MARTIN'S CITIZENS FILE SUIT SEEKING SCHOOL RETENTION

Fight Building Proposed School Outside Martin's Corporate Boundary

JUDGE CAUDILL GRANTS TEMPORARY INJUNCTION

Permanent Injunction Sought To Prohibit Sale of Site At Beaver Forks

A permanent injunction to restrain the Floyd County Board of Education and Superintendent Town Hall from purchasing a school site outside the town of Martin and removing the high school from the town in the suit named in a suit filed in the clerk's office of the Floyd circuit court Saturday by a group of Martin citizens.

A temporary injunction was granted and Judge Caudill will conduct a hearing in the case Thursday, it was said. Plaintiffs are Dr. Orris Gearheart, W. S. Frazier, J. D. Adams, Dennis Martin, E. K. Frazier, Dennis Taylor, Perry Osborne, W. G. Jarrell, P. C. Hayes and D. E. Chafin. In addition to Superintendent Hall, the board of education and the board members as indicated by the suit names as defendants Mrs. Amanda Dingus and her sons and daughters from whom a new school site at or near the Forks of Beaver was purchased.

As a result, Joe Reynolds' low bid of $40,218.64 for the proposed building was accepted, and its construction awarded him conditionally pending the action of the court on the restraining order Thursday.

Referring to the order, served on him just before the Board of Education met, Superintendent Hall said, "I feel that in this matter of local-

Woodring, May, Chandler Are Invited To Meeting

Bombing Planes, Army Soldiers, Band, Troopers May Be Sent Here for Veterans' 10th District Conclave To Be Held June 18-19

Secretary of War Woodring, Governor A. B. Chandler, and Congressman A. J. May have been invited to attend the 10th district American Legion convention here June 18 and 19, Marvin Marshall, chairman of the convention parade committee, announced this week, following a meeting of the Legion Post here last Saturday night.

Mr. Marshall said that in addition to the Post's formal invitation to the Secretary of War, he would also be urged to attend by Congressman May.

He added that Governor Chandler has been asked to send a detachment of motorized troops here, and Congressman A. J. May, chairman of the House Military Affairs committee, has been asked to send, if possible, a company of regular U. S. Army soldiers, an army band and a squadron of bombing planes.

He added that part of the program worked out in the meeting Saturday night provided for "Judge" E. P. Arnold, Spanish-American War veteran, as marshal of parade, a group of Civil War veterans from the 10 counties to be represented here at the convention; the motorized Jenkins drum and bugle corps and the Paintsville drum and bugle corps.

Other groups and clubs who will be invited to take part in the parades and activities during the convention are, Macons, Eastern Star, Odd Fellows,

Auto Strikes Child On Court Street Here

Parents Drove Lee

Darting from behind a parked car on Court street in front of Hughes drug store, Joyce Robinson, 11-year-old daughter of Mrs. Josie Goodman, suffered a broken thigh and lesser injuries when she was struck by an auto driven by Mrs. John Warrick of Prestonsburg.

The child, after buying an ice cream cone in the drug store, was struck unavoidably, it was reported. The ice cream she was eating remained in the center of the street where she fell.

Taken to the Beaver Valley hospital at Martin, the child was reported to be recovering.

Third Member of Family

Valdicatorian Speaker

Maytown—Miss Peggy Jo Allen, who attained the highest scholastic standing of the graduating class of Maytown high school, will deliver the valdicatorian address at the graduation exercises, Monday evening.

Miss Allen is the youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Allen, and is the third member of her family to be named valdicatorian of a senior class of Maytown.

Her standing for the four-year term has been almost perfect in scholarship, and she has been active in dramatics, the glee club, as cheer leader, president of the Girl Reserves, and

Men's Floorless Shelter, a Garage, Swept Away By Wind

A freakish wind, claimed by old-timers to be "one of the strongest in years," swept through Prestonsburg Saturday evening, overturning two buildings, smashing windows over and damaging and uprooting trees.

One of the buildings overturned, a floorless garage on the Lee P. May property, in which two men had sought shelter from the wind and dust-laden wind, was blown over leaving the men unharmed—but shelterless. The other building overturned was a barn owned by Dick Clark.

The wind was reported to have also torn the roof from the home of Wiley Warrick in lower Prestonsburg.

Damages reported to other buildings included the breaking of a windowpane in the Richmond department store and the Elizabeth hotel building. Two large plate glass windows in the vacant store room in the Auxier hotel building were demolished.

Also damaged fruit and vegetable stores, business signs, and awnings.

oyd, Fay Harris Presented Prize Medals

Madge Hill and Fay Harris, members of the Prestonsburg high school Home-makers' club, were presented first and second place medals respectively by the John Graham chapter of the D. A. R. here Friday by Mrs. E. H. Sowards, chapter regent.

The presentation, the first of those to be made annually, was awarded for neatness, appropriateness and attractiveness of wearing apparel made by members of the Home-makers' club while in class. Thirteen girls were entered in the contest, judged by Mrs. Winnie Johns, Mrs. Lucy Jones, and Mrs. R. G. Francis.

Members of the club, Mrs. Sowards said, were taught sewing, home decoration, cooking, nursing.

BUYS HUGHES' DRUG

G. A. Culbertson, connected with the Hughes Drug Store here for the past nine years, assumed sole ownership of the store Tuesday evening at an unannounced purchase price. Founded by the late Dr. H. E. Hughes, the drug store, one of the oldest on the Big Sandy, will continue under the same name.

After a major operation, Louise Crisp, Ligon, is recovering at the Beaver Valley hospital.

OSBORNE, STEPHENS WIN IN DEMONSTRATION TEST

DISTRICT OFFICE MAY BE OPENED

Ky. Unemployment Office Is Indicated for Prestonsburg By Peterman

The Kentucky Unemployment Service may open an office in Prestonsburg July 1, it was indicated this week by W. A. Peterman, head of the Pikeville unemployment office.

This office would be established for the purpose of registering the unemployed, assisting them in finding employment and of handling the payment of unemployment compensation claims. Compensation to unemployed who have worked under the provisions of the social security act begins January 1, 1939.

