9 INDICTED FOR WILFUL MURDER BY GRAND JURY

Grand Jury Returns 23 True Bills, 10 Charge Coal Stealing

GRAND JURORS TO RE-CONVENE MONDAY

Other True Bills Returned Range From Larceny To Disturbance

To the list of 19 persons already indicted for murder and docketed for trial in the April term of court, the grand jury added nine additional Floyd countians charged with murder in true bills returned this week. Twenty other indictments were made, 11 of them for stealing coal from a common carrier.

Persons named in the murder indictments are Green Howard, Jonah Hall, Laura Hall, Letha Fitzpatrick, and Velie Howard for the slaying of Earl Spradlin recently near the city limits. Green Howard is uncaptured and the others are held here without bail.

The second indictment charges Charles Craven, Nick Hall and Charles Bridgeman with the slaying of John Little at Wheelwright last month. Craven is held without bail; bond for the others was set at $2,000.

The third indictment charges Ed Clay with the slaying of Berry Hall at Ligon last December 4. His bail was set at $2,000.

Other indictments range from breach of the peace to grand larceny.

The grand juror with S. L. Osborn as the foreman, recessed until next Monday, when they will convene after the Bar Association meeting in Louisville is adjourned.

NIGHT PATROLMAN IS ASSURED FOR P'BURG

A petition signed by prominent merchants, seeking a night patrolman for Prestonsburg, was enacted as an ordinance by the City Council at its meeting Friday. The plan calls for the alternation of Patrolman Bill Spradlin and John Bentley each month to serve in that capacity. The city's businessmen are supplementing the nominal salary paid the night patrolman by the City Council.

This Town-- That World

CORRECTION
Recently a "blurb" printed in Town-World beavelling the fate of the country editor who is forced to give copies of the paper to his "friends," was reprinted in papers throughout the state. Before the process goes any further, we wish to state that any Floyd countian who is known by the name, "Uncle Jeff" will be given, gladly, a paper at the TIMES office any time he calls for it. Offhand, we think of two "Uncle Jeffs" we want to keep on our fee list: "Uncle Jeff" Sizemore, aged Civil War veteran, and "Uncle Jeff" Blackburn. And just to be fair, if your name, too, is "Uncle Jeff," drop around and get your copy.

THE HEIGHT OF SOMETHING OR OTHER

Now it came to pass in the brief reign of Acting Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill Thursday that three Floyd county ministers had been summoned before the court to appear as witnesses, but behold, in the trial in which these Godly men were wanted they failed to appear and great was the confusion wrought by their absence.

And then the good judge sent the high sheriff to seek these three ministers, and lo, he found them and brought them into court, and it then (Continued on page four)

FLAMES DESTROY 2 HOMES, GARAGE

Property Owned by T. Y. Martin Razed Early Sunday Morning

Fire originating at 3 a. m., Sunday destroyed the frame one-story dwelling of former Sheriff T. Y. Martin, a second house in the rear, occupied by William Young, and a double garage as firemen fought to save adjacent buildings. Members of the families escaped only a few minutes before their homes collapsed.

According to Mr. Martin, he believes the fire caught from a gas heater in the bathroom of the house in which he lived and was fanned by wind to spread to the garage and second house in the rear. All the buildings were owned by Mr. Martin, the house in the rear being furnished by him, and rented to Mr. and Mrs. William Young. Neither of the families saved any of the furniture. Destroyed in the garage were five music machines with an estimated value of $2,000. They were owned by Mr. Martin's son, Norman.

Of the three buildings, only the home in which Mr. Martin lived, was insured, the value of it and the contents at $2,000. The garage and its contents and the house rented by William Young were uninsured. The fire also damaged the adjacent building occupied by Dr. Triplett and the building occupied by the FLOYD COUNTY TIMES, which most of the time, due to the wind, was wrapped in flames.

As third place winners, Prestonsburg's debaters won the position of alternate to Mt. Sterling, runner-up in the National tournament. They will receive the bid to attend the Wooster tournament if Mt. Sterling fails to attend according to expectations.

WOMAN IS KILLED BY COAL SHIFTER

Mrs. Mary Tackett Dodges One Train To Be Struck By Another

Stepping from one track where a train was backing up, Mrs. Mary Tackett, 57, Weeksbury, was struck by an oncoming train on a parallel track at Clear Creek, Tuesday at 6 p. m., and was instantly killed as the train had dragged her for a short distance.

Mrs. Tackett, the wife of Reuben Tackett, was at Clear Creek visiting her daughter, Mrs. Richard Bentley, to whose home she was returning from a grocery store.

She suffered cuts about the head, face, a broken collar bone and breaks in both arms. Both trains, it was said, were traveling slowly, the train which struck her, stopping within 20 feet.

While her attention was centered on the "local" backing up she stepped to the other track and was struck in the back by the oncoming train, a coal shifter, it was said.

