DEMURRERS SUSTAINED IN TWO RELIEF INDICTMENTS

OPENING LEGAL SKIRMISH WINS FOR DEFENDANTS

Grand Jury Relief Probe Promised by Hall: 10 Murder Indictments

Demurrers to indictments, made against three persons charged with violations in connection with relief administration in this county were sustained in Floyd circuit court Wednesday by Judge John W. Caudill, an indictment against a fourth was dismissed and a bill of particulars was asked in conjunction with the indictment of the county relief committee.

Defendants in these cases received the demurrers as a victory which may extend throughout the entire proceeding. Commonwealth's Attorney O. C. Hall said, however, that the three days of the grand jury's extra session will be devoted to the relief investigation with the view of making new indictments.

Demurrer to the indictment against County Judge W. L. Struble and Doug Hays, charging them with obstructing public justice, was sustained. The indictment alleged that they had interfered with the relief investigation when they telephoned Thornton Wilcox, state relief head, that the investigation made it necessary to close the relief office. The charge against J. D. Mayo, Prestonsburg merchant, alleged that he had to close relief orders to be issued on condition that they be paid at his store for groceries, etc., was quashed on demurrer. The indictment alleged a federal violation was included, it was held.

One indictment against George Woods, committee member, was quashed, since it was held that it was a duplication of another. The indictment named him as guilty of misapplication of funds.

A bill of particulars setting out names of persons receiving alleged fraudulent relief orders, dates and amounts of such orders, must be filed by September 20, it was held by Judge Caudill in the case of the Commonwealth's members of the relief committee in which committee members were accused of misapplication of funds.

Other indictments, all of which were made in the April grand jury session, will be tried today (Thursday), it was expected.

A crowded courtroom heard the relief cases called Wednesday morning. Willful murder indictments against 10 Floyd county men had been filed with the circuit court clerk by the grand jury Wednesday morning. A second murder indictment was returned against Ben Layne, Vern Castle and Woods (Killed, Wayland officers, in the slaying May 29 of French Martin at Wayland. The first indictment was quashed when the case came up for trial on Monday on the grounds that the indictment was made at a grand jury session which had continued for its legal term.

Other murder indictments follow:

John Carr, killing of Frank Collins at Eshill May 26, executed $10,000 bond with H. E. Stewart, M. M. Moore and Harrison Perry as sureties.

The statement was withdrawn when details were demanded by J. D. Harkins, attorney for the defendants.

TO BE OR SEEM TO BE

By Rev. Josef Nordstrom, Ph. D.

There is very often a great difference between what a man is, and what he seems to be. The man is determined by his character, the latter by his reputation. It is very interesting and instructive to compare, or rather contrast, reputation and character.

Reputation is your picture as it is printed upon the minds of men, character is your very self. Dr. R. D. Leavelle expressed it thus: "Reputation is what you have when you come, character is what you have when you go. Reputation grows like a mushroom; character grows like the oak. Reputation goes like the mushroom; character is as lasting as the oak. Reputation is revealed on occasions, character is revealed in judgment. Reputation makes you rich or poor; character makes you happy or unhappy. Men know your reputation; God knows your character." Since then, character is essential to human happiness and growth of man's highest self, one would be justified, it seems, to draw the conclusion that character would be the first demand in man's dealings with each other. But that is not generally the case. Men grow more by reputation than by character. Folk will rather have what they want than what they need. And so we find ourselves surrounded by men in high official positions who, on account of their reputation for granting favors to their electorate are kept in office in spite of any serious defects in their character. We will never get rid of greed and corruption till we learn how to distinguish between reputation and character. At present our nation is deeply concerned with the rehabilitation of industry and commerce. In its ultimate end that has to do with the physical and moral welfare of every American home. Its processes involve the handling of hundreds of millions of money. And right here we pause to raise the question, are the men whom the nation has entrusted with administrative power aware of the fact that character never betrays confidence? If so, why is so often a man's reputation considered without regard to his character? We give you a new deal on the basis of character rather than on reputation and the major portion of the political, economic and social problems that confront us today would be solved.

