This Town--That World

THE OLD MAN FIRES... County Attorney Ernest D. Short has a skinned knuckle on his right hand...

ALSO... And County Judge W. F. Hill was the innocent cause of no end of disturbance at the Baptist Church here on a recent Sunday evening...

WE JUST HAD TO LET THE "SECRET" OUT... I'll tell last holiday your copy of the Kentucky Press arrived I didn't know...

LOCUSTS IN FOLLIES... The Russell Times interestingly records the rumored belief that the W on the seventeen-year locust's wings stands for Wendell Wilkie.

OOE!... Comes now to hand a letter lambasting after a fashion, THE TIMES' editorial in this column urging a library building here. It reads, in part:

"I see when you want another fine blidin' fer prestonsburg fer to keep books in, and I wonder...

Among other things wrong with the foregoing, the writer didn't tell where he borrowed THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES to read about our hope for a library.

THERE! TITHEE--IT WAS ALL RIGHT... "If it gets in the newspaper that I'm going to make a call in a school bus, there's going to be some talk."

But let us hasten, before you get the jolly old spizen overworked about it, to add that the bus was one brought to this county from Cincinnati by a dealer for exhibition purposes only.

SPITTING CHAMBE NAMED... That spitting contest conducted here July 4 by Fred Francis uncovered some unexpected artists of the first order and really had the folks puckering their mouths.

Some of the spitters were handicapped by stringent regulations which really are applicable only in league competition. These rules prohibited slippery skin, permitted nothing about "backstap" to supply the ammunition, and banned tip-toeing, crouch-hopping and other illegal deliveries.

Mr. Nelson's first shot was a bull's-eye in a small can several feet distant, but when they scored for the "cut-off" her effectiveness was hampered by wildness. Unable to find the range, she would up blind and with a host of pop for her prize, McKinney plunked the can first crack, and topped it with a solid shot.

Idle thoughts, fancies of nothingness... Wonder whenever because of Alvin Karpis' murder... If a fellow had an eye for a fellow...

Republican Candidate For Congress

JAMES W. (Jim) TURNER... The above is a good likeness of James W. (Jim) Turner, of Johnson county, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Seventh Congressional district. Mr. Turner is a veteran campaigner and was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor last year, losing the nomination by only 273 votes in the whole state, with a strong state against him. "I am in this race to the finish," Mr. Turner assures friends over the district. "I believe the time is ripe for a Republican victory in November."

TURNER-FOR-CONGRESS... Announcement is made of the birth on July 8 to Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Branham at their home on the Auxier road, near here, of a fine son, Estill Bays Branham. The mother is the former Miss Willis Mae Bingham. Mother and babe are doing fine.

Floyd Coal Company Invests $150,000 In Plan To Save Lives Of Tots

STATE HEALTH AUTHORITIES HAIL PROJECT UNDER WAY AT WHEELWRIGHT AS VITAL TO CHILD HEALTH OVER KENTUCKY

That isn't a trench mortar looking at you—it's a concrete mixer in operation at Wheelwright on the construction of a new filter plant, one item in a $150,000 sanitation project. (Additional pictures on page five).

MAGOFFIN MAN NABBED HERE

CLEMENS IS ARRESTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED BY TRO... Mystery surrounding the identity of the hit-run driver who struck and fatally injured Bert Montgomery, Blue River, on the Mayo Trail here more than two years ago, was believed partially lifted as three men testified that Emil Clemens, Salyersville, insurance salesman, boasted here July 4 that he was the driver of the automobile which struck a man on the date and in the vicinity of the tragedy scene. Clemens was arrested by Deputy (Please turn to page eight)

F. L. HEINZE IS VICTIM

PROMINENT CITIZEN OF PRESTONSBURG DIES WEDNESDAY... F. L. Heinze, 34 years old, formerly chief engineer for the Beaver Creek Consolidated Coal Company and one of Prestonburg's most prominent citizens, died at his home here Wednesday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, three years after he had suffered a paralytic stroke which had rendered him an invalid. Though his condition had been precarious since he was first stricken, he had been able to continue his lifelong interest in his community and his passing brought a deep sense of loss to all who knew him. Mr. Heinze, a native of Ashland, Pa., came to this county 20 years ago, for a brief period was located on Beaver Creek during the early development of the coal field there, then moved to Prestonburg where he became one of the town's moving spirits in every worthwhile endeavor. He was educated at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., where he was prominent in athletics and a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. For years he had been a member of the Presbyterian Church and was an elder of the church here. He also was a Mason and a member of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers and was regarded as an authority on mining engineering. "Pick" Heinze's inherent honesty, his abiding interest in his community and in those who needed his services won for him during his residence here (Please turn to page eight)

