CHANDLER ELECTED GOVERNOR

EMPLOYMENT ON 5 PROJECTS IS SUPPLIED BY WPA

Other Projects Soon to Be Begun; 578 Men Employed

PAVING STARTS HERE

Five Works Progress Administration projects either already begun in this county or scheduled to begin this week are furnishing employment for 578 men.

In Prestonsburg two street projects are under construction, with paving and sewer construction in prospect for practically every unpaved part of town. On the projects already started here 160 men are employed.

Mayor A. C. Carter last week said that work on other paving here would be started within the next two weeks, and it was officially said that this work would be done without cost to the property-owners. On the Abbott Creek road 210 men are working; on Salt Lick road, 105 men; 24 men on the... sanitation project and 47 men on the Martin school grounds improvement starting today (Thursday).

The Works Progress program in this county is rapidly taking form, and is expected to be in full swing within the next 10 or 15 days.

Funds have been set aside for every Prestonsburg project, Mayor Carter said, and work will begin as soon as men and equipment are assigned to the work. A requisition for equipment has already been made, he said.

MARSHLET HURT IN ELECTION DAY FIGHT

Will Marshlet was taken to the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, Tuesday afternoon, after having been struck, it is alleged, by Manis Bailey who wielded a bottle in a fight at Beckey voting precinct. He suffered severe loss of blood, and was in a badly weakened condition when brought here to the office of Dr. Dotson. He is expected, however, to recover.

According to a report received here soon after Marshlet was brought here, the injured man and Grover Bailey were trying to fight but were being restrained by bystanders. Manis Bailey struck Marshlet while the latter was held, this report says.

SUBMITS TO OPERATION

Mrs. J. D. Mayo submitted to a major operation Friday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin. Her condition is favorable to her recovery, her many friends will be pleased to know.

Mrs. Mary B. May and daughter, Miss Shirley, returned Tuesday to Frankfort after a visit with friends and relatives in Prestonsburg.

CHILD STRUCK BY CAR SUNDAY AFTERNOON TO RECOVER; BELIEF HELD

Joan, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Derostett is in the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, suffering from a severe head injury after having been struck by an automobile at the intersection of the Mayo Trail and Court street here Sunday afternoon. Though the child's skull was at first believed fractured, her injuries are now not considered dangerous and she is expected to recover soon.

The foal was struck by an automobile driven by Harvey Underwood. The accident was unavoidable, it was said. The child had waited until a truck passed, then started across the street when the side of the auto struck her.

BREAKS OF GAME GO AGAINST 'CATS'

Aid So Great Record of Local Team Smashed by Pikeville Eleven

... broke the pitcher that went to the well once too often.

This applies to the Prestonsburg Blackcats who, undefeated in 18 games, were stopped by the Pikeville Panthers at Pikeville Saturday afternoon when the Panthers received the majority of the breaks and had the ability to capitalize on them.

The game should have been—but wasn't—a scoreless tie. The two lines were evenly matched, if ever lines were; in Dobson Prestonsburg had a line-smasher the equal if not the superior of Ishmael, Panther star; in the air both were pitifully ineffective. Only in the kicking department did the Pike countians have an edge, and that through Ishmael's ability to boot the ball out of bounds deep in Prestonsburg territory.

Pikeville was unofficially credited with seven first downs and Prestonsburg with six—that's how evenly matched they were.

Both teams fumbled often in the first quarter, the Blackcats more often than the foe. Hook, a first-year man with that was punished rather severely, and some of his passes Continued on page four

TWO DIE IN KNOTT COUNTY SHOOTING

Floyd Countian Killed in Pike By Officer; Stone Surrenders

Two men were killed in Hindman election day, and one, a Floyd countian, was slain in Pike county Sunday. The Floyd county victim of gunfire was Estill Damron, 20 years old, who was shot through his temple and instantly killed by Deputy Sheriff Lee Branham, of Pike county, at Claudia's Place, a few miles from Pikeville.

At Hindman Winston Stone is alleged to have shot to death Chester Jones, 39, and Kelly Adams, 28, following a quarrel a few hours earlier on election day. Stone surrendered to authorities. Details of the affray are lacking here.

Branham, slayer of Damron, surrendered to Pike county officers and was later quoted as saying that he killed the Floyd countian in self-defense after Damron had threatened him and jabbed him with a revolver.

