Inez Indians' Crown Sought By Big Sandy Basketballers

Thirty-seven high school basketball teams are prepared this week to fight for a regional championship the Inez Indians have held four straight years.

Loss of regulars from last year's Inez team leaves Coach Russell Williamson with a less dangerous team, but one which proved in losing only 35-32 to Williamson Tuesday night that it is not to be counted out of the running.

Big Sandy's strong teams are Martin, McDowell, Louisa, Paintsville and Pikeville.

Scheduled for the four districts which comprise this region and winners and runners-up from which will play in the fifteenth regional tournament here next week are:

57th at Pikeville City
First Round
 Thursday
 7:30—McVeigh vs. Elkhorn City.
 8:30—Majestic vs. Pikeville College Academy.

Friday
 10 a. m.—Pikeville vs. Belfry.

Second Round
Friday
 2:30—Johns Creek vs. Hellier.
 3:30—Phelps vs. McVeigh-Elkhorn City winner.

7:30—Majestic-Pikeville College Academy winner vs. Pikeville-Belfry winner.

8:30—Dorton vs. Virgie.

Semi-Finals
Saturday
 2:30—Winners of Friday afternoon games.
 3:30—Winners of Friday night games.

Final
Saturday
 8:00—Championship game.

Pikeville High is regarded as the favorite in this tournament with toughest competition expected to come from its first-round foe, Belfry. The upper portion of the bracket looks like a wide-open fight.

Pikeville has enjoyed a fine season and is expected to win this tournament and be a factor in the fifteenth regional meet here.

58th at Wayland
First Round
 Thursday
 7:30—Wayland-Martown.

Second Round
Friday
 2:30—Auxier vs. Lackey.
 3:30—Martin vs. Garrett.

7:30—Wayland-Martown winner vs. McDowell.

8:30—Wheelwright vs. Betsy Layne.

Semi-Finals
Saturday
 2:30—Winners of Friday afternoon games.
 3:30—Winners of Friday night games.

Final
Saturday
 8:30—Championship game.

Martin has the best record of any team in this district, having lost only three games. One of those was to McDowell, which also will compete in the tournament at Wayland.

Martin and McDowell fell into opposite brackets and are expected to clash in the final.

Chief competition for Martin on its road to the final is expected to come from Garrett, which has a dangerous team.

Wayland and Betsy Layne are possible stumbling blocks in the path of McDowell.

59th at Louisa
First Round
 Thursday
 1:15—Warfield vs. Meade Memorial.

7:30—Louisa vs. Flat Gap.
 8:30—Webbville vs. Oil Springs.

Second Round
Friday
 1:15—Blaine vs. Clifford.
 2:15—Inez vs. Warfield-Meade Memorial winner.

7:30—Louisa-Flat Gap winner vs. Webbville-Oil Springs winner.

8:30—Paintsville vs. Van Lear.

Semi-Finals
Saturday
 1:15—Friday afternoon winners.
 2:30—Friday night winners.

Final
Saturday
 7:30—Championship game.

Louisa, which holds decisions over last year's regional champion, twice has beaten Paintsville, looks like the best team in this district. Coach Jack Adkins has a raring bunch of boys who have played consistently good ball.

Oil Springs, which has had a good season, and Paintsville, which ran up a great early season record but since has had all sorts of woes, are toughest teams in Louisa's half of the bracket.

Inez tumbled into the upper bracket and appears to have a clear path to the final.

60th At West Liberty
First Round
 Friday
 7:00—Royalton vs. Frenchburg.
 8:00—Crockett vs. Salyersville.

Semi-Finals
Saturday
 2:00—West Liberty vs. Royalton-Frenchburg winner.
 3:00—Crockett-Salyersville winner vs. Cannel City.

Final
Saturday
 7:30—Championship game.

This tournament was awarded to Cannel City High School, but the gymnasium there was not completed and the meet is being played on the Morgan county high floor at West Liberty.

Frenchburg is the outstanding team in this district, having beaten all teams. Frenchburg's only loss this season was to the strong Carmargo team. That game was early in the season and later was avenged.

The team took a Christmas trip into Ohio and Pennsylvania and won all five games.

Frenchburg has a big team of expert ball handlers and excellent shots. The team also is strong defensively and experts in the West Liberty section rate it on a par with any team in the fifteenth region.