HENSLEY DIES OF INJURIES

FORMER INSTRUCTOR IN FLOYD SCHOOLS IS MINE VICTIM... Trapped beneath a fall of slate in the mines of the Koppers Coal Company at Weeksbury Monday afternoon, Walter Craft Hensley, 29 years old, and a former Floyd county teacher, died as a result of his injuries. He was taken to a hospital in Huntington, W. Va., where he died in the vicinity of Wayne, W. Va. Mr. Hensley's injuries included a broken spine and a crushed pelvis. At the time of the accident he was inspecting track inside the mines. (Please turn to page eight)

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES JAILED AT PIKEVILLE

Two Floyd county members of the Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect were held in jail at Pikeville Sunday night for questioning by an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation following their refusal to leave Pikeville when arrested for distributing literature on the streets of the town. The two were booked as Roel Robbette, 20, and Miss Helen Stiel, 19, of Betsy Layne. Acting Chief of Police E. B. Coleman said arrest of the man and woman averted serious trouble, since distribution of literature by them was reported to have caused angry comment on the streets. When jailed, Robbette bore the marks of a battle in which he is said to have engaged on the streets of Pikeville following an argument over his actions. He was bruised about the face.

SNAKES ATTEND DINWOOD MEET

Dinwood, Ky.—Constancy of the recently-enacted law prohibiting the use of venomous snakes to demonstrate faith during church services may yet be in doubt, but that didn't curb the "faithful" here. Members of the Holiness Church at Hazard conducted services here Sunday and brought with them an assortment of rattlesnakes and copperheads for a demonstration. While engaged in handling the reptiles a Hazard minister was bitten in the hand and after considerable slinging of hand and snake the latter was finally shaken loose. Prayers were promptly offered and the bitten man apparently suffered nothing worse than a swollen hand. Authorities here said Thursday that they had not been notified of the above offense.

SEEK OPTIONS ON AIRPORT LOCATION

LOCAL LEADERS SEE HOPE FOR AVIATION CENTER IN FLOYD

If hopes of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club and the Prestonsburg Co-Operative Business Association are realized, the country's preparations for defense against a possible aggressor will, in a measure, be brought to Floyd county. The two organizations seek location in the county of an aviation training school as a part of the national defense program now under way, embracing the construction of at least 15,000 planes and the training of thousands of pilots, mechanics and ground crew workers. Options were being sought by the local groups this week on at least two tracts of land in the county as prospective flying fields. If options on land are procured at reasonable figures, Congressman A. J. May, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, told Kiwanians at their meeting here last Friday noon, Floyd county has an excellent chance to gain the location of such a defense enterprise. It was pointed out at the club-meeting that Floyd county's inland location and its natural resources are such that the county is ideally situated as a center of air defense. Congressman May, guest-speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon, assured members and other business men of the county that he would give every possible assistance to the county's move to procure the air center. N. M. White, Jr., J. B. Harrison, Jr., C. F. Stull were named as a committee to negotiate for the options on the purchase of an aviation field and are expected to make a definite report within the next few days. To accommodate the army's "flying fortresses," the nation's giant bombers, a runway at least 3,000 feet long will be required. Across-field another runway 1,000 feet in length will be required, it was said. FROM PIKEVILLE Carl Wright, Pikeville visited friends here this week.