Jones and Adams, victims in the Hindman slaying, were, respectively, sons of Henry Jones and Dick Adams, a former Knott county jailer. Both resided on tributaries of Troublesome Creek, while their alleged slayer, formerly of Caney Creek, is a resident of Hindman.

Mrs. Katherine Ward left Friday for Los Angeles, Calif., where she will spend several months with her son. For the past year she has resided here with her son, J. C. Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mayo baby were here from Garrett Monday.

Former Floyd Official Succumbs At Home Here

Joseph N. Harris, Ex-Clerk of County Court, Dies Suddenly Wednesday Afternoon, Believed Victim of Heart Attack

Joseph N. Harris, one of Floyd county's best-loved citizens, died suddenly at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at his home here at the age of 74 years.

Though Mr. Harris had been in ill health for the last two years, at times seriously ill, news of his sudden passing came to his hundreds of friends shock. It is believed that he and relatives as a distinct shock. It is believed that he was a victim of a heart attack. Tuesday he was downtown to vote, but early Wednesday morning he suffered an attack and was revived only by artificial respiration. Wednesday afternoon he complained of smothering and asked Mrs. Harris to prepare some medicine for him. Gone into another room only two or three minutes, Mrs. Harris when she returned found him collapsed. He died before medical aid could be summoned.

DRIFT WOMAN'S DEATH, SUICIDE

In Theory Held; Mrs. Perry Smallwood Victim of Revolver Wounds

Two revolver bullets fired through her chest, said to have been self-inflicted Friday afternoon at her home at Drift, resulted Saturday morning in the death at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, of Mrs. Perry Smallwood, 28 years old.

The act was attributed to worry over the death of her brother who has been a patient in a Lexington hospital for several months.

For some time, her husband had had a Mr. Watkins employed to watch Mrs. Smallwood who, he had feared, would kill herself, it is said. Friday afternoon, she told Watkins she was going into another room to change her clothing and asked him not to follow her, according to a report received here. While Watkins was outside the house he heard two shots. Rushing into the house, he found Mrs. Smallwood wounded and attempting to fire yet another bullet into her body, this report says. She had found a revolver which had been secreted between a mattress and springs of a bed in the room into which Mrs. Smallwood had gone to make a change of clothes.

The body was prepared for burial by E. P. Arnold, and was taken to Jack's Creek for burial Sunday. Mrs. Smallwood was a sister of Mrs. Riley Hall, of Allen, and was a member of one of this county's largest families. She is survived by her husband and an eight-year-old daughter. She was a daughter of Jeff Hall.

MOTHER OF NINE SLAIN ON LICKING

Mrs. Howard, Mother of Nine and Sister of Former Floyd Official Victim

Mrs. Woodie Howard, a sister of the late Ellis Howard, of this county, was killed at her home on Molly's Branch of Licking River, Magoffin county, a few miles from the Floyd-Magoffin line, Sunday night and Willis Neeley was wounded, probably fatally, at the same time.

Mrs. Howard, a woman of about 45 years and the mother of nine children, one of whom was a babe of three months, was said to have been shot accidentally when Orie Shepherd and Miles Howard fired upon Neeley. The report received here says she stepped onto her porch, where the three young men were in an altercation, and asked them not to shoot, that they might kill her children. The shooting took place a moment later, and it was said here that Shepherd and Howard intended their bullets for Neeley.

Shepherd and Howard had not been captured when this report was received by The Times. Neeley fell with a bullet wound in his abdomen. He was taken to a Paintsville hospital, where relatives were told he was hopelessly wounded.

Mrs. Howard was a daughter of the late Johnny Howard, well-known Magoffin county man. Graydon Heward, of Pyramid, is a brother of the slain woman. Burial was made in the family cemetery on Licking Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Poynter are visiting relatives in Barboursville Ky. this week. Mrs. Poynter went to Barboursville last week, and was joined there Monday by Dr. Poynter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. May, of Louisville, are guests here of their parents, Congressman and Mrs. A. J. May and Mrs. Elizabeth Wells.

RECORD MAJORITY FOR CHANDLER IN PROSPECT, BELIEF

Scott Wins for Magistrate; School Race Close as Tab Progresses

HUGE VOTE CAST

A majority of from 75,000 to 100,000 votes was in prospect for A. B. "Happy" Chandler, Democratic nominee for Governor, over his Republican opponent, King Broyde, returns from approximately one-fourth of the voting precincts in the state indicated Wednesday night.

Tuesday saw the heaviest vote ever cast in any election in Kentucky; the poll total running around 1,200,000 and this flood of ballots, political observers hold, is favorable to the Democratic ticket.

