RAIL REACHES MIDDLE CR. MINE SITE

FOUR MONTHS' WORK SEE TEN MILES OF LINE LAID

Monday, only a few days more than four months after work was begun on the Middle Creek railroad at West Prestonsburg, the rails reached the tippie on Lick Fork, approximately 10 miles away.

Two lines, in fact, are beneath the tippie this week, and the railway is being extended on up the creek beyond the tippie to the furthest developments now under way by the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company.

The work thus within a matter of days of completion would have required at least 20 months in the days of old construction methods. It was said here recently. Steam shovels, tractors, bulldozers—mechanized forces conducting veritable blitzkrieg drive on Eastern Kentucky's newest and probably richest coal field—made quick work of the job.

Although coal is being produced at the Lick Fork mines, completion of the tippie is yet a few weeks away. Pending the finish of work, coal is being dumped for future re-loading into gondolas.

Installation of a conveyor line from the dump pit to the tippie, across Lick Fork, is yet to be effected. The mine will be completely mechanized and is expected to be one of the section's largest producers.

HUFF SLAIN, 2 WOUNDED

ARGUMENT ENDS IN GUNPLAY

A dispute over wire fencing was given here as the cause of a revolver battle Saturday afternoon, near the mouth of Hollyfork, Knott county, in which one man was killed and two others wounded.

Clay Huff, 60, Caney Creek farmer, died instantly with a bullet through his brain, and his brother-in-law, Lemmy Huff, 45, was wounded. The third man shot during the heated exchange of shots at close range was J. B. Caudill, about 42 years old, Bestill merchant.

Both Huff and Caudill are expected to recover. Caudill was shot through the lower lobe of his left lung and through both hands. Another bullet grazed his hand. Huff was shot through his thigh.

Stone told friends that he shot Caudill after the latter had killed Huff, and that Mrs. Caudill then shot him.

The slain man is survived by his widow and several children. Burial was made on Caney Creek.

INSURANCE BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

The Hatcher Insurance Agency changed hands this Saturday, the double play going from Mrs. Myrtle Hatcher to Glenn C. Spradlin to Jack Spurlin. This agency, combined with the agency already operated by Mr. Spurlin here, constitutes one of the section's largest businesses of its kind. Mrs. Hatcher conveyed only life and casualty business in the transaction, retaining her connection with life and health and accident insurance companies.

HERNDSON NEELEY, 51, DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Herndson Neeley, 51, Goodloe, died at his home on April 14, a victim of pneumonia following influenza. He is survived by his widow and a son, John Neeley.

Burial was made in the family cemetery.

VISITS RELATIVES

Mrs. Dora Stephens, of Georgetown, Ky., is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. May, here, and other relatives at Martin.

16-YEAR-OLD MOTHER OF 16-LB. BABE DIES

Four days following the birth of her 16-pound, baby, 16-year-old Agnes Singleton, wife of Robert Singleton, 18, of Melvin, died Saturday at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Leakey.

The girl-mother was buried Sunday at Melvin, beside the grave of the babe.

Mrs. Singleton was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvey Caudill, also of Melvin. Besides her husband, she is survived by her parents, a brother and two sisters. Burial was made under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

Mrs. Graves Succumbs At Daughter's Home Here In 94th Year

Mrs. Ella Shepherd Graves, 93, one of Floyd county's oldest women, died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. K. J. Whaley, 137 Third street.

The lady had been confined to her chair since the past two years ago, when she suffered a severe injury in a fall from a porch. She was taken to the home of the Whaley home by the Rev. W. B. Garritt on Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial was made in the Richmond cemetery under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

Born at Brunswick, Mo., of Kentucky parents in 1847, Mrs. Graves was the youngest of 10 children. She and Mr. Graves, who preceded her in death by 21 years, were of direct English descent, the grandparents of each coming to America from England before the Revolutionary War. They settled in what is now Virginia and later, during the 1830s, Daniel Boone was active in pushing the frontier farther west, the two families migrated to where Bowling, Ky., now stands. With other early settlers the trail later continued to what was then the furthest western outpost of the white race, Missouri.

