BEAVER VALLEY HOSPITAL AT MARTIN IS SOLD THIS WEEK

DR. STUMBO SELLS MARTIN HOSPITAL TO PIKEVILLE MEN

$40,000 Reported Involved in Deal; Dr. Stumbo Plans Private Practice

Sale of the Beaver Valley hospital at Martin was made this week by Dr. W. L. Stumbo. It was learned from a reliable source Thursday, to a group of six Pikeville physicians and surgeons. Dr. Paul Gronnerud, Dr. R. S. Johnson, Dr. M. D. Flanery, Dr. A. G. Osborne, Dr. S. B. Casebolt and Dr. R. W. Raynor. It was said this week that the present plans of the purchasers, provided for Dr. Gronnerud and Dr. Johnson to be resident surgeons and physicians at the hospital, with the others making periodic visits and doing a portion of the work at the hospital. They will assume charge of the hospital February 1, it was stated.

It is reported that the purchase price was $40,000. In selling the hospital, Dr. Stumbo agreed not to establish another hospital in Floyd county within 10 years. The new owners of the hospital are well-known throughout this section, having been connected for years with the Methodist hospital at Pikeville. Dr. Stumbo plans, it was said this week, to return to private practice and is expected to establish an office at Martin. In addition to his duties at the hospital as surgeon he has numerous business interests and the duties of County Judge to claim a certain portion of his attention.

The Beaver Valley hospital is probably the best-known small-town hospital in Kentucky. Originally founded by Dr. Edward Stumbo and Dr. W. L. Stumbo, it has served Floyd county in its present and former locations for 20 years. The hospital building and equipment are modern in every respect and provide for adequate medical and surgical treatment of all kinds.

FIRE OF INCENDIARY ORIGIN SUSPECTED IN DESTRUCTION OF BARN

Fire of incendiary origin is suspected by John (Cat) Calhoun in the destruction of his barn at 2 o'clock Friday morning in the Porter addition. Mr. Calhoun said this week that the structure had been set from the rear and that he was seeking to establish the identity of the frebug. Besides loss of the barn, a cow and hog belonging to Mr. Calhoun were burned to death. The frebug was badly burned and feedstuffs stored in the building were destroyed. He estimates his loss at $1,000, none of which was covered by insurance.

LAFFOON FORCES VOTE CONVENTION FOR DEMOCRATS

Efforts of National Leaders in Behalf of Primary Are Futile

VOTE IS 30-20

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 28 — By a vote of 30 to 20 the Democratic Executive Committee today decided to nominate the party's candidates for state offices next November in a convention instead of in a primary. The convention will be held in Lexington May 14 and will be preceded by county conventions on May 11. In counties having more than one legislative district, the committee authorized that conventions be held in each district.

The vote by which the committee decided on a convention came after three hours of discussion participated in by United States Senator Alben W. Barkley, Governor Ruby Laffoon and several candidates for the gubernatorial nomination. On the face of it, it was a victory for the state administration over the wishes of the national administration as conveyed to the committee by Senator Barkley in a letter from President Roosevelt.

Forty-two of the 50 members of the committee were present at the meeting, Attorney General Bailey P. Wootton. Continued on page two.

PRESTONSBURG GETS REGIONAL TOURNAY

Garrett to Be Scene of County Net Tournament; Maytown, Martin Strong

Prestonsburg won out over Paintsville in the bid for the regional basketball tournament, and Garrett was awarded the district tournament of the Kentucky high school athletic association announces following tabulation of the vote of athletic coaches of this county and the regional division.

The district tournament at Garrett will be held Friday and Saturday, March 1 and 2, and the regional here will be held on the following Friday and Saturday. Only Floyd county teams will play in the Garrett tournament. District champions and runners-up from Floyd, Johnson, Pike, Magoffin, Martin and Morgan counties will compete in the regional here. This is the second consecutive year for Prestonsburg to be the scene of the regional competition.

At this time Martin and Maytown are favorites in the county tournament. Both teams have impressive records, other teams in this county are showing improvement, however, and the condition of teams at tournament will go far toward determining Floyd county's representatives at the regional.

