Left Beaver, 'Trail' Surfacing Is Approved

FLOYD PROJECT TO EXTEND 12 MILES

LEFT BEAVER ROUTE TO GET 'BLACK-TOP', PAVING FOR 'TRAIL'

Medium type surfacing of 12 miles of the Left Beaver Creek highway and concrete surfacing of approximately the same distance of the Mayo Trails "Missing Link" in Johnson and Lawrence counties are among the 62 highway projects approved by the State Highway Commission for 1940. Commissioner of Highways J. Lytton Donaldson announced Monday.

Mr. Donaldson's check list of approved projects had to sooner hit the desk of Highway Engineer Thomas H. Cutler than the ordered preparations started to advertise for bids on the work. Contracts will be let as soon as possible, it was said, and the program is expected to be in full swing by June 1.

Floyd, Johnson, Pike, Perry, Letcher and Martin shared in the program, as outlined to date for the Seventh Congressional district.

The appropriation made for the Left Beaver road totals $46,514. The medium type surfacing referred to is believed to be black-top and the distance of 12 miles to be surfaced will extend from the junction of the Left Beaver road near Martin with Route 90 to a point near McDowell. This would leave approximately five miles to be surfaced.

Grade drain and high-type surfacing will be done on the Johnson county end of the Mayo Trail for a distance of 4 1/2 miles at a total cost of $51,000. The same type of work will be done on the Lawrence county section of the Trail, a distance of 6.2 miles, at an outlay of $400,000. State funds will pay half the expense of improving the Trail, the federal government supplying the remainder.

The 62 projects already approved provide for road work which will cost $5,000,000. Remaining jobs in the $10,000,000 highway program for 1940 have not been definitely approved, and may be announced singly as each is given final approval.

Other road work approved Monday for the Seventh district follows: Letcher-Jeff-Blairstown, low-type surface, 5.2 miles, $14,000; Martin-Thurston, low type surface, 2.1 mile, $5,000.

SEVEN TAKEN IN DOPE RAIDS

P'BURG AND VICINITY FORM THEATRE OF PROBE

Seven Floyd county men were arrested this week by Deputy U. S. Marshal John McKenzie on dope-handling charges. The arrests followed an investigation by S. A. Lovelace, narcotics inspector.

Taken Tuesday afternoon before U. S. Commissioner L. J. May at Pikeville for preliminary hearing were Hammon Maynard and Frank Harris of Lancer, Willie Goble and Bill Hunt of Prestonsburg. Only Goble executed the $1,000 bond required for release pending action of the federal grand jury at Casketburg May 27. The others were later taken to the federal penitentiary at Lexington.

Warrants for their arrest covered the four of "purchasing, possessing and selling morphine not in or from original stamped packages."

Willis Ray Thompson was taken to Pikeville Wednesday by Inspector Lovelace, who, Thursday morning, added Pearl Harris, of Lancer, and "Shadow" Fraley, Prestonsburg, to the list of accused men.

A thorough investigation of doctors' prescriptions and of pharmacist handling of morphine also was made by Lovelace.

A federal officer was quoted as saying, during the investigation here, that "this dope situation in Prestonsburg is pitiful."

Arrests followed undercover work done by a man posing as a morphine addict and amateur magician, assuming the name of James M. Murphy.

No Trouble To Prove Her Eligibility To Pension

There is no doubt about 'Aunt' Rebecca Whitaker, who lives in the extreme northern tip of this county, on Jenny's Creek, being eligible for an old-age pension. She has a son who has been eligible for a year. And another of her 19 children will be 65, April 14.

Aunt Rebecca, a sister of "Aunt" Vance Fitzpatrick, of Middle Creek, was born August 5, 1854, near what is now Royalton, in what then was Floyd county but which now is Magdalen. Of the 19 children born to her marriage to the late James Whitaker, 18 lived to reach manhood and womanhood, and 15 yet are living.

Names, birth dates and addresses of her children follow:

Caleb, January 3, 1873 (killed when a horse fell upon him); Reuben, March 22, 1874, Jenny's Creek; Polly Johnson, April 14, 1875, Shelby Creek; Mitchell, October 8, 1877, state of Washington; Tom, October 22, 1878, Pikeston, Ohio; Mrs. Cora Kainde, April 15, 1880, Saginaw, Mich.; John W., May 30, 1881, Shelby Creek.

DEDICATIONS ARE PLANNED

FOR MARTIN-MAYTOWN SCHOOL BUILDINGS THIS WEEK

This week three new school buildings, which cost approximately $100,000, are being dedicated at Maytown and Martin with Dr. E. J. Jagers, of the State Board of Education, Frankfort, as the principal speaker.