If the office is opened, Mr. Peterman said, at least nine persons will be employed. Five more may be needed in the summer.

An examination for workers in the proposed office may be held next month, either here or in Pikeville. Date of the examination will be announced in this newspaper.

Acute Indigestion Brings Death to 280-Lb. Negro

A verdict of death by acute indigestion followed by hemorrhages was returned at 11 o'clock in the death of Shelley Martin, 45-year-old Wayland negro, held at the Ryan Funeral Home, Martin, last Sunday.

The inquest was ordered following the sudden illness of the 280-pound negro Saturday night after a heavy meal. Stricken immediately, the negro's vomiting brought on successive hemorrhages, resulting in death.

BOARD OF HEALTH REQUIRES CLARK AS HEALTH INSPECTOR

Squires' Provision That Vincent Be Employed Is Unfulfilled

RANDELL REHIRED AS DEPARTMENT'S HEAD

Under Present Set-Up Health Department Will Be Without Funds July 1

The Floyd county Board of Health, meeting here last Friday for the first time since January, re-hired Montaine Clark by an unanimous vote as the health department's sanitary inspector, after the fiscal court last week had appropriated $2,500 as its share of the department's expenses, provided H. H. Vincent, Martin, received the appointment.

Scheduled to convene after the board met, the fiscal court cancelled its meeting following the board's action, leaving the appropriation made in its last meeting virtually voided since its provision was unfulfilled.

The appropriation was for the fiscal year beginning July 1, at which date, under present conditions, the health department will be without funds.

The board of health also voted to re-hire Dr. Marvin Randell as the department's director, the retention of Mrs. W. A. Weisard, nurse, and Mrs. Marvin Randell as secretary.

Minutes of the meeting: "At a meeting of the Board of Health of Floyd county, Dr. M. V. Wicker, Edward P. Hill, Dr. G. D. (Continued on page 8)

THIS AND THAT

By NOBLE HOBBS

Barr, sock, and things like that at the old ball ground—and here we are beginning another baseball season which brings to mind a very famous player, talked down in my neck of the woods, who didn't turn out so well. Perhaps you remember "Shufflin'" Phil Douglas, late of the Giants. Yeah, he was classified by the Giants because someone told he tried to throw a game in a crucial series and when it happened I was one of the arches who probably would have begged him to say it wasn't so if it had been near him in 1924 when he was batted.

But so much for that. I suppose most of you remember the story in the paper last year that the old Shuffler was in relief, and so he was. He was a time-keeper on a project and I could not help but wonder what a pitcher who was once so famous thought while he scouted about his "St. Helena," so to speak, and recently I found out.

I saw a friend of mine from the old home town who had been playing semi-pro ball and he tells me that for about three innings he can still toss a wicked apple and that he and Phil take a turn at fishing and hunting and spinning yarns every now and then and that the old Shuffler has a trunk full of clippings of his more famous days, and what feat do you think the old Shuffler is the proudest of?

One would think it would be a tight game he pitched, perhaps a shut-out against the Cubs, but no, my friend says he recently visited the old Shuffler and that far down in his trunk he had a clipping of a game played in Cincinnati long ago where he hit a triple. He fondles this clipping and gently smoothes it and says, "Boy, did I give that one a ride?" which goes to show that pitchers are would-be hitters in any man's baseball game.

Any now for a stance at another sport. Do you like to see game roosters fight? Evidently there are some people who belong to the various quilting societies or the league for advancement of something or other, who dislike it very much. If not, why do the boys go so far afield on the hill to tangle their chickens. It may sur-

HIG SANDY REGION PROVIDES ADEQUATE GRAZING FOR SHEEP

Sheep Growers' Group Deemed Essential to Ward Off Dangers to Flocks; Insurance Urged to Offset Losses

The Big Sandy is well adapted to the production of sheep with its high altitude and long grazing season. There is ample grazing for the sheep for at least seven months in the year and sufficient territory for the sheep to graze over so they will be on fresh ground all during the year. However, the dogs and thieves are discouraging factors in the production of sheep on the mountain; but with a Sheep Growers' Association formed the sheep growers could have a group insurance and each grower could pay in a small fee to compensate the farmers for the sheep which they lose. This type of association is working in several Kentucky counties, and I am sure insurance would be good for the mountain farmers.

START SMALL

It is not advisable for farmers to go into the sheep business on a large scale; they should start with a small flock and grow into the business. It is essential to produce plenty of green grazing in the winter and also good leuca hay for winter uses. Therefore, we must decide how many sheep we can accommodate during the winter. The ewes should be a type that have good underpinning so that they can get over the rough seasons. They should be bred to good rams so high grade rams will be produced.

SHEEP FARMERS TO STUDY EWE TYPES

A study of "ewe fairs" to demonstrate the best types of breeding sheep for conditions in Kentucky are announced by the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky. The first of these meetings will be held in Lexington June 13. Various types of ewes, together with the lambs, the rams that sired the lambs, and the wool clip will be exhibited and the successful sheep raisers will tell how they handle their flocks.

FLOYD HEALTH NEWS

BABY'S TEETH

The development of the teeth begins at least six months before the birth of the child. An adequate diet of the prospective mother lays the foundation for healthy teeth in the baby.

Much careful research work has shown that foods rich in calcium, phosphorus and vitamin "D" produce strong teeth and bones. Insufficient amounts of these elements in the diet prevent the normal growth of the teeth, making them soft and subject to quick decay.

For calcium and phosphate we depend first of all upon milk. It is difficult to get a sufficient supply of these necessary elements without the use of milk for the diet would be too bulky if dependence were put on eggs and vegetables alone.

Direct sunshine on the body and the inclusion of egg yolks, milk and liver oil in the diet as sources of vitamin "D" help the growth of bones and teeth and have been found to be successful in the prevention and treatment of rickets and tuberculosis.

The food which the mother eats before her baby is born should contain liberal amounts of the above mentioned tooth building materials.