Maytown has 10 consecutive wins to its credit. Last week Belfry, Prestonsburg and Auxier were the Right Beaver boys' victims, Friday night. Maytown meets a formidable foe in Carr Creek. Ings and Cumberland promise strong opposition in their respective districts, are expected to reach the regional here, and if they do will be hard to handle.

RED CROSS' HEAD TAKEN BY DEATH

Pneumonia Ends Distinguished Career of John Barton Payne

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, died at 10.06 a. m. today in George Washington University hospital. Judge Payne's death occurred two days before his eightieth birthday, which would have been Saturday.

He was appointed chairman of the Red Cross by President Roosevelt last December and was serving his 14th year. He was also chairman of the board of governors of the League of Red Cross Societies. He entered official Washington life from Chicago when President Wilson drafted his legal services as general counsel of the Railroad Administration in 1917. He had been a judge of the Superior Court of Cook county. He was a member of Wilson's cabinet as Secretary of the Interior.

The immediate cause of death was pneumonia, according to his physicians. Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, Dr. Charles Stanley White and Dr. Walter Bloodorn. The latter was with Judge Payne when death came. Two associates were Miss Elizabeth Athey and Miss Elizabeth Holland had been constant visitors at the hospital and others of his 26 nieces and nephews had been in touch with his hospital. James L. Fieser, vice-chairman of the Red Cross, was a frequent caller and James K. McClintock, vice-chairman, remained at the hospital through the final day.

Judge Payne returned late in November from a two-months trip to Tokyo, Japan, where he attended and presided over some of the sessions of the Fifteenth International Red Cross Conference. He was at the office every day until Jan. 10 when he became ill with influenza. His physicians ordered his removal to George Washington University hospital Jan. 17 and he was operated on for appendicitis Jan. 18. He rallied satisfactorily from the operation.

He is survived by numerous nieces and nephews. His wife died in 1919 and all of his brothers and sisters preceded him in death.

A niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Athey, daughter of his eldest sister, is at home. She is a graduate from his home. She is president of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, and as a member of the Board of directors of the Brookings Institution, the National Geographic Society, George Washington University, the Washington Loan and Trust Company and the Finance National Bank, Washington, Va. He was a member of the Metropolitan and Burning Tree Clubs of Washington, the Warrenton Hunt Club, and the Wayfarers of Chicago, Ill. He held U. D. degrees from George Washington University, the University of Cincinnati, the College of William and Mary and Washington and Lee University.

Announcement of funeral arrangements will be made later.

The Exclusive Twelve Club was entertained Wednesday night as their guest Mr. Edward Kase, of Van Lear, Ky.

Reads Roosevelt's Letter

Senator Barkley read the committee a letter from President Roosevelt expressing the "hope and belief that in your state and in all the states, those who are charged with party responsibility will preserve and guarantee certain indisputable rights to the people of every class."

"My Dear Alben," he wrote, "the interest which you all feel in the process by which public opinion is formed in this country is well shown by the fact that you are taking the liberty of expressing the hope that in your state, without regard to political parties, the greatest freedom and the widest opportunity may be accorded to all the people for participation in the selection of candidates, as well in their final election. "One of the purposes of the present National Administration in most of its activities, is to improve the lot of men and women whose voices have not always been heard and whose welfare has not always been regarded by those in charge of our government. The right to equality of treatment under the law is inherent in democracy and its denial cannot anywhere be justified. "May I indulge the hope and belief that in your state and in all the states those who are charged with party responsibility will preserve these indisputable rights to the people of every class. "Very sincerely yours, "Franklin D. Roosevelt." The Senator, who came here from Washington this morning, pleaded with the committee not to "repudiate President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Considers Presence Duty

"I'm not here in the interest of any candidate for Governor or any other office," Barkley said in his forty-five minute address. "I am here in the interest of the people of Kentucky. I have no apology to make to anybody for being here. I have never been completely impressed with the fact that it is the duty of every Democrat who has any opinions on this subject to give them to this committee. I am here in what I conceive to be my duty as a Democrat. "It is rather tragic," Barkley said, "for a Democrat to appear before a Democratic committee and ask it to be Democratic."

