GRAND JURORS IN SPECIAL SESSION IS ADJOURNED THURS.

Grand Jury Report, Also Jurist Rape the Operation of Road Houses

Returning 46 true bills after examining 88 witnesses in a three-day session here, the special grand jury made its final report on Thursday evening to Judge John W. Caudill, of their investigation in what the jurors termed a present "crime wave" and indicated their regret that the time was limited.

The words of the grand jury report laid the present crime conditions at the feet of operators of roadhouses and places of public entertainment. They stated that while the key was being sold through the county, and that the special call was warranted.

The grand jury charged three with murder, a dozen or more with assault, five with disorderly houses, four for drunken driving, and nine people were indicted for illegal sale of liquor among the indictments.

In discharging the jury Judge Caudill complimented them on their work, and said relative to the liquor investigation, "There are 37 liquor stores in Floyd county, and besides the salaried and bonded liquor agents, there are many more selling whiskey."

On the roadhouse phase of the investigation, Caudill said, "I don't like to see, but I call these roadhouses, 'hell dens'. The grounds for nearly every one of the number of divorce cases that I have recently tried, have originated in roadhouses."

Name of Figure of $29,990: Says Construction No Step 5th

The Floyd circuit court, in a special meeting at the courthouse Tuesday May 13, accepted the bid of I. N. Hall and S. G. Rice, that named the figure of $29,990 for the construction of a heavy traffic bridge across the Big Sandy river at Banner, this county. Other bids tendered the magistrates were those of H. L. Mayo, net low at $29,990, and Code's Construction Company of $31,120. The magistrates ordered that the successful contractor be paid as the work progresses. The amount to be paid during the fiscal year 1937-38 is not to exceed $18,000 and the balance of $7,990 is to be paid from the 1938 levy of taxes. The balance will be paid after July 1, 1938.

Hall and Rice are required to execute a fidelity bond of $25,000. The contract becomes in force and effect after the bond is executed. "We expect to start work as soon as our bond is arranged," S. G. Rice stated Wednesday, "probably within the next 10 days."

The magistrates also allowed 34 claims totaling almost $2,000. The largest claim was that of $405.33 to W. C. Rimmer for engineering work on the Banner bridge. They urged surpluses of the Laynesville streets by the WPA and agreed to sponsor the project.

CIVIL SERVICE TO SCHOOL PLAY DAY HOLD EXAMINATION SERIES UNDER WAY

Want Labor Foreman; Other Traditional May Day Exitsing Vacancies To Filled Combined With Folk Games

A communication from Congressman A. J. May, this week, enclosed an announcement of a competitive examination for a foreman of laborers by the United States Civil Service Commission. He will be employed by the Department of Agriculture in the soil conservation service in Kentucky. The successful applicant will receive a fixed salary of $1,680 a year subject to a deduction of three and one-half per cent toward a retirement annuity. The duties comprise, mainly, of supervising a moderately large group of semi-skilled or unskilled laborers engaged in erosion work, terracing, etc., and keeping records of time and work, supplies and equipment, etc.

Competitors will not be required to write an examination but will be rated on their experience and fitness, based on their sworn statements in the applications and upon corroborative evidence. These applications must be on file with the manager, Sixth U. S. Civil Service district post office building, Cincinnati, not later than May 15, 1937. The application forms may be secured from this address or at any first-class post office.

Twenty-seven forest fires burning over 2,571 acres and causing damages estimated at $2,667 have been brought on protected property in the Big Sandy Association so far this spring, according to Claude Ward, chief fire warden, of Pinez, Ky.

FOREST FIRES FOUGHT BY MODERN METHODS

Chief Ward goes into detail by saying that 1,168 man-hours of fire fighting have been expended on the 27 fires, averaging about 44 man-hours per fire. "Man has been the arch offender because of carelessness, and I intend to prosecute the individual or individuals responsible for such fire regardless of whether it was due to carelessness or maliciousness."

"My crews and the CCC camp P-73, Paintsville, have functioned well, arriving at fires promptly and working indefatigably to suppress and control all blazes reported to them either by the towermen or persons near the fire. "Credit, however, must be given the district foresters for supplying the fire fighting spring with a variety of fire rakes, pole axes, brush hooks, files and Indian fire buckets and pumps."

"If each citizen will endeavor to cooperate with us in suppressing these forest fires in the Big Sandy Association will be rare." Chief Ward continued, "the chief cause of these fires this spring has been due to carelessness in brush burning and they should be piled and then burned only when there is no danger of its spreading."

Sunday School Lesson

ABRAHAM A MAN OF PRAYER

International Sunday School Lesson for May 9, 1937

Golden Text: "The supplication of a righteous man availeth much in its working."—James 5:16.

