OUTLINES PLAN OF ORATORICAL FINALS SOIL CONSERVATION TO BE HELD MAY 8 FOR FLOYD COUNTY

Program to Form Division of

Address to Soil-Building Corps, County Agents Explain

COMMITTEES NAMED

Work sheets are now available in the office of County Agent S. L. Lebell for farmers who wish to cooperate with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in the soil conservation program, it was announced this week.

In this program, it is explained, farmers may divert 15 per cent of their 1935 acreage of corn, soybeans, sorghum and other soil-depleting crops, to soil-building crops such as grasses, Korean and other clovers and also set-out trees. For this farmers will be paid approximately $10 an acre. Mr. Lebell said.

NO FEE FOR AGED PENSION SERVICE

Aged persons eligible to benefits under the Old-Age Pension law were warned last week by a state official not to pay a fee for assistance in filing their applications for pensions.

Mr. Meade said that during the month of June he would have a special clerk employed in his office to devote his or her entire time to the work of filling out applications for the old-age pension.

This service will be rendered without any charge whatsoever, Mr. Meade said.

General titles were conducted Monday, Ky., April 8—Payment of "old age assistance" grants, provided for by the 1935 legislature, will begin after July 1, Frederick A. Wallis, chairman of the welfare department, announced today.

Organization of county units to handle these payments and other welfare work such as production and parole, mothers' aid and child welfare, and aid for unemployables, was discussed at a conference which, held here Tuesday.

It was explained county units must be set up in each of the state's 120 counties, before old-age assistance payments can begin.

Wallis issued a warning to those eligible for old-age assistance that they need not employ legal advice. He said a few lawyers apparently had been making a "bank" of the new act by charging fees for writing letters to the Welfare Department.

From one office alone, Wallis said, his department received 87 applications in one day's mail.

RETURN TO WASHINGTON
Congressman and Mrs. A. J. May returned Monday to Washington after spending the last few days at their home here. They were accompanied on their return to Washington by Mrs. H. D. Fitzpatrick and their son, A. J. May, Jr. Mrs. Fitzpatrick will be guest of Congressman and Mrs. May for the next two weeks.

Lieutenant-Governor Ewen John Johnson, acting as the state's executive in the absence of Governor A. B. Chandler, Tuesday appointed Dewey Roberts in the former office as Magistrate in District No. 4 of this county, it was learned here Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Roberts, a Democrat, contested the election last year of Scott, Republican, and Circuit Judge John W. Caudill ruled that neither contestant nor contestee was entitled to the office. One faction of the Democratic party in this county had impounded the Governor to appoint Scott, while another was equally active in Roberts' behalf.

FLOYD NYA WORK BODY OF EVERETT EMPLOYS 38 HERE HUNT FOUND NEAR RAILROAD TRACKS

Health Posters, Repairs to School and Gym Being Made By Youth

Feautner Believed Killed by Passenger Train Sunday Morning Near Mouth of Bull Creek

In 102 of the 120 counties of Kentucky 214 NYA work projects have been set up. More than 10,000 unemployed youth between the ages of 16 and 25 have been put to work on these projects. These boys and girls are most enthusiastic to find some employment, earn something and at the same time learn something that will make them more useful and capable citizens.

In Floyd county several NYA projects are in operation. Prestonsburg group of NYA youths has 28 employed. They have accomplished many useful and worthwhile things. The girls are at present working on health posters to be distributed to the county schools. The boys have repaired chapel seats for the graded school, made various other repairs in the school building and also checked and associated community books and restricted community books. These books and are present in the school building and are being used in the school building.

At various times they have had lectures and talks (many and beneficial subjects) presented to them. A great number of these youths are in the rural districts, and are making a fine record for themselves. They have made up these lectures.

The project work-room, located in the basement of the graded school here, and work days are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Any person interested is invited to see the youths at work. Suggestions will be welcomed and appreciated. Almost any work of community benefit may be assigned. These youngsters, and other communities are finding these projects useful.

RESTRAINING ORDER IS DENIED HUNTER BY JUDGE CAUDILL

Filing on Re-Instatement Plea Deferred as Hearing Held Here Saturday

Former County Superintendent Hunter's motion to restrain J. H. Ball, recently appointed Superintendent, and the county board of education from nominating or hiring teachers for the school of re-instatement as Superintendent Saturday met with partial defeat.

Circuit Judge John W. Caudill, after hearing extensive arguments from counsel representing both factions in the "educational feud" in this county, dissolved the temporary restraining order interfering with the nomination or hiring of teachers, but upon motion of Mr. Hunter's counsel will withhold the effect of his ruling until April 27 so that the Court of Appeals may be given an opportunity to rule on a motion to restrain the restraining order.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glode spent Sunday here in the company of Mrs. Magistrate and Mrs. Dan Prater.

Maryland Man To Furnish Map For Silver Mine Quest

Innesville, Ky., April 13 (Sp)—which has to do with locating a silver mine, the old story of "Swiss Silver Mine" continues to fire the imaginations of adventurous spirits.

Even now, three Hueyville youths are planning a trip into Quicksand Creek in Knott county, Kentucky, this summer in search of treasure which Jonathan Swift is believed to have buried there four centuries ago.