GREEN FIELDS IN WINTER, AIM OF PROGRAM

Field of hairy vetch on farm of N. F. Holbrook (center), Abbott Creek. The vetch, which was photographed on June 1 of the following year. Another field on the same farm, sowed on September 1, gave a heavier yield but had been plowed under when this snapshot was made by County Agent Isbell. For the last five years County Agent S. H. Isbell has rubber-stamped on all his communications to Floyd farmers the motto-prediction that "Floyd county will come into her own when her fields are green in winter." And all along, the fields remained dry and fallow—and Floyd county yet has not "come into her own." But winter cover crops are coming. The County Agent's office, through the Agricultural Conservation Program, is making an intensive drive this year to that end—to the end that the fields will be green this winter. Hairy vetch, words which by no means suggest euphonious "green pastures," is the solution offered to Floyd farmers to this winter crop problem. It is being urged as a substitute to the old eye crop hitherto used and then used all too seldom. Says Mr. Isbell: "Hairy vetch makes an excellent winter pasture, prevents soil erosion and will increase corn yields 25 per cent and in proportion will increase other crop returns when plowed under as a green manure crop. Vetch should be sowed between July 15 and September 15 following any summer crop, such as corn, soy beans, cow peas and garden growths. The seeding rate for vetch is 20 pounds per acre and where sowed with winter oats will make an excellent hay crop. It can be mowed by June 15 and then be followed by a crop of corn or soy beans. Mr. Isbell announces as the goal for hairy vetch this year as 3,000 acres on a thousand farms of the county. Last year, he said, 133 farmers sowed only approximately 375 acres. All fields given lime treatment this year and not sown to red clover or alfalfa should be sowed to vetch this year, the County Agent advises.

BONANZA

July 3—No less than one person has asked for some Bonanza news, so I can't let my readers public down. Honorable mention goes this week to Messrs. B. M. Hicks, O. W. Hicks and W. J. Smith.

Well, we have a road now passable the year 'round. What's better than now is what that "footwashing crowd" is going to say instead of "I want to get my car out of here before it rains." I betcha expression No. 2 will move up to No. 1 this year, and it will be, "I don't see what you all do up here for pasture." Could they have called a mass meeting and decided on two comments to make about the place, or does it actually appear to them all the same way? Anyhow, if we point out to them that we live on a WPA road and make "worthy use of leisure time," they look at us with a half-amused, half-sympathetic expression, and you've not been around."

We might call this nonsense, but I've heard that "Nonsense is an elephant hanging over a rock-cliff with its tail tied to a daisy."

Crops are first-rate—I bet "Uncle" Joe Bays six girls have had enough corn this year to feed a standin' army all winter.

Cupid's latest victims: "Little" Jim Spradlin and Hazel Yates. Accompanied by Mary Elizabeth and Marie they spent their honeymoon in Dugganboro, Va., at the home of their grandmother.

Employed in the "union fields" of Ohio and Indiana are: Elliott Raliff, A. M. Bays, Roosevelt Stone, Guy Merritt, Malcolm Hackworth.

County Atty. and Mrs. Forrest D. Short visited Mrs. James Short and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Burke here Sunday evening. Forrest and Goldie will soon occupy their new home on Maple avenue in Prestonsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baldrige had as dinner guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Butler Stone and daughter, Alice, of Clint. Guests Monday were Miss Georgia Dale Robinson, of Harold, and Messrs. Carl Woods and Jack Allen, of Allen.

Judge and Mrs. Henry Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stephens visited Mr. and Mrs. Otis Conley Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. W. J. Motte spent Wednesday in Prestonsburg purchasing supplies for her new store.

Miss Cynthia Mae Music visited Miss Ruhie Wright here Saturday.

Mrs. Ruth Greig spent Saturday in Prestonsburg.

Helen Ann and Barbara Hill visited Helen Ray Burke here over the week-end.

Mrs. Jerry Hackworth and daughter Janis, of Ivyton, visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spradlin here recently.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Bascom Stephens, Maytown.

We've been getting Arthur to picture mountain conditions in their true light when he goes to Lexington to broadcast Saturday.

TO GOVERNOR JOHNSON AND ZACH JUSTICE

"Who are my friends?"
Troubled spirits down through the ages have roved and roved that age-old question.
It is a puzzle by which we, all high and low, are beset. There is none so humble, none so exalted, but that he would cherish the answer to that question.

BILL HENRY SAYS:

The views expressed in this column are those of the writer, and not necessarily those of The Times.
I MAY BE WRONG, but I believe:
That we, the people of the United States are all stockholders, with equal shares in an institution that has only one purpose, the welfare of ourselves.

scouties of the Seventh Congressional district they also found, we are told, that the Floyd County Democratic delegation is not only friendly but loyal to the last ditch to the administration.
If they want to go back further, to delve deeper into the records, to see by actual count how they stand in the two counties, Governor Johnson and Highway Commissioner Justice may read the returns from the gubernatorial election of several years. Therein they may read that Floyd county gave Governor Johnson a majority over Republican King Swope of 2,321 votes while Pike was turning in a majority emphasizing its dislike of both the Governor and Mr. Justice.