(Lesson Text: Gen. Chap. 18)

Sitting in the door of his tent, under the oak of Mambré, near the city of Hebron, Abraham saw three strangers approaching. In true Oriental custom, he ran out to meet them, bowing before them and beseeching them to rest on until they had refreshed themselves by resting and partaking of food. When they consented, Abraham received them hospitably, had water brought for their feet and had a sumptuous feast prepared for them.

In appreciation of this hospitality, Abraham is informed by his guests that Sarah, his wife, should bear him a son. Overjoyed by the remark while in the tent, Sarah, knowing that both she and Abraham were beyond the age when they could expect children, laughed within herself. Her nephew, Lot, the inhabitants of Sodom tried to seize and mistreat them and, as a result, were stricken with sudden blindness. The wickedness of the city having thus been proved, Lot was warned to gather his family together and flee to escape the impending destruction. Only Lot, his wife and their two young daughters were permitted to escape. Lot's wife, disobeying the instructions of the angels, did not look back on the scene of destruction, perished.

The historical fact of the destruction of these two cities has been proven in recent excavations. Plainly they were destroyed by some great conflagration, for everywhere ashes were found. Article made of pottery, weapons and jewelry worn by women in the time of Abraham have been found on the sites of these ancient cities.

Why did Abraham intercede for Sodom and Gomorrah? He knew their wickedness and knew they deserved the punishment they received. He prayed for these people because he loved his fellow men and could not bear to think of their suffering, even though he knew it was because of their own wrongdoing. With many of us, prayer is a very profane thing with Abraham it was not—he meant every word he uttered and he was willing to die if he could have his prayer answered. According to W. H. Griffith Thomas, "Enlargement of soul, increase of sympathy, a deepening of tenderness, a growing unselfishness, and a gradual conformity to the image of Him whose main thought is (and was) always for others, will mark the life of the believer who makes prominent the work of intercessory prayer."

While they were talking two of the men departed and went toward Sodom. Jehovah remained to talk further with Abraham, who was distressed at learning the fate which was to befall the inhabitants of the doomed cities. Knowing the mercy of God and having full confidence in his reasonableness and justice, Abraham begins to plead that the righteous be not destroyed with the wicked. He begs God to save Sodom if 50 righteous ones are found in the city. God agrees. Encouraged by this promise of God, Abraham boldly makes one request after another, that the city be spared for the sake of 45 righteous men, then for the sake of 40, 30, or 20, or 10 Jehovah promises that he will not destroy the city for the ten's sake, and then declares from Abraham. The presumption is that there were not even 10 righteous men in the city of Sodom, for if there had been, the city would have been spared.

Through these pleas of Abraham two things are clearly shown. First, the nature of God—He is a God of mercy as well as of justice. He would rather pardon than punish but if punishment is needed, he punishes severely. Second, the value and effectiveness of intercessory prayer—God is a prayer-hearing and a prayer answering God. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much.—James 5:16.

Continuing on to Sodom the two visitors spent the night with Lot, Abraham's nephew. The inhabitants of Sodom tried to seize and mistreat them and, as a result, were stricken with sudden blindness. The wickedness of the city having thus been proved, Lot was warned to gather his family together and flee to escape the impending destruction. Only Lot, his wife and their two young daughters were permitted to escape. Lot's wife, disobeying the instructions of the angels, did not look back on the scene of destruction, perished.

PRESTONSBURG, THE BEAUTIFUL

"Now is the time for all good Prestonsburgers to come to the aid of their city." No, we are not to be annoyed, not even besieged, but we are to be seen. The critical eye of Kentucky will be on us. As the club women all over Kentucky come to the State Convention of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, which is to be held at Pikeville, on May 11-13, they will pass through Prestonsburg. Let us show them a lovely city.

We want to be at our best. Nature is doing her part for this is the loveliest time of the year. If there is a time that Prestonsburg can be beautiful, it is now. About the only trouble is, it needs cleaning. The hedges should be sheared, the walks swept, the streets cleaned and certainly the rubbish burned or otherwise destroyed.

The beautification project of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club of planting 270 trees along the highway calls for special attention to Prestonsburg, so whether we wish it or not, these women from Louisville, Lexington, Covington, Paducah, Anderson and Frankfort, and all the small places will remember us. Let us give them a beautiful city to remember us by. Men, women and children, if you have pride, prepare to show it now.

OBSERVING MOTHER'S DAY

Along with other memorable dates in each year comes Mother's Day to capture the attention of men and women of Prestonsburg and to remind them of the debt they owe to their own mothers. To living mothers the day brings, perhaps, some joy and gladness over tangible evidence of children's love and to the memory of those who have passed on is added the respect and admiration of maturing appreciation on the part of their offspring.

