BLACKCATS WIN FIFTH STRAIGHT FOOTBALL GAME

Defeat Van Lear Easily Saturday, 33-0, in First Conference Tilt

PLAY BELFRY NEXT

The Prestonsburg Blackcats continued their triumphal march toward a conference championship Saturday by bowling over Van Lear, first obstacle along the route to the title, 33 to 0, in a surprising display of power and ability. It was the 'Cats' fifth consecutive victory during which they have scored 129 points to the opposition's 18.

Van Lear, early in the season, defeated the once-dreaded Louisa Bulldogs, 20-0, and was looked upon by Prestonsburg as a formidable contender, but Saturday's game indicated one of two things: either the Bank Mules are woefully weak or the Blackcats have even more strength than they have been credited with having. At no stage of Saturday's game was the Van Lear eleven a serious threat.

Prestonsburg received the Van Lear kickoff to start the game and Hughes ran the ball back 8 yards. Mayo went 100 yards on a run. Then Mayo opened up his afternoon of sensational passing with a heave to Goodman for a touchdown and kicked goal for a 7-0 lead before his team lost control of the ball from the time of the opening kickoff. Goodman did a nice job of catching the ball, taking it from the hands of a Van Lear man.

This touchdown drive gave promise of coming events features of which are:

Punting, passing and running of Mayo, Blackcat quarterback.

The deadly shoestring tackle of Archer, Blackcat halfback.

Pass receiving of Craft and Smith, ends, and Goodman, halfback.

Excellence of Prestonsburg's line play at crucial points.

Now, to look ahead: if the Blackcats can perform against Belfry, their second and undoubtedly their strongest conference foe, here Saturday, they did against Van Lear, they will be off winging to a Big Sandy championship. But can they? We'll know late Saturday afternoon—and may the "best" team win!

To get back to Saturday's game and the start of the second quarter:

Prestonsburg kicked off and held Van Lear to negligible gains, the Bank Mules kicking the ball 15 yards. A Prestonsburg fumble, recovered by Harris, of Van Lear, stopped the drive. Kazee hit the Blackcat line for 6 yards, but subsequent Van Lear attempts at yard-gaining failed and the Bank Mules kicked to Mayo, who returned the ball 15 yards. Mayo kicked the ball 15 yards. Mayo kicked the ball 15 yards. Mayo kicked the ball 15 yards.

2 MARTIN YOUTHS MAY DIE OF HURTS

Two Martin youths are in the Beaver Valley hospital, probably fatally hurt as the result of injuries sustained while playing.

Herman, 11-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Baz Conley, sustained a crushed skull Tuesday afternoon when a stack of pipe on which he was walking, en route home from school, broke loose and several joints of pipe turned, his head was wedged between pipes, which had been unloaded at Martin for the construction of the water system there. At the Beaver Valley hospital, whether the boy was taken slight hope was held for his recovery.

A playful push by a boy with whom he was pulling a small wagon along the road side at the highway bridge about 10 o'clock Sunday afternoon sent O'Dell Newsom, son of Henry Newsom, beneath the wheels of an automobile driven by John Coburn. The lad's skull was crushed and he, too, may die.

Bullet-Riddled Bodies of Two Floyd Men Found

BOB VANDERPOOL FOUND MURDERED MONDAY MORNING

Hays Found With Victim's Revolver, Accuses Conley of Slaying

FOUR RELEASED

Another murder mystery presented itself Monday night, less than 24 hours after the Vanderpool murder. This last slaying was that of Willard Johnson, 40 years old, at Melvin. Three men, Tivis and Willie Cole and Sol Johnson were arrested Tuesday and brought to jail here by Deputy Sheriff Frank Hatfield as suspects in the killing. Sheriff M. T. Stumbo and deputies were rounding up three other suspects in the Vanderpool case. The trio is composed of Crit Conley, Garrett merchant, Orville Hays and Alto Lovely, all of Haysville.

Hays, arrested near Pikeville, was found in possession of Vanderpool's revolver. He swore to a statement Monday night, directly accusing Conley of the murder and told authorities that Lovely picked up Vanderpool's gun, gave it to him and remarked that everything would be all right if those present kept quiet.