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) from the home of her brother, Dave Bryant, at Langley, with the Rev. Melvin Allen, and M. C. Wright officiating. Burial will be made under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

Mrs. Tackett is survived by the following sons and daughters: Kelly, Alice, Mollie, Mrs. Richard Bentley, Mrs. Flora Stephens, and her husband, Reuben Tackett. Names of other relatives are unavailable.

Isom Escapes Injury As Train Hits Truck At Sizemore Saturday

John Isom, 20, Drift, an employe of the Turner-Elkhorn Coal Co., escaped possible fatal injuries when his truck was struck by a C. & O. coal shifter on Sizemore Branch Saturday afternoon.

Isom was driving on the highway, parallel to the railway, just ahead of the coal shifter. When he drove on the crossing directly in the path of the train, the truck was shoved up the track 50 feet before the train could be stopped.

Young Isom claimed he did not see or hear the train until it struck his truck. Although the truck was damaged considerably, young Isom escaped without a scratch.

TAX LEVIES FOR 5 FUNDS VOTED BY MAGISTRATES

Appropriations for County Agent, Health Department Deferred

COURT WILL SPONSOR FOUR COUNTY ROADS

Practically No Increase Is Made In Floyd County Tax Levies

The fiscal court, meeting here Tuesday, voted five tax levies, postponed appropriations for the health department and the county agent, approved five claims, and voted to sponsor and maintain farm-to-market roads.

Tax levies voted are for the general fund, courthouse fund, common school fund, sinking fund, and the consolidated school district school funds. The only increase made in this year's levies is in the Weeksbury consolidated school district, where the rate for $100 worth of taxable property is increased from 55c to 65c.

The court deferred action on appropriating funds for the continuance of the health department and the county agent's work until the next meeting. Two clerk, Willis and Marie Conley, to whom County Agent Isbell's office was assigned, were named to the department of Agriculture in Lexington.

Dr. J. F. Blackberry of the State Health Department, who was present at the meeting, commended the Floyd health department for its work within the county.

Three road projects approved for construction and improvement with the cooperation of the W. P. A. are: Stephens Branch road from State route 80 near Martin up Stephens Branch, across the hill and down Caney fork of Middle Creek, a distance of seven miles; May's Creek road from Mayo Trail to Stephens Branch, the rights-of-way to be furnished free by landowners; Auxier road to start at the swimming bilgus and extend across Hager Hill to forks of the road near Johns Creek to the Floyd-Johnson county line, the land-

Dance Given At Drift By Owner of New Bldg.

A dance was given Tuesday night by W. L. Myers, to celebrate the completion of his new building. The floor was crowded with dancers. String music was furnished by home musicians. Every one reported an enjoyable evening.

The building was planned for a restaurant, pool room and barber shop. However, since the dance, Mr. Myers has received many suggestions that he reserve the building for occasional dances.

The Beaver Coal and Mining Company has moved its general store from the old location near Drift station at the mouth of Drift Hollow. The new building is larger and more conveniently located. The mining offices are also included in the new building. A residence for the mine officials has just been finished, too. It is located just back of the store building.

CLUB RANKS 2ND IN NAT'L CONTEST

Women's Club Competes With Other Groups Throughout the Country

Competing with clubs throughout the United States last year in a national safety contest sponsored by the National Safety Council, the Prestonsburg Woman's Club won second prize and a $25 award. Regina B. Naylor, chairman of the club's safety committee, recently was notified.

The division in which the local club competed was composed of clubs having a membership of less than 100.

Mrs. Paul R. Wickliffe, state president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, will attend the Kansas City Triennial convention early next month, preceding the state convention, and will accept for the Prestonsburg club the certificate awarded the club here for its achievement. Final announcement of winners of the contest will appear in the May issue of THE CLUBWOMAN.

The Prestonsburg Woman's Club began its safety program several months in advance of the safety organization perfected throughout the State by the Kentucky Federation last year, and carried on, under the leadership of Mrs. Mayo, a spirited educational drive for safety. Folders containing a pledge for drivers were printed and distributed at the county clerk's office here when automobile licenses were purchased, a safety parade was sponsored, safety bulletins were prepared and displayed through the co-operation of the N.Y.A. The Girl Reserves here promoted a safety pledge campaign and signatures of 1,000 automobile drivers were procured in various sections of the county, literature was distributed in seven high schools where students and faculty gave excellent cooperation, a motion picture graphically depicting safety measures was shown at several county high schools by County Agent S. L. Isbell, state safety patrolman appeared with Mrs. Mayo in safety talks at several schools, the movie for street-lighting projects here was started, newspaper publicity was provided weekly.

Though the club this year is not engaged in a contest, it plans to continue with the work thus begun. Mrs. E. P. Arnold, president of the club, said. It hopes, during 1938, to procure reports on all accidents through county officials.