Floyd county has had its quarrels with Mr. Justice, not to mention other officials. Yet its Democracy is unswayed.
Except for rhetorical emphasis, we would not feel constrained here to inquire, "Where are your friends, who, pray, are your enemies?" The answer should be apparent.

This newspaper does not ask for extreme partisanship. It does not suggest that the two gentlemen given "the cold shoulder" by Pike and counties allied with it should be perpetrators of official action prompted by motives of vengeance. But it is a point to the friends of these men, it asks, "If you have anything to give, will you give it to your friend or your enemy?"

In the town of Pikeville there now is the district office of the State Employment Service. It is in the southern tip of a district serving several counties, one of which is Morgan at the other, the northern, extreme of the district.

There is every sound reason for this office to be moved to Prestonsburg, which is near the center of the district. First of all, that change should be considered in the light of saving mileage and expense to those seeking re-employment. It is a distance of approximately sixty miles to and from Pikeville after these re-employment applicants pass Prestonsburg to register their needs and qualifications. And if you think sixty miles does not bother you, think of the uppers and need every cent you can rake and scrape while you are looking for a job to put you on your feet again!

And now back to the theme of this argument: Governmental efficiency. It is a matter of waiting a further show of strength from the enemy or a mere fervid show of affection by us of your Floyd county friends before making this change in the office location of the State Employment Service that should have been made, months ago?

government to feel him will continue long as a moral, upright citizen.
That the majority of the unemployed would refuse to work, or to accept from the government a house with five or ten acres with the provision they pay $1,000 for same over a period of years, and with the further provision the government help them until they are on their feet in and at that time they go off relief.

I DO BELIEVE:
That President Roosevelt will run for a third term, with William O. Douglas as his running mate, and that he will be elected by a vote close to his total in 1936.

MONEY OF NO VALUE
"A huge refugee army is trekking its way back to Paris, many are dying along the way of hunger. The army is made up of the poor, well-to-do landowners, notables, bankers and very wealthy. Those who have money are no better off than others, their money is of no value—there is nothing to buy."—William Winter, radio commentator.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR
SAYS FLOYD DEMOCRACY "GANGED"
Editor, Floyd County Times:
The first shall be last and the last shall be first" holds good in politics as played among the Democrats of the United States.

How? Take a look at the record and you will see.
Floyd county, which led all the counties of the district in last year's gubernatorial election—Floyd county, which, with its 14,000 Democratic votes, is the first in the district's gubernatorial election—was LAST in the district organization at the state convention in Louisville last week.

And Pike county, which gave Republican Swope a handsome majority over Democratic Keen Johnson at the last election—Pike county and others that were last when Democratic Johnson were needed last year they were FIRST in the district organization.
Floyd county stayed with the state administration and voted up, out and to the cold. Floyd county stuck to its agreement with Pike and Knott counties to support R. C. Wells, Pikeville, and County Judge E. F. Hill, Prestonsburg, for the State Central Executive Committee. Knott fulfilled its promise. Pike didn't. Pike formed an alliance with Perry and Leitcher and was elected to the State Executive Committee.

The agreement between Pike, Floyd and Knott counties was that there would be no factional fight in the party, that all would stand by the promise Highway Commissioner Zach Justice made no fight whatever because of his interest in Pike county and, like us of Floyd county, his love.

R. G. Wells was named to the state executive committee. Floyd county got one man recognized, Judge Hill! No. Dr. J. C. Oldford, of Hazard, was chosen instead. The two committee-men named are Mrs. Kash Holbrook, Salyersville, and Mrs. B. F. Wright, Whitesburg. Floyd county was even denied the second place in the district organization. When I nominated Fred Francis, a leader in the Kentucky Young Men's Christian Association, that we all would get together, the combine that seemed determined to "rub our noses in the dirt, promptly named young Mr. Maynard from Republican Party county to be our delegate. I predicted, a few years ago, they didn't have enough Democrats to fill out the required number of election officers.

