THIRD OIL WELL DRILLED TUESDAY ON PRATER CREEK

Latest Strike Reported Producing 50 Barrels; Extensive Development of Field Predicted

DRILLING FOURTH WELL

Third of the oil wells to be drilled in on the Clarinda bog farm, Prater Creek, by the Virginia Gasoline and Oil Company came in Tuesday with an estimated flow of 50 barrels a day. One observer predicted that it would be the best well of the trio.

TRUCK IN THE MASON SAND AT APPROXIMATELY 1,000 FEET, WITH MORE THAN 400,000 CUBIC FEET OF GAS BEHIND IT. THE OIL WAS THROWN OVER THE TOP OF THE 74-FOOT RIG.

This last well is approximately 450 feet from the others which are producing an average of 90 barrels a day, and Tuesday's strike places the Prater Creek field as the best oil field in Eastern Kentucky. Within the next few months thorough development of the field is expected.

A group consisting of H. C. Evans, County Clerk A. B. Monde, Henry Stephens, Jr., County Judge W. L. Strain, R. G. Francis and J. B. Clark has a plan to drill one or two wells approximately 1,200 feet from the three wells already drilled. The Maxon is expected to be reached Monday. They were about 1270 feet from Prater Creek.

Prater Creek oil is piped to the railroad, thence shipped by tank car.

OUR BOYS LOSE SEASON-OPENER

AUXILIARY COYS FIRST GAME HERE OF NEW SUNDAY LEAGUE.

Though the Prestonsburg entry in the Big Sandy baseball league lost its season-opener here Sunday to Auxier 11-0, the local team enjoys the distinction of being composed entirely of local boys who are playing for the pure fun of the thing.

Trained in soft ball until two days before the first game of the season, the Prestonsburg team could not solve the offerings of Childers and Patton, Auxier twirlers, but practice is expected to add to the effectiveness of the Prestonsburg attack.

Auxier presented a line-up dotted with well-known players. Ora Currituck caught, Miller played first, Spears, third, "Ty Cobb" Montgomery, short, and Patton shared the pitching burden. Against this line-up young Leo Carter did a nice job of twirling, holding the opposition to four hits and two runs in four innings. Branham, who relieved him, was touched on rubber Friday. Ray Craft hit safely twice for Prestonsburg, and Scott Craft and Hopson gathered the local team's other two hits.

The Prestonsburg line-up: Hopson, Woods and Clifton, outfield; E. Craft, H. S. Craft, 2b.; Collins, 3b.; Branham, c.; Hager, c.; Carter, p.

Six teams are in the league. They are Prestonsburg, Big Creek, Auxier, Van Lear, Virgie and Shelby. Paintsville and Pikeville may enter to make it an eight-team league.

Prestonsburg plays Virgie Sunday at Virgie. Curtis Clark is manager of the Prestonsburg team, and he is holding to the theory that a town of this size should be able to furnish at least one man capable of playing good baseball.

UNSEASONABLE FLU SPREAD REPORTED

Five Members of Miner's Family at Train Suffering Pneumonia; Meningitis Quarantine Lifted

Prevalence of influenza and attendant pneumonia is unusually widespread at this season in Floyd county, reports from all parts of the county show. Physicians are unable to explain the spread of the disease, considering the equable weather prevailing this spring.

At Train a family of five has fallen ill of flu and pneumonia complications within the last week. Elijah Collins, miner, aged about 55, was taken to the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, by the ambulance of E. P. Arnold Monday morning at 4 o'clock, suffering with double pneumonia.

FLOYD INVITED TO JOIN EXPOSITION

Home Craft, Novel and Cookery Arts to Find Place in Sun at State Capital

Floyd county has been asked to join all other sections of the state in the Overland Kentucky Exposition to be held for the first time in the capitol building, Frankfort, June 5 and 7, and it was indicated locally this week that a rather pretentious exhibit will be sent from this county.

Mrs. J. T. Tolliver, of Louisville, chairman of the Overland Kentucky Exposition in this district, took preliminary steps here Tuesday to bring a wide variety of articles indigenous to Floyd county for exhibition during the three days.

Articles suggested for display include weaving, jutes, quilts, coverlets, braided, painted and hooked rugs, hand, carrying, handwrought iron, basketry, pottery, gourds, bonnets, party favors, hand-made furniture, toys, dolls, stat-back chairs, hickory-bark or corn-cob hats, items of the cooking art, etc.

Ann of this movement, it is explained, is to present from the state capital building, Frankfort, Kentucky's own products through its genuineness of mind and skill of hand. An award of $100 will be given the county having the best display, the amount to be divided equally between exhibitors from that county.