All suspects in the killing, save Minix, were released Tuesday under $5,000 bond each. Hays' bond was signed by Oak Osborne; Conley's by Deputy Sheriff J. D. Fitzpatrick, Lovely's by Crit Conley, one of the suspects, and Crager, by Bee Handoo, Kendall Crager, and M. M. Moore.

They were held under bond here October 24.

Details of the Johnson murder at Melvin appear in another column.

Two men were jailed Tuesday following the discovery, early Monday morning, of the body of Robert Vanderpool, 32 years old, who had been shot and killed Sunday night at the west end of the Bone's bridge, this county, officials hold.

Both suspects maintain their innocence of the shooting. They are Bee Crager, 37, of Handshoe, and Wilburn Minix, 42, of Quicksand Creek, Knott county.

Body of Vanderpool was found by Andy Reed as he was en route to Prestonsburg where he is serving on a jury of the Floyd circuit, they say that night and

TERROR REIGN GRIPS MELVIN, OFFICERS TOLD

During Probe Into Slaying of Willard Johnson There Monday Night

FEUD BREWING

A community held in the grip of terror, was the description given of the town of Melvin and vicinity, on Left Beaver Creek, upon the return here of Sheriff M. T. Stumbo and deputies and Commonwealth's Attorney O. C. Hall Wednesday afternoon from their investigation into the murder there Monday evening of Willard Johnson.

"Old women came to us, pleading for protection," Sheriff Stumbo said. "We're afraid to send our children to the store," he quoted them as saying.

Only persistent questioning uncovered clues of any value as to the identity of the slayer or slayers of Johnson. "If you can guarantee us that we'll not have these people out of jail to come back here and kill us, we'll tell all we know," they assured the officials.

A systematic probe into the case led to the arrest of five persons, with another yet to be apprehended. Tivis Cole, Willie Cole and Sol Johnson were brought to jail Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Frank Hatfield. Wednesday, Sheriff Stumbo and Deputies Elson Kendrick, R. E. Allen and Will Will brought Mr. and Mrs. Hays Johnson to jail. Ed Gearheart and an unnamed man are yet to be jailed. But a deputy sheriff was expected to arrest them by nightfall Wednesday.

Willard Johnson was shot to death on the railroad tracks at the upper end of Melvin within two or three hundred yards of his home. Four revolver bullet wounds and the charge of a shotgun, into his back caused his death. Three bullets penetrated his body, one passed through his jaws and the shotgun charge, blasted into his back at a range so close that he was powder burned, tore his spine in twain.

The shooting took place shortly after nightfall Monday, Johnson was heard pleading for his life. Then the shot. That was all authorities knew at the time of the case on Monday. They then last learned on a jury of the Floyd circuit, they say that night and

Mount Sterling Editor Sees May Re-election

(The Sentinel Democrat, Mt. Sterling, Ky.)

Did you read about that crowd that attended the opening at Whitesburg, Leitch county, Saturday of Hon. A. J. (Jack) May's campaign for reelection to Congress in the Seventh district? It was estimated at 5,000 the largest number that ever attended a political campaign in this area. I am sure that Mr. May's success is not only a personal triumph but also a triumph for the good work he had started in the interests of the miners, laboring men, farmers and people in general. Mr. May, the Democratic nominee, is very popular with the citizens of his district, has made a phenomenal record in public office, and if the voters of that district are wise to their best welfare they will return him to the seat he so ably and acceptably fills, and the consensus of opinion is that they will do so. It would be a mistake to retire Jack May from Congress for a less experienced man whose acts would be problematical.

BRANHAM STARS IN HILLTOPPERS' VICTORY

Estill "Eck" Branham, former Prestonsburg high school starback, is doing right well as a halfback on the Western Kentucky State Normal football team. Saturday, playing against Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, Eck scored two touchdowns—one on a 37-yard run, the other as a pass receiver—then kicked one extra point. Not a bad day's work for any football player on any man's team.

She is survived by her husband, four children, her father and several brothers and sisters. The body was taken to Auxier and burial was made near there under the direction of G. D. Ryan.

