NOTICE

Whereas, Wayland voting precinct Number 25, contains more than three hundred fifty (350) legal voters, and in fact approximately one thousand legal voters, more than can possibly vote at one voting place during the lawful hours of election;

And whereas, it is deemed advisable for the public good and convenience, to divide said precinct into two voting precincts;

Therefore, all persons will take notice that at the regular February, 1938, term of the Floyd County Court, to be held on February 28, 1938, an order will be entered dividing said Wayland Precinct No. 25, as now constituted, into two (2) precincts, by cutting from said precinct, as now composed, all the territory lying west of the Elk Horn Coal Company's new temple, and situated on the waters of Beaver Creek, including Shop Fork and Stamper Branch into a separate precinct to be named Haymond Precinct No. 50. The territory thus remaining in Wayland Precinct No. 25, shall remain in and be regarded as Wayland Precinct No. 25. The voting place in Haymond Precinct No. 50 shall be at the schoolhouse near the mouth of Stamper Branch.

All persons will take notice of this proposed change and present any objection or suggestion at said term of court.

Witness my hand as Judge of the Floyd County Court, this February 4, 1938.

EDWARD P. HILL, Judge Floyd County Court.

THE GARDEN

HOTBEDS

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture

Hotbed making time is almost here, for although seed for early tomatoes and peppers and eggplants need not be sown before the end of February, the heating manure must be prepared and the bed filled some time previously, so that its temperature may fall to a safe point, before seed may be sown. It is not desired, here, to describe in full the details that enter into the making of a hotbed, and its management, but merely to point out why it is desirable for a gardener to grow his own plants in his own hotbed. All the steps in making a hotbed and of carrying it through the season are discussed in Kentucky Extension Circular No. 276. This circular is free for the asking, either at the office of your county agent, or in Lexington, direct from the College of Agriculture.

There are many reasons why a gardener should grow his own plants. One is that thus he is assured of always having the particular varieties he must have, if his garden plans are to work out. Although confusion of varieties on the part of the professional plant growers each year grows less and less, nevertheless here and there, and now and then, gardeners may suffer embarrassment from having their Early Jersey Wakefield cabbage turn out to be Late Flat Dutch, for example. Quite as important as having to be sure of the season of the varieties one uses, is to know that one has plants of the disease resistant sorts one must use, in infected gardens. In fact, failure to have them may easily defeat the best efforts of the gardener for the year. In the main, the plant growers have risen to their opportunity to furnish such special varieties of tomatoes as so-called "frost-proof" plants, but until this year it has been virtually impossible to procure "frost-proof" Yellow's resistant cabbage plants. Gardeners whose gardens are "cabbage-sick" may use Marion Market "frost-proof" plants, and have cabbage in 1938.

Another reason for a gardener having his own hotbed is that, as he grows his vegetable plants, he may also produce plants of zinnia, larkspur, Sweet William, camellia and a host of other flowers, in the same bed. True, he may sow his seed of these flowers, "when the maple leaves are large as squirrels' ears," but if he were to have transplants set out at this time, his flower enjoyment would begin just that much earlier. It should go without saying that even the most humdrum vegetable gardener may take pleasure in his flower garden.

Still another reason for having a hotbed is that it is exciting. It is an exceptionally unemotional person who does not thrill, at least to a small extent, on contemplating his growing plants, thrifty and comfortable within the bed, while storms of snow and cold rains rage without. Admittedly, the hotbed requires close and almost constant attention to meet the weather, yet this is forgotten in one's victory over the elements, as it were. It is quite possible, too, that, having begun one's gardening in the painstaking manner a hotbed man must care for his beds, the whole of the gardening will be better. Another cause for mild excitement is to harvest early lettuce, radishes, spinach, leets and possibly carrots, before the outside sowing time of these vegetables is at hand. Besides the outright satisfaction that having these vegetables would give, there is the added one that their being luxuries, and appropriately expensive, the hotbed really paid, in cash.

That is to say, everyone who has the facilities should have his hotbed. For hotbeds pay, in so many ways.

WELL-KNOWN DRILLER SUCCUMBS WEDNESDAY AT MARTIN HOSPITAL

Ill six weeks of a complication of ailments, Walter Brown, 49 years old, well-known driller in the Floyd county gas field, and a veteran of the World War, died Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock at the Gearhart hospital, Martin. Blood poisoning was given as the immediate cause of death.

