action as large as Chevrolet's, car
 prior to display of new models," continued Mr. Holler. "Our dealers will have less than one 1936 model on hand per dealer. They have made the most complete clean up of both new and used cars in the history of the company. It is believed it is a record for the industry."
 "This was accomplished in a year that saw the 4000 organization break most of the Chevrolet all-time records in new car sales. Usually when new car sales records are established, there is an accumulation of used cars that multiplies
 a company for months of the following year's effort."
 "That Chevrolet will not have this obstacle to overcome as it begins the new model year is due to the efficient work of the men in the used car department working hand in hand with our dealers. They have applied to their work the same type of efficiency that our dealer organization has used in the sale of new cars."
 "Last year at this time the Chevrolet organization it would sell 1, 000,000 of the 1935 models and 1, 000,000 used cars. At the present buying of 1,000 models of the field force in Detroit a quota of 1, 200,000 was announced for 1937.
 "One of our greatest aids in establishing records every month this year has been the intelligent use of newspaper advertising in more than 6,000 papers of the country," said
 Mr. Holler. "In the sale of new cars it was our main reliance; in the used car record, newspaper advertising was secondary. For the advertising Chevrolet has done in the past, it is nearly half as much as used cars and helped us avoid a serious increase in stock during the first selling season."

PECANS MAKE GOOD
 HOLIDAY DESSERTS
 In preparing holiday desserts,
 Mrs. Martha Barkley, of the University of Kentucky home economics department, says that pecan cakes are just as popular as K'wicks, and fruit cakes. She has found the following recipe a successful one:
 2 1/2 cups pecans
 1 1/2 cups raisins
 1 1/2 cups brown sugar
 2 cups melted butter
 2 cups molasses
 1 1/2 cups flour
 1 1/2 cups white flour
 23 cup molasses
 1 cup grapefruit
 4 cups nuts
 1 cup cinnamon
 2 cups baking powder
 1 cup fruit and nut mix and half of a pound of the white flour and mix thoroughly. Cream the butter and sugar, then add the yolk of the egg beaten lightly. To this add the molasses, browned flour and half of the raisins, then the dry ingredients, the remainder of the raisins, juice and the white of the eggs
 in the order. The fruit and nuts are added last and thoroughly mixed. Bake the batter in two 8 x 8 inch pans, which have been well greased and lined, both at 350 degrees, with one layer of ground pecans. Bake at 325 degrees, for three hours such as fruit cake and pecan pie are among the real joys of the holidays. Mrs. Barkley adds it may be worthwhile to examine the rest of the menu in order to have them.

CHEVROLET GAINED FOR LARGE SALES DURING
 "Chevrolet dealers were never in a better position at the end of a model year than at present," said W. E. Holde, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company today, as he examined sales totals and other records of cars on hand in a first check up before the 1937 models are introduced early in November.
 Actual sales during the last 12 months have totaled 7,142,482 new cars and 1,074,533 used cars.
 "The total car stock of dealers will be reduced to approximately half the normal total that an op-

THE COST!

WOMEN everywhere are talking about the reduced electric rates and how they make possible the use of all sorts of labor-saving electrical devices to lighten household drudgery. You know, of course, that after the first 70 kilowatt-hours a month the rate drops to ... costs a kilowatt-hour—and the additional electricity he uses 333 kilowatt-hours costs only 1 1/2 cents a kilowatt-hour. These are truly bargain rates and smart people are buying all their household services from a single source so as to get into the "wholesale" group of users.

Modernize YOUR home with complete electric service. Prices of electrical appliances have never been lower than they are today. The larger devices may be purchased over long periods for small monthly payments. Buy electricity wholesale and use it freely.

BEITSY LAYNE HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Chapel program last Friday was given by the members of the fresh class. The Little German Band rendered two pretty numbers typical of the country they represent.

The Friday Trio also played two songs. Members of the trio were: Victor Waters, William Tynan, and Victor Williams. The junior boys give appearance on the program and we think they did honor to their school.

The Day Bee Home Ec. Club is making an intensive study of the 'Methods of Travel in Foreign Lands'. The club met last Friday for their six week work.

The High school students taking the highest grades for the first six weeks were: Katherine Reed, Elsie Bell, each of these students had a perfect record for the first six weeks.

The young year girls are making the most dresses. The sewing groups of the school held a contest last Monday night. A crowd of men had been getting out of the school to see the contest.

The new modern building will be ready for occupancy in about two months. The school board has approved a plan for the building.

The sign of McDowell school which is to be placed on the new building will be the same as that of the school at Eastern at which the school is to be placed.

MCDOWELL SCHOOL NEWS

The McDowell Parent-Teacher Association has been making rapid progress since it was organized last month ago. Already it has taken the means of bringing the parents into much closer contact with the school.

The meeting Friday, October 23, was a very successful one. Mrs. Marie Hall and Miss Octavia Brown will have charge of the first term of this meeting.