CANAL THREAT TO STATE COAL FIELD

Proposed Route Would Give Advantage to Pennsylvania, Rosenheim Says

In a letter to W. L. Gentry, Huntington coal official, W. S. Rosenheim, managing director of the Chamber of Commerce of Huntington, points out the danger to the coal industry of this section and southern West Virginia which is presented by the proposed construction of the Beaver-Mahoning canal cutting the coal fields of western Pennsylvania and Northern West Virginia closer connection with Lake Erie.

Such a waterway would be ruinous to lake trade for Eastern Kentucky and Southern West Virginia coal fields. Mr. Rosenheim's letter follows: "You no doubt have been kept fully advised as to the developments in recent months with regard to the construction of a canal connecting Lake Erie with the Ohio River. The project is being actively pursued by the Ohio River Development Board, which seems to have the approval of the board of engineers of the War Department. It is most closely connected with the coal fields of Western Pennsylvania and Northern West Virginia with Lake Erie."

"For several years it has been apparent to the Chamber of Commerce, through its Mines and Mining Commission, that the construction of such a canal would greatly injure the West Virginia coal industry, and we have strenuously opposed its

KIDNAPERS' TRAIL FOLLOWED FROM FLOYD TO KNOTT

Floyd Officers, West Virginia Police Uncover Clues in Evans Abduction

SEEK SLONE, HUFF

After a week's investigation made by West Virginia state police and deputies, authorities were convinced this week that the kidnaping story told here by W. M. Evans last week is a true account of an actual abduction.

Investigators, those making the investigation, have definite clues to the identity of the kidnapers. The search started by West Virginia and Floyd county authorities started at Prestonsburg last week, continued up Right Beaver Creek and into Knott county, where proof positive was found that Evans' car had been driven over the route from Hazard to Hindman. This was shown by chemical analysis of the accumulation on the fenders of his auto. This test showed that the accumulation was caused by oil, not tar, and the Hazard-Hindman route is the only old road between Williamson, scene of the kidnaping, and Prestonsburg.

Tracing from relief headquarters in Williamson, where an alleged kidnaping obtained transient relief, the officers found that Elton Slone, 22, and Harland Huff, 23, had obtained relief at Williamson and later had stayed at a home in Knott county. The two are said to have told their host in Knott county that they had killed a man, but Evans, a collector for a life insurance company, survived what he believed to be a poison draught his abductors had given him in a glass of water. He was in a serious condition at a Williamson hospital last week, but was reported as recovering Monday.

"You no doubt have been kept fully advised as to the developments in recent months with regard to the construction of a canal connecting Lake Erie with the Ohio River. The project is being actively pursued by the Ohio River Development Board, which seems to have the approval of the board of engineers of the War Department. It is most closely connected with the coal fields of Western Pennsylvania and Northern West Virginia with Lake Erie."

A CORRECTION OF RAMEY STATEMENT

The statement issued by the Chamber of Commerce of Huntington on Tuesday, October 16, regarding the proposed canal, was corrected by the Chamber of Commerce of Huntington on Wednesday, October 17. The statement issued on Tuesday was a preliminary report, and the Chamber of Commerce of Huntington on Wednesday issued a more complete statement.

This little sweater is perfect for that in-between season of early fall when fashion decrees that your light summer clothes be discarded for darker ones. It is smart and tailored looking and can be made in the simplest fall colors, yet it is made of cool knitting and 'crochet cotton' so that it is not too heavy for the warm days of Indian summer. It is very easy, and very inexpensive to make yourself, and is grand with your fall tweeds. The Empire State motif up the front in contrasting colors is very new and different.

WHITIS MAKES PRIZE CATCHES IN PIKE CO.

The Pike County News last week published a photograph of Bee Whitis, formerly of Prestonsburg, and superintendent of the Piney Oil & Gas Company, exhibiting two walleyed pike, prize catches made by Mr. Whitis in the Big Sandy river at the mouth of Cedar Creek, near Pikeville. Each fish measured 23 inches and weighed 3 3/4 pounds. Catches of this sort would be the experience of all fishermen in this section. The News points out, if every citizen would observe the laws protecting fish and game.

