GRAPES OF WRATH AT HOME

The husband did odd jobs when and wherever he could. He lived with his young wife and one child in a shack which had formerly been a barn and chicken house. The good earth was their floor and the open door their only window.

About a week before Christmas the young mother gave birth to her second child—in this shack. Three days later, the baby things had to be cleaned and there was no one to do them except herself. She crawled out of bed to boil and scrub the clothes.

That night she became very sick—at four, the next morning, she was dead, with "child-bed fever." They buried her the same day—two days before Christmas.

This case happened in Eastern Kentucky. It happened in a wealthy county seat town which is noted for its various women's, fraternal and business organizations—yes, in our own dear, old, hospitable Prestonsburg.

Now, I want to hear some more of you people complain about The Courier-Journal's articles on the poverty, ignorance and pitiable state of existence of many mountain people in Eastern Kentucky!

TAINT FAIR!
Five thousand aircraft workers, apparently, have the privilege to strike for $2 minimum a day for their labor, while a million other Americans must provide their services for Uncle Sam at 86c per day.

Now, who's the real taint that one out?

A NEW SCHEME!
The Democratic convention expressed appreciation to Robert Humphreys, Zach Justice and Jonathan Fitzpatrick for doing their part toward "road building" in Floyd county.

Say, maybe that's as good a way to go about it as any—we never got any results, the other way!

CASH DEPOSITS TO "RUN"
Were the candidates in Kentucky compelled to put up a cash deposit as a guarantee that they would receive a certain percentage of votes in the election (as they do in Canada), most of the debt-ridden counties would soon be out of the "red"; or, else, there wouldn't be enough office-seekers to make a good, hot campaign.

POP & STUFF
Bobby's father said if his son didn't start making better grades in "department" he was going to let him stop taking the subject. . . . Billy Mc-ell says they can make a "defense" project out of the "Whons Creek dam—all they gotta do is fill 'er up with water and pronounce it a "seaplane base" . . . Who is this "Fur" everybody has been going to bed with lately?

The federal debt now averages $340 for each person in the U. S. . . . Republicans included. . . . A recent visitor to Prestonsburg wasn't at all surprised when informed that our town is older than Cincinnati. Said he: "Why, you can tell that by looking at Third street!"

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our sincere appreciation to all those who so kindly assisted us during the illness and after the death of our son, Jimmy Lee Hall. We especially wish to thank the ministers, all those who sent flowers, the Arnold Funeral Home, and any others who helped us in any way!

Mr. and Mrs. Willie J. Hall.

Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Vernon, of Pikeville, visited friends here on Friday.

She has many friends and relatives who deeply mourn her untimely passing, and who extend their sincere sympathy to the bereaved young husband.

KIDNEY STAGNATION IS WORSE THAN CONSTIPATION!
Because We Treat Constipation at the Onset, While We Neglect Our Kidneys Indefinitely.

No other organ in your body is so important as your kidneys. For in your kidneys there are nine million tiny filters which are constantly at work to filter the fluids and keep the system free from poisons. If these filters become clogged, the poisons which are permitted to remain, may cause serious kidney and bladder trouble.

It is no wonder then that Nature often complains through your kidneys. So if you are troubled with kidney trouble, try KIDANS, the famous kidney remedy, which will clean out your kidneys, to filter all wastes, to prevent kidney stagnation.

KIDANS is Safe and Reliable. Thousands report that their kidneys are cured. KIDANS will give you relief from kidney trouble. Buy one bottle of KIDANS. Try it. You will get your money back.

If your local druggist cannot supply you, send $1.00 to The Kidans Company, Atlanta, Georgia, for two full-size boxes on a money-back guarantee.

SHIKE'S POKES

(Views expressed in this column are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times.)

Those Tennessee rosters might not have yelled for B. C., New Year's Day, but boy, they were yelling for B. C. headache medicine the next morning.

