Officers Seek Slayer Of Aged Floyd Farmer

STEPHENS' SHOT FATAL TO LACE HUNT NEAR HERE

Slayer Enters Victim's Home
To Commit Crime; Two Others Shot

JUSTICE MAY DIE

Sheriff M. T. Stumbo and deputies through Wednesday night and today (Thursday) were searching over a wide section of this county for Bob Stephens, 35 years old, who is wanted for the murder of Sugar Leaf early Wednesday evening of Lacey Hunt, aged farmer.

Hunt, a man of 72 years, died within half an hour after being taken to the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, with a bullet wound in his abdomen.

According to all available information, Stephens entered the aged farmer's home at Sugar Leaf and fired the shot into his body without provocation. Hunt, in a statement at the hospital, said Stephens, who had been taken to the hospital, had fired three shots into his home Wednesday afternoon, after having been ordered to leave after which Hunt came here and swore to a grand jury indictment against Stephens. The latter learned of the indictment, it is said, and returned to the Hunt home, between 6 and 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, in the statement continued, walked into the house and shot Hunt.

Stephens had been drunk during Wednesday afternoon and had created a disturbance at Sadie Hatfield's place. Miss Hatfield's neighbors were called and was told to swear out a warrant for Stephens' arrest. Meanwhile, it is reported, Stephens had gone to the Hunt home and fired into the house, running the occupants from home. This report, it is said, Hunt was unarmed and offering no offense when shot.

Sheriff Stumbo and deputies pursued Stephens' car to Boldman, barely missing him there. They found his father, John Stephens in the rear seat of the car but the slayer had fled.

Victim of the shooting was well-known in this vicinity, and was a good citizen. He is survived by seven sons and three daughters: Dewey, John, Fred, Clyde, Elam, Ed and Oliver Hunt, Mrs. Chas. Callahan, Misses Alta and Nina Hunt.

The body was returned here for burial preparations by E. P. Arnold Thursday morning. Burial will be made at Sugar Leaf.

FUNERAL RITES FOR BULLET VICTIM HELD

Funeral rites for Clyde Conley, 18 years old, who died Sept. 18 from a bullet wound said to have been inflicted at Maytown Sept. 16 by Thomas Pennington, were conducted from the Methodist Church, Garrett, by Rev. O. P. Smith, assisted by Revs. Marion Chaffins and Alex Coburn.

The youthful victim is survived by his parents, Willie Conley, Garrett, postmaster, and Mimma Coburn Conley, and the following brothers and sisters: Haden and Holly, Inez, Sally, Edna Earl and Bessie Mae.

The victim was a senior in Garrett High school and had many friends and relatives in the community and throughout the county. Burial was made near Hueysville.

MRS. MOORE SUCCUMBS TO DROPSY, SEPT. 21ST

Martha Moore, wife of James Moore, of Ligon, died at the Valley hospital, Martin, Friday, a victim of dropsy from which she had suffered for months.

Surviving her are her husband and three sons, who are being taken to the hospital, said that Stephens, intoxicated, had fired three shots into his home Wednesday afternoon, after having been ordered to leave after which Hunt came here and swore to a grand jury indictment against Stephens. The latter learned of the indictment, it is said, and returned to the Hunt home, between 6 and 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, in the statement continued, walked into the house and shot Hunt.

Stephens had been drunk during Wednesday afternoon and had created a disturbance at Sadie Hatfield's place. Miss Hatfield's neighbors were called and was told to swear out a warrant for Stephens' arrest. FUNDS FOR MARTIN PROJECT DEPOSITED

Work to Start on Waterworks in Floyd Town Within Few Days

Thirty-five thousand dollars were deposited with the First National Bank here this week to the credit of the town of Martin for the construction of a waterworks system at Martin through a Public Works Administration loan. An additional $8,000 will be forthcoming, it was said, bringing the town's total funds to $43,000 for the project.

The deposit already made was realized on sale of the town's bonds. Town officials, engineers and attorneys have been working with PWA officials for the past several months in effecting the loan. Work on the project will be started within the next few days, it was said this week.

Among those from Prestonsburg who attended the funeral at Martin Sunday of Mrs. W. H. Lynch were, Congressman A. May, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dingus, Mrs. Grace D. Ford, Mrs. C. B. Latta.

CRAFT DRAWS 21 YEARS IN PRISON

Jury deliberates Hughes' Fate; Murder Case Against Woman Dismissed

For the second time within a week, a jury in the Floyd circuit court Friday gave a 21-year penitentiary sentence to a man accused of murder, John Craft, charged with the slaying of Frank Collins at Estill a few months ago, received the last sentence.

When the Commonwealth found that it could not produce sufficient evidence to convict Mrs. Sarah Dugan, charged with murder in the fatal shooting of her husband near Garrett, the case against her was dismissed Tuesday on motion of the Commonwealth's Attorney.

