Sunday School Lesson

JOSEPH'S KINDNESS TO HIS KINDRED
International Sunday School Lesson for June 13, 1937

Golden Text: "Be ye kind, one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving each other, even as God also in Christ forgave you."—Ephesians 4:32.

In our last lesson we saw how Joseph, as vice-ruler of Egypt, had prepared for the seven years of famine. Due probably to the same cause, he also came to the land of Canaan, where Jacob and his family lived. Hearing that there was food in Egypt, Jacob sent 10 of his sons to buy grain, keeping home with Joseph, who was in the land of Goshen, a district along the western branch of the Wady Tumlat, where it begins to branch from the Nile, and the best pasture land of Egypt.

And so, these wandering clans, those tribes that were the nomads of the desert, who after three hundred years had not taken a step in advance, were by this grain, keeping home with Joseph, who was in the land of Goshen, a district along the western branch of the Nile, and the best pasture land of Egypt.

After 17 years, the old patriarch, Jacob, died, after having been promised by Joseph that his body would be taken him and buried beside Abraham and Sarah, Isaac and Leah. A splendid procession bore his body back to Canaan and buried him as he wished.

Joseph again showed his greatness of heart when, after his father's death, his brothers feared he would visit his vengeance upon them for the evil they had done to him so many years before. Pained at the distrust of his brothers, he reassured them of his forgiveness when he said, "Ye meant evil against me, but God meant it for good."

For 33 years longer Joseph stood as an elder brother to the host of Israel. Then, at the age of one hundred and ten, "full of years and honor," he died. At his request, his body was embalmed and placed in his coffin, to await the return of his children of his brothers promise that they would carry his body with them when they returned to dwell in the land which God had promised them. He knew that they would return because he had faith in God's promise.

Although a petted, spoiled, apparently arrogant boy, Joseph developed into an English, kind, noble and brilliant man. He was a wise ruler and a good man, all of whose ways relying upon and placing himself in God's care.

stead of prostrating himself in the king's presence, the aged patriarch advanced, lifted his right hand and formally blessed Pharaoh.

So impressed was Pharaoh with Joseph, Jacob and his sons, that Pharaoh allowed Joseph to select the place where they were to dwell, suggesting that they settle in the land of Goshen, a district along the western branch of the Wady Tumlat, where it begins to branch from the Nile, and the best pasture land of Egypt.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

During the summer when one's friends are apt to drop in at any moment, every housekeeper should have on hand all foods that will help her out in the kitchen and bring them to the table.

Cold Supper Platter
Cut cold ham and tongue, or other meat in thin delicate slices. Use a very sharp knife. Arrange in rows at end of a large platter with slices overlapping. In the center put cups of crisp lettuce filled with marinated asparagus. Garnish with celery curls, radish roses and wedge shaped pieces of cheese. Sprinkle with paprika. Serve with sandwiches of rye bread with creamed butter. For a relish use spiced pears or pineapple.

Cold Plates
Arrange thin slices of cold liverwurst and corned beef at either end of a large platter with slices overlapping. In the center put cups of crisp lettuce filled with highly seasoned potato and olive salad. Garnish with radish roses and large green olives.

Sliced cold tongue, small tomatoes filled with celery mixed with mayonnaise and mustard pickles.

Moulded Chicken Salad
2 1/2 cups cold chicken, cubed
1/2 cup shredded nuts
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 cup celery, cut fine
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons water

1 1/2 cup chicken stock
1/2 cup cream
1 cup mayonnaise
Mix chicken, celery, nuts and parsley. Season with salt and pepper. Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes, and dissolve over hot water. Add gelatin, cream and chicken stock to mayonnaise and stir until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in the chicken mixture. Season more, if necessary. Pack into a large rigid mold which has been dipped in cold water and chill until firm. Unmold and fill center with mayonnaise mixed with a little chopped pickle, olive and parsley. Garnish with heart leaves of lettuce, slices of hard boiled egg and pickle.

Hot Platter
6 whole tomatoes
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 cups bread crumbs
Pepper
Mashed potatoes
1 1/2 lbs. chopped beef
Boiled cauliflower
Wash tomatoes and cut a thin slice from the top of each. Scoop out some of the pulp, being careful not to break the skin. Melt butter and add 1 1/2 cups of bread crumbs, tomato pulp, salt, pepper and sugar. Fill the tomato cavities. Sprinkle tops with remaining crumbs. Place the tomatoes in the center of a platter. Bake in an oven 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Season the top with salt, pepper and a little grated onion. Form into large circular patties. Fry in a small amount of fat until brown on both sides. Put a spoonful of mashed potatoes on top of each. Brush the top with beaten egg diluted with a little milk. Remove platter from the oven and arrange a row of patties around the edge. Fill space between the patties with hot cauliflower which has been brushed with melted butter. Return platter to oven for about 15 minutes.