Excerpts From Congressman A. J. May's Opening Campaign Speech Delivered at Whitesburg, Ky., October 6th

After a thrilling description of the conditions in the country at the time of the inauguration of President Roosevelt Congressman May said: "...After the land of the free and the home of the brave had come to the verge of a bloody revolution, the Hoover reactionary ruling class turned it over a cold and pitiless corpse to be resurrected by the wise and sagacious statesmanship of the greatest President in all history. "...Confronted by such a grave and dangerous crisis in our country's history, what would our friends of the opposition have had us do? Did they expect that we, upon whose shoulders the responsibility had been placed, would sit complacently by and see the government crash and the nation perish? Were we to shut our eyes against a painful truth and listen to the song of the siren of standpatters until the people perished? Were we to crouch like dumb driven cattle beneath the dark cloud of fear that hung over the land? Was our great Commander-in-Chief to ignore the mandate of the people expressed through the ballot box in the previous election and order a retreat of the forces of the mightiest people on the face of the earth? Not a thousand times no!"

Speaking of his vote on Veterans Legislation, Congressman May said: "The Independent Office Appropriations Act, provided for the restoration of more liberal benefits to veterans of all our wars and for increased payments to World War veterans, disabled in service and increased payments to 29,000 presumptive tubercular diseased veterans, and to Spanish American war veterans. The act passed over the veto of the President. It was my vote in behalf of the disabled veterans of our wars that brought down upon me the condemnation and censure of a subsidized press and the general press the vested interests of this country. For that vote, I make no apology. I am proud of it and shall continue to be proud of it so long as I shall live. I was right in the beginning when I voted against the Economy Act as it came into the House under a gag rule which prohibited either debate or amendment, and in addition to that, I had in campaign speeches throughout the State pledged my word of honor to oppose legislation detrimental to the rights of the veterans of all our wars. My constituents knew my position on that subject and with full knowledge of it voted to elect me. If my word was not good to the veterans of our wars which opens on Armistice Day, Sunday, November 11, according to a statement by Miss La Noel White, executive secretary of the local chapter, the quota assigned to this chapter is 1,200, and Miss White says there is every indication that the goal will be reached, if not passed, during the roll call campaign.

"A gain in membership was reported by the national organization for last year," Miss White said. "The organization did not suffer a serious loss in members at any time during the period of stress; such decreases as occurred was checked by the deathly withering of the Argonne forest, and could not detract in the face of the storm of opposition that came sweeping like a devastating cyclone through the House of Representatives from the paid lobbyists of the Economy League and other international bankers and vested interests of Wall Street. They amassed great fortunes of gold from the shedding of American blood upon the war torn fields of Europe and by their speculations on the savings and lived the people of my country until they brought us to starvation and distress and now that they have sown the day of reaping has come. For me, I am in favor of their paying the bill, and I have voted accordingly and I shall continue to do so. Let the Morgans, the Quo-Leobs of Wall Street and the Rothschilds of Lombard and their crowd pay the fiddler. I am in favor of taking the burdens of government from the taxed backs of the common masses of men who are least able to bear it, and placing it upon the gold-crowned heads of the idol worshippers of the gods of gold, and I voted for the best bill to take the country off the gold standard. I voted to raise the rates of income taxes in the higher brackets on the fortunes of the rich to pay the veterans and the dependents of those who died to save the Nation. Reselect me so I can continue to do it."

QUOTA ASSIGNED FLOYD IS 1,200

Gain in Red Cross Membership Reported for Last Year; Drive Starts Nov. 11

Volunteer workers for the Floyd county chapter of the American Red Cross are making plans now for the annual Roll Call membership campaign which opens on Armistice Day, Sunday, November 11, according to a statement by Miss La Noel White, executive secretary of the local chapter. The quota assigned to this chapter is 1,200, and Miss White says there is every indication that the goal will be reached, if not passed, during the roll call campaign. "A gain in membership was reported by the national organization for last year," Miss White said. "The organization did not suffer a serious loss in members at any time during the period of stress; such decreases as occurred was checked wrong to our disabled veterans and their dependents, and in order that the right thing might be done, he, upon four different occasions, further liberalized the law by Executive orders, granting additional and further relief to various classes of the veterans of our war. He not only did that, but he frankly and freely admitted that the bill as it was originally presented, was wrong. He asserted his intention and purpose to see that Justice was done, so that he have been voted in my position in opposition to the bill as it came in to the House by both the United States Senate and the President of the United States. I was right then. I am right now.