Trials of Jim Hughes, charged with the murder of Green Castle near Hueysville, claimed the court's attention Tuesday and Wednesday, arguments in the case being completed late Wednesday night. The jury was still deliberating Hughes' fate when this was written Thursday morning, and it was held probable that a verdict would not be returned.

In the trial of Craft, the Commonwealth gave evidence showing that he shot Collins after the latter had been knocked down in an altercation with a man named Bradley and after Craft, a merchant, had ordered Collins to leave his store. This testimony, which claimed he was offering no resistance and had turned to leave when shot. The defense sought to show that the merchant fired, thinking that Collins was armed and fearing that he would kill Craft.

EXPLAINS S-V PLAN TO FLOYD GROCERS

Sandy Valley Grocery Entertains Merchants of Banquet
Here Tuesday Evening

A merchandising plan declared by one manufacturer to be the finest ever devised in America was presented to Floyd county merchants by H. B. Wheeler, president of the Sandy Valley Grocery Company, at a banquet given by the company at the Auxier hotel here Tuesday evening. Approximately 40 county merchants were guests.

The S-V plan, originated by Mr. Wheeler, will, it is proposed, provide a new deal for the independent merchant. Mr. Wheeler's discussion of merchants' problems and his company's proposed solution of these problems was enthusiastically received by his hearers.

Spontaneous tributes to the business acumen and honesty of H. H. Wheeler, presiding genius over the fortunes of the Sandy Valley Grocery Company organization, one of the largest of its kind in the country were paid by M. A. Stanley, Bonanza merchant. Excellent musical entertainment was furnished by Earl Powell and his Aces, of Paintsville, throughout the evening.

BABE DIES

The month-old babe of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Clifton, of this place, died Saturday after a brief illness. The little victim is survived by the bereaved parents. Burial was made under the direction of E. P. Arnold.

PLAY-OFF GAME TO BE PLAYED SUNDAY

Wayland and McDowell meet at Gasco Park here Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock to play the game, which will decide the championship of the second half of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn league. McDowell won the first half title and is in a tie with Wayland for second-half honors.

According to word received here from Wayland, if the Right Beaver boys win over McDowell Sunday, the post season series will start on the following Sunday. The game here should be one of the most interesting of the year, what with the title at stake and the rivalry between the two clubs.

MRS. LYNCH TAKEN BY DEATH SEPT. 21

Illness of Years Claims Life of Well Known Martin

Mrs. Lula Frazier Lynch, 53 years old, wife of W. H. Lynch, died at her home near Martin Friday morning at 3:30 o'clock following several years of suffering from asthma. She had been seriously ill for some time, but death came unexpectedly as a result of heart complications resulting from her long illness.

The daughter of the late William and Cynthia Frazier, Mrs. Lynch was born at Cracker, this county, January 4, 1881. She was a member of one of the county's oldest and best-known families and had hundreds of friends and relatives who mourn her passing.

She was first married to E. L. Dingus, who died a few years ago. To this union were born three children, two sons, Carl and Ralph, surviving. Besides her husband and sons, she is survived by six stepsons and one stepdaughter: Z. C. Ed and Kelly Dingus, of Martin; Jack and Lawrence Lynch, of Martin; Ernest Lynch, Gastlewood, Va.; and Mrs. Alka Allen, of Prestonsburg. She also leaves four sisters and four brothers: Mrs. Cassie Click, Mrs. Amy Baldridge, Mrs. Orleans Baldridge, Mrs. Sarah Sammons Melvin, Luther, Robert Lee and Elbert Frazier.

Mrs. Lynch had been a member of the Holiness Church for the past 15 years and lived the life of a devout Christian until death. Unfailingly kind and generous, she held the deep esteem of all who knew her. Funeral rites were conducted Sunday morning at 10 o'clock from the home, the Rev. S. D. Osborne, of Martin, officiating, with burial following in the Frazier cemetery at Cracker under the direction of G. D. Ryan.

PNEUMONIA VICTIM

The three-year-old son of John and Helton, of Blue River, died Saturday, a victim of pneumonia. Funeral rites were conducted by the Rev. Dick Bradley and interment was made in the Hale cemetery at Blue River under the direction of E. P. Arnold. Surviving are the bereaved parents, Mrs. Helton is a daughter of the late George Hale.

FOUR NAMED BY GRAND JURY FOR FLOYD SLAYINGS

Investigators File Report With
Judge Caudill; Say Caims
Widespread

COMMEND OFFICIALS

Working nine days, six days of the regular session and an extra session of three days this week, the grand jury Wednesday afternoon completed its investigations for the present court term after having examined a total of 497 witnesses and returning 228 indictments.

