FORMER COUNTY WOMAN DIES IN MICHIGAN WRECK

Mrs. Beatrice Spradlin McIntosh instantly killed Sunday in an automobile accident at Claire, Mich. in which her husband, Russell McIntosh, was painfully injured.

Body of Mrs. McIntosh, a daughter of the late Kell Spradlin, well-known Bonanza farmer and of his widow, Mrs. Lillian Spradlin, was returned to the Spradlin home at Bonanza Tuesday morning by the ambulance of E. P. Arnold, Franklin, brother-in-law of the victim, made the trip to Michigan to return the body here.

Mrs. McIntosh and her husband were passengers on a Ford touring car driven by Edward Fetterly, former driller in the Floyd county oil and gas field. As Fetterly's auto was passing a truck, another auto approached and in order to pass the Fetterly automobile back, the truck collided with the truck. It was said by officials who investigated the wreck Mr. Fetterly escaped without serious injury.

Mrs. McIntosh sustained skull fractures and other injuries. Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh were married here about three years ago, and both were known to residents of this place as one of Prestonsburg's most popular and best liked newly-wedded couples. Before her marriage, Mrs. McIntosh resided at the Axtier hotel here, where she was held in the highest esteem. Mrs. McIntosh was a devout member of the Methodist Church.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home of Mrs. McIntosh's mother at Bonanza, the Rev. G. W. Rose, of Prestonsburg, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Albert Baldridge, Portsmouth, O., of the Holiness Church. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Bonanza under the direction of E. P. Arnold.

Mrs. McIntosh is survived by her husband, her mother, by one brother, James Spradlin, of Bonanza, and two sisters: Miss Marie Spradlin, of Prestonsburg, and Elizabeth Spradlin, at home.

VIRGINIANS HELD IN WELLS DEATH

East Point Man Killed Friday By Truck; Arrests Made Near Here

Three Virginians, W. F. Carter, 55 years old, F. D. Hubbard, 40, and Luther Mullins, 32, were held here Thursday night, a few hours before Evans Wells, 42, of near East Point, died at the Golden Rule hospital, Paintsville, from injuries sustained when the truck, occupied by the trio, struck him at East Point Thursday evening.

When arrested at Bill Buck's roadside, at the top of Abbott Mountain, two miles from here and several miles from the scene of the tragedy, the trio said they were returning from Mt. Sterling where they had taken a truck-load of cattle from Wise, Va., where they Continued on page six

'FOURTH' NO HOLIDAY IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

July fourth may be a holiday for some people, but it is anything but for a candidate for governor. For instance, Elam Huddleston after a short breathing spell in Paducah with four speeches, hit the trail again Friday, and here is the Eastern Kentucky itinerary he will follow with his sound truck equipment, beginning July 8:

He will visit Somerset, Whitley City, Stearns, Williamsburg, Barbourville, Pineville and Middleboro. From Middleboro he works along the southeastern border, visiting Harlan, Evans, Lynch, Cumberland, Whitesburg, Jenkins, Lynch, Meltzer, Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Paintsville, Louisa, Sandy Hook, West Liberty, Salversville and Jackson. MRS. BURCHETT IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. George Burchett, 69 years old, died Monday night at her home at Dewey, this county, a victim of dysentery which followed several months of ill health.

A native of Johnson county, Mrs. Burchett was before her marriage Miss Maletta Conley. She was for many years a devout member of the United Baptist Church and she held the friendship of all who knew her.

Burchett is survived by her husband, a well-known Floyd county farmer, and by three daughters and one son: Mrs. Marie Carter, of Anderson; Mrs. Alta Hyden, Dewey; Miss Ocie Burchett, Dewey; and Willie Lee Burchett, of Dewey. She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Belle Richmond of this place. Miss Ella Belle and Ethel Akers, also of Prestonsburg, are nieces of the deceased.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday afternoon by the Reverend Honeycutt, burial following in the family cemetery at Dewey under the direction of B. F. Arnold.

6 WORK DISTRICTS NAMED FOR STATE

Headquarters for District No. 5 Established at Paintsville

George H. Goodman, Works "The president's statement," announced six work districts as the administrative and operating units of the Works Progress Administration in Kentucky.

