps, of any given point.

As the flood subsided, danger of a typhoid epidemic rose, and Red Cross and relief workers were rushed to the stricken area to aid in the task of rehabilitation and to furnish vaccine against disease. State Board of Health doctors and engineers are aiding in the work to curb the spread of typhoid. The Red Cross has granted Carter county $25,000 for relief of the homeless, and Rowan county is asking for a large sum for the same purpose.

EIGHT OUT OF NINE FOR DEMOCRATS

Wooton's Prediction On Congressional Race in November

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 13 (Sp.)—Democratic Congressman will be elected in eight of the nine Kentucky congressional districts is the forecast of Attorney General Bailey P. Wooton, chairman of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee. The only congressional district I am willing to concede to the Republicans is the Ninth, said General Wooton. "I feel confident that the first Democratic Congressman that has represented Louisville in the Ninth, and believe that Congressman A. J. May will be returned to Congress from the Seventh district by an increased majority," he said. When asked his opinion as to how the Democrats will fare in the congressional races, all nine Kentucky congressmen in the 73rd Congress were Democrats for the first time in many years, due to the restricting middle which resulted in electing members of Congress from the state-at-large instead of by congressional districts. The Ninth district is overwhelmingly Republican and it is generally conceded that J. M. Robison, of Barbourville, former representative from the old Eleventh district, will return to Congress. But Democratic leaders seem confident that they can retain the other eight seats in the House. The eight counties which compose the Seventh district gave a vote of 48,774 for President Roosevelt as against 31,854 for Hoover in 1932. In 1930 in the race for the United States Senatorship, Senator M. M. Logan received 22,672 votes in the counties which compose the Seventh, and Robison, the Republican candidate, polled 23,230, registering a majority of 558 in the territory now embraced in the Seventh district.

When Mr. May won his first race for Congress in the old district, defeating Mrs. John W. Langlev in 1930, he polled a total of 26,141 votes in the counties now embraced in the Seventh district. Mrs. Langlev's total vote in these counties was 21,029.

"To Pay Through the Nose" This is an idiomatic phrase and means "to pay a fancy price" or "to be charged exorbitantly." The idiom dates from 1722, according to Literary Digest, but its origin is unknown. However, citing Grimm (Deutschens Worterthraemer), says that only had a poll-tax which in Sweden was called a "nose-tax." It was a penny per nose or poll tax. The Danes levied a tax, historically so-called, on Irish houses in the Ninth century, and the name given to it is attributed to the fact that the penalty for the failure of payment of the tax was the sitting of the nose of the owner of the house. "Nickle," says "to pay through the nose" seems to be a playful variation on "to bleed." In money sense, in which the metaphor was originally surgical.

G. O. P. NOMINATION CONTESTED

In Arnett precinct, in 1932, the contestant states, 24 Republican votes were cast, but this year 200 ballots were printed for that precinct.

In addition to the alleged slush fund of $15,000, Mrs. Langley says that Mr. Ramey sent to her, a representative who offered her $3,000 if she would withdraw from the race and that when she refused this offer he left that amount in Pike county to be used against her.

In Magoffin, a federal relief worker, according to the contestant, told voters that unless they voted for Ramey they need not expect further relief aid.

Joe P. Tackett, of Prestonsburg is one of the attorneys representing Mrs. Langley.

One Hit—This Is How We Pitch in the Mountains

Kit Stumbo, the Big Sandy-Elkhorn league's premier righthander, Saturday showed the boys from the Bluegrass that not only the boys who get their names in the daily newspapers can pitch ball. Twirling for McDowell against Flemingsburg there, he held the first-half champions of the Central Kentucky league to one solitary bingle in eight innings.

McDowell went into the ninth inning, leading, 2-0 but a contested umpire's decision led to the scoring of two runs, and the teams quit in the ninth, tied at 2-2.