It is eminently right and proper that men and women, boys and girls, should take part in the observance of this day set apart to Mothers living and dead.

it is a noble sentiment to incite in the hearts of human beings, some of whom, somehow seem to have missed the acquisition of abiding affection based upon complete understanding.

Mother's Day, however, affords men and women an opportunity to develop a broader love of particular mothers when it invites them to attach their reverence to motherhood in general and transfer their solicitude to the welfare of all mothers. If it can accomplish this completely, the role of all mothers will be made easier and the joy of all mothers increased.

Let us honor mothers of all ages, but let us also be concerned with the health and welfare of the mothers that are to be. The experience which nature reserves for women brings with it dangers that can be avoided but alas, too often, even in this era of civilization, we are the cause of suffering and death. The preservation of a mother's life to give her child the love and care that can secure from none other its worth, our enterprise and, if our expression of love for mother means anything, it will save some of the women now doomed to become the victims of childbirth.

The saving of a mother's life is an important event to the child, as well as to the mother herself. Society has a deep interest in child welfare because many problems that involve young children, and even older boys and girls, are caused by the loss of their mother's care and loving guidance. Two-thirds of the fatalities connected with the coming of children are preventable and should be prevented.

There is more behind Mother's Day than a sentimental affection for one's mother. The facts may not be pleasant and we may wish sometimes to leekham rest, but sooner or later they will be on the consciousness of men and Mother's Day will take on a higher meaning with health, life and happiness guaranteed to all who take the venture, near the valley of the shadow in order for a little child to be born.

 The Knott county board of education proposed to sell their interest in the Lackey consolidated school to the Floyd board, and take the

Levy Lowered
 The consolidated school levy for the Harold-Laynesville district was cut by vote of the board members from 75c to 50c per $100. The revenue to be derived from the lowered levy was deemed sufficient to operate the school for the coming year.

THE SOUTHERN COLONEL
Everywhere the Southern Colonel is known. A few detritus of the pen can reveal him, slouch hat, goatee, mustache, dignity, love of good horses.

But the type continues in tradition and in literature. Actual men who look like the conventional type are few and have never been so numerous as folks from other sections would imagine.

This early form of the Colonel was picturesque without being in any way pathetic. It remained for Thos. Nelson Page and other writers of a generation ago to add to this accented portrait by showing the Colonel in his poverty and disappointment after the war.

MANY KY. COUNTIES HIT BY FLOOD, SAYS RED CROSS REPORT

Fifty-seven counties in Kentucky experienced flood damage and in all of them counties the Red Cross has done rehabilitation work. Our work in 19 of these counties has been closed. Work in 23 additional counties will be closed by May 15.

As of the same date we had completed 33,562 of these families, leaving a balance of 45,009 cases to be taken up. Cases are being closed at the rate of about 6,000 per week.

Only two warehouses remain open at this date. Concentration camps with the exception of two have been closed and these two will be closed in a few days.

Many thousands of disbursing orders have been issued to flood families for household goods, clothing, maintenance, food, seed and livestock. Expenditures in excess of $2,700,000 have already been made.

We wish to express our appreciation for the splendid cooperation we are experiencing throughout the state. The flood sufferers themselves as well as all agencies—private and public, civic and church groups, clubs and service organizations have shown a fine sense of state and a fine sense of community.

THE FARM AND HOME

(Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station)

People complained about the heat last summer, and yet they insist on keeping their houses at a high temperature thruout the winter.

Beekeepers, whether beginners or old timers, will find a lot of information in the new beekeeping circular of Prof. W. A. Price, state entomologist. Ask any county or home agent for a copy, or write to the College of Agriculture, Lexington, for circular 228.

Many farmers cooperating in the agricultural conservation program are planning to sow alfalfa this spring. A good practice is to broadcast superphosphate, sowing two pounds of alfalfa seed to the acre.

Money is valued only for what it will buy, now or later. Many things in the market are all right in themselves, but for some families they would add one iota to long-term happiness or satisfaction. A good rule for spending but one of those things that make for a more effective life.

Short Clipping Injures Grass
A plea against clipping laws to closely is made by N. R. Elliot, landscape specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture. When grass is cut short so much of the leaf is removed that the remainder cannot manufacture sufficient plant food to feed the plant and provide for additional growth, he declares. Also the sun often burns the grass when it is clipped short, causing it to turn brown and sometimes die. For spring he advises that the mower be adjusted to leave at least 1 1/2 inches of grass, and when hot weather comes it should be left 2 to 2 1/2 inches high.