Indictments returned during the three-day extra session on serious offenses follow:

Milton Tackett, involuntary manslaughter in the death of Red Gunnels who was killed by an auto driven by Tackett; Cash Triplett and Mott Conley, willful murder in the death of Bev Scott, Triplett named as the man who shot Scott and Conley as his abettor; Tommie Pennington and Curtis Frazier, willful murder, slaying of Clyde Conley. Pennington as his confederate; Beattie and Ruth Collins, shooting and wounding with intent to kill Maxie Arms and Clyde Luster; Jack Adams and Herschell Williams, malicious cutting and wounding with intent to kill Levi Hall, the former as the wielder of the knife, Williams for conspiring and encouraging Adams in the deed.

The grand jury's report, signed by Escom Murray, foreman, follows:

We, the grand jury of the Floyd circuit court September term, 1934, desire to report as follows: We were empaneled by the Judge of the Floyd circuit court, Hon. John W. Caudill, on September 3, 1934, remaining in session six days and three hours, were recessed until the 24th day of September, 1934, at which time we reconvened for a period of three days, making in all a total of nine days in which we worked together.

During the period of nine days we would respectfully report that we have examined 497 witnesses and returned a total of 228 indictments, a large number of which were for felonies committed. We would further recommend that during the nine days we were in session as the grand jury of Floyd county, the Commonwealth's Attorney or the County Attorney were one in attendance during most of said time, which greatly expedited the matter of handling the witnesses before our body.

We would further say that we find a crime wave existing throughout Floyd county and notwithstanding the efforts of the courts and other agencies we note little improvement in the condition of crime in Floyd county; we would further report that the Circuit Judge of our court, the County Attorney, Commonwealth's Attorney and Sheriff and every other official of Floyd county has cooperated splendidly with us in our work and with the spirit of co-operation and the earnestness in which each and every official of the county is working to combat crime, we believe that the condition of crime in Floyd county will and most eventually be improved.

Old Big Sandy Steamboat Pilot Lists Names of Boats

Some time before his death, John F. Hager, of Ashland, caused to be published a list of steamboats which piled the Big Sandy in the old steamboat days. In his story, Judge Hager challenged any other resident of this section to furnish more names of steamboats plying Big Sandy waters than were included in his list.

Now Jim Borders, a former Big Sandy steamboat pilot and resident of Paintsville, at present residing at Friendship, Ohio, has given The Times names of Big Sandy steamboats which form a list outnumbering Judge Hager's. This is probably the most complete collection of Big Sandy boat names yet published. Mr. Borders' list follows:

Tom Hatcher, Dew Drop, Red Buck, Jerry Osborne, Mountain Boy, Mountain Girl, Jackson, Fair Play, Elec. Yost, Jack Harkin, John C. Hopkins, Cando, Donkey, Lena Leata, Guyandotte, Willie Jones, Frank Preston, Maxie Yost, Vincennes, Hatton (?) Cricket, Sipp Bays, Bechler, Brown, Big Sandy, Sandy, Larkin, Thealla, Arganda, Favor, Dr. York, Miller, H. Andy Hatcher, Mary L. Hatcher, Sea Gull, Independent, Sandy Valley, Fanny Freeze, Wild Boy, Louis, Dexter, Ingomar.

The glaciers in the park are many, silent rivers of solid ice, miles in length, creep and gnaw their way out of mountain retreats that have never heard the footsteps of man. Some of these glaciers, many of them unnamed, contain more ice than all the glaciers of the world. All of the largest mountains of the world are on the slopes of Mount McKinley and Mount Foraker. Florida Hava Pardest

The Lighting System of Own... Florida Hava Pardest... The light is produced by two sections, on which the introduction of oxygen has the effect of combustion. Strictly speaking, the fire is not a fire at all, but it is a worm. It belongs to the beetle group of insects.

The appellation "glowworm" is due to the fact that the female of this species is sluggish, and bears a striking resemblance to a worm, as does the insect in the larva stage. Not only is the adult, particularly the female, light producing; even in the egg, larva and pupa stages this organism gives off a pale phosphorescent glow.

Examined under magnifying glass, the lantern mechanism of the firefly appears on the last three segments of the abdomen. The microscope discloses further that this photogenic organ is made up of a ventral mass of large cells which the luminiferous originates, and directly behind it is another layer of small cells which acts as the reflector. Two large tracheal trunks or air tubes pass into the light organ and branch out into every cell. These tubes give an abundant supply of oxygen to the firefly cells. Furnishing the air tubes is a system of white, threadlike branches which are the nerves controlling luminousness.

Londonderry Retains All

Charm of Its Many Years With all its modern business, Londonderry retains all the charm of its hundreds of years. Locally it is known as Terry, having been named for the "Queen of Erin's daughter, fair Daire". The prefix was added when James I. granted the lands about Terry to the city of London, says the Chicago Daily News.