CAVILL ASKS REPORT ON FLOYD COUNTY

He pointed out the possibilities of the situation and asked the board to look for delinquencies from the law. "If you must buy liquor, drink it yourself; you violate the law by giving it to another. A liquor dispenser may not sell to a drunkard, to any person under the influence of liquor, or under 21 years of age. These regulations are violated frequently. As for officers who become intoxicated, report the information. They should be indicted. No man who drinks and gets drunk has any moral right to arrest another for the same offense."

The time-honored practice of availing oneself of the information they should be discarded, she judge said, urging indictments on these cases. "I have presided in five other-day murder cases, and all five resulted from drunkness and the same grounds."

"We are all blind until we see. That in the human plan, Nothing is worth the building that does not build the man. We build men of character. If men misbuild ages. In vain we light the world unless The builder also grows."

Steve and Jeff Justice, killing of Noyce Johnson, $5,000 bond asked. Arthur Reynolds was indicted on a charge of slaying Mrs. Christine Blain at Garrett. Quantity Recipes of Quality

AFTER THE busy summer full, church and club activities begin to pick up with new fall sets. Members whose enthusiasm was worn threadbare at the end of the spring rush, return from their holiday-pleasant full of energy for the new year's work. Eagerly they plunge into their fall activities, not the least of which are the quantity recipes for the new season, or just to get together again. So often, though, it is difficult to plan a budgeted meal for a large group of people. Recipes for six do not always multiply successfully, and dishes that are delightful when served for a small family, often are quite impractical for a big group. So it will be with considerable relief and confidence that club women may turn to these reliably tested quantity recipes for their fall dinner parties.

(See recipe 62) - Cook 2 hams, weighing 10 lbs. each, for 4 or 4 1/2 hours, overnight in warm water to extract salt. Drain. Add fresh water and boil slowly until tender, about 3 1/2 to 4 hours. Remove from water, place in roasting pan, cover with barbecue sauce and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until thoroughly cooked (1 1/2 to 2 hours) basting constantly with the sauce.

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON, Director, Home Food Institute

Barbecue Sauce (See recipe 62) - Chop 2 large onions and 2 cloves garlic very finely. Add 1 cup Tomato Ketchup, 1 cup Worcestershire Sauce, 1 large can of Tomato Soup, 1 cup Pure Celery Vinegar, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Four or five hours.

Quick Calf Steak (See recipe 60) - To 2 gallons finely shredded cabbage add 2 1/2 cups sugar, 2 1/2 cups salt and 1 teaspoon pepper. Mix 1 quart Mayonnaise with 1 cup Pure Vinegar and pour over the cabbage. Add 6 chopped green peppers and 1 teaspoon onion juice. Mix thoroughly and serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

Deep baking dishes and cover with 1-1/2 No. 10 can Cream of Tomato Soup. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 1 1/2 hours. (By using uncooked rice a "porcupine" effect is assured, because during the cooking process the rice swells and extends in points on the outside of the beef balls.)

Sumac Salad (See recipe 60) - Dissolve 1/2 cup instant margarine (28 ozs.) lemon flavored gelatin in 3/4 cup boiling water and 1/2 cup Pure Vinegar. Add 8 oz. water or pineapple juice and chill. Then add 1/2 cup finely ground raw carrots, 1/2 No. 10 can drained crushed pineapple and 8 teaspoons salt to gelatin when slightly thickened. Chill in individual molds or shallow pans until firm. Turn in cups. Worm into small balls. Place in lettuce nests with Mayonnaise.

HEZEKIAH LEADS HIS PEOPLE BACK TO GOD

LESSON TEXT - II Chronicles 30:1-27.
GOLDEN TEXT - For if ye turn again into the Lord, your brethren and your children shall and compassive before them that lead them astray so that they shall come again to the Lord, for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turn away his face from you, if ye return unto him. II Chronicles 30:9.

PRIMARY TOPIC - A King's Call to Worship God.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC - Hezekiah's "Good Leader".
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC - Godly Leaders in Civic Life.

1. Hezekiah Calls the People to Keep the Passover (v. 1-12).
The way for a stinging and dirrid people to get back to God and be united around the crucified Lord: The Passover was a memorial of the nation's deliverance through the shedding of the blood of the sacrificial lamb.