The fellows who operate those 5c juke boxes had better pay Tramble Mitchell to stay at home—every time he goes around and starts singing they stop playing the "Jukes"—his singing wows them.

Boy, you can tell this is a primary election year—they have already started handshaking and back-slapping. A fellow advised me that he held out his hand in "plung" for a right turn and nine candidates shook it.

What a new year!—the ticking of the alarm clock the next morning sounded like an air raid siren.

These greedy truckers have hit on a plan to yell "Defense bottleneck" to get the weight of loads rated above the 18,000-pound limit. That is just a plain bunch of bull—the government has a right to our highways at all times, regardless of weight, and every one knows that our roads won't stand a steady pounding of even nine-ton loads. The roads in this section are breaking up with an average of three-ton loads and who in hell would want to try and pass a 20-ton truck on our highways? You have a hard time getting around one of these houses on wheels now within the 18,000-pound limit. There will have to be big big improvement in the construction of our highways before they will hold up under 18,000-load limit.

Senators Wheeler, Vandenburg, Clark, Holt, etc., think they are aiding us by their methods—but their way will lead to another Munich and a great majority of the American people will repudiate such leadership. Wheeler is the U.S.A. man with the umbrella and, after witnessing what happened to the British and French by following a guy with an umbrella, we'll say—"No dice, WHEELER!" And, after all, every one knows that an umbrella won't stop a bomb and I am of the opinion that, any time you can get a fellow to fight with—Britain is fighting our battles—let's give them everything they want and TAKE IT TO THEM IF NECESSARY!

We all thought that the "Beefhead" was a single man until the army questionnaire began coming out. Then he came in with a "better half" and a child. Better safe than sorry.

Jim McDowell, Drift's headlined roofer pitcher last year, also got his rib back during the holidays. He'll be a veteran next year.

We are short an "extra brakeman" since the Green Hornet went to Middle Creek. It's easy to find jumpers, too.

Johnny says that Red started to "rent" but is now trying to "own."

Mack Hull is back on the job again. He has been ailing with influenza but some of the fellows say he has been "hoos-swapping"—trying to trade a nightmare for a "charley horse."

Some one try to figure this one out—Kentucky and Ohio have identical Unemployment Compensation Laws—the high court of Ohio ordered the compensation paid for the shut-down, but the Kentucky high court says no—don't pay it. Seems as though labor has few friends in Frankfort. And just why is it a law is one way in Ohio and different in Kentucky? I just believe we were taken for a ride. The way the Court of Appeals ruled, our law wasn't worth a darn. The Court says in its opinion, the men just wouldn't go to work. Didn't our representatives ask to return to work, pending a settlement not once, but four times? But the offer was refused. This news was carried in every newspaper in the land. Then how does the court get that the miners refused to return to work? A rule that won't work both ways is not worth a darn and the way things have worked out, the law should be repealed or amended. Maybe we will have some labor members of the Legislature in Frankfort, next session.

Just what has happened to the quail in this section? Is the quarry of all bird hunters. Altogether, a "mess" hasn't been killed in this section this fall. Last year, they plentiful and the boys left plenty in each covey for seed, too. Something just happened, last winter and spring.

Dr. Ladd says that his "Ladd's notorious remedy XYZ" will alleviate any pain, except in a Republican neck after a fireside chat.

When me, you or anyone else goes to bed early, get a good night's sleep, wakes up the next morning and the world is moving along "as usual"—WELL, it just goes to show you and me how well the world can get along without us.

READ THE SORDID DETAILS

"BRIAR BUCK," in other columns of this week's TIMES, tells a heartrending story of privation, suffering and death here in Prestonsburg. (For details, see his column).

Read the story, and if your shame and indignation is not deep and bitter—get down on your knees and ask God to give you a heart.
There is no need now, for censuring others. Self-recrimination will not help, neither will pity for the woman who suffered. The only good, if any, this pitiful case may do is to make the stricken ones martyrs in the great, losing cause of the poor and to make us who are able to do better toward suffering, deserving humanity.