All entries from each county will be eligible to compete for prizes for the five most ingenious articles in home crafts and novel arts; $100 to be awarded as first prize, $50 second, $25 third, $15 fourth and $10 fifth. A total of $210 in prizes will be awarded in the cookery arts group which includes preserves, jams, jellies, fruit cake, candies, confections, pickles, relishes, farm-made sorghum water-ground corn meal, lye hominy and beaten biscuit. To be eligible for a prize each entry must be accompanied by the recipe by which it was made. Twelve items of this group will receive a prize of $10 each.

A chairman is expected to be named here within the next few days to receive articles intended for exhibition and to arrange for their storage and transportation to Frankfort.

500 SEE EXHIBIT OF RELIEF WORK

WPA, NVA Groups Display Here Saturday Results of Varied Endeavors

Approximately 500 persons Saturday attended what Col. James Hatcher, of Pikeville, classes in repair work under the NVA exhibit. The "shoe circus" which was held Saturday in the gymnasium of the Prestonsburg high school.

It was the statewide exhibit of work done by those employed under the National Youth and Works Project Administration. The "shoe circus" consisted of WPA exhibits including samples of materials used in street, road and building construction, maps, charts, photographs and work done in behalf of the public health; the NVA exhibits of art work, printing, handicraft, charts, maps and photographs; and, lastly, the array of accomplishments of the women employed in Training Centers throughout the WPA.

Those who saw the display were pleasantly surprised by the variety and excellence of work exhibited. From Mills Point to the Big Sandy the exhibits were gathered, and the work done here in Floyd county did not suffer in comparison with that of other sections, though for sheer artistry samples of wood carving done by a group at Berea and of color printing by NVA students at Louisville were outstanding.

One of Floyd county's most interesting exhibits was that of a sport suit made by Mrs. Gracie Johnson who is employed in the Prestonsburg training center. This modish item of apparel from sheep's back to the last stitch is "all Floyd county."

Mrs. Johnson had raw wool woven into the fabric then she made the garment at a total cost of $2.95. Another attraction was the exhibit showing the purifying effect of the settling of abandoned mines upon water. This is a health measure taken to prevent contamination of streams, and its effect was forcibly shown by displays.

In this county the WPA has 26 projects under way, with 1800 of approximately 1,900 exhibitors employed. Floyd county has 145 NVA work projects, 480 high school students are being enabled to attend school thru this agency in the county, and 22 from Floyd are earning their way in college through NVA work.

From Prestonsburg, the exhibits were taken to Pikeville and on to other cities and cities of the state.

BOUGHTON FUNERAL CONDUCTED APRIL 29

Funeral for Prof. N. C. Boughton was held at the Maytown Methodist Church on Wednesday, April 26, at 2 o'clock. The services were in charge of Rev. S. J. Campbell, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. H. B.

Stimms, of Wheelwright, and Rev. H. F. King, of Prestonsburg. The trio from Prestonsburg high school, composed of Phyllis Hale, Marguerite May and Helen Randall sang, "O, Life, Thine Eyes," and "My Task." The choir, by request, sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer," and "Lead Kindly Light."

Rev. S. J. Campbell read from the scriptures during the professional and offered prayer. Rev. Stimms read the second lesson and presented a biographical tribute to Prof. Boughton. The address was delivered by Rev. King, and exercises from his address follow:

"I always feel so helpless in messages of this nature, for long ago I learned that much we consider comforting words add but to the grief of those whom we would comfort. Then I am perfectly conscious of the insufficiency of human words to comfort in any very great degree the hours of sorrow."

"Many of you have known Brother Boughton much longer than I have known him and nothing that I can say will add anything to his life which he has for several years lived among you. This profusion of flowers speaking of life in their vivid color, of purity in the white, and of eternal life in their verdure, is a tribute far beyond my ability to express. This great congregation of friends, abashed by the mention of grief, speaks more abundantly of how you loved him than I could possibly speak."

"In fact, I see before me today two tributes, one which you have made to him by your love and devotion, and one made by him to you in that he loved you people of the mountains and stayed here with you, giving his years of service in your behalf, when he could have gone to other parts of service. Truly he loved you and desired to remain with you in the best possible place."

"I think I can say and not be misunderstood in the statement that Mr. Boughton was a man of positive character. Those who loved him, loved him very intensely and devotedly—and likewise those who opposed him did so with the same degree of vigor. In his firmness he set his standards and drove forward to attain them."

"To you who need comfort in this hour I would refer to you the Scripture: 'The eternal God is thy dwelling place, and underneath are the everlasting arms.'"

"One thing is certain, we must dwell in Him in death. Death is not

...sway" master, if in the gateway of life. But those of us who remain in it and distressing, but to those who die in the Lord what a wonderful experience! Brother Boughton did not fear death. He was ready to live or to die. I say he died triumphantly! In that time he "tarried seemingly between two worlds, he looked beyond the gates, seeing great multitudes, and with them his own son. He wanted to go, and with perfect assurance his spirit flew away out of the darkness of the midnight here to the morning of the eternal. Peace to his memory and the blessings of God upon you."