Mrs. Graves was married when she was 18 and she and her husband came to Kentucky in 1830, settling in the area of the present day. Many years of their married life were spent in the state of Texas where they lived the last 10 years she has lived with her daughter here.

In addition to Mrs. Whaley, she is survived by two sons, W. J. Graves and Dr. R. E. Graves, Houston, Texas, and three daughters, Mrs. Grace Samuels, Houston, Texas, Mrs. Mary Smith, Los Angeles, California.

Though having no relatives in this part of the country, Mrs. Whaley will continue to make Prestonsburg her home, and will continue the teaching of music.

HUMAN SPIRIT, A CITADEL

"Dictator will find yet unconquered, says Sherwood."

"If Adolph Hitler conquers Europe and the Atlantic by force he will find another force, the human spirit, unconquered," Dr. Henry Noble Sherwood, president of Georgetown College, told the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club at its weekly dinner Friday evening.

"When civilization has gone down," the speaker asserted, "the human spirit has always arisen to the rescue and restored civilization to its rightful place."

Dr. Sherwood appeared on the Kiwanis program as the guest of his former pupil, the Rev. Campbell Jeffries, pastor of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church.

The speaker, a leader in educational and religious work in the South, impressed his listeners with his exposition of the theory that the force within mankind results in the worthwhile achievements of mankind. Washington's assumption of trying to conquer the world by the pressure of outside force or influences; the work of Grenfell, the medical missionary whose work with Labrador fishermen and Eskimos, won him worldwide renown—these were cited as instances of achievement motivated from "the force within."

"Today," Dr. Sherwood pointed out, "we regulate everything through boards, bureaus, acts of Congress. But I doubt if we are going to have the best citizens if we have to be regulated from without. If we have all the rules and regulations obeyed, it would require the work of half of the population to make the other half obey. Obedience can be more fully realized through the motivation that impelled Washington to serve his country—a self-imposed law, a law self-enforced."

LEATHER FOR BAREFOOT BOYS IN GRAY RESULTED IN SUIT, OLD RECORDS HERE TELL

This month, 78 years ago, a lot of grown-ups were "going barefooted" in this section, but as a result of old records discovered in the Circuit Clerk's office here by WPA indexing workers last week, the suit was brought to light in the courts of this section.

So badly in need of shoes were the soldiers of Col. A. J. May's command—the 10th Kentucky Cavalry of the Southern Confederacy—while they were encamped on Johns Creek that he decided his acting quartermaster, also known as Col. John Dills, Jr., to make a pair of shoes for each of the boys. Acting on these orders, Quartermaster Hatcher did the job so well that he got himself mixed later to the tune of $1,500. He and Robert Williamson, according to Thomas Johnson, tanner for Col. Dills, took 167 skins of sole leather, 30 sides of upper leather, a calfskin—and a 42-gallon barrel of tanner's oil, to boot (no pun intended). They took beyond Gladesville, Va., Williamson, Hatcher, and Johnson.

Although the leather was not well-tanned, according to affidavit, Jo

SOUTHERN COAL FIELDS, IDLE AS NORTH SIGNS CONTRACT

GOVERNOR JOHNSON DECLARES FREIGHT DIFFERENTIAL MAKES PAY RAISE IN SOUTH IMPOSSIBLE

Floyd county's 6,000 coal miners and all the thousands in other sections of the Southern Appalachian field remain idle for the third week as Southern operators and United Mine Workers of America officials are disagreed over the terms of a new contract.

Northern coal operators, with a freight differential advantage, have signed the $7-a-day flat wage scale demanded by the Union and envision another, at more of a differential, 'in their favor if the Southern operators agree to pay the same wage.

Under the two-year contract, which ended April 1 the wage scale for the North was $5.60 a day and for the South $4—a day differential covering the freight differential.

The existing freight rate advantage held by Northern soft coal operators makes it impossible for Southern mines to pay as high wages, Governor Johnson declared Monday as he promised his aid to the latter in their union fight for a new contract.

In response to a plea from Ebenezer Gaines, Fayetteville, W. Va., chairman of the Southern coal operators' wage conference to aid in getting their case before the National Labor Mediation Board, Johnson wired: "Glad to comply with your request. Anxious to be helpful in preventing elimination of wage differential. Existing freight rate disadvantage on coal shipped from Kentucky justifies pay differential."