We passed them by—most of us did not see them. Then let us take steps NOW to see that this shall not happen again among us.

Prestonsburg annually gives, along with other communities of the county, good causes—the Red Cross, the Christmas Seal drive, to other funds for the general good. But it can, without reducing its contributions to these causes, set up its own Community Chest, or some similar fund, organize with all its officials as volunteers, unpaid, and thus reach out a helping hand in certain emergencies where other organizations do not enter.

AS THE TIMES, impelled by this instance of stark tragedy, at this moment views the matter, such an organization could and should work unostentatiously, attracting little attention to those whom it helps. There are those, you know, who still have the grit to try to "make it, somehow," and who shrink from public relief from their troubles.

Then this organization—call it what you will—should be formed with the express purpose of helping only those whom the WPA and its several branches, the Red Cross and other benevolent agencies do not help.

Yes, there are many of them. It may be a widow "outside the pale" with the WPA (as was that widow and her children near Maytown); it may be some person of whom the Red Cross has not heard or whom it cannot help; it may be some child at Christmastime who will find Christmas more just another day.

The opportunity to be of service is here—if we but take the opportunity to serve.

Uncertainty of that future fills some with foreboding, leaves others pleasantly expectant. Most of us know, and it is well that it is so, that the narrow

But, on the whole, Floyd county surely is justified in looking forward toward brighter days for business.

Its principal industries, in the mines and on the farms, may reasonably expect taster, more profitable times. The country's vast re-armorament program requires steel, and steel requires coal. Those on the farm who raise livestock may expect better prices for their hogs and cattle and sheep. As for our products of the soil, they supply few markets.

Aside from all this is the construction now under way of a 10-mile stretch of railroad from West Prestonsburg to the site on Middle Creek of what will be a new coal mining town. This work, it has been estimated, will cost $750,000. Add to that the work to be done at the proposed mining center in Tipton and home construction, and you have thousands of dollars more spent in new work in this county. And, after the mine is operating, a production of a million tons of coal a year is anticipated from the Middle Creek field. The next twelve months hold unknown grief for many of us. But, on the whole, Floyd county cannot but look upward as she, for the present at least, occupies the center of the stage in the industrial comeback of Eastern Kentucky.

Points By Other Editors

EXPANSION FOR INDUSTRY

CERTAIN industries have been reluctant to expand. They have felt, and with reason, that the collapse of the defense emergency might well catch them with plant facilities which were not then necessary. Loss might be caused, and industrial proprietors naturally would like to avoid it, if possible.

The President's call of December 29 makes it plain that he considers the emergency so urgent that this is no longer a primary consideration. "The possible consequences of our failure of our defense efforts now are much more to be feared," the President said, than the chance that some excess plant capacity may be built.

This situation deserves great consideration by all industries whose productive capacity goes unused. It is to supply what is needed for defense as well as at the same time providing for the normal needs of civilian life.

We have tried, at the outset of the defense effort, to set on top of normal production of our industries the extra load of war production. As the effort swings into full stride, it becomes clear that industry will not always bear both.

Then two things become necessary: Until additional facilities are built which will provide both for one, civil consumption must be cut down while the military bill is filled. In other words if auto plants can't build both pleasure cars and tanks, the tanks must be built, and you wait for your new car. Then, if a new tank plant or a new auto plant can be built, maybe you can have both.

Our whole life today has become simply a balancing of risks, a choice between two evils. To build excess capacity and find it unused when the emergency has passed is bad. But to attempt to build defense and find it inadequate because of reluctance to build sufficient capacity is worse.

There is much also in what the President said about greater needs after the emergency has passed. The master shoals nitrate plant, for instance, built for war uses in 1917-18, passed out of use after the war emergency, yet it became valuable again as the keystone of the TVA regional development, which in turn has become a great national asset in preparedness.