Poached Peaches
Drain the juices from a can of halved peaches. Measure juice; add half as much sugar and cook until syrupy. Add one or two drops almond extract. Cook peach halves in syrup until thoroughly heated. Place in 2 shallow serving dishes. Sprinkle with fresh raspberries or raspberry jam. Pour any remaining juice around them. Serve hot with cream cheese sauce.

Cream Cheese Sauce
Mash 1 cream cheese (3 ounces) with a fork. Add cream or milk gradually until soft and smooth. Beat until fluffy. Serve like hard sauce.

ANENT THE COURT HOUSE WALL

From our window we get an excellent view of Floyd County's beautiful, renovated court house. It's true, that deep down inside of us, a bit of sentiment objected to the covering of those old bricks—bricks that were made here in Prestonsburg during a former century—with plaster and stucco.

But the view we get from our window of a court house now gleaming white, with its arched doorway, and pillared portico, makes us wonder why it wasn't done long ago. But there is one thing we see through our window we do not like. The court house is surrounded by an ugly, dirty wall of concrete. And if we remember correctly, the concrete was placed around a steel fence. This wall, a relic of the "horse and buggy days," was placed there to prevent cattle and horses from wandering about the court house grounds.

What Use Is It Now?
The TIMES advocates the removal of the wall about the court house. And we know that we are voicing the plea of Floyd County men when we ask that a portion, if not all, the court house grounds be paved, to allow parking space for automobiles which are now parked on both sides of the streets, and on the curbs, and even sidewalks, about the court house.

Hour after hour the TIMES sees through the window, cars and trucks parked haphazardly, dangerously, and at all angles on the Court and Third street sides of the courthouse wall. At least 50 times a day our "nose for news" prompts us to look out the window and murmur, "Oh shucks," as two cars on the corner of Third and Court narrowly avert a wreck with screaming brakes. Sooner or later, we know our "nose for news" will be sorrowfully awarded with a serious accident. This daily occurrence of mere fender crumpling with which we are familiar, cannot long continue without the loss of limb or life.

It seems to us a shame to have such a beautiful building, and leave it surrounded by the old wall. Thousands have been spent on renovation. Why not spend a few dollars to make the grounds a place of beauty and safety for motorists?

Why make Mr. Smith drive all the way from Wayland, Melvin, or Wecksbury just to pay his taxes, and force him to drive down on Front street to find parking space, that is, provided, there is enough left of his car after he drives past the courthouse on his way to Front street.

Not all the grounds need to be paved to alleviate the parking situation. In fact, the TIMES would have as little paving as necessary. We would like a bit of landscaping too. We want the shady trees to remain. And we would like a path or two, bordered with evergreens; but let us not ask for too much at one time.

The TIMES, by this editorial, hopes to arouse public sentiment. We are inviting letters from readers who are interested in removing the "horse and buggy" wall, thereby providing parking space that will make our streets less dangerous. We have a beautiful courthouse. Why not make the grounds beautiful, and at the same time, useful.

News For Floyd County Farmers

THE FARM AND HOME (Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station)

Newly set shade trees should be examined several times during the first two growing seasons to see that the wind is not causing them to sway to such an extent that the roots are unable to develop. If damage has been done, press soil around the roots and tie the tree.

Reason bait prepared with red squill is recommended for the control of rats. It is fatal to rats but relatively harmless to people and animals. Killing of rats should be followed by destruction of their living places and rat proofing of buildings.

As over-grazing, especially during the dry summer season, is damaging to pastures, many farmers now plan to have such temporary pasture as sudan grass, lespedeza, sweet clover or other annuals for their stock for a month or two.

Hogs should have shade. Where there are no trees artificial shade may be made by setting posts five feet out of the ground, in a square 100 feet each way, with horizontal poles nailed for wire to them on which may be laid strips to support straw or straw or brush cover.

Whole milk should be fed to calves until they are old enough to eat other feeds which can be substituted for the milk. As they learn to eat grain and hay for grass the amount of whole milk can gradually be reduced and skim milk substituted.

NO RESPONSE

I do not know why Mr. Hall (superintendent) did not answer my article that appeared in the Floyd County Independent some few weeks ago. He might have run out of ammunition, and too he might be afraid of the facts and would not attempt to answer the questions that I asked.