The state has been divided into six districts to facilitate efficient and economical administration of the Works Progress under the State Works Progress Administrator, Mr. Goodman. The districts, in all but one instance, are composed of a group of counties with approximately an equal number of families on relief included.

Three considerations were taken into account in the laying out of the work districts: the number of families on relief in a given area; quick and adequate transportation and communication and economy and efficiency of central headquarters.

FLOYD COUNTY WOMAN IS COUSIN OF NOTED FLYING KEYS

First news of the record-breaking flight over Meridian, Miss., of the "Flying Keys," Al and Fred, was received in Lexington, Ky., by Mrs. Edgar E. May, of Langley, and former local relief official, who is attending the summer session of the University of Kentucky. Mrs. May is a cousin of the intrepid fliers, and before the Lexington newspapers had received news of the world endurance record established by the Keys she was in receipt of a telegram from them announcing their achievement.

HERE'S A CHANCE

For Insurance Men: Taxi-Operators Will Be Ready Customers As Law Threatens

Five taxi drivers have been arrested in this county within the last week when state and local officials found they were operating without the insurance required by state law for operators of vehicles for passenger hire. The defendants, however, have produced evidence that they have made every effort to procure insurance and that they are unable to do so, since every insurance company has to date withdrawn from this business.

For this reason, the County Judge's office has requested magistrates to defer prosecution. John Allen, County Judge, pro-tem, held Tuesday that the county judge's office takes the position that, since it is impossible for the tax-men to procure insurance, despite their earnest endeavors to get insurance, they should be given an opportunity to operate free of prosecution at least temporarily.

DANIEL BOONE and KATHY by Dr. Charles M. Knapp UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

SEVERE WINTER STORMS HELD BOONE TO CAMP IN VICINITY OF PRESTONSBURG

Notwithstanding his longevity, Boone might never have gone to Kentucky had conditions remained satisfactory on the Yackin. With increasing settlement, game was rapidly becoming scarcer and harder to find. Land titles were subjects of contention. Discontent was therefore general among the settlers. Boone's solution of the problems was to remove from the Sugar Tree settlement to lands 65 miles distant on the headwaters of the Yackin, about seven and a half miles above Wilksboro. Soon thereafter he moved five miles farther up Beaver Creek. Again he changed his mind and moved again, this time building a cabin on the Yackin, just above the mouth of Beaver Creek. Here where fish and game were plentiful Boone was to make his home. From here he was to venture forth upon his first hunting trips into Kentucky. Not until the autumn of the year 1767 did Daniel Boone's hunting trips lead him into Kentucky. In that year he set out with two or three companions with the determination to seek Ken-

CONDITIONS IN MARTIN SCORED

Bonds in Default, Floating Debt Mounting, Sewell Tells Lafoon

Frankfort, Ky., June 27—Martin county "is a striking example of unswakened county government," Nat H. Sewell, state inspector and examiner, said today in a report to Gov. Ruby Laffoon. "With its road and bridge bonds in default, Sewell said, its floating indebtedness constantly and rapidly increasing, its funds for operating costs exhausted, its warrants being bartered at a heavy discount, its records incomplete, inaccurate, and wholly inadequate, and its public service far below the reasonable standard that should be maintained upon its income, the financial and governmental conditions are now worse than at any other time in its history.

"Worst of all," Sewell continued, "its official family is doing nothing to check the governmental mismanagement that has been going on for years."

Sewell declared a budget adopted by the fiscal court for 1934-1935 "has proved a farcical failure" and budget allotments "have been recklessly overdrawn and extravagant expenditures triggered by the R. G. Bowman, Kentucky relief administrator, said this week.

The administration, which during the 15 months from January 1, 1934, Sewell said, outstanding warrants of the county increased from $74,972.03 to $87,727.11, or 17 per cent.

Sewell said claims had been filed against the county "without proper substantiation."

Sewell declared the collection of taxes "is poorly handled" and that the fiscal court, which met 18 days during the 15-month period, could have transacted the business in half the number of meetings.

"The enforcement of the dog law for many years seems to have been quite on a par with the interest and activity that have been shown in the enforcement of other fundamental laws in this county," Sewell said, reciting that during 15 months only 11 dog licenses were said for a total income of $13.

