WORK IS MEN!
Any poor sap who would try to excuse himself from a newspaper office and take his alleged vacation in Cincinnati, meanwhile having to suffer through two games such as last Sunday afternoon--well, you should excuse him for this or any other pitiful excuse for a column.

COOL OFF, WAY BACK
Some days when you haven't anything much important to do, visit the Floyd county courthouse. Cool off by diving deep into the antiquity of this section. In either Clerk's office you will find old records dating back to 1800 and earlier.

FURB FICTION, THIS
It seems that an American, foolish fellow, was on his way to Europe--by steamer. Almost as lonely he was. So, was out in mid-ocean, this fellow-countryman gets lonely. So he goes down into the lounge salon. And there he encounters the lone occupant of said salon. And, after some hedging, he breaks the ice with:

"Would you join me in a whisky-and-soda?"
To which the dour, old gentleman replies, "No, sir, no--tried it once and didn't like it."
Knots and time flowed and sped past, and our American friend became lonelier and lonelier. What to do... What to do...
"Would you care to join me in a..."
"No, sir, no, sir. Tried it once and didn't like it."
Faded more time. And this American became lonelier yet for company. "Would you care to venture as a final offer to his dour companion, 'care for a game of billiards?'"
"No, sir, no, sir. Tried it once and didn't like it. But my son will be along in a few minutes--he'll join you."
"Your ONLY son, I'm sure," rejoined the American.

WARNING!--NO FUSING ALLOWED
Carl Wright, who is very "fired" though he has not been employed (officially speaking) by THE TIMES, is leaving soon for Florida, where he will be a house operator. And Carl, during his spare moments here, has been clipping from THE WAYNES COUNTY TIMES. A stack of clippings, has Carl. Clippings which tell of one, two or three men having been shot; of a man or so having been seen. Clippings which relate Floyd county's tragedies of gun and knife.

SOLICIT AFFAIRS, BOTH
Life is like a newspaper.
You have your beginning, you grow and you get stronger, becoming a factor for good among your fellows, or you merely grow older, become weaker, fall and die--even as a newspaper.
Whatever you do, so we are taught, is written in the Book of Life. Whatever a newspaper sets down in type is imperishable, since it may be preserved even in the original, re-printed, quoted or stored away in the secret recesses of the sub-conscious.

HOLBROOK DIES OF INJURIES
Middle Creek man succumbs after fall Sunday

Jonathan Holbrook, 48 years old, well-known Middle Creek man, succumbed Monday afternoon at a Paintsville hospital to injuries suffered early Sunday morning when he fell over a cliff near the home of his brother, Henry Holbrook, on Middle Creek.

According to reports the victim had left his home to visit his brother at about two o'clock Sunday morning. He was found at the base of the embankment at 8 a. m., Sunday by his brothers, Grover and Kelsey Holbrook, both of Middle Creek, and taken to the hospital. Paralyzed below the waist, his back was broken and the spinal cord was almost severed.

A life-long resident of Middle Creek, Mr. Holbrook was the son of the late L. B. Holbrook, who died several years ago, and Mrs. Cynthia Holbrook, who survives. He had been in charge of the Inland Gas Company pumping station at Hillsdale, Middle Creek, for several years.

Besides his mother he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Julia Holbrook, and four children, Grover and Clarence Holbrook, both at home, and Garmon Holbrook and Josephine Dyer, both of whom reside in Indiana; four brothers, Grover, Henry, Kelsey and Walter Holbrook, all of Middle Creek, and one sister, Mrs. Greenville Spradlin, Prestonsburg.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home of his mother on Middle Creek at one o'clock this afternoon (Thursday) with the Rev. W. B. Gerritt, pastor of the Prestonsburg Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be made in the family cemetery under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:
I take this method of thanking the voters of Floyd county for their loyal support in the recent primary election. I appreciate it deeply. For those who saw fit to vote otherwise I have only the kindest feelings, recognizing the right of every man to cast his own choice. We will all be together for victory in November.