Tuesday (Thursday) at Maytown the Science Building, the dedication of which was postponed from last year because of the flood, and the new building which displaces the one destroyed by fire last March, will be opened formally to the public. The science building cost about $16,000 and the cost of the other was about $42,000.

Friday night the new high school building, constructed at a cost of about $41,000, at Martin will be dedicated. This structure was completed last fall and it was built to relieve the congestion in the old building, which is now used for grade school purposes.

The dedication program at Maytown will be opened with invocation by the Rev. C. C. Newsome, pastor of the Maytown Methodist Church. Following will be a musical selection, "A Musical Picture of Democracy," by the Maytown high school band, under the direction of Jesse Elliott. Then County Superintendent of Schools Tom Hall will deliver an address, "School Progress in Floyd County." Dr. Jagers' dedicatory address will follow.

Y. O. Turner, principal of the Maytown school, will preside.

At Martin the program will be opened with invocation by F. M. Williams, president of the Martin P. T. A., followed by musical selections by the Martin high school band, Senior Girls' Glee Club, Junior Mixed Chorus, Pikeville College Girls' Quartet and the Pikeville College Glee Club. Entertainment tables will be provided. The dedicatory address will be delivered by Dr. Jagers. Benediction will be given by the Rev. Newsome. Principal Monroe Wicker will preside.

4 Men Fined $1,000 And Sent to Prison In Counterfeit Case

Abel Hughes and Fred Bates pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of possessing counterfeit money and Federal Judge Mac Swinford sentenced them to seven years in a federal penitentiary.

Judge Swinford sentenced George "Red" Coleman and Chester Dyer, both of Pikeville, to five year terms on the same charge. All four were fined $1,000 and sentenced to additional two-year terms on a conspiracy charge in connection with passing counterfeit money.

The trial of Daisy Hall Branham, of Prestonsburg, Creed Short and his wife on similar charges was postponed.

5 FLOYD NINES JOIN LEAGUE

P'BURG ATHLETES ASKED TO MEET SUNDAY

Five Floyd county teams lined up Tuesday night as members of the eight-team Big Sandy Baseball League at the "loop's" second organization meeting in Pikeville.

Allen, Prestonsburg, Clear Creek, Wayland, Wheelwright, Pikeville, Elkhorn City and Van Lear will be represented during the season's play, which begins April 21 and ends Sept. 15.

The schedule will provide for a split season, with 14 games, including two doubleheaders, in each half. Games will be played on Sundays and holidays.

Organization of the Prestonsburg club will be effected at a meeting here Friday night. Then, on Sunday, athletes interested in trying out for the team will gather at the courthouse at 10 a. m.

This week, strong support of Prestonsburg's team was indicated at the Prestonsburg Co-Operative Business Association at its meeting Monday evening pledged its help. Committees

CIRCUIT COURT'S APRIL DOCKET LISTS 297

6 MURDER TRIALS MAY BE HEARD DURING TERM

Of the 297 cases slated for trial at the April term of the Floyd circuit court, which convenes here Monday, 10 are on murder indictments and 16 are on indictments involving attempted murders—shootings and wounding, cutting and shooting and shooting at without wounding.

Four murder case defendants are, however, not "before the court," and bench warrants have been issued. In all, 99 of the 297 defendants are not officially before the court, but a part of these may be arrested on bench warrants before the term ends.

Of the cases to be given trial during the term, 108 are the result of work of the January grand jury.

The 21 cases charging persons with the offense of carrying concealed deadly weapons is probably the largest "pistol-totin'" docket in the history of the court. The January grand jury was instructed to beat down on those guilty of this offense, and Circuit Judge Stephens recently indicated that the fight on pistol law just begun.

Also slated for trial are four men, accused of drunken driving. Trials of two men, Weaver Deakins and E. D. Fleming, charged with voluntary manslaughter as the result of fatalities while they were driving, are scheduled.

Murder trials expected to be held and the date on which each is docketed for the hearing follow:

Floyd Johnson, April 12; Walter King, April 15—Thomas Allen, April 16; Ernest Bunkley, April 18; Allen Stone and Orest Messer, April 21; Jim Hall (two cases) April 24.