"The present county officials," he stated, "are amply capable of meeting all requirements of the system and, their serious efforts are directed toward this end, a very great improvement will be evident before the close of the next year."

Miss Corinne Hicks, of Hindman, is the guest this week of Miss Zena Dare Daniels.

SCHOOL BUILDING DEPENDS ON PWA GRANTS TO BOARD

Garrett, Lackey, Wayland and Ligon May Benefit; Schools Open July 22

Four major school building contracts will be awarded in this county soon after applications for PWA grants are approved, County Superintendent Ballard Haver said this week. Application for a federal grant has already been made for the construction of a 12-room brick building at Garrett. This appropriation when made will cover 45 per cent of the cost of construction and equipment of the structure.

Applications for grants on the Lackey gymnasium, Wayland school and four-room school addition at Ligon, have been without pending the new public works program set-up. Under the new set-up the grant may be 10 to 15 per cent more than that possible under the old plan.

The grants, if made, are absolute and are not to be repaid, Mr. Hunter said. "Through the county board of education met Monday to hire teachers for approximately 20 schools for which the teachers have not heretofore been named, teacher hiring was postponed. Next regular meeting of the board is to be held the first Monday in August. Since rural schools are to open July 22, teachers will be named either at a special board session or by the county superintendent.

G MEN TO AID RELIEF SET-UP

Kentucky Administration To Have Government Help In Fund Expenditure

The "G-Men," otherwise known as Department of Justice agents, will co-operate with the new works progress administration in the expenditure of from $75,000 to $100,000 in Kentucky. Gov. R. G. Bowman, Kentucky relief administrator, said this week.

The administration, which plans to give constructive employment to persons now on relief rolls, will have the full support of all governmental law-enforcing agencies, Goodman said.

Goodman said that under the old KERA relief set-up it has been difficult to fix responsibility for investigations of discrepancies and even theft of public funds. He cited the recent indictment of 27 persons in Floyd county by a federal grand jury as having required about 18 months by several investigating agencies before the evidence was consolidated sufficiently to bring about indictments. He added this was effected only after postal authorities took hold of the case.

"Every safeguard for the faithful handling of federal funds under the new program has been anticipated," Mr. Goodman said. "It is satisfying to know that under a presidential order, we have at our beck and call, upon a moment's notice, the services of G-men, probably the world's greatest investigating body under J. Edgar Hoover, the postoffice department and all other such agencies."

Rev. D. M. Allen, Sr., of Hueysville, spent the weekend here, guest of relatives.

GOOD RIDDANCE

Bath county, the Kentucky court of appeals has held, has the right to abolish all sub-districts in the county, thereby rendering non-existent the jobs of the three trustees for each district.

Which means that all other Kentucky counties have the same right. And which is probably a good thing for everybody concerned.

Aside from the probable value of a sub-district trustee as a means of contact for persons in the school area with county board of education headquarters in cases where these individuals are unable or find it inconvenient to come to Prestonsburg, the trustee fills no important place in the educational scheme of things. He or she may recommend a teacher; and since nepotism has theoretically been forbidden, this recommendation may be only a sugar-coated form of political "log-rolling." He or she may visit his or her school, or may not; may have coal hauled for school consumption. Omitting these doubtful services, the sub-district school trustee is an official non-entity.

On the debit side of the ledger is the school election, by which these trustees are chosen. The history of school elections is a sorry one—men, ordinarily fast friends, often blood relatives, in lethal combat, never-dying enemies the afternoon after.

While The Times believes government should be kept as near home as possible, this particular phase of government—if it can be called such—has so many faults and abuses as to make it a destroyer of a system which, devoted to the teaching of the young, should be a model of orderly and honorable conduct.

The sub-district trustee is a middle man who merits no turned to the direct vote of the people. The county superintendent should be directly answerable to the people of the conduct of the school system. If good, capable teachers are hired, he should be praised; if teachers whose only qualifications are political "pull" and a smile are hired, the responsibility should be placed on the individual's shoulders—and that individual should be the county school head.

The sub-district trustee is a middle man who merits no part in education when learning is a matter of hard, honest endeavor for all concerned, beginning with the student and including the teacher and those who hire and supervise the teacher.

Boone and Ky.