REA EXTENSION THRU FLOYD IS SEEN

TEN COMMUNITIES INTERESTED IN PLAN
Plans for the organization of a large county co-operative whereby a large part of the rural territory of the county may procure electricity under the Rural Electrification Administration were formulated last week at a conference of REA representatives and officials of the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company in the office of County Agent S. L. Isbell.

With the Floyd fiscal court deferring action on the proposed use of buildings in the county by certain WPA projects, an organization was effected at a meeting at the courthouse here Thursday evening to aid in the sponsorship of such projects.

J. J. Hatcher was named chairman of the committee, which is composed of Mayor T. P. Arnold of Prestonsburg, Dr. O. T. Stephens, Dr. Marvin Randall and H. T. Hill. W. H. Wheeler was chosen secretary of the organization.

At the same time, expected location of a WPA mattress factory at Martin was discussed. Product of the factory, working approximately 20 persons, would be distributed to the needy.

Dr. O. T. Stephens, chairman of the City Board of Education here, said that the school board is co-operating fully with the WPA garden lunch room project for the school which is expected to become active with the opening of the school term here.

Mayor Arnold pointed to the achievement of the fiscal court, which he believed the fiscal court would be glad to pay rent and to bear such other necessary expenses, if the court could be persuaded to realize the importance of these projects. "The fiscal court," he declared, "cannot afford not to pay the rent on such a project as that in which commodities are distributed to the needy."

Others taking part in the discussion were Cal Day, chairman of the Pike county committee; Miss Rose Farmer, area supervisor of library projects; Miss McCormick, area supervisor of garden lunch room projects; Mrs. O. T. Stephens, Prestonsburg city school attendance officer; W. M. Hazans, office deputy for Sheriff David Salisbury; Dr. Marvin Randall, director of the Floyd county health department; J. J. Hatcher, chairman of the committee.

Next meeting of the organization will be held at the courthouse August 22, at 7:30 p. m.

MINER JAILED AFTER TWO SLAIN
HINDMAN BANKER'S SON HELD HERE AS SLAYER

To jealousy was ascribed this week the slaying of two Wheelwright men and the wounding of a third. The dead are Clyde Robinson, 26, Inland Steel Company miner, and Clarence Little, 18, who was bit by a stray bullet. W. N. (Bill) Wells, 40, was shot through his arm.

Jailed here as the gunman who fired six shots from a revolver, killing the two men and wounding the third, is a 25-year-old miner-son of "Bob" Ambury, Hindman bank official. Wednesday morning told THE TIMES that he had no statement to rest. Dr. Short, Ambury's brother, was also present at the shooting.

Monday afternoon, according to the statements of several witnesses, Robinson and three others were engaged in a card game on the sidewalk fronting the old school building on the mountainside overlooking Wheelwright. Ambury's son fired a step leading toward the building and slightly above the players.

Suddenly and without warning, these witnesses told County Attorney Fortney D. Short, Ambury's brother, began firing. The card-players scattered, some sprawling downhill toward the street level below, some running wildly toward the hillsides.

Robinson was shot two times, one time through the body from side to side, Wells, another participant in the game, was shot through his arm. Little, at the bathhouse door, round the hillside from the shooting scene, fell with a bullet through his chest, died en route to a Pikeville hospital. Robinson fell fatally wounded, nearby, and shortly expired.

Okley Church, Dock Conway, Canton Martin and Jay Little signed sworn statements before County Attorney Short to the effect that Ambury began firing without speaking and while Robinson and the three others were occupied with their card game. Some of the witnesses said Robinson carried an automatic pistol but asserted that it was not fired.

County Attorney Fortney D. Short, Ambury's brother, began firing. The card-players scattered, some sprawling downhill toward the street level below, some running wildly toward the hillsides.

ORDER ISSUED BY PRESIDENT ALONG THE BIG SANDY

FOR THE DISTRIBUTION OF RELIEF SUPPLIES TO WAR REFUGEES

President Roosevelt last week issued an executive order, setting up machinery to distribute relief supplies to European war refugees under the act of Congress which appropriated $50,000,000. The President named Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to co-operate with the American Red Cross in purchasing foodstuffs and other materials for refugee aid.