Salyersville is favored to come through in the other half of the bracket with Cannel City rated a chance. Salyersville's team is big and fast but inconsistent. Cannel City has improved greatly the past month with a team which has only one experienced player. Failure of workers to complete the new gymnasium has kept the team from getting a normal amount of training and it is further handicapped by loss of a regular who has pneumonia.

JOBUCK'S JAM

Shiky, have you ever thought how much Hitler's latest more resembles my encounter with the Natty Bend catfish? Anyway, the human skunk with the soup-bean mustache had Austria right in his hands—so he thought. But the line broke, and now Hitler's mad because he's Nazi so d—n hot. Personally, I'd rather be in Floyd county where the coon chasers "mutch" than in Berlin where the Hitlerites "Putsch."

And there's China scaring the home-town "pollygwers" of Japan! "Yes," cried the Nippon-headers-but they-can't-do-that-to-us boys. "They have even killed some of our women and children!" HOW AWFUL! Joe Jobuck wishes this battle cry on China: "We've Formosa-mee treatment like they give to us!"

They say a fellow named William Randolph Hearst washed his face with his tongue upon hearing what Vermont's Governor Aiken had said about the present-day Republican party. Said Aiken: "The greatest praise I can give to Lincoln on this anniversary is to say that he would be ashamed of his party's leadership today." Heh, Heh, Heh!

Fitzpatrick Attends Meet Of Richmond Regents

Richmond, Ky., Feb. 22—Plans for the erection of a new men's dormitory at Eastern State Teachers' College out of the $150,000 appropriation recently approved by Governor A. B. Chandler were made by the Board of Regents of the college at a meeting held here Saturday. The new building, to be ready for use at the beginning of the second semester next year, will occupy the site of the old section of Memorial Hall built in 1883 by Central University, now used as a men's dormitory.

Members of the board present for the meeting were H. W. Peters, state superintendent, chairman; Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson, J. W. Carmack, Owenton; H. D. Fitzpatrick, Prestonsburg; and James L. Alberson, Lexington.

Additional Information Leaves Little Doubt That "Uncle" Joe Davis Is Here

Little doubt was left this week that "Uncle" Joe Davis, 70, of Estill, is here to 180,000 acres of coal mining land composing most of Wise county, Virginia, according to additional information sent Will Boggs, writer and TIMES correspondent, by James Taylor Adams, historian, of Big Laurel, Virginia.

Writes Mr. Adams:

"It appears that Beals Davis (grandfather of "Uncle" Joe, and owner of the immense acreage) moved from Powell's river, near Norton, about 1865. In 1875 he was described as being of Ohio. I do not know what became of Asa Davis (his son) but think that he went to Beaver Creek. . . . Only record I find of Asa Davis is where Beals Davis decided him and Thomas Davis land in 1885."

Mr. Adams also wrote that Thomas Davis was probably the brother of Beals Davis, whose lands were sold by court order after he disappeared. He added that Thomas Davis' son, Esau (Asa) Davis, was the father of Mrs. William Wickner and Mrs. Green Howard, of near Lackey.

STUMP NAMED IN TWO INDICTMENTS

Bills Allege False Pretense In Obtaining Money In Pike

Pike county grand jurors, in session late last week, returned two indictments against O. A. Stump, former Commonwealth's attorney and former Pike county judge charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses.

In one of the indictments George H. Hunt, of Nigh, is the chief prosecuting witness, while Noah Mullins, of Mossy Bottom, is the complainant in the other. Both indictments charge that Stump secured the signatures of the complaining witnesses to papers which caused large sums of money to be turned over to him.

Immediately after the indictments were returned Stump moved for a speedy trial and the cases were set down for yesterday when Hubert Meredith, attorney general of Kentucky, came here to aid in the prosecution. The cases, due to Meredith's inability to remain here, were put over until next Thursday. The attorney general, it is understood, will ask a change of venue.

The offenses charged in the indictment are:

FLOYD JURY GRANTS $15,000 FOR INJURIES

A jury in Floyd circuit court last week granted $15,000 damages to C. E. Mink in his suit against the Co-dell Construction Company. Mink, who was injured by the dipper of a concrete mixer while employed as an inspector by the highway commission for the Allen-Lackey paving job filed suit seeking $27,000. Howard and Maye and C. P. Stephens were plaintiff's counsel. Joe Hobson represented the construction company.