Unemployment Predicted

Southern operators balked the wage conference, the United Mine Workers of America last week and set up their own bargaining committee after Northern operators had agreed to a flat $7 a day base wage. The latter had been paying $6 and the Southern mines $5.60, except for $1.00 Western Kentucky.

Declaring Southern mines already suffered from a 35-cents-a-ton freight rate differential, Johnson said a flat $7 a day wage in Southern mines would force "many coal operators into bankruptcy," and that "thousands of miners would be thrown out of work."

"That freight differential was recognized by the operators as making an inequitable differential on Kentucky

HALL SELECTED AS AUDITOR OF HOSPITAL BILLS FOR TREATMENT OF INDIGENTS

F. C. Hall, Prestonsburg, was employed Tuesday by the Floyd County court to inspect and determine the correctness of each claim filed by the Mercer Valley and Stumbo Memorial hospitals for treatment of indigent patients.

The court directed Mr. Hall to determine correctness of each claim by affidavit or by "other means deemed proper."

Mr. Hall will be asked to contact each patient whose name appears on the statements rendered by the two hospitals and to procure from each of these an affidavit stating the date admitted for treatment, the date discharged, nature of the physician directing hospitalization and the amount, if any, paid by the patient to the hospital.

For his services Mr. Hall will be paid $5 a day.

Dr. Stumbo, head of the hospital, filed, early in January, a suit against the county to recover $9,257.50 for treatment of indigents.

The fiscal court at its Tuesday meeting fixed the tax levy for the Prestonsburg hospital at $1.00 per $100 valuation on real estate; $1.00 per $100 on franchises; 40¢ per $100 on bank shares and a poll tax on males of 25.

HALL SELECTED AS AUDITOR OF HOSPITAL BILLS FOR TREATMENT OF INDIGENTS

Two accused of abduction of 12-year-old Texann Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hillard Moore, Frank, Ohio (Knoxley, Harold, and Frank Newsome), are charged with the abduction of the girl to Norton, Va., on March 9, without the consent of her parents. They were arrested on a county warrant and executed bond for the indictment was made. Miss Keathley and Mr. Newsome had not been arrested in the indictment, officers said Wednesday.

The grand jury also returned three indictments against Tuley Salisbury and Oliver Allen in the shooting of James Belcher at Craft's Place, near here, last February, and the alleged robbery of one of Belcher's companions. The indictments charge them with shooting and wounding, robbery and shooting into an automobile.

Five thousand dollars is asked as bond for each in each of the three cases. Allen is in jail here, but Salisbury recently executed bond in county court and has been released.

Before adjourning Friday afternoon the grand jury reported 29 indictments, bringing its total for the past 10 days to 43. The jury will re-convene April 29 for four more days' work.

Other major indictments reported Friday follow:

Jonnie Prater, carrying a concealed deadly weapon and reckless use of a firearm.

TWO ACCUSED OF ABDUCTION

INDICTMENT ALLEGES 12-YEAR-OLD GIRL ILLEGALLY TAKEN

Announcement was made Monday that Birch, famous American magician, with his company of assisting artists, will play an engagement at the graded school auditorium here May 8. His appearance here is being sponsored by the senior class of Prestonsburg high school.

The Birch Show is the largest magic production now on tour in this country. Equipment, scenery and effects valued in excess of $25,000 are carried and will be seen at the local performance.

Of the entire remarkable array of illusions, perhaps the most baffling is the famous Hindu Rope Trick. For centuries this has been the most talked-of and colorful of all feats of legerdemain. An ordinary piece of rope is tossed into the air, it remains rigid, a Hindu boy climbs the rope, and in the twinkling of an eye, disappears!

Heading the Birch staff of assisting artists is Mabel Sperry, hailed by critics as the world's greatest girl hypnotist. Miss Sperry charms music lovers everywhere with brilliant solos on her special built Marmba Xylophone.

MINE EMPLOYE SUFFERS FRACTURED SKULL

James L. Allen, employee of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company on Middle Creek, sustained a severe skull fracture Monday afternoon when struck by the boom of a "joy loader" inside the mines.