Mother's milk for babies has also been found to be an important factor in making strong bones and teeth as well as in giving better general health.

All cow's milk needs careful modification under physicians' directions for infant feeding.

Your county health department guards the quality of Grade "A" milk as it is sold in Prestonsburg. Grade "A" milk is clean. There is nothing just as good as milk.

BRAINARD FARMERS PLANT BIGGER CROPS

Brainard—the farmers here are very busy planting corn. They are taking more interest in farm work this year, and are planting larger crops.

The people here were well pleased when they read in THE TIMES where the Middle Grades would start school. They want to see the time come when they can get to Prestonsburg without having to wade through water and mud.

"NO GOLD IN KENTUCKY," SAYS UNIVERSITY PROF.

Despite the many reports of the discovery of gold in Kentucky, it is unlikely that this metal will ever be found in the state, according to Dr. A. C. McFarlan, head of the department of geology at the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Periodically, stories of the finding of precious metals such as gold or silver circulate and often attract considerable public attention. The geology of the state, however, is such as not to warrant expectation of these metals except in minute quantities.

Many of the myths concerning the presence of gold in the state can be traced to the mistaking of iron pyrite or "fool's gold," for the precious metal. The two usually may be distinguished at sight. However, a simple and effective test for determining which metal is being dealt with can be made by striking the specimen with a hammer, says Doctor McFarlan. Gold, being malleable, will flatten out, while pyrite, which is very brittle, will shatter.

Dr. McFarlan also calls attention to another easy and reliable method in the use of the streak test. When rubbed against a glazed surface, such as that of a piece of gold, it will leave a yellow streak. Pyrite, however, when treated in the same manner, will leave a black streak.

LOOK OUT FOR JESSE JAMES!

Jesse James, who claims to be the original Missouri outlaw who was supposed to have been shot by Bob Ford on April 8, 1882, has returned to the realm of the living after a hide-out of 51 years, and will be seen in person at the Martin Theater in Martin, Ky., Friday, May 27.

Explaining that the historical "picture-on-the-wall" shooting was a frame-up, James says that he, his brother Frank and Bob Ford plotted to get rid of Charles Bigelow, an outlaw who had been committing crimes and leaving indications that it was the work of the James boys. When Ford shot Bigelow, Jesse immediately rushed into the room and changed guns and other marks of identification with the slain man, and escaped into the hiding that was destined to outdo Rip Van Winkle. During his seclusion, James earned a quiet living as a dealer in cattle and race horses, spending most of the time in Colorado, and passing under the name of "Jim Williams."

When he decided to return to public life, Jesse James obtained assurances in Washington that charges once in effect against him were no longer in force because there were no living witnesses. Accompanied by a delegation of early settlers who had identified him, James also paid a visit to the Governor of Missouri and was told that when the $10,000 reward was paid to Bob Ford, the case was officially closed as far as the state of Missouri was concerned.

In his appearances at the Martin Theater, James will recount the highlights of his most interesting experiences, and will describe his escape in detail.

In addition to Jesse James in person, the Martin Theater will present Hank Farris and Ann Alexander, cowboy entertainers, in their famous Australian whip-cracking and fancy roping act.

The screen attraction will be "Gun Smoke Trail," with Jack Randall. Shows at 3:30, at 6, at 8, and 10 o'clock.

THE TIMES ENDORSES

- 1. Floyd county for Floyd counties. 2. Immediate completion of the Left Beaver and Johns Creek roads... 3. Completion of all Farm-to-Market roads... 4. A trade-at-home policy followed by merchants and customers alike... 5. Full cooperation with all county and city officials... 6. Continuance of the Floyd county health department and county agricultural agent work.

WHY NOT HELP THE FARMERS?

It is already well-known that The TIMES has never been critical of the WPA. This newspaper has always taken the position that, faced with relief and unemployment problem nationwide, the WPA cannot but fail to do justice in some individual cases.

Yet we cannot but wonder why Floyd county farmers are not given at least an iota of consideration for WPA employment. The TIMES is told by the Certifying Agent that Floyd county is classed as an industrial county and that, as a consequence, only those previously engaged in labor on "public work"—mining, railroading, such like—may be placed at work by the WPA in Floyd county.

This is a rank injustice, but The TIMES does not point the accusing finger at any particular person or department. It does say most emphatically, however, that this status must be changed if all those in need of work, those directly in need of help in affording themselves and their families a subsistence, are to be given the service to which the WPA is dedicated, theoretically or otherwise.

The hillside farmers dot Floyd county. Most of them are good citizens, handicapped by environment and the resources of their land. Most of them have large families, and the income from their farms, is insufficient to support them. They cannot clothe and feed themselves and their wives and children during the spring and summer while their crops are being tilled and are growing. They, at the same time, must pay taxes on their farms—taxes which go, in part, toward making this WPA program possible.

There also is no argument against the unemployed miner, or any other man deprived of work, being given employment. It all swings back to who needs work—and any man to whom private employment has been denied, who cannot afford to remain idle, needs this sort of help which enables him to help himself.

In short, there is no argument against the farmer receiving WPA employment. What must be made evident to the "powers that be" are the cold facts. The TIMES believes all this can be adjusted to the end that justice will be done. Floyd county is not merely an industrial county; it is both industrial and agricultural—a fact which must be recognized without delay.

TALKING SPEEDOMETER

N. W. Dendy of the Eastern Kentucky Automobile Club informs me that there now exists a device referred to as an oral speedometer which operates with a phonograph attachment. As you drive, Mr. Dendy reports, it talks to you for the good of your soul and the happiness of your loved ones as well as others you meet or overtake on the highway.

At 25 miles it remarks: "The city speed limit has been passed. Is there a motorcycle policeman behind you?"

At 35 miles: "Too fast for city driving. We hope you are now in the country."

At 45 miles: "Your car is still under control, but watch the car behind you and ahead of you."

At 50 miles: "Your responsibility is increasing. Keep your eyes on the road."

At 60 miles: "Are your insurance premiums paid to date?"