THE MINERS "GO TO BAT"

Not one or two but FOUR United Mine Worker locals in the upper section of Left Beaver Creek are adopting resolutions, The Times is told, demanding completion of the Left Beaver highway and at the same time forming plans which will put teeth into their resolutions.

In direct contradiction to the apathy with which this newspaper's fight for a modern, usable highway in that section is met in Prestonsburg, the Left Beaver miners are ready to "go to bat." Letters, personal calls have resulted from The Times' editorial of a week ago. One miner telephoned from the head of Left Beaver—at his own expense—to say that the "boys" there are really interested and that they will show their interest.

It has been suggested that the Left Beaver highway be made a sort of Damoclean sword hanging over Senatorial candidates in the coming campaign. It doesn't have to be made that way already is. We should like to believe that our Senatorial candidates are too far up the slopes of Olympus to be interested in a mundane thing like a road when a road means votes, but they are hard-headed, practical men and it is but natural that both know that their constituents will suffer an injustice only so long and no longer.

The Times does not propose to threaten. It believes that men clothed with the power endowed them by the people should have a strong sense of justice, should study the situation, then take steps accordingly, of their own accord. If the Governor's highway commission will not finish this work, he as chief executive of the commonwealth has the power to take the matter into his own hands, either directly or indirectly.

As for the story of that Left Beaver road, it is an old, old, oft-told story. Reiteration is unnecessary. It is enough to say that the work has been started, never finished, and left in such condition that the upper section of Left Beaver cannot reach any other part of the county by automobile except by detouring through Pike county and Pikeville.

That is why the miners propose to demand that merchandise shipped into that section be sent by train. All they want is justice. They intend to see to it that the road in its present condition is not to continue to monopolize trade for Pike county.

Working men, common folks are not in favor of monopolies, anyhow.

Comments From The Capitol

It would be well to get the workings to shelter. This fight, which has just begun, is going to be the rip-matting political scrap in the history of Kentucky. And just in any of your Kentucky political circles, it has been being hand and interlocking political battles in the past.

Commonwealth, all of the things that he had planned to do will be ready to resign to take the senate seat if he is elected.

This race, which has caused more political talk than any other occupied by Allen W. Barkley. It has thing since the old Music Hall been a fact known for more than a month that Chandler would run, but Ram Goebel received the nomination. He withheld the official announcement for governor, once Captain Stone until his appearance at Newport. He and John Young Brown, has brought could have announced two weeks ago most of the factions out into the end was urged to make the announcement. Louisville's Mickey Brennan ment then and probably would have organization, which received favor but for one thing. In two previous from the state administration, went successful political campaigns, the with Barkley. Whether this will be first of which brought him to the a severe blow to Chandler remains in seat of Lieutenant Governor in 1931 be seen. This break was noted with and the second which placed him in interest and it may be a deciding the executive man in 1935, Mr. factor in this primary race. The Chandler made public his intentions Louisville group received a jolt when he seek these offices from the hands of the Legislature took Louisville's of a Newport platform. It was his model registration law and offset it belief that Newport was his lucky with a new registration and purgation that led him to withhold his tion bill. The politicians from the official announcement until Wednes- metropolis screamed bloody murder day. Now you who survive the finish at the action, declaring that the of this campaign between these two model law was one thing that was men, both of whom are powerful in fine in that community and that the politics, will be able to point back junking of that law would ruin the end say that you have witnessed the city. It was declared by Mayor best and most interesting political Schultz that the law was made af-ampaign that Kentucky has offered ter much study and at a cost of $70, late in Hollywood this battle 000. It was declared an exceptionally id be billed as a "super-sensational, good model law. However, if the re- pendous and an attraction of the suit of the new plan is as expected and some 10,000 names are purged

In his announcement, Governor from the list, names of folk who are Chandler declared that he was not dead, or who have never existed, it that to test President Roosevelt, as appears to this column that there is many were inclined to believe, but nothing model about this law ex- that his efforts were being conce- cept that it gives the man who has trated on Barkley, the Senator. The list of names an unusual poveto dominate the political situation in the city.