The indignant Irish pledged themselves to induce Terry within walls to preserve its freedom and individuality. The ancient walls still stand, girdling the middle of the hill on which the city stands. Londonderry itself has long since spread beyond their confinement. The city walls are more than a mile in circumference, but have only a few gates, so that one must make quite a jaunt to find a passageway through them.

Londonderry is the site of the abbey founded by Columba, one of Ireland's greatest saints. In the distance, on another high hill, looms the ancient stronghold of the lords of Tyrone, which both St. Columba and St. Patrick are said to have visited. The massive stone wall still stands though the old castle has disappeared.

Gift to Lafayette

In recognition of General Lafayette's services during the Revolution, by act of December 28, 1832, granted him 42,000 and one complete township of land, to be located "in any of the unappropriated lands of the United States." The selection was made in what was then known as West Florida and embraced 23,028.90 acres covering part of the present city of Tallahassee. Lafayette never saw this Florida land. An attempt was made to colonize it by French settlers under Count Lafayette, but his scheme failed. A few years later Lafayette sent out his nephew, Charles Muret, to colonize it, but this attempt also failed. Lafayette made no further use of the land, and after his death, it was sold by his heirs and is now owned by numerous individuals.

Size of the Brain

It would be difficult to prove that the size of the average brain has increased to any great extent during the centuries. Examination of the skulls of persons who died centuries ago does not indicate any particular change in size. However, various authorities claim that weight of brain has no direct relationship with intelligence. Exceptionally large brains have been found both in great geniuses and in imbeciles. Intellectual capacity is said to depend on the great multiplicity of nerve cell connections, rather than on weight or size. In a recent comparison of this kind the value of the accumulated knowledge of the ages should be taken into account.

FORDY YEAR HISTORY OF FORD READS LIKE PAGES FROM FICTION

From a little brick workshop to plants all over the world is the forty-year history of Henry Ford.

The original shop in which the first Ford was built in 1893 has been set-up in the Ford exposition at "A Century" of Progress in Chicago.

And so has the "Ford World!" It is hard to say which attracts the larger World's Fair crowd, the modest "factory" or the revolving globe that depicts the present world-wide Ford organization. Each exhibit always is thronged with sightseers.

Twenty feet in diameter, the Ford globe is said to be the largest in the world, though the smallest that could be made to show the extent of Ford Motor Company operations. All around the earth, across seven seas and six continents, Ford activities spread and they are identified on the 1,200 square feet of the surface of the sphere.

Ford properties thickly dot the map of North America, and many are shown also in South America, Australia and Asia.

Next to the United States, Ford interests are heaviest and most numerous in Europe, from Istanbul to Copenhagen, from Bologna to Stockholm. All these Ford properties and more appear on the Ford world in bright paint by day and lighted by night.

The great globe revolves on its axis in a torched basin of growing flowers in the "Court of the World" in the center of the vast rotunda of the main wings in the Ford building, which globe can be delivered about any time to Jailer B. L. Strudell.

School Off to Fine Start

The Wheelwright school is off to a fine start, with Boone Hall, well-known Floyd county teacher, as its head. This year, the school year opened with an increased enrollment, which necessitates addition of two teachers to the faculty. Enrollment in the grades is 530. The high school has an enrollment of 81. Teachers in the high school department are: V. C. Wilson, Science; Mr. Jones, Foreign Languages; Mathematics and Coach; Miss Frances Addis, English; Mr. Hall, principal and History. Mr. Hall has introduced clubs and societies this year, and great results are expected from the new Dramatic Club, Chess Club, Girl Reserve, Athletic Club and Debating Society.

The Wheelwright P. T. A., whose merits are widely known, has had its first meeting and is ready for business; its meetings are held once each month.

According to reports made by Mr. Jones, coach of athletics, prospects for basketball here this year are very encouraging.

The "Silver Spoon" Saying

Everybody has heard the saying, "he was born with a silver spoon in his mouth" but few know anything of its origin. It dates back to the times of the Tudor and Stuart reigns in England when apocryphal poems were given as christening presents. These poems, which were made with an image of one of the apostles on the end of the handle, were very expensive and with the reach of only the wealthiest families. This meant that only the children of the rich would receive such christening presents—hence the saying, "he was born with a silver spoon in his mouth."—Schindler Magazine.

That is Used Man... Potassium... Potassium cyanide is used in various other forms... Potassium nitrate, better known as saltpeter, which is a preservative and also is used in the manufacture of black blasting powder, dynamite shells, fuses and ammonium powder charge. Potassium acetate and potassium permanganate are bleachers and dyers. The latter, also finds its way into medical preparations, is a strong disinfectant, and is used in the manufacture of saccharin. Potassium tartrate is the chief constituent of tartar. Baking powder manufacturers use about 80 per cent of the supply. In the chemical laboratory the uses of potash are legion.