Barkley termed conventions "a denial of the widest opportunity for the people to have a voice in the selection of their officials." "In Washington," he stated, "we are trying to recognize the forgotten man, the man standing on the street corner praying to God that tomorrow may bring him a means of earning his livelihood."

Spectator Interrupts

When the Senator remarked that "if it were not for primaries, Roosevelt would not be in the White House now," a member of the audience, a spectator, asked, "How was Roosevelt nominated for Governor of New York?"

"That's a fair question and I'll try to answer it," Barkley replied. "He was nominated by a convention," he explained, "that Roosevelt's strength at the Chicago convention was composed almost solely of delegates chosen by the voters and not by committees. I believe that to the direct primary and to the voices of the forgotten man and the forgotten woman we owe the nomination and election of President Roosevelt," he added.

Telling the committee members to "keep in mind" the national election of 1936, Senator Barkley said a convention of Democrats in Kentucky might result in a lack of enthusiasm that may endanger our ticket in November.

"I'm not speaking as a Senator," Barkley continued. "I'm speaking as a Kentuckian and as a Democrat. I did not come here without the sanction and approval of the President of the United States. He is concerned with what happens in Kentucky this year. If we make a mistake and lose in November, don't forget that our opposition will say that the New Deal has collapsed and the Roosevelt administration is on the down grade."

Barkley said he resented the "imputation" that "votes will be cast here today because of obligations to someone in office."

Barkley Is Applauded

Before any one could speak in opposition to the Senator, he could win in November on Roosevelt's popularity. Barkley shouted: "If you repudiate Roosevelt here today, what right have you to ride into office in November on his popularity?" Applause greeted this remark.

"I do not want the Democratic party of Kentucky to be so bankrupt of issues it will have to ride into office on anybody's coat-tail," he concluded. Replying to Senator Barkley, Gov. Letcher urged the committee to select a convention. He recited the history of the party in the state and declared that since 1903 only two Democratic candidates had been nominated in a primary election were victorious in the November election. "There are times when it is best to nominate at a primary and there are times when those nominees should be chosen in a convention," the Governor said.

TO MAKE DISTRICT SURVEY OF CREDIT

Eastern Kentucky in Area Where Government Business Probe Being Made

Representatives of the Treasury Department were in Prestonsburg this week, preparing to make a credit survey of Eastern Kentucky, which is to be a part of a general credit survey being made by the Treasury Department of the entire Fourth Federal Reserve district, which includes Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, North and West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky.

The federal investigation is being made for the purpose of determining the need for, and supply of, short term industrial and commercial credit accommodations. The treasury department is conducting the survey from general headquarters at Cleveland in co-operation with the Federal Reserve Board, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in the Fourth Federal Reserve District.

Information concerning the availability of loan credit to small and moderate-sized establishments will be sought in the survey, which is intended to provide a sound body of facts in the terms of which business men, bankers, government officials and the public may establish and appraise policies. Examination of cases where loans have been refused, or partly refused, will be made as well as cases involving the forced liquidation of existing loans.

It is hoped that the survey will reveal to what extent bank credit is available to business men and whether any deficiency that may exist due to the impaired credit status of would-be borrowers, the desire of the banks for security, the exacting standards of bank examiners, the inadequacy of banking resources, and in general the state of business. In the survey, it is promised, no confidence will be betrayed in the use of information entrusted to the investigators by the business community, nor will it be utilized as a supplement to bank examinations or for other governmental purposes not germane to this particular study.

The portion of Kentucky lying in the Fourth Federal Reserve District will be covered by Mr. Eggleston, with headquarters at the Henry Clay hotel, Lexington and Harold M. Beam and L. H. Harrison, who are now traveling in the Eastern and Southeastern sections of the state.