Mayor Schultz spoke against the bill over radio, Joe Lawton, Louisville Republican, spoke against the purgation measure over radio. Each forecast disaster at its passage. However, Governor Chandler held the disposal in the palm of his hand. Assistant Attorney General A. E. Funk spoke in defense of the measure. He wrote it. He declared that the measure would not permit voters to change party affiliations between general elections and take part in a primary election of a party not their own. He said that it was not true that a challenged voter had no appeal from the ruling of the purgation officers and cited a section of the Kentucky Statutes which has not been repealed and is not included in the bill. It all simmers down to this: That the state administration is of the belief that there are many thousands of names on the registration books that do not belong there and that the majority of these names are in Louisville, and if they are on the book and are names of non-existent people, they should come off. If there are, however as alleged, 10,000 names on the registration books, names of people who are not, and these names are controlled by one man, this gives one man the absolute control of 20,000 votes, and that is enough votes to do most anything politically in a city the size of Louisville.

While the Senate race waxes hot, the Legislature is taking a back seat, so far as news is concerned. The Representatives and Senators are doing a daily stint, mostly routine, listening to bills and trying to get them out before they adjourn, since die on March 1. The liquor control bill is still a mystery and its eventual end is in doubt. The original bill, drafted by the Legislative committee weeks before the opening of the Legislature and at that time hailed as a "Whizbang of a masterpiece," was junked for another bill. This bill was drafted and all of the amendments proposed for the original were included and many new features added. The measure was more than 100 pages in length and appeared to be just the thing. It was shot to pieces before it came to the floor and it was passed into the limbo and "not wanted" along with several other measures and now the original bill is being talked of, by the General Assembly. Action is due this week.

RANDOM SHOTS: Circuit Judge King Swope of the Lexington district, the last Republican nominee for Governor, offered to air the impeachment proceedings when Sheriff Plummer of Scott county, asked that he be unseated. A House committee dismissed the seven charges against Swope. H. B. Kinsolving, Shelbyville, Commonwealth's Attorney in the 12th district, was held on impeachment proceedings but this likewise was dropped. Approximately 2,000 young Democrats from 120 Kentucky counties counties, called in a body Saturday, on Governor Chandler and asked him to make the race for Senator. Senator Barkley was in Louisville last week confer- ing with his campaign manager, Shack Miller, and Mrs. Lonnie McLaughlin, the managing of the Brennan organization. Barkley was in the Kentucky hotel at the same time Governor Chandler was speaking there at a highway contractor's convention.

TO ALL TRUCK OWNERS AND DRIVERS The old saying, "Give them enough rope and they will hang themselves," holds true in all respects today as when it was first said. This is a warning to all those who use or operate a truck on the highways. Truck drivers are, as fast as time rolls around, forcing public opinion against the trucks. More and more is the cry against the trucks on the highway taking all the road. You cannot go any distance on a highway without coming up behind a truck going at a speed of 25 to 30 miles per hour with the left wheel about two feet on the left of the center line. When you come to the road they either do not hear or do not care, knowing they have the advantage of a car driver. I have followed trucks for two or three miles with a loud horn shrieking their way when they give a part of the road you come upon as they would be giving you the "horse laugh," and maybe there would be

We'uns Air A'larnin Ter Talk Like T'other Folkse

Mountain folk "way up hyar" are beginning to talk just like the folk "way down thar."

That is what Joseph S. Hall, youthful linguist of Columbia University, has found in classifying the speech of more than 100 persons in the heart of the Great Smoky mountains.

The quaint hill-billy language which was a heritage from Scotland and England is being discarded by the young mountaineers of sturdy Anglo-Saxon stock.

Unlike their parents and grandparents, they now say "first" instead of "fust" and "worst" instead of "wous." Hall found that he heard but one boy—who had never been to school—say "larn" for "learn."

"Younger persons," he commented, "are likely to say 'afraid' while older people say 'aferad.' It is interesting to note that this latter word is three, and sometimes four or five persons in the front seat of the truck. Every car owner who gets on the highway has had this experience. Another thing: the beds are so wide that, if they have a rear-view mirror, it does not come out far enough to see behind the truck. Many of these wide truck beds do not have lights, or reflectors on the side, which makes these trucks at night very dangerous.