We do not know precisely what productive facilities we may need after the emergency has passed. We only know that it certainly is better, from the national point of view, to have too much rather than too little, hard though it may occasionally be on individual proprietors and stockholders. Today only the national interest can be paramount.—Ashland Daily Independent.

SPEND CHRISTMAS HERE

Of the many students from Prestonsburg attending school away from home this year, Ann and Billie Haggans, daughters of Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Wm. Haggans, and Mildred Tackett, daughter of former Senator and Mrs. Joe P. Tackett, left Sunday for Bowling Green, Ky., where they are students in the Bowling Green Business University.

Miss Berry Joins Music Center Staff

Cecelia Ray Berry, pianist-teacher-composer, recently became a member of the staff of the Edith James Music Center here, it was announced this week.

Addition of Miss Berry as an instructor gives the Center an opportunity to supply what is needed for special music education to students of Prestonsburg and this section, since she comes here, it was announced, from a field in which she has gained wide recognition to aid in the instruction of talented Eastern Kentucky music students.

Miss Berry was an artist-teacher in the faculty of the Michigan University School of Music for several years and head of the music department of Wells College, New York, retaining her New York City studio until called to inaugurate the Civic Music Festivals in Duluth, Minnesota, where she appeared as choral and symphony orchestra director before the largest audience ever gathered in the Northwest.

She remained at Bush Conservatory, Chicago, as artist-teacher for 10 years, later joining the faculty of the De Paul University School of Music. Of many commendatory critiques of her work as an artist-teacher, that of Harold von Mickwitz, eminent in that field, is characteristic: "I have never met such a degree of pedagogical skill combined with musical instinct. Her results are often astonishing."

RETURNS TO CAPITAL

Bernard Tackett, son of Atty. and Mrs. Joe P. Tackett, returned to his post in Washington recently, where he is employed in the War Department. He had been at home with his parents during the holidays, and while here visited with his many friends.

Young Tackett, it is said, is in line for promotion as soon as his tenure in his present position has been long enough to meet requirements.

NOTICE

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
By virtue of an order of the Floyd County Fiscal Court entered at its special January term, 1940, I am authorized to ask for bids for the hauling and delivery of Federal Surplus Commodities, which bids must be in writing and sealed and delivered to me on or before Saturday, January 18th 1941.

Prospective bidders may offer a bid for either Magisterial District within Floyd County, Kentucky, or for the county as a whole. Prospective bidders will be further advised that the contracts will be awarded to the lowest and best bidder unless the Fiscal Court rejects all of said bids, which privilege is reserved to them.

If the contract is awarded for the county as a whole, the successful bidder will be required to haul said commodities from the depot to the storage house and thence from said storage house to points of distribution throughout Floyd county.

If contracts are awarded for each of the Magisterial Districts, then each of the successful bidders will be required to assist in delivering commodities from the depot to the storage house in addition to the points of distribution.

For information as to the quantity of commodities to be distributed you are referred to Carl Horn in charge of the Commodity Storagehouse.

The contracts will be awarded for month to month delivery and either party may terminate said contract upon giving the adverse party ten days written notice.

Bids will be opened and contract awarded at a meeting of the Fiscal Court on Saturday, January 18, 1941. Given under my hand this January 7, 1941.

A Year of Accomplishments

The year just ended was a record year of general telephone expansion in the South. Millions were spent to expand local and long distance facilities and other millions were expended for preparatory projects. At the same time, the numerous and varied governmental and industrial emergency needs were filled promptly.

Nearly 300,000 new telephones were installed and about 180,000 taken out, making a net gain for the year of more than 110,000. Sixty-eight new central offices were built and put into service. Twelve of these were new exchanges while fifty-six replaced manually operated offices with the newest type dial equipment. Rural sections also shared liberally in this program.

The gross expenditures for new construction and replacements exceeded $40,000,000. It was a year of outstanding accomplishments achieved under exceptional conditions. The thousands of telephone men and women responsible for this work are justly proud of the results. They begin the new year confident in their ability to meet the future telephone requirements of this fast growing section of the nation.