Mr. Brown had resided at Betsy Layne for the last seven years, and came to this section from West Virginia, where he was born and reared. At the time of his last illness he was employed by John Hale, Prestonsburg drilling contractor. During the World War he was a member of the medical corps.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Mabel Childers Brown, two daughters, Eunice Gayle and Phyllis, of Betsy Layne; two sons, Ralph Brown, Washington, D. C., and Carl Brown, of New Jersey; three brothers: Carl Brown, Emma; W. R. Brown, Beechbottom, W. Va.; Lawrence Brown, Friendly, W. Va.; and five sisters: Mrs. Cora Hays, Beechbottom, W. Va.; Mrs. Hattie Florer and Mrs. Rose Schultheis, New Matamoras, O.; Mattie and Irene Brown, Sistersville, W. Va.

Funeral rites were conducted by the Rev. Isaac Stratton from the residence at Betsy Layne, with burial being made at Harold under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

A working mother was recently ordered to share the support of twins gathered to her estranged husband.

NO HUMAN INTEREST?

"Newspapers only print cold-blooded facts." is an accusation frequently heard at weekly newspapers as well as metropolitan dailies. The accusers claim that human interest is lacking in the news and that newspaper writers are too thoughtless in their brief summaries of it.

STRANGE, INDEED!

Persons from one end of the county to the other flocked about a water cooler and its sole drinking glass as a trial was being conducted in the city courtroom here last week. Water from the dirty glass was swallowed by spectators, witnesses, lawyers alike, with, evidently, no thought that they might be subjecting themselves to communicable diseases from germs left by others.

INVITATION

Empowered after the publication of a TIMES editorial, the cry, "Participation" is heard as the case in the recent drive for the publication of a county-wide newspaper.

A MINER'S PLAN

At the meeting of the TIMES that at least three United Mine Workers' leaders were present, a plan was discussed to take action themselves about the proposed new newspaper.

Amen, brother! What do we hear from some of you others about this situation in which the Left Beaver road is much the most in the play, "Dead End"?

DOG TALK

While the Legislature is at it, why not enact a law requiring every dog owner to have a dog immunized against hydrophobia in England eradicated hydrophobia in this way; so has at least one state in this country.

Comments From The Capitol

"Which of the two is taking the biggest gamble?" Governor Chandler, who is about to flip his chapeaux into the circle to denote that he is a candidate for the United States Senate, or Alben Barkley, who already holds the senior seat from Kentucky?

JOBUCK'S JAM

Well, I've been absent for quite a spell, Shiky, but can you blame me for the writing of the word "jam" would, tryin' for 't' git a job. But's no go to date. O' course I gotta job with in "Jam," but my "Jam" lets me git deeper an' deeper in a financial jam and does nothing about it.

Convicted Man's Prediction True, Says Surviving Juror

Still true today is Gus Finley's 53-year-old prediction, "I'll be the last man ever hanged in Floyd County," says James B. Jones, 81, Prestonsburg, only living member of the jury that convicted him.

The strongest evidence at the trial, he claimed, was Finley's boastful statement, "Gus will shoot," made after he had slain young Hurt. The aged juror said that soon after Finley's statement, Finley, himself, was shot through the scaffold's trap.

INAUGURATION

Determined to prove that the Lackey Theatre which she manages can equal any in Floyd County, Mrs. M. H. Staley, this week, inaugurated the first of a series of advertisements to circulate throughout the county, while on a business visit to Prestonsburg.

Vertical text on the right edge of the page, including "A kiss wri...", "Squar...", "Boxes...", "Gay cho...", "$1 up...", "The SUIT...", "The s...", "still f...", "news...", "ple's...", "the r...", "has p...", "in b...", "miss o...", "a w...", "Tells...", "some...", "lines...", "young...", "Size...", "THE...", "Next..."

SHERIFF'S FATHER IS TRAFFIC VICTIM

Palmer Salisbury, 79, Dies of Injuries Received Near Maytown Home

Palmer Salisbury, 79 years old, died Friday evening at the Geahart hospital, Martin, the second Floyd county highway fatality of the year, two days after having been struck by an Inland Gas Company truck driven by Rudy Moore, Hippo, near the home of Mr. Salisbury's son, Sheriff Dial Salisbury.

Internal injuries and shock caused Mr. Salisbury's condition to become steadily worse and friends and relatives were called to his bedside. He was one of the county's best-known men. A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lacey Salisbury, he was born and reared at what is now Hunter, on Left Beaver Creek.