At 70 miles: "You drive—this attachment will do the praying." At 80 miles: "Probably some one will have this car repaired. If so, we thank you for the sale of another speedometer to replace this one which, in a few minutes, is going to hell along with you."

(Editor's note—You're in the ditch now, and the talking speedometer might be able to croak out its final abjuration: "Sure, Old Pal, you were not to blame for the cow in the middle of the road; cows should not be allowed on the road and neither should you. You won't be again, except when the ambulance arrives to whisk your remains back to your sorrowing family; then once more when the very, very careful driver hauls you out and away over the hills and the hurrying, speed-mad world will soon forget you. There are plenty of good tools to take your place. MUCH! Getting pretty hot now!" One last word to the boys and girls back home from the old talking speedometer: "If you MUST drive, don't drink! If you MUST drink, don't drive! Well, here we are and the cat's out of the bag. GUMME your hand, Old Pal, let's go in together.")

THANKS

In frequent editorials The TIMES has asked that a park or playground be established in Prestonsburg to care for children. This week Mrs. Grace Burke, area supervisor of the W. P. A. department of recreation, announces the opening of a playground for Prestonsburg, that will undoubtedly be appreciated not only by the children who use the supervised playground, but by their parents who know they are safe, not loafing in places where they should not.

Too, sports are not all that the playground provides. Classes in handicrafts and "handart" will be taught; a kindergarten is provided for tots under special supervision—provision has even been made whereby adults may engage in the activities offered.

Such a playground has long been needed in Prestonsburg, and, as The TIMES congratulates Mrs. Burke for her part in the project, it knows that the playground will also be appreciated by every thinking citizen.

"UNK" RULED OUT Greenup—"Baseballically" speaking, County Clerk John M. Mills, in a role of umpire, ruled "no play as second."

The ruling was made by Umpire Mills when an unidentified man appeared at his office to secure a marriage license to wed his niece, a pretty young girl of approximately 18 years of age. She was a daughter of the late Mr. J. P. Spradlin.

After reading from the rules book of the League of the State of Kentucky that such a marriage was prohibitive, the prospective groom, after much grumbling, took his departure with the title of bride-elect.

Mr. Mills did not learn the names, but they were believed to be either from Ohio or West Virginia.—Ashland Daily Independent.

When John first saw it, it was on its hind legs, staggering like some gay Lothario who was feeling high. That was down over its eyes so that it could not see, and its capture was therefore made easy.

Mr. Dawson says from now on he will place cans at strategic points over the farm and in this way rid the place of the ground hogs—if it works.—Anderson News.

"MEANEST MAN" A few days ago a 13-year-old Ashland boy put the finishing touches on a four-foot gas model airplane on which he had been working diligently since Christmas. His chest bulged with pride as he carefully carried it to a nearby field for the first test flight.

A perfect take-off, smooth flight and accurate landing, made his youthful spirit soaring as high as the plane. Just one more flight . . . another perfect take-off

"CUTTING DOWN CLOTHES" If you have worn made-over clothing of your parents or of older brothers or sisters, you will understand the title of this article. If you were an older child or else lived in more modern times, you may not know enough to sympathize with us younger brothers and sisters. We youngsters of a generation ago felt, quite often, our greatest humiliation when we appeared in public clad entirely in well-recognizable garments, in spite of their having been cut down to fit us. Worse still, we often had to wash cast-off clothing just as it was, regardless of our size or shape. As I am very short of legs, I have had to suffer agonies by wearing pants that had to be rolled up, and the bag at the knee made the whole thing look like Alley Oop's ample ankles. Why, if I had got lost, up until I was, say, 15 years old, there would have been no difficulty in finding me, for my three older brothers' garments were known far and wide, by size and cut and color.

When there were so many children to be clad, and so little to clothe them with, it took magic to provide enough garments. Fortunately, cottonade and jeans are pretty tough and can stand several seasons, making due allowance for tears and scratches such as any boy's garments are subject to, and can help raise a whole family of boys. All of these things shrink, though, and help in the natural process of growth to make clothes too small for the big boy. Now, I know that some defining is necessary at this point. "Hickory" is strong shirt material, thick and tough; "jeans" is heavy woolen cloth; "cottonade" (and warzen quilts from the scraps); "cottonade" is heavy cotton pants cloth (denim is it or something like it).

The small brother is waiting in suspense for the garments to become too small for the one up the line. In his heart that earthquakes or floods or death may remove the cause of his humiliation. If there is still a younger brother, though, he is not nearly so feeling superior when the much-worn garment passes on down to the unfortunate little rascal. It is hard on a boy that does not grow rather fast, for the cast-off garments pile up on him. I was slow of growth and had my humiliation increased year by year. I had my share of garments, so far as numbers were concerned, but such numbers!

If a boy lives long enough, however, he comes to the day when he can have a suit or an overcoat or a pair of pants all his own. Never again can I feel as big as I did in my first overcoat, one bought just for me and not already a family relic. Scarcely of us may have forgotten how deep was our sense of disgrace when we had to wear out a pair of Sister's shoes, but I suspect that we have never forgotten the sense of triumph when we could suit under our own colors, without being twitted by the big boys because of our museum of inherited clothing.

"As Dictated"

The following mythical incident, reported by Ben Pratt, may not have occurred just as set forth here, but many a stenographer will feel that it could easily have happened. "Now, Miss Blogg," boomed Jasper M. Whurtel, president of the Whirlwind Laundry Company, to his stenographer, "when I dictated a letter I want it written as dictated, and not the way you think it should be."

"Yes, sir," said Miss Blogg, meekly. "All right, take a letter."