Jadpole Lives Like Fish.

The tadpole develops into frog. The frog begins life as a tiny black speck of an egg surrounded by an albuminous coat. This coat swells enormously when exposed to water and serves to protect the delicate egg within. After many weeks the egg hatches into a tiny tadpole with a very long and visible tail and a long tail. This tadpole lives as a fish, "breathing" in the water through its gills.

After many weeks of feeding upon the algae in the pond, the tadpole undergoes transformation into a frog. Its long tail has become completely absorbed into the body, and the frog is now a fully developed animal. It has a long and powerful digestive apparatus for this highly-nutritious food. As a vegetarian in its youth, it required huge quantities of algae to grow, hence the long intestine.

The young frog sprouts legs slowly, and later its gills which are reduced by a pair of lungs, making the frog an air-breather. In breathing, the frog must swallow its air very much as it swallows the food. A dislocated or broken jaw in a frog would be a serious, if not fatal matter. The mouth of the skin also serves as an organ of respiration in the frog.

Birds Found on Many Stamps

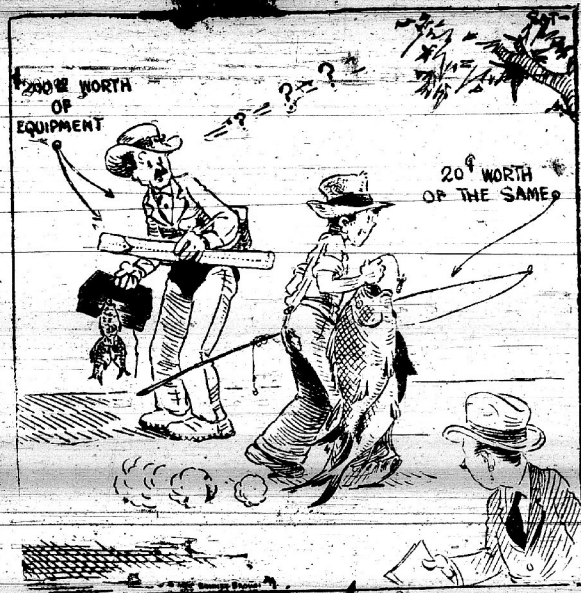

Birds have been incorporated in many issues of Japanese postage stamps. On that of 1873, are found the wild goose, the wagtail and the falcon, each significant in the country's folklore. The wild goose is emblematic of letter-carrying, for, according to the story, an ambassador of one of China's early emperors was detained by a foreign monarch and reduced to slavery. The unhappy ambassador attached a letter telling of his plight to the leg of a wild goose and in some miraculous manner the goose flew over the spot where the emperor was hunting. The emperor killed the goose, read the letter and soon got its ambassador back, appropriately punishing the offending monarch. The wagtail is the Japanese equivalent of the serpent in our story of Adam and Eve. For anniversaries and commemorations the crane and the phoenix are popular subjects, the former as a symbol of longevity from its reputed life of a thousand years and the latter, borrowed incidentally from the Egyptians, as a symbol of immortality, from its legendary ability to rise anew from its funeral pyre.

Habits of the Cuckoo

After she has laid her eggs the female cuckoo watches carefully, and if they are destroyed she finds other nests and lays a second clutch. She is not entirely forgetful about the youngsters. When they arrive in the various nests, the first thing they do is to eject all the other occupants. It is a wonderful struggle to see, with the young cuckoo always the victor, and when each nest contains one hungry youngster, the real mother watches over them, although she never attempts to give them food. Incubation of the eggs, and the feeding of the young, is left to the foster parents. Soon after the young appear, the cuckoo and her mate fly south to their African home.

"Charlie Horse"

This slang term "Charlie horse" is limited to the United States, and denotes the stiffening of the muscles of arm or leg from excessive use, as by an athlete. The term was first applied to a horse afflicted with a form of muscular atrophy known as wessie, according to the Literary Digest. Although the stiffening occurs most frequently among baseball players, it may be experienced by anyone, especially by one engaged in strenuous exercise. Movement of the injured part is generally attended by severe pain.

KIWANIS CLUB ENDORSES WARFIELD GAS CO. PICNIC

At five o'clock on the morning of September 11, hundreds of people in Eastern Kentucky and Western West Virginia began climbing into cars, buses and on horseback, preparatory to attending a great picnic outing given by the Warfield Natural Gas Company at the Abbott Heights Country Club near Prestonsburg.

Although the program called for the picnic to begin at seven o'clock in the morning, hundreds of people were on the grounds before that time. Those present claimed this was the largest and most successful outing ever held in the state of Kentucky by an individual concern for its employees, their families, and friends.