"My hearty congratulations to the Prestonsburg Woman's Club. You did a fine piece of work for safety," wrote Mrs. Edward Hammett, national safety chairman, in notifying the club of the success of its program.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

DOLLS OLD AND NEW

Nothing has changed more in our lifetime than dolls. The rag doll, still found, does not have the importance it formerly had. It used to be the badge of the very small child, boy or girl. Frequently it was nearly as large as the little toddler who dragged it around all day and took it to bed with him at night. From rather rough treatment it soon became a sorry-looking spectacle, with grease and dirt all over it. One little girl I knew fed her doll a sausage, leaving afterwards a round, greasy, smeared shape of the sausage. The china-headed dolls we used to play with were made by people who apparently knew nothing about anatomy, for they were exceedingly slender and shapely. It is strongly suspected the same people as the authors of the statty figures in most fashion plates. The bodies of these dolls were stuffed with sawdust; hence the most expressing about having a pain in one's sawdust after a heavy Christmas dinner. Too rough treatment often destroyed the shapeliness, such as it was, of these dolls for sawdust oozed away and could never be replaced very skillfully. We dressed our dolls as children still do, with dresses of interest but with very little skill I once owned a doll that I dressed as a boy, though it had the same inner expression of sexlessness that other dolls had, a blank stare that made one have botanized some sense than that of the human beings that devised it. Sometimes there were dolls that were slightly different and much more expensive, dolls that older sisters or mothers had dressed up in clothes of another day and generation. These were lovingly kept hidden in a trunk or a chest of drawers, sacred relics of other days. Queer old buttons, odd styles of dresses and coats, even queer shoes—all made these dolls old-fashioned doll a source a wonder to younger brothers and sisters who could not recall the days when these same things were the latest style for Big Sister or Mother.

Changes have come rapidly in the styles of dolls. The rag toys I suspect that the teddy bear has done more than any other toy to bring about the change. A great toy manufacturer told me that his company would make only a few of any type of toy at first and then try them out on children. If a majority of the little fellows took them to bed at night, similar toys would be run off by the millions. This same man said that his company had made several millions of monkeys that climb a string, the most consistently popular single toy ever made.

I suppose that my old likes and dislikes are unchangeable, but many of the modern toys seem hideously ugly and unnecessarily so. Some of the toys are beautiful and artistic, but why should there be also these ugly, nightmarish things that one would hate to meet in the dark woods at twilight? I see no reason why babies should be forced to live among ugly things when beauty is everywhere about us and, as you would expect me as a Scotchman to say, equally cheap. The most expensive trains and cars and dolls are exhibited on the same counter with other things that look like the dreams of a victim of delirium tremens. Baby dolls, pretty as a picture, are often sold by side with others that look like patients that had escaped from the psychopathic ward. Our old toys were not so pretty and may have been dumb looking, but at least they were not deliberately made hideous.

ORDINANCE OR RESOLUTION CONCERNING THE IMPROVEMENT OF STREETS AND SIDE WALKS IN THE ALLEN CITY CORPORATION IN CO-OPERATION WITH THE WORKS PROGRESS ADMINISTRATION

At the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of and for the town of Allen, a municipal corporation of the sixth class, Herman Porter, of said Board of Trustees, introduced the following resolution: Be it resolved and ordained by the Board of Trustees of the Town of Allen, in regular meeting, that the streets and sidewalks as hereinafter set out be constructed and/or improved in co-operation with the Works Progress Administration in the manner and form as set out and provided by the General Assembly at its regular session for the year of 1938.

Project No. 1. TANDY STREET: Beginning at the intersection of Tandy Street and Beaver Avenue and extending the full length of Tandy Street so as to intersect with State Route No. 80. To be graded, drained and surfaced with concrete 18' wide with a 5 ft sidewalk on one side of said street.

Bill Is Described As Step Toward County Reduction

Describing it as "a preliminary step towards eventual reduction in the number of counties in Kentucky," Majority Floor Leader John Hammett, of Ludlow, is backing in the general assembly a bill to permit counties to consolidate if they wish. Consolidation would be entirely in the discretion of the counties involved, under Hammett's bill.

The first move toward consolidation of one county with another would be the circulation in the county of a petition requiring the signatures of at least 25 per cent of the legal voters in the last county election. When the required number of signatures is obtained, the petition would be presented to the County Judge, who would be compelled under the bill, to enter into correspondence with the county court of the named second county for the purpose of ascertaining whether a similar petition for the consolidation of the two counties is filed with the county court of the second county within six months of the time of the filing of the petition in the first county.

If the petition in the second county is filed more than six months after the first county's petition is filed, the first petition would be effect, but a new petition could be filed within six months of the time the second petition was presented. In no event could the two petitions be filed in the courts of the respective counties more than six months apart.

When the two petitions are filed within the prescribed time, it would be the duty of the county courts of the two counties to call a special election, to be held on the next regular county election date not less than 60 days after the petitions are filed, to submit to the voters the question of consolidation of the two counties.

Before consolidation could be effected, it would require the approval of a majority of the persons voting in each county. Should a majority in one county favor consolidation, and a majority in the other oppose it, there would be no consolidation.