BETSY LAYNE

(Last week's correspondence)

After the Flood, Betsy Layne and A. C. Combs made a trip to Pike county last week to select a site for the Union Sunday School picnic.

They were accompanied by C. Combs, Bishop Tom, Floyd Risner and W. H. Strickland attended a meeting of county officials at the Judge farm in Pike county last Sunday to look over a site for a summer camp.

Miss Koid (Feather), her mother, and sister, Mrs. Crum, and Virginia May drove Sunday to Pressonsburg where Miss Layne represented Betsy Layne on the organizing committee of the Sandy Valley Young Peoples Union. This committee met for the purpose of nominating officers for the coming year.

At the picnic, Betsy Layne was witness to a marriage ceremony between Mr. Deck, a critic, and Betsy Layne, a noted lawyer. The wedding was held at the home of Mrs. Layne and was a most impressive affair.

Hopkins Talks; Not in Public

But Critics of New Deal Are Pilloried White Crowds Watch Show.

Having blocked any effective bipartisan investigation of the WPA situation throughout the country Senator Joseph E. Robinson, leader of the New Deal forces in the Senate, has been delaying Senate action on the demand for facts about large beneficiaries of A.A.A.

Demands had been made by Senators Davis (Pennsylvania), Vandenberg (Michigan), and Holt (West Virginia) for a thorough sifting of contradictory charges of politics, waste and inefficiency in work-relief. They produced a mass of documentary evidence in support of their charges.

Washington observers have pointed out the picture presented several days ago when two committees were in session on Capitol Hill. In the Capitol a subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee for five hours questioned Administrator Harry Hopkins about A.A.A. Mr. Hopkins in three years had administered the expenditure of almost $300 million dollars on work-relief projects and other relief.

As usual with subcommittee appropriations, the doors were closed. Stenographic reports were taken of the proceedings but the printed report of the hearing, as usual, was not expected to reach the public for some weeks. Even when printed and made public the report probably will have been "edited."

"Opposition, even among members of Congress who are demanding that the public be told how relief money is being spent, was focusing that this and similar hearings will be as near an investigation of relief as will be conducted during the present session."

A different scene was presented in an ornate chamber in the Senate Office Building on the same afternoon. The Black Lobby committee was investigating the activities of an organization that had been critical of the New Deal. It was a meeting of the crowd that sought admittance. As we neared the stated, in front of the high desks on which the Senatorial legislators sat, photographers and reporters and magazine came and went, penetrating the proceedings with flashes.

The New Deal believes in the glowing habit of publicity for any investigation of those who criticize the New Deal policies. It will not submit Mr. Hopkins to public questioning if it can avoid it. "It makes a difference who says he's innocent."

Speeding by New Deal Exceeds Big Receipts

Treasury figures for the present fiscal year, up to April 14, show that the Administration still is spending far more than it takes in. From July 1, 1934, to the date mentioned the Administration's deficit amounted still larger and the public debt was increased by more than $5 billion.

Increasing taxes have been made necessary by the Administration spending programs and Congress has been in a quandary as to how to get additional large sums from the people without making the operation too apparent. Even a back-breaking tax plan that would pay off present deficits and reduce the public debt will be only a start.

The Administration increased its expenditures by more than $22,000,000 in the first nine and one-half months of the fiscal year. So long as expenditures continue to exceed receipts the necessity for more taxes will continue, economists say, and no progress will have been made toward putting the nation's finances in order.

BETSY LAYNE SCHOOL

HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

Betsy Layne, Ky., May 1 (Col.)—Annual Open House of the Betsy Layne school was held on April 22. The program included music by the "band girls" and boys' glee clubs. Instrument solos by Geir Combs and Jeanette. A trombone solo by Raymond Stafford, bass solo by Ray Stratton, and a negro spiritual by the faculty men. The rooms were open for inspection during the evening, showing the work of the students.

One very interesting exhibit was a model of Boushoro, Ky., which was worked out by the eighth grade students. It was also sponsored by Miss Gearheart. Another was a history of Betsy Layne written by Ray Stratton which accompanied a picture of the town in 1915 before coal development here. The picture was furnished by Seth Lyle, a grand-daughter of "Uncle Jim" Lyle, one of the original inhabitants of Betsy Layne. There were many other interesting exhibits.

At the end of the music program the guests were invited to attend a picnic which was held in the gymnasium and presented by the Junior class under the direction of Miss Zula Baber. The girls were Jesse Phillips and the boys, Shad Hinkle. These were selected from candidates representing each class by a vote of the student body at the recent pep vote. Mr. Lyle acted as the minister. Music for the picnic was furnished by the orchestra. The procession was made up of members of the Junior class and the faculty. The guests were delighted with the ceremony.

Rev. Harry F. King was called Sunday in Charleston, W. Va., by the serious illness of his father. Mrs. W. F. Moore left Alexandria for Harpersburg, where she is attending the state convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs.