At noon Thursday only 18 of Floyd county's 47 precincts had been counted. These 18 gave Chandler 2,702 to Swopes 1,572. Other Democratic candidates were trailing the standard-bearer, but enjoyed comfortable leads. The count at this point had given 786 votes for repeal of the state prohibition amendment and 672 votes against repeal. For the old age pension 1,421 votes had been counted, with only 84 recorded against it.

In the Senatorial and Representative races, Joe E. Tackett and Mel Perry, Democrats, were leading William Dingus and Wayne Ratliff by around 600 votes in the county.

John Scott, Republican, defeated Magistrate Dewey Roberts, Democrat, for Magistrate in District No. 4 by 230 votes in a reversal of the prevailing political form of the last five years.

At noon Thursday W. W. Cooley and Jack Branham had a lead of approximately 1,100 it was said here that Shepherd and Howard intended their bullets for Neeley.

In Prestonsburg administration forces lost four city council seats to the "New Deal" ticket which elected Art Haeger, H. H. Holcomb and Elder Ball in Ward No. 1, Ray Collins in Ward 2 and John Osborne in West, Prestonsburg. Three members of the present council retained their offices. These are Sam L. Spradlin in Ward 1, J. P. May in Ward 2 and R. T. Allen in West Prestonsburg.

The vote count is not expected to be completed before late Friday, and for this reason The Times is unable this week to publish a tabulation of the vote.

Miss Maurine Mayo and Mrs. Franklin Moore left Friday for McKeesport, Pa., where they will be guests over the week-end of Miss Charlotte Latta. They also will attend the army-Pitt football game in Pittsburgh Saturday.

KENTUCKY BALLADS AND SONGS

Kentuckians have always been a singing people. A legend says that one of the companions of Daniel Boone, who became separated from him on a hunt, became frightened at a strange noise in the forest. He looked to his priming and crept cautiously in the direction of the sound. Finally, when the hunter's nerves were frayed with uncertainty at the volume and harshness of the sound, he discovered that Boone was singing as he lay on his back in the leaves, either because of a wave of loneliness or because of "sense of joy in life."

Ballad-singing was one of the customs brought directly from the British Isles by the pioneers. Many of the old English and Scottish popular ballads have been discovered in Kentucky by Professor John F. Smith, of Berea College; H. H. Fuson, of Harlan; the musician Howard Brockway, of New York; and the late Miss Josephine McGill, of Louisville, to mention only a few of those who have found ballad-hunting fascinating. Most of this work, however, has been done in the mountains. The great central areas of the state and the Jackson Purchase are still practically untouched and would yield equally excellent material. In many remote communities there are still left some of the old-time ballad-singers, unknown to talking machine companies and radio broadcasting systems.

Quite as interesting as the old English and Scottish popular ballads are the native ballads that Kentucky has produced or else has kept alive. The ballad-making impulse had weakened greatly before Kentucky was settled, it is still alive was shown by the numerous songs that grew up around the Floyd Collins disaster. Though these native ballads are the product of definite authors, they have usually been transmitted orally and have taken on the characteristics of the older ballads. From neighborhood to neighborhood they have passed, sometimes acquiring accretions in the transmission. Hundreds of songs that tell a story and do not belong under the head of old ballads, still exist. Occasionally one of them, like the "Prisoner's Song," is picked up and given a new life by some musician. The talking machine and the radio have been the means of reviving or recording some of these ballads, but the number thus rescued is probably smaller than that of ballads yet to be found and recorded.

Ballads are concerned primarily with telling a story; songs are lyrical rather than narrative. Many mountain songs have found their way into collections and published articles, but again the state as a whole has not been explored. Professors Odum and Johnson, of the University of North Carolina, have shown; by their survey of only two counties in the South that negro songs are largely uncollected. Our Kentucky negro songs have been studied by Prof. Karl J. Holtzknock, while he was a member of the Louisville faculty, and Miss Mary Grissom, of Columbia. Some of the teachers in the colored schools of Louisville have rescued from their students little-known or unknown songs. There are probably hosts of negro songs peculiar to Ohio river towns, and to such areas as the Western coalfields and the cotton patches around Hickman.