When majorities in both counties approve the plan, the Governor would be required to proclaim the counties consolidated into one county. The Governor would name the new county, designate a county seat and appoint officers to administer the affairs of the new county until an election could be held to elect officers. Within 30 days after the proclamation is issued, the election would be required to be held in the new county to elect a set of county officers. The election would be held not more than nine months after the election in which the consolidation was approved.

The fiscal court of the new county, elected at the special election, could change the name of the county and choose a new county seat.

When counties consolidate, the territories that formerly were separate counties would become separate special taxing districts with the power to levy and collect taxes, and separate debt. Each county would be a first lien on the territory formerly embraced in that county. The regular tax collecting agent of the new county would collect the taxes, but revenue from the special taxing districts would be kept separate and used only for payment of the debts of the old county that formerly embraced the territory of the special taxing district.

In cases where the two counties were in the same representative, senatorial, judicial, congressional or separate district, the new county would remain in the same districts. Where the two counties were in separate districts, the new county would remain in the district in which the old county, largest by population, was located.

LIKES VARIETY

Most people are constant smokers of one brand of cigarette and swear by them. Earl Enlow is an exception. Earl buys his cigarettes by the carton and mixes them up—buying three, or four different brands at one time and rotating them.

STRIKINGLY NEUTRAL

Mr. and Mrs. Moss Keese, of Belkry, are taking no part in the fight between Gov. A. B. Chandler and Sen. Allen W. Barkley in their race for the nomination for the seat now held by the Senator. They are remaining strictly neutral.

MONKEYS

See by the papers where two rare monkeys are sailing from Europe, or somewhere, to the United States. Shucks, rare monkeys have been sailing to the United States for years. That's what's the matter with this country today. It would be good news if a lot of rare monkeys would sail from the United States to Europe—"That Man" in Paintsville Herald.

PISTOLS CONFISCATED

With a novel roundup Clay county furnished something new in the way of a law-enforcement drive. As a result some folk are minus their trusty "shootin' irons."

Following a fatal shooting county officials headed a posse that scoured the hills and relieved many of their "weepuns." Those relieved were informed by the officers that the only way to recover their weapons was to claim them in open court.

Pistol toting long has been the bane of peace and order in Kentucky, and that offense probably in referred to more than any other charge to grand juries. In their charges from the bench, jurists declare the statute against carrying concealed deadly weapons to be most flagrantly violated.

"THE DEVIL'S CROWNING GLORY"

Saw two women on the street here a few days ago under the influence of booze. And again was I brought to our notice that the most disgusting, most revolting thing on earth is a drunken woman with her hair in strings, her eyes red, her face dirty and her tongue foul and noisy loud. God makes nothing finer, fairer, prettier than a decent woman, the crowning glory of the deed is a woman with a stomach full of booze making a fool out of herself and her friends in a public place.—Glasgow Times.

DOG IN CUSTODY

A redbone hound dog is being held at the Ashland police station awaiting claim of ownership. The dog was taken in night-bark forest when citizens in the Poland area reported a disturbance being made by the continuous howling of a dog.

Sergeant E. S. De... accompanied by Patrolmen C. ... John Isom, and E. C. ... an investigation and found the dog caught in a fence.

The dog was taken to police headquarters and is being held there until the owner is found. From the dog's actions he must have a very affectionate yearning for his master, whoever he is.—Ashland Daily.

GIVES 10 WAYS TO MAKE POULTRY PAY

Ten ways to make money from chickens are suggested by Dr. James Martin, of the Kentucky College of Agriculture, in advocating the following of the national poultry improvement plan. He suggests that farmers check on the following points: Start with production-bred, healthy chicks. Start chicks in time to have fall and winter eggs. Keep clean, sanitary surroundings. Feed a balanced ration the whole growing period. House only the strong, vigorous, large pullets. Don't allow parasites, either inside or on the chick. Keep the ration balanced, even for fall-grow birds. Keep an ample supply of fresh, clean water. Provide a laying house that is comfortable and clean. Cull often, and sell unprofitable birds. There are many protective features in the interest of buyers who patronize hatcheries following the national plan, the poultry expert advises. This includes regular inspection of the parent flocks, advertising, all chicks hatched from eggs weighing 23 ounces or more to the dozen, and assurance of careful selection of breeding stock. Kentucky has combined two phases of the work, carrying on at the same time the breed improvement work and the pullorum control classes. Farmers already are obtaining lower costs and greater profits, though the national plan was started in this state only in 1935.

FLOYD MERRY-GO-ROUND

According to the Floyd circuit court docket a man is scheduled to be tried for murder this April 10th of next. This week, however, the Floyd county grand jury indicted this same man for a different murder.

THIS TOWN THAT WOULD (Continued from page one) came to pass that the judge fined each of these Godly ministers the sum of $1 for contempt of court. And great was the merriment among the spectators when it became known that the good judge had reversed the tables to "pass the collection plate" amongst the preachers. Y'NIGHT AS WELL SKIP THIS We've often heard of persons being in a DUNGEON, and we've often heard of persons being in a DUNGEON, but this week is the first time we've realized that the words should always be used together, although they're entirely different in meaning.