Referring to the charge that the Government is spending too much money, Congressman May said: "My distinguished opponent is moaning and bewailing the fact that the Government is spending too much money, but he forgets that in two years of bloody and merciless war we spent $30,000,000,000 in destroying human life and property and now he, and the other economists and reactionaries of his class, condemn and criticize the Administration for spending less than $2,000,000,000 in an effort to feed the helpless poor and provide jobs for those able to work. Ah! Feeding the poor does not carry with it business profits. It is not Belsazzar's feast at the flesh pots, but it is an exemplification of the doctrine of the Prince of Peace, 'as oft as ye did it unto one of these, my little ones, ye did it unto me.'"

Denouncing his opponent as seeking to undo the National Administration and in the Primary had denounced the "New Deal" as a "Blue Deal" and referring to the coal miners, Congressman May said of his opponent: "After he discovered that their wives and children no longer were at the verge of starvation, he changed his tune and like a will o' the wisp has undertaken to rob me of my platform; take away from me my good name in Congress and come out as a half-hearted advocate of the New Deal. After someone told him that the Civilian Conservation boys were receiving checks amounting to thousands and hundreds of thousands of dollars, 90 per cent of which was being sent back to some dependent parent or relative, and when he learned that the coal operators were again making money by reason of the elimination of unfair competitive practices and codes of competition provided by Section 7a of the Industrial Recovery Act, the keystone of the New Deal; and that the earnings of the coal mine employees of this district have become more than $1,000,000 annually, he has of last year, and the response to the roll call this year is expected to be well up toward the pre-depression figure. "Immediately after President Roosevelt was inaugurated in March, 1933, the Red Cross pledged him its support and the use of all its facilities, and over and again the Federal government has called on the Red Cross for co-operation. Disaster relief and relief and rehabilitation for veterans and soldiers and sailors are a permanent national responsibility of the Red Cross. In addition to a permanent organization between the Red Cross and a day of the year, the Red Cross activities during the past year. Red Cross chapters gave information as to emergency set-ups and administration; boys and war veterans were enrolled in Civilian Conservation Corps camps and in the ranks of the civil and public works forces. First aid was taught by the Red Cross on CWA and PWA projects, and is now being taught in CCC camps to lessen accidental changed fronts and is trying to become a convert to the New Deal for political purposes only. If he is so vacillating and uncertain as to change fronts between the close of the polls in the August primary and the opening of his campaign early in September, upon vital issues or great national questions, who will assure you that he will not again change his mind between the November election and the meeting of the next Congress, January 1st? Who will assure you that if he should be elected to the next Congress he will not submit to the lash and follow the leadership of the old guard of his party, or the Liberty League and embark upon a campaign of wreck and ruin of the New Deal and thwart recovery to such an extent as to plunge our country into a bloody revolution. I warn you, my countrymen, against the dangers of casting the mantle of responsibility upon shoulders so vacillating and doubtful."

Referring to the program of the next Congress, Congressman May said: "The campaign promises of 1932 in which we promised the American people a new deal, the program has been kept and now we are planning other new programs and new legislation for all the people, regardless of politics or religion. We have already, as one step in the new deal program, given the workmen upon the great railroads of America a retirement pension act by which the older men who have worn out their bodies and given the better part of their lives to the service of the Public, may retire upon a pension that will assure them and theirs that they shall not be dependent in their declining years, and provides a job to more than a quarter million young men who take the place of the older men upon the passenger train, and in every avenue of the vast business of operating our railroad systems. We are going to give to labor in every industry greater social benefits and most opportunities to enjoy life by providing a six hour day and a five-day week, and thus distribute employment so as to give employment and leisure to all. We will thus increase purchasing power in our program is coming a law to provide Old Age Pensions for our dependent and helpless old people who have worn out their lives in the service of our country and who, by reason of age, disease or other cause, have become incapable of earning labor for their own support. The program contains provision for so many measures such as job assurance, and other humane measures, with a vast program of better housing and living conditions, that it can not enumerate them all."