All operations of the company, except those that were absolutely necessary for the supply of gas, were closed for the day. Both banks, all business houses, the Floyd county court, as well as the public schools, were closed throughout the day so they could enjoy the picnic as guests of the company. Approximately four thousand people came together at the golf club to enjoy the games and other entertainments provided. At one time more than seven hundred automobiles were parked in the parking lot.

For two weeks prior to the event, Mr. R. C. Leard, chairman of the picnic committee, assisted by Mr. John P. Chew with, were in charge of arrangements and made elaborate plans for a day long to be remembered by those who attended. Employees from different sections of the state were called to cooperate in order to make this grand event a complete success.

It was indeed a gala day. The golf grounds and the clubhouse were elaborately decorated with bunting and flags. When heavily loaded cars and buses arrived, the passengers immediately caught the spirit of a Mardi Gras carnival. With laughter and shouts, the old ones became young again, entered into the spirit of the occasion, took part in games and enjoyed other entertaining features.

The company provided a great quantity of ice cream, coca cola and other delicacies. These were obtainable in booths conveniently located on the grounds. Many times additional supplies were ordered to provide for the wants of the happy group.

At noon the vast assemblage sat down to eat lunch. Most of them had brought baskets bountifully filled with good things which are to be found at every picnic. For those who had failed to bring lunches, the company provided individual boxes which were adequate to their needs.

Words are inadequate to describe the events of the day at the park where more than four thousand people assembled. Everything was planned so that the great crowd would enjoy every minute of the day and a variety of events were on the program so that every one would be entertained.

It was happy to note that some of the leading professional men of the Big Sandy valley, including physicians, attorneys, judges and other professional and business men, together with the rank and file of the Warfield Natural Gas Company, fraternized in a most friendly spirit.

It was altogether a most delightful gathering and one that will long be remembered. Such events as this attest the fine "esprit de corps" that prevails in the Warfield Natural Gas Company organization.

Mr. R. C. Leard, a member of the Kiwanis Club, was largely responsible for and was quite actively engaged in seeing that the above mentioned picnic was a huge success. From the many congratulations and expressions of thanks it was very much in evidence that his efforts were not in vain, as this was one of the biggest days Prestonsburg has seen in a long, long time.

Woman's Club Meets

Maytown Woman's Club held its regular meeting with Mrs. John Coburn Saturday afternoon, one new member, Mrs. Tom Ratliff, being received.

Mrs. Coburn, Conservation chairman, led an interesting discussion. Mrs. E. E. May gave a short talk on relief work in the county and the club voted to distribute clothing to the neediest families at once. Plans were adopted for the club's part in the district program to be held in Prestonsburg next month. The constitution was read and adopted, copy having been sent with initiation fee to the State Federation this week.

Next meeting is Saturday, October 14, with Mrs. Frank May, exchange of shrubs and flower seeds, program along the line of gardening and homemaking.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Archer, of Bowling Green, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. G. Van Petten, of Charleston, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. R. V. May, of Lexington, have returned to their respective homes after having been called here by the death of Dr. Ernest E. Archer. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Archer, Jr., and daughter, of Adrian, Mo., will remain here for a visit with relatives.

A. J. May, Jr., spent the past week-end here with his family. Paul Smith left this week for O'Leary, where he will attend the Croy Electrical and Radio School.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Meador and son Billie, of Glen Rogers, W. Va., were visiting Mr. Meador's sister, Mrs. S. G. Swadlow and family, of Highland avenue, the past week.

DR. E. E. ARCHER DIES SUDDENLY

Paintsville Doctor, Native of Prestonsburg, Succumbs Sept. 20 to Heart Attack.

Two towns—one, the place of his birth, the other, his adopted place of residence and the town of which he was twice elected Mayor—and this entire section were deeply shocked by the sudden death early Thursday evening, September 20, of Dr. Ernest E. Archer, 45 years old. Death came as the result of a heart attack.

Dr. Archer's health had been impaired for some time, but his condition was not considered serious. At the time of his death he was on duty at the Paintsville hospital where he was head of the medical staff.

Ernest Elmo Archer was born September 22, 1888, the son of George P. and Emma J. Archer, of this place. After receiving his public school education here, he entered and was graduated from the Medical College, University of Louisville, in 1910. He practiced his profession for a time, then did post-graduate work at Tulane University, New Orleans.

Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and at the University of Chicago. Thus his training in his profession amply prepared him for the high position which he held in the field of medicine. Early in the World War Dr. Archer volunteered his services to his country, being major in the medical corps. He was in the battle of the Somme from June 30 August, 1918 and in the Meuse and Argonne drives in October and November of that year.