Since the fire next door destroyed our window panes (or was it the fire?), our "back end" has literally been a dungeon insofar as darkness is concerned because the windows were boarded up. And as for dudgeon, y'oughta hear H. L. or Sammy cuss when they stumble over something in the dark! —jbg—

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR DR. J. T. COTTELL

Proceeding, and at the close of Rev. Keyser's remarks regarding Dr. Cottrell, the choir from the Catlettsburg M. E. Church, sang hymns which were favorites of Dr. Cottrell. Rev. Keyser paid a glowing tribute to Dr. Cottrell. He said that he endeared himself in the hearts of the people of Catlettsburg and Ashland and that in his sudden death, Kentucky lost one of her most beloved citizens, and the medical profession a conscientious, skilled surgeon and practitioner.

The people of Catlettsburg, Rev. Keyser said, will long remember Dr. Cottrell for this unselfish service he rendered them.

Members of Dr. Cottrell's family, Rev. Keyser said, may have solace in the knowledge that he did his work well and by so doing won the respect, friendship and admiration of thousands. They were shocked and grieved by his untimely departure.

The many beautiful flowers banked around Dr. Cottrell's bier attested to the love and respect which his host of friends had for him. At the conclusion of the service at the church the body of Dr. Cottrell, borne by members of the Prestonsburg Masonic lodge, who were active pallbearers, was laid to rest in the Prestonsburg cemetery on a sloping hill overlooking the town and the Big Sandy river, scenes of his boyhood days, which he loved so well. The local Arnold Funeral Home officiated at the burial.

Dr. Cottrell was a member of three Boyd county medical societies, a member of an aeronautical organization, and a member of the Masonic lodge.

Born in Prestonsburg, Dr. Cottrell attended the public schools here and later received his medical degree from the University of Louisville. He served his internship at Louisville City hospital and did graduate work in New York and Chicago.

In 1930 Dr. Cottrell and his uncle, Dr. W. W. Richmond, established the Richmond-Cottrell clinic at Catlettsburg, which was managed entirely by Dr. Cottrell after his uncle's death.

In addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cottrell, of Prestonsburg, he is survived by his wife, Mary Wilson Cottrell, of Catlettsburg; one daughter, Lydia Margaret, 10, and one son, William Richmond, 7.

Among the many out-of-town persons who attended the funeral here were 18 nurses from the King's Daughters' hospital at Ashland, and the following members of the Boyd County Medical Society, who served as active pallbearers:

- Dr. George M. Bell, A. L. Blair, A. J. Eggen, J. E. Cooper, E. G. Culley, C. B. Daniels, A. H. Davis, Oliver H. Feating, E. R. Fish, W. L. Gambill, M. D. Garrod, T. D. Goodman, R. D. Higgins, C. B. Cecil Sparks, Proctor Sparks, H. S. Swope, L. H. Winans, C. C. Wolfe, C. E. Ketchival, H. G. Sandbarnd, J. D. Williams, all of a party, and Drs. Akin, Hall, and Eberle, of Paintsville; and Drs. BEREA GLEE CLUB TO APPEAR HERE

Sponsored by the local Women's Club, the Berea Varsity Men's Glee Club will appear in Prestonsburg at the Abigail theater, Friday night, April 8. They will be directed by Miss Irene Ziegler.

Their repertoire includes three groups of songs: German, Italian, and Negro spirituals; selections by a male quartet, and solo by the instrumental trio consisting of two trombones and a cornet. One member of the glee club renders a monologue.

Of the 30 members of the glee club, one is Tong Wong, 25-year-old Korean who came to America four years ago after completing the studies offered in the Korean school system, which is equivalent to an American junior college education. At Berea Wong, a senior, is studying agriculture.

Mr. Coon Leads Unheralded Honest-To-Goodness Chase At Salisbury, Ky., Saturday

An unheralded, honest-to-goodness Coon Chase was held at Salisbury, Saturday morning, after Bob Rowe's coon escaped from its cage and five coon dogs were put on the scent—and what a chase—up Fisher branch, back down the Jake Akers branch, back down Beaver to find the coon "holed" in a rock cliff just above Salisbury Station, four miles from the starting point in distance and more than an hour in fun.

To Bob Rowe's "Ole Maude" went the honor of holing Mr. Coon, but the best part of it is, Bob got his coon back safely when Left Beaver's Shikpoke treed it in a willow tree just below his home, allowing Bob to recapture Mr. Coon. Bob noticed "coon signs" along the creek and was calling his dogs to the new trail when Shike went around the bend and there was Mr. Coon parked in the forks of a willow.

THEM MOVIE FELLERS AIN'T GOIN TER SKIN LEM HAWKINS OF PIKE COUNTY, KENTUCKY.