death, and injuries; public health nurses have worked to prevent illness and mortality in the homes of the needy and home hygiene instructions have taught girls and women the care of their sick relatives; Red Cross volunteer activities in sewing, in training for relief workers, in postal business and recreation service in motor corps and emergency corps have done much to supplement the federal relief program throughout the United States. "The Federal government sure, until the depression is finally ended. "Red Cross services to the public must be continued at their present high peak," she concluded. "The organization must stand ready at all times to answer calls for aid in catastrophes great and small; it must be ready to meet the needs of governmental institutions that make big demands. An increased membership will provide the members and the means through which the needs of the public sector can be met. The Floyd chapter divided into districts and a captain for each district will be appointed. He will be active with your dollar when the Red Cross volunteers ask you to join. EXPERT SEWING—all kinds of needlework. ANNA CALHOUN, at home, Friend St.

DAN HEFNER

he, Vanderpool and Minix met. Words were passed between Minix and Vanderpool, he claims, and some shots were fired outside the store. Advised of his mole and immediately rode homeward approximately four miles up Salt Lick. He said he did not hear the shots which killed Vanderpool and knew nothing of the slaying until officers arrived to arrest him Monday morning. Crager admitted having a .38-calibre revolver, but said that he could prove his whereabouts on route home. Minix claimed that when he and Vanderpool left the store and went a few yards away to a point near the store of R. B. Mathis at Besco, Crager was sitting his rifle near the store. There, he told officers, Crager and Vanderpool left riding the mule, Vanderpool riding behind and the two arguing over who would carry the saddle. Leaving Minix's store, he said, he went in search of lodging for the night, finally being admitted entrance to the home of Hobart Hays. He denied hearing the shots fired and said he passed the dead man Monday morning and spoke to him twice, but that, upon receiving no reply, walked on without investigating, thinking Vanderpool was in a drunken stupor. Vanderpool's revolver, a weapon of .38-calibre, was missing when the body was found. It is held probable that he was shot by bullets from his own revolver. Sheriff Stumbo was accompanied to Besco by Deputies Elson Kendrick and Will Wills and by Mrs. Ben Norris, Floyd county coroner, who held an inquest over the body. The verdict of the coroner's jury was to the effect that Vanderpool came to his death by bullet wounds inflicted by a person or persons to the jury unknown.

The victim was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ike Vanderpool and resided on Raccoon fork of Salt Lick Creek. He was a distant kinsman of Bee Crager, one of the two suspected of his murder. Surviving relatives are his widow and several children.

THE BERGUTTEN CHURCH
 By Rev. Nordenhaug, Ph. D. How easy it is to criticize the church and its members! Nearly all people, even those who despise the church, seem somehow to expect more from the church than it can possibly give. In so doing they have inadvertently admitted that the church is in a class by itself. It is to be deeply deplored that some "members" of the churches discern them by an unchristian life. But be not too hasty in your condemnation of the church on that account. If there is static in your radio, don't blame the artist who performs. Paul said that the Christian treasure was contained in fragile earthen vessels. Well, you say, the church is out of date; it may have had its use in bygone days but, in our modern age with the great social, economic and racial problems the church is more of a hindrance than a help. Well, now, is it? What did awaken the new social consciousness? Why are men today seeking to do away with slavery, war, race prejudice, child labor, graft, and economic injustice? The answer may shock you. It is because of the church. Christ. That is a historical fact. The Golden Rule of Jesus Christ is at work. And let me ask whence the philanthropic and humanitarian agencies we have in our midst? They were born of the church. What institution laid the foundation for public education and secondary matter sponsored the orphanages, hospitals, movies, radios, auto trips, fishing, hunting, parties, etc., etc. The pastors of the churches in this town will find your answer to that question next Sunday. Homer Salisbury and daughter, Marian and Charlotte, of the Cave City, spent Tuesday here, a guests of relatives, returning home Wednesday. Oil and gas leases for sale at Christ's messengers!