Upon his return from war service, Dr. Archer began the practice of his profession in Paintsville. In 1920, he founded the Paintsville hospital, of which he had been chief of the medical staff ever since. Dr. Archer was united in marriage, Nov. 8, 1910, to Fannie M. Auxier, daughter of James W. and Martha A. Auxier. To this union were born five children: James W. Archer, Mrs. Henry Holbrook, George P. Archer, Martha Ann Archer and Emily Elizabeth Archer, all of Paintsville.

In 1925, Dr. Archer was elected Mayor of Paintsville for a four-year term, being re-elected in 1929. During his eight years of official service to Paintsville, he was instrumental in causing the paving of a third of the town's streets, leaving few, if any, of the town's thoroughfares unpaved. Many other important improvements were made during his administration.

One of his outstanding traits was his intense devotion and abiding loyalty to his friends. Of any friend of his he would permit nothing derogatory to be said in his presence. A Democratic leader, the organization of his party in his county, a work in which he took deep interest, was such that it drew state and national attention in political campaigns. He was campaign manager in his county for Senator Barkley and Governor Laffoon, and was on the Rules committee at the convention nominating Governor Laffoon.

In the practice of his profession, Dr. Archer gave his services unselfishly to rich and poor alike, and hundreds, especially the poor with whom he so deeply sympathized, will miss him. He had been a member of the M. E. Church, South, since infancy and became an active member of the church in 1913 at Auxier, this county. Not only a leader in his profession was Dr. Archer; he was prominent in the social and civic life of the Big Sandy valley, and the high esteem in which he was held by the people of this section was attested to by the hundreds of persons who visited his home after his death and packed the Mayo Memorial Church, Paintsville, at the funeral Sunday afternoon.

Essie, his widow and children, Dr. Archer is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Elizabeth Wells, Arthur J. Archer, Mrs. Henry B. Patrick, Dr. John G. Archer and Ralph Archer, all of Prestonsburg; George B. Archer, Adrian, Mo., and Mrs. Oliver W. Van Petten, Charleston, W. Va.

The funeral service at the church was conducted by the Rev. W. I. Canter, pastor of Mayo Memorial Church, assisted by Dr. H. C. Sowards, pastor of the Louisa M. E. Church, South. At the grave in the Mayo cemetery, Paintsville, impressive rites were conducted by Johnson County Post No. 117, with Legionnaires from Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Salyersville, West Liberty and Inez assisting.

Young Kentuckians Takes Hand In Investigation Of Horrible Disaster

Kentuckians who have been reading of the investigation of the Morro Castle maritime disaster are learning that a prominent son of this state is playing an important part in unraveling details of the disaster, according to a report to the Louisville office of the Department of Commerce. He is South Trimble, Jr., Solicitor of the Department at Washington, who is a native of Franklin county, Kentucky, and a son of South Trimble, Sr., Clerk of the national House of Representatives, and former Congressman from the old Kentucky district. Secretary of Commerce Roper announced that Mr. Trimble was in New York under his instructions for two important purposes connected with the investigation of the steamship Morro Castle. He will render only necessary legal assistance which may be required by Dickerson, Hoover, assistant director of the Bureau of Navigation and Steamship Inspection, who is conducting the investigation, and is required by law to ascertain whether any of the licensed officers were incompetent, guilty of misbehavior, negligence, or unskillfulness.

Tuberculosis Robs You— Public Health Protects You

Tuberculosis is a public enemy. Science has been repulsed by a serious indictment against it. Here are some of the charges: Cruelly deforms young children. Ruins the ambitions of the youth. Saps the worker of his earning capacity. Brings heartache into the household. Destroys life ruthlessly. Threatens all people so long as there is a single case of tuberculosis in the community. The ruin and waste of this public enemy is not paid for only by those whom it attacks. All of us share in the cost. For instance, more than 400 million dollars was paid out in compensation for tuberculosis to world war veterans alone from 1923 to 1932. Taxes paid that bill—your taxes. Tuberculosis makes orphans. You and I must care for them. The care of the tuberculosis sick is an expense usually too great for the individual sufferer to bear so we, as a community, must pay the bill. Yet the money cost is only a part of the loss. What about the distress and fears of all of us must share so long as tuberculosis hangs over us?

Tuberculosis is preventable. This enemy comes by stealth, but knowledge warns us of its coming. The common danger signals are:

- A continuous tired feeling.
- Loss of weight.
- A cough that hangs on.
- Indigestion.
- Pain in the chest.
- Spitting of blood.

These signals do not mean that tuberculosis has developed, but they should prompt one to visit a doctor at once. Acting alone it is almost impossible to keep tuberculosis out of the household. By working together it can be achieved. This is what the phrase "public health" means—team work among all citizens for everybody's health.