My Dad told me when I was a boy never to go hunting without a shotgun. I might be good advice for Mr. Hall. Again he might say that he did not have time to reply, but he has about a half an hour, as he could put on the job.

Now, Mr. Hall, you started all this by replying to a hand bill prepared by a group of innocent students, so don't quit me now.

In case you have forgotten the questions I asked in my last article (and, how you would like to forget) I will re-state them, adding four more to the list.

1. What is your salary?
2. What is your wife's salary?
3. Did you rent your father-in-law's house to teach in?
4. How much for each mile do you receive for driving your pretty little red car?
5. How many clerks, secretaries, business managers and truant officers, supervisors do you have and what are their respective salaries?
6. Is it true that people have to have an appointment to see you (as when

The U. S. Marine Corps established a district headquarters recruiting station on May 15, at 417 Keith office building, Cincinnati, O., for the convenience of young men of the Big Sandy and surrounding territory who are interested in enlisting in that branch of the service, according to 1st Lieutenant P. A. McDonald, USMC officer in charge of the new station.

Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 30, at least five feet four inches in height, single, of good character, and be able to meet the high physical standards of the marine corps.

Lieut. McDonald explained that all young men now being enlisted are immediately transferred to the Marine Corps base at Parris Island, South Carolina, for a period of six to eight weeks training, and upon completion of the training they are assigned to duty aboard the larger ships of the navy or to shore stations in the United States, China, Cuba, Guam, Hawaii, the Panama Canal Zone, or the Philippine Islands.

In addition to extended travel, the Marine Corps offers a splendid opportunity for young men to learn many things through the Marine Corps institute, which has 21 courses, any one of which a man may select. These courses are free to all marines.

Particulars concerning enlistments including the application forms, etc., may be obtained by writing to the Marine Corps Recruiting Station, 417 Keith Bldg., 626 Walnut St., Cincinnati, O.

LEGION NAMED

The committee appointed to work out a program for the 4th of July celebration is composed of W. G. Africa, W. C. Rimmer, Joe P. Tackett, W. S. Wallen, and Joe Hobson. Two of the above members and J. B. Clarke and Lon Moles were appointed

HERE are over 360 employees of this company whose life work it is to serve you. Out of this large group of people, many of whom are your friends and neighbors, it frequently happens that the only person in the organization who meets our customers as a company representative is Bill Jones, the man who reads the meter. It is his privilege to go into your home and to expose himself to the many questions that people ask concerning our service.

It is a pretty safe bet that when Johnny asks him "What is a watt?" he will tell him that it is a small unit of electrical energy—Because a watt is pretty small we usually lump 1000 of them together and call it a kilowatt. A kilowatt used for an hour is a "kilowatt-hour" just as a horse worked for an hour would do a "horsepower-hour" of work. Incidentally, a kilowatt-hour is just about equal to the work that a very large horse can do in an hour. Thinking of it in terms of some electrical appliance, if you burn a 100-watt lamp 10 hours you have used one kilowatt-hour of electricity. At our average rate, such a lamp costs you about half a cent an hour.

to contact all Prestonsburg merchants in reference to the proposed celebration. A motion was made and carried that W. S. Wallen make a patriotic speech July 5, since the 4th falls on a Sunday.

The executive committee appointed by Commander Sutton is composed of Joe P. Tackett, W. S. Wallen, Marvin Marshall, Gordon Francis, Joe Hobson, and F. C. Hall.

Delegates and alternates appointed for the 10th District meeting of the American Legion to be held at Hazard, June 19 and 20, are: Ed Sutton, Joe Hobson, Marvin Marshall, Joe Tackett, and W. G. Africa. Alternates are: Clyde Burchett, J. B. Clarke, Jay Salyers, Tom Burchett, and W. L. Stephens. The same delegates or alternates will attend the state convention to be held at Paris.

Adjutant Africa said that the next Legion meeting June 18 would concern itself with the proposed 4th of July celebration.

WESTERN KENTUCKY TEACHERS COLLEGE

FANCY BONNETS, ET AL
Ear muffs appeared often, more than I had seen in the previous 20 years. Some of the college boys very appropriately went bareheaded in zero weather, but sometimes they added a pair of ear muffs to make up for the top exposure. I was reminded of the oldish boy whom I used to go to school with, who used to wear his ear muffs in any sort of weather, even when he walked across the campus with his girl. Some one suggested that those ear muffs ought to be a part of the museum of the school. And that reminds me of another thing. Most of the men of my generation have ears that stand out to catch the passing breeze. Younger men rarely have such outstanding ears. If any one wishes to make an investigation of this strange phenomenon let me answer all your questions at 2c. We boys were caps that were pulled down over our ears. I had better say, a few months each year in such cramped positions would make any ears lean forward. Since caps that pulled down over ears have a tendency to stand in a less obnoxious position.