I objected to Mr. Caddy being a delegate from the Seventh district. I have nothing personally against Sam Caddy, but I do not think it fitting that he should have been given this honor instead of having it given to a resident of the Blue Grass. When I objected to this action, I was assured that Mr. Caddy was not a delegate-at-large from the state, but, just as soon as my objections were withdrawn, the combine jumped him over onto the seventh district delegation.

The entire anti-administration fight seemed to be directed at Highway Commissioner Zach Justice, and in making such a fight these counties for the third time in eight years conspired to leave Floyd county among the poorest members of the party. Let us not forget that Floyd county even refused Col. T. S. Haymond, a man who has done as much, or more than, any other man in the State of Kentucky for his state or his party on his delegation. The Floyd county delegation and state Democratic Party of Kentucky for the first time in its history by supplying Col. Haymond with a delegate's badge and himself and his wife a place on the platform.

But we could do nothing that would erase the fact that, while Leitcher was "sawing Mr. Haymond behind, it had five counties as delegates to the state convention.
Why do I write at such length about this subject? Simply because I am interested in the Democratic party here at home. Because I have no use for "Fifth Column" work anywhere, in international, national, state or district politics. Because I am like many other good Democrats—because I resent treachery and continued abuse of Floyd county, a county which cannot be accused of either treachery, abuse of others or of bolting the ticket.

AN APPRECIATION
Editor: The Floyd County Times:
Upon my return home from the agents' convention at Chattanooga, Tennessee, I was very deeply grieved to learn of the death of my good friend, William C. Goble, which had occurred during my absence; and when I had known since the days of my childhood.

It was my good fortune to be associated with him in school for many years, and could but note his diligence as a student and his scholarly attainments which were outstanding. He was easily the leader in all his classes and was respected by the student body composed of W. H. May, George Neel, Pierce Conley, Bud Snavely and many others who have long since gone to their graves.

He was a genius of the highest order, and was unaffected, always ready to assist other students, and many were the recipients of his kindness and assistance. This unaffected character continued throughout his life, always ready to be known and loved so well, this ambition could have been easily gratified.
His untimely death brings sadness to his many relatives and all his friends.

P'BURG, MARTIN ENTERTAIN

GREATEST THROWS IN HISTORY OF TOWNS

The largest crowds ever to gather in either town attended the Fourth of July celebrations at Prestonburg and Martin last Thursday, according to all estimates.

The number of persons attending the program here has been estimated from 4,000 to 10,000. Figures on the Martin gathering are unavailable, but there is no doubt but that it was the largest ever assembled there.

The feature of the celebration here was a patriotic address delivered by Congressman A. J. May, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, who discussed the vital part that the United States defense capable of meeting any advances which may be made by the dictator nations.

In the championship wrestling match which was staged on the high school campus Blacksmith Pedigo retained his claim to the Kentucky light-heavyweight crown by taking two out of three falls from Kid Scotty Williams. After losing the title in the second contest, Blacksmith came back to take the last two.

Among these winning prizes in contests here were Clyde Blackburn, bicycle race; Paul Gray Williams, foot race; Morgan Rose, pole pillow fight; Jack Branham, climbed the grassy pole the first time, and Bud Munn was successful in the second contest. Honors for having the largest family present for the celebration went to Riley Shepherd, of Middle Creek.

An unscheduled feature of the Prestonburg celebration was the appearance of the new Kentucky marine aviator, James Music, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Music, of near East Point. The little aviator, who proved to be very popular here, entered several of the contests.

A giant fireworks display Thursday night concluded the activities here. Credit for a large part of the success of the celebration was due to the co-operation of the Boy Scouts and American Legion with local program committees.

Instead of a $5 contribution for the Fourth of July celebration here, as was erroneously reported here last week, the United Carbon Company contributed $25. Other contributors not mentioned last week were Columbus Valley Grocery Company, $10, and Sandy Valley Grocery Company, $20.

HEALTH NEWS

Compiled by Dr. Marvin Ransdell
Director, Floyd County Health Dept.

MEASLES

Measles, as everyone knows, is an extremely common disease of childhood and one which is looked upon as more or less natural for all children. This of course is not true, but the disease is so very contagious that few children escape it.

Measles is caused by a filterable virus, an infecting agent so small that even the best microscope will not make it visible. This virus is present in the nose, mouth, and throat of persons having the disease and also in the rash that develops. The virus is easily transmitted to others by only brief contact.