In the spring of 1768-69 a peddler with horse and wagon entered the valley of the upper Yadkin, selling small articles to the settlers. In his Boone discovered his old companion of Braddock's campaign, John Finley. Through Boone's quest. Once again Boone, with his brother, Square Boone, followed the warriors' tales of Kentucky with Indian companies when he had been a fur trader years before. The result was that the Boones determined to try to set out for Kentucky as soon as they could make the necessary arrangements.

As soon as the spring planting was done, Daniel Boone and his brother-in-law, John Stuart, together with their neighbors, Joseph Holder, Jas. Moore and William Cowley, in their common adventures and camp, started from Boone's camp on the first day of May. They planned to be away in about three weeks. Boone returned to Boone's camp to get the necessary arrangements made for the party.

Real Mountain Band

Although the young men of the band are of various ages, they are all first-class musicians and they have appeared in many places and have made many friends and have carved their names in the annals of the band in which they have Sunday, July 7, 1934. The Real Mountain Band, as mentioned above, are the sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bevin of Meta, near here, and of the mountain merry-makers have been playing together for he has ever heard.

GOVERNMENT BANK UNSUITED TO U. S.

Would Serve Politics Rather Than Business Needs, Says R. S. Hecht, Chief Previous Experiences.

QUOTES PRESIDENT JACKSON

Extent and Diversity of This Country Presents Different Situation From Europe and Makes Regional Banking Necessary.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A refutation of arguments in favor of a government-owned central bank for the United States is presented in a statement by R. S. Hecht, President of the Associated Bankers Association, based on exhaustive studies of European central banks. He also points out the disastrous consequences of previous central bank experiments in the United States.

"Our present national Federal Reserve system under private ownership, owned and controlled by a government-owned, and controlled central bank," Mr. Hecht says, "is almost certain that it is a failure. It is a failure because it is a government-owned, and controlled central bank. It is a failure because it is a government-owned, and controlled central bank. It is a failure because it is a government-owned, and controlled central bank."

Mr. Hecht says that the central bank system has been tried twice in the United States, but was finally abolished because the credit control which the central banks exercised became objectionable and unpopular, he goes on to say.

That Andrew Jackson said:

"The established existence of the Second Bank finally became a bitter political issue and President Jackson was forced to abolish it." Mr. Hecht says. "For a man to quote from his well-known book, 'The American People and the Bank of America,' and to say that the central bank system is a failure, is to say that the central bank system is a failure. It is a failure because it is a government-owned, and controlled central bank. It is a failure because it is a government-owned, and controlled central bank. It is a failure because it is a government-owned, and controlled central bank."

TO TRAP OR POISON HOUSE MICE EASY

Like so many city dwellers who go to lakes and resorts for the summer, mice and rats depart for open places in gar-ed baits will remove the pests in short order if applied in a thorough manner, according to G. C. Oederkirk, rodent specialist of the U. S. Biological Survey, who is cooperating in a department in gar-of traps. A dozen or more properly set along the walls should remove mice from a house in one or two nights, says Mr. Oederkirk. Where poisoned bait can be safely used, stir up a mixture of powdered strychnine and powdered starch, or a mixture of rolled oats and peanut butter on the traps. It is in small flat containers and clothing. Traps or poison. The main idea is to use plenty where mice will easily find it.

CATTLE PRICES GOOD AT SALES

Stock cattle prices showed a marked upward trend while butcher stock remained unchanged at the sale last Saturday at the Paintsville Live-stock Market. There was a good run of stock, according to H. Howes Meade, and the bidding was faster than usual. Mr. Meade also stated that greater interest is being shown in the raising of purebred cattle in this section of Eastern Kentucky. It is evidenced by the prices and spirited bidding when purebred stock is led into the sale ring. Paintsville Herald, June 27.

THE SOURCE OF PRESTONSBURG'S MILK SUPPLY

By M. V. Clark, Sanitary Inspector, Floyd County Health Department

Prestonsburg's milk supply is produced on a number of small farms. There are only five or more that are making a business of supplying milk. These dairies vary in size from one selling only a few gallons to one selling 40 gallons of milk per day. Prestonsburg's mothers have an advantage over the mothers of larger cities. They can easily visit the dairies from which they are buying milk. The county health department would be glad if mothers would visit their dairymen and see for themselves if the milk delivered to their homes is carefully protected from all possible contamination by a careful dairyman.