He was taken to the Paintsville hospital, where it was said Wednesday he will recover. Mr. Allen is a son of the late Guyless Allen, and a brother of Claude Allen, employee in the offices here of the coal company.

TO ENTER SERVICE

An employee of the First National Bank here this week, James D. Stephens, next week will be Lieut. Stephens, next week will be Lieut. Stephens, of the U. S. Army. A member of the reserve corps, he has been ordered to report to Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Mississippi, and will leave here Friday.

27 BENCH WARRANTS FAILED TO GET MOORE

With his name appearing on 27 bench warrants seeking his arrest on one indictment of shooting on the public highway, and playing hide-and-seek for seven years, 1907-7, with officers of Floyd and Knott counties, Bosh Moore was probably the most sought man of the day in this section, records found by WPA indexing workers here indicate.

Three Floyd county sheriffs, two Knott county Sheriffs and two Commonwealth's Attorney law service while the hunt was on. And finally Commonwealth's Attorney A. B. Stephens—with the unanimous approval, of course, of footstep peace officers—marked the case "Filed away."

Bullet Barely Misses Wife of Official

One of three revolver shots fired by occupants of an automobile Sunday afternoon barely missed Mrs. Holie B. Hill, wife of Superintendent Town Hall, as she stood inside the Hall home here.

The other two shots were, apparently, fired at the residence and it is believed that the shooting was done by drunks, firing at random. Occupants of the auto, which was being driven toward Middle Creek, had not been identified Tuesday, it was said.

"I believe the shooting was at random," Superintendent Hill said. "If they were shooting at me, they were bad shots; for I was sitting on the porch at the opposite end of the house from where the bullet entered."

21-YEAR TERM GIVEN SLAYER OF DAMRON

TRIAL OF ROBINETTE, FIRST ON COURT MURDER DOCKET

A jury of the Floyd circuit court Tuesday returned a verdict of guilty against Charlie Robinette for slaying, charged with the murder of Martin of Ex-Magistrate Fred E. Damron, and fixed his sentence at 21 years in the state reformatory.

The verdict came after three hours' deliberation.

The murder trial, the first to be heard at the April court term, began Monday. Robinette contended that after Damron, who was a deputy sheriff, had relieved him of one of two revolvers while they were inside a Martin restaurant, they agreed to be friends and Damron sent him a drink. When he returned, he said, Damron advanced toward him, his hand in his overcoat pocket. Thinking that the officer intended to shoot him, Robinette testified, he fired.

Commonwealth's Attorney Stephens testified that Robinette was drunk when the officer relieved him of his revolver, some time around 7 o'clock in the evening; that Robinette left returning after midnight. Outside the restaurant, Andy Brown testified, the slayer said, "I wish he'd stuck his head out—I'd shoot it off." Entering as Damron emerged from the kitchen of the restaurant, according to this testimony, Robinette shot the officer as the latter

STUMBO FILES ANSWER

CLAIMS RESTORATION OF RIGHTS MADE BY GOVERNOR

Answer filed Tuesday by attorneys for Dr. W. L. Stumbo to the petition filed by Boone Arnett asking an opinion as to Dr. Stumbo's eligibility to hold office presents the argument that he is eligible inasmuch as he has been "fully restored to all rights of citizenship, including the right to vote and hold office," by executive pardon of the Governor of Kentucky.

The answer, filed by Combs & Combs, S. S. Willis and Eschinger & George B. Martin, includes a copy of Governor Johnson's order of restoration to citizenship, which was executed February 5, last year.

An answer was also filed to the amended petition to Arnett's suit. The date has been set for a hearing of the case in circuit court here.