DISTRICT COMMANDER TO ADDRESS LEGION

B. M. Rogers, Tenth district commander of the American Legion, will address the Floyd Post Legion meeting to be held at the courthouse here Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. There probably will be other great speakers. All ex-soldiers are urged to attend.

and misery. (Then I had to keep riding with my kidneys all night long, which broke up my sleep and rest and I always felt "fagged out" in the mornings. I tried all KINDS of medicines, but INDO-VIN was the only medicine I ever found that turned out to be what I needed. My meals are digesting perfectly now and food agrees with me. My kidneys are acting in a normal manner and I don't have to keep getting up out of bed all night. I feel fine in the mornings now. This medicine is a "wonder" and I gladly endorse it to ALL WHO SUFFER for I know what this medicine will do."

Lexington Lady Now Like "New"

MRS. MARY KYLE, of Sweetgert Ave., and Paris Pike, Lexington, Ky., said:—"For several years I have been a great victim of stomach trouble. Everything I ate would disagree with me and turn sour in my stomach. My kidneys kept me in CONSTANT misery with pains in my back, and my bowels were in an awful condition too. In fact, I had gotten to be a CONSTANT sufferer of physics and laxatives constipation. I got Indo-Vin and will say that here is REAL and GENUINE medicine for a person to take. It did a wonderful action on my stomach organs and cleared out the gas as bloating. This I have to say to have over my kidneys has vanished from me, and if regulated my bowels so that I never need anything for them at all. This medicine is the most wonderful thing I EVER HEARD of and I gladly recommend it!"

ADS. WILL TELL BANKERS' STORY

American Bankers Association President Announces Move to Stimulate Newspaper Advertising

NEW YORK.—Plans for stimulating wider use of informative newspaper advertising by banks in promoting public understanding and confidence in regard to existing banking conditions and methods have been announced by R. S. Hoelt, President of the American Bankers Association, as part of his organization's activities in aid of business recovery.

A general groundswell was prepared through a nationwide survey of advertising by banks relating to their willingness to extend justifiable loans to industry and trade. This, he said, revealed that a large number in all parts of the country are making agreements and policies along this line and encouraging their customers to develop forward-looking business plans. "It is our aim to already believe this constructive attitude wherever possible," he said.

The Theme of New Advertising. The association's Advertising Department, under the direct supervision of the general executive officers, has prepared, at the headquarters in New York City, an informative advertising series for the use of member banks in the association to assist them in developing in their own communities better general public understanding regarding banking. The chief theme of this advertising is that sound banking is based on helpful human relations and that it is a duty of interest with the people of its community which binds them together with a common purpose, he said.

"We are confident that if a clear understanding of this is brought home to the people in all our banking communities, it will go far in restoring the public confidence which good banking deserves. A bank in which people do not believe is a failure in its duty to the public interest for the people to have confidence in their banks."

The Place of Advertising. "We feel that bank advertising is a special duty to perform in this connection under existing conditions. The copy which will be supplied in the service we have developed will not only give the individual bank in promoting the use of its own facilities but is also aimed to bring about with the aid of newspaper advertising a clearer public viewpoint regarding the essential part it occupies in the life of its community."

Mr. Necht emphasized in regard to the new advertising facilities being offered to the members of the association that he has no intention of making any disturbance existing advertising arrangements. He has no intention of making any disturbance existing advertising arrangements.

MANY BANKS LONG LIVED

In the United States— 148 Banks over 100 years old. 2472 Banks over 50 years old. 10,391 Banks over 25 years old.

There are in the United States 148 banks that have been in continuous existence for more than one hundred years. There are 2,472 banks over 50 years old, while 64% of all the banks in this country, or 10,391, are twenty-five years old or older.

In other words, practically two-thirds of the banks in this country have come through several successive periods of depression and panic, including 1907, 1914, 1929 and 1932-33.

The Oldest Bank. The oldest bank in the country, which is in Boston, was chartered February 17, 1794.