"One of the dairy farms supplying Prestonsburg has been given a grade of "A" by the Floyd county health department, and when you buy grade "A" raw milk, you know that every precaution has been placed around that milk by the dairyman and the health department that is possible in the production of raw milk. On a dairy farm producing grade "A" raw milk every cow has been tested by the tuberculin tests. These tests have been made under the supervision of the state Live Stock Sanitary Board and the United States Department of Agriculture, bureau of animal industry. In fact, Floyd county has been added to the list of accredited counties in Kentucky which is fast working toward an accredited state standing. The accrediting of a county or state means that tests have shown that less than 1 per cent of the dairy cattle in a given area have tuberculosis and careful tests will be made from time to time to be sure that tuberculosis does not increase. Tuberculosis in cattle not only means a loss to the dairyman, but the danger of the transmission of this disease to children by milk from tuberculous cows is well recognized and is one of the reasons that health authorities are so insistent on healthy cows in dairy herds. No careful or thoughtful dairyman will intentionally expose his customers to the chance of disease through his milk. Milk from sick or diseased cows can never be considered a safe milk if consumed raw. There are often injuries to the animals or other illnesses which make it necessary for the dairyman to withhold this milk from sale. An epidemic caused by milk will not only injure the business of one dairyman responsible, but will cause a reduction in consumption of milk in the entire city. Less than one glass of milk a day is being drunk by citizens of Prestonsburg. Every child should have a quart of milk a day, and every adult, a pint.

MONEY MOVING BACK TO LAND IN KENTUCKY

The enormously increased sales of farm lands in Kentucky during the first four months of this year, as evidenced by figures given out by the Federal Land Bank here, are excellent testimony of the return of confidence, generally and special evidence of confidence in farms as safe investments. The bank points out that while a year ago most inquiries came from farmers, today sales are being made in increasing number to those who are not satisfied with the rate of interest in savings banks and who are looking around for opportunities for productive investment of surplus funds.

Obviously the improvement in farm prices and government largess to corn, hog, wheat, cotton and tobacco growers, in the form of rental for idle lands and compensation for reduced production, are making farming attractive to investors. A very large percentage of farms in this section, including southern Indiana and southern Ohio, as well as Kentucky and Tennessee, are tenant operators. More than $1,000,000 worth of farms were sold by the Land Bank this year this year up to May 1, 227 farms figuring in the transactions. These are not sales under the hammer, but the result of inquiries by investors. The contrast with last year is remarkable, since in the same months of 1934 only 54 farms taken over by the bank were sold, bringing less than a quarter of a million dollars. — Courier-Journal.

KEENE JOHNSON IS VISITOR HERE

Keene Johnson, editor of the Richmond Daily Register, week and Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Kentucky, was a visitor in Prestonsburg Thursday. He is making a tour of the state in the interest of his candidacy. Mr. Johnson is one of the most prominent Kentucky editors and has the endorsement of the Democratic press of the state for the office he is seeking.

TWIN BULEN ARE BORN IN JOHNSON

Roy Salyer, a farmer living in the Volga section of Johnson county, is the proud possessor of a pair of mules which were born at his farm last week. The young mules both active and healthy. This is an unusual occurrence, it is said, although it is not unheard of. At present prices Mr. Salyer will realize a good return on his investment, since the price of mules is high at the present. He is one of the outstanding farmers of the county and his state for the office he is seeking. — Paintsville Herald.

FLOYD WOMAN IS IN WRECK NEAR RICHMOND

Miss Sarah Hayes, former Floyd county relief supervisor, Mrs. E. R. May, county relief worker, Mrs. May's son, Edgar Ronald, and Miss Mary Gertrude Arthur, social caseworker supervisor for Campbell county, narrowly escaped serious injury Sunday afternoon when Miss Hayes' car, which she was driving, was overturned on the Richmond-Berea road, four miles from Richmond.

Pain Passes Off

When your head aches; when Neuralgia tortures you; when Muscular Pains make you miserable—take a Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. This is one of millions you will have found this easy way to get relief. He says: "I keep Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills in my pocket bag when I get a dull heavy feeling in my head. I take a Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pill and the pain passes off."