Pedestrian Safety

By CARL G. FORD

Pedestrian safety is highly important to every individual in our highly industrialized age, for every normal person is, at least part of the time, a pedestrian. Some one has said that a pedestrian is a person who owns an automobile, has one wife and one child, and consequently walks. To be a safe, thoughtful walker in our day is indeed an accomplishment. The following questions, if honestly answered, will serve to guide us to safe walking: AM I A SAFE WALKER? 1. Do I step out carelessly from behind parked cars or obstructions? No. Yes. 2. Do I try to weave through traffic? jump between cars in crossing a street? 3. Do I cross streets diagonally? ("jay-walk")? 4. Do I get off and on vehicles in moving traffic? 5. Do I look to the left, then right, before attempting to cross a street? 6. Do I understand traffic signals? 7. Do I stand (not walk) in the street? 8. Do I teach my children that it is dangerous to play in the streets? 9. Do I walk on the left side of the highway in order that I may face traffic? 10. Do I wear something white to make myself distinguishable and exercise particular care when walking on highways at night? The safe walker pays particular attention to the movement of traffic and endeavors to anticipate the actions of others on foot or in vehicles. He observes traffic regulations and realizes that other persons are equally anxious to reach their destinations quickly and safely.

Mutilation of Trees Deplored

"Only God can make a tree"—but a human being can destroy one in 10 minutes if ill-advised pruning," says N. R. Elliott, landscape specialist for the Kentucky College of Agriculture. This is the season when many home owners either try to prune trees themselves, or pay someone else to behead the trees. This is not necessary, practically shade trees are self-pruning. The only thing that should be done is occasionally to remove dead or broken branches. After a tree is operated on, it is never the same again.

The best trees are those along streams or in pastures that never have been touched. Usually they are magnificents in this state, Elliott says. One reason for pruning is that farmers may select the wrong trees for shade. For instance, a large-sized tree like an oak planted by a house in a small space may spread its branches over the roof and cause damage. Therefore the owner tries to "fight" the tree by pruning. Trees are three sizes: large, medium and small. In planting trees, select the proper size for the space and purpose—and do not mutilate them.

School Boards Advised To Aid Handicapped

District boards of education in Kentucky have been urged by John W. Brooker, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, to make provision in their 1941-42 school year budgets for the seriously handicapped children of school age in your districts.

He quoted from a 1938 opinion of the Attorney General's office which said: "It is mandatory on the board of education to give to the handicapped child the same opportunity as that presented to the other children. We would advise, therefore, that local school revenues and state per capita (allotment) should be used by boards of education to furnish the same opportunities to the handicapped child as to his more fortunate brother."

"Many boards of education," Brooker told county superintendents, "are providing such opportunities for the physically and mentally handicapped child. Totally blind or deaf children may be referred to our state institutions for the deaf and blind."

Brooker told the superintendents the Department of Education, through the Division of Special Education, is ready to co-operate with you and your board of education in carrying out their programs.

Wheelwright To Play Pikeville, April 25

Wheelwright, Ky. April 14 (Sp.)—Admission recently to the Big Sandy Athletic Conference. Wheelwright's football team will test "its strength" against the team of Pikeville when it meets the Pikeville Panthers in a night game at Pikeville. Approximately 40 candidates for the 1941 squad have been out for spring training, Coach Walter Price said. The team loses five men by graduation, and three of them—Corbett, Zeis and Martin—are regulars. The two others who will be missing this fall are Wilkinson and Wallen. Next proceeds of the game at Pikeville will be used in defraying expenses of the two teams at fall training camps.

Floyd Clubwomen Aid In Organization Of Knott Club

Eight members of the Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club—Medames T. J. Chandler, W. T. Hatcher, Charles Sturgill, R. H. Messer, Everett Blanton, Elizabeth K. Claypool, Dan Hartman and George Pow—went to Hindman April 2, at the invitation of Miss Ann Cobb of the Hindman Settlement School, to assist a group of Hindman women in organizing a Woman's Club. The meeting was held in the recreation building of the Hindman Settlement School, with approximately 25 Hindman women in attendance.

Mrs. T. J. Chandler, president of the Lackey-Garrett Club, read and explained the state rules governing the formation of a new club; Mrs. Chas. Sturgill discussed the work of the Lackey-Garrett Club; and Mrs. W. T. Hatcher spoke on the topic, "What the Woman's Club Means to Me." Mrs. Sturgill's committee was elected president of the newly-organized club. It was voted to defer election of other officers until the next meeting.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

FORENSICS A FEW numbers back I discussed "Exhibitions," the speaking of pieces at the end of the school; took the time to write you a similar thing in more advanced schools. For a generation or more there appeared in college catalogues in Kentucky the word "forensics" which meant primarily public speaking of some sort in a "literary society." All of us who got into education along about 1910 had a full exposure to forensics, whether we suffered or made to suffer. When I think of all the speeches I have given, I almost resolve to swear off making any more.