At the time the appropriation was under consideration, prior to the fall of France, both President Roosevelt and Chairman Davis made it clear that the American Red Cross was not asking for financing from the government nor was the government proposing to finance the Red Cross. The Red Cross, Chairman Davis declared, intends to continue as an independent agency supported by the voluntary contributions of the public.

Also last week Chairman Davis, in an official report on the progress of relief activities in Europe, vigorously denied that Red Cross supplies had been seized by any of the belligerent nations. He reported that the goal of the $20,000,000 War Relief Fund was "in sight." The majority of the chapters have attained their quotas and brought their campaigns to a close, he said. As of July 26 the fund amounted to $19,925,510.

Referring to rumors that Germany had confiscated American Red Cross supplies and funds, Mr. Davis declared, "I want to assure the American people that there is no foundation whatsoever for such reports. I am able to state categorically that the German authorities have not seized one cent of Red Cross funds nor have they taken a single item of our supplies."

INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS

Each bidder must further agree that actual payment for the bonds must be made at the time the Trust Co., Louisville, Ky., at such time as the City may designate.

Each bid must be in dollars for the bonds and must be for at least par and accrued interest.

Each bidder must sign a copy of these instructions agreeing that the conditions herein shall be made a part of the bid.

Hunting Season Opens August 15

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 12.—The hunting season opens in Kentucky on August 15 with the red and gray squirrels first on the list for the mammals.

The squirrel season, which was changed by the last Legislature, opens August 15 and extends through October 31, both dates inclusive. The bag limit is six a day or 12 in possession at any time. Attention is also called to the fact that it is strictly against the law to buy or sell squirrels at any time.

Reports received by the Division of Game and Fish from its conservation officers and from interested sportsmen throughout the state, indicate a goodly number of both red and gray species of the squirrel family.

The hunters' attention is also called to the fact that all shotguns must be plugged with a solid wooden or metal plug so as not to hold more than three cartridges. Any person caught hunting any species of game with a gun that is not plugged holds a felony which is liable to arrest and upon conviction may either be fined not less than $15 nor more than $100 or suffer a jail sentence.

AN OPEN LETTER to All Kentucky Beer Retailers

Your license is a valuable and protected permit to engage in a legitimate business... but in that business, among your group, are a few persons who fail to realize that their license is also a privilege which may be revoked if it is not respected.

The vast majority of retail beer licensees are aware of this fact and conduct their establishments in accordance with law, order and public sentiment. But Kentucky's $20,000,000 beer industry insists that all retail outlets be operated strictly upon the principles of good citizenship.

Toward this end there has been formed the Kentucky Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee, which is assisting law-enforcement officials in every way possible to clean up or close up outlets guilty of law violations or anti-social practices. Our work will be pressed vigorously as the campaign progresses.

This program is designed to protect the public interest and to safeguard your business from the selfish and unlawful acts of a small minority. We feel certain, therefore, of your support.

EXCUSE IT, PLEASE!

Bad manners play a clear-cut, major part in the occurrence of all highway accidents. By bad manners, we mean disregard for the other drivers on the road, characterized by bad temper, impulsiveness, breaking of established rules and customs, carelessness.

It is our firm conviction that closer observance of the little niceties which bespeak good manners will help to reduce highway accidents.

Heading the list of the causes of highway accidents is "sped too fast for conditions," a classification covering a multitude of highway errors. In our opinion, much more understandable cause in all these cases is highway discourtesy, speeding through crowded areas, through intersections, over top or wet roads; all reflect a complete disregard for the rights and lives of others. Driving on the wrong side of the road ranks second in the highway accident register, is typified by such bad driving as passing on hills, turns, crossing over white lines.

Violation of right-of-way, high in the list of accident causes, is a very common breach of highway manners; disregard of stop signs is another. All show an astonishing lack of concern for courtesy toward others.

Nor does the pedestrian present a clean slate when it comes to the consideration of highway manners. That such is the case is well demonstrated by the fact that more than two-thirds of pedestrian fatalities were caused because of a violation or engagement in some obviously unsafe act. Jay walking, children playing in roads, failure to walk correctly on highways are all violations of highway courtesy.