-ANTI-PAIN PILLS-

While members of the party were extricating themselves from the wreckage, another car skidded in close proximity to the wrecked auto, as two other autos from the opposite

CHANDLER TO SPEAK OVER STATION WHAS

A. B. "Happy" Chandler, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, may be heard over radiophone WHAS, Knoxville, July 6, 13 and 20 from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m., Eastern Standard time. Every man, woman and child hear these messages from the next Governor.

Amateur Fishing Trip Fought With Tragedy

Ollie Webb of Auxier, reached over the side of his boat to retrieve an apple floating past while fishing in the Big Sandy river near Auxier. He got the apple.

When he looked around, his seven-year-old son was missing from the boat. Body of the little victim was soon recovered but frantic efforts of the father and friends to resuscitate him were in vain.

POST AND AUXILIARY TO MEET HERE JULY 6

Floyd Post, American Legion and the Women's Legion Auxiliary meet at the court house here Saturday evening, July 6, in joint session. The Legion has a membership of 110, and the Auxiliary, but a month old, has 23 members.

Of the 110 Legion members, 40 are members of Outpost No. 1 for Garrett and Wayland. Floyd Post plans to establish two other outposts, one at either Drift or McDowell, the other at Wheelwright or Weeksburg.

IN MEMORY OF CLINT HERALD

The old anvil now is silent. It's music we will hear no more. For Uncle Clint has left us to live on yonder shore.

His sinewy hands that once did coil To earn his daily bread; Are resting now upon his breast, Asleep among the dead.

We know we have lost a friend And a good neighbor too; But God has only called him home Where he'll have no work to do.

The old trees around the blacksmith shop In silence they do stand. They miss their old companion Who's gone to a better land.

Think not of him as dead, As in silence you sit and weep; He is only resting from his toils In a peaceful, happy sleep.

To his folks who's left behind, For you his life he spent The way he lived before you Should be a living monument.

And as we pass his old homestead, As on life's way we go, Let's cheer his loving wife, and in her path some flowers throw. (Composed by Watt Hale, West Prestonsburg, Ky.)

NO POLITICS, IS ROOSEVELT EDICT

According to KERA Head Who Says Favoritism is Taboo

The new Works Progress Administration, "about to be launched in Kentucky, to eventually replace the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration, is to enjoy a specific freedom from politics, George H. Goodman, administrator, said a few days ago at Louisville.

"Sound as Good as the Best"

Something New Under Sun—Daily Published By Weekly

Henry Arrowood, of Paintsville, is editor of probably the world's only daily newspaper to be published by a weekly paper. This anomalous journalistic situation arises from the fact that Henry's main job is to edit the Paintsville News, a weekly, but finding this too much of a sinecure and seeking an outlet for his creative energy, the editor of the weekly each day turns out the Daily News, a miniature newspaper printed on a size-by-twelve inch sheet.

It's an interesting experiment and gets the news while it's fresh; if it pays, Henry might make the paper a quarter of an inch bigger.

Surviving Mr. Wells are his widow, Mrs. Alka Wells, four sons, Odie, Luffie, George Albert and Russell Wells, one daughter, Mrs. Olga Porter of Boyd county; six brothers, William, Bozier, Sherman, George, Sam and Curtis Wells, and Mrs. Sallie Burchett and Mrs. Maggie Webb, all of this county.

Funeral rites of the victim were conducted from the home Sunday, with burial being made in the family cemetery near East Point.

Secret of Happiness
 "The real secret of happiness is to be in love with your job; to do work that you live to do; that interests you; that you believe in." That is, let us add, not only the secret of happiness, but the secret of success.

Revenge
 We cannot honor our country with too deep a reverence; we cannot love her with an affection too pure and fervent; we cannot serve her with an energy of purpose or a faithfulness of soul too steadfast and ardent.

The less you pay, the more it may cost

It sounds like a contradiction, but it's a fact as far as automobile insurance is concerned. Cheap rates indicate inferior protection; exclusions can sometimes nullify the safeguards you need most.

When you insure in U. S. F. & G. (or with us) you obtain complete coverage. Let us submit our policy for your own comparison.