Though negro songs are relatively more numerous than any other kind, there are many songs in the state sung by whites that have never been printed in any form. The Jackson Purchase, judging by the songs there when I was a boy, ought to yield many cowboy songs and ballads; more than 15 of those given in Dr. John A. Lomax's COWBOY SONGS AND BALLADS were sung in my neighborhood. Nearly all of the rhymes and songs found in Newell's PLAYS AND GAMES OF AMERICAN CHILDREN have appeared in Kentucky in some form. Some have found a place in song-books, but others are circulating orally, in true folksong fashion. All of these should be recorded in some accepted fashion.

Blackcats Lose

from center, came back low to the ball-carriers. One such pass resulted in Pikeville's initial touchdown.

Held for downs far back in their own territory, Prestonsburg was forced to kick. Young Dick Mayo went back to punt; the ball came back low and he fumbled. He lunged for the elusive pigskin and it did a will-o-the-wisp act, so that he was forced to attempt to run with it when he finally did retrieve the oval.

With the ball on the Prestonsburg 11-yard line, Pikeville managed to eke out a first down on its fourth plunge into the line. From the one-yard marker it took Ismael two downs to go over for the first touchdown. It was a gallant goal-line stand these embattled cats made, and the touchdown at the time was not considered anything approximating a victory margin. But it was Prestonsburg in the middle that smashed through for encouraging gains, but within striking distance of the goal the Cats lacked that necessary drive. On one or two occasions they seemed to have all the power needed, but other factors crept in to halt goalward marches, sometimes a fumble, no one occasion a wasted first-down pass. Pikeville pushed, over its second and last touchdown in the last quarter.

Dotson went Ismael one better in Saturday's game. Already recognized as one of Kentucky's best tackles, he tried his hand at playing in the backfield—and what he did to that Pikeville line was a shame. Archer and Hughes hit the line at intervals for good gains, Mayo almost got loose for a touchdown run in a twisting, squirming dash off tackle. Dickerson outdid himself and showed something of what he has always seemed capable of doing. Williamson rounded out a backfield that asked no quarter from Pikeville. The line—every man of 'em—played the victors to a standstill and opened nice holes on several occasions for the backs to penetrate.

It was "just one of them things," was this game. Prestonsburg did everything Pikeville did—except score.

So, Saturday afternoon for the Homecoming game with Van Lear, the Cats are not out to continue a great winning streak but go into the fray determined to start a new one. Van Lear met to Pikeville 14 to 0, but Saturday defeated Paintsville, 19 to 6. A hammer-and-tongue battle of it is, therefore, expected to be a big Homecoming crowd.

vidson. He then was elected clerk of the county court for two terms.

Mr. Harris was married on August 15, 1886, to Miss Daisy Waddington, who survives with two daughters, Miss Anna Harris and Mrs. Emma Endicott, and a granddaughter, Miss Emma Jean Endicott. He was the last of his family, his last surviving brother, R. W. Harris dying last year.

Floyd county had no better-known man than Mr. Harris, and those who knew him best often credited him with the greatest number of acquaintances and friends held by any resident of this county. Affable, generous to a fault, with kindness his creed, he held throughout life the friendship of all with whom he became acquainted. He had been a member of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church for the last 15 years.

Funeral of Mr. Harris will be held Friday afternoon under the direction of E. P. Arnold and burial will be made in the Richmond cemetery. All funeral arrangements had not been completed when this was written.

Approximately 1,000 persons visited the showrooms of Carter Motor Sales here Saturday, Mayor A. C. Carter said, to inspect the new 1936 Chevrolet which was on that date placed on display in this county for the first time.

Mayor Carter wired General Motors Corporation officials of the successful showing of the new car, reported the sale of two Chevrolets that day, and added that half a dozen more could have been sold if all models had been available.

Miss Sylvia Wallen, of Banner, spent Monday in Prestonsburg, guest of friends and relatives.

What The Telephone Business Means To Kentucky

THE Southern Bell Company spent more than $36,850,000 during the five years of the depression to operate, maintain and improve Kentucky's telephone service. This was an important contribution to the progress of the State during a time when work was vitally needed and industrial activity was at a low level.

During 1934, which was far from a good year, the telephone company's operating expenses in Kentucky amounted to more than $4,550,000 and $1,050,000 was spent for addition to plant.

To build, operate and maintain this extensive plant requires the services of more than 1,800 skilled workers. Their annual pay roll is more than $2,000,000, most of which is spent in the State for food, clothing, housing and other needs.

Many of these telephone men and women are home-owners. They and their families compose an army of more than 7,000 people, who are dependent upon the telephone business for their livelihood.