Heal th News

By Dr. Marvin Ransdell

The United States Public Health Service states that all children should be vaccinated against smallpox before they are a year old. At this time they have not been run to run around and are in less danger of injuring the site of vaccination by contact with hard objects or of getting dirt rubbed into it. On entering school they should be vaccinated again.

Diphtheria is an entirely preventable disease. Diphtheria antitoxin has cut down the death rate among diphtheria patients very materially, and its record would of course be better than it is if it were always administered early. Antitoxin does not cure or prevent the carrier condition, nor is it of any value as a preventive measure except in case of contacts, and only for about two weeks. An active agent capable of developing active immunity is in demand, and is found in the antitoxin or in diphtheria toxoid.

Since a small percentage of cases are not immunized by the usual course of injections with either toxin antitoxin or diphtheria toxoid, the immunizing treatment should be followed in due time by a Schick test of susceptibility. When an additional injection of the toxin antitoxin or toxoid may be necessary.

The systematic immunization of the population is not only believed possible but is being checked the prevalence of diphtheria, but to grade it in fact, several American communities have already approached this goal through persistent efforts to immunize every child in the community. The period during which the greatest danger from diphtheria occurs is the first six months after the age of six months as possible.

Typhoid fever is now so well guarded against in most of our cities that it is not considered necessary to adopt general vaccination measures against it. Vaccination with typhoid vaccine is, however, an excellent protection for persons who travel much or stop in their travels in places where sanitation is not well developed.

With regard to rabies: The immunization of dogs is practicable, but it is by no means unfeeling. Early vaccination with Rabies vaccine will greatly reduce the risk of rabies in dogs. When a person is bitten by a dog suspected of being rabid, the prompt administration of antirabic vaccine will prevent the development of the disease in almost every case.

Tetanus is a preventable condition. One injection of 1500 units of tetanus antitoxin together with prompt cleansing of the wound is usually sufficient, but two injections, a week apart, are often given for greater security, especially when the wound is a deep one and the patient is not seen for a day or two after its infliction. For treatment heroic doses are necessary, but the antitoxin has been found to be effective by retrenchment and concentration, that even large unit injections are easily given.

LACKEY

Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club

"Kentucky Poetry" was the topic of the program of the Lackey-Garrett Woman's club which met last week at the home of Mrs. M. M. Collins at Lackey. The program, arranged by Mrs. W. T. Hatcher, consisted of music and the reading of poems written by Kentuckians.

Those who led in the reading were: Mrs. R. H. Messer, Mrs. Raymond Turner, Mrs. Rudolph Spencer, Mrs. Ed Castle, Mrs. Bayless Litteral, Mrs. Charles Sturgill, Mrs. Charles Hornsby, Mrs. Chas. Sersain, Mrs. M. M. Collins, Mrs. Miss Adams, Buckovitch, Mrs. Thomas Hatcher and Audrey Sturgill and Maude Hatcher.

The author whose works were read by Mrs. Spencer, is Mrs. Virginia Lauer, who now lives at Maytown, and who is the wife of V. O. Turner, school principal. The author whose works were read by Mrs. Sturgill is Harrison Kitch, who is well known in the Beaver and Big Sandy section.

The club was pleased to hear Ceredo Reed, graduate of the Lackey high school, who read some of her original poetry. Talent and promise of a poetical career were shown by Sylvia Brater, who was present, sang "Barbara Allen." The poem, "The Dandelion," written by a freshman of Lackey high school, Eisel Vanderpool, was accepted by club members as the "best yet."

Mrs. Hatcher, program chairman, is to be congratulated for her efficiency in providing the club with one of the most thorough enjoyed programs of the year.

FORD "60" OWNERS REPORT 22-27 MILES PER GALLON

THE 60-horsepower Ford V-8 is writing remarkable mileage records on American roads. Private owners and fleet operators alike report averages of from 22 to 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

You can fill the tank of your Ford "60" and drive all day—300 to 400 miles—without stopping again for fuel. Besides costing less to run than any Ford car ever built, it sells at the lowest Ford price in years. That's double economy!

The "60" delivers V-8 smoothness and quiet at speeds up to 70 miles an hour. It is built into the same roomy body as the famous "85"—with the same modern features of comfort and dependability that make the 1937 Ford V-8 unquestionably THE QUALITY CAR IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD.

FORD V-8 PRICES BEGIN AT $529 at Dearborn Factory. Transportation charges, State and Federal taxes extra.