Four cases in which murders are not occur but might have are docketed as follows:

Elva Jarvis, shooting at without wounding; Everest Collins, cutting and wounding; Shelby, shooting at without wounding; Dewey Shepherd, shooting and wounding; Dennis Ward, shooting and wounding; Joe Hall, shooting and wounding; Monroe Salisbury, cutting and wounding; Andy Johnson, shooting and wounding; Tommie Allen, shooting at without wounding; Maude Holt, shooting at without wounding; Madison Prater, cutting and wounding; Clyde Crisp, cutting and wounding; Jimmie Henderson, cutting and wounding; Taswell Foley, shooting at without wounding; Dewey Shepherd, shooting and wounding.

JUDGE HELPS IN RAID

RETURN PRISONER AND WHISKY TO P'BURG

County Judge E. P. Hill shed judicial robes long enough Thursday night to accompany Sheriff Dial Salisbury and Deputies Lackey Salisbury and Bill Marshall to Harrod, there to confiscate 26 half-gallon fruit jars of moonshine whisky and capture one prisoner.

The judge finished the evening's work by bringing the prisoner, Charles Fyffe, and the whisky from nearby Lancer on to Prestonsburg without aid.

Back at judicial duties Friday morning, Judge Hill said he was not concerned.

This Town-- That World

AMEN, SISTER! Unhonoored, unsung in his own country, the prophet packs his duff-bag and lights out for other parts—where his brow is promptly adorned with the laurel wreath. Just look what a Louisville woman wrote of The Courier-Journal's (formerly The Floyd County Times) Jimmy Goble.

To the Editor of The Courier-Journal:

In case anyone is interested in my personal opinion I would like to go on record as saying that I like the human interest stories of James Goble very much. He adds a touch of fire and drama to our "Opp. Ed." page that is not only very educational, but entertaining as well.

He has an O. Henry touch, mixed with a bit of Woodcut and with a dash of Mark Twain thrown in for good measure. He writes of the sad demise of the "hot" trumpet player a few weeks ago had all the pathos of the tale of "The Passing of Queen Elizabeth Back." And his keen bit of word-play concerning the fire and Snake Faith worshippers is absolutely priceless. Of course, that is just my opinion, but after all, I'm a representative of your public, am I not? AUNT IDA SANDGAGE Louisville.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

Sharpening the Hoe

A lazy boy—all boys are lazy—according to their elders—likes to think of something to do to kill time when he is supposed to be working. My brother, the father of seven boys, says that a man and a boy can do nearly as much work as the man by himself; it takes the extra time to keep the boy at it. The boy, if left alone, will work twice as hard as necessary to avoid doing the thing he is supposed to be at. One of the best ways to kill time is to sharpen the hoe, or whatever tool is in use. Nearly all farms have excellent whetstones and files and other means of putting a keen edge on tools, hence, the appropriate way of killing time while seeming to be busy at something good for the farm.

At times I can remember having spent more than half of the time at this kind of task, renewing it often as the "wire edge" vanished from the hoe, since there were likely to be a few pebbles around. It was easy to ruin a fine edge and have to re-make it. How blissful one feels while adjusting this fine touch to an already sharp tool! It would be almost treason to say that one rests while doing this, for boys are not supposed to get tired, that is, unless they are expected to be doing something useful.

There were several things that needed sharpening on the old-fashioned farm and its more modern successor. Axes required the grindstone. I cannot feel that turning the grindstone is at all poetic, though, for the man who bears down on the axe is actuated by base ideas of material good. If a boy had an axe to sharpen, he would have a portable grindstone moved out to the woodpile or to the woods one that could be run by some sort of machinery, so that there would be a lot of fun and another occasion for killing time. But when a man, usually one's father, is at the other end of the grindstone a fellow is the horse power, it is different. Axes are not such fine tools, anyway, for they can do without a whetrock or a file, the tool sharpeners designed to kill time.

Just before hog-killing time, it was almost fun to turn the grindstone while all the butcher knives were put into fine form, to be smoothed off later on the whetrock. The reason for this was, of course, that hog-killing was a pure pleasure, a sport in which one showed the near neighbors all kinds of skill. With "wire-edge" knives one can cut out the joints like an old-timer and not be afraid of getting a scolding from one's pappy.

Even before the first tobacco cutting the 4-inch knives may be, while the same knives or specially-prepared ones are put into shape. The tragedy about tobacco-cutting was that small boys were good only for holding the sticks, certainly not so poetic as showing one's skill by splitting the tobacco stalks just right and with a nonchalance exceeded only by the fellow who cut bands at wheat-threshing time.