The next morning O. J. Squiz, of the Squizz Flexible Soap, received the following: "Mo. O. K. or A. or J. Something, look it up, Squizz, president of the Squizz, by the name, Flexible Soap Company, the gyps, Detroit—that's in Michigan, isn't it? Dear Mr. Squizz, hmhm: You're a heck of a business man. No—start over. He's a cross-breed. I don't want him or the hum'll sue me. The last shipment of soap you sent us was of inferior quality and I want you to understand—no, scratch that, I want you to understand, ah, unless you can ship, furnish, ship, no furnish us your regular soap you needn't ship us any more period or whatever grammar is. This darn cica is out again, pardon me, and furthermore, whera was I? Paraphrase the soap you sent us wasn't fit to wash the dishes, no make it the dog, with comma, let alone the laundry, comma, and we're sending it back, period. Yours truly, Read it over no mind. I won't waste any more time on that egg. I'll look at the carbon tomorrow. Sign my name.—Ashland Daily Independent.

NEWS OF BIG SANDY

CLAY PASSES

Lloyd Clay, 66 years old, long a prominent business man of Paintsville, died suddenly Friday evening just as he started to climb into his car near Inez, in Martin county. His death was attributed to a heart attack.

IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE

Pikeville—The Kentucky Public Service Commission Tuesday granted permission to the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company to change their service in Pikeville from the obsolete magnet system now in use to the modern common battery type of instruments.

This change, according to E. E. Boardman, local manager, will make it necessary to rewire the home, office or store of practically every patron in Pikeville and already engineers of the company are making surveys for the work which is expected to get started within the next 60 days. It is estimated that six to eight months will be required to make the change, bringing the new service into use about January 1. This new type of telephone will speed up service as a light flash on the central switchboard when the receiver is lifted from the phone hook, and it will not be necessary to ring central when a connection is desired as at present.

A large amount of money will be expended in making the improvement here and a new central office and complete new equipment will be necessary under the battery system.

NO WORK FOR DELINQUENTS

Louisia—The Lawrence fiscal court, completing a three-day session here last Friday, ordered that henceforth no person be employed for county work who has been turned in for delinquency for non-payment of county poll taxes.

CROWD

ATTENDS—More than 6,000 persons, with life and conservation enthusiasts from throughout this section of Kentucky, southwestern Virginia and West Virginia braved threatening weather to attend the annual meeting of the Pike County Fish and Game Association last Sunday at the fish hatchery near Elkhorn City.

JOHNSON SPEAKS

Louisia—There is no greater danger from lack of vice followers than from lack of vice leaders, Lieutenant Governor Keen Johnson told the 50 graduates of the Louisia high school at annual graduation exercises here last Friday evening.

T. B. VICTIM

Paintsville—Preston Hall, Jr., 18 years old, died Monday afternoon on Frank street in Paintsville after several months' illness from tuberculosis. He was the second member of the Hall family to succumb to the dreaded disease within the past seven months. His sister, Gertrude, died from the disease.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL MAY BE LOST

Paintsville—Possibility that the Mayo Industrial School may be lost to Eastern Kentucky, even though Governor Chandler and his administration established it and set aside funds for the purchase of the site and for operating the school a year, was voiced Tuesday at the Rotary Club by E. J. Evans, owner of the property. The present tenant, who is using it as a hospital, has a lease running for another three years, and wants $5,000 for vacating his lease, Mr. Evans said.

"WHITE WAY" APPROVED

Pikeville—A "white way" for Second street from Huffman avenue to Pike, was approved Tuesday night by members of the city council in regular session in connection with the widening and improvement of this lane of traffic which is scheduled to start within the next few days, probably by June 1.

Comments From The Capitol

The special session Chandler-Wallis bill to revolutionize the mentally ill is being debated in the battle halls at Frankfort. The bill provides modern methods of treating mental diseases and initiates a system of mental hygiene as a public health service. One of the most important features provides that the council of the Kentucky State Medical Association can protect the personnel and administrative officials from political interference. The outstanding features of the bill provides securing of qualified specialists in mental diseases for the state hospital staffs. The establishment of a system of mental hygiene in cooperation with the public health service, making possible early treatment and cure of mental diseases. Professional qualifications are required for technical members of the staffs of the state hospitals. The director of the division of hospitals and mental hygiene is to be appointed by the Commissioner of Welfare, from a list recommended by the Council of the State Medical Association. The director is to be in complete charge of the division and cannot be removed, except upon written charges sustained by a committee composed of the Governor, the Commissioner of Welfare, and a member named by the Council of the Medical Association.

Under the bill, the staff of each state hospital must include besides the superintendent, a business manager, clinical director, occupational therapy director, supervisor of nurses, field liaison officer, dentist, senior and junior physicians. The authorized personnel is one physician to every 150 patients, with a minimum of one to every 300, and one attendant to every eight patients with a minimum of one to every 12. The ratio of personnel to inmates in the Institution for Feeble-Minded Children is optional; but a director of education is provided. The director of the division will have supervision of other institutions receiving aid from the state and give service to the prisons. He may utilize public health and welfare department social workers in the general field of mental hygiene. The bill requires psychiatric examination of all persons indicted for a capital offense or habitual criminals.

An individual is permitted to have his mental illness treated without being convicted of insanity, as if it were a crime; but must bear the cost of this treatment except in the case of pauper patients.

An important feature of this bill takes the personnel of the institution out of the political patronage class and will allow a permanent staff of experienced and qualified field specialists to treat and care for the mentally ill.

The bill contains humanitarian features that provide for systematic treatment and attempted cure of all mentally ill patients, in state institutions, not merely for confinement in state asylums. The division in cooperation with the state department of health will develop a state-wide mental hygiene program looking toward the prevention of mental disease.

RANDOM SHOTS:

The special session Chandler-Wallis bill three into the limelight Commissioner of Welfare, Frederick A. Wallis, as a shining candidate in the next governor's race. The election in Pennsylvania brought glad tidings to Governor Chandler here in Frankfort. The Farley-backed candidate for Governor was defeated by a large margin Senator Albert W. Barkley seems to be between the proverbial devil and the deep blue sea in his campaign for re-election to the Senate. If he campaigns much in Kentucky, his opponent will charge him with neglect of his public duty in the Senate. If he doesn't, he leaves the field free to his opponent. He is solving the problem very nicely by week-end trips to the battle-field, Kentucky.