This is a friendly letter, and I hope the truck owners will take this letter as a warning that, if these conditions are not stopped, the public is going to force the Legislature to pass laws that will be costly to the owners and drivers of trucks. Every session of the Legislature, there is some kind of bill proposed to control the trucks as to size and weight. This is because of the abuses I have mentioned in this letter. Some of you will say that I do not use a truck and that is the reason for this letter. You are wrong in this, as the company I am employed by has several trucks, and I know if such laws are passed it will cost the innocent truck-owners as well as the guilty ones.

Now, don't get me wrong, I don't mean to say that all truck drivers are like this, for you will meet lots of truck drivers who know what the word, "courtesy," means.

I have stuck out my chin, so go to it.

SAVED!
All that keeps this column from having a "piece" about Snow White, well-known Prestonsburg man, is the fact that he doesn't have seven children that could be called dwarfs.

"ITEM"
Bev Osborne's presence in town Monday reminded me of the time when he came into the Floyd County Times office and asked, Dr. Daffoe-like, what we would charge him to "print a news item."
The "item," it was learned upon inquiry, was, "Not much, except that I'm in jail here."

We felt like yelling for Ripley, to tell about this man-in-a-million who solicited a newspaper's help in telling the world he was a jail-bird; but Bev explained "Well, why shouldn't I ask you to tell the public about it? They've put me in jail for barbering without a license. The news might keep some other poor devil from heering the same fate."

ho-oo-ray, a new flag hangs from the postoffice mast-pole.

KENTUCKY AGAINST THE WORLD
On a recent tour I was amazed at the geographic location most citizens of the United States attributed to Kentucky. In New England, Kentucky was thought of as south. In Florida and other coast states, Kentucky was way up north. Out on the Pacific coast, it was described as being in the east. It seems to be a case of Kentucky against the world.

AND THAT WAS ALL
On the tour just mentioned, a youth of our group was interrupted by a New England lady, who gushed, "How quaint is your expression, 'you-all'!"
The youth, tired of such continual comment, replied, "I all always talk like that cause down in Kentucky where we-all come from, our parents, they-all talk like that and I guess we-all just picked it up from them-all."

NO MORE HIGH SEATS
As a recent murder trial was underway here, I was perched atop the lawyers' table directly behind the defendant so that I might better hear testimony. After the trial was over I was accosted outside the courthouse by a stranger who said, "Why, how did you get out so quick?"
At my look of misunderstanding, he added, "Why, weren't you just being tried for murder?"

COON, TO YOU
According to a typographical error that appeared on a hard-bill the Times was printing for the Floyd Fish and Game Club, that organization was scheduled to sponsor one of the most unusual events in the world here, all unknown to its members. The erroneous bill, which was corrected before the club knew about it, advertised a fox and goon chase to be held here Sunday.

FISCAL COURT ACTS TO SAVE
The above recommendations were made after the Paintsville office had failed to approve I. A. Smiley for the office. Mr. Smiley was recommended by the court at a previous meeting.
For the month of February, a claim of $1,417.25 was allowed Jailor Will Hatcher. A claim of $60 was allowed Vica Childers.
The court in its lengthy meeting also authorized County Attorney Forrest D. Short to institute condemnation proceedings against property holders along right-of-way of the Middle Creek road from West Prestonsburg up Middle Creek four miles.

It was also ordered that the Floyd Budget Commission provide in its budget, to be adopted for 1938, a provision assuring a $1,200 annual salary for Commonwealth's Attorney O. C. Hall.
The court voted to sponsor a farm-to-market road from the Chesapeake & Ohio railway depot at Martin to the head of Buck's Sacks. The court will obtain the right-of-way and seek the approval of the Works Progress Administration.

WAYLAND MAN, TRAFFIC VICTIM
Creek, and a sister, Mrs. Alida Ford, of Mossy Bottom, also survive.
The body was taken to Broad-bottom, Pike county, for burial.
Palmer Salisbury, father of Sheriff Dial Salisbury, died last week, a victim of a truck.
Saturday night, his distant kinsman, Monroe Salisbury, 20, Hunter, barely escaped death at the Arkansas curve on the Allen-Luckey road when hit by a car driven by H. H. Sachs, Louisville salesman for the McKesson & Robbins Company, Louisville. He suffered a badly crushed left arm and leg, but was reported as recovering at the Gearheart hospital this week after remaining unconscious until the day following the injury.

It was said at the hospital that Sachs admitted that he was at fault in hitting Salisbury. The injured man was walking along the highway toward Martin when the car was being driven toward Allen.