The steady and constant flow of millions of dollars from the telephone industry in the form of wages, taxes, purchases of new materials and other expenses is an important factor in the industrial progress and welfare of the State.

But of even greater importance to the business and social welfare of Kentucky, is the continuation of this adequate, dependable, telephone service to which you are accustomed. Yet the price you pay for this all-important service averages only a few cents a day for all classes of local service.

HELP TOO LATE FOR YOUTH HERE

The fund contributed at the solicitation of The Times and the Floyd County Health Department for the treatment of young Bernard Branham, of Prestonsburg, cannot be used for this purpose, and so each contributor this week is being refunded his or her donation.

Bernard, to state it briefly, is not considered curable. The tragedy of it all is that the boy was not reached earlier.

The response received from the most distant point was that sent to The Times by Clyde O. Burchett, Corpus Christi, Texas, a native Floyd countyman. Mr. Burchett's letter is proof itself of the fine spirit in which he made his contribution, and it is reproduced here as expressive of the motives of all who were willing to aid young Branham in battling the disease which threatens his life:

"While I do not know the boy for whom this special fund is being taken, yet, I desire to do my bit in a case so well sponsored and enclose my check for $2.00 toward helping this unfortunate victim of T. B.

"With kind personal regards and wishes for your continued prosperity, I remain,

"Very sincerely,

LAWRENCE MOTHER OF FIVE MURDERED

Officers Hunt Everett Meade Meade After Woman Stabbed to Death

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 5—Everette Meade, 34, was the object of a wide search in Lawrence and adjoining counties today following the stabbing to death of Mrs. Rebecca York Gibson, 29, wife of Sheridan Gibson and mother of five children, at Torchlight, six miles south of Louisville, at dusk last night.

Describing the slaying of Mrs. Gibson as the "most outrageous murder" committed in years, Lawrence county officers and volunteers after searching for the accused slayer all night, left again early this morning to scour the abandoned coal mine section in the territory around Torchlight, where it was believed Meade might be hiding.

Had Baby in Arms
Seated on her porch with her baby in her arms, Mrs. Gibson was slain with a butcher knife in the hands of Meade as her aged father, Ern York, ineffectively tried to fight off the assailant, relatives told the officers. Her husband, Sheridan Gibson, was absent when the slaying took place. The woman had been stabbed twice in the chest and once in the back, the thrusts severing major arteries and puncturing a lung. The last stab was administered, her children said, after their mother had fled into the house and seated herself in a chair. Her aged father bore knife wounds on the face and hands, which he described as being sustained when he tried to ward off the murderer. Mr. York said that after slaying Mrs. Gibson and striking twice at him with the knife, Meade ran out of the house and disappeared.

Officers said the murder is thought to be the outcome of a case in Lawrence county court here last week in which brothers of Mrs. Gibson were litigants against each other and in which Meade testified. Some months ago Tom York, a brother of the slain woman, shot and wounded his brother, Bob York. Subsequently, Bob is reported to have threatened to kill Tom, for which Bob secured a peace warrant for his brother. The case was tried here last week.

HOMECOMING GAME AT U. OF KENTUCKY NOV. 9 TO BE COLORFUL EVENT

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 25—A crisp Saturday afternoon in November, two fine Southeastern Conference football teams squared off for action, the stadium filled with a colorful crowd of excited fans, old grads and former students greeting each other happily—that is homecoming as at the University of Kentucky.

Each football season one game day is set apart as homecoming day, which will be observed this year on November 9, when the up and coming Kentucky Wildcats will meet the University of Florida Alligators on Stoll field in the first Lexington game for the 'Cats since October 12, when they slaughtered Georgia Tech by 25 to 6.

Florida, boasting the most feared forward passing attack in the South, again has a capable football team this year, while the Wildcats hold the respect of every team in the country. A capacity crowd is expected and already thousands of tickets have been sold.

In Bert—Man o' War—Johnson, Ashland, and Bob—"Twenty Grand"—Davis, Dayton, the Wildcats have two of the greatest halfbacks of America, a pair of real touch-down twins, either one of whom is liable at any time to break away and give the crowd a thrill by making a spectacular touchdown run.

Despite the fact that he was out of the Georgia Tech game with an infected leg, Johnson stands an excellent chance of being selected on the All-American team this, his junior year, while Davis, Northern Kentucky's pride, should have no difficulty at all in making the all-conference team. For the first time in history, Kentucky has two great halfbacks on the same team.