NEAR CALAMITY Mt. Harve Knox, ex-postmaster of W. Sterling, fox hunter and fisherman, had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday afternoon when a canoe he was in turned over and deposited him in the water. Fortunately for Mr. Knox, who had on heavy clothes and boots, the water only reached to his neck and he was able to wade out.

It is reported that Mr. Knox was fishing with William Lattin at the time of the accident and was trying to catch a pole thrown to him from the bank. The canoe was one way and Mr. Knox the other, to his dismay, and he found himself up to the chin in water that was not as warm as it could have been. It is alleged that he took the necessary precautions to escape catching pneumonia and his fishing activities were suspended during the day.

The near calamity took place on the lake at Mr. Knox's farm on the Levee pike.—Mt. Sterling Advocate.

GROUND HOG WEARS PLUG HAT

John Dawson, of the Frankfort Road, has a ground hog on his place that wears a plug hat. Possibly it would be more nearly correct to say that Mr. Dawson has a ground hog on his place that wore a plug hat, because John got after the gentleman and the ground hog is no more on the place. The plug was out on the farm last week and saw something that made his eyes pop. Previously he had thrown away a tall tin can that had contained some kind of foodstuff, and there was enough in it to attract the adventurous hog. So Brother Groundhog stuck his snout deep into the can to get what was at the bottom, then he went to pull his head out and it was no go. The can stuck tight, and all the antics of the animal could not get it off.

When John first saw it, it was on its hind legs, staggering like some gay Lothario who was feeling high. That was down over its eyes so that it could not see, and its capture was therefore made easy. Mr. Dawson says from now on he will place cans at strategic points over the farm and in this way rid the place of the ground hogs—if it works.—Anderson News.

that must be done to make the 10th district American Legion convention here June 18 and 19 one of the grandest that has ever been held in the state. Much has already been accomplished, and with our town decorated a week ahead of time, as planned, plenty of time will be had to take care of the many details.

Our district commander, Paul Calvert; C. Cooper, commander of the Salyersville Post; Hieber Ward, Peyton Hobson and active members of the Floyd Post attended last Saturday's meeting.

As chairman of the parade committee, I am asking everybody to lend a helping hand. The ones that have been contacted and will be in the parade are as follows:

Judge E. P. Arnold, marshal of parade; mounted Civil War vets; motorized Zenens drum and bugle corps; Paintsville drum and bugle corps. Others to be contacted are the Legion Posts of the various counties to be represented, Masons, Eastern Star, Odd Fellows, Rebekahs, Boy Scouts, Sons of the Legion, and civic organizations.

All these will have banners and floats appropriate for the occasion. Hon. A. J. May is inviting the Secretary of War to be with us. We have invited our comrade and Governor, A. B. Chandler. Nobody is going to be left out. This is the People's Day, so let's get into it.

With our beautiful county seat and well served streets, good hotels and restaurants, drug stores and foundries, stores full of new goods, we are ready to serve one and all.

Don't forget, this is your show, the Legion is merely sponsoring it. If of course, we will hold our meeting at the courthouse—so nice and clean and just like being in a spacious home, and all the officials are ready to show their appreciation for what this means for the town and county. Circuit Judge John W. Caudill, Commonwealth's Attorney O. C. Hall, Circuit Court Clerk Troy B. Sturgill, County Judge Edward P. Hill, County Attorney Forrest D. Short, County Clerk A. B. Meigs, Magistrate Willie A. Wills, Jailor Bill Hall, Sheriff and veteran Dial Salisbury, County Superintendent Town Hall and Mrs. Hull, John Stephens, Stanley Combs, Leonard Martin, Dr. Marvin Marshall and wife, of the Floyd county health department (which has done so many good things for the county)—these will be the faces that we will see around and about the courthouse, and of course, they are always ready to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America, to maintain law and order, to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism, to promote peace and good will by their devotion and helpfulness.

We have requested Congressman A. J. May, chairman of the Military Committee, to send (if possible) a company of regular army soldiers, a big army band, several bombers to drone over the old town during this parade, and I feel we will have these, and possibly some state troops, with us.

The hills of Kentucky furnishes some of the best statesmen and soldiers, and now is the time for us to have something in return for our loyalty.

June 18-19 will be the big family reunion and 10th district meeting of the American Legion.

WHAT! A FIRESTONE TIRE AT 25% LESS? I'LL TAKE A DEER RIGHT NOW!

FIRESTONE Gives You This High Quality Tire at This New Low Price

Because Firestone saves money by controlling and securing rubber and cotton at the sources and by efficient manufacturing and distributing. These savings make possible extra values at lower prices. You get:

High Quality—First choice rubber and selected cotton that conform to Firestone's high standards and rigid specifications.

Long Mileage—Safe, silent tread design made of tough, slow wearing rubber that assures long mileage. Sturdy bars and rugged notches give protection against skidding.

Blowout Protection—Nine extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. Every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber which counteracts internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

Puncture Protection—Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread protects against punctures.

New Low Prices—Never before have all these safety and economy features been combined in a tire priced so low.

Don't take chances on your holiday trip. Come in today. Let us put a set of these large size, rugged, long wearing tires on your car—remember, you save 25%.

Table with 2 columns: Tire size and Price. Includes sizes like 4.50-20, 4.50-21, 4.75-19, 5.00-19, 5.25-17, 5.25-18, 5.50-17, 6.00-16, 6.25-16.

Nat'l Red Cross Calls for China Relief Funds

In a letter addressed to M. D. Powers, chairman of the Floyd County Red Cross Chapter, Norman Davis, national chairman, pointed out that the needs in China were appalling and that men, women and children who are innocent victims of conditions there "are no more responsible for their pitiful plight than if they were suffering from a great cataclysm of nature."

He pointed out, too, that the number of refugees was constantly growing and that conditions away from coastal cities are indescribably wretched. Hundreds of villages, he said, had been completely demolished, and thousands of civilians were without medical assistance of any sort to care for their ill or wounds resulting from existing conditions.