Surviving Mr. Salisbury are his widow, Mrs. Mary Turner Salisbury, seven sons and two daughters: Sheriff Dial Salisbury, of Langley; Milard Salisbury, Prestonsburg; Lee Salisbury, Hunter; Charles Salisbury, Arlington, Ia.; George and Toke Salisbury, of Langley; Jake Salisbury, of Hunter; Mrs. Grace Morrow of Lancer, and Mrs. Betty York, of Pike county. He also leaves one brother, L. C. (Kery) Salisbury, of Hunter, and one sister, Mrs. Minna Allen, of Huesville.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday morning at 10 o'clock from the Wilson's Creek church, the Revs. A. L. Allen, M. V. Allen and A. J. Moore, of the Regular Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was made in the Jonah Webb cemetery under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

Sheriff Salisbury said Tuesday that no action has been taken, to date, against Moore, driver of the truck which struck his father.

Petition Filed In City's Name

(Continued from page one) but interest is due from December 28, 1935. The suit to collect the debt was originally filed in August, 1936. A petition for a temporary injunction, filed in circuit court Tuesday by City Attorney W. W. Burchett, seeks to prevent deputy sheriffs and deputy constables taking persons arrested in Prestonsburg before Magistrate Will A. Willis for trial.

It was said that a hearing is scheduled for the petition Saturday. The petition, filed in the name of the City of Prestonsburg against Dial Salisbury, Constable Marvin Marshall and Magistrate Willis, alleges that persons arrested for minor offenses here in a police court's jurisdiction are illegally taken to the county jail and taken before Magistrate Willis for trial rather than before Police Judge Alex H. Spradlin.

City Attorney Burchett said that if a temporary injunction was granted, that hearing would be sought to make it a permanent one. He said that his action was based on Section 296, of the 1928 revision of Carroll's Criminal Code for Kentucky.

The section cited: "If the arrests made in the last two sections (pertaining to insane, drunk and disorderly persons) be made during the night, the officer shall keep the persons arrested in confinement until the next morning, unless, in the case of an insane or drunken person, he delivers him into the custody of some discreet person, who will undertake to re-train and take care of him. And if the arrest be made in the local jurisdiction of a police or city court, the persons arrested shall be carried before the judge of such court unless he be absent."

The petition filed does not attack the legality of the arrests made, but does attack the procedure of placing arrested persons in the county jail, if they are arrested within the city limits, and their subsequent trials before a magistrate. Nor does the petition attack the legality of trials before a magistrate of persons arrested within his magisterial district if they are made outside of a police court jurisdiction.

SPINACH FAILS TO FATTEN

Spinach is great food. One year ago I pushed the scales all the way around to 125. My wife began feeding me spinach at least three times a week. This week, counting my overcoat, 85 cents in change and a medium size pocket knife, I still weighed 126 pounds. Undoubtedly there must be something wrong with the scales, for spinach is good food. Sure it is. Popeye eats it.—(O. Cook in Tri-City News).

Five Men Held In Knott Fray

High-powered rifle bullet whizzed by Hall's head, this version of the affair says, knocking him down. Seizing one of Hopkins' two pistols, he fled over the hill amid a barrage, he is quoted as saying. Hopkins was hit by two separate shotgun charges.

DAINTY DOZEN CLUB MEETS

Miss Lorraine Smith, a member of the Dainty Dozen Club, entertained the following girls at her home Wednesday evening: Misses Mary Alice Bayless, Ruth Jarvis, Testie Hamilton, Alice Barbour, Beatrice Sturgill, Thelma Jean Africa, and Martella Benje.

Hindman present, Judge Combs cleared the courtroom before the prisoners were brought before him. Surviving Hopkins are his widow, four children and his parents. Burial was made on Dry Creek Friday in the family cemetery.

Meningitis Fear Closes Schools

Communities visited by the disease. That spinal meningitis is communicated by "carriers" who themselves are immune was indicated this week in a case resulting in the death Monday at McDowell of Daniel, four-year-old son of Simon Moore, of Gearheart, Left Beaver Creek. About 10 days ago, Biele Louise Frazier, daughter of A. L. Frazier, Gearheart, became ill of meningitis. Mr. and Mrs. Moore, parents of Munday, the night's victim, visited the Frazier home. The child did not, while visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Boston Hamilton, of McDowell. The child became ill Monday night at 8 o'clock. At 6 o'clock the following night the child died, before Dr. Ransdell arrived at the home. A spinal puncture proved that spinal meningitis caused the death.

Commenting on failure of the public to realize the gravity of the situation and the importance of observing quarantine regulations, Dr. Ransdell said that, when he arrived at McDowell shortly after the Moore child had died, he found 12 persons in the home where the body lay. At 10 and vicinity repeated warnings have been ignored, neighbors flocking to homes where meningitis sufferers were housed.