The Truth Must Be Told!
You may have heard the expression, "As long as Pats stayed in the army."
Well, the fact of the matter is, Pats, poor fellow, was a militarist only long enough to load his gun—then he "sold out."
Recently Henry Arrowood, of the Paintsville Herald-News, gave Ellis Hake, Floyd county teacher, credit (?) for being the nearest approach to Pats in the newspaper business. He stated that Ellis became editor, looked over his job and quit as editor of the erstwhile Floyd County Independent, all within the space of a half-hour.
But Henry didn't go a little further and tell that he himself out-patted Pats in getting away. He came up here from Paintsville, one fine morning, to take the job of editing The Independent, looked the "joint" over—and left, all within the space of 15 minutes, meanwhile lagging Ellis not to call Henry Stophard, Jr., one of the principal stockholders in the paper, till he got out of town.

FORMER STUDENT, DONOR OF BOOKS

Betsy Layne—Edward Lykins, who graduated with the class of '34, Betsy Layne high school, recently gave the school a group of books valued at $50. He has been a member of the "Book of the Month Club" the entire time since his graduation and certainly had accumulated some very fine books, of which he gave liberally. No greater spirit of loyalty could exist than the spirit of giving to the school which offered and gave opportunities. Mr. Lykins is employed in the mines at Blue Diamond, Perry county, but is spending his spare time in reading. Miss Mabel McCown spent Monday in Martin with her mother, who is taking treatment at the Gearhart hospital. Miss Lola Burke, local high school teacher, met with the Floyd county Annual staff in the county superintendent's office Saturday. Mr. Furman, who has been in the Paintsville hospital, suffering from an injury sustained in an automobile wreck, is recovering and is expected home this week-end. Little Glenda Blackburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Blackburn, won the baby contest last week, which was sponsored by Miss Helen Goe at the "Miss Blue Bonnet" play Friday night. The play was attended by the largest audience of the school year. The Betsy Layne Bobcats closed their regular season by defeating a fighting Jeffry team last Thursday at Williamson, W. Va., 37-30. Student Self-Government Experiment at Wheelwright First Undertaken in Floyd

Floyd county's first high school student government experiment, and one of the first of its kind attempted by a Kentucky high school, was declared a success last week at the end of its first month in the Wheelwright high school. The plan employs the honor system, demanding full co-operation of all students. "Even if at 100 per cent efficient," said Wayne Ratliff, principal, this week, "it is still a good thing in that it throws the responsibility for his own conduct onto the student." Seat C. Osborne, faculty member and sponsor of the self-government plan, defined the purpose of the experiment as a move "to reduce the population of our jails ten years from now." George Billips, a senior, is chairman of the court which clears its docket each afternoon. At a referendum held Feb. 18, five governing council members were recalled. The council consists of a boy and a girl from each home room—14 in all—and is vested with all legislative, judicial and executive power. Offenses include insubordination to superiors, rowdiness of any sort at any time, unbusinesslike behavior, any conduct unbecoming to a gentleman or lady, anti-social attitude, cheating in tests, etc. Penalties are expulsion, suspension, detention hall commitment, paddling, sending to Coventry (ostracism), public apology before entire student body, removal of privileges, probation.

County Farm Planners Meet With State Man And County Agent Here

At a meeting of the County Agricultural Planning committee, with Bruce Poundstone of the Kentucky Planning Commission, and County Agent Lewis, here last Saturday, a survey of Floyd's farm acreage was made and goals were set for 1938. The survey revealed that 14 per cent of the county's farm land is being used for corn, 40 per cent for corn and soybeans, 10 per cent for corn and wheat, 22 per cent for corn and hay, and 14 per cent for corn and pasture. Goals for 1938 were a 10 per cent increase in soybeans, a 10 per cent increase in wheat, and a 10 per cent increase in hay. NEWS OF THE BIG SANDY