Since the commencement of hostilities in the Far East, Mr. Davis said, the American Red Cross has received $170,000 from the public for transmission to China, and has appropriated $200,000 from its national treasury in addition for this purpose. The Red Cross is hoping to raise a minimum of $1,000,000 as quickly as possible to be sent for the relief of these millions of victims.

Because of lower living costs in China, Mr. Davis pointed out, $1 will feed a man and his family for a month. Added to contributions being sent from other countries, such as Red Cross funds will assist thousands to live under normal conditions and be restored in the East.

"Won't you please help one of these unfortunate Chinamen live for one month by sending $1 to Jo M. Davidson, treasurer of Floyd County Chapter," asks M. D. Powers, Red Cross chairman for Floyd.

According to a recent survey made by Dr. Frank L. McVay, president of the University of Kentucky, 350 members of the University staff were born in Kentucky, 265 are from other states and 19 are of foreign birth.

Voted to go on record as endorsing the standard drivers' license law according to the Uniform Vehicle Code; sponsored a WPA project known as Housekeeping Aid and assisted in every way possible; sponsored Berea College Glee Club program, and entertained members.

Assisted in raising $200 for Crippled Children's fund; contributed to Penny Art fund; received prize of $25 in payment of Safety Award in 1937 general Federation of Women's Club contest; 20 new members were added during year.

PIKEVILLE CENTER OF PATROL RADIOCAST

Pikeville—They will be "Calling All Cars" of the Kentucky Highway Patrol in Eastern Kentucky from Pikeville within the next few weeks if present plans materialize as a movement is now under way to establish a radio call station at the state highway garage here for officers operating in the sixth, seventh and eighth police districts.

The movement, which is being welcomed by sheriffs, chiefs of police, banks and merchants of the three districts, will mean that policemen who patrol the highways will be in direct contact at all times with practically every hamlet in the three areas as telephone call stations would supplement the radio stations. Cars of the patrolmen will be equipped with radios with short wave hands and drivers would be compelled to keep all cars tuned to the Pikeville station. Telephone call stations throughout the three districts would enable patrolmen to get in touch with the radio station here at all times to report cases arising in the various areas for broadcast to other sections.

Sergt. Morgan Sword, inspector for the three districts which would be included in the radio broadcast, states that five cars are now operating in the second district which has headquarters here; five are operating in the eighth district with headquarters at Ashland, and six in the sixth district where troopers report to London, however, this number, Sergt. Sword states, will be greatly increased immediately as the officers' duties will be greatly multiplied when the new road laws become effective on June 1.

With the improvement of roads in this section, Sword and other highway patrolmen feel that some sort of rapid communication is necessary in order to apprehend criminals who use the improved highways for their getaway after a crime has been committed.

The eighth grade, chaperoned by Mrs. Bill Allen, visited points of interest in Lexington last Saturday.

Knott School Election Void, Court Decides

The final chapter was written in the now famous school board election contest case at Frankfort last Tuesday when the court of last resort in Kentucky, affirmed the decision of the Knott circuit court declaring the election void because of fraud and corruption.

At the election of members of the Board of Education last November, Cleve Combs were declared elected on the face of the returns and certificates of election issued to them. The unsuccessful candidates, Silas Combs, C. C. Singleton and Hagan Risher, immediately instituted contest proceedings, charging wholesale fraud and corruption in Lower Beaver precinct and theft of the ballots and ballot boxes in Upper Beaver precinct. The two hold-over members of the Board being of the opinion that the successful candidates were not qualified to hold office because of this fact, and certain contracts with and claims against the Board held by them, declared their offices vacant and filled them by appointment.

The "Old Board" was directed in the proceedings by Attorneys J. C. Burnette of Hindman, and A. B. Combs, of Prestonsburg.

BREAKS OF SANDY NEARER NAT'L FOREST

The Breaks of the Big Sandy river is one step nearer being part of the great Jefferson National Forest. A delegation of 60 Virginians and Kentuckians met with Senator M. M. Logan and Senator Allen Barkley, both senators from this state, Senator Boyd, senior senator from Virginia, Congressman A. J. May, representative from the Seventh district of Kentucky, and Congressman Flanagan, representative from the Ninth district of Virginia, in Senator Barkley's office at Washington Tuesday.

Chief Silcox, of the National Forest Administration, Mr. Evans, regional director and Mr. Yarnell, assistant director, met with the delegation and assisted in presenting their plan for an appropriation for purchasing the 130,489 acres in Virginia and Kentucky, which were added to the Jefferson National Forest last August when a group of local men made a similar journey to the capital. The fullest cooperation was given by these officials and the delegation was assured that every effort would be made now to make plans available for being purchased this summer.

The delegation expressed some enthusiasm and feeling some that officials would hear their plea immediately. Most of the land required is low in value and can be purchased for a few dollars an acre. The National Forest Administration is anxious to purchase this area but is held back by lack of funds to make the purchases and the delegation had as its objective influencing the senators and representatives at Washington to make funds available for this purchase.

Governor Chandler has already signed the papers releasing this area to the federal government for purchase, as have the Virginia officials. K. J. Day, former Mayor of Pikeville, stated in a telegram from the capital yesterday, that he believed the way was now opened for the work to go forward immediately, and is enthusiastic and optimistic over the accomplishments of the party.

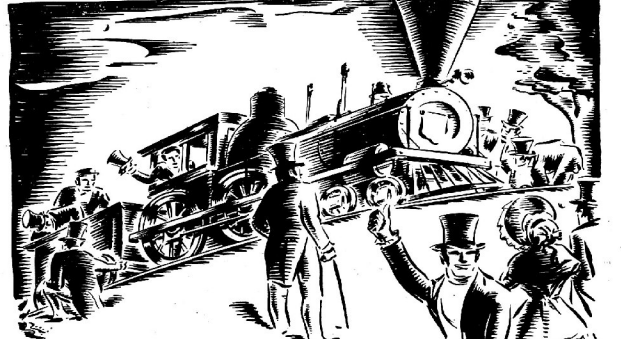

R. G. Wells, George Coleman, and Dr. Thompson, local business men, arrived in Washington ahead of the delegation and made arrangements for the congressmen to meet the delegation in Senator Barkley's office. It is believed that through the cooperation all local men have given to the project and by the spirit manifested by the leaders in Washington, the project will be accomplished in the near future.