McDowell High school is making plans for a Homecoming party. The party will be held in the gymnasium and only members of the club will be permitted to attend.

MARAUDING MARIONS TO MEET MORRHEAD EAGLES

Richmond, Ky., Oct. 26.—(Clark) Home Rank's Marauding Marionettes are to go into action this week against their old rivals, the Morrhead Eagles at Henninger Stadium on Friday.

A contest that has rich tradition and wide participation. Hundreds of graduates of Eastern have signified that they will be on hand to see, perhaps the greatest game of the year. The Eagles has captured the hearts of the fans of Eastern since it has been organized.

Richmond, on these as they recently asked that a block of tickets be sent to them for the contest.

Even with an unmerciful report entered on the Henninger Avenue on comparative scores by the Dan-Kings, do not believe much in statistics and are contemplating one of the hottest tiffs of the year. Last week Eastern submitted a highly organized team by the boys' score of 12. Moral and rain notwithstanding, what was expected on the Eastern's Homecoming Day celebration and neither team was able to put up its best effort to date.

Eastern to date, undefeated, having won five games representing 85 points while holding their opponents to 36 points. A record of this kind is not lost on two of the games. They have beaten Triadelphia, lost to Murray, and tied Union and Georgetown. Glenn Ellis, Johnson, Greenville University of Kentucky Star, has done great things to a very uncomplimentary McDowell team this year and nothing would please him or the Rowan coaches so much as to see the Marions who are year annihilated the Eagles by a 20-0 count.

The features of this year's ball will be the celebration of Dad's Day at Eastern at which time the flag of the organization of Eastern are to be lowered and the presentation of a perpetual trophy to the team of '36. Bobb of Morrhead's team for the annual game. The game of the old spirited rifle that has been a part of the tradition of Eastern for many years. This will begin an armie similar to that of the Indiana Purdue "Little Brown Jug." An extensive program has been planned by T. E. McDonough, director of athletics at Eastern, to make the first Dad's Day ever held on the Eastern campus.

The sign of McDowell school which is to be placed on the new building will be the same as that of the school at Eastern at which the school is to be placed.

emphasized that it will be kept on a cash transaction, attention is directed to 'main line' maintenance. Carter said, 'lucky attractive to motorists at the same time, the program of improvements prepared a concrete road for the spring and and suggested it to matches and a men...'

GEORGE E. HART In loving memory of George E. Hart, who died one year ago today, October 29, 1935, at Wesleyan, Ky. One year ago today, he looks as a day, the heavenly gates had opened, a heavenly voice said, "Come." And with a smile he gently entered heaven.

Not one knows how much we miss him. Only those who've been can tell. Some may think we have forgotten. When at times they see the smile, Little do they know the heartaches hidden all the while. Sadly missed by his son and daughters.

"I wouldn't want to impose like that on a decent father-in-law, Henry; I'll be had enough for my man to have you hitched into his family."

Not until the actor had nearly finished dressing the woman's leg did the wounded man begin to tell the story.

"What a matter with the rest of you?" exclaimed Carpy testily, as he levered the three.

"Bill, I was honest in what I said," repeated Carpy. "I believed and hope I can save your eyes."

"Sleep cool, Bill; keep cool. It's a mean mean."

"Hell, no. I hadn't no more'n a dozen of the nose and asked him was it comfortable for his seat."

"You fellows oughter asked me that afore you began stringing Barney up."

"I guess we can't get away from that admitted Lefever."

"Lefever was doubtful. 'I don't know what the boy will say, doc.'"

"Next morning Carpy was making his rounds at the hospital."

"Let Me Put That Bandage Back Where It Belongs."

"Barney had a knife—he drove it through Sawdy's leg, and Sawdy was choking him to death when McAlpin and the boys heard the noise and stepped in to save the thief."

"Any morning's a good morning when a man can set eyes on an op-an-com-er like you."

"You've been over that bandage?" "Why, I did fit the bandage for a few seconds," confessed Denton.

"You look at the man." "Bill, you're a blamed liar. You fitted it to look at this girl—didn't he, Doc?"

"Denton was silent. 'Only yesterday and today, doctor,' confessed Jane, hesitatingly."

"Come into Sawdy's room a minute, Doc," pleaded Lefever. "He'd like to see this thing over with you."

CHAPTER XI "Sawdy propped up in bed, led the talk. But the tea was not to Dr. Carpy's liking."

But the pair now working on the doctor's sympathies knew their victim pretty well and, having once brought him to refuse the request, needed only to persevere in order to make him grant it.

"If it ever a robber and a thief and a murderer deserved anything but that man done. He's killed, or had killed, every man that ever stood in his way of stealing his neighbor's anything a man had that he wanted."

"Cool off, Bill, cool off." Denton sat down with his hands over his face. It wrung Carpy's heart to see him suffer.

"Yes, you can, damn you, and you will. Let me put that bandage back where it belongs—and you keep it there."