In the 64% of banks that are twenty-five years old or older is lodged a major portion of the banking resources of the nation. In connection with the stability of a great majority of the banks, the Commercial and Financial Institutions Department of the American Bankers Association said:

"The fact that we have so many banks that have been in existence a long period of years is an eloquent tribute to the genius of American managerial ability. For no other country has experienced such wild gambling eras and resultant periods of business stagnation as those through which our country has passed at frequent intervals during the past century."

NEW WEALTH FROM SOIL. New wealth which comes from the soil is of special interest to those who have the responsibility of maintaining our credit structure.

Fight Bootleg Insurance

Continued from page one. "It is enough that this is a direct violation of our state laws, and it is damnable that these ruffians should prey upon Kentuckians' least able to pay... the poorer people who must buy cheap insurance if they are to have any."

"I am asking the assistance of these companies, authorized companies, Kentucky agents, and the insuring public in driving these bootleggers out of our state. There are 48 companies operating legally in this state with some policies and contracts with assets of $21,000,000,000."

"The chance of a Kentucky policyholder reflecting a claim under a policy of an unauthorized company is negligible. As these companies operate without regulation or supervision of this department, they have no process agent in Kentucky and a policyholder would be forced to go to the home state of the company to bring suit. Many of these companies are too weak financially to qualify to do business legitimately in Kentucky, and they are dodging taxes, laws, and state supervision."

"I would like to be quoted as stating that this department considers policies of unauthorized companies to be without value to residents of Kentucky in buying insurance."

WE MISSED IT BY JUST A MATTER OF A MONTH

In Sheriff M. T. Stumbo's notice to taxpayers last week, The Times erroneously stated that the penalty and interest is to be added on, and after February 1. The date should have been February 28.

"One thing this error proved," Sheriff Stumbo, and that is the fact that advertising in The Times really gets to the people. Soon after the paper was in the mails Friday, telephone calls began coming into the Sheriff's office asking how come. Of course, Mr. Stumbo explained that it was just another dumb newspaper error."

BANKING EVOLUTION FORENSIC LEAGUE HAS FIVE TEAMS

R. S. HOELT, President American Bankers Association. BANKING at one time was a petty business, but more recently has developed into a profession—a serious one of profession. This change has not come suddenly but the result of an evolutionary process.

R. S. HOELT

The banker who has survived the years and the storms of the past has proved himself a man of courage and ability, and we may well expect him to meet the problems that lie before him with resolution and sound judgment. Changes of momentous importance have occurred in our economic structure and bankers have had a stiff road to travel. Some will argue that all of these changes are evolutionary and inevitable, while others look upon many of them as revolutionary and unnecessary. It is extremely difficult to trace with any degree of accuracy the real causes for many of our troubles and it is not always easy in judging these developments to distinguish properly between cause and effect.

Unfortunately it has become the fashion to blame on our banking system the troubles which the depression has brought. As a consequence we hear much of needed reform in banking but few of our bankers are able to cite facts have developed in our existing banking laws which need correction, and that certain abuses were committed which no one wishes to defend or have remain possible in the future.

Never before were bankers more determined than they are today to create out whatever changes in our banking system are called for by the public welfare.

The best results can and will be accomplished by normal processes and gradual adjustments of our present private banking structure—nothing advised by proper authority—rather than by the passage of still more drastic laws, offering penalties in the form of more government-owned or government-controlled financial organizations.

The Basis of Good Laws. Lasting laws relating to any phase of human life are formed and moulded in the rough stages of experience and are usually the result of sound evolutionary processes rather than of legislative enactments to change fundamental principles.

If we analyze the new banking picture which has developed during the past eighteen months, we cannot help but arrive at the conclusion that evolutionary changes which have taken place in banking and the economic life of the nation which it is a part, have justified much of the banking legislation which has been enacted. We look around and consider the new problems which are facing us and we inevitably come to the conclusion that some far-reaching changes in our banking laws will be necessary.

It is not enough that bankers merely acquiesce in banking imposed by law. We are evolutionary banking reform must be more aggressive than that. Banking progress itself, without compulsion of law, can and should reflect the changes and lessons of the times and difficulties through which the nation has passed and, even to a greater extent than law, render banking naturally a good public servant by voluntary self-reform. In no small measure is the future of the nation dependent on the training of the members of the banking fraternity and by instituting soundly higher ideals in those who are ultimately responsible for bank management.