The young men, Collie and Johnnie Martin and Johnnie Patton, are direct descendants of mountaineers who themselves searched for the fortune in silver in earlier times and returned empty-handed but with strange tales of wild happenings that attended their quest. Consequently these modern treasure-seekers will start their trip anticipating better luck than the many who have gone before them, because they possess special knowledge in that phase of mountain lore keenly watched this summer.

Body of Everett Hunt, 30 Year Old Motorist for the Sandy Valley Coal Company at Water Gap, was found Sunday morning beside the tracks of the C. and O. The body was not badly mutilated. Death resulted from a broken back, it was said at the undertaking office of E. P. Arnold where burial preparations were made.

Keeting vigil over the body was a forenoon which Mr. Hunt had borrowed from a neighbor Saturday night.

Mr. Hunt was a son of Ed Hunt, of Brady Knott. He had been employed by the Sandy Valley Coal Company for some time, was a valuable employee and was a member of the local N. Y. A. group. His father he is believed by his wife, Mrs. C. A. Hunt, and other relatives, to be in the neighborhood of 19 years old.

Ford FOR ECONOMY

"The Ford V-8 uses less fuel and oil for the power it gives than any other car we have ever made

AND ITS UP-KEEP COST IS

ENTHUSIASTIC sales talk often begins and ends with gasoline mileage. Some salesman would like you to believe it is the whole story of automobile economy. But drivers ought to know better. For the fact is, it's way down the list.

The big items of car economy are low first cost, low up-keep cost and low depreciation. Savings here can make a great deal of difference in cost per mile. Gasoline mileage is more of a talking point than an economy factor.

Check up and you will find that the difference between 17 and 19 miles a gallon is less than the difference between 17 and 19 cents a gallon.

FLOYD CONTRIBUTES $101 TO FLOOD FUND

Jo M. Beutler, treasurer of Floyd chapter, American Red Cross, last week received from 125 Red Cross members the following list, acknowledging this county's contribution to the local relief fund:

I wish to acknowledge your letter of March 27 enclosing a check for $101.25, which is slightly in excess of the original quota set for Floyd county chapter. We very much appreciate your prompt response. Please give our hearty thanks and appreciation to all those who made this the gift to the flood fund.

The large amount estimated that our work for the victims of the spring flood will cost in the neighborhood of five million dollars, so you can see why we so keenly appreciate the effort made by each and every chapter to assist at this time.

This Author Has Explored Africa, Hunted Gorillas

A biography of Mary Hastings Bradley, whose latest novel, "Unconfessed," this paper now brings you in serial form, might easily prove as fascinating as many of the eminently thrilling novels and short stories she has produced. Born and brought up in Chicago, she began to write when only fourteen. Receiving her degree at Smith college, she studied in England, with some travel in Europe and Egypt, and then fled to Africa with her husband, the noted Herbert Edwin Bradley, Chicago attorney. Meanwhile her contributions were appearing regularly in Cosmopolitan, Munsey's, and the Woman's Home Companion. Her first novel, "Factor of Kings," appeared in 1912, and since then she has written fiction steadily. Among her more recent successes were "Murder in Room 700" and "Road of Desperation."

But Mrs. Bradley is not alone a successful novelist; she is noted as an African explorer and as a writer about Africa and its wild life. She accompanied her husband on Carl E. Akeley's famous expedition which was sent by the American Museum of Natural History into the Belgian Congo to obtain gorillas. She made a second expedition into Belgian Congo in 1921, and was a member of the first party to traverse the region west of Lake Edward. She went after tigers in Sumatra and into China in 1925, and returned again to Africa in 1927 to study the Pygmy and Mungwe tribes. Her travels have resulted in such well-known books as "Gorillas and Camels," "On the Gorilla Trail," and "Trailing the Tiger," and in such books for younger readers as "Alice in Jungland" and "Alice in Elephant Land." She is a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society and a member of the Society of Women Geographers.

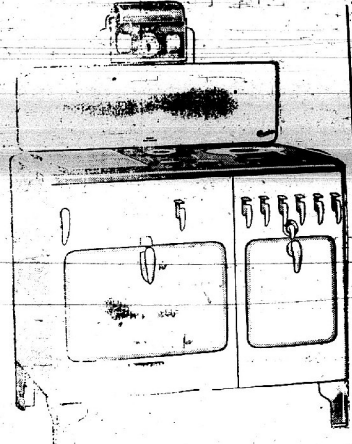

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Lyon, of Marlin, attended the funeral Sunday in Somerset, Ky., of Mrs. Denna Taylor, who was fatally injured last week in an automobile crash at Tucson, Ariz.

BRACK MILLER SUCCEUMS AFTER EXTENDED ILLNESS. Brack Miller, 65 years old, died at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at his home in West Prestonsburg after an illness of several weeks of dropsy.

Mr. Miller was a familiar figure in this vicinity where he was well known and had many friends. He followed the trade of junk dealer.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Holmes-Cumbe with the Rev. Adrian Davis and Mrs. Cora Fannin, of the Holiness Church, officiating. Burial was made in West Prestonsburg cemetery under the direction of E. P. Arnold.