As soon as the land can be purchased the forestry department will begin the work of clearing away underbrush, preparing roads and complete the Breaks of the Sandy into the finest forest in the state with thousands of tourists being attracted here each year. This will be a great benefit to this section, not only scenic but also financial as the annual stream of tourists increases the popularity of this great spot of beauty.

"Mediator between EAST and WEST" In the State of Virginia of 1847, east was east and west was west, with the Blue Ridge mountains looming between. But the means to union were already taking form.

Q That was a great year in Chesapeake and Ohio history, for its predecessor company—the little 49 mile Louisa Railroad—made two important decisions: to tunnel the Blue Ridge at Rockfish Gap and to undertake all operations on its line. This second decision involved the purchase of equipment and it was a proud day for the Louisa's owners when they inspected their first locomotives. Q The stockholders were told by the president, Colonel Edmund Fontaine: "... a contract was made for three engines, two of which have arrived... the third is on the way which will be ready to start in about a week. We trust the day is not far distant when this noble machine shall become the mediator between the East and the West... break down the wall of partition between eastern and western interests, and proclaim eternal union between the mountains and the lowlands."

Martin's Citizens File School Suit

ing the Martin school, the Board has used sound discretion and judgment, and I have no hesitancy in saying that when the case is presented to the court Thursday the temporary restraining order will be dissolved and that construction will then go forward with the building."

He added, "At least 80 per cent of Martin's citizens are school-minded and in favor of the school at the 'Forks of Beaver.'"

The Superintendent said that one Martin resident, whose name was signed as plaintiff in the suit, had written him that, "I did not know what I was doing until yesterday," and wrote that he would have his name stricken from the petition.

The suit seeks to restrain the board of education and the superintendent from:

- (1) Purchasing or leasing from Mrs. Dings and other defendants for the purpose of constructing a high school or any other school building upon the proposed site or any other site, near the forks of Beaver.
- (2) Accepting any bid or awarding any contract for the construction of a high school or any other school building upon the proposed site.
- (3) Discontinuance or removal of present high school or any of the grades taught in the school in the town of Martin to a point outside the corporate limits of the town.
- (4) Mixing with other school funds any monies derived from special tax levies voted to liquidate the bonds issued by the Martin consolidated school district, or using such special tax money for any purpose other than that for which voted.

Saturday's action climaxed the opposition which developed when the board of education on April 2 delegated Superintendent Hall with authority to purchase the new site for the proposed structure.

School History Outlined
In 1923, the petition recites, the citizens of Martin, in order to procure better educational facilities for their children, entered into an "arrangement" with the board of education for the construction, operation and maintenance of a school in the district and within the corporate limits of the town, at which both the grades and high school were to be taught. As an inducement to the establishing of a 12-grade school there, the suit continues, citizens of Martin procured at their own expense and donated to the board of education the present school site valued at approximately $5,000 and consisting of 25 town lots. In addition to the contribution of a site, it is claimed, $2,500 was raised by public subscription and donated to the board for the development of the grades and the high school.

Voters of the town on May 31, 1934, authorized a levy of an annual tax not to exceed 75c on each $100 of taxable property for the purpose of supplementing the general school fund for the "support, upkeep and maintenance" of the high school and grades. In 1929 the board reduced the levy to 50c.

Then, on April 29, 1928, by a 162 to 0 vote, a $12,000 bond issue was authorized to raise funds for the construction of a second school building at Martin. A tax levy was made by the board to raise money with which to retire these bonds and this tax money was to be used for no other purpose, the plaintiffs contend. Twelve bonds of $1,000 denomination each were issued and sold and the building was constructed at a cost of $17,000.

Allege Funds Mixed

On this tax levy for the retirement of these bonds the plaintiffs attack the board of education, charging that money thus derived has been mixed with the general fund, that the board has annually assessed the full 25-cent levy for this purpose without regard to the needs in paying principal and interest due, that the board has failed to set up a sinking fund from the revenue so received and has used only enough of these funds to pay off three bonds and accrued interest as they became due, diverting the remainder into the general fund for expenditure on other schools of the county.

An accounting to determine the true status of this fund is demanded in the suit.

Presenting their case for retention of the school inside the town, the plaintiffs point out that, of approximately 250 high school students attending the school, at least 70 per cent reside within the corporation and 90 per cent of them reside within a radius of half a mile from the present building. Filtrated water, lights, gas, police protection, a sewer system for the school, adequate parking space, sufficient space for another school building and more available at a cheaper price than that of the new site—all these items are recited in favor of keeping the school in Martin.

Against the proposed change in location the petition contends that $4,000, the "price paid" to have been paid for the three acres at the forks of Beaver, is exorbitant, that the land is not worth more than $150 in view of the proposed site being "rough, hillside mountain land; that the school would be at least a mile from the town; that the site is not suitable; that the students would either be required to walk the highway and cross two narrow bridges or to travel by school bus at unnecessary danger and hardship; that electricity, gas, pure water, sewer facilities and fire protection are not furnished this site and can be made available only at considerable expense."

Indebtedness Totals $178,312
This expense item is scored in the petition which lists outstanding indebtedness against the county school system as totaling $178,312.09 and earmarks a proposed capital outlay of $89,200 in the 1938-39 school budget as the amount to be spent principally on the proposed school. Because of heavy indebtedness, an expenditure of this sum on a new school structure would be an "onerous burden" on the taxpayers of the county, the suit contends.

The defendants are called upon to produce the contract between the Dings family and the board of education, disclose all its terms and show why it was necessary to pay $4,000 for it.

At a board meeting following that in which Superintendent Hall was delegated with authority to proceed toward the construction of the school, Dr. Dewey Osborne's proposal that this action be re-considered was supported by the Rev. Alvo Stephens but was defeated by vote of the other three board members, the suit alleges. This item of the proceedings was not recorded, the plaintiffs claim.