Little Potatoes Poison Livestock
Several cases of poisoning of potato vines or by the little green potatoes seen on top of the ground at digging time, have come to attention of the department of animal pathology at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Potato tops when wilted about digging time are known to be poisonous to stock. Turning livestock into the patch after digging sometimes results in the loss of hogs from eating little green potatoes.

Carolina. For traveling Mrs. Jeffries wore a costume of slate blue pin dot crepe with jacket, white accessories, and a shoulder corsage of gardenias. They will return in about two weeks and will live in the Wells apartments on First avenue.

Mrs. Jeffries is a graduate of the University of Kentucky. She has been librarian of the Prestonsburg high school for the last five years. Rev. Jeffries is pastor of the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church at Prestonsburg. He is a graduate of Georgetown College and received his Master of Theology degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville. He is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

The week preceding the ceremony was one of many social events in honor of the happy couple. On Tuesday, Mrs. W. P. Mayo entertained with a garden party and miscellaneous shower. Thursday morning, the Y.W.A. of the Baptist Church gave a morning coffee and kitchen shower. Friday night Mrs. R. W. Feller entertained at her home on Riverside, followed by dinner Saturday evening. Mrs. W. S. Wells and Miss Virgie McCombs gave a dinner at the Auxier hotel for the wedding party and out-of-town guests. After dinner the guests were invited to the home of Mrs. R. V. May for a rehearsal party.

On Friday the bride-to-be entertained her attendants at luncheon at the Auxier hotel and presented each with a lovely gift. Rev. Jeffries gave a party for the best man and ushers at the Paulville Country Club, later he gave a dinner for them at the Auxier hotel and presented each with a gift. Rev. Jeffries, in turn, was presented with a fine golf bag by his guests.

The decoration of the church for the wedding was supervised by Mrs. W. P. Mayo and Miss Anne Martin. Merchants who advertise are Floyd county boosters.

Plumb Girls' Team Advances Step in Tourney

Past the first hurdle on their way through the tri-state softball tournament at Huntington, with St. Louis their next stopping-place unless they meet defeat in one of their two remaining games this week, was the Prestonsburg girls' softball team. The girls defeated the Powers Laundry team, Huntington, Tuesday night, 13-6. They return for the second round of play Thursday night, only four of the original starters remain in the tournament.

Though they played through a steady drizzle, the Prestonsburg girls made a favorable impression in their win over Huntington's last team remaining in the tournament. They meet the Fairmont, W. Va. girls Thursday evening.

Anne Hagans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hagans, twirled impressively ball for the winners in their first contest of the meet.

Corn Worm Infestation Can Be Reduced

Worm infestation in corn can be reduced as much as 80 percent by a method in use at the horticultural department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture.
The process is to cut the ends of the ears, as far back as "brownish" substance caused by worms appears, four to five days after pollination. Drop the ends in a basket, and burn to destroy the worms and eggs. Corn 90 percent infested often has been saved almost entirely by this method.
This method is applicable especially by the home gardener, who will not mind having the ends of the ears snipped. However, selling the corn thus treated has been tried successfully. Commercial users apparently do not object to it.
Dusting the corn with insecticides has not been found successful so far, it is reported. Not merely must the dusting be repeated every three to four days, but unless the same time is found to get the worms, it becomes useless.
A detailed report of the new method, covering the college's work on the subject for the past three years, has been prepared by Dr. E. M. Emmert of the horticultural department. Copies of the report may be obtained by writing to Dr. Emmert.