Seven to fourteen days usually elapse between the time of exposure and the development of the disease. The onset occurs with mild catarrhal symptoms resembling the common cold. After one to three days a "breaking-out" occurs in the mouth and usually the next day or so appears on the skin. The rash of measles often appears about the head and face and then rapidly spreads over the rest of the body. From onset there is considerable fever which usually disappears within three or four days after the appearance of the rash. The eyes are usually very sensitive to light and "watery." Sore throat and cough may be present. The rash lasts about a week and gradually disappears and is followed by the usual peeling process.

It is almost impossible to prevent the spread of measles but it is by no means impossible to take proper care of cases so that complications will not occur. Bronchopneumonia is the most serious complication and causes many deaths each year. In the United States nine to ten thousand children die annually from measles, usually complicated by pneumonia.

If your child shows symptoms of measles, call your family physician and follow his instructions.

$19,417 SCHOOL BID ACCEPTED

BOARD OF EDUCATION AWARDS REYNOLDS CONTRACT

Contract for the construction of the seven-room arts and science building at Wheelwright was awarded Joe Reynolds on his low bid of $19,417 at the regular meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education Saturday morning in the office of County Superintendent Town Hall.

At a special meeting of the Board Monday last week all bids on the same building were rejected and the bidders were allowed until Saturday to enter new ones. The lowest bid of those rejected was $21,510, entered by Gearheart and Richardson, and others ranged up to $22,219.

Two other bids on the building were open Saturday: Layne, Hale and Williams, $19,510 and Gearheart and Richardson, $20,940.

On a low bid of $4,500 the Columbus Heating & Ventilating Company was awarded the contract for the installation of a forced air heating and ventilating system in the new Allen grade school building. This system is similar to those in the Prestonburg high school and Drift consolidated school buildings. A previous bid of $4,760 for the same type system, with several others for the steam type, was rejected at the special meeting.

The Board voted to change its depository from the Bank Josephine to the First National Bank for the next two years. The Board's depository is alternated between the two banks every two years. Mr. Hall said G. C. Spradlin was appointed treasurer of the Board.

Bids will be received until August 3 for a piano and the installation of a sound system for the Maytown high school the cost of which will be paid out of the Maytown school fund.

CLINIC PLANNED FOR CRIPPLES

AID IS OFFERED CRIPPLED TOTS OF FLOYD

A free clinic for crippled children will be held in the high school building, Paintsville, on Thursday, July 18, according to announcement of Miss Vera P. Pool, field nurse for the Kentucky Crippled Children's Commission, which will conduct the clinic, for the benefit of crippled boys and girls in Floyd, Martin, Johnson, and Magoffin counties.

The Commission is the state agency responsible for the care of such cases whose parents are unable to finance their treatment. The state appropriation has never been sufficient to take care of all applicants and for this reason the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, a private agency composed of interested citizens and members of civic clubs, sponsors a fund raising campaign each spring.

Service Clubs in the four counties, co-operating with the Commission to promote the clinic at Paintsville on July 18. Transportation committees have been formed to see that all crippled children attend the clinic. Miss Ella Noel Wiley is transportation chairman for Floyd county. Children meet at the courthouse here.

Any person who knows of a crippled child in the county in need of examination and treatment is urged to report the name and address to Miss White.

Examinations at the clinic will be made by Dr. D. O. Garred, Ashland, bone surgeon, who will recommend type of treatment needed. Cases will be hospitalized in Ashland, where the Commission's patients from Eastern Kentucky will receive care.

SHORTAGE SEEN IN WORKERS

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE CITES CHANCES FOR WORKMEN

Opportunities for employment are increasing daily and the prospects for the immediate future are even more promising, according to R. F. Fields, manager of the area office of the Kentucky State Employment Service in Pikeville, said this week. A shortage of certain types of skilled workers is expected, and conditions will offer opportunities not only to those unemployed but to many persons to requalify themselves who are working in occupations other than their regular work, he predicted.

All persons who have experience in the following jobs are urged to register at the Kentucky State Employment office in the Connolly building, Pikeville:

Ship fitters,oppersmiths, thin metal welders (acetylene), high pressure welders (acetylene), aviation mechanics, cabinet makers, canson workers (sand hogs), reinforced concrete (rodmen blacksmiths (power machine), boiler makers (marine), steam and gas crane operators (overhead), pipe fitters (high pressure), millwrights (industrial) rolling mill workers, all types (skilled only).