Los Angeles—If they want Lem Hawkins to work for $25 a day in the movies they are going to give up the idea of getting his name on a contract.

Twice he has been "skun" and he isn't taking any more chances.

But if the movie people decide to let him work without a contract, the former Pike county, Ky., resident will pay that $77 in back taxes.

This was the way Hawkins explained it today in a letter to County Tax Collector J. L. Bryan:

"Some one in your office tells me my property is decided to the state. What in hell, Mr. Bryan? I didn't make no deed to your state. If I was going to deed it to a state, I would deed it to Kentucky.

"I swaped a man out here for my farm back there, and he tells me my land out here was good land. I cood get some good squirrel shooting. Mr. Bryan, them warn't no squirrels, they was rats that jes peen in and out of holes in the ground.

"The Kentucky land warn't no good, too, just sand and brush, so I swaped it for this property you say is decided to state. This man tells me I cood get a living off the palm trees by selling the days. Hell, Mr. Bryan, I'd cut them dam trees but it is a hell of a lot of work.

"My girl says, pa ever'body out here is crooked and gruffers.

"Mr. Bryan, I guess all the folks out here arnt crooked. Sum are just crazy. Three days back a man stoped me on the street and told me I was a type, for the last three days I've been getting $25 a day for walking and talking in the movies, but now they want to give me a contract, but I got skun on a contract two time now, never agin.

"If I get some more work, I'll send you money.

"P. S. Mr. Bryan, I sure wish I was back in Kentucky where I don't get skun all he time."

R. BEAVER UNIONS SEEK WPA WORK

Report 500 Miners Out Of Employment at Wayland and Garrett

With approximately 500 miners in Garrett and Wayland out of work, union officials from the two mine camps Monday have called upon county officials here for assistance in procuring immediate WPA employment for the men.

United Mine Worker locals of the two towns have been affording assistance to the unemployed, but funds were inadequate to meet the emergency for any great length of time. The Elk Horn Coal Corporation, it is said, is issuing scrip only to those remaining on the payroll.

The situation is more acute in Garrett than in Wayland. A road project has already been begun on Steele's Creek, near Wayland. Rock Fork road work, near Garrett, is expected to be resumed. Work on the Salt Lick road, two miles below Garrett, is under way, and the Brush Creek project may be resumed. County officials said they would lend every possible assistance, and have requested the W. P. A. officials to start work on the Stone Craft road at Garrett. Town Hall, superintendent of Floyd county schools, said that completion of work on the Wayland school grounds would furnish work for 50 men for probably three weeks.

Unemployed miners must first register for employment at the Pikeville re-employment office, they were told, then be certified for work.

Tribute to Cottrell Rendered By Writer

To Dr. J. T. Cottrell the Catlettsburg correspondent of the Ashland Daily Independent this week paid the following tributes:

Clinging to a thread of hope that the life of their friend and benefactor might be spared, the people of Catlettsburg were plunged into deepest sorrow last Friday when death stilled the slender hands of Dr. J. T. Cottrell. Scarcely have we seen an entire community await more breathlessly for word of encouragement. Everywhere, every hour, came the question, "Have you heard from Dr. Cottrell?" The tragedy of his sudden passing in the "fruitful years of a life dedicated to easing the suffering and pain of others, came as a harsh blow to his family and innumerable friends.

There are many who owe their very existence to his skill as a physician. They, perhaps, more than others, feel lost in the knowledge that he has made his final call. His wide practice attested to his popularity as a physician and surgeon. Not so well known were his many philanthropies for he did them quietly and without display, claiming no credit except in his own heart.

Catlettsburg has lost a good citizen. We join with hundreds of others in expressing brief tribute to his memory and sympathy to those he loved.

Named in honor of the late Dean W. T. Lafferty, the new $70,000 College of Law building at the University of Kentucky, Lafferty Hall, has been occupied since January. A recent "open house" for alumni, citizens and former students was held at the new law building, so that formal inspection might take place.

Comments From The Capitol

At this time of political scheming and subterfuge and the growing animosity of a hotly contested approaching political campaign, we give you a great Kentuckian, loved by all Kentuckians—Man O' War. Last week at his home near Lexington, hundreds of prominent people gathered to pay tribute to "Big Red" on his 21st birthday. The ceremonies were broadcast to millions of listeners over a national hook-up and the Governor was there to pay tribute to this native Kentuckian who has passed down his heritage of courage and speed and stamina to a long line of famous progeny, who are still bringing fame to their sire and the state of Kentucky.

A famous person once said, "England's battles are won on the playing fields of Oxford" and Napoleon once said, "An army travels on its stomach." With profane analogy to those great men, we predict that the coming Senatorial race will be won or lost in the special session of the classified controlled legislature and Governor Chandler's march to political triumph may halt because of a teachers' retirement plan, a nearby industrial school and a special beer legislation.

The past week saw great activity in the battle halls at Frankfort and more excitement than has been displayed in this legislature. The final result was prohibiting the sale of 3.2 beer on Sunday.