When we cut wheat with a cradle, it was a tedious but thrilling job to get the blade sharp. Here was a place where genuine sharpness counted for if the edge got dull, one had to put more weight on the handle, a thing that gets pretty tiresome on a hot early-summer day. Just what today can equal the pride that the wheat-cutter of other times showed when, cradle in hand, he literally "cut a wide swath" across the field? Robert Peck's neighbor in New England was fond of saying, "Good fences make good neighbors." I have tried in vain to find a similar saying to describe the local pride in sharp tools, particularly the small boy's pride in keeping the edges from becoming dull by use.

Shower Honors December Bride

Estill, Ky. (Spl.)—Mrs. James Dempster, of Garrett, and Mrs. E. R. May, of Langley, were joint hostesses to a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Raymond Sexton of Estill Saturday afternoon, when she complimented Mrs. L. L. Armstrong, of Harlan, formerly Miss Marie Sexton, a bride of December. The decorations, refreshments and favors all carried out the shamrock motif of St. Patrick's Day, with a color scheme of green and yellow predominating. After a fascinating contest in which the honoree and her sister, Mrs. V. A. Hayes, were high scorers, the guests assembled in the dining room, where the table, covered with a hand-made cloth of real cluny lace, was laden with packages. The bride opened these in the presence of her friends, who were then served a salad course and cakes, with coffee, by the hostesses, with Mrs. Raymond Sexton assisting.

SHIKE'S POKES The views expressed in this column are those of the writer, and not necessarily those of The Times. Well, that limb broke off when Inez got beat—but I drew Hazel Green in the "pool." It's one thing to introduce a bill in the Legislature and another thing to get it die in committee without attempting to get it on the floor. What's the use of holding those perpetual primaries? F.D.R. will get more votes than all the Democrats opposing him—and, most of the time, more than the opposing Democrats and Republicans combined. It's funny how some of our politicians vote their "prejudices" and then yell about "principle." According to "scraps" reports, John P. Sammons is going to get his "rib" back—else, why all the new furniture? Johnny Allen must have some pull with the state—they hauled those ashes or "Red Dog" all the way from Wheelwright to fix his "road." Who was the new Deputy in Drift? He didn't have a gun or a knife. A 101-POUND BOY Born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown at their home here Monday, March 25, a 104-pound son. The newcomer has been named Joe Norris. Mother and babe are doing fine.

TOWN-WORLD

ended last week's baseball meeting in Pikeville. Prestonsburg had a representation of—count 'em—ONE.
New. The town will not slip off the map. business will not go plumb to the dogs if Prestonsburg doesn't have a baseball team this year. But it doesn't look any too good for us.
It doesn't look so "hot" for Prestonsburg, particularly when every other county seat town on the Big Sandy sponsors a baseball team. It looks downright dark to us when we recall that the little town of Allen started off in baseball without an enclosed park. has gone along enjoying the sport and now has a fence around the field—while Prestonsburg, much larger, has for years had an enclosed park but no team. At the same time at least four Floyd county towns have supported baseball teams.

Who said anything about community pride?
This week, a move was under way to sponsor a team here. Which turns us to the brighter side of the picture.

QTOOTH Gopsters
Reviewing that "crazy" story I wrote last week, with a paragraph at the end explaining that I wasn't the Norman Allen referred to, "Lige Brown cracked, "The guilty flee when no man pursueth," with Brad Boyd claiming with a serious lingering doubt about the lunatic not being me.
These are the two gentlemen whom I, quite often, communicate my admiration of President Roosevelt, being Republicans, they think that qualifies me for the booby hatch.

EXPERIENCE IS A DEAR TEACHER
Home's the best place, after all. It pays to trade at home, and if you don't think it pays to play at home, ask the Garrett and Prestonsburg basketball teams.

Net proceeds amounting to $1,042.64 were divided between Floyd county basketball teams at the conclusion of the county tournament at Garrett, Prestonsburg playing three games, receiving $488.88 a game for a total of $1466.4. Playing two games at the regional tournament at West Liberty, Prestonsburg's share of the spoils for both games was in the neighborhood of only $30. The competing teams participated in the division of only a little more than $200 net profit from the tourney held in Morgan.

Maybe, now, the coaches will get wise and bring next year's regional to Floyd county.

THUMBS DOWN!

The best that I like less and less
Is the saute wag
Who says: "Oh, yes?"
We'd like to squelch,
All are agreed,
The man who says:
"I'm so intrigued!"

So writes Rhymerster Greenville Kleiser in The Lyon County Herald. To which the Muse of Third Street, in no gentle, poetic vein, replies:

The guy I'd like
To hand some shiners
Is the one who writes
These dern four-liners.

The 26 half-gallons were found in the home of Noah Newsome. The entire Newsome family, Judge Hill said, had fled and it is believed had had taken refuge in a nearby mine.