2. The king was unusual (v. 2-4).
There was not sufficient time to notify the people nor to gather them together at the regular time so they resolved, instead of postponing it for a year, to hold it on the fourteenth day of the second month. This liberty had been granted before in an emergency (Num. 9:9-13).

3. The scope of the invitation (v. 5-9).
It included all of both nations who had sworn to keep the Passover to the Lord God of Israel. "Israel" is used here to include both kingdoms. The effort was to win back the nation which had seceded. The people who were sent with the message were authorized to supplement the proclamation with an urgent exhortation to join as a united nation. This urgent invitation was tactically put as follows:

a. It included actual and potential converts to the Lord God of Israel.
b. It included actual and potential converts to the Lord God of Israel.
c. It included actual and potential converts to the Lord God of Israel.

4. Israel's rejection of the invitation (v. 10-12).
a. Some mocked (v. 10).
b. Some with humble hearts came to Jerusalem (v. 11).
c. In Judah God gave them one heart to accept the summons to unite in the Lord around the great Passover.

5. The Passover kept (v. 13-27).
a. Removal of heathen altars (v. 13, 14).
b. The priests and Levites slained (v. 16-20).
c. The zeal of the people put to shame the priests and Levites.
d. The Passover prolonged seven days (v. 23-27).

6. The Passover's effect (v. 28-31).
a. The Passover's effect on the people.
b. The Passover's effect on the king.

7. The Passover's effect on the king (v. 32-33).
a. The king's confession of his sin to God (v. 32).
b. The king's confession of his sin to the people (v. 33).

8. The Passover's effect on the king (v. 34-35).
a. The king's confession of his sin to God (v. 34).
b. The king's confession of his sin to the people (v. 35).

9. The Passover's effect on the king (v. 36-37).
a. The king's confession of his sin to God (v. 36).
b. The king's confession of his sin to the people (v. 37).

10. The Passover's effect on the king (v. 38-39).
a. The king's confession of his sin to God (v. 38).
b. The king's confession of his sin to the people (v. 39).

11. The Passover's effect on the king (v. 40-41).
a. The king's confession of his sin to God (v. 40).
b. The king's confession of his sin to the people (v. 41).

12. The Passover's effect on the king (v. 42-43).
a. The king's confession of his sin to God (v. 42).
b. The king's confession of his sin to the people (v. 43).

Safeguarding All Interests

The Bell Telephone System is so organized and regulated that your interests as a user of the service are safeguarded, as well as the interests of the 300,000 or more individuals who have invested their savings in the business. The welfare of the army of 370,000 Bell telephone workers who build, maintain and operate the business is equally safeguarded. The Revival of Fall Entertaining

By JOSEPHINE CRONIN

DURING the summer months the gay whirl of entertaining always seems to be a bit slack. Friends leave town for the holidays and others seek the seclusion and comfort of the good places in their homes.

All the patterns of social activity is broken. But with the cool weather of September, people emerge fresh, rested and ready for a particularly lively season of entertaining.

FORD UPKEEP ECONOMICAL

No piece of machinery in the high speed class that wears out so fast as a Ford car.

The fact was emphasized recently by Mr. Howard, of Howard Motor Company, local Ford dealers.

Table after table of evidence, for example, he said, shows that Ford has been making the repair costs of the power plant of modern cars. Special heat resisting steel used for valve seats have increased their life and reduced the need for frequent repairs.

Aluminum cylinder heads used on Ford cars many years ago, this year as compared with last year, greatly reduced the accumulation of carbon on the valves which has been or ever will be built that never wears out.

Ford engines always have been so famous for their long life, and I believe anyone will agree that the 22,000,000 Ford cars that have been built in the last 30 years have done more than any other cars to put economy in our lives.

No engine in a low or medium priced car is as expensive to build as a Ford V-8 engine. This seems to be definitely proved by the fact that an engine of this type built the Ford V-8 cost $250 economically in operation and maintenance.

It would be ridiculous to claim that this or any other piece of machinery never needs repairs. However, in keeping with Ford policy, which regards the sale of a car as the beginning rather than the end of the manufacturer's obligation to the purchaser, maintenance of Ford cars has been made especially economical. Under the company's parts exchange service, many worn parts, and even a cylinder head, can be exchanged for parts of equal value.