In this war on disease, the doctor in his private office or in the clinic stands in the front line. Supporting him are the health department, the public health nurse, the sanitarian and the tuberculosis association. We need them for protection against the ancient robber.

Public health measures protect us not only against tuberculosis but against all communicable diseases. Life as we live it today would be an extreme risk without the constant vigilance of the health department.

MAYTOWN SCHOOL NEWS

On last Friday, Attendance Officer John Waris addressed the graded school. He urged every child to give his best to his school work, and to make this school year better in every respect than former years. Mr. Waris pointed out that while he was requesting the cooperation of every parent in sending children between the ages of 6 and 16 to school, he would, if necessary, take compulsory measures to enforce this school regulation. If there are any children

BLACKCATS SWAMP

Local Eleven Easily Defeat Raceland Saturday, 27 to 6

Playing away from home and facing an eleven that last year won the Little Eight championship, the Prestonsburg Blackcats in their second game of the season Saturday turned on the steam to swamp Raceland beneath a 27 to 6 score.

The 'Cats had a slight weight advantage but it was the will to win, coupled with precision in their play, that gave them the decided edge over their opponents. Every man on the team did his part, and that well.

Prestonsburg's first touchdown came early in the first quarter, and within five minutes Raceland had come back to chalk up their first and only marker as a result of Archer's fumble on his own team's 15 yard line. Mayo, Prestonsburg's quarterback and star of the game, scored two of the Blackcat touchdowns, while Sturgill and Hughes carried the ball on the other scoring jaunts for the local eleven.

Mayo took Burgess' punt on his own 15 yard stripe, cut toward the sideline, bowled over no less than seven would-be tacklers to make the trip over the distant goal.

Superiority of the Prestonsburg line—look that line up over!—is shown in the fact that Raceland gained only 63 yards (Raceland county) from scrimmage while losing 20. Each team completed half its passes from scrimmage, Raceland making six good, while the Blackcats completed one. Craft received one of Mayo's passes for an extra point, and Goodman gathered in two.

Prestonsburg gained 158 yards from scrimmage and lost but nine yards.

GRAND JURY REPORT

We would especially commend our grand jury reporter, Miss Goldie Wilkins, for her splendid work with us before the grand jury, and will say that her work is of much importance in the matter of examining and preserving the testimony of witnesses who appear before our body.

We would further state that we have made an investigation of the railroad in Floyd county, having examined a great number of witnesses and we find the management of relief in Floyd county to have been poorly handled and the distribution of relief in Floyd county as it has been administered in the past has failed to meet the needs of the needy poor of our county. We would further report that we have examined several witnesses for the purpose of securing information concerning the burning of the relief office in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, and we are unable to find any substantial evidence tending to establish the guilt of any person in connection with said burning. We would further report that we have examined and inspected the courthouse, public offices and the jail of Floyd county, and we find the jail sanitary and well kept and well managed. We find the courthouse in a state of alteration and repair which to a great extent hinders action of the court, but we highly commend the fiscal court for the program of repairing of the courthouse and would recommend that such repairs be continued until a complete and creditable place in which to conduct the courts and other business of our county. We find the circuit clerk's office greatly crowded, especially the vault department, and believe that it is possible that such vault should be extended and enlarged so as to accommodate the large number of records which is necessary to be kept in that office.

MISERY LOVES COMPANY

Month-Old Chick Adopts Another for Title of America's Youngest Mother

The youngest "mother" in America lives at Hueysville, this county.

Don't get excited—the "mother" is a two-months-old Rhode Island Red pullet.

An orphan herself, cast off from her mother's brood, her back picked clean of feathers when she approached others of her "family," she has adopted a two-week-old chicken. An orphan, even as she.

When others of the two-week-old chick's brood shuttled it away, the older orphan adopted the little outcast. The skeptical may now visit the Mullins home and there see the two-months-old "mother" scratching for the bare chick as it follows her about the place, hear her clucking as would an old hen to her brood, see her hover over the fledgling at night. Verily, "misery loves company."

Mrs. Elizabeth Goble returned last week from Dayton, O. She was accompanied there by her son, George Goble, and Mrs. Goble.

It will be as large, as beautifully printed, as full of high spirited adventure as ever.

"THE AMERICAN BOY'S" leadership has been no accident," Mr. Ellis states. "We publish the magazine on the firm belief that boys deserve a magazine as good as any publication for grown-ups. So we use the best illustrations obtainable—well-known artists who work for the biggest magazines. We send our staff writers all over the country, digging up the interesting facts of science, interviewing world-famous explorers, talking to coaches and athletes.

"We encourage and assist our writers to go leverywhere for material—to Haiti, Africa, the South Seas, China—and bring back adventure for American boys. We hire experts on hobbies and boy problems to advise boys and young men. These steps account for our position as the quality magazine for boys, and we shall continue to take them."