THE GARDEN
By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture

STORAGE FOR WINTER VEGETABLES
Last week, the matter of storing the "warm" crops, notably sweet potatoes, was discussed, and several simple ways were described. Although these are passably successful, yet if any considerable amount of such vegetables are to be stored, a specially designed structure does it more satisfactorily. Besides, having a "warm vegetable" storage place disposed of, the vegetable keeper is free to keep the vegetable in a "warm" place, and keep it in a "warm" place, and keep it in a "warm" place.
The storage should be such that a 50-degree temperature can be held with ease. This means that the walls, the ceiling and the floor should be tightly built. In "professional" houses, this is the construction. The walls are made of 2 by 4's sheathed on both sides, then covered with paper, and the inside finished with matched lumber, and the outside with clear sheathing, with stripped joints, or with weather-boarding.
The ceiling is composed of sheathing nailed to the rafters, a layer of paper, and covered with matched lumber. The floor construction is the same, but tongue-and-groove No. 1 flooring is used over the paper and the sheathing. Besides, a small stove is provided, to be fired in emergency.
A "warm" room so built in a house cellar, for example, can be held at just the temperature, regardless of the heat. Likewise, so can a room partitioned off in an outbuilding, whose construction is too flimsy.
Dryness of air is assured by providing ventilation, the admittance of outside air, and the passing off of moisture the stored vegetables emit. Advantage is taken of the fact that moist air rises. Thus, vents are placed at the highest spots in the ceiling, whose combined area in square inches is that of the floor, in square feet. Air intake is effected by vents in the floor or at the flooring, located next to the heating stove, to remove the chill, when ventilation is given in cold times.
A thermometer should always be at hand, and it should stand at 50 degrees. The humidity should be watched, when there is any sign of condensed moisture on the ceiling, the first fire should be started and the vents opened and kept open, until the ceiling is dry again, and all signs of mustiness are gone. Then, all vents are closed.
Such a "warm" room will prove a source of satisfaction to have, and every gardener should scout the possibilities of having one of his own.
For large quantities of potatoes or squash to store, a special building should be constructed. The Farm Engineering Department of the College of Agriculture is prepared to render plans and advice, for houses of whatever size desired. The address is Lexington, Ky.

Stress Importance of Milk in Diet
An adult should drink a pint of milk daily and a child two pints, according to health standards of home economists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.
Thus a family of two adults and three children need eight pints or a gallon of milk a day. A good milk cow should produce two to four gallons daily, or 60 to 80 lbs. of milk and some cream and butter for a family of five. However, since a cow must be dry a part of the year, a farm family should have, at least two milk cows.
A recent survey showed that families able to afford good milk, fruits, meat and eggs have less illness.

As note books, face tissues, tooth paste, small jars of cream... various little items where the retail price is the same throughout the entire United States.

One gets the feeling the geographical location of Ashland and Prestonsburg should be reversed. If additional freight mileage is supposed to affect retail prices...

These two little dots just above represent Huntington, W. Va. Don't get me wrong, the town is nice, the people are nice and they have many beautiful buildings...

Huntington, of course, has numerous stores. It has been "known" for a long time. However, what I came here for was not to count the buildings...

Today, labels are placed on most anything we have occasion to buy telling you in a word or two what it is. As an example, some dresses I looked at this afternoon were marked "special" at $2.95.

CHECK AND DOUBLE-CHECK

Our registered pharmacists are painstaking about every detail of prescription filling. A prescription brought to us is not only checked back for accuracy—but is DOUBLE-CHECKED to make doubly sure that it is 100 per cent in accordance with your doctor's orders.

were two things very, very wrong about them: the material was not pre-shrunk, and they were not tub-fast. There will be many surprised and disgruntled ladies after the first washing when they find that particular dress comes above their knees. I have personally purchased dresses in Prestonsburg, not just once but many times (my wife sends me shopping), for as low as $2.95 that not only matched what I saw today in color and style, but carried labels guaranteeing them to be pre-shrunk and tub-fast. I saw shoes this afternoon, shelves upon shelves of them. I watched in one large shoe department and the only difference I could find was that they simply had larger stock of the same styles and numbers to be found in Prestonsburg. One thing that I have paid particular attention to is the difference in the friendly, personal service I receive from the merchants of Floyd county and that cold, business-like I never saw you before feeling I get when I shop here.

I'm going to start home now. Prestonsburg looks better to me than I ever felt it could look. I was to get back where, when I walk down the street, I can wave a hand in friendly salute and call people by their first name. To hear some one say "Hello, Bill," sounds awfully good to my ears. The moment I get home, I'm not only going to give Norman Allen back this portable typewriter, but I shall charge him up with a complete over-haul job on my car. I'll no doubt hit every one of those same holes on the way back.