Merely speaking was not enough. We had got a bit too old to give declamations as such, though we often heard horridly original phrases from favorite pieces. We were supposed to be original in our speaking and to speak only from notes, or better still, without a scrap of paper to guide us. We could discuss, if we liked, but the great feature of forensics was debating. We were told again and again by our elders that we developed great powers of thinking, and debate was the thing. Those of us who did not like to debate pointed any point, that the temptation was too great; a few liked to have me as a colleague for this very reason. There was always judges and also the usual tactics of the lower court. An outsider would have thought that we were all intending to be lawyers.

Thanks to my old diary, I know what many of these great subjects for debate were. Oddly enough, there was seldom a subject that remotely suggested the political and economic problems of the time. One famous debate that I attended asked whether millionaires were a help or a hindrance to mankind. My diary says the affirmative (that is, the helpers) won. Then there were the time-honored poet-and-inventor subject, with the dishing and the broom thrown in for levity. Debating had proved attractive to the older generation; hence we had to like it anyway. Though this was years ago, I still feel somewhat nauseated when the very word "debate" is mentioned, for I hated it so bitterly.

Another feature of forensics was a journal. Before the highly-paid commentators were ever heard of, we reviewed in a nutshell the doings of the big world, dismissing events of major importance with a brief paragraph. We hastened on to give the latest wise cracks that you could find or to pass others had not heard. Unlike the debate, the journal could be read. I used to do rather well in this, for I unfortunately remembered most of the jokes I had heard; with a little doctoring and substituting some of the risque jokes could be rendered harmless except to the fellows who had heard the originals.

Still another feature was the critic. Each time we had our society some one of our own number was appointed critic. He sat in the back of the room and wrote down some of the obvious faults, never any virtues, of the various speakers. His criticisms included corrections of atrocious grammar, remarks on posture and intonation, and flaws in argument. Sometimes the critic actually did a little good and was not merely a perfunctory part of the program.

All of this sounds dry, and it often was. But we had a few moments of entertainment, we were natural people with starved minds, and we wanted to be somebody spelled with a capital. Forensics we had been told, would go far to make us somebody; hence our persistence. It seems funny enough now, but it used to be a serious part of the education of a boy who was going away to school.

WHOSE TOE IS SORE?

LAST week THE TIMES published, as an advertisement, "The Birth of a Platform," an editorial from the Somerset Journal. You who read it permitted your eyes to take in a clever bit of sarcasm directed at J. Howard Henderson, Frankfort representative of The Courier-Journal. Ostensibly, the editorial was intended as a rebuke to Mr. Henderson because he had advocated the election of state legislators who would not continue the practise of nepotism—of putting uncles and cousins and brothers and other relatives on the state payroll.

This newspaper has an idea, however, that the real reason for rebuking Mr. Henderson lay in the fact that he had found some fault with the state administration, from time to time.

Surely, if this newspaper's only offense is opposition to a nepotism—oligarchy in his own state or espousal of a governmental system which would distribute state employment outside the "royal family"—surely the bite of editorial sarcasm would not have been so deep.

THE TIMES has no quarrel with the state administration or with any newspaper that rushes to its defense even when there is no attack, but it would point out that the attack on Mr. Henderson's assault on the entrenched forces of nepotism is brilliantly shallow.

Yes, new penal institutions have been built, debts have been paid, roads have been built, better health programs have been created, many good things have been achieved—just as The Journal enumerates. But couldn't as much have been done by the Governor working with a state legislature interested only in the employment of capable men and women instead of cousins, uncles aunts—tribal relations, many of whom have no ability and little inclination to do the work to which they have been assigned?

Surely nepotism is not a necessary evil so that the present Governor or his successors may control the Legislature in "putting across" an administration program!

When Howard Henderson laid that "No-Nepotism" plank somebody's toe must have been caught—clear, why the squawk?