Written proof of experience in these occupations will be of value to applicants.

Fields also pointed out the fact that these probably would be opportunities for men with experience in these listed jobs to obtain work in other states, as they are calling on Kentucky for qualified applicants.

Hours for registration at the Employment Service office are 8:30 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon, on all week days with the exception of Saturdays.

What Telephone Dollars Do For Dixie...

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company

Incorporated

First in your mind, perhaps, the telephone industry's principal contribution to the South is quick, dependable communication.

But Southern Bell is also important as a citizen, as an employer of people, as a payer of taxes, as a purchaser of materials. In 1939 alone, operating expenses amounted to approximately fifty-five million dollars, not including additional millions used for new construction.

To build, operate and maintain this system requires more than twenty-one thousand skilled workers whose annual payroll is approximately thirty million dollars.

These telephone men and women contribute to the business and social welfare of their communities, and of the South. They and their families compose a group of perhaps eighty thousand people who are dependent on this business for their livelihood.

As a taxpayer, the Southern Bell does much toward the support of the local, state and national governments. Total taxes last year exceeded nine and three-quarters million dollars, nearly twenty-seven thousand dollars a day.

The Southern Bell Company is a Southern industry in the fullest sense and its activities form a substantial contribution to the growth and prosperity of the South.

RAW MILK EXCELS PASTEURIZED, TESTS ON RATS INDICATE

Seattle, June 10—A diet of raw milk built better looking hearts than pasteurized milk, in growing rats, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told today.

Several other internal organs also apparently developed better on raw than pasteurized milk in this experiment, which was reported by Alice M. Bahrs and Rosalind Hughes of Oregon State College.

The animals were fed good diets, the only difference being in the kind of milk. Those with raw milk had better weight than those with pasteurized.

This gain was small, but it was so definite that the Oregon women dissected the animals to see if they could learn why. They discovered what they termed milk impurities to internal organs in the pasteurized-fed animals. The hearts of the latter had a slightly flabby appearance compared with raw milk drinkers. There were small areas where the heart tissues were not as good as in the other animals.

The adrenal glands of the pasteurized milk animals were paler in color and had small areas of apparent atrophy. The livers were paler. The skeletal muscles, which are those that attach by either one or both end to bones, were likewise paler.

There were no symptoms of illness due to these changes in the pasteurized milk fed animals, but the experiment appeared to show a difference in development.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

PICTURES IN THE HOME

However inexpensive the pictures in the old-fashioned home may have been, there have often reprints of some of the best in existence. The one great place for a picture was in the center of a fire-screen, a device to cover the fireplace during the summer. A frame was made large enough to enclose the fireplace and the space between it and the mantel. Over this frame was laced canvas or fringed domestic wall paper, when it was obtainable, was pasted over this canvas, with a picture from a newspaper or magazine in the center. The picture I have most often seen was Rosa Bonheur's "Horse Fair," really a good picture. Sometimes the whole screen was covered with pictures, in black and white or in color. I wish some one would show the value of such things, had photographed representations of fire screens when they were in full swing; such photographs would today have a value in any study of folk literature.

Pictures on the walls were of three kinds: prints like those on the fire-screen, photographs, and enlarged pictures. Just as Rosa Bonheur's "Horse Fair" was so often found on screens, it was likewise often seen in a simple frame on the wall. A stag by bay, probably by Landseer, graced many a home. Some of these prints were determined in the village store by paying seventy-five cents after buying so many dollars' worth of merchandise. Many of these were in the way of ornate frames and were in the way of works of art. A few homes, Protestant or Catholic, had sacred pictures, either in frames or pasted on plaques to the walls. No home was too poor to have a picture, even if it were only the cover of some farm magazine. I have often wondered at the quality of the pictures that were to be found in simple homes, pictures that often may have determined certain trends in the lives of the boys and girls.

In the front room there were photographs in frames, sometimes several on the walls at one time. The frames that I like best have overlapping corners and are about an inch wide. Some of them are rustic in appearance. Full-length or half-length pictures of members of the family were the ones usually found in these little frames.