As I sit here writing this I think of the merchants in Prestonsburg, and I feel like making a special visit to each one, just to say, "Hello, Mr. So-and-so, here I am." I think of the real, everyday bargains the general stores are offering. I want you to write their names down on a piece of paper you would not realize how many of this type of store Prestonsburg has:

- The Leader Paul Francis Cox Department Store Scott's Department Store I. Richmond Company J. H. Nunnery's Department Store Anderson's Department Store Scott's Department Store I remember that Prestonsburg is the home of the largest and finest hardware and furniture stores in Eastern Kentucky: Morell Supply Company Valley Wholesale Furniture Co. In comparison to the ready-to-wear shops I saw on my tour today, I much prefer: The Margaret Mann Shop Martha "Walls" Dress Shop I saw many brightly lighted windows of jewelry stores and flower shops, but the selections for value offer nothing better than: Lee's Jewelry Store I have had three meals "down the river," one in Ashland and two in Huntington. I was surrounded by a lot of nice fixtures. . . . But when I am hungry I can't satisfy my appetite looking at those. . . . I'll take the home-like atmosphere at: Dick's Restaurant Smith's Restaurant Conley's Restaurant The Ben Franklin Store

I was almost blinded by the bright lights in the 10 cent stores, put them for the purpose to try to make you think you are buying a diamond instead of an inexpensive item. I would rather have the honesty and friendliness of: The J. B. Dick 10-Cent Store The Ben Franklin Store

In the grocery stores there are loads of cans and fresh vegetables. The quantity is just because they are serving a large population. I get the same things and a smile with them from: Fred's Market Perry's Grocery Washing machines, ironers, refrigerators, car loads of them. All manufactured by the same firms who supply our own local merchants. Their prices are no better here, and if anything went wrong with one I'd have an awful time getting their repair man up the Big Sandy. I'll buy mine from: Cumberland Maytag Shop Henry Porter and Co. (Frigidaire)

The barber shops here may have enough help that you do not have to wait long, but I have never found that I lost any time at: Hall and Baldrige's Barber Shop

In the evening at home, I don't have to walk blocks upon blocks to see what is "on" at the theaters. I know I can depend on a good program. For I realize our local operators have to please me, so I will come again and again. I like the theater, and I like our home theaters compare with the best: Abigail Theater Broadway Theater Fox Theater

After the theater I want to be able to stop in at a drug store where I can relax and not be made feel I have to swallow my kind in one gulp just to "give some one else a seat. I feel comfortable in my home drug stores, and when I take a prescription to them I have perfect confidence in: Hughes Drug Store Rutenpiller Drug Store

At the same time I think of the merchants I can't help but appreciate the many individuals who are always ready with a helping hand to make their community better. I am proud, and I know Floyd county is, of such men as:

- Mayer E. F. Arnold (The E. F. Arnold Funeral Home) J. J. (Jimmie) Halcher (Halcher's Insurance Agency) N. M. (Bud) White (White's Tire, Taps, Oil and Greases; Explosives) C. E. Smith (Distributor, Gulf Oil products) I haven't forgotten the automobile agencies. I "sort of" left them to the left because I know on my trip back tonight the old bus is going to remind me with every squeak that it is high time it is being retired to "Green Pastures." I know, when the time comes, I can get the right car for my needs from: Carter Motor Sales (Buick and Olds Dealer) Howard and Decker (Motor Company (Ford Dealer) Valley Chevrolet Sales (Chevrolet Dealer) AU REVOIR

A portion of this man's testimony indicated that Ambury was drinking, shortly before the shooting took place. Ambury was arrested, a few minutes after the firing ceased, by Police-men Gus Little and "Con" Cheek and brought to jail here.

One witness to the tragedy told County Attorney Short that he called to Ambury, asking what was happening. "Oh, no excitement at all," the witness quoted Ambury as saying. "Just having a little fun."

Surviving Robinson are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherd Robinson; three brothers, Marvin Robinson of Cliff Claude Robinson of Jenny's Creek and Frank Robinson of the U. S.