INDEED—WHY SHOULDN'T THEY?

THE Prestonsburg Kiwanis and Lions Clubs are organizations dedicated to the improvement of their community economically and morally.

Then wouldn't they should hesitate to adopt, as suggested by the Rev. Campbell Jeffries, resolutions throwing their influence behind a movement to outlaw street carnivals here?

Why shouldn't they? It takes no Roger Babson to realize that these cheap and tawdry fly-by-night shows operating in the sheep's clothing of innocent entertainment bring nothing whatever into a community that makes busness conditions better. Rather, they take away from legitimate trade channels the better part of the cash that would ordinarily go to the butcher, the baker and the clothier as parents provide for themselves and their children the necessities of life. Retail trade here and in any other town visited by carnivals invariably suffers for weeks after the nomadic "entertainment spot" has shifted to fresher, greener fields.

What do they offer? Last the harmless offerings first—the rides for children (young or old children); a trapeze or diving act, perhaps; a motorcycle stunt man. Then what? Strip-tease acts, burlesque, "skin games," a con-artist of humanity pretty far down the social scale as hangars-on.

How far down the social scale are some of these hangars-on? So far down that their morals are a threat to the physical well-being of a community. Dr. Marvin Hansell, director of the Floyd County Health Department, recently stated that, after a few nights' stand here of a street carnival, venereal cases increased at least ten per cent.

It's time that we grow up, eschew the ridiculous role of sucker as a community. No group worthy of existence should stoop to "sponsor" the appearance in this or any other community of such alleged entertainment—even if the sponsors do share in the "take." The price we all pay is too high.

THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES does not want to appear in the role of reformer or kill-joy. It would welcome clean fun for the children, some place where the community could gather without danger of physical contamination, painless robbery or moral hijacking. It would contribute to the establishment of a playground for the children of the community, and has an idea that, in the long run, purchase of a ferris wheel or a merry-go-round by the community for the entertainment of children would be cheaper than the entertainment given by carnivals.

This matter rests, of course, in the end with officials, not with any club or private citizen. But certainly we can tell these officials how we feel about the matter.

A JOB FOR THE I.C.C.

NOW that the Northern coal operators have signed the contract demanded by the United Mine Workers, the Interstate Commerce Commission could quickly untangle the coal-production tie-up in the South by cancelling that ridiculous freight differential imposed on Southern coal shipments.

The freight differential on rail shipments is ridiculous in this way: The I.C.C. argues that its elimination would be unfair to Northern operators with a shorter haul to market and with a higher wage scale. But that wage scale, if the contract is signed will be exactly the same in both the North and South—$7 a day. And, as for the unfair aspects of a no-differential rate, what of the lock-and-damming of the Kanawha river so that West Virginia coal may be cheaply shipped by water instead of rail? Isn't that imposing a burden in freight differentials on this and other land-locked sections?

Under the contract which expired April 1, the United Mine Workers were themselves, in effect, absorbing that freight differential by taking 40 cents a day less on their work than their Northern brothers received. And that helped pull the coal business through in the South.

But they should not be expected to ease the freight differential burden from their own pocket-books. And the Southern operators should not be expected to be penalized on freight charges as long as this country expresses a belief in the principles of fair competition.

This is a job the I.C.C. should do.

TRAVEL BULLETIN TODAY'S ROADS

Prepared by Eastern Kentucky Automobile Club

DEFENSE EXPENDITURES—AUTOMOBILE TAXES Increased federal taxes on the way. This is definite and unavoidable in order that the government may fulfill its policy of paying a more substantial portion of current and future defense expenditures out of normal revenues.

Constantly and widely used by automobile salesmen is the threat of increased motor taxes to high-pressure prospects into buying now before Uncle Sam bears down.

Background factors are important for realistic appraisal of possibilities as regards automotive taxation. There are two schools of thought—still largely in the formative stage.

The arguments against increased automotive taxation is that federal automotive excise taxes, falling on a special class, are already high enough; that the motor vehicle is playing a vital role in the defense program of the country—the private passenger car having been shown already to have made it possible to bring the necessary personnel to expanded factories where housing facilities are entirely lacking.

Send your support against higher Automotive Taxes by joining your AAA Motor Club.