A whole book could be written about enlarged pictures. They are the possessions of homes that cannot afford oil paintings. Presumably, the same familiarity has had one or more visits to solicitors for pictures of this sort. A picture of a large picture, no matter what the size, is converted into a large one, with an imposing frame. Long-dead ancestors, members of the family when they were much younger, and sometimes a picture of some distinguished friend or neighbor are the ones I find. I always look on the walls when I enter a house, because I want to see the enlarged pictures. An antique dealer of my town says that he often has calls for ancestors; just any undifferentiated portrait looks good to ancestor-hunters. A portrait like this, hung up in the front hall, strikes envy into the hearts of others who can afford only genuine enlarged pictures.

Where did Hob get the name Sugarfoot—did it have anything to do with sasstraps?

Drift wins its second doubleheader in five days. Watch out, Coal Run—we're after that top rung.

From the looks and names of the delegates to the State Democratic Convention—the Seventh district was decidedly anti-Justice. It must be open season on Advisory Highway Commissioners. The Fifth and Sixth are raising more hell than the Seventh.

After five attempts, Chas. Buck finally got to Cincinnati to see the Reds play. The first time he got no farther than Cannel Coal Gap.

We ought to get Bev's cow in some kind of a national contest. Any cow that gives 3 gallons of milk a week is too good for this section.

If we should ever get all the "Sleepers" of the state payroll the unemployment census would raise 10 per cent.

Let's elect a President that 65 per cent of all Americans want, namely, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Where are all those people who called FDR a dictator? I don't blame you for not speaking up.

That Republican nominee for Governor over in West Virginia is really on the spot. The H-D carried a statement of his from the Republican convention that "75 per cent of the West Virginia Republicans want Taft and the other 25 per cent doesn't want Wilkie"—I'm certainly interested to see how Dawson gets off "that spot."

From The Courier-Journal: "The Republican convention in Philadelphia urged us along the road to death—by talking about peace when war is being waged against us, by lulling us with assurances when there is no time to rearm. If the Democratic convention is just as conscienceless, just as blind to unwelcome facts, the just great democracy will be self- slain."

"For twenty years Hitler's plan of campaign has never varied. It is to destroy his enemies one by one and to prevent common action against himself by soothing the world with false promises. "Divide and Conquer": The old Roman motto has never been applied more faithfully. The Republican party fell party does likewise. It shall be left alone against the resources of three continents, alone against an implacable Casag who despises us, alone with our one-ocean navy and our two oceans."

Now Hitler has only two enemies left on earth—the U. S. and Britain. So, in spite of what he says about not having any designs on the Western Hemisphere—in spite of Lindbergh's declaration that Hitler won't attack us and despite the "narrowness" of Henry Ford and his son, Edsel, just remember that Poland, the Dutch, the Belgians and the Scandinavians, also received the same declarations from Hitler. Let's give Britain everything she needs and she will whip Hitlerism without our manpower. Even if we have to give planes, tanks, etc., to Britain, it will be worth it to keep our boys out of war. Italy doesn't amount to anything—Left Beaver could lick their whole army. Destroy Hitlerism and Hitler will fold up—the ole hummer!

"Cat" Shelton must be slipping—but his anchor seems to be holding him down.

WAYLAND WINS DOUBLEHEADER

PIKEVILLE BOWS, 13-8 AND 3-0, THERE ON JULY 4

By taking a doubleheader from Pikeville, 13-8 and 3-0, on the Pikeville diamond July 4, Wayland took a higher total score than in the Big Sandy Baseball League standings and moved to within one game of league-leading Wheelwright, the team which over first place from Van Lear after the latter had won their first seven games of the season. The two losses dropped Pikeville into a tie with Elkhorn City for the cellar championship.

In the first game Wayland took advantage of seven Pikeville errors and converted 14 hits into 13 runs. Patton on the hill for Wayland, allowed 12 hits which were good for eight runs. Frady pitched all the way for Pikeville. Frady and Moore, playing the short stop positions for Wayland and Pikeville respectively, led both teams in the hitting, with each making three hits, but Moore chipped in with five of his team's eight errors. The second game, which was limited to seven innings by mutual agreement, was a shut-out for Rollins of Wayland, who allowed the Pikeville hitters only four safeties. Wayland's defensive play was flawless, while Pikeville committed one error. Frady led both teams in hitting in this game, with three-for-four, and Branham, at third base for the winners, made two hits in two official trips to the plate. The four Pikeville hits were made by as many Pikeville players.

Rain forced the postponement of Sunday's single game between the same two teams at Wayland.