There are two sides to every question. Gov. Chandler, if it is remembered, took his stand at the suggestion of Maurice Galvin, of the old bipartisan clique, in the belief that he would get a lot of dry votes in the coming primary. John Hummick, floor leader of the house, and one of the promising young political luminaries, took the opposite side, in the belief that the state revenue which last year amounted to $1,231,688.28 in beer taxes to the state, would be greatly diminished, as it would reduce the sale of beer. The present law permits the sale of beer after 1 o'clock on Sunday and Mr. Hummick contended that many of his constituents who worked all week should be allowed to relax and enjoy 3.2 beer along with other soft drinks on Sunday afternoon. He was supported by the Louisville delegation and a large majority in the House. But the bill prohibiting its sale was finally passed. Chandler's unofficial sponsorship of this bill cost him as many as 20,000 votes it is claimed by those indefinite character. "The people in the know." Theodore A. Hageman, acting head of the Division of Distilled Spirits, resigned last week. Hageman, reputed to be a prominent northern Kentucky politician, was appointed to that place through pressure brought by Gov. Chandler over opposition of Dr. J. W. Martin, commissioner of revenue, who, it is intimated stated if Hageman was given the place he would resign. Dr. Martin, a national tax authority, who planned the present state tax set-up that is paying the state out of debt, believed that with more active cooperation, many wholesalers in border counties who have been evading state taxes, would be made to pay. Mr. Hageman was appointed deputy insurance commissioner at an increase of $500 in salary and the political wheels keep on grinding to produce more votes in the Senatorial election.

RANDOM SHOTS: The editor of the pillarless bears through his grating system, that there may be another special session after this one. Mrs. William Andrew, of Paris, was named state women's campaign chairman for Gov. Chandler's senatorial aspirations. Mrs. Andrew is the wife of Circuit Judge W. B. Andrew and is active in Democratic organizations and aspirations.

It was interesting last week to watch the fight on the bill permitting the state to buy the Louisville municipal bridge. Tyler Munford in a violent outburst of oratory, stated that the bill had been rejected once and that it would take money from the highway funds, that would have been used to build roads in the rural sections. A member of the Louisville delegation said that he had just come from the Governor and he had said he had left the matter up to the majority vote of the Louisville delegation. Mr. Munford's fiery reply that he didn't think that a decision that affected the highway system of the whole state should be left up to a majority vote of the delegation from one county, brought thunderous applause from the floor of the House.

Over 7,000 miners will go on WPA in a short time. This was necessary because the mines in the coal fields are not operating. This means extra votes for Barkley and the weeds have started growing and the weed cutters will soon be out to offset the 20,000 votes it is claimed by those

MAGISTERIAL COURT JAIL-LABOR OFFERED

It was learned this week that Magistrate Will A. Wills had made a proposal to city officials, offering jail-labor for use on city streets under supervision of the local police department. The prisoners, it was said, would be offered work on civic improvements, if correctly supervised, as an alternative to "laying out" their fines in the county jail. Magistrate Wills' plan calls for the use of prisoners sentenced in his magisterial court.

OIL BOOM SEEN IN UPPER FLOYD

Tram, Scene of Rush For Leases; Seven More Wells Seen

With one well already drilled, two drilling, two more rigs under construction and several locations made, Tram is Floyd county's oil boom town.

Within a distance of half a mile, below Tram, as many as seven drilling ventures are seen as the result of activities following the 25-barrel strike made on the Layne lease a few weeks ago by E. L. Sturgill and associates.

Seventy-five feet from the first well, on another lease, a second well is being drilled by Dave Dorton and others. This is resulting in those who made the first strike starting another well. On the "Hog Lot," a lease of about an acre, Irvin Arrowood and associates, of Paintsville, are preparing to drill. D. C. and C. P. Stephens have a rig going up on the John Layne lease.

Locations reported are: Inland Gas Corporation, on the Layne lease; D. C. and C. P. Stephens, on the Arvilda Dabry tract, and the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, on Tom's Creek.

TO OUR FRIENDS:

We take this means of thanking our many friends for their courtesy, sympathy and help in the loss of our dear wife and mother, for the beautiful flowers, and we especially feel grateful to Bro. Isaac Stratton and Bro. S. G. Rice for their comforting talks at the home. Words cannot express how we appreciate the kindness of all our neighbors and friends.

With a series of debates among the approximate 20 teams that will be entered, each having won in district tournaments as did Wayland.

Contests among the individual entrants will begin at 1 p. m. Saturday. Later in the evening the annual high school speakers' dinner will be held with the speakers and their spouses as guests of the University of Kentucky, sponsor of the state tournament. Lee Farris, president of the High School Forensic Association, will preside.

Governor A. B. Chandler has been invited to the dinner and the University Radio orchestra and the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs will furnish music. Semifinals in debate will be held Monday afternoon, April 11, with the final debate, Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Judges for the tournament will be members of the University faculty and other faculty-members from central Kentucky colleges.