CATLETTSBURG—Re solutions expressing the opinion of Catlettsburg's city council and citizenry of the proposed flood wall protection for this city will be formulated at an open meeting of a committee appointed last Friday night by Mayor Collinsworth. Copies of the resolution will be forwarded to the office of the United States district engineer in Huntington. Police Seek Ashland—State police are searching for two bandits who are alleged to have held up and robbed B. G. Centers, driver and salesman for the Porter Transfer Company, of Ashland, of $105, 10 miles south of Louisa last week, on U. S. Route No. 23. Organ Donated Louisa—One of the most pleasant surprises in recent years to the Methodist Episcopal Church of Louisa and to this entire section, was the announcement made by the Rev. Sherwood W. Funk, last Sunday at the morning worship hour of the gift of the new Hammond organ lately installed in the church. Plans Changed Louisa—Original plans made by the fiscal court to construct a new native-stone county jail and jailer's residence on the site of the present jail have been altered to conform to a proposal that a two-story native-stone addition be built at the rear of the court house to house the jail and jailer's residence, County Judge Sylvester Ball announced this week. Golden Anniversary Observed Paintsville—Mr. and Mrs. Grant Littell observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home at Old Springs, February 23. The couple of 50 years of happy married life—nine splendid men and women and their families gathered from many sections of the United States to assist their parents in the observation of this unique occasion, this being the first time since 1919 that the entire family had been together. From California on the west, New York state on the east, and Ohio and Missouri in between, came sons and daughters, who had left the old home many years ago to establish their own families in the states of their adoption. Visits Governor Paintsville—A group of local men were scheduled to call on Governor A. B. Chandler at noon today in the interest of the interest of the proposed Industrial School for Paintsville and the surfacing of the Mayo Trail between Louisa and Paintsville. Johnson to Default Johnson county, with her $325,000 bonded indebtedness, will be one of several counties in Kentucky this year to default on payment of annual interest and principal, Judge Claude Buckingham, county judge, announced this week. Shooting and Fishing

By J. C. (Of Nimrod) WARD

The rod on the rock while he went over to change water in the minnow-bucket. Coming back some time later he found the slack all gone and the reel handle slowly revolving. He thought that a small bass had taken, and hoping to take the minnow away from it, he jerked the rod sharply, but it hung up tight and then started off again. Putting all the strain he dared on the reel, check managed to turn the fish, but away it went again with a strength that would not be denied.

As yet none of us had seen the determined adversary, but from the salient, under-water tugging, and the absence of any aerial acrobatics, I knew it was a big walleye, or "salmon," as the natives call them. But the constant tension of the steel tip was getting in its work, and the runs were getting weaker and weaker. It managed to stay down in deep water for some minutes yet, but finally the inexorable net took its toll and we saw that it wasn't a walleye at all, but an 8-12-pounds of spotted, blue channel cat.

I have never seen a pike like the weight put up half the fight that this blue cat did, and I doubt that a bass would last that long.

That night, full of fish and contentment, we lay on our backs on the sand, cigarettes glowing in the gloom. It was a light of a big, pale moon sailing in a cloudless sky; straight across the river and 1,500 feet above us, we could see the top of Kettle Rock keeping silent watch over the vast emptiness of the gorge. The sun had set in the BBreaks of the Sandy does a river flow through a mountain. Listening drowsily to the queering "who-who-who" of an owl across the gorge, I couldn't help wondering, who would believe that so close to civilization, there yet remains a God-given spot so utterly unchanged in a thousand years, as the "Breaks in the Chamberland's Big Sandy river."

LOB CASTS
 The con and fox chase this Sunday will be held at the Abbott Mountain Golf Club course, below Prestonsburg, at 10:30 in the morning. Most of the outstanding dogs of this section will be entered, and a very spirited contest is expected. As a matter of fact, "Marshall Law," the phenomenal Pete Collins performer of a few Sundays back, is said to be entered as a dark horse under the name of "Recovery," which is still just around the corner, according to the latest reports of Forrest Short. The alarming decrease of wild fowl, particularly ducks, around Allen has been attributed to various causes, but it is the writer's opinion that the high cost of duck shooting has scored the blow away. It is said that they have sold for as high as $1 each. When interviewed by the sports editor of The Times, Ben Westfall and Reuben Allen were unable to shed any light on this peculiar situation. A guy some slack from the reel and had like

Howard Motor Co. Expands

The growing Howard Motor Company this week began to fence and gravel the vacant lot across the street from their garage, formerly occupied by the Stewart boarding house, as a parking lot for used automobiles.

Bass Howard, co-owner of the company, said that the lot would be fenced and graveled with gravel and curbed. It measures 60x120 feet.