As we march on into the world of tomorrow the banker has a greater opportunity for usefulness than ever before, and I hope that the services he will render to society will be no exception, so constructive and so satisfactory as to merit general approval and assure him his highest high place and leadership.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to the members of the Kiwanis Club for their generous contribution to us in our need for... The Kiwanis Club members have been invited to be the guests of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club on that date, which is Gent's Night for the Woman's Club Friday night.

Betsy Layne Man Kills Nightwatchman

Robert Guffey, Betsy Layne mine employe, Sunday night shot and killed the man who, several weeks ago, fired a shot at him and missed at a range of less than three feet.

The victim of Sunday night's shooting was Jarvey Hamilton, former county patrolman, and at the time of his death a nightwatchman for the Pike-Floyd Coal Company, by whom Guffey also was employed.

Particulars of the shooting are lacking, since the two men were alone when Hamilton was killed. Guffey and the former officer were seen together, a few minutes before two shots were heard. Hamilton was found at the roadside in the effects of a .44-caliber revolver bullet which had entered his right shoulder, ranged across through the body and emerged in the left side of his back. He died about five minutes later without making a statement concerning the shooting.

When Hamilton was an officer, he fired at Guffey almost point-blank when he attempted to arrest Guffey in a Betsy Layne store. His bullet went wild as Guffey whirled, striking a bystander. Guffey claimed that he shot Hamilton in self-defense. Authorities believe the shot fired by Hamilton at Guffey resulted in Sunday night's tragedy.

Guffey was arrested Monday morning by County Patrolman Earl Layne on a warrant issued by Magistrate Dewey Roberts, was indicted by the grand jury on a murder charge the same day, and his bond was fixed at $10,000. He remained in jail Tuesday.

Hamilton was a son of John W. Hamilton, of Teaberry, Mud Creek, a former member of the Floyd county board of education. He is survived by his parents, his widow and five children. The body was returned Monday to Teaberry for burial in the family cemetery.

National Park in 'Breaks'

"In my judgment, the three above-mentioned things will make it impossible ever to get a recommendation from the engineers of the War Department to lock and dam the Big Sandy river, and the very fact that the channel of the stream has been largely taken by growth of trees and other obstructions, make it more disastrous, dangerous, and probable the overflow of flood waters along the valley, and the resulting millions of dollars of damage.

"My view of all this, I have reached the definite conclusion that the people of the Big Sandy valley should immediately organize by concerted effort of the commercial and social clubs, business men and boards of trade of the different towns to aid me in presenting to the Public Works Administration some sound and substantial reasons why we should have an appropriation of about $10,000,000 for the construction of flood control works above Pikeville up to and including the park area in Dickenson county, Virginia.

"According to a letter and report which I received from Major General E. M. Marham, chief of Engineers of the War Department, on April 1, 1934, it was stated that construction of a dam in Big Creek is impractical, but there is a possibility of the construction of a reservoir or Cranesnest River, 1.5 miles from its mouth, to provide storage of approximately 3,000 acre-feet and further development 16.3 miles above the mouth of Russell Fork, which includes the construction of five earth and rock-filled dams to provide storage of 270,000 acre feet at Camp Branch, Bart's Fork, Haystack Mountain and McClure. It is also stated in the letter from Major Marham that the construction of an earth and rock-filled dam about 1.5 miles above the mouth of Russell Fork would provide a reservoir with storage capacity of approximately 235,000 acre feet, with which could be developed approximately 10,160 horsepower primary electric power.

"Another project provided is on Pound river 11.3 miles above the mouth of the river, which would provide 100,000 acre feet of storage. I was advised by Major Marham that the report had not been completed, but would be transmitted to Congress when completed. I am deeply grateful for the interest and would thank you to lead an aggressive campaign among the commercial and other clubs of the Sandy valley to aid me in making this matter a reality. While the Federal and the Public Works Administration are so determined