Consider Ways To Have Farms Yield More Family Food

As a national defense measure, 11 district meetings have been held over Kentucky to plan for a state-wide program of "making the farm feed the family" according to Miss Myrtle Weidon, state leader of home demonstration work. Attending the meetings were county home demonstration agents, county agents, and one man and one woman leader from each county.

Among factors considered were the following:
Only a quarter of Kentucky's farm folk produce at home the food needed for an adequate diet.

Milk, cream and other dairy products are sold, and then butter-substitutes are bought as well as vegetable compounds in place of lard.

More corn is needed. There is not enough feed produced to feed poultry and livestock. Lack of a year-round garden. Problems of tenants.

A specific 20-point program for solving the major portions of these problems was worked out, including a survey by counties to find needs, and having a county committee to plan how to feed the families from the farm.

Incidentally, Miss Weidon illustrates the possibilities of living at home by the story of a Johnson county family that at the end of the year they found their grocer owed them $18. This story could be repeated in countless other cases, she says.

Says Fuel Is Superior
"The principal of the wage differential was set up by N.R.A. as a just and fair equalizing factor."

"Even with the wage differential, Kentucky coal is at a competitive disadvantage with Pennsylvania and Ohio coal but they (Kentucky mines) are able to sell coal despite that disadvantage because of superior fuel."

Johnson issued the following explanatory memo:
"The proposed increase in wages to a $7 base would amount to approximately 40 per cent increase in cost in Western Kentucky and 25 per cent increase in Eastern Kentucky. The Eastern Kentucky fields are on a $5.60 base; the Western Kentucky coal fields, $5.

Advantages Are Listed
"The increase for the operators in the Northern field amounts to $1 a day, or 12 2-3 per cent. Coal of a comparative quality is laid down at Detroit, for example, from the Western Pennsylvania coal field, at present, for about 15 cents a ton less than coal from Eastern Kentucky.

"The proposed $7 wage rate would give the Northern operators an advantage of 27 to 45 cents a ton in the Lake markets and the bigger industrial markets of the Middle West.

"In other words, a two-inch nut and slack shipped from Harlan to Detroit is delivered there for $3.22 on present price and wage set-up, while a coal of similar quality from Western Pennsylvania delivers for around $3.47. Under the proposed contract the same coal from Eastern Kentucky will deliver at Detroit for approximately $3.82, while the Pennsylvania coal can be delivered in Detroit for $3.64.

Understood in Main Market
"This same relationship will hold in other big industrial markets of the Middle West. These markets, combined with the lakas, take the greater part of the production of Eastern Kentucky at present.

"Western Kentucky on a $5 base is delivering run-of-mine coal in Chicago for $3.95. Illinois on a $6 base delivers a comparable run-of-mine coal in Chicago for $3.55. The Western Kentucky coal would deliver in Chicago for $4.38 as against $3.75 for Illinois.

"Now under the proposed contract, $7 base in all fields, this same Western Kentucky coal would deliver in Chicago for $4.38 as against $3.75 for Illinois.

lino's coal, increasing the difference to 83 cents a ton.

Says Mines World Close
"The price differential that will follow a contract based on a $7 a day all over the country will eliminate most of the Kentucky coal from the north."

"The Southern coal market does not consume sufficient coal to keep the mines of Kentucky, Southern West Virginia, Tennessee and Alabama operating over 50 per cent of full time.

"The net result of this wage equalization and price increase will be the slow elimination of the majority of the producing mines in Kentucky with attendant unemployment of thousands of miners.

"It is my opinion that less than 100 of the 270 railroad mines in Kentucky today could hope to survive this proposed adverse economic setup."

Higher Wages No Earnings Seen
George Fitz, president of the Hazard Coal Operator's Association, said the Hazard field "has less chance of continued existence" than any other of the producing districts if the wage differential between Northern and Southern fields is eliminated.

"Higher wages with no earnings" will not help the Southern miner, Fitz declared.

All Southern districts depend on the wage differential to overcome higher freight rates, the operator said, adding that Southern operators would not agree to a $1.40 wage increase without "threatening the very existence of our local communities and the miners themselves."