OBITUARY

The foundation of American civilization is the home erected and maintained through blood and tears, commingled with the joy and hope of our sturdy God-fearing, independent citizens. This is the ultimate source, and as long as it remains uncorrupted, it is the indestructible hope of civilization and our free American institutions. Every successful, loyal and faithful home-maker in this broad land of ours is an untaxed king or queen whose happiness and efficiency should be the chief concern of our government, since it is their contribution to human society that insures her security and perpetuity. Ever since God said, "Let us make man in our image," the home has become a sacred institution fostered by the favor, the benediction and protection of Almighty God; and despite the sinister forces of evil now rampant throughout certain portions of the world, this nucleus of civilization, while it recognizes and respects its responsibility to the Almighty, will be indestructible and invincible and will ultimately prevail.

Of such was the humble but God-fearing home of Martin V. and Sarah Justice Wheeler, erected and maintained amidst the green-walled hills of Johnson county and who produced and reared to manhood and womanhood a family of eleven children—eight boys and three girls, the eldest of whom was the subject of this sketch, the late Honorable Columbus Borders Wheeler, who was born November 2, 1870, and died on December 31, 1940, a few days more than 70 years of age. His father preceded him in death on March 10, 1923, but his mother still survives and will be 95 years of age in May of this year, and is probably the oldest living citizen in Johnson county. His first wife was Elizabeth Walters, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wincoe Walters, of Johnson county, Ky.; and to this union were born one son, W. H. Wheeler, now of Prestonsburg, Ky., and four daughters (two of whom Estia and Zella Wheeler, are now dead), Mrs. Harvey Bixler, now residing in Frankfort, Ky., and Mrs. Stovings Berzer, of Gallatinburg, Ky. His first wife died at the early age of 27 years. His second wife and surviving widow is Mrs. Grace Evelyn Martin Wheeler (daughter of Joel C. and Minnie Martin, of Floyd county, Ky.), to whom he was married on December 11, 1918.

Judge C. B. Wheeler (as he was familiarly known), was admitted to the bar in Johnson county more than 50 years ago, ever since which time and uninterruptedly until a short time before his death he practiced his profession and engaged in no other profession or business, for a livelihood, during that time. He was elected as a member of the General Assembly of Kentucky, from the legislative district composed of Johnson and Martin counties, in the year 1896 and served for a period of two years. He practiced his profession at the Johnson county bar consistently, energetically and honorably until about 25 years ago when he moved to Floyd county and located at Prestonsburg, Ky. where he practiced his profession with the same fidelity and consistency until a short time before his death, except that during this time he was by the voters of the 31st Judicial District (composed of Floyd and Knott counties), elected to the position of Circuit Judge of that district, and served during that time his ability as a lawyer was never questioned. No member of the legal profession ever regarded his profession more seriously nor had any higher regard for the ethics of his profession than Judge C. B. Wheeler. He was no quibbler; but what gave him more concern in his profession were the fundamental and essential principles of the law as applied to human conduct. He did not believe in allowing the barren technicalities of the law to interfere with or defeat the fundamental rights of humanity as expressed in and guaranteed by the fundamental and statutory laws of our land.

There is no man who ever engaged in the practice of law either for him or against him, but will recall that he had a worthy, able and pugnacious opponent, or a loyal, able and consistent co-worker. His professional life was a literal dedication to, and personification of, the great, fundamental underlying principles of the body of the law safeguarding and protecting the rights of human conduct in each and all of these he conscientiously and consistently believed, and fought for to the end of his career, and to the honor and perpetuation of his name as a member of the great profession he served for more than one-half of a century.

JUDGE FRED HOWES,
Member of the Johnson County Bar.

Whitley county farmers report the use of 350 tons of commercial phosphate in 1940. Henry county farmers used 17,000 tons of limestone in 1940 which is 183 percent increase over 1939.