The Kentucky High School Forensic Tournament is sponsored by the University through its Extension department in cooperation with other colleges and high school principals and superintendents who held the various district tournaments throughout the state.

More than 300 participants composing debate teams and individual entrants are expected to attend the tournament. They will represent high schools from all sections of Kentucky.

the tournament, being eliminated by Corbin, Ky., who went on to win the tournament. Corbin also won in their district State tournament and is eligible to enter the State meet at Lexington this week.

Prestonsburg's debaters scored wins over Erwin, Tenn., Bristol, Tenn., and downed Henry Clay high school of Lexington, the tournament favorite, twice for the high spot of the tournament. They dropped decisions to Johnson City, Tenn., and Kingsport, Tenn. The third and eliminating loss was administered by Corbin to Prestonsburg's affirmative team. The affirmative also lost to Johnson City, the negative team being defeated by Kingsport.

In the selection of debaters to be presented trophies as the best speakers, Mrs. Jane Combs, coach of the local debaters, who accompanied them said that Amy Allen member of the negative team was considered. A member of the Corbin team, however, emerged the best in the judges' decision.

Mrs. Combs said, "Both teams did better in the seven debates we were in than at any time in the season." Prestonsburg drew two losses in the tournament allowing its teams to skip the fifth and ninth rounds.

The teams received overnight entertainment in private homes in Bristol and attended a dance in their honor, Mrs. Combs said. Judges for the debates were faculty members from the three Bristol colleges, Virginia Intermont, King's and Sullivan. Prestonsburg debaters are: Margaret Stephens and William Rannels, Negative; Ann Allen and William Francis Clark.

Mrs. Combs said that Miss Stephens, the only senior among the debaters, would be the only member of the team lost this year by the graduation route. High school teams from Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina and Florida were entered in the tourney.

CAUDILL ATTACKS ILLEGAL BARROOMS

Instructs Grand Jurors To Investigate Illegal Selling of Liquor

Charging that Floyd county's 37 liquor stores grossed $18,000 last April, "sufficient to keep many children from starving," Circuit Judge John W. Caudill attacked illegal liquor dealers in his address to the grand jury when the April term of circuit court convened here Monday.

Faced with a docket of 407 criminal cases, 19 of them for willful murder and five for voluntary manslaughter, Circuit Judge John W. Caudill convened the April term of court with the aid of a minister and a song leader. Jurymen, lawyers and spectators joined in singing three hymns, including the "Old-Time Religion," prior to a sermon by the Rev. C. T. Ammerman.

Referring to the immense docket with which he was confronted, the judge said, "the basis of most trouble in this county has been, and still is, the use of liquor."

He cited the special attention of the grand jurors to the sale of beer and restaurants on Sunday, and asked separate indictments for each offense against each liquor-selling establishment remaining open any time after midnight Saturday.

Judge Caudill also called the attention of the grand jurors to the selling of liquor to minors and to "red workers" and the drinking of it on the dealer's premises. He said that with so many new liquor laws inaugurated by the legislature he didn't think it was possible for all the county's liquor houses to be legal.

"We'll know just how legal they are when you get through," he told the grand jurors.

He also cited offenses such as stealing coal from common carriers, drunkenness among public officials and violation of fish and game laws. He attacked all forms of gambling and cited the use of pin-ball machines, slot machines, and asked the grand jury to indict anyone who had the "reputation of a gambler" and who at various times was looting without an occupation.

The judge said that many Floyd countians would feel "undressed" if they failed to carry a pistol. He then called all "pistol-toters" cowards, saying that if they were not afraid, they would not carry the weapon. He asked that they be indicted.

As Floyd officials reported their receipts since last January, Judge Caudill commended Magistrate W. A. Wills, saying that his work lessened the circuit court's activities. Reported receipts of officials:

Magistrate W. A. Wills, $582; Magistrate M. L. Johnson, $54; Magistrate Joe Prater, $20; Magistrate Daniel Akers, $57.52; Sheriff Dial Salsbury, $19; County Judge Edward P. Hill, $175.04.

It was announced that court would be adjourned Wednesday for the remainder of the week while the Bar Association was in session at Louisville.

Sunday Beer

Frankfort, Ky., April 5—The Senate passed today an amendment to the Sunday beer bill to allow 3.2 beer on Sundays in counties having cities of the first and second class. Three Men Named To Floyd Purgation And Registration Board

Three Floyd countians were appointed last week by the new State Board of Registration and Purgation as members composing the Floyd Board of Registration and Purgation. The members are: H. D. Members of the board will have charge of purging the registration books for the primary and general elections this year and will hold office until January 1.

Establishment of the county purgation boards was provided by the new state vote purgation bill recently enacted by the legislature. The law provides for one Democrat, one Republican and one "outstanding citizen" to be appointed to the boards. County Clerk A. B. Meade said this week that he had not yet received a copy of the new law. As soon as it is received, details of the law, as it affects Floyd county, will be announced in the TIMES.
